

This Town— That World

BLUE SKIES
The poet sang of "October's bright blue weather," and if our muse had not long since been buried in prosaic news we would do a bit of singing ourselves.
Any soul who has not marveled at the bright beauty of these last few days must have his head hanging mighty, mighty low. Stormy days lie ahead; look ye and feast your eyes while ye may.

Drawing on my great well of scientific knowledge, I arise to remark that the happiest satellite the Russians have is that one that's roaming around loose and free in the sky.

THE SAVANTS MEET

The Floyd County Times has never been guilty of a staff meeting yet, but the nearest we have ever approached one of these affairs was the other morning when this satellite matter demanded some attention and somebody wondered what gave the thing its speed and what caused it ever to slow down, and so on. We do not propose to print here the explanation propounded by Bill Darby. We will admit, though, that, knowing as little about the matter as we did, everybody accepted what he said and let it go at that.

COURT'S OUT

We learn by the Associated Press that they've cancelled the October term of the Letcher circuit court because its two top officers are up their ears in the current election campaign.

The Floyd circuit court went on a long vacation during the Civil War, and we have an idea that a Letcher county election (not to mention the Floyd county brand) is enough like such an interminable struggle to justify court adjournment.

ALMOST CAPTURED

Dr. J. H. Allen, who fishes when they're hitting and hunts when they aren't, is hereby given three guesses, with the privilege of saying Nebuchadnezzar for the first two, as to our source of information that while hunting in Scott county last week he had a narrow escape from the law that he may not yet have learned about.

ARMCO MOVES MARSHALL UP

Native Floyd Contianer New Assistant Manager At Ashland, Ky. Plant

J. M. Lobaugh, manager of the Ashland Works, Armco Steel Corporation, this week announced the promotion of Townsell G. Marshall as assistant to the manager of the Ashland plant.

Mr. Marshall attended Caney Junior College and the University of Kentucky. He spent four years with the Air Force as a pilot during World War II. Mr. Marshall started his Armco career on August 24, 1945, as a checker in the industrial engineering department. He advanced to time study man in 1947, and was promoted to suggestion coordinator in 1951. In 1953, Mr. Marshall advanced to personnel adviser, and on September 15, 1956, he became supervisor of labor relations, the position he has held until this present promotion.

Mr. Marshall, a native of the Auxier Road section of this county.

FLOOD CONTROL HERE TEMPORARILY STALLED

2 SUITS FILED FOR PROPERTY RIGHT-OF-WAY

City, Property-Owners Not Agreed on Values; Deadline Is Oct. 23rd

Faced with an October 23 deadline, by which date all easements must be procured and the city's share of the expense of Prestonsburg flood protection construction raised, the City Council this week filed condemnation proceedings against two property-owners from whom rights-of-way must be procured if the project is to become a reality.

The suits were filed against H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., et al, and Rebecca Dings and others.

Although both defendants to the actions had earlier been offered more by Mayor Harry Sandige, the City Council in a special meeting last week officially set the offer for easements over each piece of property at $1,100. The new $1,100 offers were not accepted, and time was running out, so condemnation action was considered necessary. C. B. Latta, attorney acting for the city in the flood control program, said.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers had estimated, he said, that all rights-

RIVER NEEDS TOLD BUREAU

Budgeting of Funds For Big Sandy Dams, Buckhorn Work Asked

The Budget Bureau heard the first arguments Tuesday on behalf of Kentucky waterway projects that would call for a federal expenditure of $57,753,000 during the fiscal year 1959, which begins next July 1.

The initial presentation on behalf of Kentucky was made by representatives of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association in support of several projects.

More detailed arguments on behalf of Kentucky projects were to be given to the Budget Bureau Wednesday by a Congressional delegation.

For the Buckhorn reservoir, one of several projects under construction, $4,000,000 is asked.

Three planning projects for which money is sought are intended to prevent flash floods similar to the one which struck Eastern Kentucky last spring. Two of the proposed projects would be in Virginia-Haysi reservoir, for which $150,000 is requested, and Pound reservoir, for which $150,000 also is sought. The third, Fishtrap reservoir, would be on the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River in Kentucky and would involve the expenditure of $140,000 for planning.

LEADERS GIVE TAX SUPPORT

School and Civic Heads Pledge To Help Passage Of County Health Levy

School and civic leaders rallied quickly and enthusiastically this week to support the proposed health tax for the support and expansion of services of the Floyd County Health Department.

At Martin Monday night, after M. V. Clark, health department administrator, had explained the need of such funds, approximately 25 school principals and supervisors unanimously endorsed the tax, pledged their personal support and authorized the use of their individual names in any way as supporters of the tax.

The same action was taken Tuesday night by the Martin Kiwanis Club, which also was addressed by Mr. Clark.

Wrong Man Named In Jury Indictment

Robert Griffith was erroneously listed last week as having been indicted on a charge of transporting mortgaged property. The person who was indicted on this charge is Nellis Bradley, and Mr. Griffith's only connection with the case was as a witness.

The error was made in preparation of the indictment, not by the Times.

Two Leave Tuesday For Armed Services

Two Floyd countians left Tuesday from Draft Board No. 25 here for induction to the armed forces. They are Franklin D. Music, Prestonsburg, and Denver Slone, Craynor.

WAYLAND MAN IS CAR VICTIM

Guy Coleman, 51, Father Of Basketball Star, Dies As Car Rams Into Cliff

Guy Olen Coleman, 51 years old, father of Wayland high school's basketball great, "King" Kelly Coleman, was killed at 1 a. m., Sunday in the wreck of his automobile at Topmost, Knott county.

The wreck took place on a stretch of road where several accidents have occurred and is believed to have resulted from a high shoulder of the highway. The car rammed into a cliff skirting the highway.

Coleman died almost instantly of a head injury. His companion, a son of Lamar Sturgill, was injured but not critically, it was said here.

The victim resided at Wayland where he was an employe of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation 22 years. At the time of his death he was a maintenance employe of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company at

Harold Warning Lights Promised Judge Stumbo

County Judge Henry Stumbo said this week he is in receipt of letters from both Walter J. Bailey, Third district railroad commissioner, and Porter M. Gray, C. & O. Railway Company division counsel, assuring him that flasher lights will be installed at the Harold railway crossing within the next 60 days.

The Harold crossing, with a coal tippie nearby and motorists given only a narrow range of vision, has been the scene of several accidents, and Judge Stumbo said he has been insisting for some time that warning lights be installed there.

BABE IS VICTIM

Rickey Herbert, three-day-old son of Herbert and Lola Reynolds Ousley, of Alphoretta, died October 1 at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin. One brother, in addition to the parents, survives. The funeral was conducted from the home of the baby's grandfather, Willard Ousley, the Rev. Banner Manns officiating. Burial was made at Alphoretta under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

LONG-DELAYED DEDICATION OF ALLEN CHURCH SCHEDULED NEXT SUNDAY WITH HOMECOMING

A church service which was delayed for months by last January's destructive flood will see the dedication Sunday of the Allen Methodist Church which has been completed, then restored after flood damage, at a total cost of $20,530.

Cost of the building, it is pointed out by the pastor, the Rev. John P. Carr, does not include the many hours of free labor given, of which there is no record.

First work on the new building began in June, 1949, and the first service in the uncompleted structure was held in October, 1950. The basement was completed later, then redecoration and refurbishing were done in time to plan formal dedication of the church last spring.

But the flood which hit the town of Allen hard did not miss the church. There was a big clean-up job; extensive repairs had to be made. That disaster came just after the debt on the church had been finally cleared.

History of the Allen church dates back to pre-Civil War days when the church, then a log building on the W. J. Mayo farm, was known as Johnson's Chapel. In 1911 a new church was built on the hill overlooking the town, on land donated by T. J. Allen. The building was one of the few that survived the fire of 1924 in which many surrounding structures were destroyed and which threatened the entire town of Allen. Site for the present new church was given by Ben Webb.

The dedication service Sunday will begin at 10:30 a. m., with the dedicatory sermon by Dr. H. L.

Moore, superintendent of the Ashland district. He will be assisted by the Rev. Carr, pastor of the Allen and Martin Methodist Churches. A basket dinner will be served in the church basement, and an afternoon service will be featured by numbers by a vocal quartet and a sermon by Dr. A. R. Perkins, pastor of the Pikeville Methodist Church.

The occasion also will serve as a homecoming for members of the church and their families and friends.

TEACHER PAY IS UNCHANGED

Floyd Salary Schedule To Stay at 1956 Level; Increased Expense Told

The salary schedule adopted by the Floyd County Board of Education for teachers during the 1957-1958 school year remains the same as last year's when an overall pay increase of 13.3 percent resulted from Minimum Foundation funds.

Although a tentative allotment amounting to about $62,000 more than last year's has been made for the Floyd county school system, the actual amount will not be that much, County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said. Loss of some specialized instructors will be one factor contributing to a lower state aid total, he said.

Transportation expenses, increased pay earned by teachers through acquiring more college credits and by way of experience and an increase in the number of teachers will consume all the increased allocation, he said.

Although a new ruling adopted by the State Board of Education will give some Floyd county teachers a higher rank, removing them from the Emergency class and in some cases providing them higher pay, the added expense will not affect other teachers' pay.

This ruling, Mr. Turner pointed out, provides for a provisional high school certificate to a teacher if he makes a professional commitment, has a bachelor's degree, and has a minor of at least 18 hours in the subject he will teach. Such a teacher must write his college and arrange a schedule whereby he will take at least nine semester hours' work a year.

Girl Runaways Held, Man, 22, Jailed Here

Two Michigan girls, 14 and 15 years old, were jailed here Saturday by State Trooper Williamson and booked as runaways. Edgar Sturgill, 22, formerly of this county, is being held for investigation, accused of being with the two girls.

Also jailed here was Mabel Bentley, who was booked on a drunk driving charge by State Trooper Combs.

Constable Napier Quits Post, Roberts Named

Mathew Napier, of Garrett, resigned Oct. 4 as Constable in District No. 2 to enter private employment.

Keneth Roberts, of Lackey, was appointed by County Judge Henry Stumbo, on Napier's recommendation, as his successor. Roberts will serve till Jan. 1 when the term of Bud Lawson, Democratic nominee who is unopposed for the office, will begin.

Physician Begins 87th Birthday By Delivering Boy To His First Doctor In 61st Year of Practice

Dr. M. M. Collins began his 87th birthday, September 22, by giving the stork a lift on its visit to his hometown, Lackey.

Shortly after midnight which ushered in the veteran physician's birthday, he was called to the home of a neighbor. At 5:20 a. m., Dr. and Mrs. Collins returned home, leaving a bouncing boy at the neighbor's home and himself apparently feeling none the worse for the loss of almost all of a night's sleep.

The event was all in the day's work for the doctor who last June began his 61st year of medical practice. He began his work as a doctor in this county immediately after his graduation in 1897 from the Kentucky School of Medicine, Louisville, answering calls made by worried parents or

NEW HOSPITAL IS ACCREDITED

McDowell Memorial Gets Approval By Commission For Three-Year Period

Harold C. Parks, hospital administrator, announced last week that the McDowell Memorial hospital has been granted three years' approval by the Joint Commission on Accreditation for Hospitals.

In the letter from Dr. Kenneth Babcock, director of the accrediting agency, the medical staff and administration were commended for the patient care rendered at the McDowell Memorial hospital. This approval is the result of a survey of the hospital conducted August 9 by Dr. Warren Atwood, field representative of the Joint Commission on Accreditation for Hospitals.

Accreditation is an operational yardstick for measuring the quality of patient care and is entirely voluntary on the part of the Institution. Each hospital with a capacity of 25 patients and more and has been in operation for a period of 12 months is eligible to request inspection.

The five medical and hospital organizations which comprise the Joint Commission of Accreditation for Hospitals are: American College of Surgery, American College of Physicians, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association, and the Canadian Medical Association.

$32,260 ASKED IN TWO SUITS

Motor Company Sues Surety on Attachment; Woman Asks $10,000

Two suits filed in circuit court here within the week seek a total of $32,260 damages.

One of the actions, filed by the Stansifer Motor Company against the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company, seeks to recover $22,260. In the other Cora Weddington asks $10,000 damages to Deputy Sheriff Wheeler Lewis and Sheriff Gorman Collins.

The Stansifer Motor Company suit, prepared by the Prestonsburg law firm of Howard & Francis, points out that in 1949 the Big Sandy Realty Company sued the motor company in Jefferson circuit court for alleged breach of contract and caused the defendant's garage, equipment and other property to be attached by the sheriff. The United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company was surety on bond twice the amount asked to insure the defendant against damage.

The case was referred to the Floyd circuit court. One jury found for the defendant but the Court of Appeals reversed the

Council Adds Two To Police Force; Sturgill Resigns

Two policemen, James Wesley Howard and Kelly Frasure were added to the Prestonsburg police force by action of the City Council at its meeting Monday night.

One of the two replaces B. L. Sturgill, who resigned recently to take employment with the State Highway Department. Employment of Howard and Frasure brings to five the number of regular members of the force. Chief of Police Epp Lafferty, Bill Potter and David B. Leslie are full-time policemen, with W. J. Sloan serving on Saturdays.

COUNTY FAIR HELD SUCCESS

Livestock Show Winners Announced; Other Awards To Be Listed Next Week.

Perfect weather, varied and interesting exhibits from home, school, farm, shop and factory, and appreciative crowds spelled success for the Floyd County Fair during its three-day "run" here last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

And Saturday, the biggest day of the three, brought to the Fair a surprising show of Floyd county livestock which gave the exhibition the true appearance of a County Fair. The livestock show brought 124 hogs, sheep and cattle and 86 chickens to vie for ribbons and cash awards.

Winners in all the varied events will be published in The Times next week.

All hogs exhibited were Durocs and practically all were the result of the 4-H Club Pig Chain instituted a few years ago in this county. Sixty hogs, 52 sheep and 12 cattle were shown.

Livestock show winners were: Open class: Johnnie L. Lafferty, Jr., of Cliff, best sow; Kermit Howard, Dwayne, best sow and litter.

Boars over one year of age: Johnnie Lafferty, Jr., first; Kermit Howard, second; James Salisbury, of Printer, third.

Beef heifer class: Gary Whitaker, West Prestonsburg, first, Angus; Joe Hicks, Blue River, second, hereford; Curtis Ousley, Blue River, third, hereford.

Beef bulls: Shirley Morrison, Cliff; Curtis Ousley, second.

Dairy heifers: Harold Rice, Prestonsburg, first, Holstein; Billy Merritt, Bonanza, second, Guernsey.

Dairy cow: Shirley Morrison, first, Brown Swiss-Guernsey cross.

MARTIN MAY HAVE GAINED BALLOT SPOT

Special Judge To Hear Arguments on Ballots In Senatorial Election

Commonwealth's Attorney Burris Martin's filing by petition for the office of State Senator from the 29th district (Floyd, Knott and Martin counties) was accepted Monday by Secretary of State Theima Stovall.

The Prestonsburg man's name will appear on the ballot under his picture and as the candidate of the "Right to Vote" party in opposition to former Representative Jerry Fonce Howell, of Price, the Democratic nominee. Martin said his petition contained more than 500 signatures.

The candidate's attorney, Paul E. Hayes, said he was assured Wednesday by the Secretary of State that Martin's name would be certified to the County Clerk by mail that day.

Martin said he had a "tough time for a while" getting his petition accepted but that an opinion from Assistant Attorney General Walter Herdman, dated Oct. 4 and holding that he could file by petition, helped.

For nearly an hour Mrs. Stovall, the secretary of state, refused to accept the petition. She contended that the petition should bear the names of 25 per cent of the voters in the district in order to qualify.

Big Change-Over Work At Boldman To Entail Outlay of $1,600,000

For more economical and efficient operation, Atlantic Seaboard Corporation is making major improvements at its Boldman compressor station which will cost $1,600,000, according to Clyde H. Strother, supervisory engineer.

The station, which is in Pike county, barely across the Floyd-Pike county line, is at the western terminus of a 20-inch transmission pipeline which extends to the Maryland-Pennsylvania state line.

Strother said the company plans to retire the present 6,600-horsepower steam plant consist-

WOMAN CALMLY FACING DEATH AFTER LIFE DEVOTED TO OTHERS

(This is the story of a heroic Floyd county woman, as told by Gerald Griffin in The Courier-Journal.)

Red roses, golden chrysanthemums, and giant multicolored dahlias flourish in the steep-sloping flower garden behind a neat frame cottage in the model mining town of Wheelwright, Floyd County.

Inside the company-built house reclines a cheerful, red-haired woman and her soft-spoken husband, a retired coal miner, who have lived there 26 years. They are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benner. But this is the story of Mrs. Benner, whose given name is Shirley.

Since her girlhood in West Virginia, Shirley has been a firebrand, taking the lead where leadership was needed in doing good for whatever community she happened to be living in. She has raised funds for churches, helped the Red Cross, and contributed generously from the modest family funds to help the poor and needy.

She needed the Inland Steel Company, which owns the town, into action in bringing about sanitation and modernization of the little homes where the miners live. She led a campaign to help victims of the January flood that brought desolation to the Big Sandy Valley.

She has been the force behind campaigns to raise funds in her

NOT AMONG HOMESICK

Editor, The Times:
The two teachers who returned to Floyd county from Ohio were not my sons, Paul and Clell, as some folks seem to think.
My sons are proud to be added to the list of Floyd county teachers at Dayton, Ohio. They are in a good school system and like their jobs. They certainly are not homesick for Floyd county.

DuRAN MOORE, Clerk, Floyd County Court

community for the Heart Fund and the Cancer Society.

As president of the Floyd County chapter of the American Cancer Society, she led the fund-raising drive while flat on her back in Miners Memorial Hospital at nearby McDowell. She was in traction at the time with 12-pound weights pulling at her feet. The campaign netted $1,013.50 in the county.

Taking a deep interest in the work of the Cancer Society for years, Mrs. Brenner received one of the two plaques awarded by the society last year. Ed Sullivan, the national chairman, received the other.

The plaque, of which she is so proud, reads:

"Mrs. Harry Benner
In grateful acknowledgement of outstanding service to the cause of control during the society's annual campaign 1956 American Cancer Society."

What the Cancer Society doesn't know is that Mrs. Benner found out early in September, after an exploratory operation, that she is dying of cancer herself. The surgeon told her that she might have two weeks to live, or even as much as two years.

Yet she is content, happy, and cheerful while facing death philosophically. She suffers but little pain. She probably never has read William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis," a meditation on death.

Few people could have the courage this mountain woman has. Her condition doesn't worry her at all. She and Harry, who have been married 43 years, have led a full and fruitful life together.

He has been right there to help her with her colorful flower garden and to co-operate with her cheerfully in all her good works. Even with death standing in the door, theirs is a happy home. They laugh and joke together just as if nothing were wrong.

When informed of her condition, Shirley replied to her doctor, "Thank God I will have time to dispose of my personal belongings." She didn't want her family to have that unpleasant task.

Facing facts with rare common sense, she already has completed her own funeral arrangements. She has picked out the dress in which she is to be buried. From a funeral-home catalogue she selected her coffin. She determined the time and place for her funeral. She has named her pallbearers. She has chosen her own grave.

All this sounds solemn and perhaps a bit gruesome. But it's not that way at all to 63-year-old Shirley. Leaning back on a couch on her glass-enclosed sun porch or gliding through the house in a wheel chair, she smiles a lot while discussing these things.

Her philosophy:
"You're born. You know you're going to die. You prepare for life. You ought to prepare for death."

Wearing a dainty blue dressing gown, which sets off her fiery red hair, and with a little rouge and lipstick as an artificial aid, Shirley still likes to look nice, especially for Harry and their 29-year-old bachelor son, Paul, who has returned home to be near his mother in her illness.

They had another son, H. W. Benner, who was killed in action while serving in the Navy in British waters during World War II. He was awarded the Silver Star posthumously for gallantry. The United States Navy named a destroyer in his honor.

Shirley isn't even tearful while telling about the death of her hero son. She is proud that he gave his life for his country. That son had a son of his own, Larry Joseph, whom she and Harry reared in their modest Wheelwright home. Now he is a jet engineer in the Air Force.

Shirley began her religious, charitable, and civic work when she was 17 years old by leading a campaign to raise funds to build a Methodist Church at Yolyn, W. Va. She collected a dollar here and a dollar there and served dinners to raise money.

During World War I Shirley and Harry moved to Saxton, Pa., where she did volunteer work such as rolling bandages, for the Red Cross. While there, she and Harry would fry a lot of chickens and make biscuits and gravy which they sent by train to the soldiers stationed at nearby Gettysburg. She just knew those boys were hungry for home-cooked food.

The Benners were at Stone Branch, W. Va., in May of 1918 when the flu epidemic struck suddenly, swiftly, and fatally.

Of the 400 families in the town, only the Benners and one other family escaped the disease. Harry and the other healthy man mined coal all day and spent most of the nights hauling it to the ailing families. Shirley and the other wife nursed the sick and cooked for them.

The same thing happened in 1921 when the Benners lived at Earling, W. Va. Remarkably, they were one of only three families in a town of 1,500 that escaped the epidemic there.

At Earling, because the lone doctor was overworked, Shirley not only nursed the sick but even delivered babies. And she laid out the dead.

The Benners moved to Kentucky in 1929, settling at Weeksbury, a few miles from where they live now. Harry got a job there in a coal mine. Two years later, when the Depression hit hard, they moved to Wheelwright.

Living frugally, Shirley and Harry had saved a little money. Harry still had his job. But other people were having a hard time, families trying to keep body and soul together on 50 cents a day.

So the Benners withdrew their funds from their savings account and bought food and clothing for families desperately in need. Shirley cooked hot meals for hungry children. She made the survey that aided the Red Cross to help the needy families until times got better.

In recent years Shirley has devoted much time to the girl scouts, being a troop leader, and to Wheelwright Methodist Church. She is a member of the church board. Two of her girl scouts were selected out of only four in Kentucky to attend the National Round-Up this past summer in Michigan.

One of her proudest moments was when she met Lady Baden-Powell at Harlan in June, 1956. That titled Britisher's husband founded the boy-scout movement and she did the same for the girls.

Along with her other civic ventures, Shirley turned her home into a center for blood donors. Anyone needing blood had only to call her and she would line up a donor. The Benner home, however, no longer is a blood-center as Shirley just isn't able to carry on the work.

The Benners are just plain ordinary mountain people with limited education but big hearts. They are religious, kindly, happy, and ever cheerful. No wonder Shirley has no fear of facing death.

"Already," she smiled. "I feel like I have lived a thousand years."

Feature Attraction at Coming Fish Fry

Artist with shotgun, rifle and revolver in the tradition of the famed Topperweins, Floyd county's own Bobby Ranier will be a feature attraction at the Floyd County Fish and Game Club's 15th annual fish fry at DWewey State Lake Park, Oct. 20. Ranier now is in the army, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky. His ability as a marksman and trick-shot artist first became widely known through publication last year of his story in The Floyd County Times. Ranier is here shown bursting clay pigeons with rifle bullets aimed with the aid of a mirror.

Real Effort Put Forth In Classroom Shortage

Frankfort, Oct. 7 (Spl.) — School building plans approved by the State Education Department's buildings and grounds division during August "indicate real effort by school districts to meet the classroom shortage," Dr. Robert Martin, superintendent of public instruction, said.

During the month, the division reported, a new plant in Marshall county was approved and 13 additions in Breathitt, Ballard, Clark, Cumberland, Knox, Knott, Marion, Mason and McCracken counties and in Raceland and Glasgow. Plans for improving existing plants were approved for two projects in Lexington and one in Stanford.

The division estimated the cost of these new school facilities and improvements at $957,278. The projects will provide 37 classrooms, six multipurpose rooms, two band rooms, seven kitchens, five heating systems, one library, two lunchrooms and a number of other auxiliary facilities, such as toilets, a sewage disposal system and grading and paving, the agency said.

FLOYD COUNTY IS GROWING MORE DEMOCRATIC AS THE DAYS GO BY

The following figures were compiled from the Clerk's office of the Floyd County Court, which shows the registered vote in Magisterial Districts Three and Four to-wit:

MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT THREE:
13 Halbert	Democrats	295	Republicans 90
19 Elder Hiram	Democrats	402	Republicans 68
20 Painter Harve	Democrats	319	Republicans 59
21 Clear Creek	Democrats	414	Republicans 111
22 John Ant	Democrats	670	Republicans 129
35 Jacks Creek	Democrats	308	Republicans 17
36 Drift	Democrats	476	Republicans 38
38 Burton	Democrats	260	Republicans 39
39 Ligon	Democrats	252	Republicans 50
40 Melvin	Democrats	498	Republicans 107
41 New Martin	Democrats	470	Republicans 129
42 Arkansas	Democrats	259	Republicans 18
43 Kiser	Democrats	148	Republicans 64
49 Lee Hall	Democrats	366	Republicans 63
51 Frasures Creek	Democrats	114	Republicans 58
52 Hen Hall	Democrats	151	Republicans 11
58 Sizemore	Democrats	198	Republicans 14
59 Gearheart	Democrats	291	Republicans 26
		5,911	1,083

Democratic Majority—4,828.

MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT FOUR:
14 Mouth Mud	Democrats	436	Republicans 257
15 Little Mud	Democrats	284	Republicans 80
16 Tickey	Democrats	263	Republicans 177
17 Betsy Layne	Democrats	347	Republicans 136
18 Antioch	Democrats	246	Republicans 42
31 Toller	Democrats	334	Republicans 63
34 Ivel	Democrats	394	Republicans 102
44 Lee Alley	Democrats	172	Republicans 69
47 Prater	Democrats	248	Republicans 96
60 Mare Creek	Democrats	177	Republicans 42
61 Tinker	Democrats	286	Republicans 59
		3,197	1,045

Democratic Majority—2,152.

Up to and including September 7th, 1957, registered Democrats 404 and Republicans 137, making a new majority of the recently registered of 267.

The Democratic majority now stands at 15,768. The above listing completes all the precincts in Floyd county, district by district. It certainly will take a lot of crossing by Democrats to elect a Republican. The Democrats did elect Gorman Collins sheriff in 1953, and he has done nothing but to annoy the Democratic party ever since, and is NOW at it again. He has been a thorn in our party ever since, so let's rid ourselves of this man once and for all time. Through his efforts practically every Democrat, if not all, have been given opposition by him. Every candidate, both Republicans and Democrats, when they filed for office took an oath that they believed in their party and its principles and that they would support or intended to support it and that if nominated would accept the nomination and would not withdraw. Now, Gordon Collins, a brother of Gorman Collins, was nominated for County Judge, but resigned his nomination for business reasons as stated by him, but he had the same business reasons before the primary that he had after. What is behind this sudden change?

It will be a sad day for the Democratic party should they elect Gorman Collins, County Judge. He is using every effort at his command to destroy our party and create confusion in it. Beware of a wolf in sheep's clothing.

We respectfully submit this information for your consideration.

Floyd County Democratic Publicity Committee.

Our informant says this widder-woman who lives alone out on a farm peered through a window, watching the doctor whom she knew but whom she failed to recognize because of his attire. Finally she rushed to a 'phone—so we are told—and called a tourist court, asking somebody to call the law. "Looks like a tramp to me," she was quoted as saying. "Been potterin' around here all morning... Now, he's crawled up on the porch!"

The gentleman to whom her plea for help was directed happened to remember that he had sent Doc hunting out in that direction, so he suggested that the lady take a closer—and calmer—look. And so, we are told, the lady in distress came to learn that the fellow that "looked like a tramp" was an old acquaintance and was reasonably harmless—even if he was armed with a shotgun.

CANEY OFFERS GIFTS
Caney Creek Community Center at Pippa Passes has already launched its vast annual Christmas program. Any school in Floyd county—and other counties, too, for that matter—will receive gifts, each tagged with the name of the child for whom it is intended, if the names of the children, sex and grade and names of their teachers are mailed to the Center. This is a program Mrs. Lloyd has carried on over the years. Hers has been a great lifetime program of giving, and the gifts have been more than mere Christmas presents.

THE CLOSED HAND
Did you ever stop to think that you give in order to receive?
To have friends, you must give friendship.
The closed hand never gave anything but a blow—and, closed, it can receive nothing. It offers nothing, not even a caress to the person you love best.

FABLE
This reminds us of the wealthy man who was noted for his miserliness and who called on his preacher to ask why people hated him so. "They know that when I die everything I have will go to charity," he explained.

It was then that the minister gently told him the fable of the cow and the pig. The pig was mourning the fact that he was hated while the cow was loved. "It's true," he said, "that you are kind and give milk for hungry children, and that butter is made from your milk. But look at me—I give pork chops and bacon and sausage when I die, and they even use my bristles for brushes, and they cook and eat my feet. Why is it that I am not loved?"

Then the gentle cow said, "Perhaps you should try giving something while you are still living."

"IT'S A SMALL WORLD"
(From The Commonwealth Newspaper, Somerset, Ky.)

Copies of The Commonwealth have ways of turning up in strange places.

This week, John Matthews, of San Bernardino, California, sent us a copy of a February 21, 1945, issue which he had found folded in the hat band of a German colonel's hat, a souvenir of World War II.

Matthew writes: "In May of 1945 in Czechoslovakia, I shot a German Colonel. Since he wasn't going to use his cap again I picked it up on the run for a souvenir."

"The other day my son, Doug, was playing with the German's hat. He dropped it on the garage floor and this paper pushed out from under the sweat-band—you know how you put paper in a hat to make it smaller."

"I thought it was a German paper naturally and picked it up to look it over. I saw it was printed in English and almost fell over when I saw the heading and date line."

"Apparently the German Colonel had taken the paper from an American G. I. who was being sent The Commonwealth and used it to make a new hat smaller so that it would fit... It certainly is a small world!"

FLOYD COUNTY COURT

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY,
Vs. / ORDER.
BANNER HALL

PLAINTIFF
No. 4554
DEFENDANT.

The defendant, Banner Hall, having filed his motion for an order directing the sheriff of Floyd County, Kentucky to deliver to the defendant, Banner Hall, the whiskey and beer which was taken from him by the arresting officers, amounting to 16 half-pints of whiskey and approximately 4 cases of beer, the Court, upon a consideration of said motion, and being sufficiently advised, is of the opinion the motion should be sustained.

It is therefore ordered and adjudged by the Court that the whiskey and beer above mentioned be delivered by the sheriff of Floyd county, Kentucky to Banner Hall upon his presenting a copy of this order to said sheriff.

Get Floyd County out of Gas and Water Business
Put Floyd County in Road Building Business

Judge, why did your campaign committee omit witnesses names in their article in the last issue of this paper? THEY ARE FOUR CONFESSED BOOT-LEGGERS BY THEIR TESTIMONY UNDER OATH, and are supporting you vigorously. You do know that they have been raided several times in the past 3 1/2 years. Who is your Campaign Committee? Henry, are there any of the above four on this committee? The people of Floyd County are intelligent and fair-minded people—sign your names if you are not ashamed of them. The people like to know who a man's supporters are—just who is the committee?

In the past three weeks I have visited families on creeks all over the County and I find hundreds of children deprived of an education for want of roads. I have been to places that I would be ashamed to revisit and ask them to vote for me if I had been County Judge for 8 years and done nothing to improve their conditions. I have seen people that have paid taxes for 50 years and still have the same road they had 50 years ago. Where has your road crews been working during your 18 years inoffice?

Now, Judge, some of your political friends have done a good job on me. I can credit ten law suits against me and my deputies now in court. As long as a man works for this county as a deputy sherrif and does a good job I will stick with him. If he has a suit that stems from enforcing the law, it is my duty to see them through their trouble. That is why I have loyal deputies, and why they work hard for Floyd County.

I will admit Stumbo has had a lot of experience as a Judge, 10 years as Magistrate and 8 years as County Judge. (18 in all). I would like to quote Oscar Wilde on experience. "EXPERIENCE IS THE NAME SO MANY PEOPLE GIVE TO THEIR MISTAKES."

We are at the crossroads. It is not a case of whether you are for me or against me, but whether you want LAW ENFORCEMENT in the County or want Floyd County wide open for the next 4 years — Whether you prefer Floyd County in the Gas and Water or the Road Building Business.

Vote—COLLINS FOR JUDGE.

To The People Of Prestonsburg

Have you ever been told, "The Mayor can do nothing about it"?

This is to tell the people of Prestonsburg that the Mayor, their highest municipal official, has many powers and he can use these powers for good or evil.

The Mayor by proper use of his authority can guarantee to Prestonsburg a good, active, conscientious police force, one that will maintain law and order and put a stop to the speeding, reckless driving and the disgraceful bootlegging that beset our city.

The Mayor has the authority to scan every cent that is spent, every purchase that is made with your money. That money cannot be spent without his approval.

The Mayor has the power to beautify your town, repair streets and sidewalks, make your town a clean, livable, enjoyable community.

The Mayor's signature must go on every ordinance that is passed before it becomes effective. If it is a bad ordinance, it is his duty to veto it and force any opposition to him to pass it over that veto.

Yes, the Mayor has many duties, many powers—if he will only perform and exercise them. ELECT ME YOUR MAYOR AND I WILL PROVE IT!

I invite every good citizen to join me in this fight for a better Prestonsburg. Together we will not fail.

Sincerely,

BILL NAPIER

97-YEAR-OLD MAN FOR DICK SPURLOCK

I will be 97 years of age in November. Have been a Democrat all my life. I have known Dick Spurlock since he was a small boy, working after school and on Saturdays in the store operated in West Prestonsburg, Ky., by his father, B. M. Spurlock, and his uncle, Wheeler Spurlock. Dick has been the same every day, never failed to stop, speak to you and pass the time of day, and always friendly.

Dick is a candidate for Circuit Court Clerk and having known him and his folks as long as I have, and knowing him to be the kind of man he is, I think that you should not wait for him to ask you and your friends to vote for him; you should go tell him you are for him, not only to vote, but talk and see other people to vote for him.

Dick won't keep any funds for himself, which belong to you, such as witness claims, etc., which you may fall to call for.

I KNOW DICK SPURLOCK TO BE SOBER, HONEST AND ALWAYS COURTEOUS, AND HE WILL MAKE A KIND OF CIRCUIT COURT CLERK THAT THE PEOPLE WILL WANT.

I am for Dick Spurlock.

See Crosby and Sinatra On Edsel Show, Sunday

Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra, two of the nation's outstanding entertainers, will be united for the first time in a live television show over the CBS network, Sunday night, October 13, in the "Edsel Show," presented through the courtesy of Music-Colvin Motor Co., of Prestonsburg, Edsel Dealer, and 1500 other Edsel dealers in the country. The show will be seen from 7 to 8 p.m., Eastern time.

The "Edsel Show" is destined to be one of the most impressive television spectacles arranged for the 1957-58 season, Music-Colvin Motor Company said.

One of the main attractions on the show will be a sequence featuring Bing Crosby, and Frank Sinatra who were teamed together in the popular movie, "High Society".

"The entire all-star musical show, is an entertainment milestone," said Music-Colvin Motor Co. "And it is appropriate that for such a historic 'television first' that we will be able to present America's newest automobile on television for the first time in such a spectacular atmosphere."

50th Wedding Anniversary Observed By Mr. and Mrs. Burke, Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Burke, of Prestonsburg, were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary, Sunday, October 6, with open house by their children at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Fred L. Dickerson, and Mr. Dickerson, on Burke avenue, from 2 until 6 o'clock.

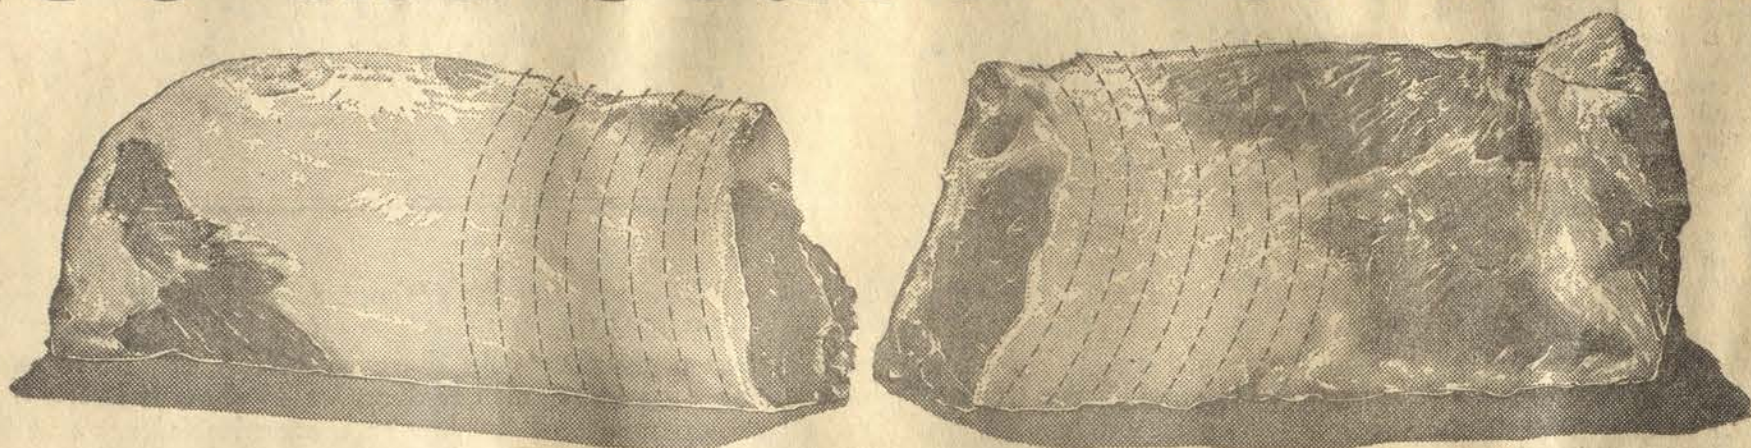

The home was decorated with arrangements of gold chrysanthemums, gold roses and gladioli. Little Jeannie and Patricia Burke greeted the guests, receiving the gifts and presiding at the register. Forming the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Burke were Mrs. Fred L. Dickerson, Mrs. Heber Burke, Mrs. Delmas Saunders, Mrs. Clarence Logan, of Ashland. During the afternoon more than 100 friends and relatives called to wish Mr. and Mrs. Burke the very best and to extend their congratulations on their 50th anniversary.

Entertainment throughout the afternoon was furnished by talented vocalists and musicians. Mrs. L. D. Fairchild and Mrs. Robert Branham sang several selections accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Luther Shivel, who played during the afternoon. Mrs. Shivel sang a very appropriate congratulatory song to Mr. and Mrs. Burke. Mrs. George T. Roberts accompanied her at the piano. At 5 o'clock Misses Mary and Jeannette Jasper, of Van Lear, gave a music program, with Paul Fairchild at the piano.

The refreshment table was beautiful with its cover of white Quaker lace, centered with a five-tiered golden wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Branched silver candelabra held yellow candles on either side. Silver trays of golden wedding cakes, golden wedding bell mints, nuts and punch and coffee were served by Mrs. Sophia Fairchild, Van Lear, at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Scott Conley at the coffee urn.

Highlight of the afternoon's reception was the appropriate song which was sung by Mr. Burke, with Mrs. Burke at his side, revealing his love to his friends on earth and promise of a greater day to follow. Each guest was presented a souvenir of the occasion by Mr. Burke, which was a book of poems written by him. Mr. and Mrs. Burke were remembered by their friends with presentations of items of gold china, linens, and miscellaneous presents. Hosts for the reception were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Hern Burke, Mr. and Mrs. John Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burke Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Logan, of Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Dickerson, Mrs. John A. Davidson, Manistique, Mich., their eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Two From This County On Staff of Record

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Oct. 7 (Spl.)—Three Floyd county students at Pikeville college will help to publish THE RECORD, Pikeville student newspaper, in its 37th year.

Toby Ann Bussey, of David, and Linda Lou White, Prestonsburg, will be reporters and general writers for THE RECORD, and Jimmie "Tex" Thompson, a Wayland native and graduate of Martin high school, will be among the paper's sportswriters.

Headed by Alex W. Browning, South Lebanon, Ohio, as editor, and Lawrence Lee Baker, Jenkins, Ky., as business manager, the group also includes students from Harlan, Letcher, and Pike counties. The eight-page paper is scheduled to appear six times during the year.

HONORS HUSBAND

Mrs. James Gunnell, Knapp Road, Pedro, Ohio, surprised her husband on September 27, with a turkey dinner on his 62nd birthday. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Junior Cox and Donny, Grahn, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Shular Cecil, Mrs. Mary Cecil McGuire, Olive Hill, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Woods, Betty and Jimmy, of Emma, Ky., Harvey L. Gunnell and Mrs. Nellie Crum, of Prestonsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Gunnell, Debra, Jandenyn and Lynne, Mrs. James Gunnell and Frank Douglas, of Pedro. ### Historic Sites To Be Marked By Committee

By Charles F. Hinds

Twenty-three new historic sites were selected to be marked by the Kentucky Historic Highway Markers Committee in its last meeting at the Old State House.

The sites include:

Falls of the Ohio at Louisville; Jephtha's Knob, a volcanic-erupted plateau in Shelby county; the Greenburg courthouse in Green county, built in 1803 and said to be the oldest courthouse building still standing in Kentucky.

The Mary Ingle Highway in Campbell county (Mary Ingle, "the first white woman in Kentucky," escaped from the Indians at Big Bone Lick and made her way along this route back to Virginia); Lower Blue Licks, a salt spring, the site of Daniel Boone's capture by the Indians in 1778, and near Blue Licks State Park.

The Peewee Valley Confederate cemetery, the only state cemetery for Kentucky veterans who fought with the South; Glen Lily, the Hart county home of Gen. Simon Bolivar, Confederate general and later governor of Kentucky; the Battle of Ivy mountains, fought in November of 1861, along the Big Sandy in Eastern Kentucky.

Contrary to what many Kentuckians think, the first legislature met neither in Danville nor in Frankfort, but in Lexington, June 4, 1792, in a two-story building between Broadway and Mill on Main street. That site is to be marked in the near future.

Other historic places to be marked are the birthplaces of John G. Carlisle, speaker of the house and secretary of the treasury under president Cleveland and of John J. Crittenden, United States representative, senator, and attorney general and governor of Kentucky; Gethsemane in Nelson county; Iron Furnace in Bath county; and Crab Orchard, an early station and later a popular resort.

Retarded Children Gain $3,426, Auction Result, Council Chairman Says

Bert T. Combs, chairman of the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children, said this week that the radio auction staged last week to raise funds for these handicapped tots resulted in a net of $3,426.

This local contribution will make the Council eligible for further aid from funds raised by the Crusade for Children staged recently by The Courier-Journal and Times and WHAS, Louisville.

Special mention of help to the radio auction was made this week, citing employees of the Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright, for their contribution of $800, and Mrs. Dora Stephens, of Radio Station WPRF, for her work in making the event a success.

The full list of contributors will be published in The Times next week.

Graham Says New York Crusade Shows Time Ripe For Religious Revival

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK — Now that the stress and the stir is over, Billy Graham can look back on his New York crusade, the largest single evangelistic venture in recorded history, and size up what he sees as its implication for America.

"I believe God has given us a moment in history," he said. "It is a time of opportunity and harvest for Christianity."

The evangelist has had most of a month of seclusion at his home in Montreat, N. C., to reflect on the summer-long outpouring of huge New York crowds to hear the Gospel. He said he's done "a lot of thinking" about what it all meant.

"The first thing I did," he said, "was to go up in the woods on the mountain, and thank the Lord for what He had done in New York—for doing what I hardly had the faith could be done."

In retrospect, Graham said, there are vital lessons to be gained.

All in all, attendance at the 16-week crusade totaled more than two million, with costs running nearly three million dollars, and about 50,000 making "decisions for Christ," which adds up to the biggest, most expensive, longest consecutive, evangelistic drive known.

Graham, now back in the metropolitan area conducting some suburban rallies, said the astonishing crusade response is a persuasive sign to him that the time is ripe for religious revival across the land.

"It is time for the churches to move in and capitalize on the opportunity God has given us before the night closes in," he said. "The time is now—it may be too late tomorrow."

A gnawing question, he said, one that has troubled him and which many peoples have raised in recent times, is this: Why the increased crime, the grim buildup of annihilating weapons, the cataclysmic racial strife if a true religious awakening is in the making?

In his meditations, Graham said, his mind has turned to Scriptures saying that when "sin abounds, grace does much more abound," and had come to this conclusion:

"When God moves, the diabolical forces of evil also move. It is a violent backlash of Satan. He is stirred and made angry by what is happening in this country. It is the violent reaction of forces of evil to the mighty movement of the spirit of God."

Considering the issues at stake, he said, "this is the most strategic and urgent hour in the history of the world."

"The key to peace—the key possible to saving humanity from annihilation—lies in the hands of the churches."

He noted that there had been numerous criticisms of the crusade. "Every movement that is this large has its critics," he said. "Some of my greatest critics are my greatest friends. Some of the criticisms were justified. But some, I think, were those of self-righteous pharisees."

He ticked off some of the criticisms and his comments on them:

1. The use of statistics on crowds and decision cards.

"I loathe statistics. I wish we didn't have to have them. But we use them first, because its biblical. In the Bible, even the people at Pentecost were counted, and in many other instances—even the seize of the armies."

"Secondly, it's necessary for accuracy."

He said, in his early career, he tried not using statistics, but found that exaggerated reports were often printed.

2. The crusade was too expensive. "Yes, it cost nearly three million dollars, the highest ever. . . . But you've got to remember this is a time of inflation. Besides, how do you value one soul? Jesus said it's worth the whole world."

3. Many who made "decisions for Christ" already were identified with a church.

"That is true, but evangelism of members is a first duty of the church. We should thank God that they have rededicated themselves — and put them to work. Moreover, there was a percentage — 18 per cent — who had no ties whatever with any church; and 30 to 40 per cent of them did not attend church regularly."

4. Graham's preaching is oversimplified.

"It seems to me that a sermon must be presented simply if it is to be understood by a sinner who knows nothing about it."

Appraising the over-all results of the crusade, Graham said:

"New York City outwardly is no different. Times Square and the night clubs are still full. Crime runs rampant. But in the lives of many people, there has been a quiet revolution in the heart. Its months, or even years, but I believe it will be felt."

High Enrollment Reported At UK

The University of Kentucky has recorded for the second consecutive year an all-time high fall enrollment for the 92-year-old institution — 8,794 students.

This figure represents an increase of 669 students over the record of 8,125 set last year, according to Dr. Charles F. Elton, UK dean of admissions and registrar.

The 8,794 includes all persons registering for credit on the campus in Lexington, as well as at the Northern Center in Covington and at the Ashland Center.

A breakdown of the total figure shows 7,629 students on the campus, 720 at the Northern Center, and 445 in Ashland.

Not included in the total are more than 400 persons taking non-credit evening work in Lexington through extended programs, and 200 enrolled for non-credit courses at Covington and Ashland.

In addition to the above breakdown, approximately 2,600 persons throughout Kentucky are engaged in home study courses offered through correspondence programs.

WEEKSBURY

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bickford and children, of Pikeville, visited Mrs. Bickford's mother, Mrs. Susie Crayman, and Mr. and Mrs. John Barnatt, Sunday.

W. R. Campbell returned Saturday from Louisville where he attended the national mine rescue and first-aid meet.

Mrs. Shelia Mollett and daughter, Faun, who have been living in Wharton, W. Va., have returned to Weeksbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock Fraley and Joan and Paul Edward, of Stockdale, Ohio, spent the weekend in Weeksbury visiting their daughter, Mrs. Orville Blevins, and Mr. Blevins and sons, Ray and Douglas. Ira Frazier and daughter, Valetta, were in Pikeville Saturday.

Ralph Green, president of the Weeksbury P.-T.A. called a meeting Tuesday night of interested people to make plans for the Halloween carnival sponsored by that organization.

377 ACRE FARM TO BE SOLD IN TWO TRACTS

The R. C. and Mary M. Gatewood Home Place

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12

At 10:00 A.M. (C.S.T.) Slow Time

Location: Spencer Road, one mile Southwest of Mt. Sterling, Ky.

This is one of the best located and most fertile farms in this vicinity. "Mr. Bob" Gatewood was a greatly respected and admired farmer and business man. This was his home place and he gave it his very best personal attention. Many hundreds of cattle have been grazed and fed out on this farm, thereby enriching the soil and adding to its already great natural fertility. Every acre of this farm is either in old Blue Grass sod or sowed to Blue Grass. The Blue Grass is abundant and the farm is amply supplied with water.

This farm is truly one of Montgomery County's BEST. The home tract contains 203.52 acres and the other tract 174.12 acres.

Improvements consists of a lovely old home of 8 rooms and basement, with two baths, running water and furnace heat. Caretaker's cabin in yard. The home is situated in a setting of great natural beauty, overlooking the surrounding country side.

Also has an extra good nearly new 44 by 72 ft. Barn, on concrete foundation with Silo and Stripping Room. A large granary, and machinery shed, and numerous outbuildings, on the Home residence tract.

The other tract has a 4-room house and a 6-room house and an unusually good 132 x 48 foot tobacco barn, plus several outbuildings.

TOBACCO allotment totals 7.85 acres, with 4.24 acres on the home tract and 3.61 acres on other tract.

TERMS: 10% day of sale, balance to be paid with deed not later than January 1, 1958. For further information or to inspect the properties, see or call the Selling Agents.

DID MR. MOORE MEET HIS RESPONSIBILITY?

"All elections must be free and equal and fair . . . It goes without saying that an incumbent County Clerk, who is a candidate for office, finds himself in an extremely high position of trust and responsibility . . . We think there is even more reason in the case before us . . . to require those in charge of the absentee ballots, the appellant and her deputies, to show that the balloting was conducted legally, and that all requirements of the law to ensure its fairness, at least, were met substantially."

Those are excerpts from the opinion delivered by the Court of Appeals last week in upholding the Monroe county circuit court in its rejection of an entire batch of absentee ballots when it was shown that absentee-ballot frauds were widespread in the county.

The clerk of Monroe county is a woman, but the absentee balloting there was of a pattern so similar to Floyd county's in the May primary that every Floyd county voter who believes in honesty and fair play and the responsibility of our elected officials should have a copy of the record of the voting there and of the Appellate Court's opinion, so that they might make an accurate comparison of the methods followed in Monroe to those used in the County Clerk's race in Floyd last May.

How many of the thinking people of Floyd believe that County Clerk DuRan Moore of Floyd county handled the absentee voting at the last primary so that the election was "free and equal and fair"?

Why did DuRan Moore order three sets of Ballot box keys when the law allows only one set? Why did DuRan Moore, Clerk, in violation of the law keep these keys in his possession until (one Election Commissioner stated under oath) the day before the election? Why did the Floyd County Election Commissioners refuse to tabulate and count some 80 absentee ballots? Their reason was on account of irregularities and fraud, as stated in The Floyd County Times.

Does a County Clerk who accepts his office as a position of "extremely high . . . trust and responsibility" permit any one person to take out, or to receive by mail or otherwise, 15 or 20 ballots to be voted by absentees? Testimony in the case of Meade vs. Moore stated under oath that one man received 14 or 15 such ballots.

If a County Clerk is aware of his position of trust and responsibility and wants a free and equal and fair election such as the Court of Appeals calls for, would he send ballots out to his Deputy Clerks? Why not send them to the person who proposed to use the ballot—the voter himself?

Why do you suppose that an honorable citizen such as A. L. (Dock) Prater, of Lackey, was disfranchised by an absentee ballot being voted by somebody who used his name, without his knowledge or consent? Mr. Prater stated in an affidavit that he first learned this had happened when he went to the precinct and called for his ballot.

Would you, shutting your eyes to the evidence, say that DuRan Moore was innocent and that only these Deputy Clerks of his violated the law? Remember this: The County Clerk orders the ballots printed, he receives them from the printer, they are in his custody till they are sent out to the precincts (or to absentee voters). He is altogether responsible for their careful handling. The responsibility belongs to no other person.

Would you be willing for the blame to be thrown onto some "Little" fellow out in the precinct and to say that the man in charge of the ballots was innocent?

Do you think that absentees' hearts just naturally grow fonder of DuRan Moore to the exclusion of any other candidate? See what a vote he received from the absentees . . . those who lived elsewhere and those who never left the county to vote by that method. . .

For Moore—190.

For Meade—71.

For Howard—37.

Must a law be made air-tight to get an official of our county to do this right and the honorable thing?

We ask you these questions, because we feel that now is the time when people should do some serious thinking about this matter.

The highest court in this state has said that it should be the responsibility of the County Clerk to show that the balloting was conducted legally. Were these methods that were used in the primary last May legal?

Let's have an end of this tightrope-walking with the law. In the name of decency in government, in law and order, let us elect as County Court Clerk at the November 5th election a young woman who did not "cut her teeth on politics" and who will give every citizen and every candidate his full due.

of-way would not cost the city more than $3,400, including removal of power and telephone lines from the Second street fill where the protection construction would center.

In addition to the easements that must be procured at local expenses, $22,000 must be raised locally before the Huntington office, U. S. Corps of Engineers, will advertise for bids. November 1 has been talked as the date for such advertising.

An attempt will be made to raise the local contribution by private subscription, it was said.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said last Friday he had accepted the $4,000 offered him for easements over his property, but Mayor Harry Sandige insisted that statement was made after he had informed Fitzpatrick that the Council had authorized him to offer him no more than $1,100. Mr. Fitzpatrick's statement follows:

"In the beginning I thought any decision I would make would be open to criticism because I own in my own right the place where the flood control project would be constructed and also a one-half interest in property on Court street that is affected by these floods.

"It was my suggestion from the beginning that impartial or agreed-upon appraisers appraise the property and establish the value. This suggestion was not followed. I was first notified that condemnation suit would be filed if I could not agree to the price offered by the Council or its representative. A $4,000 offer was made by one who, I presume, represented the Council, but still desiring not to use my own judgment as to the value of the property I insisted on impartial or agreed-upon appraisers.

"Because the Council has felt it should not employ such appraisers, it is my conclusion that to end the confusion and promote the good of the city that I accept the offer of Mayor Harry Sandige of $4,000 as the price of the property."

If conditions outlined by the federal government are met locally, the work to be done would protect most of Prestonsburg from all floods except those rising to the height of last January's.

ASC ELECTION DATE, NOV. 29

Polling Procedures Outlined by Lafferty

J. L. Lafferty, Sr., chairman of the Floyd county ASC committee announced this week that elections for ASC community committeemen will be held November 8 and that the person who is elected the chairman of each community election will be declared the voting delegate to the county ASC convention to be held November 29.

Mr. Lafferty said there has been a number of changes in this year's election procedure that should be brought to the attention of every farmer. He listed the following as a general outline for the conduct of these elections:

The Floyd county ASC election board which will be in charge of the general conduct of these elections will be composed of Robert Jones, county agricultural extension agent as chairman, L. R. Johnson, head of the Soil Conservation Service, Hugh Phillips, Farmers Home Administration representative, and Henry Hale, head of the county Farm Bureau. This committee will meet October 7, to designate polling places for the elections. They will also select a community election board composed of three farmers living in each community. Each community election board will then meet, prior to October 14, to select a slate of not less than 10 eligible farmers as nominees for community committeemen. In addition to these 10 nominees, there will be included on the ballot the names of any eligible farmers whose nomination is requested in a petition signed by 10 or more eligible voters and is presented to the chairman of the community election board not later than Oct. 23. Voting at each community election will be continuous for an eight-hour period and the person receiving the highest number of votes in each community will be declared the chairman and delegate to the county committee election, the person receiving the second highest number of votes will be declared vice chairman and alternate delegate.

In all, five persons will be elected, which will include a regular member and two alternate community committeemen. On November 29, the chairman of each community committee will meet in a convention to select the county ASC committeemen who will administer the county ASC programs for the next year.

Mr. Lafferty added that persons who desire further information concerning these elections should contact the county ASC office or write the state ASC office at Mill and Maxwell street in Lexington for a detailed set of ASC election instructions.

Barbourville To Turn History's Pages Back; Cherokees Will Help

More than 12,000 people are expected to see another Daniel Boone Festival this coming Friday and Saturday, October 11-12, when Barbourville turns back the pages of history 175 years and re-enacts colonial life for two days.

Highlighting the festival will be the annual pioneer parade to begin at 1 p.m. (E.S.T.) on Saturday afternoon. Seeking to capture frontier life in all stages, the march will include covered wagons, yokes of oxen, Indians, the frontier school, and many modern innovations. Aubrey Chestnut, parade chairman, has scheduled high school bands from many sections of Eastern Kentucky who will compete for the $100 prize and trophy with $50 and $25 going to the second and third place winners.

Fifty Cherokee Indians from the Qualla Reservation, Cherokee, N. C., will arrive in Barbourville on Friday afternoon for the signing of the historic Cane Treaty at the annual Indian Feast that evening to begin at 6 p.m. in the Barbourville high school gymnasium.

That night there will be the selection of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boone, the telling of authentic folk tales by Dr. Leonard Roberts, native Floyd countian, who is president of the Kentucky Folklore Society and professor at Union College; a minuet by Mr. and Mrs. John Lehrberger, professional dancers, and ballad singing by college and high school students. The Cherokees from the high school group will end the program with native dances.

Square dance teams from Stuart Robinson high and Sue Bennett College will perform downtown that evening.

Saturday morning's program includes contests in hog calling, husband calling, muzzle loading, and husking bees. Department store windows will present a million-dollar antique display sponsored by the civic clubs and local citizens.

Today the National Park System administers 182 parks, monuments and other historic sites in the United States.

V. A. Smiley and Family Deserve Your Support

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

We, the members of the Committee that has recently been formed for the purpose of promoting the election of V. A. "Varney" Smiley for Jailer of this County, take this means of letting the people know who he is, how he stands as to Honesty, Sobriety, Morality and all the assets required of a good citizen in the community in which he lives.

The best way to find out about any man is from his neighbors and the people who know him best, and that is what we want you to do in this case. We feel that it is the duty of every citizen to make a diligent inquiry about any candidate before casting their vote and in this case we have no doubt but that you will gladly vote for Varney Smiley. We have known Mr. Smiley and his wonderful family for a number of years and know of no one who NEEDS and DESERVES the office more than he. Many of you people do not know Varney personally for the reason that you do not have the opportunity to see him often, because you will either find him at home with his family or at his work, for he has no time to loaf.

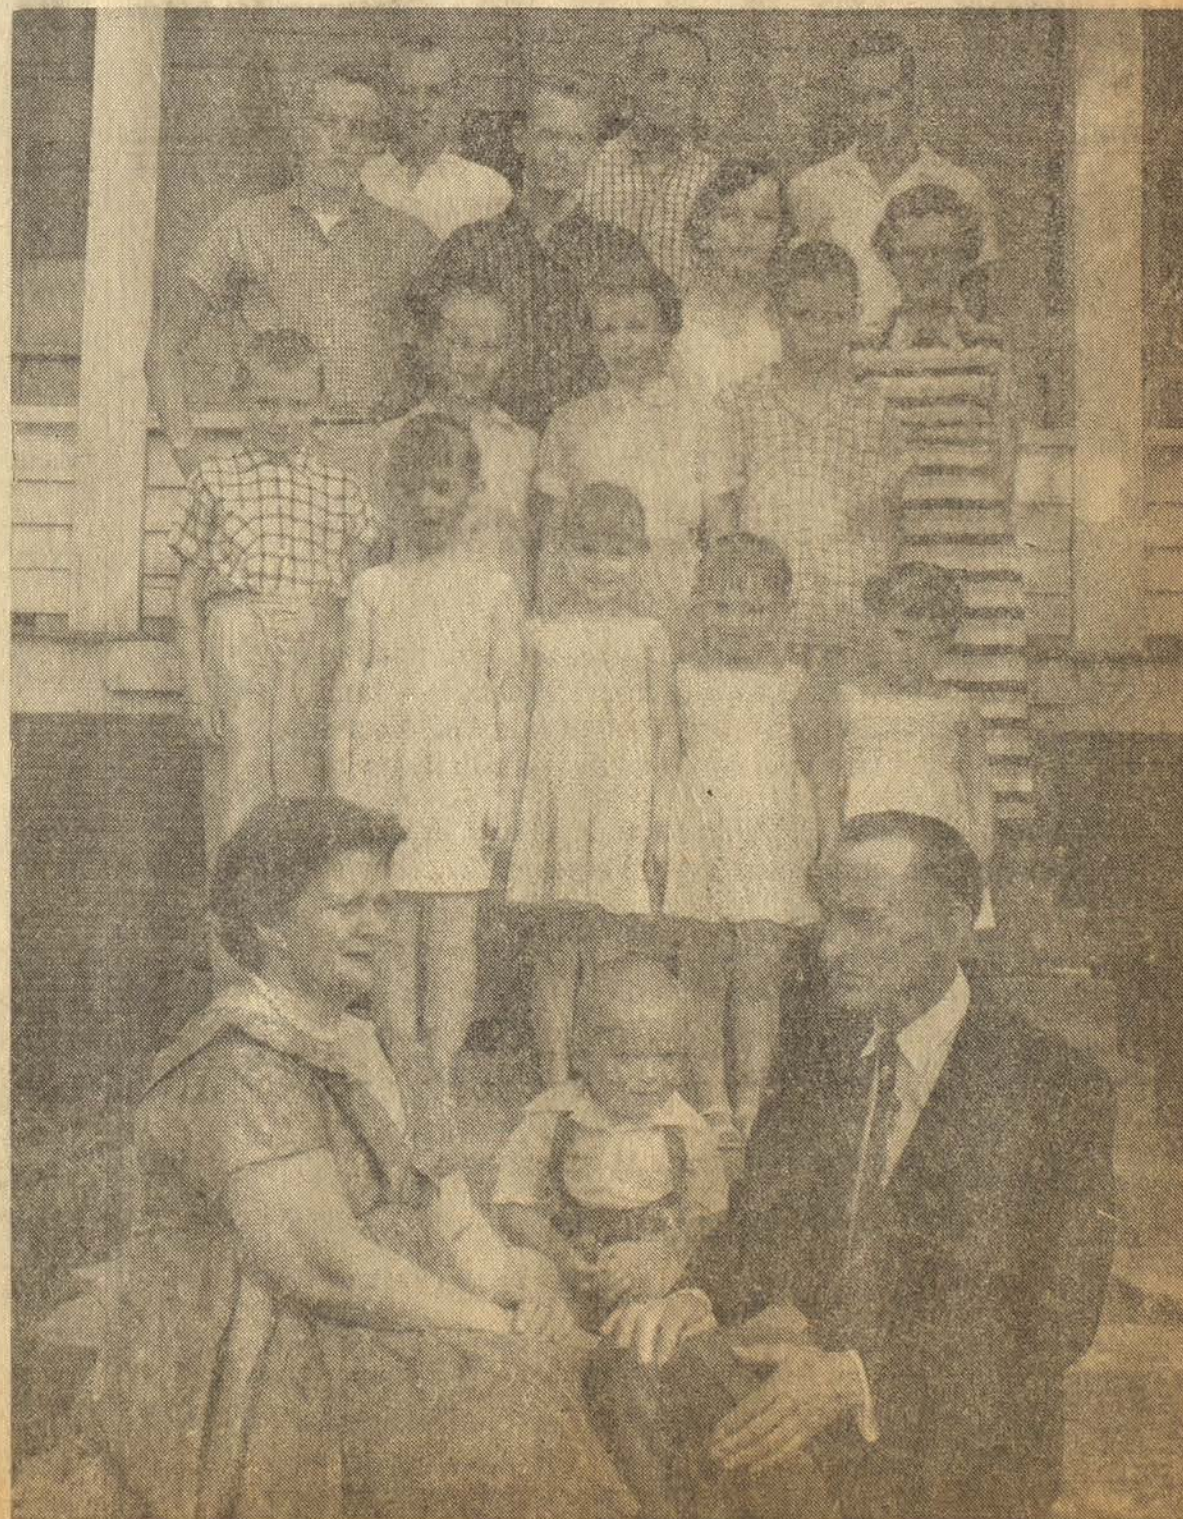

We doubt if there has ever been many men in this county who have asked the people to vote for them for office that have borne the hardships and obstacles that he has encountered. He has never been a strong man physically, has had several major operations, but some way or other he has managed to rear and educate this family of sixteen children. Varney has always conducted himself in such a way that whenever he needed help he had no trouble getting it. It is the intention of this committee to do our best to acquaint the people with the facts in this case and that is what we intend to do between now and the election. We do not think that politics has any bearing whatever in this case, for we know when the good people of this county make up their minds to do a thing, they always do it and LET'S NOT FAIL THIS GOOD MAN.

It would be fine if you all could visit his home and see how mannerly and neat all the children are and the cleanliness of the house, and have the pleasure of meeting and talking to his good wife. We know that you wonder how they have managed to get along, but his wife will be able to enlighten you on this. We have noticed that the boys will be selling papers, shining shoes or doing any kind of work that is honorable as soon as they are large enough to do so in order to help the rest of the family. But bear in mind that this is done before and after school hours. They have never neglected their education. They have all made top grades from kindergarten through college. This family is loved and respected by all who know them.

Varney was born and reared in the Prater Creek section of the county, is the son of the late A. L. Smiley, and his mother was an Akers. He is related to most all of the families in the Mud Creeks and eastern part of the county and many of his relatives are scattered to all parts of the county. His wife is the daughter of Sherrid and Cordelia Stewart Spradlin who both reside in Prestonsburg. Her grandfather was the late Henry Stewart, her grandmother was a Martin and her great-grandmother was a Turner from Left Beaver Creek. You can see that the relationship of this fine couple numbers in the thousands and live in all parts of the county. But we do not ask you to vote for this good man because of this fine relationship. We ask you to vote for him for what he is, what he has meant to this community and county and for the fine example that he and his family have set for the future of your boys and girls.

We beg you to make a thorough investigation of this matter before casting your vote, and go to the polls and cast a vote that you will always be proud of, knowing that you have done something to make things just a bit easier for this good man and his family. DO NOT FAIL AT THIS OPPORTUNE TIME.

The contests were sponsored jointly by the United States Bureau of Mines, the United Mine Workers, and the coal industry.

The first-place Lynch team received Congressional medallions presented by the Bureau of Mines and trophies presented by the Mine Workers Union at a banquet in the Sheraton-Seelbach hotel.

Second- and third-place trophies were presented by the National Coal Association and Mine Safety Appliances Company.

Competing in the mine-rescue contest were five teams from Kentucky, two from West Virginia, and one from Pennsylvania.

The Wyoming Mine first-aid team of Island Creek Coal Company, Holden, W. Va., was awarded top honors in the national first-aid competition.

Second was Robena No. 2 Mine, U. S. Steel Corporation, Frick District, Uniontown, Pa. Third was Georgetown No. 12 Mine, Hanna Coal Company division of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, Cadiz, Ohio.

Winner of a combination first-aid and mine-rescue contest was Frick District Mine, U. S. Steel, Uniontown, Pa.

Mrs. Gladys Haywood died at the Sheldon Memorial hospital, Albion, Mich., Sept. 18, after having been seriously ill since the first of the month.

Mrs. Haywood was born in Floyd county, April 17, 1913, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charley Howard. On March 29, 1928, she was married to Kelly Haywood at Prestonsburg.

In 1952 Mr. and Mrs. Haywood moved to Albion from Prestonsburg and were employed at the Corning Glass Works.

Surviving, besides her husband, are one son, Arvil, at home, five daughters, Mrs. Buster Mullins, Albion, Mich., Mrs. Carl Fitzpatrick, Springport, Mich., Mrs. Garfield Pope, Albion, Mich., Mrs. Forrest Hanks, Kalamazoo, Mich., Mrs. Fred Riddles, Albion; three brothers, Walter and Wernie Howard, Warsaw, Indiana, and Ashland Howard, Prestonsburg, three sisters, Mrs. Viola Bradley, Warsaw, Ind., Mrs. Lola Shepherd, Parma, Mich., and Mrs. Maudie Howard, of Gunlock and nine grandchildren.

Funeral rites were held at the King & Helrigel Home for Funerals, September 21 at 10 a. m., the Rev. Milton H. Endean, pastor of the Eaton Street Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was made in Albion Memory Gardens.

Lexington Cemetery is the burial place of many of Lexington's illustrious men, including James Lane Allen, John C. Breckinridge, John Hunt Morgan and Henry Clay.

Martin as a candidate. She accepted the petition after a conference with Assistant Attorney General Herdman who assured her signatures of only 100 voters are required in a legislative race.

The race that has thus shaped up between Howell and Martin is for the unexpired term of the late Senator Doug Hays, of McDowell, Mr. Howell was nominated by the district Democratic executive committee.

Meanwhile, printing of the ballots is held up as a special judge to hear the suit for declaratory judgment filed by Mr. Martin last week will not arrive here till Thursday. The case will be heard this afternoon (Thursday) by Special Judge Marion Rider, of Frankfort.

If Judge Rider rules that names of the Senatorial candidates shall appear on the regular November ballot, the ballots will be printed without the Senatorial candidates' names at first, in order for ballots in time for absentees to receive would be reprinted to include the ballots. Then, when the 10-day filing limit is reached, the ballots would be reprinted to include the names of the Senatorial candidates.

Supporters of Howell claim that, since he is the Democratic nominee, his name belongs with the other Democratic nominees. Martin claims that a special ballot is needed for the special election and that the re-printing procedure suggested or planned would be unfair to him, expensive and impractical.

Mental Health Workshops Now in Progress

Frankfort, Oct. 1 (Spl.)—Hazel Green Academy in Wolfe county and Lees Junior College, Jackson, are the sites of two workshops on mental health nursing conducted by the Kentucky Department of Mental Health.

"Both workshops are concerned with mental education," Miss Ball said. "We are discussing personality development as it is related to the home and school environments."

The workshop in Hazel Green, which began Sept. 19, meets each Thursday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock, twenty persons are enrolled in the eight-week course. Nineteen members participate in the Saturday morning sessions at Lees Junior College. The workshop, composed mostly of teachers from Breathitt, Perry, Wolfe, Magoffin and Leslie counties, gives three hours of college credit for satisfactory completion. Beginning Sept. 14, the workshop will continue through the fall semester.

Early Kentucky Silver Work Now Put on Exhibit

Two special displays greet visitors to the State Historical Museum as they move from the front hall of the Old State House to the self-supporting staircase of the rotunda. The displays are changed periodically. The present display on the left is "Joel T. Hart," Kentucky's best-known sculptor. On the right is an exhibit of early Kentucky silver, featuring the craftsmanship of Asa Blanchard of Lexington.

Blanchard is so well-known that he is often erroneously cited as being Kentucky's first silversmith. Blanchard was superseded in Kentucky by such artisans as Edward West (the first silversmith) David Humphrey, Samuel Ayers, George Smart, Thomas Christy, William Todd, Robert Frazier and James Robert. But the Lexington master deserves his reputation above all Kentucky's silversmiths. While many of his fellow-workers restricted themselves to the manufacture of spoons, Asa Blanchard turned out excellent silver both in great variety and quantities and, therefore, is easily Kentucky's foremost early silversmith.

A special effort was made, in the Kentucky Historical Society display of 17 silver items and groups fashioned by Blanchard, to illustrate the versatility and craftsmanship which has made his silver outstanding. Among the items are a christening bowl, an oversize cup with handle, a soup ladle, a butter knife, a coffin-handle dessert spoon, a salt spoon, and a few of his julep cups, tea pots, and teaspoons.

It comes as quite a surprise to those who learn for the first time that very little is known about the life of Kentucky's foremost silversmith. The pertinent facts are few. He was in Lexington as early as 1808. (One authority recently told this author that he has proof that Asa Blanchard was in Lexington in 1806). According to contemporary newspapers, he died in 1838.

Besides Blanchard's silver, the historical society has selected representative pieces by 18 other early Kentucky craftsmen and has on exhibit some rare tools used by some of these first silversmiths.

P.-T.A. MEETS

September meeting of the Wheelwright P.-T.A. was held in the grade school auditorium, Elmer Ferguson, the new president, presided. He introduced the other officers, London Rowe, vice-president, Kathleen Hager, secretary, and Steve Clark, treasurer. Mr. Ferguson asked the help of all parents and teachers to make this a record year for the organization.

Aims of the P.-T.A. this year are: Help supply encyclopedias for the four upper grades so that each room will have its own and to supply some supplementary readers for the lower grades. It was voted to supply milk to all underprivileged children in the grades.

New teachers were introduced and the roll call showed a tie with two teachers at the grade school and Charles Curry, sponsor of the senior class in high school having the most parents present. The P.-T.A. is planning a Halloween carnival.

Boys and girls entering school elsewhere are: Gail Holbrook, Judy Rupe, Jill Leatherman, Sallie and Jane Clark, Patty Deal, Larry Hughes, Jimmie Joe Hall, Eddie Baker, Carl (Bucky) Thomas, Henry Marvin Wilkinson, III, Johnny McNeil and Beeman Cummings.

After completing basic training in the army at Fort Gordon, Georgia, Tom Adams, James Caldwell and Luther Claire enjoyed a short furlough with their parents who reside here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Jones attended the football game at the University of Kentucky the past week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Blair and children visited friends in Cincinnati and attended the baseball game the past week-end.

The many friends of Mrs. Kenneth Moore wish her a speedy recovery from surgery which she underwent at Lexington.

The Girl Scouts are getting under way, with their weekly meetings being held in the Girl Scout room. There are five Girl Scout troops in Wheelwright.

Wheelwright is losing two of its oldest residents, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Bailey. They have resided here for the past 37 years. Dr. Bailey has delivered nearly 2,000 babies. They were honored with a party by their many friends and more than 250 persons attended. Gifts were presented to the Baileys, including a key to the city. Dr. and Mrs. Bailey will be moving to their new home in Ashland, around October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Daugherty, of Brookline, Mass., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lussier.

Mrs. Julia Wyskivers has returned from a brief visit with her daughter, Anna Lou Tinder, who is living with her husband at Langley Air Force Base in Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Tinder are the parents of a new daughter, Sandra Lee.

CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland woman's club met September 23 at 7:00 p.m. in the clubhouse with Mrs. Harry Shuman and Mrs. S. M. Martin as hostesses. The business session was conducted by Mrs. Earl Castle, club president. Plans and programs for the coming club year were announced. Mrs. George E. Evans and Mrs. N. D. Howard were asked to solicit the stories for items to be given for the benefit of the Floyd county Retarded school program.

A rummage sale is being planned to be held at the clubhouse, date to be announced later.

A letter was read from Mrs. Otto Danburg, Seventh district governor, saying that the district convention will be held at Whitesburg October 10 instead of at Pikeville.

The program was on "Health and How You Can Add Life to your years" and "How to prepare for Retirement." These topics were discussed briefly by Mrs. J. C. Wells and Mrs. Ellen Hornsby.

The club is proud to announce that it has completed the organization of the Magoffin county woman's club of Salyersville, and plans are now being made for that new club to be federated and to receive its charter at the convention at Whitesburg. This adds another daughter to the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland club's record.

The next club meeting will be October 7 at 7:00 p.m. Program, business meeting and planning finances for 1957-1958 will be led by Mrs. L. B. Price. Hostesses will be Mrs. Delbert Sloane and Mrs. Milton Trusty.

FLOYD SPENDS $17 MILLION

Goods and Services Purchases in County Up to Gross Quota

Special to the Times
NEW YORK, Oct. 2—In terms of personal consumption of goods and services, Floyd county is contributing its full share toward the nation's gross national product. This is the case, despite certain ups and downs in the local economy.

The story is told in government statistics, including the Census of Business, and in national marketings studies.

The gross national product (GNP), which is the measure of the productive capacity of the country, is the dollar value of all goods and services purchased. In the past year, for the first time, it passed the magic $400 billion mark to set a new high, $412 billion.

The record for the break-through is given almost entirely to personal consumer spending, which amounted to $265 billion, or 64 percent of the total. Compared with this giant in our economy, spending for national defense and for the other operations of government, which are also part of the GNP, are of secondary importance.

Floyd county's contribution to the year's record production was $17,477,000, the studies show. It consisted of $16,627,000 in purchases of goods of all sorts at the local retail stores and $850,000 in outlays for the various kinds of services detailed in the Census of Business.

Part of the increase in the GNP is attributed to inflation. Some economists estimate that nearly half of it is due to higher prices. The rest is ascribed to larger average incomes that have created a net gain in buying power.

Now that the $400 billion economy has been achieved, the sights are being set higher. The goal now is $500 billion within five years. According to present indications, it will be achieved easily. A rapidly growing population with its need of new homes, new cars and new products of every description will revitalize present markets and stimulate vast production.

What will be Floyd county's quota in attaining the $500 billion mark? To contribute its share of the GNP, as at present, it would have to consume 25 percent more of goods and services, a total of $21,800,000 a year.

Installation Is Held For Wayland O.E.S.

Installation of officers took place in the Masonic Temple, of the Wayland Star chapter No. 434, O.E.S. Thursday evening, September 19, with Mrs. Thelma Jones, district deputy grand matron of order of Eastern Star, serving as installing officer.

Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, a past matron of Wayland star chapter, was installing Marshall, Mrs. Maxine Martin, chaplain.

Officers installed were: Patricia DeCoursey, Worthy Matron; Rudolph Spencer, Worthy Patron; Sharon Fraley, Associate Matron; Arthur Haywood, Associate Patron; Florance Pack, Secretary; Jessie Martin, Treasurer; Katherine Hughes, Conductress; LaFaye Bamer, Associate Conductress; Chaplain, Hazel Vinson; Marshall, Lucille Ratliff; Organist, Elvoir Hiney; Adah, Roberta Sloan; Ruth, Joyce Childers; Esther, Helen Scott; Martha, Ruth Francis; Electa, Margie Long; Warder, June DeCoursey; Sentinel, Ralph Hiney.

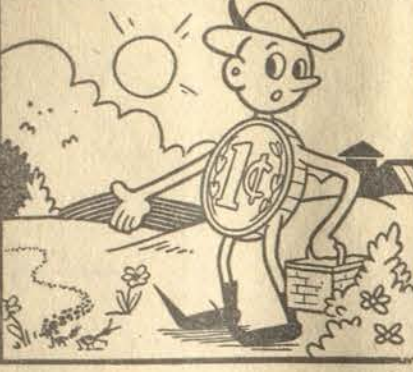

Following the installation, Mrs. Jones, and John W. Hall, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, gave interesting talks on the works of the chapters and lodges of Kentucky.

After the chapter closed, refreshments and social hour was enjoyed by all.

Next regular meeting of the chapter will be October 3. All members are urged to attend. Names will be drawn for Sunshine pals for new year.

straight talk... about electric heat

What is Electric Heat?
Electric heat is based on the same principle as your electric toaster. Built-in-wires or panels absorb heat from electricity and radiate it evenly throughout every square inch of room area. As pictured at the right, the wires or panels can be installed — easily and economically — in baseboards, walls or ceilings.

BASEBOARD UNITS

What are the advantages of Electric Heat?
Electric heat is as clean as electric light — odorless, dustless, noiseless. Electric heat eliminates drafts, cold floors, unevenly heated rooms. Electric heat provides a temperature control in every room. Electric heat eliminates fuel storage problems — electricity is always at your fingertips. Electric heat gives quick gentle warmth automatically.

The Indomitable Spirit of Alice G. Lloyd of The Caney Creek Community Center Marches On To Fame

On Sunday, September 29, 1957, in the afternoon in my home and while hearing the voices of many of the Alumni over the radio, a vivid thought came to my mind of the indomitable spirit and perseverance of that wonderful, grand old lady, Alice G. Lloyd, who has spent more than forty years of her eighty among these rough, rugged hills of eastern Kentucky in an effort to polish the diamonds that are these boys and girls who live here among these sacred hills.

I know that it was with a determination and a persevering spirit that placed her behind that old Oliver typewriter in an effort to raise funds in order that the light might shine in that community as it had never done before. That old typewriter should be more mightier to her students than a two-edged sword. It should be very sacred to each of them for the good it has done for them. This grand and enlightened lady has brought better living conditions and fame among her students who have gone into all parts of the United States and professionally they are making their mark among men. I can imagine seeing many boys and girls trudging their way over those hills in an honest effort and who were hungry to enter that school, many scantily clothed, with a few books, no money, but with a determination in their hearts to do something in this world worthwhile. She has made many parents happy through their children who otherwise would never had an opportunity worthwhile or had their just chance in life.

The writer knows all about hardships of the mountain boys and girls. He has been one himself, walking many miles to old log school-houses with a few books, sometimes with only one. All the mountain boys and girls need is an opportunity to show their worth and what they can do when the opportunity presents itself. It is only by reflection that we derive a just appreciation of the value of perseverance. When we see how much can be accomplished in any given direction by man or woman but of average ability who resolutely perseveres in the course or action, adopted as the ruling purpose of their lives, we then arrive at a just estimate of the value of perseverance as a factor of success. All the performance of human art, at which we look with praise or wonder, are instances of the restless force of perseverance.

May God in His infinite wisdom bless this grand, old lady of the mountains who has devoted a lifetime of service to the upbuilding of human character in her boys and girls in order that their lives may shine more brightly and that they may make their mark in this world and its affairs. My hope is that she will be crowned in glory to which she is justly entitled. When Mrs. Lloyd is gone from this terrestrial sphere, I have no doubt in my mind that her spirit will live on in the lives of her students, and that they will never forget. My hope is that she will live for many years yet to come and when she is gone, we may say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

I am sincerely yours,

FOR DICK SPURLOCK FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

My cousin, Dick Spurlock, is a candidate for Circuit Court Clerk and I want everybody to know that I am 100% behind him and all of my people are doing everything they can for him. I would take it as a personal favor, and I am sure that Dick would be grateful for your support.

IT IS TIME WE ALL GET BEHIND DICK SPURLOCK AND ELECT HIM FOR CIRCUIT COURT CLERK.

HENRY REPLIED... BUT GAVE NO ANSWERS!

Now, Henry, the smoke screen you put out called Stumbo Answers has blown away and the questions are still unanswered. I'm afraid your Ghost Writer may be interested in protecting himself more than anyone else. His article titled Stumbo Answers was camouflage and evasion. The questions are still unanswered.

Yes, Henry, I have read the record. Here is what it says in reference to the obligation of the county.

Page 258 Section 9 order book 6, "It is the intention of this order and resolution that the bonds herein authorized shall be considered to be issued by and to be the obligation of the County of Floyd.

Section 8 of the order you signed reads:

"If there be any default in payment of the principal or interest on any of said bonds then upon filing of a suit by any bondholder of said bonds or any of the coupons any court having jurisdiction of the action may appoint a receiver to administer said project on behalf of the county." This was written by Louisville and Cincinnati lawyers. This document may be found on Page 256 order book 6 is provided that the county will even insure the property against fire, windstorm, and other calamities. In Section 7 page 257 the county covenants and agrees that it will faithfully and punctually perform all duties with reference to said project required by the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Kentucky including THE MAKING AND COLLECTING OF REASONABLE AND SUFFICIENT RATES.

I leave the above to the judgment of the Voters—and not to Henry and his background-ghost.

I regret the necessity of having to ask the same questions over and over, but it seems to me like the Judge just don't want you and me to know the answers to these simple, easy, fair questions that every taxpayer is interested in.

- (1) Who originated the idea of the county going into the gas and water business in the first place.
- (2) Who made the profit of approximately $62,500 on the Wayland deal?
- (3) Who made the profit of $33,000 on Allen-Dwale?
- (4) Who reaped the big profit on the Garrett-Bosco deal of approximately $35,000?
- (5) Who set the interest rate at 5% Judge and then allows a 10% discount on the bonds.
- (6) Who reaped the big profit on the Weeksbury junk deal of approximately $22,000?

Henry Stumbo says that no one put up $5,000 to keep the water and gas system out of the red. I say they did and for that information I am indebted to a newsstory in the Floyd County Times and to the audit report of Allen & Hager who noted it when it was made. Somebody put $5,000 in the system to make it show a profit. Even the auditors didn't know, the officers of the system do not know where the money came from. Maybe Santa Claus did it. We want to know who donated $5,000 to the sick gas and water outfits just before election?

In his so-called answer Judge Stumbo says: "I am sure the records will not disclose that I at any time ever received one dime by reason of the purchase of the Water & Gas System. . ." I have never said the records disclosed it, but I have said, and I'll say again, somebody got plenty.

The people of this water and gas districts will contribute one-half million dollars of their purchasing power in the next 30 years to the New York bond holders. Many Floyd county families will suffer the deprivation due to these excessive rates. All the business of Floyd county will lose this extra purchasing power. Judge Stumbo says he spent $1,500 to defend Floyd county and that it was well spent. I say that had he not entered into this deal without consulting the people of this county, then he would not have had to spend the people's money to defend the county.

GALA OCCASION
 Indians and pioneers galore will be thronging the streets of Barbourville, Oct. 11-12 during the city's annual Daniel Boone Festival.

The affair commemorates the opening of the Kentucky frontier by the White Man, led by Daniel Boone. The Indians will be on hand to sign the historic Cane Treaty, by which the Red Man was given the privilege of gathering cane from nearby brakes.

They'll be real Indians too, from Qualla Indian Reservation, Cherokee, N. C. These Cherokees will stage a pageant and arrow shooting contest along with blow gun matches. An Indian feast banquet will be held.

The public square will ring with fiddle music as square dancers swing into action and the blare of the trumpet as a parade marches through town.

About 10,000 persons may be expected to attend, if past festivals are any indication.

 If you happen to be in Louisville Oct. 16-18 and come upon a gang of nurses, don't think some dignitary, possibly the mayor, has fainted and is receiving first aid.

The Kentucky State Association of Registered Nurses will be holding its meeting there along with the Association of Student Nurses. From 500 to 700 registered nurses and 150 to 200 student nurses are expected.

Waterfield Says More Home Rule Is Sought Cities

Frankfort, Oct. 1 (Spl.) — The state is working for more home rule for its citizens, Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield recently told members of the Kentucky Municipal League's 28th annual conference at Cumberland Falls State Park.

Also under consideration, continued Waterfield, is the creation of a pool of experts who would be available as technical consultants to cities on engineering, financing and other municipal problems.

The pool would be similar to the Tennessee Municipal Technical Advisory Services, the Lt. Governor said.

Regarding home rule Waterfield said, "We in Kentucky have failed to come to grips with one of the basic governmental problems. That is, 'What can state government do to remove unnecessary restrictions on local governments?'"

The Legislative Research Commission is working with University of Kentucky staff members on this problem. Waterfield said, "I hope we can come up with some proposals for home rule for cities."

"In 1920, approximately 26.2 per cent of our population was urban," he added, "but by 1950 the percentage has risen to 36.8 and continues to rise. Our cities must be prepared to handle a considerable influx of people," Waterfield concluded.

LABAN JACKSON SPEAKS TO CONSERVATIONISTS

Frankfort, Oct. 1 (Spl.) — State Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson was the keynote speaker of the 14th annual convention of the Kentucky Association of Soil Conservation Districts at Kentucky Dam State Park.

Commissioner Jackson told the group his department is assisting with the watershed development, tourist industry, forestry program, and numerous other activities which will benefit the Commonwealth.

"Field men with our Division of Flood Control are working to rush inspection of 141 watersheds that have applied for help. We expect to continue the extra chandler crew that Governor Chandler provided money for," he said.

"You also know it has been our policy to make the most of our tourist industry—because that is what it has become in this state—outranked only by tobacco. We are doing a $500,000,000 tourist business here each year," Jackson continued.

"Regarding forestry, we will produce 15 million seedlings this year and hope to develop into a production of 50 million. Fire protection is another important phase of our forestry program," the Commissioner stated.

"There is another project that interests me. We are on the verge of one of the greatest highway programs this state has ever known. We could make Kentucky a state of lakes, many near the highways. We would have water for irrigation, livestock, city and recreation," he said. "This group should give careful consideration to this project while you are gathered here," Jackson said.

GOOD QUARTERBACKING—Thinking about the football season just ahead, it occurred to me that making a Long Distance call is like a good play on the field. When you know the signals—you call by number and your call goes through faster. Also, knowing the right play helps a lot. For instance, often a station-to-station call will serve your purpose just as well as a person-to-person call and is much cheaper. You can save still more by placing your call in the end zone—that's nights after 6 or anytime Sunday. Yessir, you'll come out ahead when you know the signals—call by number—call station-to-station—call after 6 or Sundays.

OPERATION ALERT—Here, as in other small communities, we don't worry too much about enemy attacks and bombings. Today, this country has a Civil Defense system designed to warn us in the event of sudden danger. Part of this system was made available by telephone companies. If disaster should come, these facilities will be aided by every exchange of the Bell System and of the 4,700 independent telephone companies in the nation. ### Lewis P. Martin Dies at Lexington

Lewis P. Martin, 76 years old, former Wayland postmaster and merchant, died last Thursday at his home in Lexington. He had been in failing health for some time.

A son of Marion F. and Caroline Mayo Martin, he was a member of one of the county's best-known families. Mr. Martin operated a store at Wayland for 30 years prior to moving to Lexington.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Dinah Hall Martin, two sons, Elmond Lewis and Darwin, and one one daughter, Mabel Doris. He also leaves three brothers and two sisters, Lee, Walter and Earl Martin, all of Wayland, Mrs. James Flannery and Mrs. Jennie Martin, both of Allen.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday afternoon at Lexington, and burial was made there.

The $64,000 Question

Gormon Collins, the Republican candidate for County Judge, wants to engage in a question and answer campaign. The following list of questions and answers was taken from an actual case against a former deputy sheriff on trial in the Floyd Circuit Court on a charge of accepting a bribe. This is an actual court record of a trial on November 26, 1956.

TESTIMONY OF WITNESS NO. 1:

- Q-15 Go ahead.
- A- We came down to _____ place, more or less a bootlegging joint, and we went in the back; she had a little room in the back where she sold beer and stuff, and he told us that he wanted to explain what protection we would get and that Gormon Collins sent him out and he told us if we didn't believe he was the kind of man he was saying he was, and we all decided that he was all right."
- Q-25 Did you get what was promised you, protection?
- A- Yes, sir. I never was bothered by the county sheriff."
- Q-114 I want to ask you one further question. You tell the jury that as you went along bootlegging there, on up, maybe, a year or a little over a year, or something like that without being bothered. What happened there? Did you finally quit bootlegging or what happened?
- A- No, I was still in the business. Something went wrong some way. _____, he told me that _____ said _____."

TESTIMONY OF WITNESS NO. 2:

- Q-17 What did he say to you?
- A- He wanted to know if I wanted in on the pay-off and I commenced talking to him and I told him I did not understand it, and—and he told me then that Mr. Collins had them out collecting for him; that it wasn't going to him but was going to Mr. Collins and he told me, he said: "Looks like you can pay as much as $10.00 a week and sell on and if you don't, you will have to quit," and he said: "If you pay as much as $10.00 a week you can sell on and if you don't, you will have to quit."
- Q-20 Now, did you get that protection?
- A- Well, I got it up until the first Monday after Christmas.
- Q-21 Did something happen then?
- A- The man that was collecting, he said he wouldn't be around anymore.
- Q-29 Did you pay _____?
- A- Yes, sir. He said he would put my name down so Mr. Collins would know who it was coming from."

TESTIMONY OF WITNESS NO. 3:

- Q-3 Tell the jury what connections you had along that line, if any.
- A- Well, I paid the defendant $20.00 a week to operate my place of business at East Point.
- Q-9 Why did you pay him $20.00 a week?
- A- Well, he just said it would furnish protection from the sheriff's force.
- Q-10 Well, did it?
- A- Well, I never was bothered by the sheriff's force after that.
- Q-11 Was that in Floyd county, Kentucky?
- A- Yes, sir."

TESTIMONY OF WITNESS NO. 4:

- Q-7 What was the line of his conversation?
- A- The only time that he ever had any conversation was the first time and he just told me if I stayed in business I would have to pay off, and the other times was when I would stop and buy gas off of him."

It is in order for Mr. Collins to answer these questions for the people of this county:

1. Who hired the attorneys to defend this former deputy?
2. How were these lawyers paid?
3. Why did you, Mr. Collins, advise with this man and consult with him and his attorneys during this trial?
4. Why would you be interested in this man if he had made false statements about you?
5. Where did the money come from that was used to defend a deputy for killing a man on the streets of Prestonsburg?

When you were a candidate for sheriff, Mr. Collins, you said this in the Floyd County Times on September 10, 1953.

"The taxpayers of this county have been paying a big price for the results they have been getting. The Sheriff's office pays enough money in fees for collecting taxes and fees for all other services that it performs to be able to maintain a good force of officers and pay them a fair salary. It pays enough to give the people good law enforcement and still be able to turn money back into the county treasury."

1. How much money have you turned back into the County Treasury?
2. How much did the Sheriff's office cost you?
3. How did you get this money back?

The past Grand Jury in its report dated September 27, 1957, had this to say about the way you conducted your office.

"We have questioned some 225 witnesses and returned approximately 142 indictments and during our investigations we questioned numerous witnesses, including deputy sheriffs and find that there is still a great deal of law violations and bootlegging going on in Floyd county. During our investigation we discovered that the Sheriff of Floyd county has in his possession a large quantity of alcohol beverages and we believe that since the law requires an officer to execute a search warrant to seize and take possession of the articles found and deliver them unto the Court, issuing the search warrant and this failing to have done, we feel that this Court should see that the said liquor and beer is legally disposed of."

What is your answer to this charge by the Grand Jury?
The people want to know, Mr. Collins. They are looking for your answers to these questions.

Prestonsburg's Blackcoats overran the inexperienced Pikeville Panthers 33-0 Friday night for their first win on the Pikeville field in at least eight years. On the second play of the fray, halfback Joe Jack Harris scampered 65 yards to paydirt to begin the rout.

Seven plays later fullback James Allen, who shows great promise in this, his sophomore season, went 45 yards off-tackle for a six-pointer. Halfback Tommy Harmon and Paul Philip Hughes at the quarter back post each registered a marker in the second frame on seven-and-1/2 yard jaunts.

Coach John Griggs played his entire squad in the final half and the Blackcoats could muster only one scoring drive, with James Allen moving in from 18 yards out.

The Big Three of Eastern Kentucky high school football—Jenkins, Fleming and Belfry—continued their winning ways on the gridiron over the past week-end as all romped to fairly easy victories.

Nick Diachenko's unbeaten Cavaliers finally solved the passing of Elkhorn City's Delbert Justice and broke a 13-13 halftime deadlock to move into a 39-19 triumph.

Justice, a 135-pound senior quarterback, scored a 35-yard T. D. himself and passed 45 and 23 yards to Ronnie Scott and Bill Powell for the other markers.

Once-beaten Belfry stayed in the running for the E. K. M. C. title

Classes may still be entered by attending the next session at 7 p.m., Thursday evening, October 10, in the business department of the school. Classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday of each week, from 7 p.m., to 10 p.m.

Highlight of the meeting was the entry in the General Federation of Women's Clubs fashion-sewing contest, so the club members will be busy cutting and sewing their own interpretations of the "Ideal Costume for the Club Woman's Wardrobe." These outfits will be judged in the nationwide Fashion Sewing Contest, sponsored by the GFWC, Washington, D. C., with the cooperation of Vogue Pattern Service and the Woman's Club Service Bureau, New York City. Contestants in the local judging will model their costume at a special club meeting. Each outfit is to be judged on the basis of versatility and appropriateness for club occasions, fashioning to wear, overall fashion effect, and workmanship. The winner of the local contest will be eligible to compete in the judging to be held later at the District level of the Federation. Her prizes in the local contest will include a copy of the Vogue Dressmaking Book and a Vogue pattern of her choice. State contests will follow the district judging, with $50 cash awards going to the winners. National prizes, for which the state winners will compete, include $250 cash for first prize, $150.00 cash second prize and $100 for the third prize. First and second prize winners will also receive a trip to the 1958 GFWC convention in Detroit as part of their award. Clubs represented by the various winners will receive special awards in the form of scrolls, banners, seals, and a special gavel.

A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by the following: Mesdames Beecher Hardwick, O. J. Williams, Edward Lykins, Miss Alice Williams and the hostess Mrs. Blackburn.

The 1957 taxes have been turned over to me and are ready for collection and tax notices have been mailed. Any mistakes in your tax bills must be referred to the Tax Commissioner. I have no authority to correct tax mistakes without the Tax Commissioner's consent.

A discount of 2% will be allowed on taxes paid by Nov. 1. A penalty of 2% will be added on taxes unpaid after Jan. 1 and 6% penalty will be added Feb. 1.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

THIRD BOWL GAME
A third Eastern Kentucky mountain conference football team, Fleming, has been invited to play in a post-season Bowl Game.

Jack Hall's Fleming Pirates will face Evarts in Harlan's first annual Jaycee game, November 8.

Belfry meets the Ashland Tomcats in the Shrine Bowl in Ashland November 9, and Jenkins vies with Cadetsburg in Paintsville's seventh annual Big Sandy Bowl game, November 8.

HUGHES MIX-UP
Several Lexington sportswriters and various sportscasters yet are to learn or make known that Lowell Hughes is U. K.'s quarterback this season and not big brother Delmar, who has since graduated after earning four letters at the position.

In one Sunday paper, one writer went so far as to state, "In the event you have wondered, it took Kentucky 174 minutes and 46 seconds to get their first touchdown of the 1957 season. Delmar Hughes' TD came with 6:14 remaining in the fourth frame last night."

SWARTZ GOES TO BOSTON
Dan Swartz, ex-Morehead state college all-American cager who married Peggy McCarty, of Allen, is currently on the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. Last season he played in the A. A. U. with an Oklahoma Oil company.

RATINGS
If and when the Kentucky high school athletic association adopts a plan for selecting a football champion in each class, the 11 teams in Eastern Kentucky would largely fall into "B" classification (250-500) students in grades 9-12, according to a plan authorized by Frankfort High Football Coach Ollie Leathers.

Under Leather's proposal there would be four classifications all based on enrollments in grades 9 through 12, with this breakdown: "AA," 750 or more students; "A," 500 to 750 students; "B," 250-500 students, and "C," under 250 students.

Turning to the local situation under this plan, Belfry with 980 students, Whitesburg with 822 students and M. C. Napier with 900 students would all be in the "AA" classification. Prestonsburg, with 685 students, would be in class "A," and in the "B" classification would be: Paintsville, 300; Fleming, 453; Pikeville, 380; Hazard, 352; Jenkins, 382; Elkhorn City, 333; and Wheelwright 468.

Neighboring West Virginia now has this plan in effect and it has proved very successful.

PLAYER-OF-THE-WEEK
The Player-of-the-Week award in Prestonsburg's 33-0 rout of Pikeville went to Tommy Harmon, five-foot-nine-inch senior halfback, who scored one touchdown and made several long gains.

UK Social Groups Have 480 Pledges

A total of 480 University of Kentucky students were pledged to fraternities and sororities during the recent rush period. Nineteen fraternities pledged 232 men and 10 sororities pledged 248 women.

Students from Prestonsburg include: Linda Stephens, Delta Zeta; Fred Francis, Ronald Hall Leslie and James Stepp, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Two Students To Offer Program Before Club

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 7 (Spl) — Two Pikeville College students will present an international-relations program before the Wheelwright Woman's Club at 8 p.m., October 14, in the club's rooms at Wheelwright.

Alce Louise Moffett, a junior at the college and daughter of long-time missionaries to India, will describe that country as she knew it during the years she grew up there.

Jesi Sami, a native Iranian recently enrolled at Pikeville, will express himself musically with his accordion.

The program will be directed by Miss Stella Elkins, history teacher at Pikeville College.

The Homemaker Clubs have project leaders who are prepared to teach the October lessons. Twenty-two leaders attended the Training School September 26 in the Martin Methodist Church. "Choosing Becoming Colors and Fabric for Coats and Suits" will be the lesson at each meeting. Every woman is interested in stretching that clothing dollar and being well dressed. Wise selection of suits and coats will add to a woman's wardrobe, pocket book, and self satisfaction.

Leaders attending the Training School were: Mrs. Jim Derossett, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Douglas Brown, Prestonsburg; Marcella Bailey, Langley; Mrs. Grace Burke, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Elizabeth Burton, Drift; Mrs. Frederick Zusan, Drift; Mrs. J. D. Adams, Martin; Mrs. Nora Bell Stone, Betsy Layne; Mrs. Nancy Camicia, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Nancy Sallsbury, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Ida Rollins, Lackey; Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Estill; Mrs. Gladys Frazier, Martin; Mrs. Flora Hopkins, Harold; Jennie Wright, Mare Creek; Mrs. Josephine Layne, Ivel; Mrs. Emmett Tackett, Martin; Mrs. E. P. Davis; Justell; Mrs. Thelma May, Martin; Mrs. Lydia E. Hall; and Miss Audilee Hall, Martin.

The next Training School will be October 31, 1:00 p.m. The lesson will be "Recognizing Good Construction in Coats and Suits."

The schedule for the October Homemaker meetings is as follows:

Allen—Mrs. Maude Snodgrass, October 4, 7:30 p.m.
Willing Workers, Mrs. Earl Castle, October 8, 10:00 a.m.
Drift—Mrs. Adrian Hall, October 10, 7:30 p.m.

WAYLAND

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met October 2, for an all-day sewing session. The club is now piecing a quilt top for Mrs. Estill Hughes.

The club was happy to welcome Mrs. Adam Buckovich to the meeting. She was formerly a member of the club, but now resides in Lincoln Park, Michigan. Other guests included Mrs. Mable Sloan, and Mrs. Lacy Scott, of Garrett, and Mrs. Harry Fagan, of Wayland.

The following members were present: Mrs. Charles Hornsby, and Mike, Mrs. J. E. Miller, Mrs. R. H. Messer, Ellen Hornsby, Mrs. Fred Hall, Mrs. George Evans and Janie, Mrs. Delbert Sloan, Mrs. Bill Terry, Mrs. W. T. Hatcher, Mrs. J. C. Wells, Mrs. Earl Castle, Mrs. Milton Trusty, Mrs. Glenn Pack.

A pot luck dinner was enjoyed. Plans for a rummage sale were discussed, and the sale planned for the near future. Date will be announced later.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"A FUR PIECE"

Our little world at Fidelity was so small that all the distances now seem ridiculous, not only because of modern means of transportation but even with only feet to measure distances. Tennessee lay only four miles south of my father's house, but I was fourteen years old before I ever crossed that imaginary line between the two states. Many a place within four miles of my home, and on my side of the creek, too, could have been in China for all that I ever saw of them or have seen to this good day. Of course, the broad, muddy river bottom just north of us shut out traffic in that direction, as the only roads wound away around to get to those houses I could see when I went to feed the stock or when I went to the tobacco barn on the hill. Maybe following a pair of mules endless miles in plowing made us afraid to walk for the fun of walking; anyway, it was the custom to ride if you were going a half mile. Only in my last years on the farm did I indulge in my life-long love of exploring, on foot, far-away places. When I think how I have walked many times farther since I have been middle-aged, I laugh at my feeling so venturesome when I actually walked up the creek three or more miles. Some of the neighbors thought me queer to have walked so far.

Similarly, it was only a scant six miles to Tennessee River, but I was never there in my life except by wagon or buggy or horseback. I heard steamboats whistle for landings every week of my youth but never saw a steamboat until I had left home at eighteen. Sometimes in recent years I have wished I could go back to my section and walk all over it, to show distances have so lessened since I was young.

Of course, the barriers that I have so often written about in this column were actual ones in those days. An unbridged creek, a gravelly ridge, a muddy bottom, all these could turn back all but the very brave and hardy souls that knew no boundaries or barriers. A bridge, no matter how insignificant, soon created a channel through which farm animals and people found their way to other places; a ford across a shallow creek, especially if a footlog was erected near by, created a national highway for the neighborhood. Other places, very little different, soon were not used. Through the woods we had a school path, one that had been made long before I started to school. All the children went along it; it branched off like a highway system, channeling the youngsters into narrower and narrower bounds until the school house came into view. I tried to make a new path through wilder areas of our rather tame woods, but few others, joined me. I doubt whether I could now find my private path, but the one selected so long before I was born, long ago deserted when the schoolhouse was changed to the village of Fidelity, still can be traced across the branch and up the side of the hill, like a remnant of the Santa Fe Trail or the Natchez Trace. Once let somebody or something walk along an untouched landscape, and the likelihood is that right there will develop a path and then a trail and then a road, like the crooked path made famous by Sam Walter Foss in his humorous "The Calif Path."

A thing that has often made me wonder is that many a well-established path or road is not the easiest way or the shortest. It got started long ago; that makes it still the way to go, no matter how many times it may bend or what impossible grades it may have. And so places that seemed so far away in other times still seem far away, though a few turns of a car wheel will span the distances; the new road, however, is more than likely a shorter cut and is a disdaining of winding around and around merely because the old path so wound.

Broccoli, cauliflower, and green pepper are fall vegetables that freeze well.

Supervised-Teaching Offered at Pike College

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 3 — Applications for supervised-teaching courses at Pikeville College next semester already are beginning to come in, it was announced today. The number which can enter the laboratory classes at Pikeville Jan. 29, 1958, is limited by the number of qualified supervisors now teaching in this area's elementary and high schools, Dr. A. A. Page, college president, pointed out. He added that those applying earliest will have the best chance of being assigned to a school in a convenient location, and the best choice of grade and subject in which to do their supervised teaching.

Application forms for practice teaching at Pikeville, on either the elementary or high-school level, may be obtained by writing or calling at the office of Dean Redford Damron, it was said. Seven Floyd county students have taken courses in supervised teaching at Pikeville since higher state requirements for teachers' certificates raised the course to the teacher's fourth year of preparation. The senior course has been given to about 80 students since last January, when it was first offered at Pikeville.
