This Town— That World

WANTED — An "idea man." We're just fresh out.

The fellow who rocks the boat isn't the one who is pulling at the oars.

SOMETHING MISSING

The story is told of the old-timer who came to Prestonsburg, got caught in the season's worst snowstorm and, out of necessity, became a guest at one of the town's better homes. By noon of the second day he was homesick. "Isn't your room satisfactory?" he was asked.

"Best bed I ever laid on, room's purty as a picture," he replied. "The food? Fine. The hospitality? Perfect."

"Then what's wrong?" his host wanted to know. "The visitor demurred, then finally confessed: 'But you don't furnish any chewin' tobacco!'"

WHY ADVERTISE FAILURE?

Maybe it's because our journalistic training doesn't cover space ships and rockets, space travel, etcetera, but we are unable to understand why our people announced well ahead of time that we would on a certain date launch a rocket headed for outer space and destined for orbit around the earth. I have had my failures; I've started out on ventures with high hopes and fallen flat on my face—but never yet have I advertised those failures in advance.

THE REASON?

Why are folks afraid of so many things—of the future, of unusual situations, even of crowds—or, as in my case, of standing up before others and speaking their mind (if any)? Maybe they are like the little boy who ran home bawling, frightened out of

WDOC STARTS BROADCASTS

Second Daytime Only Radio Station Located Here Begins Operating

Radio station, WDOC, went on the air here Saturday noon. The new station, located on the Auxier Road, had been testing nighttime, for two weeks, according to Rex Osborne, manager, and reports of reception were received from many distant points.

WDOC will operate on 5,000 watts, 1310 on the dial, and daytime only from 6 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. Gordon Collins, of Lackey, is owner of the station.

Osborne, in commenting on the site of the station, said that it had been worked out by a consulting engineer and found to be one of the best in the area. Plans for the new station had been underway since December, last year, Osborne said.

The station manager said that while it was always possible to reach many distant points in testing WDOC was reaching Jackson, Ashland, Morehead, Hazard and Norton on regular broadcasting.

Formal opening of the new station is scheduled in ten days and at that time open house will be held.

SECOND MEET CLEARS OFFICE SPACE MIXUP

COURT VOTES OFFICE SPACE RE-SHUFFLING

New Tax Commissioner Regains Usual Spot; Highway Crew Cut

A mix-up as to which officials would occupy what office spaces in the courthouse required two meetings of the fiscal court last week to unmix.

Tax Commissioner Manis Conley approached Monday, the date for beginning his term of office, with the prospect of occupying rooms down a hall in the second floor of the building which the Floyd County Health Department had used before moving to the new Health Center here. He contended that the second-floor offices occupied by Tax Commissioner Clive Akers until shortly before the November election should be his.

But Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill had moved his office into the room formerly occupied by Akers. In the meantime, Magistrate Grover C. Holbrook had renovated the office on the same floor formerly used by M. V. Clark, health department administrator, and had moved in.

Everybody was in good shape except the Tax Commissioner, and that presented the court a knotty problem. Last Wednesday's meeting produced no results. A second meeting was held Saturday afternoon, and the mix-up was unscrambled—and yet obviously not to everybody's satisfaction.

The fiscal court was unanimous in voting to restore the Tax Commissioner to the offices ordinarily used by that official. But when it came to a place for Judge Hill it split. Magistrates John May, Ellis Martin and Edgar Howell voted to give Judge Hill the office into which Magistrate Holbrook had moved. Holbrook and County Judge Henry Stumbo voted against the change.

Magistrate Holbrook said he surrendered his former office space on the first floor to the County Clerk for storage of records.

County Clerk DuRan Moore said he offered the office back to Holbrook but that the latter indicated he would not occupy it. The down-hall offices from which

GROUP FILES NEW MOTION

Ballot Box Opening For Signature Book Inspection Is Asked

A new motion in the proceedings planned to lead up to the filing of a contest suit in the Martin city election was filed in circuit court here Monday.

This latest motion, filed on behalf of D. M. "Doc" Hutchinson, Roy Ratliff, Everett Tackett and Charles H. "Dick" Stanley, asks the court to direct the election commissioners to open the ballot box for New Martin precinct No. 41 and to remove the comparative voter signature book and deliver it to the County Clerk or to a duly delegated representative of the county purgation board.

The comparative signature book is wanted outside the box so that the four who plan the contest action may be able to procure a correct list of the names of all persons voting at the Martin election. The signature book for John Possum precinct, the only other precinct involved in that election, was not locked in the ballot box, it was said.

Earlier, a motion filed by the four candidates who on the face of tabulated returns were defeated for City Council was granted by Circuit Judge Edw. P. Hill thus permitting the unlocking of Precinct ballot boxes for inspection of the stub books.

Joe Hobson and Marshall Davidson, attorneys for Hutchinson, Ratliff, Tackett and Stanley, are preparing a contest action against the apparent winners in the City Council race at Martin—Wm. G. Goff, Haskel Frye, Sr., John H. Turnley and Charles Pinson.

Africa Listed Among Ten From State Who Received Life Legion Memberships

W. G. Africa, of Prestonsburg, is one of 10 Kentuckians listed in the current issue of THE AMERICAN LEGION MAGAZINE as having received life membership in the Legion.

Mr. Africa, who has been active in Floyd Post, American Legion, and in affairs of the organization on the district and state level, is the only life member from Floyd county. Says the magazine in commenting on the honor accorded to a limited number of veterans:

"The citation of an individual Legionnaire to life membership in his Post is a testimonial by those who know him best that he has served the American Legion well."

FARMERS PICK COUNTY GROUP

Delegates at Convention Reelect Old Committee But With Position Shifts

Delegates named Nov. 8 at the county elections in the farm program met Friday at the local Agricultural Stabilization Committee office here and picked the members of the county committee. Named a new chairman was Daniel Akers, of Grethel. He was serving as vice-chairman of the old committee. J. L. Lafferty, Sr., of Cliff, former chairman, was elected vice-chairman, and William Hicks, of Hueysville, was picked as member. H. D. Martin, of Drift, was elected first alternate and Lackey Salisbury, of Printer, was named second alternate. The new county committee will serve a one-year term.

Delegates meeting here to elect the county committee were Reuben Reed, of Hueysville, representing Community No. 1; Lackey Salisbury, of Printer, Community No. 2; Lee Alley, of Grethel, Community No. 3; J. L. Lafferty, Jr., of Cliff, Community No. 4; and Connie Darby, of Emma, Community No. 5.

The county committee directs the Agricultural Stabilization Committee program in the county.

JURY REDUCES AGREED TERM

Robbery Case Defendant, State Agree on 5 Years, But Jurors Cut It To 3

A jury in the Floyd circuit court disregarded the "compromise term" agreed on for Norman B. Hamilton, accused of armed robbery, and as a consequence Hamilton will go to prison under a three-year sentence instead of the five to which he and his attorney had agreed with the Commonwealth.

Hamilton was accused of robbery of the Allen fruit market on the occasion when elderly Homer Borders was battered about the head with a hammer.

After the "agreed verdict" had been reached between the defense and the prosecution, Commonwealth's Attorney Burnis Martin asked the jury to return a verdict with a five-year pen term. Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill instructed the jury, and a quick end of the case was seen. But the jury remained out for a period longer than expected, finally emerging from its deliberations with the three-year verdict.

Hamilton has not been tried on the striking and wounding charge, and may not be, it was said this week. Mrs. Hamilton agreed to restore money taken at the rate of $15 a month.

The murder trial of Jerry Shell, charged with the shotgun slaying at Cliff of Keise Vaughan, was postponed Monday till Jan. 9. The court for the second time named attorneys to represent Shell after attorneys originally employed in the case had withdrawn. Jarvis Allen and Joe Hobson were named to defend him.

Shell remains in jail where he has been since Judge Hill entered an order requiring more satisfactory bond for his release. Home of his brother-in-law, one of his bondsmen, burned recently, and this loss reduced his worth as surety, it was held.

The current court term will end with this week.

Two other $100 fines were assessed during the week—one from Frank Hatfield on a charge of striking and wounding Bill Little while the latter was on duty as a policeman here; the other from Joe Branham, who was charged with

AUTO WRECKS CLAIM THREE

Price Youth, Soldier Die In 2 Wrecks in County; Hamilton Killed in Ohio

Two Floyd countians met death on highways on Thanksgiving Day, bringing to three the number of auto victims from this county within the week.

Sixteen-year-old Terry Truman Osborne, of Price, a McDowell high school freshman, was instantly killed at 5 p.m., at Printer, in the wreck of a car in which he was a passenger.

Andy Jack Hamilton, formerly of Grethel, met instant death at 1 p.m. near Grovesport, O., when his car skidded on wet pavement.

(The third victim was S/Sgt. Paul L. Payne. See separate news-story.) Young Osborne was riding in a car driven by Ed Wright, of Drift, which left the highway at Printer and ramed into a house. His neck was broken. The driver was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, where his injuries are not believed to be serious.

Hamilton, a construction worker, was driving on the Grovesport Pike in rain, and his auto skidded into a guy wire of a utility pole. His death resulted from a fractured skull. Allard Hamilton, his companion, received slight injuries.

Osborne was a son of Charley and Rebecca Osborne, of Price. Besides his parents, he is survived by six brothers and two sisters, Howard Osborne, Springsboro, O., Rush Osborne, El Hat, John M., Kenneth Wade and Hugh Vinson Osborne, all of Price, Charles B. Osborne, Shiloh, Ohio, Mrs. Shirley Brown, of Price, and Mrs. June Moore, McDowell.

His funeral was conducted Sunday from the McDowell high school auditorium by the Revs. Mitchell Chaffins, Kendall Moore and Jerry Hall. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Price.

Hamilton was a son of Ed and Dixie Mitchell Hamilton, of Grethel. Survivors, in addition to his parents, include his widow, Mrs. Lucile Adams Hamilton, two children, Richard and Lindy, and the following brothers and sisters: Allard and Danny Ray, Misses Barbara, Maude and Juanita Hamilton, all of Grethel, Mrs. Sylvia Tackett, Mrs. June Holt and Mrs. Lorraine Harrison all of Columbus, Ohio.

The body was returned to Grethel where funeral rites were conducted Monday from the home of his grandfather, Andy Mitchell, and burial was made in the Branham's Creek cemetery.

Both funerals were under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

SOLDIER DIES IN CAR CRASH

Suffers Skull Fracture When Auto Rams Bridge; Services Held at Estill

A soldier home on furlough after European service was fatally injured Saturday afternoon when his auto struck an abutment of the lower "Twin Bridge" at Martin.

The victim, S/Sgt. Paul L. Payne, 21, of Estill, died in the receiving room of Veterans hospital, Huntington, W. Va., about 3:30 p.m., two hours after the accident. It was said that his auto in which he was driving alone struck the end of the bridge, then caromed to the other side against which it ramed. Thrown from the car, the soldier suffered a skull fracture as his head struck either the bridge or the car.

A report that his car may have been forced into the bridge by an approaching auto was not confirmed. Sgt. Payne had returned to the United States two weeks earlier after European service, and was visiting relatives at Estill prior to going to Camp Hood, Texas. He had been in the armed forces about four years.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Eleanor Sammons Payne, an infant daughter, Rosella, his parents, Fay and Regina Connors Payne, of Estill, two brothers, Chester Payne, Detroit, Mich., and Edwin Payne, of Estill, and one sister, Mrs. Billy Linebaugh, Xenia, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday from the Martin Branch Freewill Baptist Church at Estill, the Revs. Green Boyd and Johnny Ramey officiating. Burial in the Connors cemetery at Estill was under the direction of the Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

EKRPC PLANS MADE KNOWN

To Name New Director, Permanent Headquarters; Promised State Funds

The Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission, of which B. F. Reed, of Drift, is chairman, voted Monday to employ a director and establish an office as its permanent headquarters.

The action was taken after Department of Economic Development Commissioner George W. Hubble, Jr., informed the Commission that money will be made available for its operations until next July 1, when a regular appropriation will be in the Department's budget.

Hubble said the funds for the interim operations—between $7,000 and $8,000—will be forthcoming through Governor A. B. Chandler's emergency fund.

A committee was named to interview qualified applicants for the directorship. The committee is expected to make recommendations at the next meeting of the Commission, set for January 6 at West Liberty. It will also recommend location of the office at that time. A secretary is to be employed after selection of the director.

The Commission, created earlier this year following the disastrous flash floods in Eastern Kentucky, also laid plans to meet soon with the mayors of various cities which suffered flood damage. Purpose of the session will be to explain provisions of the Federal Urban Redevelopment Program and possible participation in the program by the flood-affected communities.

Walter Shouse, director of the Department of Economic Development's Planning and Zoning Division, told the Commission that the 14 counties in Eastern Kentucky which were declared a disaster zone by President Eisenhower form a "high priority area" for participation in the redevelopment program.

Shouse said the 14 counties and their cities have priority on URF funds immediately after cities with programs already under way, and ahead of all non-disaster area applications. He added that immediate action is recommended because the President can end the disaster area status at his discretion.

The Commission has shown particular interest in a feature of the redevelopment program which provides for clearing away rundown structures to make way for industrial sites. Good industrial sites are scarce in Eastern Kentucky. The federal government would pay up to two-thirds

3 SCHOOL CONTRACTS AWARDED THIS WEEK

Keep Christ In Christmas, Local Churchwomen Urge; Better Reading Stressed

The local Council of Churchwomen urged all businessmen and the residents of Prestonsburg to carry out this year the theme, "Keep Christ in Christmas." The action was taken at a recent meeting of the Christmas for Christ committee of the churchwomen.

A meeting of the Good Literature committee of the Council of Churchwomen held in the home economics room at the Prestonsburg high school, Tuesday afternoon, made plans for next year in its drive to promote better reading material. The committee discussed objectionable literature, particularly comic books. The committee decided to write all news vendors here, asking them to refuse to offer such material for sale. It was also decided to stress good literature before civic groups and clubs.

LOCAL STORE IS PICKETED

Christian Says Action Seeks Union Recognition; Pike Injunction Asked

Edward Christian, representative of the Retail Clerks International Association, an AFL-CIO affiliate, said Tuesday a new boycott-picket line was being set up at the R. H. Hobbs 5 & 10 cent store here and would continue to operate until the store management recognized his union as bargaining agent.

Efforts to unionize the store began in August when clerks were asked to sign an Authorization for Representation which would designate the RCIA as their agent. Christian said a majority of the clerks have signed the authorization. Since then, he says, the union representative has contacted the management, either in person or by letter several times and that both Arthur Hughes, local manager here, and R. H. Hobbs, Pikeville owner, have refused to meet with the union to discuss recognition.

Christian, in a statement Tuesday, alleged that four clerks at the company's Williamson, (W. Va.) store had been fired for union activity since the organizational effort began and that one was fired here. Mr. Hughes, manager here, while refusing to comment on the efforts to unionize his store, did deny that anyone had been fired for union activity.

Hobbs operates four stores in this region. Besides the Prestonsburg and Williamson stores there are establishments at Paintsville and Pikeville. Christian says a majority of the employees in each store have asked his union to act as their bargaining agent.

In a suit, naming Christian, Eugene Compton, Joan Thompson and Dorothy Thompson as defendants, the management of the Pikeville store asked the Pike circuit court for an order restraining picketing there. Judge E. P. Keeese granted a temporary restraining order Nov. 23. Whether the order would be made permanent or dismissed was slated for trial this week.

Leonard McCoy, 57, Of Auxier, Succumbs To Heart Attack Here

Leonard McCoy, 57, of Auxier, died Thursday of last week, enroute to the Prestonsburg General hospital. A heart attack was given as the cause of death.

Mr. McCoy, who had been in ill health for several years, was a native of Coalton, Boyd county. He was a retired miner.

Surviving are his wife, May Burchett McCoy; a daughter, Mrs. Arnold McNeely, Jr., Akron, O., a sister, Mrs. Margaret Bates, North Matewan, W. Va.; and two brothers, Charles McCoy, of Auxier, and Richard McCoy, Alexandria, Va. One grandson also survives.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday, at the Auxier Methodist church, the Revs. S. C. Honeycutt and Clarence Bailey officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Auxier under the direction of Jones-Preston Funeral Home.

McGUIRE, RICE LOW BIDDERS ON PROJECTS

Board Asks For Seven Metal Buildings Needed For Classroom Space

Contracts totaling $104,008 were awarded Tuesday by the Floyd County Board of Education to low-bidding contractors on three county school-building projects.

The successful bidders: Tom O. McGuire, Prestonsburg, $39,800 on construction of a lunchroom, two classrooms and two toilets at the Drift school; and $43,000 for the same construction work at the Harold school. Irvin Rice, Paintsville, $21,208 on construction of a one-room addition to the Prater Creek school, with hallway and two indoor toilets.

The contracts included wiring, plumbing and all other work to make the project "turnkey jobs." Bids on the three jobs were offered by several other contractors.

Other classroom additions are seen in the application filed by the Board with the Surplus Property Administration for seven metal buildings which are 20x48 feet and each of which includes two classrooms. The demand for these structures, most of which are being allocated to flood-stricken Eastern Kentucky is so heavy, however, that Floyd county is not likely to get more than three, it was said by County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner.

The surplus structures have floors, are glass insulated and are available at a cost of $750 and $850 each, delivered here, the Board was told. It is calculated that addition of such a building to any school plant where there is a need for more space can be made at a cost not to exceed $2,000. Since the state under the Minimum Foundation Program pays $400 per classroom unit such a building would earn $800 a year from that source and would earn back its cost in two and a half years.

There are many spots where added classrooms are needed, Mr. Turner said.

ALLOT FUNDS FOR 3 TOWNS

Aid on Sewage Systems Earmarked for Pikeville, Hazard and Camberland

The Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission Tuesday allotted $1,156,925 of Federal funds to help nine cities build sewage collection and treatment facilities. Of the nine towns three were in Eastern Kentucky. They were Pikeville, Hazard and Cumberland.

The Federal Government grants no more than 30 per cent of the cost of such facilities, not to exceed $250,000. Local communities put up the rest, usually raising the money by revenue bonds.

Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson, chairman of the commission, said the funds were granted to cities considered in greatest need of pollution abatement.

The cities and amounts are: Louisville and Jefferson County (Metropolitan Sewer District), $250,000; Bardstow, $102,300; Highland Heights, $67,500; Cumberland, $87,000; Hazard, $180,000; Flemingsburg, $54,750; Carrollton, $105,000; Marion, $84,375; and Pikeville, $246,000.

These amounts are engineers' estimates and will be adjudged when final construction costs are determined.

The $250,000 grant to the Louisville and Jefferson County M.S.D. is to be applied toward the cost of a $1,000,000 section of interceptors being built to the M.S.D.'s new treatment plant. The total cost of the interceptors and the treatment plant is expected to be more than $16,500,000.

Last year, about $1,150,000 of federal funds was distributed. Tuesday's allocation includes $63,439 left over from last year.

Systemic insecticides—administered either by pill or by syringes—have been conditionally approved for use in certain regions by the USDA. The one to be used—E-57—will control cattle ticks, which develop from the pestiferous heel-fly.

of the cost with the community (plus any state aid) paying the remainder.

Improvements planned for state parks in Eastern Kentucky were described to the Commission by Deputy Commissioner of Conservation George O. Canter. He said the new facilities, to come from a $3.5 million revenue bond issue for improvements at all state parks, will help attract more tourist dollars to Eastern Kentucky.

Canter urged the Commission to launch a program to "educate" Eastern Kentucky businessmen and residents to the importance of knowing and advertising the historic, scenic and recreational attractions in their communities to bolster the tourist trade.

The Commission asked the State Highway Department for more detailed information concerning plans for new and improved roads in Eastern Kentucky under the state's three-year $350 million major highway program and other projects.

TAVERN ERECTED BY DUNCAN IS SHRINE OPEN TO TOURISTS

FRANKFORT, Nov. 28 — Turn back the pages of history and live again in serenity, graciousness and hospitality of early Kentucky as you visit Duncan Tavern and adjoining Anne Duncan House on Public Square in Paris. It is now known as Duncan Tavern Historic Center.

For this is one of the great historic attractions of the Commonwealth.

Completed four years before Kentucky became a state, Major Joseph Duncan was very proud of his great 20-room native stone inn, built in the Wilderness.

He enjoyed showing the guests the great ballroom, billiard room and huge kitchens where venison was kept turning on spits to whet the appetite of travelers.

Restored in 1940 when Paris gave the building to the Kentucky Society, Daughters of American Revolution, the tavern is now a shrine, museum and library.

Thousands of visitors from all the states and many foreign countries walk through rooms where Daniel Boone, Simon Kenton, Michael Stoner, Col. James Smith, U. S. Senator John Edwards and Gov. James Garrard gathered in 1788 for a "bit of chatter" and social entertainment.

Today the DAR members are proud of their many hours of work, as tourists exclaim at the beauty of the hand carved cherry mantles, cupboards and woodwork. Spaciousness is seen in the rooms including the drawing room, reception hall and Isaac Shelby Room.

Complete with authentic 18th century furniture, Duncan Tavern and Anne Duncan House are show-places in the city of Paris.

FOOD NOTES

By Dixie T. Higgins
Home Demonstration Agent

The stuffing is such an important part of the Thanksgiving dinner that it is worth trying out with roast chicken in advance of the big day. Roast pork, spare ribs or pork chops are also good with bread stuffing, the amount of fat being reduced in the recipe.

All stuffings have more or less the same pattern of bread crumbs, melted fat for richness (except with pork or goose) and seasonings. Celery, parsley and onion are vegetable seasonings. Herb seasonings include sage, thyme, majoran or savory used in small amounts to enhance the flavor of the poultry or meat. Remember that seasonings are used to bring out the flavor of the food. A French chef will tell you if you can taste the seasoning, too much has been used.

Some stuffings are the dry type, in which little or no liquid is used; other stuffings are moist. The amount of liquid in any recipe may be adjusted to suit personal tastes.

Oysters, mushrooms or nuts are often used in poultry stuffings; in goose or pork, which are rich in fat, dried apricots, prunes, raisins or tart apples or fresh cranberries are a good addition.

In estimating the amount of bread to use, allow three slices for each pound of poultry, dressed weight.

Savory Stuffing

2 qts. soft bread crumbs (or one qt. corn bread and 1 qt. soft bread crumbs)
2/3 c. turkey fat or combined with butter or margarine
¼ c. chopped parsley
¼ c. chopped onion
1 t. savory seasoning
1 t. salt
½ t. pepper
1½ c. chopped celery
¼ c. turkey stock

Cook the gizzard, heart and neck of the chicken or turkey in salted water to cover until tender, from 1½ to 2 or more hours. Allow the giblets and neck to cool in the broth, then refrigerate. Use broth or stock for stuffing.

To make the stuffing, cook the parsley and onion in the fat for 5 minutes, then add all other ingredients. Add more or less liquid as desired. Stuff the bird lightly, as it swells in cooking.

Whew! the Cards Mailed At Last—Sans Stamps!

It seems incredible, but it's true: many people at Christmas time will spend days getting Christmas cards ready for mailing, and then dump some or even all of them in the mail box without stamps.

This unusual behavior of some Christmas mailers was related this week by Mrs. Bess S. May, postmaster here.

"Often," she explained, "we will find a large batch of Christmas cards in the mail pick-up boxes—all in the same handwriting and all without stamps."

"The only thing we can do in such a case is to return the envelopes to the sender, if he has indicated a return address. This, of course, constitutes an annoyance for the addressee and destroys much of the good will value of the Christmas card."

So, in addition to her standard tip of urging mailers to mail early for Christmas, Postmaster May added that it is a good idea to make certain before leaving the house with your Christmas cards that each and every one contains postage.

"And it should be the 3-cent first class postage, which assures forwarding privileges for the letter if the addressee has moved, and permits the mailer to write a personal message on the card," the postmaster said.

Own Their Homes

One third of U. S. Negroes own their own homes, writes Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in the December Reader's Digest. The Negro population as a whole has a yearly purchasing power of 17.5 billion dollars. Since 1940, he reports, the number of Negro men in professional jobs has jumped 103 percent; as craftsmen and foremen, 112 percent; as operators and technicians, 181 percent; as clerical and sales workers, an astonishing 223 percent. There are ten times as many Negro women in clerical jobs as there were in 1940.

Dog Finds Lost Articles

A German Shepherd dog named Rolf has made a career of finding lost objects on the Danish island of Funen, reports the December Reader's Digest. In the past seven years, Rolf, aided by his master, Svend Anderson, has recovered almost $400,000 worth of lost watches, jewelry, tools, currency and other valuables. His master merely repeats several times the name of the thing Rolf is to find, leads him to the area and turns him loose. Anderson thinks Rolf does it by smelling out whatever does not match the other scents in the area.

Cadillac

A Masterpiece... Even by Cadillac Standards!

The magnificent Cadillac car for 1958 is, without question, a rare masterpiece in all the things that make a Cadillac . . . a Cadillac!

Certainly, it has had no precedent insofar as beauty is concerned. In its graceful symmetry of line and in its remarkable look of stature and substance, it is in a class all of its own.

Unquestionably, it is without counterpart by the way of interior elegance. Never before have Fleetwood coachcrafters combined such graciousness and luxury and spaciousness in a single interior design.

And, most assuredly, it has set its own extraordinary pace in modern motor car performance. Its dynamic new engine, its more responsive transmission, and its new air suspension, now available as an extra-cost option, are simply a revelation.

We earnestly hope that you will take the time to see and drive this extraordinary new Cadillac at your earliest possible convenience.

Your Cadillac dealer will be delighted to give you full details on Cadillac's twelve new models, including the incomparable Eldorado Brougham.

The new Nomad—the last word in station wagon style and distinction... 4-door 6-passenger.

CHEVROLET SETS A NEW STYLE IN STATION WAGONS!

Two new Brookwoods—4-door 6-passenger and 4-door 9-passenger models. Luxuriously appointed.

Meet the year's smartest station wagon set! Chevrolet brings you five new wagons for '58—all long, low and loaded with news. They're more than nine inches longer, dramatically lower. They set a new style with boldly sculptured lines. And these new Chevrolets are the most practical wagons that ever took to the road. The liftgate is hinged into the roof and raises completely out of the way for easier loading. There's a new easy-opening tailgate, too, and room for longer loads.

No station wagon built ever carried loads with more ease or passengers with more comfort! Chevrolet's new standard Full Coil suspension cradles you on deep coil springs at every wheel. And you can have a real air ride as an extra-cost option.

Stop by your Chevrolet dealer's and look over the smartest, smoothest going station wagons of them all.

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Kentucky, under the act of March 3, 1879.

What About The "Old" Business?

Floyd county needs new and varied industries if it is to have a stable economy and is to stop the outward drift of its people to distant industrial centers. On that issue Floyd county's people are more nearly agreed, perhaps, than on any other.

But there is another matter that we should consider while we work toward the day when such industries may be located here. And that is what shall we do with the business that we already have.

This county already has heavy payrolls outside its mining and natural gas industries. Almost every business in this county has a payroll overhead that means spending money in Floyd countians' pockets. But what is Floyd county doing to help the business that it already has?

It is admitted that many businesses competing with these already established in this county—businesses which are located in neighboring counties or barely across the state line—are drawing heavily on Floyd county's purchasing power, thus reducing the earnings of Floyd county enterprises, retarding their progress and threatening eventually to cut down on the employment of people working here at home.

A few weeks ago, Floyd county students attending a Lexington school declared they could not find a store there that supplied their needs as well as a certain Prestonsburg store. While they were at home they bought at the local store. At the same time, many of their friends who had not yet left home for college, or who had finished college work and had returned home to stay, were driving a round trip of 150 miles to shop in Huntington.

You wonder why those away from home like to come home to shop while those at home go elsewhere, and we do not have the answer. Sure, distant pastures appear greener, and some find traveling and getting away from home for a day interesting, but we do not offer that as anything approaching an analysis of the public psychology.

If we at home would consider what Floyd county loses when Floyd county money is spent elsewhere, and what that money could mean to Floyd county if it were kept at home, there would be a new interest in business at home. No man lives alone, nor does any business.

Consider, for instance, a local business which employs six. That means a payroll of about $20,000, besides the owner's profit if any. But let Floyd countians stay away from that place of business enough, buying in another town, for instance, and soon that employer is forced to reduce the number of his employees. Let this go on long enough, and the business will fold up. Gone will be $20,000, perhaps $30,000, a year that formerly was spent in Floyd county for foodstuffs, clothing, taxes, home building, etcetera.

If we think this thing through, the logical conclusion must be that it will profit Floyd county little if it has a thousand new businesses as long as Floyd county insists on doing business elsewhere.

The cities do not have to repay the federal grants. But if the money is not used within a year, it reverts to the Federal Government.

The grants Tuesday were distributed according to priority and readiness of the cities to use the money.

Basis for determining priority includes whether sewage pollutes a stream and if the city is financially able to build necessary facilities.

Cities that did not receive money and the amounts they sought are:

Ashland, $250,000; Elizabethtown, $138,000; Flatwoods, $114,094; Florence, $160,807; Brandenburg, $31,200; Shively, $117,000; Calvert City, $9,000, and Beechwood, $20,852.

Ashland—high on the priority list—will not be ready to begin construction within a year, Jackson said. Should federal funds be available during 1958-59, Ashland will be first on the list, he added.

Jackson said he hopes other cities that did not receive federal grants will also be eligible for federal grants if Congress appropriates more funds next year.

The Board at Tuesday's Meeting voted to repair rest rooms in the Maytown school and to install three manholes in the sewer line leading from the new gymnasium here.

A study is being made of the advisability of placing metal expansion units between the gym sub-floor here and the wooden 2x4's which will support the wooden playing floor. The Board has been told that floors laid on 2 x 4's which rest directly on the concrete eventually lose their resiliency, and that metal expansion units prevent this condition. If the cost is not too great, this feature will be added, it was said.

A member of the contracting firm of AKERS & AKERS told the Board that the new gymnasium-auditorium here will be ready for official acceptance by February 1. He said, however, that the gym can be used for basketball play around Jan. 1.

The Board employed Joan Wiley to replace Earl Lawson, who resigned his teacher post in the Lackey school, and Avella Hall to replace Mrs. Reynolds at the Teaberry school.

A GOOD WORK

Hiram M. Brock, Jr., who married Eulah Nunnery, of Prestonsburg, his father and his brother, James C. Brock—all Harlan, Ky., lawyers—are following in an unusual way the biblical injunction to tithe their incomes. The father and sons have pledged to give one-tenth of their incomes to a manufacturing firm they have established.

The company is called the Brock Charity Tithing Corporation, and it will manufacture "useful or usable articles" and will provide services necessary for "human comfort, use or happiness." And the profits from such manufacturing will go toward helping needy ministers, small churches that have financial problems, and poor children whose parents are unable to finance their education.

It's nice to know that one of these three has Floyd county connections and we will be pleased to learn of their progress in this fine "adventure in living."

1. That the department seeks competitive bids from prospective contractors.

2. If the department rejects all bids it may use its own forces to do the work.

It could not be immediately determined whether bids had been advertised for on the numerous Knott county projects.

O. J. West, the department's Pikeville district engineer, said he could not recall who ordered the contract with Hall.

During the time the state was renting equipment from Hall, a Highway Department order, Bulletin No. 2423, was in effect. Dated June 17, 1952, the order reads, "Hereafter you are not to rent for department use any privately owned equipment except movers."

Another order, superceding the 1952 bulletin, was handed down August 5 of this year by acting Governor Harry Lee Waterfield, Highway Commissioner Robert Humphreys, and Highway Department Business Manager Martin S. Petty. It said, "Effective this date, no equipment will be rented from individuals or private companies except movers."

Waterfield began looking into the Hall contract last July 23, when he asked Petty to investigate it.

"Information has come to the Governor's office that the Licking River Limestone Company of West Liberty leased to the Hall Trucking Company of Hindman, Ky., three pieces of equipment used for highway purposes," Waterfield said.

"We have information that the Hall company pays $11 per hour for one piece of machinery and leases it to the state for $15; $11 per hour for another piece of equipment and leases it to the state for $18, and $15 for a third piece of machinery and leases it to the state for $22.50," he added.

Then acting Governor, Waterfield said he felt that the failure of the department to lease at the lower rates directly from the owner of the equipment "is a serious mistake and might involve us in considerable trouble."

A Highway Department investigator reported the Licking River Limestone Company rented Hall two bulldozers, one for $11 an hour and the other for $15 an hour. That rental included the use of a 12-yard scraper when needed.

The investigator also reported that the firm of Marshall & Sheats, West Liberty, rented another bulldozer to Hall for $11 an hour and for two weeks rented the firm a crane at $10 an hour.

Department records last August 9 showed that 10 highway contracts with Hall called for payment of bulldozer rental at the rate of $15, $18 and $22.50 an hour. Total contracts issued up to that time came to $60,420.

PRESTONSBURG 1797-1957

Prestonsburg, the oldest town in Big Sandy, has grown slowly but steadily in the 160 years since it was founded in 1797. The first census in 1800 showed only six persons resided in the wilderness-enclosed town but today 6,000 people make homes in a modern, good church and good school community.

Col. John Preston of Virginia procured a grant of 100,000 acres from the State of Virginia in 1787 and sent John Graham, deputy surveyor of Mason county, Kentucky, to lay out the town under the direction of Major Andrew Hood, Solomon Stratton and Matthias Harmon. They were known as the Adventurers on Sandy. The town was called Preston's Station. John Spurlock, Montgomery county, Virginia, pioneer settler had preceded the Adventurers and built the first house in 1791.

Floyd county, Kentucky, was created by an act of the General Assembly in 1799 to become effective in July, 1800. Preston's Station, the name changed to Prestonsburg, became the county seat. It was the seat of government for a long time of a vast section of Eastern Kentucky.

Prestonsburg was for years but an isolated trading center. Its chief exports were bear skins to France as Napoleon's agents in the valley, chiefly Solomon DeRossett, bought them to make hats for the great general's grenadiers. After the Battle of Waterloo, DeRossett settled down in a house still standing on First Avenue and later became a Floyd County Justice. The Mayos of Virginia who assisted in the founding of the county contributed much to the culture of the area for they were teachers, clerks and ministers.

The first steamboat landed at Prestonsburg in 1837 and this means of transportation continued to serve the valley until the railway came to the town in 1902. There was a boat landing near the present Municipal building. From Prestonsburg pushboats took merchandise to the larger tributaries like Middle Creek.

The Big Sandy was hotly contested by the Union and Confederate troops during the Civil War. Col. James A. Garfield, Union commander and later President of the United States, fought the Confederates at the Battle of Middle Creek, Jan. 10, 1862, a few miles from Prestonsburg, to win for the North its first substantial victory. While here, the future president made headquarters in an old home now preserved as it was when Garfield occupied it and today it is known as the Garfield Place.

Early the residents of the town made education of their children a prime objective but it remained for the establishment of the Prestonsburg Baptist Institute in 1903 to typify the cultural progress of the community. Today a modern high school, one of the largest in Eastern Kentucky, is the culmination of a long period of educational growth.

Many things have contributed to the distinct community personality of Prestonsburg — its good schools, fine churches and its central location in the valley but most of all the people here have made it a good place to live. (Salute to Prestonsburg program on WSAZ-TV, Huntington, W. Va., Wednesday, August 7, 1957.)

Press Association's Book Endorses Sturgill Program

Frankfort, Dec. 5.—The official publication of the Kentucky Press Association has endorsed some of the highway safety proposals of State Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill.

Commenting upon a proposal that the 1958 Legislature be asked to pass a law providing for central issuance of automobile titles and drivers licenses. The Kentucky Press for November said: "With highway safety continually in our minds today, every citizen should work toward any remedy that will help curb the reckless and irresponsible motorists who are largely responsible for our fatalities and non-fatal accidents. These include the drunken drivers, the hot rods and the hit-and-run drivers, who, under our present system of licensing, can circumvent authority and obtain duplicate licenses without any present system of checks when their original licenses are revoked.

"The Safety Department has done an admirable task of checking with other states in assessing the effectiveness of similar title laws which are proving effective. There is no doubt of our crying need for legislation to curb our mounting highway accidents and these proposals should go a long way toward that desirable end.

"We hope every newspaper in the State will give its support to the move."

The publication also had a proposal of its own. It called for legislation that would require every successful applicant for a driver's license to produce evidence of collision and personal liability through adequate insurance protection.

Gas Company Executive Announces Retirement

Beckley, W. Va., Nov. 27 — Luther C. Campbell of Pittsburghs, vice-president of Eastern Gas & Fuel Associates, announced his retirement here Tuesday night at a dinner given in his honor by officials of the company.

After World War I, Campbell served as general superintendent for McKinney Steel Company, in Pike county, Kentucky. He was instrumental in establishment of Methodist hospital at Pikeville for miners and their families.

Campbell has been associated with Eastern or its predecessors 30 years, and as vice-president since 1943. He served 1952-56 as president of the National Coal Association.

Commissioner Thurman Cautions Newspapers

Insurance Commissioner C. P. Thurman cautioned all newspapers, television stations and radio broadcasters to beware of disseminating advertisements for insurance companies not licensed in Kentucky.

Commissioner Thurman explained that several local radio stations had received solicitations through the mail for out-of-state interests, to broadcast their intriguingly phrased advertisements. In certain cases the exact name of the company was not known, and the advertisements were so worded that they were deceptive and misleading. Many of these so-called canned advertisements are not only untrue, but border on the fantastic, from the standpoint of both insurance coverage and cost.

The Commissioner advised all advertising agencies to determine the status of all companies before contracting to do their advertising. Kentucky Insurance Laws specifically prohibit advertising agencies located in this Commonwealth to direct advertising toward Kentucky residents on behalf of any insurer not authorized to do business in Kentucky. Not only would these agencies jeopardize themselves because of the severe penalties involved, but they might be directly responsible for Kentucky insurance buyers purchasing inadequate or unreliable insurance protection from an irresponsible company soliciting business through the mails.

Agency Attempts To Save Coon Hunting in State

Frankfort, Dec. 5—The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is taking steps to protect Kentucky's coon population in the interest of hunters.

It's being done to preserve the sport of coon hunting, which the agency describes as "one of the oldest, yet most thrilling sports in the field."

To assist hunters in training hounds, the agency has granted a special season during which coons may be run but not killed. Conservation agents are arresting hunters who allow dogs to kill treed coons during this season.

"Anyone should know," says the department, "that the coon population of a given area is bound to decrease as more and more wooded areas are cleared. We don't blame a coon hound fancier for wanting to run his hound. He surely wants to train him to the point where he can compete with others in a chase. We do not believe that a clear thinking coon hunter would want to do this, however, at the expense of the coon population."

During the dog training season, the agency says, many young coons are not able to cope with the skill of a fine coon dog. Many owners believe that a dog in training should be allowed to kill a coon to make a better hunter and are allowing their hounds to do so illegally, leaving the carcass for buzzards or crows, the agency points out.

The owner should call off the hounds and pick up another trail for another training chore, the department advises.

Conservation officers have arrested a good many hunters who have allowed their dogs to kill dislodged coons during training season, the department said, warning that such practice "is a violation of the laws of common sense as far as a good coon hunter is concerned."

Bears Lose First Game Of '57 Season But Win Logan, W. Va. Tournament

Pikeville, Ky., Dec. 2 (Spl.) — The Pikeville College Bears absorbed their first defeat on their first road trip last week and will start another four-game tour Saturday at Jacksonville, Fla.

The only consolation in Pikeville's 99-85 loss to West Virginia Tech Nov. 25 came from holding the high-scoring Golden Bears below their favorite score of 100 points. The West Virginians, who crossed the century mark 71 times in the last three seasons, have averaged 103.3 points per game during that time.

Even in defeat, John Lee Butcher led all scorers with 31 points against West Virginia Tech. Big Garrett Mullins dropped in 20, and Carr Creek's Charles Francis also hit the double figures with 13 points.

The Bears swept the two-day Logan Interstate basketball tournament at Logan, W. Va., Friday and Saturday, dropping the Battlers of Alderson-Broaddus College, hitherto a West Virginia power, 96-74, in the opener. Butcher got 29 points; Carr Creek's R. B. Singleton took over the second scoring spot with 21, and Garrett Mullins dropped in 14 points. Francis repeated his 13 points, and another Carr Creek alumnus, Lloyd Mullins, also added 13.

The Beckley College Blue Hawks gave more trouble in Saturday night's finals, staying under the Bears' feet for 17 minutes before Carr Creeker, Ken Smallwood, was inserted into the lineup. Smallwood sparked a rally that stretched a meager three-point lead to a comfortable half-time edge of 15 points, 49-34, for the Bears, who pulled on out to win, 108-82.

Butcher hit his high for the year with a 36-point production, and Lloyd Mullins led the rebounding parade for the first time, snaring the ball 14 times to 13 for Jim Frazier and 11 for Garrett Mullins.

Pikeville entertained West Virginia State College, the first of six NCAA members on the schedule, Monday in the Pikeville College gym.

Opening a four-game road trip through Florida and Georgia Saturday (Dec. 7), the Bears will meet Jacksonville University, Setson University at DeLand, Fla., Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla., and Georgia Teachers College at Collegeboro, Ga.

Hunting and Fishing Are Better Than Ever Wildlife Authority Says

Despite some gloomy predictions of the past that American wildlife was being wiped out by growing human population and modern farming methods, hunting and fishing are actually getting better and better.

There are more kinds and greater numbers of game and fish in the United States today than there were when European settlers first arrived here, according to a wildlife authority writing in the November issue of Soil Conservation, official magazine of the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

The passenger pigeon and bison are gone, says A. E. Borell, but in their stead we have pheasants, chukars, Hungarian partridge, and tremendous populations of deer. Small fur animals, such as rabbits, foxes, and raccoons, are also on the increase in many areas. And while many streams and natural lakes have declined, we now have thousands of acres of man made ponds, lakes, and reservoirs that provide good fishing where little or no fishing existed 100, 50, or even 10 years ago.

Even waterfowl—the wildlife resource which was supposedly being destroyed by drainage projects—has been on the upgrade for several years, due in part to man made ponds which provide drinking water and resting places for migrating birds.

Reports indicate overpopulations of deer in a number of states, including Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Michigan, Texas, West Virginia, California, and Arizona. Some states are making efforts to attract out-of-state hunters to help harvest heavy numbers of deer and, in some cases, elk and antelope.

In general, modern farming methods and soil conservation practices are providing more food and better distribution of cover for many kinds of wildlife, according to Borell.

Legislature Not Restricted To Lawmaking

Frankfort, Dec. 5 — The duties of Kentucky's General Assembly, which opens its 1958 session Jan. 7, are not limited to lawmaking.

The Legislature may initiate changes in the Constitution by proposing amendments to be voted on by the people. Or the legislative body may provide for a referendum on calling a constitutional convention.

The Legislature may impeach the governor or any other civil officer for misdemeanor in office. The Assembly also judges contested elections for governor and lieutenant governor.

The Constitution provides for legislative oversight of the executive branch. The secretary of state must, upon request of either house, present to it a register of all the governor's official acts.

Reports of the investigations of the treasurer's and auditor's accounts must be transmitted to the Legislature. The governor is required by law to secure the advice of the senate in appointing members of the Public Service Commission and the State Board of Health. The Legislature must provide by law for depriving of office persons guilty of corrupt practice.

"IT WAS A NICE TRY, BUT . . ." seems to sum up public opinion about competitive cars attempting to equal the styling and features of the Swept-Wing 58. They tried to get as low, but had to lower the roof to do it. (Less headroom, same high, boxy, cooped-up look.) Their windshields got smaller, while ours got bigger. Most of them still don't have Total-Contact Brakes to assure smooth, even, safe stops when needed. Nor do they offer push-button TorqueFlite, the proven automatic transmission, and Constant-Control power steering that works full time—not part time as some other systems do. And Dodge no-sway, no-dip Torsion-Aire is standard equipment. (Bus-type air springs offered by some cars cost well over $100.00 extra.) So compare all the 1958 models with Dodge. We think you'll agree: Other cars are catching on, but they can't catch up.

CATS DEFEAT AUXIER, 78-49

Tournament Game First of Season for P'burg; Powers Scoring Leader

The Prestonsburg Black Cats successfully opened their 1957-58 basketball season Tuesday night by downing Auxier, 78-49, in the first round of the annual Floyd county pre-season tournament.

By virtue of the victory, the Black Cats advanced to the quarter-final round and will meet McDowell in the first game Thursday night.

Auxier held a 16-14 first quarter lead on the strength of Porter Powers' eight points in the period, but fell behind, 29-22, as forward James Hager and Paul Hughes began to connect in the second quarter. Jack Wells' unit used their superior height to good advantage in the last half as they completely controlled the backboards over the much smaller Hornets. Hughes and Hager each flipped in 12 points in the hectic third period as Prestonsburg outmargined Auxier 17-15 and then coasted to victory.

Porter Powers paced the losers with 26 points while Hager, Hughes and John Gibson tossed in 33, 22, and 11 respectively for the Black Cats Auxier's record is now 2-3.

ALL-STATE TEAM

A noticeable absence from this year's all-state high school football team was Jenkins' speedy all-around halfback, Gary Harrison, who was one of the leading scorers in the state and paced his mates to a 10-0 season.

As has been the trend for the past decade, the big city schools completely dominated the three teams, with little regard given to mountain football.

Prestonsburg's fine center, Wayne Dixon, was named on the third team as was Jenkins' Billy Elkins at fullback and Russell Asbury as guard.

Honorable mention was given to 14 players including Harrison and Paul Hughes of Prestonsburg.

SUSPENSIONS

Louisa and Kingdom Come high schools have been suspended by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association until January 1, for using overage players, yet, when two of the state's largest schools, Manual and Flaget, staged a free-for-all in a football game in Louisville, the schools were suspended for only two weeks, and then were permitted to reschedule one of the suspended games. It appears that the size of the school influences the K. H. S. A. A. in rendering decisions. Warfield and Van Lear, two Fifteenth Region teams, now have a case pending before the board as a result of alleged unsportsmanlike conduct in a basketball game two weeks ago.

INVITATION

John Campbell's Garrett Black Devils, who lost their first game in seven starts to Betsy Layne last Saturday, are expected to receive the last bid for the Paintsville Invitation Tournament, January 1-4. Auxier is still in the running for the remaining berth in the Ashland Holiday tournament. Oil Springs was accepted as the seventh team in the affair after beating Flat Gap, 85-79.

HIGH SCORES

The new bonus rule in high school basketball this season is causing combined scores to run higher than at any previous time. Last week-end, for example, and the players have yet to gain mid-season shooting form, combined scores in five games were 164, 171, 172, 175, and 173—which is considerable scoring for only 32 minutes of action.

Floyd Students Head College Service Club

Pikeville, Ky., Dec. 2 (Spl). — Five young Floyd county men, students at Pikeville College, are members of Pikeville's Circle K Club, a service club of young college men, recently affiliated with Circle K International.

The Pikeville unit, originally set up as a local organization under the sponsorship of the Pikeville Kiwanis Club, was the first of its kind in Kentucky. The present group is the fourth in the state to be brought under the general organization, and will be presented January 2 with the 169th charter issued from the international office.

Robert L. Hatcher, Wayland, is president of the Circle K Club of Pikeville, and William J. Workman, 200 Second Ave., Prestonsburg, is vice-president. The group has sponsored a talent show in Pikeville, and will carry on other activities to support its charitable and service projects.

One of the club's present efforts is the marking of parking spaces to help ease the parking shortage around Pikeville College, Dr. Page said.

Other Floyd countians who are members of the Circle K Club of Pikeville are James E. Cline, Auxier; Ronald A. Turner, Price, and Harlan, Letcher, Martin, and Pike counties, Kentucky, and Buchanan county, Virginia.

First Girl Gets Youth Club Award

FRANKFORT, Dec. 5 — The time is gone when wildlife conservation was for males only.

Betsy Coffey, 12, Monticello, is the first girl in Kentucky to earn all the patches made possible by the State's Junior Conservation program.

In 1955, her first year at Camp Earl Wallace she earned the primary safe hunter, swimming, outboard motor, rowing first aid and junior naturalist patches.

Then returning to Camp Wallace in 1956 Betsy received patches for casting voyageur, primary archery, advanced nature and advanced safe hunter.

This year she finished the advanced archery course which entitled her to the Outdoorsman's Patch.

Kentucky's junior conservation program is considered the nation's model plan for youngsters.

THANKS
VOTERS

Please accept my humble thanks for electing me to serve as your County Judge for another term. I shall be forever grateful to the people, Democrats and Republicans, for their support and confidence. Maybe some day I can repay you in some way for the many kindnesses you have shown me. I promise to do my best to make you a good County Judge.

Since the Magistrates have been relieved of their duties in the trial of misdemeanor cases, the trial work of the Judge's office will be more than doubled. The road problems and business affairs of the county continue to grow and become more complex. With the experience I have gained and the help of those you have chosen to work with me, I hope we can have an administration that will be remembered favorably as one of progress and improvement. We welcome your support and advice. When we can be of service to you, come in and see us.

Many thanks to you all.

Plant Settlement High In Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Dec. 5—For the third straight year, 50 percent or more of firms which sent representatives to Kentucky to make plant location surveys have since built plants in the State," says John C. Rogers, of the Kentucky Department of Economic Development.

Rogers, writing in the Commonwealth, a State publication, said 10 percent is the national average based on recent surveys.

The Department's Industrial Development Division reports the high percentage is due not only to the effective work of the department, but also the teamwork of the private firms and public agencies in coordinating their industrial development activities.

Rogers said the department is able to provide detailed information to a prospect on short notice and has an active file of 330 suitable industrial tracts from four to 1,000 acres.

In 1956, the U. S. produced 44,807,000 pounds of milk; in 1955 it was 125,698,000 pounds.

Ham-Curing Tips Listed by University, Swine Specialist Says

Kentuckians buying their own hams for curing should keep several things in mind, says Grady Sellards, swine specialist, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service.

Well-finished hogs weighing not more than 220 to 230 pounds yield hams of about 15 to 16 pounds. Chill carcasses after slaughter, preferably at 34 to 38 degrees; if purchased from packer or slaughterer, select those killed not more than a day or two previously, since extended chilling of carcasses increases the amount of spoilage in hams.

For curing: Use 7½ pounds of salt, 2½ pounds of sugar and two ounces of saltpeter for every 100 pounds of weight of the ham to be cured. Rub this curing-mix into the hams at three-day intervals; use 1/3 of the mixture each time. Hams weighing up to 20 pounds should cure in about three weeks; if hams are heavier than that—more than 20 pounds in weight—increase curing time by one-half day for each pound over 20 pounds. Thus, a 25-pound ham should cure in 37½ days.

Wash hams at end of curing season in lukewarm water, dry them with a cloth, then smoke until hams turn amber in color. Wrap hams in several layers of paper, and then store them in cloth bags, to keep down insect attacks. Store cured hams in a dry, warm place.

Danger Lurks In Blasting Caps

Frankfort, Dec. 5—The dangers of handling blasting caps were stressed by Kentucky State Fire Marshal Ray Humkey, who pointed out several Kentucky children have been injured in blasting cap accidents recently.

Humkey said blasting caps sometimes are lost or stolen and boys and girls find them. "Explosions frequently occur," he said, "and as a result persons lose fingers and hands, sometimes are blinded for life."

The fire marshal described blasting caps as "small copper or aluminum cylinders about as big around as a lead pencil and between 1 1/2 and 5 inches long. They contain a highly sensitive explosive and are used to explode dynamite in mining and excavation work."

"Children and adults should know what a blasting cap looks like and what damage it can do," Humkey said. "If found, they should be left alone. Other children should be warned and a fireman, policeman, sheriff, or other law enforcement officer informed."

"Above all, do not touch the blasting caps," Humkey emphasized.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, Nov. 24 — A survey of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association lists Kentucky first among eight states in capital expenditures for new and modernized plant facilities in counties along the Ohio River and its tributaries.

The expenditures were made since 1950.

The survey pegs the Kentucky total at $3,489,300,000. Ohio ranked second with $3,355,700,000.

The Commonwealth's coal and steel production, new chemical plants, and the A.E.C.'s gaseous diffusion plant at Paducah have helped the Ohio River area earn such descriptive tags as "Atom Valley" and "the American Ruhr."

REVOLUTION IN GREENUP

Jesse Stuart, a long-time farmer as well as a famed Kentucky author, tells how farm mechanization has changed life in a mountainous Kentucky area.

His description is in an article, "Revolution in Greenup County," in the fall issue of the American Petroleum Institute Quarterly.

Stuart is a native of that area.

IT'S THE DRIVER

It isn't the car that begins to whine
When forced to stop for an old stop sign—
It's the driver.

It isn't the car that will take a drink,
Then quickly lose its power to think—
It's the driver.

It isn't the car that steps on the gas
And causes an accident, trying to pass—
It's the driver.

A car may be bent and twisted awry,
But it isn't the car that will have to die—
It's the driver.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"Why Didn't You?"

The way a person does anything means, to some people, only a sign of what ought to be his line. Years ago I took with me on one of my bird trips a young college professor, a very shy but able man. We met a number of farmers in the area where I was studying birds. Along the way I picked up some school children and took them as far as I was going. Since I like people, I quite naturally, talked to everybody just about everything. On our way home the young college professor said, "Wilson, you ought to be a politician." And yet I was merely acting like myself, with no effort to secure votes or to make people think well of me. I had birded on those farms many times and have now run up the total to nearly six hundred times, but it had never occurred to me to play politics or back-slapping to keep my welcome up.

When I was a very young man, I went home with my college roommate. On Sunday, as was to be expected, we attended the small Baptist church near his home. Some one asked me to comment on the International Sunday School lesson of the day; of course, since I was and am I, I did. Before I left that country church, I learned that I was a young ministerial student. Several people wished me well and were glad that I was to be a preacher. I was firm in saying that I had no such intention, but they piously knew better. And I let them have their way.

In my years of making commencement addresses, I have had enough funny experiences to fill a book. In one place, since I have been connected with a teachers' college all my mature life, I was supposed to be a professor of education and was so advertised—Head of the Education Department, Western. After it was in print, of course nothing could be done about it. If a man is an educator, if he teaches in a teachers' college, he is a professor of education; so that is that. There is no use for him to deny it.

Also on a commencement program I had the introduction to end all introductions. The printed program said that I was professor of English. I did not deny it, but the introducer said I was professor of medicine. I know that I may have some appearance of the old family doctor, but that was news to me. I made no effort to correct this impression; it is possible that that neighborhood still thinks that I am a professional far different from what I really am. I am very much interested in the whole field of medicine, I have taken my share of pills and have been shot with everything that comes in guns, but I am afraid that these will not qualify me for a chair of medicine, even internal medicine.

Is it true, then, that certain attitudes belong to certain professions? If so, why would anybody ever suspect that I am anything but a teacher? Looks, gestures, vocabularies, companions, and all the rest become standardized in the minds of many people. If you have these, you are a member of certain group, no matter how much you deny it. "He looks just like a..." You can supply the name according to what characteristics you see. This is genuine folklore, going back to a time when probably people actually looked their parts more than they do now. In the Middle Ages the robe that you wore probably caused you to take a certain type of step. That would give you away before anyone could see your face. When the rigid caste systems prevailed, a servant probably did walk and act like a servant, and the lord acted like a lord. Except for rare individuals, try your hand at guessing a man's profession by the way he walks and talks and acts.

PIKE WOMAN DESIGNS EISENHOWER JACKET

(By QUENTIN R. HOWARD in the Sunday Courier-Journal)

It's a real believe-it-or-notter. Mrs. J. Wendell Rees, Majestic, Ky., a small coal-mining town in Pike County, made and wore the first Army jacket which became known as the Eisenhower jacket.

Mrs. Rees was a private in the W.A.C. stationed at Eveden, Thetford, England, when her practical mind and nimble fingers originated the jacket. At the time she assistant to a chaplain.

"One night," she relates, "I was coming down the stairs of the old mansion and suddenly viewed myself in the mirrored walls. There I was in GI garb, from haircut to mercerized stockings and heavy service shoes. I immediately longed for a bit of glamour."

That evening while her roommates were at a U.S.O. show, she ripped up one of her GI coats and made a short battle jacket. She pleated it around the waist, made a waistband from the shorn-off tail, and replaced the buttons with large plastic ones. The result was an attractive jacket that would launder well.

On April 13, 1944, Mrs. Rees got an order, incidentally No. 13, to report for duty the following day as secretary to the judge advocate general. She was appointed chief expediter. She had been at her new job for a week when she decided to wear, despite lack of authorization, her newly-styled jacket.

Then Col. Oveta Culp Hobby,

W.A.C. director, came by for an inspection.

"Get ready for the salt mine. Private Rees," her lieutenant told her "You've had it."

Mrs. Rees was standing stiffly at attention when Colonel Hobby came up. She surveyed the private critically.

"Why, that's a new jacket. When was it issued?" the colonel wanted to know. She put her hand on Mrs. Rees's shoulder and told her to turn around. Mrs. Rees was too disturbed for a moment to speak.

Later, Colonel Hobby ordered the Pike County W.A.C. to go to London to instruct Debenham-Freebody Tailors on how to make the jacket, which was to become a favorite with General Dwight Eisenhower, now President.

Four months later the Third Air Force, W.A.C. Department, was issued the jacket. It was by order of the Secretary of War that the Eisenhower jacket was made general issue for optional wear by officers and enlistees.

Mrs. Rees has designed a golfing costume, and a Civil Air Patrol jacket. The jacket was for women of the Bluefield, W. Va., C.A.P. It is of wool, Eisenhower style, with two pockets covered by flaps, and wide, rounded collar and lapels. There are four metal buttons of silver hue. She has submitted it to Government authorities for possible adoption as a standard uniform.

She calls her golfing uniform Greenbrier. The skirt is made of a lightweight material in culotte style. The jacket is of hip length, with long sleeves and buttoned cuffs, a rolled collar and a front zipper.

Mrs. Rees is a busy, youngish woman. She is worthy matron of the Freeborn Chapter 418, Order of the Eastern Star; Mizpah Shrine No. 11, and the Matewan, W. Va., Woman's Club.

She has done interior decorating, and she has had experience in radio and drama in New York. Mrs. Rees also dabbles in painting. Her husband owns and operates his own mine, the L. & L. Coal Company, at Majestic.

George Madison—First Governr To Die in Office

By Charles F. Hinds, Secretary-Treasurer Kentucky Historical Society

FRANKFORT, Dec. 5 — George Madison, the fifth Governor of Kentucky (1816), was inaugurated in the Presidential administration of James Madison, fourth President of the United States (1809-17). Both Madisons were Virginians by birth. The question naturally arises: Were they related, and if so, how?

Kentuckians have always claimed that they are unique people, and never more so than in the early history of the Commonwealth. The Governor and the President were some sort of cousins, but in those days, that was about as far as one needed to go. Wasn't George Madison a twice-wounded hero of two Indian campaigns (1791 and 1792)? Hadn't he been in command of the only troops who held the field at the Battle of the River Raisin in the War of 1812? And, if that weren't enough, hadn't he served faithfully for 20 years under the first four Governors as Auditor of Public Accounts (1796-1816)? What Kentuckian cared in 1816 if George Madison were related to the President of the United States or not?

It wasn't until about 1900, after some rather lengthy research, that a great grandson of George Madison, Frank P. Blair, concluded that the two Madisons were first cousins, their fathers having been brothers.

Another interesting fact in connection with Governor Madison, whose portrait by Nicola Marshall hangs in the Old State House, is that he was obviously dying by 1816 of tuberculosis, incurred or aggravated as a prisoner of war, after having been captured at the River Raisin. During the gubernatorial campaign, his only opponent, Colonel James Johnson, politely bowed out of the contest, realizing that the sympathy and the votes lay with the dying Madison.

By inauguration day, George Madison was so weak that he could hardly stand to take the oath of office. Exactly 39 days later, on October 14, Governor Madison died at the age of 53 in Paris, Kentucky. He was succeeded by Lt. Gov. Gabriel Slaughter. In 1874 the Commonwealth had Governor Madison reinterred in the state burial ground in the Frankfort Cemetery.

LETCHER CLERK'S PAYROLL IS QUESTIONED BY AUDITOR

State Auditor Mary Louise Foust Monday questioned the salaries paid by Letcher County Clerk Charlie Wright for work done by his wife and a brother.

She was more particularly concerned about money paid to the brother, Nick Wright, for work done in the clerk's office while he was a full-time employee of the State Department of Economic Security.

Her audit showed Nick Wright received $2,137 for work in the clerk's office during 1954, although he held a full-time state job 10 months of the year. He was listed as having worked full time in the clerk's office only during January and February of that year.

The brother remained in full-time employment with the state in 1955 and received $1,469 for part time work in clerk's office.

His $2,400 payment for 1956 was approved by Fiscal Court, the report continued, but he was employed full time in the clerk's office only during the months of April through December.

Miss Foust took exception to payments claimed for Mrs. Ruby Wright, the clerk's wife, because the auditors had to rely on affidavits as to the amounts claimed. No records were kept to support the claims.

The same was true in the case of the brother, she said, because the claimed payments reportedly were made in cash.

The wife's salary was listed as $2,700 in 1954 and $3,600 each in 1955 and 1956. Certified statements or affidavits were unavailable to show $900 of the 1955 payment and all of the 1956 payment.

Miss Foust said she found in Letcher a situation often found in other counties—poor record keeping that makes an accurate audit impossible.

She said her auditors reported finding in Wright's office only cash-register rolls, with no dates, and some cancelled checks kept in a box in a corner of the office.

State laws requiring systematic record keeping are "toothless," she said, and are abused in many quarters.

The clerk was unavailable for comment at Whitesburg, but his brother said he had given up the state job and now was working full time as a deputy clerk.

He said he worked Saturdays, holidays, lunch periods, and often opened the office during the years his salary was questioned.

No change has been made in record keeping since the auditors visited the office, he said, adding: "We're not going to make any changes. If she thinks she can run the office from down there, let her."

The audit was ordered in a study of excess fees owed the county by the various officials.

Wright was found to owe $1,049 for 1956, but nothing for the other years. Sheriff Robert V. Collins owed $8,115 for three years through 1956, according to the audit report.

BLOOD VESSELS OF YOUR EYES SUPPLY CLUES TO THE HEART

Your eyes reveal a lot about your heart and your health. In fact, one physician says it is possible to look into the eyes and say with reasonable accuracy how long a person will live.

In any case, the visible condition of the blood vessels in the retina of the eye indicates the condition of the hidden blood vessels in your body. So J. D. Ratcliff explains in a December Reader's Digest article, "When the Doctor Tests Your Heart."

The retina is a maze of tiny blood vessels. Dr. Banks Anderson, of Duke University, calls it: "A screen, lustrous, high-lighted and vital in youth; dull and scarred in age. On this screen is projected the pageantry of the body economy." If the retinal blood vessels have thickened and hardened with age, probably the same thing is happening in the arteries of your heart.

New diagnostic techniques taught the physicians that "heart murmur" is not to be dreaded as was. Once, many a child was to bed as a heart cripple because the doctor heard such a murmur. Now, researchers have discovered that most children have a murmur of some kind. Often, it is just a sound of blood rushing through busy—but normal—heart.

By means of X-rays, it is possible to look inside the heart itself. Certain fluids can be passed through the heart chambers, providing a good X-ray silhouette. The electrocardiograph can measure the electrical impulses which make heart muscles contract with every beat.

There are many other tests. A long talk with you about your symptoms and past illnesses is an important part of the examination.

The Digest article is condensed from "Today's Health," a publication of the American Medical Association.

if your husband had to do this today...

... guess what he'd do tomorrow!

If your husband had to take down the family wash every time it rains — and then put it all back up — he'd soon buy an electric clothes dryer!

Since things don't work that way, why not explain your problem to him? Maybe he hasn't even thought about it!

explain... how heavy wet clothes are, and how you have to wrestle them out to the clothesline, basketload after basketload... week after week... month after month.

explain... how your back aches after you hang out the wash... bend and straighten... bend and straighten... over and over and over again.

explain... the nuisance of keeping up with clothespins, wiping clotheslines clean and tightening them when they sag.

explain... how much smoother and fluffier each piece is when it comes from the dryer... that some pieces such as towels don't even have to be ironed, and all can be ironed without sprinkling.

If you do, chances are you'll soon own a bright new electric clothes dryer. And he'll be just as proud as you when that clothesline comes down, to tell the world that your family is modern — Living Better Electrically!
