This Town— That World

I know now what the word, "salom," means. I did one on an icy sidewalk, the other day.

OH, WELL!

There are youngsters now living who, some day, may take a grandchild or so on knee and quaver to them about recollections of "the winter of '58 when the snow stood two feet deep in the streets for weeks and the Russians beat us into the skies with a satellite" and so on with more of a tale helped along with an active imagination.

Wonder if some toddler tired of hearing hoary lies, will lay gramps in the aisle, so to speak, as a fourth-grader did her (or his) Dad not long ago? This youngster, we are told, asked the unsuspecting parent if he knew why Russian cowboys have had the edge on American cowboys until right recently. The old man went into a huddle with himself but could come up with nothing better than a patriotic defense of the American cowboy, the shoot-inest, ridinest, toughest hombre that ever straddled a hoss. And then in desperation he asked the youngster, "Why?"

"Cause," said the wise one, "Russian cowboys got saddle-lites!"

OOPS!

I don't vouch for all these stories of fourth-grade precociousness but there is another told me as the truth, so help me, the other day. This youngster bucked the unsuspecting father with a question about international law.

Then she stated the case. "An airplane was flying from the United States to Mexico with six people and it crashed in Mexico. The question in international law was, which country would have the right to bury the survivors?"

Well, the old goat pulled at his whiskers and went through the usual contortions and finally "law is law, they'd send them back to the United States for burial."

It was then that the brat almost got disinherited when she innocently asked:

"You don't bury survivors, do you?"

2 FLOYD MEN VICTIMS IN CAR, MILL MISHAP

Two Floyd countians died last week-end of injuries — one the victim of a sawmill accident, the other of a mounstainside auto wreck.

P'BURG HIGH SCHOOL GIVEN RE-EVALUATION

HIGH SCHOOL HERE DRAWS GOOD RATING

Evaluators' Spokesman Says School To Regain Southern Ass'n Standing

"Prestonsburg high school is a good school," declared Dr. Morris Clerley, of the University of Kentucky, chairman of the evaluating committee of eight who made a professional study this week of the school, in a final report made Tuesday afternoon to the faculty, citizens, school leaders and Parent-Teacher Association members.

Besides, he added, he considers the school's reinstatement to membership in the Southern Association of Secondary Schools a certainty. That action, however, will have to wait till November when the Association's commission next meets.

The school lost its place with the Southern Association last November because certain reports and other paper work were not done in time to meet requirements.

The evaluation committee, Dr. Clerley explained, is just what its name implies. It can only report its findings and make suggestions.

What he said of its findings was highly encouraging.

Speaking for the committee, the chairman said the report was con-

OFFICIALS ASKS FEDERAL HELP

Judge, County Attorney Ask More Surplus Foods To Meet Floyd Situation

Surplus foodstuffs in addition to those now coming into Floyd county were asked by County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney Robert S. Wellman in letters addressed Wednesday to Senators John Sherman Cooper and Thurston B. Morton and Congressman Carl D. Perkins.

"Economic conditions in Eastern Kentucky and in Floyd county have reached the critical point," the two officials wrote. "Our people are in want and have little to provide for their sustenance. Many are on the verge of starvation. It is doubtful that economic conditions have ever been worse."

They said 8,000 persons in the county are now eligible for surplus foodstuffs under the Surplus Commodity Program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and that more are being added daily to the list.

G. R. Spradlin, head of commodity distribution for the county, said the number of applicants for surplus foodstuffs is increasing by 50 to 75 a day. He added that one item, beans, is now unavailable for distribution. The Department of Agriculture removed beans from the surplus commodity list about two weeks ago.

That leaves the supply of foodstuffs per person over a period of a month about as follows:

Two pounds of cheese, three

HOW SCHOOL LOST IS TOLD

$63,000 Added Income Does Not Materialize As Teachers Not Found

Instead of receiving $63,000 additional income this year, as reported in a Frankfort dispatch to newspapers of the state, the Floyd county school system actually will be receiving less than it did the preceding year, County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said this week.

This is how the misleading figures grew and how they failed to materialize, according to the superintendent.

Last July, Floyd and other county school systems of the state were required to list their anticipated teacher needs. If they underestimated their needs, the list of requirements could not be revised upward later; so Floyd county, as did others, attempted to anticipate all possible needs.

Floyd county applied for 487 teachers, and on the basis of that number of teachers was tentatively allocated about $63,000 from state funds under the Minimum Foundation Program.

But the county fell short of getting that many teachers in fact, it missed the mark by 15. Failure to get these 15 teachers cost the county about $4,400 per teacher, or $66,000, resulting in a loss rather than the profit at first reported on the basis of tentative figures.

"We did not hire those 15 teachers because we couldn't get them," Mr. Turner explained. He said the need for band instructors, librarians, mathematics and science teachers, and in a few places English instructors, is particularly acute.

PEN GOODMAN FOR SLAYING

Johnson Jury Convicts Former Dwale Resident For Stapleton Killing

Sandy Goodman, former Dwale man, received at the hands of a Johnson county jury Tuesday night a 21-year pen sentence upon his conviction in the slaying at Paintsville recently of Charlie Stapleton, formerly of Allen.

The shooting of Stapleton took place at the home of Goodman's former wife, Stapleton was at the home when Goodman arrived.

Goodman claimed he fired on Stapleton in self-defense testifying that he thought Stapleton was reaching for a gun when he ran his hand into his pocket. Two or three other witnesses testified for the defense.

Defendant's estranged wife was one of six witnesses for the Commonwealth. Burden of this testimony was that Stapleton was sitting in a rocking chair in the woman's living room when Goodman entered, that the two men did not speak and Goodman went into the kitchen with the announced intention of getting something to eat. There it was testified, he told a girl he intended to kill Goodman. He fired two shots from the doorway leading back into the living room.

Commonwealth's Attorney William Hazelrigg said he is inclined to believe Goodman will not appeal the verdict.

CENTERS ONE OF 4 VICTIMS

Floyd War Veteran, Son Of Minister Is Killed In Truck-Car Collision

William Howard Centers, 31-year-old World War II veteran and a son of the Rev. and Mrs. Carl L. Centers, of Betsy Layne, was one of four men who met death in a car-truck collision at Elkton, Md., last week.

His death was the first among the 13 children of the Floyd county minister. Two of the four died instantly. A fifth man in the car escaped with a broken arm. The crash took place Friday afternoon as the five, all employees of Dodge Motor Co., Wilmington, Del., were driving to the home of a friend to help him repair his auto.

Approaching with a truck, and from behind this truck a trailer pulled into the path of their car. The auto ran under the bed of truck-trailer.

Centers survived till Sunday morning. His father and two brothers learned of the crash Saturday night but did not arrive in Elkton till six hours after his death.

Centers had been employed by Dodge Motor Company about 10 years, working in Michigan, and was transferred to Wilmington only a few months ago. He was unmarried. Surviving, besides his parents, are four sisters and eight brothers: Mrs. Ruby Garrett, Mare Creek; Mrs. Norma Rice, Logan, W. Va.; Mrs. Clotilde Woods, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Georgene Trick, Pikeville; Willis Centers, Lorain, O.; Clyde Centers, Pikeville; Grover C. Centers, of the U. S. Navy, based in South America; Bobby Centers, Belleville, Mich.; Irvin Arrowood Centers, Ecorse, Mich.; Fredrick and Buddy Boy Centers, both of Betsy Layne.

Funeral rites were held today (Thursday) from the auditorium of Betsy Layne high school, the Revs. Isaac Stratton, L. E. Walters and Ray Smiley officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Ivel under direction of the J. W. Call & Son Funeral Home.

NEEDY TOTAL DOUBLED, SAID

800 Families Reported Needy In Floyd County; Food Most Urgent Need

The picture by Rex Osborne of the mother of eight needy Floyd county children that appeared in The Times two weeks ago aroused a bit of interest at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund at Washington.

Harold W. Ward, public relations officer, wrote The Times:

"I was interested in your feature about 'Defeated People' which appeared in the January 30 issue. If the picture of the mother and three of her eight children is available from yourself or the photographer, I would like to have a copy."

FRAUD CHARGE JAILS VISITOR

Magazine Subscription 'Racket' Alleged; Davis Held As Parole Broken

A "young man working his way through college" by selling magazine subscriptions has at least temporarily joined the ranks of the unemployed here.

The salesman, listed as Bob Gilstrap, was jailed Saturday, and he remains in jail in default of $1,000 bond after entering a plea of guilty before County Judge Henry Stumbo to a conversion charge.

His arrest followed his failure to return to a Prestonsburg man "change" for $20. Before that he had received and cashed checks of other residents. Although he was armed with impressive appearing credentials, the magazine he claimed he was representing said he was not known in its office.

Poster Davis, Jr., of Heller, was jailed here Tuesday when found driving without a license and was held as a parole violator. Parole Officer H. T. Hill said he had been paroled after serving time on a voluntary manslaughter charge. The charge against him was changed to "absconding from supervision."

Probation of a one-year pen term granted Denver Coburn, of Garrett, by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill recently was revoked this week after he allegedly had become intoxicated and had created a disturbance at Garrett. He was taken to the La-

Muskrat Trapping Charges Dismissed

Those who anticipated an interesting trial here Monday as a 78-year-old man was slated to stand trial on charges growing out of attempts to trap muskrats on his farm were disappointed.

The charges were dismissed on motion of County Attorney Robert S. Wellman.

The defendant, R. D. Prater, of the Middle Creek section, was accused of trapping without license, failure to have trap tags and failure to report a trap-line. He had contended he attempted to trap muskrats which had been eating his corn but that he had not succeeded in catching them.

County Judge Henry Stumbo told the defendant he had a right to protect his crops.

COURT STUDIES PLAN FOR VOTING MACHINES

Auxier-Van Lear Road Construction Awarded; To Cost $234,965.20

Contract for construction on the Auxier-Van Lear road in Floyd and Johnson counties has been awarded the Allen Co., Inc., of Winchester, according to an announcement by James W. Martin, Commissioner of Highways.

The company submitted a low bid of $234,965.20. The contract calls for bituminous concrete surface, Class 1, using slag aggregate throughout, including .975 mile grade drain section.

The route, known as Ky. 1107, extends from Hager Gap along Dewey Lake, across Dewey Dam and to Van Lear.

COURTHOUSE BOND ISSUE CONSIDERED

Court Postpones Action On Purchase of Machines; Firm Named Fiscal Agent

The Floyd fiscal court Saturday studied two major problems—voting machines and a new court house. No decision was made on the former. A tentative plan submitted by a bond firm for a courthouse was approved but the undertaking is merely in the talking stage.

The court was told by representatives of a voting machine manufacturing firm that by consolidation of precincts voting machines could be purchased to handle the entire Floyd county vote at a cost which, distributed over a period of 10 years, would be no greater, perhaps less, than the present expense of paying tabulators, guards and election commissioners. They also claim the machines are foolproof and will tend to curb vote-buying and other election-law violations.

Cost of each machine is $1,695. It is believed the number of precincts could be reduced to about 30 by consolidation, since one voting machine will accommodate 800 voters.

County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney Robert S. Wellman hope to get prices from other manufacturers and to ascertain what success other counties have had with voting machines before buying.

Before bonds could be issued for new courthouse construction their approval by vote of the people would be necessary.

Charles A. Fisher & Company, Cincinnati, submitted the proposal to handle such a bond issue in all its phases, including legal work, advertising the sale of

JOY PLEDGES NEEDY HELP

February, March Profits Offered Schoolchildren Who Need Assistance

A Prestonsburg businessman and manufacturer will contribute all net sales profits for the months of February and March to the needy schoolchildren of Floyd county. Benefactor of the children is W. R. Joy, president of the Coal Bit Company.

Joy made known his intentions this week in a letter to his Floyd county salesmen and they were urged to solicit business from Floyd county mine operators on that basis. Henry P. Scalf, chairman of the Citizens Improvement Association, was notified by Joy of the contribution today (Thursday).

"Malnutrition in youth, no doubt in my mind, tends towards many diseases which remain in the tissues of the human body and causes sickness and even death years after the scourge

Flemingsburg Methodist Church And Pastor, Rev. W. B. Garriott, Honored For Outstanding Work

The Flemingsburg Methodist Church was recognized recently for its outstanding program of work during 1957 at a Fellowship dinner held at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Its pastor, the Rev. W. B. Garriott, former pastor of the Prestonsburg Methodist Church, and a delegation from here attended the ceremonies in Lexington. At that time, 18 churches were honored.

The Rev. Garriott was advised by Professor Ralph J. Ramsey, extension specialist in rural sociology at the University that his church would be recognized.

The Flemingsburg Methodist church was selected on the basis of several accomplishments, with perhaps the strongest being its splendid youth program, directed by Mrs. Pauline Crain.

As a result of Miss Crain's model youth program at the church, she was voted "Fleming County's Outstanding Citizen" last year.

Some of the church's other project include the completion of a new annex, installation of a new organ, establishment of a Men's Club, the furnishing of the pastor's study, increasing the budget, increases in attendance, number of organizations and meetings held.

Mr. Garriott has been pastor of the Flemingsburg church for the past 9½ years. He plans to retire in June, but he and Mrs. Garriott will continue to reside in Flemingsburg in the home they are building in the Lakewood subdivision.

Last year the pastor resigned as president of the board of the Retired Brotherhood, Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Church. When he assumed this position 22 years ago, the Brotherhood had a $75,000 endowment, and, at the time of his retirement, the endowment was $500,000. The sum of $95,000 came to the Brotherhood last year as the result of Mr. Garriott's efforts prior to that time.

At the Lexington meeting, Dr. Frank Peterson, vice-president of the University presented Mr. Garriott a Citation of Merit for rural community service.

HIGH SCHOOL GYM TO OPEN HERE WITH TWIN BILL SATURDAY NIGHT

Prestonsburg high school's huge, new gymnasium—largest and finest in Eastern Kentucky—will open its doors Saturday evening for the first basketball play to be staged on its floor.

The Prestonsburg-Oil Springs, Betsy Layne-Auxier doubleheader is expected to draw a big turnout, but there will be no dearth of room. The structure will accommodate up to 5,000 persons.

As finishing touches to the play-floored gym are being added this week it was noted that the big construction job has been done at an overall cost of $287,000.

Remaining to be done are completion of some of the four concession stands, finishing touches to other interior work and grading of the grounds. All this will be done before the 58th district (Floyd county) tournament begins here, March 4.

The regular entrances to the gymnasium will not be used during regular season play while work continues. Instead, the entrances leading from the school building itself into the gym at either side of the stage will be used.

Vital equipment complimentary to the gymnasium has been donated by individuals and firms contacted by the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club. One electric scoreboard was donated by the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company; the other, by two unidentified donors. The public address system, including speakers, microphone and record player, was the gift of the First National Bank and Marvin Music. The May Sign Company donated part of the work on signs in the gym. Lawrence Keathley donated a popcorn machine for one concession stand, and the Kiwanis Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce here financed red floor markings and decorations. Pikeville College supplied metal piping for temporary barriers around the playing floor.

For the coming tournament the Junior Chamber of Commerce will supply sponsorship for each team entered, members being assigned to see that the needs of each team are filled. Boy Scouts will serve as tourney ushers, and traffic and parking will be handled by city and state police.

GAS BILL BLUES

This column does not publish poetry, verse, doggerel or what have you, as a rule, but we're breaking over again for Charles Clark, principal of the Garrett consolidated school, who blew a fuse and wreaked mayhem on the muse in the same motion when he got a gas bill recently for $43.25 for a month of January. What induced me to print the following was his note to the effect that he would pay for having it printed but he had to pay the gas bill first and that left little for other purposes. Anyway, here it is:

Our water is heated but not with gas.
Our bill is terrific and we'd rather not sass,
Our food is cooked on an electric range,
Our gas bill climbs to an amount that's strange.
Maybe its wrong, maybe its right,
But my bill is higher than a satellite.

Atomic heating couldn't be higher;
At an alternate system I must take a flyer.
If it goes any higher I'll blow a piston—
I'll owe my soul to the Floyd County System!

Monday night's aerial show created considerable interest, in some cases caused alarm. I'm not an expert aurora borealis man but this display of Northern Lights was different from any I remember. Usually, the lights flare up in streamers, and their tremulous motion has given them in some parts of the world the name, "merry dancers."

The solid glow in the northern sky caused some to think the next town north was having quite a fire. Folks at Allen thought Prestonsburg was in for it, and some of those in Prestonsburg had an idea Paintsville underwriters were having a bad evening.

The wildest guess came from the man who said, "Looks like Dewey Lake's on fire!" In a four-month period in 1956, a total of 42,752 electric appliances were bought in 16 counties in Kentucky.

Underwriter Group Hears Paintsville Insuranceman At Monthly Meeting Here

"Man's inner self is clearly viewed as he portrays an attitude," said Doug Van Hoose, of Paintsville, who spoke to members of the Big Sandy Underwriters Association at the B.&W. Cafe Wednesday evening. The occasion was the regular monthly dinner meeting of the association which rotates its meets between Prestonsburg, Paintsville and Pikeville.

Van Hoose spoke of positive and negative attitudes and of how they affect business. "Right attitudes are as oil for your business but wrong ones are like sand in a mechanism," he said.

He urged confidence at this time, deplored the use of the word, "pessimism," which he called a dangerous word. We owe it to the world to be optimistic, he said, and the world owes us nothing. "We owe the world," he added.

The meet of the life insurance men's group, presided over by G. D. O'Neil, Pikeville, voted to back the coming Easter Seal drive after a discussion of projects. Van Hoose was appointed as chairman of the group's effort in Johnson county, David Slone to head the association's drive in Pike and Homer Draughn, of Garrett, was appointed for Floyd county.

Ted Adams, Prestonsburg insurance man, was in charge of the evening's entertainment. The next meeting of the Association will be in Pikeville.

Voting Machines

If voting machines will discourage vote-buying and those other devious arts practised in Floyd county during elections, we think Floyd county should invest in them.

The fiscal court, of course, cannot rush into such a transaction. It must determine the cost of these machines and how their cost compares with the expense of hiring tabulators, ballot box guards and others during our long counts of the returns. It must also ascertain if all the voters of the county will be served by them.

The Times hopes the matter will be given immediate and thorough study. Then, if these machines are as foolproof and as worthy as they are reputed to be, we say — buy 'em.

A Five Cent Stamp For This Plan!

This proposal by President Eisenhower to spend two billions of dollars on postoffices as a shot in the arm to a doddering economy has a singular unattractiveness to us of a section where something more realistic, permanent and beneficial to the economy as a whole is needed.

And we have an idea the plan will not be received with wild huzzas elsewhere in the country.

We fail to see how further investment in a deficit-producing branch of the government will be very helpful to the economy. A few jobs in any given county of the United States, a little more business for suppliers, yes, but little to help the population as a whole.

Perhaps the President should return to that Rivers and Harbors bill and begin thinking of the permanent needs of the country—conservation of soil, protection of homes and businesses against flood, cheap water transportation for industry.

Specifically, we are thinking of headwaters reservoirs on the Big Sandy and other rivers to control the water supply, and canalization of the Big Sandy to give its coal and other products an outlet as well as to encourage industry to locate in this valley whose principal stream was meant to serve the people, not to master, isolate and by flood destroy.

LAW RELATING TO PERMITS OPERATORS LICENSE IN KENTUCKY

Now take the following Sections of Kentucky Revised Statutes:

SECTION 186:460, provides that every applicant for an instruction permit or an operators license shall apply in person to the Circuit Clerk of the County in which he resides and make an application upon a Form furnished by the department. The applicant will make an oath to the clerk as to the truthfulness of the statements contained in the Form.

SECTION 186:480, provides the examination shall be held in the county where the applicant resides unless the applicant is granted written permission by the clerk of the county in which applicant resides, to take the examination in another county and the HIGHWAY PATROL agrees to arrange for the examination in another county. Therefore before you can legally get a license out of the county where you reside, you must meet the two above requirements.

SECTION 186:400 to 186:640 also provides that another penalty is provided by law, any person who violates any of the provisions of K.R.S. 186:400 to 186:640 shall be fined not less than two dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not more than six months or both. I am merely calling your attention to these requirements in order that you may avoid future legal action or difficulties.

THE HIGHWAY PATROLMAN is here in the Circuit Clerk's office in Prestonsburg, on Wednesday afternoon, and on Thursday and Friday before and after noon each week when weather and conditions will permit.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Times:

In the Feb. 5 Huntington Advertiser there appeared a vivid description relating to the destitution and suffering of numerous Floyd countians. These are people who are out of work because the mine are closed for want of coal orders. They represent a national trend, a deepening recession which is gaining momentum all over the country. In some areas the recession is more severe, and the coal fields of eastern Kentucky is one of those areas.

One wonders why, in a land of over-abundance, a country where thousands of tons of foodstuffs are stored and hoarded by the government, a way cannot be found to insure all American families against hunger. The parents of starving children are idle through no fault of their own. They wonder why a continuous market for their coal cannot be found.

Could it be because we import oil to buy Arabian friendship? or because Congress keeps the T.V.A.—a big user of their coal—partly stifled; and also because Congress fails to canalize Big Sandy river to insure cheaper transit?

This country is noted for its liberty and freedom. But what freedom do destitute parents have when their children become sick? They do not have the freedom to call a doctor. Neither do they have the freedom to send their children to school, because they haven't sufficient clothing. Their growing bodies are in need of nourishment, but they haven't the freedom to satisfy their hunger.

We are much concerned about the need for cosmic, technical, and physicist scientists. Maybe we should graduate some in the science of economics also.

GLENN M. CLARKE

SAYS CHILDREN WALK TO SCHOOL

Editor, The Times:

People say we are living in the Machine Age. Not for school children on Right Fork of Middle Creek, because they are still walking on one of the best highways in Floyd county. Fourteen kids of the Adams school walk one and a half miles through snow and rain; ages 6 to 15 years. Another danger is the fast drivers on this highway. They don't slow down for anything.

Everyone says, "See the Superintendent." I have seen him at least six times. He is going to look into it. Well, how long is he going to look, when he could come up Middle Creek and see the buses parked beside the road.

OFFERS WORK ON FARM

Editor, The Times:

Have heard so much about the unemployed and destitute in this county, would like to suggest a proposition.

I have two small, rough farms on Little Paint Creek that need some fencing and a lot of bushes and some timber to cut, also some land that I would like to have cleared and tended in corn. So, if any of these men who are out of jobs want to work, I will pay a good man $2 a day and pay him every night if he wants it. I want to help them if they show me that they want to help themselves. I assure you there are plenty of farmers in this county who will hire the unemployed, but they can't afford to pay Union wages and then sell their farm products for a song. There are thousands of acres of tenable land lying idle in this state and people starving. Let's help them get back on the farms so they make their own bread by the sweat of their brow and revive that old rule that those who will not work shall not eat.

World Day of Prayer Observance Planned; Floyd Churches Join

Floyd county churches will join Christians in all parts of the world Feb. 21 in observance of World Day of Prayer which each year results in an unbroken chain of prayer during a 24-hour passage of the sun around the earth.

Locally, the observance will be held at the Assembly of God Church at West Prestonsburg. Mrs. Burl Spurlock, program chairman, said seven local churches are participating and that the program will be conducted by the Local Council of Churchwomen.

World Day of Prayer observance begins at dawn in the Tonga Islands, west of the International Date Line, and the chain of prayer continues with the march of the sun till it ends with the prayers on lonely St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea.

It was pointed out here this week that Miss Louise Avery, former mission worker in Pike county who also worked with the Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg, is now at a mission station on St. Lawrence Island.

Dog Quarantine Ordered In 3 Floyd Communities By County Judge Stumbo

Dogs in the vicinity of Mare Creek, Betsy Layne and Harold communities were quarantined Friday for a period of 45 days by County Judge Henry Stumbo. The order was entered at the direction of the Floyd County Health Department due to the high incidence of rabies in animals in that section of the county.

Stumbo said the number of rabid animals, especially dogs in the area around the three towns was "dangerous to the public and is a threat to the health and well being of persons residing in these sections."

Stumbo's order continued: "It is therefore ordered by the Court that all persons residing within a radius of one mile of all points mentioned above in Floyd county, Kentucky, be required to keep their dogs securely tied or in a lot or pen where they do not have access to condemned animals and cannot come in contact with any human being for a period of 45 days from this date.

"It is further ordered by the Court that this notice be advertised in accordance with the law and that any person or persons failing to observe the terms of this quarantine be fined in accordance with law upon their conviction and that any dogs which are not properly confined in this vicinity for said period of time be killed."

A HIT ABOUT BOOKS

The older a book gets the more it is worth... some books, anyway. Eight years ago the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Association was trying to sell several thousand copies of "Historic Floyd County" at $1 each. The celebration group folded its business with 1,000 or more copies on hand. These books were kicked about from place to place and winding up in the Prestonsburg fire department building were in imminent danger of being carted off to the river. They were rescued and brought to the Prestonsburg grade school building while depletion proceeded apace.

Now, The Book Nook, 1434 Cherokee Road, of Louisville, lists the volume at $3.50 each. The book was mentioned in one of the issues of the Register of the Kentucky Historical Society last year as "a collector's item." All books on genealogy and local history increase in value as scarcity becomes greater and many times out of all proportion to the actual value of the contents. "Historic Floyd County" will increase in value as the years go by. If you have a copy, hold on to it. It is, as The Register said, a collector's item.

Which reminds of Willard Rouse Jillson's book, "The Big Sandy Valley". Twenty-five years ago this columnist walked into Hutsonpiller's Drug Store here and saw the book for sale... priced at $2.50. He squeezed out the purchase price and treasured the book for years. Finally he made a mistake of lending it. It never came back. Today, that book is really a collector's item. It sells for $50 but none are available. In a few years the price will go higher. Dr. Jillson said last summer while he was here that he would very much like to have a copy himself.

BIG BONE LICK

The Big Bone Lick in Northern Kentucky will be made a historic shrine and state park if plans now underway come to fruition. It was from this lick that Mrs. Mary Ingles and the old Dutch woman escaped from the Indians in 1755 and on their return to Virginia traveled up the Big Sandy to near the site of the present Louisa and crossed the river north of the forks. Mrs. Ingles was the first white woman to put foot in this valley.

Plans are being made to buy 200 acres of land surrounding the lick and deed it to the state for park purposes. This tract includes the major spots of historic interest. The land will cost $35,000 and the state has indicated it will make an initial investment of $75,000 in park improvements and museum. The project is being pushed by The Big Bone Lick Historical Association, of which Bruce Ferguson, of Union, Ky., is president.

The prospectus issued by the Association says of Big Bone Lick:

"Mastodons and mammoths came into this area about the middle of the Ice Age, about one-half million years ago. They were here when Early Man came some 10 to 20 thousand years ago. No body knows why they ceased to live here but the gigantic creatures died out. Their bones are still being found in the bog area of Big Bone."

The lick was discovered in 1729 by Captain Charles Lemoyne de Longueuil, a French Canadian soldier and explorer. The fossils found there were the subject of much scientific controversy for years.

Big Bone Lick, however, to Big Sandians is the locale from which Mrs. Ingles made a successful break for freedom and after being the first white woman to traverse the valley finally found her way back to Virginia. The cabin in which she took refuge on the New River was that of Adam Harman. It was Harman who built the first settler cabin of the English on the tributary waters of the Mississippi River.

GEORGE MASON

Floyd county was partially formed in 1800 from Mason county, which had been created in 1788, but few know much about George Mason, the distinguished Virginian for whom one of the mother counties of ours was named.

The Commonwealth of Virginia also honored George Mason by naming a county for him although after Western Virginia was severed from the rest of the state the county was in West Virginia. Mason county, West Virginia, lies in the northern part of the state with Point Pleasant as the county seat. It was formed in 1804 from a portion of Kanawha county, Virginia, now West Virginia.

George Mason was the fourth of his name and line in Virginia.

His great grandfather, George Mason, it is said, was one of the Cavalier immigrants to Virginia under the rule of Oliver Cromwell.

He was born in 1725. His father died when he was ten years old, but the boy remembered all his life the trips which the two had made to the then western frontier in Virginia. He married Anne Eilbeck in 1750. They had several children, but she died in 1775. George Mason remarried in 1780 to Sarah Brent.

In 1759 he and George Washington served together in the House of Burgesses, but Mason withdrew at the end of his first term because of the low opinion he held at that time of some of his associates.

In 1775 Mason emerged from retirement to become a member of the Committee of Safety, which was formed to administer Virginia following the flight of Governor Dunmore.

It was in 1776 as a member of the May Convention that George Mason made his greatest contribution as a constitutionalist. It was in that year he drew up a Virginia Bill of Rights and the major part of the constitution of Virginia. These documents were drawn upon by Thomas Jefferson for the first part of the Declaration of Independence and became the basis of the first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

In 1780, we find the very able pen of George Mason called on to draw up the plan out of which Virginia gave up her claim to the western lands in favor of the Federal government.

He was a member of the Constitutional Convention which met in Philadelphia in 1787. In the following year, he publicly opposed the adoption of the Federal Constitution because of his strong anti-slavery sentiment.

George Mason died at his home in Fairfax county, Virginia, October 7, 1792, a little more than four months after the establishment of Kentucky as the fifteenth state of the Union.

Evaluating Committee Honored By Supper Here; P.-T.A. Serves 60 Guests

A buffet supper honoring members of an evaluating committee of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools was held Sunday evening at the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria. Members of the newly formed high school Parent-Teacher Association here prepared and served dinner to 60 guests.

Guests included the eight members of the evaluating committee, County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner, Wayne Ratliff, Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo and Blanche Dings, of the board of education staff; board members, James Greene and W. A. Spradlin; high school principals, L. B. Price, of Wayland, Charles Clark, of Garrett and Lloyd Stumbo, of Drift, P.-T.A. members and other interested citizens.

Members of the committee are: D. C. Anderson, Mt. Sterling; Nella Bailey, of the State Department of Education, Frankfort; Mary McClafferty, Paintsville; Dr. Morris Clercley and Dr. James Moore, both of the University of Kentucky, Lexington; Pearl Combs, Hindman, and Miss Thelma Daniels, Wayland.

Two speakers were introduced by James V. Bolen, principal of the high school, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., of Prestonsburg, a member of the State Board of Education, reviewed the events of recent years which had led to the consolidation of the Prestonsburg independent school district, with the county school system. The other speaker, Dr. Clercley, outlined the procedures that the evaluating committee would follow in making its study of the school.

The Valentine motif was carried out in the decorations. Mrs. Ralph B. Davis was chairman of decorations and was assisted by Mrs. Frankie S. Best and members of her art classes. The Parent-Teacher Association was represented by Mrs. W. W. Burchett, president, and Homer Wright, vice-president. Members assisting in serving were Mrs. Homer Wright, Mrs. H. B. Wright, Mrs. Arbor Jones, Mrs. Hal Midkiff and Mrs. Ernest Osborne.

The committee continued its study through Tuesday.

clubs that are active and affiliated with the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, were named directors.

One of the first acts of the new Federation was to adopt a resolution opposing enactment of House Bills 24, 37 and 213, legislation which would in general, the resolution pointed out, deprive the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources from regulating fish and game laws and seasons.

Dr. C. L. Allen, of Martin, vice-president of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, presided at the organization meeting.

Commenting on the splendid new gymnasium which makes the Prestonsburg school plant one of the largest and finest in the state, Dr. Clercley expressed the hope that its facilities will be used by the entire school, all the county and by Eastern Kentucky. "Its use for basketball only could not be justified," he said. He was joined in this sentiment by two other committee members who spoke briefly later—H. M. Wesley, principal of Hazard high school, and D. C. Anderson, superintendent of Montgomery county schools.

After presenting the satisfying aspects of the school, the report offered suggestions for improvement and advancement. The committee pointed out that:

1. It is concerned with the number of pupils dropping out of high school, pointing out that the present senior class numbers 129 as compared with 192 two years ago and 165 last year.

2. More guidance is needed. "We saw some 'fast' students who were probably misplaced. Through a guidance program they might be persuaded to do things that challenge them"

3. The school has only one section in geometry, two in algebra. In a school of Prestonsburg's size there should be more.

4. More students should be studying music, art, home economics, agriculture, business. (The report commented that the one class in Latin is a rather small offering, and that home economics perhaps should be abandoned if more pupils cannot be enrolled in it.)

5. Differentiation in the curriculum is needed. It was pointed out that 35% of the seniors have expressed a desire to enter college—a fairly high percentage; so they should have pretty solid training in English.

6. Commercial and vocational training are needed for those who do not plan to attend college.

7. More science equipment is needed.

8. The clerical and non-teaching responsibilities of the faculty should be decreased and teaching responsibilities increased. It was suggested that the teaching load should be increased to five classes per teacher and that if faculty members are relieved as they should be from clerical and other non-educational work five classes would not overwork them. Employment of as much clerical help as possible was urged.

9. Increase the number of classes a day. With 26 classrooms the school has no more than 22 or 23 classes in session. The committee chairman observed that if more classrooms are needed he felt sure a community that has provided a gymnasium as fine as that now being completed at the school will provide the necessary room.

10. Too many students are in study hall; would prefer seeing them in class. The school has 14 study hall sessions a day. Fear was expressed that without proper supervision of study halls they might train some students to loaf.

11. Additional custodial help is needed. The committee said it is economical to maintain properly such a fine school plant.

12. Frequent assemblies with pupil participation are needed.

13. An in-service training program for the faculty is needed. "You have a good faculty," Dr. Clercley commented, "but we must keep moving. Like Alice in Wonderland, we have to run fast to stay where we are"

In addition to Dr. Clercley, Mr. Wesley and Mr. Anderson, the evaluation committee included five others: Nella Bailey, of the State Department of Education, Frankfort; Mary McClafferty, of Paintsville; Dr. James Moore, of the University of Kentucky; Pearl Combs, Hindman, and Thelma Daniels, of Wayland.

KEA Slates Workshop At Grade School Here

The Kentucky Education Association will hold a workshop at the Prestonsburg grade school this evening from 6 to 9 o'clock. Several of the top officers of the Association will attend; it was said by Blanche Dings, health coordinator of the county school system.

Scheduled to be present are Mitchell Davis of Glasgow, president, and Marvin Dotson, of Louisville, executive secretary. A committee of 60 teachers has been invited to study KEA services and the legislative program under the auspices of the state educational group.

Wrote Judge Stumbo and County Attorney Wellman to the three members of the Kentucky Congressional delegation:

"These conditions have been brought about by unemployment and the general conditions affecting our country. The coal mines, upon which the economic welfare of our county depends, are operating at only a fraction of capacity and only infrequently.

"Many of our people who have been working in other states are now unemployed and are returning to their homes. These have greatly increased the numbers of distressed and needy in Floyd county.

"We urge your immediate efforts to assist in alleviating these conditions. We specifically request that meats, beans, lard, or shortening and potatoes be made available for commodity distribution in Floyd county, in addition to those products now available, and that commodities sufficient to meet the increased need be furnished.

"Floyd county is unable to meet the burden of providing for these unusual and distressing conditions. It is our recommendation and request that responsibility for the commodity distribution program be assumed by the Federal Government, and that every effort be made to immediately procure an adequate relief program based upon the realistic view that the problem may be with us for a considerable period of time."

FUND TO HELP JOHNSON GIRL

Rosella Auxier Receives Mail, Visitors; Will Soon Walk on Artificial Feet

Although Rosella Auxier, the 15-year-old Johnson county girl who was found in a deserted shack here Dec. 8, near death of freezing, has not been in the news recently, she is not forgotten.

Streams of mail and visitors still pour into Children's hospital, Louisville, and the dark-eyed youngster continues to receive much attention. A total of $438.30 has been sent to the hospital for a fund to be given to the dark-eyed youngster when she is discharged from the hospital, and artificial feet have been donated to her.

Johnson and Floyd county authorities and State Police have apparently completely failed to come up with a clue to the identity of the person or persons who left the girl here, exposed to bitter cold weather. The Times was told on good authority recently that she was harmed more than is generally known. This source said she can remember only that a woman forced her to swallow whiskey.

The brown-eyed girl, who wears her brown hair in a pony tail, may be starting to walk in about three months on artificial feet.

Her doctor said this week she will have to go through a "toughening-up" period of a couple of months before she can begin to wear the appliances.

"And while she's here we want to fix up her teeth, too", the doctor said.

Rosella, who will be 16 on April 15, has taken up her school work pretty much where she left off in the eighth grade at Meade Memorial elementary school in Williamsport. She attends class at the hospital five days a week and hopes to go on to high school at Williamsport in the fall.

She said she likes her school work, "spelling best."

She feels "fine", with no pain. Her family will be unable to pay any part of her hospital bill, which now amounts to about $2,000, according to a hospital spokesman.

bonds, preparing the issue for a vote, etc. The firm would guarantee sale of the bonds at $1,022.50 for each $1,000 bond, the bonds to be callable prior to maturity date. If the plans for a courthouse are abandoned later, the county would owe Hirsch & Company nothing.

For its services if the plan is followed to completion the company would be paid 1.9% of the face amount of bonds issued.

The bonded indebtedness of Floyd county, now low, will be only $6,000 at the end of next year, it was said.

The court voted unanimously to accept the company's proposal. It, however, still awaits word on the possibility of approval by the Urban Renewal Administration of Prestonsburg's plan for city improvements which would include a new courthouse at a cost of about one-third the figure the county would be required to pay if it is obliged to finance the work without outside help.

Cancer Which She Fought As Civic Leader Claims Mrs. Benner of W'right

Death from cancer which Mrs. Shirley Vance Benner so courageously faced resulted in the Wheelwright woman's death Tuesday after a long illness.

Long one of Eastern Kentucky's outstanding charitable and civic workers, Mrs. Benner knew she could not recover and as long as she was able she continued to work.

She was a past president of Floyd County Chapter, American Cancer Society, and in 1956 she received one of the two plaques awarded by the Society for distinguished service.

The other went to Ed Sullivan, the television personality. Mrs. Benner was also active in Girl Scout work, served on the board of Wheelwright Methodist Church, had turned her home into a receiving station for American Red Cross blood donors.

Mrs. Benner is survived by her husband, Harry Benner, and a son, Paul Benner, Wheelwright. The funeral will be at Pikeville Friday.

Sherman Elected Florida Mayor; Is Auxier Native

Bill Sherman, native of Auxier and former auto agency employee here, has been elected mayor of Inverness, Fla., The Times learned last week.

Mr. Sherman joins a long list of native Eastern Kentuckians who have been elected to public office after moving to other states—a fact that has given rise to the widespread belief that people of this section "cut their teeth on politics" and just naturally gravitate to political affairs wherever they are.

Mayor Sherman is a son of George Sherman, and his wife is the former Edna Music. Before moving to Florida nine years ago he was service manager here for the Ford agency (Cooley Motor Sales, at that time).

His first five years in Florida were spent at Crestview where he also served as Ford service manager. He served as president of the South Side Parent-Teacher Association there and took part in other civic affairs.

An offer from another firm took him to Ocala where he sold cars for a few years before going to Inverness in 1955. Since that time he has been engaged in the used car business. He has been in the automobile business 17 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman, who have four children, make their home at 208 Seminole Ave., Inverness.

Magoffin Court Denies Authorization To Seek Overpayment In Fees

Magoffin Fiscal Court, in a called meeting, recently voted by a three-two margin not to authorize the County Attorney and the County Judge to investigate the illegal payment of salaries to county officers over the past four-year term.

At the conclusion of the voting, Judge Ray Holbrook stated that it is his intention to secure the services of an outside lawyer to look into the possibility of collecting the alleged overpayments, giving him a percentage of the amount collected. This percentage would go to the county if the County Attorney was used the Judge said.

The alleged illegality of the county salaries of last term is based on the fact that salaries were not set in December of 1953, after all officers had been elected.

Two of the officers of the last administration, Rebecca H. Arnett, Circuit Clerk, and Arnett Mann, refused to accept a raise, thinking that it would be found illegal.

In other actions, the Fiscal Court named Ben Mann budget commissioner. With the County Judge and County Attorney, he will make up the Budget Commission. Action on all claims was deferred until the Budget Commission has had time to amend the budget and get it approved in Frankfort.

Action was also deferred on a fiscal agent for sale of the courthouse and jail bonds. Sale of these bonds and advertising of a contract for construction of the courthouse and jail will necessarily have to wait on the outcome of the suit filed this week by William Lyon seeking to declare the bond election recount illegal.

Year's Safety Good Turn
Announced By Dr. Schuck;
Campaign Set, Feb. 7-13

Announcing a year long 1958 Safety Good Turn by the more than four and a half million members of Boy Scouts of America, Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive, in a message to local Scout officials, said that it "is a most challenging opportunity, for it involves the conservation of human life."

Coming in the third year of the Scouts' "Onward for God and My Country" program, the Safety Good Turn requested by President Eisenhower, Dr. Schuck said, that "no more tangible evidence of Scouting's fulfillment of the purpose of the slogan can be demonstrated than by full participation in the Safety Good Turn."

The Safety Good Turn is being launched during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13, marking the 48th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

"Since the inception of the Boy Scout movement in this country," said Dr. Schuck, "we have consistently sought after and wholeheartedly engaged in opportunities to serve our community, state, and nation. Through practical experience and personal participation in these Good Turns, our Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers have learned important lessons that come from helpful service to others."

He reported that "millions of people have been attracted to meet special and urgent needs through the efforts of the Boy Scouts of America and approximately twenty million boys have learned the real meaning of service."

The Chief Scout Executive feels the members of the organization "can help in the prevention of accidents and aid measurably to reduce the tragic loss of life." This, he said, will require the personal attention of every one of the 4,500,000 boys and leaders, "for safety starts with the individual."

Three fields of safety will be promoted. Traffic safety will hold the spotlight in March, April, and May, followed by outdoor safety in June, July, and August, with home safety coming in September, October, and November.

Locally, 3200 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders are expected to take part, it was announced by J. H. Mosgrove, Health and Safety chairman of the Lonesome Pine Council.

Mr. Mosgrove said that the Safety Good Turn in the Lonesome Pine Council was launched Saturday, February 8.

The Lonesome Pine Council Health and Safety Committee, headed by Mosgrove, is responsible for developing the program in cooperation with other Boy Scout council committees. The Scout commissioners, together with the councils' professional staff, assisted in planning, promoting, and conducting projects on a council-wide district, and unit basis.

Serving with Mr. Mosgrove on the health and safety committee are: I. J. Richardson, Grundy, Virginia; T. J. Liddle, Big Stone Gap, Virginia; Ralph Banks, Wheelwright.

The following local organizations, all related to safety, are assisting the Boy Scouts in their Safety Good Turn: U. S. Bureau of Mines, Kentucky Department of Mines & Minerals, and Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute.

On the campus of the University of Kentucky, Lexington, is a section of the first railroad in the west.

Alcoholism Not Degeneracy, Said
By Modern Students Of Problem

By J. Collis Ringo
Executive Director
Kentucky Commission On Alcoholism

From earliest written history until 1935 the alcoholic was stigmatized as a wilful social degenerate... drunkenness was punishable as a crime... imprisonment was the cure. Since 1935 scientific study has developed a new approach and has proved this concept erroneous. Accepted concepts of modern students of the problem are:

Alcoholism is an illness and the alcoholic is a sick person. The alcoholic can be helped and it is worth helping. Alcoholism is a public health problem and therefore a public responsibility.

Modern study of alcohol problems and illness has established facts which people should know. In the United States we have an adult population of 100,000,000, including 35,000,000 total abstainers and 65,000,000 who use beverage alcohol in some form. Of the ones who drink, between six and seven per cent have trouble and become alcoholics. Between 93 and 94 per cent apparently have no difficulty.

Of those who do have trouble, about 4,500,000 follow no pattern of social or financial background. Alcoholism is as likely to affect the president of a large corporation as the janitor, a wealthy housewife as a domestic servant. WHY are some affected and a far greater number not affected? That is the $64,000 question and at this date it remains unanswered.

Realizing the alcoholic can be helped and is worth helping, 36 states have tax-supported programs for prevention of alcoholism and rehabilitation of the alcoholic. Alcoholics Anonymous has a membership of some 200,000 men and women who have conquered alcoholism.

Kentucky has an alcoholic population of about 60,000. These people are ill. They can be helped. The Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism was established by the Legislature in 1956 and its efforts are devoted exclusively to preventing alcoholism and rehabilitating the alcoholic. An informed public is essential to success of the program. This is the first of a series of articles presenting the true picture of alcoholism. Later stories will deal with different phases of this acute situation and some suggestions as to what individual citizens of Kentucky can do to help.

41 School Systems Organize for Study Of Education Needs

Morehead State College and 42 school systems in the Morehead service region are working in a cooperative effort to solve many of the present-day problems found in public education.

Eleven separate study groups have been formed since the beginning of the school year with most of the groups meeting as many as five times. Topics discussed by the groups have been grading, promotion, reporting to parents, objectives of a system, curriculum, methods, materials, public relations and exceptional children.

The program has been organized under the direction of Frank Vittetow, Consultant, In-Service Teacher Training, Division of Teacher Education and Certification of the State Department of Education, who works in cooperation with Morehead State College.

"Through the many meetings, the group plans to list the current and desired trends and practices and make positive suggestions to local school systems as to some of the best ways to achieve the best results in each topic discussed," Vittetow said.

Members of the Morehead faculty and State Department of Education are made available to the school systems for consultation and aid in discussing local problems.

Each study group elects its own co-chairman and secretary and outlines aims and objectives as well as inviting outside consultants.

Twenty-three county school systems and 19 independent systems are participating.

The county systems participating are: Floyd, Bath, Bourbon, Boyd, Bracken, Campbell, Carter, Elliott, Fleming, Greenup, Harrison, Johnson, Lawrence, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Montgomery, Morgan, Nicholas, Pendleton, Pike and Rowan.

Independent school districts participating are: Paris, Ashland, Catlettsburg, Bellevue, Dayton, Fort Thomas, Newport, Silver Grove, Southgate, Greenup, Race-land, Russell, Paintsville, Van Lear, Vanceburg, Maysville, Mt. Sterling, Carlisle, and Falmouth.

Kiwanis Club Supports Town Welcome Plans; Safety Campaign Set

The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club will support the "Welcome to Prestonsburg" campaign to be initiated when teams, coaches and fans assemble for the district and regional high school basketball tournaments in the first two weeks of March. The announcement was made by Don Sullivan, publicity director of the club.

Some of the details worked out by the Kiwanians to care for the crowd expected are for the fire and police departments to handle parking and the Boy Scouts to look after seating.

Assistant Commissioner Joe Billy Mansfield of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association and Russell Williamson, president of the board of directors of KHSAA are in Prestonsburg today (Thursday), to inspect the facilities available here, Sullivan said.

The Kiwanians have also initiated a safety campaign to run through the year in cooperation with the mayor, police and Sheriff's office. Earle Castle and Sullivan with members from several civic groups on a committee will direct the campaign.

Owner Of Floyd Land Receives Recognition For Tree Farm Work

The Pocahontas Land Corporation, a Bluefield, West Virginia company with holdings in Floyd county, received recognition at Cincinnati recently as the largest tree farmer in Kentucky. The company's Kentucky acreage of 31,056, is concentrated in Floyd, Pike and Martin counties.

The company is certified under the industry-operated tree farm program.

Charles Bringardner, Lexington, Ky., chairman of the Kentucky Forest Industries Committee, presented a certificate to D. B. Bonebrake, Pocahontas forester from Bluefield, at a luncheon. Pocahontas, said Bringardner, "has demonstrated that large industrial landowners can and will manage our timber resources wisely."

A tree farm is a privately owned taxpaying property, which the owner manages under accepted practices of the program.

The record steelhead taken on rod and reel weighed 37 pounds.

Gov. Breathitt Might Have Averted Shame

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

The "shame" of Kentucky might have been averted if John Breathitt, 10th Governor of the Commonwealth, had not died in office in the second year of his term.

The governor in his message to the Kentucky Legislature of Jan. 1, 1874, a month and a half before his death, suggested that a committee be formed to study the need for preserving Kentucky's valuable public documents.

He said that "in looking into the archives of the state, I regret, that many important documents in relation to the political history of the Commonwealth, are not to be found."

"Do we not," continued Breathitt, "owe it to ourselves and to posterity, to rescue from the oblivion hand of time, important papers, in which all should feel an interest?"

It was not until 1950 that the first important survey of the deplorable condition of Kentucky's archives was made. The result of this survey is known as the Boyd Report.

In 1957 the Legislative Research Commission reported on a study which it made of records management and state archives in the United States. This study shows 32 states now provide an annual appropriation, ranging from $5,500 in Rhode Island to $200,000 in Tennessee. Kentucky is in the ranks of those which allocate no funds for this purpose.

The result of such extreme shortsightedness is that, periodically, Frankfort goes through another "dumping" period, when valuable documents are sold for scrap or furtively burned on the spot.

Besides his advanced position on the need for a State archives, Breathitt was also abreast or ahead of his times in advocating a balance between agricultural and manufacturing pursuits, an appreciation of the state's institutions of higher learning, and acceleration of highway construction, and an enlightened attitude toward general and mental health and the State penitentiary system.

Breathitt was born in Virginia in 1786. He died in the Old Governors' Mansion in Frankfort and was buried at Russellville.

Bowling Benefit Nets

March of Dimes $68

Wheelwright Woman's Club sponsored a benefit bowling match, Feb. 2. Mrs. Waldo Cummings was in charge of the bowling. John Rupe and Steve Benedict donated their services and the bowling alley for the afternoon. A large crowd of the townspeople turned out for the event and prizes were awarded to the following:

LADIES' DIVISION:

High for 3 lines—Ada Perriano, 461; low for 3 lines—Seybil Bailey, 324; most splits—Ruth Elder.

MEN'S DIVISION:

High for 3 lines—Gene Elder; low for 3 lines—James Osborne; most splits—Ralph Banks. A total of $68 was cleared after expenses were paid. All proceeds were turned over to Charles Baker, local chairman of the March of Dimes. Sixteen teams participated in the event.

Employees and Workers Reminded of Withholding Certificate Importance

Employers and employees in Kentucky were reminded this week by Internal Revenue Service District Director Wm. M. Gray, of the importance of the W-2 withholding certificate in the proper filing of 1957 federal income tax returns. Employees, he pointed out, are obligated by law to furnish copies of this form to their employers by January 31. Employees, in turn, must attach a copy of the W-2 to their Form 1040 or 1040-A when filing.

Mr. Gray urged employees to prepare their returns as soon as they receive their withholding certificates and to file them as soon as possible thereafter. Gray also reminded employees who have worked for more than one employer during 1957 that all of the W-2's they received during the year must be included with the 1957 income tax return.

In the case of couples filing jointly, each of whom was employed during the year, care should be taken that all W-2's are attached and any change of jobs indicated. While the April 15 deadline still is in effect, early and accurate filing would prove advantageous both to the taxpayer and the Government, Gray indicated.

DRAW GROUPS THREE TEAMS

Betsy Layne, Garrett, Prestonsburg in Same Bracket for Tourney

Three of the four major high school cage powers in the 58th district—Betsy Layne, Garrett and Prestonsburg—all drew in the same bracket for the district tournament which will be held in the new 5,000 seat Prestonsburg high school gymnasium, March 4-8.

Denzil Halbert's Martin Purple Flash, winner of the Paintsville Invitational tournament, landed in the weaker bracket.

In the Floyd county coaches meeting in Betsy Layne, Sunday, all previous rules of "seeding" teams were rescinded and all nine teams were tossed in the hat for the draw.

For the past two seasons, the two leading teams in county play had been "seeded" for district tournament play.

Garrett and Wheelwright will open tournament action, Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m. Prestonsburg's Black Cats will meet the winner, Thursday, March 6 at 7 p.m. In the other game of the lower bracket, Betsy Layne vies with Maytown at 8:30 p.m., Thursday, March 6.

Turning to the upper bracket, Martin will clash with Auxier in the first game at 7 p.m., Wednesday, March 5. McDowell and Wayland will play the second game of the session at 8:30 p.m.

The semi-finals will be played Friday, March 7, at 7 and 8:30 p.m., and the finals for Saturday, March 8, at 8 p.m.

One Herbicide Controls Johnson Grass Seedlings

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Of four herbicides (weed controllers) used on soil where Johnson grass seed had been sown, only one gave complete control, says J. F. Freeman, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station weed control specialist.

In Johnson-grass fields, where the perennial root-stocks are being destroyed in a control program, seedling plants coming up may re-infest the land with new root stocks unless the seedlings are destroyed by cultivation or chemical treatment before they are six to eight weeks old. This is the age of which they, themselves, begin to make root-stocks. And, some seeds remaining in the soil may come up for three years or longer, Freeman reports.

The herbicide was SPTC, an experimental material. It was used at the rate of 6 pounds active material per acre, and gave complete control of seedlings, Freeman said.

In the test, Johnson grass seed was drilled at a depth of three quarters inches to an inch and a half. Three days before seedlings began to emerge, the herbicides were applied. At time of seedling emergence, SPTC at 6 pounds per acre was the only one giving complete control. And when EPTC was used at a 3-pound per acre rate, control was better than 98 per cent, Freeman reported.

Simazin, another experimental material, applied at 4 pounds per acre gave about 70 per cent control.

"CDA, an approved pre-emergence herbicide applied as the liquid concentrate at 6 pounds, or as the granular preparation at 8 pounds per acre... was ineffective, as was another related experimental herbicide," he noted.

OPEN GYM SATURDAY

Prestonsburg will unveil its new 5,000-seat gymnasium Saturday night at 7 o'clock with a gala doubleheader involving two of the leading high school teams in the 15th region.

In the opening game, Betsy Layne (21-2) clashes with Auxier (11-7) and in the second fray Oil Springs (24-3) vies with the host Black Cats (6-6).

Three weeks ago, Jack Frost Well's Black Cats nipped Oil Spring, 73-71, inflicting one of three defeats suffered by the Johnson countians.

The gymnasium will be in use virtually every night until the regular season ends, then it will be the site of the 58th district tournament and the 15th regional tournament.

Next Monday, Prestonsburg will be host to Betsy Layne and Auxier on Tuesday.

BLEVINS AT SOUTH CAROLINA

The leading scorer on the University of South Carolina freshman cage team is ex-Betsy Layne star, Charles Blevins. Blevins, a six-foot, three-inch forward, who made the all-district and all-regional teams last season, sports a 21.3 per game average for the baby Gamecocks.

LEADING SCORERS

Bobby King, of McDowell, and Ray Clarke, of Betsy Layne, two of the three leading individual scorers in the 15th region this season, both turned in top-flight scoring efforts in last week-end games. King hit 40 and 35 in leading his team to victories and Clark tabbed 42. Meanwhile, Porter Powers, tops in the area and in Kentucky, fell below his season's average as he could manage only 35 and 24 points as his teams split two games.

MEET FRIDAY

Martin and Betsy Layne will meet for the third time this season in Martin, Friday night. In the first meeting at Betsy Layne, Tommy Boyd's Bobcats won 74-56, then in the finals of the Floyd county pre-season tournament on the Martin floor, the Bob Cats again won, 62-56, but Martin fans are hoping that the return of Freddy Carroll will bolster their forces.

SCOUTS

Three Kentucky colleges have indicated that they will have their scouting representatives on hand Saturday night to watch the performances of Porter Powers and Ray Clarke.

HALL IN VIRGINIA

Fort Lee, Va. — Pvt. Pierce A. Hall, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hall, Garrett, Ky., recently was graduated from the general supply specialist course at the Army's Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va.

During the eight-week course Hall was trained to perform general unit supply duties, serve as unit armorer and assist in general supply operations.

He entered the Army last July and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

Hall is a 1957 graduate of Garrett high school.

BUTCHER UPS NET AVERAGE

Pikeville, Ky., Feb. 10 (Spl.) — The Pikeville College Bears notched their 16th and 17th victories of the season last week, humbling the Berea College Mountaineers 93-84, Wednesday, and the Spartans of the University of Tampa (Fla.), 114-85 on Friday.

They fattened their own and John Lee Butcher's scoring averages, both among the highest in the country, in the process. Butcher notched 44 points, four less than his best efforts this season, against Tampa, and 28 against Berea to pull his individual average to the nation's small-college high of 32.1 points per game. The team's scoring average rose to 93.4 points per contest.

The Pikeville-Tampa skirmish was a red-hot scoring melee for the first 14 minutes, as neither team could pull away by more than four points, and each led the lead four times. Big Garrett Mullins put the Bears on top to stay, 29-28, with a two-hand jump when 6:29 remained of the first half, and the Bruins continued to fatten their lead against a persistent foe. Halftime score was Pikeville 52, Tampa 40.

Butcher, after scoring his 44 points against Tampa in 35 minutes, retired to give others a chance in the freely-substituted game, in which 15 Pikeville players took part and 11 scored. Besides the entire varsity squad, three members of the freshman team saw action.

Ken Smallwood, former Carr Creek high school star and a third-year regular who has been sidelined by a series of illnesses since last November, returned to the hardwood for nine minutes and tallied four points. Lloyd Mullins hit his high for the season, scoring 20 points in 28 minutes of play, and Garrett Mullins tallied 10 and again led in rebounding with 13 saves. Three freshmen, George Carroll, Paul Setser and Jay Dingess, the last in his first varsity outing, saw about 10 minutes' action each and combined for 20 points.

The Bears, going into the Berea game with three wins and four losses in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, pulled up to an even split in conference games as they outran Berea in the last eight minutes. The visiting Mountaineers had tied Pikeville six times, and the lead had changed hands nine times, before the Bears pulled away for good, 73-72, on a Butcher jump-shot with 7:54 remaining.

Cordell Huff, Berea's high-scoring rehead, paced the Mountaineers with 23 points. For the Bears Charlie Francis had 19 points, Garrett Mullins added 18 points and grabbed 17 rebounds, Lloyd Mullins had 10 and Gary Caudill, sinking four of his five field tries and his only free throw, scored nine points.

Closing their away schedule with two more games, the Bears will try to make it three in a row over Concord College Feb. 15 at Athens, W. Va. In their first meeting with Concord's cagers this season, the Bears downed them 102-71 in the opening round of the Tug Valley Holiday Tournament Dec. 27 at Williamson, W. Va. They repeated the process the following week at Pikeville, 98-73.

They will travel to Barbourville, Ky., Feb. 19 for their only meeting this year with the Union College Bulldogs, tied with the Bears this week for fourth place in the KMAC. Union has a 3-3 standing to Pikeville's 4-4.

February Named History Month

Frankfort, Feb. 16 (Spl.) — February has been proclaimed American History month by Gov. A. B. Chandler.

All organizations, public and private schools were asked by the governor to emphasize the study of American history during the month. "In order that our citizens may better appreciate their good fortune in living in a free country based on the dedication of our ancestors to the love of self-government and personal freedom."

The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution is sponsoring the project.

Industry has recognized the seriousness of the illness in lost man hours, loss of expensively-trained personnel and inefficient performance. In dollars the sum is staggering.

The DuPont company has a program and reports vast savings and social benefits. A Du Pont employee with drinking difficulty is placed on probation, subject to his contacting Alcoholics Anonymous and attending meetings for 90 days. Du Pont's medical director reports that 65 percent of those affected recover and change from unsatisfactory work to satisfactory.

The Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism has speakers to present "The Profile of a Problem Drinker," developed by the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies. This charts various stages of the illness from pre-alcoholic symptoms to full-blown alcoholism. It is a simple, accurate method of diagnosis, effective in spotting the malady in incipient stage. This service is free to any group in Kentucky that desires it.

Dr. Louis M. Foltz, Louisville, chairman of the commission and an outstanding psychiatrist, says "Prevention is more effective than treatment in any disease, especially alcoholism. When the people understand that alcoholism is a disease, our immediate objective will have been achieved. United States health reports show alcoholic addiction is 10 per cent more prevalent than tuberculosis, 50 per cent more prevalent than cancer, 225 per cent more prevalent than polio. Yet thousands of persons do not believe it a disease."

But the public is slow to accept this. When it is generally accepted the alcoholic will be more likely to seek help. The 200,000 recovered alcoholics in the United States are convincing evidence they can be helped.

By J. Collis Ringo
Executive Director, Kentucky
Commission on Alcoholism

The concept that alcoholism is a disease is comparatively recent. Since the American Medical Association has declared it an illness, many physicians believe it no more disgraceful to be an alcoholic than a diabetic.

But the public is slow to accept this. When it is generally accepted the alcoholic will be more likely to seek help. The 200,000 recovered alcoholics in the United States are convincing evidence they can be helped.

Lawbreaking
Pedestrians
To Be Cited

Frankfort, Feb. 10 (Spl.) — The very young and the very old account for the most traffic deaths among pedestrians.

A study by the State Department of Public Safety showed 32 children under 10 were killed last year, totaling 25 per cent of the 130 pedestrian deaths. Persons over 65 accounted for 41 deaths, or 31.5 per cent.

The most dangerous age was seven, that group having nine deaths. Four-year-olds and 75-year-olds were next with five deaths each.

In view of these grim statistics, Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill has announced the department will concentrate on pedestrian safety this year.

"We should be able to save many lives," Sturgill said.

The State Police, he said, will cite into court any pedestrian found in violation of the Commonwealth's traffic laws.

Trading Stamps
Invade Insurance

Frankfort, Feb. 10 (Spl.) — "This takes the cake."

These were the words of Insurance Commissioner C. P. Thurman when he told of a proposal by P-I-P Stamps, Inc., St. Louis, to swap trading stamps for life insurance policies.

"It is not only poor insurance practice but involves violation of several Kentucky laws," the Commissioner grunted.

The plan would provide $200 of term life insurance for one year upon the purchase of $200 in groceries.

"Our home is all-electric...
we love it because it gives us more time to have fun together"

Becky Jo Burris dials the temperature desired in her room in her parents' electrically heated home.

Howard Joe Burris, barber, installed baseboard electric heat in his 25-year-old home just over a year ago.

"Converting from a flame-type heating system to electric heat was just about the smartest thing we have ever done," he says. "Now, after a long day at the shop, I don't have to spend any of my free time at home working with a furnace."

Mrs. Burris, school teacher, home economist and busy mother of two young children, Becky Jo, 6, and Johnny, 3, also values her free moments. "That's why our home is all-electric," she declares. "We have all the major electrical appliances — range, refrigerator, washer, dryer, water heater — plus many smaller ones. They all save lots of time, trouble and work. In fact, I couldn't continue my work in the school system without them. With electric heat and all of our electric appliances, we are definitely living better... and happier!"

The news articles in The Floyd County Times about the financial plight of Caney Junior College and the "Committee of Six" were discussed by the club. Members voted to send $10 to Caney and plan to invite one of the men on the committee to speak at a meeting to get more information on their plans.

Capitol Notebook

One of the most pressing problems of the new State Division of Archaeology is to prevent destruction of Kentucky's archaeological sites by thoughtless individuals who happen upon prehistoric treasures.

The duty of the division is to preserve the relics of Kentucky's prehistoric culture—the pottery and other items of craftsmanship, the tools, the weapons, and the burial mounds of early man.

The division maintains that this material belongs not to any individual collector who finds it, but to all the people. There is a public storehouse for archaeological finds—the University of Kentucky Museum of Anthropology.
