This Town— That World

One of the traffic signs no driver ever refuses to obey: RESUME SPEED.

HERE'S PROOF

Prestonsburg's new high school gymnasium, one of the finest in Kentucky, is proof of one thing: The people can have anything they want if they are willing to pay for it.

GOOD INVESTMENT

R. Lee Stewart, who is known by many Floyd countians and who as a deputy U. S. marshal once was feared by moonshiners, recently observed his 37th birthday anniversary at his home in Morehead.

Then there was the husband who, thumbing through his check-book, remarked to his wife: "If we save at our present rate, dear, at retirement we will be two million dollars in debt."

THE CASE OF THE NEUROTIC DOG

There was this neurotic pup filled with a gnawing frustration, so he sought release by gnawing on the furniture. After seven days and nights of it, and after he had had time to think the situation over, Uncle Pem who had a penchant for horrible puns staggered to his feet one morning and allowed that the pup had a gnawrosis and that if he had a bone he would pick it with the dog.

A particular object of the dog's attention was a period piece, a highboy, that was particularly cherished by certain of the women-folk. To see that pup work you would have thought he had an affinity for the military: he liked the spit-and-polish of the legs, even lined up.

In desperation one morning I announce to the brute that we would work that part of the woods over on the east forty, but I spoke too loudly and a passel of dogs dashed in from the outside to help. So the poor, nervous, little puppy slunk out to try felling a half-tree.

This went on till the homestead (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

100-YEAR-OLD FLOYD COUNTY MAN RECALLS SEEING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

John Wesley Elliott, of Beaver, is believed to be the only living Floyd countian who has a personal recollection of Abraham Lincoln.

After observing his 100th birthday last month while spending the winter in Miami, Fla., with his daughter, Mrs. Annie Stumbo, formerly of Martin and Lackey, he told Joy Reese Shaw, a reporter for the Miami Herald, of hearing the great Emancipator speak.

Son of a circuit-riding Methodist preacher, and named for the founder of Methodism, John Wesley, the Floyd centenarian faces the future, unafraid, for, he says, "the Lord's the Boss." He has seen 19 Presidents come and go, has seen the Air Age unfold, and he still doubts if satellites are as important as they're said to be.

Mr. Elliott, who spends his summers at home in this county and his winters with his daughter in Miami, did not quit working as a country merchant till he was 82.

In his interview with the Miami Herald reporter he recalled: He plied his studies by the light of a dish of grease with a rag in it for a wick.

Elliott used to ride horseback 20 miles to see his girl—"Judy Martin and was she pretty!" he recalled. He married Judy. They bought

ICE AND SNOW HIT SCHOOLS, ALL ACTIVITY

Heavy School Damage From Freezing Feared; Main Highways Clear

Heavy snowfall and temperatures hovering around zero for days closed schools, temporarily blocked roads and brought the business and social life of the county to a standstill reminiscent of a year ago when flood disaster stilled the flow of life over the Big Sandy valley.

The snowfall here was about three inches but elsewhere in the county was deeper—seven inches at Drift, it was reported. The snow began Saturday after days of frigid weather and continued on into Sunday.

Although all roads were treacherous over the week-end, Floyd motorists drove with caution and no serious wrecks were reported. Main highways were cleared by Monday but secondary roads still are ice-coated.

As a result, transportation of pupils by bus was too hazardous to undertake and schools remained closed through Wednesday. There was a strong possibility they will not reopen this week.

Although pupils residing along main roads could have been safely transported to school, the number of these is not large enough to justify school operation. Those residing on roads which are un-

100 FAMILIES RECEIVE RELIEF AGENCY HELP

The Citizens Improvement Association which was recently set up to aid indigent families, particularly schoolchildren, has fed and clothed over 100 families, it was said by a spokesman this week. The CIT's original goal was approximately 100 families but the number reached this point ten days ahead of schedule.

Reason for the upping of the number being aided was given as the far greater number of needy families than was at first anticipated. First estimates placed the number of needy and destitute families at 400 but the number is nearer 800, it was pointed out.

Directors of the welfare organization and other interested persons were guests of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club Thursday evening of last week. Reports were made by the screening committee headed by Mrs. Crit Wells and several others. Several Prestonsburg residents attended as did a delegation from Wheelwright headed by Arthur Bradbury, Inland Steel Company official.

The Prestonsburg Ministerial Council met Friday at the Presbyterian church and voted its commendation of the efforts of the organization to assist the needy and pledged its support. Rev. Paul Bingham, head of the ministerial group, presided at the meeting.

The Boy Scout drive in the county, initiated by C. O. Williams, executive of the Lonesome Pine Council, drew a good response from the public Saturday in food and clothing. The main effort by the Scouts was concentrated on securing donated food.

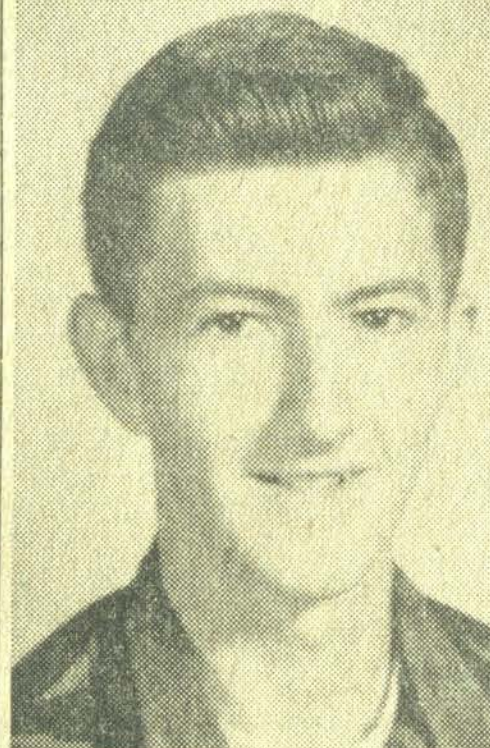

Other events connected with the drive to aid the needy here are:

1. Mrs. Virginia Wright, president of the Prestonsburg Council of Churchwomen, asked church members to initiate a project of providing each needy recipient with a bag of necessary sewing accessories, among these being needles, pins, thread and yarn with which to repair clothing.

"Many of these families don't have anything with which to help themselves," Mrs. Wright said. "The little things that are unimportant to us who are fortunate are lacking in these homes. Let's help with little bags of needful things to use

Writes Winning Essay

Ronald Hayes, 16, Maytown high school student who took second place in the annual soil conservation essay contest sponsored here by the local conservation district and the Louisville Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, will deliver his essay as a speech at a meeting of Future Farmers of America at West Liberty in April, it was announced this week by L. R. Johnson, conservationist.

Hayes is an honor student with straight A's, is president of the Maytown Future Farmers of America and manager of the school's basketball team.

REED, OTHERS ASK CHANGES

In Proposed Legislation On Compensation Changes, Doctor Selection Option

Representatives of industry and organized labor met Monday to see if they could agree on changes in Kentucky's Workmen's Compensation law. Hearings on the bill the preceding week had brought forth strong objections from B. F. Reed, Drift coal operator, but Earl Bellew and Sam Ezelle, labor spokesmen, argued for the proposed law.

The controversial measure, introduced by Senator Meredith B. Fields, Hazard Democrat, removes from the law the $2,500 limit on medical expenses of injured employes for which employer is liable. It would also increase from $300 to $500 the amount of burial expenses employers must pay in event of death.

The bill also would increase benefits paid injured workers and their dependents and would allow workers to select examining physicians of their own choice.

Reed, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, said the bill's proposal of free choice of physicians was an effort by the United Mine Workers "to practically force our employes to go to the U.M.W. hospitals."

Reed said the bill, as now drawn, would "destroy the mining industry in Eastern Kentucky."

The National Council on Compensation Insurance, said Reed, reported to him that the increased-benefit provision alone would increase coal-operator insurance rates 6 1/2 per cent.

This caused Senator Charles H. Davis, of Jackson to remark

RECORDS BILL IS DEFEATED

Legislation To Open Records To Inspection Recommended In Senate

The Senate Monday afternoon of last week defeated a bill to open all nonconfidential public records to public inspection, and all confidential records to conditional inspection.

The vote was 14 to 11 in favor of the bill, but it failed because 16 affirmative votes are required to pass bill.

A spark of life was left in this bid against withholding public record information by officials when Senate next voted to recommend it to the Committee on Executive and Legislative Affairs for further study.

The measure, Senate Bill 84, was sponsored by Senator John C. Angelis, of Lexington.

The bill applied to "all written or printed books, documents, paper, pictures, negatives, recording maps, plans, or drawings that are the property of the State or a political subdivision thereof, in which any entry has been made or is required to be made by law."

"Any record not made confidential by law," the bill stated, "shall be subject to inspection by any interested person at any reasonable time."

But the bill created specific procedure in the case of records that, by law, are confidential.

These records include individual and corporate tax returns, adoption records, and individual information in assistance to the needy aged, blind, dependent children, permanently crippled, and unemployment compensation.

To inspect this type of record, the applicant would be required to present an affidavit setting forth the reasons for his interest. If the custodian refused access, then the applicant would have the right to bring mandatory injunction proceedings in the circuit court of the county where the record is located.

"On determination that the plaintiff's request is in good faith and necessary," the bill stated, "the court shall direct that the records be available to him. The court's order may be appealed as any other court order."

There was no floor fight against

Meeting Of Parents, Teachers Scheduled At Grade School Here

A meeting of parents and teachers to organize a Prestonsburg grade school Parent-Teacher Association will be held at the grade school auditorium Tuesday, Feb. 27, at 7:30 p.m., it was announced by Woodrow Allen, principal of the school.

A preliminary meeting at which a nominating committee was named already has been held. Officers of the new Parent-Teacher Association will be elected at next Thursday's meeting, and all parents and friends of the school are being urged to attend.

BEER TAKEN, TWO JAILED

Blackburn, Smith Nabbed, 10 Cases of Beer Found; Vehicle Slated for Sale

Bennie Blackburn and Steve Smith were arrested by Sheriff's deputies last Thursday night at Allen and 10 cases of beer were found in Blackburn's auto.

The automobile has been impounded and will be sold upon the owner's conviction, it was said.

Blackburn and Smith were jailed by Deputies Earl Warrens, Herschell Lester, George Hall, Jr., Bill Hall and Lonnie Herald. They later executed bond.

Millard Spriggs was jailed last Thursday by Deputy Sheriffs Earl Warrens and George Hall, Jr., on a charge of possessing moonshine whiskey.

Drunk driving charges were lodged against Tivis Cooley and James C. Frank who were arrested Wednesday of last week by Frank Crum, Allen policeman, and State Trooper T. Wright. Doc L. Blanton, who was arrested by the same officers and held for investigation, was released under $1,000 bond.

Estill Stegall, who was booked last week on a circuit court process, also was held for Boyd county authorities but was not claimed and has been released.

Curt Hyden and Silas Paul George, who were arrested recently and charged with the theft of gas here by Prestonsburg police, were given 30-day jail terms last Thursday.

CITY BUDGET SEEN IN APRIL

Council Meeting Held Monday Evening Hears Several Issues Talked

A budget will be prepared for the city of Prestonsburg in April, it was said at a meeting of the City Council Monday night.

The city is currently operating without a fixed budget. Plans to adopt the budget were mentioned in connection with a discussion of the organization of a maintenance department which would be a budgeted expense.

Nothing of a definite nature was done at the meeting. The Council discussed the need of an early beginning on the tax assessment here, especially on property in Lancer which was annexed to Prestonsburg last year and has not heretofore been assessed for city taxation. An assessor has not been employed, however.

Council told Joe P. Tackett, attorney representing taxicab owners here in protesting the issuance of licenses to new cab operators, that it also is opposed to any new cab licenses.

A meeting to hear the case of Policeman Wesley Howard, who requested a hearing, was set for Friday evening.

Girl Scouts Are Asked To Form Uniform Pool

All Girl Scouts of the Prestonsburg neighborhood are being urged to bring unused uniforms for donation, exchange or sale to their troop leader by Monday, Feb. 24. These will form a uniform pool to be opened Feb. 25 from 4 to 5 p.m. in the basement of the Methodist Church where girls who need other uniforms before Girl Scout Week can be fitted.

PLAN TO QUIT EDUCATION AID

Draws Fire from Perkins; 1960 Date Set To Stop Vocational Training Aid

Congressman Carl D. Perkins assailed the Eisenhower Administration Thursday for its plan to abandon federal aid for vocational education.

"The Hindman Democrat spoke on the floor of the House, where half a dozen colleagues immediately rose to associate themselves with his remarks.

Perkins said the ending of the plan, proposed for 1960, would cost Kentucky about $2,000,000 a year.

He said no bills have yet been presented to carry out the Administration's plan. But he quoted the President's budget as calling for a "complete transfer" of the program to the states "beginning in 1960."

Perkins called vocational training "necessary not only to our survival and defense but to life itself." And the proposal to end the program "leaves me in a state of utter confusion."

Vocational-aid money is matched by state governments to run courses in stenography, mechanics, home-making, agriculture, and similar subjects for high-school and after-high school students.

Perkins said such federal help

FLOYD NEEDY UNDER STUDY

Sociologist Talks Ways Of Meeting Needs; Says Coordination Is Needed

Growing recognition of the needy in Floyd county was pointed up this week by the visit here of a University of Kentucky sociologist, Ralph Ramey, who met with some of the directors of the Citizens Improvement Association Tuesday afternoon.

Ramey explored the causes of this county's high incidence of indigence with the CIA representatives and suggested several courses of action to improve the situation here. One suggestion was a coordination of all state and county agencies into a master program of relief.

The University sociologist pointed out the many agencies of the government that can assist in the program initiated here. He particularly mentioned the health department and welfare groups.

Ramey thought that a sort of pilot job could be done in some local area by bringing all agencies to bear upon rehabilitation of a group of approximately 50 families. Since problems here are a bit different, especially in causes, from that of other sections of the estate, he thought that a few answers to the long range problems could emerge from the pilot operation.

Council Of Churchwomen Plan Prayer Program

First observance locally of World Day of Prayer will be a community-wide moment of silent prayer, Friday noon, with radio stations here also going silent for the moment.

A program in observance of the day will be broadcast by the Local Council of Churchwomen over radio station WPRT from 1:30 to 2, and the Council also will be in charge of the program in the community gathering at 7:30 that evening at the Assembly of God Church, West Prestonsburg.

SALARY RAISE FOR TEACHERS

Asked By Representatives In House Bill; Interest On Bank Balances Asked

Floyd county legislators have in the hopper at Frankfort bills which would affect teachers' salaries, boards of education and users of natural gas.

In the field of education both Floyd county Representatives, Mrs. Ann B. Hall and Sam Hale, co-authored with Representative Sowards, of Pike county, House Bill 289 which would amend the present law pertaining to teachers' salaries. It would add $300 a rank for teachers in Rank I through V and require the State Superintendent to insure that expenditures for teachers' salaries shall be adequately financed and have precedence over other expenditures in the school budget.

Another bill introduced by Mrs. Hall and others would amend KRS 160.570 and would require boards of education in counties having more than one bank to designate as depository the bank offering to pay the highest rate of interest, also to require banks for which boards pay the penal bond to allow the board not less than 3% interest on its average balances.

Yet another bill co-authored by Representatives Hall, Hale and Sowards provides for issuance of life certificates to teachers' having 20 or more consecutive years of certified service.

State Senator Jerry Fonce Howell, of Price, was one of those who recently voted for the losing legislation which would have opened all nonconfidential public records to public inspection. The bill had 14 Senate votes to 11 against but needed 16 for passage.

Howell is Senate caucus chairman, chairman of the Legislative and Executive Affairs committee, a member of the Appropriations, Constitutional Amendment, Ways and Means and Highways and Transportation committees.

COLLINS DIES IN SLATEFALL

Logan County Accident Claims 6 Lives Last Week; Slab Weighed 560 Tons

One of the Logan county miners upon whom a 560-ton slab of slate fell at Lundale, W. Va., Wednesday of last week, was William Collins, former Weeks-bury and Melvin miner. Dying with Collins in the tragedy that snuffed out the lives of six men was Earl Johnson, 43, of Shelbyana, Pike county. He was a roof bolt machine operator.

The roof fell only with split-second warning and rescue workers were able to extricate a single injured miner, Glenn Burchett of Lundale, who suffered a fractured pelvis but died later in a Man hospital. Burchett was imprisoned up to the waist by the slab but was saved from instant death by a machine that formed a small island of safety.

This interior photograph of the new Prestonsburg high school gymnasium was taken from the stage end of the big structure and affords an idea of the spaciousness of the gym. The stage (not shown) will seat about 500 persons, using rollaway seats. The gymnasium, completed at a cost of approximately $290,000, was opened for basketball play Saturday night and will be the scene early next month of the district and regional net tournaments.

The People Includes Public Officials

Perhaps it's time for the people of Floyd county to revise their thinking and to do enough thinking to make a change in their actions.

We who say we are against bootlegging—what do we do about it? Do we patronize the taxicab operator who does not sell whiskey or do we turn to his competitor who does? We know that the bootlegging cabman gets the business from those who break the laws, but does the man who abides by the law get the business of those who believe in doing the right thing?

We look upon juvenile crime with varying degrees of horror, but what do we do? We criticize the courts for leniency in one breath and in the next beg clemency for the offender. We take a lackadaisical attitude toward adult crime short of violence; and expect youth to close its eyes to all the failures of the law and the public, and to follow blindly what we preach but do not practice.

We, the parents, declare that we want the very best for our children—but do we provide the best? Take a look at the news-stands and their attractive packages of pornography. Better still, read some of this so-called literature and art that enthrall the youngsters at your house and appeal to their imaginations. See for yourself how sex, murder and all the baser instincts are glorified. The young mind and heart grow sound and strong or weak and twisted on what they are fed. Is this the proper diet? Would we be so unconcerned if our youngsters were buying narcotics at places of business as freely as they buy reading matter that may be even more deadly?

And do we who want our children to have the best of everything encourage the news-stand to eliminate such publications from its stock by patronizing it, or do we take our business where anything that will bring a dime goes?

Elected officials are among the people of Floyd county, also, and it is obvious they too should revise their thinking. Sheriffs of "dry" counties usually bear the brunt of criticism for all failures in liquor law enforcement. Sometimes they are so remiss in the performance of their duty that they deserve criticism, but never are they alone.

Even now the Floyd county Sheriff's office is calling on other county officials to help in cleaning up the Augean mess that bootlegging and weak-kneed law-enforcement have created. Will the Sheriff get this help from men who are removed from the ranks of the ordinary citizen only through the votes of their fellows?

Specifically, the Sheriff's office is asking for help under Kentucky Revised Statute 242.30 which provides that property where illegal intoxicants are found may be sold on petition of the Commonwealth's Attorney, the County Attorney or any citizen. The Sheriff's office already is holding two vehicles from which such liquors were taken, and has announced its intention to sell them under another section of law when, and if, the owners are convicted.

Why should not the ordinary citizen come to the Sheriff's help and file petitions to sell such property? Mainly because the officials he helped to elect were elected to do that work, because they have the authority of law, the knowledge of such matters and actually the mandate of the law to urge them along.

Yet, if there is no action from official sources, the people must further revise their thinking and think long and hard enough to get into action themselves.

Mrs. Ellen May Patton, Foster Mother of 14, Heart Condition Victim

Mrs. Ellen May Patton, 65 years old, wife of G. C. (Dock) Patton, died at 4 a.m. Sunday at her home on Stephens Branch, near Dinwood, of a heart condition.

She was the eldest daughter of the late B. L. C. and Arzilia Pratt May and spent her entire life in the community where she died. One of her sons died in infancy, another at the age of 23 in 1930, and her mother-in-law turned to other children who needed a home. Mrs. Patton and her husband reared 14 foster children. She had been a member of the Christian Church since 1908.

Her husband survives. Among the foster-children listed as her survivors are Herbert Ousley, of Langley, Alvis Osborne, of Manton, Betty Elliott, of Dinwood, and Mrs. Fannie Lowery, Detroit. Surviving brothers and sisters are: W. H. May of Langley, A. J. May, Miami, Fla., John E. May, Laurel, Miss., O. P. and Henry May, both of Manton, Mrs. Ray Flannery, of Warco, and Mrs. Alice Hayes, of Manton.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday from the residence by the Rev. Henry Parsons and John Paul Billiter, and burial was made in the family cemetery under direction of the Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

LACKEY

Dorlane Chalfant was honored on her tenth birth anniversary with a party Feb. 8, at her home here. Several nice gifts were graciously acknowledged. Refreshments were served to the following:

Ginger DeCoursey, Katrina Napier, Bonnie Bentley, Karen Wicker, Alva Rice, Joanne Martin, Diane Jones, Mrs. Juanita Bentley, Mrs. Irene Wicker and members of the family present were:

Arvela Chalfant, Winona Chalfant, Robert Chalfant and the mother Mrs. Ella Chalfant.

To the suggestion that a sociologist of the University of Kentucky be assigned this area Ramey promised to bear the request to the proper authorities for consideration. Ramey studied sample certifications for relief in the CIA program and remarked upon the devastating effects of unemployment in the coal mine industry. Another segment of the population, he noted that was applying for assistance, was the aged and persons assisted by government agencies with small amounts of cash grants.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LIKES THE NAME, DEWEY

Editor, The Times—
Changing the name, Dewey Lake, to Jennie Wiley would be all wrong, in my estimation. A lake is very aptly named for a Navy admiral. Very appropriate. Changing names just don't take. Two examples here in California: They changed the name, Boulder Dam, to Hoover Dam. All anybody ever says is, Dam Hoover—poor, old man!—and some bright light got the idea of changing West Lake Park to McArthur Park. That didn't stick, either. Not one person in 100 calls it McArthur.

Create a park any place where a piece of land can be obtained, and honor Jennie Wiley in a manner befitting her.

JUDGE I. STEPHENS,
Gapville, Ky.

Editor, The Times:

The following letter has been addressed to local news-dealers:

The aims of the Committee on Good Literature of the Local Council of Churchwomen are to encourage the reading of good literature and to help make everyone aware of the importance of good reading. You, as book and magazine dealers and leaders in the community, are in key positions to encourage good reading and to prevent evil reading matter from reaching your stands.

Why are our goals important? Our young people are at an age when influences are vitally important. They are impressed by the things that they read, the movies they see, the actions of people they admire. It is essential to their well-being and to the development of healthy minds and habits in boys and girls, that good reading material be made available to them.

It is a happy thing that there are many good magazines and books on the news stands for them, and that our high school libraries and bookmobiles provide enjoyable and worthy reading matter. Unfortunately, however, many magazines and pocket-size books available today are, at best, undesirable for young people to read; and, at worst, they are undiluted filth wrapped in sensational covers. This trash is published by irresponsible, greedy people, who have no regard for truth and who are interested only in the money to be made from dressing up filth so that it will seem attractive to young minds.

We are so interested in giving all youngsters a chance to develop clean, healthy minds, but we are not in a position to further this as you are. We are deeply grateful for what you have already done in the way of keeping undesirable material off your stands. We write this letter to thank you for your co-operation in what we feel is a Christian cause; and to urge your continued watchfulness of the reading matter which goes on your stands.

We believe that in doing this service you are helping to prevent juvenile delinquency and that you are making a very real contribution to the building of a better world.

Sheriff Hershell Warrens proposes to comply with the law by declaring forfeit and selling all motor vehicles in which intoxicating liquors are found by him and his deputies and whose owners are convicted.

This announcement was made Monday by Jarvis Allen, Sheriff Warrens' chief office deputy, who said that the two motor vehicles from which intoxicants have been aken in this county since Jan. 1 have been impounded and are being held for future sale if the owners are convicted.

These vehicles are the truck of Sherman Cook and the auto of Bennie Blackburn.

Kentucky Revised Statute 242.36 provides, Allen pointed out, that upon conviction of the owners of such vehicles the property shall be forfeited and sold. "The statute says, 'shall be sold,' not 'maybe,' and we expect to obey that law," Mr. Allen emphasized.

He added that he was, or will soon, call on Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley and County Attorney Robert S. Wellman to take the same position relating to KRS 242.320 which provides for the confiscation and sale of property where bootlegging is conducted. Such property and of the defendant shall be admissible.

Any citizen who institutes such action shall receive 10% of the proceeds of such sale of property, the law stipulates.

"From this time forward liquor law violators will be charged with second or third offenses, as the case may be, if they have been previously charged," Allen said. He added that he will insist on all such violators being placed under peace bond in accordance with the law.

"Officers are handicapped in enforcement of the liquor laws by the difficulty in getting search warrants, but these sections of the law providing for sale of cars, trucks and property and prosecution on second and third offense charges offer effective weapons if only they will be used," Allen commented.

Prestonsburg Hospital Redecorates in Pastels, Administrator Announces

The Prestonsburg General hospital, in keeping with the modern trend of hospitals, has redecorated part of its interior in pastel shades, it was said this week by Chalmer H. Frazier, administrator.
The entire second floor and the first floor waiting room have been completely redecorated and other work of the same nature is envisioned, Frazier says.

"There is a trend in modern hospitals to get away from the traditional hospital white so as to lighten the patient's stay at the institution," he commented. "The home-like appearance of the rooms has been well-received by the patients and plans are going ahead to redecorate the third floor," he added.

Prestonsburg General hospital, which has been serving in its new location since 1952, was recently accredited by the Joint Commission of the American Hospital Association, making it the first medical institution in the area to receive such accreditation.

that such an increase "would put me out of business."

Grant Knuckles, Middlesboro, attorney for U. M. W. District 19, argued that there are many laborers in Kentucky who are not affiliated with the mineworkers union who would benefit from the bill.

H. B. Noble, Hazard attorney for U.M.W. District 30, said the only purpose of the bill is to help the injured worker. He said the industry representatives every two years cry that increased benefits for their workers will put them out of business—but this has not proved to be the case.

James Simpson, Harlan, attorney for the Kentucky Coal Association, urged the committee last week not to vote out the bill.

Fields suggested the opposing sides might well try to get together and help the committee arrive at a sound and agreeable solution. If they can't, he warned, then the committee itself will work out something.

How to stay retired!

This retired builder "TAKES LIFE EASY" in his all-electric home...

During many years in the contracting business, Mr. R. E. Hartless built a lot of homes for other people. When he built a retirement home for himself and Mrs. Hartless, he wanted it to be "the most comfortable home I could provide."

"I can't imagine a retired man who plans a lot of extra work for himself," Mr. Hartless says. "That's why I wanted the cleanliness and convenience of an electric heating system. No other heating method can come close to matching the advantages of electric heat."

"As a matter of fact, I'm so sold on electric heat that I installed it in two houses which I built to rent. I have found it keeps the renters happier, and they stay longer."

Mrs. Hartless appreciates the cleanliness and convenience of electric heat.

"There's no dirt at all," she says, "and I can keep my home spotless with little effort. Besides that, I can rearrange the furniture any way I wish without blocking heating registers."

"As for my electric appliances, each is a favorite, for it helps me keep up the home and have more free time to enjoy our children and grandchildren."

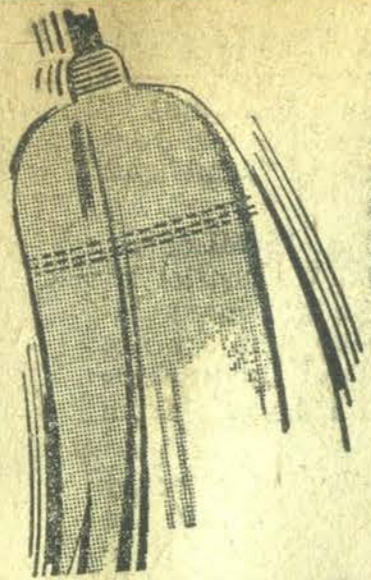

Mr. and Mrs. Hartless start their days off right, with breakfasts leisurely prepared with the help of electrical appliances.

Morton Tells Senate Lower Rate Approval To Aid Coal Fields

Senator Thruston B. Morton told the Senate last Thursday he hopes for a speedy approval of lower rail-freight rates between Kentucky coal fields and Florida.

Favorably low rates are now in effect, Morton said. But they are temporary, and the Interstate Commerce Commission will hold hearings on them in Tampa, Fla., March 11.

The Kentucky Republican said the new rates will let Florida utility companies use coal as fuel in making power. Most of them now use oil.

Lower rail rates between the Appalachian region and Florida would help the coal industry in Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia; the electrical consumer in Florida; and the railroads serving the southeast, Morton said.

The Southern Railway and others, including the Louisville & Nashville joined the coal operators and Florida utilities last summer in proposing the lower rail rates, Morton noted.

The I.S.C. approved the new rates, then suspended them, and then reimposed them, Morton said. Now a "cloud of uncertainty" hangs over them and "this, of course, could continue for a long time."

In the present atmosphere, said the senator, the Florida utilities are unwilling to invest several million dollars in coal-handling equipment without being sure coal would be available at a competitive price. He noted the price of oil, both domestic and imported, advanced rather sharply a year ago as a result of the Suez crisis.

Morton pointed to "excessive regulation and legal restriction" as a cause of many troubles of the railroads. "In this instance, we certainly have a case in point."

He said coal is Kentucky's largest industry, and a decision to stabilize the freight rate would "put extra money in the pocket of the coal miner."

"I hope that the proceedings will be expedited to the fullest in view of the many benefits that will accrue from the coal-to-Florida program."

Hazard Due $374,684.00 To Erase Blighted Area; Urban Renewal To Help

Hazard, Ky., Feb. 14 — A flood-blighted area on East Main Street here will give way to another city-owned parking lot.

City officials were notified Friday that the Urban Renewal Administration, Washington, had approved a federal loan of $241,092 and a grant of $133,592 for redevelopment of the property, all of it severely damaged in the January 29 flood of last year.

To be torn down are several small business houses, a four-story, 25-room hotel, and a 30-room boarding house located in an area bordered on the east by the Kentucky River and on the north and east by East Main Street from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad bridge to a bottling plant.

All of the property is in the heart of the Hazard business district.

Total cost of the project was estimated Friday by Gene Parker, chairman of the Hazard Municipal Housing Commission, at approximately $300,000.

Under terms of the loan and grant, the federal government will pay two thirds of the net cost and the city will pay a third.

A part of Hazard's share will be paid by the state, since the cost of extending East Main Street (Ky. 15) through the blighted area will be credited to the city as part of its share.

Most of the buildings are already vacant except those occupied by one or two families and a few businesses. Parker said additional government money is anticipated to pay the cost of relocating the families and businesses.

Parker said efforts to obtain the grant and loan were first started immediately after the flood. Application for the grant was made May 16.

The blighted area adjoins a city parking lot having a capacity of about 50 cars. When cleared of buildings the new lot will have an estimated capacity of 70 cars.

The first scheduled train drawn in the United States by a steam locomotive was between Albany and Schenectady in 1831.

The Philippines were discovered by Magellan on March 15, 1521. A month later he was killed there in a fight with the natives.

Artifacts Found Of Early People On Rough River

Artifacts found in the Rough River Basin in Kentucky may give clues to a missing link in knowledge of prehistoric Kentucky, Dr. Douglas Schwartz reported recently.

Director of the University of Kentucky Museum of Anthropology, he said evidences of the Adena and Archaic cultures were found in Breckinridge and Grayson counties.

He has just completed an analysis of items collected during an archaeological survey of the area during November and December.

The Archaic culture (5,000-1,500 B. C.) was made up of hunters and "gatherers," Dr. Schwartz explained. The Adena culture (800 B. C.-800 A. D.) was made up of farmers.

The missing link is the 700-year period between the two cultures. Whether the Archaic hunters gradually switched to farming—or farming Adenas were a new group that migrated to the area—has been a major question facing Kentucky archaeologists.

Dr. Schwartz said arrowheads, pottery, shell tools, and bones, some belonging to each culture, were found chiefly along tributaries of the Rough River. The Archaic people were known to have lived near the area, but the Adena people lived farther north, chiefly in Southern Ohio and Northern Kentucky.

Whether the finds actually indicate a transitional period cannot be determined on the basis of what has been found so far, Dr. Schwartz said.

He said he hopes to get more funds from the National Park Service for further excavating in the area before it is flooded when a dam is completed this fall.

The department of anthropology, in co-operation with the Park Service and the Kentucky Department of Conservation, has contracted for another survey on an area to be flooded—behind the Barkley dam site. This area is being surveyed now, with the project to be completed in March.

was begun in 1917 and provided the system that trained 11,000,000 war workers in three years during World War II.

Vocational schools "will not, they cannot, continue if the ridiculous suggestion to withdraw federal funds should become law," he declared.

Perkins said Kentucky has a "carefully developed, efficiently operating network of 13 area vocational schools," including three in his Seventh Congressional district—at Hazard, Ashland, and Paintsville.

These 13 schools have long waiting lists, he said. Enrollments have increased from some 30,000 in 1944-45 to 64,239 in 1956-57—a rise of 109 percent.

The enrollment figure is expected to jump to more than 140,000 in 1959-60, "provided we can pay the teachers and provide facilities," Perkins said.

One of the representatives supporting Perkins in the House was Winfield K. Denton, Evansville, Ind., Democrat. He noted the entire vocational-aid appropriation last year was $33,000,000.

If the Eisenhower Administration has its way, 43 Kentucky school districts will lose nearly $900,000 a year in federal help for operating expenses, Perkins earlier pointed out to a Congressional subcommittee.

It was noted the Administration also wants to cut off federal aid for school construction in certain areas. Four Kentucky school districts have drawn $227,000, in this type of aid since 1956.

S. B. 50, sponsored by Denver B. Knuckles, Middlesboro, passed, 20 to 0. It requires a uniform one-year suicide clause in all life-insurance contracts written in Kentucky hereafter. Some companies have a two-year clause and some a one-year clause, Knuckles explained. This is the clause that voids a policy if suicide occurs within the stated period.

S. B. 40, sponsored by Anggelis, passed 24 to 5. It creates a State board to regulate physical therapists. It requires that the patient present the therapist a medical prescription before he can receive such treatment.

safe for school bus travel could not be in school, the daily attendance would drop heavily and the consequence would be that school operation would be at a heavy loss of state per capita funds.

Worse even than the loss of time in the schools may be the damage done by the freezing weather to school plants. County Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said he doubts if a large school in the county has escaped damage, mostly from bursted plumbing. The repair bill may run high and further delay reopening of some schools, he said.

"Our buildings simply haven't been constructed for this kind of weather," the superintendent said. "Some of our principals have been setting up heaters in the basements of their schools, trying to keep pipes from freezing, but we're afraid the loss will be heavy."

If any schools are open they are in remoter rural sections and are operating with scant attendance and against the superintendent's advice.

The Ohio river was frozen over Tuesday, presenting a big traffic problem and possible loss to river shipping. The freeze was termed the worst since 1939—by some, the worst since 1917-18.

Middlesboro was a notable instance of cold weather discomfort as gas pressure dropped. Lexington's coal supply was short. In this county there was no reported fuel shortage, although the Prestonsburg high school lunchroom would not have been able to operate Tuesday because of low gas supply, even had classes resumed.

Use of blow torches and flame of any kind to thaw frozen pipes was warned against by fire departments of the county. Hot water or heated cloths are recommended.

MARTIN

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Allen-Martin woman's club met Feb. 17 at the home of Mrs. Frances Sherman. The meeting was to be a program meeting on "American Homes" but, due to the bad weather, a business meeting was held instead.

C. Kilmer Combs, chairman of the Heart Fund for Floyd county, asked the Club to assist in making the drive successful in our county. Miss Nell Music, president of the club gave a talk on the Citizens Improvement Association, and the club made a motion to give $10 to this organization, plus the other help they could give in the donation of clothes and other food items. Miss Doty Gay Martin will enter the music contest in the 7th district which will be held at Pikeville, March 1. A committee was appointed by the club president to select officers for the coming club year.

Mrs. Euna Laven, Mrs. Lyda Hall and Mrs. Frances Sherman made the following selection: Mrs. Dorothy Martin, president; Mrs. Artie Marrs, vice-president; Katherine Hall, treasurer; Mrs. Euna Laven, recording secretary; Mrs. Sarah Laven, corresponding secretary.

The hostess, Mrs. Frances Sherman, served cake and coffee to the following members: Miss Nell Music, Mrs. Euna Laven, Mrs. Sarah Laven, Mrs. Lyda Hall, Miss Ottele Hall, Mrs. Hazel Adams, and Mrs. Artie Marrs. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Emmett Tackett.

Other dead in the accident are Arthur Pennington, 41, section foreman, Elmer Broady, 43, both of Lundale, and James E. Rogers, 23, of nearby Amherstdale. A seventh worker, Estes Woods, escaped death by a hair's breadth.

The mine employs about 200 men and has had an excellent safety record, holding two Joseph A. Holmes Safety awards. The roof in the section of the tragedy was bolstered by 2-by-8 timbers and 36-inch bolts secured in the slate four feet apart.

The bodies of the crushed victims were removed from the mine last Thursday by workmen using huge hydraulic jacks. State and United States mining officials held hearings on the accident. It was learned that the crew was preparing to take coal out of a new section when a conveyor on the loader broke down in a haulage way.

Funeral rites for Collins, who is survived by his wife, Cleo Roseberry Collins, a former Wheelwright woman, were held Saturday and burial was made at Ben Creek, Logan county.

looked like a second-hand furniture store. Then, for some reason that isn't clear, we decided perhaps he would be happier and the family belongings safer if this dog were banished to the cold, cold world outside the house. He protested with a howling virtuosity that had the Humane Society investigating the premises. He wound up by turning on the porch posts with fang and claw.

This move might have worked, had not the pup joined in with a bunch of rabbits one moonlit night to invade a neighbor's peach orchard. The farmer picked the biggest rabbit in the bunch, let fly with a charge of No. 2 shot, and so ended the career of the dog that had a gnawing neurosis.

(That piece of fiction, balderdash or whatever you may call it was brought on by events of only one week after a new puppy was introduced to our home. We have been trying to keep the matter quiet, but things just aren't normal. You take this dog for a walk, and he acts like he's playing the lead role in "The Last Mile," then he comes back inside, looks the rugs over and picks virgin territory. Noting a glint in a certain woman's eye, I have developed the habit of inquiring about the newcomer's health, first thing, when I return home. Maybe it would be safer to have him in traction, anyhow.)

Floyd county's Army Reserve unit invites you to become a member. If you are under 26 years of age and have not served in some service of the armed forces, you have an obligation to fulfill at some time in the future. This obligation is satisfied by serving two years in the Army as a draftee or in the service of your choice as an enlistee. But you do not have to spend two years of your life doing a job you do not enjoy.

The Reserve Forces Act of August 9, 1955, enables you to fulfill your obligation by spending only six months away from your home and job. If you are between the ages of 17½ and 26 years of age, you may enlist in your local reserve unit. If you have not completed high school, you have one year to do so before serving your six months. If you have completed high school or are not attending, you will be called in approximately four months. After you have completed your six months, you will remain active in a reserve unit wherever you live for the remainder of a six-year period. A member of the Reserve is expected to attend 48 drills each year for which he will receive one day's pay according to his rank for each drill. There will be two weeks of summer camp each year with full pay. Your reserve obligation does not limit your place of residence.

Stop at your local armory, the building formerly occupied by the Chrysler - Plymouth dealers and learn how you can fulfill your obligation to your country and remain at home.

Your Local Reserve Unit is Co. "B", 364th Engineer Bn. (Hv. Const.) commanded by 1st Lt. Charles J. McNally. The weekly drills are held each Tuesday evening from 7:30 until 9:30. Membership in this unit will permit you to receive training in heavy equipment operation and maintenance, carpentry, electricity, demolitions and explosives and many other engineering phases plus the administrative and supply functions.

At present, the reserve quota is filled; however, you should visit the armory and learn of the opportunities that are offered. Watch your local paper to learn when recruits will again be accepted into the reserves.

2. Ralph Ramey, sociologist at the University of Kentucky, visited Prestonsburg and held a conference Tuesday with leaders in the Citizenship Improvement Association. He discussed the many state and local agencies that would be able to assist in aiding the needy.

3. Congressman Carl D. Perkins, Hindman, answered the appeal of County Attorney Robert S. Wellman and County Judge Henry Stumbo for aid to poverty-stricken Floyd counties with a wire from Washington, Friday. Perkins said that he would do everything possible to see that adequate supplies of food are made available to the state.

"The law limits the authority of federal government on the distribution of Federal goods to the shipment of the state central warehouse," Perkins wired. "From that point on distribution of surplus foods is entirely in the hands of state officials."

4. A radio program over WDOC was arranged to be heard from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday. A large panel of interested persons will discuss the needy problem.

Telephone Talk

by
H. D. HAYES
Your Telephone Manager

WHAT'S IT WORTH? Seems to me the simple everyday pleasures in life are those we seem to enjoy most: a leisurely cup of coffee, a friend's cheery hello, the song of a bird. Such little things in life mean a lot, but you can't put a price on them. You only know you'd miss them if you couldn't have them. I like to think of the telephone this way . . . that it brings folks a lot of pleasure. Naturally, it's a real convenience, too, and it gets a lot of things done fast. But to me it does its best work when used to add a touch of happiness to your day or someone else's. That's why if I were asked to put a value on the telephone beyond its pure usefulness, I'd say it was the "heap of pleasure" it can bring to so many folks. Yes, it's fun to phone.

"NO MATTER HOW SMALL THE PLACE, CASPER MUST HAVE A DEN WITH HIS OWN TELEPHONE."

UNDER THE BLANKET. That's where the first telephone booth was. Here's how it happened. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, and his assistant, Thomas A. Watson, were conducting their experiments. They put a telephone in Watson's boarding house room. Mr. Bell had his phone somewhere else and the two of them talked back and forth. Apparently, they were rather noisy and Watson's landlady complained. So, Watson improvised a telephone booth by throwing the blankets from his bed over the instrument to shut in the noise. Then he crawled under the blanket to talk. Today, we don't have "to holler" over the phone, and modern telephone booths keep noise out and let you call in comfort. These and other telephone conveniences are the result of continuing research to help make your telephoning more pleasant.

Why Alcoholism? Research Seeks Definite Answer

By J. Collis Ringo,
Executive Director
Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

The erratic behavior of any one influenced by alcohol makes it difficult for normal people to understand that these deviations are symptoms of illness.

Pointless long distance calls . . . insisting on paying food and drink checks for the party . . . "big shot" complexes when drinking are definite pre-alcoholic symptoms. Continued repetitions of this behavior are signposts leading to compulsive drinking. This, when ingestion of alcohol becomes the most important activity of a person's life, is alcoholism.

It affects between six and seven persons of every hundred who use beverage alcohol. No one deliberately becomes an alcoholic. It is insidious, usually taking from 15 to 20 years to progress from pre-alcoholic stage to full-blown alcoholism.

There are many theories why this six or seven percent are affected while others are not.

Recent research at the University of Texas by Dr. Roger J. Williams, head of the department of biological chemistry, projects a new theory. The research offers some evidence that alcoholism is chemical, resulting from faulty metabolism causing the appetite center of the brain to crave alcohol, a process similar to the craving of the diabetic for sugar, even though results are harmful.

Acceptance of alcoholism as an illness is important. This concept is conducive to help. The excessive drinker has a dormant desire to be helped.

Alcoholics Anonymous is the most available agency offering assistance. Members know from painful experience all phases of the illness. Their facilities are available without fee. And Alcoholics Anonymous is listed in the telephone directory.

The three most prevalent cause of heart trouble are high blood pressure, rheumatic fever and coronary artery disease.

ADVANCING EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY

By ROBERT R. MARTIN
Superintendent of Public Instruction

I have said the present educational crisis has presented three conditions to educators. These are: an opportunity to create better public understanding; a challenge to produce improvements if given the means; and a danger that we may choose the wrong leadership in trying to solve our problems.

Educators are eager for the opportunities and the challenges that are now apparent; but they are perturbed and apprehensive over the turn events might take should they fall into the hands of overly excited minds. These are the people who would blame the American schools for the present crisis without tempering their judgement with consideration of what the schools have been given with which to work. These people are reacting to the present situation with their emotions rather than with their minds. Organized movement has never been possible under excited emotions.

There is an acute danger now that attention will be focused exclusively on mathematics and science as a result of the excitement generated by this crisis. Certainly these are important subjects but other subjects are also important. Certainly we need more scientists and mathematicians, but we also need more preachers, more lawyers, more teachers; we need more accountants, journalists, poets, and garage mechanics; in short, we cannot sacrifice the humanities for the sciences. Our world demands above all else, an understanding of our fellow man and the social, economic, political, and cultural conditions that have produced us.

If we enter into so called 'crash' programs in the sciences and in mathematics, we will not be elevating American education above that of Russia, but will merely be imitating the Russian system.

Surely no American would trade the ideals, objectives and methods of American education for those of the Soviet, yet that is a danger that faces us.

It may be true that we are 'behind' the Russians in science and mathematics, and it is also true that we need to give attention to improving these phases of our program but in so doing we must never lose sight of the objective of achieving a balanced program of education in this nation's schools.

The admitted primary purpose of Soviet education is the production of scientists, mathematicians, and language experts. The purposes and philosophy of American schools is much broader. Our schools train students of various backgrounds for many different fields of endeavor, and in addition, they attempt to teach our people how to live in a democratic society. At their best, American schools achieve these aims. Other schools do remarkably well with limited resources. There are many unfortunately whose resources are so inadequate that they can do only a fair job. Our great challenge is to produce something comparable to what Russian schools are accomplishing but at the same time hold to the ideals of American education.

In meeting this tremendous challenge, if we try to excel in one phase of our endeavor at the expense of other equally important areas of the program, we will have over-balanced the educational structure. We cannot afford to sacrifice wisdom for knowledge; we must have both. This is the danger to advancing education not only in Kentucky, but throughout the nation.

UK Medical Center Acquires Journals

The University of Kentucky's Medical Center Library has acquired a 4,300-volume collection of journals, described as a "rich research store"—from the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Physiology in Philadelphia.

Guaranteeing the purchase of the $32,000 collection was Kentucky born William Arnold Hanger, New York engineering executive and a member and director of the Kentucky Medical Foundation. Hanger, whose home is in Richmond, is president of the Mason and Hanger-Silas Mason Co., engineering and construction firm.

Hanger expressed the hope that other persons will participate in the purchase of these research materials and perhaps make them a memorial collection. Some of the works will be new to the southern region, and probably will serve a large number of medical people in the area.

Virgie and Pikeville, two of the leading contenders for the 57th district tournament crown, drew in opposite brackets for the annual playoffs, set for March 4-8 in the Johns Creek Gymnasium.

In the upper bracket, Pikeville is pitted against Feds Creek and Elkhorn City meets the winner of the Mullins-Dorton tilt.

In the lower bracket, Virgie is matched against Hellier with Phelps to meet the winner and Johns Creek clashes with Belfry.

Thus, barring any major district upsets, Virgie and Pikeville, Sandy Hook and Oil Springs are almost virtual cinches to be in the 15th regional tournament. Martin and Flat Gap appear to have an easy road in vieing for two other regional berths. The remaining two will come from Paintsville, Inez, or Meade Memorial in the 59th district and Prestonsburg, Garrett or Betsy Layne in the wide-open 58th district.

THRILL FANS

Fans attending the opening games and the Monday night tilt in the new Prestonsburg gym saw some thrilling action as Auxier pulled one of the state's biggest upsets in downing Betsy Layne, 66-64, then two nights later, Betsy Layne edged Prestonsburg, 83-82, in a double overtime period after the Black Cats blew a 4-point lead with 26 seconds to play.

Naturally enough, Auxier's Porter Powers flipped in 39 points to give other players a goal for which to point in the individual scoring efforts.

High-scoring Ray Clarke, of Betsy Layne, threatened the mark Monday night, with a 21-point first half, but could muster only 9 nine in the last half for a 30-point total.

AUXIER GAME CANCELLED

South Portsmouth school Superintendent Sid Meade has cancelled his school's cage game with Auxier, originally scheduled for this Friday. A shortage of gas and the current cold wave has closed the school.

EXTRA POINTS . . . James Baker, Ashland, and Joe Hofstetter, Williamson, have been named to officiate the Pike county district tournament.

Paul Phillip Hughes, Prestonsburg's ace quarterback and member of the basketball team, will attend Greenbrier Military School next year. . . . Prestonsburg Black Cats will play their fourth home game of the week in meeting M. C. Napier, Saturday night. The Perry county school is tutored by ex-Martin high school all-starter, Pete Grigsby, Jr.

Betsy Layne, despite last week's two defeats, is still tabbed as the state's No. 10 team in Tuesday's ratings.

Indian Sandals On Display At UK

Two - thousand - year-old sandals found in Mammoth Cave will be the "Exhibit of the Month" for February at the University of Kentucky's Museum of Anthropology.

Dr. Douglas Schwartz, director of the museum, said the sandals are similar to those on the remains of a prehistoric Indian found in the cave in 1935.

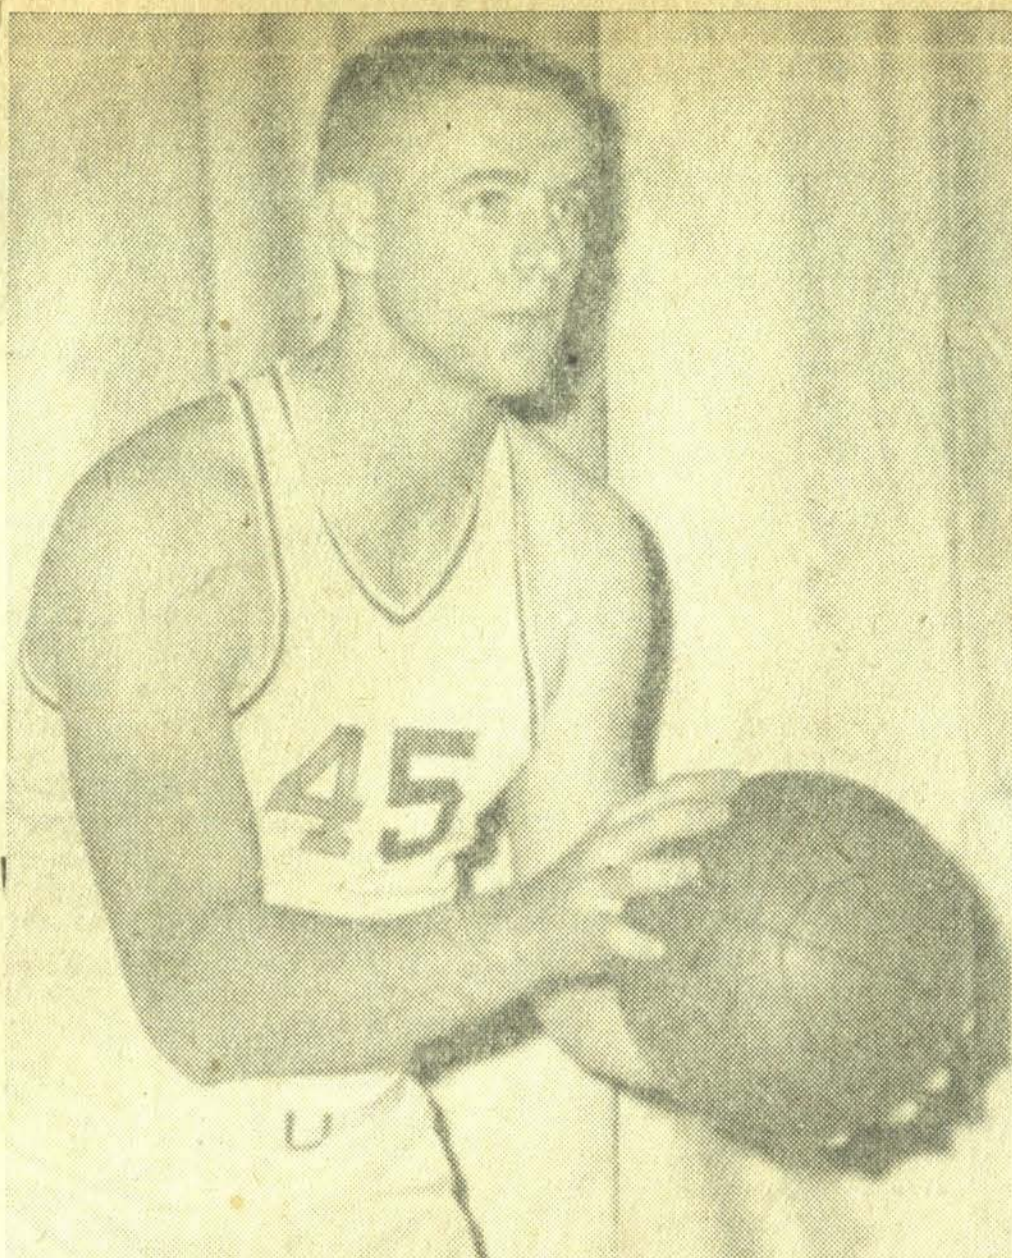

The exhibit was prepared by Miss Joyce Bryner of Wilmore, graduate assistant in the museum. Featuring the sandals, it also includes illustrations of the method used for their manufacture.

Kelly Coleman, who at Wayland high school rewrote the high school basketball record book, is in the process of doing the same thing for Kentucky Wesleyan College at Owensboro.

Only in his freshman season, King Kelly already has taken over top scoring spot among major Kentucky colleges, has smashed three Wesleyan records, tied another and threatens to wreck more before the current season ends.

The burley 215-pounder is labeled by Wesleyan fans as the "most outstanding freshman in college basketball today." His sparkling feats in 20 games have been nothing short of sensational.

Last week the prize product of Wayland became the first K.W.C. cager in history to score 200 field goals in a single season. His total now stands at 202 with four remaining tilts against Evansville, February 15; Centre, February 17; Louisville, February 19, and East Tennessee State, February 28.

Fairce Woods, a 5-4 guard from Garrett and one of the college's all-time greats, held the old record of 194 fielders in the 1948-49 campaign.

BEARS TO END SEASON SLATE

With Games This Week Against Union College And Villa Madonna Five

Pikeville, Ky. Feb. 17 (Sp1)—The Pikeville College Bears, frozen out of their only scheduled game last week, will wind up their regular season this week against two rugged rivals in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

After their only meeting of the year with the Union College Bulldogs Wednesday at Barbourville, the Bears will close their season at home, entertaining the Villa Madonna College Rebels at 8 p.m. Friday (Feb. 21) in the Pikeville College gymnasium.

In a 6:30 preliminary the Pikeville College Freshmen, beaten only twice in their 11 starts this season, will host one of their betters, the Generals of Lees Junior College. The Generals, one of the hottest junior-college teams in the state, were the first to clip the little Bears this year.

The frosh will close their season the following night the hard way, hosting the other of the two clubs which have beaten them this season, the Little Green of Marshall College.

Pikeville's trip to meet Concord College at Athens, W. Va., Saturday was called off because of ice-covered roads, and was not expected to be rescheduled. Instead, the two teams may meet in a single game next year at the West Virginia college.

The Bears, with 17 wins in their 27 starts, are currently tied with Union at 4-4 in the KIAC. Their standing in the loop as they go into their first KIAC tournament Feb. 26 at Georgetown thus will depend heavily on the outcome of their last two season games.

That was before Kentucky Wesleyan moved from Winchester to Owensboro.

Coleman, who currently ranks 14th among the nation's point-making leaders, has meshed 437 and averaged 24.4 points to help coach Robert Wilson's troop post an 11-9 tally against topflight competition. King Kelly's total is just 40 shy of the record of 527 made a year ago by All-America Mason Cope.

Cope and Woods are the only two Panther hoopsters who have ever passed the 500 level and reached the 20-points-per game figure, but Coleman is expected to surge far ahead before he quits firing. Cope finished with a 20.07 average, while Woods boasted a 20.0 clip by sinking 520 in his 1948-49 senior year.

When K.W.C. stunned Morehead 101-85 last week, the star yearling aimed 40 shots from the field, the most ever attempted by a Wesleyan in a 40-minute tilt. He led the upset with 33 points and 19 rebounds, marking the seventh contest that he hat hit the rare 30-point circle. Only five times has he scored less than 20.

In outings with two Florida foes—Miami and Tampa—Coleman got 15 buckets against each rival to equal the K.W.C. record for most field goals. This high was first set by Joe Roop at the expense of Union College in 1955 when he counted 38 (still a record), then tied last winter by Logan Gipe in a match with Oakland City College.

Hitting the bullseye is not the only department in which Coleman excels. He is also regarded as first-class rebounder and playmaker, as well as being a polished dribbler. He tops his mates in rebounding with 244 and a 12.2 average. In addition, he is runner-up to guard Rogers Taylor in scoring assists with 21.

If the paunchy ace can grab 53 stray shots in these next four hassles, he can claim two more school records. Billy Bibb (now Wilson's assistant) hauled in 297 rebounds in 25 games last year to sport a 11.9 game average.

Coleman's high this season was a 35-point spree against Miami. Thanks to the fabulous efforts of Mr. Coleman, Wesleyan is almost assured of enjoying its ninth consecutive winning season.

1,200 BRAVE SNOW, ICE TO SEE GYM OPENING

Prestonsburg unveiled its fine, new gymnasium last Saturday to some 1,200 fans who braved four inches of snow and near-zero temperatures to see Auxier uncork the biggest upset of the season in nipping ninth-ranked Betsy Layne, 66-64, and Oil Springs drop Prestonsburg, 91-83.

Porter Powers, Kentucky's leading individual scorer, staged a great scoring and rebounding exhibition in leading his Auxier mates to one of the biggest wins in the school's history.

Five Counties Visible

Through Hall's Gap (altitude 1200 feet), on the dividing line between the Blue Grass area and the mountains, an important road has been used since pioneer times. An observation tower near the road affords a view on a clear day of five counties.

The agile six-foot, one-inch senior scored 39 points and pulled Auxier ahead 65-64, with 57 seconds to play. Tommy Boyd's Bobcats, playing without regular forward Joe Reynolds, led 31-25 at half time and by a six-point margin at the close of the third period.

Oil Springs, winningest team in the mountains, led Prestonsburg throughout and held on to win after the Cats pulled to 84-81 with 1:29 left. Six-foot, seven-inch center Mervel Blair hit 23, Richard Conley 21 and Tommy Grimm 19 for the victors and James Hager was tops for the Black Cats with 17.

A night earlier, Denzil Halbert's Martin Purple Flash avenged previous defeats by Betsy Layne in copping a 69-65 home court win. Martin staged a six-point rally in the closing three minutes for the cherished victory.

Ray Clarke, who left the game via the foul route in the third period, earned 17 points for the losers and Frank King and Edgel Click poured in 27 and 19, respectively, for Martin.

FIRST CHILD IS DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. John Nypaver, of David, are announcing the birth of their first child, a daughter on February 15, at Our Lady of the Way hospital at Martin. Mrs. Nypaver is the former Delphia Glass, of Dante, Va. Both mother and daughter are doing nicely.

FARM NOTES

By David Y. Gillespie
It won't be long before the weather warms up, and it will be time to plant corn. In fact, seed corn should be bought now. By buying early before the supply is low, you can get the variety you want, and have it on hand so that there will be no delay at planting.

Over half of the 7,000 acres of corn grown in the county is open-pollinated. In commercial corn producing counties, nearly 100% of corn planted is hybrid. Through the years hybrid has out-yielded the open-pollinated varieties and has been accepted in most counties. Hybrid corn could be used to a much better advantage in this county.

Last year the University of Kentucky Experiment Station Staff ran two experiments in Eastern Kentucky comparing hybrids to open-pollinated varieties. The locations of the test were at Quicksand Substation, and on Jimmie Green's farm on Middle Creek in Floyd county.

Frank Loeffel, who was in charge of the test, reported that with 8,000 stalks per acre the hybrid varieties averaged 70.9 bushels per acre, compared with 78.9 89.0 89.0 90.00000 open-pollinated varieties, or 7.3 bushels per acre more for the hybrids.

With 16,000 stalks per acre, the hybrids averaged 87.3 bushels per acre, 19.6 bushels more than did the open-pollinated at 67.7 bushels.

What does this mean in dollars and cents? With 8,000 stalks per acre the 7.3 bushels difference at $1.25 bushels means that the hybrids produced $8.50 more corn per acre than did the open-pollinated. Using these figures for 16,000 stalks per acre the hybrids produced $24.50 more corn per acre than did the open-pollinated.

If a farmer was raising 5 acres of corn this would mean an increase of $122.50 which would go a long way to providing new appliances for the kitchen, a water pump and running water, new furniture or a college education for the children.

There have been orders placed for 20,000 strawberry plants. Plants this year will come from Menifee county and will be delivered sometime the last of March. If you want plants, contact any of the strawberry producers in your community or come by the Extension office in the post office building in Prestonsburg.

If strawberries are ever to become a prominent cash crop in Floyd county, many more acres of berries will have to be set. At the present time, the local market will handle all the berries produced. While the local market is good, it is limited in the amount that can be used.

A large number of families in the county are looking for additional income. These families should consider the production of strawberries. By following recommended practice, a family should be able to make $1,000 per acre for their labor. We have many examples of families making more. At the same time there are cases where very little profit was made, this was the result of diseases, weed or poor management, not the fault of the strawberries.

Strawberries like other crops have limitations, but offer the best opportunity for farm families in Floyd county to raise their income. Practically every farm has the land, labor and machinery required for strawberry production.

Mrs. Flanery— First Woman In Legislature

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky
Historical Society

The first woman elected to the Kentucky Legislature was Mary Elliott Flanery, a member of the House of Representatives from 1922 to 1924. She has also been called "the first woman elected to any legislature south of the Mason and Dixon line."

While feminist movements were not unknown prior to the Civil War, it was in the post-war period that women gained slowly equal rights with men. What chivalric American male could, in the end, withstand the strikingly cogent argument that if former slaves were entitled to the ballot, so were women?

The leaders of the woman suffrage movement on the national scene were Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton. In Kentucky, its champions were Miss Laura Clay and Mrs. Madeline McDowell Breckinridge.

Miss Clay was elected president of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association in 1887, despite the opposition of her father, old "Cash" Clay, of White Hall, who, a few years later, predicted that women would fall like Icarus of old because the road to woman's suffrage led to atheism and to communism of the sexes.

Mrs. Breckinridge, daughter-in-law of W. C. B. Breckinridge and great granddaughter of Henry Clay, was also an indefatigable worker for woman's suffrage. Among her many friends and captains was Mrs. Flanery, an editorial writer for the ASHLAND DAILY INDEPENDENT and a prominent club woman from her section of the state.

The Nineteenth Amendment, ratified in 1920, gave women the right to vote. Kentucky held its collective breath. Who would be the first Kentucky woman elected at the polls to a state office?

No one was probably more surprised than Mrs. Flanery when she drew first blood. Running as the Democratic candidate in the Republican district of Boyd county, she ousted the Republican incumbent by 250 votes in the November, 1921, election for the State House. She served the one term, and in 1924 was a delegate from Kentucky to the Democratic National Convention.

The Louisa Methodist Church was the scene Saturday evening, December 19, of the wedding of Miss Noreta Blackburn and J. G. Gibson. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Shirley Blackburn and Mr. Claude Blackburn, both of Louisa, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gibson, of Maytown, Ky.

The Rev. Charles Perry, pastor of Mayo Memorial Church, Paintsville, Ky., and former pastor of the Louisa Methodist Church, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms, white gladiolus, white stock and an archway of white and blue carnations, flanked with branched candelabra, which furnished the illumination for the ceremony.

Mrs. Anna Mary Armstrong, organist, Mrs. L. Byron Young and Mr. William T. Hinkle, soloists, presented appropriate wedding music. Mrs. Young sang "I Love You Truly" and Mr. Hinkle sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harold Gene Blackburn, wore a white waltz length gown of French imported, hand clipped chantilly lace over bridal satin. The fitted bodice was topped with a Sabrina neckline touched with sequins and pearls, tiny self covered buttons were down the back of the waistline, the sleeves were long and ended in calla points over the hand. The very full skirt, worn over a hoop, was gathered onto the dropped waistline and ended around the bottom in wide scallops. Her veil of silk illusion was fastened to lace shell. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid, lilies of the valley and stephanotis.

Her attendants, Miss Dorothy Louise Chaffin, Mrs. Freeman Roberts and Mrs. Robert Collins, wore identical ballerina length gowns of velveteen. They were made princess style with fitted bodice with scoop neckline and short skirted sleeves. The full skirts, worn over crinolines, were designed with soft box side pleats onto a dropped waistline. They wore matching velveteen clipped hats with short face veils and their shoes were also dyed to match. The maid of honor, Miss Chaffin, wore Christmas red and carried a hand bouquet of white poinsettias, and the two matrons wore emerald green and carried hand bouquets of red poinsettias.

The "flower girl," Carolyn Patton, wore a powder blue dress with matching headpiece and corsage. She carried a basket of rose petals. George Preston served as ring bearer.

The taper lighters were Toni Harless, Sherry Stanfill, Robert Becknell and William Ray Becknell.

Mr. Amos Salisbury was best man and the ushers were Edd Preston and Dana Harless.

The bride's mother wore a street-length black velvet dress, a matching hat, elbow length gloves and a white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore a two-piece powder blue crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. The bride's table was appointed with a white cutwork linen cloth, centered with an arrangement of Anthurium lilies, Bird of Paradise, Eucalyptus, Podocarpus and Ti leaves, flanked with white tapers in silver candelabra. At one end of the table was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, and at the other end of the table was the coffee service.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. W. T. Cain, Mrs. R. L. Vinson, Mrs. Eldred Adams, Mrs. James I. Cheek, Mrs. Frances Cain, Mrs. Lawrence Prichard, Mrs. J. H. Spencer and Miss Frances Jones.

The bride is a graduate of the Louisa high school and is a junior at Morehead State College. Last year she was crowned queen of the Veterans Club at their annual festival held at the school.

The groom is a graduate of Maytown high school and will receive his degree in January at Morehead State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will return to MSC to resume their studies.

Capitol Notebook

A contribution by Arnold Hangar, formerly of Richmond and now president of a New York construction firm, made possible the purchase of a $32,000, 4,300 volume collection of medical journals for the A. B. Chandler Medical Center at Lexington.

The goal of Librarian Alfred Brandon is a library of 25,000 to 35,000 books when the first classes enroll next year at the center at the University of Kentucky. He expects the total of books to reach 100,000 books in 10 years.

He said he hopes to develop the library for use by physicians, nurses and dentists throughout the State.

LINCOLN FOLLIES

"The fact is," once said Abraham Lincoln, "I don't like to hear cut-and-dried sermons. When I hear a man preach, I like to see him act as if he were fighting bees."

Kentucky and the nation next year will be observing the 150th anniversary of Lincoln's birth at Hodgenville.

An Irishman once called at a postoffice where Lincoln was postmaster.

"What is the name?" said Lincoln. "Sure and my name is on the letter," said the Irishman.

When a boy, Lincoln had an uncle who kept a mill. Noticing the mill grinding slowly one day, Lincoln said he could eat the meal faster than the mill could grind it. "For how long?" asked the miller. "Until I starved to death," Abe replied.

MINYARD HONORED

Director Luther E. Minyard of the Kentucky Children's Service Division has been named a member of the American Public Welfare Association's committee on services to children. He was selected by Dr. Ellen Winston, president of the association. Minyard said he felt his selection was in recognition of Kentucky's "vastly expanded children's services program."

KENTUCKY BUSINESS

"We believe that the year 1958 will bring higher levels of production in the State of Kentucky. I like to think in terms of the long run and I believe that our business in Kentucky will seek and find higher levels and will increase substantially.

"There will be some 'hills and hollers' of course as there always are, but the general trend is up, as it has been for the past several years and I expect it to get into higher levels as we get our 'second wind' in the spring of 1958." — President Ernest R. Mitchell, Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

SHOOTETH NOT THY FRIENDS

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources offers hunters this commandment:

"Climb not fences with thy gun in thy hands. Put thy gun first with the muzzle pointing away from thee and all living things. Better to miss a chance at one crow than to return to thy house with guilt in thine heart and thine friend's hind leg in a basket."

NO ORBITING, PLEASE

Kids, if you're planning to launch a rocket from your backyard, pause and reflect.

The State Board of Pharmacy has advised druggists to keep a sharp eye on the sale of chemicals that might be used by youngsters to manufacture rockets.

And Fire Marshal Ray Humkey also looks upon unauthorized fireworks with disapproval, backed up by an antifireworks law.

All this is not to hamper youths with scientific bent. It's to prevent kids who haven't yet mastered the bean shooter from blowing themselves up trying to orbit the family garbage can.

Self-Employed Farmer Defined By S. S. Manager; Thompson Issues Caution

Many self-employed farmers in this area have been asking, "How long must I work under social security to qualify for benefits?" according to Thomas B. Thompson, district manager of the Pikeville social security office.

In answer to this question, Thompson stated, "A self-employed farmer reaches age 65 before April 1, 1958 can establish entitlement to benefits if he has social security credit for as little as two years during the three years, 1955, 1956, and 1957."

For those who reach retirement age or die on or after April 1, 1958, the required years of credit will vary from as little as three, to as much as ten years, depending on the individual's date of birth or date of death. The Social Security Administration has a booklet, OASI-35, which contains a table by which the requirements can be determined by any individual now, or at any given time in the future. The booklet is free for the asking.

Thompson cautioned that self-employed farmers must report and pay the self-employment tax to receive credit towards social security. The report is a part of the Federal Income Tax Return and is filed annually with the District Director of Internal Revenue. By paying his self-employment tax the farmer builds social security protection for his old age, or for his family in case of his death.

Somerset was named for the Duke of Somerset and made the seat of Pulaski county by a court order in 1801. Built on the sunny side of a sloping ridge where surrounding terrain, embraces characteristics of both knob and mountain area, Somerset is known as "The Gateway to the Mountains."

Reservists' Kin May Be Due Other Benefits

Frankfort, Feb. 17 (Spl.) — A recent decision by the Employees Compensation Appeals Board of the U. S. Labor Department will make eligible for back benefits many widows and orphans of reservists killed in service during Sept. 8, 1945-Jan. 1, 1957, Director R. R. Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board has announced.

He said those who may be eligible are beneficiaries under the Federal Employees Compensation Act.

Thomas added: It was decided in a recent appeals decision that the six-months death gratuity from the service did not constitute a bar to receipt of compensation from the date of death to the date six months after death.

Payment of compensation from the Bureau of Employees Compensation was formerly begun six months after the death of the veteran because it was held that the death gratuity constituted military pay for the six months.

Widows and orphans in the above category who may be eligible for the benefit may receive assistance from representatives of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board in filing for the benefit.

Open House Set By Guard Units

Frankfort, Feb. 17 (Spl. — All units of the Kentucky National Guard representing about 6,000 men will join in observance of "Muster Day", Feb. 22.

Kentucky units will participate with more than 6,000 National Guard and Air National outfits throughout the country in observance of this day which had its origin in colonial America.

Asst. Adj. Gen. Harlan Mitchell said all Kentuckians are invited to see special displays and attend open house in the State's armories.

Mitchell said, "One of the most important contributions we expect 'Muster Day' observance to make is a public awareness of how far the Guard has advanced during the past 300 years without changing its basic principal of voluntary military training on a part time basis.

"The Guard has demonstrated repeatedly it can keep pace with the times without losing its identity or purpose."

Climaxing the "Muster Day" observance will be dedication of the new $300,000 Kentucky National Guard Armory here, Sunday, Feb. 23. Gov. A. B. Chandler is expected to make the principal address.

Jackson's First Mayor, Knott Native, Succumbs; Burial, Hot Springs, Ark.

Lewis Hays, Jr., first elected mayor of Jackson, died Thursday, Feb. 6, at Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, where he had been critically ill for two weeks. He was 78 years old.

Mr. Hays was born in Knott county, a son of the late James and Matilda Hays. He gained prominence in Breathitt county and as a realtor and builder in Hot Springs, Arkansas. He had many relatives in this county.

In 1912 Mr. Hays was elected mayor of Jackson and served until 1920. The city say many improvements during his tenure of office and his conduct of civic affairs made such a lasting impression that he was until his death known to all Jackson residents as "Mayor".

Mr. Hays is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katherine Hays, of Jackson, three sons, Elmer, of Jackson; James, Alexandria, La., and Charles Homestead, Fla.; two daughters, Mary Louise, of Florence, Ala., and Eva Duke, of Eldorado, Ark. Six grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday, Feb. 8, at 10 a.m. at the Jackson Christian church with Rev. Dan Weaver officiating. Burial was in Memorial Gardens, Hot Springs, Arkansas.

FOOD NOTES

By DIXIE T. HIGGINS
Home Demonstration Agent

February, with its holidays, provides opportunity to serve colorful, party-like foods to family or guests. A new dessert or salad can make almost any meal seem out of the ordinary.

This dessert is flavorful, yet light in calories. Remember to consider the required calories for each family member is different. If one needs less calories, serve this dessert plain. If he needs lots of calories, serve with custard sauce. This is one way to help each maintain a healthful, desirable weight.

CHERRY WHIP

- 2 c red sour pitted cherries and juice (1 No. 303 can)
- 1 c juice
- 1/2 to 3/4 c sugar
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 3 T cold water
- 2 egg whites
- 1/8 to salt

Measure juice from cherries and add water to make 1 cup. Cook cherries, juice and sugar about 3 minutes, then drain off the juice. Soak gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot cherry juice. Chill until it begins to thicken, then beat with rotary beater until it is light and fluffy.

Beat egg whites until foamy, then add salt and continue beating until they are stiff. Fold beaten egg whites into whipped gelatin and place one-third of the mixture in a mold rinsed in cold water. Add a layer of cherries, then a layer of the whipped mixture, and continue until both are used. Chill until set.

Menu: Bake ham, sweet potatoes, buttered cabbage, celery and carrot strips, corn muffins, butter and cherry whip.

Do you eat for health or do you just eat? What you ate while you were growing or are growing does make a difference in the kind of person you are and the kind you grow into.

Eating the food the body needs may make the difference between a straight, strong, vigorous body and a crooked, scrawny lifeless one; it may make the difference between a happy, courteous person and a discontented, rude one.

It is easy to include in the daily diet the foods your body needs by using as a guide the "Basic Seven". Eat five servings of fruit and vegetables daily; one pint of milk for adults or 3 to 4 cups for children; one serving of meat or protein substitute; egg each day; three or more servings of bread; and two to three tablespoons butter or fortified margarine.

Think of the whole day's menu instead of meal to meal. This saves time and money as well as providing the well-balanced diet the wise person chooses.

The egg a day recommended could be used at breakfast, lunch or supper, or dinner. Eggs contain building material for blood, muscle, and bone, and energy producing material. These materials are needed daily by the growing boy and girl and adult.

The following dish could be used at breakfast or lunch. Serve eggs to your family sometime.

BAKED EGGS

Break the desired number of eggs into a shallow, greased baking dish or individual baking dishes; add a few tablespoons of cream; salt enough to season and sprinkle with fine, dry bread crumbs. Set this dish in a pan containing hot water. Bake at 350° F. until the eggs are set and the crumbs are brown. Just before serving, add a dash of paprika.

Lunch menu: Baked Eggs, Apple-Raisin Salad, Blueberry Muffins, Milk.

Midway, with its tree-shaded streets, old houses, and well-kept lawns and flower gardens, gives an impression of gracious living. The names refers to General Francisco's log house built here in 1795 midway between Lexington and Frankfort.

You'll find the Scotsman station wagon and sedans are actually the lowest-priced, full-sized cars you can buy. And they offer more real value, too! A drive behind the wheel will show you why. There's new riding comfort on an exclusive-design suspension system, new ease of maneuvering with responsive variable-ratio steering, new peace of mind with self-centering and self-energizing brakes!

See America's lowest-priced, full-sized cars, the Scotsman 2-door, 6-passenger sedan at $1795*, and the Scotsman 4-door sedan at only $1874*. Visit your Studebaker-Packard Dealer, today!
