This Town— That World

Oftefer and oftefer vodka is showing up in hauls made by officers during liquor raids in this county. And the consumption of vodka in the U. S. indicates that if we can't meet the Russians across the table we are determined to join them under it.

LA BELLE TURNER

To most of us "mother" is the sweetest word in the language.

You think of dirty faces and the gentle hands that scrubbed them; of skinned knees and stubbed toes, and the hands that bound up all those wounds, of the touch that seemed to take away the pain. Mention mother, and you think of sacrifice and love and self-denial and all the noblest words you have seen or heard.

And then there rises a serpent in this mental Eden of ours. A woman, for instance, like Lana Turner who has been called "mother" by a trusting child.

If you stop and restrain your instinctive repugnance to such a woman long enough, you will find room for a little pity for this so-called mother. But, thinking of your own mother, and how you remembered her in your childhood as one but a step removed from the angels, you cannot, however charitable you may be, deprecate the word, "mother," by applying it to la belle Turner.

For real mothers do not consort with known gangsters and

CITY SEEKING FEDERAL AID

Napier Names Four-Man Commission Preparing To Ask For Financing

Prestonsburg will make every effort to qualify for whatever federal financial aid that is available for municipal improvements. Mayor Bill Napier said this week following conferences last week with representatives of the Housing and Home Finance Agency (Urban Renewal Section) of the federal government and the Department of Economic Development.

He and others conferred with Gene Hinds, Atlanta, Ga., field representative of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and Gail Godsey, city planner, Division of Planning and Zoning, Kentucky Department of Economic Development, last Wednesday morning.

That night, the study of what may be done here was continued at a special City Council meeting, and Clifford B. Latta, Prestonsburg attorney, was delegated to confer this week with the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Atlanta.

Monday night, at a special Council meeting, the Prestonsburg Housing Commission was created, and Mayor Napier named four members, R. V. May, Homer Wright, Frank Heinze and Marvin Music. The commission members will elect a chairman and later employ a director to survey municipal needs and plan a program.

All this has been done to clear the way for an application which must be filed soon with the federal

MAGISTRATES SALARIES APPROVED LAST WEEK

$2,400 ANNUAL PAY TO COVER TRIAL SERVICE

Judge Stumbo's Request For Trial Judge Fails To Get Court's Action

The Floyd fiscal court last Thursday voted the county's four magistrates salaries of $2,400 a year for services in the trial of criminal cases but at the same time it failed to take any action on County Judge Henry Stumbo's request for a trial commissioner.

Judge Stumbo had pointed out that his office has been flooded with cases of every kind and an avalanche of detail since magistrates have been inactive except for fiscal court attendance after an Appellate Court ruling had prohibited them from presiding at criminal trials. This desk work has prevented him from attending to other county business, including road work, he said, and the naming of a trial commissioner was sought as a relief from some of time-consuming detail.

No motion was made for employment of a trial commissioner, however, Judge Stumbo had asked that a commissioner be employed effective July 1, under provisions of KRS 25.230, and that his salary be placed at $3,000 a year.

The magistrates' salaries were

CHILD'S DEATH 10th IN STATE

Betty Lou Prater, 5, Car Victim At Estill; Boy Is Killed In Ohio

Five-year-old Betty Lou Prater was struck and instantly killed last Saturday afternoon by an auto, near the home at Estill of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Prater, and her death was one of 10 reported on Kentucky highways over the week-end.

On the following day Hayden Thornsburg, 16, formerly of Topmost was killed at New Haven O., when a car he was driving collided with a truck.

Both died of broken necks. The Prater child was struck by an auto driven by Robert Hatcher, 20, of Estill Heights, a student at Pikeville College. It was said that the tragedy was unavoidable as the tot ran onto the highway, directly into the path of Hatcher's car. The child's death was witnessed, it was said here, by both her parents. She was running across the highway to join her father when hit.

According to the report received here, State Police deduced that Hatcher was driving at a speed of 37 miles an hour. (Such deduction was made by measuring the length of skid marks and taking into consideration the weight of the vehicle.) Right front bumper of the student's car hit the child as he cut to the left in an attempt to miss her, it was said. No formal charge was lodged against the driver.

Easter Seal Chairman Says $731.75 Collected; Mrs. Martin, Treasurer

The Easter Seal drive in Floyd county has raised $731.75 to date, George E. Evans, Jr., chairman of the local drive has announced. The campaign, which closes April 6, provides funds for care and treatment of crippled children by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children. Last year the Society gave direct service to 3,066 physically handicapped youngsters.

FUND CANVASS IS SCHEDULED

House-To-House Drive To Be Made Locally, April 22, At 6:30 P.M.

The 1958 Cancer Crusade will be highlighted locally by a house-to-house canvass for contributions from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., April 22 it was announced this week.

The canvass planned in Prestonsburg may be carried out at the same time in other communities of the county, but clubs sponsoring the cancer fund drive elsewhere may carry out their drives as they wish. Mrs. Harry Benner, of Wheelwright, president of Floyd County Chapter, American Cancer Society, died recently of the dread disease, leaving Homer Wright, of Prestonsburg, chapter vice-president, the ranking officer.

"Every home that we can possibly reach in the county will be bombarded with the life-saving facts of cancer before the end of April and the current Cancer Crusade. Leaflets will be distributed in our house-to-house canvass and the American Cancer Society information booths. We hope and believe that these leaflets will help save lives that might otherwise be needlessly lost to America's number two disease killer."

This statement was made by Mr. Wright. He continued: "Obviously we are anxious to raise our quota of the $30,000,000 national goal. But we are just as anxious to make an all-out educational effort to reach every home in Prestonsburg and Floyd county with life-saving leaflets."

COMBS IN 2 SPEECHES HITS CHANDLER REGIME

Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, who by many observers is considered the almost certain candidate for Governor of the anti-administration forces, spoke at Hazard Friday evening and at Sandy Hook Monday. Both speeches were fighting attacks on the Chandler administration.

"We are living in the most callous, cynical state administration in modern history," he told his listeners at a dinner meet at Hazard of the Perry County Democratic Women's Club. He went on to charge that the Governor's every act was motivated by a desire to reward a friend or punish an enemy.

Monday night at a meet of the Sandy Hook Rotary Club he urged a special session of the General Assembly to raise teachers' salaries. Combs, who was defeated by Gov. A. B. Chandler for the Democratic nomination in 1955, said the Governor should call the Legislature together immediately.

Combs tore into Lieut.-Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield's plan to collect two percent of state employees' wages for political purposes. He said that the current state payroll is $50,000,000 and that two percent would amount to $1,000,000. Passage of the "force account" bill will substantially increase that, he added.

The Prestonsburg attorney, in illustrating what he termed was the moral irresponsibility of the Chandler administration, pointed out at Hazard that the Governor had pledged himself to operate the state government without raising

Homemakers Elect Officers at Martin

Officers for the ensuing year for the Floyd County Homemakers Advisory Council were nominated and elected at a meeting at Martin, March 27. Heading the organization is Mrs. J. T. Spillman, president. Vice-president and secretary-treasurer are Mrs. Gladys Frazier and Mrs. Ruth DeRossette.

The Council will hold its next regular meeting June 26, Mrs. Dixie T. Higgins, home demonstration agent, announces. The organization voted at the Martin meet to hold four meets each year—in January, March, June and September.

IMPROVEMENT CASE BETTER

Senator Cooper Thinks New Flood Control Act Important To Kentucky

The case for Big Sandy river improvement may be stronger if President Eisenhower approves recently voted legislation.

Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) said Saturday that the rivers an dharbons measure (Flood Control Act of 1958), cleared for the President's signature by the Senate vote of 52 to 11 last Wednesday, "could be of great importance to Kentucky."

Senator Cooper explained that in determining whether a particular river project is "economically feasible," the Corps of Engineers has heretofore been authorized to take into consideration only flood protection, navigation benefits and power development. The low-flow provision in the new measure, however authorizes the Corps of Engineers to provide storage capacity in reservoirs sufficient to maintain a flow of water downstream which can be used for general purposes—such as municipal water supplies, anti-pollution and sewage disposal, and even industrial water.

"The significant point," said Cooper, "is that the monetary benefits that can be calculated for these uses would, under the new measure, enter into the determination by the Corps of Engineers as to whether a project is economically feasible—and meet the cost-benefit ratio established by law, as required before any proposed project can be approved."

In response to questions by Senator Cooper during floor debate on the measure, Senator Robert S. Kerr, chairman of the River and Harbors subcommittee of the Public Works committee, assured Senator Cooper that the effect of the new low-flow provision would be to make eligible for construction many river-development projects which could not be undertaken under the old formula.

Cooper said this change would be of great importance to Kentucky, "and is one of the reasons, among others, that I strongly supported the bill passed by the Congress."

JUDGE CITES RUM TRAFFIC

Hill Tells Grand Jury Liquor Biggest Problem; Court Term Under Way

"The biggest job we have to do is to stop this liquor traffic," Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill told the grand jury as the April term of the Floyd circuit court convened Monday morning.

Special emphasis was placed on this problem by the judge in a review of Floyd crime. In the next two days, however, it was found necessary to dismiss several liquor possession indictments because of defective affidavits made in procuring search warrants.

In a general discussion of the law and its purpose, Judge Hill told the jury that laws are based on the principle of conservation and are designed to conserve or save lives, homes, property and even natural resources.

"We ought to try saving in our national government," he remarked, pointing out that the nation's debt continues to mount, that inflation continues and makes existence difficult for persons, particularly the aged, who are on fixed incomes.

Willie Music, of Little Paint, was named foreman of the grand jury. Three persons entered pleas of guilty and each was given a one-year term on the opening day of court. Those convicted were Violet Newsome and Green Hall, accused of breaking and entering, and Greenberry (Green) Hall, who

OPERATION ON RIVER, FINANCE BESET GROUP

The weary, disheartening search and probe of the Big Sandy river being made by the Kentucky National Guard and civilian volunteers to find the bodies of the seven children still unrecovered after the tragedy of Feb. 28 received new impetus Tuesday when Anna Laura Goble, 9, of Emma, was found here.

Previous to that the Prestonsburg Schoolchildren Recovery committee had occupied itself with assisting Graham Burchett, civilian operations director, with supplies and trying at the same time to wrestle with the top problem of finance.

The Recovery committee, formally organized into a corporate body, Thursday of last week sent a delegation headed by V. O.

Turner, chairman, to consult with Gov. A. B. Chandler on the operations problems. Result of the Frankfort conference was an increase in the number of National Guardsmen here from 34 to 70. Chandler told James B. Goble, one of the delegation: "Anything you want you can get." One thing requested was stationing the Guard here until the operation was over. The Governor pledged that under no circumstances, except by consent of the Recovery committee, would guardsmen be withdrawn.

One problem of Burchett's on the river has been inadequate number of outboard motors and the Recovery committee sent telegrams to manufacturers requesting the donation of one or more motors. In the meantime the Coast Guard at St. Louis, Mo., was contacted by county Attorney Robert S. Wellman and that organization shipped 20 immediately. Manufacturers shipped as requested in the telegram, ten outboards through their local dealers or if no local dealer was here, direct.

Burchett has been consistently seeking volunteers to man the bridges at night as watchmen. At the beginning of the week not enough men were available for

Merge in Opposition To Rates Charged

Consolidation of two groups organized to fight "excessive" gas rates was planned at the meeting of Garrett, Bosco, Wayland and Estill consumers with those of Allen and Dwale at Allen, Wednesday night.

The organization will be known as the Floyd County Consumers Association, and a public meeting will be held at the Wayland theatre at 7 p.m., Friday, it was announced.

The meetings are a continuation of organized opposition to charges for fuel made by the Floyd County Water & Gas System.

Council Hears Residents Of Lancer On Proposals; Federal Funds Available

The Prestonsburg City Council approved Mayor Bill Napier's appointment of a Housing Committee of four Monday night to make preliminary studies in connection with federal-sponsored urban development for disaster areas.

Those appointed were R. V. May, Homer Wright, Marvin Music and Frank Heinze whose studies of the impending project may make federal funds available to Prestonsburg.

It was said that two-thirds of the funds required for the project will be furnished by the government, including a $15,000 planning fund. The $15,000 will be donated to Prestonsburg without strings attached, even if the city decides the project is unfeasible, said Frank Heinze, a member of the Commission.

RIVER YIELDS BODIES HERE, NEAR AUXIER

Quest for Five Victims Yet Missing Continues; Finders Are Paid $2,000

A second body, recovered from the river at 7 a.m. Wednesday at Auxier, was identified as that of Katie Carol Jarrell, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jarrell, of Sugar Leaf. Discovery of the body was made by Richard McKenzie, a miner, and his son, William, approximately one-fourth mile below the Auxier bridge.

The first heartening break in the long and fruitless search for the bodies of seven schoolchildren missing in the Big Sandy river since the Feb. 28 school bus tragedy near Lancer came shortly before noon Tuesday when the body of nine-year-old Anna Laura Goble was recovered here.

Hers was the first body found in 34 days of searching since the finding on March 5 of Joyce McPeck.

The body was removed from the river at a point almost directly to the rear of the home here of her uncle, William O. Gobel. Anna Laura was one of the three children of James B. and Virginia Spears Goble, of Emma, who were lost in the tragedy.

Yet sought is the body of her brother, James Edward, 12, and five others who were among the 27 lost when the school bus plunged into the swollen river; Paulette Cline, 9; Montaine Jervis, 15; James L. Meade, Jr., 9; Katie Carol Jarrell, 13, and Doris Faye Burchett, 15.

Half-Million Forest Tree Seedlings Delivered Here

The Kentucky Division of Forestry delivered 509,400 tree seedlings here Friday for planting by Floyd county landowners. In addition to this, the Division, in cooperation with the Division of State Parks, is setting out 300,000 seedlings in the Dewey Lake area.

This is by far the greatest number of forest seedlings ever planted by any county in this area. Unofficial estimates of tree seedlings set in this county in this and previous years approximately 1,250,000, it was said. Gene Butcher, of the Division of Forestry, recently commented on the number of tree seedlings Floyd county was planting and remarked that the increase was "unbelievable."

One factor noted by L. R. Johnson, soil conservationist, that is giving impetus to reforestation in this county is the prevention of woodland fires. Landowners do not take too great a risk at the present by investing in tree seedlings, he added.

The kind and varieties of trees ordered by Floyd county landowners for planting this year follow:

Shortleaf pine, 311,800; white pine, 45,000; locust, 102,000; walnut, 21,500; poplar, 14,000; Scotch pine, 5,3000; Chinese chestnut, 2,000; white oak, 5,000; and loblolly pine, 1,900.

Tree setting tools were furnished the landowners by the Floyd County Soil Conservation District.

Library Consultant In P'burg Thursday

Miss Evelyn Mullen, U. S. Office of Education Library consultant to southern states, will be here this morning (Thursday) to inspect the Eastern Kentucky Regional Library headquarters in the high school building.

Miss Mullen will be accompanied by Kentucky Library Extension Division officials at the pre-opening visit. She hopes to meet county officials, townspeople from all Floyd county communities and the other four counties participating in the regional library.

Most of the work to ready the library for an early official opening has been completed. Many visitors have been very favorably impressed with the appearance of the library and its facilities.

REPORT SAYS ECONOMY OF AREA NEEDS HELP

"Just as we seek to aid underprivileged areas in other parts of the world we must render assistance to the areas in our own country which are in need of a more diversified economic base," was one of the recommended actions made by the recently released study of the labor market and unemployment made by the Area Employment Expansion committee with headquarters in New York.

The report, called a "fact sheet," detailed the economic doldrums certain parts of the country has succumbed to, including Kentucky. Six of the nine areas that had chronic unemployment problems in Kentucky were in the eastern part of the state.

"The solution of the problem... requires a broad attack on all factors which have held up economic development," the study of depressed areas said. "These causes transcend the ability or competence of local and state authorities," it added.

The nine depressed Kentucky areas listed are Prestonsburg-Faintsville-Williamson (W. Va.), Morehead-Rayson, Middlesboro-Harlan, Hazard, Corbin, Frankfort, Owensboro, and Madisonville. Kentucky had 12.5 per cent of its job-insured workers unemployed in mid-March, but the figures for the eastern part of the state were much higher, with the Pikeville-Williamson area leading.

The Area Unemployment Expansion committee is financed mainly by labor—originally by the old C. I. O. and now by the combined A. F. L.-C. I. O. Its chairman is Prantiss M. Brown, former senator from Michigan and former director of the Price Administration.

The aim of the study, and of others like it for other sections of the country, is to point up the need for federal help and development in economically distressed areas.

Specifically, the A.E.E.C. hopes for passage of a distressed-areas bill passed before Congress last year by Senator Douglas, (D., Ill.).

Somewhat similar bills have been introduced in the House by Kentucky Democrats Brent Spence, Port Thomas, and Carl D. Perkins, Hindman.

The Douglas bill passed the Senate in 1957, but did not get before the House for a vote. It is expected to come up again this year, perhaps after hearings on unemployment.

Henry Jennings, 45, Dies Of Heart Attack, Mar. 27; Burial Made At Meally

Henry Jennings, 45, of West Van Lear, died March 27 of a heart attack at Evanston, Ky., where he was employed as a miner. He was a brother of Charlie Jennings, of Drift.

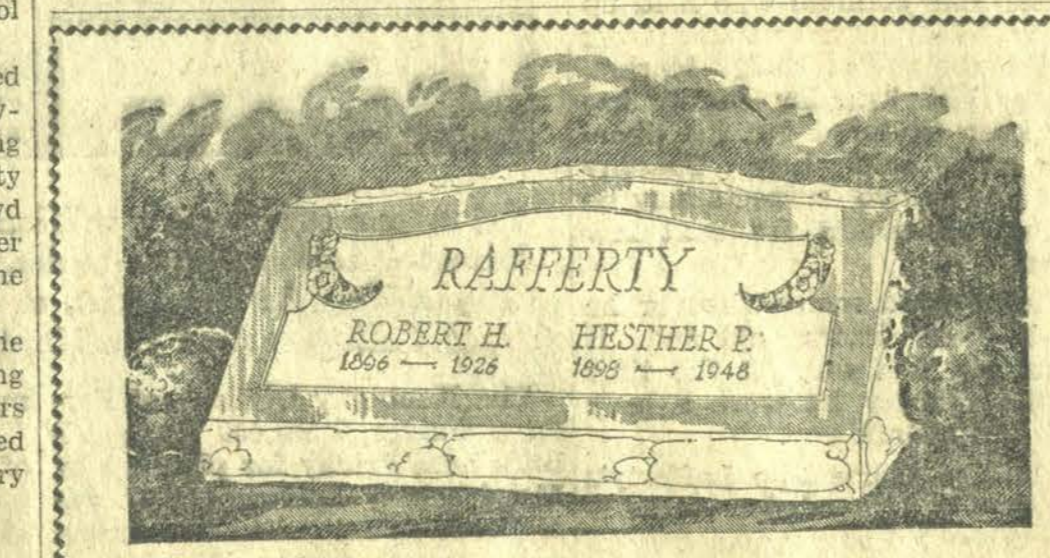

The son of Kanawah and Cora Preston Jennings, he was born at Van Lear November 15, 1913, and had been a resident of West Van Lear for four years. He was a member of the United Mine Workers of America.

Survivors include his widow, Marie Blanton Jennings, four sons, Kenneth Ray, Bennie Lee, Jimmie, Michael, all at home; three daughters, Bonita and Judy Ann Jennings at home; Mrs. Bernice Lyons, Wittenville. Also surviving besides Charlie Jennings are the following: brothers and sisters, Lafe Jennings, Wellston, Ohio; Ossie Jennings of Paintsville; Press Jennings, Van Lear; Frank Wetzel, Wellington, Ohio; Mrs. Virginia Daniel, Tomatev; Mrs. Blinnie Whitaker, Ohio. Funeral services were conducted at 11:00 a.m., Sunday, March 30, from the United Baptist Church at Buffalo with Leonard Walters, Kim Sturgill and Elzie Banks as officiating ministers. Members of Local Union 9906 of Evanston acted as pallbearers.

Burial was in the family cemetery at Meally.

Spring Conference Of Parents, Teachers Slated At Ashland

The spring conference of the Ninth district, Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be held April 17 at Enterprise Baptist Church, Westwood, near Ashland, with the Fairview, Pine Acres and Millseat Parent-Teacher Associations as conference hosts and the district president, Mrs. Jack Picklesimer, of Pikeville, presiding.

"Educating for Fitness," will be the topic for the program, with Richard Lee Gentry, Frankfort, supervisor of Health, Safety and Physical Education, State Department of Education, speaking on "Educating for Physical Fitness," and Mrs. Robert Martin, of Martin, chairman of the Exceptional Child committee of the Ninth district, Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, and members of the district's board of managers, speaking on "The Retarded Child."

Special music for the program will be presented by the Ashland PTA Council and the Paintsville Parent-Teacher Association's Mothersingers. Highlighting the business session will be the election of a district recording secretary and treasurer, presentation of state life memberships and district achievement awards, reports of unit presidents, and presentation of the Gold Leaf Seal membership awards of the Kentucky Congress.

Registration is scheduled to open at 9:30 a.m., with the opening session to convene at 10:30 in the church auditorium. A pre-conference of the district board of managers will be held at 10 o'clock. Luncheon will be served by the Fairview unit.

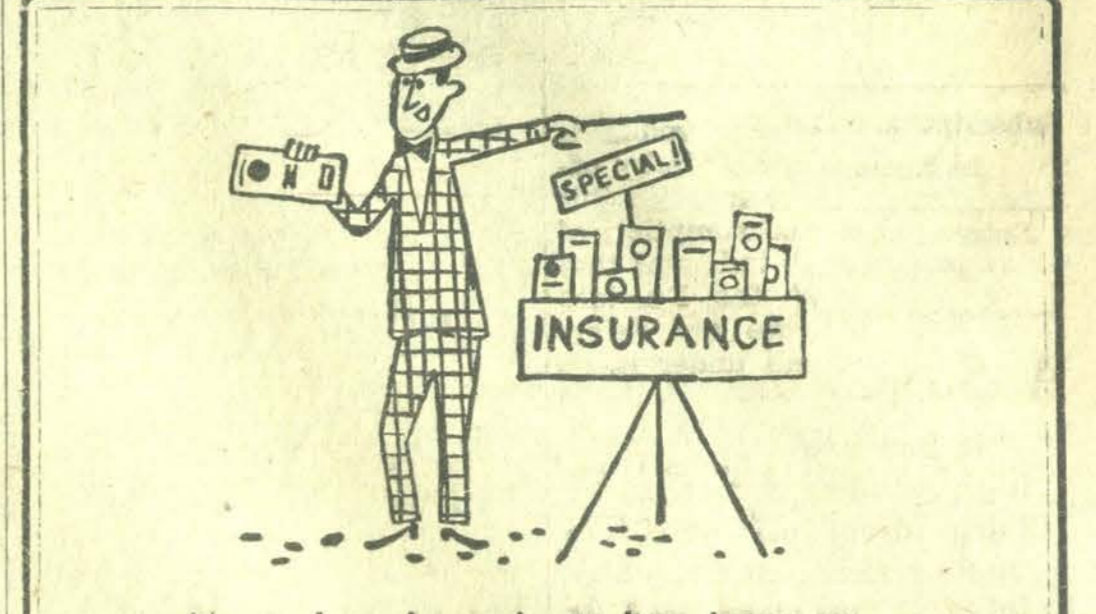

Members of the district board of managers from Floyd county are Mrs. Fred Francis, Prestonsburg, chairman of the district Legislative committee, Miss Blanche Dingus, Floyd county extension chairman, and Mrs. Martin.

Floyd County Parent-Teacher Associations receiving the conference call are Allen, David, Prestonsburg and Wheelwright.

A Suggestion We Like

It has been suggested to The Times that the new high school gymnasium here be named "The Prestonsburg Memorial Fieldhouse" and that the idea of a memorial be carried out in such a way as to hold the interest and respect of all Floyd county.

With the name would go the installation of a plaque or plaques memorializing those who have died in Floyd tragedies that have touched the hearts of so many thousands. These would bear the names, for instance, of the twenty-seven who lost their lives in the recent school bus disaster, the names of Don Reatherford and Woody Salyers, two of the school's athletes who lost their lives in crushing tragedy, and perhaps the names of the county's war dead.

We add that the photographs of those who died in the bus tragedy might be an appropriate and unforgettable addition to the structure, finest and largest of its kind in Eastern Kentucky. We suggest this because of the wide and continuing interest in editions of this newspaper which contained these pictures.

For the suggestion of a memorial we are indebted. We hope that the public and school authorities will find it equally acceptable.

The memorializing of the children and young men would have a permanency and an appropriateness that would draw Floyd county closer together with the strong ties drawn by tragedy which leaves none of us unscarred, and God knows Floyd county needs more of togetherness.

That done, Memorial Fieldhouse would be more than just another name. It would have real meaning for us all.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE SHEPHERD CARES FOR HIS FLOCK

Christ, the Great Shepherd, cares for His sheep and He gathers the lambs in His arms.

The little children are His lambs. Our Great Master told His disciples concerning little children, "Forbid them not to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." The ones who lost their lives in the school bus were all His little lambs and I want the parents of these dear children to see the picture that I am going to let you see.

A man was leading a large flock of sheep to a better pasture. He came to a broad river. The sheep did not want to cross the river to the other side, so he fell on this plan: He gathered up in his arms two little lambs and carried them across the river and set them down on the hillside, in the green pasture. Then the little lambs began to cry and bleat to the mother sheep across the river, and then they were when the mother answered the baby lambs, raising their heads, and all the sheep went across the river to the little lambs.

May I say to all the fathers and mothers of all these babies—and babies they were to their father and mother hearts: All of them are only across the river where Jesus is. Won't you now call out to them and to Jesus, "I am by and by coming to you?"

May God help you to go all the way and never turn aside.

I have always wanted to write you and congratulate you and your staff for the fine work you do at the Floyd County Times. To me it's a wonderful newspaper. When I get my two papers on Friday I always save the Floyd County Times and read it last—sort of like you would have your dessert for supper.

I read every article I could find after the terrible tragedy of our school children, and I think Henry P. Scalf was the best, so down to earth, because I'm sure his heart was in what he wrote.

And you, your editorials are the best of all. I think I told you son Quentin once how much I enjoyed anything you wrote, and that I was sure you could have written for any newspaper, but thank you for staying in Floyd county and being our editor. And Quentin Allen reports everything well. I am sorry he doesn't stay there and write the sports, because I think we need him.

Editor's Note: The Times appreciates all such expressions of friendships and goodwill. We must in publishing these letters admit that we do not always please either our readers or ourselves.

WE APPRECIATE SUCH APPRECIATION

I noted with much pleasure your use of my recent editorial in the past weeks issue of The Floyd County Times. It gave me a feeling of personal satisfaction to see my humble editorial published in The Times, as I have long held that your newspaper is the leading weekly in this or any other state.

I only recently began receiving The Times (on an exchange basis), but I have read copies from time to time since the late 1940's, and have always considered it Kentucky's leading weekly.

As a newspaperman of some twelve years experience I find it difficult to see just how you provide your readers with such minute and complete coverage of happenings within your county . . . and then to find time to develop such an interesting and colorful column as "This Town, That World." It's absolutely fantastic!

While I'm at it, I would also like to convey my professional respects to you upon the coverage of the recent tragedy in your newspaper. I cannot recall having ever read such complete coverage of any event. It was a truly professional job of which you should be proud.

I hope that you and I, through the columns of the newspapers we represent, are soon able to provide our citizens with new courthouses . . . ours is a wreck.

Cordially,
DAVID G. COLLIER,

Times.

I have just seen a copy of your paper for March 6, featuring the tragic accident that took the lives of 28 school pupils and the bus driver.

I know that it shocked you—as it did the entire nation. This was the big story for several days.

As a long time editor and publisher of a "smaller city" daily I know how local tragedies can throw a pall over the entire community, and how difficult it is for one to write about that tragedy.

I want to congratulate you on the way you handled this story. Surely even the larger dailies in your state could have colored it no better than you did.

I especially want to congratulate you on your front page column "This Town—That World", and your lead editorial.

QUESTIONS ACTION OF DEMOCRATIC WOMEN

We read in last week's Floyd County Times that an organization which is called the Democratic Women's Club of Floyd County held a hastily called meeting to elect officers for another year. Democratic voters would like to know more about this group. For instance: How many members were present at this election? What are the conditions for membership in this club, and who notifies members when an election is held? Are the elections of this organization always held without advance public notice? In short, how un-Democratic can a Democratic Woman's Club get?

MRS. LON C. HILL

MONEY FOR EVERYBODY

When there is a great amount of money in circulation there is no stagnation of the economy. This is called inflation. Everyone seems to get along well—business is booming, and there is plenty of work for everyone who wants to work. When conditions are like this there is also less crime, far less juvenile delinquency, and on the whole the nation prospers and progresses to a more unified and happier mood. In the past we have had occasion to witness many of these booms. They were always of a temporary nature, and the nation had to contend with the deflationary aftermath. This is an economic hangover, the instigator of trouble, crime, and much suffering.

It was back in 1933, I think, that Francis E. Townsend proposed a plan which, if enacted, would permanently solve these boom and burst upheavals. The plan advocates retirement at the age of 60, and everyone to draw $200 a month financed by a federal sales tax. The only condition is that each pensioner is required to spend $200 every month.

Many people think this plan would usher in a permanent and utopian social and economic existence.

GLENN M. CLARKE.

WE HAVE AN ALLY

"The War with A Hymn Society" means exactly what it says. I'm with you all the way.

I wonder if the American Hymn Society could tell us how long a hymn has to be sung before it becomes a standard hymn. I can almost feel sure when I say that "The Old Rugged Cross" and "In The Garden" are two of the oldest hymns and most frequently used in the churches throughout America today. Those few from the American Hymn Society need to attend church more regularly.

Thanks for a fine column.

near the other car Joseph, with James R. Lucas as a passenger dashed away with Lafferty in pursuit. The chase wound through Prestonsburg streets, across the upper bridge here to Town Branch and Bull Creek and down the Lower Bull Creek road where the auto was found wrecked.

Joseph and Lucas had taken to the hillside before Chief Lafferty arrived and two shots failed to halt them. Lafferty said he found where they had broken some whiskey they carried in a paper sack but that two half-pints were found unbroken.

A search of the wrecked car resulted in the confiscation of 17 half-pints of whiskey, two half-pints of gin and four half-pints of vodka.

The chief of police said the auto barely missed running down several persons during the chase.

Joseph and Lucas later surrendered. Chief Lafferty appeared before the grand jury Monday. He said the auto they occupied was registered in the name of R. E. Layne, of Betsy Layne, but that Hughes later admitted the car was his and that he had merely failed to have the proper transfer of ownership made.

Jailed during the week by Deputy Sheriff Bill Hall and State Detective Chester D. Potter were Buddy Huffman, accused of possessing moonshine whiskey, and Freddy Castle, who was booked on a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

voted on the basis of a recent act enacted by the General Assembly authorizing them to serve in the role of criminal case trial judges. Their salaries will be payable at the rate of $200 a month, and all fines and costs collected by them will be reported to the circuit court for distribution to state and county.

The new legislation voted by the General Assembly was intended to relieve the situation created by the Court of Appeals decision holding that magistrates as fee-paid officials may not preside in criminal trials. The court's mandate became effective with the terms of the present magistrates.

Some question as to the constitutionality of the creation of salaries for such services remains, however, since the state Constitution specifies that a fiscal court may not raise the pay of county officials during their terms of office. On the other hand, it is argued, new duties have been created for the magistrates by act of the Legislature, and they are entitled to pay for performing them.

Similar action has been taken by other fiscal courts in various sections of Kentucky. At the request of Sheriff Hershell Warrens the court designated the First National Bank and the First Guaranty Bank of Martin depositories for any money collected by him during his term of office.

The court authorized County Judge Stumbo to go to Atlanta, Ga., this week at county expense for a conference with the Community Facilities Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The court approved a contract entered into between Sheriff Warrens and Herman V. Harmon providing for maintenance by Harmon of the 75-watt radio base transmitting station in the Sheriff's office here and of remote mobile units (in cars) not to exceed six. Harmon will be paid $100 a month for his services.

agency in order to qualify for possible financial assistance.

Discussed to date has been a project which envisions the clearing of buildings which were flooded last year in the area extending from Court street traffic light south to the Southern Bell Telephone Company office, and from the traffic light east on Court street to Third avenue on the courthouse side of the street. A huge parking area and city park and possible construction of a new courthouse in a new location near the present site are embraced in the early planning.

Urban Renewal would bear two-thirds the cost of such a program, and its funds may be applied to purchase of present buildings and their sites, cost of tearing down existing structures, construction of sidewalks and street and also the cost of planning the project.

If Prestonsburg's application for urban renewal is accepted, as much as $15,000 for planning and architectural designing will be available without obligation on the part of the city.

Growth of services and increased cost of hospital and clinic care offered by the Society make it doubly important that Floyd county contributions exceed those of last year, Evans said.

Money contributed so far in Floyd county would provide 61 days of hospital care for local crippled children, according to present hospital rates.

"Our contributions could also be used to buy 146 pairs of crutches, 73 audiological tests, 73 pairs of special shoes, or 29 days of complete therapy and care at a rehabilitation center," the chairman said.

Contributions locally should be sent to Mrs. Elizabeth R. Martin, treasurer Floyd County Crippled Children Committee, Wayland, Kentucky.

When Distance Is Always Tempting!

Take a new Cadillac—point its hood toward some distant destination—and watch what happens!

We would be willing to wager that day's end would find you far closer to journey's end than you could ever have imagined!

We say this because we know how wonderful the miles are when they pass beneath the wheels of a new Cadillac—and how tempting distance is when seen through the windshield of the "car of cars".

First of all, imagine how comfortable and rested you would be! The seat-cushions are soft and deep and perfectly contoured. The steering wheel is ideally positioned . . . and the car is wonderfully spacious.

Then consider how easy the car is to handle! It is incredibly agile and responsive—and wonderfully smooth and level of ride. In fact, if you have selected the extra-cost option of Cadillac's air suspension, you can scarcely detect the presence of the road.

And think of your pride and contentment! The very knowledge that your motor car is so highly admired and so widely respected adds its own reward to each and every mile.

You ought to try it soon. Your dealer will be happy to explain the virtues of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and to give you the facts on every model, including the exclusive Eldorado Brougham.

RULE CHANGE

The Kentucky High School Athletic Association at its annual meeting in Louisville Thursday afternoon will consider at least one rule that may greatly affect the status of next season's basketball and football play. The big question before the 64 delegates (one from each basketball district in the state) is: Rule a player ineligible on his 19th birthday, with the following exceptions: (1) If a student becomes 19 on or after September 1, he is eligible to compete in football for the remainder of that season; and (2) if a student becomes 19 on or after December 1, he is eligible to compete in all sports for the remainder of that school year.

Presently in all Kentucky high school sports a player is eligible until he reaches his 20th birthday.

Denzil Halbert, Martin high school basketball and baseball coach and delegate from the 58th district (Floyd county), will vote against the new age proposal.

EAST-WEST COACHES

The Senior Scouts of Explorer Post No. 1, sponsors of the annual East-West all-star basketball series, have announced that the coaches for the squads will convene in Pikeville, June 1. The first game of this year's series will be played in Hazard, June 3, at Paintsville, June 5, and in Pikeville, June 7. Letcher Norton, Kentucky's high school Coach of the Year and pilot of Clark County's cage forces, will tutor the West, and Pikeville high mentor, John Bill Trivette, will coach the East squad for the eighth consecutive year.

GOLFING DATES

BIG—BUT NOT THAT BIG

This bass caught by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill wasn't really as big as a trick of photography makes it appear, but it was the largest to be taken on hook and line from Dewey Lake. The bass weighed eight pounds and was caught, Tuesday of last week.

L. G. Mayo, of Auxier, landed a whopper only a quarter-pound smaller, about two weeks earlier, and Don Cook, of Topmost, brought in a string of five last week that weighed a reported 17 pounds.

BLACK CATS WIN OPENER 3-0, COOLEY PITCHES NO-HITTER

A youngster pitching his very first game came through with flying colors Tuesday at West Liberty when the Prestonsburg Black Cats scored their first victory of the season over the Morgan Counties, 3 to 0.

Arnold Cooley made up for his greenness in flinging a no-hit, no-run game while striking out 12 batters in the seven-inning fray.

Cooley is one of the pitching prospects Coach Don Sullivan and Jack Frost Wells have developed into pitching strength this season in an effort to bring Black Cat hurlers up to par.

Coach Merle Nichols, of Morgan county started his ace, Johnston, who allowed the heavy-hitting Cats only six hits.

Wayne Dixon, veteran Black Cat catcher, had two hits in three tries, including a triple. Charles Dotson, outfielder collected two hits in four attempts.

Due to inclement weather, the Cats had not been able to practice outdoors and the Morgan County game was the first time the Cats had been on a field.

Three Opponents Pick Butcher of Pikeville

John Lee Butcher, the five-foot-ten southpaw guard at Pikeville College who finished his basketball career last month as high scorer in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, has been named to at least three all-opponent teams.

The only unanimous selection of players and coaches at Georgia Teachers College, he placed on the first teams of Stetson University and Rio Grande College. Playing all three games on the opponents' courts, Butcher averaged 41 points per contest against the three schools. His highest production of the year was the 48 points he notched against the Stetson Hat'ers Dec. 9, 1957, as Pikeville fell, 103-99.

MOUNTAIN BASEBALL TO START APRIL 27

The Mountain Valley Baseball League, which is composed of six teams from Eastern Kentucky towns, will officially open its 1958 schedule on April 27.

The opening day schedule will find Pikeville traveling to Paintsville, Prestonsburg to neighboring Drift, and Neon playing at Shelby.

Each team of this new and well-organized league will play a 38-game schedule. Each team is scheduled to play at least two games every week, one game to be played on Saturday and a game on Sunday. Some weeks call for 3 games, with a single game and doubleheader scheduled.

The regular season of the loop will end August 17. The regular season play will be followed with a Shaughnessy System playoff series beginning August 23.

A few teams in the league have indicated that they will play their Saturday scheduled games on Thursday or Friday nights. The teams expected to play night baseball are Pikeville-Drift and Neon. Paintsville, Prestonsburg and Shelby do not have lights and will have to play their home games on Saturday at 8 o'clock. Night games will start at 8 o'clock, with Sunday single games starting at 2:30. All daytime doubleheaders will start at 1 p.m., and night doubleheaders at 5:30 p.m.

League rules provide that each player must be in full uniform before being permitted on the playing field. The manager of a team will not be permitted to coach on the base lines without being in uniform. Only the scorer, batboy and manager will be permitted to sit in the dugouts with the players in uniform.

League representatives adopted the MacGregor 97 as their official ball for 1958. No other ball can be used in league games.

Each team will be permitted to carry 25 players on its roster. Each player must be signed to a League contract and placed on the team roster five days before he will be eligible to compete in league play. The league is under sanction of the National Baseball Congress.

The forfeit fee of the league is $50.00.

Umpiring will be done by League-approved and appointed men in blue. Umpires for all league games will be assigned out of the league office in Prestonsburg. No umpire will be permitted to call any game involving his home town. The umpires will be paid officials.

Mayor Bill Napier, of Prestonsburg, is president of the new loop. M. D. Bailey, of Pikeville, is vice-president; Don L. Sullivan, Prestonsburg, secretary-treasurer, and the board of directors is composed of B. Alvin Reed, Dan Knauz, W. E. Butcher and R. F. Coleman.

There apparently will be a tight grain-storage problem the remainder of 1958, due to large carryover of seven major grain and related commodity stocks.

There will be three trophies presented—one each for the winner, the runner-up and the consolation trophy.

The League this year is composed of the Dvale Baptist Mission, the First Baptist Church, Allen; The Presbyterian Church, Prestonsburg; the Methodist Church, Martin; the David Baptist Chapel, David; and the First Baptist Church, Martin.

The teams have been playing since January 21. Games have been played in the school gyms at David, Martin and Prestonsburg.

League rules provide that:

- Boys must attend at least one church service a week (church for which boy plays).
 - Boys must attend church service week before each game he is to play.
 - The player must not play high school ball (including second team).
 - Each team must present a roster of the team before the tournament.
 - A second team is to be composed of junior age boys (9-12) who do not play on the church teams.
 - Boys must be in school, ages, 13-17.
 - To play in the tournament boys must have played at least three games for the church for which he plays.
- There is no tournament charge, and the public is invited to attend these games.

Tennessee Ernie Ford tells you why
"FORD STATION WAGON LIVIN' IS THE LIFE!"

See the Ford Show on NBC-TV

You can have Thunderbird V-8 GO, up to 300 mighty horsepower, in any Ford wagon you choose. Or select the thrifty Mileage Maker Six.
Or make yours the 2-door Ranch Wagon. With all of its advanced styling it's still the lowest-priced* wagon you'll find in the low-price three.
To make an impressive arrival, choose the Del Rio Ranch Wagon. This 2-door wagon has a high-style air that will gather envious glances wherever you drive.

"THIS 4-DOOR RANCH WAGON HANDLES AS EASY AS A TENNESSEE WALKIN' HORSE... RIDES QUIET AS A SWEETHEART'S WHISPER!"

"ROOM FOR TEN LITTLE INDIANS OR NINE BIG CHIEFS IN THE COUNTRY SEDAN!"

Nine fit fine into this handsome 4-door wagon. And its equally big brother, the Country Squire, features mahogany-like side paneling... a Ford styling exclusive!
There's nearly nine feet of level floor space in the 6-passenger Country Sedan. And its wrap-around liftgate operates with one hand!
Ford sets the pace in wagon styling... outsells its nearest competitor nearly 50%. And Ford wagons are the lowest priced* of the low-price three.

Court Affirms Finding That WSAZ-TV Labeled Former Floyd-Co' Man

The U. S. Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit, Monday affirmed a lower-court finding that Gerald Lyons, 51, and Calvin Gearheart, 33, Boyd county, circuit court clerk, and county attorney, respectively, had been libeled by radio station WSAZ, Huntington, W. Va.

U. S. District Judge Mac Swinford March 5, 1957, awarded Gearheart and Lyons $5,000 each. They contended they were libeled on three successive days.

Attorneys for the radio station claimed in the appeal there was a question whether its broadcasts in Kentucky constituted doing business in that state.

The high court Monday held that the station "through telecasting had substantial ties and relations with the Commonwealth of Kentucky and its activities within that state created obligations therein."

Boyd County Attorney Gearheart is a native of Hueysville, this county, and is a son of Fred Gearheart. He is now serving his second term in the Boyd office.

DRIFT

DRIFT HOME MAKERS MEET

The Drift Homemakers Club held its March meeting on the 27th in the home of Mrs. Isabel Reed at Drift. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Peg Hewlett. The devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Jane Suspan. Ten members answered the roll call, each telling about a new flower she intends to plant this spring. The minutes of the February meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Hewlett reported on the meeting of the presidents of the Floyd County Homemakers Clubs which was held in Martin on March 27. Mrs. Gladys Ward gave the landscape report on "shrubbery." Mrs. Jane Schneider and Mrs. Gladys Ward were project leaders for this month and they assisted the home agent, Mrs. Dixie Higgins in showing how to cover hats.

Members present were: Elizabeth Burton, Alvis Hall, Peg Hewlett, Anna Hoffman, Shirley Jones, and Isabell Reed, Ruth Reed, Jane Schneider, Jane Zuspan, Gladys Ward.

The April meeting will be held on the 24th at the home of Mrs. Peg Hewlett. The lesson will be on trimming hats. At this meeting each member is to answer the roll call with a household hint.

INLAND STEEL IN 28th YEAR

Top Management Night With Block As Speaker Is Observance Feature

April 1 marked the 28th anniversary of the operation of the mines at Wheelwright under Inland Steel Company ownership, and the date was observed as Top Management Night with Inland's senior vice-president in charge of raw materials, F. D. Block, Jr., as the speaker.

Mr. Block had watched the growth of Inland and particularly the Wheelwright operation since his first visit in 1931. He recalled the conditions he found on that visit and compared them to the modern town of today. Since 1931, Inland has spent over $17,000,000 dollars in developing the Wheelwright property into the most modern design. Advanced mining methods and a spirit of loyalty belonging to employees of all levels, Mr. Block pointed out, have been responsible for the success of the operation.

"Good labor-management relations and understanding," Mr. Block said, "coupled with community and civic pride, have made Wheelwright citizens an integrated part of the Eastern Kentucky economy."

The future of Wheelwright is as bright as it was 28 years ago. Mr. Block assured the 122 management men present. Inland is a "growth company in a growth industry, in a growth country." This operation of the mines has a great impact on the economy of the entire section of Eastern Kentucky.

Mr. Block's recipe for continued successful operation of the Inland plant's was economy, good management, continued efforts by both labor and management in a common endeavor to produce the best coal at the lowest cost. He detailed the huge expansion program of Inland at the Chicago plants, subsidiary companies and ore mines, resulting in the provision of necessary raw materials for the future operation and expansion of existing capacity. Inland now ranks eighth in the steel industry with a current production of 69% of capacity as compared to 52% for the industry in the first quarter of 1958.

The Inland Foreman's Club, with a membership of 122, is affiliated with the National Management Association, a 76-thousand member group dedicated to raise the level of supervision and promote management as a profession.

JAYCEES HERE CENSURE BILL

Say Senate Legislation Might Destroy Operation Of Region's Small Mines

Frank Heinze, president of the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced this week that the Jaycee organization has unanimously approved a resolution condemning Senate Bill 3290. The Jaycees declared that the bill "seeks to destroy or substantially injure the economic stability of such mines, creating further unemployment and further depressing the economic plight of this area."

The resolution was read at the B & W-Restaurant Monday at 6:30, and is as follows:

"WHEREAS, the coal industry in Eastern Kentucky is in a critical condition economically, and most of the people of Eastern Kentucky are dependent upon that industry for their livelihood, and

"WHEREAS, a very substantial portion of the coal industry of Kentucky is composed of small mines, employing less than 15 men, and

"WHEREAS, Senate Bill 3290 seeks to extend Federal control to such small mines, thereby creating additional investment and operating expenses calculated to destroy or substantially injure the economic stability of such mines creating further unemployment and further depressing the economic plight of this area, and

"WHEREAS, small mines in this area have a safety record comparing favorably with the larger mines, and the supervision of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals is adequate,

"NOW THEREFORE, be it resolved by the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce that the Club go on record as opposing S3290 as being contrary to the interests of the people of Eastern Kentucky, and that the Secretary make this fact known by mailing a copy of this resolution to Senator John Sherman Cooper."

this duty. Protection against the weather has been provided by the maintenance department of the school system. In addition, the personnel of the maintenance department have been assigned to Burchett's group for other duties.

James B. Goble, father of Anna Laura and John Spencer Goble who have been recovered and James Edward Goble who is still in the river, issued a strong appeal this week for donations to assist the Recovery group. He is a member and treasurer of the organization.

"One of my children and five of my neighbors' children are still unrecovered," he said. "We need money desperately and although we've had many recent fund drives in this county I'm sure our people will not fail us. Any contribution, large or small will be welcomed." He added that donations could be mailed to him as treasurer of the Recovery Committee at Prestonsburg.

Burchett, in his appeal for volunteers to man the bridges at night, said that he could be telephoned at 2762. He will set up a roster and designate places and hours for the watchmen.

Outboard motors contributed by manufacturers were three Evinrudes, through Carl Horn, operator of the Home Furniture at Lancer; two Johnsons through Music-Colvin Motors; four Scott-Atwaters, no local dealer; one Mercury through Thos. Hereford Company.

The Recovery committee meets tri-weekly, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 5 to 6 p.m., at the armory. Liaison is maintained with the National Guard in order to coordinate all efforts and an officer of the soldiery attends meetings. The public is urged to attend, Chairman V. O. Turner, said.

Col. Lee Duvall, commanding the National Guard here the last two weeks, was rotated Monday and was succeeded by Major Thos. Northof.

BABE DIES

Margaret Alice, three-month-old daughter of Oliver and Oeda Lafferty Music, died at 11:50 a.m. Monday at the Prestonsburg General hospital. Pneumonia was given as the cause of death. Besides the parents, the following brothers and sisters survive: Hillard, Gene, Margie Dale, Floyd Oliver, Malcolm Samuel, William Albert and Homer. Funeral rites were conducted from the home of Perry Crider at Lancer, Wednesday, the Rev. Henry Crider officiating. Burial was made in the Harris cemetery there under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Most gardens do not need lime, says the UK Department of Horticulture, and it should not be added without having a soil test made first. If the reading is 6.0 pH or above, lime probably is not needed. For most garden plants, a soil acidity of 6.0 to 6.9 pH is ideal.

A National Guard boat had raced up the river to create strong wave action when the body of the child was spotted at 11:15 Tuesday morning by Banner Hall and William Hall, Jr., of Martin, who reportedly have been on the river searching for the bodies every day since the tragedy. They recovered the body as it floated in the current of the river.

They will receive $1,000, the amount offered for each body recovered.

Funeral rites were held Wednesday at 2 p.m. and burial in the Goble family cemetery at the mouth of Cow Creek was under direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

was charged with grand larceny. The probation of Charles D. Hall, who was given a one-year term last November for breaking and entering, was revoked.

Martha Borders Hamilton was fined $200 Tuesday after she had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of aiding an attempt to escape jail. She supplied saw blades to Norman Hamilton, a prisoner in the jail who was later convicted of the robbery-beating at Allen of Homer Borders.

Liquor-possession defendants whose cases were dismissed on motion of the Commonwealth's Attorney on the grounds that affidavits were defective are:

James Slone, Palmer Hall, Clyde Jones, Palmer Hall Keathley, Freddie Newsome, Charlie Lafferty, Hazz Slone, Irvin Slone. All were accused of having liquor for the purpose of sale except James Slone.

Hillard A. Hall won release from three forgery counts and one cold check charge after he was said to have paid off the checks. Riley Reynolds was acquitted Monday upon his trial on an assault and battery charge.

The involuntary manslaughter trials of Charley Nelson and Lewis Patton, both growing out of highway fatalities, were continued till Sept. 3 and 4, respectively. The embezzlement case against Kenneth Howe, Pikeville attorney, was continued generally. Howe was recently convicted in the Pike circuit court on similar charges.

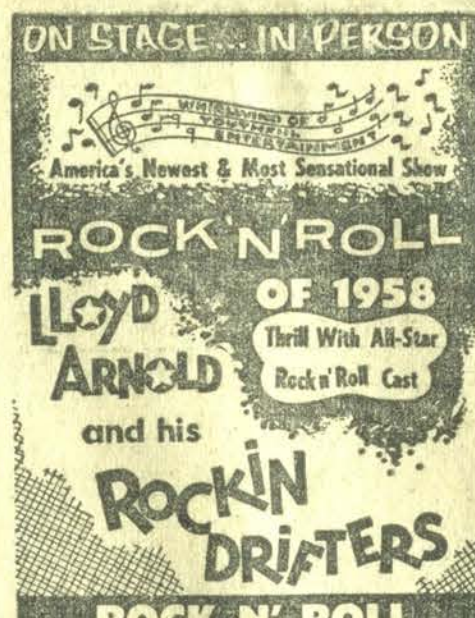

Other cases dismissed included these:

Chester Jarrell, selling mortgaged property; Chester Neeley, armed robbery; Elmer Patton, selling mortgaged property; Rosie Gibson and Burlin Jacobs, robbery.

Bond forfeitures were directed against Hite Foster, accused of possessing liquor for the purpose of sale, and Curt Sizemore, who was indicted on a grand larceny count. Six indictments had been reported by the grand jury as of Tuesday noon. Major indictments voted were:

Green (Boy) Hall and Otis Newsome, grand larceny, charged with stealing the auto of Clark Vanover; Roman Caudill, forgery of a $66 check; Willie Baldrige, Dewey Sheperd and Chester Hicks, each accused of child desertion.

A group representing the Mayo Addition to Prestonsburg represented a plan to blacktop streets there.

Virgil Warrick, city councilman and a resident of New Lancer, said that mud was bad enough now but dust will be worse this summer. He told the Mayor and Council members that the survey of the blacktopping job would be done free of charge. He said that the group from Lancer at the meeting, which represented a majority of the home-owners, wanted the city to force owners of undeveloped property to pay for the street along with owners of developed property.

The question of the legality of the City Council's forcing property owners to comply was raised by member Ed Leslie. Another member of the Council, Curtis May, asked that the group produce a petition indicating that residents of New Lancer want the streets and are willing to pay for them. A sheet of paper was quickly passed through the Lancer representatives who handed it to May.

Since the petition was said not to be legally drawn, its worth was discounted by the council. It was indicated at Monday's meeting that a petition is not needed but the agreement of 51% of the Lancer resident is necessary. Then, it was said, the other property owners can legally be forced to follow the dictates of their neighbors.

The issue was postponed until Tuesday night. The Lancer group employed Prestonsburg attorney Joe Hobson to present their plan to the City Council.

The Council also approved a free license and lot to the Trapeze Brothers Circus which will be here for a one-night stand, May 17. A spokesman for the circus said that it will not have any game of chance. He said that 50% of the proceeds from tickets sold will go to the Little League.

The circus does not fall under the city ordinance barring carnivals from the city. A special ordinance was not required to allow the circus to enter the town. Mayor Napier, who is active in the Little League program, welcomed the circus as a promotional idea for aiding the Little Leaguers.

Two insurance agencies were represented at the meeting in presenting hospitalization plans for city employees. An agreement was reached to allow the individual agencies to present their policies to employees. The City Council will deal with the agency which the majority of city employees deem most worthy.

The financial statement for the month of March was read and approved.

Ky. Income Tax Deadline Near

April 15 is a date to be circled on your calendar. This is the deadline for filing Kentucky individual income tax returns.

Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett reminded Kentuckians that every person having a gross annual income of $600 or more is required by State law to file a return, except persons 65 years of age or older who may earn $1,200 before they are required to file.

Luckett said the tax forms and procedure for filing are as simple for the taxpayer as possible. “Generally speaking,” he added, “the gross income and itemized deductions to be reported on the 1957 return are the same as those to be reported to the federal government.”

He reminded taxpayers to attach the return original copies of Kentucky withholding statements received from each employer.

Farmers and business and professional people, the commissioner said, are required to submit schedules to verify income or deductions reported on their returns.

He advised that any tax return filed without required schedules or withholding statements is considered incomplete. If a refund is due on such a return, it will be delayed until appropriate schedules or withholding statements are submitted.

Forms and instructions for filing the 1957 Kentucky Income Tax Returns are obtainable at banks, court houses, and revenue department offices at Ashland, Covington, Lexington, Louisville, Paducah and Frankfort.

Mrs. Ellen Mulkey Howell Endicott, 67, of Banner, died at home, Friday at 9 p.m. A heart attack was given as the cause of death.

Mrs. Endicott was a daughter of the late Kenas and Polly Ann Mulkey and the wife of Henry Endicott, who survives. She was twice married. Her first husband, Matthew Howell, died five years ago. She was a member of the Regular Baptist Church.

Surviving are the following sons and daughters: Emmett Howell, of Dana, Walker Howell, in Virginia, Frank Howell, Pike county, Willie Howell, of Wayland, George D. Howell, address unknown, Willie Ray, of Wayland, Mrs. Mary George, Huntington, W. Va., Mrs. Polly Ann Hall, of Amba, Mrs. Bessie Burgess, Pike county, Mrs. Nancy Slone, of Dana. Surviving brothers are Ernest and Roscoe Mulkey, both of Dana, Lee Mulkey, Detroit, Farley Mulkey, in Virginia, and Leonard Mulkey, of Ivel.

Funeral rites were conducted from the home, Monday, the Revs. Wallace Lewis, Bert T. Conn and Lennie Boyd officiating. Burial was made in the Lewis cemetery on Daniel's Creek under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Germantown in Bracken county was laid out by Whitfield Craig in 1784 and first called Buchanan Station. The town was later settled by Pennsylvania Germans and the name changed.

ENGLIE IN NAVY
 NORFOLK, Va.—Gene Engle, boat-skipper's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Engle, of Wheelwright, Ky., aboard the tank landing ship USS Waldo County, returned to Norfolk, Va., March 31, after taking part in the Atlantic Fleet amphibious exercise: "LAN-THEEX 1-58", off the southeastern Atlantic Coast.

March 20, 1958, Jesse James and his gang robbed the Russellville bank.

Drug Provided Is No Cure-All For Alcoholics

Over a period of some years there have been numerous articles in national magazines on antitubose as a treatment for alcoholism. Not too many years ago many well informed persons believed that antitubose would completely solve the alcoholic problem.

An elementary study of physiology shows the disposition of alcohol in the body. After ingestion alcohol is picked up by the blood stream and is circulated through the entire body. The liver oxidizes alcohol. In the process, alcohol is discharged by the liver as acetaldehyde. Acetaldehyde is momentarily extremely toxic but almost instantaneously is turned into acetic acid (vinegar) and is discharged from the body through the kidneys and bladder.

A European doctor noticed that persons who had taken antitubose became violently ill if they drank even small quantities of beverage alcohol. Research showed that antitubose blocked the process of changing acetaldehyde into acetic acid and it remained in the body extremely toxic, causing a violent and actually dangerous reaction.

Under controlled conditions it was used as a treatment with chronic alcoholics with some excellent results. It was prescribed by a number of physicians and as long as the patient continued the use of antitubose he remained sober. In a number of cases after complete sobriety for a period of time, the treatment was discontinued as the subject maintained his sobriety.

However, to be effective it must be taken daily and the alcoholic who was refraining from fear of the violent illness simply quit taking the antitubose for a few days and went back to the old drinking pattern. Some treatment centers still use antitubose under controlled conditions but as a cure-all it has not proven effective. This is just another of the new approaches to alcoholic addiction that has been tried trying to find the answer to the problem.

Let some misguided person attempt to give antitubose to an alcoholic friend or relative without his knowledge, it must be pointed out that it is extremely dangerous. Under no circumstances should it ever be used without the advice and under supervision of a reputable physician.

Students from Six Floyd Schools Among Entrants In Regional at Pikeville

Pikeville, Ky., Mar. 31 (Spl.)—Students of Prestonsburg, McDowell, Martin, Maytown, Wayland and Wheelwright high schools are among the 900 from 17 Eastern Kentucky high schools now entered in the annual Regional Music Festival, which opened Wednesday night at Pikeville College.

About 70 per cent of the participants will be trying for the coveted "To State" ratings which will send them on to the Kentucky State Music Festivals in late April and early May at Lexington. Others are entered only for the advice and criticism which all will receive from the judges.

The meet's four judges will hear nearly 100 vocal and instrumental solos and half as many large and small groups of singers and instrumentalists. Nine bands of from 30 to 60 members and 16 choruses of from 20 to 55 are included.

Performances by a part of the 88 woodwind and brass soloists who are entered will fill the first session at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Piano solos and duets, baton-twirling and more instrumental solos will occupy Thursday, and choruses and small vocal and instrumental groups will be heard in Friday's sessions. Vocal solos in Wickham Chapel, and bands in the Pikeville College gymnasium, Saturday morning, will complete the festival activity except for the closing concert by the All-Festival Chorus and Band Saturday night.

Performances will be judged by James E. Van Peursen, of the Eastern Kentucky State College music faculty, who will rate vocal solos and groups; Dr. J. E. Duncan, head of the music department of Morehead State College, judge of brass-instrument entries and bands, and two University of Kentucky faculty members, Dr. Daniel McAninch for woodwind performances and Howard Karp for piano solos and duets. Van Peursen and Dr. Duncan also will conduct the massed chorus and band, respectively, in the festival's final concert at 7 p.m. in the Pikeville College gymnasium.

Simple Errors Cause Delay In Tax Refund

The majority of errors made on Kentucky income tax returns is the direct result of taxpayers' failure to read instructions, says the Kentucky Department of Revenue.

Most common errors listed by the department are: Failure to attach all employer withholding statements to the return; failure to list names of dependents claimed; not entering the correct amount of Kentucky tax withheld; failure to submit farm and business schedules, and neglecting to list federal income tax refunds.

All errors result in a delay in processing returns and refunding overpaid tax.

The department cites an example: If the taxpayer files a return and fails to attach a withholding statement, processing on this return is delayed until the taxpayer is notified of his error and the statement is mailed to the department. If the statement is not received, the amount of tax withheld not supported by such a statement must be disallowed and the taxpayer sent a tax bill.

The department says that among the chief complaints received from taxpayers is that checks sent for payment of tax do not clear the bank as quickly as they would like. During the last minute rush checks are received in such large numbers that they require as much as two months to clear the taxpayer's bank. The delay is unavoidable, say officials. In many cases, the deadline mail includes returns from lawyers, accountants and other tax practitioners with personal checks that taxpayers had dated in January, February and March. The Revenue Department also handles returns from about 40 other taxes in addition to income taxes.

Despite its continued effort to design simple tax forms some taxpayer's get stumped. A complainer once wrote, "When I was a boy I always wanted to see a whale. Now I want to see the contraptionists and contortionists who think up all the confusion they put on tax forms."

Culture Crusade Urged By Hurok, Noted By Digest

In 1903, an immigrant boy landed in this country with $1.50 cash and a goose-feather pillow. Soon afterward, he lost his first American job, as a streetcar conductor, because he announced street names in a gibberish that only vaguely resembled English.

Today, the April Reader's Digest notes, people still have some trouble understanding Sol Hurok when he speaks. But he is known to millions for his crusade to bring the world's best music, drama and ballet to American audiences, of all economic levels.

The Digest article, "S. Hurok Presents", by Gerald Goode, notes that the chunky impresario points to his own lack of education as proof that culture is not just for the wealthy. If he can thrill to classical music, he will argue—why not everyone?

It was this conviction that started him on his career, after he first heard Caruso. Hurok was then an $8-a-week hardware salesman; but he moved promptly into the entertainment field. His first triumph was a concert by violinist Efreim Zimbalist in a workers' hall in Brooklyn, with tickets going for a top price of $1. Later, he engaged the giant New York Hippodrome for Sunday concerts by Tetrazzini and Schumann-Heink. He sold tickets through neighborhood drug-stores, and advertised diagrams showing how to reach the hall by subway and streetcar, for people who had never been to a concert hall before. Since then, the notation "S. Hurok Presents" has appeared over such names as Marian Anderson, Arthur Rubinstein, Britain's Old Vic Company and the Sadler's Wells Ballet.

And whenever there's a Hurok attraction nearby, the 66-year-old showman will be in the audience—applauding loudly.

Festival Queen Leads Busy Life
 Pat Travis, the 19-year-old Owensboro beauty recently chosen queen of the Kentucky Derby Festival, is being initiated into a whirl of exciting events she never dreamed possible a few weeks ago.
 Soon after becoming queen, Miss Travis was whisked to Washington, D.C., for the 10-day Cherry Blossom Festival. She is attending the Kentucky Society dinner and ball; the pre-festival get-together of 53 Cherry Blossom Festival princesses; the conference of State Societies reception and dance; a fashion show; a meeting with the President and Vice-President; the Cherry Blossom ball; a pageant and crowning of the queen.
 In the Cherry Blossom parade Miss Travis will ride on her own float representing the Kentucky Derby.
 She will be escorted to New York for appearances on nation-wide television broadcasts, a movie screen test, and an interview with a famous modeling school executive.

SPEECH FEST WINNERS TOLD
Floyd Students Take Three Superior Rates In Regional Festival

Pikeville, Ky., Mar. 31 (Spl.)—Floyd county students from Prestonsburg, Martin and Wheelwright high schools won a total of three "superior" ratings and 10 of "excellent" in the Pikeville Regional Speech Festival last week-end.

Hazard high school's speech students topped the Festival as 55 students were advanced to state competition.

Belfry and Johns Creek high school debate teams triumphed over squads from seven other schools to earn admission to the Kentucky state speech festival April 14-16 at Lexington. With the first-place winner in public speaking, Howes Johnson, Paintsville, and the 48 students rated superior in other 12 speech events, they will represent the Eastern Kentucky region there.

The Hazard delegation of 22 students took the region title and the symbolic plaque with 165 competitive points, based on entries and ratings. Second for the first time, with 155, was Benham high school, winner each year they have competed here—from 1952 through 1956.

Belfry high school, whose champion debate team was crowned yesterday, was third by a whisker with 153 points. Besides the number-one public speaker, Paintsville received 15 superior ratings, the highest number given, but placed fourth with 138.

Judges for the festival were Dr. R. D. Johnson, associate dean of extended programs; Dr. J. Reid Sterett, speech teacher; Robert Purdon, instructor; Glenn Wills, of the extended-program staff, and speech students Richard Howe and Neal Clay, all of the University of Kentucky.

"Superior ratings went to Jimmie Hamilton, Prestonsburg, in discussion; Lucien Burke, Prestonsburg, in oratory; and Bobby Meade, Wheelwright, in humorous monologue. "Excellent" ratings were won by Douglas Scutchfield, Martin, in oratory; Glenda Jones, Martha Osborne, and Flotina Bates, Wheelwright, and Sue Joseph and Joe Jack Harris, Prestonsburg, in discussion; James Smiley, Prestonsburg, in dramatic reading; Edith Cook and Peggy Parker, Prestonsburg, in poetry reading, and Glenn Anderson, Prestonsburg, in radio speaking.

Prestonsburg speech students are coached by Cora Tabb Cook; those at Martin by Doris E. Turner, and those at Wheelwright by Letha C. Wilkinson.

Capitol Notebook
 Would your town be interested in a new factory with a payroll of $100,000 a year?
 This query comes from Barry Bingham of Kentucky's new Tourist Commission. He explained that the benefit an average town derives from attracting 25 tourists a day throughout the year is equal to an annual $100,000 payroll.
 And the tourist industry, he said, "is one with no smokestacks."

DERBY ORIGIN
 THE KENTUCKY DERBY owes its beginning to Meriwether Lewis Clark, grandson of William Clark of the famous Lewis Clark expedition. After seeing the Epsom Derby in England, Meriwether Clark became so enthusiastic with the idea of racing in Louisville that he rallied his friends together and persuaded them a race track was a necessity. Originally the Louisville Jockey Club, the track came to be known as Churchill Downs. The first derby was run there May 17, 1875.

HOSPITAL DISTRICTS CHANGED
 BECAUSE MENTAL hospitals have faced an unequal number of admissions, the State Mental Health Department has altered the districts of three of the four hospitals. Under the new arrangements, patients from Boone, Grant and Kenton counties will go to Easter State Hospital, Lexington, instead of Central at Lakeland. Knott, Letcher and Perry county patients will go to Kentucky State Hospital, Danville, rather than Eastern. Patients from Nelson county will go to Central instead of the Danville institution.

DIG THEM DISCS!
 PROBABLY the only disc jockey in state government anywhere is Jud Edwards. But instead of pills, beer and hair restorer, Lieutenant Edwards of the Kentucky State Police is selling safety. His program, "Rhythm and Reason," sponsored by the Department of Public Safety and the local Jaycees on a Frankfort radio station offers timely traffic tips and turntable tunes. Its theme song: "Take Care of Yourself."

Miss Waterfield Honored
 NANCY WATERFIELD, daughter of Lt. Governor, and Mrs. Harry Lee Waterfield, has been named outstanding pledge of Chi Omega sorority at the University of Kentucky. She is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences.

DEADLINE APPROACHES
 A DATE to be circled on your calendar is April 15—deadline for filing your Kentucky income tax return. This reminder comes from Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett, who says every Kentucky resident who earns as much as $600 a year is required to file a return—except those 65 or older who earn less than $1,200.

QUOTABLE
 "DESPITE THE FACT that the unemployment insurance law has been on our statute books for over 20 years, it is still a comparatively new program. In an era such as this, marked by rapidly changing economic conditions and day-to-day industrial developments of a technical and scientific nature, the program can not, and has not, remained static. It shall ever be our intention to remain responsive and alert to the needs of the times and to keep the program geared to the demands of the day and age in which we live."—Director O. B. Hannah, Kentucky Division of Unemployment Insurance.

ADOPTIONS
 A COUPLE wanting to adopt a child from the State makes application through an area child welfare worker of the Division of Children's Services. The couple and worker will see a lot of each other during the next nine months. This is the average time it takes from application to approval. During this period, the couple will have at least three interviews with the worker, the couple's home will be visited and their references will be interviewed. Then the average wait from approval to receiving a child is 10 months. Adoption is a slow process because it is a serious step—to the child, to his natural parents and to his new parents.

"Wilderness Road" will begin its fourth season June 28 at Indian Fort Theater, Berea, with nightly showings, except Sunday.

DIGEST "CHAIN OF KINDNESS" CONSOLES ROMULO IN LOSS

When Philippine statesman Carlos P. Romulo lost his son in a plane crash last October, his one wish was hard work—lots of it—to help him forget his grief. But hundreds of Americans and Filipinos taught him a lesson in kindness—an lesson he says, he never wants to forget.

In the April Reader's Digest, General Romulo says: "That the world can forge such a chain of kindness, which transcends prejudices, politics and personal convenience to help one man is something I always wish to remember."

In the article, "A Bridge of Helping Hands," General Romulo says thank you to the people who helped what he calls his "blackest hour." There was the telephone operator who put through at trans-Pacific call in two minutes... the couple who delayed their own trip to give the Romulos their plane seats... the anonymous Filipino laborer who pressed a $10 bill into the General's hand. All these strangers—all eager to help.

More than 5000 expressions of compassion poured in on the Romulos from all over the world. Hotel bellboys, waitresses, girls at an airline ticket counter, all sent flowers. His barber in New York spent $18 on a personal telephone call of sympathy. News photographers sent to cover the General's arrival home turned away without a picture after he asked them to respect his privacy.

The tragedy occurred six months ago. Still, the General says, "I cannot walk down a street, a hotel corridor or go about my business in New York or Washington without someone stopping me to tell me of their sympathy. I no longer wish to forget."

The article, written with Beth Day, is condensed from Together.

Pfc. Roy L. Shopman Stationed at LeJeune
 Camp Lejeune, N. C. — Marine Pfc. Roy L. Shopman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Shipman, Sr., of Hueysville, Ky., is taking part in a major Atlantic Fleet amphibious exercise off the coast of North Carolina with the 2nd Marine Division from Camp Lejeune.

The exercise, designed to train the Marines in modern amphibious warfare, got underway March 13 when the Leathernecks boarded ships at Norfolk, Va., Morehead City, N. C., and Vieques, Puerto Rico.

Following preliminary landings by helicopter, the main amphibious assault landing was made March 31 after a week of operations ashore.

Speed, dispersal, mobility and the use of atomic weapons are being stressed by the 30,000 Marines, 10,000 sailors, 60 ships and 260 aircraft taking part in the operation.

These Modern Grandparents Know How To Get The Most Out Of Life...

THEY ARE LIVING BETTER ELECTRICALLY!

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Montgomery are progressive-minded grandparents. They live in a new ranch home abundantly equipped with electrical appliances... all of which help them "keep up with the rapid pace of modern times."

Mr. Montgomery a businessman, says:
 "Our electrical appliances are a necessity as time and work savers... worth every dollar we spend for electric service. Mrs. Montgomery keeps this house spotless with minimum time and effort, and our appliances let us spend more time together and on outside interests. The way I see it, we enjoy better health and are happier due to electric living."

Mrs. Montgomery says:
 "Because I get all the help I need from our electrical appliances, I don't have to call on my husband to do this job and that one. I don't even dread wash days anymore, for I can wash, dry and iron a week's laundry in less than two hours. But my favorite is our electric range. It's a real time-saver, and everything I cook or bake comes out exactly as I want it to... and electric cooking is so safe and clean!"

TO THE MOON AND BACK 47 TIMES! Now that we're getting baby satellites into space, folks are really "up in the air" about space travel and trips to the moon. And the exciting thing is that it all may come true. Right now, if we could get to the moon and wished to put in telephones, we could probably get the wire to reach from earth to moon in pretty short order. In just one year the Western Electric people supplied Bell System companies with cable that contained 23 million miles of wire—enough to reach the moon and back 47 times! That's a pile of wire, but it's only a drop in the bucket compared to that we already have in service and still need to serve all the people who want new telephones every day in the year.

ENOCH STONE

R. T. Allen, of Prestonsburg, says this column erred in saying that Enoch Stone, Union veteran, died in 1910. Allen and others sat with the sick and aged veteran the night before he died. Stone lived on the head of Salt Lick Creek in Magoffin county.

The old soldier died either in April or May, 1904, Allen states. "Sitting up" with Stone the night before he died, besides R. T. Allen, were Lewis Shepherd, Brice (Flitterfoot) Shepherd, a Confederate veteran, and Hayden Allen, a grandson of Stone's. They sat up until around 4 a.m. and R. T. and Lewis Shepherd slipped out to the barn and slept until daylight. Enoch Stone died that day. He was very old.

Allen says that Stone was buried on Stone Knob, between head of Lick Fork of Rough and Tough and Salt Lick Creek in Magoffin county. The knob is said to be the highest in Floyd county.

Brice (Flitterfoot) Shepherd reminisced to Allen about his experiences at the Battle of Middle Creek in which he fought as a Confederate soldier. Flitterfoot's pistol "fouled" on him and he withdrew to the rear to repair it. Having completed the job he returned to the battle scene to find his comrades in arms retreating. Shepherd said he came away from the battle site to the mouth of the Meetinghouse Branch of Middle Creek.

BROWN DIDN'T GO WEST

George Brown, Prestonsburg businessman, tells the story of his ancestor who started but didn't go west.

Daniel Brown lived over 100 years ago near or at Paintsville and since the state of Missouri was opening up then for settlement, he decided to follow in the footsteps of many others from the section and try his luck in the new land. He loaded a flatboat with many things needed to pioneer in Missouri and floated down the river. Family tradition, George says, doesn't reveal whether Daniel Brown had his family along or not but it is supposed he did as at the time he was the father of several children.

Since he was headed west Daniel wanted to stay a farewell night with an uncle, Joe Borders, who lived near the mouth of Lost Creek in Lawrence county in a big, double-room log house. He tied up his boat and became the guest of his uncle.

That night Joe Borders and Daniel Brown sat around and talked, with the uncle urging his nephew to forget about Missouri and acquire a vast acreage on Lost Creek. There was a man by the name of Davis who lived on it, had only a squatter's rights, and the whole creek could be purchased for a very low sum. Daniel Brown agreed to look over the valley.

A view of the land convinced Daniel Brown that here was what he wanted, the lure of Missouri notwithstanding. He bought 1,600 acres of Lost Creek land for $150, a rifle and another bit of personal property not now remembered.

Daniel Brown logged the land of the only two kinds of timber the merchants would buy for many years. This was bird's eye maple and black walnut. Later he cut some of the giant white oaks, whipsawed them into boat gunwales which he sold.

The Lost Creek land gave him a good living. He never regretted his change of mind about going to Missouri. He lived to be very old, left many children and descendants at his death.

OLD PHOTOGRAPHY

Val Strahan, Prestonsburg photographer, in remarking on the excellent engravings that are made for The Times from old photographs, comments to this column that old photographers did not use film as fast as modern cameras and that there were more gradations in light and shadow in the old pictures. More detail is thus revealed in the pictures taken by old photographers.

Basically, photography hasn't changed through the years, Strahan says. However film is now much faster.

GEARHEART FAMILY

A request for information on the Gearheart family received from Mrs. C. S. (George) Nelson, Freeman, Mo. She is particularly interested in the family of Valentine Gearheart. He married Sally Justice, April 28, 1833. He was a brother of Adam (Smilin' Adam) Gearheart who married, first Rhoda Spurlock, daughter of the Prestonsburg settler, John Spurlock.

Sally Justice, wife of Valentine Gearheart, was a daughter of Israel Justice. Three sons and a daughter of Valentine and Sally were Polly Gearheart, born about 1834, died 1930, married Samuel Meade; John Gearheart, who died in an Ohio prison-of-war camp during the Civil War; George married Richard Crabtree.

Jonathan Gearheart was twice married, his first wife being Mahala Lewis. They had a daughter, Causby Gearheart, who married Bud Akers. Ned Gearheart, son of Jonathan, married Miranda Stephens. Jonathan Gearheart married secondly to an Adkins and children were Varden Gearheart and William Gearheart.

Mrs. Nelson also seeks information on Richard (Dick) Ratliff, Ann Ratliff, who married Hutton, John E. Helms, Daniel Gearheart and Allison (Aise) Justice. She states she is a granddaughter of Valentine Gearheart.

Farm Housing Loan Program Is Expanded

An expanded farm housing loan program designed to speed up farm building construction and improvement as well as act as an additional anti-recession measure was announced today by Hughel D. Phillips, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor.

Now an owner of a farm in agricultural production and on which the operator plans to produce at least $400 worth of farm commodities for sale or home use may qualify for the 4 per cent long-term housing loan provided that he meets other standard eligibility requirements.

Formerly, an eligible applicant had to own a farm that produced a more substantial part of the operator's annual cash income.

Borrowers may use loan funds to build, improve, or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings, and to provide water for farmstead and household use. Mr. Phillips said that in addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help meet many other needs for farm and home modernization such as adding bath rooms, utility rooms, better kitchens, and many other improvements to the home as well as to farm service buildings.

While tenants and farm laborers are not eligible, the owner may borrow to do construction work or make improvements for them.

The loans are made to farm owners who need credit to finance building improvements or repairs, but find that adequate credit is not available through banks or other regular credit channels. The interest rate is 4 per cent and loans may be amortized over periods up to 33 years.

Mr. Phillips, the county supervisor, can be contacted at the office in Paintsville in the Hager building.

Kentucky Power Taxes Are $1,994,000, Said; Schools Get $210,000

A total of $1,994,000 has been paid by Kentucky Power Company for its 1957 federal, state and local taxes. Kentucky Power operates in 18 counties in northeastern Kentucky.

F. M. Baker, Kentucky Power vice-president and general manager, who made this announcement this week, said this amounts to almost $5,500 a day, each day during the year.

Of the total amount, $324,000 went for local taxes, $202,000 for state taxes and $1,468,000 for federal taxes. Kentucky Power's 1957 tax bill was $191,000 higher than the $1,803,000 the company paid in 1956.

Local tax payments went to cities and counties in the company's four districts, which operate in all or parts of Lawrence, Martin, Pike, Boyd, Greenup, Carter, Rowan, Elliott, Lewis, Knott, Breathitt, Leslie, Letcher, Perry, Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Morgan, Wolfe, Clay, Knox, and Bell counties.

Ashland district paid local taxes amounting to $107,000, while Hazard district paid $102,000 in local taxes. Pikeville district paid $110,000 in local taxes, and Sprigg district paid almost $5,000.

About 65 per cent of Kentucky Power's local taxes, or $210,000, was levied for school purposes. This amount would build seven $30,000 classrooms.

Since 1947, Kentucky Power Company's federal, state and local taxes have increased from $636,500 to $1,994,000, or about 213 per cent. This increase in tax payments has been due not only to capital expansion, but also to increases in local tax levies, Mr. Baker said.

NATIONAL TRUCK-MINE ORGANIZATION SEEN

Middlesboro, Ky., April 6 — A new organization with particular appeal to truck coal-mine operators and planned to be nationwide in scope has been set up here by Charles D. Richards, Middlesboro. It is the National Association of Independent Coal Operators.

The purpose of the association, as set out in its constitution, is: "To do all things necessary, proper, beneficial and desirable to promote the welfare, efficiency, prosperity and general good of the independent coal-mining industry in the United States of America, including the sponsoring of desirable legislation and the opposing of legislation which is considered to be against the best interests of the membership of this association."

Membership dues range from $25 to $100 a year, based on the number of employees. The new association, Richards said, "is a result of the vital need of a nationwide association to represent the coal operators who are caught in the present efforts to squeeze small operators out of government markets and out of business completely."

The association, he said, does not ask its members for authority to negotiate wage contracts. "It is our belief," he continued, "that there cannot be a fair wage scale set for any section of the United States on a state-wide basis or even on a county level. This is especially true within the truck-mining section of coal business."

"The factors that make fair wage scales impossible are: quality of the seam being mined, seam thickness, roof and bottom conditions, quality of the labor employed, and the distance between mine and point of consumption, and freight rates."

Richards said that the association urges operators to pay fair wages, "but we do not believe that all operators can pay the same wage scale and survive."

Richards recalled that, during the 1956 convention of the United Mine Workers of America at Cincinnati, U.M.W. President John L. Lewis expressed himself as favoring the industry trend toward a few big operating companies.

"We do not believe," Richards said, "that there are 10 coal-mining companies in Kentucky who are eligible for membership in that group unless they sell out."

"We have found," he added,

"that the few state associations are not of a size for effectively opposing, or supporting, legislation on a national level. Nor can small associations get proper consideration during public hearings such as the present one for minimum wage determination."

The new association, Richards said, will oppose three bills recently introduced in Congress. These bills would repeal the section of the present law that exempts mines employing 14 men or less from federal inspection.

The portion of the Federal Coal Mine Safety Act, which these bills seek to amend, reads as follows: "This shall not apply to any mine in which no more than 14 individuals are regularly employed underground."

"That paragraph," Richards said, "is the only protection the small mines have had under the Federal Coal Safety Act. It is the general feeling among operators of truck-coal mines that small mines will be put out of business if this exemption is removed."

"The idea of compelling a little coal operator rigidly to comply with the same safety provisions as the large rail mines is preposterous and would mean ruin for thousands who are trying to make a living."

There cannot be, he said, a uniform safety code that is really applicable to all coal mines, and "a safety code, if it is to be fair to all concerned, must be flexible. Those administering such a mine-safety code should be thoroughly acquainted with the coal seams and local conditions. We feel that our State mine inspectors are the logical ones to render this service."

"All the coal operators with whom I have talked," he declared, "feel that they will be put out of business if the United States Bureau of Mines gains police power over all mines regardless of the number of employees."

Richards said that the association would fight the minimum-wage determination for bituminous and lignite coal mines. (All Kentucky coal is bituminous).

In the association's constitution, it is pointed out that, "the names of members of this association shall be held on a confidential basis and shall not be disclosed unless such information is required to be given under subpoena or other due process issued under the authority of law."

Test Indicates Whether You're An Alcoholic

By J. Collis Ringo, Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

Here are some test questions used by John Hopkins University Hospital, Baltimore, in deciding whether or not a patient is an alcoholic:

Do you lose time from your work due to drinking?

Is drinking making your home life unhappy?

Do you drink because you are shy with other people?

Is drinking affecting your reputation?

Have you ever felt remorse after drinking?

Have you ever gotten into financial difficulties as a result of drinking?

Do you turn to lower companions and an inferior environment when drinking?

Does your drinking make you careless of your family's welfare?

Has your ambition decreased since drinking?

Do you crave a drink at a definite time daily?

Does drinking cause you to have difficulty in sleeping?

Has your efficiency decreased since drinking?

Is drinking jeopardizing your job or business?

Do you drink to escape from worries or trouble?

Do you drink alone?

Have you ever had a complete loss of memory as a result of drinking?

Has your physician ever treated you for drinking?

Do you drink to build up your self confidence?

Have you ever been to a hospital or institution on account of drinking?

If you have answered YES to any one of the questions, there is a definite warning that you may be an alcoholic.

If you have answered YES to any two, the chances are that you are an alcoholic.

If you have answered YES to three or more, you are definitely an alcoholic.

Any alcoholic is a sick person . . . Any alcoholic can be helped and is worth helping. If you have an alcoholic problem consult your minister, doctor, health officer or Alcoholics Anonymous. You can be helped.

Letcher Was Sound-Money Governor

Few governors have had as trying an administration as Robert P. Letcher, governor of Kentucky, 1840-44. The worst nationwide depression America had known broke out in 1837. By 1841 it had burst full force upon the State of Kentucky.

In May of the following year, Governor Letcher, writing to his friend, John J. Crittenden, expressed concern lest Kentuckians want to return to the unsound policies of Governor Desha's term:

The times are hard in this country—very hard—indeed more so than you can imagine. The cry for relief is awful, I can tell you. The press upon me to call the Legislature together has in some degree subsided, but still it breaks out every now and then in a fresh place . . . I believe the Meeting, requesting a call for the Legislature, has had the worst possible effect upon the country. The idea of an extra Session has operated as a notice to the creditors to hasten the debtors, and this work of destruction is now in rapid progress, and the Lord only knows where it will stop.

No special sessions were called, nor did the legislature of Letcher's administration take the short view and allow themselves to be stampeded into passing replevin laws and repudiating State obligations. At the end of his term, the governor could look back with satisfaction upon the results of his leadership. For the first time in several years, the budget was balanced in each of the fiscal years of Letcher's administration, not without effect, perhaps, on the general prosperity of Kentucky, which rose markedly following the critical year of 1842.

Letcher was born in 1788 in Goochland County, Virginia, one of 12 children of Stephen Giles and Betsey Perkins Letcher. The family moved to Mercer County in 1800 and, shortly thereafter to Garrard.

Letcher served briefly in the War of 1812, but in the second year of the war switched from the army to politics. He was in the Kentucky House, 1813-15, 1817, 1836-38, and in the United States House, 1823-33. In 1849 he was appointed minister to Mexico, holding that post until 1852.

Following his defeat for Congress in the last named year at the hands of John C. Breckinridge, Letcher retired to his home in Frankfort, where he died in 1861.

Main Street Of Prestonsburg In 1890

This picture of Main street, Prestonsburg, contributed by Mrs. Cynthia Davidson Garnett, of Hazard, was taken around the turn of the last century. Quoting from Mrs. Garnett's scrapbook, we learn:

"The above picture is one that is treasured by the owner of this book as it brings memories of days from 1890 when as a four-year-old girl we came to Prestonsburg to make our home, having been burned out of business of a general mercantile store on the 'Old Davidson Farm' at what was then known to the flatboat traveler and that of the steamboaters on the Big

Sandy as the Davidson Farm Landings. We moved into the home that had just been completed by Uncle Jack Davidson for his wife, Belle Starks Davidson, and who passed away before the home was completed.

"The first picture from the left is the old Bank Josephine building (with the little coal covered shed attached). After the bank was moved from this location the building was used as the postoffice. Next to this building was the store of Davidson Brothers and remained such until the retirement of S. P. Davidson, when George T. and Lack D. Roberts took charge and kept it for about three years. The property was sold to the Arnold Funeral Home. The old store was wrecked and the property sold to the John Auxier family and the space is now occupied by the Prestonsburg General hospital.

"The man walking in front of the old store is Ralph Booten. The building next to the store used to be a store operated by E. Levinson and wife but is now part of the hospital property. The old store is the place I worked with my father, S. P. Davidson, from the time I was 12 years old until the time of my marriage in 1907."

Highway Dept. Scholarships Are Increased

The State Highway Department is launching an enlarged program for granting civil-engineering scholarships at the University of Kentucky.

The department announced it will offer 30 student-employee scholarships to freshmen entering the Kentucky College of Engineering at the beginning of the 1958-59 school year, about doubling the number granted in recent years.

The new program is designed to help alleviate the shortage of engineering personnel in the department during coming years of the State's expanded highway-improvement program.

Active in helping formulate the new plan was Dr. D. V. Terrell, retired dean of the engineering college and now departmental consultant in engineer recruitment and training. The present scholarship program, now in its 10th year, had been started largely through efforts of Terrell and Dwight H. Buay, chief state highway engineer.

The department said pay rates for the Kentucky high school graduates qualifying for scholarships will be higher, but the students will be required to maintain certain scholastic and work standards or be dropped from the program.

Those making satisfactory progress in the freshman year may be continued during the sophomore year. The student-employees will work part-time during the school year at the Highway Research Laboratory on the U. K. Campus and for the department during summer vacation.

Each freshman scholarship recipient must agree to work for the department a year while each student receiving the scholarship his sophomore must agree to work for the department a total of two years. Information on qualifications, examinations and other requirements may be obtained from Dean R. E. Shaver of the U. K. College of Engineering, Lexington.

SWITCH FROM CASH TO CHECK CAN END PAYROLL HOLDUPS

Payroll-snatching is one of the easiest and safest crimes to commit, and it is growing in criminal popularity every payday. But with one simple change, the April Reader's Digest says, we could make this form of larceny as obsolete as horse theft.

All that's needed is for employers to pay their workers by check instead of in cash.

In the article, "The Crime We Can Wipe Out Tomorrow," Murray Teigh Bloom points out that every Friday, unarmed bookkeepers walk the streets of industrial cities with canvas bags obviously full of cash. They are natural targets for a hit-and-run attack. New York City has at least 1000 such robberies a year, many of them fatal. And since cash is so easy to dispose of and hard to identify, little of the money ever is recovered.

Sending an armed guard with the bookkeeper doesn't help much, Bloom says, since the guard just advertises the fact that the payroll must be a fat one. Thieves often follow the guarded payroll into the employer's office and grab it after the guard leaves.

Although employers gradually are switching to check payment, some 25 million American workers still receive cash, totaling more than a billion dollars a week. In some states—Kentucky and Vermont, for example—the law requires cash, mainly as a result of old-time abuses when employers would pay in script redeemable only at a company store. Many union contracts also call for cash: for one reason, because some workers don't want their wives to know how much they earn.

But Peter W. Eller, chairman of the Building Trades Employers Association, says some workers are beginning to change their minds. "A few have had a gun stuck in their ribs on their way home on payday. If they were carrying checks, no one would have bothered them."

Boston began a pay-by-check campaign after robbers got $110,000 in one payroll holdup in 1948, and then set an all-time record with the $1,219,000 Brink's Armored Car haul in 1950 (several fat payrolls were part of the Brink's loot.) First, the city started paying its own 20,000 employees by check, and then Police Capt. Michael Clougherty personally asked the larger employers in Boston to switch over to check payment.

As a result, Bloom says, Boston had exactly 10 payroll holdups in 1956—and in 1957, two.
