This Town— That World

In these days of looking and listening at and to television the child who reads instead is wise beyond his ears.

BLESS EM! Speaking of bright youngsters, —or were we?— there is the trick story they're springing on their elders, these days. The young innocent approaches mother and asks her if she has heard the story about Gabriel suggesting to St. Peter that he write a letter to everybody on earth who has been saved. Peter liked the idea, and wrote the letters, so the story goes. Then the moppet says to her mother, "And what do you suppose the letter said?" Poor Mom doesn't know, or maybe she has the beans on the stove are burning, and she replies, "Oh, I don't know." Then the youngster applies the crusher: "Mom, you didn't get a letter."

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Rehashing this story reminds me that, several years ago, I cleaned up a certain talking dog story told me by Carl Corbin and printed it in this column. During the Emmy Awards television show Tuesday night, Danny Thomas told the self-same story. Wonder where he picked it up and how old that one is, anyhow.

A homewrecker is not a slinky siren or a mustached villain. It's a pup... Man is a dog's best friend; otherwise, few dogs would pass puppyhood... My neighbors, the Camicias, have a lady dog named Elvis. So named because she wiggles...

SPRING TIME REPORT

Councilman Watt Hale wandered over to "this side" long enough, the other morning, to discourse upon the merits of salt, even though he knew I am a red sassafras tea man... Said he has taken it upon himself, above and beyond the call of duty, to allot certain salt-piekin' grounds in his community and to see that nobody coaches on the preserves of another. The Councilman is a wise conversationalist, and he says that if you need salt, that he can find out if you will take the place of greens, everybody will be happy.

BID OPENING SET MAY 2nd AT FRANKFORT

Lake Highway Survey Near-Complete; Deeds For 4 Roads Delayed

The State Highway Department this week asked bids from contractors on construction of the Prestonsburg-Auxier road, a section of the planned U. S. 23 bypass between Prestonsburg and Paintsville, for letting May 2.

The advertisement for bids calls for grade, drain and high-type surfacing of 5.502 miles of the route from Patton street in Prestonsburg to the Auxier bridge.

It has been said that the construction job may cost around $800,000.

Contract on the Johnson county end of the bypass will be a job for the future, since at least a part of it has not been given top priority. The Auxier-Prestonsburg road, however, will connect with Hager Gap-Dewey Dam-Van Lear road on which construction is now in progress.

Survey work on the Dewey Lake road from Hager Hill to Stratton Branch was 90 per cent complete as of April 1, it was said this week. This route will require no right-of-way purchases.

Rights-of-way, however, are holding up four Floyd roads which the Rural Highway Department has promised for letting as soon as deeds are returned to Frankfort. These are the Bonanza-Jenny's Creek, Bill Hall Branch-Hamilton

CRUM IS HELD SUICIDE VICTIM

Former Representative Of Power Company Fires Fatal Shot, Woman Says

PLANNED TO BE HELD by a jury of 12, died at 9:45 p.m. Sunday in King's Daughters' hospital, Ashland, of a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head.

Crum's death came about 14 hours after he reportedly shot himself at the home in Ashland of Mrs. Tina Noonan, where he had lived in a rented room.

Mrs. Noonan was quoted by Ashland police as saying Crum went to the kitchen Sunday morning for a cup of coffee. She said he told her, "I may as well end it all," pulled a 25-caliber pistol from his pocket, put it to his head and pulled the trigger.

Police said Crum apparently was despondent about being unemployed. He was a right-of-way agent for the former Kentucky-West Virginia Power Company until 1952, and since had held odd jobs.

He had been living in Ashland about eight years.

His body was taken to Richmond - Callahan Funeral Home at Inez, where the funeral was held at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Esther Penix Crum, Inez, and two sons, Parnell Crum, Jr., Davella, and Thomas B. Crum, in the Army at Fort Devens, Mass.

Armed Forces Induct Seven Floyd Countians

Seven Floyd countians left Prestonsburg April 7 for induction to the armed forces, and two days later 11 others left for pre-induction examinations.

The inductees, all of whom were volunteers, were: James Elmo Harris, Prestonsburg; Thomas Hall, Estill; Arthur Dudley, Langley; Bobby Lee Hackworth, Cliff; Ernest B. Burke, Weeksbury; Charles Edward Castle, Hueysville; Jerry Lee King, Printer. Those who received preinduction tests:

Demis Reynolds, Grethel; Lloyd Gene Stratton, Mare-Creek; John Melvin Barbe, Betsy Layne; James Wendell Cooley, Dwale, transferred to Local Board 9, Ohio; Billy Ray Delong, Banner; Emory Ugean Keathley, Teaberry; Homer Lykens, Hunter; Ballard Dale Martin, East-ern; Paul Dean Moore, Wayland; Lloyd Wendell Moore, Garrett; Olin Gary Anderson, Wayland.

WOMAN GIVEN 15-YEAR-TERM

Mrs. Little Is Second Woman Pinned As Slayer In Recent Floyd History

Mrs. Mary Jane Little, 38, Saturday became the second Floyd woman in modern court history to be sentenced to a prison term for murder.

A jury of eight women and four men convicted her of the revolver-slaying at Bypro of her husband, Ballard Little, miner, and set her pen term at 15 years.

Mrs. Little claimed her husband ordered her to go to the home of a neighbor and get his revolver and that she planned to take it in the house and hide it when he grappled with her for possession of the weapon. She testified the gun was accidentally discharged during the scuffle. Two Neon men, E. P. Hall and Cullen Ambury, testified that they drove past the Little home in a truck at the time and that they saw the tussle for the gun. Each, however, laid ownership of the truck to the other.

The confession signed by Mrs. Little, stating that she killed her husband in self-defense, was introduced as evidence by the Commonwealth. A witness for the prosecution, Mrs. Mossy Eades, also testified Mrs. Little told her that she looked up the road and down and, seeing nobody approaching, that she then fired the shot which killed her husband. Mrs. Eades quoted Mrs. Little as saying she knew she could "come clear" because there were no witnesses.

E. A. Oliver, an itinerant preacher who solicited and appropriated to his own use funds contributed by Floyd citizens for the Floyd County School Bus Disaster Fund, entered a plea of guilty Saturday and was given a one-year pen term. Oliver said he had been an ordained minister 28 years and had not been in trouble with the law since boyhood. He said that he is 72 or 73 years old.

Given permission to make a statement after he had entered his plea of guilty, Oliver began what spectators described as "a regular sermon."

Circuit Judge Elw. P. Hill directed that money in his possession when

HEARING SET IN RAPE CASE

Woman and Girl Accuse Three Middle Cr. Youths Of Abduction and Attack

Preliminary hearing was scheduled Wednesday before County Judge Henry Stumbo for three Middle Creek men who were jailed here last week on rape warrants sworn out by a 15-year-old girl and a woman.

The prisoners are Claude Wallen, James Newsome and Bob Green. Their accusers are Rosa Meade, 30, and Ethel Wallen, 15, both of Abbott Creek.

Wallen was named in three warrants alleging rape, drunk driving and using abusive language to provoke assault. Green and Newsome were both booked on charges of rape and robbery.

The woman and the girl signed a joint affidavit in which they claimed they were at the drive-in theater here when the three men drove alongside. They said the men "grabbed us, put something over our mouths and pulled us into a car."

Wallen was driving, the statement said. They left the theatre, the affidavit continues, the woman in the front seat of the car, the girl in the rear, drove from there to Abbott Creek, then back to the mouth of the Creek and to Hall Hollow where the men bought nine cans of beer from Clarence Prater. The drive continued to a point below Paintsville, then back to the top of Abbott mountain where the two women said the three men raped them.

From there they drove to Abbott Creek, near the home of Delmas

DOCTORS PLAN 'GRIPES' GROUP

A "Grievance Committee" Set To Hear Complaints Made Against Any Doctor

The Floyd County Medical Society announced following its recent quarterly meeting the formation of a "grievance committee" to hear any complaint made against any doctor in the county by the person offering protest.

Dr. John G. Archer, secretary-treasurer of the Medical Society, said the purpose of the committee will be to attempt to adjust to the satisfaction of all concerned the matter constituting the complaint.

"The committee has been formed to give better medical care to the people of Floyd county and to guard against any and all unscrupulous or unethical practices," Dr. Archer said.

He added that the people should not be afraid to avail themselves of the services to avail themselves which will attempt to adjust every complaint, no matter how trivial.

Any person having a grievance against any doctor must, to procure the services of the committee, report the grievance in writing, sign the statement of complaint and mail it to Box 311, Prestonsburg. After that, the person making the complaint will be notified when he or she shall appear before the Society for a hearing on the grievance, it was explained.

GROUP HELPS 204 FAMILIES

Committee Spends $871.45 For Needy, Report Says; Food and Clothing Given

A total of 204 Floyd county families have been aided by the Citizens Improvement committee as of April 1, according to Rev. Ivan Jones, custodian of the organization's records. The committee, set up primarily to assist needy school-children, has spent $871.45 in this work, Frank Harman, treasurer of the group, noted this week in a financial summary.

Most of the families were aided only once, many twice and a very few three times. One hundred thirty-one families received both food and clothing. Six families were helped after their homes were burned.

Fifty coats and pants, 35 shirts, 10 pairs of shoes and several pairs of overshoes were donated to volunteer workers in the schoolchildren recovery operation on the river as many of the workers were unemployed and in need.

AGED P'BURG RESIDENT, MUSIC, SPEECH TEACHER, SUCCEUMS AT LOUISVILLE

Mrs. Nannie Graves Whaley, 86, former Prestonsburg resident, died at the Order of Eastern Star home, Cherokee Parkway, Louisville, Friday.

Mrs. Whaley, a native of Chillicothe, Mo., was a former Chataqua singer and for 25 years conducted music and speech classes here. She was a member of the Methodist church.

She was twice married, first to a Mr. Davis who preceded her in death and then to the late Dr. K. J. Whaley. She had no surviving children. One sister, Mrs. Ruth Smythe, Los Angeles, Calif., survives.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday from the First Methodist church, the Rev. Harold Dorsey officiating. Burial was made in the Gearheart cemetery under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

24th Bus Victim's Body Found Wednesday; Three Yet Missing

$1,500 VOTED ON RECOVERY

Disaster Fund Augments Pool for Recovery Work; Burial Fund at $51,000

The Prestonsburg School Disaster committee, in a meeting at the First National Bank Wednesday noon voted to give the Prestonsburg Schoolchildren Recovery committee $1,500 to assist the operations group in its effort to find the remaining three bodies of children lost in the Feb. 28 tragedy.

"The Recovery committee is to be commended," Marvin Music, a member of the Disaster committee, said. "I'm in favor of assisting them every bit we can."

The committee also indicated it would aid in the future if needed. Funds raised by the disaster group to aid the families of the children now total approximately $51,000, it was noted by Mrs. R. V. May, treasurer. Several thousand dollars have already been expended on funerals, it was said.

The dire financial straits of the Recovery committee were noted last week and Burl Spurlock, who heads the Disaster committee, appeared at a meeting of the recovery organization Friday evening to offer assistance from his group. It had already committed itself to pay $500 on the reward money for finding the children—an amount which is being matched by the Floyd County Board of Education.

As of Tuesday the Recovery committee has raised $1,030.97 on its own, it was pointed out by James B. Goble, of Emma, who is treasurer of the operation group.

GRAND JURORS TAKE RECESS

Panel Set To Reconvene On April 24 for 3 Days; Several Charges Listed

The Floyd circuit court grand jury adjourned Saturday for a "recess" until April 24 when it will reconvene for an additional three days' work.

A large number of the true bills reported by the jury before its recess involved theft. Major indictments voted, in addition to those listed last week, follow:

Chester Hicks, Dewey Shepherd, Willie Baldrige, Willie Hunter, of Garrett, Arthur Hall, James Blackburn and Walter Owens, each charged with child desertion; Freddie Castle, carrying a concealed deadly weapon; John B. Hall, grand larceny, accused of breaking into the home of Pat Roberts, of Galveston, and taking a blackjack, a revolver and a razor; Amos Lee Duncan and Howard Hicks, two indictments for knowingly receiving stolen property taken from the premises of Clarence Johnson and Norman Hayes; Harold Jones, striking and wounding, accused by Virgil Shepherd of striking him seven times on the head with a half-inch board; Paul Prater, breaking and entering, two cases, Westfall Bros. Service Station and

HATCHER ASKS STATE OFFICE

Former Sec'y of State To Seek Democratic Nod To Return to Same Spot

Geroge Glenn Hatcher, of Prestonsburg and Frankfort, twice secretary of state, announced Saturday he will seek the office again in the Democratic primary next year.

Hatcher said the announcement conforms with a statement he made a year ago—that he might be a candidate for lieutenant governor or secretary of state in 1959.

Hatcher said he has received encouragement from all over the state, and added:

"This is the time for all good Democrats to rally to the support of their party, and make up a ticket of strong candidates to assure victory in 1959."

Hatcher was elected secretary of state in 1939 and 1947.

He lost to the late Charles K. O'Connell in the race for the Democratic nomination for clerk of the Court of Appeals in 1955.

He said he expects to make a formal announcement of his candidacy later.

Hatcher is the first to announce for secretary of state.

Boy Scouts Dedicated To Reach Every Youth, Hoffman Tells Group

"The Boy Scouts of America are dedicated to make scouting available to all boys regardless of where they are located," said William Hoffman, a National Boy Scout executive, in a dinner meeting at the B. & W. Cafe last week.

"You have 61,000 boys in Lone-some Pine Council of cub or scouting age. You have an obligation," he said in addressing an interested group, "to bring scouting to all of them."

Hoffman commented that a third World War could be precipitated by the stupid blunder of a person touching a button. He said that it would be likely that the population areas of the world might be totally exterminated, leaving the people who live in the protective mountains to rebuild this country.

He said that he was confident that our way of life would win out and added that places such as Eastern Kentucky might have the responsibility of putting the "pieces back together."

"Bring scouting to your youth," he said. "We don't know how much time there is left to build our youth into responsible citizens through good scouting."

Hoffman told the group that he is a native of north Wisconsin and called himself a country

Nicholasville Pastor In Revival At Allen

Revival services to begin April 28 and continue through May 7 at the First Baptist Church at Allen were announced this week by the Rev. Eugene Reese, pastor. The Rev. W. G. Craig, pastor of the Nicholasville Baptist Church, will be the evangelist.

Services will be held daily at 7:45 p.m., and the public is cordially invited.

BODY OF GIRL IS RECOVERED BY SEARCHERS

Recovery Follows Finding Of Jervis Youth's Body; Girl's Rites Set Friday

Recovery Wednesday morning of the body of 15-year-old Doris Faye Burchett, one of the 27 who lost their lives in the Feb. 28 school bus tragedy, reduced to three the number yet missing and still sought by constant probing and searching of the Big Sandy river.

The bodies of one girl, Paulette Cline, 9, and two boys, James Edward Goble, 12, and James L. Meade, Jr., 9, are still being sought.

The Wednesday morning discovery—the 24th body found in 47 days of searching—was made by Jones Kerr, the Paris, Ky. man who has been here almost ever since the bus plunged into the river, and Col. Stanton T. Smith, Lexington, commanding officer in charge of the 41 National Guardsmen working here with volunteer forces in the river search. Her body was found a short distance above the new water plant, approximately a mile downriver from the scene of the tragedy. A bulldozer owned by the H. B. Ranier Construction Company is being used to uproot willows along the east bank of the river, and it was this work which dislodged the body of the victim found Wednesday. Use of the bulldozer continues.

Both Mr. Kerr and Col. Smith declined to accept payment of the $1,000 offered for the recovery of each of the missing children. The girl's body was the second recovered by Mr. Kerr.

Wednesday's success marked the recovery of the fourth body Tuesday of last week when the body of Anna Laura Goble, 9, was found. On the following day the body of Katie Carol Jarrell, 13, was found at Auxier and last Friday that of Montaine Jervis, 15, was recovered from the river at the rear of the Ranier Construction Company building here.

Body of the Jervis boy was found by Willie Coffee, of Paintsville, and Haskell Prater, of Goodloe. The men shared the $1,000 reward posted jointly by the Floyd County Board of Education and the Prestonsburg School Disaster Committee.

Young Jervis was a son of Virgil and Nancy Woods Jervis, of Endicott. Besides the parents, five sisters, Louannis, Minerva Sue, Kathleen Dimple and Ruth Ollie Jervis, survive. The body lay in state at the Moore Funeral Home here, Friday afternoon till 5 o'clock, then was taken to the parents' home. Funeral rites were conducted from the Home Branch school Saturday afternoon by the Revs. Ira Mc-

Donald and J. W. Burchett. (See Story No. 7, Page 7)

DRIVE STARTED BY RED CROSS

1958 Annual Campaign, Delayed By Bus Tragedy, Seeks Members, Funds

As in 1957, the American Red Cross annual campaign for members and funds has again been delayed by disaster—this year by the tragic school bus accident of February 28.

All facilities of the Floyd County Chapter were immediately placed at the disposition of the rescue operation, first at the scene of the disaster, and later at the Prestonsburg Armory, where a canteen and communications center has been established, with Red Cross personnel on the job with round-the-clock service.

The 1958 campaign has finally been organized, however, in an effort to raise Floyd county's quota of $8,795, a reduction of $1,350 from last year. In 1957 total contributions in this county amounted to $9,444 towards a quota of $10,145.

During the two fiscal years ended June 30, 1957, a period termed the worst disaster cycle in recent history, the national Red Cross organization expended over $50,000,000 for relief and rehabilitation of the distressed victims of these nation-wide calamities, including over a half-million dollars distributed in

JUDGE COMBS ENTERS RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Judge Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, announced in Louisville Sunday that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

His announcement followed by a few days that of Ex-Mayor Wilson Wyatt, of Louisville, for the same office.

Both men are anti-administration candidates.

Lieut.-Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, Chandler's choice as his successor, has not announced and may not until after the May primary election.

Judge Combs' announcement was made after representatives of anti-Chandler forces from all sections of the state had met in Louisville. Sentiment at that meeting was overwhelmingly pro-Combs, and the sentiment was generally expressed that in the Prestonsburg man lies the hope of Chandler foes to prevent Waterfield, Chandler's choice for winning the governorship.

Discussing his decision, Combs said, "I think I am a sort of symbol of opposition to Chandler." He added that he will make an aggressive campaign, avoiding some of

No, This Bill Wasn't Passed

The Floyd County Times has never felt that the 1958 General Assembly distinguished itself but has withheld comment to that effect, mainly for the reason that the legislators quit work before most of us realized that many good causes were lost and because comment later would have served no good or constructive purpose.

But a statement made by Dr. Robert R. Martin, superintendent of public instruction, in this edition of this newspaper makes comment necessary. For his article apparently was written while the Legislature was still in session and it leaves the impression that the school bus safety measure to which he refers might have been passed. So we note here that nothing of the sort was done.

The bill offered by Floyd county's two Representatives—Sam Hale, of Blue River, and Mrs. Ann B. Hall, of Bypro—was drafted, Dr. Martin says, in the Department of Education by a committee composed of school superintendents and directors of pupil transportation, and it had the endorsement of officials of the Department of Public Safety.

It provided for school bus inspections at least once a month; for certification of school bus drivers by the Department of Public Safety, with the examination preceding such certification including color-perception tests; regulation of bus speed to conform with road conditions; loads within the manufacturer's load limit specifications, and fines for violation of the law.

As Dr. Martin points out, no law will guarantee the safety of children. But such a law would have most surely been an earnest attempt to control, insofar as humans can control, conditions under which children travel to and from school. Nobody questions the desirability of having bus drivers undergo stricter tests—physical, mental and moral—of limiting speeds and loads.

The heart-rending Floyd county school tragedy was fresh in the minds of all concerned. If the welfare of children ever should have held top priority in the thinking of everybody, surely it was then.

But the Legislature haggled with the Governor; the Governor feuded with the Legislature and Henry Carter. Time dragged on, and finally ran out.

A lot of people, including The Floyd County Times, still feel that the school bus safety bill which this county's Representatives co-authored was worthwhile. Many wonder, and will wonder for a long while, how such a matter could have been "lost in the shuffle."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all the relatives, friends and neighbors who were so wonderful in assisting us in the illness of our dear husband and father and who were such a help and comfort upon his death. A special thanks to all who sent flowers and food, and assisted in other ways. We thank Rev. Henry Crider and Rev. L. E. Walters for their kind words, and the Freewill Baptist Church at Boldman and the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

HALL IS GRADUATED AT GREAT LAKES

GREAT LAKES, ILL.—Delmas Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hall, Jr., of Wheelwright, Ky., graduated from recruit training April 6 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

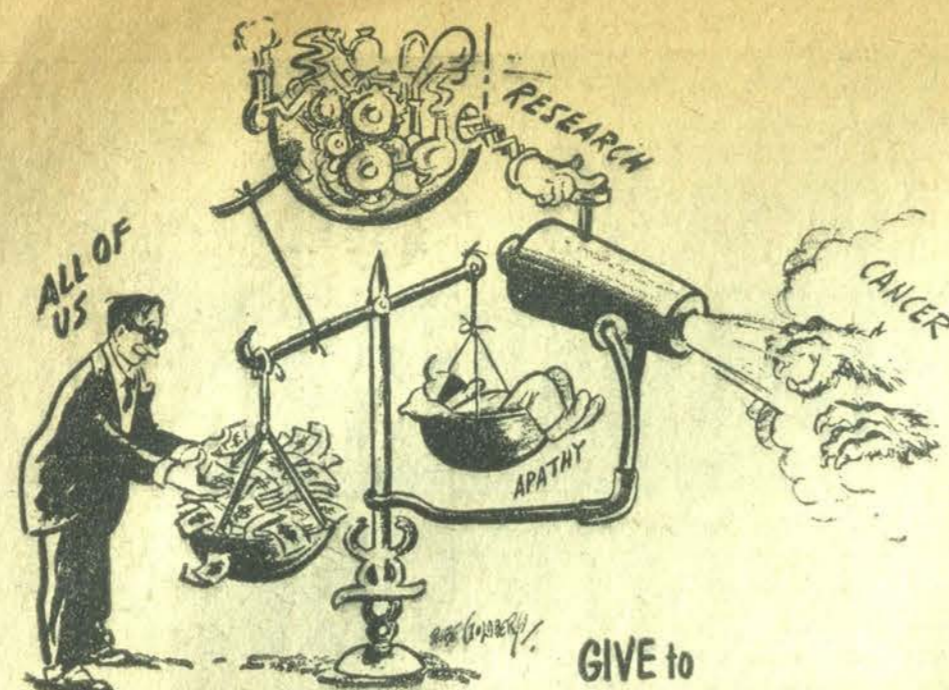

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

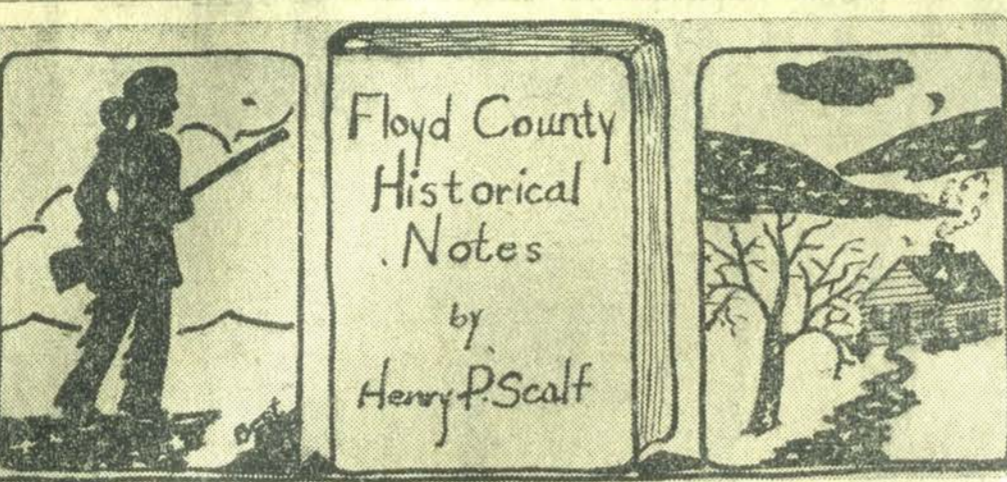

The Old Timer, who appears daily on Station WEAZ, Huntington, will be at Cox's Store from one to three p.m. Saturday. All children are invited to personally meet the Old Timer and receive a gift which he will be handing out.

HARMANS AND DEANS OF INDIANA

Recently a trio of Indians spent an evening with this columnist in an effort to establish the relationship of the Floyd county, Ind., and Floyd county, Ky. Harmans. They were Clifton M. Harman, of New Albany, Orville Davis, director of church relations of DePauw University at Greencastle and John Dean, of Bloomington.

Both Harman and Davis are descendants of Mathias Harman, born 1810, it is said in Virginia, and died in Floyd county, Ind., in 1859. He married an Edelman. Five sons and a daughter were Albert, John, George, Clemmon, James and Elizabeth. The daughter married George Freeland and was the mother of ten children among whom was Flora Etta who married Davis.

"Western North Carolina," by John Preston Arthur, gives the key, the Indians thought, to their Harman ancestry. Records show, according to Arthur's book that Cutliff Harman, of Randolph county, bought land in Cove Creek Valley, Aug. 6, 1791, and that he married Susan Fouts by whom he had ten children. Mathias Harman, a son, moved to Indiana as did a daughter, Rebecca who married Frank Adams. It is this Mathias Harman who is the ancestor of Clifton M. Harman and Orville Davis, the visitors concluded.

Their interest in the Eastern Kentucky Harman family was aroused when they read Gerald Griffin's feature story on Mathias Harman and Jenny Wiley in the Courier-Journal in 1950 when this county was preparing to celebrate its sesquicentennial.

The relationship of the Indiana Deans and the Kentucky Deans was well established, John Dean, one of the visitors said. His daughter, Mrs. Virginia C. Braun, Bloomington, Ind., is the family historian and has accumulated much data.

MISS MAYO WRITES

Miss Margot Mayo, 550 Riverside Drive, New York 27, N. Y., writes, among other things about a visit to President's U. S. Grant's tomb.

"Up in Grant's tomb there are murals which show various battles in the 'Late Unpleasantness' and there is a spot marked in Kentucky which seems to be Prestonsburg but was marked Prestonsville or some such name which was almost Prestonsburg but not quite. I mean to recheck that just as soon as possible."

SELLARDS AND WILEY FAMILIES

A letter from Mrs. Nancy Wiley Corns, Crum, W. Va., a descendant of the pioneer heroine Jenny Wiley. Mrs. Corns, as stated in a recent column, plans to write a history of her

Scout Troop Completes Buddy-Burner Project; Other Troops Are Active

Girl Scout Troop 29 have completed their latest project of buddy-burners and are currently working on handicrafts in making gifts for Mother's Day. The troop is led by Mrs. Dave Goble who is assisted by Mrs. James Lafferty.

Troop 15 is preparing for a mother-daughter banquet for Thursday, April 17. They made favors and invitations last week. The girls were led on a tour of the post office last week by Arthur J. Archer who explained the mailing system to them.

Leader of troop 15 is Mrs. George Archer, assisted by Mrs. Royce Mayo.

The Prestonsburg neighborhood troop leaders are making plans this week for a court award to be held later this spring. Donations for the Anna Laura Goble Memorial Fund are now being collected. The memorial fund will buy a canoe which will be given to Girl Scout Camp Chatterawah.

ANCESTOR'S CAPTIVITY AND ESCAPE FROM THE INDIANS

In the recent letter to this column she asks about the grave of John Sellards, brother of Mrs. Wiley, who is buried at Ivel, this county.

"I would like to know if the grave of John Sellards at Ivel is marked," she writes. (It is not but the location is definitely placed on the point back of the residence of George Conn.) "There is a Sellards family in this county who are descendants of Cornelius Sellards. (He was a son of John Sellards, the brother of Mrs. Wiley.)

"I have access to a copy of 'The Big Sandy Valley,' by Wm. Ely. It gives a fair account of Mrs. Wiley's captivity. I have a copy of Tyler's Historical Magazine, published in Virginia, which gives an account of Mrs. Wiley's escape from the Indians. The magazine also carried a correction of errors which I sent them.

"I attended school in Prestonsburg long ago. Professor W. M. Byington was my instructor."

Mrs. Corns stated she was 75 years of age.

STONECOAL REGULAR BAPTIST CHURCH

This column urges everyone interested in our area's history to read "Stonecoal Regular Baptist Church, Floyd county, Kentucky," by Irma Wicker Haney, of Hodgenville, that appeared in the Filson Club Quarterly, January, this year. Copies may be procured from the historical society at Louisville.

The church was organized about 1808 by S. M. Justice, W. M. Huff, Dave Hayes, J. C. Coburn and John Morris, Sr. Hayes donated the church plot. Mrs. Wicker comments that all of them, only a short while before, had immigrated from Virginia.

"The first building to house the church was a loghouse, with a dirt floor, built by members of the church," the article says. "Right Beaver Creek was sparse-ly settled and families lived miles apart. Travel to and from church was by horseback or walking. There were only trails to follow—no roads that would accommodate a wagon or buggy, had they owned one."

Mrs. Haney gives due credit to persons seeking to preserve the history of the church, chief of who was Millard Allen, of Lackey, who is clerk and custodian of the records.

Management Survey Draws Foremen Profile

Thomas Patrick, president of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company Foremen's Club, recently released the results of a survey by the National Management Association which draws the profile of an average foreman of first-level supervisor.

By contacting some 1,700 of the NMA's 73,000 members, it was found that the average NMA member is 41½ years old and has been in industry for 19 years. Nine of these years in industry have been in a management position.

The NMA found that approximately 48 per cent of its membership is made up of first-level management people. About 59 per cent of its members are in production capacities while the remainder are split among staff, technical and professional and top executive positions.

Using the survey to gain information helpful in planning training and management development programs, the NMA found that 85 per cent of its members are high school graduates, 30 per cent are college graduates and 51 per cent have had some college training. Fifty-five per cent have participated in company training programs in the past two years and nearly all indicate they are interested in further training.

Their interest lies mainly in five subjects: practical human relations, effective speaking, creative thinking, supervisory responsibilities, management and control.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AN APPRECIATED APPRECIATION

Editor, The Times: I wish to commend you on your stand in defense of those two wonderful, old hymns: "The Old Rugged Cross" and "In The Garden."

We need more like you who will use the means of the press to fight the modernistic trend that would remove the blood atonement from the Gospel, and set up their own "so-called" gospel, which is patterned after the works of men.

May the Lord bless you for your stand on this matter.

Clear Creek Mountain Preachers School, Pineville, Ky.

IN EXPLANATION

Editor, The Times: Floyd county has a fine Democratic Woman's Club which is active and very responsive to its party in the General Elections. Since it has not been possible for us to have a designated monthly meeting because of the lack of a meeting place, it has been left to the decision of those who have paid their annual dues as to when and where the meetings will be held. ONLY PAID MEMBERS ARE NOTIFIED. We welcome in to our club any Floyd County Democratic woman and the dues are $1.00 annually which may be mailed to Emma May, Treasurer, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

FLOYD STILL HOME TO HER

Editor, The Times: Your paper keeps me in touch with the happiness and sorrows of the people I love.

I left Kentucky twenty years ago, but it will always be home to me, with the most wonderful, God-fearing people I have ever known.

No words can express my sorrow to the parents who lost their loved ones in the bus tragedy. My deepest sympathy to them all.

Sincerely Bertie Reed Claggett, 9239 Brookside Circle, Spring Valley, Calif.

Farm families in the U. S. spent an average of $235 for medical care in 1955, compared with $155 spent in 1941 (on the basis of 1955 prices). In this category farm families approached the closest to city levels of spending.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Writers look for the "hook" onto which to hitch their narrative, and I have been looking for such an excuse for what follows but have looked in vain. I propose to tell it, anyhow.

It has to do with a Negro miner known as Bodiddle who worked at Betsy Layne, a number of years ago. He had his share of the weaknesses common to both the white and colored races, and when he received his World War I bonus he could see winged dollars all over the place; so he took the whole wad to a mine foreman named Jim Lyon and told Lyon to keep the money for him, lest he waste it.

Next day, however, Bodiddle called on Mr. Lyon for some of the money. And the next day and the next. And so on till finally one day Lyon told him, "That's the last—there ain't any more." The money has disappeared in little more than a week and the mine foreman asked Bodiddle what he had done with it.

"Well, Mister Lyon, I tell you," the prodigal reported. "First off, I bought me a car, and it tuck some money to fix it up and run it. And, suh, I spent some on likker and some on women. And the rest—well, I jest wasted it on foolishness!"

support in every section of the state that he feels certain he can win over Waterfield, even if Wyatt should remain in the race.

He called Wyatt a personal friend and an outstanding citizen.

He continued meeting with supporters in this part of Kentucky after his return to Prestonsburg Monday. One of these meetings was held here Tuesday night, and here again he found his supporters ready and willing for the coming party battle.

Judge Combs said he will run on "the ideals and objectives for which the so-called rebels in the Legislature fought, and, where practical, to enact those objectives into law." He said he will advocate "a sound, progressive program to develop the full potential of the state."

NOTICE

On and after April 7th, 1958 a Learner's Permit to drive a car will be $1.00; 50c for the permit and 50c for the application therefor. Permits or driver's license shall be issued in the county where you live, and you must apply in person. All of which is now provided by law.

HENRY STEPHENS, CLERK
Floyd Circuit Court

he was arrested he turned over to the disaster fund. Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley quoted Oliver as saying he was a minister of the Church of Christ and that he had been preaching in parts of Kentucky and Virginia.

Billy Gene McCoy was given a one-year term on his plea of guilty to a charge of robbing Mrs. Doll Gibson, aged Drift woman. Lucy Jo Craft, his alleged accomplice, is slated for trial April 21. Raleigh Mills, third of those indicted in the case, is in the army and a trial date for him has not been set.

Jim Miller was granted a new trial and the breaking and entering indictment against him was dismissed Tuesday after legal aspects of his conviction this week were considered by Judge Hill. His conviction resulted from testimony given by Yancey Horn and Bill Smith, Jr., who have been serving time on one-year pen terms. They named Miller as their accomplice in the looting of Curt Homes' store here. Kentucky law is such, however, that a conviction gained on testimony of accomplices, without other supporting evidence, is not legal, and so Judge Hill dismissed the case after motion for new trial had been filed.

Cecil Tackett was fined $100 and given a 30-day jail term Tuesday for shooting and wounding Freddy Cline Collins.

Several liquor indictments were dismissed within the week, and Commonwealth's Attorney Conley stressed the point that the dismissals were made on the ground that the affidavits for search warrants were defective. He explained that Judge Hill had ruled on one affidavit, and that all were the same form affidavit. These, he explained, were made during the term of office of Ex-Sheriff Gorman Collins and that the affidavit form has been changed to conform with the law.

Liquor cases dismissed within the week:

Jonnie Thornsburg (two cases), Emmitt Vance (two cases), Hite Foster, Betty Pitts, Dora Johnson, Lark Hunt, Henry Boto and Grant Hall.

Other work of the court for the week:

Daytown (Bobby) Joseph, Jr., liquor possession, continued to April 23; Faye Lawson, obtaining money under false pretense, not guilty; Tuby Ratliff, pointing a deadly weapon at another, set April 29; Dewey O. Butler, grand larceny, April 30; Clyde Hicks, Jr. and Burlin Jacobs, grand larceny, April 24; Mars Robinson, shooting at another without wounding, fined $75; Martin Conn, conversion or property and disposing of personal property without written consent of owner, dismissed, marked, "evidence insufficient;" Eddie Lewis, forgery, dismissed, lack of evidence; Roy Turner, grand larceny, April 28; Curtis Sizemore, grand larceny, April 24; Ed Wright, Jr., voluntary manslaughter, April 25.

Dixie Blevins, cold check, $500 bond forfeited and new bond of $1,000 asked; Robert Adkins, knowingly receiving stolen property, set April 30; Tyrone Booth, breaking and entering, dismissed, insufficient evidence; Palmer Hall, injuring a horse, fined $50, new trial asked; Chester Little, obtaining money under false pretense, dismissed, insufficient evidence; Ernest Conn, shooting and wounding, April 23; Charles Hamilton, Charles Blanton and Darrell Stratton, grand larceny, set April 22, bond of Stratton heretofore forfeited and bench warrant for his arrest issued, no bond allowed; James Henry Fields, breaking and entering, $500 bond forfeited; John and Ernest Reynolds, destroying private property, dismissed; Billy Price, Dorothy Sammons and Melvin Goble, breaking and entering, filed away subject to redocket.

Homer Thacker, cold check, dismissed, lack of evidence; Roman Caudill, forgery, plea of guilty, one year in pen; Sterling Daniel, Jr., breaking and entering, set April 21; Agnal Jone, reckless driving, fined $50; Claude Little, drunkenness, $25 fine; Claude Little, reckless use of deadly weapon, $100 fine; Homer Tackett, grand larceny, $500 bond forfeited; Johnny Crider, assault and battery, dismissed; A. C. Carter, assault and battery, not guilty; Harvey Reed Gunnels, child desertion, dismissed, insufficient evidence; Vance Porter and Bob Blanton, grand larceny, $1,000 bond of Blanton forfeited and trial set April 17; Kermit Howard, conversion, dismissed, insufficient evidence; Walter Ownes, child desertion, April 21; Tommy Hughes, detaining a woman against her will and drunken driving, dismissed, marked, "insufficient evidence."

The CIA is reducing operations to a minimum in the school field until September, it was said by Walter Frasure, social worker with the Board of Education, since schools will close soon. Emphasis is shifting now to aid unemployed families in planting gardens to augment their food supplies. The idea of assisting in gardening was advanced by Mrs. Myrtle Davis, member of the aid group.

Some forms of home rehabilitation are being promoted through the local Extension Service, it was pointed out. To families in great need and where the aid will contribute to the recovery of the family home environment, certain basic furnishings such as curtains and wallpaper are being donated. It was pointed out, however, that this help is limited due to the lack of funds. Gardening help is limited to potatoes for seed and certain other basic food staples.

The treasurer's report, released this week, shows receipts of $1,206.25 with expenditures of $871.45. However, the organization has an excess of $300 in outstanding obligations, it was said.

Housekeepers were urged to set aside all unneeded clothing and house furnishings this spring for use by the committee. An attempt is being made to build up a reserve of clothing for next winter. Anyone having clothes or furnishings no longer needed are asked to contact any member of the improvement group.

STATE TOURNAMENT SITE
No action will be forthcoming on the site of the 1959 state high school basketball tournament until July. The K. H. S. A. A. will wait until the NCAA picks the site of its 1959 meet, which Louisville would like to have for a return engagement. If Louisville fans fail to land the lucrative tourney, it will put in a strong bid to have the state high school tournament moved back from Lexington. The gross receipts from this year's event in Lexington were $114,000.

SUMMER SERIES
The Kentucky - West Virginia summer-time basketball series will be played in Williamson, West Virginia, June 9. In two previous encounters, West Virginia has won both starts. Teams and coaches will be announced later.

OPEN FRIDAY
Prestonsburg's Blackcats will open their home baseball season Friday afternoon in meeting defending regional champion Paintsville. Last week's doubleheader with Lafayette was cancelled.

POWERS SELECTED
Porter Powers, leading scorer in the state during the past basketball season with a 35.5 per game average, has been named as the 15th region's player in the Coaches' Association all-star basketball game in Lexington next August.

RETAIL MARKETING INITIATIVE INCREASES PATSY COAL SALES

By HENRY P. SCALF

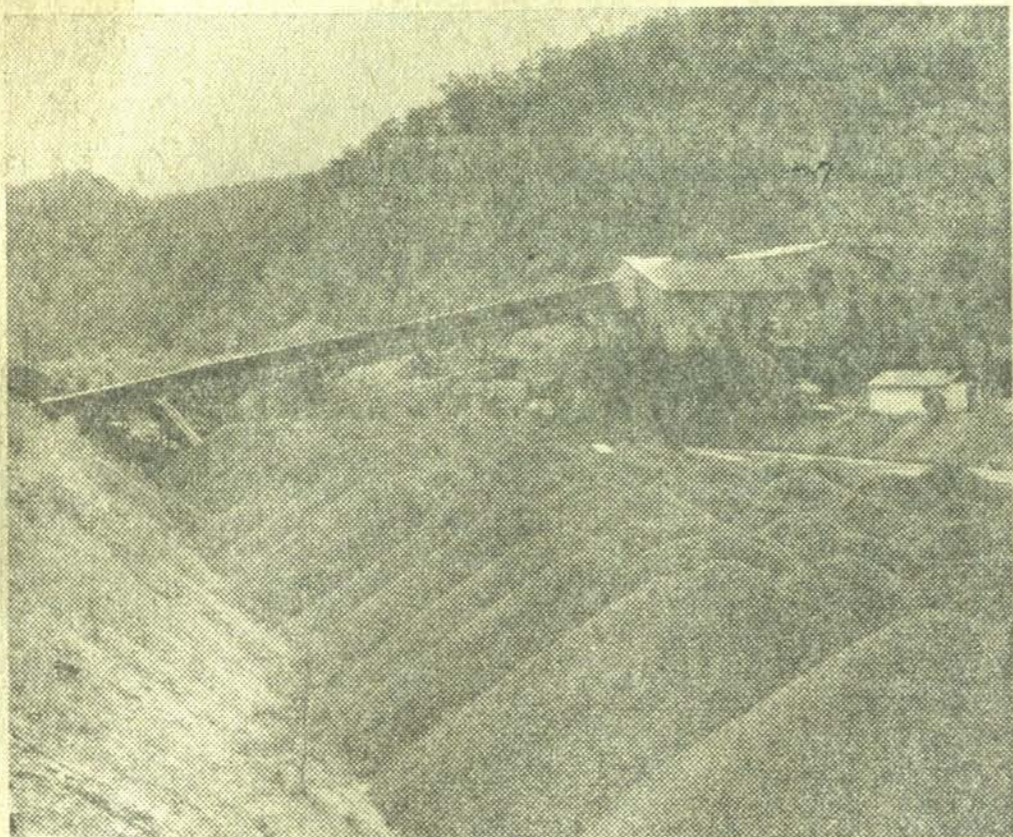

Photo Courtesy, Princess Elkhorn Coal Co. A huge stockpile of Patsy coal that awaits orders. Storage of coal when orders are low insures steady employment for Princess Elkhorn's several hundred employees.

Few modern coal mining operations, at least in the Southern field, have been able to maintain consistent production and sales since the late 40's when demand for many grades of coal began to level off. Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, of David, has breached the ebbing tide, however, and has done it with amazing success.

The company, through intelligent merchandising and with a sales organization par excellence, put its Patsy coals in the better retail markets and held it there. Today Patsy production provides jobs and bolsters the economy of an area long since in the doldrums.

Coal Age, trade magazine of the industry, in its January issue notes how the company has done it. In an article, "Betting on Retail Pays Off for Princess Coal Sales," Daniel Jackson, Jr., assistant editor, tells the story of Princess Elkhorn's outstanding job of retail merchandising of a product that was selling on a buyer's market.

Immediately after World War II no coal company had any trouble disposing of its product. Home stoker coals were especially in demand. The natural gas industry had not begun to take its toll of the space heating market for lump and egg sizes. Production in the industry hit its peak in 1944 with 125,000,000 tons and held at 100,000,000 tons to 1948. It was the best period for coal producers in the history of the industry.

Late in the 40's demand for stoker coal leveled off and smart operators, like Princess Elkhorn and Powellton Coal Co., of Mallery, W. Va., a sister company, joined with others in the industry under the auspices of Appalachian Coals, Inc., to study the future of the domestic market. The survey found that home stoker coal sales would remain constant for years, that commercial stoker demand would increase but that lump and egg demand would slide.

Knowing now what the future should hold, Princess Coal Sales, which has for its job the selling of Patsy coals, set out to reach and hold the larger and better retail markets. In this venture the father and son team of James D. Francis and David Francis provided the leadership.

Gas and oil are hurting the coal industry but Princess Elkhorn is betting on its premium quality to withstand the inroads. To maintain its position Princess Coal Sales offers a trio of practices: Quality coal production, creation of an accepted pattern of service and assistance to the retailer through advertising and engineering service.

Today, 70 percent of Princess Elkhorn's production of 1,250,000 tons goes into the retail market. The remaining 30 percent is sold to utilities. Powellton sells 1,500,000 tons. Each of the two producing companies have reserves for approximately 50 years.

To do this Princess Coal Sales had to have a sales organization with facts and new approaches; quality control which was envisioned as the crux of consumer acceptance; stockpiling that insured consistent production, plus distribution.

To implement this program 13 salesmen handle domestic accounts of 5,000,000 tons and five others look after the larger buyers of the other 2,000,000 tons of Patsy coals. The late James D. Francis headed the sales organization, as chairman of the board, assisted by David L. Francis, as president, and others.

One feature of the company's selling program is to encourage buyers and all who will visit the mines. William (Bill) Crawford, formerly of David, but now of Mallery, vice president in charge of operation, makes visitors welcome. "It keeps our operating departments aware of sales problems and brings home to the customers the problems we at the mines have in providing the product they desire," he explains.

To encourage visitors the company provides planes that fly visitors to the airfields at David and Mallery. Afterwards they are conducted on tours of the preparation plants, underground workings and laboratories.

Coal Age is informative of the coal that Princess Elkhorn is working, and the visitor sees the detail of operations.

"Patsy coal is produced from a nearly pure seam which contains no partings or impurities," the trade magazine says. "However, as the coal is removed, a small amount of foreign matter comes with it but less than three percent of the raw product from the mines is sent to refuse banks. Only after the raw product has been processed through either of two modern preparation plants and analyzed is it tagged Patsy coal. Small aluminum tags stamped with the Patsy trademark are placed in each car . . ."

Stockpiling, one of the company's most valuable assets, is done during the summer months when the large demand is slack for furnace and block coals. The coal is stored near No. 2 tipple in an area about the size of a city block and it rises 16 feet high.

Distribution of Patsy coal is effected in the domestic market in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, North and South Carolina. A heavy tonnage goes to Canada, reaching from the western provinces to Ontario and Quebec. The Northwestern states in this country receive large consignments.

Evidence that an intelligent approach to coal merchandising has paid off for Princess Elkhorn is that the mines have been idle only 35 days in the last 12 years.

A remarkable achievement, indeed, for a southern coal producer, with the industry ailing for nearly two decades.

MOST DANGEROUS GAME

Explorers call the arctic musk ox one of the most dangerous of game animals. But farmer John J. Teal, Jr., who is raising a herd on his farm in Huntington Center, near Burlington, Vermont, says in the April Reader's Digest, they are easily the tamest animals he has. They love being petted, and if you ignore them, they will rub against you — which is sometimes upsetting, since a musk ox weighs half a ton.

Miss Eva Fitzpatrick Dies In Louisville

Miss Eva Fitzpatrick, 73, native of Prestonsburg, died Mar. 31, at King's Daughters' hospital in Louisville following a short illness.

Miss Fitzpatrick was the daughter of the late T. Y. Fitzpatrick and Narcissus South Fitzpatrick. Her father was a Congressman from this district for many years prior to his death.

She had made her home at the Forks of Elkhorn for about 50 years. There are no immediate survivors other than cousins, among whom are Miss Eudora South, Mr. and Mrs. Barry South and Weldon South, of Franklin county, and Mrs. F. S. Hamilton, of Mt. Sterling. She was a member of the Methodist Church. Funeral services were held April 2 at Burdin-Sullivan Funeral Home in Frankfort, the Rev. E. L. Tullies, pastor of the Frankfort Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in the family plot in Frankfort cemetery. Pallbearers were Edgar Hume, Granville Coblin, George Green, Wallace McConnell, Sidney Brumbeck and Harry Shaw.

FOOD NOTES

By DIXIE T. HIGGINS Home Demonstration Agent

Cabbage! Cabbage! You are seeing it in the fresh vegetable section of stores and in open fruit and vegetable markets. Cabbage is coming to our section from the South-west. It's supply is pretty constant throughout the year.

Raw cabbage is an excellent source of vitamin C which is so essential for healthy gums and firm rooted teeth. However when cabbage is cooked Vitamin C is destroyed and you will need to use tomatoes or tomato juice or citrus fruits. Good health can be had by using at least one serving of the Vitamin C foods daily.

Cabbage will also provide roughage in the diet. Roughage is necessary to help move foods along the digestive tracts of the body.

You may like to try the Cabbage Patch Salad or Cabbage Patch Stew. Adjust the seasonings to suit your family's taste.

CABBAGE PATCH SALAD

- 1/2 medium head of cabbage
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 T. vinegar
- 1/4 c. cream
- 1/4 salad dressing
- 1/4 t salt
- dash of pepper
- 1/2 t. dry mustard.

Shred cabbage very thin; place in plastic bag in refrigerator to crisp. Combine cabbage, onion, vinegar in bowl. Mix cream, salad dressing and seasonings; toss lightly with cabbage. 6 servings. Suggested Menu: Pork chops, buttered rice, apple sauce, cabbage patch salad, and milk. Bread Pudding.

CABBAGE PATCH STEW

- 1/2 lb. ground beef
- 2 T. fat
- 2 medium onions, sliced thin
- 1 c. shredded cabbage
- No. 1 can red kidney beans
- 1 c. cooked tomatoes
- salt and pepper
- 1 t. chili powder
- hot mashed potato

Brown ground beef in hot fat over med. heat; add onions, cabbage and celery; cook until yellow. Add water to cover (about 2 cups); simmer 15 minutes. Add beans, tomatoes, and seasonings; Cook 15 to 25 minutes. Serve in bowls topped with spoonfuls of mashed potato, 6 servings. Suggested Menu: Cabbage Patch Stew, Pear-Cottage Cheese Salad, Corn Sticks, milk and Oatmeal Cookies.

"Make mine pie!" That's the dessert request most commonly heard regardless of the season.

Chiffon pies are particular favorites during the spring and summer because of their lightness and delicate flavor. With bananas on the plentiful foods list and reasonable in price, this fruit is a good choice at this time.

Banana Chiffon Pie

- 1 T gelatin
- 1/2 c orange juice
- 1 c mashed bananas (2 to 3 bananas)
- 2 T lemon juice
- 1/2 t salt
- 3 egg yolks, beaten
- 6 T sugar
- 3 egg whites
- 1 baked 9-inch crust

Sprinkle gelatin over orange juice to soften. In the top of the double boiler, mix mashed bananas, lemon juice, salt, beaten egg yolks and 2 tablespoons of sugar. Blend well. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and add softened gelatin. Stir until it is dissolved in the mixture. Cool. Beat egg whites until foamy, gradually add remaining sugar and continue beating until the mixture is stiff and glossy. Fold into the cooled banana mixture and pile lightly into pie shell. Chill until firm.

Menu: Baked ham, green beans, buttered corn, waldorf salad, biscuits, butter, and banana chiffon pie.

Saunders, the statement continues, and there they let Rosa Meade out of the car, demanding that she go, get $30 or they would kill her, the next time they saw her. This was about 4:30 a.m., the women claimed. Sheriff Hershel Warrens was called, and the car left the scene, leaving the woman behind.

The Wallen girl claimed the men then drove to Middle Creek where Green left the car. The other two, it was claimed, took the girl on to a schoolhouse near the bridge leading to David and there raped her again. She was permitted to leave the car further up the Middle Creek road and made her way to the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Ben Parker where she told part of her story.

The affidavit stated a wrist watch and $7 in cash were taken from Ethel Wallen. When the girl and the woman confronted the three men in the office of County Attorney R. S. Wellman here she pointed out that Green was wearing her watch. He removed it from his wrist and handed it to her. He denied taking the money.

Following the phone call at 4:30 a.m., Sheriff Hershel Warrens and Deputy Sheriff Jarvis Allen made a search for the three men through the Abbott-Middle Creek section, but they were not found till several hours later by Warrens Allen, Deputy Sheriffs Lonnie Herald and George Hall, Jr.

Largest River Basin

The Green River has the largest basin in Kentucky. Its area is 9,222 square miles, which is nearly one-fourth of the total area of the state. The river rises in Lincoln county in the center of the State and flows westward 370 miles to enter the Ohio River at Henderson.

DANVILLE NAMED ALTERNATE SITE OF STATE GOVERNMENT

"The government of Kentucky started at Danville in days of the tomahawk and long rifle. God forbid that it end at Danville in the days of the hydrogen bomb."

Thus declared James Peel, a civil defense planner from the Department of Finance, at a conference which approved plans to move the State government to Danville in event of an enemy attack upon Frankfort.

The meeting of Gov. A. B. Chandler's Advisory Council on Civil Defense and Continuity of Government was presided over by Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield and Gen. J. S. Lindsay, Kentucky civil defense administrator.

The council approved a plan, formulated by its working staff, for operation of State government in an emergency.

The proceedings were witnessed by Leo A. Hoegh former governor of Iowa and U. S. civil defense administrator and John L. Sullivan, Olney, Md., administrator for Region Two of which Kentucky is a part. Both expressed satisfaction at the Commonwealth's progress in civil defense planning.

Members of the working staff reporting on plans to date included Peel; Norbert C. Rechin education; Joe Sills health; Dr. E. G. Trimble University of Kentucky political science department; Miss Ruth McQuown of the same department; Col. E. H. Malburn chief planner of survival plans project; June Bruce economic security.

In nuclear warfare Hoegh said the attacker is not necessarily the winner. He added:

"The winner will be the nation that can sustain itself. It will be the nation where government at all levels can function under emergency conditions."

Mrs. Addie Conley, 59, Resident of Endicott Victim At Paintsville

Mrs. Addie Conley, 59, a resident of Endicott, died at a Paintsville hospital at 1:15 a.m., Friday, April 4, after an illness of several months.

The daughter of Henry and Amanda Castle Lemaster, she was born in Johnson county, July 2, 1899.

Survivors include her husband, Robert Conley and four sisters, Mrs. Jasper Slone, Winifred, Mrs. Dewey McClure, Wittensville; Mrs. Lora Caudill, Ashland, and Mrs. Lawrence Daniel, Paintsville.

Funeral services were conducted from the Sugar Grove United Baptist Church at 1:30 p.m., Sunday with O. I. Williams and Lonza Reed as officiating ministers. Burial was in the Lemaster cemetery in Johnson county.

Hearing Due April 22 On Relocating U. S. 23

The State Highway Department set hearings at Prestonsburg and Paintsville on proposals to relocate U. S. 23 between the two towns.

The Prestonsburg hearing will be held at 10 a.m. April 22 at the courthouse.

In compliance with requirements for federal-aid projects, interested persons will be permitted to express their views on economic results of the project.

The relocated portion will cover about 13 miles.

Tree Planting Response Greatest, Manager Says; 509,400 Are Planted

A total of 114 tree planters in Floyd county have taken advantage of the services offered by the local ACP program this year. Elder Goble, ACP office manager, states that this is by far the greatest response in the county to date.

As a service to the people of this county, the Agricultural Conservation Program, in cooperation with the Division of Forestry which furnishes the trees, will pay to the Division $3,378.40 at the rate of $7.00 per thousand for tree seedlings and $2.00 per thousand for stratified walnut seed. This means that 497,700 trees will be planted this year as a result of this program. This compares very favorably with the highest previous year's planting of 212,500 trees last year.

In addition to this, the land owners participating in this program will receive a share-cost payment of $9.00 per thousand toward the planting of these trees. All in all the ACP, in a cooperative effort to recloak our nude hillsides with timber producing trees, will expend $7,866.20 in furthering our tree planting program.

William Music, district forester, states that an additional 11,800 trees were planted in Floyd county on a cash payment basis. This means that a total of 509,500 trees have been planted in the county this year.

Music further adds that this tremendous step forward could not have been accomplished without the close teamwork enjoyed by the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Extension Service, the Soil Conservation Service and the Division of Forestry.

Floyd county set out 101 acres in trees in 1955, the number of trees not stated; 1956, 169 acres, 169,000 seedlings; and last year 212 acres for 212,500 trees.

Under the supervision of Charles R. Kobinette, of the Division of Forestry, planting of tree seedlings in the Dewey Lake State forest for this year was completed April 9, according to William Music, district forester.

A total of 200,000 seedlings were planted at a cost of $2,574.80. Approximately 150 acres northeast of the Brandy Keg boat dock area and extending to Dewey Dam was planted to white and shortleaf pine. Another 50 acres in the Buffalo Creek area was planted to shortleaf and loblolly pine. Thirty-eight men from this county were employed for the task of planting these seedlings.

"The Division of Forestry urges all visitors to the Dewey Lake State Forest to exercise fire control and to assist in the preservation of these seedlings," Music said.

"This is a step forward in the development of Dewey Lake State Forest and co-operation by the public is a necessity if the development program within the park area is to survive," he added.

THEY BUILD 'BETTER MOUSETRAP,' SO THEY'RE SKIPPED BY SLUMP

By QUENTIN ALLEN

The brainchild and pride of the Truck Mining and Equipment Company in this jiffy drill produced and patented by co-owner Paul Porter. The drills have been selling extensively over Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, and even into Alabama.

The woeful tale of a peanut-sized recession that grew up into a king-sized depression is nullified after hearing the story of two Eastern Kentuckians who parlayed their ideas and talents into a profitable business.

Fred Adams and Paul Porter, both of Allen, were getting along just so-so last fall, around September, when Fred approached Paul on the idea of consolidating their shops.

The two had owned individual shops engaged in the business of repairing equipment used in small coal mining operations.

Fred explained his idea of converting the wooden frames on shuttle buggies into a steel make with the result that the buggies would last longer and certainly be advantageous to small coal mine owners.

Paul evidently liked the idea, for the two of them started working together in a small shop in Allen not over 20 feet square and together made a total cash investment of $585.

Fred, a long and dark man, said that most of the money went to "Dootney" Horn, scrap metal dealer, and about $285 was invested in steel parts and motors to construct their first shuttle buggy, the conveyance that is used in mines to transport coal from the innards of a hillside to the outside.

The first thing that Adams realized was the necessity of making his shuttle buggy better than any other produced. This was his "crash" program. So he and Porter put in many painstaking hours in perfecting their first buggy.

Soon the first was completed with all the innovations the two could muster, although both had never been inside a mine in their lives.

The first shuttle buggy was sold via a postcard bearing its picture and specifications to a buyer in Richlands, Virginia.

The first buggy was unconditionally guaranteed—which means that if unsatisfactory in any way for an unlimited time, it can be returned and the buyer's money returned.

"We were so broke at that time that—if that feller in Virginia had wanted to return the shuttle buggy, we'd had to hitch-hike a ride to get it," Adams said.

"Never had a one returned," the partners declare with a sense of accomplishment and a sigh of relief in thinking of their first sale.

"We have never set a time limit on the unconditional guarantee either," Porter said. Then the two led a tour of the shop in inspecting their mining equipment.

"We buy all our stuff locally. We've found that anything we need can be purchased in our area. Of course, we could get some equipment from other sources, but we feel we're helping Floyd county by keeping our money home," Adams explained.

"Paul invented this jiffy drill," Fred said. "He's got a patent on it. It's a one-man drill, it's mobile, and it can be adjusted to any height. We sell a lot of these to small truck miners all over Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, and even as far as Alabama."

"We work here six days a week and are as busy as we can be," Porter said. He said that the employees themselves have contrived innovations which have proved to be time-savers to small coal mine operators. One was a safety latch on a shuttle buggy which, in years before, required jouncing and stamping the car in order to latch the bed down. Now a simple latch which presses down smoothly and easily substitutes for all the strain and bother.

"Now that's the dump type which works off that motor," Adams said, "and the other over there dumps through the bottom. We have a time-saving device in this buggy, also. Sections of the bottom, in coming back into place, overlap each other and automatically lock," Adams said. "That's time saved to the small coal mine operator. Take those two time-savers of a few minutes, multiplied by 60 to 150 trips that shuttle buggies go back and forth in a mine a day and you see how much time is saved. And that is one of the reasons we can sell 10 of the buggies a month," he said.

The two produced 37 shuttle buggies in their first small shop in the first four months before moving their Truck Mining and Equipment Company to the present location of the Old Valley Chevrolet Car Company in Allen. Now they have an assembly line which speeds the production of shuttle buggies.

Scheduled for future production is a rubber tire cutting machine truck which hauls cutting machines to and fro inside the mines. This is another product which exemplifies the two men's philosophy of building machines better than anyone else in order to succeed. They have made improvements in the cutting machine truck which they calculate to attract customers as widely spread as the ones already buying their shuttle buggies and jiffy drills.

The two men now have five employees who are paid around $500 to $600 a week.

And then there's Adams' 11-year-old son Richard. "Don't guess he can be listed as an employee though he's mighty handy with an acetylene torch," Adams said. "He works when school is out and he seems to like it since he's here every chance he has."

Richard, the shop workers said, can handle a electric welder, too. "He's a good worker and does a first-class job. We're not afraid of putting him in on the toughest work."

In addition to selling jiffy drills, shuttle buggies, and cutting machine trucks, the partners also sell fans to the small mines.

Their buggies cost between $800 and $1,600. Right now, they are building a six-ton shuttle buggy for $1,600. Last Friday, a Whitesburg truck mine operator bought a shuttle buggy costing $1,200. The buggies are custom-made to suit the specifications of the individual mine owners.

The company grosses between $15,000 and $20,000 a month.

Porter has his own Porter Electric Company which sells an assortment of mining equipment and repairs electrical equipment.

Adams expressed resentment of the current legislation in the U. S. Senate which threatens to close small truck mines. He said it would not only close his business but succeed in ruining Eastern Kentucky.

These men would be termed creative men. They have seen a need, and they have conquered the problem of "building a better mouse trap."

Concern About Rabies Affects Three Counties; Floyd Clinics Continue

Several Kentucky counties, notably Pike, Nicholas, and Marion, are reporting concern about rabid animals, according to R. L. Hectorne, D.V.M., Director of the Division of Veterinary Public Health of the Kentucky State Department of Health. A total of 122 cases of rabies in animals has been confirmed by the Department of Health laboratory up to February 28 of this year.

The fight on rabies in Floyd county is being waged this month with a series of dog-vaccination clinics. Last week, 308 dogs were given the three-year immunization at clinics held in Prestonsburg, Allen, Martin, Betsy Layne, Mare Creek and Harold.

Dr. Hectorne emphasized the importance of correct procedure when animals are suspected of rabies. "A person bitten by a rabid or suspected rabid animal should immediately consult his physician to obtain anti-rabies treatment. But since this anti-rabies treatment may be somewhat dangerous to human beings, examination of the suspected animal's brain tissue is of supreme importance to the physician in deciding whether or not to give vaccine to the animal's victim," Dr. Hectorne said.

The following points for dealing with possible rabies were outlined by Dr. Hectorne:

1. Any person who has been bitten should be placed under a physician's care immediately.
2. Any animal that has bitten a person or another animal or is suspected of having rabies should be confined for 14 days and the local health department should be notified.
3. Observe the animal daily and watch for any unusual symptoms.
4. Do not destroy the animal before he shows definite signs of rabies.
5. If the animal does show signs of rabies, do not destroy it by chemical poisoning, clubbing on the head or shooting in the head. These methods destroy the brain tissues and make laboratory tests difficult or even impossible.
6. Pack the head of the suspected animal in a water-tight metal container, which in turn should be packed in cracked ice for shipping to the laboratory.

Thirty-eight positive cases of rabies in dogs have been discovered this year; 28 cases had been discovered for the same period of time last year. Dr. Tectorne attributes the fact that rabies among dogs has not increased to the large number of dogs which have been vaccinated as required by the 1954 rabies law.

Easter Seal Drive Nets $912.75, Said; Evans Is Chairman

Easter Seal contributions in Floyd county last week totaled $912.75, according to George E. Evans, Jr., of Estill, Easter Seal chairman.

The campaign officially closed April 6, Easter Sunday, but late mail contributions which are still coming in are expected to increase the total, Mr. Evans said.

O. L. McElroy, Eminence, state Easter Seal chairman, reported that the 1958 drive is lagging behind 1957 donations. He urged Kentuckians in all areas of the state to continue their financial support of this worthy cause by sending their contributions to their local chairman.

The once-a-year campaign on behalf of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children—the Easter Seal Society—finances help to crippled children in each county in the state. Last year 3,066 children received direct aid and an additional 6,944 persons received indirect services in cooperation with the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission and the State Department of Education.

Mr. Evans urged all Floyd county residents who have not yet made a contribution to mail it today to Mrs. Elizabeth R. Martin, treasurer, Floyd County Crippled Children Committee, Wayland.

New Attendance Mark Reached, Easter Sunday

With an Easter Sunday School attendance goal of 1,147 at the church here and in its 12 mission schools, Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church smashed its old attendance record and far exceeded the goal set with an attendance of 1,205.

The mission Sunday Schools provided the attendance increase, most of the 12 recording new totals and exceeding the quotas set. The attendance figures:

Prestonsburg, 380; Lancer Chapel, 123; David Chapel, 150; Benedict Chapel, 131; Home Branch, 62; Blue River, 80; Upper Cow Creek, 72; Holbrook, 62; Corn Fork, 43; Emma, 24; Bull Creek, 39; Abbot Creek, 39; Buckeye, workers unable to reach there.

Recipient of Reward One of Two Arrested In Race With Police

A charge of fleeing the scene of an accident was pressed against two Blue River men Tuesday when the car they occupied crashed into another vehicle on Court Street and Arnold Avenue.

Charged were Haskell Prater, who last week was awarded a $500 check as one of two men who had recovered the body of a school bus victim, and Ollie Robinson, of Blue River, said to have been the driver of the car. Police Chief Epp Lafferty said that Robinson, driving south on Arnold Avenue, failed to stop his car from passing through a red light and hit the westbound automobile of Adrian Shepherd, 20, of Cliff.

Lafferty said that Robinson and Prater then fled from the scene of the accident.

The two led the police a chase when they got into the car of a friend who drove them away. W. R. Kendrick, of Prestonsburg witness to the accident, followed the car and picked up Police Chief Lafferty and succeeded in stopping the getaway car on Middle Creek. The driver of the car was not charged.

Prater was said to have bought the car this week by the money gained in the recovery award. There were no injuries in the accident.

Prater and Robinson were taken to the city jail.

Elijah Adams, 96, of Island Creek, Pike County, died at 5:45 p.m. Saturday, April 5, at the home of a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Betty Adams, of Island Creek, after an illness of one month. He was a brother of Bill Adams, of Wheelwright.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday of last week at the home with the Revs. Bill Hall, Jack Thomas, and Grover Adkins officiating. Burial was in the Mim S'word Cemetery on Island Creek under the direction of the J. W. Call & Son Funeral Home.

Born in Letcher County, he was a son of the late William and Louise Adams. He had made his home on Island Creek for 40 years. Adams, a retired farmer, was a member of the Old Regular Baptist Church.

Survivors besides his brother, Bill, include his wife, Mrs. Julia Adams; two daughters, Mrs. Lizzie Thomas, Shelbyana, and Mrs. Virgie Compton, Pikeville; and a daughter, Mrs. Lula Adkins, Shelbyana.

High Fidelity Records Presented To Schools

Every consolidated school in Floyd county received a new high-fidelity recording of the National Anthem, April 7, from The American Heritage Foundation, it was announced last week by V. O. Turner, county superintendent of schools.

"The foundation's new recording of The Star-Spangled Banner will fill a serious vacuum," said Superintendent Turner. "Although high-fidelity was introduced in 1947, this is the first high-fidelity rendition of The Star-Spangled Banner to appear on a single disc."

The Abbey of Gethsemane is a Trappist monastery of Nelson county.

Akers Reminds Farmers Of Incentive Payments; Increase Program, Goal

If you have sold wool or unshorn lambs since April 1, 1957, chances are you have earned a payment under the Federal wool incentive program. To collect it, be sure to file an application at your County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office no later than April 30, 1958, Daniel Akers, Floyd county ASC Chairman, reminded farmers this week.

These applications, Akers said, are to cover wool and unshorn lambs marketed not later than March 31, 1958. If there is any detail of a sale which is not complete until after that date, the transaction goes over into 1958 marketing and will be eligible for payment in 1959. Wool incentive payments are made under the National Wool Act of 1954. Payments on shorn wool are a direct incentive to increase production. Payments on unshorn lambs are made to encourage normal marketing of lambs with the wool on and avoid unusual shearing to get the shorn wool payment. The goal of the program is to increase U.S. production to 300 million pounds of shorn wool—about a one-third increase over production in recent years.

THOROUGHBRED HORSES

The thoroughbred racehorse as a breed had its beginning in 17th century England. Englishmen sought a light animal of speed and stamina for a warhorse in place of heavy breeds noted for weight-carrying ability. The English imported Arabian, Turk and Barb horses, noted for speed, from the Near East and used them for breeding stock. The result was the thoroughbred.

Busy Bee Homemakers Conduct March Meet

Floyd county following the Big Sandy flood disaster of January, 1957.

Of further special interest to the people of Floyd county is the announcement by the local chapter office that the Red Cross blood bank program will be restored to this county if the 1958 quota is reached. Floyd county has been deprived of the vital services of the blood program during recent years because of past failures to meet annual quotas.

Contributors who wish to remit direct by mail may send their checks to Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross, Prestonsburg, where such contributions will be gratefully received and fully acknowledged.

DRIFT

The Drift Woman's Club met April 7 at the Youth Center with Mrs. F. P. Zuspan and Miss Ruby Akers as hostesses.

Devotion was given by Mrs. Fred Cochran.

The club made its annual contribution to the Easter Seal Drive.

Proclamation of May 4-10 as Immunization Week by Gov. Chandler was read. The club will observe it as it has in the past by sponsoring the pre-school clinic at Drift and McDowell schools in cooperation with the Floyd County Health Dept.

Mrs. Rex Ankrom, of Williamson, W. Va., a past president was a guest at the meeting.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. J. Cahill.

QUOTABLE

"THERE WAS a time not too long ago when it was believed that giving inadequate relief would keep people from asking for assistance, and that the fear of starvation would force recipients to make greater efforts to find employment. This belief failed to consider the fact that energy is created by health, not by hunger. The combination of fear and an empty stomach is more likely to result in acts of desperation than to develop initiative in job competition. In localities where people seldom have enough to eat, we generally find listless and useless members of society, instead of independence and ambition."
—Ruth Roberts, State Case Supervisor, Division of Public Assistance.

SCENIC TRAIL

U. S. HIGHWAY 119, entering Kentucky from West Virginia, has long been famous as the scene of John Fox Jr. novel, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Known as the Rhododendron Trail, this highway leads through one of the most picturesque mountain regions in America and is redolent of wild flowers and alive with colors. Along the trail lie Pikeville, Jenkins, Cumberland, beautiful Black Mountain, Harlan, a State forest, Pineville and Pine Mountain State Park. The Park is the scene of the Mountain Laurel Festival, May 22-25.

NEW GEOGRAPHY

THE STATE DEPARTMENT of Public Relations supplied many of the pictures in "Geography of Kentucky," just off the press. The textbook by Joseph R. Schwendman, professor of geography at the University of Kentucky, was designed to interest students in the upper grades and junior high school. But it is of interest to every Kentuckian who desires to know more about the surroundings in which he lives.

BETTER FISHING

A HALF MILLION Kentuckians can't be wrong. Just about that number fished in the Commonwealth last year. And Harry Towles of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources says fishing in the State will be better this year. The reasons: More waters in which to fish; better waters, because rains have been kind to lakes; and scientific devices of the agency, which have helped Mother Nature in her fish stocking program.

ORIGIN OF THE HORSE

WITH THE KENTUCKY Derby in the offing, it behooves (no pun) us to study the horse so that we can talk with authority to visitors. It's bad manner to leave our guests alone with their racing forms. Fossil records reveal (now, isn't this more interesting than odds, weights, workouts, and daily doubles?) the pre-historic horse roamed North America about 55 million years ago. But since he was becoming extinct on this continent, he was a doubtful starter. He later was re-introduced into America by Spanish explorers. Eohippus, the prehistoric horse, varied in size from that of a cat to a fox, so he must have been a mighty long shot. One difficulty with fossils, though—they won't reveal the winner the first Saturday in May.

FARLEY TELLS SCHOOL NEEDS

Pike-Co. Superintendent Lists Four Shortcomings; Scholarships Are Asked

Claude H. Farley, superintendent of Pike county schools, told a Congressional subcommittee Thursday of last week of "appalling" school conditions in his county.

The term "appalling" was not applied by Farley, but by Peter Frelinghuysen, Republican congressman from New Jersey.

Generally considered no friend of federal aid to education—even though he has introduced a school-construction bill in Congress—Frelinghuysen admitted Pike county needs help.

He wondered, though, if Farley expected the federal government to "solve all these things."

The superintendent listed before an education subcommittee such shortcomings in his school system as these:

1. Most of the county's school buildings are of cheap frame construction—unsafe, and without indoor toilets or drinking facilities.

2. The only teacher's desks, even in our better schools, are battered ones picked up from the Army surplus . . . we have sent our maintenance trucks to bring in (students') seats by the hundreds and thousands after they have been discarded by more prosperous districts.

3. About $800,000 has been spent for three new school buildings since 1955. But they are "stripped models"—without pupil lockers, sound systems, athletic equipment, or laboratory equipment.

4. Most classrooms are crowded with 45 to 50 children, and a few have more than 60 each.

5. A quarter of the system's teachers are on an emergency basis, failing to meet minimum teaching standards. The average teacher's pay is $2,600 a year.

"Large numbers of children have managed somehow to reach the eighth grade without having met a qualified teacher in their lives."

6. School buses are often loaded with more than 100 children—although the rated capacity of no bus is more than 66. Some children spend 10 or 11 hours a day away from home to get an education.

"We are only 30 miles from Prestonsburg and are feeling just now some of the terrible anxiety generated among parents as a result of the nation's worst school-bus tragedy," Farley declared.

Farley said the federal government should "assume its rightful share of obligation for educating America's children."

He said a program of federal scholarship, under consideration by the subcommittee, has merit. But this was termed a defense measure and does not give the Government a "continuing responsibility" for education.

Cain To Aid Veterans During Visit In County

Roy M. Cain contact representative of the Kentucky disabled Ex-Service Men's Board, will be in Floyd county next week for the purpose of aiding veterans and their dependents in filing and prosecuting claims for benefits to which they may be entitled to from the Veterans Administration.

Thursday, April 24, he will be in the Post Office, Wayland from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 1 to 4 p.m. he will be at the Beaver Hardware, Martin.

Friday, April 25, he will be in Tackett and Tackett's office, Prestonsburg.

ARNETT COMMUNITY RALLY

The Arnett Busy Bee 4-H Club held its community rally on March 17 with all 13 members taking part.

Six girls modeled garments they had made in their clothing projects this year. They were Charlotte Arnett, Phyllis Hamilton, Deanne Daniels, Martha Calhoun, Patsy Chaffins and Barbara Hackworth.

Boys exhibiting woodwork were Beive Hackworth, Michael Wells, James Daniels, Arthur Daniels, Troy Hackworth, Hershel Hughes and Arthur Hughes.

Charlotte Arnett received a blue ribbon on her demonstration, "How to make a fruit milk shake."
Mrs. Elsie Dotson is the club leader.

MAYTOWN COMMUNITY RALLY

Seventy-five members, leaders and parents met at the Maytown High School, March 22 for their 4-H Community Rally.

Fifteen demonstrations were given. Members giving demonstrations were: Burgess Lowe, Ossia Spencer, and Gary Bailey, Ralph Manuel, Freer Martin and Randolph Hicks, Ronnie Hays, Joan Hicks, Harriett Reffitt, Sandra Prater, Mary Prater, Sharon Sturgill, Teresa Halbert, Debbie Sammons, Kathy Patton, Gloria Spencer and Lida Webb.

The five club members giving speeches were: Pam Combs, Dan Rowland, Carol Turner, Danny Jack Hicks, Melanie Ann Conley.

Two boys, Danny Hicks and Ralph Manuel, exhibited woodwork articles that they have made in woodworking projects this year.

Twenty-four girls exhibited articles of clothing made this year in their clothing projects. These girls took part in a style revue with Sandra Hicks, Club President, acting as narrator.

Twelve girls exhibited foods.

At the conclusion of the day's activities the audience was entertained by selection by the 4-H Band and individual talent acts. Club members presenting talent acts were: Dan Rowland, Gloria Jean Spencer, Pam Combs, Phyllis Combs, Danny Jack Hicks, and Melanie Ann Conley.

Safety precautions include refilling fire extinguishers at proper intervals and refilling first aid kit supplies.

RESOLUTION

RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, TO PROPERLY IMPROVE THE STREETS, ALLEYS AND OTHER PUBLIC WAYS OF THE COMMUNITY OF LANCER, NOW A PART OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY.

WHEREAS, the community of Lancer is now a part of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, and

WHEREAS, the streets, alleys and other public ways of said community are inadequate.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

1. That all the streets, alleys and other public ways of the community of Lancer, now a part of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, be so improved that said streets, alleys and other public ways will be available for travel by the traveling public during the entire year, including the winter months.

2. That said public improvements is an absolute necessity.

3. The said streets, alleys and public ways shall be constructed in a manner to be determined by the City Council, the material to be used to be four-inch black-top, and in addition thereto there is to be the usual provision for drainage and a suitable base shall be provided before any black-top is laid.

4. That this resolution be published in at least one issue of the Floyd County Times.

5. That after the expiration of thirty days from and after the publication of this resolution, the City Council will enact an ordinance providing for said public improvements, in accordance with the terms and provisions of KRS 94.291, to and including 94.540.

6. That the improvements of said streets will be done at the expense of the abutting property owners.

PASSED AND APPROVED,
APRIL 14, 1958.

BILL NAPIER, Mayor,
City of Prestonsburg, Ky.

ATTEST:
JUDITH D. ARCHER,
City Clerk.

On April 22, 1951, two Marine Corps pilots arrived in Washington, D. C., after a 4,842 mile round trip flight to Santo Domingo, the longest unguarded overwater flight to date.

Cycle Carefully, Official Advises

Frankfort, April 14 (Spl.)—Deputy Commissioner of Public Safety James E. Bassett recommends eight basic rules for safe bicycling. They are:

Ride with traffic, and keep to the far right.
Do not weave or stunt. Ride in a straight line.

When with friends, ride in single file.

Put books and packages in a carrier attached to the bicycle, and never carry passengers on your bike.

In traffic, obey all applicable sign, signals and traffic laws.
Never hitch on to a passing truck, street car, automobile or any vehicle.

If you must ride at night, have a good light and rear reflector.
Keep your bicycle in good condition.

Clutter on stairs and disrepair of steps are two of the leading reasons for falls.

SALYERS VISITS ITALY
GENOA, Italy—Robert H. Salyers, aviation machinist's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin H. Salyers of Prestonsburg, Ky., visited Genoa, Italy during March 31—April 9 while serving aboard the 60,000 ton super carrier USS Saratoga, a unit of the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Father of P'burg Man Succumbs At Charleston; Funeral Is Held Monday

Garden E. Jarvis, 53 years old, well-known Paintsville business man and father of Garden R. (Pete) Jarvis, of Prestonsburg, died Friday night at a Charleston, W. Va. hospital of a coronary occlusion following surgery.

A native of Clay, W. Va., Mr. Jarvis had resided in Paintsville since 1935. He was manager of the Cox Department Store there, was a member of the Baptist Church and the Masonic order.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Elsie Sponagle Jarvis, his son and the following brothers and sisters: Weaver and Mrs. Osie Hickman, all of St. Petersburg, Fla., Cam A. Jarvis, Charleston, W. Va., Holly C. Jarvis, Cincinnati, O., and P. G. Jarvis, Galipolis, Ohio.

His funeral was conducted Monday afternoon from First Baptist Church, Paintsville, the pastor, the Rev. M. R. Thomas, assisted by the Rev. Ira McMillen and the Rev. Overman, officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond cemetery, near Paintsville.

The three nations which have filed the largest number of applications for international patents on new inventions in the last three years have been Germany, United States, and Japan, in the order named.

Says February Report By State Department; Floyd Figures Noted

"There were more unemployed insured workers in Kentucky in February, 1958, than at any time in the nineteen-year history of the Unemployment Insurance program," according to the booklet, "An Analysis of Insured Workers Claiming Unemployment Insurance," issued this week by the State Department of Economic Security.

The urban area of Jefferson county with its concentration of industry had the greatest number of unemployed in February, but Pike county was second with 2,716. Floyd county had at that time 1,191 unemployed insured workers. The analysis does not take into account those employees not covered by the unemployment laws.

"In most of the coal mining areas in both Eastern and Western Kentucky the situation is as bad or worse than during the 1954 recession—with the difference that now there are literally thousands of coal miners who have exhausted their rights to unemployment insurance and are not included in the count of the unemployed although many are not working," the study points out.

The total of unemployed insured workers in Kentucky was at the end of February 55,653 with 47,452 laid off by Kentucky employers, it was said. The remainder of 8,201 are workers who have returned from other states.

Most of Kentucky's unemployment problems are of long standing, it was noted in a study recently released by the Area Employment Expansion committee with headquarters in New York. This analysis, however, does not take into consideration the impact of the recession on Kentucky workers.

Nine "urban labor-market areas" of Kentucky have had well over six percent unemployment for at least four years, the latter study shows. Six of these areas are in Eastern Kentucky and contain 25 percent of the state's people.

"Public assistance payments in the nine sections have been 35 to 38 percent of the state's total in every year since 1953. Lack of job opportunities in the nine labor surplus areas has forced substantial migration elsewhere for work, "the area statistical study states. "In the five years ending June 30, 1955, a total of 163,514 residents moved away."

Employment in Kentucky coal mines alone has been cut almost exactly in half since 1948—from 62,600 jobs then to 31,600 last year, figures reveal.

Industry Appreciation Week Set For May 5-9

Industry in Kentucky will be saluted by cities and towns in the state during Industry Appreciation Week, May 5-9, 1958.

Business, agricultural and civic groups have been urged to set aside a special week in honor of the state's industry, the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce announced today.

The Chamber president, E. R. Mitchell, Covington, said that local Chambers of Commerce and development groups have been notified of this special week honoring existing industry's contribution to community life in Kentucky.

"Sometimes in extending our efforts to develop new industries in Kentucky, we tend to overlook existing commercial operations whose payrolls, taxes and citizenship has kept our cities and towns well up on the ladder of community progress in the past decade," Mitchell said.

The State Chamber is asking local groups to declare Industrial Appreciation Week officially by local governmental officials, to encourage open-house by local plants, to display locally manufactured products in main street windows, distribute souvenirs, invite home-office executives to participate, to conduct special radio and newspaper promotions and honor local industrialists with special recognition.

Governor A. B. Chandler will officially proclaim May 5-9 as Industry Appreciation Week. This week, set aside to honor industry, is a program of the Industrial Development Committee of the State Chamber. J. W. Carneal, Owensboro, is chairman of that committee.

ANNUAL LOSSES

WHEELWRIGHT

At the April meeting of the Wheelwright P. T. A., the subject of the books for the first grades was again brought up, and this time with some final results. It was voted to pay $500 on the books this year and $300 next year.

The election of officers was held and the following were elected:—Landon Rowe, Jr., president; William O. (Bill) Harris, vice-president; Steve Clark, re-elected treasurer, and Belle Stevens, secretary.

Most parents present represented Mrs. Newman's children of the grade school and Mrs. Conway's of the high school.

After these and the other business matters were taken care of the program was turned over to Mrs. Wakeland whose fourth and fifth grade pupils treated the crowd to a delightful play, "Jones Dream."

The Rev. A. J. Parker, Free-will Baptist minister and father of W. B. Parker, of Prestonsburg, died Friday at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. M. Shannon, R. 1, Louisa. He was 82 years old and had been ill about two weeks.

A native of Lawrence county, Mr. Parker was a retired farmer. His wife preceded him in death in 1949. Surviving, besides his son here and his sister, is another son, Arnold Parker, St. Albans, W. Va.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday afternoon from Moore's Chapel, the Revs. Willie Moore and Grant York officiating. Burial in the family cemetery was under direction of the Young Funeral Home.

ADD WOOD ASHES

The physical condition of tight clay soils is improved by the addition of wood ashes from an open fireplace that, have been kept dry, as they contain lime and potash. Usually one bushel to 100 square feet is a good rate. To keep cheese from absorbing odors from other foods in the refrigerator, and to prevent loss of moisture, keep it in a covered container, in its original package or wrapped in aluminum foil or in waxed or cello paper.

A. A. Assists Without Seeking Drinking Cause

Frankfort—Alcoholism is so baffling to the normal person, to professionals in the field and to the alcoholic himself that many believe it to be a form of mental illness. The alcoholic personally resents this implication, yet the symptoms are so similar that a line of demarcation is difficult to establish. The overwhelming mass of human behavior can be charted, there are marked patterns of living in every community and in all strata of society.

The alcoholic is a marked deviant from the established rules . . . he or she creates problems in family and social life . . . problems in industry . . . problems in every phase of our economy.

The numerous research programs now being conducted in universities, hospitals, clinics and the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies are all seeking a scientific answer. Why do six and one half percent of all people who drink eventually become alcoholic? To date no satisfactory answer has been found, other than this percentage who become addicted are unable to face the daily tensions of ordinary living. The researcher is seeking the cause. Unreality . . . involvements . . . mark the uncontrolled drinker and he cannot give it up without help. Every human suffers from tensions and depressions at times. The normal throw it off, the potential alcoholic seeks relief from the bottle. Relief from alcohol is temporary and becomes less and less effective with use.

Alcoholics Anonymous, the most effective remedy now available, ignores the cause. This program places emphasis on a major theme, STOP DRINKING.

The success of this group in attaining complete sobriety is a source of amazement to both members and to close observers. From two original founders, it has grown to 200,000, former pronounced alcoholics, now sober.

Many have come from the lowest depths to responsible positions in society. In the beginning Alcoholics Anonymous was composed of alcoholics who had hit the lowest depths, hopeless and practically friendless. In recent years more and more alcoholics who were still employed have availed themselves of the benefits of membership and the average age is materially younger today than five years ago.

There are A. A. groups in many Kentucky communities. The only requirement for membership is a desire to stop drinking. There are no fees or dues. Alcoholics Anonymous is listed in the telephone directory of every town where there is a group.

W.S.C.S. MEETS

Mrs. Ivan Bouch and Mrs. L. E. Roberts were hostesses to the Woman's Society of Christian Service at Mrs. Bouch's home, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Baisden Osborne was the program leader on "The March of Youth in Missions." Mrs. Osborne introduced two young people, Mickey Martin and Donald Ray Scalf, of Allen, who told of their experiences at Youth Assembly at Barbourville. Sandra Sue Patrick, student at Morehead College, and Linda Maggard told of the Wesley Club and Wesley Foundations. Mrs. Elsie Patrick's talk on "What Missionary Work Means" was very informative. Donald Ray is the president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship for this district. Others on the program were Mrs. Jones Tallent, Carolyn Ison and Kathy Patton. A round table discussion was held on the needs of youth in our church and a fulltime leader was stressed. A motion was made and seconded that the Society send a representative to the Youth Assembly.

At the close of the program Mrs. George Patton, president, called the business meeting to order. After reports from the officers, business was taken care of. Mesdames Thurnal Click, Howard Ramey and Baisden Osborne were appointed for the Nominating committee. New officers will take office in June. Mrs. Howard Ramey was appointed to see about getting a new ceiling installed in the parsonage. The parsonage is the main project of the Woman's Society. The treasurer reported that $10 had been sent in for the church extension. The next meeting will be with Mesdames Henry L. May and Arnold Cassady. Mrs. Thurnal Click will be program leader. The hostesses served refreshments to the 25 members present and guests, Miss Mickey Martin, Miss Gloria Jean Spencer, Miss Rosemary Moore, Miss Susie Wolfe, Miss Darla Wolfe, Donald Ray Scalf and Rev. H. M. Wiley.

SCIENCE TRIP

Nineteen young people enjoyed a three-day visit in parts of Kentucky last week. They are members of the Science class which is sponsored by Thomas C. May, who accompanied them on the trip. Mrs. C. L. Washington's Coat Lining Is In State Museum

All that is left of a fur coat worn by General George Washington at Valley Forge during the terrible winter of 1777-1778 is on display at the Kentucky Historical Society Museum in the Old State House in the form of the lining.

Originally of fur, the coat was kept by the family for many years between two mattresses, but eventually the moths took their toll. The lining then was ripped out, and the fur part of the coat burned.

The lining was presented to the Society in 1924 by Miss F. May Washington of Newport, Kentucky, a great-great-niece of General Washington. Miss Washington was a descendant of Samuel Washington, a great nephew of the general and from him through his son, John T. Washington, and through John's daughter, Mrs. Betty Washington Taylor, a sister of the donor.

Conditions at Valley Forge have been pictured to every school child in the land in the blackest of terms; and they were black: During those dreary winter months, the American Army all but disappeared; while those that remained suffered untold hardships in contrast to the British Army not far away which fared sumptuously upon provisions bought with an ample supply of British gold.

It was a hard winter and a time of governmental and military inefficiency which would have resulted in an officer less patriotic and less obstinate than George Washington in giving up his command or surrendering to the enemy.

We know, though, that Washington didn't surrender. He was like the lining of his coat which he wore at Valley Forge. The moths of inefficiency, selfishness, and privation may have eaten away the fringes; but the tough-like canvas of a man kept faith and defied the enemy to do its worst.

Writer Says Maturity Development Process

Maturity is a continuous process of development, not a landmark reached on some birthday, in fact, young people often have a kind of maturity that some older people lack.

So writes Michael Drury, in the April Reader's Digest article, "Are You Mature?" By their very inexperience, Miss Drury writes, young people have certain qualities that the adult must preserve if he would be mature. They are trusting; they are teachable, flexible, ready to try the new thing. Young people are always looking—for a mate, a job, a cause to believe in, adventure. The result, she says, is an openness to experience, a willingness to be involved. And that attitude, is an important part of maturity.

Just realizing that the maturing process continues, is in itself a mark of maturity. Physical adulthood has very little to do with it. There is maturity proper and possible to every age. Some people think of it in terms of sex and marriage. But actually, Miss Drury writes, maturity is the understanding of sex in ourselves and in others, the ability to weigh it with our other needs and measure the degree to which it is important or unimportant.

"I have heard it said that maturity is the growing awareness that you are neither quite so wonderful nor quite so hopeless as you once believed," she writes. "It is making peace between what is and what might be. It is not age, but insight that promotes maturity."

FARM NOTES

By ROBERT M. JONES County Agent

Corn Production Pointers

1. Select good, deep, fertile soil that is least subject to erosion. Growing corn on hilly land is likely to cause great loss of soil and results in low yields of corn and succeeding crops. In planning to increase corn yields, it is important, to choose suitable land and use the needed practices to maintain and build up the fertility of the soil.

2. Test soil to determine fertility program. A soil test to determine what nutrients are needed to grow corn will often save the farmer money or enable him to spend the money where it will do the most good. Soils for corn should be slightly acid to neutral, so that the soil improving legumes will grow well. They should be well supplied with available nitrogen, phosphorus (phosphate) and potassium (potash). When corn is grown in rotation with a small grain and grass-legume sod crop, most of the phosphate and much of the potash used in the rotation should be applied on the small grain crop.

3. Select a proven adapted Hybrid that fits into the farm program. Corn hybrids vary in their yielding ability, lodging resistance, time of maturity, and other qualities. Some of the Kentucky certified hybrids recommended for this area are: Yellow—Ky. 13, Ky. 103, and Ky. 106A; White—Ky. 523W, Ky. 203, and Ky. 204.

4. Prepare a good seedbed. A good seedbed is essential to getting a good stand and having proper cultivation.

5. Plant in time. Generally early planted corn does much better than late planted corn.

6. Get a good stand:

a. Match planter plates to grade of corn so they will drop through.

b. Adjust number of stalks per acre to fertility level. On soils of very high fertility capable of producing over 100 bushels per acre, 15,000 plants per acre are needed for the highest yield. On soils of moderate to low fertility, capable of producing less than 50 bushels per acre, 7,500 plants are enough. Corn planted in rows 3 1/2 feet apart and 10 inches in the hill will give 15,000 plants per acre.

c. Guard against germination injury from starter fertilizer. Do not place seed in contact with fertilizer.

TREE PLANTINGS

Landowners this year are showing much interest in the tree planting program. Almost 1/2 million trees will be set in Floyd county this year. This is more than twice the amount set last year.

The success of a new planting depends to a large extent on the care of the seedling between the time they are delivered and until setting. The seedlings must be kept moist until they are planted. Unless care is taken, roots will dry out rapidly and many trees will die.

The seedling should be watered immediately upon arrival from nursery and planted as soon as possible. Store in a cool place and keep moist.

Seedling that must be kept for more than three or four days should be "heeled in" in moist soil. To do this, dig an open V-shaped trench. Then open the bundles of trees and spread them out along one side of the trench. Fill in with soil so all the roots are covered and drenched with water. Tamp down the soil for a firm covering and keep moist until planting.

On planting day keep the roots covered with damp material. Better still, keep the roots submerged in a bucket of water. Never allow the roots to be exposed to sun or wind for even a half hour.

For advice about the best methods for planting trees on your land, contact the local forestry service, soil conservationist or us here in the County Extension Office.

THE DIVISION of State Parks is telling the nation "Kentucky has everything to make your next convention a success." Folders published by the division are proclaiming three great convention sites: Kentucky Dam Village, Kenlake Hotel and Cumberland Falls. The hunting, fishing, golf and water sports at these sites and the facilities for conventioners are likely to gain the Commonwealth a reputation as "the convention state."

KY. CERTIFIED SEED

The certification of seeds in Kentucky is handled by the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association, under the direction of the University of Kentucky Agriculture Experiment.

The certification of seed is a service which maintains and makes available to the farmers high quality seed of superior crop plant varieties. After the University develops a new variety, this seed is turned over to Kentucky Seed Stocks to increase the amount of seed. This seed is then sold to seed producers, who produce seed and sell to farmers. This seed crop is inspected regularly by the "Kentucky Seed Improvement Association" to see if it is true to variety and free of insects, diseases and noxious weeds.

Kentucky Certified Seed can be easily identified by the label certification tag and seal, which is attached to every bag.

By using Kentucky certified seeds a farmer receives many advantages. Some of these are clean seed, adapted to Kentucky conditions, uniformity and high yields.

STATE FESTIVAL ELIGIBILITY WON BY 47 FLOYD STUDENTS IN THREE-DAY COMPETITION

A total of 47 students from four high schools in Floyd county have won eligibility for the state music festivals later in the spring.

The young people, from Martin, Maytown, Prestonsburg, and Wheelwright high schools, drew a total of 54 admissions to the state gatherings. They were participating in the regional music festival held last week-end at Pikeville College.

In all, 126 places in the state meet were granted to students of high schools in five Eastern Kentucky counties during the three-day Pikeville festival. The state ratings were given for 38 instrumental and vocal solos and 17 ensembles, ranging from instrumental duets to a 16-voice choral group.

The winners will attend the piano-and-voice section of the state festival April 22 and 23, or the instrumental section May 9 and 10, both at Lexington.

Band members from the four schools and Betsy Layne and McDowell were in the All-Festival Band, and students from Martin, Maytown, McDowell and Prestonsburg were in the All-Festival Chorus, which closed the festival with a joint concert.

Winners of the top rating from Prestonsburg high school were Cora Ruth Wright, in soprano solo; the baton-twirling trio of Peggy Parker, Patsy Baldrige, and Bonnie Ruth Wright, Sue Wells and Carole Howell; the mixed quartet of Betty Crisp, Carole Howell, Jimmy Hamilton and Jerry Hackworth; the cornet duet of Carl Brickley and Harold Cooley, and the 10-voice girls' ensemble of Cora Ruth Wright, Betty Crisp, Sue Wells, Judy Roberts, Judy Dixon, Polly Compton, Carole Howell, Edith Cook, Martha Burchett and Kathryn Roberts.

Martin high school students receiving top rating were Jerry Grigsby, in alto-saxophone solo; the girls' trio of Mary B. Sammons, Cecil Sammons, and Mary F. Osborne, and the baton-twirling team of Carolyn Martin, Patsy Sammons, Mary B. Sammons, Brenda Sammons, and Marsha Babb.

State-rated Maytown high school students were Pamela Combs, in baritone-horn solo; Melanie Conley, in alto-saxophone solo, and the 15-voice boys' ensemble of Earl Webb, Rinaldo Frasure, Dan Rowland, Alton Bentley, Larry Blevins, David Fraley, Rondell Prater, Arthur Lafferty, Glenn Patton, and Conrad Branham.

Wheelwright high school students winning the top rating were Flo Bates, in piano solo; Janet Blevins, in alto-saxophone solo; Steve Mullett, in snare-drum solo, and the baton-twirling team of Flo Bates and Joyce Wadell.

The All-Festival Band included Billy Cleo Hale, Janice Griffith, Ronald Johnson, James W. Allen, Dottie G. Martin, and Mary B. Sammons, Janice Griffith, Ronald Johnson, James W. Allen, Dottie G. Martin, and Mary B. Sammons, of Martin High School; Tommy Burchette, Betty Crisp, Cora Ruth Wright, Clara Allen, Helen Wells, Raymond Wells, Carl Brickley, Harold Cooley, and Doug Wells, of Prestonsburg; Melanie Conley, Pam Combs, Phyllis Combs, Bob Talen, Denny Gibson, Janet Harmon, Clara Combs, and Ossie Spencer, of Maytown; Carolyn Sanders, Donna Parsons, Judy Gearheart, Larry Parsons, Rosemary Moore, Pamela Jones, Joan Johnson, Dotty Howell, Mollie Rose Jones, Paul Hoffman, and Sandra Hall, of McDowell; and Flo Bates, Nancy Hall, Martha Osborne, June Hall, Janice Blevins, and Steve Mullett, of Wheelwright.

In the All-Festival Chorus were Mickey Martin, Dottie Gay Martin, Mary B. Sammons, Jan Grigsby, Jerry Grigsby, and Billy C. Hale, of Martin; Cora Ruth Wright, Judy Roberts, Judy Dixon, Sue Wells, Betty Crisp, Kathryn Roberts, Carole Howell, Polly Compton, Edy Cook, Lolita Arnett, Dexter McCarty, Jimmy Hamilton, Daxid Auxier, Rodney Bussey, Carl Brickley, and Jerry Hackworth, of Prestonsburg; Bonnie Hopson, Myra Gibson, Bonita Hall, Linda Maggard, Barbara Prater, Aldo Frasure, Earl Webb, Leonard Gibson, Dan Rowland, and Larry Blevins, of Maytown; and Charlotte Stewart, Denise Turner, and Maudie Caudill, of McDowell.

Ked Gibson, 53, Coal Run, Succumbs At Pikeville; Burial On Johns Creek

Ked Gibson, 53, of Coal Run, died at 1:20 p.m. Thursday, April 3, at the Pikeville Methodist hospital after an illness of 12 days.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the home of the Revs. Herman Ratliff and Wayne Blanton officiating. Burial was in the Clark Cemetery at Johns Creek under the direction of the Baker Funeral Home.

A life-long resident of Pike county, he was a son of the late William Riley Gibson and Parlee Swinney Gibson. He was well-known in Floyd county, his first wife being Lena Gunnells Mullett, of Mare Creek, who preceded him in death.

Gibson, a farmer, was a member of the Holiness Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Josephine Nichols Gibson; a son, William Marion Gibson; a stepson, James Marion Gibson; two daughters, Mary Ruth Gibson, and Caleb Gibson, both of home; and Bruce Gibson, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Betty Sartin, Turkey Creek, and Mrs. Bertha Meade, Coal Run.

Mrs. Hattie B Haymond, Widow of Col. Haymond, Is Car Accident Victim

Mrs. Hattie Belle Haymond, 62 years old, widow of Col. Thomas S. Haymond, well-known Eastern Kentucky coal man, was killed last Wednesday when her auto left Highway 49, 20 miles south of Hattiesburg, Miss. Her funeral was conducted Friday from the Hulet Funeral Home chapel in Hattiesburg, and burial was made there.

Mrs. Haymond was alone in her car at the time of the tragedy, but was being followed in another automobile by her daughter, Miss Mary Haymond. They were on the way to Hattiesburg from their home in Mississippi City. Mrs. Haymond was scheduled to undergo surgery there.

She was pronounced dead on arrival at Stong county hospital in Wiggins. Highway Patrolman H. L. Duckworth and Inspector Bud Gray, who investigated, said Mrs. Haymond apparently lost control of her car.

Mrs. Haymond was employed at the Forrest hotel in Hattiesburg as executive housekeeper for about seven years before moving to Mississippi City two years ago.

She went to the coast to work at the Trade Winds hotel and at the time of her death was executive housekeeper at the White House hotel in Biloxi, Miss.

Mrs. Haymond is also survived by a stepdaughter, Isabel Haymond, New York City; two step-grandchildren, Mrs. Charles Seibert, Louisville, and Jack Haymond, with the Navy in San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Mamie Howze, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Electricity...

opens the door to Better Living for the Lewis Woolwine family

Electricity is a miracle maker in every modern home, and in this one, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Woolwine, it magically operates the garage doors — just one of the many tasks electricity performs for the Woolwines.

"With every member of our family either working or in school, it would be impossible for us to get along without electric appliances," Mr. Woolwine, a bank cashier, says. "Our water heater, for example, gives us all the hot water we can use and never causes a moment's trouble. When you consider all the time we save and the work that's done away with, electricity is wonderful. I figure we get all this anytime — everyday — we want it for the price of a movie ticket."

Mrs. Woolwine appreciates electric living, too. "All of us — my husband, Lewis, Jr., Jayne and myself — are active people. And we need all the help we can get from our appliances. The range is a wonderful time saver, and it's so easy to cook on that every one of us, including Jayne, can prepare a satisfactory meal. I like the clothes dryer, too, because it eliminates so much work and adds many hours to my days."

The Woolwines agree — cooking is easier, faster and safer on a modern electric range.

No dreary washtday for Mrs. Woolwine. With an electric washer and dryer, sparkling clean clothes are back in drawers in no time.

Thanks to modern electric living, the Woolwines have extra time to relax and enjoy each other... while Lewis, Jr., is off and away participating in one of his many sports activities.

Modern Families Everywhere
Are Living Better Electrically!
