This Town— That World

THE PRIZE-WINNER

One of the best ideas we've had about secession is that one—did it come from Letcher county?—suggesting that Eastern Kentucky not simply quit Kentucky but go a step farther and secede from the Union. "Thus," it is explained, "East Kentucky would become a foreign nation, ever so often could threaten to sign articles with Russia if help didn't come quickly, and so qualify for billions in foreign aid, then spend it on those locks and dams and such that we've been denied by federal and state governments so long."

The daughter has been gone this week. We miss her very much. The telephone has been so quiet, you wouldn't know that nerve-jangling monster is on the place.

It says here that a reformed toper, when asked why he quit drinking, replied: "I learned it wasn't necessary to paralyze my brain to enjoy myself."

You probably have run across this definition of the word, "sympathy," just as I did, the other day. It is defined in this sentence: "Your pain is in my heart."

TIME—AH, TIME!

A glance at the calendar reminds us that summer is almost gone, that autumn is at hand—and then winter. The youngsters back in school now are wondering whence sped those few vacation months, but we who are—er—their seniors are wondering what has become of a whole year. Even whole flocks of years. . . . But, if winter comes, spring cannot be far away.

56 YEARS AGO

Our friend E. L. Hopson, of Riverside Ave., has left with us the prospectus published in 1902 by the East Kentucky Normal and Prestonsburg College. It has much to commend it to the 1958-model reader.

The school, headed by Prof. W. M. Byington, was then 11 years old. It advertised that expenses of an education here were then less than at any other school in the United States. And who—

PROBE RECORD IS PRESENTED

Inquiry Evidence Given Grand Jury By Stumbo; 89 Witnesses Testified

Testimony produced during the court of inquiry probe into causes of the Floyd county school bus tragedy was placed in the hands of the grand jury by County Judge Henry Stumbo immediately after the jury was empaneled Tuesday morning.

In a statement Judge Stumbo noted that the grand jury at the April term requested the court of inquiry. The requested probe was begun May 3 and continued till June 24. Eighty-nine witnesses were questioned and three persons submitted to lie detector tests at Frankfort, his statement reminded the jury.

"The Court of Inquiry was complete in that all the known witnesses were interrogated in detail and an accurate record of the testimony was made and transcribed. That record, together with the results of the lie detector test and all other available evidence is delivered to the grand jury for such action as it deems necessary or proper," Judge Stumbo's statement to the jury said.

VOTE IS SET ON BONDS TO BUILD COURTHOUSE

COURT LEAVES BOND DECISION UP TO VOTERS

Action Follows Lengthy Consideration of Needs; Issue Involves $575,000

Floyd county's voters will, in addition to helping elect a Congressman and two members of the Floyd County Board of Education, decide at the November election if a new county courthouse is to be built.

The fiscal court last Thursday morning in a special meeting, voted to submit to the voters the question of a $575,000 bond issue to finance construction of a courthouse and jail to supplant the present structures.

The bond issue would be amortized over a period of years by means of an additional tax levy. It is estimated that a levy of 20 cents per $100 will realize more than $60,000 to pay interest and principal of the bonds, but the fiscal court by making the payments over a longer period may set the tax levy at a lower rate.

The court took its action last Thursday after several months' talk of the need for a new courthouse. The present building is in a bad state of despair, has suffered from at least one fire, and its terrace floors which were laid mainly over wood have badly sagged, threatening collapse.

TIPPLE BLAZE REWARD, $500

Arson Seen In Burning Of Floyd Magistrate's Tipple Near Orkney

A reward of $500 was posted Wednesday morning, shortly after a coal tipple owned by Magistrate Johnny Caudill on Spewing Camp, near Orkney, had been destroyed by fire.

The blaze which leveled the coal tipple is definitely considered to constitute arson, County Judge Henry Stumbo was told. Details of the fire are lacking here, however.

One report said that Magistrate Caudill has had some labor trouble at the mine but this was not linked with the fire. There was no estimate of the damage. The Magistrate's coal operation is a truck mine.

Expected to be probed by the grand jury now in session is the recent dynamiting of a truck mine operated on Sizemore fork of Left Beaver Creek by Wes Vance, of Wayland.

184 DISABLED GET BENEFITS

Floyd Ranks Seventh Because of Hazardous Occupations of Area

One hundred eighty-four persons in Floyd county were drawing Social Security disability benefits, as of December, last year, it was announced this week by H. H. Kellerman, field representative of this county for the Pikeville district. Amount of monthly benefits was $6,326, he said.

Floyd county stands seventh in the state in the number of persons receiving disability benefits, it was pointed out. Jefferson county, in which Louisville is located, has the highest number. Five hundred eighty-three persons there drew $43,410 monthly. Harlan county is second to Jefferson with 188 recipients receiving $14,152 each month.

Pike county stands third in the state in the number of recipients. One hundred forty-five persons in that county receive $10,683 monthly.

Other counties, beside Jefferson, Harlan and Pike having a greater number of disabled recipients of Social Security benefits are Bell, Kenton and Letcher counties.

It was pointed out by Kellerman that the number of recipients is probably much greater now as the figures given are as of the first six months of the program. Applications have been very heavy and —See Story No. 8, Page 5—

HILL DIRECTS SALE OF CAR

Confiscated Automobile Seized By Floyd Sheriff Up For Sale Here

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill entered an order Tuesday directing the sale of the automobile of Muncey Prater which had been confiscated by Sheriff Hershell Warrens as a vehicle in which illegal liquors had been transported.

The sale is believed to be the first ever ordered in Eastern Kentucky. Such action is provided for by the same statute that authorizes the seizure and sale of buildings where alcoholic beverages are illegally sold.

Sheriff Warrens hailed the court action as perhaps the greatest help enforcement of the dry law could receive.

"I intend to sell every car I can just as soon as the owners are convicted in these liquor cases, and I'll extend it to include buildings used for such purposes," Warrens said. "Of course," he added, "we have to have the cooperation of the courts to get such things done."

Owner of the confiscated car also was fined $50 and given a 30-day jail term. At first he was fined $20 and given a 30-day jail term by the quarterly court, but he asked a transfer of the case to circuit court and was granted his request.

Roy Tate, who was charged with having liquor for sale, also was fined $50 and given a 30-day jail term on the first day of the new court term. Kermit Joseph, who pleaded guilty to a drunk driving charge, was fined $100 and his driver's license was revoked. Russell Sammons was fined $50 on his plea of guilty to a charge of having liquor for sale.

MARTIN PICKS COMMISSION

Urban Renewal Steps Taken By Beaver Town; Latta Is Named Attorney

A Labor Day meeting of the Martin City Council saw the appointment of a Housing Commission for the town and the passage of a resolution declaring an urban area there to be in need of development due to a major disaster.

Named to the Housing Commission were Mayor Denzil Halbert, ex-officio member, W. J. Reynolds, Jr., Dr. Frances Sherman, Mrs. Myrtle H. Keating, city clerk, and Lawrence Keathley, A. chairman and secretary will be named at an early organizational meeting of the commission.

The Council also authorized the Housing Commission to exercise urban renewal powers and file application with the Housing & Home Finance Agency for advance planning funds. The deadline for filing under disaster provisions is Oct. 2, said Clifford B. Latta, Prestonsburg attorney who has been employed to file the application for the city of Martin.

The area proposed for urban development was severely damaged by flood. It is in the Elm street section of Martin, which is at the rear of the hospital, bank and other main street structures.

RAIDERS PINNED DOWN BY 'SHINERS RIFLEFIRE

Deputy Sheriff, 2 Federal Agents Withdraw As 200 Shots Are Fired; One Man Nabbed, 2 Others Sought

Two federal revenue agents and a Floyd deputy sheriff were pinned down by automatic rifle fire at nightfall last Friday when 200 shots were fired at them by moonshine still operators they were seeking to arrest on Riley's Branch, near Bevinville.

The officers, armed only with revolvers, found it useless to return the fire, the range was so great. "They made it hot for us," said Joe Wheeler Lewis, the deputy sheriff who accompanied the federal men. "We were in an open field; they were across a hollow, up a wooded hillside." He explained that he and his companions took shelter in a mine opening till nightfall, then beat a retreat.

The federal officers, F. M. Phillips and Frank Renick, and Deputy Sheriff Lewis had found three men moonshining in the drift mouth of a mine. One of the trio, William David Johnson, they captured. The other two fled inside the mine. The officers followed, found the shoes of one of the fugitives, but did not find the two men.

After the search of the mine had failed, Renick took Johnson to the mouth of the branch while

F.&A.M. LODGE ESTABLISHED

Formal Opening Set For Saturday; Named To Honor John W. Hall

The new Masonic lodge established at Martin—the fourth in Floyd county—will be formally set to work the evening of Sept. 6 when Grand Master William O. Ware, of Covington, and other grand lodge officials will participate in dedicatory ceremonies.

The new lodge will be known as John W. Hall Lodge, so named in honor of the Martin man who is a past grand master of the grand lodge of Kentucky Masons. Gardez H. Dings is the first master of the lodge; W. G. Goff, senior warden, and Wesley L. Hall, junior warden. Other lodge officials will be appointed.

The lodge begins work with a membership ranging between 80 and 100. Fifty-three of its members are from Zebulon Lodge, Prestonsburg. Others come from J. W. Alley Lodge at Wayland and Wheelwright Lodge.

For the Sept. 6 gathering, to which all Masons are invited, dinner will be served at the Youth Center at Martin at 6:30, with the meeting at the lodge scheduled at 7:30 p.m.

MARTIN URGES STEPS TOWARD BUS SAFETY

Five Are Hospitalized After Car-Truck Mishap On Middle Creek Road

Five persons were hospitalized, three of them seriously injured, as a result of a truck-car collision on Highway 114 Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Removed to St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, was Kenneth Prater, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Prater, of Brainard. Hospitalized at the Prestonsburg General hospital are Mrs. Prater, 29, and two children, Kathy, 7, and Sammy Lee, 16 months. Charlie, Jr., 11, was released Tuesday.

MARTIN PICKS COMMISSION

Urban Renewal Steps Taken By Beaver Town; Latta Is Named Attorney

Kentucky school superintendents were warned recently by Robert R. Martin, superintendent of public instruction to take stern precautions in the ensuing school term against recurrence of a school bus tragedy like, or similar to, that of February 28 when 26 pupils and the driver were lost in this county.

County Superintendent V. O. Turner, in commenting on the Martin warning, said that as far as his system is concerned all the suggestions for bus safety advanced by the State Superintendent were complied with fully before the tragedy or were put into effect last term.

Turner pointed out that overloading of buses was eliminated and that regular meetings are held to go over transportation problems. He said that only seated pupils are being transported.

Five new school buses for the Floyd county system were being delivered to personnel of the transportation department, Wednesday, at Richmond, Indiana. Four of these are 60-passenger and one will seat 66 passengers. The latter has air brakes, an added safety feature, and is the only one in Eastern Kentucky with the exception of one in Lawrence county.

Superintendent Martin, in submitting the ten suggestions to superintendents over the state said:

"I hold no brief that this list is at all complete. Rather, it should be considered as a general guide to which you will want to add other items from the experience and need of your particular system."

"I feel I must urge you to give careful attention pertaining to your transportation program which, if neglected in any way, could result in serious problems for you and your board," Dr. Martin began his memorandum.

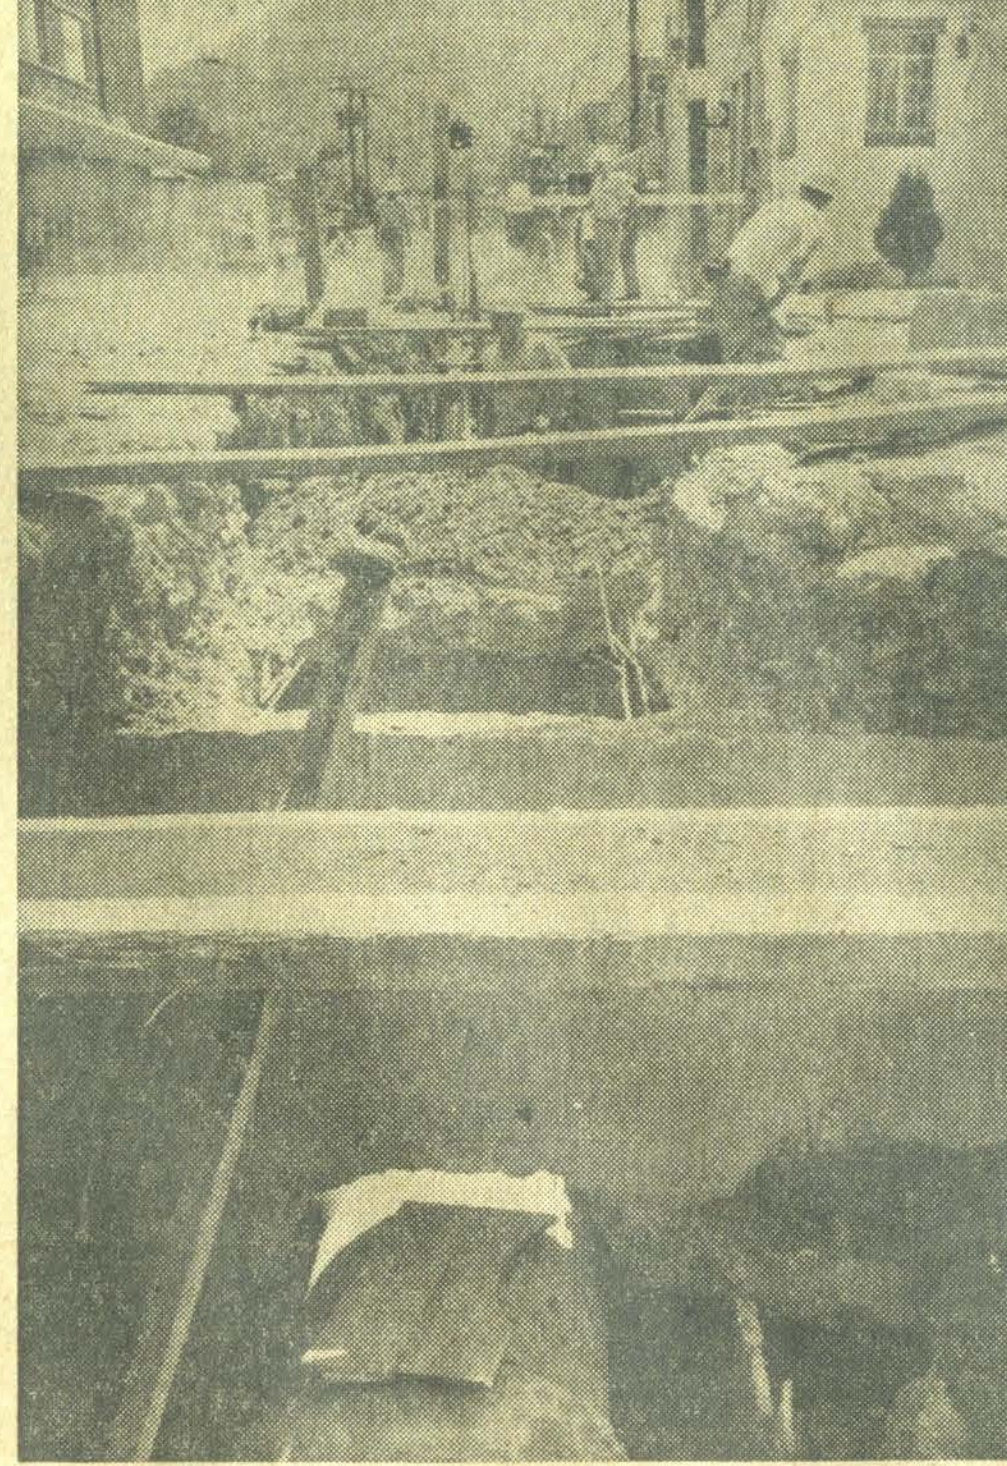

"The opening of school is rapidly approaching. You know, as I do, the tremendous responsibility this places upon you for ensuring the successful, safe, and economical operation of your district."

"Moreover, you will be conscious of some unrest among our school friends, and among the parents of school-age children, which has arisen from the frightful bus accident of the past term."

"If there were no other reasons, recollections of this tragedy alone would impel us to take every precaution known to us to avoid other tragedies involving our most precious possessions—our children."

Dr. Martin listed the 10 compulsory minimum precautions as:

1. All school-bus equipment must be adequately covered by insurance.
2. All buses must meet, at least, the requirements set out

PARK COTTAGE PLANS ALTERED BY PROTESTS

Eastern Kentucky protests have resulted in a change of plans for Jenny Wiley State Park housing, it was announced last week by Conservation Commissioner Laban T. Jackson.

Four modern cabins, each having space for two families, with kitchen and indoor toilet facilities, will be built at the park in the Dewey reservoir area instead of eight "rustic type" cabins with one central toilet facility. The indoor toilet and bathing fixtures will add about $1,200 to the cost of each cabin, Mr. Jackson estimated.

Jackson said it is hoped work can be started at Dewey this fall. The development there also calls for construction of a boat dock in the vicinity of German at a cost of $10,000. This dock, it was said locally, will be operated by Hence Terry, of Martin, owner of a concession at the Stratton Branch recreation area in the park.

The park will set aside $50,000 for the Floyd park out of a total of $450,000 earmarked for further development of 10 state parks in the next two years. Construction of the boat dock at or near German—the second to be installed at Dewey Lake—will leave about $40,000 for the four cottages.

Jackson said the cottages will be built of timber taken from the park area and will be heated electrically if sufficient power is made available.

Of the $450,000 earmarked for the overall parks development program, five other parks will receive as much as Jenny Wiley. Five thousand dollars will go toward planning a state park at Buckhorn reservoir. Buckhorn has been termed a full-fledged state park, along with Jenny Wiley and others, although the dam there has not been completed.

CIVIC DUTIES STRESSED BY JUDGE, PROSECUTOR

Bus Drivers' Salaries Raised $5 Per Month; Gym Resanding Planned

The Floyd County Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting here Tuesday raised salaries of bus drivers $5 per month, making their pay $120 per month.

Other business of the board transacted was the payment of the first estimate on the Martin and Allen school building additions and the decision to resand the floor of the Prestonsburg high school gymnasium providing examination of the floor reveals no moisture underneath. The resanding was recommended by the architects.

Absent from the board meeting were Dr. W. D. Osborne and John M. Stumbo.

BOVINE TB TESTS END

Brucellosis Petitions Are Being Circulated Among Floyd Farmers

The bovine tuberculosis testing program, beginning in this county in the early 1920's and continued every third year, has paid dividends, Robert M. Jones, county agent, observed this week. The recently completed tests of 480 cattle, mostly cows, revealed not a single case of the animal disease.

The testing was done by Dr. Bill Wise of the State Department of Agriculture and took three weeks in August to complete.

Petitions are still being circulated to procure enough cattle owners signature to get a Bang's or brucellosis disease testing program in this county, Jones noted. Before the state will authorize testing 75 per cent of the farmers owning 80 per cent of the cattle must petition for testing of the disease that is chiefly responsible for abortion. Although 550 farmers owning 1,500 head of cattle have signed, this is not enough, it was said.

Lawrence county has completed testing and the program has now moved into Morgan and Greenup county. Completion of testing in the latter county will be made soon and the work will be begun in Johnson. Jones expressed the hope that Floyd county could be tested along with Johnson.

Mrs. Myrtle Porter, 70, Victim At Paintsville; Burial On Johns Creek

Mrs. Myrtle Porter, 70, of the Johns Creek section, died at the Paintsville Clinic, Friday. She was the victim of a heart attack.

Mrs. Porter was the wife of Henry Logan Porter, Jr. She is survived by four sons and daughters and a brother and sister.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday from the Preston Funeral Home Chapel, the Rev. Charles Perry officiating. Burial was made in the Porter cemetery on Johns Creek.

GRAND, PETIT JURIES HEAR INSTRUCTION

Hill Urges Secrecy In Grand Jury Work; Terms Begins Tuesday

The duties of citizens, particularly those citizens who are called for jury service, were stressed in talks made at the opening session Tuesday morning of the September criminal term of circuit court.

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill spoke first, instructing the grand jury as to its rights and duties and also advising petit jurors as to their duty to weigh testimony in relationship to the motives of witnesses. Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley spoke later, directing his remarks to both the grand and petit jurors.

Judge Hill commented on a statement by the Sheriff's office that liquor and breaking and entering offenses were increasing. "It's your duty and mine to enforce the law prohibiting the sale of liquor in Floyd county, whether we believe in the law or not. Personally, I feel," he said, "that the people of this county made a wise choice in the dry law."

Of bootlegging he said: "When a man does this he assumes the risk of being caught. Then, instead of saying, 'You've caught me and I'm ready to take my medicine,' they resort to every legal loophole to escape." He added that the minimum 30-day jail sentence is low enough for the bootlegger.

County Judge Stumbo handed Judge Hill his report on the court of inquiry held in connection with the February school bus tragedy, and Hill in turn filed the report with the foreman of the grand jury. He made no comment.

Calling on grand jurors to look into all phases of crime, Judge Hill urged that the jury's investigations and work should be strictly secret. "It is a very bad thing," he said, —See Story No. 3, Page 2—

ALLENS FILE $25,000 SUIT

Against Sheriff Warrens; Plaintiffs Allege Search Was "Illegal, Oppressive"

Because of a search made on their premises on the head of Steele's Creek, one and a half miles from Wayland on July 4, Joe and Mary Allen seek to recover damages totalling $25,000 from Sheriff Hershell Warrens and his surety, the Aetna Casualty & Insurance Company.

The circuit court action is styled the Commonwealth of Kentucky, for the use and benefit of Joe and Mary Allen. The petition was prepared by Atty. Cassie J. Allen and was filed August 30.

The complaint alleges that Sheriff Warrens personally directed six or seven of his deputies in a search of the premises and that they entered upon the Allens' land without authority and that they "searched, pilfered, disturbed and moved the position and location of personal property. . . in a flagrant, abusive, high-handed and oppressive manner. . ." The suit also claims that the officers had no sufficient warrant or authority to make the search, that it caused the plaintiffs great embarrassment, humiliation and mental anguish and was damaging to their reputations.

Actual damages of $20,000, plus $5,000 punitive damages, are asked.

Former Floyd-Co. Man Succumbs In Alabama From Lung Cancer

Miles Reid, 61, former Betsy Layne resident, died at Pinson, Ala., of lung cancer, Friday at 8 p.m. He was a native of Alabama.

Mr. Reid, a former miner, is survived by his wife, Birdie Mahon Reid, and the following sons and daughters: Darlene Reid, Mrs. Jewell Mills and Mrs. Inez Music, all of Auxier, M. C. Reid, Springfield, O., and Osmond Reid, Toledo, O. Four brothers and sisters also survive.

Funeral services were held Monday at the home and burial was made in the Philadelphia cemetery at Trefford, Ala., under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

The Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club at Wheelwright recently adopted resolutions calling for the organization by the Kiwanians of a Pikeville College Pledge Club "to encourage the members of our club and everyone in Eastern Kentucky to pledge financial support on an annual basis so that Pikeville College may have the full cooperation of the people of Eastern Kentucky."

The resolutions, signed by B. F. Reed, president of the Wheelwright club, points out the need of financial support for the Pikeville school, because:

1. Pikeville College has been serving the people of Eastern Kentucky for many years and providing the means to an education for a great many of our young people who could not otherwise get an education and.

2. Pikeville College is now a full 4-year college and providing much greater opportunities to our young people and

3. In order to continue its 4-year program and become a fully accredited college, it must engage in a building program to improve its facilities.

4. The salary level of the faculty is substantially lower than in state-supported schools and it is necessary to raise this level in order to become an accredited school.

handle and care for children and to get along well with people.

9. Drivers must be at least 18 years old and, if younger than 21, must have passed the prescribed 50-hour training course.

10. Drivers must be familiar with all rules pertaining to the transportation of pupils before being allowed to enter up on the job.

In addition, Dr. Martin suggested that periodical meetings be held at school, attended by pupils, faculty, and drivers, so that each group will know precisely what its responsibilities are.

Especially, he added, it should be impressed upon the children what their responsibilities are, both on the bus and after leaving it. The reason, he said, is that experience shows more pupils are injured crossing the road after leaving the bus than are injured while inside the bus.

Public schools operate the largest transportation system in Kentucky, at a cost of around $9,000,000 a year. Some 4,000 buses transport around 300,000 pupils every school day. They travel 200,000 miles daily.

APPRECIATION OFFERED

It is my desire to thank the following persons who so kindly assisted the first Floyd County Arts and Crafts Show sponsored by the Floyd County Chapter of the Eastern Kentucky Historical Society in demonstrating their handiwork, August 23, on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Tom James.

I want to thank Mesdames Frankie Best, Charlotte Martin, Betty Stephens, Lora Walker, Myrtle Hunt, Lucy Regan, Laura Ley, May K. Roberts, Shirley Hughes, Stella Spurlock, Virgil Goble Nicie Kenny, Mable Allen, Garnet Fairchild, Annie Hobson, Regina Mayo, Mabel Donahue, Frieda Halstead, Mary Thompson, Alma Keenon, and Misses Nancy Conway Salisbury, Winnie Archer, Mrs. Vivian Hale. Thanks are extended to Mr. Prock Hayes and Mr. Billy Fraley, and to Radio Station WPRT and to all who participated in the musical program.

On occasion fear has been expressed that a major disaster may occur if weakened floors collapse beneath the weight of large gatherings on the second floor of the building.

After studying the situation members of the court decided to submit the question to the voters and let their verdict write the decision to build or not to build.

The question to appear on the ballot is:

"Shall Floyd County, Kentucky issue bonds to the amount of five hundred seventy-five thousand dollars ($575,000) for the purpose of building a new county courthouse and jail in and for said county?"

A vote in the "Yes" square will be for the bond issue; in the "No" square, against it.

At the May primary no ballots were printed in this county for the first time in modern political history. Neither the Democratic nor the Republican candidate for Congress was opposed. There was no other question to be settled.

But, come November, the matter of electing a Congressman will occupy the top spot on the regular county ballot, with the courthouse bond issue appearing on the same ballot. A separate ballot will list the candidates for Board of Education, and yet another ballot—this for the use of Prestonsburg voters only—will present the question of a bond issue for construction of a swimming pool here.

The swimming pool question involves a bond issue not to exceed $99,500, with an annual tax amortizing principal and interest on the bonds at a rate not to exceed $9,680 a year. The bond issue would be retired in a period of 20 years.

The fiscal court at its Thursday meeting certified 11,842 persons as recipients of surplus foodstuffs, paid the $1,000 allowed Mousie and Edith Halbert by commissioners for rights-of-way and leased for $100 a year from Irvin and Margaret Harris certain land needed for the county two-way radio system operated from the Sheriff's office.

Three residents of the Middle Creek section have been in jail here under suspicion of burglarizing the home here of County Clerk DuRan Moore because of stories told by members of their own families to county officials and state police to the effect that they were implicated.

And these stories told by Mrs. Angie Barnett, Tracey Barnett, his wife and daughter—all of which piled up evidence against those in jail and which cost authorities many hours of questioning—kept them either in jail or under suspicion until it became definitely established that two youths held in the federal detention home for juveniles in Memphis, Tenn., actually are the burglars.

The two boys were sought by the FBI for transporting a stolen auto across state lines. When the two were arrested two of the items missing from the Moore residence—a pistol and a small radio—were in their possession.

Two carving knives taken are yet missing. County Clerk Moore last week-end interviewed the boys at Memphis and they described in detail the interior of his home and where they found the items which they stole.

The stories told by the Barnetts implicated Willie Wadkins as driver of a pickup truck but all were released when their accounts of the burglary were deemed as pure fiction.

Now what County Clerk Moore, the Sheriff, County Attorney, State Police, attorneys, et al would like to know is—why did the Barnetts implicate each other and Wadkins in a crime none of them committed?

NATIONALISM

In discussing the concept of nationalism in his book, "The Discovery of India," Prime Minister Nehru said, "recent events all over the world have demonstrated that the notion that nationalism was fading away before the impact of internationalism and proletarian movements had little truth. It is still one of the most powerful urges that move a people and around it cluster sentiments and traditions and a sense of common living and common purpose."

"for a grand juror to elbow up to somebody on the street and say, 'I didn't vote to indict you.' If your relatives or friends are concerned in cases coming before you, don't take part in voting whether to indict or not to indict."

Judge Hill reminded the petit jurors it is their duty to weigh the interest witnesses on both sides have in the cases in which they appear. He advised them to listen to testimony given and to consider the motives of those who testify—weigh the monetary interest or any malice witnesses might have.

He paid tribute to the work of Sheriff Hershel Warrens and his deputies toward law enforcement. "A splendid job," Hill termed Warrens' efforts, but he noted the difficulties under which any Sheriff works, since search warrants issued on affidavits are necessary before searches can be legally made. "If you know of any bootlegging," he told the courtroom gathering, "you should be willing to help in getting it stopped."

Commonwealth's Attorney Conley asked the grand jury to consider evidence submitted to it and not to indict if the jurors do not think the accused is guilty. "Make sure—when you indict a man, you stamp him as a criminal," he told the jury.

Turning to the petit jurors, Conley said, "I don't want the innocent convicted, but I say this, if you turn the guilty loose, I am going to throw the blame on you." He reminded jurors that those who tell the truth as to their guilt and confess it should fare better than those who fight justice with every weapon at their disposal.

The prosecutor then told the gathering that many are looking for special favors. "At least 12 defendants have asked me for favors, I tell you," he concluded, "these 12 will fare just like the others."

Dock Hall, of Betsy Layne, was named foreman of the grand jury.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

In writing of the planned economic development of India, in his book, "The Discovery of India," Prime Minister Nehru wrote, "I am all for tractors and big machinery and I am convinced that the rapid industrialization of India is essential to relieve the pressure on land, to combat poverty and raise standards of living, for defense and a variety of other purposes. But I am equally convinced that the most careful planning and adjustment are necessary if we are to reap the full benefit of industrialization and avoid many of its dangers."

As part of the Indian Government's continuing effort to raise agricultural productivity, the Indian Council of Agricultural Research has instituted eleven annual prizes, valued at $1,000 piece, for outstanding research in agriculture, animal husbandry and allied subjects.

Two Needs Among Many

Economists, amateurs and professionals alike, can with a great deal of academic fluency and profundity tell you why in the labor-capital picture such and such is happening. They can in most facile fashion point to the need for the delicate balance between wages and living expenses, the buying power of workers and the production power of plants, and so on to dizzying spirals of both thought and economy.

We have no such learning and can offer no panacea for our economic troubles. What we dare to offer can be expressed in plain, mill-run language.

It occurs to us that the situation has developed at least two great needs: 1. For a "Summit" conference between labor unions and industry leaders, to agree on a wage-price relationship and that agreement not to be made primarily for the good of the two groups involved but for the welfare of the United States.

2. Federal legislation providing for free election of all union officials, such election to be by secret ballot and all candidates for union office in opposition to incumbents given full protection as to their union rights and privileges.

Back to suggestion No. 1: The current "recession" is the only economic depression suffered by the American people wherein employment drops, opportunity falls, the nation's payrolls decrease—and yet the cost of living rises and continues to rise. Now, as an end to this slump of many months is glimpsed, there is threatened a strike by the United Auto Workers unless the wage scale is hiked. And that could be the blow that might wipe out whatever gains that have been made. Steel is basic, and on automobile manufacture steel depends to a great degree. An increase in auto workers' wages now, with the resultant increase in automobile prices, would make a sick auto industry sicker, in turn affect steel and touch off a damaging chain reaction all along the line of the national economy, including Eastern Kentucky's coal. A strike could be equally deadening.

For these and other cogent reasons industry and labor should meet at the top—not as they have met heretofore, as enemies, but as friendly rivals now joined in determining what is best for America first. Then, with that higher-than-usual ideal before them, what is best for them. Higher wages for a few, higher prices for a few, bigger unemployment payrolls—these, obviously, are not the way to prosperity or a stronger nation.

Free elections to name union officials must be provided, to give the worker in the ranks a voice in his labor union government. The convention method suits nobody but the top officials whose prime ambition is to stay in power at all costs. Hand-picked delegations, delegates cowed by strong-arm methods, well-greased steam-rollers in parliamentary action inside convention halls keep the Hoffas and the Becks in power. Against these and their tyrannies the men who do the work and pay the union dues and give the breath of life to the union movement must have some protection.

The decent wage-earner must be given a chance to rid his union of crooked officials, of despots, of all criminal elements that have given union labor the reputation it does not deserve. The right to vote should be his without threat of reprisal from higher up; the free choice of representatives and union officers is inherent under the American system of government but this has been lost sight of under the rule of a few top-echelon dictators and their satraps.

Give the rank-and-file worker a chance; depend on his American sense of decency for a cleanup of the mess unrestricted leadership has created.

LAWN SEEDING

September is the month to seed new lawns. The lawn should be graded and the soil prepared to a depth of four inches, free of clods and trash of any kind. Test the soil to determine if lime, phosphate and potash are needed and apply these materials as required, working them well into the top two or three inches of soil. Finely ground limestone is the best to use for applying the calcium, when the fertility of the soil is too high, a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash should be applied and worked into the soil with the lime. After the lime and fertilizer have been applied, the lawn is ready for seeding. Kentucky bluegrass should be sown at about one pound to each 1,000 square feet of surface. The seed should weigh at least 21 pounds to the bushel and have a germination of 85 per cent or better.

The grass should be clipped when five inches high, cutting the grass at a height of two inches.

White Dutch clover if desired should be sown in late March at a rate of two ounces to each 1,000 square feet of surface.

To establish a good lawn a regular and definite time schedule should be followed including the following points:

1. Sow some extra good bluegrass seed every September regardless of how good the soil may be. Usually, one-fourth to one-half pound of seed to each 1,000 square feet of area will be sufficient.

2. In November, feed the lawn, using a high grade fertilizer at the rate of fifteen pounds to each 1,000 square feet.

3. Make another application of fertilizer in early March using the same concentration as the November fertilization.

4. The mower should be kept to cut the grass at least one and one-half inches high.

UNITY IS GOOD

In his celebrated book about India's long struggle for independence, "Toward Freedom," Prime Minister Nehru wrote, "Unity is a good thing, but unity in subjection is hardly a thing to be proud of. The very strength of a despotic government may become a greater burden for a people."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

APPROVAL FROM MAINE

Editor, The Times: Thank heaven for some editors in the country who still have the moral courage to write editorials such as appeared in the July 31, 1958 issue of the Times: re: "Bowling Green Will Survive..." This issue of your paper was handed to me yesterday by the Rev. and Mrs. Andrew Burnside, of Belgrade, Maine... formerly of Middle Creek, Ky. They received the paper from a Mrs. Neal Allen who is probably one of your subscribers.

In the little state of Maine the press is very much under the thumb of the organized liquor traffic. The newspapers, both weeklies and dailies, are crying for all the liquor ads they can get. This makes it difficult for our citizens to get any real unbiased reporting as far as the traffic is concerned.

I have met Walter House, of the Kentucky Temperance League, several times. Understand that the "Drys" are doing a good work in your state.

I would appreciate it very much if you could send me two copies of the issue with the above editorial.

May the blessing of the Almighty be on you as you lift a strong voice for the cause of the "drys," which in turn is a voice for morality and righteousness in government.

Sincerely BENJ. C. UBAR, Jr., Superintendent, The Christian Civic League of Maine

URGES ROAD WORK

Editor, The Times: The Turkey Creek road is one of the most needed roads in the county. There are two bridges that are almost impossible to get over. One is in front of Ashland Salisbury's house. It is made of cement, but only about one-half of the original bridge is still in existence. The other is at the mouth of Hayes Branch. It is made of wood and is so rotten that it is dangerous to cross. It broke through once, and was repaired by nailing boards over the hole. These bridges make traveling hazardous, especially to heavy loads like school buses.

General Fugate was at Turkey Creek a few days ago. He said the state was willing to build the road, and that the only hold-up was rights-of-way. The county claims that the hold-up is caused by Ashland Salisbury and Garland Martin. Garland said he tried to meet with the county officials to come to a compromise. But for some reason they would not meet with him. So evidently there is some reason besides Garland Martin and Ashland Salisbury that is holding the road up.

Ola Gayheart Langley, Ky.

FARM NOTES

By HARRY WHITE Assistant County Agent

FALL PASTURE SEEDING Now is the time to provide for a lush pasture next summer. September is one of the best months to sow most grasses. Some of the legumes also do well sown this month. Good pastures are something that don't just happen, it takes planning, and preparation.

Grasses that may be sown this month are orchard grass, red top, fescue, bromegrass, and timothy. Ladino clover and alfalfa are the only two legumes that should be seeded in the fall in a pasture mixture. If lespedeza or red clover is desired in the pasture they should be sown in the spring.

On steep land the following mixture has proven most satisfactory. Fescue-10 pounds per acre. Ladino-1 pound per acre and 7 pounds of lespedeza sown in the spring.

For land that has been limed, the mixture most desirable is orchard grass, 10 pounds per acre and Ladino 1 pound per acre. Lespedeza can also be added to this mixture in the spring.

Another good combination that can be seeded on well drained, level land is orchard grass 8 pounds, Alfalfa 8 pounds and lespedeza 7 pounds per acre added in spring.

The preparation of a good seed bed is essential to a good stand of grass. This is especially true with fall seedings. The land should be either plowed or disked heavily. After the seed is sown, it should be either rolled or dragged with a tooth harrow.

The cheapest way to supply nitrogen for a pasture is through the legumes. Legumes have the ability to take nitrogen from the air and transfer it in the soil. They can do this, only if the proper bacteria is supplied to the soil. This innoculant (bacteria) can be obtained from the seed dealers. Follow their directions. When any legume is sown, it should be inoculated.

One other requirement of a good pasture, is the proper balance of plant food. The only way this can be correctly determined is by soil testing. This will show what plant foods are available to the plants. This is the basic for determining the amount of fertilizer to be added. For further information, contact County Extension Office or call 2668, Prestonsburg.

FLORIDA PSYCHOLOGIST CONFERENCE SPEAKER

"You and I are the architects of the self concepts of people," Dr. Arthur W. Combs, University of Florida psychologist and author told more than 500 teachers, administrative personnel, consultants and visitors at the work conference on child growth, learning and behavior here Tuesday morning.

Combs, in referring to the influence teachers have on the behavior habits of children and later as adults, said that "seeing is behaving," and pointed out that people don't act according to facts but according to their feelings.

"If a child believes a teacher is unfair, he behaves as if the teacher is unfair, and if he thinks the teacher is fair he acts fairly," Combs continued. "Each of us thinks and behaves as he sees himself. I act as a lecturer, you as the audience."

Combs, author of several books and publications, including the co-authorship of "Individual Behavior," is one of the most sought after educational consultants in the country. It was necessary to solicit his services at the conference held here at the grade school building 14 months in advance.

Becoming specific, the speaker noted that when children believe they can't read they don't read. Many disabilities are acquired and are not real, he said, adding that if a person thinks he can't speak he will have little practice and will be told he can't speak. This proves the matter to himself. Once self-concepts are developed, they are difficult to change in a positive direction.

Switching to the parents' role in the behavior habits of their developing children, he observed that fathers and mothers are "low on the totem pole" today. They are spoken disparagingly of in the schoolroom and it takes courage to become a parent now. They are very important, though, he emphasized. They are responsible for the child's past. If a child is not well liked teachers can do much about his past but can do something about his present. It takes time for the proper self-concept to grow.

Tuesday afternoon the psychologist spoke on "What Kind of Children Do We Want?" and Wednesday on "Some Modern Dilemmas in Education."

Resource consultants attending the conference were drawn from a wide area. Besides Dr. Combs attending to assist groups of teachers individually were Dr. R. E. Jagers, of Morehead, Drs. Ben K. Patton and Redford Darnon, both of Pikeville College, Monroe Wicker, of the Department of Education of Morehead College and others.

IN 82nd AIRBORNE

Paul Douglas Ratliff, of Allen, received a certificate of completion of a course in training from the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C., August 15. The Allen soldier and Prestonsburg high school graduate entered the Army Feb. 4. After basic training at Fort Knox he was transferred to Fort Carson, Colo., and then to Fort Bragg. Prior to his army service, Ratliff had joined the Army Reserve at Pikeville, in 1954, and afterward took two weeks of training at Camp Breckinridge, Ky., from July 31, to Aug. 14, 1955. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ratliff.

REPORT NOTES LIBRARY WORK

Book Circulation Rises To New High, Board Chairman Says

The Floyd County Library and Bookmobile program reached a new high in circulation during the fiscal year ended June 30, with a total of 82,021 books read in the 12-month period. These figures were included in the annual report of activities submitted to the State Library Extension Division last week by Lon C. Hill, chairman of the Floyd County Library Board.

The report showed total income of $9,524.44 from the following sources: $2,000.00, Floyd fiscal court; $6,264.44, Floyd County Board of Education; $1,150.00, state aid; and $110 from the City of Prestonsburg. Expenditures for books and periodicals, salaries of the two Bookmobile drivers, and miscellaneous needs amounted to $9,703.94. Balance of money on hand at the beginning of the fiscal year was $1,215 and at the end of the year $1,035.50.

Included among the accomplishments of the year were: (1) Remodeling of hall and two rooms in the old high school building, (2) establishment of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Library at Prestonsburg, which serves as headquarters, (3) acquisition of a second Bookmobile and the employment of second driver-librarian, (4) addition of 2,895 new books, (5) installation of outside lights on Library headquarters by City Council and agreement to pay electric bill for same, (6) the use of the Library as a meeting place for various historical and civic groups, (7) donations of six magazine subscriptions by American Legion and five county newspaper subscriptions by Floyd County Chapter of Friends of Kentucky Libraries, (8) successful county-wide Book Fairs and exhibited over 1,000 books, (9) public opinion poll taken to determine two most suitable nights for the library to remain open.

Hill reported that the 8,266 circulation of books from the two Bookmobiles for the first five weeks of the new fiscal year, before the County's schools opened, portends a circulation of more than 100,000 for the present fiscal year. Hill also said some of the civic clubs throughout the county have a cooperative plan in the making to repair and furnish another one of the rooms in the Library building for use as a reading room and meeting place for civic and service clubs.

In addition to the chairman other members of the Floyd County Library Board are Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo, Norman Allen, V. O. Turner, and Mrs. Aveline Wells.

On Sept. 2, 1945, the Japan World War II ended. The formal surrender of Japan was signed aboard the U. S. Navy's USS Missouri in Tokyo Bay. At anchor in Japan's main seaport was the victorious U. S. Fleet.

On Sept. 13, 1847, U. S. Marines stormed through the "Halls of Montezuma" on their way to Mexico City.

On Sept. 20, 1814, after the national Capital had been destroyed by the British, Congress moved into Blodgett's Hotel under guard of U. S. Marines.

The world's first atomic-powered ship, the 3,000 ton submarine Nautilus, was commissioned Sept. 30, 1954 at Groton, Conn., and assigned to the Atlantic Fleet. The Nautilus made the U. S. Navy the first military service to utilize nuclear energy for propulsion power.

WALLACE OUT, CLARK NAMED

Fish, Wildlife Changes
Follow Wallace Illness;
Bernard Carter Moves Up

Minor E. Clark, acting commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources for the past two months, last week was named commissioner by the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission in regular quarterly meeting. Clark succeeds Earl Wallace, who has been on a leave due to an illness. Wallace was appointed editorial advisor to the Department.

Clark has been head of the Fisheries Division of the Department since 1940 except for three years spent in the Navy, and since 1955 has been assistant to the commissioner. He was graduated from Waddy high school, and Eastern State College where he received a B.S. degree. He did graduate work at Western State College and the University of Kentucky where he studied ichthyology and research work in fisheries. He came to the Department in 1937 as chief biologist in fisheries. During his service in the Navy he was attached to the general headquarters staff as chief fisheries officer.

Named by Clark as administrative assistant was J. T. Cox, Lawrenceburg, who has been assistant director of fisheries for six years and recently has been acting director of that division. Cox has been in charge of the farm pond stocking program for the past 12 years.

New head of the Division of Fisheries is Bernard Carter, assistant director of Fisheries and chief biologist in charge of the Dingell-Johnson program. Carter has been with the Department for nine years and for his work at Dewey Lake is well-known here.

Other action of the Commission included the election of Roscoe Davis, Hazard, as chairman; Dr. James Salato, Columbia, vice-chairman, and Noble Lanier, Franklin, secretary. One new commissioner, from the Eighth district, Charles Bruce, of Greenup, was sworn in and Mr. Lanier, who was reappointed to a four year term, also took the oath of office.

MARTIN

Plans and dreams for Eastern Kentucky's future featured the discussion last week at the first birthday meeting of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission at Hazard.

Nearly half a hundred visiting state officials and mayors joined the group at La Citadelle motel and heard L. O. Davis, of Hazard, say that "Eastern Kentucky will do no better than the people in it." B. E. Reed, Drift coal operator and chairman of the Commission, presided at the day-long meet.

Two conclusions seemed outstanding after several commissioners and guests were heard during the day: 1. Eastern Kentucky is not yet ready to receive large industries; 2. Eastern Kentuckians are going to have to help themselves if their welfare is to improve.

Hazard's L. O. Davis probably brought the first point home most clearly when he said: "Eastern Kentucky will be no better than the people in it." Davis said too few people in this region had faith in their homeland, faith enough to invest personal capital in it. He compared the area's present situation to that of Miami, Florida several years ago when that town appeared dead. He described how that town grew and prospered because people had enough faith in future to invest and invest heavily.

Walter L. Shouse, commissioner of the Division of Planning and Zoning within the Department of Economic Security, reported that requests from Eastern Kentucky cities for aid in urban renewal projects were on the increase, and he attributed much of the interest of the people in those cities to the EKRPC.

Shouse requested the Commission to consider contacting the House of Representatives and the Senate in Washington to support the Housing Act of 1958

Mrs. Amanda Hurt, 61, Of Auxier, Is Victim, Paintsville Hospital

Mrs. Arminda Hurt, 61, of Auxier, died at the Paintsville hospital, Tuesday following a long illness. She was the wife of Thomas Hurt, who survives, and the daughter of Nathan and Amanda Hitchcock Honeycutt.

Surviving are two daughters and a son: Mrs. Gladys Damron, Detroit, Mrs. Pauline Goble, Lynnwood, Calif., and M/Sgt. Thomas Hurt, Jr., Rogersville, Ky. Surviving is a brother, Rev. S. C. Honeycutt, of Auxier, and the following sisters: Mrs. Belle Webb, Greenup county, Mrs. Mary Wells, Huntington, Mrs. Virgie Pelps, West Van Lear, Mrs. Bertha Collins, of Auxier, Mrs. Addie Viers, West Van Lear, and Mrs. Cora Wells, of Daniels Creek.

Funeral rites were conducted Friday from the Auxier Methodist Church at 10 a.m. and burial was made in the Government Relocation cemetery at Auxier under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

the number put on to receive benefits has increased considerably.

Eastern Kentucky counties have a high incidence of Social Security disability benefits, Kellerman says, because of the hazardous occupation of mining which predominates in the area. He thought that probably 70 per cent of those making applications were former miners.

To be eligible for disability benefits a worker must be unable to do any kind of remunerative work. Counties comprising the Pikeville District office of the Social Security Administration are Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin, in Kentucky, and Buchanan county, Virginia.

Revival Scheduled At Community Church

A revival is scheduled at the Community Methodist church at the Porter Addition by the pastor, Rev. Charles C. Lake, it was announced this week. The services will run from Sunday, Sept. 7 through Sept. 14.

There will be services each evening at 7:30 with morning services at 10 o'clock Tuesday and Friday of next week. Friday, Sept. 12, will be Youth Night at the church, it was noted by the evangelist. The public is urged to attend.

The revered Indian leader Mahatma Gandhi once said, "We must look the world in the face with calm and clear eyes, even though the eyes of the world are bloodshot today."

Like the United States, the Republic of India is a secular state whose constitution guarantees freedom of conscience, worship, speech and expression. In addition, the Indian Constitution specifically prohibits discrimination on grounds of religion, race, caste or sex.

would dispute that statement in view of these figures?—"Good table board at the low sum of $2 per week including furnished room, fuel and light."

The prospectus adds: "The cost of living among us is greatly reduced by the absence of any aristocratic element which would debar one from the best society unless expensively dressed. Our people welcome you upon merit, not upon dress."

The little town of Prestonsburg, the "literature" continues, at that time was a "model little town of 600 inhabitants . . . We are in a most healthful climate. Have pure water. No saloons. Two churches."

How many students today would prefer being welcomed "upon merit, not upon dress"? And how about that room and board for $2 a week!

Everything has changed since then except some women's hats!

Snap or green beans were formerly known as string beans. When plant breeders developed the modern stringless varieties, the old name was discarded.

Hunters Finding Squirrels Fewer Than Expected In State Woodlands

Kentucky squirrel hunters are having a rough time, but prospects should pick up in the next two weeks.

That's the gist of a special report released last week by Game Biologist Harold Barber, West Liberty, leader of Kentucky's squirrel research project for the Division of Game.

Barber, compiling early reports from wildlife biologists across the state, said hunting was fairly poor in Eastern Kentucky, traditionally one of the state's best areas, and not too much better in the Central and Western regions.

He looked for prospects to pick up, though, in the next several weeks.

Prior to the opening of the season on August 15, biologists predicted a banner squirrel crop for hunters. They are still holding to that estimate, believing the current slow hunting is due primarily to weather and heavily foliated trees, not to any lack of squirrels.

Barber said early hunting is always slow and that the most successful hunting occurs when squirrels reach a peak of activity—usually during late August in western and central Kentucky and September in the eastern region.

The state's wildlife biologists now are in the field conducting squirrel hunters' bag checks, a regular weekly activity during the squirrel season. Working in every county in the state, they compile information used in determining population trends and health conditions, particularly the success of the previous breeding season. This information is subsequently used as one of the guides in setting the coming year's hunting season and bag limits.

The first half of the state's split squirrel season closes October 15. The second half opens on November 20 and runs through December 17.

Lowell Hughes To Quarterback U. of Kentucky Wildcat Eleven

Prestonsburg's Lowell Hughes is slated to figure heavily in the grid activities of the University of Kentucky as the Wildcats enter what promises to be a winning season.

Hughes, a six-foot-two, 181-pound junior at U. of K., will again be seen playing the important quarterback spot.

Earl Boardman, veteran Kentucky sportscaster, will team up again this year with All-American "Wah-Wah"

Jones on the Ashland-Aetna Oil Sports network, presenting listeners an accurate, fast-moving word picture, plus on the scene color, of every University of Kentucky football game.

The Wildcat games will be broadcast in this area over radio station WSIP, Paintsville. WSIP again is a part of the state-wide Ashland Aetna oil sports network.

LOOP BATTLE

The Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference favorites, the Hazard Bulldogs, play host to the Jenkins Cavaliers, Friday night, in the first major test for the Perry countians, who were most impressive in rolling over weak Elkhorn City, 40-0, last Friday.

Last season, Jenkins nipped the Bulldogs, 6-0, and went on to win the league crown with ten successive wins.

Hazard has six regulars back and nothing would please them more than to pour it on Jenkins.

To date, Jenkins has tied one game, 7-7, and lost last week, 12-6, to little regarded Loyall.

In senior halfback Astor Sizemore, Coach Jim Caudill has one of the best backs in the state. The agile speedster scored three touchdowns, kicked three extra points, and averaged eight yards per try in the opening game. He also was in on the majority of tackles.

MINIX "PLAYER OF THE WEEK"

Paul Roger Minix (better known as "Red") to the majority of Prestonsburg Blackcat grid fans was selected as "Player of the Week" in the first weekly contest sponsored by the Francis Stores in Prestonsburg.

"Red," a 140-pound sophomore, is used very sparingly on offense, and Coach John Griggs terms him the best defensive player he ever coached.

PROGRAM AVAILABLE

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce will again distribute free an attractive 36-page football program at all home games of the Prestonsburg Blackcats.

This year's edition is more colorful and has a greater array of pictures than last year's outstanding booklet. In all, some 50 pictures appear, along with Jaycees activities and projects.

MEET LAFAYETTE FRIDAY

Prestonsburg's football game with Lexington Lafayette has been switched from Friday at 8 p.m. to Friday afternoon at 3. Since the lights have not been installed at the school's new athletic field.

This will be the second meeting between the two schools. Prestonsburg met the Lexington school in Mt. Sterling's Recreation Bowl in 1954, and lost, 39-13, after leading 13 to 6 at halftime.

Fair Features Special Events

Special events will be a feature of this year's Kentucky State Fair, September 4-13, in Louisville.

Events of special interest to visitors are:

- Sept. 4—St. Xavier - Nashville football game; Sept. 5—High school band festival, Indiana University choir, 4-H style show, Shelbyville-Elizabethtown football game; Sept. 6—Agriculture Day; Sept. 7—Religion and Industry Day; Sept. 8—Farm Machinery and Conservation Day; Sept. 9—International fiddling contest, Vaughn Monroe and Mills Brothers stage show; Sept. 10—4-H Club tractor driving contest, Gospel quartet contest, Miss Rural Electric Co-op pageantry, city-style square dance contest; Sept. 11—Calf scramble, FFA tobacco auctioneer's contest, Junior square dance contest; Sept. 12—City-style square dance contest; Sept. 13—U. of Ky. vs. U. of Hawaii football game.

Other events include: Sept. 4-7 Roy Rogers Western Revue; Sept. 6-7, Fats Domino Rock 'n' Roll Show; Sept. 9-12, U. S. Navy steel band; Sept. 8-13, Arthur Godfrey and the world's championship horse show; Sept. 10-12, Bob Crosby show.

CATS SCORE EASY WIN IN W'WRIGHT OPENER

Prestonsburg, Hazard and Fleming all recorded easy triumphs in their opening high school football games, while defending conference champion Jenkins, bowed to Loyall.

Prestonsburg used 28 players in overpowering inexperienced Wheelwright, 31-0. Sophomore fullback Dennis Stephens tallied twice on 10 and 35-yard treks around end. Quarterback James Allen went 10 and 15 yards for two-six-pointers and flipped a 35-yard scoring pass to halfback Rodney Bussey.

One of the game's most impressive performers was defensive halfback Paul "Red" Minix, 140-pound Blackcat sophomore, who repeatedly dropped the Maroons for losses.

The Jenkins Cavaliers fumbled away a 6-0 halftime lead and lost, 12-6, to Loyall after two potential scoring threats were stopped inside the ten-yard line in the closing minutes.

Tommy Brush, who was moved to fullback after playing tackle last week, tallied for Jenkins on the final play of the first half after end Russell Mullins grabbed a 25-yard pass from quarterback James Mahan to set the stage for the score.

Fleming's Pirates successfully opened their 1958 season in downing M. C. Napier, 26-0, in their first conference game. Earlier in the week, Napier had turned back Leslie County, 35-13.

Jim Caudill's Hazard Bulldogs had too much power and poise for an undermanned Elkhorn City eleven. Relying on the strong right arm of senior quarterback Kenneth Cobb and the running of halfback Astor Sizemore and Britt Handy, Hazard rolled to an easy 40-0 victory.

It took three minutes and four plays for the Bulldogs to chalk up their first t.d. Handy took an Elkhorn City punt at midfield and raced back to the 30-yard line. Fullback Bud Smyly, Handy and Cobb alternated to the 23, from which point Sizemore raced over and added the point after for a 7-0 lead.

Before the half ended 27-0, Cobb scored from eight yards out, heaved a 33-yard pass to end Wendall

Combs and another 28-yarder to end DeCoursey Haliburton. Sizemore added two more markers in the final half on jaunts of three and 35 yards.

Whitesburg, Belfry and Pikeville do not open their seasons until this week-end.

SETTLEMENT SCHOOL

The Hindman Settlement School was founded in 1902 by May Stone, of Louisville and Katherine Pettit, of Lexington. The school was organized to supply the need for education expressed by "Uncle Sol" Everidge, 82 years of age, who had walked 20 miles from Hindman to Hazard to enlist the interest of the two young women.

HERE'S HOW YOU BENEFIT BY DOING ALL YOUR SHOPPING LOCALLY

When you buy from your hometown merchants you get:

1. HONEST VALUES
2. AMPLE SELECTION
3. INSTANT DELIVERY, SERVICE AND ADJUSTMENT
4. MORE PERSONAL AND FRIENDLIER TREATMENT
5. SAVING OF TIME
6. RELIEF FROM COSTLY TRAVEL
7. FREEDOM FROM ROAD HAZARDS
8. ELIMINATION OF COSTLY PARKING PROBLEMS
9. AVOIDANCE OF JOSTLING CROWDS
10. THE CHANCE TO BUILD A BETTER COMMUNITY BY PUTTING YOUR DOLLARS TO WORK HERE

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the State Highway Department is now in the process of planning for improvement of North Arnold Avenue, from the West Prestonsburg bridge to the high school building, being part of Kentucky Route 114, by blacktop surfacing, and

WHEREAS, numerous property owners which compose a majority of same, along said west side of North Arnold Avenue, beginning with the Ray, Howard property, and extended to the property line of Wm. O. Goble, near the high school building, and along the east side of said North Arnold Avenue, beginning at the northeast line of Joe W. Jarrell and extending to the north property line of Glenn Spradlin, have requested action by the Council regarding said project.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

THAT, a five-foot sidewalk be constructed of reinforced wire mesh and cement, with a thickness of at least six inches, along the east side of North Arnold Avenue, beginning at the north property line of Joe W. Jarrell, and extending to the north property line of Glenn Spradlin, and along the west side of said North Arnold Avenue, beginning at the northern line of Ray Howard's property and extending to the southern property line of William O. Goebel, and that the abutting property owners be billed for said expense in accordance with the front footage owned by each property owner affected hereby; that unless the amount due by each property owner for this project is paid within ten days after the billing of said amount to said owners, then said amounts shall be assessed against the property owner or owners failing to pay, and same shall become a lien in favor of the City and collected in the manner provided by statute.

Isaac B. Desha, Pardoned by Father For Murder

By LEE STEWART

General Joseph Desha was born in Pennsylvania. His father moved to Kentucky and then to Tennessee, but in 1792, returned to Kentucky, settled in Maysville. He married the daughter of Col. Bledsoe. Desha was elected to the legislature, served six terms in Congress, and served as general under Gen. Henry Harrison and was at the Battle of the Thames. On August 1, 1824, General Desha was elected Governor by the New Court, or Relief Party.

On November 24, 1824, Governor Desha's son, Isaac B. Desha, was charged with a cowardly assassination. The Governor believed in his son's innocence. This view was shared by his friends, while his enemies in the Old Court or Anti-Relief party, were using every means available to destroy the influence of the chief executive. The charges against his son were given great publicity, because of the political bitterness that existed.

The facts that were submitted by the Commonwealth was as follows:

Francis Baker was an educated and talented young man from New Jersey, who had migrated to Natchez, Mississippi, to become an editor. In September, 1824, he left Natchez for his old home, to marry an old sweetheart. His only mode of travel was by horseback, since there were no railroads or steamboats in that day. He had a fine gray mare which he rode. He spent several days in Lexington on account of a fever, but still ill, he decided to leave Lexington and visit his old friend at a Captain Blakely's home who lived in Fleming county. He called at Doggett's Tavern, make inquiries as to the way to Captain Blakely's home, still riding the gray mare. Isaac B. Desha was at the tavern, and volunteered to show Baker where his friend lived, as he knew the Captain, and they were friends. The offer was accepted by Baker, and a number of people were there when they left the tavern. It was noticed that Desha had only a vest without a coat, neither did he have saddlebags or a pocketbook, but did have a riding whip which was heavily loaded with lead. Two hours later, Desha was seen with the gray mare, which ran off to Lesborn Ball's home, who lived two miles from Desha's home. One of Ball's sons got on the gray mare, rode back to find the owner and met Desha walking, very much agitated. His hands and clothing were stained with blood and he was carrying a pair of saddlebags on his arm. He got on the gray mare and took the boy behind him, saying that he bought the mare on a debt. In a few minutes after he had left the woods his horse, the one he had been riding when he left Doggett's Tavern, had slipped the bridle, which was later found in the woods and had gone to the home of another one of Ball's son, who put a bridle on it went in pursuit of Desha, whom he knew to be the owner. He had not gone very far, when he met Desha and his brother on the gray mare. A pocketbook was dropped by Desha, and one of the boys got off the horse and gave it back to him, which was later found in the woods cut to pieces, as well as the saddle bags. The riding whip was found torn up. The saddlebags were proved to belong to Baker, which he had when he left Doggett's Tavern. Desha didn't have either saddlebags or pocketbook at the time. When Desha arrived at home, his appearance so terrified his wife whom he had married the year before that she left next morning and never returned.

The case was tried in Harrison county, where the Governor then resided. Judge John Rowan defended young Desha. As the evidence that had been introduced before the jury was conclusive, a verdict of death was returned, which was appealed. A new trial was granted but as the evidence was about the same as in the first trial, he was again convicted, and the verdict was death. His father believed his son was innocent and remained by the side of his son during both trials. Date for execution was set Friday, July 14, 1826. Isaac B. Desha still maintained that he was innocent and would not accept a pardon, but let the law of the land take its course. He attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat and severing his windpipe. His doctor reported that he could not recover. On June 18, 1827, Governor Desha granted his son a pardon.

A tradition has existed all of the years since, that Governor Desha issued the pardon for his son, and immediately resigned as Governor, but he didn't and he served his full term of four years, as the records at Frankfort show, retiring in 1828, when his successor had been elected. There is another tradition that Isaac B. Desha did recover, settled in one of the Central American countries, changed his name, married, reared a family, and became prominent in the country of his adoption.

Calcutta, largest city in India and capital of the state of West Bengal, has a population of 2,982,307 and is the thirteenth largest city in the world.

General Joseph Desha was born in Pennsylvania. His father moved to Kentucky and then to Tennessee, but in 1792, returned to Kentucky, settled in Maysville. He married the daughter of Col. Bledsoe. Desha was elected to the legislature, served six terms in Congress, and served as general under Gen. Henry Harrison and was at the Battle of the Thames. On August 1, 1824, General Desha was elected Governor by the New Court, or Relief Party.

On November 24, 1824, Governor Desha's son, Isaac B. Desha, was charged with a cowardly assassination. The Governor believed in his son's innocence. This view was shared by his friends, while his enemies in the Old Court or Anti-Relief party, were using every means available to destroy the influence of the chief executive. The charges against his son were given great publicity, because of the political bitterness that existed.

Gilbert F. Dewart, Cloverdale, Calif., Mrs. J. M. Davidson and Mrs. Everett Sowards were dinner guests of Mrs. Andrew E. Auxier Saturday evening at Pikeville. Later in the evening relatives and friends of Mr. Dewart were entertained at the home of Mrs. John S. Miller, with Mrs. Hester F. Trivette as a co-hostess. Mr. Dewart, seismologist at Wilks Station in the International Geophysical Year at Antarctica, showed slides of the expedition there and scenes from the Belgian, Congo, New Zealand, Australia and other places visited while en route home from the Antarctic. Mr. Dewart at only 26 years was physics instructor at MIT. He served two years in the U. S. Army and two years on the International Geophysical Expedition in the Antarctic in 1957-1958.

ORDINANCE

ORDINANCE OF CITY COUNCIL OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, CALLING AN ELECTION AS TO INCURRING $99,500 INDEBTEDNESS TO BE REPRESENTED BY SWIMMING POOL BONDS.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, deems it necessary to incur an indebtedness of not exceeding $99,500 that can not be paid without exceeding the income and revenues of said City for the current year, and

WHEREAS, it is desired to use the proceeds of such indebtedness to construct a swimming pool and appurtenances necessary for the use of same,

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

1. That an election is hereby called by the City Council of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, for the purpose of letting the voters vote on the question of whether or not an indebtedness of not exceeding $99,500 shall be incurred for the purpose and according to the provisions hereinafter set out in the notice of election.

2. That the following notice shall be published for at least three (3) weeks immediately preceding the election in the newspaper published in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, which newspaper has the largest circulation therein.

"NOTICE OF ELECTION"

"Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in and for the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, on the general election day on November 4, 1958, to determine whether or not the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, shall incur an indebtedness of not exceeding $99,500, and in no event to exceed, including all existing indebtedness of said City, a greater sum allowed by the Constitution and laws of Kentucky. Said indebtedness shall be created for the purpose of constructing a swimming pool and appurtenances necessary for the use of same. If authorized, said bonds, with interest, shall be paid off within a period of twenty years from the date of issue, and the City Council of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, shall levy and collect whatever annual tax upon all property subject to taxation within said City as is necessary to pay the interest on said indebtedness as it falls due and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of principal thereof within the period of twenty years, the sum to be raised each year not to exceed $9,950.00.

The question to be placed upon the ballots in order for the voters to vote on said question shall be in substantially the following form:

'Are you in favor of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky incurring an indebtedness of not exceeding $99,500 for the purpose of constructing a swimming pool and appurtenances necessary for the use of same?' Immediately following such question shall be two squares, under one of which shall be printed the word "Yes", and under the other of which shall be printed the word "No", in order for each voter to vote on such question.

HOW COME?

Speaking of financial matters, here's a question for the Department of Revenue: Since we can deduct depreciation on some property from our taxable income, how come we cannot deduct depreciation of the dollar?

COLONEL CHANDLER

Governor Chandler, who has commissioned hundreds of Kentucky Colonels, received a colonelcy himself at the ground breaking for the new Department of Health building. The commission was signed by Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield and presented to Chandler by the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce.

HISTORICAL PAPERS

Letters written by Kentucky's first Confederate governor just before he was mortally wounded on a Civil War battlefield have been deposited with the Kentucky Historical Society. The letters of Provisional Governor George W. Johnson, Scott county farmer and lawyer, to his wife were presented to the society by Mrs. W. H. Coffman, Louisville, a granddaughter of the Confederate hero.

ANNIVERSARY

The Department of Economic Security is celebrating its 10th anniversary. Its first headquarters in Frankfort was an old building renovated from a shoe factory. Thus the department can sympathize with a fellow "on his uppers."

MONEY FOR PARKS

The Kentucky Department of Conservation has allocated among State parks $450,000 appropriated by the 1958 Legislature for park development within the next two years. Seven of 10 park sites were marked for $50,000 each. Commissioner Laban Jackson said the largest sum, $75,000, will be spent to build an amphitheater at My Old Kentucky Home, Bardstown.

NEW U. K. MAJOR

Two degrees in air science will be offered by the University of Kentucky's college of arts and science this fall for the first time. They will be bachelor of arts and bachelor of science, with a major in air science. Only a few universities offer these courses designed to prepare college men for military careers as officers.

MINE SAFETY

Coal mine operations in Kentucky are on the way to establishing the best safety record in history, Chief James H. Phalan of the State Department of Mines and Minerals says. He points out that 61 miners died in accidents last year — the best safety record in the 78-year history of the agency. He added that through July, the fatality rate was 11 behind the 34 recorded for the same period of 1957.

KING RANCH

Visitors to the King Ranch in Fayette county may be interested in a magazine piece about the original King Ranch in Texas. The founder, Richard King, says the Atlantic Monthly, bought 15,000 acres of desert at two cents an acre. He was advised by his close friend, Confederate hero Robert E. Lee, to "buy land and never sell." The Texas ranch grew to 700,000 acres.

K. V. DOINGS

Kentucky village has begun operation of its new $40,000 cannery. The State rehabilitation center for youths has employed James G. ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

THE ABBEY OF BELLAPAIS

In this picture stands one of the finest constructed Abbeys of the Middle Ages. It is located on the Island of Cyprus off the coast of Palestine some one hundred and sixty-five miles. This Abbey is first heard of as a House of the Augustinian Canons, a foundation of the king of Jerusalem, evidently Aimery de Lusignan who held that title from 1198 to 1205. These Augustinians came from Palestine where they held custody of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre before the loss of Jerusalem in 1187. They were refugees from their two Abbeys in the lost territory.

Documents from the fifteenth century refer to the Abbey by the name of Lapaiz, which is a corrupted form of the name it bears today. Its present name takes on a part of the local village. From the above documents we learn that the Abbott of Bellapais assisted at the coronation of Queen Charlotte in 1458. The Abbotcy of Bellapais was always considered a rich prize. The many conquerors of the Island treated it with varying respect. The worst blow was dealt it by the Turks who expelled the Monks from the Island. They seized the Abbey and its properties but permitted the villagers to use the Church, which they have continued to do until this day.

The magnificent gothic style of Bellapais has received the admiration of all that have ever seen it. Its remains are carefully preserved today because of its artistic and historical interest.

Drugstore Cowpokes Unhook Spurs To Discuss Much, Settle Nothing

Several of the fellers were gathered at the corner, and so, when I drove by, I figured there was nothing better to do at the moment but join them.

Little David said, "Hello," so did True John, Bony Bob, and Red Joe. I said, "Hello," back to them and we all stood around thinking about what we should say next. Cars bypassing the flood wall project were inching through the red-light.

"That's a good thing," said Little David, who always did have something to say and we were all glad of it.

Bony Bob didn't stand back and hold his peace. He spoke right up. "Yeah but I wonder who's gettin' his cut outa that floodwall?" He looked around the group with the air of a crimebuster.

"Gettin' his cut?" said Red Joe, his brown eyes fairly catching fire. Spitting mightily into the middle of the highway with Beechnut flavored tobacco, he turned deliberately. "I don't reckon nobody gets a cut."

Bony Bob was taken aback. Usually no one ever disagreed. No one had the energy. "Now, as long as you've been livin' around here, you think nobody got a cut on this?" he questioned sarcastically.

Red Joe rolled his cud around in his jaw. The rest of us just stayed quiet and waited for developments.

"No, I don't. Not that I don't think that nothin's ever been done wrong hyar in Floyd, but I'll reckon the Feds can handle two-bit places like these parts pretty good."

Little David looked sheepishly at Red Joe. "I'll reckon that there ain't as much wrong doin's here as people let on."

True John, the quiet one of the crowd, was whittling all the while, but now he lifted his head and looked at Red Joe.

"I'd suppose that you're right, Red Joe. People suspect officials of doin' pretty much of what they are afraid they'd do if they were in their place."

I had to say something so I put in two-cents. "Yeah, and people distrustin' others is a pretty tough way to improve our town and county."

"That's what I say," said Red Joe, his eyes about as red as his hair. "If enough people thought—like Bony Bob—that officials were makin' extra cash often that flood wall, well they could ruin the project. You know what floods have cost our town in the past two years."

"Why people have got discouraged and left. We ain't got nothing if we ain't got people," said True John.

"This is what I said," said Little David, "the people here and around these parts are too quick to blame somebody else for our troubles. What I say we ought to do is to inspect ourselves."

True John spoke up. "You mean like pickin' the mote out of our eyes or something before we blame someone else?"

"That's about the size of it, True John," Little David said.

Bony Bob looked up at the sky and cast a long look in the direction of Paintsville.

"Well, who's gonna be the governor of the new and independent state of East Kentucky?"

True John spoke up again. "That's exactly the same thing I'm trying to tell you, Bony Bob. Maybe we had better look at our own faults before we start throwing rocks at the state."

Red Joe had something to say about this also.

"Bony Bob, it's like this. What have we done for Eastern Kentucky? I know what we've done. This bunch right hyar, nothing. Loaf all day. Hardly anyone else has either."

True John butted in. "The trouble is, everybody distrusts each other. Somebody is afraid that the other feller will get ahead of him."

"That's about the size of it," I spoke up, my voice breaking a slight bit from the long silence. "If we get together, we can get something done for Eastern Kentucky. If nothing else is ever done by this talk about the 'free and independent state of Kentucky' than unite the thoughts of the people about the needs of Eastern Kentucky, then it will be worth it." Not quitting I went on. "We might realize that something for Johnson, Pike, Morgan, Magoffin indirectly helps Floyd and we should give our full support to any Eastern Kentucky improvement. Sooner or later we get the benefits."

True John reached for his tobacco pouch. "We shore ought be pickin' them motes outta our eyes."

Bony Bob grinned. "That's part of the Bible."

It came from John, said True John.

Red Joe jumped up. "It ain't done it, True John. It's from Matthew."

"Well, I'll bet you $5." The rest of us just looked at True John. $5. The riches of the earth had been inherited. Red Joe took his bluff. "I'll take that and your $5, too."

Red Joe and True John went huntin' a Bible. I went in the drugstore and bought a cherry smash. Bony Bob started talking about our globe trotting ambassador, so I took myself and my cherry smash home.

Juvenile Driver Law Is Praised

Frankfort, Sept. 2 (Spl.) — Kentucky's new policy of trying young traffic offenders in regular traffic courts instead of juvenile courts has attracted praise from several sources.

A new law effective June 19 transferred trials of drivers under 18 to courts that regularly tried drivers over that age. Now the juveniles may be punished with fines and jail sentence for driving offenses. In juvenile courts they usually escaped with only a warning or an order to attend a safety lecture.

Favorable comments on the new Kentucky law were made at a recent meeting of juvenile court officials at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and at the Southeastern Regional Conference of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety at Miami.

Deputy State Commissioner of Public Safety James E. Bassett, returning from Miami, said many representatives of other states expressed the wish for a similar law.

Former Franklin County Judge John D. Darnell, chairman of the county judge committee which sponsored the law in the Legislature, said many delegates at the Ft. Lauderdale meeting commended the measure.

Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill described the law as "one of the best things we've done in our efforts to cut down the death rate" on highways.

He added that the new law already has shown a good effect on the driving of 16 and 17-year-olds, making them realize that in a regular court they will be held accountable for reckless driving.

Scott County Site Of Indian Academy In Early 1800's

Shortly after 1800, chiefs of Indian nations, discouraged by wars with white men, decided the only way in which redmen could compete was to acquire the enemy's knowledge and wisdom.

As a result, educational programs began to appear in peace treaties, and one, concluded at Washington in 1825 by the Choctaw Nation, provided $6,000 be applied by the President of the U. S. annually for 20 years for education of Choctaw children.

After months of looking for a site, the War Department favored a plan submitted by Col. Richard M. Johnson, to receive and educate at his Blue Spring Farm, near Great Crossings in Scott county, such of their sons as the Indians might send him.

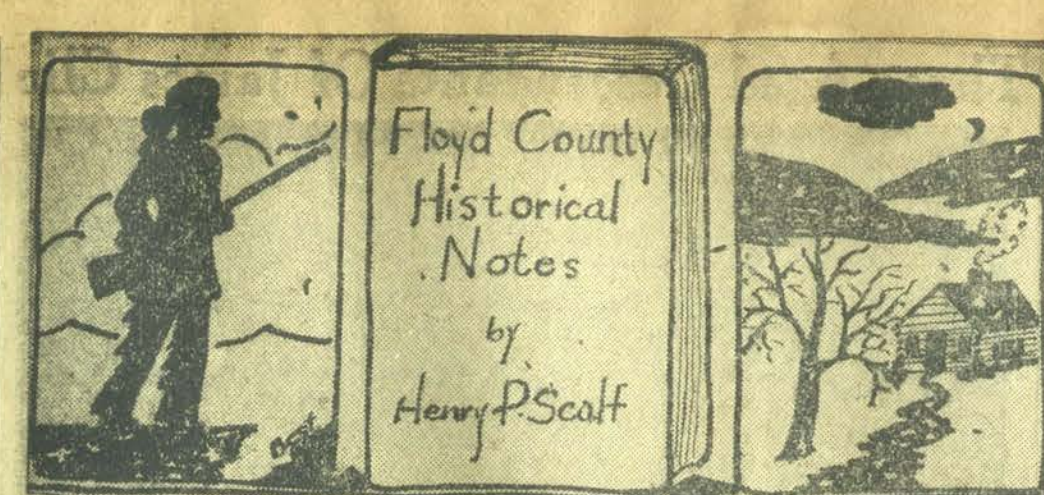

The first 21 students arrived at the school in November, 1825, having ridden their ponies from the western plains to Scott county. Here at this newly established school, young braves were taught the ways and manners of the white man. They received courses in agriculture and mechanical arts as well as the customary schooling of the day.

About 1831, Johnson moved the Choctaw Indian Academy to his recently established watering place, White Sulphur, one of the most noted health resorts in Kentucky.

By October, 1839, dissension arose among the Indian agents, prompted by Colonel Johnson's political opponents. This resulted in a Congressional inquiry into the academy.

Although cleared of all charges of mismanagement, Johnson began to lose prestige with the Indians. The student body declined rapidly from its peak of 200 and the Choctaws voted to send no more boys to the school. After struggling with only a minimum of students for several years, the school finally closed its door in 1844.

While the academy did not meet expectations of the Indians, the fact that it prospered for nearly a decade and a half is a tribute to the energy of Colonel Johnson, who later became Vice-President of the United States.

RICEVILLE CHURCH PICTURE

Mrs. H. C. (Virginia) Johns, Needles, Calif., writes to inquire where she may procure a copy of the old Riceville United Baptist Church that appeared in Our Historic Heritage, a series of advertisements of pictorial interest currently running in The Times.

"The Will Hughes in the picture is my father, now living in Medaryville, Ind., and of course the M. F. Hughes is Uncle Millard, of Prestonsburg."

The picture was discovered on Jennie's Creek by M. F. Hughes and copied here by a local photographer.

MULLINS AND HEAVENS FAMILIES

A letter two weeks ago relative to the Mullins and Heavens families of Kentucky from Mrs. Gwinn Henry 1312 Quincy N.E., Albuquerque, N. Mex.

"I am trying to uncover the history of the Mullins family, particularly of William and Isaac Mullins and also of Joseph Heavin or Havin and William Heavin. These soldiers emigrated from Virginia to Kentucky about 1799 with many other soldiers and took up land claims. I find William Mullins in Cumberland county and Wayne county.

"The Heavens were in Pike and Floyd county or it may be that all of them were in Floyd county, Ky. William Mullins was in the Revolution, enlisting in 1777. Perhaps Joseph Heavins, also.

"His daughter (Joseph's) Amy Heavins, was my great-grandmother. Amy came over from England with her father, Joseph Heavins and mother when she was two years old. They all lived in Virginia awhile. She (Amy) married Charles Mullins in 1805. I believe it was. In 1819 they are in Wayne county, Ky. William Mullins, the Revolutionary soldier, was Charles' father.

"There was a James Mullins in Kentucky, also, who was a brother to Isaac and William Mullins. Isaac died in 1801. He was 80 years old when he died in Wayne county, Ky., where he lived but I cannot find his grave marker. Charles married after Amy died and went to Texas and was in the Mexican War right away. He died when 91 years old and is buried in Brown county, Texas, near Thrifty, in the Mud Creek Mullins cemetery. I have seen his grave.

"My mother was Julia Ann Mullins. Her father was John, son of Charles. I am 71 years of age."

Conservation Program To Rehabilitate Farms Extended By Congress

Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) said last week that Congress has extended the emergency Agricultural Conservation program. Hundreds of farmers in 31 counties in Eastern and Western Kentucky will receive cost-sharing payments under this program for restoration of conservation projects on farms which have suffered flood damage. The extension was included in the supplemental appropriation bill passed by the Senate Friday. If Congress had not acted, farmers with the rehabilitation work under way could not have been paid for projects which they had not completed by June 30.

"Three months ago I called the attention of the Senate to the fact that authority for this program would expire on June 30," stated Senator Cooper, who also introduced a bill at that time to extend the program. He pointed out that sufficient funds had already been appropriated for the program, but that the money could not be used after expiration of the legal authority.

Senator Cooper previously wrote the Secretary of Agriculture, urging him to request extension of the emergency ACP program. Secretary Benson did request the extension, and President Eisenhower later recommended that Congress authorize continuation of the program.

Ray C. Gray, Chairman of the State ASC Committee, stated in May that rehabilitation projects planned and begun by Kentucky farmers involved a total payment of $252,000. Work done under the program includes removing sand and gravel from flooded fields, filling potholes, repairing broken terraces and washed-out ponds, cleaning silt-filled ditches, and making repairs on approved soil and water conservation projects which had been previously completed.

The Senate action also makes the emergency fund already appropriated available for use in future disasters as needed.

French Student Says 'Sack' Not Popular With French People

"Sack dresses have not been very well received in France. Apparently they are not too popular among American women."

This observation came from Bernard Gaurian of Paris, France, who is working in the records section of the Kentucky Department of Economic Security's public assistance division.

Gaurian and about 30 other French students are in America under an exchange plan to become acquainted with American culture. An equal number of American students are in France.

Interviewed by the department's "Newsletter," Gaurian had these other comments about various topics:

Americans — "The friendliest people I've ever met."

American parents — "They seem to be a little too easy on their children."

Education — "French parents insist that their children advance in school as far as possible." Gaurian said his school is a private one under control of the Paris Chamber of Commerce. For admission a prospective student must pass a competitive examination. Of 1,500 who try annually, only 250 are admitted to the high commercial school.

Politics — "More stable (in America) as regards length of service of officials."

United States armed forces — "Respected and admired by the French people."

American way of life — "A lot of hustle and admired by the French people."

Taxes — "Quite a few!" France has a national tax, comparable to our federal income tax but not too many taxes on the local level.

PRODUCTION INCREASE

An increase of twenty to fifty per cent in India's industrial production is potentially possible through the uniform application of advanced quality control methods, according to a United Nations study undertaken at the invitation of the Indian Statistical Institute. To implement the UN findings, the Institute has already established statistical quality control units in Calcutta, Delhi, Bombay and Bangalore.

Oak Wilt Symptoms Should Be Checked, Forestry Man Says

Oak wilt, a disease attacking oak trees, is becoming more prevalent in Kentucky annually. Close watch should be kept for oak trees apparently infected, says O. M. Davenport, University of Kentucky professor of forestry, and samples made for disease identification.

Symptoms of the disease, he says, may be noticed from June to October. In red oaks, the leaves die first from the tree top and branch ends; they first become dull or pale green, then curl upward and turn yellow to bronze in color and seem to be thick and water-soaked. Leaves so infected often fall from the trees in a relatively short time and the red oaks usually will die in the season.

In white oak trees several years may pass before the tree dies; only parts of white oak trees may be affected in any one year.

Infected branches of both species often show brown or black colored streaks in the outer sapwood.

If trees are suspected of having oak wilt, collect about six twigs or branch specimens — six to eight inches long and an inch in diameter—from wilting or recently dead trees—and contact the county agent or the local district forester, Davenport says.

Cut lawns frequently at this season of the year to keep crabgrass from going to seed.

Home Economics Teachers Attend State Conference

Marie Mullins, of Garrett, Nancy Dings, of Martin, Wonnell Godsey, of Betsy Layne, Hazel Hill and Katherine Moore, both of Prestonsburg, were five of the 250 home economics teachers who attended the annual conference of home economics teachers, August 12-15.

The four day meeting was held at the Future Farmer Leadership Training Center, Hardinsburg, Ky. The theme of the conference was "Home Economics Measures Up."

Miss Mary Lois Williamson, State director of Home Economics Education, Department of Education, emphasized the important role the home economics teacher should play in meeting the challenges that come as a result of changes in society that affect every day living. One of these changes is the trend toward earlier marriages. One out of every three women in the United States is married by the time she is 18 years old. Of these married women, one out of every four has a child by the time she is 20 years of age. Home economics teachers have a big job to do in preparing these young women for home and family responsibilities, she said.

Teachers had an opportunity to learn "What's New in Food," "Textile and Equipment for the Home," at one of these sessions. Technical developments in each field and a preview of what consumers may expect in the future were presented in a symposium.

Teachers worked in groups throughout the conference learning what changes needed to be made in their program to measure up to 1958 living conditions and how to apply science principles in the teaching of home economics.

Hazel Hill, Prestonsburg, served as leader of a group and Wonnell Godsey, Betsy Layne, served as recorder.

Three Aged Descendants Of James Click

Three surviving grandchildren of James Click, pioneer Floyd county resident who lived to be over 100 years of age, are these two sons and a daughter of Weeks Sammons and Jane Click Sammons. Left to right are James Sammons, 95, of Arkansas Creek near Martin, Mrs. Rebecca Sammons Crisp, 84, of Martin county, and Joe Sammons, 80, Prestonsburg.

James Sammons does not agree with those who say his grandfather was born in 1790 and died in 1898, thus making him 108 years of age at death.

"James Click was born in 1793, came to this county in 1805 and died in 1897 at the age of 104 years," he writes The Times. "My father, Weeks Sammons, born 1835, died 1925 at the age of 91. He married Jane Click in 1860 and to this union were born seven children: Malcolm; Tommy; Alex; Kathryn; Rebecca, married Newton Crisp; Joe, married Sarah Herrington; and James.

"I was born Dec. 29, 1862, married Sarah Frazier, and have 16 children, 47 grandchildren and 41 great-grandchildren. Eleven of my children are still living."

Clayborn Bailey, of Lancer, in commenting on James Click, recalls that immediately after the presidential election of 1896 he saw a picture of the aged Floyd countian in the Cincinnati Enquirer. Click had ridden six miles at the age of 106, according to the story, to vote for William Jennings Bryan, Democratic candidate for President. The silver-tongued orator had written Click his appreciation which was published in the Enquirer with the picture.

Floyd Buys $40,493.00 Worth of Savings Bonds

Beginning this month, the Treasury Department's U. S. Savings Bond Division will start its most intensive post-war School Savings Stamps promotion, according to Mrs. Lon Hill, co-chairman of the Floyd County Savings Bond Committee.

Special effort will be made in those communities where intensive Payroll Savings "Share In America" campaigns were held earlier this year. A more general effort will then be carried on throughout the rest of the state.

In Floyd county $40,493 in Series E and H Savings Bonds were purchased during July, bringing the county's cumulative sales for the year to $258,825. The county's goal is $445,820. The rate of sales must increase if the county is to reach this goal, Mrs. Hill said.

A new device to mechanize the planting of sugar cane which makes possible the sowing of three rows at a time has recently been developed by the Indian Government's Institute of Sugar Cane Research in Lucknow.

The Republic of India's annual need for machinery of all types, currently valued at $283,000,000, will rise sharply to an annual total of $525,000,000 by the end of the Second Five Year Development Plan in 1961.

RUPTURE

EXPERT COMING TO PAINTSVILLE AGAIN
GEO. L. HOWE

Well-known expert of Indianapolis will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Howard Hotel, Paintsville, Thursday, Sept. 18 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Ask for Mr. Howe at desk.

Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the opening in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture and the matter how much you lift or strain and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.

The Howe Rupture Shield is adjustable to individual requirements, has no leg strain, waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing.

Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.

Do not overlook this opportunity if you want gratifying results. Mailing address: HOWE RUPTURE EST., First St., Oakland City, Indiana.

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(Number 9 in a Series)

EARLY BIG SANDY MAIL SERVICE

Mail service in the Big Sandy region began about the time of the organization of Floyd county. Two of the earliest postoffices were Mouth of Sandy, now Catlettsburg, and Prestonsburg. Soon afterward a postoffice was organized at Mouth of Beaver, now Allen, Laynesville, one of the valley's earliest, was kept by James S. Layne, pioneer resident, at the present Betsy Layne.

Mail was carried through the mountains on horseback before railway days. Many routes were mere "bridle paths" over the hills. Shown here is Cal Robinson, a veteran of decades on the mail route from Quicksand Creek to the Right Beaver section.

Today there are very few instances of mail transportation by horseback. The jeep and truck have succeeded the horse, the railway has taken the place of the steamboat packet. Air mail service circumscribes the valley insuring quick delivery to all parts of the nation and world.

Progress in an area is made possible when all institutions serving it advance with the times. The First National Bank today makes a contribution to the economy of the area by providing friendly and complete banking facilities.

"Our home is all-electric... we love it because it gives us more time to have fun together"

Mr. Burris leaves for work knowing his family will be snug and carefree in their all-electric home.

Mrs. Burris washes a load of clothes and dries them in a twinkling... with lots less work, too.

Howard Joe Burris, barber, installed baseboard electric heat in his 25-year-old home just over a year ago.

"Converting from a flame-type heating system to electric heat was just about the smartest thing we have ever done," he says. "Now, after a long day at the shop, I don't have to spend any of my free time at home working with a furnace."

Mrs. Burris, school teacher, home economist and busy mother of two young children, Becky Jo, 6, and Johnny, 3, also values her free moments.

"That's why our home is all-electric," she declares. "We have all the major electrical appliances — range, refrigerator, washer, dryer, water heater — plus many smaller ones. They all save lots of time, trouble and work. In fact, I couldn't continue my work in the school system without them. With electric heat and all of our electric appliances, we are definitely living better... and happier!"

Modern Families Everywhere Are Living Better Electrically

Kentucky POWER COMPANY

Because electricity is on the job, the Burris family has more leisure time.
