This Town— That World

"If the shoe fits, wear it," they say. But it hurts big heels!

THE ANSWER

It was with no inconsiderable dismay that the spectre of city indebtedness confronted officials and citizens at the City Council meeting, Monday night. But Councilman Watt Hale came up with a solution that helped, at least temporarily. "Don't let it worry you," the City Father drawled. "We'll just hold some pie suppers."

YEAH!—WHOM?

The newspaper boys are predicting that the next Congress will be more "liberal." Liberal with whom? Is it what we Eastern Kentuckians, looking back over a dreary year and to a prospect little more encouraging, would like to know.

DON'T UNDERESTIMATE SUCH VALUE

Ever since the wife read that magazine article about how much it costs to keep a dog, our particular version of man's best friend has gone to considerable pains to make himself more obnoxious than usual. But I am reminded that we aren't being fair to the dog. You just can't place a fair estimate on what a dog like that is worth as protection to life and property.

It would, for instance, be next to impossible for a burglar to get into our house at night. The dog is constantly on the rounds—first the

ROBERTS SUES FOR APPROVAL

Asks Mandamus To Force Approval of Appointment As Utility Body Member

An aftermath of Monday night's long City Council session was the filing Tuesday by George T. Roberts of a mandamus action against Earl Spurlock and Russell Hagewood, Charles A. Hinch and C. G. Ginnard, and its representative, Robert R. Meyer.

Roberts' petition, prepared by Atty. Joe Hobson, asks that a writ of mandamus issue against Meyer commanding him to approve forthwith the appointment of Roberts to succeed Hagewood as of Nov. 19 as a member of the Prestonsburg Utilities Commission. It also asked that Hagewood be enjoined from acting in any capacity after Nov. 19 as a member.

The action alleged that Meyer has been requested to approve appointment of Roberts to the Commission but that he has "unlawfully, illegally and maliciously, and without any right, refused to do so, on the sole ground that Russell Hagewood should be reappointed, and not upon the ground that the plaintiff is not a suitable or fit person to be a member of the Commission. . . . It also was alleged that defendants Spurlock and Hagewood have never complied with the ordinance creating the Commission in these particulars:

1. No public meetings have been held, and if any such meetings were held no notice of such meetings has been given to Adrian Collins, the other member of the Commission.
2. The Commission has failed, as provided by the ordinance, to report its complete and accurate record of all meetings, all receipts and disbursements, to the City Council at stated intervals, not to exceed one year.

EKEA ELECTS EARL MARTIN AS PRESIDENT

Floyd Countian Becomes Youngest To Be Elected; Banks Is Named Director

Earl Martin, director of pupil personnel for the Floyd county school system, last Friday became the youngest person ever elected to the presidency of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association.

Mr. Martin defeated the other nominee for the top EKEA office, Mrs. Ruth Reeves, Ashland classroom teacher. He succeeds Hubert Hume, of Maysville. Martin was a classroom teacher before taking a position with the Floyd County Board of Education.

Harry Banks, native of the Bull Creek section of this county and now superintendent of Pikeville city schools, was one of two directors named. The other is William Stapleton, superintendent of Johnson county schools. Other officers elected at the close of the EKEA's 35th annual meeting were:

Roscoe Stevens, superintendent of Greenup county schools, first vice-president; James V. Powell, principal of Elkhorn City high school, second vice-president. Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, was unopposed for reelection as the EKEA member of the board of directors of the Kentucky Education Association.

Walton Jones, superintendent of Morgan county schools, was named a member of the nominating committee for the Teacher Retirement System. Selected as a delegate to the National Education Association was C. H. Farley, superintendent of Pike county schools, with Mrs. Alma McClain, Maysville as alternate.

ADDED SEWERS TALK SUBJECT

At City Council Meeting; Bond Firm Representative Is Authorized To Study

Proposals to build adequate sewers in Prestonsburg and its two newly-annexed Porter Addition and Lancer were subjects of a prolonged discussion by citizens, the City Council, and a representative of a bonding company, Monday evening.

The need for sewers was pointed up by a remark of H. B. Patrick who said that one-third of Prestonsburg homes have private sewers. Everybody agreed that this was true. Others pointed out that certain residential sections have sewage connections built by property owners and that many of these are a menace to health.

How to finance installation of the sewer network poses the biggest problem for the Council. It was

Tennessee Evangelist Slates Revival Here; Is Lexington Native

The Rev. Ralph Mohny, Kingsport, Tenn., evangelist, will be preaching in the revival which will begin Sunday, Nov. 3, at the First Methodist Church here, it was announced this week by the pastor, the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey.

Ivan and Evelyn Insko, veteran song evangelists, will be in charge of the music program for the series of services.

The revival will continue through Sunday, Dec. 7 with services at 7:30 p.m. daily and a radio broadcast over Station WDOC each day at 7:45 a.m.

The Rev. Mohny is a native of Lexington and conducted a successful revival at the Methodist Church here four years ago. The Inskos are from Wilmore and have had a number of years' experience in the ministry of music.

The public is invited to attend all these services. "It is planned as a time of great inspiration and renewed dedication," the pastor said of the coming revival.

MISHAP KILLS MRS. EVA HALL

Aged McDowell Woman Found By Neighbors; Fall Injury Blamed

A jury empaneled by Coroner James J. Carter held Wednesday that the death of Mrs. Eva Meade Hall, 65, well-known East McDowell woman, who was found unconscious in her home late Tuesday afternoon, resulted from an accident.

Mrs. Hall died at McDowell Memorial hospital at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, approximately five hours after neighbors, who had become alarmed when no signs of life were evident in the home, had broken in to the house to find her lying in a pool of blood on a bedroom floor. She never regained consciousness.

Mrs. Hall had not been seen since Saturday afternoon, and it is believed she had been injured at least 36 hours prior to discovery by Phillip Newsome, a neighbor. She was dressed in her nightclothing, and an investigation led by state police developed the theory that she had suffered head wounds in a fall. Hair and blood were found on a sharp handle of a chest drawer in the bedroom. A deep wound high on the right side of her head and a smaller injury at the back of her head, together with loss of blood, were given as factors contributing to death.

All doors of the home were locked and the windows could not be opened from the outside, it was said. Members of the family and investigating authorities agreed there was no evidence of foul play.

A daughter of the late Isom and Margaret Sturgill Gibson, Mrs. Hall was a native of Jones Fork, Knott county. She had lived the last 31 years at McDowell. She was first married to Manvil Meade, and after his death to Levi Hall who was killed while serving as policeman at McDowell. Mrs. Hall had been a member of the Regular Baptist

CRIME WAVE HITS STORES

Martin, Langley Stores Entered By Burglars; Two Suspects Are Wanted

A crime wave featuring burglaries have for the last 10 days kept investigators busy, and to date only one arrest has been made.

Harlan Slone was jailed by County Patrolman Troy Mullins on the Saturday morning break into the Maggard Hardware at Langley. Two others believed to have been his accomplices have not been found, and in several other breaks clues to the identity of the burglaries are still being sought.

Latest of the breaks came Tuesday night when the Martin Supply Company at Martin was entered and the safe of the Martin Gas Company was looted of $138.29 in cash. The gas company office and the supply firm occupy the same building. It was the sixth time the Martin business, which is operated by T. J. Allen, a brother-in-law of Arnold Maggard, owner of the Maggard Hardware Company, has been entered. In August, 1957 Martin Supply's safe was stolen and later found in the Big Sandy river at Banner.

Entrance to the Martin building was effected through a double-door at the rear. The safe had been drilled into, and bars had apparently been used to pry through the cement fireproofing in the top of the safe door.

Paul Prater and Estill Pete Collins, each accused of breaking and entering; Emory Hall, grand larceny; Paul Johnson, assault and battery, to serve one year in the county jail; Luther Keens, child

SON JAILED, FATHER FLEES

Green Johnson Escapes Court When Bond Asked; Son Given Assault Term

Green Johnson, former Floyd deputy sheriff, escaped from custody in the Floyd circuit courtroom Tuesday afternoon before Jailer Prock Hayes had had time to lodge him in jail pending execution of a peace bond.

Johnson had not been captured, Wednesday afternoon. The peace bond had been asked by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill only a few minutes before Johnson disappeared. The bond was asked after Johnson and his children had appeared in court for the trial of Cassie Howell who allegedly had had an altercation with Johnson's wife.

Had the former officer been jailed he would have joined there with his son, Paul Johnson, who was given a one-year jail term on an assault and battery charge. The younger Johnson was accused of breaking the jaw of Ellis Little with a blow of his fist. A court official said that Johnson shook his fist at Little as he left the courtroom here following the jury's verdict.

Jailer Prock Hayes said he will ask the grand jury at the January term of court to indict Green Johnson for escaping custody. He was not clear as to how Johnson slipped out of the courtroom. Nor had it been determined Wednesday how the former officer made his flight out of town.

Poston Enters Denial To Attempted Rape; Faces Five-Year Pen Sentence

Convicted Tuesday of the attempted rape of his daughter, who is under 12 years of age, James Poston, of Drift, faces a five-year penitentiary term.

Poston, who was arrested on a complaint lodged by his wife, entered a plea of not guilty.

Six others within the week were given one-year pen terms. Three of the six declined to go to trial with their cases, pleading law and facts or entering outright pleas of guilty. These were:

COVERED WAGON DAYS—WOMAN, 66, IS DRIVER

Mrs. Ramsey stands beside her truck which served as a mobile home on her long trip alone from California to Eastern Kentucky and back to California again.

Every generation has its intrepid spirits, and the older generation has Sally Lou Hurt Ramsey.

The 66-year-old Mrs. Ramsey—at an age when most women and many men retire to nothing more adventurous than a solidly built rocking chair, was here Saturday, at the wheel of the pickup truck she had driven alone all the way from California to her old home on Johns Creek, Pike county.

She was on her way back to California, and she apparently looked out on the long miles of plain, mountain and desert with all the enthusiasm of a schoolgirl off on a lark.

The ebullient Mrs. Ramsey, whose unlined face belies her 66 years, who her truck specially designed so that traveling is reduced to the simplest detail. The bed of the truck has been converted into trailer-type quarters, so that when the day's driving is ended she simply pulls into an all-night service station and goes to bed.

Mrs. Ramsey left Pike county in July, 1913, going to California where she has since resided except for overland trips in her truck, two and a half years spent in Alaska and a visit last summer to Japan. When she decided recently it was time to come back for a visit with her half-brother, Garland Hurt, of Guilmore, all she did was "gas up" the truck—which, incidentally, has 60,000 miles on it—and wave goodbye to California kith and kin.

Her brother is 90 years old. In Prestonsburg she visited Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hunt, visiting with her was Mrs. Sally Hart Howard, of Lexington.

Coming back to Kentucky and traveling alone, Mrs. Ramsey chose to travel the southern route which took her through Arizona and New Mexico and their deserts and mountains. Asked if she wasn't afraid of misadventure or molestation, the tall, blue-eyed woman merely smiled and shook her head. She travels, unarmed, finds people friendly and cooperative—most of all, in Kentucky and her native Missouri.

FARM BUREAU NAMES HEAD

Insurgent Group Fails To Beat Old Officers; Cattle Plan Criticized

Efforts of a group of insurgent Floyd County Farm Bureau members to unseat the present administration of the organization met with failure at the annual meeting held in the courthouse Saturday evening. The annual election of officers brought out the largest number of members since the Bureau was founded three years ago.

The slate headed by Henry C. Hale, president, defeated Kermit Howard and his supporters by electing Hale for another year. Norman Prater as vice-president and Homer Neeley as secretary-treasurer. Named to the board of directors were Joe Hicks, of Blue River, Daniel Akers, of Amba, Billy Merritt, Bonanza, Ed Ousley, Blue River, and Arnold Lowe, Eastern.

A campaign to unseat the present officers was launched over a week

MEYER URGES OLD MEMBER BE RETAINED

Mayor Napier Refuses To Reappoint Hagewood; Councilman Would Resign

Reluctance of Charles A. Hinch and Prestonsburg's fiscal agent to give approval stipulated as necessary by a city ordinance to the appointment of George T. Roberts to the Prestonsburg Utility Commission resulted Monday night in the most heated discussion in years at a Council meeting.

Roberts was appointed recently by Mayor Bill Napier to the three-man utility group to succeed Russell Hagewood whose term expired Nov. 19. At the same time he filled the vacancy created by the death of Henry D. Fitzpatrick, Sr., last January, by again appointing Adrian Collins. Collins had previously been appointed by Mayor Harry Sandige but had not been administered the oath of office.

Robert R. Meyer, representative of the bondholders, took the position that, since operation of the utilities here is among the most economical and efficient, its personnel should not be changed and Hagewood should be reappointed. This Mayor Napier refused.

The meeting before a packed house composed of interested citizens among whom were personnel of both Prestonsburg banks, continued until near midnight. Councilman Edward B. Leslie offered his resignation at the end of the meeting but after a vote of rejection was made by the council he agreed to withdraw it. Councilman W. O. Goebel also expressed an intention to resign in the near future.

"We want approval of the Commissioner from ourselves, the City Council and other members of the Commission," Meyer told Mayor Napier and the Council. It was at this point Councilman Joe W. Jarrell said that, since the Council's approval was not necessary, he thought "the Council shouldn't be put in the middle."

Meyer began the presentation of his argument for the reappointment of Hagewood at 9 o'clock when the sewer proposals had been disposed of. He noted that Mayor Napier had written him of the appointment of two members, remarked that his company represented a group of purchasers.

"Basically, we would prefer that the old member be reappointed," Meyer continued. "There are no personalities involved with us. We want to keep the water and gas systems out of politics. You have a fine system. You had a flood up here, a severe flood. Some of the bond purchasers were disturbed and I wrote them that the city had not missed a payment. . . . Consequently, we prefer the present administration be kept in office."

W'WRIGHT MAN IS APPOINTED

Zimmerman Named Head Of Floyd-Co. KCC Week; Chandler Pays Tribute

H. O. Zimmerman, manager of coal properties, Inland Steel Co., Wheelwright, has been chosen Floyd county chairman for Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Week, November 17-21.

The state chairman of this special week to boost the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Thomas A. Ballantine, of Louisville, in announcing the appointment of Mr. Zimmerman, urged all Floyd businessmen to cooperate with the local chairman during the time that Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Week is in progress.

Mr. Ballantine asked all business men to consider seriously their financial support of the Kentucky Chamber in addition to participating in the program of the State Chamber that will help create better opportunities for our new generation.

Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Week has been officially proclaimed by Governor A. B. Chandler to pay tribute to the Kentucky Chamber for the work it has done in bringing all forces in Kentucky together to develop more opportunities for Kentuckians through more manufacturing jobs, more tourist income, greater utilization of natural resources, expanded markets for agricultural products, and an increased interest in public affairs.

Part of the gathering of 340 members of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church and members of its Sunday School is here shown at the Loyalty Dinner sponsored by the church, Wednesday night of last week, at the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria. The event, largest of its kind by the local church, marked the "kickoff" of the church Forward Program, which was followed by last Sunday's Pledge Day. Victory Sunday will be observed this coming Sunday as final results of efforts to subscribe a total budget of $43,200 are tabulated.

While their parents attended the Loyalty Dinner 70 youngsters, 8 years and under, were entertained with a party at the church annex.

Christmas Gift Month Is Theme of Workshop

The theme of the Arts and Crafts Workshop, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, under the direction of Mrs. H. L. Ley, for the month of November is "Christmas Gift Month." This class includes shell craft in decorating novelties, such as bottles, night lights, place card holders, gift enclosure cards and many other trinkets. Help has been given other members desiring to make Christmas gifts not in this category.

Mrs. Ley reports a successful workshop since September and many enjoyable hours have been spent by members of the David and Prestonsburg Woman's Clubs and members of the community. A schedule of diversified crafts is being planned by Mrs. Ley. Women are invited to make "Tuesday Night, Workshop Night."

SUNDAY DINNER GUESTS
Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ford entertained to dinner Sunday at their home on Davis street Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Torsch and son Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Robie Marcum and Mrs. Mae Ford Hyden.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY
Mrs. Robie Marcum was pleasantly surprised on her birthday recently by Mrs. J. B. Ford and Mrs. Winston Ford at the home of the former. At 8 o'clock a large group of friends assembled at the Ford home to greet Mrs. Marcum. Games were played until the opening of her gifts began. She thanked her friends graciously for the many remembrances. The decorated birthday cake was served with punch, coffee and ice cream by the hostesses.

BAKE SALE
The Ladies' Circle of the Community Methodist Church, of Cliff, will sponsor a bake sale, Wednesday, Nov. 26, at the Fountain Korner Drug. For special Thanksgiving orders contact Mrs. Otis Cooley, Mrs. Hern Burke or Mrs. Irvine Harris.

SISTERS ARE HONORED
Mrs. Troy B. Sturgill and her sister, Mrs. T. J. Allen, of Martin, were honored on their birthdays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Graham Dingus on Highland avenue with a birthday turkey dinner. DAR CHAPTER MEETS

John Graham Chapter, Daughter of the American Revolution, met November 11 at the home of Mrs. Virginia N. Stephens with Miss Sarah Clay Stephens as co-hostess. Miss Alice Harris, the regent, presided. Mrs. Tom James, radio chairman, announced that Mrs. George C. Estill, national chairman, radio and television committee, was asking every DAR chapter to sponsor a script contest. The theme selected is "The Blessings of Liberty." All scripts must deal with some phase of the Constitution of the United States of America, and will be judged on the basis of understanding the Constitution, patriotic content, originality, and dramatic and popular appeal. All accredited colleges and universities are being circularized on the conditions of the contest. Closing date for all entries in the contest is January 15, 1959. The two national winners will go to Washington, D. C., as guests of the D.A.R. for the presentation of their winning scripts in Constitution Hall during the D. A. R.'s 68th Continental Congress.

John Graham Chapter, D.A.R., is sponsoring Christian College, Grayson. Following a brief business session, County Attorney Robert Wellman was introduced as guest speaker. His topic, "Thanksgiving in the Land of the Free," was very interesting, and the chapter expressed its appreciation to him by a rising vote of thanks. The hostesses served a refreshment course to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wellman, guests, Mesdames Ed May, M. J. Leete, Gwyn Ford, G. R. Spradlin, Joe M. Davidson, H. L. Mayo, Claude P. In 1952 she left her Riverside, California home, going to Alaska where she spent two years cooking for employes of the Alaskan railway. "I love Alaska," she said. "Where I stayed, the country was much like Kentucky—lovely mountains and rivers, and a climate not too rigorous." Prior to '52 she kept house for her family of three sons and one daughter, and worked as a practical nurse and for 10 years as a beautician while educating her children. Last winter she cooked for 48 members of a Washington State College fraternity house.

Mrs. Ramsey is that kind of woman—she likes to be doing something. Actually, it isn't necessary that she work for anybody—she owns a 1 1/2-acre orange grove, and the cash yield from a California orange grove, these days, is no pittance.

One of her most interesting experiences in Alaska, she said here, was a trip to the Pribilof Islands with a sealing expedition. There she watched with considerable horror while seal-hunters clubbed to death and skinned 1,109 seals in about three hours.

"Japan? If I never see it again, that will be all right with me." Her main complaint about that land is the lack of street and road markers which cramped her style as a traveler.

The former Eastern Kentucky woman's face became familiar, in 1954, to a large part of America as she appeared on Ed Bailey's Queen for a Day television show. "But I lost," she said. "My story wasn't sad enough."

Asked if there was no untoward event whatsoever on the long trip from California, Mrs. Ramsey admitted to one. "Near Mt. Sterling a state trooper pulled me to the side of the road. Scared me half to death. But all he wanted to know was what my truck outfit cost."

So Mrs. Adventure — mother of four, grandmother of eight—travels the length and breadth of America without misadventure.

The convention voted to support Mrs. Fred Norris, Ashland classroom teacher, for a vice-presidency of the K.E.A. when it meets in April.

Resolutions adopted by the association include a recommendation to the 1960 General Assembly that a state sales tax be studied as a source of revenue to help meet needs for the welfare of all the people, including "growing needs of education."

The association also resolved that the General Assembly remove the $1.50 limitation rate on general property tax for school purposes.

The nine-point legislative program for Kentucky schools, as adopted by the K.E.A., was endorsed, together with an endorsement and commendation for the Kentucky Council on Education.

The convention heard Dr. Tim Stinnett, Washington, declare that teachers must wage a national battle for the continuance of public or free schools.

"You have no notion how powerful the movement is to create private schools," said the director of the Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards of the National Education Association.

"Powerful voices are also speaking out for the rationing of education in America," he said. "Teachers, as professional people, must take charge and set standards of teaching which will show undoubted competence."

Dr. Stinnett said free school-houses have been a symbol of American freedom, and private education or an arbitrary system of selection would limit opportunities of future generations.

Verne P. Horne, director of public relations for the K. E. A., advised teachers and administrators to remain well organized and well informed in order to help put across the association's program for education.

A state police detective failed to find fingerprints, it was said. Gloves used by the burglars were taken from the store and were later found outside the building.

A powder magazine owned by Hargis Hayes at Hunter was also looted Tuesday night.

The Maggard Hardware was entered by the front door, and from it were taken the account register with all accounts, a 22-calibre rifle, a 38-40-calibre revolver, tools, flashlights and other unidentified items.

A week earlier, the store of J. E. Campbell at Garrett was broken into, and 40 pairs of shoes reportedly were taken. The Arnett Service Station in Prestonsburg was broken into at about the same time. The loot there were contents of cigarettes and pinball machines and a small radio. Tires were stolen from the service station of J. A. Gayheart at Eastern.

Investigated Wednesday by yielding no substantiating evidence was the report made to Sheriff Hershel Warrens late Monday by a Pike county man that he had been held up at gunpoint by a hitch-hiker. He said he picked up a man at Allen and that between that point and the mouth of Cow Creek the holdup occurred. He added that the man wore lace-back overalls and was tall and dark but that he doubted he could identify him.

Two raids made simultaneously Saturday by sheriff's deputies at widely separated points in the county netted sizeable quantities of liquor. Deputies Joe Wheeler Lewis, Harold Johnson and R. Hall confiscated 10 pints of whiskey, 13 half-pints of gin and 299 cans of beer from the home and car of Willie "Bear" Little on Abner Fork. Meanwhile, Deputies Lonnie Herald and Herschell Lester were finding 24 half-pints of whiskey and vodka on the premises of Ezra Collins at Allen. Both Collins and Little were jailed here.

Richard E. Holloway, 18, of Illinois, was held in jail here for investigation till Wednesday afternoon after having been arrested at Wheelwright on a reckless driving charge. Search of the car he was driving uncovered from beneath the floor mat $8 in nickels and dimes in a man's sock, two hammers, two watches, a blood-stained leather glove and other items.

STRAWBERRY NOTES
Kentucky's strawberry acreage for future years' production is the subject of a recent article by a UK experiment station horticulturist.

FEDER Calf SALES
Kentucky farmers sold 7,909 feeder calves in 15 feeder-calf sales this fall, increasing total head sold by more than 1,600 over 1957—and receiving an average of eight cents a pound more than last year's sales.

Native Floyd Woman Dies at Plymouth, O., En Route to Hospital

Body of Mrs. Therba Gearheart Moore, 59, wife of Edison D. Moore of Plymouth, O., was returned to this county Wednesday for burial in the family cemetery on Salt Lick Creek, near Hueysville.

Mrs. Moore died at 3 p.m., Tuesday, en route to a Plymouth hospital. She had been critically ill four months of cancer.

A daughter of the late Wootson Gearheart, Sr. and Mrs. Sophia Patton Gearheart, Mrs. Moore was a native of this county. She and her family moved to Plymouth about four years ago. Surviving, besides her husband, are two sons and two daughters, Glenn, Garner, Glady and Lucille Moore, all of Plymouth, and one sister, Mrs. Adus Montgomery, Portsmouth, Ohio.

PER CAPITA INCOME IS LOWEST IN EASTERN KENTUCKY COUNTIES

By HENRY P. SCALF

The average Kentucky per capita income is $1,313, but the lowest individual incomes are in the eastern counties.

In some Kentucky counties, far removed from the mountains, the per capita is high and above the state average but it drops to the lowest rung of the statistical ladder in Martin county where it is only $372. Knott county has the unenviable "honor" of second place with only $393 per capita.

Floyd county has a per capita income of $683, Leslie $500, and Magoffin $494, but in the better economically situated counties it rises far above the state average as witness Jefferson with $2,178, Fayette, $1,774 and McCracken with $1,536. A few counties, removed from the mountains but also removed from economic opportunity keep the eastern counties company in the low-income group. Typical of these are Clinton with its per capita of $650 and Butler with $500.

It is the counties of the eastern rim and a cluster west and north of them that contribute heavily to the low-income per capita figure for the state. But for these counties the per capita would rise considerably above the average of $1,313 as it now stands. Although these counties may wrestle mightily with their economic problems, solution may be indefinitely delayed until the state recognizes that regional insufficiency is a depressant upon all the 120 units.

One problem—and it is not an aside problem, either—is the high average number of individuals living in each dwelling unit in the eastern counties. It is the highest in the mountains, much higher than in other sections of Kentucky. The state average for each dwelling is 3.38 but in every one of the eastern counties it is 4-plus and in no other section of the state can a county be found with as many.

Leslie leads the state with 5.12 persons to the unit and Breathitt follows closely with 4.84. To repeat, there is no other section of the state, Bluegrass, Purchase or Pennyroyal, where the average reaches four persons. It is here in the eastern section where large families are housed and with the lowest per capita income in the state.

Low incomes contribute, in fact create, this matter of inadequate housing. It would have less serious import if housing in the eastern section was comparable to that of the rest of the state but it isn't. In Knott county, to consult a government publication, the average value of homes is only $340, ranging from $20 to $7,000. These figures are 20 years old but no substantial improvement has been effected since they were gathered. Figures compiled in 1950 show that 17.2 per cent of Knott county homes were built earlier than 1919 and that 20.1 per cent of Floyd homes were constructed before 1919.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture made a study, sweeping in its range of economic and social problems of the Appalachians, two decades ago that are considered highly applicable today.

"Among the rural-farm population the size of families in the rugged, isolated and economically handicapped counties tends to be large compared with the size of the families among farm people living in the valley counties where economic opportunities are greater," wrote an agricultural economist connected with the study. "Among the rural non-farm population the size of families does not show as direct a relationship to topography but a tendency toward larger families is evident in some of the coal-producing counties . . ."

Larger families usually mean more children to provide for out of the family purse. When it is recalled that some of the counties having the most limited opportunities are also those with larger-than-average size of families, the situation appears most serious. Not only does the burden of support of a large proportion of the children rest upon families with small incomes but the counties and minor political subdivisions with little wealth have to provide larger schools and other facilities to care for the higher proportion of children and young people.

Just how small in other ways is the low income of Eastern Kentucky may be seen by consulting the 1950 Census which shows the per cent of families having incomes of less than $2,000. Here again the section leads the state in statistics that reflect economic doldrums, Jackson county has 87.5 per cent of its families with income of less than $2,000. With an average of 4.29 persons to the family or dwelling unit the income should be $5,632 to reach the state average.

Owsley county has 86.9 per cent of its families subsisting upon an income of less than $2,000 and Breathitt has 85.4 per cent. Compare with counties having more economic advantages, Boyd for instance. There only 32.7 per cent of the families live on less than $2,000. Boyd's enviable position is more in contrast when it is noted that 74.3 per cent of nearby Lawrence county families maintain some sort of living standard on less than the $2,000. Harlan county, and to some ex-

Governor Is Honored By Floyd Rescue Unit With Honorary Membership

Governor Chandler Monday became the first honorary member of the Floyd County Emergency Rescue Squad set up after the Prestonsburg school-bus disaster, which killed 27 children and a bus driver.

The Governor was presented badge No. 33 and two framed certificates. One has the signatures of the parents of the children killed in the mishap, the other has pictures of all the victims.

Graham Burchett, director of the rescue squad, said 4,000 honorary memberships and certificates will be mailed to everybody who worked at the disaster scene.

James B. Goble, whose three children died when the bus plunged into the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River in February, was among those attending the ceremonies in the Governor's office.

Chandler said that in seven years as Governor, this was his most heartwarming day.

"They (the rescue-squad members) represent brave people—they don't make them any braver," he said.

"Through their efforts, and in memory of these children, they have taken steps to see that other people will be saved."

The award was made in appreciation of Chandler's work for the relatives of the victims during the long search for the bodies.

Accompanying Burchett and Goble to Frankfort for the presentation were Homer D. Nealey, W. R. Callihan and James Daniels.

tent Floyd, Pike and Perry, have approximately the same number, or slightly fewer than, the state average of families living on less than $2,000. The coal industry accounts for most of it in these counties as the average wage in the mines is $1,806. This compares favorably with the state average of $1,867 for all occupations. Harlan county's better position in this respect is pointed when it is noted that only 42.3 per cent of the families are in the less than $2,000 class. A student of Harlan county economics, whether the conclusion was valid or not, states that this situation is attributable in a great part to the high number of Harlan families with vested interest in the coal or related industry. Harlan county's per capita income is $1,143, highest in the mountains and approaches the state average.

An inadequate road system contributes much to the low income of East Kentucky. This is reflected in the 1950 Census of farms on paved roads. In populous and wealthier Jefferson county 83.8 per cent of the farms are on good roads and in rural Jessamine 85.4 per cent enjoy the advantages of transportation on paved highways. But the agricultural network grows thinner as the mountain counties are approached.

It is in the eastern counties that the lack of roads is most pointed in these statistics. Floyd county is one of the 12 worst in the state, with only 14.9 per cent of its farms on paved roads. Only the mountain counties of Clay, Rockcastle and Owsley show a sadder condition statistically. Knott, Johnson, Perry, and Pike reach the state average of 31.1 per cent. But for the deplorable conditions existing in the eastern counties, the state average of farms on paved roads would rise to more than 50 per cent.

Inadequate roads, migration of the young, intelligent and more aggressive, low school enrollment, low per capita income, substandard housing, high fertility ratio, and many, many other problems feature the pattern of life in East Kentucky.

ago and culminated in last-minute electioneering at the courthouse. Chief dissatisfaction voiced by the anti was the handling of the livestock program of the Bureau.

Voting for president was by secret ballot but after the renaming of Hale this method was sidetracked and all the other officers were elected by standing vote.

Besides hearing Robert M. Jones, county agent, discuss the last meeting of the Kentucky Farm Bureau at which he was a delegate, Hale talked on the livestock program. The Bureau now owns 21 head of pure-bred cattle.

The local organization took issue with the recent state convention which endorsed right-to-work measures. Edgar Bingham, of Cliff, introduced a resolution opposing the action of the state convention and the members voted to send it to the state headquarters in opposition to the so-called right-to-work bills. It passed unanimously.

The Floyd County Farm Bureau has had the second largest growth of any in the state, it was pointed out at the meeting. Last year it had 486 members but there are now 630 members, it was said.

Campbell Plans Book On Kentucky Mountains

Allen Campbell, retired regional director of Silver-Burdette Book Company, of Chicago, visited Prestonsburg and Pikeville this week seeking information from which to compile a book on the mountain section of the state. The book will depict the everyday lives of the mountain people.

Campbell, a former county superintendent of Breathitt county schools, has had the volume projected some time and writing of the book is already under way. It will be completed next year.

At the conclusion of Meyer's prefatory remarks Mayor Napier replied briefly that he had read the ordinance and knew where he stood. "I ran as an independent for mayor. I voted for most of the Councilmen here tonight. We had two men on the Commission in the banks and nobody outside. I'm under the impression I have the right to make this appointment and you can't find a better man than George Roberts. That's my stand. I won't reappoint Mr. Hagewood."

After discussion by Meyer and Joe Hobson on old bonds of the city issued prior to the present outstanding bonds, the Mayor extended his remarks to say that under the enabling ordinance there is a provision in Section Four for public meetings of the commission.

"We've never had a public meeting," he said, "and never had any information."

Collins and Burl Spurlock, chairman of the utility commission, engaged in a heated exchange on whether or not the former had ever had an opportunity to act as a member.

Meyer again interrupted to discuss the good credit rating the city had with his company.

"Your credit is good and now you are talking of issuing more bonds," he said. "We went on the assumption in buying the bonds that the utility body would be continuous as long as it did a good job."

Meyer said that he had nothing either for or against Mr. Roberts, that, in fact, he was not acquainted with him. At this point Roberts came out of the crowd and introduced himself.

"We don't take the position of what you can do or cannot do," Meyer said. "We are not trying to be dictatorial."

Mayor Napier remarked at this point that he couldn't satisfy everybody and, added, with emphasis: "I will not reappoint Hagewood."

Meyer relented a bit towards the discussion end by remarking: "I think that in the event the mayor won't reappoint Hagewood, then, I think, the appointment (of Roberts) is all right."

H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., proposed that Spurlock, Collins, Roberts and Meyer withdraw to the Mayor's office and discuss the problem, which they did. However, it was said, no agreement emerged from the conference.

Methodist Church Plans Drama Presentation

The First Methodist Church here will present the great religious drama, "Centerville Awakening," Sunday, Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

This is the story of Ed and Laurie Damon who stood at the crossroads, at the point of no return. Beyond them lay the misty uncertainty of a future they had never planned, much less expected.

Then, they discovered the way of life that led to a great awakening in the town of Centerville.

"Centerville Awakening" lays bare the human soul and, hearing its desperate cry, boldly proclaims God's answer.

The public is invited to see this drama on the screen.

pointed out that a town of the fourth class cannot incur an indebtedness in excess of five per cent of its assessed valuation and that the sewer cost would probably exceed this a great deal.

A proposal to ask the voters to express their sentiments was vetoed as it was thought the emphatic "NO" vote on the courthouse bonds and swimming proposals was indicative of taxpayer opinion.

Stream pollution was discussed in the light of federal laws to lessen it. Councilman J. Y. Goble, who has been studying the sewer situation for months, noted that the federal government seems to be primarily interested now in cleaning up the Ohio River and after that is done the towns on the tributary streams will be forced to build disposal systems.

End of the discussion resulted in a motion by the Council that Robert R. Meyer, representative of Charles A. Hirsch & Co., a bonding firm of Cincinnati, be authorized to contact Bell Engineering Company, of Lexington and arrive at a cost estimate to see if financing can be legally done.

State's Veterans Set Home Payment Record; 41,206 Loans Are Made

Kentucky veterans with GI home loans have set and continued to set a remarkable record of paying off home mortgage debts, Ray R. Adams, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Louisville, said last week.

He disclosed that out of a total of 315,000 World War II and Korean veterans in Kentucky, GI home loans had been made by 41,206 since the program was launched in December 1944.

Of that total number of home mortgage loans guaranteed, 12,711 have been paid in full by the veteran borrower, he said.

He added that the VA had paid claims on only approximately 26 per cent, or 139, of all these loans guaranteed in Kentucky.

The figures, Adams said are based on a study made by VA including all loans made through August, 1958.

Thomas Sherrid Spradlin Succumbs in Lexington At Odd Fellows Home

Thomas Sherrid Spradlin, 81 years old, of Prestonsburg, died at Odd Fellows Home, Lexington, Wednesday afternoon, shortly after suffering a paralytic stroke.

Mr. Spradlin had resided at the home for the last month. He suffered a broken hip in a fall here a few months ago, but was believed recovering.

A son of J. P. and Mary Elizabeth Blevins Spradlin, he was a native of this county and had spent most of his life in Prestonsburg. He was associated with old Kentucky Normal College in Louisa after having been here with Prof. W. M. Byington in the Prestonsburg institute. From 1913 to 1917 he was president of the Southern Business College, Roanoke, Va., and during World War I he was a field supervisor for the Y. M. C. A. in France.

Mr. Spradlin was a member of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. His funeral, which will be at 2 p.m. Friday from Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, will be under auspices of Prestonsburg I. O. O. F. lodge.

He was twice married—first to Josephine Ellis, and after her death to Cordelia Stewart who passed away last month. Surviving are one son, Charles Spradlin, and two daughters, Mrs. J. Y. Goble and Mrs. V. A. Smiley, all of Prestonsburg; three brothers, John and Albert Spradlin, of Elkhorn City, and Leonard Spradlin, Lexington; and three sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Phillips, Phyllis, Ky., Mrs. Bertha Potter and Mrs. Josie Castle, both of Elkhorn City.

The Rev. Ira McMillen will officiate at the funeral service. Burial will be made in the Weddington cemetery here under direction of the Moore Funeral Home.

desertion; Richard Wyatt, uttering a forged instrument.

Lewis Patton was fined $500 when he entered a plea of law and facts to a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the automobile death of Kenneth Childers. Bennie Blackburn was fined $100 and given a 90-day jail term after making the same plea to a third-offense indictment for selling whiskey. Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill warned Blackburn that steps will be taken to confiscate and sell his trailer home which is located at the scene of the Floyd county school bus tragedy, a short distance north of Knotley Hollow.

The two other indictments against Blackburn were dismissed on motion of Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley, on the grounds of insufficient evidence. These also were third-offense charges, one for liquor possession, the other for selling.

Others who drew fines during the week:

Cassie Howell, reckless use of a deadly weapon, $50; Johnny Goble, possession of moonshine whiskey, $50, the same charge made jointly against Garland Keathley being dismissed; Herman Roberts, cold check, $50; Ezra Marsillett, reckless driving, $10; Mrs. E. C. Slade, Herb Anderson, Mrs. Charles Hunter, Hugh Sword, each charged with permitting gambling on their premises, $50 fine each; Fess Roark, drunk driving, $150; Herman Marshall, possessing moonshine whiskey, $50.

The jury disagreed in the trial of Otto Horn on a moonshine possession count.

The jury failed to agree in the trials of Lillie Branham for assault and battery and Arnold Hamilton on a child desertion charge.

The court's September order granting probation to Bill Johnson after he had been convicted on a child desertion charge was revoked. Five convicted at the current court term were granted probation. Names of these defendants, charges on which they were convicted and terms of each follow:

John Riley Cole, breaking and entering, one year; Paul Prater, breaking and entering, one year; Rudolph Griffith, obtaining money under false pretense, three years; Clyde Hamilton and David Keathley, petit larceny, 30 days each. The order probating Griffith provided that he is to pay to the clerk of the court $743 at the rate of $30 a month, beginning in January, as restitution of the amount illegally procured. Bond of $150 was required of Damon Stamer and Kermit Joseph who were arrested with a load of liquor, near here recently. The bond is to stand in lieu of their 1951 Buick now held by the Commonwealth, and amount of the bond is to be paid if it is determined the court has a right to confiscate and sell the car.

The $500 bonds of Dester Hamilton, accused of child desertion, and John L. Hall, under indictment for selling mortgaged property, were ordered forfeited.

Cases dismissed during the week, marked with the Commonwealth's Attorney's motion as lacking evidence or evidence insufficient to convict:

George Patrick, transporting mortgaged property; Alma Griffith, obtaining money under false pretense; James Henry Fields, breaking and entering; Robert Beech, false arrest; Jimmy Hopson, assault and battery; Heston Scarberry, child desertion; Charlie Miller and Lowell Akers, grand larceny.

The breaking and entering indictment against John Wilburn Gibson was dismissed on the grounds that the wrong person had been indicted. A grand larceny charge against Lawrence Brown was dismissed, subject to being redocketed on notice, and the charge of child desertion against James Ray Frasure was removed from the docket on the motion of the prosecuting witness.

Other cases dismissed: Denvil Joseph, child desertion; C. F. Roberts, Robert Whitten and James R. George, each for cold check.

Stephens Names Creech Air Field After War I Ace

Ceremonies were held Wednesday at Creech Army Airfield, Lexington, to name and dedicate the field to the state's only air ace in World War I. First Lieutenant Jesse Orin Creech. It was a Prestonsburg man, Lieut. Col. James D. Stephens, who suggested the name. Stephens is now a Intelligence Officer attached to the field.

Creech received the U. S. Distinguished Service Cross and the British Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism in the air over enemy territory. His widow, Mrs. Sarah Hukle Creech, was present.

Stephens enlisted in the Army in June 1941, served in the European Theatre and the South Pacific and in the Canal Zone.

The Prestonsburg soldier was present at the release of prisoners at Buchenwald concentration camp in Germany and personally freed a Russian general. Stephens afterward received several letters from the Soviet officer in appreciation.

WHO'LL START FOR MOREHEAD, BIG PROBLEM FOR LAUGHLIN; TEAM EXPERIENCE LACKING

Morehead, Ky., Nov. 11 (Spl.)—The opening of the 1958-'59 basketball is just three weeks away, but Morehead State College coach Bobby Laughlin is still in doubt as to his starting five.

His rangy charges will be as fast as previous "run and shoot" teams who have moved Morehead into the national cage picture but experience is the big question mark this season.

"We've looked exceptionally well on offense and I'm pleased with the overall shooting ability of our 11-player squad, however, there is much yet to be desired on our defensive play," observed Laughlin as the team went through an hour-long scrimmage session yesterday.

Senior Thornton Hill, 6-6 rebounding ace from nearby West Liberty, and the team's leading field goal percentage shooter last season, will definitely start at one forward post while all other starting positions are wide open.

Jim Harrison, 6-9 sophomore from Vico, and Arthur Cole 6-6 sophomore from Camargo, have been alternating at center. Harrison shoots well with either hand, has good speed for a big man but lacks the stamina of Cole on the backboards. Cole moves faster than Harrison, but doesn't shoot as well.

In all probability Tom Hamilton, 6-6 sophomore from Charleston, Indiana, will get the nod at the other forward post. His jumping one-hander from outside is comparable to brother Steve, who performed for Eagles through the three previous seasons. Hamilton's chief rivals for the starting role are Dale Fair, 6-4 Morehead senior, and Gerald Yentes, 6-5 senior.

If Laughlin goes with Hill, Harrison, and Hamilton, his "inside men" will be 6-6, 6-9, and 6-6, but if Cole is inserted at center all will be 6-6.

Last season's starting guard, Herbie Triplett, diminutive Inez junior, may have trouble making the starting five as Granville Williams, Hindman sophomore, and Henderson Thompson, 5-11 sophomore, have looked most impressive.

Both Thompson and Williams drive inside with amazing speed and deception and hit well from outside with their two-hander. Although only sophomores, both show promise of keeping Triplett on the bench. Claude Saltee, junior from Jackson, is the No. 4 guard and will see considerable action.

Sam VanHook, 6-5 Cynthiaiana senior, is Hill's understudy at forward.

Morehead will open its 24-game schedule Monday, December 1, in the college fieldhouse against Morris Harvy, of Charleston, West Virginia.

James (Hooker) Hopkins, Age 71, Of Lackey, Dies; Was Retired Coal Miner

James (Hooker) Hopkins, 71, of Lackey, died at home at 6:40 p.m. Friday. He was a retired miner.

Mr. Hopkins was a son of Elisha and Polly Riley Hopkins. Surviving is a son, Edsal Hopkins, of Lackey, and a brother, Farris Hopkins, Johnson City, Tenn.

Funeral services were conducted at home at 10 a.m. Monday, the Revs. Tom Wicker, Earl Howard and Green Bradley officiating. Burial was made in the Chandler cemetery at Lackey under the direction of Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

S. S. Benefits Replacement Aid To Income Loss

Social security benefits are intended to replace in part loss of income brought about by the death, disability, or old-age retirement of the worker. For this reason, they are related to the average earnings of a worker in employment or self-employment covered by the social security law. Obviously, social security benefits are affected by changes in the national economy. Since the last increase was put into effect in 1954, wages have increased by about 12 per cent and prices by 8 per cent. Congress felt that adjustments in the benefit scale were in order and voted an across-the-board increase in the amendments which the President signed into law on August 28, 1958. These benefits become effective at the beginning of 1959, and will be included in all benefit checks for January which will reach beneficiaries early in February. As I said in the first article in this series, it is not necessary to visit your social security office to apply for these increases. They will be made automatically.

The benefit increases for retired workers amount to about 7 percent over the levels provided in the old law, with a minimum increase of $3.00 in the benefits payable to a retired worker who came on the rolls at or after age 65. Slightly smaller increases will be shown on the benefit checks of retired women workers who elected to retire at age 62 or at any age thereafter before reaching 65. Proportionate increases will be made in benefits paid to beneficiaries who are the dependents or survivors of retired or deceased workers.

For retired male workers now getting benefit payments, the monthly payments, beginning with the payment for January, will range from $3 to $116, as compared with $30 to $108.50 under the old law. For women workers now getting retirement benefits the increased checks will range from $26.40 to $116 per month. This slightly lower minimum benefit is due to the fact that some women chose to retire before age 65.

Another change in the law will make possible larger maximum benefit payments for many people coming on the benefit rolls in the future. This will be due to the change in the so-called "earnings base" on which payments are figured. Right now, only earnings up to a total of $4,200 in a year can be credited to a worker's social security account. The largest monthly benefit payable to a retired worker with average yearly earnings of $4,800 will be $127. However, this maximum benefit cannot be reached for many years.

Along with the increase in benefits will come an increase in social security taxes. Beginning with January, employed persons will have one-fourth of 1 per cent additional taken out of their pay; the tax rate will be 2½ per cent each for employee and employer. The rate for self-employed people will go up from 3-4-8 per cent to 3-3-4 per cent on their 1959 net earnings. The old rate, however, will apply to self-employment earnings for 1958 which must be paid when income tax returns are filed early in 1959.

Explorer Scouts Hear Panel of Engineers

Explorer Post No. 28, Boy Scouts of America, Drift, recently held the second in a series of meetings on Vocational Guidance.

The meeting was highlighted by the successful response of a guest panel. This was "Engineer Night", and the panel personnel consisted of three engineers from our area. Bill Hoffman, Post advisor, acted as moderator of the panel.

The meeting was in charge of Crew Leader Kenneth Henry and with members of his crew he presented an appropriate opening ceremony.

George Letherman, electrical engineer on the staff of Inland Steel Company at Wheelwright, was a member of the panel and was introduced by Explorer Lindsay Blackburn.

Alan Reed, mining engineer and owner of the Prestonsburg Engineering Company, was another member of the panel and was presented to the group by Explorer Paul Hoffman.

Joseph Peraino, consulting engineer with Inland Steel Company at Wheelwright, was the third panel member and was introduced by Explorer Danny Turner.

A lively presentation was made by the panel and interesting discussion was the result of the experience of these men.

HONKERS

Kentucky has some of the nation's best hunting for the Canada goose, that magnificent bird known as the honker. The corn fields of our western section, says the State Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, are a favorite feeding area of the honker on his annual trip south. The agency gives this shooting counsel: Most hunters shoot from pit blinds and use decoys. Precaution must be taken to prevent being seen before birds are in range. Camouflage clothing is of great help. Face and hands should be darkened and glasses avoided if possible. The honker often attains a wing spread of more than five feet.

PRIZE MONEY

The State Department of Agriculture has mailed 1,431 checks to winners in the recent eight district dairy shows for 4-H Club and F.F.A. members. Premiums totaled $10,357, says Mancel Vinson, deputy commissioner of agriculture.

ANNOUNCING THE FIRST LUXURY CARS WITH A CONSCIENCE: NEW GAS-SAVING MONTEREYS

New economy-powered Mercury Montereys let you "ride free" 10 miles in every 100

It's about time someone made a luxury car with a V-8 engine that delivers top performance on regular (not premium) gasoline. And Mercury's done it with this beautiful Monterey. You save 10% every time you stop for gas. And you get more mileage with regular gasoline than many cars with premium.

It's about time someone built a beautifully styled car that is truly comfortable. Mercury's done it.

For easier entrance, this Monterey has wider front doors than even the costliest cars. The windshield pillar has been moved forward, out of the way of your knees.

For extra knee room, the instrument panel has been moved away from your lap. There's 9 inches more room.

For extra comfort for center-seat passengers, the tunnel-hump in the floor has been cut 50%. Passengers in the middle no longer ride with their legs doubled up. And the lower hump makes room for thicker, softer seat cushioning.

New anti-dive suspension checks "nose dip" on sudden stops. Self-adjusting brakes eliminate periodic adjustment. New Super-Enamel finish doesn't need waxing for years.

Best of all, these beautiful Montereys are attractively priced—well within the reach of 2 out of 3 new-car buyers. We invite you to see them at our showroom.

Floyd Students Named To G'town Honor Rolls

Honor rolls announced by Dr. Hanson Harris, academic dean of Georgetown College, include five county students.

One hundred thirty-five students were named to the "A" honor roll. To make this standing a student must maintain a minimum average of 2.50 of a possible 3.00 for a semester. One hundred ninety attained the "B" honor roll for which a minimum average of 2.00 must be maintained.

"A" honor students named by Dr. Harris are: Pat Fraley, Weeksville; Judith Snodgrass, Allen.

Attaining the "B" classification were Charles Joseph Isbell, Rebecca Conley and Jacqueline Hensley, all of Prestonsburg.

STATE'S GAME SEASON STARTS WITH BANG

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 15 (Spl.) — Firing on practically all fronts began today (Thursday), when the big end of Kentucky's hunting season opened.

Quail, rabbits, grouse, furbearers all became fair game to hunters on that date, and they may continue to hunt their favorite animal or bird through January 18. On the same date Kentucky's brand new Ballard county waterfowl management area opened its gates to duck and goose hunters, and that season, on the refuge, will continue through January 3. The second squirrel season opens November 20 and closes December 17.

Fish and Wildlife personnel from all sections of the state have reported a good population of most species of game and hunting generally is expected to be as good or better than last year. The waterfowl boys in western Kentucky report the ducks are on the move with many of them now resting on the Ballard area, and that by the opening round of shooting on this area a fair supply of geese is expected. Persons wishing to hunt on the Ballard area should contact the Refuge manager, LaCenter, Ky., and make their reservations. Hunting on this area will be from one-half hour before sunrise until 12 noon (CST).

The Bluegrass section of Kentucky and its fringes report a good supply of rabbits and in the south-central portion biologists report many cottontails. Some counties report more rabbits than last year, some about the same amount and a few claim fewer than a year ago. The limit of rabbit is eight per day or a bag limit of 16 after two or more days of hunting. Hunters should ask the farmer's permission before hunting on his land. Minor Clark, commissioner, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, warns.

The quail situation is generally as good as, if not better than, last year. Some small birds are expected to be found, since the early nests were not destroyed by the heavy rains and the second hatches did all right, but the birds will not be fully grown in many cases. The daily limit of quail is 10 with a possession limit of 20 after two or more days of hunting.

The ruffed grouse population is reported definitely higher this year. However, this is not a statewide bird and is found mostly in eastern Kentucky. The limit is two per day and the possession limit is four after two or more days of hunting. No wood ducks may be killed and the bag limit of four may not include more than two redheads or two canvasbacks or one redhead and one canvasback. The possession limit is 8. Bag and possession limit on geese is five, not to include more than two Canadas or two white-fronted, or one of each.

Second in State Meet

A "diaper division" entry in Ohio's 1958 state skating meet was five-year-old Sandra Kay Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover C. Akers, of Vermillion, O., formerly of Floyd county. Sandy placed second among 12 contestants at the meet which was held recently in Columbus, Ohio.

Four from This County Are Freshmen At Union

Barbourville, Ky. — Four students from Floyd county are enrolled in the freshman class at Union College for the fall term. They are:

Glenn Sterling Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn S. Anderson, Prestonsburg; Raymond Douglas Wells, son of Ernest L. Wells, of Emma; Donald Ray Sealf, son of Mrs. Nancy Louder, of Allen; Kathryn Elizabeth Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roberts.

All four are graduates of Prestonsburg high school.

HAITIANS HAVE DESIRE TO PAINT

Many Haitians seem to have an instinctive desire to paint, combined with an astonishing talent, the December Reader's Digest reports. An American artist, DeWitt Peters, found unschooled natives painting on wrapping paper, with chicken feathers for brushes and furniture enamel for paint. He set up a Haitian National Art Center, and now, hundreds of tourists are drawn to the island each year to see and buy the extraordinary paintings.

COLEMAN TO FEATURE COLLEGIATE NET GAME

College basketball is coming this season to Prestonsburg for the first time in the long history of the town, and heading one of the two collegiate fives will be Wayland's redoubtable "King" Kelly Coleman.

The county's introduction to the collegiate net game on a Floyd court will mark a regularly scheduled Ohio Valley Conference meeting between Coleman and his teammates from Kentucky College, Owensboro and the Middle Tennessee State College five on Saturday, Dec. 13, in the new Prestonsburg high school gymnasium.

Kelly Coleman with Kentucky Wesleyan scored the most points ever amassed by a freshman in major-college basketball history, and fans from all over the Big Sandy region are expected to jam the local gym to catch a glimpse of the native Floyd courtian in action again.

Three days before the Wesleyan-Middle Tennessee game, the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters will play here against the Hawaiian All-Stars. An interesting preliminary to that game will pit the Texas Cowgirls against a local team.

Back to Kelly Coleman. This is what Bob Henderson, director of sports information at Kentucky Wesleyan, writes about him — and Henderson swears it's 100%.

BIOGRAPHY OF KELLY OLEN "King Kelly" COLEMAN 1958-1959

All-America Basketball Candidate

Kelly Coleman, Kentucky Wesleyan's sensational sophomore, is following in the footsteps of Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas by being recognized as a strong first-class candidate for All-America in his second season of play. But King Kelly got a faster start than Robertson and Chamberlain, because he was a first-string performer on the varsity in his freshman season.

Fortunately, athletic director and head coach Robert "Bullet" Wilson has the rare privilege of using first-year men on his varsity squad. Under the provisions of the constitution and by-laws of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, of which KWC is a member, a member college can use freshmen in varsity competition if the total male enrollment is less than 750. Kentucky Wesleyan's total enrollment, including both men and women, is 621 for the first semester of 1958-59 school year. It was 612 a year ago.

As a freshman phenom last winter Coleman accounted for 639 points to establish a new national record for the most points scored by a freshman in major-college history. The previous high was 555 made in 30 games by Cleo Littleton of Wichita in 1951-52. The Wesleyan ace actually broke Littleton's record in 22 games, having a 560-point total at this point. In the final two games against University of Louisville and East Tennessee State, Coleman tallied 40 and 39, respectively, to finish with 639 in 24 contests.

Coleman's final 26.6 average per game ranked sixth among the nation's major-college scoring leaders. Since Baylor, Chamberlain and Murrell (2nd, 3rd and 5th in '58 scoring) have left the college ranks, King Kelly seems destined to be a strong contender for the individual point-making crown for the next three seasons.

In addition to the national record mentioned here, Coleman set the following school records in his brilliant kick-off year:

SINGLE-SEASON

Most points scored—639.
Most points per game—28.6 average.

Most field goal attempts—669.
Most field goal attempts per game—27.9 average.
Most field goals scored—264.
Most field goals scored per game—11 average.
Most rebounds per game—12.3 average.

SINGLE-GAME

Most points scored—41, in 112-77 win over Centre College at Owensboro on Feb. 17.
Most field goal attempts—45.
Most field goals scored—18 (twice).

Most points in one half—33, in second half against Centre College (made 8 in first half).

Coleman's qualifications for All-America mention: a deadeye scorer . . . strong rebounder, especially under offensive board . . . expert passer . . . one of the nation's finest in the art of dribbling . . . alert playmaker . . . contender for national scoring title . . . cooperative team man . . . good student . . . everything else that hasn't already been mentioned.

Coleman still claims one national high school scoring record—an average of 46 points per game in his 1955-56 senior year at Wayland high school. That year he produced a total of 1,919 markers in 41 games. For his four-year Wayland career, the book shows 4,253 points in 127 games and a 33.6 average.

BEARS SCORE EASY VICTORY

Setser Scores 20 Points, Brashear 12 as Pikeville Winner in Season-Opener

Pikeville, Ky., Nov. 19 (Spl.) — The Pikeville College Bears opened their 1958-59 basketball season by trouncing a new opponent, the Bliss College "Bookkeepers," of Columbus, Ohio, 135-66, Saturday night.

New Coach Bill Daniels' first edition of the Bears including Paul Setser, Auxier, and Dick Brashear, Manton, proved to be a stable of race horses, rolling up a 13-3 lead in the first five minutes and going on to run the visitors into the ground. Halftime score was 66-29, as the Bears tied the guests' final score in the first period, then devoted the last half to piling up their winning margin.

Four Pikeville players scored 20 points or better, with sophomore forward Paul Setser and freshman Donnis Butcher laying in 21 markers each, and sophomores Vern Woods and George Carroll accounting for 20 apiece. Brashear hit for 12 points, and Woods, a 6' 5½" pivotman, took off 24 of the Bears' 88 rebounds. Carroll, shortest of the starters at 5' 11", scored all his points on field goals to lead the squad in fielders as his well-oiled set shot found the range 10 times.

High-point honors in the game went to Joe Hill, the Bookkeepers' All-American guard, with 28 points on nine field goals and 10 of his 12 free-throw attempts.

Donnis Butcher, playing his first college game, rifled passes to teammates under the goal for 10 of the 22 assists allowed by the official scorer, and also snared 17 rebounds.

The picture play of the evening was turned in by Big Garrett Mullins, of Pikeville, the Bears' best rebounder last season, as he tipped in a rebound early in the second half. Coming from nowhere, the 6-6 forward leaped high on the dead run, got the tips of his fingers on the ball once, and was gone before it settled through the net.

Known as the most prolific scorer in the annals of Kentucky high school basketball, Coleman climaxed his colorful prep career by breaking several Kentucky state tournament records in the spring of 1956 at the University of Kentucky Coliseum in Lexington—185 points in four games, including 68 points in Wayland's victory over Bell County for third place. This 68-point spree also stands as a record for individual pointmaking in Kentucky's famed Coliseum.

Last spring at Wesleyan's annual sports banquet, Coleman was named the team's Most Valuable Player for the 1957-58 campaign. A second honor at the banquet was the first place Rebound Award which goes to the player with the highest rebound average per game. Coleman was also a first-team selection in the fifth annual Kentucky All-American City Tournament, sponsored in late December by Wesleyan at the Owensboro Sportscenter. Wesleyan was defeated by Ohio University in the championship game.

Coleman is very modest, rather quiet and shy on the campus. In every sense, he is a first-class team man. Following a 99-65 win over Florida Southern at Lakeland, Fla., the players were dressing and one started asking the Wesleyan statistician, "How many did I score, what was my percentage," etc. Coleman, who was standing nearby, overheard the quizzing and stated, "It doesn't make any difference what the individual totals were; the only thing that counts is we won the game—nothing else!" Whenever he talks to the team statistician, his one and only question is: "What's our season record?"

Since entering Wesleyan in September, 1957, he has compiled a C-plus cumulative academic average. Between classes he is often found in the College Union Building lounge either playing or watching a game of chess. Last spring he was pledged to membership in the Mystic Thirteen fraternity. Coleman has never bragged about his amazing basketball ability, and this is one of the chief reasons why he is well-liked by the student body.

He has a very keen and alert mind, and at times this alertness brings forth clean humor and wit in campus bull-sessions.

The publicity director is the only person who gets peeved at Coleman.

He is somewhat "stubborn" when the time comes to arrange for special photographs requested by the sports press. This mainly results from the fact that he isn't too concerned about having his picture in the sports section.

Twenty years old (born September 21, 1938); a native of Wayland, mining community of some 2,000; the fifth of 11 children born to Mrs. Rasha Collins Coleman and the late Guy Olen Coleman who died in an auto accident in October, 1957, shortly after Kelly entered Wesleyan; eight sisters and two brothers. His mother has never seen Kelly play a basketball game. His father, who was a coal miner, only saw him play once in a district tournament.

Kelly is six feet, three inches, and his weight varies from 215 to 230 (playing weight is from 212 to 215).

He married the former Anna Ruth Watkins, of Wayland, his high school sweetheart, in April, 1958, just before graduation. The Colemans have two daughters: Terri Lynn, age two, and Beverly, who was born in July, 1958. They reside on the campus in a college apartment unit called Reynolds Village. Mrs. Coleman worked at the General Electric Co. (Tube Division) in Owensboro.

Kelly is majoring in physical education and after he receives his bachelor of arts degree in the spring of 1961, he hopes to enter the coaching profession, preferably in or near his hometown Wayland. He also hopes that he might receive an offer to play professional basketball or basketball. Last spring he also lettered in baseball. In Wesleyan's 11-game schedule, he was fourth in individual batting with a .353 average and led the team in both runs-batted-in and home runs.

When approached about his "most thrilling moment" in sports, he won't choose any particular time. In addition to being a student of the game of chess, Kelly is also a frequent visitor on the golfing links in the summer months. Another favorite pastime is watching Western programs on television.

How did he acquire the "King" Kelly nickname? A Louisville Courier-Journal sports writer back in the 1955-'56 cage season once printed a sports headline that read: "Coleman Is Now King in the Mountain (Not Coal)."

Coleman attended Wayland elementary school and first started playing basketball while in the fourth grade. However, baseball was his favorite sport at that time and he won two baseball letters as a catcher, the first when he was in the "th grade and the second as a high school sophomore. In the other years Wayland did not field a baseball team.

He entered Wayland high school in the fall of '52 and lost no time in becoming a basketball hero. However, in the fall of 1951, while an eighth grader, an event took place that greatly influenced his future. Coleman tried out for the cage team, but wasn't too impressive and the coach cut him from the squad. Determination to make the basketball team became his by-word as he practiced almost every day for many hours on a dirt court located in Wayland's city square. Hours upon hours of practice on this dirt court, coupled with immeasurable desire and determination, paid off once he entered the ninth grade the following year, then the 14-year-old lad launched his brilliant career.

While attending Wayland high, he earned seven varsity letters—four basketball, two baseball and one football. He always practiced basketball around the calendar, and was team captain for three years. His many honors included all-district, four years; all-regional, two years; all-state, two years; and All-American high school player in 1956. His basketball jersey No. 66 was permanently retired at Wayland's '56 athletic banquet. John Campbell, nicknamed "Copper John," was Kelly's high school coach.

He decided to enroll at Eastern Kentucky State at Richmond (Campbell's alma mater and near Wayland) in September, 1956. At least 75 or more colleges tried to recruit the Wayland star. But his stay at Eastern was short-lived. Coleman quitting about four weeks after he enrolled and moving to Middletown, Ohio, to take a job with Armo Steel Corporation. While working at Armo, he played in an independent league. After ten months in Ohio he and his wife and baby came back to Wayland.

Wesleyan coach Wilson learned of Coleman's return and hit the trail for Wayland. It proved to be the best trip in Wilson's coaching career because Coleman accepted an athletic scholarship to Kentucky Wesleyan. The two factors that sold Coleman on coming to Wesleyan were: (1) the opportunity to play varsity ball and not having to spend a year gaining experience on the freshman team, and (2) Wesleyan's major-college schedule that included such opponents as the University of Louisville, University of Miami, and seven games against Ohio Valley Conference members. (Of these seven OVC games last season, Wesleyan won five, including a split in the two-game series with conference champion Tennessee Tech. This year Middle Tennessee State is the only OVC member to reschedule Wesleyan.)

Jumping back to his high school days again, Gordon Moore, insurance agent in Prestonsburg, Ky., and correspondent for The Louisville Courier-Journal, once described Kelly as follows:

"Kelly Coleman is the biggest discovery in the mountains of Kentucky since coal was found 80 years ago. He is not only a prolific scorer but a terrific rebounder, dribbler, and all around team-man. He never shoots when another teammate is open, and he has the uncanny knack of following his own and teammates' shots for two-pointers. Once the ball is on the offensive board, he keeps it in the air, never once bringing it down as most high school players do, until it goes in."

Dick Anderson, sports editor of The Evansville (Ind.) Press, covered a thrilling 89-88 win by Evansville College over KWC last February at Evansville. Writing a column about the game two days later, Anderson applauded Coleman's outstanding performance and stated: "This writer may have seen a better player in the past, but can't remember who or when."

And there was a time back in 1956 when Adolph Rupp, Kentucky's successful coach, went to watch Coleman play a game at Pikeville, Ky. Soon afterwards Billy Thompson, assistant sports editor of The Lexington Herald-Leader, published an interview with Rupp in which the famed Baron said:

"The greatest high school player who ever lived . . . A combination of Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and all the other great stars who have played at Kentucky . . . He is fantastic. You have to see this boy to believe what he can do—and I still am not sure I believe it."

Kelly, as mentioned earlier, isn't a braggart; nor is he afflicted with any false modesty. He is well-liked by teammates, fellow classmates, and the college's faculty. An intelligent and average student, he admits he could probably make higher grades if he devoted more free time to his studies.

So goes the biography of the state's greatest high school player, a budding star in today's college basketball ranks, and certainly a good candidate for 1958-59 All-America basketball consideration.

General Buckner Was Last Editor Of Old Courier

By CHARLES F. HINDS
Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

Besides being a successful land speculator in Chicago, a lieutenant general in the Confederate army and governor of Kentucky, General Simon Bolivar Buckner, Sr., also tried his hand at journalism. After some two years of experience in New Orleans, he assumed the editorial chair of the Louisville Courier, the first day of June 1868.

The Courier in that year enjoyed the largest circulation of any Louisville paper, even higher than George Prentice's Louisville Journal, which had been an esteemed member of the Kentucky press for almost four decades.

The first daily newspaper in the West was the Louisville Advertiser in 1826, founded by its editor, Shadrach Penn, eight years earlier. As a Democratic organ, the Advertiser was a strong influence on the Kentucky vote which went for Andrew Jackson in the 1828 presidential election.

In 1830 the Whigs, who had been overmatched by the Democratic press, decided to establish a newspaper of their own under a young and relatively untried editor, George D. Prentice. Prentice soon showed that he was capable of taking the measure of Shadrach Penn.

A favored anecdote describes the discomfiture of Penn the day he held up the press for a New Orleans murder story handed to him by a winded messenger, who represented himself as being from the packet, "Waucousta," five days and 78 hours out of New Orleans. A little later the "taken" editor of the Advertiser learned that not only had the year-old newspaper been dispatched by Prentice, but that the "Waucousta" was a leaky old craft, incapable of leaving its moorage.

The Louisville Courier was founded by W. H. Haldeman in 1844. Haldeman was an excellent manager, but lacked the necessary political color characteristic of nineteenth-century journalists. On November 8, 1868, the two papers, edited by Buckner and Prentice, joined with a third, the Democrat to form, under the dynamic leadership of Henry Watterson, the Louisville Courier-Journal.

General Buckner went on from the Courier to be elected Governor of Kentucky in 1887 by a comfortable majority. He spent his last years at "Glen Lily," his home in Hart county, but following his death in 1914 was reinterred in Frankfort cemetery.

Aged Wayland Resident Is Victim At McDowell; Burial, Martin Cemetery

John Haywood, 61, of Wayland, a retired miner, died at 3:15 a.m. Thursday of last week at the McDowell Memorial hospital of a heart attack. He was a son of the late Austin and Roseanna Terry Haywood. His wife, Maggie Roach Haywood, survives.

Surviving sons and daughters are Sherill Haywood, San Francisco, Calif., Arthur Haywood, Prestonsburg, Elmer Haywood, Air Force, Alaska, Hargis Haywood, Paducah, Ky., Harry Haywood, Byesville, Ohio, Earl Haywood, of Wayland, Mrs. Pauline Gearheart, Mesa, Ariz., Mrs. Edith Wyatt, of Wayland, Mrs. Christina Stone, Morehead, and Mrs. Alma Jean Hughes, of Wayland. Brothers and sisters surviving are Arthur Haywood, of Wayland, Chad Haywood, Detroit, Mrs. Helen Magard, Leburn, Ky., Mrs. Ruth Hicks, of Lacey, and Mrs. Ethel Perkins of Wayland.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 2:30 p.m., from the Wayland Methodist Church, the Rev. Harry Fegan officiating. Burial was made in the Martin cemetery under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

Latex Paint Invented By Crippled Chemist; Was Victim of Polio

For a decorating revolution which has touched seven out of ten homes, Americans can thank a polio-crippled chemist who wouldn't stop experimenting, even in an iron lung.

So reports the December Reader's Digest, in an article saluting the late Dr. Laurence Ryden, of Midland, Mich., father of latex, or rubber base, paint. This paint, thinned with water and easy to apply, is the main reason why amateurs now do 71 per cent of all indoor painting in homes, according to the Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

Although he began experiments with latex in 1937, shortly after leaving the University of Illinois, Dr. Ryden did not think of using it as a paint base until 1945, when he heard of German experiments along that line. His first mixtures were unsuccessful. They smelled bad, had to be mixed constantly during application, and did not go on smoothly. Four more years of experiments passed without apparent improvement. Paint experts were sure he was wasting his time.

In 1949, polio struck. But he refused to give up. Supine in an iron lung, he dictated experiments for his staff to work out, one after another. Finally, he hit on the idea of mixing in some detergent: one end of the detergent molecule would hook up with a microscopic particle of the latex, and the other end with a molecule of water. Then the water, with its natural tendency to form a film, would pull the latex particles out of their lump into a smooth coat.

Generally unknown ten years ago, latex paints now are produced in a 60-million-gallon-a-year torrent. They go on easily, have low toxicity, no bad smell, and dry to touch in 30 minutes. Most go on directly over new plaster or cement, or over flat paints. They are color fast, don't blister or peel, wash well.

But their developer was never to see the full triumph of his invention. In 1954, he died of an infection growing out of his battle with polio.

The article "Paint It Yourself—Thanks to Dr. Ryden," by Wilbur Cross, is condensed from Think.

G. I. Insurance Adds New Type Disability Pay

A new federal law permits many veterans with national service life insurance to attach a new type disability rider to their policies, the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board announce.

Board director R. R. Thomas said such veterans must be in good health and under 60. A limited number of veterans who have purchased this type of insurance since April, 1953, are not eligible, Thomas added.

He said the new type rider will cost a small additional premium and will provide an income of $10 a month for each $1,000 face amount of the policy. Previous maximum was $5 a month, Thomas said.

Payments under the rider begin after total disability has existed for six consecutive months and continue for the duration of the disability. Premium payments, both on the policy and the disability rider, may also be waived for any period of total disability longer than six months.

No payment may be made for disabilities incurred after age 60 and no premium charge is made for the income benefit after that date.

Information about this total disability income provision is available at any Veterans Administration office or from any representative of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board.

EARLY PRESTONSBURG FOOTBALL TEAM

One predecessor team to the Prestonsburg Blackcats was organized about four decades ago and played the Big Sandy circuit with as much enthusiasm as any today.

The First National Bank salutes the Blackcats and all the early players who brought courage and stamina to a rugged game.

With One Setting, William Turner's Electric Heat Pump Provides Year-Around, Trouble-Free Cooling And Heating

The Turners load their dishwasher with soiled dishes — electricity does the washing and drying quickly and efficiently.

Mrs. Turner thinks an electric range is a necessity for working couples. "I couldn't ask for better cooking and baking results," she says.

This is just one of many ways the Turners are

LIVING BETTER ELECTRICALLY

Mr. Turner is an electronics specialist. Mrs. Turner is a schoolteacher. Though they both work, they spend lots of free time together — thanks to their all-electric home.

Of their electric heat pump, Mr. Turner says: "Winter and summer, it can't be beat. You couldn't ask for better heating and air-conditioning, and we pay less for both heating and cooling than one of our neighbors pays for heat alone. In any season, hot or cold, we know the house will always be comfortable when we come home from work."

"The cleanliness of our heat pump is all but unbelievable," Mrs. Turner says. "Imagine living in the heart of the coal fields and having a house that's free of dust and dirt! Why, I haven't had to clean our drapes since we moved in three years ago. Everything about electric living is wonderful — the cooking speed and control of my range, the time-saving convenience of our dishwasher, freezer and other appliances."

Schwaebisch, Gmuend, Germany —Army Pfc. Roy L. McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney McCoy, 320 S. Third Street, Warfield, Ky., recently participated in a field training exercise with the 35th Artillery Group in Germany.

McCoy, a field wireman in the group's Headquarters Battery in Schwabach Gmuend, entered the Army in 1956 and arrived in Europe in June 1957.

MARTIN

The Martin high school senior class gave a rock-'n-roll sock hop in the Martin gym Saturday night with WPRT's Estill Lee Carter, disc jockey and master of ceremonies. A large crowd of youths attended from various high schools.

Mr. Carter had a Mexican Hat Dance contest with different groups competing for prizes. The following group was awarded each a top hit record for winning the dance: Marsha Babb, Hamlet Lovely, Bobby Barnett, Marena Grigsby, Mary Bell Dinigus, Charlene Davis, Lynn Grigsby.

Charlene Davis and Delmer Hall, of Martin high school, were each awarded a hit record for being the best couple on the floor in the jitterbug contest.

Chaperones were coach Denzil Halbert, Mrs. Iola Crisp, Mrs. Bill Martin, Georgia S. Davis, Mrs. Olga F. Brackett and others.

The Martin Purple Flash have enjoyed a victorious season so far in basketball, losing no games and winning over Auxier Hornets, Maytown Wildcats, Salsersville, Betsy Layne Bobcats and McDowell Daredevils.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Martin Methodist Church is sponsoring its annual Christmas bazaar on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5 and 6, in the furniture department of the Jewel Hardware. Many handmade items, ideal Christmas gifts, will be on display. An added feature for Saturday will be a sale of baked goods, doughnuts and candies.

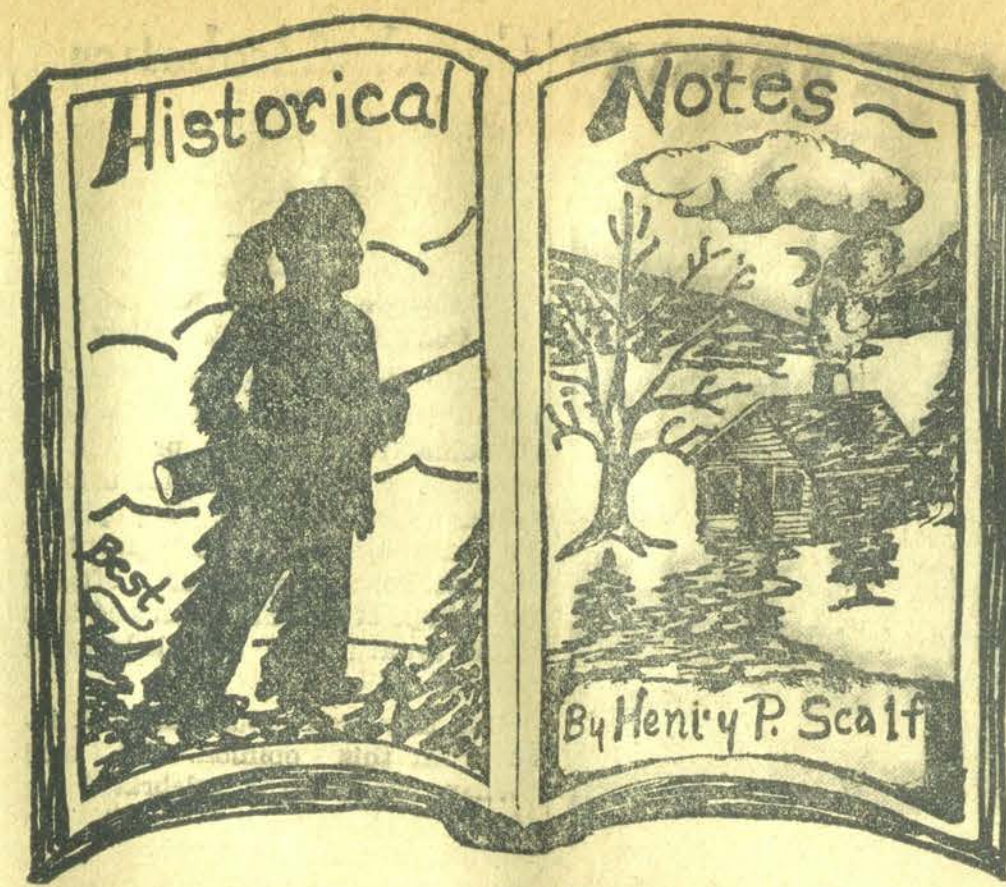

Mrs. Albert Conner, Mrs. Charley Windson, Jr., and Mrs. Bernard Nicholas, all of Milton, W. Va., spent Veteran's Day visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Allen.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful upon the death of our beloved husband and father, John Hunt. We especially want to thank Rev. Ira McMillen, Rev. Henry Crider and Rev. Isaac Stratton for the comfort we received from their prayers and services, those who sent food and flowers, the Carter and Callihan Funeral Home for their efficient services, the choir and anyone who assisted in any way.

The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce reports that the 1950 census ranks Kentucky 19th in the nation's population with a total of 2,944,806. The 1955 estimated population for Kentucky was 2,995,000.

Maynard and Stepp Families

R. B. Maynard, Heenon, Ky., has compiled a genealogy of the Maynard family, he writes. It is now being printed at Pikeville.

Mr. Maynard is a son of Heenon and Alice Ann Lowe Maynard. His mother was a daughter of Aaron and Mary Jane Robinson Lowe. She was a daughter of Dr. Samuel and Cynthia Elkins Robinson who lie buried in the old Apple Orchard cemetery on Brushy Fork of Johns Creek, Pike county.

"My grandfather Maynard was Jarad, a son of James Maynard. He was also a brother to Stephen Maynard who married Polly Stepp in 1837," Maynard writes. "My great-grandfather, Christopher Columbus Maynard came from North Carolina and settled on Brushy Creek . . .

"The Pike County Census of 1850 shows that my great-grandfather, James Maynard, was 77 years of age at the time, making his birth date at 1773. My father, Heenon, told me that his grandfather James told him that he, James, was 12 years old when they came to Brushy Creek. This would have made the date of the settlement here in 1785." (Much too early, probably, HPS).

Mr. Maynard goes on to tell how his father, Heenon, kept a chronology of the time and period. He thinks the chronology proves the Brushy Creek settlement by Christopher Maynard and a man the name of Clay, was made in 1785. However, other genealogists of the Maynard family do not think Christopher (Kit) Maynard settled on Brushy Creek until much later than 1785. The Heenon correspondent says that Christopher Maynard was in the Revolutionary War.

The writer also thinks that Polly Stepp, who married Stephen Maynard, was a granddaughter of Moses Stepp, Tug River pioneer, who served in the Revolution from South Carolina. Stepp was captured by the Indians and nailed to a tree through the ears to torture him but escaped by suddenly breaking away. He carried the scars in his ears to his grave. He lies buried on Wolf Creek, Laura postoffice, Martin county, and the stone shows he was born in 1735; died Dec. 13, 1855. This would make him at death 120 years old. We are indebted to the Courier-Journal, for an article on Moses Stepp in 1938. The Courier-Journal concluded he was the oldest man ever to live in Kentucky.

THE JIM GANNON FORK

There is a small tributary of Caney Creek on Johns Creek called the Jim Gannon Fork. No one lives on it and, to the knowledge of this columnist, no one ever did. It is a deep canyon-like valley, completely forested and it was there the human torso was found two years ago and whom remains unidentified today.

Jim Gannon is a Herald-Dispatch writer, his stories appearing in the morning Huntington paper regularly. But there is no connection between the Jim Gannon Fork and Jim Gannon, the journalist.

Two weeks ago this columnist wrote Gannon, twitted him a bit about the valley named for him or a relative, and with tongue in cheek, inquired if some old Gannon, to his knowledge, lived there.

All of which turns out to be no story. But Gannon's reply is a proper reply to an impertinent and facetious inquiry.

"I am pleased to hear that I have a namesake in these parts even if it is only a two-mile-long stream which probably dries up in the summer time," Gannon replied.

"I must confess, though, that I have no responsibility for it. Nor, I'm afraid, does my family since I am one generation removed from immigration. My roots are Irish but my ancestors left that unfortunate country sometime after the snakes, settling mostly in northern England and Scotland. My father, his brother and their sister all left England together for the U. S. and settled on the Pacific Coast. I was born in Oakland, Calif., and brought up in Spokane, Wash. On my mother's

Mrs. Carl Stewart gave a short devotional on "Thanksgiving." An interesting program on color in home furnishings was led by Mrs. Spillman, with every one discussing individual problems. A wallpaper book of samples was shown. The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. T. Spillman in December, and each member will make something to be used as exchange gifts. Lunch was served to Mesdames Harry Sherman, Carl Stewart, John Spradlin, Tramble Turner J. T. Spillman, Sewell Sherman and Mrs. Howard.

Ginger Spillman and Phyllis Burnett spent the week-end with their parents. They are students at Morehead State College.

Mrs. Gypsy Vinson is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Clifford Savage, of Okona, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Spillman were in Pikeville Tuesday, visiting R. F. Vinson, who is in a hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller, Jr., and sons, of Ashland, spent the week-end with his father, J. E. Miller, and family.

Mrs. O. O. Haney, of Hodgenville, has been visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. V. Wicker.

Mrs. James Muncy has returned from Our Lady of the Way hospital at Martin. She is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, of Burnside, have been visiting relatives here and elsewhere in the county for the past week.

ONLY YOUR LOCAL STORES GIVE INSTANT DELIVERY AND SERVICE . . .

HERE'S HOW YOU BENEFIT BY DOING ALL YOUR SHOPPING LOCALLY

When you buy from your hometown merchants you get:

1. HONEST VALUES
2. AMPLE SELECTION
3. INSTANT DELIVERY, SERVICE AND ADJUSTMENT
4. MORE PERSONAL AND FRIENDLIER TREATMENT
5. SAVING OF TIME
6. RELIEF FROM COSTLY TRAVEL
7. FREEDOM FROM ROAD HAZARDS
8. ELIMINATION OF COSTLY PARKING PROBLEMS
9. AVOIDANCE OF JOSTLING CROWDS
10. THE CHANCE TO BUILD A BETTER COMMUNITY BY PUTTING YOUR DOLLARS TO WORK HERE

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

Examination for insurance agent's licenses in the State of Kentucky was taken by 3,218 persons from July 1, 1957 to July 1, 1958, according to C. P. Thurman, Commissioner of Insurance.

Old newspaper clippings verify the fact that John Fitch lived and worked on his steamboat model in Bardonia, which gives Kentucky no small claim on the state's being the home of the steamboat.

Water Commission Starts 15-Month State Program

Frankfort, Nov. 17 (Spl.) — The Kentucky Water Resources Study Commission has started a 15-month program to find, draft, edit and publish the problems, solutions and legislation needed for future state water requirements.

The commission was created by the 1958 Legislature to study and attain the maximum beneficial use of the state water resources. Chairman of the commission is Robert Lee Bolin, director, Division of Flood Control and Water Usage. Other members are: Jewell Graham, Lewisburg, member of Farm Bureau Agriculture committee; E. F. Wells, Ashland, president, Ashland Oil Co.; Russell Marshall, Frankfort's city manager; and J. M. Smith, Franklin, past president of Kentucky Sportsmen Club.

Bolin said plans for the program were formulated at a recent meeting here with four committees named. They are, fact-finding, drafting, legal problems and educational committees.

The fact-finding committee, Bolin continued, will have eight sub-committees namely, water uses and needs, land use and needs, water quality, surface water, climate, ground water, population, and existing program groups.

Members will be named for the sub-committees within the next 10 days, Bolin said.

A meeting of the fact-finding committee has been set for Monday, Dec. 1, the chairman added, with a joint meeting planned for the morning session and the sub-committee groups to meet separately in the afternoon.

Surrounding states have already surveyed their water needs, Bolin said, "and with the influx of new manufacturing industry, new agricultural methods, we will have to determine the policy most suited to our state."

Barrington T. Hill, Wadesboro, N. C., attorney, will be the featured speaker at a district meet of the Woodmen of the World at the Eagles Club here, Friday evening at 6:30. Hill was recently named a director of the fraternal organization, it was announced by Ernest Turner, of Drift, representative of the Woodmen.

A chicken supper will precede the address, Turner said. Hill is an outstanding speaker and his address will be one of the highlights of periodic meetings of the fraternal society being held in this section.

Born in Wadesboro, in 1900, Hill received his elementary and high school education in this town. A graduate of the University of North Carolina Law School, he was admitted to the bar in 1922, and has engaged in general practice since that time. He is a member of the North Carolina Bar Association.

Active in fraternal and civic circles in Wadesboro for many years, he is a past president of the Wadesboro Civitan Club; Past Chancellor, Knights of Pythias; Past Master, Kilwinning Masonic Lodge No. 64; former Masonic District No. 26 Deputy Grand Master; and present Deputy Grand Master of District No. 27. Also past president of Anson County Recreation Commission; and since 1942 has been serving as Appeals Officer of the U. S. Selective Service System.

Public offices held by Hill include Mayor of Wadesboro, 1947-1952; clerk of Superior Court, 1942-1946; judge, Anson County Criminal Court, 1931-1942; and again since 1954 serving as judge of the Criminal Court. At present is a director in the Bank of Wadesboro and the Bank of Anson.

He has been a member of the Woodmen of the World's governing body, the Sovereign Camp, since 1931, including a term as the chairman of its important Legislative committee.

Cured Alcoholics Assists Others Fight Disease

By J. COLLIS RINGO, Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

At the Southern Regional Conference on Alcoholism at Birmingham, Alabama, recently, the problem of the chronic jail offender for drunkenness was discussed. An opinion was expressed that this segment of the alcoholic population offered small hope of rehabilitation and that effort toward them was likely to be useless.

One lady from Louisiana took issue with this opinion. She said "When my husband celebrated his 10th anniversary of sobriety, his friends gave him a surprise party. It was patterned after the television program, 'This Is Your Life.' Individuals he had helped during these 10 years, in their efforts to conquer alcoholism, came in numbers. They brought gifts and expressions of gratitude and esteem. The last gift was from the chief of police of Shreveport. This gift was the complete dossier of the man's police record. The chief closed out the past, wiped his record clean. This file contained a record of 198 separate arrests for drunkenness, with penalties of fines and jail sentences."

This heartwarming story, completely factual, is evidence that alcoholics can be helped and are worth helping. From a chronic jail offender this man has come to a position of integrity and influence in his community. He has helped scores of alcoholics on the way to recovery. This man was sick. He is now well. Alcoholism is an illness that can be controlled. One of the aims of the Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism is to convince the citizens of the Commonwealth that no alcoholic is beyond hope. The lives of those people incapacitated by this insidious illness can be salvaged.

Many people do not believe alcoholism is an illness. They persist in the belief that morality or will power is lacking. Modern science and research have convinced the American Medical Association that alcoholics are sick people, that alcoholism is a treatable illness. Acceptance of this truth by everybody, particularly the alcoholic himself, will make for a more understanding atmosphere.

Help for the alcoholic is available in Kentucky. If you have an alcoholic problem, write the Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism, Annex, State Office Building, Frankfort.

Four big reasons why FORD IS OUTSELLING ALL OTHER '59 CARS

AT THE BRUSSELS WORLD'S FAIR, the '59 Fords were awarded the Gold Medal for handsome new styling elegance by the Comité Français de l'Élégance.

ANYONE CAN FIT IN A FORD: Our cars are built for people—full-size people who want space to stretch out. And all passengers ride in deep-cushion comfort.

YOU'LL BE THANKFUL EVERY TANKFUL if you buy the new Ford, for you'll save up to a dollar a tankful with new engines that run superbly on regular gas.

THE FAMOUS FORD LOW PRICES have already made a hit, because only in Fords will you find value and beauty coming together at down-to-earth prices!

The world's best-selling car is the car with Thunderbird elegance

In the greatest styling decision of the year, the American public has already shown a clear preference for the new Fords. Ford sales are way ahead of all competition. Why? One reason is the classic simplicity of their Thunderbird-inspired design—clean, crisp lines that are pure automobile! And Fords are built for people—to sit in, to drive, to ride in—with comfort.

The car in hottest demand across the land has greater roominess and comfort

Thousands of customers have bought the new Ford over all competition for another compelling reason—it's a true six-passenger car. (The only four-passenger car we recommend is the Thunderbird!) All six Ford passengers get plenty of every kind of room—from leg and head to elbow and hip. Rear seat passengers don't feel like they're riding with their feet in a bucket!

The No. 1 car in sales saves money on gas, on oil, on maintenance bills

A new Ford will save you up to 5¢ a gallon on gas. That's because both standard engines—Six or Thunderbird V-8—thrive on regular gas. And Ford saves on oil, too, with a Full-Flow Oil Filter as standard equipment. Drive 4000 miles between oil changes! And you can forget about waxing your car. Ford's Diamond Lustre Finish stays gleaming bright without waxing—ever!

The most popular American car is priced as much as $102.75 lower

Ford costs you less right down the line than the competition. Compare price tags and you'll see that the manufacturer's suggested retail price of a Ford, equipped with radio, heater and automatic transmission, is as much as $102.75 less than the major competition! And on an air-conditioned car, you can save up to $219.85. So compare and save on a 1959 Ford!

Northern Wild Turkey Saved From Extinction By Applied Psychology

With wire-fenced "harems" and some applied psychology, conservationists have saved from extinction the northern wild turkey, centerpiece of the first Thanksgiving tables.

The lordly birds had all but disappeared by the 1920's, when this campaign started in Pennsylvania. John Stuart Martin writes in the December Reader's Digest, More recently it has spread through New York, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and other states.

The Pennsylvania game managers first trapped some of the few live gobblers surviving south and west of the Susquehanna River, and tried breeding them to some half-wild hens on game farms. It didn't work. The wild birds moped in captivity, uninterested in feeding or breeding.

The game managers quickly discovered that the tom turkey is an egotistical Romeo. It is not for him to go running among the trees hunting a mate. He expects the hen to come to him, meek and adoring, while he struts, chest out and wings dragging, and imperiously GOBBLE-OBLE-OBLES.

Next, the conservationists built wire-fence "harems" near known strutting grounds. The fences were eight feet high, topped with electrified strings to repel predators. They had inward-opening trapdoors about four feet off the ground: low enough to present no obstacle to visiting toms, but high enough so the hens, whose wings had been clipped, could not get out.

At first, there was much gobbling at the fences, and consternation among the toms, who couldn't understand females coming just so far and no farther. Then, one pioneer went through a trapdoor, and the stampede was on.

Pennsylvania's present wild turkey population is estimated at 60,000. The release of 6,000 young hens and toms annually gives hunters a crop of about 20,000 plump birds, ready for the table. And neighboring states are adopting the Pennsylvania techniques. New York trades its St. Lawrence partridge for Pennsylvania turkey chicks and advice. Other states have made similar arrangements.

The article, "The Wild Turkey Comes Back," is condensed from The Rotarian.
