

THURSDAY

This Town— That World

When did the sun ever shine more brightly on that day you couldn't go fishing?

After hearing so much about assessments, Junior wanted to know if politics is a singular, plural or collective noun.

REQUIESCAT

The other day I did something that to me in an earlier day would have been little less than murder. I killed my "brain-child."

I found a yellowed sheaf of papers on a table at home, and it developed that this was one of my old ventures in story-writing and that somebody had unearthed out of the past, I ventured to see what I had written.

And as I read I wondered if, indeed, this was mine. There was something vaguely familiar about the plot, such as it was, but surely some other wrote that stilted dialogue. And those blessed clichés—surely those weren't mine.

Have you ever written something you thought was downright good at the time, then gone back, years later, to read it again after the hot flush of creation has died and been forgotten? If you have, you can understand how it was that as I read my ears began to warm up and how I almost visibly flinched at certain words. It was when I reached one particularly romantic scene and when the adjectives literally began to roll that the urge to "kill" seized me.

This was no brain-child of mine! This was the misbegotten progeny of some juvenile mind I had never known. Glancing furtively about to make certain I was not being watched, I tore the "masterpiece" apart, ripped it, stem and stern, fore and aft, dropped the "remains" in a waste basket, and hurried to the office—

HIGH SCHOOLS GET RATINGS

Auxier Rated Emergency, Martin Receives Warning From Education Board

Auxier high school was again designed as an emergency institution for the next school year by the State Board of Education Tuesday. Forty-three other small schools also were placed on the same basis.

In making the ratings this year the board used a new rating of BE. Formerly the rating B was used. The new rating is the lowest at which they can remain open under the law.

A warning was also issued to Martin high school and nine others that if deficiencies were not corrected within a reasonable length of time their ratings would be dropped from Class A to Class B. It was not learned what the board considered as shortcomings at the Martin school.

Schools, others than Auxier high school in this section, given the new BE rating by the board, are Cordia, and Knott county high schools; Stinnett Settlement school in Leslie county; Van Lear high school, Johnson county; Our Lady of the Mountains, of Paintsville.

Wolfe county high school, which received a warning two years ago, was reduced from Class A to Class B by the recent action of the board.

THREE FLOYD ROAD SURFACE JOBS PLANNED

Oates Says Lake Road In Line Soon for Bids; Federal Aid Promised

Of 415 miles of road improvements on which the State Department of Highways will open bids April 3, approximately 13 miles are on Floyd county projects, it was announced in Frankfort this week.

At the same time H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., of Prestonsburg, said he had received from Ward J. Oates, commissioner of highways, a letter stating that the road skirting Dewey Lake from the Stratton Branch recreation area to the dam is "now in line for immediate action."

Oates said that, "Barring unforeseen difficulties with the U. S. Engineers, we hope to advertise before May 26," referring to the lake road.

The three Floyd roads advertised for bids at the April 3 letting are all bituminous surfacing jobs — the Prestonsburg-David road from end of blacktop at David to the Magoffin county line, 1.28 miles; the Banner-Prater Creek-Harold road from US 23 at Banner to a point near the northwest end of the bridge across Mud Creek, 7.42 miles; the Maytown-Garrett road from Ky. 80 at Garrett, 4.89 miles.

More than five miles of the new Prestonsburg - Paintsville road are also being advertised for letting. This sector will be extended from Paintsville to a point near Hager Hill at the river.

Of the road from Stratton Branch toward the dam Commissioner Oates wrote:

"As you probably know, we have had considerable difficulty getting this route approved as part of the federal aid secondary road system. Approval has now been received, the project is being programmed with the Bureau. The survey will be rushed, and as soon as plans are finished it will be advertised."

Highland Avenue Home Is Destroyed By Blaze; Defective Wiring, Cause

The Highland avenue residence owned by Mrs. Maude Fitzpatrick and occupied by Mrs. Minnie Minix and family was gutted by flames at 8:30 p.m., Saturday.

The fire is believed to have been caused by defective wiring. The Minix family saved only a few items of clothing and had no insurance. The building itself is believed to be a total loss, although the walls remain standing.

The residence is the former home of the late H. J. Music. Spread of the flames through the structure was so rapid that members of the family and neighbors were unable to save any household belongings except a few dresses Mrs. Minix snatched from a door-hanger as she ran outside.

CLUB CHAINS IMPLEMENTED

With Pigs, Baby Chicks By Roebuck Foundation; 4-H Members Approved

The February meeting of the Floyd County 4-H Club Council named ten club members to receive allotments of poultry in the Sears, Roebuck Foundation poultry project for this year. Each member will receive 100 baby chicks.

The club boys and girls will carry the poultry project as regular routine work and return 12 pullets to be shown and sold at auction next fall at the county fair. The money received from the sales will be used to sponsor the project next year. Awards are to be made by the Foundation, it was said by Robert M. Jones, county agent.

Club members selected to receive the chicks were James Stone, of Dwale, Billy Campbell, of Bull Creek, June Martin, of Garrett, Lon Boyd, of Harold, Alice Clark, of Wheelwright, Vance Akers, of Betsy Layne, Harold Crider, of Lancer, Scotty Lafferty, of Bonanza, Eulis Gene Waddle of Wheelwright, and Clinton Kimbler, of Harold.

The pig chain, operated by club members under the supervision of the Council, now has eight 4-H'ers engaged in raising pure bred hogs. It is conducted by practically the same method as the poultry project.

Court Reverses Award To Mrs. Dorothy Burke In Death of Husband

The $5,000 judgment awarded by a Floyd circuit court jury to Mrs. Dorothy Burke in the death of her husband, was reversed last week by the Court of Appeals.

The Commonwealth appealed from the judgment in favor of Mrs. Burke, administratrix of the estate of her husband, Harry Burke, Prestonsburg attorney, who allegedly was killed by falling from a state-maintained bridge near Bonanza.

The suit was authorized by a resolution adopted by the 1956 General Assembly.

But appellate court noted it had decided such a resolution was void, adding: "Therefore, this suit was unauthorized and the judgment cannot stand."

P'burg Hi Girls Win Cheerleaders' Trophy

Wanted In California, Authorities Say; Crace Is Charged With Arson

Ronald P. Martin, who was arrested Saturday by Police Chief Herschell Hitchcock of Wheelwright and brought to jail here by State Trooper Tom Wright, awaits arrival here of California authorities.

Martin, it was said, is wanted in California on cold check charges. He has said he will waive extradition. When first jailed he said he had passed more than $1,000 worth of fraudulent checks but he later told jail attendants he did not know how many checks he cashed.

Bill Ed Crace was booked at the county jail Sunday on charges of arson, resisting arrest and liquor possession. Policeman Wesley Howard, who with Chief of Police Epp Laferty jailed Crace, said the prisoner was first lodged in the city jail and that he attempted to set fire to it.

The same officers jailed Orville Harris last Friday on a warrant charging him with uttering a false statement. The charge is an aftermath of Harris' recent trial here on a liquor charge. Officers contend that when first arrested Harris signed an affidavit stating the whiskey found in his possession was that of Sam Adams and that he was employed to sell it. Later, he testified the liquor was the property of another whom he identified as Jim Miller.

Diamond Hall was booked at the jail Saturday by the arresting officer, Ira Mullins, on charges of drunk driving and resisting arrest.

FOREST FIRES ON INCREASE

For Season, Music Says; Park Area Campers Told Of Danger To Seedlings

The economic doldrums of this section is reflecting itself in the number of forest fires, according to Bill Music, Prestonsburg district forester.

"We have had 28 woodland blazes in this county to date this year," Music said, "and many of these fires are attributable to returned factory workers who are clearing land and burning brush. They have not had the benefit of the fire prevention program and are causing us a lot of trouble."

The number of fires, greater than expected, is attributed to a few other causes, Music said. The weather has offered better brush-burning conditions and high winds have contributed to difficulty of controlling fires.

The Division of Forestry recently requested campers in Jenny Wiley State Park to exercise caution with fires and particularly to see that all fires are completely out before leaving the site. No debris burning at all will be allowed in the area, it was said.

The foresters call attention to the thousands of tree seedlings planted in the park area and a forest fire would destroy them.

The Division issued this week specific instructions on debris burning and called attention to the laws governing it.

The statement follows: "With the proper care forest fires need not be started. Brush burners should observe the 4:30 p.m. law which carries a fine for those who burn before 4:30 p.m. within 300 feet of the woods, or litter that will lead to the woods. This law is in effect during the months of March, April and May and again in October, November and December.

"This law is designed to prevent burning during the heat of the day when the winds are usually high and there is more likelihood of controlling fires."

TROOPS ASKED AS PIKE MINE TROUBLE TOLD

Gov. Chandler Refuses To Send Guard Pending Further Investigation

Governor Chandler refused Wednesday to send National Guard troops to Pike county in response to a coal operator's call for protection against violence.

The Governor told Robert Holcomb, president of the Pike County Coal Operators Association, that his charges of violence were not supported by state police reports. He did, however, promise to investigate further.

In Harlan, Pike, Perry, Letcher and Bell counties where many coal operators have refused to sign the new wage contract, an estimated 7,000 workers have been idled by the shutdown of mines.

The Harlan situation is one of uneasy quiet, but on Rockhouse Creek, Letcher county, Tuesday one man suffered a broken neck and three others were less seriously injured when a crowd of 1,500 strikers reportedly swarmed the tippie of the Gem-Elkhorn Coal Company. Roland P. Price, president of the company, alleged the men started throwing his workers off the tippie. One man was found in a field, dazed by stones with which he had been hit, it was claimed.

State police have been on duty in five counties — Pike, Perry, Bell, Harlan, and Letcher—since operators refused to sign a new United Mine Workers contract. It raises the daily wage from $22.25 to $24.25.

Holcomb telegraphed Governor Chandler: "Roving mobs of U.M.W. thugs have taken over Pike County. Private property has been forcibly taken and many lives endangered."

Warning that the situation could result in bloodshed, Holcomb—See Story No. 10, Page 6

ASK AREA AID BILL CHANGES

Reed, Whisman Present Suggested Amendments To Development Plans

Amendments to expand provisions of the Area Development Bill, sponsored by Congressman Brent Spence of Kentucky, were advocated in Washington this week by B. F. Reed, chairman, and John D. Whisman, executive director of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission.

Whisman presented statements, for Reed and for himself, to the House Committee on Banking and Currency, endorsing the proposed legislation but offering amendments which would provide special federal assistance to basic problems of "underdeveloped regions."

Last week, the two urged the same amendments to identical legislation pending before the Senate, sponsored by Senators Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) and John Sherman Cooper (R., Ky.). The legislation is aimed at helping local communities and areas suffering from persistent unemployment, by providing federal loans and grants to assist in local development of industrial and public facilities related to the improvement of employment opportunities in the area.

The two Kentuckians, representing a special state agency working to improve the economy of chronically depressed Eastern Kentucky, insist that assistance to local industrial development is much needed—See Story No. 8, Page 5

WATERFIELD IN SPEECH DRAWS BIG GATHERING

Harry Lee Waterfield, candidate for Governor, talks with Claude P. Stephens, Prestonsburg attorney, who introduced him at a rally at the courthouse here Tuesday evening.

Harry Lee Waterfield, administration-sponsored candidate for Governor, invaded the home county of his opponent, Bert T. Combs, to speak at the courthouse here Tuesday evening. An overflow crowd of supporters from several counties heard the Lieutenant-Governor defend his own record and jibe at that of his opponent.

He said he had been in the government of Kentucky in different capacities longer than any others with the exception of two men and that if there had been anything derogatory to him in the record his opponents, among whom were the Courier-Journal editors, would have found it.

"I'm at a disadvantage with my opponent," he said. "He doesn't have a record. I know as much about the government of Kentucky as any man. Governor Chandler didn't ask me to run, neither did I ask him. I have had a life-long ambition to be Governor. I said I was going to run and Chandler said he was for me. I'm glad he is."

Waterfield said he had been coming to Prestonsburg since 1943 in behalf of himself and others. He voiced appreciation of the crowd, variously estimated from 1,000 to 1,200 persons out to hear him.

The Lieutenant-Governor charged that former United States Senator Earle Clements was sponsoring Bert Combs' candidacy, that Clements removed Wilson Wyatt from the race and put him in the second spot. But he added there should be more issues in the campaign than personalities and emotions.

"As long as people vote personalities and emotions we will always be at the bottom of the list in Kentucky," he said, but added facetiously, "I said that if I had been running as long as my opponents had and had made such

"If each family in Floyd county would contribute only $1, our Red Cross goal for 1959 would easily be reached," Miss Ella Noel White, executive secretary of Floyd Red Cross Chapter, said this week as the 1959 fund drive got under way.

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill is county chairman of the drive. Community chairmen have been named over the county, and the fund-raising campaign was ready for its full effort, it was said.

In the 1957 flood, Miss White pointed out, 1,025 Floyd families were given Red Cross assistance amounting to $525,000. But of all those families only three during the present drive have contributed anything to the Red Cross.

"One of these contributors" the executive secretary said, "is a widow. She gave a dollar, and from her it was truly appreciated. When she gave her contribution she remarked to me, 'The Red Cross helped me when I couldn't help myself.'"

Funds subscribed by Floyd countians will enable the Red Cross to carry on in its time-honored fashion its work of mercy to sufferers from disaster, wherever disaster strikes, whether it be in Eastern Kentucky or in some far-distant city.

IN APPRECIATION

I am indebted to many people, but I fear I may never know all their names and thus may not have the opportunity to thank all who during my recent illness gave the blood that I so desperately needed, rendered other services in my behalf and for my recovery, and prayed for my recovery. So I ask that each of you accept this attempt to convey to you my heartfelt thanks. God bless you, every one.

JUDGE STUMBO PROCLAIMS NATIONAL WILDLIFE WEEK

The wise use of our natural resources — our soils, waters, forests, grasslands, mineral and wildlife — is essential to the welfare of the American people, our community, state and nation. Proper care and protection for these resources can not be provided without the support of an informed public.

The week of March 15 through 21 will be observed across the nation as National Wildlife Week. This is a time set aside for people to give special attention to the pressing problems of providing proper care for the lands and waters upon which all of us must depend. The 1959 Wildlife Week campaign focuses our attention on the need for teaching young people how they can meet the responsibilities of this stewardship.

We recognize that concern for our lands — like our concern for the welfare of other people — must be partially instilled in our young people through their training in school. It is appropriate, therefore, that 1959 Wildlife Week should demonstrate the importance of making conservation — as it affects our day to day living and the present and future welfare of our nation — a part of the learning experience of our young people.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BAPTIST EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

Editor, The Times:

I am writing concerning the coming Simultaneous Evangelistic Campaign now in progress in the states where Southern Baptist Churches are located. This special effort to win the lost to Christ began the first Sunday in January of this year when the "Televangelism Series, 'This Is Answer'" began appearing on TV. This series is being shown in over 200 stations across the country, including one Louisville station and one Lexington station. It is not being shown from the Huntington area, however. The actual services are generally planned so that churches in the western part of the state will have meetings during March and those in the eastern part of the states will have meetings during April. A large majority of our 30,000 Southern Baptist Churches are cooperating in this effort. Although our churches will not all be able to have the meetings at just the exact same weeks, this effort still is to be seen as a Simultaneous Crusade.

found to be from controlled burning. Some are from sources other than forest fires but all have to be checked. An experienced towerman can usually tell the smoke made by a forest fire by its shape, color and action. On a clear day smoke can be seen at a distance of 20 air miles from the towers.

In the six counties of the Eastern District, as in the various districts throughout the state, the procedure is generally the same. Each fire poses its own problem but the main problem after one is started is to detect and suppress it. Many counties will have as many as eight fires in one day. This compares favorably with the 15 to 20 fires per day that were considered normal 10 years ago.

Each fire day sees activity in direct relation to the heat of the sun, the humidity of the air and the velocity of the wind. The hours from one to four are important. As the sun drops toward the West, conditions become more favorable. Fewer and fewer "smokes" are reported. All fires will have been controlled or at least have a suppression crew nearby. All going fires must be controlled by 10 o'clock the following morning when possible.

Only after the last fire has been controlled can the crew report "10-7; everything 4-1." This tells the dispatcher that no more fires are burning and that the fighters are going off duty for rest.

So it is not gobbledy-gook coming out of the short wave radio in the Division of Forestry office. It is a scientific approach to forest fire detection and planned suppression.

ed and can be effective in many areas, but that "before Eastern Kentucky communities can realistically benefit from help related directly to industrialization, federal and state resources must be effectively combined to relieve certain basic regional economic problems."

"In Eastern Kentucky," Whisman pointed out, "these key problems involve a need for accelerated improvement of a system of arterial roadways, and water control dams to provide both flood control and dependable industrial water supply. These are not the only problems, but with these basic problems solved, our plans for a program of local community and area self-help could work. Our amendments ask for designation of underdeveloped regions and for special technical assistance and a supplementary grant-in-aid fund to expand and accelerate essential economic facilities in such regions."

comb said three loading ramps and tipples in Pike county were attacked Wednesday by strikers. Holcomb said one of the tipples involved was his own Dixie Mining Company. "Workmen were trapped by pickets who threatened to throw my employees off the tippie. They finally were rescued by local police."

Commenting on the incident, Pikeville police said, "There was a little trouble but no one was hurt."

Pikeville Mayor Bill Pauley said he doubted National Guard aid was needed. "My nine-man police force has the situation under control."

"If such a time arises that we would need extra help, I would ask for it."

State police reported 80 to 90 automobiles carrying pickets from Letcher county drove to Elkhorn City, into Pike county, circled Pikeville, and then went through downtown Pikeville during the afternoon before returning to Whitesburg.

The motorcade was orderly and showed traffic courtesy on the highway and in the city, State police said.

U. M. W. spokesmen were unavailable for comment on the disturbances. The U. M. W. office at Pikeville told newsmen:

"We don't know where the officials are. We don't know when they'll be back."

Chandler's action drew a quick retort from Roland P. Price, Lexington, owner of the Letcher county tippie where trouble occurred earlier in the week.

Price, in a statement, recounted the disturbance at the Gem-Elkhorn Coal Company at Rockhouse Creek. He said, in part:

"We have asked the Governor for help, and he gave us the stupid answer that we don't need same. I wish to make a statement for every Kentucky citizen to know that at my tippie on March 17 that three State patrolmen saw trucks dumped and efforts made to turn some over the hill, tires slashed on trucks, including a new truck."

Price said he and Leon Adams, weighman for the company, were in a scale house when the crowd tried to turn the building over. A group of men came to the tippie Wednesday and tore off a screen and broke a window. Price said.

The coal operator charged that Chandler's refusal to send troops was prompted by a fear of losing some votes in the May 26 Democratic primary election. Chandler is supporting Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield, a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

Price said he would seek temporary injunctions against the U. M. W. in Letcher county.

case for he does nothing but criticize, denounce and object," he said.

He discussed problems peculiar to Eastern Kentucky, noted that the administration had plans for Jenny Wiley State Park in the matter of roads and cottages. "I'm no demagogue," he said, "and I don't have all the answers to your problems but I'll work on them."

He concluded with an appeal for support, based upon his record and program.

"All is ask is that you join me. We'll set our hands and hearts to the task ahead. I'll get the Democratic party back together again for I'm mad at nobody. With the help of God and the Kentucky people I'll furnish the leadership for the most progressive program ever started in Kentucky."

The candidate was introduced by Former United States District Attorney Claude P. Stephens. Alex L. Davidson presided at the meeting and he introduced several Waterfield workers and campaign officials, among them being Mrs. Eloise Allen, James Cavin, of David, Jerry Fonce Howell and others.

Jack Hill, PHS Senior Receives Commendation Of National Organization

Jack Hill, a senior at Prestonsburg high school, was recently surprised at a school chapel program by the announcement of an honor accorded him by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. A letter of commendation was read by the principal, which said in part:

"You have demonstrated your superior ability and we take pride in recommending you to any college or university you may wish to attend. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation congratulates you on your superior performance on the test."

Out of 478,991 students who took the National Merit qualifying test in April, 1958, young Hill was one of 10,000 who received letters of commendation, and was one of the top 20,000. His scores included the following percentiles: English usage, 95; math usage, 91; social studies reading, 98; natural science reading, 92; word usage, 98.

NO MICE, NO CRIME, NO NOTHING

Communist China may go to pot but it isn't going to the dogs. The Chink version of the Russkys considers dogs and cats "enemies of the people," and most of these family pets have been—as they say, liquidated. The commissars claim cats are no longer needed because there are no mice and dogs are unnecessary because there is no crime. The real reason for getting rid of the pets, however, is, they eat.

How do you like your coffee? That question has been banded about over many the breakfast table and has at times contributed somewhat to the art of marital repartee. This was Talleyrand's recipe for the brew—"black as the devil, hot as hell, pure as an angel, sweet as love."

HELP WANTED

We've exhausted our resources, even some of our friends, and now we call on the public for help. A word appearing in a little feature yarn sent us by the Kentucky Bar Association about Judge E. C. O'Rear has caused all the trouble.

The yarn has to do with the occasion when the Kentuckian sat in distinguished company at a New York City luncheon whereat each guest introduced himself by name, place of practice and education.

That was the function at which, after O'Rear had heard others roll off names such as Harvard, Oxford, and so on, he was inspired when his turn came to announce that he was an alumnus of the University of Camargo.

But back to the story at hand and one sentence. It reads:

"The august names of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Oxford, etc. rolled off the tongues of one attorney after another as Judge O'Rear sat back and mirrored." "Mirrored"—that's the puzzler. Closest we can come to it, and we had to do some looking to do that, is the Latin word, "mirari," which means "to wonder at."

Any suggestions? Go ahead and tell us we're ignorant—we don't mind. We'll just mirate.

"Don't you remember a long black fellow who rode on horseback with you from Tremont to Springfield nearly ten years ago. . . Well, I am that same one fellow yet." — Abraham Lincoln.

CANCER TOLL HEAVY HERE

Next to Heart Disease In County, Survey Shows; Medical Aid Is Advanced

(Special to The Times)
NEW YORK, March 18—Cancer in its various shapes and forms, continues to be a major scourge in Floyd county, despite the advances made by medical science.

Next to heart disease, it is the greatest threat to life today. Special attention is drawn to the cancer problem now because of the sidelining of Secretary of State Dulles and because of the approach of April, denoted "Cancer Control Month" by the President.

Floyd county, for its size, has been experiencing a somewhat lower rate of mortality from the disease than have most areas of the United States.

The latest annual figures, released recently by the U. S. Public Health Service for the year ending January 1, 1957, show a total of 33 deaths of local residents from cancer and other malignant growths. Deaths locally of non-residents are not included.

This represented a rate of 73 deaths per 100,000 population, which was lower than the corresponding mortality in the nation, 147 per 100,000.

It also was below the rate in the East-South-Central States which was 117 per 100,000.

Although cancer takes the lives of nearly 250,000 Americans a year at the present time and a total of 700,000 are currently under treatment, some progress has been made in controlling the disease.

One type that is reported on the rise, however, is lung cancer, which accounts for 10.0 percent of all cancer deaths. In Floyd county 18.1 percent of cancer deaths resulted from lung cancer, figures for the year show.

Certain malignancies can be arrested and some can be cured by surgery or radiation, states the Public Health Service. About 800,000 people in the United States today have been saved by such treatment, it notes.

New methods, especially chemotherapy, holds forth great promise. The scientific breakthrough may come at any time, from any one of the thousands of research projects now under way.

Meanwhile, the cost of cancer, in dollars as well as in lives, is staggering. The PHS states that hospital bill alone run to $300 million.

Senior Woman's Club Plans Spiritual Retreat At Health Center Here

The Prestonsburg Senior Woman's Club, under the guidance of its Spiritual Values committee, is having a "Spiritual Retreat" for the people of the community, it was noted this week. Regardless of church affiliation, all persons are welcome and urged to attend at the basement of the Health Center building, Wednesday, March 25, between the hours of 11:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

"Come and stay a few minutes or longer for quiet prayer and meditation," it was said this week by Mrs. R. V. May, president. "This will be a time of quietness, no talking or visiting with each other. Mimeographed copies of appropriate prayers and meditations will be provided for any one who wants them."

Martin Homemakers Meet

Mrs. Emmitt Tackett was hostess to the Homemakers Club, March 17, at 1 p. m. Mrs. J. D. Adams presided at the meeting. Mrs. Tackett conducted the devotional. The secretary read the minutes and called the roll with ten members present.

After a short business session, Mrs. C. H. Martin gave the monthly lesson on room accessories. Mrs. C. R. Marshall gave the monthly report on vegetables, flowers, shrubs, fertilizing and spraying. An interesting discussion followed these two lessons.

Mrs. Tackett served a dessert course to the following members: Mesdames J. D. Adams, Sherrill Frazier, C. H. Martin, C. R. Marshall, David Marris, Miles May, Chris Straub, E. M. Hayes and Glenn Spradin, who was welcomed as a new member of the club.

The next meeting will be April 21 at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John P. Sammons at Martin. The lesson will be on dressmaking. Members are to bring material, patterns, shears and portable sewing machines.

WAYLAND GIRL IS RECIPIENT OF STUDY AND TRAVEL GRANT

Miss Carolyn Jean Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Price, of Wayland, and a senior at Berea College, has received a scholarship to study and travel in Europe this summer.

The scholarship covers all expenses for study at a six-week University of Paris summer school this to be followed by a 17-day tour of France and Switzerland.

Miss Price will travel by plane. She will leave the U. S. the first week in July and return in September. At the University of Paris she will do graduate study in French literature, phonetics and conversation.

Rally Day Scheduled By Floyd 4-H Group; Information Is Issued

4-H Rally Day in this county has been scheduled for April 25 in the high school building here. It was announced recently. Registration will be at 9 a. m. and the program will start at 9:30, it was said.

Many 4-H Clubs in the county will hold community rallies preceding the county-wide meeting. These local rallies will be held in late March or early April and are designed to prepare entrants for the full-dress county event.

Demonstrations and speeches scheduled for the club boys and girls are listed as follows: Boys—General and Individual demonstrations that will include "Tag on the Bag," and the Kentucky seed laws; electricity; team; and speech. Girls—Dairy foods, bread making, general, electricity, and speeches.

A county champion will be selected in each of these categories in both the junior and senior divisions. Rings will be set up for entries of the club members in the food, woodwork and electrical projects.

Members taking a sewing project will have their garments judged and take part in the county style revue, it was noted. A county style revue winner will be selected to represent this county in the state style revue.

Coal Company Employees Assist Emergency Squad; Fund Need Pointed Out

The fund-raising drive of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad received an impetus this week when $931.50 was received from the employees of Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright. The money will go into the building fund, according to Graham Burchett, captain of the squad.

Burchett and associates point out the need for a building to house the headquarters of the squad. "Any contributions, large or small, will be welcomed," he said.

The rescue organization assisted in directing traffic at the district and regional tournaments here last week and much favorable comment was made on the job the members did. W. R. Callihan, of the squad, who was directing after-the-game traffic on U. S. 23 was seriously injured Wednesday evening. He is in a Huntington hospital.

To keep eggs at their best in the refrigerator, keep them cool, covered and with small end down.

The scholarship was awarded her by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward Seabury, Chicago, Ill. Mr. Seabury is a Berea College trustee.

The Seaburys met the Floyd girl while visiting Berea College last fall. They became interested in her and offered her the scholarship to continue her study in France.

A 1955 graduate of Wayland high school, Miss Price plans to receive her B. A. degree in French from Berea College in June. She was president of her high school junior and senior classes, valedictorian of her class, and active in the band.

In college she has been active in student government and a member of the French Club for four years, the Spanish Club for two years, the student dramatics group for two years, the Cosmopolitan Club for one year, and the Young Democrats Club for three years.

When she returns from Europe in September, she will assume a teaching position at Margaretta high school, Castalia, Ohio.

EASTER SEAL FUNDS HELPED 68 FLOYD TOTS LAST YEAR

Easter Seal funds helped provide medical care, clinics, examinations or treatment for 68 children in Floyd county last year, according to George E. Evans, Jr., Floyd Easter Seal chairman.

These services were provided through the cooperative program of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission and the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children—the Easter Seal Society.

Easter Seal funds help pay a portion of the expenses of clinics held by the Crippled Children Commission, the chairman pointed out.

During 1958 three crippled children from Floyd county were patients at Cardinal Hill Convalescent hospital, an Easter Seal facility in Lexington.

The Kentucky Society also furnishes transportation to and from clinics and hospitals, purchases wheel chairs, braces and other equipment and medicines.

Other services include a hearing and speech program and recreation activities for the physically handicapped.

On a statewide basis, the Society gave direct aid to 3,877 physically handicapped children last year. In cooperation with other agencies, indirect services reached an additional 3,375 persons.

Funds to finance the Society's programs are raised during the annual Easter Seal appeal, which opened March 9 and continues through March 29.

Election Of Combs-Wyatt Ticket Important To Eastern Kentucky: Charles Clark Endorses Team

After the May primary almost two years ago I stated in the Floyd County Times that I, God being willing, would be a candidate for either State Representative or State Senator at this May primary. Many of my relatives and friends have called, written or spoken to me to ask why I have not announced my candidacy. I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to those who have shown an interest and I know I owe them an explanation.

The explanation is really very simple. My first concern is the interest of Eastern Kentucky and I still am willing to serve in any capacity which means the best for our section and our children.

After much serious thought I came to the conclusion that Eastern Kentucky would be better served by having a Governor for the first time in the state's history and very little else in politics mattered. I feel that the cause of our section of Kentucky would be best served if I gave up any notion of running and devoted my time to helping in the Bert Combs-Wilson Wyatt campaign, even if I could help with only a few votes.

This Governor's race means a great deal to all of Kentucky and especially to all of us hill people and indeed the outcome may have an effect on the next two or three generations who will live here. I would like to urge very strongly that all of my friends and relatives unite in the Combs cause because that cause is really the cause of Eastern Kentucky and all who will live here for many years.

P'burg, Wheelwright Students To Compete In Speech Festival

Pikeville, Ky., Mar. 16 (Spl.) — Some 20 Prestonsburg and Wheelwright high school students entered in the Pikeville regional speech festival, to open March 26 at Pikeville College.

They will compete for both school and individual honors, as those entered in the meet's 12 events vie for the coveted "superior" ratings which will admit them to the state speech festival next month. The school delegation which piles up the largest number of competitive points, based on entries and ratings, receives each year a plaque inscribed with the school name.

Eleven debate teams will start the action with a series of elimination debates, which will continue until there are only two survivors. Dr. A. A. Page, college president and festival manager, said today. The two teams will represent the Pikeville region in the Kentucky state speech tournament, to be held as part of the state speech festival April 13-15 at Lexington.

The first-place winner of the 19 students entered in public speaking also will be advanced to the state festival, along with all rated superior and perhaps some receiving "excellent" ratings in other events, Dr. Page said. In events where there are no "superiors" the judges may qualify not more than two "excellent" winners for state action.

First-round debates are scheduled to begin in the Pikeville College Administration building at 7 p.m. (EST) Thursday. Friday and Saturday sessions will be held at the Pikeville College Training School, on College street in Pikeville.

Judges for the Pikeville festival are to be five members of the University of Kentucky staff, named by the University, it was said.

Among the 302 entries from 19 high schools are seven from Prestonsburg, pupils of Mrs. Shirley Withrow, and 14 from Wheelwright, whose speech teacher is Letha C. Wilkinson.

Mrs. Nora Ward, 73, Dies At Paintsville Hospital Was Ill Only Nine Weeks

Mrs. Nora Ward, 73, Meta, died at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 7 in the Paintsville General Hospital after an illness lasting nine weeks.

Born at Thomas, Ky., she was a daughter of J. M. and Bell Taylor. She was the wife of E. B. Ward. She was a member of the United Baptist Church.

Survivors are her husband, a son Kelsie Ward, of Meta; a daughter, Oglia Crider, of Lancer; a brother, R. B. Taylor, of Wisconsin, and three sisters, Mrs. Ben Scott, of Heenon; Mrs. Esta Scott, Ashland, and Mrs. Tilda Vest, Kingsport, Tenn.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Tuesday of last week at the United Baptist Church at Meta with the Rev. Ed May officiating. Burial was in the family cemetery at Meta.

State Government Has Many Lesser Known Duties

Frankfort, March 16—What authority is responsible for caring for Daniel Boone's grave at Frankfort? For payment of pensions to widows of Confederate veterans? For maintaining navigation lights on bridges?

These are a few of the diverse duties of Kentucky's state government.

Much heralded are the agencies for the big state functions—highways, education, finance, welfare—but many agencies of the Commonwealth carry on a wide variety of important, but smaller activities that generally are little known.

Here are several:
Checking merchants' scales for correct weights; inspection of industrial plants for hazards to workers; overseeing distribution of federal surplus food to the needy; keeping records of mines and of oil and gas wells and safeguarding miners' lives; regulation of utility rates and terms under which public tractors and railroads operate; overseeing conduct of insurance companies and banks; regulating alcoholic beverage establishments, and auditing the books of county and state offices.

There are agencies which:
Keep a regulatory eye on qualifications and conduct of members of various professions; provide contacts between federal and local agencies; perform research and draft bills for the Legislature; act as custodian for many public and business records; pay for damage to livestock by stray dogs, and supply paper for election ballots.

Stephens Says Nelsons Not in Liquor Group

To The Floyd County Times:

Please print the following in explanation of article appearing in your last issue concerning the taxicab matter:

It was intended in the preparation of the pleading to exempt Sam Nelson and his cabs from the general statement that all of the cab owners and/or drivers had either been convicted or had cases against them for possessing intoxicating liquors. I have never stated, neither has any client I represent, nor have I ever heard it said by anybody that Sam Nelson or any of his drivers were ever charged with violation of any liquor or any other law.

I want this to appear in your paper, because of the mistake made in the complaint filed by me to try to get the cab matter handled in a different way by the city council.

AN ABANDONED SCHOOLHOUSE OF 60 YEARS AGO

Early schoolhouses of the Big Sandy region were almost invariably built of hewn popular logs. Since the construction of the buildings was usually a community project the structure was used by both church and school.

The schoolhouse shown here was found abandoned on Shelby Creek, Pike county, in the 1890's by John C. C. Mayo, of Paintsville, while he and a group of Northern capitalists were inspecting the huge coal reserves of the valley. Mayo is shown standing with back to the building without coat.

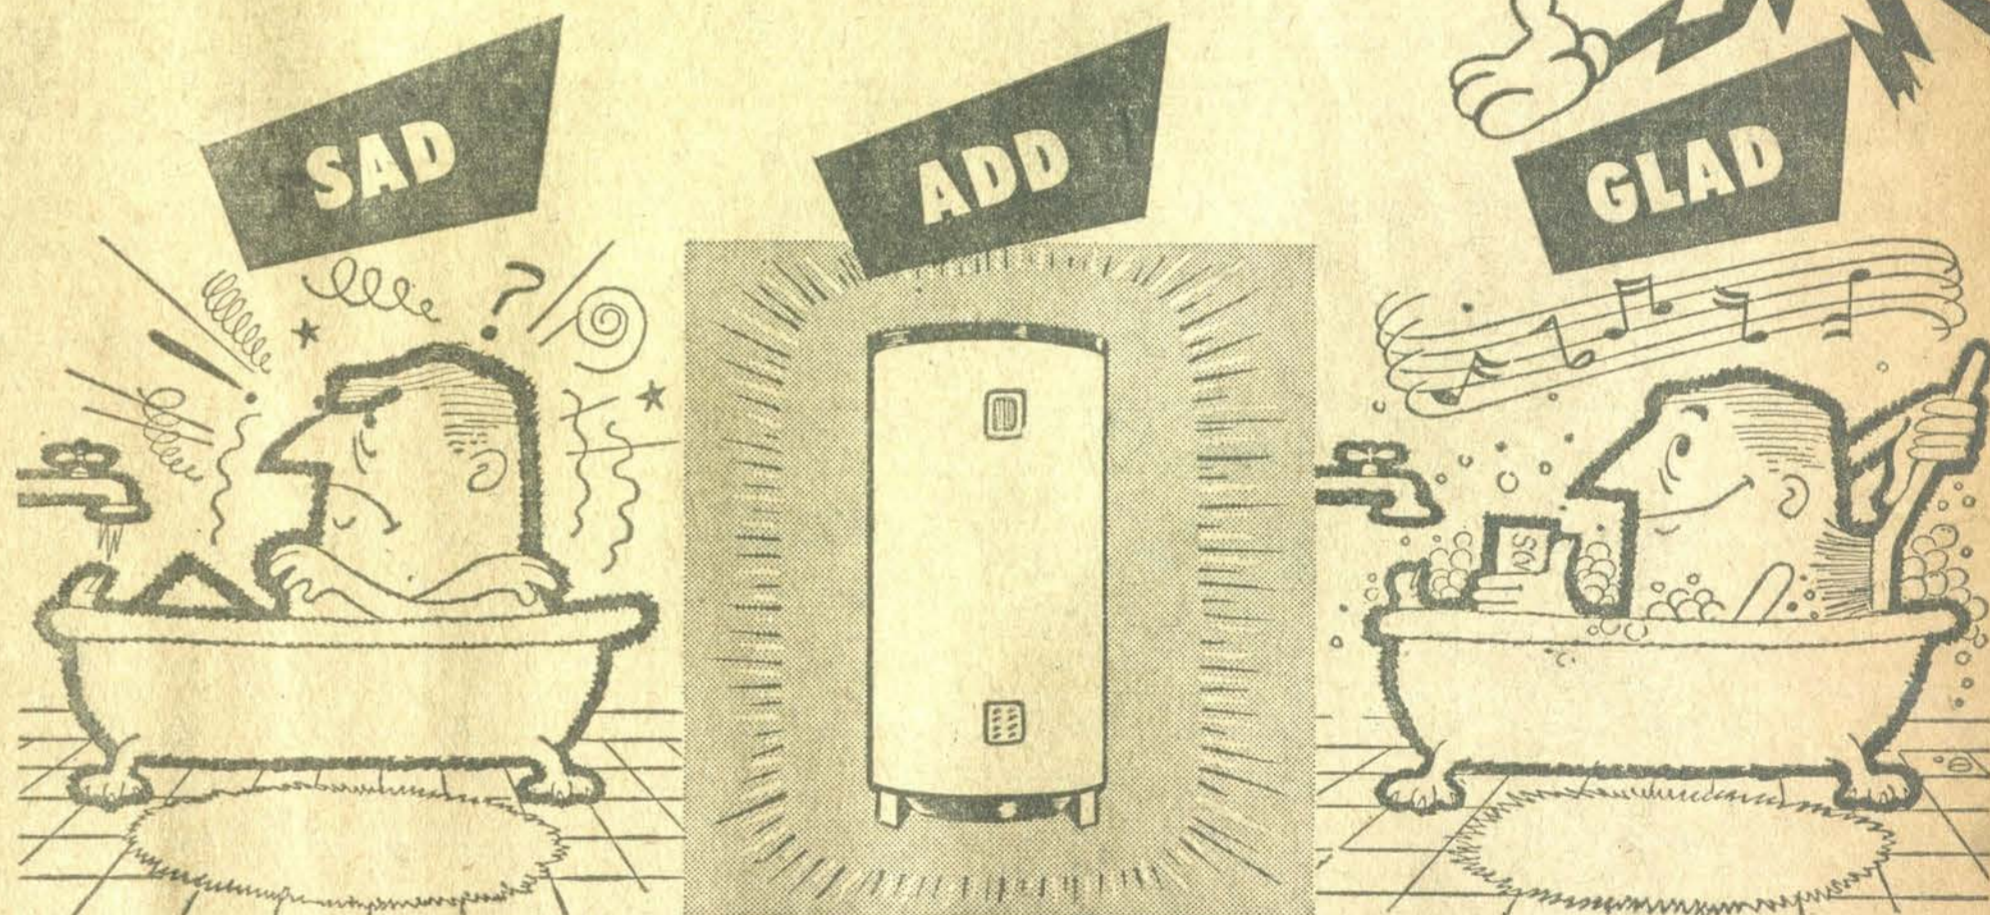

The industrialization of the Big Sandy valley fattered by Mayo resulted in the elimination of many undesirable school structures as the economy was enriched with greater revenue for public use. Mayo, himself, envisioned the progress of education and promoted schools and colleges.

The First National Bank salutes the memory of the valley's pioneer industrialist.

MEADE NAMED
Foster "Sid" Meade, former grade school principal and now superintendent of South Portsmouth city schools, will be one of the five officials working in the state high school basketball tournament in Lexington this week. This will be the first state tournament for the popular "whistle-tooter", who has been officiating for many years in the Eastern Kentucky area. George Conley, Ashland, will be officiating his sixth consecutive tournament and Ralph Mussman, Newport, is back for the fifth time in the past six years. James Baker, Fairview city school superintendent, who did an excellent job officiating the Floyd county district, is in his second state tournament.

Total receipts may hit an all-time high for the 15th regional tournament, nearing the $8,200 mark. Last year's affair in Prestonsburg drew about $7,700.

The 13 players selected to the all-regional team were the most representative of any team ever picked and all named richly deserved the honor. College cage coaches were continuing their battle for next season's players with another invasion of the Eastern Kentucky area during the week. Walter Hambrick, head coach at the University of South Carolina, said he had to wait two hours in line to talk with two Oil Springs and Sandy Hook players. East Mississippi Junior College, University of Richmond, South-west Louisiana—all had representatives in the area this week.

One strong point in favor of Prestonsburg keeping the 15th regional tournament, other than having the biggest gym, was the fine work done by the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue squad in capably handling the traffic and parking problems of the huge throngs attending the four-day event. Fans found ample parking spots near the gym and never had to wait more than 10 to 12 minutes in leaving after the game.

Russell Williamson, president of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association, in presenting the championship trophy to victorious Pikeville Saturday night got in his annual quip to coach John Trivette, "I hope I have the pleasure of awarding you another championship trophy next Saturday night." Williamson, annually presents the trophies at the close of the state tourney in Lexington.

Emil Dixon, Pikeville's 6-7 senior center, was by far the leading scorer and rebounder in the regional event. He tallied 72 points in three games and grabbed more than 20 rebounds a game.

BEARS REACH SECOND ROUND IN NATIONAL TOURNAMENT

Pikeville, Ky., Mar. 16 (Spl.) — The Pikeville College Bears, in only their second season of four-year college conference basketball, went as far as the first round of their first national tournament before their 1958-59 cage season was stopped short last week.

Their string was snapped, 70-67, by another pack of Bears, from Conway (Ark.) State Teachers College, who came from behind in the last three minutes of a first-round game in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tourney at Kansas City.

Coach Bill Daniels' Bears, champions of the NAIA's 24th district, stayed alive for the national meet by topping last year's champs, the Georgetown College Tigers, 77-75, in a playoff game for the district title and for national action. They entered the playoff as regular-season champions of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference with a 10-2 loop record.

Donnis Butcher turned in a performance at Kansas City that looked like his early-season games, hitting from the field at a 50-per cent clip as he totaled 25 points for scoring honors in the affair. Butcher canned nine of 18 field shots and seven of eight free throws.

The two Bearpacks clawed away at each other from the opening toss, neither side enjoying a safe lead throughout. The Pikeville Bears led by as much as seven points before falling behind one point, 38-37, at halftime, but were unable to get more than three points ahead in the second stanza.

The winners couldn't take a lasting lead until three minutes before the end, when they pulled into their 70-67 winning margin.

In his last college game, Garrett Mullins, second-highest Pikeville scorer with 17 points, performed almost exactly according to the book. Mullins' score was just nine-tenths of a point above his average for the whole season, and his 15 rebounds were a slight improvement on his season average of 14.5 per game.

It was the last game also for Charlie Francis and John Waddell. Francis, in a starting role at guard, hit a flat spot and failed to score, and Waddell, used in reserve, notched only three points. Paul Setser, still suffering from the effects of a sprained ankle in the finals of the KIAC tournament, also went scoreless.

George Carroll, the team hero a week before, couldn't turn the

PIKEVILLE HIGH WINS REGIONAL NET TOURNNEY

By GORDON MOORE

The Pikeville Panthers, noted for their "all court press" will make their seventh trip under Coach John B. Trivette to the state high school basketball tournament and will feature a "new offense" when they meet Covington Grant at 9 o'clock this (Thursday) morning.

An offense of height, good outside shooting and rebound control, marks this season's unit that has rolled to 24 victories and eight defeats against many of the state's leading teams.

In his 15-year cage tenure at Pikeville, Coach Trivette has his tallest team with 6-7 senior center Emil Dixon, 6-4 junior forward Don Radloff and 6-0 junior forward Roger Boyd.

Pikeville made its first trip to the state tourney in 1949 and lost in the second round to St. Xavier, 60-48. The following year they lost another two-pointer to Paducah Tilghman, 61-59. In 1951 they conquered Bagdad in the first session but bowed to Clark County in the quarter-finals and a year later faltered in the second round. In 1954 Pikeville won the first game, then lost in the quarter-finals to eventual state champion Hazard.

IN 1957 in the Louisville tournament, Trivette's charges were eliminated in the semi-finals by champion Lafayette.

Pikeville, displaying determination and cool confidence, earned the right to represent the 15th region in the "Sweet Sixteen" by downing Meade Memorial, 72-65, in Prestonsburg Saturday night, after Meade had won a 76-48 mid-December victory.

The Panthers led throughout the game after piling up a 24-8 first period command. Although Meade pulled within four points on three occasions in the third period they couldn't cope with the rebounding of Dixon and Radloff who hit 23 and 21 points respectively.

The Pikeville team was hard-pressed to get by the first round when the Prestonsburg Black Cats jumped out in the first quarter of their Thursday night game with a five-point lead. Prestonsburg lost the game, however, in the next quarter when the Panthers outscored them, 15 to 5. Thereafter, the two teams played on even terms, but the damage already had been done, and the Pike countians were on their way, 59-53.

Thursday night definitely was not Floyd county's night in the regional and a crowd that jammed the big, new gymnasium here. For the Maytown Wildcats, runners-up to Prestonsburg in the district, bowed out to Virgie, 73-65. Maytown held a two-point edge at the half but faded in the last two quarters.

Center Emil Dixon is the tallest starter at 6-7 and is counted on for the majority of rebounds. He is a good shot inside and has averaged 28 points a game.

Senior guard Bill Booth is a 5-10 playmaker and outside, shooting specialist. He is second in scoring with 22-point per game worksheet.

Tradition holds that a French member of Gen. John Hunt Morgan's cavalry originated burgoon at a time when food was so scarce that all men but officers had to eat blackbirds. In spite of the sharpshooting of the two leaders, the entire squad connected on only 27 of 76 field attempts for an unhappy 35.5-per cent figure. Even so, the Danielsmen outthit the winners from the field 27-25, but converted only 19 free throws on their foes' 15 fouls, while the Arkansans were dropping in 20 charities on 24 Pikeville personals.

GOOD IDEA

After you've enjoyed the Stephen Foster pageant at My Old Kentucky Home this summer, it would be a good idea to drive from Bardstown over to Springfield for a visit to Lincoln Homestead State Park—this year being the 150th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth.

In the park, there's a replica of the cabin of the Great Emancipator's grandfather on the site where he lived in 1782 and the cabin in which lived Nancy Hanks during her courtship with the President's father.

You'll also find a nine-hole golf course, picnicking facilities and nearby living and eating facilities.

TIMETABLE

Here's a fishing timetable from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources:

Jigging, through April; wall-eye run, February and March; white bass run, April; crappie run, April or May, jump fishing, July and August; top casting months, April, May, October and November; bluegill months, May and June; muskie months, March, April, October and November.

NEW COLONELS

Gov. Albert B. Chandler conferred the rank upon the Georgetown College drama organization, the Maskrafters, which is presenting the play. It will be staged nightly this summer in Laurel Cove, Pine Mountain State Park, near Pineville.

THE BEST HOPE OF KENTUCKY

No man in Kentucky's modern history so richly deserves the confidence and respect of all the people of Kentucky as Harry Lee Waterfield for he has earned first place in the hearts, affections and admiration of thousands who have had opportunity to know him and to observe his performance of the widest range of duties ever to be assigned a Kentucky Lieutenant Governor.

Waterfield believes the State has the right to extract from the people only enough money, in taxes, to provide essential governmental services and that the best judgment of need is to be found close to the source of need.

The best hope of Kentucky and of all Kentuckians for progress, honesty in government, devotion to duty and the protection of their rights rests on the broad and stalwart shoulders of this Man of the People, who has come so far and labored so well in the cause of good government since his early manhood.

FLOWERS

The homes of our county can be even more attractive this summer with flower borders raised from your own early bedding plants, usually annuals, that are used for outdoor plantings in April and May and remain attractive until frost.

Let's consider a few of the advantages of raising your own plants and how these flowers can be used.

1. Early planting for vigorous colorful flowers.

2. Selective planting. Choose only the best of your stock for transplanting.

3. You can use these flowers effectively in porch and window boxes, combination pot, flower borders and for attractive cut flowers. It may be well to investigate whether bedding plants will fit into your home garden program.

Remember now is the time to start raising plants for beautiful flowers this summer.

STRAWBERRIES

Farmers planning to set plants this spring should start preparing their patch just as soon as the soil is dry enough.

Most patches will need two or three diskings to condition the soil and a good practice to follow is to broadcast your fertilizer and dane before the last diskings.

The chlordane or its equivalent will kill soil grubs and insects and prevent crop loss due to these pests. The usual application of chlordane runs about 20 pounds per acre.

The patch should be lined off and the rows marked out before the plants arrive.

The rows should be placed four feet apart to allow space for the runners to develop. Anyone interested in ordering plants through the Extension Office should do so right away.

Notice To Taxpayers

All persons who owe 1958 taxes to the City of Allen are hereby notified that if said taxes are unpaid after April 10, 1959 their property will be advertised and offered for sale to satisfy such delinquent taxes. Payments before April 10 will save additional expense.

Use of Competent Guide May Insure Successful Fishing Experience

A competent guide may mean a highly successful fishing trip when you've been skunked flat without one. Or, he may be a waste of your money. Or, regardless of the money side of it, you might be a lot happier without him. The matter is governed by many factors, the first of which is you, says Jason Lucas, Angeling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

But here is one very important reason why one who takes fishing rather seriously should get a guide. A novice at golf or boxing will pay a coach to help him get started properly, and an expert at either will often pay still more to someone who can improve his skill. There are many coaches of casting with fly and casting tackle, sometimes with spinning tackle.

But who ever heard of anybody's hiring a coach to teach him to fish? Still, doing just that could be invaluable to the comparative beginner, and there are few so adept that tips from a really good guide couldn't make them still more successful in their fishing.

If you hire a fishing coach, he should nearly always be a guide, not a casting instructor. Casting instructors in most instances are tournament or exhibition casters, and these are very often (not always, of course) poor anglers and may have fished little or even none at all.

We usually read that while casting distance is of little benefit in fishing—as a matter of fact, it generally results in fewer fish—development of accuracy is very important. The truth is that in at least 98 percent of the fishing done one needs only accuracy enough to hit a barn door most of the time at 30 feet or so, and great accuracy would not result in more fish.

Remember even the worst guide is likely to mean more fish for the average guest than he'd find by himself—because the average guest is fairly ignorant about fishing.

And if you're in the least sociable by nature—and most anglers are very much so—here's a final and important tip: Try to find a guide who's congenial, whom you'll like and who'll like you. Then, during those dull fishing streaks you're sure to find, you can enjoy being out there anyway.

An artist who painted Daniel Boone's picture said the old pioneer despised the traditional coonskin cap with bushy tail and did not wear this headgear.

why I'm proud my husband wants to be Governor of Kentucky

Naturally, I am proud of my husband, as you are of yours. I wish it were possible for me to bring him into every home in Kentucky and have you meet him personally and talk with him. But since that is not possible, let me tell you a few things about Harry Lee as I know him through the eyes and heart of a wife and a companion.

Oh, I know Harry Lee is not the perfect man. There are times when we may all wish for such a husband, though heaven help the woman who is married to a man who doesn't have a few faults. But Harry Lee is a good family man and a good provider. We have known lean years, but no matter what our fortunes have been, he has never compromised his integrity or self respect, nor lost his sense of humor.

I am proud of Harry Lee because he is a Kentuckian, as I am, too. We're both from old Kentucky families and have a keen feeling of loyalty about our State. There may have been a black sheep or two (what family doesn't have them!) but most of our folks have been good citizens and good neighbors—as farmers, businessmen, teachers and other professional people. And our three children—Harry Lee, Jr., Nancy and Rose Gayle—have been raised in the same tradition.

Both of us were brought up on farms in western Kentucky. I am proud of Harry Lee because he likes farm life, because he likes the soil and likes to use his hands to harvest God's plentiful gifts of earth. On our farm in Hickman County he has worked long hours in the fields and with the stock. You won't find a prouder farmer, particularly if you get him talking about his pure bred cattle.

I am proud of Harry Lee's success in the newspaper business, which he went into after graduating from college with the tremendous stake of $125, and that borrowed from a good friend.

I remember those early newspapering days quite well, seeing his hands and face so smudged with printer's ink that I wanted to take him by the ear to a tub of water and scrub him like a boy. But it was worth it. Harry Lee has prized no honor more than his election as president of the Kentucky Press Association in 1942.

I am proud of Harry Lee because he is what all of us Kentuckians call "home folks." I don't think he has ever met a stranger. He likes people and they like him. I have heard it said often by Kentucky folks that there are two things you ought to teach a boy. One is how to shoot a gun and the other is how to shake hands. Harry Lee knows how to do those things. He can use his hands, despite their size, to play the piano pretty well, too. But don't ask him to sing.

I am proud of Harry Lee's deep sense of devotion to public service. When he first spoke to me of his desire to serve in our State Legislature—that was way back while he was working his way through Murray State College—he said he knew it would be like taking a second full-time job, even though the Legislature meets only several months every two years. He likes to say that while the pay of a State Legislator is part-time, the person serving must devote full-time if he is to be a conscientious and intelligent representative of the people.

I am proud, too, of the fact that Harry Lee is active in our church and that he takes an active part in the affairs of the Masons, the Shriners and the Rotarians. It's a wonder how he finds time for all these activities, but he does.

Most of all, I am proud of Harry Lee for the many contributions he has made to Kentucky during his 20 years experience in the Government and as President of the Senate and as Lieutenant Governor. No one could have worked harder for greater educational opportunities for our youth, and for more benefits for the farmer and the laboring man. It is true, I believe, that only two living men have served longer in our State Legislature.

These are just a few of the things that make me proud that Harry Lee wants to be your Governor and continue to work for the things that are best for all of Kentucky. Of course I am a bit prejudiced. But I feel less so when I remember the thousands of letters we received urging my husband to seek the state's highest public office—and after meeting so many thousands of enthusiastic Kentuckians during the first few weeks of his campaign. All of this has been a wonderful, wonderful tribute to Harry Lee's many years of public service and both of us are deeply moved.

Sincerely, Laura Waterfield

P.S. Don't forget to register before March 27th so that you can vote in the Democratic Primary on May 26th. And may the best man win!

NOW THAT THE SHOE IS ON THE OTHER FOOT

Bert Combs said last week that if he is elected governor there will be no assessment of state employees for political purposes.

This is a rather moth-eaten and worn out campaign statement, but coming from Judge Combs the statement borders on the ridiculous. It was only three years ago that Combs' race was financed with assessments of state employee salaries. It was only three years ago that the Judge used state employee money without bruising his conscience.

Now three years later when the shoe is on the other foot; when the employee money is no longer available to him, he is conscience-stricken. He points his finger and cries, evil, evil, evil. And it's been three short years since he was guilty of the same practice.

Organized Labor Meets Problems Of Alcoholism

By J. COLLIS RINGO, Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

A study of motivation of the alcoholic for recovery, published in a recent issue of the Quarterly Journal of Alcohol Studies, emphasizes the point that to recover, the alcoholic's motivation to drink must be reversed and he must be motivated not to drink.

Organized labor recognizes this as a major problem within the rank and file of their membership, not as a matter of morality but of economic necessity. The set policy of one of the major unions is based on economics. Motivating through the local union is urged. The local union must pay the bill if the problem drinking member loses his job or gets laid off.

This particular union employs an educator, a field representative devoting full time to carrying this principle to the local unions. They well know that a fellow employee does not want to squeal on a friend. It must be clear to the union membership that this motivation is to the advantage of the employee, not just the company.

Job stewards and local presidents are being educated to the fact that supervisory personnel must be able to detect the early symptoms of problem drinking and must report the guilty individual to management.

In this particular field, there is probably a better spirit of co-operation than in any phase of labor-management relations. If necessary, it is recommended that the employee be sent to a psychologist on another reason, let the psychologist convince the man that drinking is the basic trouble. If hospitalization is required, the union pays the bill from welfare funds.

In this connection, a significant analysis of health and welfare expenditures was made. For one year the total cost of health and welfare services of this union for abstainers and normal drinker was $37,000. Cost of the same services was $108,000 for members with alcoholic involvements.

The early symptoms of alcoholic illness are as clearly defined as the symptoms of small pox. They are recognizable to a layman who understands them. Understanding the symptoms, motivating a problem drinker can be just as effective as a chest x-ray detecting tuberculosis in early stages.

For 4,000 years the alcoholic has been characterized as a moral derelict. Only since 1935 has any change in this thinking been observed. Alcoholism is a treatable illness which affects a small fraction of the total population. This is the true concept.

Bobby J. Meade stands for Bert Combs for Governor in repudiation of the Waterfield committee's statement in The Times that he was against the Floyd County man. Standing with Meade is his former teacher, Mrs. Roberta Fugate, of Wheelwright, who is co-chairman of Young Voters for Combs-Wyatt.

A Young Voter Stands for Truth

AND WITH

BERT COMBS

FOR GOVERNOR

This Is Another Example Of Chandlerism

In the 1955 campaign Chandler was elected through vicious accusations and a long trail of broken promises. His supporters think that his puppet Waterfield can be elected the same way.

In the March 12th issue of the Floyd County Times the Waterfield supporters published a letter from Bobby J. Meade claiming that in 1952 and 1953 Bert T. Combs was active as a lawyer in defending a compensation case. The fact is, that THIS IS A VICIOUS LIE, AND WORSE STILL, THE WATERFIELD PEOPLE KNOW IT IS A FALSEHOOD.

The truth is, as Chandlerites know, Bert T. Combs was a judge of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky during the entire years 1952 and 1953, and was not even practicing law at that time. It is no wonder that the people of Kentucky have lost all respect and confidence for Chandler, his puppet Waterfield and his henchmen.

In order that there can be no mistake, the following is a certificate made by the Clerk of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky showing that Bert T. Combs was a judge of the highest court of this state and that this Waterfield claim is just another vicious lie.

I, Doris Owens, the duly elected qualified and acting Clerk of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, do hereby certify that according to the records of my office the Honorable Bert T. Combs was the duly elected, qualified and acting Judge of this Court during the years 1952 and 1953.

(Signed) DORIS OWENS
Clerk, Court of Appeals of Kentucky

The voters are entitled to the truth. Last week ten persons had to issue a statement to this newspaper that, contrary to the Waterfield committee's advertisement, they were supporting Bert Combs.
