ME AND CAL

This week the editor of this newspaper has indited another editorial on unemployment and other aspects of the Eastern Kentucky situation.

Mulling such matters, one gets himself mentally into much the same condition of a pup chasing his tail.

So much of the comment we read and hear, including mine, has all the shocking originality of Calvin Coolidge's when he gave forth with this sage observation:

"When more and more people are thrown out of work, unemployment results."

MAJORITY OPINION

I've always been just a mite suspicious of those who say they can accurately judge character by handwriting.

ON DULLES

Well, we armchair diplomats who had the international situation all solved, months ago, will have to look for us a new whipping boy.

COLLEGE FUND DRIVE BEGINS

Reed, Music, Francis, Pace Helping Pikeville College in $1,000,000 Campaign

Floyd counties are figuring prominently in the million-dollar fund-raising drive officially launched this week by Pikeville College.

B. F. Reed, of Drift, is area chairman of the drive. Marvin Music, of Prestonsburg, is chairman of the Floyd county fund drive.

Mr. Music announced this week that a luncheon will be held at the Wise Restaurant here at 11:45 a. m., Monday, for all persons interested in support of the college.

Dr. A. A. Page, president of Pikeville College, was the principal speaker at the meeting here last Thursday of the Kiwanis Club, and he told of plans of the college to expand and better serve the area.

The drive began Tuesday in this immediate area. Later it will fan out to include the Presbyterian Synod of Kentucky and eventually the entire church.

Proceeds from the drive will go for buildings, additional library and dormitory space and furnishings for a $500,000 chapel, funds for which have already been raised.

TEACHERS IN MEET, HEAR COMBS, OTHERS

8 CANDIDATES STATE VIEWS ON EDUCATION

Waterfield Sends Wire; Teacher's Ass'n Elects Mrs. Best Second Term

The Floyd County Teachers Association held its second annual election of officers here Wednesday morning, and that afternoon it heard from candidates for state and district offices what teachers and the cause of education may expect of them after election.

The teachers heard Bert Combs, of Prestonsburg, candidate for Governor; Ben J. Butler, candidate for Lieutenant Governor; Burnis Martin and Douglas Daniels, candidates for State Senator; W. J. Reynolds, Jr., Ollie Robinson and Ulysses S. Collins, candidates for Representatives from the 58th district and Ben Martin, candidate for Representative from the 59th district. All are Democrats.

The morning session was devoted to business of the Association, including the election of officers. The offices of president and vice-president were contested. Mrs. Frankie S. Best, of Cliff, was re-elected president, defeating Ed Craft, of Wayland; and Elmer Martin, of Harold, defeating Dorothy Allen, of Martin, for the office of vice-president. Adrian Hall was named secretary-treasurer without opposition.

Leading off the discussion by candidates of their aims for education, Bert Combs said that education is uppermost in the minds of Kentuckians, holding their interest even ahead of much-needed highways. "I will take both out of politics," he declared. "I will build highways where they ought to be built, not where some crown prince dictates."

Pointing out that public education as represented by the schools of the state is the "whipping boy of every political campaign," and that this was particularly evident in the 1955 primary when his resolve to finance the Minimum Foundation for education was twisted by his opponent to mean heavy taxes, Judge Combs insisted that education should be taken out of politics.

He suggested that he and his

TEACHER AIMS ARE ADOPTED

Association Committee Outlines Work Ahead, Plans Get Approval

The Floyd County Teachers Association at its meeting here Wednesday adopted several points proposed by its Salary and Legislative committee.

These proposals are: "1. To thank the Board of Education and the County Superintendent of Schools for their action in giving teachers a small salary increase during the current school year."

"2. To ask that, since salaries paid classroom teachers in Floyd county are grossly inadequate and among the lowest salaries paid teachers any place in the nation, 60% of the 'Local Leeway Fund,' be set aside in the school budget for the 1959-60 school year to supplement the salaries of classroom teachers above the minimum salaries provided by the Foundation law. (This should provide a supplement of $200 per year above the minimum salaries set by state law, the statement said.)"

"3. Rural teachers have many duties and janitorial responsibilities over and above those required of teachers in consolidated schools. Therefore, we ask that their salaries be supplemented to pay in part for these extra services."

"4. It is thought that more prompt payment of salaries will help eliminate the necessity for teachers to discount their salaries at local banks in order to get funds for payment of pressing bills. The cooperation of the Board of Education in suppressing the evil system of pay check discounting is respectfully requested."

Mrs. Robert Martin Named To Directorship Of State Organization

Mrs. Robert Martin, of Martin, who assisted in the organization of the Floyd County Retarded Children's Council, has been named member of the board of directors of the Kentucky Association for Retarded Children, it was announced recently.

Named with Mrs. Martin on the board of the state group is Mrs. Calvert, who initiated the move to start the Pike County school for retarded children. Scott Roberts, of Ashland, is the only other member of the board of directors from Eastern Kentucky.

LEGAL ACTION IS CONSIDERED

On Big Sandy Pollution; Clark in Meeting Here With Floyd Sportsmen

Legal action will be taken, if necessary, to stop Big Sandy river pollution by coal and coal washings, Minor Clark, commissioner of the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, told members of the Floyd County Fish and Game Club here last week.

Reminded that pollution of Dix river from an industrial source was quickly stopped recently, and asked why equally forceful action cannot be taken on the Big Sandy, Mr. Clark made no comment.

National Library Week Claims Greatest Attention Yet Here; Parade, Talks Feature Events

National Library Week came in for its greatest observance locally this week.

A highlight of the week's activities was the parade of Floyd county's two Bookmobiles and those of adjoining counties through Prestonsburg streets Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by the fire truck, Prestonsburg police, the Prestonsburg high school band, Brownies, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts in uniform and a color guard from Floyd Post, American Legion. The parade ended at the Regional and Floyd county library here where Mayor Bill Napier made a short talk.

Other items of the observance announced by Mrs. R. V. May, National Library Week chairman for the county, are:

A recorded talk by Dorothy Canfield Fisher, famous author, over Radio Station WDOC Tuesday afternoon; a Children's Story Hour by Mrs. Robert Hughes, Prestonsburg teacher, broadcast over Radio Station WFRT Tuesday afternoon; posters, made by the art class of Prestonsburg high school, displayed in Prestonsburg business places; a special edition of the HI-Times, local school paper, devoted to books and reading; special note of the week by both the grade and high school libraries.

Mr. Kirk, of the Library Extension Department, is spending the week at the county and regional library here to assist with the observance. The public is being invited to visit the library where a special display of pictures on loan from the Library Department is on exhibit.

HUTSINPILLER RECEIVES COVETED SCOUT AWARD

Three adult Scouters received the coveted Silver Beaver award Saturday night at the annual Boy Scout Appreciation Dinner held in the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria. The awards were in recognition of long and outstanding service to Scouting by the three men.

One of those so honored was C. L. Hutsinpiller, veteran Prestonsburg pharmacist, who has been active in Scouting for 32 of the 49 years since the Boy Scout organization was formed. Currently chairman of the First Methodist Church troop committee here, he has held various Council and district office. He received the Silver Beaver as the Jenny Wiley district representative. Mr. Hutsinpiller has been for eight years teacher of the Methodist men's Bible class, and he has a perfect attendance record of 17 years with the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club.

Others who received the Silver Beaver are H. L. Stuart, Jr., of the Jefferson Forest district and

ADDED FUNDS TO BE ASKED

For Reservoir Planning, Construction; Fishtrap, Pound Projects Backed

Kentuckians will ask Congress next week to add an additional $294,000 to the federal budget to complete survey and planning for Fishtrap reservoir on the Big Sandy. The proposed budget now calls for only $200,000.

Four Kentucky congressmen who will seek the additional funds are Representatives Carl D. Perkins and William H. Natcher with Senators John Sherman Cooper and Thurston Morton. Heading the Big Sandy delegation as spokesmen will be the Rev. Harold Dorsey, Prestonsburg; J. H. Mosgrove, Pikeville, and George L. Ramey, Paintsville.

Senator Cooper is asking the U.S. Army Engineers to determine what they can use on the Pound River reservoir in the coming year. All of the congressmen and the local valley spokesmen will appear before the House and Senate subcommittees on April 28 and 29 with their requests.

For the first time Virginia senators and congressmen have indicated they will go out wholeheartedly to support the Kentucky proposals. Rev. Dorsey pointed out this week that there was a pooling of effort by promoters of the projects in both states.

"We'll support the Pound proposals for them, and they will assist us in the Fishtrap project," he said.

Engineers have said they could use $2,300,000 for construction on the Pound River reservoir in the next fiscal year starting July 1.

Cooper wants actual construction of the Fishtrap reservoir on the Levisa fork to start the next fiscal year and is anxious that planning be completed in time. Representative Perkins will urge $2,500,000 rather than $2,300,000 for start of construction on Pound.

It Was Our Error— Bobby Ward Was Not Involved in Chase

Confusion of names led to the erroneous listing of an innocent man as one of the two chased from Prestonsburg to Martin by Prestonsburg and state police, Wednesday night of last week.

The name appeared in The Times as Bobby Ward. Mr. Ward was in no way involved in the case and at the time of the incident was at his home. The Times is glad to correct this error and to apologize to Mr. Ward for any embarrassment its error may have caused him.

YOUTH RALLY DRAWS 987

Victory for Combs Wyatt Is Predicted by Speakers At Wheelwright Gathering

Nine hundred eighty-seven young people from all sections of Floyd county Saturday night at a Wheelwright rally heard speaker after speaker predict victory for Floyd county's own Bert Combs, Democratic candidate for Governor, and his running mate, Wilson Wyatt, of Louisville, candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Co-chairman Wallace Frazier, who had expected not more than 500 persons at the rally, reported 987 teenagers, plus the band members of two high schools.

These victory predictions were made by the following Eastern Kentucky leaders:

Charles Clark, principal of the Garrett consolidated school who served as master of ceremonies; W. W. Burchett, Prestonsburg attorney, who spoke on the qualifications and respect that Eastern Kentuckians have for Bert Combs and also the broken promises of the Chandler-Waterfield administration; Michael Brown, Garrett high school student; Tolbert Combs, Commonwealth's Attorney of Perry county; Mrs. Ann B. Hall, state representative.

The rally was said to be the largest of its kind ever held in Wheelwright. The high school bands from McDowell and Prestonsburg headed the mile-long parade from Bypro to Community Hall where the rally was held. The rally was concluded with a rock-'n' roll bandstand. The rally and dance were sponsored by the Young Floyd Countians for Combs and Wyatt, which is headed by David Hereford, of Prestonsburg, and Wallace Frazier, of Price.

Howard Hicks was brought to the county jail here Tuesday from Perry county, where he was a prisoner, to go on trial with Clell Miller on a charge of armed robbery. It was the second attempt by Floyd officials to gain jurisdiction over Hicks for the trial.

Officials here said this week that another Floyd man, Amos Lee Duncan, formerly of Hueysville, was recently convicted of armed robbery in Perry county and given a life penitentiary sentence. Duncan had previously been more indicted charges against him had been dismissed.

Russell Prince and Doc Leonard Blanton were jailed here Tuesday by Deputy Sheriffs Lewis and Spradlin on a warrant sworn out by Gordon Porter, of Allen, accusing them of robbery. Porter's statement alleged they took money from him.

FLOYD DRIVE IS EXTENDED

Red Cross Drive Leader Says Reports Lacking On Community Drives

Floyd Chapter American Red Cross is following the lead of the National Red Cross in extending the current fund drive, it was announced this week by Circuit Judge Edw. P. Hill, Floyd county Red Cross drive chairman.

Judge Hill said reports on community drives have not been coming in as they should, that only the reports from two canvasses have been made. He urged community leaders to complete their canvasses and make their reports as quickly as possible.

To date, only $2,200 has been subscribed in the county, but most of this amount is represented by special gifts, not by individual contributions.

In extending the Red Cross drive nationally, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, American Red Cross president, said the campaign for funds and members is being extended "until every American

JUDGE FORD TO ISSUE PICKETING INJUNCTION

Tightening lines of the struggle between the United Mine Workers and the small coal and ramp operators of Eastern Kentucky were drawn toward a showdown fight Wednesday when a third party, the L & N Railway, sought a Federal court order against the miners to prevent interference with the shipment of coal.

Judge H. Church Ford indicated at London that he would grant a temporary stay of ten days. Judge Edwin R. Denney, L & N attorney, was directed to prepare the order and to execute $25,000 bond.

The court order was sought after pickets of the union camped on the railway spur tracks at ramps in Letcher county and union railway employees refused to set empty cars or haul loaded gondolas away. All ramps in Eastern Kentucky processing non-union coal were not operating this week.

Grant F. Knuckles, Pineville, and H. B. Noble, of Hazard, representing the UMWA, told Judge Ford they were not prepared to offer evidence in the suit at this time.

Almost open warfare between the operators and union, some of it purely psychological and some violent and reminiscent of earlier struggles of the coal fields, featured the events of recent days. Coal-loading ramps were destroyed by fire and dynamite, threats against both

For Combs and his running-mate, Wyatt, a typical Kentucky welcome is being planned. First of all, Mayor Bill Napier has proclaimed the day Combs-Wyatt Day "in recognition of the exemplary character, splendid qualities and abilities of these gentlemen."

Former political writer tells how Combs will win race

We asked an ex-newspaper man now traveling the state as a salesman to write for us his analysis of the Combs-Waterfield race district by district. This is his survey of each district.

I travel in all 120 counties in Kentucky covering the state twice a year. Since I was once in the newspaper business and covered politics, the subject has always remained of interest to me. In 1955, I correctly predicted that Chandler would win by at least 15,000. His actual majority was 18,000. I learned long ago not to talk to politicians, but rather to the average man to determine how a particular race may stand. In my day to day travels, I talk to an average of 30 to 40 people. These are my findings as to the present Combs-Waterfield race.

Chandler Is Issue
The statewide issue is Chandler. The people either approve or disapprove of Chandler and his administration. The majority of the people are outspoken on the subject. They will tell you in a minute that they either like Chandler or dislike him. Combs in the minds of most people represents opposition to Chandler. Waterfield is Chandler's representative in the eyes of the voters.

Part of the dislike of Chandler stems from things that he has done and part from actions of his executive secretary, Harry Davis. I believe that the die is cast. Nothing that either candidate will do in the remaining days will affect the result. The voters have made up their minds in the last two years. My prediction is that Combs will win by a minimum of 85,000 votes and that Wyatt will win by 100,000. Why? I'll explain why.

For Waterfield to be in the race, he must come out of the First District with more than 20,000 votes. As things now stand, he cannot carry the First District. For Waterfield to have a 20,000 majority in the First, he needs to carry five counties of the First, namely, McCracken, Graves, Calloway, Christian and Logan with big majorities. Combs is ahead in four of those counties and should break even in Calloway. Logan will give Combs a 5,000 majority and he carried McCracken substantially in 1955. Christian will easily go to Combs. In Graves in 1955, William F. Foster, a political power there for many years standing, carried it for Chandler. This year Foster is doing nothing for Waterfield. Wayne Freeman, who previously beat Waterfield for state senator in that district, is openly supporting Combs.

Waterfield loss Of First predicted

In addition, Chandler and Waterfield supported Noble Gregory last year in his race for U.S. Representative against Frank Stubblefield, of Murray and this race was considered by most to be a preview of the governor's race. Stubblefield for Combs actively supporting Combs. Also, the Barkley influence is still prevalent in the First and everyone there knew Barkley opposed Chandler throughout the years. In the Second District, it is obviously Combs by at least 10,000 votes. Why? Again, big counties practically control results. They are Hopkins, Warren, Daviess and Henderson.
Stubblefield won and is now

Chandler carried all four by substantial majorities. The best Waterfield can possibly do is break even in Henderson county. In Warren, Combs not only has the same faction supporting him as in 1955 but also has the former Chandler faction of 1955 that was headed by Tom Moberly. Waterfield has an inexperienced group leading his campaign there and it is obvious Combs will carry Warren by at least 2,500 votes.

In Hopkins, the situation is reversed from 1955. Edgar Arnold, a former Chandler supporter and publisher of the Madisonville Messenger, is vigorously supporting Combs. Labor there is supporting Combs. Even Waterfield supporters there that I have known for years admit that the county is reversed from 1955 when Chandler carried it substantially. In Daviess, Combs has a good organization. Chandler people there are disgusted and seem to have no energy. In Henderson county it shapes up as an even battle.

In the Third District, Waterfield will be hurt the most. It will go for Combs by no less than 25,000 votes. Claims by Waterfield forces to the contrary are hogwash and the Waterfield inner circle knows it. The powerful Louisville organization gave Earle Clements more than 30,000 majority over Joe Bates in the senatorial race. They seem more determined in this race to better the majority. Louisville people feel that they have not received fair treatment from state government.

In the Fourth, Waterfield has the opposition of popular Frank Chelf, U. S. Representative from

Campaign examined District by district

Lebanon. Two big counties there are Marion and Nelson. Because of the Don Sturgill incident, Marion will go for Combs heavily and Nelson is expected to do likewise because of the distillery workers.

Combs could do no worse than break even in the Fourth and will probably end up carrying it by a small margin.

In the Fifth, again we find four big counties that are reversed from 1955 — Kenton Boone Campbell and Mason. Chandler carried the Fifth by about 12,000. Waterfield will lose it by at least that much. Hate of Chandler is probably more evident in this district than any other.

In the Sixth District, Franklin, Fayette, Bourbon and Clark are the key counties. All have reversed from 1955. Combs is much stronger in Madison and will carry it by a good majority. The change of these counties is enough to wipe out Chandler's majority of 1955 in the Sixth and probably will give Combs a 10,000 vote edge.

Seventh District Solid
The Seventh District seems solid for Combs and he should carry it by no less than 25,000. Combs has obviously worked this district for over two years and the results show. In many counties he has combined former Chandler forces with his own so that Waterfield has no effective organization in many of the counties of the Seventh.

Registration in the Seventh is heavy, more so than in the last 15 years and this is a sign of protest vote. Chandler is extremely unpopular in the Seventh because no roads have been built there and because of economic conditions. Unemployment is a serious problem and failure to call a special session of the legislature to extend jobless benefits has hurt what little chance Waterfield may have had in the mountains.

The Eighth District contains few Democratic votes. Whichever way it went would have little effect on the outcome. It is actually Combs' home district and because of economic conditions will probably go for Combs by 5,000 votes. The prediction: Combs will carry all eight districts. Why? The anti-Chandler feeling plus an organization built by Combs, Clements, Carl Perkins, iBill Natcher, Frank Chelf, Frank Stubblefield, and John Watts is too much to overcome. All have worked on this election for over two years.

Overestimating crowds, as Waterfield has done, is causing people to believe that the Chandler forces are desperate. You can't fool the voters. Waterfield has made the same error Combs made last time. He has waited too late to start campaigning and his people thought that Combs and Wyatt would never get together. I say that the die is cast and nothing can be done to change it.

The final proof, if any be needed, of the outcome shows up with the betting gentry. You can't find any money anywhere on Waterfield.

OPEN HOUSE APRIL 15th

Mrs. Dowling Nicol, women's chairman for the Combs-Wyatt organization in Franklin county, has announced plans for an Open House to be held at the Capital Hotel on April 15th.

The Open House will be held for the ladies of this area to meet Mrs. Bert T. Combs and Mrs. Wilson W. Wyatt, wives of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, respectively.

Mrs. Nicol said the Open House would be sponsored by the "Liberty Belles," a group which is made up of the ladies who are supporting Mr. Combs and Mr. Wyatt.

She issued an invitation to all of the ladies of Franklin and the surrounding counties to attend the Open House to meet the candidates' wives on April 15th. The affair is to be held in the Main Dining Room of the Capital Hotel from 3:30 p.m. until 6:00 p.m. on this date.

Mrs. Nicol further explained that this would not be a formal tea but an informal open house with everyone welcome.

Lexington gamblers say by election day odds will be 6-5 Combs. Louisville gamblers will give you 25,000 votes and bet you even on the Third district. No takers. A hotel man at Paducah will bet you even that Combs carries the First district. The Combs-Wyatt merger has been too much for Waterfield to overcome and coupling this with the obvious disension which exists in the Waterfield camp, and which is known statewide, you will see in the final days of the campaign desperation moves by both Waterfield and Chandler.

Wilson Wyatt has proven to be a great asset to the Combs forces. He is a hard campaigner and makes a good impression when speaking. He, in most people's opinion, will be able to slug it out word for word with Chandler when he starts a statewide tour.

Chandler has never encountered anyone who could match his speaking ability—except Wyatt—and this will show in the final weeks of the campaign. The result — Chandler can't be as effective as last time because he'll have his hands full handling Wyatt.

SHAKESPEARE AND CHANDLER

It was William Shakespeare who said in his "Much Ado About Nothing" that "In time, the savage bull doth bear the yoke."

What wisdom is in this statement? It happens every time.

This time it has happened to Senator Happy Chandler and his friend, Senator Harry Davis.

Remember the days when they were the savage bulls? When Senator Happy was scurrying about the state talking about a non-existent $20,000 rug bought by the Wetherby administration. He admitted that the rug didn't cost that much but said that the people liked to hear about it anyway.

It's a shame to quote Chandler right after Shakespeare but here is one of Senator Happy's. It is about an ox—a little more appropriate.

Said Hap, the 1955 candidate: "It all depends on who's ox is gored. We simply had the longest horns and did the most goring. Politics, you know, gets a little rough. And if you can't stand the gaff you'd better get out of the game."

If you can't stand the gaff you'd better get out of the game, Senors. The planes leaves at 9:25 a.m., 10:20 a.m., 11:35 a.m., 5:45 p.m., 1:25 a.m. The night flights are cheaper.

Combs, Wyatt Win In Campus Voting

Richmond, Ky., April 13—Unofficial tabulations of a mock primary election held today for students at Eastern State College showed Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt as winners in the Democratic balloting for governor and lieutenant governor of Kentucky.

The campus-wide mock primary, sponsored by the campus Young Republican Club, showed Combs with 945 votes and Harry Lee Waterfield with 292.

Wyatt led other lieutenant governor candidates with 867 votes; J. B. Wells, Paintsville, received 291; Ben Butler, Lexington, 48, and John Y. Brown, Lexington, 12.

Albert Benjamin Chandler (don't call me Happy) is no doubt attired to campaign "on plowed ground" . . . if Hensley will let him.

Letters To The Editor

Who is it talking about mud-slinging? And "We're keeping it clean." The Waterfield people have been harping on that in the paper every Sunday. Every time the Combs people criticize them, Bob Yount calls it mud-slinging. I haven't noticed him denying anything that the Combs people have printed in their ads.

And I notice that the labor union boys have finally caught on to the lies that Yount is telling for Ralph Bates about Alton Moore. They have been claiming that Alton Moore voted against bringing the State Health Department to Frankfort. Anybody who knows the true record knows he didn't. In fact, he voted to bring it here.

What is Yount doing to Moore if it isn't mud-slinging? Now get back to the mud-slinging ad that Yount ran for Waterfield Sunday. I want to say something about that.

It always seemed to me that there were two ways to lie about a man. 1. Just plain not tell the truth. 2. Tell just part of the story.

No. 2 is the way Bob Yount lied to the people in his ad Sunday. He compared the records of Waterfield and Combs and to read it you'd think that Bert Combs was hibernating in a cave from 1938 until 1951 while Waterfield was gaining all that experience in the House of Representatives. Incidentally, anyone who has watched the members of the House of Representatives around Frankfort when they are here for a session knows what kind of experience most of them get.

In 1948 Combs was just getting out of law school and struggling to start a law practice. It is true that Waterfield was a member of the legislature from 1938 to 1946. But Bert Combs wasn't hibernating in a cave during these years.

If you will remember there was a war on. Our country and the whole world was in danger and our young men went out to fight. Bert Combs, the young lawyer, gave up his practice and joined the Army.

Combs joined as a private and worked his way up through the ranks. He went to the South Pacific and stayed there until 1946 when he was discharged as a Captain.

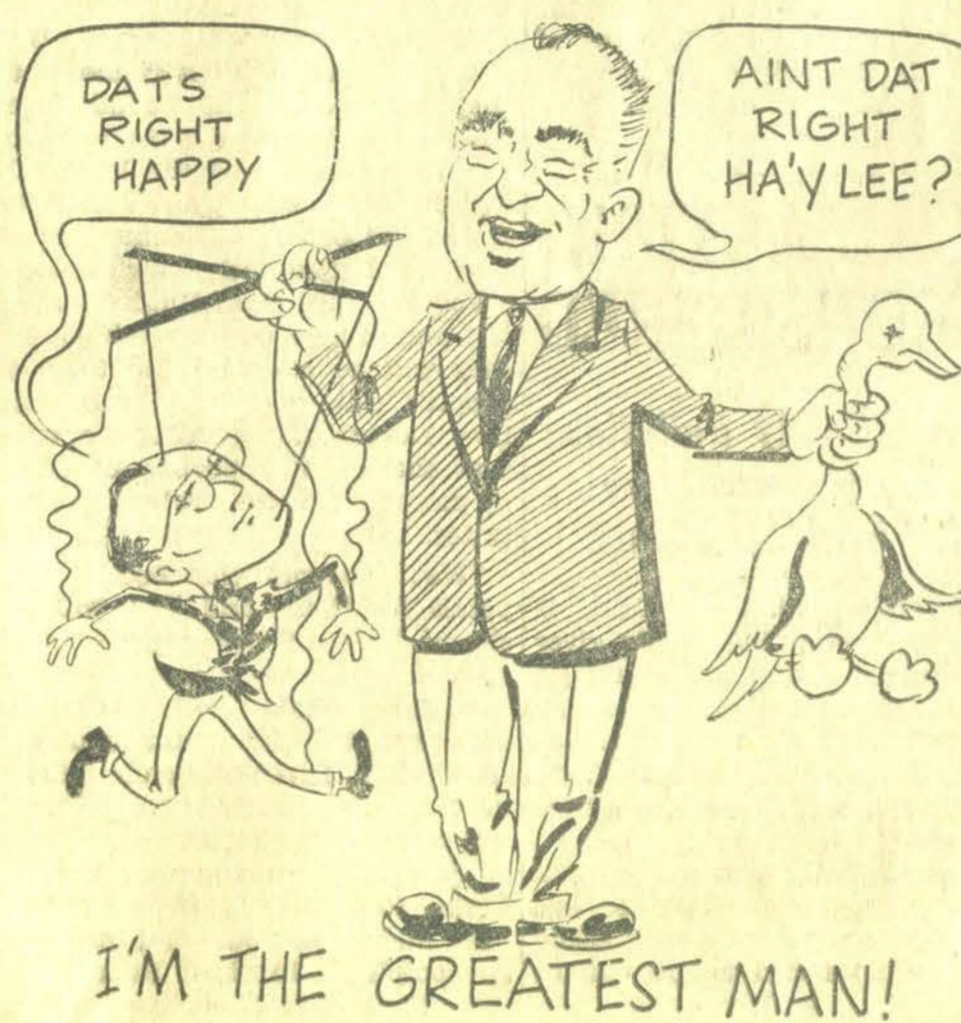

All of this time Waterfield was back here politicking and living comfortably on his farm down in Hickman County and making good money.

When Bert Combs came back from the war his law practice was gone so he went to work to build it up for his wife and two children. He became Prestonsburg city attorney and then commonwealth's attorney. He then won a place on the Kentucky Court of Appeals, the highest judicial office in our state.

This record of service to his country and to his state is the one Yount and Waterfield are attacking. What do they call mud-slinging anyway?

THREE DEAD DUCKS!

STATE EMPLOYEE UNREST UNDER CHANDLER REGIME BECOMING EVIDENT

Assessments Create anger

The ire of many state employees working in Frankfort is becoming more and more evident as the present campaign progresses and more and more pressure is put upon them by the Chandler-Waterfield - Davis - DeMoister regime. Many state employees who have served the state well under intolerable conditions are becoming quite belligerent to the Waterfield cause.

It has been a long-long 3½ years for the productive career worker. They have been forced to contribute to the campaigns of any number of candidates during this time. An estimated 2 million dollars has been taken from the pockets of state employees during this period.

Waterfield Doesn't Know

Though Mr. Waterfield denies any knowledge of state employees being forced to contribute 2% of their salaries to finance his campaign, new evidence of this gouge was brought to light in deposition testimony given by Mrs. Elizabeth Burton Readnowher this week. Mrs. Readnowher is a former secretary to Dr. A. M. Lyons, superintendent of the Kentucky Training Home, here. According to the deposition testimony, she collected approximately $600.00 per month from about 200 Kentucky Training Home employees, while she served as secretary to Dr. Lyons.

Maybe Mr. Waterfield doesn't read the newspapers or has no knowledge of what is going on in the administration which he claims is in a large part "his administration."

The poor state employees have also been coerced to attend political meetings and rallies which was against their will and desire. They are forced to put bumper stickers on their cars and to wear campaign buttons. Employees are threatened with dismissal if they don't bow to the wishes and commands of the Chandler-Waterfield forces.

There are many state employees who have given an honest day's work for a day's pay. The most nauseating situation to this worker is the hiring of incompetent employees at enormous salaries for purely political purposes, many who render no service to the state at all.

Combs and Wyatt Will Have Merit System

Mr. Combs and Mr. Wyatt have both made it quite clear that the essential employee and the valuable career worker will be protected and have nothing to fear upon the election of Combs and Wyatt. The "sleepers" who do nothing for the state and are on the payroll for patronage reasons will definitely be removed.

Combs and Wyatt promise an entirely different atmosphere and working conditions for the state workers and have pledged their support and efforts toward bringing about such necessary changes.

They are dedicated to accomplishing the three following points:

1. The enactment into law of a sound and workable merit system that will end forever the exploitation of state employees and the fear of reprisal which exists each time there is an election.
2. The end of the two percent salary assessment for political campaigns.
3. Freedom to vote for the candidate of their choice in future elections without coercion.

The old commissioner Has waterfailure

Bert Combs spoke to a standing room only crowd of 4,500 at Elkton Friday night. Oldtimers there say it was the biggest political rally in the history of Todd County.

Combs told the crowd, "the haystack is on fire all over the state and the old commissioner sits on the mound plagued with waterfailure."

REPORT SAYS LEARY IS OUSTED BY CHANDLER; HENSLEY TAKES OVER

Governor takes full charge

Continues in the Waterfield camp over the Lieutenant governor's race. Events of the past two weeks show that Chandler is evidently having his way.

A person close to Waterfield headquarters disclosed to Bert Combs this week that Bob Hensley, Louisville lawyer and close friend of Chandler, is for all practical purposes now running Waterfield's campaign.

Joe Leary, who was named early as Waterfield's campaign manager is reportedly very miffed over attempts by both Chandler and Waterfield to slate J.B. Wells as a running mate with Waterfield. Insiders say Leary feels that any move to slate Wells would be extremely harmful to Waterfield because of the presence of three other Chandler faction candidates in the race for lieutenant governor. The other candidates of the Chandler faction running for lieutenant governor are Ben Butler, Commissioner of Agriculture, Violet Kilgore, former head of the Division of Parks and John Young Brown, Lexington attorney.

Showdown Meeting

A showdown meeting was reportedly held at Louisville headquarters of Waterfield on March 23. Leary evidently knew prior to this meeting that Chandler, both before he went to Florida and after returning, had made numerous phone calls to Waterfield county chairmen passing the word that Wells would be slated. At the showdown meeting Leary reportedly told Chandler and Waterfield that he was going to either run the campaign his way or not at all.

It was argued by both Waterfield and Chandler that Wells could add strength to the Waterfield ticket in the mountain areas where Combs is far ahead. Leary argued that Wells could only help in a limited number of counties in the Seventh District and that slating him would drive away the strength that the other three candidates for lieutenant governor would contribute to Waterfield. It is evidently Leary's idea to slate all four Chandler faction candidates in each of the areas of the state where they have strength.

Chandler and Waterfield have apparently won the argument, at least for the time being. More and more Waterfield county chairmen have been told that Wells will be slated but that no public announcement will be made. Leary, realizing what has happened, remains, for all practical purposes as campaign manager in name only. Visitors to Waterfield's headquarters say that Hensley is now running the show while Leary remains here in Frankfort.

Leary, Davis Enemies

The feud over the Lieutenant Governor's race in the Waterfield camp between Chandler and Leary is no more than a renewal of trouble which has existed between the two for almost three years. It is generally known that Leary has never approved of Harry Davis, the governor's executive secretary, and blames Davis for many of the blunders of this administration. Friends of Leary say the two never speak. It is also known that Leary is not close to Waterfield's right hand man, Frankfort realtor Franklin Goins.

Leary is generally credited by most politicians to have been the person most responsible for Chandler's election in 1955 and his loss as a leader in the Waterfield campaign will be a telling blow. The plain facts are that Chandler has concluded that it is his show and he is going to run it as he pleases.

It was evident two weeks ago in Lexington at the opening of the Waterfield Fayette County headquarters, Leary was scheduled to make a speech. But about the time he started, Chandler appeared—uninvited and unannounced.

Chandler mounted the rostrum and spoke for half an hour, the Lexington Herald reported. Leary, obviously angry, left without saying a word, said the newspaper reporter who covered the speech.

CHANDLER DENIES ANY PART IN MOVING HEALTH DEPT.

From a WHAS-TV program on which A. B. Chandler appeared January 8, 1958:

A woman asked, "Is it definite that the Mental Health and Department of Health are moving to Frankfort? If so, has the building site been chosen and when will construction start?"

Chandler answered: "I'm glad they asked that question because it gives me the opportunity to say to the people that I had nothing to do with moving the Health Department from Louisville to Frankfort. The State Board of Health made that decision."

The statement really chills some of the arguments put forth by the Franklin County Waterfield organization, doesn't it?

LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT THE WATERFIELD RECORD

He was chairman Of purge committee

Mr. Waterfield travels the state shouting praise of his experience and capabilities and he admits he has been largely responsible for the many actions of the Chandler administration.

Due to his modesty Waterfield fails to give himself credit where credit is due and it is felt in all fairness to the candidate that the voters should be informed of his many accomplishments in state government during the past 3½ years. Just a few are listed below:

1. Waterfield was president of the most corrupt and undignified session of the legislature in the history of the Commonwealth.
2. Waterfield acted as chairman of the purge committee responsible for the hiring and firing of state employees while Happy was touring foreign soil.
3. Waterfield assisted Happy Chandler in bringing ridicule to the state of Kentucky in Chicago during the National Democratic Convention.

4. Aided in the defeat of a bill to establish a tobacco research center.
5. Aided the passage of the cigarette "fair trade" bill which caused the decreased sale of cigarettes.
6. Approved the appointment of district highway advisory commissioners which costs the state some $100,000 annually.
7. Approved the assessment of state employees of two per cent of their salaries.
8. Increased the personal income and many other taxes.
9. Failed to introduce any type of legislation for a civil - service or merit system program for state employees.

 10. Accepted three separate salaries for his duties with the state.
 11. Accepted luxurious living (at the expense of the taxpayers) in a $150,000 mansion with four state police assigned to duty at the mansion and all of the domestic help he wishes from the Department of Welfare.
- Space doesn't permit the completion of the list of Waterfield's accomplishments . . . nor does it permit a listing of the promises Waterfield and Chandler have broken since 1955.

Byron P. He said that never had he worked with adults more devoted to the Scouting program and that he is especially pleased with the improvements made on the summer camp at Dewey Lake. He predicted that many more boys will attend the camp this summer.

"5. We recommend that a ratio between the annual salaries paid classroom teachers and those paid principals, supervisors, superintendents and other administrative personnel be established that is mutually agreed upon by all parties involved through their authorized representatives.

"6. So long as present school funds are limited, we recommend that no further supervisory or administrative employees be hired until our financial status improves. Supplements and expense accounts of additional aforementioned employees can seriously deplete unencumbered local funds.

"7. We believe that a school budget prepared solely by a small budget staff in the superintendent's office cannot possibly reflect the wisest and most economic spending of our school monies to the greatest benefit of the teachers and the school system. The extent and complexities of present day educational systems require the group thinking of a great many people in order to secure the greatest benefit from our presently limited revenues. Therefore, we ask that the following committee of teachers, namely, Elmer Martin, Sammie Wells, Lewis Campbell, Ulysses Collins and Edgar Bingham, be allowed to work with the administrative budget for the 1959-60 school year in the preparation of both the General Budget Form F-1 and the Working Budget Form F-10 together with access to the statistical information necessary to the preparation of these budgets."

In a preface to the proposals the committee said:

"We think the financial resources of our state must be kept in mind, but we consider it our business and obligations to use the financial capacity of the district and state to provide professional salary levels for teachers and to provide the very best school system for the youth of our area that it is possible for our people to pay for.

"We believe that salary schedules and educational budgets are no longer satisfactory for indefinite periods of time. Economic changes require that constant changes be made in our educational spending in order to provide the kind of schools and the kind of teachers needed by our children in a world changing at a fantastic speed.

"We believe that a strong teachers' organization can by persistence and courage bring about better administrative attitudes when such attitudes are poor. When administrative attitudes are good our association can rise in the confidence and respect of both the administration and the public. We think that understanding and mutual respect are prerequisite to the solution of our many problems.

"Upon these policies and beliefs we have based our work firm in our belief that the public expects teachers to take the lead in providing a school system adequate to the needs of today and holding the promise of a brighter future."

The members of the Floyd County Teachers' Association wish to publicly thank the Board of Education and the Superintendent of Schools for their action in giving us a small salary increase during the 1958-59 school year.

Guidance Conference Steered by Miss Leete; Paper Gives Recognition

Success of the Vocational Guidance Conference, held at Richmond last week, Tuesday through Friday was due in great part to the co-chairmanship of Miss Judy Leete, Eastern State College senior, of Ashland. Recognition of the work of Miss Leete was noted in Eastern Progress, college publication.

The nucleus of the conference organization was around Miss Leete and Gus Franklin of Bellevue, who served also as co-chairman. The meeting was arranged solely by the students of Dean Emma Y. Case, who acted as advisor.

The guidance conference, geared to provide up-to-date vocational information for students of Eastern, one of the highlights of the college year, was first held in 1949. Five hundred students, 60 businessmen from Kentucky and the Cincinnati area attended. Several of the businessmen acted as consultants to the conference held in the Student Union building.

Miss Leete is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Leete, of Prestonsburg.

Dulles has been forced by the inextinguishable inroads of cancer to resign. While his successor is being named and while we get ready to draw a bead on him, we can take time to look back on Dulles and his efforts and try to be fair with him.

The old guy has been wrong, it's pretty certain, many times. Maybe "brinkmanship" has not been the way to steer the Ship of State in foreign waters. Maybe he ad-libbed too much, played his hand too tightly sometimes, or too loosely at others. Perhaps he didn't know where he was heading.

And do we? Whether John Foster Dulles was the greatest, the worst or just a so-so Secretary of State, this particular expert on foreign affairs—and domestic, if you ask me—is here attempting to express something of his admiration for the man.

How many of all the millions of persons in the United States would have faced the dread of cancer, not to mention the suffering, all these many months, put on a smiling exterior for the public and continued to work, taking the veiled, polite insults of foreign diplomats and coming back for more?

And, you know, not many healthy people, not to mention the sick, are willing to climb aboard an airplane and take off across mountains and oceans as a regular job. That isn't exactly joy-riding. Gain, lose, inch forward, fall back—the old guy who, in Colonial garb, would look the perfect Puritan deacon stuck grimly to a thankless task till he was too sick to go any farther. That isn't necessarily a sign of intellectual greatness or any proof of superlative achievement, but it all does stand for a great human being.

Have you seen Gardez Dingus' sign at Martin advertising shack bean seed for sale? The guy actually got some calls for that particular kind.

Guidance Conference Steered by Miss Leete; Paper Gives Recognition

Success of the Vocational Guidance Conference, held at Richmond last week, Tuesday through Friday was due in great part to the co-chairmanship of Miss Judy Leete, Eastern State College senior, of Ashland. Recognition of the work of Miss Leete was noted in Eastern Progress, college publication.

The nucleus of the conference organization was around Miss Leete and Gus Franklin of Bellevue, who served also as co-chairman. The meeting was arranged solely by the students of Dean Emma Y. Case, who acted as advisor.

The guidance conference, geared to provide up-to-date vocational information for students of Eastern, one of the highlights of the college year, was first held in 1949. Five hundred students, 60 businessmen from Kentucky and the Cincinnati area attended. Several of the businessmen acted as consultants to the conference held in the Student Union building.

Miss Leete is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Leete, of Prestonsburg.

Combs Sues Company In Death Of Woman
I am sick and tired of reading where the Chandler henchmen are trying to accuse Bert T. Combs of being a company lawyer. I am writing this letter so that everybody will know that this is not the truth. The truth is that as a lawyer Bert T. Combs has always protected the rights of the common citizen.
I know this because my pregnant wife was killed when a company truck struck my automobile on May 14, 1957 near Prestonsburg. I took the case to Bert T. Combs and he brought suit against the company in the Floyd Circuit Court. He fought the case hard, and thanks to him, the jury awarded $42,000. I settled the case for a little less than that in order to avoid an appeal. The court records in this case are living proof that these fictitious statements accusing Bert T. Combs of being a company lawyer are nothing but political lies.

Rheumatic Pain Gone In 8 Hours

One of the factors complicating enforcement on the Big Sandy, it has been pointed to, is that mines in Virginia have been, perhaps still are, polluting the stream. This poses an inter-state problem. But it was said this week by Arnold Workman, president of the Floyd County Fish & Game Club, that most of the pollution so obvious here is coming from Pike county coal operations.

Except when the river has been high from rains it has run black for weeks. Mr. Clark pointed out that owners of land overflowed by the blackened waters may file suit against mine-owners.

Complaints of conditions such as this should be addressed by individuals or groups to Paul Gannon, Department of Conservation, it was said.

While here with Arnold Mitchell, of the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, and Don Strode, federal coordinator of the wildfowl program in Kentucky, Clark visited Dewey Lake where the department is undertaking an experiment designed to attract migratory waterfowl to the impoundment and thus improve hunting there. Food plots are being planted at various points on the lake.

Fishermen at the lake last week reported the heaviest concentration and the greatest variety of waterfowl yet seen there, with ducks, geese, coot, cranes and other species sighted. This, however, resulted from the normal migration northward by these waterfowl after winter's end.

Ben Butler Talks To Floyd Teachers

Commissioner of Agriculture Ben J. Butler brought his campaign for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor into Floyd county Wednesday.

While he was here he attended the Floyd county teachers' meeting in Prestonsburg, Wednesday afternoon. In a brief talk before that group Butler reminded them that he, too, had been trained as a teacher in college. He declared that Kentucky's rate of progress is dependent upon the improvement of the educational levels in the state.

Butler carried Floyd county by a substantial majority in the Democratic primary of 1955 when he successfully sought the office of Commissioner of Agriculture.

opponent, Harry Lee Waterfield, sit down and agree on an educational program for the state and thus take the matter out of the political realm.

Combs outlined a seven-point program which he proposes to support and develop as Governor:

1. Immediate salary increases for teachers, with the national average pay for teachers as the Kentucky goal.

2. Provide school buildings; establish a school building authority which would market bonds at a reasonable rate of interest.

3. Provide free textbooks for grade school pupils. "The Governor says there is no money for this purpose," Combs noted. "But he can spend $5,000,000 on a road from Frankfort to Versailles and tear up roads better than ours. There is no excuse for failing to provide, free, these basic textbooks that are required."

4. Provide free textbooks at the rate of one grade a year for high school pupils. This can be done for $500,000 a year, and by the end of four years would be in effect for all high school students.

5. A program for the benefit of gifted, handicapped and retarded children.

6. An expanding vocational educational program.

7. The providing of more room at state colleges for the great influx of students which is expected to reach a peak within the next four years. "And no meddling by the state government at Frankfort," he added.

7. Remove the State Board of Education from the threat of ouster. Its members now can be fired overnight, the speaker explained.

Commenting on teachers' salaries, Combs said, "It doesn't make sense to train school teachers and then force them to go to other states to make a living." He attacked his opponent's statement to the effect that Kentucky should pay the national average for teachers, "commensurate with Kentucky's income."

Mr. Waterfield, who could not accept the teachers' invitation to appear, wired his regrets. Mrs. Best read a brief statement of his position on education. This statement said that he will recommend to the legislature that Kentucky, percentage-wise, spend as much for its schools as is spent by any other state and thus bring the state up to the national average in orderly fashion.

Waterfield also said he would recommend that the retirement age for women teachers be reduced from age 70 to 65, or perhaps 62. He remarked that the retirement age of 70 for women is "a strange situation," inasmuch as men already are eligible for retirement at age 65.

I'M FOR COMBS

Happy Lee Waterfield boasts of being such a strong supporter of labor. I am a daily reader and listener of the paper, radio and T.V. At no time do I recall of his proposing or being outspoken for any labor legislation during his long tenure of twenty-five (25) years in the legislature.

It has been suggested by Bert Combs several times that a Special Session of the Legislature be convened for the purpose of extending thirteen (13) weeks of unemployment benefits to Kentucky's unemployed. Happy Lee has had an opportunity of doing this very thing, but has failed. And his failure to do such, is positive proof to me that he is not for labor.

Let's all vote for the Combs-Wyatt team and replace this do nothing attitude with a government of the people, and by the people.

R. L. PITTS, an ex-teacher, and Labor Union Man

DO YOU WANT TWO "ISMS" OR ONE "ISM"?

"CHANDLERISM"

-vs-

"CLEMENTISM" AND "WEATHERBYISM"

You have had almost four years of "Chandlerism" under Governor A. B. Chandler and Harry Lee Waterfield—look at the improvements!

1. The mortgages removed and the Old Age Lien Law repealed.
2. The whiskey tax doubled.
3. The Gas companies required by law to sell natural gas to individuals.
4. Four and one-half (4 1/2) million dollars worth of roads and bridges built in Floyd county.
5. Teachers getting higher salaries and more money for teaching aids.
6. A state medical school being built in Lexington to educate more Kentucky doctors.
7. The State Health Department being moved from Louisville to the State Capitol at Frank-where it belongs.
8. State Highway machinery building county roads up the creeks.
9. Sober State officials.

You will recall the four years under "Clementism" when the lowly-paid school teachers were not only refused any part of the $30 million state surplus but were scorned and insulted for even asking, and the Sgt. of Arms in the Legislature actually pulled a revolver on a member. Later in the U. S. Senate, "Clementism" meant voting to give the Tideland Oil millions to Texas, California and Louisiana instead of to Kentucky's school children.

You will also recall the four years of "Weatherbyism" when a sourmash breath was the rule, rather than the exception, among Department Heads in Frankfort; and when the Governor announced to the press that he would "let the people know" who to elect Governor whenever he had been "picked."

The people of Floyd County and Kentucky know the rest. Clements and Wetherby "picked" Bert Combs to run for Governor in 1955—and the voters found him wanting.

These two former governors have again "picked" Bert Combs for Governor, but this time the people have their own candidate—Lt. Governor Harry Lee Waterfield, who has proven his ability and sincerity by a lifetime of service to his fellow Kentuckians.

If you want a "picked" candidate and two "isms," you may vote for Bert Combs; but if you want more progress and real benefits for the people, instead of the bosses, THEN you will vote for Harry Lee Waterfield for Governor.

(No. 40 in a Series)

William E. Connelly, Historian, is Passenger on the Thealka

The Thealka, was owned by Green Meeks, father of Alka Meeks, later Mrs. John C. C. Mayo, the industrialist. It was a popular boat with merchants and passengers on the Big Sandy River before the advent of the railway.

It was Meeks' intention to name the boat, The Alka, but the sign painter misunderstood and put the two words together. Meeks refused to change the unique name.

Shown on the passenger deck in black suit is William Elsey Connelly, prominent Eastern Kentucky historian. He was the author of The Founding of Harmon's Station and the Wiley Captivity, and among other works was co-author of a five-volume History of Kentucky, that emphasized the story of the Eastern section. He died in Kansas.

Loans Available For Various Uses, Inderbohn Says

Small-business loans are available to help finance an almost-endless variety of enterprises in depressed Eastern Kentucky, a federal industrial engineer said Monday at Burnside.

John Inderbohn, representing the Small Business Administration in Washington, gave that assurance at the start of a five-day tour of the distressed area.

He encouraged business leaders to study the economic opportunities available to them through the Small Business Investment Act.

The tour of the Eighth Congressional District was arranged by United States Representative Siler, who with Senator Cooper, accompanied Inderbohn.

Siler explained the tour as "something to help with the transition from problems you have to the opportunities now available to you."

Cooper said he doubted that Kentuckians have made as much use of the Small Business Administration as was available to them.

Inderbohn said he was most highly sold on a new plan for lending money through local industrial-development corporations. Such corporations can obtain up to $25,000 without capitalization of their own and without local-bank participation.

The money can be used for such purposes as providing sites or helping an industry move from another location. A commitment from the industry and the financial soundness of its location or relocation are the prime prerequisites for such loans.

Payment periods range up to 20 years at an interest rate of 5 per cent.

A second plan of the S. B. A. helps finance substantial new industries through local investment agencies, Inderbohn said. Such agencies must have a capitalization of $300,000, including $150,000 of their own.

Under either plan, the federal loan can also be used to help hold in the community a small business struggling under financial strains or needing additional space for expansion.

Inderbohn emphasized that his agency was not in the lending business alone, that it provides many technical services. For example, it will provide technicians to help communities plan industrial-development programs, or to suggest the types of industries that should be sought.

In reply to questions, Inderbohn said the S.B.A. was not concerned with manufacturing industries alone but also with distribution, wholesaling, and retailing.

He said, in describing the wide range of enterprises that would qualify for help, it would help with a poultry-processing plant or with a missile-manufacturing centre.

He emphasized that the agency doesn't think in terms of wholesale economic recovery for depressed areas, but more so in terms of the imbalance of labor available and jobs which are not available.

He said the S.B.A. has approved 38 loans totaling $1,252,000 in Kentucky's Eighth Congressional District since 1953.

Siler offered the services of his Washington office to Eastern Kentucky communities seeking industrial-location help.

"You can even call us collect," he said. "That comes under the heading of Government business. All we ask is that you have a clear conscience that your call falls in that category."

More 18-Year-Olds Or Older Are Eligible For Social Security

Thousands of disabled children 18 years of age or older who could not heretofore qualify may now receive monthly social security checks.

Monthly benefits first became payable to disabled children in January, 1957. Under the law at that time, it was necessary to show proof that the disabled child was receiving at least 50 per cent of his support from the parents on whose social security record the benefits were being claimed.

The 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act removed, to a large degree, the requirement that the disabled child produce evidence of this 50 per cent support. Effective with September 1958, a disabled child will be assumed, in most instances, to have been dependent on his parent for support. As a result of this change, many disabled children who were denied benefits prior to September 1958, may now become entitled to monthly payments.

To qualify, the child must be so disabled, mentally or physically, as to be unable to perform substantial gainful work and must have become disabled before his 18th birthday.

These benefits are payable to the disabled children of old-age insurance beneficiaries, disability insurance beneficiaries, and deceased workers who worked long enough under social security to become insured for the payment of survivors' benefits.

Starfire Policy Is Void—Thurman

Any Kentuckian who purchased insurance from the Starfire Insurance Co., Starfire Insurance Association, or Starfire Mutual Insurance Co., should contact Insurance Commissioner C. P. Thurman, at Frankfort.

Thurman said he has been advised by the Colorado Insurance Commissioner that Kenneth D. Legler is under arrest in that state for soliciting insurance in the Starfire which "apparently does not exist."

Legler, according to the Colorado warning, printed his own policies, handled his own losses, did his own bookkeeping, solicited through finance companies, wrote only "rejections" and used certain bureau rates. Policy numbers uncovered have been between 10003 and 100063.

BEARS LIST 3 FROM COUNTY

Setser, Hager, Thompson Figure in Season Plans Of Pikeville College Nine

Pikeville, Ky., April 12 (Spl.)—Built around seven returning lettermen, three from Floyd county, Pikeville College Bears' 1959 baseball squad including altogether four Floyd countians, is scheduled to open a 14-game card next Monday at Transylvania College, Lexington.

Lettermen back from last year, include three pitchers, one of whom will see much action behind the plate also; two infielders, and a brace of outfielders, Baseball Coach Paul Butcher announced today. The pitchers are Ernest Hatfield, McCarr, Ky., a Belfry high school product; Jimmie "Tex" Thompson, West Palm Beach, Fla., a former pitcher for Martin high school, and star basketball forward Paul Setser, an Auxier high school graduate. Setser, primarily a receiver last year, will catch some pitchers this season.

Other lettermen are first baseman Kelley Phelps, of Van Lear high school; three-year veteran Gobel "Scooter" Salyers, former Elkhorn City high school star, at third base, and in the outfield Clay Dotson, Kelsa, Va., from Hurley, (Va.) high school, and Donald E. Hughes, a product of Garrett high school. Experienced men among the squad's outfielders also include Jack Crumb, Hurley, Va., another Hurley high alumnus; Denny Moore, of Hardy, a Belfry high school athlete, and Aubrey Taylor, of Meta, a graduate of Johns Creek high school.

Freshman Donnis Butcher, of Meade Memorial high school, top scorer on Pikeville's cage squad last season, also adds strength to the Bears' pitching roster. As versatile on the diamond as on the hardwood, Butcher will take a turn at second base when not being used as pitcher or catcher. Others on the squad are Pete

Billy Rae Cassady, present Louisville high school basketball coach and former University of Kentucky cager, has been named head basketball coach at Paintsville high school. The announcement was made by Oran Teater, superintendent of Paintsville city schools.

Cassady, who paced Inez high school to the Kentucky high school basketball championship in 1954, replaces Jim Wheeler, who was elevated to elementary principal in the city school system.

Pikeville's long-time cage chief, John Bill Trivette, will be one of six coaches to lecture at the third annual Southeastern Kentucky coaches clinic in Corbin, April 23 and 24.

COACHES MEET

Floyd county's seven high school baseball coaches met in Prestonsburg, Wednesday, to draw for the district baseball playoffs, scheduled for the Drift park, May 12, 13 and 14. Rain and cold weather have forced postponement of all scheduled games to date.

Campbell, Chattaroy high school; Donald F. Clayton, Marion, (N.C.) high school; Tom Habermel, Jeffersonville, Ind., New Albany high school; Paul D. Hager, Auxier high school; Donald C. Layne, and Raleigh F. Wright, Pikeville high school; George M. Maynard, Johns Creek high school; Doyle "Buddy" Roe, Belfry high school, and Henry S. Salyers, Fleming-Neon high school.

Martin Student Picked For Union Track Team

Barboursville, Ky.—Robert Eugene Branham, a sophomore from Martin and a graduate of Martin high school, has been selected as a member of the Union College track team for this season.

Excelling in the two-mile run, Branham, who measures 5-8 and weighs 139, will be participating in the 11-meet schedule.

Active in campus organizations, Branham is a member of the college U Club and intramural sports program. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Branham, of Martin.

Social Security Act Changes Widen Benefits

One of the recent changes in the Social Security Act now makes possible monthly checks for dependents of a person between 50 and 65 who is receiving disability insurance benefits, according to Thomas B. Thompson, social security district manager at Pikeville.

If the disabled person has a child under 18, a disabled child over 18 whose disability began before age 18, or a wife over 62, an application for social security benefits should be filed. If a child qualified for benefits, the mother also qualify, regardless of her age, if the child is in her care.

If the disabled person is a woman who has a husband over 65 who was dependent on her for support, he also may be eligible for payments. Thompson suggests that persons who may be affected by these get in touch with his office immediately.

Crosses River on Barges

During the War between the States, when Confederate forces were threatening to invade the North, Gen. Lew Wallace—the author of "Ben Hur" and commander of Union forces defending Cincinnati—led 15,000 men across the Ohio River on a bridge of coal barges into Kentucky and erected a series of defensive earthworks.

W. J. (BILL) REYNOLDS, JR.

of Martin, Ky.

For State Representative of 95th Legislative District

The Progressive Program of a Progressive Candidate

1. He will work for an increase in teachers' salaries. The burden of acquiring additional educational qualifications to meet certification standards under the Minimum Foundation Law should be lessened by higher pay for teachers.

2. He advocates a road program that will realistically meet the needs of our section. Roads should be built to provide transportation arteries to serve industry and also to reach thousands who have no roads. The need for better roads for school buses is great. Roads should be built where the people, not a favored few, benefit.

3. He will appoint a committee of Floyd county educators and laymen to advise on the needs of the educational program. This will enable him to offer realistic legislation in this field.

4. He will sponsor a branch of one of our most outstanding educational institutions in Floyd county. Other sections of Kentucky have branches of colleges and if one is established here the cost of additional education will be less.

5. He will seek relief in the matter of weight tag cost for short-haul truckers. This will materially benefit thousands of truckers who will make their living hauling coal.

6. He will oppose political assessments of any kind at any time. He will introduce legislation to stop the payment of tribute to a state political machine in order to hold a job.

7. He will promote legislation to establish a merit system for state employees. Too long have good employees been the victim of tyrannical state administrations.

C. D. Schedules Conelrad Test During Alert

Kentuckians have been asked to participate in a Conelrad radio exercise during the National Civil Defense alert April 17-18.

Brig. Gen. J. S. Lindsay, State CD director, said Conelrad will be put into effect on a national scale at 11:30 a.m. (EST), Friday, April 17, for 30 minutes. During that period, he said, only Conelrad stations will broadcast simulated attack information and instructions to the public during the 30-minute period using 640 and 1240 frequencies on the standard radio dial. All other radio stations and all television stations will abandon the air, he said, adding:

The Conelrad stations depending upon decision of local authorities, will proceed with either a national program of simulated instructions and information, a local program of such, or a combination of both.

CD officials are hopeful that mayors, county judges and local CD directors will take the air during at least a portion of the 30-minute Conelrad program and explain measures taken locally to safeguard the population should a real attack occur.

Local authorities may also request the public's participation in local test exercises ranging from actual evacuation in some target cities to simulated reception of evacuees in some rural areas.

State Representative
Democratic Primary,
May 26, 1959

Here are some facts I want you voters to know about me.

Some know me as "Little A" Slone, who is the son of Charley and Osie Slone and the grandson of old Uncle Allen Slone and Sadie Bradley.

I married Marie Skeans, the daughter of Taylor Skeans and Callie DeRossett, a granddaughter of George Skeans and Rhoda Hamilton.

My wife and I have operated a business here on Middle Creek for the past ten years. I'm sure a lot of people who don't know me have done business with my father, Charley Slone, who has been in the grocery business for 18 years.

I see a lot of teachers who remember Charley Slone who has taught school in Floyd county for 20 years. I find a great many people each day while campaigning who went to school to my father.

I have also been a teacher of Floyd county and for the last ten years have been employed with the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company at David. I am a United Mine Worker and treasurer of Local No. 7788 at David.

I have never in my life been in trouble. I have never been in jail in my life. I'm honest, sober and dependable and ask of you your support because I am qualified to do the job as State Representative.

Your Support will be Appreciated. (Pol. Adv.)

OUTSTANDING CHEF ASSOCIATES WITH DERBY RESTAURANT HERE

Gilbert Salyes, retired Navy Commissary Steward and for two years chef for University hospital, University of Michigan, is shown operating one of the many steam ovens in the hospital kitchen.

Mr. Gilbert Salyes, an outstanding chef of 23 years service in the Navy, is now associated with The Derby Cafe at Corner of Lake Drive and Court Street in Prestonsburg. His wife is the former Miss Virginia Carpenter, of Floyd county.

Salyes comes to Prestonsburg after retiring from nearly a quarter of a century of service as Naval Chief Commissary Steward. After he retired from the Navy he was employed for 2 years by the University hospital, University of Michigan, of Ann Arbor, to conduct the largest food service unit in the country. His work was recently featured in the University Hospital Star, publication of the institution.

The Michigan position required that Mr. Salyes supervise the preparation of meals for 10,000 persons daily in one of the nation's most modern kitchens. It cost $400,000, had a staff of 35 employees.

Mr. Salyes' wife, Virginia, is a sister of Charles Carpenter, Derby Cafe proprietor. He will bring the services of an outstanding chef to the customers of the Derby Cafe.

You are invited to dine at Prestonsburg's most modern restaurant and view the scenic wall murals in color.

Biggers Honored With Seven Other Doctors, Sunday

Seven Kentucky doctors were honored in Glasgow Sunday with a dinner of appreciation. It was given by Dr. L. C. Howard, 71, who had practiced 48 years.

One of the seven honored was Dr. L. C. Biggers, 88, of Olive Hill, father of Bill Biggers, of Prestonsburg. Dr. Biggers had practiced medicine in the area for 59 years.

Dr. Howard said the doctors represented the last of a generation of pioneer doctors who encountered both physical and human obstacles to relieve suffering in rural areas of the state.

Dr. Biggers, is still active but has eliminated night calls from his routine. He recalls that years ago he had a case "just over the creek" but he couldn't ford it with a horse. He walked a fence for 200 yards with his saddle-bags around his neck to arrive at the patient's side. The seven doctors, he noted, had delivered 19,500 babies in a total of 413 years of practice.

Honored, besides Dr. Biggers, were Dr. Clement V. Helstead, 88, of Campbellsville, Dr. W. J. Shacklette, 88, Hodgenville, Dr. Leslie Richey, 88, Park City, Dr. W. F. Owsley, 81, Birksville, Dr. Herbert C. Davis, 84, Glasgow and Dr. C. G. Depp, 83, Hiseville.

LOCAL SCHOOL EFFORT LOW

In East Kentucky Area, Statistical Study Notes; Wolfe At Bottom of List

Eighteen of the 21 Kentucky counties that spend the least from local effort on their school systems are mountain counties. Counties in the state making the greatest local effort are in the more prosperous areas of the Blue Grass and in nearby industrial regions.

Wolfe county is at the bottom of the list in the state in local effort, spending only $19 per child in average daily attendance. Franklin county leads the state with an expenditure of $299 per child. Floyd county ranks 92nd with an effort of $43.

The state average of expenditures from local sources in the 120 counties is $83, far less than the high effort of the more favored counties, but most of the eastern rim counties fall far short of this average effort. Pike county spends only $42 from local sources on average daily attendance.

These figures are from School Service Report, published by the Bureau of School Service, College of Education, University of Kentucky, and released in February. Calculations are based upon figures including outlays for capital expenditures and debt service.

"This report is not presented under any assumption that money per se is what makes a good school, nor that districts should race with each other toward any standard, financial or otherwise," the report says. "There is the assumption, however, that comparisons are sometimes meaningful and significant—that what one community can do another of equal ability ought to be able to do, though whether it ought or not is another matter."

Only Monroe, Russell and Clinton, among the lowest in supporting their schools, are outside the mountain region. Monroe ranks 100th, Russell, 101st, and Clinton, 110th. Counties, beside Franklin, making the greatest effort in dollars are Jefferson, ranking second; Fayette, third; Scott, fourth; Bourbon, fifth; Nelson, sixth; and Woodford, seventh. Ranking highest in the independent school districts of the state with a local effort of $486 is Bardstown in Nelson county.

Next to the lowest county effort in the state is Elliott county with an expenditure of only $22 per child in average daily attendance.

Other Eastern Kentucky counties ranking the lowest are Jackson, rank 118; Clay, 117; Bell, 116; Breathitt, 115; Perry, 114; Owsley, 113; Knox, 112; Whitley, 111; Harlan, 109; Morgan, 108; McCreary, 107; Leslie, 106; Letcher, 106; Wayne, 104; Laurel, 103; Johnson, 102.

"The financial support for Kentucky schools is far below that of the rest of the nation, so much so that differentials in price levels and general cost of living would not account for more than a small part of the differences," the report says.

Kentucky ranks 41st in the nation in support of public education, figuring from the proportion of children in school age. Mississippi is at the bottom.

Commission Is Neither Wet Nor Dry

By J. COLLIS RINGO Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

The Kentucky Department of Public Relations, which distributes these releases on alcoholism, recently sent a questionnaire to newspapers requesting opinion on their value.

The reaction of some editors was a revelation. One editor had published none of them, yet considered them of value and wanted them continued. In remarks he wrote: "We regret that we cannot make better use of these releases but we are in a 'dry' county and most of our readers frown upon such articles. I would, however, be one of the first to try to point out that there is as much, or perhaps even more, need for the releases distribution here as in some of the 'wet' counties."

This editor's comment provokes a re-statement of the policy and objectives of the Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism.

The commission is neither "wet" nor "dry". It is neither advocates nor opposes the use of beverage alcohol. Its interest and effort is toward that six and one half percent of the drinking population who become victims of an insidious disease, alcoholism. It does not propose to enter into a controversy with anybody.

Regardless of opinions expressed by "wets" or "drys", the fact remains that in the United States, out of an adult population of 100,000,000 people, 65,000,000 drink and 35,000,000 are abstainers. Out of the drinkers, approximately 5,000,000 are sick. They suffer from an incurable illness that can be arrested by abstinence from beverage alcohol. This is not an opinion, it is a proven fact.

The 250,000 members of Alcoholics Anonymous are visible proof that this illness can be arrested. These people, formerly alcoholic addicts, are now decent, normal citizens. There is not a religious denomination, Protestant or Catholic, which does not have in its membership a recovered alcoholic. A number of Protestant clergymen and Catholic priests are recovered alcoholics.

With all the moral, economic, social elements involved, alcoholics are still sick people . . . alcoholism a treatable illness. When the public, the professions and the alcoholic accept the truth, alcoholism may well be as controlled as tuberculosis.

Library Week Designated As April 12-18; Mrs. May Notes Art Class Posters

April 12-18 has been designated National Library Week for 1959, it was announced Monday by Mrs. R. V. May, of Prestonsburg, chairman of the NLW committee.

This second, greatly expanded national reading program is aimed at reinforcing the tremendous interest generated by the first celebration of NLW in March, 1958.

Mrs. May reminds that the art posters commemorating National Library Week locally were drawn by the art class of Prestonsburg high school.

Emphasizing the rewards of reading for fun, knowledge and advancement, the program, with the theme "Wake up and Read" will once again be a community effort in individual cities, towns and villages throughout the United States where citizens of all occupations will unite in a campaign to encourage reading in homes, schools, churches, businesses and civic centers.

Sponsored by the National Book Committee, Inc. in cooperation with the American Library Association, the first National Library Week enlisted the active support of over 5,000 communities whose wide variety of activities resulted locally in: new library circulation records, new gains in registrations, increased library appropriations, new friends for libraries, books and reading of all kinds. According to an official National Book Committee report, National Library Week "awakened a sense of personal need as well as responsibility for the status of reading in the community."

On a national level, magazine media carried 23 articles reaching 68,000,000 people; 14 radio and television network shows reached another 170,000,000 homes; more than $800,000 in spot time was donated by broadcasters. Newspapers, both national and local, published 11,607 major stories within a three-week period.

In explaining the aims of the 1959 expanded program the National Book Committee states: "We want to heighten the national interest in reading, and shorten the step from curiosity to conduct—by encouraging people to visit a library, a bookshop, a newstand. That step may be short, but it can lead to new frontiers for millions."

Even the Automobiles Are Air-Conditioned for State Officials.

Remember when Happy Chandler ridiculed cooling offices of state workers? Now he and Vego Barnes ride in comfort.

(Reproduced above is an invitation for bids on a new Buick for Economic Security Commissioner Vego Barnes. It was obtained from a state employee. The black areas are to keep the automobile firm out of controversy.)

It has been only 3½ years since Happy Chandler called the air-conditioning system in the Capitol Annex a waste of money and said that the breeze off the Kentucky River was enough to blow a man down.

Of course, it is on record that shortly after he was elected he asked the Legislature for a huge sum of money to remodel his mansion and install air-conditioning.

And now Governor Chandler's long black Cadillac is air-conditioned. And it has just about every accessory you can put on an automobile.

Happy must have found out that air-conditioning is something the taxpayer can bear, after all. For even his underlings get it in their automobiles now.

The automobile which Barnes bought with the taxpayers money was the largest, most luxurious Buick built. He got everything on it but white sidewall tires (its too easy for critics to spot them).

Extra equipment included Somatic radio (that's the expensive kind which tunes the strongest station with the press of a button, the next strongest with the second push, etc.), Air Ride (the most expensive suspension system), heater and defroster, Easy Eye tinted glass, air-conditioning and Triple Turbine Transmission.

The car is used by Barnes to commute from his home in Louisville to his office in Frankfort.

Tree Nursery Proposed For Eastern Kentucky By Combs At Elkton

(Special to The Times) Elkton, Ky. — The establishment of a tree nursery in eastern Kentucky was proposed here by Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt as they offered their farm platform to the voters of Kentucky, in a major rally before more than 3,000 supporters.

Combs, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said that a nursery is needed in the eastern section to properly develop seedlings best suited for the area.

In addition he and Wilson Wyatt, his running mate for lieutenant-governor, recommended that the cost of such seedlings be reduced in line with the figure charged by other states.

Included in the farm platform was a pledge to persuade processing plants to locate near Kentucky's timber country so that tree crops could be sold within the state at a better profit for both the farmer and the processors.

Other planks in the farm platform included, a sweeping program of research into new uses for all types of Kentucky tobacco as well as other basic crops. A marketing and sales promotion program in co-operation with farm organizations was another pledge.

U. S. EXPECTS BIG TAX TAKE

Floyd County Taxpayers Expected To Contribute $3,366,000 During '59

(Special to The Times) New York, Apr. 6—How much will Uncle Sam be collecting, in the form of individual income taxes from residents of Floyd county this year?

The government anticipates that it will be more than it was last year, when local income and employment taxes came to approximately $3,366,000.

The figure, an unofficial estimate, is based on a breakdown of the statewide total announced by the Treasury Department and on local earnings and income distributions.

The return from Floyd county represents .89 percent of the amount garnered from the state as a whole.

Nationally, the government looks for the payment now being made to be $2.2 billion greater than they were last year. This budget increase reflects an average rise in income amounting to 2.8 percent.

Assuming a proportionate rise locally, the current returns from individuals in Floyd county will be about $3,460,000.

According to the President's new budget, a further increase in personal income taxes will occur in 1960. The boost expected is over $3 billion. It is to result from bigger incomes in 1959 and from an increase in employment taxes.

The total take from individuals, through income and employment taxes alone would then exceed $50 billion, a historic peak.

To keep pace with this budgetary planning and to continue bearing their present portion of the tax burden, Floyd county residents would have to raise their combined income by approximately 5.8 percent in the year.

A study by the Tax Foundation discloses that the U. S. Government is presently spending at the enormous rate of $360 million per day, over $2.5 billion per week.

Expenditures in 1958 were $7 billion above the 1957 total, and those, in turn, were $11 billion over the 1956 outlays.

The federal tax take, to meet these expenses, is now running at $77 billion a year. State and local governments get an additional $32 billion.

One-fourth of our gross annual product is thus removed in taxes, states the Foundation.

Cancer Crusade Purposes Explained by Chairman; Support Is Solicited

The American Cancer Society Crusade, which will be staged in Floyd county this month, is not just a drive for funds, Mrs. Roy Souleyrette, of Wheelwright, Floyd chairman, said this week.

"To knock out cancer we will need a 'one-two' punch," she said.

Mrs. R. V. May is Prestonsburg chairman of the cancer fund drive.

"The number one goal of the Crusade," it was explained, "is to save one out of two of those who develop cancer. That is the number who could be saved by broad application of present knowledge and skills instead of one out of three we are now saving."

"The second target of the Crusade is for funds urgently needed to step up the Society's nation-wide research program which offers a promise of solving the cancer problem. That promise has never been as great as it is today. Until that final goal is reached we must apply every bit of knowledge and skill to saving lives today."

"Many thousands of life-saving leaflets will be given away in our house-to-house canvass here," Mrs. Souleyrette said. "They will also be available at American Cancer Society information booths. The leaflets are designed to save lives that might otherwise be lost to America's number two disease killer by alerting those who receive them to the dangers of neglect and delay."

It was explained that while more lives are being saved every year due to improved methods of treatment, needless deaths still occur because the disease is not diagnosed in time. Regular health checkups are the best safeguard, she pointed out, to protect the family and the home.

The American Cancer Society has a three-pronged program of research, education and service to patients in its all-out effort to conquer cancer.

Did you think of Chandler-Waterfield when you filed your April 15 INCOME TAX?

● When Chandler and Waterfield were running in 1955, they said they could and would expand the services of the State Government without raising taxes. Now the record speaks—the record of the taxingest administration in the history of Kentucky.

STATE TAXES in 1955 . . . $95,000,000
STATE TAXES in 1958 . . $132,000,000

When Chandler and Waterfield went into office, it didn't take long for our taxes to start up, up, up. Halfway through their term, the operation of State Government was costing the taxpayers almost $37,000,000 per year more than ever before.

STATE TAXES in 1959 . . $136,000,000

Today the cost is still going up, up, up. Chandler claims that he is the only Governor to lower taxes. What he really did was to ADD a huge tax increase—then, later, make a token cut which amounted to practically nothing to the taxpayer. That's the tax cut Chandler boasts about!

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE!

You can't pay tax bills with broken promises. Let's not give Chandler and Waterfield any more blank checks. Vote for Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt on May 26!
