Farm Census Scheduled For All U. S. This Fall

Lexington, Ky. — More than 30,000 census-takers, specially trained by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, fan out over Kentucky and the rest of the nation next fall for the regular five-year farm census.

They'll be looking for three kinds of information, says Frank J. Welch, director of the UK Agricultural Extension Service. They are: farm resources, farm products produced and sold in 1959; and farming activities this year.

To answer the questions covered by these categories, farmers are asked to keep a few simple records. Such records—concerning harvests, products sold, major farm expenses, etc.—will make the census-taking much quicker and more accurate.

The facts picked up will provide up-to-date information on the ever-occurring and rapid changes "in what promises to be the five-year period of the greatest change in U. S. agriculture," the Census Bureau says.

Enumerators will be local residents. They must take a qualifying test to get the census job, and at least 12 hours of training before they start. They'll have about three weeks to check the 100 to 200 farms in their territories and will work under a local supervisor in crews of about 12 to 15 persons for each county.

They'll be asking about farm acreage, cropland acreages, pasture acres, kind and numbers of livestock, persons working on the farm, types of equipment, harvest yields, animals raised and sold, milk produced, number of days in off-farm work, money spent for fertilizer, etc., for labor, feed, fuel, custom work, etc.

And none of the information they gather will be available to any tax or investigative agency. Likewise, enumerators must take an oath to keep confidential all the census information they gather.

The census will open in October or November, 1959.

These tire marks were photographed by State Police, as also were the tires of Litton's car.

Some investigating officers, thought expressing the belief Litton's car struck the child, said it is possible he did not know it did. His hearing is defective.

Litton had no driver's license. He pointed out to officers that another car came out of the hollow at the time he was in the vicinity, and that that could have been the auto that hit the child.

Surviving the victim, besides the mother, is one brother. Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the home by the Rev. Bob Martin, and burial was made in the May cemetery, near Dinwood, under direction of the Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

Worley Boyd, owner of the College Lane home which was damaged by fire at 2:30 a.m., Monday, said this week that damage to the residence will be from $7,000 to $8,000, exclusive of damage to household furnishings.

The blaze was discovered in the ceiling and roof of the stucco home. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd were awakened by smoke and escaped with only a few belongings. The flames were mainly confined by the fire department to the interior of the building. Water caused most of the furniture damage.

AN OPEN LETTER TO JERRY FONCE HOWELL

Mr. Jerry Fonce Howell
Price, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Howell:

In the April 23rd issue of the Floyd County Times, there appeared a Political Advertisement under your signature which stated, "Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club Requested that Copperas Creek Road be Built." This matter has been taken up with the Board of Directors of the Kiwanis Club, and we have been directed by the Board to write this letter.

The excerpts from articles which were printed in the Floyd County Times are accurate in every respect. However, the statement accompanying the excerpts, admittedly written by you, are misleading, and inaccurate in that it stated that the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club requested the construction of the Copperas Creek Road.

We have made a diligent search of the minutes of the meetings of the Kiwanis Club and of the Board of Directors for the past three years. These minutes indicate that on numerous occasions we have discussed and urged the building of certain roads throughout the county. These recommendations were made for definite and specific projects. The following are a list of roads, the construction of which have been requested by the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club:

1. The Road from Brandy Keg Boat Dock to Dewey Dam.
2. The Road from German Bridge to the Boy Scout camp.
3. The Road from Prestonsburg via Trimble Branch to Stratton Branch Swimming Area.
4. The Road from Martin County to the immediate area of the Dewey Dam.

At no time did the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club at any of the meetings referred to in the printed articles or any other occasions, suggest the building, or have knowledge of the proposal to build a road into the Copperas Creek Section of Dewey Lake.

The Kiwanis Club by virtue of its By-Laws, is prohibited from taking part in political issues. We feel however, that your article was designed to inject the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club into a controversial issue for purely political reasons. The Kiwanis Club recognizes the fact that each individual member of the Club is entitled to his own political beliefs, but we have never let the political feelings of individual members influence policies of the Club.

We have in the past and we will continue to endorse public projects that we feel will benefit the people of Floyd county. By the same token, we have not in the past, nor will we in the future, endorse the expenditure of public funds for any project designed to benefit any individual or private interest.

A carbon copy of this letter has been sent to Mr. Norman Allen, Editor of the Floyd County Times, with the request that it be published at the expense of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club.

Yours very truly,

THE KIWANIS CLUB OF PRESTONSBURG

State Agency Studies Federal Loan Proposal

Kentucky will be represented at hearings on a federal bill to extend credit to local communities to help pay for facilities essential to health and welfare, Acting Conservation Commissioner Paul Gannon has announced.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Brent Spence, Kentucky Democrat, would allow the federal Community Facilities Administration to purchase existing bonds of municipalities that have reached the legal limit of bonded indebtedness, Gannon said. He added that the cities then could issue bonds to finance new health installations or improvements.

Gannon said a representative of the Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission would go to Washington to support the bill at hearings.

The bill states that its provisions would apply only "where such credit is not otherwise available on equally favorable terms and conditions."

The facilities covered by the bill are limited to works for storage, treatment, purification or distribution of water; sewage treatment and sewer projects and public hospitals and nursing homes.

The bill says: "It has been the policy of Congress to assist, wherever possible, municipalities and other political subdivisions of states to provide the services and facilities essential to health and welfare of the people of the United States. The Congress finds that in many instances municipalities... which seek to provide essential community facilities are unable to raise the necessary funds at a reasonable cost."

McCreary County 4-H'er Is Named Corn Champion; Raises 211 Bu. Per Acre

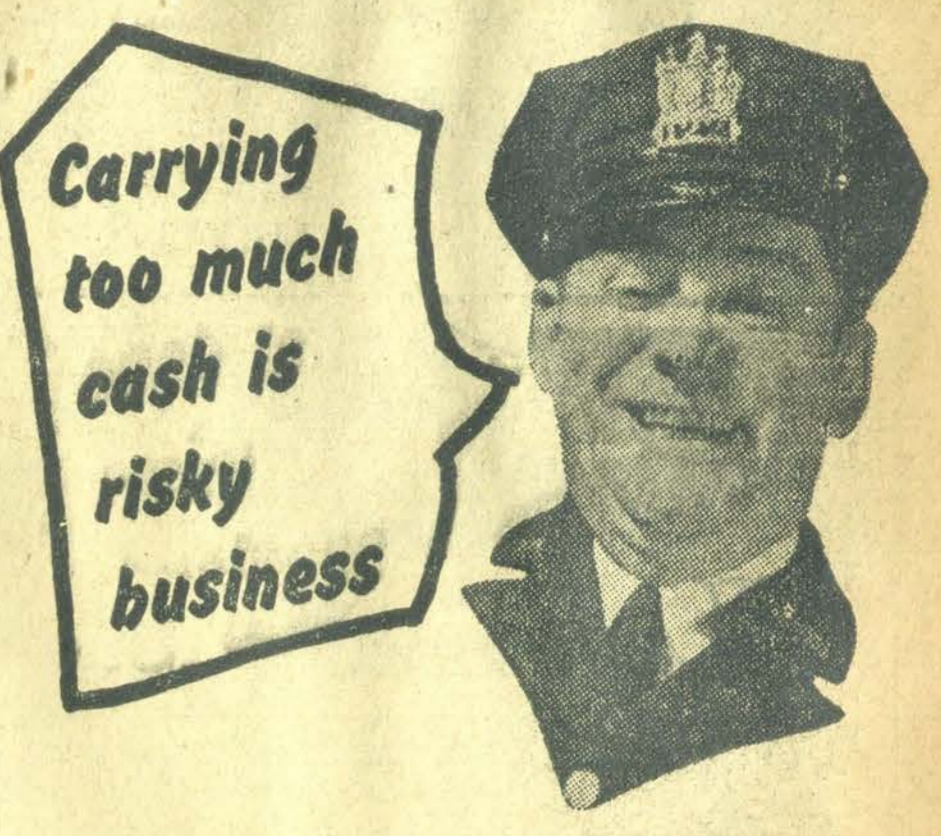

Paul Meadows, 15-year-old McCreary county resident, student at Pine Knott high school, is the state 4-H Club corn champion.

Young Meadows raised one acre of corn and got a 211.9 bushel yield to take the championship. He was second in the 1958 Corn Derby's one-acre division, open to adults and youngsters. Another McCreary county, an adult, Cecil Creekmore, took the one-acre division prize with a 231.1-bushel an acre yield.

The new state champion used Broadbent 402B variety of hybrid corn. He used 800 pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer, 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate, 3 tons of manure, and plowed under a cover crop. He figured his total expenses were $27.93 and his net profit, $193.64.

He is the son of Elmon Meadows, and is active in McCreary county 4-H work; owns a purebred Hampshire hog from a 4-H Club pig chain, and has done considerable reforestation work as a 4-H project.

2. AMPLE SELECTION
3. INSTANT DELIVERY, SERVICE AND ADJUSTMENT
4. MORE PERSONAL AND FRIENDLIER TREATMENT
5. SAVING OF TIME
6. RELIEF FROM COSTLY TRAVEL
7. FREEDOM FROM ROAD HAZARDS

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

WATERFIELD MADE FUN OF BIG SANDY CANALIZATION

During the 1950 General Assembly, while Waterfield was a State Representative, Sen. "Saw Loggin" Doug Hays sponsored and passed through the Senate a resolution requesting the national Congress to lock and dam the Big Sandy River.

In the House of Representatives, the strategy of those against its passage was to make the entire resolution appear ridiculous by adding the names of small streams and creeks after the words "BIG SANDY RIVER." Amendments were offered to add Massac Creek in McCracken county, Stinking Creek in Knox county, Eddie Creek in Caldwell county—and OH, YES!—HARRY LEE WATERFIELD got into the act! He introduced an amendment to add OBION CREEK in his home county of Hickman to this resolution requesting canalization of the Big Sandy River.

The next time Mr. Waterfield tells you he is interested in Eastern Kentucky waterways, remind him of his legislative record on canalization of the BIG SANDY RIVER.

It's in the book, and if you want to read it yourself—here's where to look: 1950 House of Representatives JOURNAL, Vol. 1, pages 762-765.

The Allen-Martin Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. John J. Sherman, April 20 at 7:30 p.m. The president, Mrs. William Martin, presided over the business meeting. Correspondence was read, treasurer's and secretary's reports were given. Several business items were discussed. The president announced the state convention to be held on May 12 at the Brown hotel, Louisville.

Mrs. German Vance, program chairman on Education, introduced Miss Blanche E. Dingus, supervisor of Floyd county schools. She gave an interesting talk on "Adult Education." She said, "all group meetings, such as woman's clubs, P.T.A. groups, or church groups would be considered as Adult Education. No one should stop learning, we should raise our standards of living—as one person influences another by things we say or do. We make better citizens by studying citizenship."

The hostess, Mrs. John J. Sherman, served a desert course to the following: Mesdames Glenn Spradlin, David Marrs, German Vance, Hazel Adams, Charles Marshall, John P. Sammons, T. A. Combs, John C. Hale, William Martin, Emmett Tackett, John W. Hale, George Laven and guests Blanche E. Dingus, Audille Hall and Mrs. Reynolds. The next meeting will be on May 4 at the home of Mrs. Emmett Tackett.

AFTERMATH OF BATTLE

William Jones wrote in an undated letter of the terrible scars on Atlanta, and other cities, of how the dead were buried by the harried Confederates, and of the slow deterioration of the Southern cause as reflected in the surrender of prisoners.

"We played great havoc with the houses in the city. I saw one large hole in the center of town made by a cannon ball. The house was the Washington House. It (cannon ball) must have been thrown four miles. Our camp is in the woods where Gen. McPherson was killed. The trees are torn all to pieces. My tent is between two trees, one full of musket or rifle balls and the other has the marks of a cannon ball right through it at near the ground. There are trees 1 1/2 ft. through cut off by cannon balls.

"There are sights here to make a person shiver . . . About two hundred yards from here the Rebs charged our breastworks when McPherson was killed. They took them (breast works) from us at a great loss. We afterward took them back.

"They buried their dead by throwing dirt on them as they lay, leaving their feet out and in some cases their head and hands. Just a few shovels (of dirt) thrown over their middle. I had not the heart to look long at such a sight.

"We go out foraging every day. Out about Stone Mountain there is about 15 hundred Reb cavalry . . . We capture some of them almost every time we go out. Some of them watch an opportunity to give themselves up. They say they have nothing to eat—only what they get from the citizens and that ain't much as they all will come in soon as they are very much discouraged.

"It is reported here that Richmond has gone up at last. It is on the bulletin board in town. I hope it may be true. When I find it to be the fact then I will holler. I don't know but I would almost be tempted to take a Big Drink—Smoke. I had like to said Drink but it would be of no use for there is none here to be had."

Dectaur, Ga., Sept. 16, 1864. Jones heard after going to bed that his wife had written him and he got up, went to get the letter but it couldn't be found. He went back to the tent, started to answer a letter he hadn't received.

"We are still here at Decatur on the left of Atlanta a-resting. How long this division of cavalry will stay here I cannot say but from the way things look to me we will go before long either to guard the railroad between here and Nashville or be sent to Kentucky. There is nothing for us to do here.

"We have been out to Stone Mountain where it was said the Rebs would make their next stand and we did not find them standing much. They are coming in every day and giving themselves up. Our battalion went out on a scout one day and brought in 17 that were hiding until they could see some of the U. S. forces and give themselves up. They were the best pleased men I ever saw. When they saw our advance they threw up their hands and said, 'Don't shoot. We have been a-looking for you sometime.' They say the way Hood has been fighting it won't take many days to have them all killed off . . ."

He still hadn't shaved off the mustache he had started growing over two years before when he entered the army.

"My mustache bothers me in . . . eating. I didn't intend to cut it off until I was discharged but I guess I shall have to cut it off for convenience yet."

He had heard the draft had been deferred but he was sorry. "I want to see them Butternuts squirm for I tell you the more I stay in the army the more I despise sympathizers with the Rebellion . . ."

Dectaur, Ga., Sept. 22, 1864. Jones replied to his wife's inquiry as to a wound he was supposed to have received on the 14th.

"I am happy to inform you it is a mistake although I thought at one time my dear little old woman would be a widow but the Lord thought otherwise. So far I have not had a ball come nearer than 3 or 4 inches of me and that's been often. The fighting here is done for the present. We have scoured the country all around back of Atlanta and can find nothing but a few bushwhackers. We have had some kill- (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

Of Eastern, Kentucky

For State Representative

Of 96th Legislative District

Friends, neighbors, and kinsmen, for nineteen years I have served you and your children as a teacher. I have stood for and fought for everything I believe to be just and right in the sight of God and man. More than ten thousand of your children have received training from me. They have gone out into the world as doctors, nurses, lawyers, teachers, engineers, businessmen, farmers, beauticians, and morticians.

Those of you who are still remaining in Floyd county, will you get behind me in this campaign and help to fight for these everlasting goals.

1. Raise Kentucky's educational standard from 49th to 1st place.
2. Provide more scientific and technological training in our high schools.
3. Free text books for grades from 1-12.
4. Improved teachers retirement.
5. Increase teachers salary to the national average.
6. Fight for improved highways and transportation.
7. Fight for a soldiers bonus bill.
8. Oppose the Right to Work Labor Bill.
9. Oppose any bill to take away the hospital rights of miners.
10. Introduce bills that will develop Kentucky's industries.

You will recall six years ago I was fighting for these goals. The fight is still on. The fight will still continue as long as our people do not have as good and as progressive programs as other states.

POPLAR RAFTS ON THE BIG SANDY RIVER

Rafting of the giant logs of the Big Sandy valley began two decades before the Civil War. The first market was at Cincinnati. Only prime logs of the largest diameter were profitable in the trade and one raft of 100 logs floated to Cincinnati by John B. Harris of Prestonsburg brought $102 in 1841.

Logging and rafting ceased in the valley during the Civil War except for a few trees cut for gun boat construction. It revived slowly through the years until in the eighties when Catlettsburg became a good market. In the late years of that decade the town at the mouth of the Big Sandy became the greatest hardwood market in the world and held that position for several years.

Shown in the above picture is a poplar raft passing the mouth of Beaver Creek, late in the 1890's. A pushboat is seen in the center of the river and a ferry boat is tied to the opposite shore.

McDOWELL MINERS HOSPITAL EMPLOYEE ENDORSES BERT COMBS FOR GOVERNOR

It has been rumored that the employees of the Miners hospital of McDowell, Kentucky, have endorsed Harry Lee Waterfield for Governor. As an employee I would like to set the record straight, I feel that Bert Combs is a friend of the Miners Hospitals and is deserving of our support.

My picture along with other United Mine Workers appeared in the Floyd County Times leaving a false impression that we were supporting Bert Combs' opponent. I have talked to several of those who appeared with mine and they agree with me that this picture should have never been used for that purpose. As they, like myself, help fight for the Miners Hospital and are also making the same effort to elect Bert Combs as Governor in the interest of our children.

The undersigned Joe Hicks has long been a member of Local Union 5895 UMW, Wayland, Kentucky, and I wholeheartedly urge you to join with me in supporting Bert Combs for Governor.

You Can't Drive On Broken Promises

If broken promises could be converted to blacktop and concrete the Chandler-Waterfield administration could pave every acre of land in the commonwealth.

We have seen in Kentucky the most flagrant disregard of pledges in all history.

Yet, today, one of the architects of ruin, Harry Waterfield, dusts off old promises and asks Kentuckians to again believe that he will build highways and roads.

NO ONE BELIEVES HIM!

Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt will throw the political satellites out of the Highway Department. They will engage a competent professional to direct the program.

DOUGLAS DANIELS FOR STATE SENATOR

To The People:

Doug Refuses Big Deal To Withdraw.

1. I became a candidate as of January 21, 1959, and will remain so.
2. I am not a factional candidate.
3. I am not looking for revenge or crows to pick with anyone.
4. My interest is the welfare of the people and this area.

"WHY I BECAME A CANDIDATE"

When I was teaching school at Wheelwright high school, my students and I became involved in some research on the agricultural and industrial potentialities of this area. We felt that on the pages of our future history that we have an opportunity to write a new record of which we may be proud. Now, as then, the area that has the greatest influence upon our lives is government. The people that we elect must be dedicated to those high ideals which make a more abundant way of life.

1. K. E. A. Legislative program.
2. A state program on rural housing development, so that low income families will be able to obtain loans at a low rate of interest for long periods of time for the improvement of their property. (We have a federal housing program which does not reach out and help those people in the hollows.)
3. Labor—I will work for those things beneficial to the working man.
4. Industry—We must give an incentive for industrial development.

These principles which I have outlined are of paramount importance for our future. Join with me in this campaign and you will be sending a man to the State Senate that will serve the welfare of this area.

READ GOVERNOR CHANDLER'S ANTI-LIQUOR-RECORD

As Governor He Has Done More to Help the Temperance Cause In Kentucky THAN any Other Governor for the Last 3 Administrations.

1. IS MR. CHANDLER A PERSONAL ABSTAINER? Yes, Mr. Chandler is a total abstainer and has been all of his lifetime. He never indulges in the use of any intoxicant under any circumstance. THIS IS MORE THAN CAN BE SAID FOR THE LAST TWO GOVERNORS.
2. LEGISLATIVE PRAYER FELLOWSHIP BREAKFASTS: Gov. Chandler and Lt. Gov. Waterfield not only attended these meetings, but participated in giving talks, devotionals and public prayers many, many times. These Prayer Fellowship Breakfasts enjoyed unusually good attendance on the part of the members of the Legislature and other elected and appointed state officials.
3. DRY OFFICE PARTIES ON STATE PROPERTY: At the request of the Temperance League, Gov. Chandler issued an Executive order forbidding the use of alcohol at Christmas office party celebrations in state-owned buildings in Kentucky; anyone disobeying this order is subject to immediate dismissal. IN OUR KNOWLEDGE NO OTHER GOVERNOR HAS HAD THE COURAGE TO ISSUE SUCH A DIRECTIVE.
4. INCREASED LIQUOR TAXES: A bill was passed in the 1956 Legislature to increase liquor taxes in Kentucky. In spite of terrific pressure from the liquor traffic and many distillery unions, Gov. Chandler refused to veto the measure. A bill to repeal this liquor tax was successfully repulsed in the 1958 Legislature. The Liquor Traffic raised such a furor over this bill that they threatened to move out of the state, to which threat Gov. Chandler said "Let them move." He also stated that their continued agitation might help to bring about a state-wide prohibition measure. THERE ARE RUMORS THAT THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC BEGAN TO LAY PLANS AT THAT TIME TO DEFEAT THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION BECAUSE GOV. CHANDLER REFUSED TO VETO THE LIQUOR TAX BILL.
5. LIQUAR LEGISLATION REPULSED. At the request of the Temperance League, Gov. Chandler has many, many times helped to resist legislation that would have been detrimental to the Temperance cause. ONE SUCH BILL IF PASSED, WOULD HAVE REDUCED THE PENALTY ON THE SELLER OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES TO MINORS, BUT WOULD HAVE IN ALL PRACTICAL EFFECT MADE A CRIMINAL OUT OF THE MINOR.
6. NO BEER SALES DURING THE KENTUCKY STATE FAIR: For many years the Temperance League attempted to stop the selling of beer during the Kentucky State Fair, but to no avail. They had almost lost heart in this matter in trying to work with former administrations, but in the late fall of 1956 they approached Gov. Chandler and he agreed to use his influence with the State Fair Board. After some negotiating, the Board agreed to eliminate the sale of beer during the Fair. The 1957 and 1958 State Fairs were dry from the sale of beer on its midways for the first time since the days of prohibition. 1959 WILL ALSO SEE THE BEER BAN IN EFFECT ON THE MIDWAY AT THE STATE FAIR. THEY ALREADY HAVE THE COMMITMENT.

Governor Clements Dealt the Worst Blow To the Temperance Cause By Passing a Bill To Injure the Local Option Law.

Never Before Have the Friends of Temperance in Kentucky Been Helped as Much as by the Chandler-Waterfield Administration.

The sad and sorry story of the three tin soldiers who now court our school teachers . . .

EARLE, BERT AND ROBERT

THIS IS EARLE:

Early in 1950, Kentucky public school teachers staged a march on Frankfort to request Governor Earle C. Clements to raise their salaries and more adequately finance the State's common schools. Governor Clements refused and described his visitors as both "illiterate" and "irresponsible."

On March 20, 1950, the Louisville Courier-Journal reported: "Nineteen thousand teachers are fighting mad at Earle Clements and will dedicate their voting future to his political banishment."

THIS IS BERT:

Many people have wondered why Bert Combs is running again as a candidate for Governor. He seldom takes part in public affairs and belongs to no civic organizations—not even the PTA. The Louisville Courier-Journal gives this reason for his candidacy:

"The answer lies not so much in Combs as in wily, ponderous, secretive Earle Chester Clements, former Governor, Senator, and acknowledged power behind the Combs campaign (Dec. 30, 1958)."

THIS IS ROBERT:

Dr. Robert A. Martin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, decided last year to have a fling in politics. He was criticized severely, throughout Kentucky for not resigning as head of Kentucky's public school system when he became campaign manager for Bert Combs, Democratic candidate for Governor. Even Wilson Wyatt, who is running with Combs, said (Sept. 5, 1958):

"It is deeply distressing and just plain disgraceful that our schools are the injured parties. When Combs appointed Dr. Martin, I immediately urged Martin to resign his education post to avoid plunging our schools into politics. Martin scorned the advice and pleas of Kentucky citizens and has immorally led Kentucky's school system into the political arena."

The fair-minded Louisville newspapers took exception to Robert's conduct, too.

Said the Louisville Times (Sept. 5, 1958): "Dr. Martin, doubling in brass as Combs campaign chairman, is in no position to hold himself out as an innocent victim of political sniping. He himself is up to his ears in politics in a manner that threatens to drag the whole school system down with him."

Said the Courier-Journal, which found itself in the strange position of agreeing with Governor Chandler (July 22, 1958): "Governor Chandler has called on Dr. Martin to resign his post as Superintendent of Public Instruction now that he has accepted the job of managing Bert Combs' campaign. Dr. Martin should do so."

Later, the Courier-Journal, taking note of the fact that G. M. Pedley had resigned as Commissioner of the State Department of Public Relations to serve as publicity chairman for Candidate Harry Lee Waterfield, was moved to comment (Sept. 11, 1958):

"Mr. Pedley, by his decision to take himself off the State payroll, is in direct contrast to the conduct of Dr. Martin who insists in remaining in his influential $12,000 a year job while managing the campaign of Bert Combs. The contrast between the conduct of Dr. Martin and Mr. Pedley will not, we suspect, be lost on Kentucky voters."

BEN J. BUTLER'S BATTLE RECORD IN THE APENNINES

The winter of 1944-45 was a hard one. We were in the Apennine mountains in Italy, only ten miles from Bologna and the Po Valley. The Germans shifted their main strength around Highway 65, where we were trying to break through. They had seventy-two battalions including such foes as the Hermann Goering Division and the dreaded S. S. Troops. They were aided by a strong wind, drizzling rains, cold weather, poor roads and, finally a heavy snow that forced us to halt the advance and dig in for the winter.

Capt. Ben J. Butler, Milton, Ky., had been promoted to Lt. Colonel and made Commanding Officer of the 2nd Battalion of the 168th "Rainbow" Regiment of the 34th Infantry Division.

The roads leading to our front line positions were almost impassable. The men in the outfit traveled on foot and carried their supplies and weapons on their backs. To maintain these supplies, the Fifth Army organized mule trains, each mule being led to the front after dark by an Italian soldier. The mountain passes were covered with snow and ice and we would often hear stories of mules slipping and tumbling over the hillsides with medical supplies, food, and sometimes our mail.

Col. Butler had strong infantry legs. He could be seen climbing the mountains and checking the positions of the doughboy. However, the Apennines soon proved to be too much for him. The Achilles tendon in his right leg gave away and it became difficult for him to walk. One could hear this tendon squeaking like a dry board for fifty feet.

Col. Henry C. Hine, Jr., Regimental Commander, heard of Butler's disability. He came forward to the Battalion C. P. and said to Butler, "You will have to give up the battalion and be evacuated to the rear." Butler looked at the superior officer and then turned his eyes to an Italian soldier leading a pack mule down the hill.

"Colonel Hine, will you get me that mule?" he asked.

The Colonel persuaded the Italian to surrender his mule to Butler. Butler thanked the Colonel, climbed on his mule, and proceeded to look after his battalion. He named the mule "RE-CLASS". We had men from almost every state in the Union. They were all proud of their Kentucky Colonel.

Butler proved himself a leader. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Unit Citation, Silver Star, Purple Heart, Bronze Star, Combat Infantry Badge and eight other medals. By the end of the fighting, he had better than 400 days of front line combat.

He is now a Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor. We that know Butler feel that the people of Kentucky could justly be as proud of him today, as we were the day he elected to stick with us through thick and thin in the Apennines.

... AND NOURISH A FEW FOR YOU

The people of Floyd county, faced with the need for decision, have made it with near-unanimity to support Bert Combs for Governor. The choice could never have been otherwise. In time of crisis, political or economic, the good judgment of people ever remains paramount.

Our people, afflicted with unemployment and stagnant coal industry upon which our economic life depends, stands at a crossroad. One road leads to Frankfort with a citizen of Floyd county as Governor and the other leads farther into the morass of defeat and distress with a resident of Western Kentucky as the Governor.

There is no middle road, no escape from the choice of path. We either support our own for Governor and trust that he will accomplish things for us or we vote for a resident of Western Kentucky whose own newspaper says he is for Western Kentucky First.

There are those, however, who disagree with us. They, of course, have a legal right to vote for Harry Lee Waterfield for Governor. We deny their moral right to do so. We insist that the loyalty of every Floyd county voter belongs to its own son, its own candidate.

No job with the state, no favor extended to any person by Happy Chandler or Harry Lee Waterfield transcends this obligation of loyalty to Bert Combs. He is ours, he's our neighbor and friend. To fight Bert Combs because a man has a job with the state, has received favors from the state or expects preferment from the Chandler-Waterfield administration is disloyalty to the hope and vision of our people.

There are those who say they owe their offices to the Chandler-Waterfield Administration. We say it is not so. It was the people of Floyd county who elected every official in the courthouse. To vote against the people who now trust and support Bert Combs is ingratitude to the very people who elected them.

If you disagree with us we ask that you examine yourself. Are you voting for Harry Lee Waterfield because you have a job, received a personal favor or expect one in the future? Can you look your friends, most of them supporters of Bert Combs, in their eyes as you go about your daily work? Do you feel that you are loyal to your relatives, friends and neighbors who are supporting Bert Combs?

We are not bitter because a few support Harry Lee Waterfield. It is you who will become bitter as the years creep along and friends and neighbors of Governor Bert T. Combs keep you in remembrance of your support of a Western Kentuckian against our own Floyd county candidate.

You know, our people have a long memory. Your support of Harry Lee Waterfield against Bert Combs is a wound that will not heal for a long time. There are those who say it will be a generation or two before the scars are gone.

To you, who owe your livelihood to the voters of Floyd county, to you who have been entrusted to office by our people, we say we are entitled to support in our struggle to elect a Governor from Floyd county. We are not entitled to a slap in the face or a knife in the dark.

If you insist on disagreeing with us, if you still cling to your bare legal right to support a Western Kentuckian against an Eastern Kentuckian, then, we say, depart and live with what peace of mind the years will allow you.

As for us we will nourish our own memories.

THREE FROM FLOYD COUNTY IN COURT OF MAY QUEEN

Pikeville, Ky. April 27 (Spl.)—Three Floyd countians will be in the 12-member court which attends Pikeville College's May queen and king at 8 p.m. Friday.

Norma Jean Slone, McDowell, a junior at Pikeville, will be one of six attendants to May Queen Rosalie Rowe, of Phyllis. Among their male escorts will be Paul R. Setser, sophomore from Auxier, and William McCoy, Jr., Weeksbury freshman.

Installed as king in the ceremony in the college gymnasium will be Clay Dotson, Kelsa, Va., a Pikeville junior. The royal pair will reign over the annual May Festival pageant, titled this year "Dream Medley," it was announced by Dr. A. A. Page, college president.

Songs and dances by some 300 Pikeville students, from the first grade of the affiliated elementary school through seniors, will make up most of the hour-long program. Six men and six women who ranked high in student balloting when the king and queen were chosen from Pikeville's student body will attend the royal couple at the coronation.

The May queen, who expects to qualify for a high-school teacher's certificate on receiving her degree at commencement May 31, is a graduate of Pikeville College Academy, Pikeville's former preparatory department. She is completing the requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Education degree, with major work in English and minor work in commerce.

Throughout her eight years at Pikeville, in academy and college, she has been prominent in musical and dramatic activities, with featured parts in "H. M. S. Pinafore" and "The Pirates of Penzance" when they were presented in recent seasons.

Dotson, who also is working toward the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education and a high-school teacher's certificate, is president of the Pikeville College Student Council. A member of the Pikeville Bears baseball squad for the past two years, he is a member of the college's Letterman's Club. The only senior among the attendants is Pejo P. Peeff, Harlan, Ky. The court of 12 includes six juniors, Gwendolyn Adkins, Whitehouse, Ky.; Phyllis Ann Burchett, Gulnare, Ky.; Alice Carolyn "Penny" McCoy, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Miss Slone; Jimmy B. Day, Roxana, Ky., and Samuel J. McNeil, Moorestown, N. J.

Basketball and baseball star Setser is the only sophomore in the honor court. Freshman among the attendants are Louise Goff, Stone, Ky.; Evelyn Ison, Pikeville; Jimmy R. Fletcher, McVeigh, Ky., and McCoy.

Miss Slone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Helton Slone, is a graduate of McDowell high school. Setser, a basketball and baseball star at Auxier high school before his graduation there in 1957, is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Setser, and McCoy, who was graduated last year from Wheelwright high school, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McCoy.

State Med Group Seeks Complete Immunization; Family Checks Requested

A concerted effort to secure complete immunization of Kentuckians against communicable disease is being conducted by the Kentucky State Medical Association during Immunization Week, May 3-9.

Dr. Dalmaz M. Clardy, Hopkinsville, who is chairman of the KSMA Committee on Public Health, urges every Kentucky family to check its immunization needs and to take advantage of the protection given by immunization.

During the coming week, a special effort will be made by the Association to acquaint Kentuckians with the importance of the protection offered them by the Salk vaccine and, also, the familiar stand-by preventive immunization against typhoid, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and smallpox.

Of particular importance is the fact that only 40% of the population under 20 years of age has had the complete series of three injections for preventive measures against polio. It is up to the people over 20 to see that these people under 20 are properly inoculated as well as themselves, Dr. Clardy said. The series of polio shots is recommended for all under 46 years of age.

"The need for immunization of pre-school age children for protection against diphtheria and whooping cough will be stressed," said Dr. Clardy. "Since most deaths from these two diseases occur under the ages of five and two respectively, if parents wait until their children enter school, they are taking a grave risk."

"Immunization Week" is one of many projects sponsored by the KSMA in the interest of securing better health for Kentuckians.

Combs Wins $17,500 For Magoffin Man

I live at Bradley in Magoffin County, Kentucky. I hear that some people are trying to claim that Bert Combs is a company lawyer, and will not take the part of the laboring man. I am a laboring man, and my own experience would convince anybody that this story is false.

On September 25, 1956, while I was working at public works at Ashland, an explosion and fire occurred in the Ashland Oil and Refining Company refinery. I was severely burned and seriously injured.

I could not work and my family and I were in desperate circumstances. I went to Bert T. Combs and he took my case. He brought a suit in the Boyd Circuit Court against the company, and I received $17,500.00 through his efforts. That is what he did for one laboring man.

Combs In War and Peace

The more facts I learn about Bert Combs the more I like and respect him.

During World War II, when Bert's most fervent opponents were busy at home with domestic affairs, building their political careers and making private fortunes, Bert Combs was overseas, in the Philippines, serving his country.

After the war, he had to start from scratch, provide for his family and rebuild his law practice. Even so, he still managed to take an active part in many civic activities. He became city attorney of Prestonsburg, commonwealth's attorney, a trustee of Campbellsville College, organized the Floyd Overseas Veterans, and incorporated the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5839 at Prestonsburg. He was an active member of the American Legion and the "40 and 8," an active Kiwanian, Mason, and member of the Baptist Church, and president of the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children. He organized the Floyd Federal Savings and Loan Association and is now its president. He built one of the largest law practices in Eastern Kentucky and is known throughout the state for his ability and fairness.

He was appointed judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals in 1951 and was elected to a full term in 1952. Bert Combs pledged to rid this state of the obnoxious 2 per cent assessment of state employees for political purposes and to place all state employees on a civil service system. He is going to build roads based on competent advisers.

Alben Barbley supported Bert Combs in his first race for governor. This is proof positive of Bert Combs' worthiness.

HOWELL GETS A $25,000 ROAD... HUNGRY PEOPLE GET NOTHING

Last week Chandler man, Jerry Fonce Howell, wrote an article in the Floyd County Times trying to defend the Copperas Creek road on Johns Creek. It was an article of deceit and the people know it.

This road costs $25,000.00 and there is not a single house on the road except a house owned by Jerry Fonce Howell. Not a single person can profit by this road except Jerry Fonce Howell because he owns the land the road leads to. Is he going to sell this land to the state at a big price? Is this the great Road Building program the Chandler-Waterfield people all talk about? Did you have a $25,000.00 road built up your creek this year?

Jerry Fonce Howell also wrote that the Kiwanis Club of Prestonsburg requested that the Copperas Creek road be built. The Kiwanis Club denies this and in a letter in this paper so states. Of course Jerry Fonce Howell knew this when he wrote the article but this kind of deceit is typical of the Chandler-Waterfield gang and Jerry Fonce Howell is a ring leader of the Chandler-Waterfield gang. He knows how to deceive! Senator Howell, are you trying to cover up your scandal by deceit.

Jerry Fonce Howell is now working in state Headquarters for Waterfield and why not? He gets the gravy from that bunch but the people of Floyd county get nothing but mud-holes and Chandler promises.

If Jerry Fonce Howell is so concerned about the people of Floyd County why didn't he get the Chandler-Waterfield administration to extend unemployment compensation 13 weeks? If he got a $25,000.00 road built why not pay the unemployed of our section their compensation? Is it because all the money is going to build Jerry Roads while hundreds of our people are unemployed and children are going hungry?

Bert Combs will put an end to this kind of business when he is elected Governor. Jerry Howell and the rest of the Chandler-Waterfield gang will be put out of power and the people will be given good, honest, progressive government.

Bert Combs is a Floyd county man who knows our problems and Floyd countians are overwhelming supporting Bert Combs. It is easy to see why Jerry Fonce Howell and a few job-holders are supporting a man who lives 550 miles from Floyd county for when you are getting the gravy it's hard to break away.

Every man must live with his own conscience. Jerry Fonce Howell knows best how he can live with his after he deserted his own people to profit personally by his association with the Chandler-Waterfield Administration. He knows how he can justify himself, if it is possible to do so, after seeking to mislead the voters by such deceit through misstatements and inference in his full page advertisement.

As for us we are loyal to the people of Floyd county, to Bert Combs who is our neighbor and champion and above all, by supporting a Floyd county man we are loyal to ourselves.

The Sept. 22 letter is eight pages and it is noted that more and more of his letters were getting longer and longer, a few running to nine pages. Always he talked of undying love for his wife, discussed the immediate members of his family, calculated to the months he still had to serve. In the last letter his wife had remarked that he had a year to serve. He corrected her to say it was only a little over 11 months.

He mailed the two-cent stamps back as he had no use for them. She could put them on newspapers for him if there was any news of particular interest.

"The Cupboard Is Bare"

CHANDLER AND WATERFIELD TURN BACKS ON HUNGRY PEOPLE

(An Editorial in THE KENTUCKY LABOR NEWS)

Congress has just voted to extend extra unemployment benefits until July to the states that extended unemployment benefits for thirteen additional weeks last year.

Governor Chandler did not call a special session of the legislature to take up the question of extending benefits to Kentucky's unemployed families. And Lieutenant Governor Waterfield, now seeking the post of governor, was unconcerned enough about the unemployed and their families that he let many opportunities go by to call a session when Governor Chandler was out of the state visiting ball games in Tennessee.

We felt certain that a special session would be called for a long time. When the Governor visited the mountains of Eastern Kentucky in January and saw the pitiful condition existing there, we knew it would come. It didn't, however, and tens of thousands of Kentuckians had a hard winter which the additional thirteen weeks at $34 per week could have improved. ($442 total.)

There was an obvious buckpassing game going on between the Governor and some of the members of the legislature. They would consider it if he would call a session, and he would call a session if they would agree beforehand to pass it—and so on and on . . .

It reminded us of the recipe for rabbit stew. "First you catch the rabbit!" Before a bill could be passed, a meeting had to be called—and it wasn't. . .

And so, with workers in Indiana and Ohio and West Virginia and many other states getting the extra extended benefits for their people because they took action, we are without them.
