This Town— That World

Next Tuesday, as you may have suspected, is election day. Everybody has talked a hot campaign—but next Tuesday is the time when we all are to exercise our privilege and perform our duty as plain, ordinary American citizens, and vote.

By all means, vote—and vote as you please, without fear of reprisal or retaliation, as free women and men, citizens of a free land.

We cease to enjoy freedom to the extent that we do not participate in the privileges freedom guarantees us. The reality of democracy is diminished to the extent that the ballot goes unused, leaving the "Voice of the People" mute as pertaining to a large segment of the population, and giving the remaining portion of the population the choice that belongs to all of us.

But, you say, one vote doesn't count for much. But it does. It represents your mind and heart and your concept of government. Besides, it doesn't count at all if it isn't cast.

KINNEY TAKEN AT PIKEVILLE

Service Station Escapee Was Charged with Rape; Alleged Forger Arrested

Sol Kinney, the Pike county man who escaped custody here Wednesday evening of last week while being returned to Pikeville from Detroit, was captured late last Thursday at Pikeville.

Kinney escaped through a service station rest-room window while his bondsman, Frank Soward, and Dee Caldwell, Pikeville policeman, stood outside. The two men had gone to Detroit to return Kinney to Pike county to answer a rape charge after he had forfeited $1,000 bond.

Traffic at the county jail here was heavy over the week-end as 29 were jailed during the period beginning last Thursday. Most were booked for drunkenness.

One of those arrested, Jack Shepherd, of the Salt Lick section of the county, was taken before the U.S. commissioner at Pikeville to answer to a moonshine whiskey possession charge. Shepherd was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Joe Wheeler Lewis, Paul Lucas and Harold Johnson.

Clyde Vanderpool, of Magoffin county, was arrested last Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Lucas and Constable Bud Lawson and held here for Michigan authorities. He is charged with check forgery.

Jailed Sunday were Ellis Stone on a reckless driving count and Taylor Prater, who was accused of drunk driving and possession of illegal liquor.

NEW VIOLENCE IN MINE AREA IS REPORTED

Letcher County, Center Of Sniping, Dynamiting; Trouble Is In 11th Week

Violence continued in the mine field Wednesday with the destruction of a non-union blacksmith shop at Colson. Operators appealed to Gov. Chandler for extra State Police to guard non-union operations.

Sniping with rifles and the hurling of dynamite stepped up the violence of the Eastern Kentucky coal field this week as miners sought to organize scores of non-union truck mines in the area. Locale of the violence centered mostly in Letcher county.

Shotgun pellets struck Courtney Adams in the face Tuesday while he was driving toward Ice Ramp near Whitesburg. Gunmen shot out three tires on the truck, then wounded Adams when the vehicle plunged off the highway.

Kodak Coal Company in Perry county, owned by Stamper Collins, was under fire Tuesday for the second consecutive day. Collins said that three or four men were shooting at him and he and his men returned the fire.

A dynamite blast forced the closing of a non-union mine tiple near Whitesburg Monday as the strike entered its 11th week. The explosion ripped up 50 feet of railroad track leading to the tiple, causing an estimated $10,000 damage.

Mrs. Virginia Collins, the owner, said she planned to close down until the track is repaired. She also reported an unsuccessful attempt to dynamite the tiple early Sunday. A dynamite bomb thrown by an unidentified man shattered windows in nearby houses.

Mrs. Collins said a tiple guard spotted the man running down the tracks and opened fire. He threw the bomb and fled, she added.

The U.M.W. is forbidden by court order to resort to violence or picketing in its attempts to sign operators to a new contract. It provides a $2 daily wage raise to $24.25 and forbids operators to handle non-union coal.

The union also faces a hearing in Lexington July 15 on National Labor Relation Board charges of unfair labor practices during the strike.

Stamper Collins said he and other operators decided to double their guards after shots whistled . . . See Story No. 2, Page 6.

PRODUCE FIRM JOB STARTED

Work Now Under Way To Modernize Structure; Early Experiences Told

The Brown Produce Company building on Third street is undergoing work which will convert it into a two-story brick-and-block structure.

After a 60-foot brick front and concrete block walls are extended back 70 feet, the wooden structure now housing the building will be removed. The rear wall of the building also will be of block.

Second floor of the building will be used as a wareroom. Two offices, freezer space and the poultry preparation department will occupy the first floor. Present freezer facilities will not be moved but will be increased. The company already has 18,000 cubic feet of freezer space.

The business, which was founded here 16 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. George D. Brown, at first was devoted only to handling eggs and poultry. The first week in business, the husband and wife sold 240 dozen eggs. Now, at peak season, Brown Produce sells three carloads a week. It currently is selling a carload of fryers a week, a carload of fish per month and from 15,000 to 20,000 pounds of butter a week.

Brown now is a distributor for more than 400 different items, has four salesmen and covers an area of nine Kentucky counties, one in West Virginia and four in Virginia.

Recently, when the firm assumed the distributorship of peanut butter for a Michigan producer the manufacturer received the jolting but pleasing news that Brown's salesman had, the first week, sold 20 tons of the product.

Senate Confirms Price To Mine Safety Board

Edwin R. Price, former manager of coal properties of the Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright, and for years an Eastern Kentucky business and civic leader, has been confirmed by the U. S. Senate to serve another term as a member of the Federal Coal Mine Safety Board of Review.

His new term on the board will expire July 15, 1962. Mr. Price was first appointed to the board soon after his retirement as an Inland Steel official.

COMBS-WYATT STATE'S HOPE

Says Perkins in Speech At Wheelwright Rally; Crowd Placed at 400

Congressman Carl D. Perkins told a crowd estimated at 400 at a Combs-Wyatt rally at Wheelwright Saturday night that Bert Combs, of Prestonsburg, and Wilson Wyatt represent the hopes of Kentucky for good government.

Turning on the present state administration and Combs' opponent, Harry Lee Waterfield, the Congressman accused Governor Chandler and Waterfield of playing politics with the miners' hospital legislation, a bad right-to-work record and callousness toward labor in their failure to extend the period of unemployment compensation at a time when many workers had lost their jobs.

He also said the state administration's liaison with Kentucky members of Congress had broken down and that, as a result, Kentucky had not benefited as it should through federal help.

The youth rally staged in connection with the meeting was the second held at Wheelwright for the Combs-Wyatt ticket, John C. McNeil, Jr., chairman of arrangements for the rally, said.

Martin Firm Installing Two-Way Radio System; Emergency Use Is Seen

A new two-way radio system will soon be added to the growing number in use in this county. Latest one planned to be installed will be by the Hall Bros. Funeral Home, of Martin, according to Johnny Hall, of the firm.

Hall said that mobile units will include all cars and ambulances of the funeral home and that the necessary tower was being erected on the mountain back of Martin. Installation will be completed in about 30 days, he said. It is the first funeral home in the region to be so served, it was noted.

BABE'S BODY IS RECOVERED

By Floyd Rescue Squad While Dragging River For Drowning Victim

Assistance of the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad was enlisted last week-end by South Shore, Ky., residents who for a week had unsuccessfully sought to recover the body of Beecher Bentley, 28, of Garrison, Ky., who drowned in the Ohio at South Shore, May 9.

Body of Bentley not only was found while the Floyd group was dragging the river but that of a week-old babe also was recovered by a member of the squad. Actual discovery of Bentley's body was made by a resident of the South Shore vicinity at 10:15 a. m., Sunday.

Fifteen members of the Floyd group engaged in the search, beginning last Friday morning. They took with them five boats, three motors and two trucks. Patrol of the Ohio from the scene of the drowning to Lock 31, seven miles downstream, was made. Bentley drowned when he toppled from a boat in mid-stream.

AGREED ORDER SUIT RESULT

Combs-Wyatt Group Wins Precinct Challengers Candidates Sign Suit

An agreed order granting the Floyd county Combs-Wyatt organization one Democratic challenger as requested in 57 of the county's 61 voting precincts was entered Tuesday, a day after suit had been filed in the Floyd circuit court by 25% of the Democratic candidates to force such action.

The petition, prepared by Combs & Combs and W. W. Burchett, was signed by the following primary candidates: Joseph W. Schneider, Carlos Oakley, Emerson Beauchamp, Pearl Runyon, John B. Breckinridge, Henry Carter, Wilson Wyatt, Bert Combs, James L. Delk, Adlai W. Stephens, E. Neville Browning, John W. Mullins, Mrs. Robin Belcher Crouch, Ralph E. McClanahan, Robert Damron, Roy A. Redmond, Burnis Martin, Elbert Rodkins.

The suit was filed against Jerry Fonce Howell, chairman, and Lon C. Hill, secretary, of the Floyd county Democratic committee.

Hill said Tuesday that the suit was unnecessary, that he had previously agreed to give the Combs-Wyatt organization requested challengers. He classed the action a "smear."

Mayor Buys First Buddy Poppy

The first Buddy Poppy sold in the drive for funds sponsored locally by Walter Karr Bowling Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was sold to Mayor Bill Napier, here shown receiving a poppy at Radio Station WDOC from Bonnie, Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Osborne. Mr. Osborne (rear) is Dewey reservoir manager for the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers, and last week was elected commander of the 13th district, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mayor Napier in a proclamation designated Tuesday, May 26, as Buddy Poppy Day, pointing out that "the major portion of funds so raised will be used in the local community" on behalf of needy or disabled veterans and their families. He asked for the Poppy Day sale "the support of all our citizens and I call upon all to wear a Buddy Poppy as evidence of our gratitude to the men of the nation who gave their lives in defense of the freedoms which we continue to enjoy as American citizens."

Rodney Bussey Fifth Recipient Of Reatherford-Salyers Award As Outstanding Athlete Here

The fifth recipient of the Reatherford-Salyers Award, given annually to the outstanding Prestonsburg High School senior athlete is Rodney Bussey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Bussey, of David.

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce initiated the award in 1955 in memory of two young Prestonsburg athletes, Donald Gene Reatherford and Woodrow Salyers, who lost their lives in a locker-room accident in 1955.

The winner, according to Jaycee President Frank Heinze, is selected on a basis of leadership, ability, cooperation, honesty, church work, student government, conduct, citizenship and character. A secret seven-man committee makes the final selection each year from among athletes nominated by the school.

The name of the winner is engraved on a four-foot bronze plaque, mounted on a wall near the entrance to the Prestonsburg gymnasium, and a trophy is presented to the athlete thus honored.

Bussey has been a halfback on the football team for the past three seasons, a guard on the basketball team for two seasons and an outfielder on the baseball team for three years.

Previous award winners have been: Bert Dixon, 1955; Lowell Hughes, 1956; James Buford Crager, 1957; Paul P. Hughes, 1958.

COMBS-WYATT BLASTED HERE

Governor, Here Saturday, Flays Combs' Character; Says Waterfield To Win

Governor A. B. Chandler lashed out at Bert Combs in Combs' home town, Prestonsburg, in a speech at the courthouse Saturday afternoon, and at the same time took to task Combs' running-mate, Wilson Wyatt.

It was a platform performance characteristic of the Governor's campaign style, and there was never a dull moment. He referred to Combs as "the Little Judge," to Wyatt as "Ankle Blanks," and to former Governor Clements and Wetherby as Clementine and Wetherbine.

Chandler declared Bert Combs was a Republican "when he started out" in Clay county, devoted an early part of his speech to a discussion of Mr. Combs' church membership and branded him "a hypocrite and a liar, too!"

The Floyd county candidate, he said, "is so close to Clementine that every time Clementine gets indigestion the Little Judge takes bicarbonate of soda."

Turning on Wyatt, he attacked the candidate on his A.D.A. record and that organization's theories, including that of birth control. "If you put these fellows in," he said, "you might get your baby out of a test tube, you might pick him off of a log down here in some hollow some place," Chandler told the gathering.

In a discussion of his own administration's record, the Governor declared, "You've got in Kentucky today the best operated state government in the United States." He claimed credit for defeating the Right-to-Work bill and for repulsing attacks on mine safety, the miners' welfare fund and their hospitals.

Chandler described as "fantastic" the industrial development in Kentucky in the last four years. He defended his income tax leg-

Prestonsburg Student At Georgetown College Named To Assistantship

Georgetown, Ky., May 15 (Spl.)—Joe Isbell, of Prestonsburg, has been named the recipient of a graduate assistantship in botany at the University of Tennessee, according to word received from Dr. A. J. Sharp, head of the Botany Department at the university.

Mr. Isbell will begin his graduate work at Tennessee this September. His grant carries a $1,000 stipend and is renewable as long as he continues his post-graduate work. He is a native of Prestonsburg, and was graduated from Prestonsburg high school in the class of 1955. The honor student is the son of Mrs. Ruth Isbell, of Prestonsburg.

UMW HOSPITAL IS ASSESSED

Judge Stumbo Protests Action of Supervisors; Conley Recommends Tax

The Floyd County Board of Tax Supervisors last Thursday voted to levy a $516,000 property tax on the United Mine Workers Memorial hospital at McDowell which thus became the first UMW hospital in Kentucky to have a tax levied against it.

Tax Commissioner Manis Conley said he recommended that the hospital be assessed, adding that he had learned that the Miners Memorial Hospital Association already has been assessed on its Wise, Va. hospital.

County Judge Henry Stumbo protested the assessment, pointing out that no other Kentucky county has levied a tax on these hospitals and that Floyd county should not be the first. County Attorney Robert S. Wellman said he also protested the assessment but this was disputed by the Tax Commissioner.

Tax Commissioner Conley said the County Attorney suggested, after the assessment entry had been made, that a ruling should be procured from the State Department of Revenue on the legality of such taxation. Conley said he would be glad to have a decision on the matter, so that the supervisors in the future could assess or disregard this property altogether.

Wellman said he pointed out that the State Revenue Department in 1952 held that the UMW hospitals are tax-free and that that ruling has never been changed.

The County Attorney added that the UMW attorney and doctors at the McDowell hospital would confirm the facts as to the protest he made.

Conley also branded as untrue the statement made in a daily newspaper story last week that the Department of Revenue and federal tax authorities granted tax exemption to the hospital last year. He said the board of supervisors last year declined to make any such assessment.

The assessment figures on the McDowell hospital: Hospital, drug store, cafeteria and nurse's . . . See Story No. 7, Page 6.

NEXT TUESDAY TO BE CLIMAX OF HOT FIGHT

Total of 24,277 Persons Qualified To Vote; Heavy Balloting Is Anticipated

The fate of 78 candidates—56 Democrats and 22 Republicans—will be decided by next Tuesday's primary election.

The day will mark the end of a bitter Democratic campaign for the gubernatorial nomination and will climax what is believed by many to have been the most hotly contested election campaign ever staged in the long political history of Floyd county.

Although a heavy vote is expected over the state, the campaign has in no other county generated heat approaching that of the Floyd fight. In this county, voting registration records show, 20,320 Democrats and 3,957 Republicans are eligible to vote in the primary. The voting may not exceed half that total, however.

The names of candidates appear below, in the order in which they will appear on their respective ballots:

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

AUTO MISHAP KILLS HALO

Halo Man Is Victim In Michigan, Saturday; Details Are Unavailable

Carlos Edward Halo, 21 years old, formerly of Halo, died at Shelton Memorial hospital, Albion, Mich., Saturday morning, a few hours after he was injured in an auto wreck there. He suffered a broken neck and internal injuries.

Few particulars of the tragedy are available. It was said that a man named Isaacs, also from this county, was driving the car and that Halo was in the rear seat at the time of the wreck. Isaacs was badly hurt, this report said.

Victim of the wreck was a son of Mrs. Belva Hall Johnson and the late Noah Hall. He leaves his mother, his widow, Mrs. Connie Ralston Hall, one half-brother, Homer Johnson, of Halo, and five sisters, Mrs. Hazel Wright, Albion, Mich., Miss Lily Mae Hall, of McDowell, Fay, Susie and Molly Hall, all of Halo.

The body was returned to Halo where funeral rites were conducted from the Jack's Creek Regular Baptist Church Tuesday by the Revs. R. B. McCreary, Jerry Hall and George Cook. Burial was made on Jacks Creek under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

NEW STUDENT GRANTS MADE BY COAL FIRMS

College scholarship awards made last week brought to 120 the number of youths from Floyd and nearby counties who have been given college education opportunities by two Floyd county coal companies.

The Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright, which began its scholarship program in 1940, in granting three scholarships brought the total of its grant recipients to 45.

The Princess Elkhorn Coal Division of Princess Coals, Inc., David, last Friday announced the winners of its 15th annual scholarship awards. The five winners this year bring to 75 the number of grants made to outstanding graduating seniors in Floyd and Johnson county high schools.

Twelve students attended college during the past year with assistance from Princess Coals, Inc. Four are at Pikeville College, one attends Berea, another is at Union College, and five are studying at the University of Kentucky.

This year's awards went to: Miss Judith Carol Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dixon, of West Prestonsburg; four-year grant to Pikeville College. James Donald Wills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wills, of David; four-year grant for the study of engineering at the University of Kentucky. John Alban Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon C. Hill, of Prestonsburg; four-year grant for the study of electrical engineering. Rodney Bussey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Bussey, of David; four-year grant to Berea College. Roger Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Blair, of West Van Lear; four-year grant to the University of Kentucky for the study of civil engineering. All of the recipients of the awards . . . ### Arts, Crafts Fair Set At Historic Site; Folk Festival Is Scheduled

The week preceding July 4, dedication day for Cumberland Gap National Park, Mrs. Winnie F. Johns will open an arts and craft fair on the old road site near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom James, North Prestonsburg. The Floyd County Historical Society met there last summer and the first arts and crafts display was presented to the public.

During the week of the exhibit there will be offered to the public a festival of native folk music under the direction of Mrs. Edith F. James, chairman of the Folk Music Department of the Kentucky Federation of Music Clubs.

"The site of the exhibit and festival overlooks Garfield Bottom where Union soldiers were encamped during the Civil War and preceding the Battle of Middle Creek," Mrs. Johns said. "The old trail was much used by early settlers coming to Eastern Kentucky. The site of the exhibit is but one of a few surviving remnants of the pioneer road."

Mrs. Miranda McCoy, 97, Floyd County Native, Dies At West Virginia Home

Mrs. Miranda Caroline McCoy, 97, Floyd county native, died Tuesday night at the home of a son, Ireland McCoy, of Bull Creek, Wayne county, W. Va. She was the last surviving daughter of William and Sarah James McCoy of the Johns Creek section. She was the widow of John B. McCoy who preceded her in death several years ago. She was the last surviving granddaughter of Samuel James and Viney Dean James, pioneer settlers of Johns Creek. It was her father, William (Billy) McCoy, who made the storied ride to Frankfort in 1847 to procure a pardon for Abner James who had been condemned to hang at Louisa for killing William Pruitt while serving as an officer.

Surviving, besides Ireland McCoy, are two daughters, Mrs. Lilly Smith, of Kenova, W. Va., and Mrs. Hattie Puckett, Columbus, O. Thirty-one grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday from the Silver Creek United Baptist Church, of Crum, W. Va., of which she was a member, the Revs. Alvis Varney and Denny Davis officiating. Burial will be made in the McCoy cemetery at Crum.

Chinese Chestnut Growth Subject Of Experiments At Quicksand Substation

When a form of blight wiped out the American chestnut tree about 25 years ago, foresters turned to the Chinese chestnut as a possible replacement. They believed it was resistant to the blight.

Apparently they figured correctly. A planting of Chinese chestnuts, made at the Quicksand Experiment Substation in Breathitt county, is doing very well some 16 years after introduction.

O. M. Davenport and Milton Noble, Experiment Station foresters, said the Chinese chestnuts were put in at the rate of 1,200 seedlings per acre. Now, some 16 years later, about 90 per cent of the original plantings are still alive.

Originally more than 20 percent of the seedling died back, the foresters said, but later they came back in new sproutings. They are now excellent trees though some of them have low-enough forks to reduce their usefulness as lumber trees.

No accurate check on nut production can be made, the testers said, because squirrels got the nuts before the nuts were ripe. But from the large amount of burrs left in the area, "production would be good in this area."

Average diameter of the trees at the end of 1958 was 2.5 inches, the testers said.

Clean-Up Time will officially end in Prestonsburg, Monday. The dates, May 11 to May 25, was designated by Mayor Bill Napier as a 15-day period in which to make the town more beautiful.

Clean-Up Time is sponsored by the Woman's Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis and other organizations. The Woman's Club, through its garden department, has planted a flower bed at the Regional Library grounds here. "Our group is particularly anxious that our city not only clean up but that we will beautify our public grounds," a spokesman said. "The citizens of the community are urged to clean up their own property and to encourage their neighbors to do the same." The Woman's Club continued in a statement. "Owners of vacant lots are urged to cut the weeds. Not only are these overgrown lots urged to cut the weeds, lots offensive to the eye but they are breeding places for rats and snakes. The State Highway Department is being asked to cut the weeds along the right-of-way through town and to remove unsightly junk autos, which also constitute a safety hazard."

The Hatcher Twins Are Campaigning

George Glenn Hatcher, of Prestonsburg, returned this week from a tour of Western Kentucky towns in the interest of his candidacy for State Auditor. Accompanying him on the trip were his twin daughters, Elissa Lee and Elizabeth Lynn, age five, and his wife, the former Lorraine Jarrell, of Prestonsburg. While in Paducah the Hatchers visited the offices of the Paducah Sun-Democrat where a photographer snapped them investigating a typewriter in the front office. "The twins were having a great time," the Sun-Democrat commented, "but Mom is not sure that campaigning with two spirited girls is for her."

THE OLD COMMISSIONER AT BAT!!

Happy Chandler, the old Baseball Commissioner who got fired, took bat in hand here last Saturday, strode to the plate and began taking swipes at Bert Combs.

He took a wild swing at Bert Combs' church membership here in the town where Bert Combs was converted and baptized.

Next, he took a poke at Bert Combs' political faith, as if attacking another human being's faith in God was not enough. He tried to say that the Floyd county man is not a Democrat. His antics at the plate would have been revolting, had they not been so ridiculous.

Then—oh, then!—the Old Commissioner, vowing he himself is a great believer in God, gritted his teeth and launched a mighty roundhouse at Bert Combs in general, calling him a Communist and a liar, and, and— and MIGHTY CHANDLER STRUCK OUT!

Floyd countians, let's show Happy Chandler that he can no longer come to our county and cram any sort of falsehood down our throats. Such talk is an insult to our intelligence — let's show our resentment by supporting and voting for BERT COMBS, our neighbor and friend who will be the next Governor of Kentucky.

Religion and Crime: An Anomaly

This week, as J. Edgar Hoover begins his thirty-sixth year as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, we are reminded by Mr. Hoover himself and by other sources that this nation of ours is in the midst of a great religious revival and at the same time has hit the toboggan-slide of moral decline.

Mr. Hoover is old-fashioned enough to suggest that we adults have a responsibility, that it is not merely the younger generation that is "going to hell," and that the home and the church remain the great telling factors in this matter of good citizenship.

In a recent article in The Reader's Digest William Hard quotes Mr. Hoover as saying that since 1950 the crime rate in the United States has increased four times as fast as the population. The American Bankers Association reported 157 bank robberies in the fiscal year 1957, 270 the next year. The FBI head says that crime costs us $12 for every dollar all our churches cost us. And it's not all major crime, either; nor is it all juvenile crime. It ranges from 100 bombings in one year because of racial and religious prejudice to speeding cases and infractions against the game and fish laws. Add to these thousands of cases of theft, fraud and other examples of plain, unvarnished dishonesty, and you begin to scratch the surface of the cesspool of crime.

And while this is being considered, remember that the most accurate available figures show that 61 per cent of the people in the United States are members of some church.

Land of paradoxes—a country where 61 of every 100 persons maintain church membership, yet where crime grows apace!

Is that an argument against church membership? It is not; it is an argument against what passes as church members. It is an argument against religiosity but it is not an argument against Christianity. Mr. Hard puts it this way: "We have churches uttering religion. We need more people LIVING religion."

And the essence of living a religion is plain, unvarnished Christianity, a day-to-day matter of getting away from the worship of the false idols of power and hate and greed and a whole array of little gods that makes the knees weak and of getting back to the worship of the God who said, "Thou shalt not . . ."

A New York City teacher had 39 pupils whose I.Q.'s were 130 and above. When she asked them "what they would wish for more than anything else in the world," 37 of the 39 named the acquisition of money as the prime aim of their lives.

These 39 brilliant students surely have had a lot of religious teaching. But, somewhere along the line, their parents—as do many others—failed. Wealth, luxury, ease have taken No. 1 place in too many lives, starting with the elders of children like these. And when such things are coveted more than honesty, morality, reverence of God and consideration of others, the individual becomes a part of the rat race that features those slogans, "Survival of the Fittest," "Do Others Before They Do To You," and "Get Yours While the Getting is Good."

Thus the road to national decadence is blazed. Physical vigor is lost in easy living; spiritual strength is dissipated in the love of money and power. America needs both of these bulwarks of strength—how badly, we may not realize until it is too late.

J. Edgar Hoover, with all his years as a participant, not as a mere onlooker, in the war on crime, has seen the helplessness of the law when men scorn the higher Law. He, and we, may be accused of preaching when we speak of something less tangible than cars, television sets and bank accounts, but truth itself is intangible, and we are grateful that such a man directs the activities of the nation's great law-enforcement agency and helps to direct the thinking of the public.

Wins Mock Election At Centre College

Kentucky college students continued to display interest in the approaching primary election in Kentucky and a mock election held at Centre College indicated Bert Combs for governor.

Combs, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, received 176 votes. Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield polled 75.

In the race for the nomination for lieutenant governor, Wilson Wyatt received 190, John Young Brown 30, Mrs. Ben Kilgore 10, J. B. Wells, 10, Ben Butler 5.

The Centre College poll is the fifth one taken on Kentucky campuses. Combs won the mock election at Murray State College, Eastern State College, and Berea. Waterfield captured the poll at Georgetown.

One lady told us she had rheumatic pain so bad she had to walk with a cane most of the time. The joints of her knees and ankles were stiff and sore. Recently she got RUGON and says the pains began to go within a few hours, and now after one week the pain is gone entirely.

RUGON is helping so many victims of rheumatism and neuritis because this NEW Liquid Formula contains Three Wonderful Ingredients. Not a tablet or capsule. RUGON goes to the very source of pain almost at once and costs but a few cents a day to take. So don't go on suffering. Get RUGON at W. A. Rose Drug Co.

Large advertisement for Harry Lee Waterfield. Features the word 'TAX' repeated four times in large letters, followed by 'Save Your Hospitals!' and 'VOTE FOR HARRY LEE WATERFIELD'. Below that, it states '$516,000.00 ASSESSMENT PLACED ON MINERS MEMORIAL HOSPITAL BY COMBS-WYATT COURTHOUSE GANG!!'

Manis Conley, Floyd County Tax Commissioner, a Combs-Wyatt supporter, and uncle of the Floyd County Combs-Wyatt Chairman, placed an assessment of over 1/2 million dollars on the U.M.W. Miners Memorial Hospital at McDowell. At the same time the Prestonsburg candidate for governor listed his property in Prestonsburg, a three story brick home and expensive river side lots at only $2,000.00 ! ! !

The tax assessment was approved despite the protests of the UMW attorney and the advice of the Floyd County Attorney that the assessment was contrary to Kentucky Department of Revenue rulings, and was illegal.

The three man Board of Tax Supervisors, appointed by Combs-Wyatt supporter Henry Stumbo and headed by his close friend, Boone Arnett, approved the assessment and levied the tax. Boone Arnett is closely allied with Dr. George Archer who led the fight to destroy the hospitals at the last session of the legislature. The hospitals were saved through the efforts of Governor Chandler and Harry Lee Waterfield.

The tax commissioner tried unsuccessfully to tax the hospitals last year, but was prevented from doing so by the efforts of Robert Wellman, Floyd County Attorney, a Waterfield supporter.

In Floyd county there is one other group owned hospital. No tax was placed upon it by the tax commissioner.

First State Capitol

The area where Danville now stands was originally visited by pioneers in 1774, with some settlement by 1776. In March, 1785, Danville became the first capital of the Kentucky District of the Commonwealth of Virginia. At Danville, where Kentucky's first political club was formed, were held the first nine constitutional conventions which made Kentucky a commonwealth in 1792, with this city as the first state capital.

Coal, Major Industry

Coal is the major industry in Floyd county. The 1953 figures show that Floyd county ranked 4th among the counties in Eastern Kentucky with a total production of 5,586,543 tons, mined. Approximately 50 per cent of the county's working force is employed in mining. The total economy is based on the coal industry. The gas industry ranks 2nd to coal in importance in the county.

Some accountants say the Federal government has recovered 84 cents on each dollar invested in surplus commodities in the last 25 years.

Mrs. Ballard Allen (nee Peggy Childers) was honored with a household shower, May 9th at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Childers, of Auxier. They entertained as guests Mrs. Onda Lee Wells, Mrs. Ava Lee Allen, Mrs. Byrd Holbrook, Mrs. Neal Allen, Mrs. Faye Music, Mrs. Alice Copley, Mrs. Diana McKenzie, Mrs. Charles Litteral, Mrs. Bascom Harris and daughter Mrs. Robert Morris, Mrs. Troy McKenzie, Mrs. Phillip Childers, Miss Martha Childers, Miss Martha Copley, Miss Sharon Childers, Mrs. Jenny Childers, Mrs. L. G. Mayo, Mrs. Edith Maggard, Mrs. Clifford Childers and daughter, Mrs. Annie Daniels, Mrs. Emma Wilson and daughters, Mrs. Silva Music. Refreshments were served to everyone and many games were played. She received many nice gifts and the thanks everyone.

THE UNANSWERED QUESTIONS

Governor Chandler, here are the questions you DID NOT answer in your speech at Prestonsburg last Saturday:

1. Why did you not help Labor and the unemployed by calling a special session of the General Assembly and by permitting the legislators themselves to write a bill to extend unemployment benefits, as is the custom in a democracy? Other states have done this—why not Kentucky?
2. Why do you earmark for oblivion all who fail to agree with you or refuse to do your bidding? We refer to your threat to call out the militia on the Court of Appeals, your campaign to defeat Doris Owens and others.
3. Whence came the Waterfield campaign funds? Does "voluntary contributions" means that any state worker can refuse to contribute and yet hold his job?
4. Should your administration claim credit for all roads that are being built with unprecedented funds created by a bond issue voted by the people?
5. Did not your newspaper support J. Strom Thurmond, the third-party candidate for president, against President Truman, a Democrat and a good one?
6. Did not your own newspaper oppose the Minimum Foundation law?
7. The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce in a release dated April 13 stated that a poll of manufacturers was made in a survey conducted by the Louisville Chapter of the American Marketing Association to determine why more industry does not come into Kentucky. Four hundred twenty-one manufacturers responded to the questionnaire, and these two statements were made on the basis of that survey:

1. The greatest single weakness was the political instability of our state government and its attitude toward industry. Only 33% of the surveyed manufacturers indicated a very favorable attitude of the state government toward industry.

2. The next greatest weakness was the state's tax structure. One-third of the industries surveyed indicated that Kentucky taxes were the highest in all Southern states in their own particular industry.

Governor, why didn't you answer these questions?

past his operation Monday. State police also reported rifle shots were fired into Flame Coal Company at Bellcraft, Letcher county.
"No one was injured during the exchange of shots," a State-police spokesman reported.
He said there were no disturbances in other counties affected by the United Mine Workers' strike for a $24.25-a-day pay raise, up $2, and a protective clause to prevent operators from handling non-union coal.

BUTLER'S BATTLE RECORD

In mid-January 1944 the 36th Division had attempted to cross the Rapido River below Cassino and had failed. The 34th now moved into position above the town and near an Italian Military post. In late January they got their orders to cross and seize the high ground above the Barracks.
After three days of fierce fighting the situation looked hopeless. Only one company was across the river. That was Co "A" of the 168th Infantry Commanded by Captain Ben J. Butler. They were unable to advance further because of extensive personnel mine fields and withering machine gun fire from the well prepared German Gustav line. These positions were so well camouflaged that they were rarely visible and if located they were so heavily fortified that the heaviest of artillery would not penetrate them.
Captain Butler was now moved to the Battalion headquarters to help plan the assault. He had been at the scene of the problem and knew it first hand. The river had been diverted from its course upstream and now flowed over the low bottoms to make tank traffic impossible. A corduroy road of timber was the only solution—if the tanks could get beyond the flooded area the personnel mines would be no problem for them.
During the night the road was built by the engineers. While this went on Captain Butler, with a detail of men, carried the dead from the minefield across the river. There they tied them to the saddles of the mules in the pack train and in a hushed silence moved them to their final resting place.
The following day the attack resumed. One tank ran off the timbers and buried in the mud up to its turret. Others were knocked out and the road was blocked. Late that afternoon another company of tanks upstream found a possible approach to reaching the hills beyond the river. With their 75 guns they blasted away enough of the river bank to let them pull over it.
They now moved quickly across the flat bottoms and up to the base of the hills. Close behind them came the men of the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the 168th Infantry. The doughboys moved on to the tops of the hills just after dark. They were now beyond the German defenses. All night long they waited. There was general confusion among the Germans. They tried to move equipment up the road in the valley and the Yanks had a field day capturing them.

Early the next morning the Americans moved back down the hills and into the well prepared German bunkers where they made a clean sweep and opened a wide gap in the famed Gustav Line.
A few days later these same troops began the strenuous task of fighting into the mountains behind Cassino and toward the famed Monte Cassino Abbey. After some two days of difficult fighting they reached the highest point in the hills and actually looked down on the Abbey.
The enemy attacked this position constantly for if the Yanks could get down to the north and west of the mountains they would cut Highway No. 6 and thereby cut off Cassino. There were several days of bitter fighting and dismal weather. It rained during the day and sleeted and snowed at night. Casualties ran into the hundreds and some companies were almost completely depleted in strength.
One figure was conspicuously prominent during all this time. Captain Butler negotiated these hills with the grace of a mountain goat. The "Kentucky Hill-billy" as he was affectionately called was all over the place day and night.
Finally the Indian 4th Division, a part of the British Army, came to relieve the beleaguered Americans. That night as the Yanks slipped quietly down through "Death Valley" many of them wondered if they would ever see Captain Butler again. The British had asked for one officer to remain with them to help orient them. Because of his knowledge of the situation and the terrain, Butler was left behind. He used to laugh and say, "they sure have tried every way to get rid of me, but I always fool them."
The first night the British occupied the position. Butler went on patrol with some of the Sikhs. These are bearded tribesmen who are skilled in the art of close combat. They took his carbine from him and gave him a long curved knife and he slipped away in the darkness with them. Like great cats they crept to the wall of the Abbey where they captured two prisoners.
The next day all was quiet. The following night there was terrific artillery barrages. Then about 9:00 a.m. the following day the B-26 and B-17 bombers appeared in great droves. These were the ones that destroyed the Abbey. Captain Ben Butler was the only Yank on the hill when this rain of destruction came down. A few of the "overs" fell in the British position. One of these wounded was Captain Poppo, Butler's close friend during his days with the British.
That night Butler came down the mountains at Cassino for the last time. The rest of his unit had moved on to Naples to regroup for the move to Anzio. Two men waited for him, his driver, Private Sherwood, and his old buddy Captain John Moore. When he got to the rendezvous point only one was there—Captain Moore had been wounded by artillery fire. This is another Chapter in the story of the stronghearted Kentuckian, beloved by his troops. He was the Alpha and Omega at Cassino—the first across and the last to leave.
And he is the same Ben J. Butler who seeks to provide leadership for the people of Kentucky as Lieutenant-Governor but Ben Butler has the capacity to be Governor of our state. We will be no stronger than our leaders. Talk to your friends and encourage people to go to the polls and vote for Ben J. Butler on May 26. This is a small price to pay for good government.

The competition for the Princess scholarships was keen. Forty-seven seniors, representing nine high schools in Floyd and Johnson counties, competed for the five awards.
Harry Zimmerman, manager of Inland Steel Company coal properties, presented scholarship awards to the following at the Wheelwright high school commencement exercises:
Doug Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Frazier, Weeksbury; four-year grant to the University of Kentucky.
Herman Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Ward, of Wheelwright; two-year scholarship to Pikeville College.
Ray Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Jones, of Riley's Branch; grant to Pikeville College for two years.
The Inland Steel Scholarship committee announced that two-year scholarship students at Pikeville College and all other Pikeville College students who are members of Inland employees' families will be permitted to take tests at the end of two years at Pikeville and that successful work in these tests may earn them two-year scholarships to the University of Kentucky, thus affording them the full four years of college training.

WATERFIELD IS DESPERATE!...

It is no secret that Chandler and his puppet Waterfield are desperate. Polls taken over Kentucky show that a landslide victory for Bert Combs is in the making. It will be no surprise to the voters to encounter the barrage of false, malicious and slanderous propaganda which the Chandlerites, in their desperate hour, will heap upon the voters to blacken the name of your friend and neighbor, Bert T. Combs.

The plight of Happy Lee Waterfield is so desperate that he has commenced to talk out of both sides of his mouth at the same time. He has been going around the State trying to tell the voters that Bert Combs is a company lawyer. And at the very same time Bert T. Combs was trying to get compensation for a widow, whose husband had been killed, and her three infant children. On April 7, 1959, the Chandler-Waterfield Workmen's Compensation Board, in Case No. C-26123, not only denied and left penniless this widow and three infant children, but the Chandler-Waterfield Board went on to accuse Combs of "... a scheme to 'milk' the Insurance Company."

This is the sort of stuff that the Chandler-Waterfield regime is made of. On the one hand they charge Bert T. Combs with being a company lawyer, while at the same time the Chandler-Waterfield Workmen's Compensation Board accuses Bert T. Combs of trying to "milk" the insurance companies when he sues the companies to get compensation for widows and children. These desperate charges, contradicting themselves, are but another link in the long chain of broken promises and brazen untruths perpetrated by the Chandler-Waterfield regime to the people of Kentucky.

We ask only that you remember that Bert T. Combs is a fellow mountaineer, a devout Christian, a family man, a fine lawyer, an able judge, and a man with a deep devotion to public service. He asks only that you remember these last ditch attempts to smear his name are designed to lead you away from the real issue—honesty and integrity in government. Help Bert T. Combs and Wilson Wyatt restore good government in Frankfort.

THE REAL PURPOSE OF THE COMBS-WYATT SUIT

Within the proper time, the Combs-Wyatt people in this county, filed with the County Board of Election Commissioners petition requesting that one Election Officer in each precinct be selected from their list. The Election Officers had already been selected, many of whom were supporters of the Combs-Wyatt ticket.

However, in order to satisfy the whims of the Combs-Wyatt crowd, the Election Commission re-assembled and selected one Election Officer in each precinct, from the list submitted by the Combs-Wyatt leaders. It was well known to Combs-Wyatt supporters that the Election Commission and the Democratic Executive Committee in Floyd county intended to abide by the statutory provisions relative to the appointment of Election Officers and Challengers in the primary election.

On May 18, without asking Lon C. Hill, Secretary of the Democratic Executive Committee in Floyd county or without giving him an opportunity to issue the challenger papers from the list given to him by Woodrow Burchett and Banner Meade, a suit was filed in the Floyd Circuit Court against Jerry Fonce Howell, Chairman of the Democratic Election Committee of Floyd county. Lon C. Hill was made a party to the suit so that his brother could not preside in the trial of this case, and in order that the case could be taken to Knott county and before a known supporter of the Combs-Wyatt ticket.

Under Kentucky Revised Statute 119.210, under which the suit was filed, the Democratic Committee was not required to certify the appointment of the Challengers until four days before the election, this fourth day being May 22, and the only purpose of the filing of the suit was to secure some publicity for the Combs-Wyatt ticket.

It was the intention of the Democratic Committee in Floyd county and of the Waterfield Committee that a fair election be held in this county and the committee was to issue challengers papers to honest men and women of outstanding honesty and integrity. Some of these will not be permitted to serve because of the dictatory method resorted to by the Combs-Wyatt Machine. The committee did not have any intention of ignoring the list submitted by the Combs-Wyatt crowd and instructed its attorney to enter an agreed order in that case, so that the persons on the list submitted by the Combs-Wyatt machine could serve as challengers in their respective precinct, but upon the condition that such challengers' papers could not be transferred to any other person.

DO NOT BE MISLED BY FALSE PROPAGANDA. THE ONLY PURPOSE OF YOUR COMMITTEE WAS TO SECURE HONEST MEN AND WOMEN AS ELECTION OFFICERS AND CHALLENGERS.

SCOUTS SLATE "WILEY DAYS"

Exhibits To Depict Life of Earlier Days; To Feature Indian Dance

More than half of the 800 Scouts in the Jenny Wiley district will take part in a gala scouting exposition at the Prestonsburg Armory, June 6, it was predicted this week. Theme of the exposition will be "Jenny Wiley Days" and the exhibits will demonstrate life in those times. One of the many exhibits will show firearms of that period and the bullet-making process; another will show clothing worn at that time. There will also be a booth demonstrating the making of fire by flint and steel and by friction.

At present, about 28 Scout units are expected to take part in this, biggest of all Scout shows to be held in this district. The entire program will run from 12 noon to 8:00 p.m., with demonstrations and exhibits open for inspection at all times.

Several special events are planned for public entertainment, including Indian dances by the "Order of the Arrow," a special group of boys who have attained a high degree of scouting skills. The younger Cub Scouts are planning a "Turtle Derby".

The public is invited to attend the event. Tickets will be on sale by Scout units through the district. Tickets also may be purchased at the door on the day of the Exposition.

Better-known as "Little A" Slone, he is an ex-serviceman, schoolteacher, merchant and currently employed by Princess Elkhorn and has been for the past 10 years. He is Treasurer of Local 7788, David, Ky. and has been for the last three years.

He is acquainted with the problems of Floyd county—will serve you to the best of his ability.

Your Vote Will Be Appreciated on May 26.

Floyd-Co. Farms

There are 2,532 farms in Floyd county averaging 49.3 acres, of which 13.5 acres are cropland. Only 137 of these farms had farm income in excess of $250 in 1954. This does not include the food produced and used by the family, which would be substantial. The average farm program consists of producing food for the family and selling excess production.

Solomon around to determine what is a valid issue or an invalid one in a county where most issues are as personal as a note to your best girl... Peace!

Getting away from the election, we report that Third street has two cripples now. First, it was a little dog with a foreleg missing at the shoulder. Now it's a yellow cat of the male persuasion with a left hindleg lost in the shuffle... Wonder how that pair would get along?

COMPENSATION

Ever since I read as a boy about Emerson's Law of Compensation I've liked it. The other afternoon when a youngster sat in the bow of a boat heading down-lake, a gnat smote him squarely in the eye. Thought I: "Age has its compensations. There was a time when I had the same trouble. Now falling eyesight forces me to wear glasses—so, no insects zeroing in on me."

Then the other side of the Compensation picture dawned on me. With these glasses I perhaps look like another insect.

Barring complications I shall sally forth with hopes high this week-end on a fishing safari. If I write something that sounds ridiculous about some other fisherman, or about some anonymous boob, next week, you may be fairly well correct if you surmise that the yarn concerns yours respectfully.

In 1810, the U.S. had made 1,000 tons of steel. In 1873, the figure topped one-million tons.

isolation, saying, "If you make money you pay. If you don't make money you don't pay . . . We have the finest tax system in Kentucky of any state in the United States."

He termed The Louisville Courier-Journal "a filthy bird that befools its own nest." Of the famed "crippled goose" episode in which he figured, the Governor said: "If I shot him he's crippled because I—but the Little Judge is crippled in the head." He denied any intention of violating the law.

Then Chandler told the crowd that he had been asked if he will support Combs if the latter is nominated and that he had replied in this way: "Well, if I didn't do any more for him than he did for me, he sure would be in a bad fix, you know."

The Governor predicted that Harry Lee Waterfield will "carry" the First district a minimum of 15,000 votes and a maximum of 25,000; the Second district by more than 6,000, and that Combs will be lucky to poll a majority in the Third (Louisville).

Other speakers were Cal Hubbard, Georgetown College student, and Harry Prater, of the Middle Creek road.

To all my fellow Floyd countians who have been so generous with time, effort and money in the raising of funds to finance my trip to Ireland as an International Farm Youth Exchangee.

As most of you know, I will be leaving for my trip very soon—in fact, less than three weeks. As I go, I'm not only taking your financial backing and support, but your desires to have a more peaceful world to live in. As your own representative abroad, I will be doing my part to improve international relations at a time when this is so desperately needed.

I wish to thank each and everyone of you who helped in any way to make my trip possible. Only through you am I receiving this opportunity. I shall be writing to let you know about my experiences this summer and fall. This coming winter, I will be looking forward to seeing each of you and telling you about my trip.

Contact Lens Clearer Warning Is Issued

The Division of Foods and Drugs of the Kentucky State Department of Health has issued a warning against the use of wetting solutions and cleansers for contact lenses sold by Barnes-Hind, a manufacturer of Sunnydale, California.

The solutions may be dangerous because of presence of live bacteria, the Division warned. The use of such unsterile cleansers and wetting solutions could, under certain conditions, cause blindness for the contact lens user.

All contact lens solutions bearing the Barnes-Hind label are being recalled. Individuals, distributors or retailers who have the solutions should return them at once to the manufacturer.

A warning issued by the Federal Food and Drug Administration on April 23 cautioned against the use of Barnes-Hind solutions with a certain code number. Now the warning has been extended to include all Barnes-Hind contact lens solutions.

Farm investment in the next 20 years may go to as high as $500,000 for some key enterprises.

The dollar-wise homemaker will find May a good time to buy pork for the freezer or locker.

This is one of the two peak seasons for pork this year, with food markets receiving about one-fifth more pork now than during the same period last year. The next season of heavy supply should be in the fall when supplies are expected to be up 13 per cent from last year.

A wise shopper can freeze pork now while the prices are low, use it through the summer months when prices will be higher, and be ready to buy another supply when prices drop again.

We are expected to eat almost seven pounds more red meat per person this year than last. Since it is estimated that we will eat 66 pounds of pork per person this year as compared with 60.6 pounds in 198, most of the increase will be in pork consumption.

It is recommended that freezer storage for pork be from four to six months, though sausage and cured picnic and other ham should be used in about half that time. Pork bought on this suggested plan, wrapped properly, frozen and stored at zero temperature will provide good quality as well as economy meat for this summer.

PROPER READING LIGHT

Reading for eight hours takes as much physical energy as walking 33 miles. This means a person can get very tired when reading.

Reading requires less energy if every room has direct and indirect lighting of the right quantity to avoid sharp contrast and quality. There should be some general lighting to avoid sharp contrast when looking up from a lighted book to a darkened room. Of course, every place to read should also have its own light, with proper size bulb or bulbs (at least 100 watts) to give the light needed on the printed page.

Proper lamp position for reading is on either the left or right side, slightly toward the back of the chair. Children, especially, may need to be reminded to sit up straight and to stay in a position where shadows will not fall on the book.

The reading lamp should be tall enough and have a wide enough shade to allow the light to spread over the reading material as the reader sits comfortably in his chair. A lamp so small that the reader must crawl under it to get sufficient light is not a wise choice for a reading center. The lamp shade should be deep enough that the bulb is not visible underneath it and thick enough to prevent the bulb glare.

Reading in bed is not harmful if there is plenty of light on the book. Sitting propped upright is usually the best position for this kind of reading. Either a table or wall lamp can be used as long as it is placed correctly to avoid shadow on the book or glare from the bulb.

BIOGRAPHY OF BERT COMBS

Bert Combs, although only 47 years old, has a solid record of achievement.

That he would go far in the life of his community and state was indicated when he was a high school student. He was graduated from Clay County High School when he was 15 and he stood first in scholastic rank.

In spite of his youth, he plunged immediately into college work, earning his way through several semesters at Cumberland College, Williamsburg, by firing furnaces and sweeping out the various buildings.

Subsequently he joined the State Department of Highways as a clerk. Then, when he had saved sufficient funds, he entered the law school of the University of Kentucky. In 1937 he received his degree and stood second in his class.

It was already evident, even in his undergraduate days, that he would make a brilliant lawyer for he was selected to be editor of the Law Journal.

That promise of a bright future was confirmed not many years later when all the judges of the Court of Appeals recommended his appointment to a vacancy on the court. In 1951 he sought election to the same post and won, defeating former Governor Simeon Willis.

In back of all those accomplishments was, however, a childhood of hard work in a close-knit farm family in Clay county. His mother was a school teacher.

His practice of law was interrupted, as was the careers of many other young Kentuckians, by World War II. He entered service as a private in 1942 and then, four years later, he was discharged as a captain.

His duty took him to the Pacific where he served under General MacArthur and earned the bronze star. The Philippine government also honored him with a decoration.

On his return to civilian life, he became city attorney in Prestonsburg, then commonwealth attorney and, finally, appointment and election to the highest court of the state.

Thus, Judge Combs offers a wide background of experience and work—toil as a farm boy, a worker earning his way through school, a struggling young man in the highway department, patriotic service to his nation and, to crown his career, a distinguished service on the supreme court of Kentucky.

Mrs. Combs is the former Miss Mabel Hall, of Knott county. They have two children, Lois, 14, and Tommy, 12. Combs is a member of the Baptist Church, a trustee of Campbellsville College, and holds membership in the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Masons and Kiwanis.

Kentucky Has Complete Forestry Radio System

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky's Division of Forestry now has a complete radio communication system covering all counties organized into the State's forest fire fighting program.

The entire $95,000 two-way radio system was linked together with the recent erection near Frankfort of a 100-foot control tower with a 250-watt transmitter.

H. W. Berckman, associate director in charge of fire control, said the Frankfort tower is the "hub" of the system and provides a radio hookup for each of Kentucky's counties.

The communication system, Berckman said, now has 80 tower units, 90 two-way mobile units, 12 base stations and 30 two-way portable units. He said the "greatest progress in the communication system has been made in the last two years when more than $52,000 was spent in developing it." The system was started in 1949 with four towers and two trucks with two-way radio units, Berckman added.

The lookout towers now number 104, Berckman said, and provides vantage sites for installation of radio units. After fires are spotted from these observation points or discovered in other ways, the communication system is used to give location of fires, dispatch crews and supervise action against flames.

Berckman said 7,248,000 of Kentucky's 11 1/2 million acres of timber are now under organized protection. Fifty counties, he added, are participating in the program. Under the 1958 forest fire protection law the remainder of Kentucky's 120 counties will be brought under organized forest fire control by 1964. This is being accomplished as rapidly as funds become available to the Division, according to Berckman.

As new counties enter the program, the radio communication system will be expanded with installation of radio units and towers, Berckman said.

He added that the radio communication system is part of the Division's Rural Fire Defense Plan and an integral part of Civil Defense's state survival plan. "Radio will be of great benefit in event of disaster caused by flood, tornado or enemy attack," Berckman said.

JOHN C. C. MAYO AND ASSOCIATES IN POUND GAP

John C. C. Mayo led a group of northern capitalists into the Big Sandy valley in the 1890's to see the greatest undeveloped coal reserve in America. End of the journey, which began at Peach Orchard, was in Virginia. It was part of the effort Mayo made to bring capital into the region.

Mayo was envisioning the exploitation of the vast mineral deposits of the section and the accompanying increment to the economy. As a teacher, he saw better educational opportunities for the valley, and as a Christian he foresaw churches arising to grace his home land. His contribution to the schools and churches of the valley is evidence of that vision. He died possessed of a great fortune but with the respect and honors of his people.

In the above picture Mayo stands at the extreme left. Several capitalists and geologists are with the group. The persons on horseback are natives of Pound River.

The First National Bank, since its organization in 1904, has contributed its service to the economy of our area.

RECKON I'LL STAY AWHILE

Recently an article put out by the Combs-Wyatt Campaign Committee appeared in this paper stating, in substance, that it was not moral to exercise the legal right to vote for anyone except the Prestonsburg candidate for governor. The article called attention to your elected county officials who owe their livelihood to Floyd County voters, and about half of whom expect to vote for Harry Lee Waterfield. The article ended by telling everyone for Waterfield to depart. Several handbills of this have been mailed or delivered to myself and other county officials, along with threats and notes of abuse.

As an Eastern Kentuckian, I regret that I can not support a candidate whose number one platform and issue is to give Louisville home rule. Nothing in this platform appeals to me as an Eastern Kentuckian, as a Floyd Countian, as a County Official or as just a big, friendly, country boy.

As one of those several county officials who expect to vote for Harry Lee Waterfield, let me say that I'll follow their request and leave Floyd County when:

1. The laboring people decide that a compensation company lawyer has been their greatest friend.
2. The Courier-Journal starts printing the facts.
3. One of Mr. Wyatt's 26 corporations moves to Floyd County.
4. Someone shows me those million dollar projects that Combs persuaded Clements or Wetherby to put in Eastern Kentucky.
5. Floyd County gets out of debt.

I reckon I'll be staying a while.

Senior shortstop Wendell Childers ended his high school career for the Black Cats in fine style as he collected four hits in as many times at bat. Bill Hall collected three hits.

For the Maroons it was Bobby Vicars, J. Hall and Hobbs with two hits each who led their team.

Coach Don Wallen and his charges will represent this district in the regional tourney at Grayson next week.

Compensation Rates Lowered For Miners

Frankfort, May 19 (Spl.) — A reduction in workmen's compensation insurance rates of 6.9 per cent has been announced by Kentucky Insurance Commissioner C. P. Thurman.

The new rates, effective last April 15, follow a three-year study and survey, Thurman said. He added that the reduction will save employers about $200,000 a year.

Statistical data was prepared by the coal mine regional committee of the National Council on Compensation Insurance covering the period February, 1954, to January, 1957.

The study should also result in a reduction of the cost of catastrophe insurance purchased by self-carriers, Thurman said.

Effective date of the reduction was made to correspond to the time set by Thurman for completion of the study which was delayed in compiling loss reports, he said.

The study covered insurance with premiums of about $3,000,000 a year, Thurman added.

Desperate Men ARE Reckless Men

The Chandler-Waterfield crowd is desperate. Their desperation is reflected in all their actions, speeches and advertisements.

Recklessly they hurl charges. Recklessly Chandler tours the state cackling and leering as he nauseates with his gutter speeches.

Politicians have always been desperate when faced with the united decency and honor of the people. No last-minute desperate action of Chandler or Waterfield can remove the basic issues of decency and integrity from this campaign.

The only Socialism in Kentucky is the Socialized Housing and Socialized Pantry at the $150,000 Waterfield Mansion in Frankfort.

The only subversion in Kentucky is the subversion of honor and decency by Chandler-Waterfield politics.

The issue in this campaign is not artificial insemination in Red China but the restoration of integrity in Kentucky.

Bert Combs fought for four years for his country. Harry Waterfield was — well, let him tell you!

The Democrats of Floyd county are not going to be taken on a political snipe hunt by a gang of payroll parasites.

Vote for Americanism and Integrity. Vote for Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt.

LOOK AT THE WATERFIELD RECORD!

Three salaries for three part-time jobs. More money for expenses. The highest priced Lieutenant Governor in Kentucky history. State records tell the story. Personal profit from the purse of the taxpayers, you and you and you. The Highway Department builds a four-lane road near his subdivision with YOUR money.

There is plenty of money for the $5,000,000 Happy private driveway to Versailles. Jerry roads for political cronies. But for three long years the road to Fort Knox rested in the files, buried deep.

Chandler and Waterfield promised no new taxes. Yet many people paid double. This he wants you to forget.

The list is long. The textbook fund was hacked. Farm research was sabotaged. Livestock control was set back. We have the greatest debt in history. Unemployment is the highest. Citizens leave the State for jobs. Teachers seek work elsewhere. Schools are jammed. And Harry Lee Waterfield requisitions food from the State prison, enough food for each servant to feed a family. You pay for his luxuries. He seeks your approval.

Here's what a family you may know has to say about LIVING BETTER . . . ELECTRICALLY

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phillips and son, Sam, of South Shore, Kentucky.

"when we built WE CHOSE ELECTRIC HEAT and saved money!"

For nine years Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phillips planned their "dream home." It was to have a furnace — until they got the facts about electric heat.

Investigation proved it would be cheaper to install electric baseboard units than an ordinary heating system. Mr. Phillips, a druggist, says that their decision to go all-electric "saved enough to pay for storm windows and extra insulation."

The whole family is sold on electric heat. "There's no dirt" . . . "it's healthful, our son, Sam, didn't have a single cold last winter" . . . "it's economical, other utility rates have gone up but electricity remains the same."

As for the family's many electric appliances, Mrs. Phillips — a home economist — likes her range best of all. "Its speed, convenience and dependability are worth very much to me . . . and it's safe!"

SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE

SET HIGHER STANDARDS

Teachers In Kentucky Public Schools To Get Stiffened Requirements

Higher standards for Kentucky's public school teachers were set Monday by the Council on Public Higher Education which is headed by Dr. Robert R. Martin, superintendent of public instruction.

The broad upward revision of minimum standards applies both to students in the teacher-training colleges and to the higher levels of educators already at work in the 12 grades of the common-school system.

Standards were stiffened in both the knowledge of how to teach and what to teach. But the new standards are broader and deeper in the area of content than of method.

The core of the council is composed of the presidents and deans of the University of Kentucky and the five State colleges at Morehead, Richmond, Frankfort, Murray and Bowling Green.

The adoption climaxed two years of study by an advisory committee headed by Dr. W. J. Moore, dean of Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond.

The course of study for future high-school teachers, as adopted Monday, provides for a college degree based upon the minimum of 45 hours of general education (content), 17 hours of professional education (method), and 48 hours of concentration in majors and minors (content and method combined).

These are the minimums now required, except that method courses are reduced from 18 to 17 hours. But the big change is in the field of general education, where certain basic courses were made compulsory, and the range made broad enough to permit drastic strengthening in majors and minors.

The first new field in general education is communications and humanities. Here 6 hours are required in English composition, 3 hours in literature, and 9 hours in these electives: music, art, drama, foreign languages, philosophy, religion, journalism and speech.

The second field is mathematics and natural science. Here 3 hours are required in astronomy, chemistry, geology, physics or mathematics. Three hours are required in anthropology, bacteriology, botany, general biology, physiology, psychology. At least 6 hours must be earned in laboratory work.

The third field is social science, in which 12 hours are required in anthropology, contemporary problems, economics, geography, government, history, political science, sociological foundations, sociology, or Western civilization.

The last field is health and physical education, in which 3 hours are required.

The course of study approved for future elementary-school teachers differs somewhat from the preparation for high school. Required general education is the same, and 45 hours of it are compulsory. But professional education (method) is reduced from 28 to 24 hours.

This reduction is responsive to the trend toward five elementary teachers, Dr. Moore explained. Inasmuch as the fifth year is usually devoted to method, his committee decided to upgrade the emphasis on general education in the first four years.

The council set higher academic standards for guidance counselors, principals, supervisors and superintendents. At present, provisional certificates for these high-level positions require 15 hours beyond the bachelor's degree. The new requirement is a master's degree.

Standard certificates for these four groups now require the master's degree. This was raised to 24 hours beyond the master's.

Standards were raised, also, for students doing practice teaching. Previously, the college was required only to afford the student time for practice teaching. That time is now spelled out to half a day for a total semester, or a full day for half a semester.

The council renewed for two more years the practice adopted in 1957 that permits a college graduate to teach in high school, in the absence of the required number of method courses. But the teacher must sign a commitment to go back to college in summer and take these courses.

 For State Representative
 Of 96th Legislative District

Friends, neighbors, and kinsmen, for nineteen years I have served you and your children as a teacher. I have stood for and fought for everything I believe to be just and right in the sight of God and man. More than ten thousand of your children have received training from me. They have gone out into the world as doctors, nurses, lawyers, teachers, engineers, businessmen, farmers, beauticians, and morticians.

Those of you who are still remaining in Floyd county, will you get behind me in this campaign and help to fight for these everlasting goals.

1. Raise Kentucky's educational standard from 49th to 1st place.
2. Provide more scientific and technological training in our high schools.
3. Free text books for grades from 1-12.
4. Improved teachers retirement.
5. Increase teachers salary to the national average.
6. Fight for improved highways and transportation.
7. Fight for a soldiers bonus bill.
8. Oppose the Right to Work Labor Bill.
9. Oppose any bill to take away the hospital rights of miners.
10. Introduce bills that will develop Kentucky's industries.

You will recall six years ago I was fighting for these goals. The fight is still on. The fight will still continue as long as our people do not have as good and as progressive programs as other states.

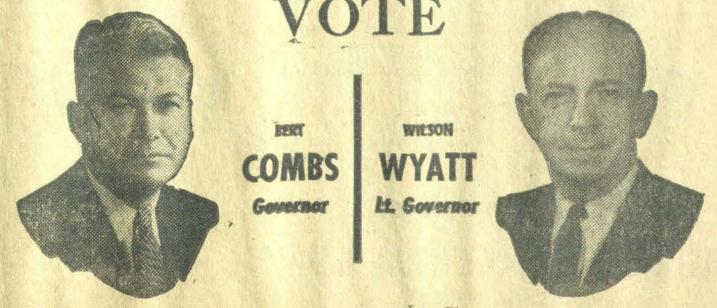

Vote for a man who is qualified, honest and efficient.
 A vote for Ulysses S. Collins is a vote for improvement.

Law Requires Schools Teach Liquor Effects

By J. COLLIS RINGO, Executive Director Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

What should be taught in public schools about alcohol?

Kentucky has a law, No. 158270 titled, Required Instructions As to the Nature and Effect of Alcoholic Liquor and Narcotics: Text Books to Include These Subjects. The provisions of this law make instruction on these subjects mandatory, with punitive measures involved for superintendents, principals and teachers who do not follow its provisions.

Primarily because this subject is widely misunderstood, with controversial opinions held by parents of students, this law, in many places, is ignored or minimized to a valueless talk once a year.

Since this law was enacted, research and study have produced many previously unknown facts about alcohol, particularly regarding its effects on the nerve centers controlling coordination and the brain center controlling judgment.

In a random sampling of 80 students of the entering class of freshmen in a liberal arts college in Mississippi, it was disclosed that the most commonly reported source of information concerning alcohol was the student's age peers. Their alcohol education considered most accurate came from their teen-age associates.

This obviously could not be very factual. The measurable effects of small quantities of alcohol on physical coordination are now known. The psychological effects of loss of caution is now measurable in relations to the amount of alcohol ingested.

At age sixteen in Kentucky, one becomes eligible for an operator's license to drive a motor vehicle. To turn a sixteen-year-old loose on the highway armed with a weapon as lethal as today's high powered automobile without some knowledge of the effects of alcohol on driving ability is manifestly unfair.

Rigidly conducted tests with experienced drivers who were moderate drinkers with some tolerance, proved conclusively that three bottles of beer or three or four ounces of spirits, impaired driving ability from 25 to 30 per cent. Dr. Leon Greenburg, a distinguished physiologist noted the psychological effects on driving of relaxing restraints, loss of judgment, jumping false confidence of a few drinks. The newly licensed driver should know these facts.

You had better think hard before you vote this time and vote for a man that has been tried and proven. One who is a friend to all and not just the "Town Ring." Just think for one moment of your leaders in this county who are backing Bert Combs and then look at those who are backing WATERFIELD and see the difference in their records. Not one of WATERFIELD'S has been accused of taking your money or has taken any. No! Not one! So look out you poor hard wrking miners. Yu know what they will do to you. It has been proven. Look out widows, orphans and old age pensioners you know what they will do to you to. They have been tried.

Do not listen to their false reports. You know that WATERFIELD'S record is true and undisputable so go in that voting place where no one knows but you and your God and vote for HARRY LEE WATERFIELD for Governor. You know you can trust him.

You know they tried to take your hospitals and could not and they taxed it to death to get them some more money. You had better watch that bunch. You know the Combs backers and what he and them will do to anyone. They are trying to beguile you and slander the best men in Floyd county.

Combs wanted to saddle the people with a sales tax in 1955, and he's out to try to do it again.

Combs Does Not Deny He May Ask Sales Tax

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 28, 1959—Democratic gubernatorial candidate Bert Combs stands guilty of advocating sales tax legislation in Kentucky, according to charges made today in a TV speech by John Young Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor.

Combs did not deny the charge.

Brown reported that Combs and former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby met with him four years ago "in the living room of my home at 230 Chinoo Road (Lexington) and agreed with me that Kentucky must have a sales tax."

"They said what I stood for (a general sales tax) was right, and if Bert Combs won, he would put it into effect," Brown stated.

The Lexington attorney endorsed Combs in 1955 in his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Combs' platform then called for a 3 per cent general sales tax on food, clothing, shelter, medicine and other necessities.

There has been much speculation as to what kind of new taxes Combs would ask to finance campaign promises in education, health, welfare and other fields. The Louisville Times recently estimated that $42 million annually in new taxes would be needed just to provide teacher salary increases Combs has pledged in his current campaign. Overall estimates run as high as $75 million a year.

Combs has not publicly disclosed his tax plans.
