This Town— That World

TROUBLE, TROUBLE This has been not one of my better weeks. I rise, reasonably early Monday morning, stary-eyed and rarin' to go (who said, "back to bed?"), and lo! there is trouble. The car that I am permitted to drive when it isn't needed on more important matters by the son or daughter has an internal ailment that causes it to emit only a weak growl but doesn't permit it to move. So I have to call on a good neighbor, who goes to all kinds of trouble to correct the situation. This problem solved, I make it to the office and edge the old nose toward the grindstone. But the phone rings, and I learn that worse trouble has befallen us. The dog has been hit by a car. It develops that man's best friend has a bad break and that he's going to need operation. And that means a trip to Huntington. Yes, Monday was a mite on the blue side.

SILLY MAN. And now you're wondering how silly one can be to spend money having an operation on a dog, and how unthinking one must be to spend good money that human beings need more. . . . But what's a-body to do if he's crazy enough to have a dog on the place—let him lie and suffer and die without turning a hand? Any time you think you would just write off a dog's life as just— See Story No. 3, Page 6

FISHTRAP DAM FUND DOUBLED

Perkins Hails Victory In Senate Committee; Pound Reservoir OK'd Funds for planning the Fishtrap reservoir were doubled Wednesday by the Senate Public Works committee. Congressman Carl D. Perkins told The Times in a telephone conversation from Washington. The House committee had approved $200,000 for the Fishtrap project, which was all that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers had estimated it could use during the next fiscal year. But the Senate sub-committee, urged by Senators Cooper and Morton and Ex-Senators Clements, raised the figure to $400,000. Congressman Perkins said he is assured of ready House approval of the increased funds. The Senate committee approved without change the $2,500,000 already recommended by the House committee. The Hays reservoir, third planned to curb Big Sandy River floods, received no appropriation. Perkins said a small reservoir on the North Fork of Pound River has been approved by the Corps of Engineers for the protection of the town of Pound, Va. "We will get this into the omnibus Rivers and Harbors bill for this year," he predicted. The reservoir, while designed for the direct protection of Pound, will reduce Big Sandy floodwaters by an estimated two inches. The Buckhorn reservoir, now fully financed, will be completed during the current fiscal year, it was said.

FEDERAL AID PROGRAM HERE BARELY SURVIVES

ZONING VOTED, CITY PROGRAM PLAN CHANGED

Two Properties Exempted On Urban Renewal; Part Of Lancer Would Secede Prestonsburg's proposed improvement program with the aid of federal funds held onto a tenuous lifeline this week as the City Council Monday night changed plans adopted by the Municipal Housing Commission for urban renewal. At the same time the Council adopted by a 4-3 vote the zoning ordinance recommended by the Zoning Commission. The vote of six Council members stood at 3-3, with Mayor Bill Napier breaking the deadlock. The urban renewal change voted was to remove from the area to be affected the property of Mrs. Osa F. Ligon on Lake Drive and that of Crville Cooley on Third avenue. The vote for the change was unanimous, with Councilman J. Y. Goble and Mack Harmon absent. What effect the action will have on the project is not known and may not be determined for several days. The much-discussed zoning ordinance, a vital part of improvement plans, drew the approval of Councilman Mack Harmon (who was present for that early part of the long meeting), William O. Goebel and Edward B. Leslie. Opposed to it were Councilmen Joe Wheeler Jarrell, Shannon Greer and Watt Hale. A fifth member of the Council, C. W. May, did not vote, leaving the tie-breaking vote to Mayor Napier. Strongest discussion of the ordinance developed when a delegation from Lancer section of Prestonsburg appeared with their attorney, C. P. Stephens, and succeeded in getting introduced for a vote an ordinance striking from the corporate limits of the city that part of Lancer south of (above) "the— See Story No. 4, Page 6

ELAM QUILTS HI'WAY WORK

Park Road Contractor Moves Equipment; Surety May Complete Project Most of the equipment used by the Elam Construction Company, of West Liberty, on construction of the Dewey Lake road from the boat dock to Stratton Branch has been moved out, and completion of the road now appears more distant than ever. The contractor has not done any work in three or four weeks, it was said. Practically all the machinery used in the work had been leased by Elam from road machinery firms or other contractors. Heavy claims for wages have been filed by workmen against the contractor. The road was let to contract last October, and the work has been marked by a series of interruptions ever since it began. In its present condition the road to the recreation area at Stratton Branch is impassable in wet weather and is often dangerous. Although no official statement was available, it is held possible that the contractor's surety will be obliged to complete the project.

COMBS NAMED TO UMWA JOB

Hazard Man Replaces Caddy As Secretary; To Live At Pikeville Matt Combs, Hazard, long a field representative of the United Mine Workers in Eastern Kentucky, has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the union's District 30. Combs succeeds Sam Caddy, Jr., who has held the position the last eight years. Caddy's father, the late Sam Caddy, Sr., was president of the district 25 years. The 38-year-old Combs took over his new position July 1. He previously was in charge of the district's Hazard office and conducted current strike activity in the Perry county coal fields. Combs was appointed to the job by U.M.W. President John L. Lewis. President of the district is Carson Hibblitt. The resignation of Caddy resulted in the closing of the district's office in Lexington, Pikeville now will be headquarters for District 30. Caddy will open a retail store in Lexington. Combs, a grandfather, has held a number of local union offices. He is one of eight sons, seven of whom worked in the mines and belonged to the union. Two brothers, Harrison and Henry Combs, are U.M.W. staff officers. Harrison Combs is associate counsel of the union and Henry Combs is assistant controller of the union's welfare retirement fund.

BOAT CAPSIZES, YOUTH LAKE VICTIM, SUNDAY

Nineteen-year-old George M. Maynard, of Heenon, Pike county, swam to his death in Dewey Lake early Sunday afternoon after a small boat in which he and two others were riding capsized. He was the sixteenth victim to be claimed by the lake. The boat turned over in four feet of water, approximately 1,000 feet downstream from Boat Dock No. 2 at the German bridge as its operator swerved sharply to avoid striking a snag protruding from the water. The other occupants of the boat, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor, of Pike county, remained with the boat and were unharmed, but young Maynard started swimming away from the boat into deeper water, it was said. His body was found at 3:20 p.m., two hours after the tragedy, in approximately 15 feet of water by members of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were taken to the nearby boat dock by Russell Harris, lake patrol, and were uninjured. The boat in which the three were riding was described as a 12-foot, home-constructed, plywood craft. The tragedy occurred as hundreds were on the lake during the July 4 week-end, and it was the only event marring the week-end. The drowning was the first this year at the lake. Robert Clemons, of Wheelwright, was the fifteenth person to die a violent death at Dewey Lake. He was drowned at Stratton Branch, June 22, last year. Young Maynard was a student at Pikeville College and was employed by Kroger's during the summer vacation. He is survived by his parents, C. C. and Mary Belle Lowe Maynard, and one brother, Arthur Craft Maynard, all of Heenon. His funeral was conducted Wednesday from the Maynard residence.

EBLEN VIEWS ON CASE TOLD

Appellate Judge Says Constitution Forbids Squires' Changing Pay Frankfort, Ky., July 6—As Court of Appeals Judge Amos H. Eblen views it, magistrates may not draw pay for serving in criminal trials because the Constitution forbids changing their compensation during their terms of office. Judge Eblen, in an opinion dissenting from the 5-to-1 majority ruling of the high court on June 19 upholding validity of the 1958 Magistrates' Salary Act, said his colleagues had ignored what to him was the cardinal point of the case. This, Eblen said, was the self-evident fact that the compensation of magistrates already in office was changed by the 1958 legislation despite the positive prohibitions against this in Sections 161 and 135 of the Kentucky Constitution. Noting that present magistrates took office in January, 1958, and the new Magistrates' Salary Act did not become effective until March 27, 1958, Judge Eblen asserted: "For the months of January, February and the first 27 days of— See Story No. 8, Page 6

Bill To Allow Spending On Obsolete Louisa Dam

A dam needed by Big Sandy River communities in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia for water supply could be given more restoration money under a bill signed Monday by President Eisenhower. The legislation increases from $50,000 to $100,000 the money which may be spent for restoring Dam No. 3 on the Big Sandy. A prior law authorized the spending of $50,000 on the obsolete lock and dam in line with an agreement for maintenance by the cities of Fort Gay, W. Va., and Louisa, Ky., and the counties of Wayne, West Virginia and Lawrence, Kentucky. These communities want the dam restored for a water supply and for recreation.

MILLER HELD IN SHOOTING

Newsome Hospitalized By Shotgun Blast Fired From Ambush Near Here Jim Miller was jailed here Sunday afternoon by State Detective Chester D. Potter and booked on a charge of attempted murder in connection with the Sunday afternoon shooting and wounding at the mouth of Bull Creek of Freddy Newsome, Jr., 38, of West Prestonsburg. James Marsillett, also a resident of the Middle Creek vicinity of West Prestonsburg, is being sought in connection with the shooting as well as for one or more other offenses. Newsome was not badly hurt, although between 40 and 50 shotgun pellets penetrated his face, neck, right shoulder and arm. Yet the two shots fired Sunday afternoon set state and county officers onto a crime investigation which may bring major developments. Both Newsome and Miller were questioned during the week. Officers were tight-mouthed when quizzed about their findings. Bootlegging is involved. Newsome told officers he did not know why he was shot. He said he and his wife had been at Dewey Lake, from there went to the railroad side of the river at the mouth of Bull Creek, and was walking toward a spot where a poker game was in progress when two shots were fired from the nearby hillside. A whole series of incidents began June 27 when Deputy— See Story No. 7, Page 6

MAY ACQUIRES SECOND FIRM

Lexington, P'burg Firms Cover Over Half State; Personnel Is Assigned Purchase by R. V. May, of Prestonsburg, of the Mineweld Company, Lexington, was announced this week. The Lexington business is now being operated by Mr. May as the Kentucky Welding Supply Company, as a companion firm to the R. V. May Company here. The purchase gives Mr. May a territory, comprising approximately half of Kentucky, including 38 central Kentucky counties, plus several counties in Virginia and West Virginia. The R. V. May Company a few months ago completed construction of its own oxygen plant here, and the oxygen distributed by the Lexington center eventually will come from the plant here. The two companies represent about 30 manufacturers, comprise the largest welding supply business in Kentucky and handle oxygen, acetylene, industrial gases, with complete welding supplies for mining and other industries. John Durham is local manager of the Lexington plant for Mr. May. James A. May has been assistant manager for both the R. V. May Company and the Kentucky Welding Supply Company and W. T. Archer is sales manager for both. Pete Jarvis recently resigned the management of the A. W. Cox Department Store here to become purchasing agent for both firms. He had been considered for the post since Mr. May first began planning purchase of the Lexington business several months ago.

MIAMI POLICE NAB CANTRELL

Johnson Man Arrested Soon After Wife's Body Found Last Wednesday State Detective E. L. Cornett and State Trooper Ben Music are expected to return to Paintsville Saturday with Henry Cantrell, who was arrested last Thursday in Miami, Florida, on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Virginia Salver Cantrell. The arrest was made soon after the body of Mrs. Cantrell had been found buried in a cedar chest near the home she and her husband occupied, near Sitka, Johnson county. The woman had been shot twice—one time in the back of the head and again in the body. A bullet found with the body was of .38-calibre. When taken into custody in Miami, Cantrell was washing dishes at a hotel. There he was using the name, Pendleton, which was his mother's maiden name. He readily admitted his identity but claimed he knew nothing of his wife's disappearance. Mrs. Cantrell disappeared last October 5. Last Wednesday state police and Johnson county authorities, using a power shovel, uncovered the body. Cantrell spoke of his wife as if she were still alive. Asked if he had reported her missing at the time of her disappearance, he told Miami officers, "It's no use reporting a wife running off in that neighborhood." The woman's decomposed body was identified by Dr. Joe Rapier, Paintsville dentist, who had made her a partial plate. Her daughter, Loretta, identified the dress worn by her mother as one she had given her.

Police Chief Suffers Arm Fracture Today

Chief of Police Epp Laferty suffered a broken arm today (Thursday) when he missed a step upon leaving the store of Bill Fitzpatrick, of West Prestonsburg. His arm was broken above the elbow, and he was taken to the Prestonsburg General hospital for treatment.

Fair Board Schedules First Meeting, Friday At Regional Library

The Floyd County Fair Board will meet Friday evening at 7:30 at the Regional Library to get this year's plans underway, it was announced by Jesse Elliott, chairman. "Time, again this year, will be limited," Elliott said. "We will have to start work now if the last minute rush is to be avoided." The Friday evening meet will be both a windup of last year's fair business and the start of new business, Elliott said. On the agenda will be a financial report of the 1958 fair, election of officers, fair advertising, site selection and committee appointments. "A large percent of members present will mean a much easier job for everyone concerned," the chairman observed. "Let's strive to have 30 members present."

Rev. W. M. Whitaker, 63, Former Floyd Contian, Succumbs In W. Virginia

The Rev. W. M. Whitaker, 63, formerly of this county, died last Wednesday evening at the Davey, W. Va., church of which he was pastor. Rev. Whitaker suffered a heart attack when he entered the church for the Wednesday evening prayer service. He had been pastor of The First Church of God at Davey for 19 years. He was a former resident of Prestonsburg and was born here January 16, 1896, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Whitaker and was a resident of this county until he moved to Davey in 1940. The minister is survived by his wife, Mrs. Virgie Hopson Whitaker, and three sisters: Mrs. Verlin Decker, of Lancer, Mrs. Butler Stone, West Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Harrison Wright, Ada, Ohio. Funeral services were conducted Saturday from the Church of God here, the pastor, the Rev. Moses Kitchen, and Rev. Johnny Ramey officiating. Burial was made in the Jack Arnett cemetery under the direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

HOWARD ASKS TURNER TO RESIGN, BOARD VOTE IS 2-ALL DEADLOCK

Byron Thompson, Prestonsburg businessman, after observing a consistent tie vote between the members of the Floyd County Board of Education, Tuesday, and being asked if he had something to say, told the board and others that political obligations are responsible for the failure of both sides to cooperate in the interests of the children. "There's politics on both sides but you are no more responsible than the citizens," Thompson said. "There is no problem that can't be worked if you didn't have political ties." Thompson said that he had been in Prestonsburg seven years, had one child in school and spoke as a representative of nobody but himself. He said that he became interested in schools because of the teacher placement problems. He volunteered the information that he had been an active supporter of Ray Howard, who is an anti-administration board member. "Actually, I cannot say this board is chargeable with all the unrest," he continued. "It's the citizens, like myself, who are partly to blame for the situation. The two new members are the 'outs.' They are outvoted. Due to commitments, it is only natural that the board majority draw back." But there is an answer, he said. It is a simple answer, he told everybody. Just divorce the board from any ties, operate independently of commitments. "Let everybody in the school system be charged from now on that there will be no teachers moved or anybody persecuted. It was not intended that politics should be in the school races," Thompson pointed out. "A thing in common is our kids. There are wonderful people on both sides and this fighting among ourselves is a fight against our children's interest." Four board members, the superintendent and about a dozen citizens in an open meet of the board at the County Superintendent's office, heard Thompson comment on the destructive effect of the factional feuding on the school system. Mrs. Ethel Osborne, of Bypro, was not present. The tie votes were given by Chairman John M. Stumbo and John E. Campbell as administration supporters and Ray Howard and John G. Hall as anti-administration members. Thompson said the teachers themselves should get out of politics. "No teacher should be participating in politics. Teachers should be told that their jobs are secure as long as they stay out of politics. "Sitting here listening to the 'yes' and 'no' votes, I still honestly believe both sides want to do right but it is the under-current of obligations that keeps you from it. You should operate independently. You may say you do but it takes action." Speaking of the opportunity to operate independently of outside commitments, Thompson said he had heard the board had a banking problem. He pointed out there are three banks and there could be in-

Divided Board Also Gives Approval To Budget Plan; Most Issues Are Undecided Ray Howard, anti-administration board of education member, called on County Superintendent V. O. Turner to resign at a near-stalemate meeting held openly Tuesday. The resignation move was but one of seven written resolutions offered by Howard. All the written Howard proposals received tie votes of two each, except the move to require open meetings of the board of education and a verbal motion to include certain persons on budget preparation. The meeting was featured by tie votes as Mrs. Ethel Osborne, of Bypro, administration supporter, was not present on account of illness in the family. Howard and John G. Hall voted with each other, and the votes of Chairman John M. Stumbo and John E. Campbell were cast together. Byron Thompson, Prestonsburg, spoke to the members, including the public and a representative of the Floyd County Teachers Association. He advised that the board members operate independently of commitments they have and work for the interests of the school system. (See other story.) Disunity became apparent at the meeting when a vote was asked on approval of the minutes of a prior meet. Upon a tie being registered, Joe Hobson, board attorney, recommended that Chairman Stumbo sign the minutes as approved. He cited a court case in line with his advice. Howard opposed approval until he had time to study them. The minutes of the special meeting of June 29 were approved unanimously. BRIDGE DYNAMITE TRIAL UNDER WAY AT PIKEVILLE

A hearing on charges that four men dynamited a railroad bridge was to continue today (Thursday) at Pikeville with testimony from a government witness. Wid Page, 28; Troy Holland, 35; Irvin Napier, 31, and John Stidham, 51, pleaded innocent Wednesday. They asked for the testimony of the government witness. They are charged with violating the federal train wreck statute in the June dynamiting of a Louisville & Nashville Railroad bridge leading to the Flame Coal Co., mine at Bellcraft in Letcher county. The Flame firm was one of several non-union installations where violence occurred during the four-month old coal strike in Eastern Kentucky. The hearing is before U.S. Commissioner Thomas Creekmore, who set bond for each man at $10,000. Napier and Stidham posted bond.

Dewey Lake had one of the biggest week-ends in its history, figures released Tuesday by Howard Osborne, reservoir manager, indicate. The total number of visitors at the lake Saturday, July 4, and Sunday was placed at 18,335, and it was estimated at the state dock that 60% of these were from other states. Traffic on the lake was heavy, and at the state dock alone 1,100 gallons of gasoline were sold during the two days. One drowning marred the week-end lake outing. BRIDGE DYNAMITE TRIAL UNDER WAY AT PIKEVILLE

A hearing on charges that four men dynamited a railroad bridge was to continue today (Thursday) at Pikeville with testimony from a government witness. Wid Page, 28; Troy Holland, 35; Irvin Napier, 31, and John Stidham, 51, pleaded innocent Wednesday. They asked for the testimony of the government witness. They are charged with violating the federal train wreck statute in the June dynamiting of a Louisville & Nashville Railroad bridge leading to the Flame Coal Co., mine at Bellcraft in Letcher county. The Flame firm was one of several non-union installations where violence occurred during the four-month old coal strike in Eastern Kentucky. The hearing is before U.S. Commissioner Thomas Creekmore, who set bond for each man at $10,000. Napier and Stidham posted bond.

PHONE CHANGE-OVER DATE SET FOR DECEMBER 2ND

Date of the change-over by Southern Bell Telephone Company to the new numbers with letter prefixes is Dec. 2, not Dec. 5, as was stated in a news release published in The Times last week. Four board members, the superintendent and about a dozen citizens in an open meet of the board at the County Superintendent's office, heard Thompson comment on the destructive effect of the factional feuding on the school system. Mrs. Ethel Osborne, of Bypro, was not present. The tie votes were given by Chairman John M. Stumbo and John E. Campbell as administration supporters and Ray Howard and John G. Hall as anti-administration members. Thompson said the teachers themselves should get out of politics. "No teacher should be participating in politics. Teachers should be told that their jobs are secure as long as they stay out of politics. "Sitting here listening to the 'yes' and 'no' votes, I still honestly believe both sides want to do right but it is the under-current of obligations that keeps you from it. You should operate independently. You may say you do but it takes action." Speaking of the opportunity to operate independently of outside commitments, Thompson said he had heard the board had a banking problem. He pointed out there are three banks and there could be in-

PARK MAKES REVIVAL, TOURIST COUNT SHOWS

Dewey Lake had one of the biggest week-ends in its history, figures released Tuesday by Howard Osborne, reservoir manager, indicate. The total number of visitors at the lake Saturday, July 4, and Sunday was placed at 18,335, and it was estimated at the state dock that 60% of these were from other states. Traffic on the lake was heavy, and at the state dock alone 1,100 gallons of gasoline were sold during the two days. One drowning marred the week-end lake outing. With 128 permanent campsites along the shores of the lake, the population at Dewey approximates that of a sizable town on any week-end, but last week added approxi-

South Eligible For Aid, Grants Under Law Asked

The South will be eligible for no less than 65% of the benefits in the form of technical assistance and grants and loans to localities suffering from underdevelopment and chronic unemployment to be made available under Area Redevelopment legislation now before the Congress, the Mayors of 101 Kentucky cities were advised this week by Carl B. Wachs, executive director of the Kentucky Municipal League.

In urging local support for the measure, Mr. Wachs pointed out that 11 of labor market areas and communities in 45 rural counties in Kentucky, of which Floyd county is one, would be eligible for substantial assistance to attract business and industry and to generally improve their economic health.

Wachs has recently returned from a Conference of Southern State Municipal Leagues and Cities held in Washington in which some 2,000 southern communities were represented by League executives and public officials from the South or through affiliation with the American Municipal Association. While there, the group conferred with Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and members of their respective Congressional delegations.

Accompanying his letter to the mayors of cities in the affected areas, Mr. Wachs included a resolution passed by the Conference which endorses aid to rural underdeveloped areas and urges support for the Area Redevelopment bill on the part of members of Congress from the South.

Scott Craft Is Named To Republican Position; Fills Chandler Vacancy

Scott Craft, of Paintsville but formerly of this county, has been appointed a member of the Republican State Central Committee to fill the vacancy of the late Earl (Red) Chandler.

Chairman Dewey Daniels, Hazard, announced the appointment after the committee's recent meet in Louisville.

Craft expressed complete surprise at his appointment. "I didn't work for the position because I didn't feel that I had a chance, but it is evident that somebody did some work. Now I can assure those people that I will also work in the new position," he said.

The State Central Committee is the policy-making body of the Kentucky Republican party, handling strategy and finances. Its members are delegates to the National Republican Convention.

Craft was a candidate for U.S. Representative in 1958. He lost to Carl Perkins, incumbent. He is a former school teacher, and is now owner of Scott's Music Store in Paintsville.

Redwood Taylor, Sr., 65, Is Victim At Ashland; Wife Is Floyd Native

Redwood Taylor, Sr., 65, former Boyd county commissioner and for the last four years strip mine commissioner for the Kentucky Conservation Department, died Saturday afternoon at Our Lady of Bellefonte hospital, Ashland, after a long illness.

He had many relatives and friends here and in the county, his wife being the former Myrtle Mayo. He was a native of Lawrence county and had lived at Naples, Ky., the last 20 years.

He leaves his widow, three daughters, Marie Mayo Taylor, of Naples, Mrs. Clyde Trimble, of Pikeville, and Mrs. Mack Dixon, Clinton, Ky. Other survivors are three brothers, three sisters and seven grandchildren.

Funeral rites were held Tuesday from the John Steen Funeral Home, and burial was made in Rose Hill Burial Park, Ashland.

WORLD'S BUSIEST AND BEST HOUSEKEEPERS

The world's busiest and most scientific housekeepers, says Don Wharton in the July Reader's Digest, are the men and women of Allied Maintenance Corp., who clean railway and air terminals. When the New York Central wanted to know how to clean Grand Central Station more efficiently, Allied prepared a 42,000-word report which resulted in savings of $130,000 a year.

Martin Man Succumbs At Veterans Hospital At Huntington, W. Va.

William M. (Kendall) Hill, 55, of Martin, died at 9:20 a.m. Saturday at the Veterans administration hospital, Huntington, W. Va. He was a veteran of World War II.

Tetanus (lockjaw) cases totaled five; diphtheria seven (there were 58 five years ago), and polio 87.

Many whooping-cough and tetanus cases go unreported, Health Department people said.

The State Medical Association's proposal was in the form of a recommendation by the group's council—its governing body between annual meetings.

Several other public-health recommendations also were made by the council in a recent meeting. Included was an endorsement of fluoridation of public water supplies to prevent tooth decay.

The council decided not to act on the question of cigarette smoking and its possible relation to lung cancer.

The compulsory-vaccination proposal and several others were made to the council by the K.S.M.A.'s public-health advisory committee, headed by Dr. Delmas Clardy, Hopkinsville.

A strong recommendation for compulsory vaccination had also been made by the K.S.M.A. school-health committee and by the Kentucky School Health Council, which represents six state-wide groups.

The six groups are the State Medical Association, State Board of Education, Kentucky Dental Association, Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, State Department of Health and State Department of Mental Health.

Dr. Carroll L. Witten, Louisville, president of the School Health Council, said vaccines for all four diseases are available in a single shot.

Doctors have been giving "DPT" vaccine—for diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus—to children in a single shot for many years. Booster doses are usually given at later intervals.

Dr. Witten said of the proposal: "I think this is an absolute necessity. Its effectiveness can be seen by the present scarcity of smallpox."

"If this is done, we would soon see the day when polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough would cease to exist in our state for all practical purposes."

Any law on the subject would presumably provide for public-health departments to give shots to those who could not afford to go to a private doctor, said Dr. Witten.

The K.S.M.A. council referred the proposal to its legislative committee for putting it in legislative form. A proposed law may therefore be ready for the 1960 General Assembly.

A bill to make polio shots compulsory was introduced in the 1958 General Assembly by Senator James Hamilton of Georgetown. It passed the Senate but died in a House committee after being strongly protested by groups who do not believe in using medicine.

During the Civil War, the Federal Navy paid a Frenchman $10,000 to build a submarine to sink the Confederate iron-clad Merrimack. But when a naval officer arrived to take command of the finished vessel, the inventor had disappeared (with his $10,000). As no one could figure out how to work the gadget, it never was of any use to the Navy.

EXCAVATION PROGRESS MADE TO UNCOVER TOMB OF MIDAS

Ankara, Turkey, July 7—Dr. Rodney S. Young of the University of Pennsylvania Museum may soon break open the tomb of the fabulous King Midas, the foolish monarch with the golden touch.

Young and his staff are supervising excavations by a bulldozer and a crew of 150 peasants from nearby villages at Gordion, capital of ancient Phrygia.

The city, 70 miles southeast of Ankara at the junction of the Sakarya and Porsuk rivers, is where King Midas had his palace. Legend says that Midas wished that everything he touched would turn to gold, but when his food turned to gold he begged off.

One of his ancestors, King Gordius, could tie very intricate knots. Soothsayers announced that anyone who could untie the Gordian Knot would become the ruler of Asia. Alexander The Great, failing to untie it, cut it with his sword.

Young has been excavating at the site since 1950. He uncovered the largest tomb in 1957. There was a controversy whether it was the tomb of Midas or Gordius. There was not much evidence to tie it to one king more than another.

The tomb contained a skeleton laid out on a four-poster wooden bed. The floor was littered with collapsed wooden tables and their load of bronze vessels, pottery vessels once filled with food for the dead, and the king's jewelry.

Young, who holds that the legend five of the golden touch is a composite of folklore and myth, said the tomb probably was not that of Midas. The king is known to have lived through the raid of the Cimmerians who looted and burned the place about 685 B.C.

Midas committed suicide in despair after the raid, and Young does not believe so elaborate a burial would have been arranged in a time of catastrophe.

A bulldozer is ripping off the top of the second-largest mound, called a tumulus. The last four yards of the 66-foot-high mound will be dug out by hand. Young hopes the tomb, when uncovered, will yield some sign whether it is Midas'.

There are 84 of these tumuli; 23

James Bascom Fraley, Age 65, West Van Lear, Succumbs To Paralysis

James Bascom Fraley, 64, of West Van Lear, died at 9 p.m., Sunday at home. He had suffered from paralysis for six years.

Mr. Fraley, a son of the late James and Elizabeth Osborne Fraley, was a retired mine superintendent for Turner Elkhorn Coal Company. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and of the Freewill Baptist church.

His wife, Golda Wells Fraley, survives, as do three sons and a daughter: Harold and Burl Fraley, both of Ashland, Raymond Fraley, Ypsilanti, Mich., and Mrs. Belvard Reitz, of Drift. Brothers and sisters surviving are General Fraley, Portsmouth, Va., Ray Fraley, of Wayland, Fred Fraley, of Estill, Sam Fraley, also of Wayland, Junior Fraley, Middletown, Ohio, Mrs. Maggie Humphrey, Albuquerque, N. M., Mrs. Emma See, Mrs. Martha Sullivan and Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, all of Louisa. Two half-brothers survive: John Fraley, of Wayland, and Bill Fraley, Dayton, Ohio.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 1 p.m. from the Martin Branch Freewill Baptist church at Estill, the Revs. Bill Amburgey and Green Boyd officiating. Burial was made in the Martin cemetery at Wayland under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

ADKINS IN GERMANY

Baumholder, Germany—Army Pfc. Gerald S. Adkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Adkins, of Garrett, Ky., recently participated with the 8th Division's 16th Infantry in Remembrance Day ceremonies in Etelbruck, Luxembourg.

The activities commemorated the town's liberation during World War II by General George S. Patton, Jr.'s Third Army.

Adkins, a radio-telephone operator in the infantry's Mortar Battery in Baumholder, Germany, entered the Army in September, 1958, and completed basic combat training at Fort Riley, Kansas.

The 19-year-old soldier is a 1956 graduate of Knott County high school, Pippa Passes. He attended Caney Junior College.

S. S. Administration Operate Big Business; Ask Correct Addresses

Are you receiving your social security check about the third or fourth day every month? Does your mailman deliver it to your home? Are you aware of the fact that you are only one of the thirteen million social security beneficiaries whose monthly benefit checks are prepared and mailed every month by the Social Security Administration?

The Social Security Administration Payment Centers operate a well planned and organized disbursement division, so that every beneficiary receives his monthly benefit check on time. The Social Security Administration has on file the addresses of all beneficiaries including yours.

If at any time you move to another address it is of utmost importance that you notify your nearest social security office of your new address. When you notify the social security office, be sure to give your correct name, your old address; and of course, the social security account number on which monthly benefits are being paid. Your local post office should also be notified of your change of address so that your benefit check may be forwarded. If you cannot contact your social security office personally, or a social security representative, write them a letter stating your name, account, and new address.

Mr. Heber Burke has returned from Donovan, Mo., where she spent her vacation with her sister, Mrs. Don Yantis, and Mr. Yantis at their summer camp on the Current River. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Brock, Jr., of Harlan, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shepherd, of Lexington.

Mr. Lena Brown and Mrs. James Hartley, of Chicago, spent Tuesday night with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Compton left Tuesday for Cleveland, Ohio, where they are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Walter Snavely, and Mr. Snavely.

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Salisbury, Jr., were in Lexington this week.

BROTHERHOOD MEET SET

A Baptist Brotherhood rally for men of Eastern Kentucky will be held Monday, July 13, on the campus of the Clear Creek Baptist School here, according to the Rev. D. M. Aldridge, president of the school. Forrest Sawyer, Louisville, Brotherhood secretary for Kentucky, is in charge of this meeting.

VISIT AT EASTERN

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Terry and children, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hatcher, of St. Petersburg, Florida, were the Saturday dinner guests of Mrs. Terry's and Mrs. Hatcher's mother, Mrs. Ella Stewart Martin, of Eastern. Others present were Norvel and Ed Martin, of Eastern.

HAS DINNER GUESTS

Mrs. E. A. Smith, Sr., had as her Sunday dinner guests her son, E. A. Smith, Jr., and family, of Louisville, Dr. and Mrs. I. J. Francis, of Hazard, and Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Terry and twin daughters, Pat and Pam.

Quentin Terry, Jr., was the Sunday dinner guest of Zella Faye Wallace.

Magoffin Woman Shoots Father-in-Law, Claim

Flo Patrick, 26, of Magoffin county was lodged in the Johnson county jail Friday after she is alleged to have shot her father-in-law, Lee Patrick, about 65, with a shotgun. She is charged with shooting with attempt to kill.

Sheriff Arnett, of Salyersville, said the woman waited in a small building erected by the side of the road by the Board of Education for children to wait the school buses. She fired into a truck, seriously wounding Patrick. He was brought to the Paintsville hospital where he is expected to recover.

Sheriff Arnett said Mrs. Patrick will be taken today to a Lexington hospital for treatment of a mental nature.

Also injured was Acherine Risner who was thrown from the truck when it lurched, following the shooting. Mrs. Risner is a patient in a West Liberty hospital, where she is receiving treatment for head injuries.

Several persons were passengers in the truck which Patrick was driving. —The Paintsville Herald.

10. THE CHANCE TO BUILD A BETTER COMMUNITY BY PUTTING YOUR DOLLARS TO WORK HERE

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

Something Unusual Happened

An unusual thing happened at the meeting this week of the Floyd County Board of Education. A parent stood up and made a forceful plea for an armistice on politics and an honest attempt to work together—for the good of his child and all other children in the county's school system.

Byron M. Thompson, of Prestonsburg, frankly admitted that he had actively supported an anti-administration candidate, but he expressed the thought that the election is past, that those elected then and at previous balloting have a sworn duty to perform, and that the prejudices and hatreds engendered by those elections must be forgotten if those elected are to render the service to which the children of Floyd county are entitled.

It is most unusual in this county to see any citizen appeal to commonsense and a sense of justice rather than to inflammatory prejudice. The appearance of a citizen and taxpayer before such a group asking for nothing for himself or for a friend is perhaps even more unusual. Yet Byron Thompson asked for much—for the "pros" and the "antis" to sit down and reason together; to renounce political commitments in the common cause of better schools; to assure teachers security in their jobs, and to remove the classroom far from the grime and confusion of politics.

This is not to praise an individual for performing a duty many of us should be performing. Nor is it to suggest that any board member or official compromise his integrity or conscience in the face of obvious wrong. It is, rather, to suggest that men of goodwill should be able to find common ground on which to work in an uncommonly fine cause.

SMALL-GRAIN DISEASE

 Student Guidance: Occupational Information

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles concerning the need for student guidance in American schools.

By Dr. Edward C. Roerber

In this third article of a series on vocational guidance, we are putting the spotlight on the importance of knowing something about the educational and vocational worlds which surround all of us. Because we come in daily contact with a part of these worlds, it is easy to form opinions without seeing the total picture. Or because we cannot see all the opportunities, we assume that there are none.

What is it about a job that pleases you or causes you to be unhappy about it? Your answer and that of your neighbor would probably be quite different.

One farmer says, "I like farming—it's out-of-doors and a healthy job." Another disagrees. "Farming's OK, but the outside work is the worst part of it—and it's unhealthy, too."

Students also show different reactions to school and work. It is important that sound career planning does not overlook this fact. Students need reliable information about schools and jobs. They also need a chance to talk over how they feel about schools and jobs in relationship to their own growing interests, talents, and personality.

For many years, I have had some fun talking to adolescents about occupations. Interestingly enough many of them have definite notions. Workers in some of the occupations, though, might not always like these opinions. And their statements if these impressions are common to many adolescents may explain why it is tough to find new recruits for the occupations. Three recent comments were:

"When I think of librarians, I always think of a quiet, mousey little person sitting in a pile of books and answering foolish questions."

"When I think of a scientist, I think of sort of an odd guy fooling around with test tubes, not paying much attention to anything else."

"When I think of a college professor, I think of some absent-minded character trying to cut his front lawn with a vacuum cleaner."

Anyone who has observed librarians, scientists, and college professors at work would know that these descriptions were not based upon careful study. Instead, they were pictures which these adolescents developed without reliable information.

You can see what reaction you might get if anyone suggested that the first student become a librarian.

In helping boys and girls with educational and vocational planning, counselors and teachers have to begin many times with these distorted pictures. As soon as possible, they introduce students to reliable forms of information. Even then boys and girls may not wish to accept the information and instead may make only minor changes in their attitudes.

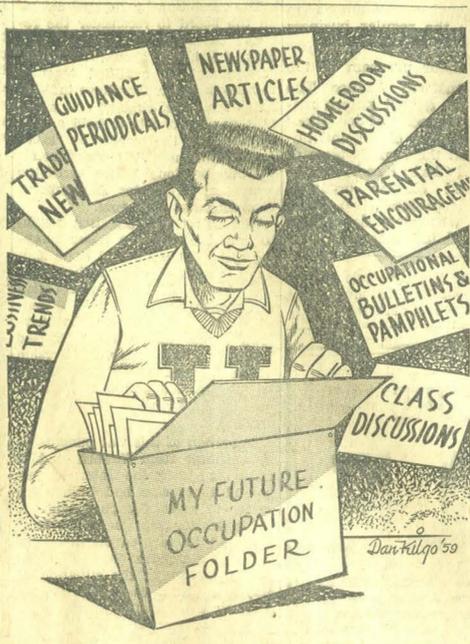

Counselors and teachers need more knowledge and skill to use information that most people recognize. Once again it is important to emphasize that counseling can help students understand how their needs can be met in school, at work, and during leisure-time. The opportunity for students to talk over their attitudes toward school achievement, vocational aspirations, and how they plan to make the best possible use of their talents cannot be stressed too much. They should be encouraged to start a collection of helpful occupational information when they enter high school. This practice should be continued until graduation.

A typical counselor's day demands considerable knowledge, as well as resources of information, if he is to satisfy all inquiries by students and parents.

Cal is soon leaving junior high school and must choose among various senior high curricula and subjects. As he prepares to make these choices, he wants information about the curricula and what he can do with each one. He may also want rather definite information about the content of the school subjects in these curricula. Because he intends to graduate from senior high school, he must understand the graduation requirements.

Marsha is about ready to graduate from high school. Over a period of time she has been thinking about three possibilities after high school: beautician school, airline hostess training, and nurses' training. She has needed much information, such as description of the occupations themselves, the kinds and descriptions of schools and training available, as well as how she could best use her high school program to prepare for them.

Henry has wanted to go into a branch of the armed services for a long time. He spent a lot of time looking over the materials furnished by the services.

He was searching for training in electronics. In addition, the many reserve and enlistment programs were carefully examined and discussed with the recruiting officers.

Joan has taken a college prep course. She has been undecided about attending a small college or a large university. She wanted information concerning entrance requirements, cost, kinds of courses and instruction available, housing facilities, and other resources. It was largely a matter of weighing one school against another, visiting a couple of them, and finding the one which would best meet her needs. Furthermore, she eventually wanted information and help in completing admission blanks.

While in high school, Russell developed an interest in the printing trades, taking the printing courses offered by the school. In addition, he sought information about apprenticeship programs, unions, two-year college programs in printing, trade schools, and the general outlook for finding jobs and getting ahead in the trade.

Celia has never wanted to go to college and so she took commercial courses. She was particularly interested in the kinds of jobs available in her home town. This information included duties, salaries, fringe benefits, employment interviews and testing.

There are many kinds of materials, some free, available to students and their parents. To aid them in locating printed occupational materials which meet acceptable standards, they may wish to secure the NVGA Bibliography of Current Occupational Literature from the American Personnel and Guidance Association, 1605 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., Washington 9, D. C.

Current occupational information is made available to many students through semi-monthly guidance publications. In addition students see films which show men and women at work, or they observe and talk with college students and workers themselves. Every community is a laboratory of educational and occupational life. In most instances young people need only the proper leadership from counselors and teachers.

Magoffin Magistrates Vote Themselves Pay While Judge Is Absent

Magoffin County Judge Ray Holbrook said last week that magistrates of that county refused to vote on the county tax levy and certain payments for courthouse construction "unless and until" payment of their $100-a-month salaries for the preceding fiscal year were approved.

Judge Holbrook was absent, and Mrs. Loretta Spurlock acted as judge pro-tem. When the dispute arose she declared the court session adjourned, but the magistrates refused to end the meeting, elected one of their own number, Homer Trusty, to act as chairman, and voted to pay the 1958-1959 salaries. At the same time they fixed the same figure for the new fiscal year.

Judge Holbrook told The Salyersville Independent he opposes the magistrate's salaries on the grounds that they have done nothing to earn them.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and gratitude to our many neighbors, friends and relatives who helped us in any way during the illness and upon the passing of our beloved husband, son and brother, Al Smith Friend, who died June 24, at Miners Memorial hospital, Pikeville, Kentucky.

We are grateful for the comforting words of the hospital staff and its doctors; especially to the ministers for their consoling words and the First Baptist Church choir of Martin for the beautiful hymns. Words will not come to truly express our feeling and appreciation for the many beautiful floral tributes, the food sent to us at this time, the kind words of you who visited us at home and all of you who made this trial easier for us to bear. We also thank the Moore Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. We will always remember you for this helpfulness to us all. May God bless all of you for it.

work was contributed by the Floyd County Board of Education. It had become apparent near the end of operations that there would be a surplus of funds, and $1,000 was given the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad that was an outgrowth of the tragedy. All bills having been paid, the committee authorized at its Monday meet the transfer of the remainder of the funds to the rescue group. This amounts to $658.83, it was said by James E. Goble, committee treasurer.

The committee has a list of names of persons and firms upon whom it wants to bestow a citation for its work but doesn't have the addresses.

times due to a large crowd. Howard agreed to the meets being held in the superintendent's office "if all can get in."

The resolution by Howard calling on the board to reconsider the recent placement of teachers said that the board should reconsider "assignment of qualified teachers to schools which they have indicated as their first choice," and where that was impossible to hold a conference with the teacher on "satisfactory placement." He recommended this be done before certifying emergency certificates. The proposed resolution met a tie vote.

Howard's third resolution sought to have the Maytown water pumping system at the school there shut down, as "it is alleged that contrary to law, the board of education has been furnishing certain citizens of Maytown water from the Maytown school installation." Howard called this "an unlawful diversion of school funds." Illegal users should be disconnected and a written report of the situation submitted, he contended.

Discussion of this was punctuated by a charge from Howard that 69 users were using the waters illegally and that some had been doing so for 13 years. Campbell said the whole matter was "news to him" and that he favored an investigation. Superintendent Turner reviewed the history of the situation at Maytown, said that the storage reservoir was installed on the property of one man and the lines run over other property and the consideration for such privileges was connection of these persons to the system. This was done under the administration of either Town or Palmer Hall. Since then, Turner said he had many of the lines taken up and illegal users cut off, but he learned that soon after the lines were reburied the users hooked on again. He had repeatedly disconnected them, he said. The matter resulted in a two-two vote but Turner promised to prepare a report on the situation for the board. On one motion in the controversy Campbell and Stumbo voted for investigation. Action on Howard's fourth resolution to require an accounting of all equipment and supplies purchased in the last five years was a tie vote. Turner commented that the board was now preparing a perpetual inventory but to go back five years was impossible. Many supplies and much equipment was lost in the 1957 flood, he said. Stumbo moved a perpetual inventory be kept from July 1 and this received a unanimous vote.

The final proposal resolution by Howard, except the one asking for Turner's resignation, sought to have the superintendent's salary reduced to $7,200 in line with a recent court decision, and that he be required to pay back $1,800 he had received as retroactive pay when he was given a raise. Attorney Hobson pointed out that the Court of Appeals decision held that the present salaries were valid until the terms of contracts terminated. Both the salary and resignation proposals received tie votes.

On the budget-making proposal it was voted unanimously that these persons would be asked to assist: Walter Roschi, of the State Department of Education; principals Charles Clark, George L. Moore and Burnis Gayheart; teachers, Edgar Bingham, Edgar Craft, and Elmer Martin; bankers, Burl Spurlock, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., and Glenn Spradlin.

A Howard proposal to ask the county attorney to seek a declaratory judgment when a tie vote resulted on employing "non-certified" persons resulted in a tie vote also. Business transacted by the board consisted in the opening of bids on school buses, school materials and supplies, and athletic equipment. Successful bidder on the school buses was Carpenter Coach Sales, of Indiana. The bid forms required a Ford chassis on all 48-passenger and an International chassis on all 60 passenger buses. The 48's were bid at $1,793.50 and the 60's at $1,993.50.

On the question of $28,000 bond recommended by the State Department of Education for the book custodian, Mrs. W. J. Stone, it was voted to advertise for the lowest bid on the premium. This was by a 3 to 1 vote, Hall voting "no." Dependable Supply Company, of Paintsville, was successful bidder on school supplies for teachers. The Beaver Valley Supply Company, of Martin, successfully bid on the furnishing of lumber to be needed for work planned on the Drift school. It was voted to give all other contracts for incidentals to "the lowest and best bidders."

Blast damage, allegedly done by the contracting firm constructing the new road near the Prestonsburg high school, was discussed. A temporary report noted that there was damage on the second floor but no basic structural damage on foundation and walls. An inspection committee was appointed to form a final estimate on the damages. School opening dates were set for the consolidated schools as August 31 and for rural schools as August 10. The latter date would have to be tentative, it was said by the superintendent.

The board specified that advertising for coal require "machine coal" and screened coal. It was voted to advertise for bids on contract hauling.

another pooch gone to wherever dogs go when they pass on, try holding one, pat his head to quiet him, then hear his tail beat a friendly tattoo on the examination table and see him disregard all his pain to try to lick your face. No human in pain, facing such an ordeal, could with a thousand words express such affection. Most of us would be too busy thinking of ourselves.

I stood and wondered what the poor dog was grateful for, and I was the one in debt.

THE OLD MASTER TURNS CRITIC

If some of this cacophonous ululating that I hear on radio and television is singing, then I'm Caruso. And I am one of the few who have never been invited to sing in a church choir. . . . After hearing some of our hillbilly "artists" sing through their noses I know I have missed my calling. Nature has generously equipped me with the olfactory organ needed for such singing, and here I have wasted all these years.

SO BACK TO FISHING

My readers—well, one, anyway—were disappointed in my column last week because there was nothing therein about fishing. . . . So the old arm-chair angler must get back in the groove. . . . If you think John Warrick's pipe is at a jaunty angle than usual this week, please be advised that he caught a five-pound bass, the other day. . . . If I look a bit seedier and down in the mouth than usual, you are hereby notified that I have caught nothing; worse, haven't had an opportunity even to try catching something or nothing. See by the papers that some smart-aleck says fisherman are too old-fashioned. Says they leave the matter of catching fish too much to luck and skill, that they should devote time to research. The poor guy doesn't know that skill is what I have and luck is what the fellow who catches fish has. Still, I am willing to give this research stuff a try. If I come up with the discovery that the only sure way to get fish is to drop a stick of dynamite in a carefully chosen spot, don't blame me—it's in the scientist in me cropping out.

big rock" in the vicinity of the Rorer property to the L. V. Goble property. This is a part of the Lancer area that was annexed to Prestonsburg about 18 months ago. Again the Council split on the issue—Shannon Greer and C. W. May for the removal of the area from the limits of Prestonsburg, Watt Hale and W. O. Goebel against. This time, Mayor Napier refused to untie the deadlock, and the ordinance failed of passage.

John M. Stumbo, sanitarian with the Floyd County Health Department, urged the Council to give all possible assistance toward laying sewer lines in Earl street here and at Lancer, describing the existing situation as a "health menace." Although it was said the city cannot legally lay sewer lines at its own expense, it was indicated some help on labor may be afforded.

March, the magistrates could not and did not receive any pay for hearing criminal causes, and were limited to the fees and per diem for hearing civil cases, holding examining trials in criminal cases, and services on the fiscal court.

"Then, after nearly three months of the term had elapsed, the compensation is or could have been increased. . . . If that is not an increase in compensation during the term, with every act necessary to make it effective coming after the beginning of the term, then I do not know what to call it."

Judge Eblen said the State's justices of the peace had no vested right in any pay for trying criminal cases either before their election or before the start of their terms of office.

Further, he said, the right to this pay could not have been vested in any magistrate prior to March 28, 1958, when the new legislative act became effective—and their terms were nearly three months gone at that time.

"When the present justices of the peace were elected in 1957 and took office in January, 1958, there was no assurance that a statute authorizing compensation to them for trying criminal cases would be enacted," Eblen went on.

"So prior to election and entering office, the most they had was an expectation, which the majority have erroneously converted into a vested right."

If the five-judge appellate majority is to be consistent, Judge Eblen added, they would be forced to hold that the next legislature could repeal the Magistrates' Salary Act, effective during the current term, so as to withdraw from them the added pay for trying criminal cases.

Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis, state police and other officers arrested four persons in liquor raids, then last Thursday nabbed four others. The eight, all ow whom were taken before the U. S. Commissioner at Pikeville, were James Slone, who operates a place on the Cow Creek mountain, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Clich, of near Sugar Loaf, Damon Stamper, Ezra Marsillett, James Newsome, Joe Baker Wallen and Frank Green, all of the Middle Creek road.

Late Saturday afternoon, state police and deputy sheriffs arrested Ezra Marsillett and Yancey Horn, at the same time confiscating 22 half-pints of whiskey, 2 1/2 cases and a tubful of beer. A car which had been chased some distance by Deputy Sheriffs Albert Spradlin and Lonnie Herald later dumped its contents over the bank after shaking the officers, and shortly after Saturday midnight Sheriff Hershell Warrens found the jettisoned cargo—30 cases of beer.

In the June 27 raid Tommy Ratliff's place, near Banner was searched but possession of a federal liquor stamp afforded Ratliff protection. On the following Monday Deputy Sheriff Lewis returned to find 27 half-pints of whiskey and beer.

State detectives this week were investigating four recent breaks into Floyd business places. These were the 114 Drive-In on the Middle Creek road, the Triangle Drive-In, west of Martin, the Big Y Drive-In and a fruit market at Allen. A juvenile has been arrested and warrants have been issued for three others, Chester Ratliff, Vernon Clay and Russell Prince. State Detective Potter said, approximately $100 in cash was taken from each of two places, the 114 Drive-In and the Triangle Drive-In. It was said a "Thirty-four persons were jailed here during the week-end, with most of those booked being accused of drunkenness. The more serious charges were lodged against:

Tuley Salisbury, reckless use of deadly weapon and shooting on a public highway; Laney Sizemore, breaking and entering; Okie Hall, drunk driving, possessing moonshine whiskey and no operator's license; Robert Yates, possessing moonshine; Kindie Mosley, reckless driving; Dwight McGuire, rape, held to $2,000 bond on charge of assaulting a 15-year-old girl; Isaac Hall, Jr., forgery.

WHAT'S YOUR PLEASURE? Salt air? Trout streams? Skyline and bright lights? Whatever your vacation choice, you'll have more fun if you phone ahead for reservations. Long Distance makes it easy, too, to check in with the office while you're away or give the folks at home advance notice of that "whopper" you're bringing back. Calling Long Distance costs so little. Costs even less when you call station-to-station, with extra bargains after 6 P.M. and on Sundays.

RECIPE FOR RELAXING:

- At your right elbow.
- Stir not a bit—just
- Cool in the shade.
- When the phone rings—reach—
- You've got it made!

ANY COLOR PHONES in your home? If so, you're right in style. The Bell System has just won a special award for adding the beauty of color to telephones. It's from the National Society of Interior Designers—the first award of this kind ever made by the Society.

HERE'S A BEAUTY TREATMENT THAT SAVES MONEY! Sound impossible? Well, here's how it works. "Spring" type telephone cords—the kind that can't twist and catch on things—eventually lose their neat, tight curls. Then they're ready for a "permanent wave." (They get it when the telephones come in for repair.) Around one million cords get the full beauty treatment each year—washing, rewinding, and heat setting. $400,000 is saved by this annually, helping to keep down telephone costs.

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

"Bringing In The Sheaves"

As I was washing my car today, I suddenly was aware that I was whistling "Bringing in the Sheaves," certainly a well-known church song of my earlier days. But the thing that most impressed me when I recalled the words was that not anybody today except some oldish people can form any sensible idea about bringing in sheaves. A few of us are still around who have tied behind a man with a cradle, but even we certainly did not bring in sheaves except in wagons. We had seen the pictures in the family Bible showing gleaners with sheaves in their arms or on their heads, and those pictures seemed as strange to us as they must seem to the youngest ones today. I am afraid that it would take a preacher a long time to explain the exact meaning of the song if it were sung today. Just as I sometimes have to explain the telling figure of speech in some well-known poem, the preacher is beset with exegesis of both the ancient and the modern tongues.

Probably there is nothing so convincing as a comparison when the relationship first appears to an observer. He either expresses it orally and often creates a happy moment for the listener, or, very rarely, he writes it down in some form and has a chance of preserving his comparison for a longer time. The oral comparison may last a long time, however, in folk simile, even until people have quite forgotten why a speckled puppy or a mud fence or a washing of soap conveyed a vivid impression. Whole books have been written to explain some of these very comparisons: one such book, A HOG ON ICE, gives the history of dozens of similes that would otherwise seem dumb. Even the hog on ice turns out to be a term from a game and does not refer to a hog or ice, in the usual meanings of the words.

In Lowell's "The Courtin'" the imagined New England back-country poet concluded his vivid account of how Zekle won Huldy with

"And all I know is they were cried

In meeting, come next Sunday."

Only one student in a dozen in my classes has the remotest notion of what "being cried in meeting" would mean. An occasional Catholic or Episcopalian sometimes enlightens the class, who are as surprised by a custom like publishing the banns as by the quaint New England dialect of this excellent ballad.

A few days back I mentioned Adam's off ox and got a chilly stare for reward. I let the class wait a short while until I explained about plowing and the lead and the off oxen. Mouths flew open at the strange talk, as if a cave man had reappeared and explained some of his cave-man philosophy. Now, I never plowed an ox, but I have seen it done. I have also ridden on a log wagon drawn by oxen, which could, on a bit of urging, make a mile or two an hour. Some of these same dumb brutes, however, knew "Gee" and "Haw" and could be driven with no guiding lines of any sort.

Fortunately, it was not so hard to explain a few days ago about ancient runners, who trained with great handicaps and then "ran with patience the race set before them." When one of my best students won a trophy in a track meet for throwing the discus, I got a chance to link us again with other times, times long ago. In fact, if the Greeks came back to us, they probably would feel more at home at a track meet than anywhere else in our complex world. Our arguments would seem trivial and disconnected, our religion would seem too ethereal, our democracy, in spite of our getting the very word from them, would scare them; but they would probably beat us on a cross-country race and would excel us in wrestling and discus-throwing and similar things. Maybe St. Paul would have less difficulty, also, in explaining what he meant by finishing the course, a good word for a runner.

Water Problems Are Multiplying

No overall water shortage exists in Kentucky but problems of adequate distribution are multiplying, says a preliminary report of the Kentucky Water Resources Commission.

The reasons, says the report, are population shifts, more irrigation of farm lands and other increased usage factors.

These are causing domestic, industrial, agricultural, municipal and recreational users of water to compete for supplies, says the report.

By 1975 water needs in Kentucky will increase by more than six billion gallons a year, the commission found.

One recommended solution: Establish joint city-county planning commissions throughout the state to regulate and control supply. This would mean an overhaul of Kentucky's water laws and other statutes currently limiting such planning to cities of the first and second class.

The report said Kentucky uses only 1 1/2 percent of its total annual rainfall of some 32.5 trillion gallons, but needs to continue building dams and impoundments at the rate of about 100 a year to increase water reserves. By 1975, the state would have 15, possibly 20, major lakes.

DISTRICT 4-H CAMP

The Big Sandy District 4-H Camp will be held July 13-17 at Camp J. M. Feltner (Fishtrap) in Johnson county. Four-H members from Floyd county will camp with club members from Johnson, Pike and Martin counties.

Eugene Ball, County Agent from Martin county will serve as camp director. Other camp officers are Mary Ruth Cochran, Pike county, Dean of Women; Jack Friar, Floyd county Dean of men; Ben Brown, Johnson county, treasurer.

Rev. Harold Dick, Pastor of the Arnold Avenue Church of Christ, will be song leader and in charge of Vesper services for the week.

CAMP CLEAN-UP

On July 2, agents, 4-H club members and leaders from six counties met at Camp Feltner to clean up a new play area purchased by the camp.

The workers from Floyd county were Tommy Martin, Freer Martin, Stanton Martin, Randolph Hicks, Dana Jack Hicks, Garland Martin, Rev. Harold Dick, Robert Jones and Jack Friar.

Other counties participation in clean-up day were Martin, Johnson, Lawrence, Magoffin and Elliott.

STAIN REMOVAL

With summer in full swing, you will probably find that many of your clothes have become stained from the summer fun.

Successful stain removal depends on promptness, also on the knowledge of the kind of stain and the type of material the clothing is made from.

Here are some suggestions for stain removal:

For cotton, linen, and rayon, all types of bleaches can be used. (Unless the fabric has a chlorine finish). Grease and stain solvents can be used.

Wools and silk—using dilute ammonia is the safest. Sodium per-murate or Hydrogen peroxide can be used on white or colorfast wools and silks.

Acetates—dilute acetic and oxalic acids are the safest alkali to use. Acetone and fine-mesh polish remover stiffen or dissolve the fabric. Nylon—follow clothing directions for care.

Orlon, acrilan, or dacron, needs no special precaution other than for following clothing directions.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

The sixteenth National Farm Safety Week will be observed July 19 to July 25. During this week, farm families will be urged to make a special effort to promote safety in the home and on the farm. The following facts make this week important.

1. From 12,000 to 15,000 farm residents lose their lives each year in all types of accidents.

2. Farm work accidents claim 3,500 to 4,000 lives each year. More than any major industry.

3. A million or more farm people suffer accidental injuries and the accompanying disabilities and financial troubles.

Everyone in the nation is affected, directly or indirectly, by the annual farm accident toll. Business in general loses economically and socially after a farm accident. The victims and their families suffer the greatest loss.

Accidents don't just happen. There is always some cause. The National Safety Council studies show that fatigue, hurry, emotional upsets, false confidence, improper care and use of equipment are the basic causes of accidents.

Farm people can help avoid accidents by—

1. Adopting a positive attitude toward accident prevention.

2. Making regular safety inspections of their homes, buildings, fields, machinery and equipment and removing hazards.

3. Learning and using safe work habits.

4. Guarding against fatigue and emotional disturbances.

Martin-Blevins Vows Are Solemnized, Feb. 14

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Martin, of Dema and Wayland, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Rose, to Mr. Ronald Blevins, of the U.S. Navy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Blevins, of Mt. Sterling. RIGHT TO DRIVE AND TO DRINK ARE SEPARATE

By Collis Ringo, Executive Director, Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism

One area of alcohol education involves understanding of the hazards of operating a motor vehicle while drinking.

The measurable effects of small alcohol concentrations in the blood are well established. Actual tests have demonstrated deterioration of driving ability of 25 to 30 percent from as low concentrations as 5 one-hundredths of 1 percent.

Under Kentucky law a concentration of 15 one-hundredths of 1 percent is prima facie evidence of intoxication. Driving while intoxicated is punishable by fine and carries automatic revocation of driver's license.

A check with Richard Houpe, director of Driving Licensing, revealed some astonishing figures. Houpe's office reports 7,042 revocations of drivers licenses from convictions for driving while intoxicated in 1958. The high month was June with 871 revocations, the low month was July with 530. This average of nearly 600 drunk driving convictions per month presents not simply an enforcement problem. This problem involves the safety of every driver on the highways.

It is reasonable to assume that not all drunken drivers are apprehended. What percentage escape the toils of the law is purely a matter of conjecture but if 7,042 were convicted in 1958, many thousands were on the roads who were not caught.

The privilege of operating a motor car is a prized possession. The 7,042 Kentuckians who were deprived of that privilege in 1958 agree that the right to drive and the right to drink are separate privileges and must be exercised, one without the other.

"If you drink, don't drive . . . if you drive, don't drink" is not just a slogan. It is a basic formula guaranteeing a fundamental civil right to both, but never at the same time.

The Kentucky Commission on Alcoholism believes this area of alcohol education which school systems could stress without offense to wets or dries. An honest observance of this rule by that 65 percent of Kentucky's adult population who drink will enhance the safety of the highway and save thousands of dollars in property damage.

Vaccination Is Asked
As Polio Season Nears;
Twelve Cases Reported

Before the polio season reaches its anticipated peak in August, it is urgent for communities to organize and conduct block-by-block and person-to-person vaccination campaigns, Russell E. Teague, M.D., Kentucky's Commissioner of Health, said this week.

"Delay in pushing major drives to reach the unvaccinated may result in tragic outbreaks of polio," Dr. Teague warned.

Paralytic polio cases continue to run about double what they were a year ago, with 265 in the nation between April 1 and June 13, compared with 123 a year ago.

In Kentucky so far this year, 12 cases of polio have been reported, nine of them paralytic. Recent surveys have indicated that preschool children and persons in the lower socio-economic groups are poorly protected against the disease.

Communities which have achieved high levels of immunization have done so through whole-hearted cooperation between medical societies, civic organizations, educational groups, religious leaders, local health departments, and other interested citizens, Dr. Teague pointed out.

In some cases, cost of the vaccine was underwritten by a civic club, and the chapter was repaid through nominal fees collected at the clinics. Other organizations have held picnics and fairs to raise money for the vaccine. In every case, volunteers, newspapers, and radio and television stations cooperated in informing the public of the importance of polio inoculation and the details of clinic operations—where and when they would be held, and the cost of vaccinations. Volunteers have also conducted door-to-door campaigns, urging the people of their neighborhoods to be vaccinated, and, in some communities, arranging for transportation to physicians or clinics.

"Workers in polio inoculation campaigns realize that the best protection against an epidemic is to prevent as many cases as possible through the widest use of the vaccine," Dr. Teague added. "Concerted community action is necessary to reach all unvaccinated persons. It is hoped that every community in Kentucky will intensify its efforts to prevent polio epidemics this summer. It has been done in other communities—it can be done in all."

FOREST GIANT READY FOR THE LUMBERMAN'S AXE

The Big Sandy valley before the Civil War contained one of the greatest hardwood timber reserves in the whole Appalachian region. Exploitation of the vast timbered area began in a commercial way in the early 1840's when a few Floyd countians moved rafts of giant poplars to the Cincinnati market. There the great logs, some of them three and four feet in diameter, brought an average of $1.00 per log.

The greatest concentration of yellow poplar timber was in the Sandy Basin, that great geological trough of many valleys lying in Virginia and on the headwaters of the Big Sandy River and flowing into the Levisa and Russell Forks. At Splashdam, Virginia, beyond "The Breaks" was built the greatest splashdam for logging purposes ever constructed in the world.

A few of the companies that logged the Big Sandy valley before the turn of the twentieth century were Yellow Poplar Lumber Company, Cole & Crane Lumber Company, Chicago Lumber Company and many others. Huge bandmills were erected at Coalgrove on the Ohio River to cut up the forest giants coming chiefly from the Big Sandy valley.

Shown here is a poplar tree that had been spared by the woodsmen until the late 1890's. It was several feet in diameter and stood on the bank of the river in the present Johnson county. A Louisa man photographed it for posterity before it was felled.

Timbering, today, is not the giant industry it was decades ago but forest resources are still important to our economy. The First National Bank salutes the enterprising landowners who are reforesting our hills.

MARTIN

Last Saturday night a fish fry was enjoyed by the Amvets, and the Auxiliary of Martin. Several of the Amvets' wives who had never attended these functions before said they had such a grand time that they intend to go every Saturday night. The new kitchen was to have been dedicated but this will be done at a later date.

The Auxiliary now meets on the Sundays that the Amvets meet. Many women will soon be joining the Auxiliary, as soon as they can obtain application blanks from the president, Mrs. L. B. Skeans.

The past week-end, eight Amvets and two Auxiliary members, Sylvia Skeans and Hazel Hobson, went to Louisville to attend the state convention. They left Friday morning and returned late Sunday, a mobile caravan with Virgil Peters leading with the two Auxiliary members. They left the club at 4 o'clock Friday morning.

A statewide survey is being made of Amvets Clubs as to what they have done for the community and what the community feels should be done.

WORK ON LIBRARY ROOM

The Allen-Martin Woman's Club is working on a room to house a lending library. The room is located beside Pure Oil Service Station in the center of town.

The Redecorating committee painted the walls and laid new floor.

Much volunteer help was given by sons of club members. It will be a worthwhile achievement for the community to have a library in Martin. Lots of good books will be available to those who enjoy reading. Watch for opening date.

BEAR MARKET

SALE

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF MERCHANDISE SACRIFICED!

The great-great-grandfather of the present I. Richmond Company store manager operated a general store in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, more than a hundred years ago. He owned a bear which he kept chained to a tree next to the store. It was his custom in those days to invite home for lunch all customers who happened to be in the store at the noon hour. The invitation was usually accepted and store and bear were left unattended.

On one such occasion he and his friends returned to the store to find the bear had broken his chain and was inside the building. They found him inside the overturned sugar barrel, enjoying the sweets. As a result of this incident he staged the first sale in Prestonsburg—a sale of the sugar from the barrel, at bargain prices.

And now, a century later, we go 'way back to the bear and this bit of history to tilt over for our customers and friends barrels and barrels of bargains in our Semi-Annual Sale.

EARLY ICE CREAM

Marco Polo, the famous explorer, brought back from China a recipe for water ices which may or may not have been used in milk preparations, possibly an early form of ice cream. Charles I of England pensioned a chef in the 1640's who concocted a "cream ice"; the French royal court for years used the same recipe; and from France and England came the concoction now known as ice cream.

East Point Man Dies At Huntington, June 30; Burial On Little Paint

Funeral services for Sam K. Rice, 41, of East Point, who died June 30 at a Huntington (W. Va.) hospital, were conducted Friday afternoon from the First Church of God on Little Paint, the Rev. Roy Benton officiating.

Mr. Rice had been ill a year. He was a son of Judd Rice and the late Maggie Music Rice, and was a lifelong resident of the Little Paint section of this county. Before his illness, he was a power line construction worker, employed by the Harris Brothers Construction Co., Prestonsburg.

Surviving besides his father, are his widow, Mrs. Charlestine Burke Rice, a son, John Thomas Rice, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. R. M. Johnson, of Hager Hill, Mrs. Bert Cartmell, Cerado, W. Va., Mrs. Curtis Richardson and Mrs. John P. Conley, both of East Point, Thomas J. Rice, of Hager Hill, John D., Virley C. and James Ray Rice, all of East Point.

Burial was made in the family cemetery on Little Paint, the Jones & Preston Funeral Home directing.

It was not until 1876 that the Navy adopted the English Morse telegraphic code.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

Nearly a month in a hospital, an event I sought strenuously to avoid but now feel was providential! I am grateful for the superior physicians in our own Prestonsburg General hospital, for the fine spirit and excellent service of the nurses and all others connected with the functioning of this efficient institution.

I want to thank the Kiwanis Club, the Emergency and Rescue Squad, and the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church for beautiful flowers; and also individual friends for flowers, visits, greetings and various services.

Best Room!

JUST ONE OF 7 Big Bests Chevrolet OFFERS you over any other car in its field!

Take a tip from the experts... in their own words... and from on-the-record facts and figures: More than ever, Chevrolet gives you more than any other of the leading low-priced three! More room to relax in, for instance. A sampling of official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* makes this clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for one thing, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

Best Brakes Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR†-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

Best Style It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

Best Engine Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "... surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Ride MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself instantly, once you take the wheel.

Best Economy No doubt about this: two Chevrolet 6's won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon—with Powerglide.

Best Trade-In Check in any N.A.D.A.‡ Guide Book, Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

NOTICE TO FLOYD COUNTY CAR DRIVERS

All drivers of cars whose licenses expire on the 31st day of July, 1959, may now renew them by personally appearing before the clerk and signing the necessary applications. Each person is required to sign his or her name, as a photostatic copy cannot be made of your signature if some one other than you sign for it. Please look over your old license and see if your birthday is correct or if any mistake might have been made in the past when you first received your license. Come early and avoid the rush, as we have about 6,000 or more licenses to issue.

POSTER DRAMA AT BARDSTOWN WELL RECEIVED

Musical drama at My Old Kentucky Home, Bardstown, has been well received by both public and critic. Following the recent premiere performance of "The Stephen Foster Story" at the state park there, critics of The Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, The Lexington Herald-Leader and other newspapers wrote favorably of the outdoor production. Other performances have been well attended and acclaimed by playgoers.

Bardstown was gala for the premiere at the new amphitheatre built by the Commonwealth in the park. Taking part in the fanfare and revels attending the opening of the play, which shows nightly, except Mondays, through September 7, were playwright, Paul Green; the director, Sam Shelden, the actors and civic leaders of the Bardstown community.

Green, a Pulitzer Prize winner, told the crowds that the play "has a minstrel show, riddles, a lot of dancing and singing, and love, love, love all over the place."

Three Publications Feature Kentucky

Frankfort, July 23 (Spl.)—The June issue of the Southern Telephone News is featuring a four-page illustrated article on Mammoth Cave, "Kentucky's Immense Underground Spectacle," by Curtis Mathis. The article describes Mammoth Cave as "a cavern that God has scooped out underneath the green hills of Kentucky."

Six photographs of scenes around the park and in the cave are combined with descriptions of the history of Mammoth Cave, the Floyd Collins tragedy, and anecdotes from the guides' various experiences with tourists.

The Dodge News Magazine's special vacation issue features some pictures of fishing in the Commonwealth and Fur, Fish and Game (Harding's Magazine) contains an article entitled "A Vacation in Kentucky."

Martin's Mayor Becomes Legion Post Commander

Mayor Denzil Halbert, of Martin, who was recently elected commander of American Legion Post 283, took over his new duties this week. Commander Halbert is also a teacher and athletic coach at Martin high school. Installed in office along with him were: V. E. Peters, Clarence A. Click, Clyde Stephens and Leonard Hall, committeemen. Speaking to the Legion membership consisting of veterans of two World Wars and the Korean conflict, Halbert reviewed the achievements of the Post since it was chartered in 1948 in the field of community services and charitable work, and called for a continuation and expansion of these vital services.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE

Floyd Circuit Court
First National Bank, of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Plaintiff, vs. NOTICE OF SALE Richard Wells, Elizabeth Wells and Earl Hall, Defendants.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered and entered at the June term, 1959, in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 18th day of July, 1959, at 10 o'clock, a.m., same being the first day of the regular term of the Floyd County Court, upon a credit of Six (6) months, the following described property, to-wit:

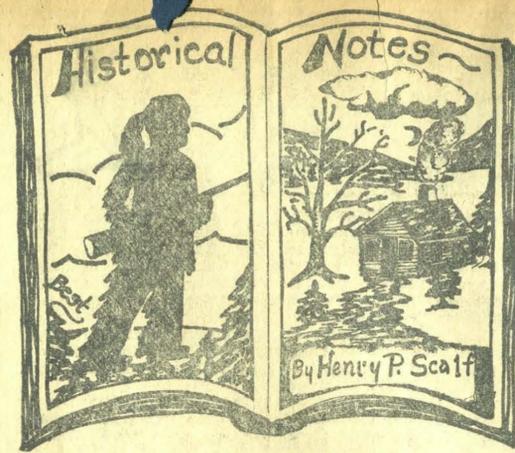

Lots Nos. 88, 89, 90 and 91 in Meadow View Sub-division now on file in the office of the Floyd County Court, but for greater certainty the plat of said sub-division above referred to is hereby adopted, referred to and made a part hereof of the same as if expressly set out herein. Said property will be sold to satisfy a judgment in favor of Earl Hall against the defendants, Richard Wells and Elizabeth Wells, for the sum of $916.00 with interest from July 10, 1958, and the cost of this action.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

INQUIRY FROM UTAH
A letter from Ray H. Garrison, 473 North 6 East, Provo, Utah, asks for information on families not native to this region but the inquiry is passed on to the reader.

"The Garrisons were originally from Green and Adair counties, Kentucky, and the Merles and Adcocks were from Taylor county. Any information would be appreciated."

THE RESERVE LINE
Logan Ewell, of London, Laurel county, is currently serializing a series of articles in the London (Ky.) Sentinel-Echo, titled "75 Years of Living." In discussing famous cases tried in the London court, he writes:

"In this court was decided what was the correct location of The Reserve Line. This was a great survey made in 1783. Its beginning corner was the head of Green River in Lincoln county running to a point near Cumberland Gap thence to the Carolina line, thence with the Tennessee River to its mouth, thence back to Lincoln county, its beginning.

"It was this decision which settled the land titles to the western half of Laurel county. Some seven great surveys had been laid down calling in some cases for points in the Reserve Line. These surveys contained 4637 1/2, 4207 1/2, 42029, 39879, 16142 and 12150 acres respectively. As stated these surveys were tied to The Reserve Line.

"R. L. Ewell, my father, caused The Reserve Line to be resurveyed from Green River and some distance into Tennessee near the Carolina line. Trees were found along the line which the party suspected were there when the original survey was made. They were giants of the forest but my father had them cut down, saved blocks out where hatchet marks would likely be, and after splitting off the sides found the original surveyors' hatchet marks some 18 inches in the body of these trees.

"The blocks of wood were filed as evidence and were the deciding point in the case. They remained in the office of the circuit court for years. This last summer I made a diligent search for them to no avail. I suspect some later clerk burned them for fire wood."

BOOK BY BIG SANDIAN
"Escape From The Shawnees" a book written by Herbert Witten, native of Johnson county, has recently been released by the Pollett Publishing Company of Chicago for sale in the United States and Canada. It is an adventure story about the early pioneer-Indian days of the Big Sandy valley with the settling from Pound Gap to the Shawnee country of Ohio.

Witten was born at Oil Springs and is a son of Mrs. Genoa Witten of Miamisburg, Ohio, and the late Milt Witten. He was graduated from the Oil Springs high school and attended Mayo Vocational school. His family moved to Stave Branch, a little over a mile from where Jennies Creek flows into Paint Creek, when he was about nine years old.

With the exception of three years in the army during World War II, he has lived in the country around the Big Sandy River most of his life. The outdoors always appealed to his imagination and the history of the Big Sandy country from the See Story No. 1, Page 6—

PAINTSVILLE INVITATIONAL

The 18th annual Paintsville Invitational golf tournament will be staged this week-end, with some 275 golfers from three states expected to participate.

Qualifying in the amateur division will begin Friday morning at 8 a.m., and consist of 18 holes. Match play will be Saturday morning and the finals will be played Sunday.

The pro-am low-ball tournament, with teams of three amateurs and one pro competing, will be Friday, and the 36-hole competition among the pros is set for Sunday.

Al Adkins, of Ashland, is the defending professional champion and Jim Barber, Paintsville, is the defending amateur champion. Barber has turned professional, however, since his victory last year and will now play as a pro.

Some twenty-five Floyd county golfers have already registered for the event.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats will open their 1959 football schedule against Wheelwright at home, September 4, and play a total of 10 games, seven of which are Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference foes. Evarts high is the only newcomer to the schedule, replacing Lexington Lafayette.

Nominees from the wildlife district for the post of commissioner of the Fish & Wildlife Resources were made at a recent meeting. One of the five will be selected to fill a vacancy on the Commission which will occur in August.

Beaver Kiwanis Hear Rescue Squad Activities Discussed By Sullivan

Don Sullivan, of Prestonsburg, was guest speaker, June 29, at the meeting of the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club, and his topic was the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad.

Mr. Sullivan told the Kiwanians of the equipment the Squad of personnel and of the calls made on the group for its services.

"The Rescue Squad," he pointed out, "is supported by people like you, on a donation-from-friends basis. The best insurance the people of Eastern Kentucky has is the rescue squad, and the people of the area have made our group what it is. It will exist only if the people continue their support."

Walls of the Squad's building here are now going up.

Floyd Native Succumbs In California; Funeral Conducted At Riverside

Word was received here this week telling of the death in Riverside, California, of Mrs. O. G. Sonson, a native of this county. Mrs. Sonson's death as a result of a kidney ailment was unexpected.

She was a daughter of the late Robert and Sally Nelson Goodman and until the age of 12 resided in this county where she had many relatives and friends. Surviving are her husband, two children and three sisters, Mrs. Mary C. Davis, Findlay, Ohio, Mrs. Carl McDaniel and Mrs. Dora Gallaher, both of Ashland.

The funeral was held in Riverside, California, Friday afternoon, and at the same time memorial prayer was held by the Rev. and Mrs. Gene Milnio at Trinity Baptist Church, Findlay, Ohio.

Lackland AFB, Texas—Airman Bert M. Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Whitaker, of Lancer, Ky., has completed his initial course of Air Force basic military training here. He has been selected to attend the technical training course for Radio and Radar Maintenance at Kessler AFB, Mississippi.

Airman Whitaker is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school. Basic airmen at Lackland are selected for specialized training at technical schools on the basis of their interests and aptitudes. They are reassigned to the school after four weeks of basic, and are given additional military basic training along with the technical subjects.

Hindman Contractor To Pay Four $85,353, Jury in Lee Decides

Beattyville, Ky., July 6—Four persons injured in a bridge collapse that sent one man to his death have been awarded $85,353 in damages by a Lee circuit court jury.

The award, against Claude Compton, of Hindman, was sought on allegations that a truck he owned caused the 6-ton-limit bridge near here to fall last October when it tried to cross with a 21-ton load.

The plaintiffs, all of Lee county and the amounts awarded: Mrs. Albert Begley, $66,000; her husband, $5,695.50; their son, Billy Gene Begley, $5,357.80, and Eddie Sizemore, 14, $8,300.

They had asked $142,000. The driver of the Compton truck, Raymond Everidge, Pine Top, was killed. The Sizemore boy was walking across the North Fork span and the Begleys were in a pickup truck when it collapsed.

The new code strengthens and clarifies, and in some cases changes, the existing rules of business and banking.

MISS KENTUCKY VISITS CAPITOL

Frankfort, Ky., July 3 (Spl.)—Miss Kentucky of 1959, Carol Fairchild Brown, of Whitesburg, became Colonel Brown on a recent visit to the capitol here when she was presented a commission by Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield.

Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. James Brown, of Whitesburg, and William N. Croft, Jr., of the Lexington Jaycees, the beauty queen made her first visit to the capitol, touring the building and visiting numerous offices. She lunched in the annex cafeteria.

Carol and her mother were invited to Kentucky Dam Village State Park, Gilbertsville, as guests of the Division of Parks. During the visit, she will give several radio interviews and appear on television in Western Kentucky.

The 5-foot-6 honey-colored blond, who weighs 124 pounds, and has 36-23-36 measurements, is a sophomore at Eastern State College, Richmond. She plans to become an elementary-grade teacher.

Carol is not only Kentucky's "first citizen of beauty and talent" but she is very active in social and religious activities in her home town of Whitesburg. She has an eight-year perfect Sunday School attendance record at the Methodist church and participates in all youth work there.

She will represent the state in the annual Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, N.J., during the week of September 6.

SERVICE

is what RECC substitutes for PROFIT!

Its 23-year record of progress proves that RECC's policy of substituting service for profit has been a success. Even where Rural Electric Co-ops don't actually supply power, we've been responsible for others making it available! The contributions of Kentucky's many member-owned Rural Electric Co-ops are adding up to an inspiring total of state-wide benefits for business and industry... as well as the rural farm and home owner. Check our record. You'll see why...

Do Pharmacies Puzzle You?

You should know: all pharmacists are registered college graduates. All pharmacies must maintain certain basic standards. But, what we also offer along with accurate prescription compounding—are speed, courtesy and the sincere desire to be of valuable service to you and your family.
