

THURSDAY

This Town— That World

Shudderingly we report that tonight is 'Tick-Tack' and the night after is Halloween. . . But always comes the dawn—and how glad most people will be to see it!

IMPROVEMENT NOTED

On the whole, though, we would say youngsters turned spooks and goblins and other eerie creatures are more considerate of the rights of us who are too old to catch them than in other years. . . Church youth here are going collecting funds for United Nations Children's Relief tonight rather than going soaping up the premises and creating pandemonium in general. An excellent idea that deserves public support, I say.

THEY WOWED THE CROWD

Speaking of youngsters, did you see the miniature majorettes at the recent football game here? The band was good, its instructor, Mr. Smith, has done a fine job—but those little majorettes, who were trained by Mrs. Jody Fannin, took the fancy of the crowd. They will be back for the Homecoming game against Paintsville.

THE GHOST THAT WAS DOUBLED

I've always had a desire to spook the goblins—I mean to say, scare them out of their shrouds or whatever it is they wear.

I have long known of the perfect example of such a trick. The hero (?) of the incident was the late "Uncle" Wiley Patton, whose classic practical jokes still are recounted. (See Story No. 6, Page 6)

FALSE CLAIMS BRINGS FINES

Five Floyd-Co. Workers Fined $50 Each; Other Charges Are Filed Away

Fines of $50 each and $12.50 costs were imposed Monday by County Judge Henry Stumbo on five Floyd men who pleaded guilty to one count of knowingly making a false statement in order to qualify for unemployment insurance benefits. Additional warrants against them for other weeks of filing fraudulent claims were filed away by Judge Stumbo on the condition that the money they had illegally received would be repaid.

The defendants were Elmer Greer, of Hite, Worley Kidd, of Harold, Franklin D. and Millard Kidd and Curt Tackett, all of Honaker.

Greer had been employed by Wayne Salisbury Coal Co., at Hite while claiming unemployment benefits in 1957 and 1958. The other four defendants had been employed by Joy Coal Co., Inc., Harold, while claiming unemployment benefits in 1958 and 1959.

Warrants for Elmer Greer, Millard Kidd and Franklin D. Kidd were sworn to by Glenn S. Anderson, manager of the Prestonsburg office of the Department of Economic Security, where the offenses were committed by these three. Mrs. Belma May, manager of the Pikeville office of the Department of Economic Security, swore to the warrants for Worley Kidd and Curt Tackett, these two having filed their claims in the Pikeville office.

Mrs. May and Mr. Anderson appeared as witnesses for the Commonwealth. Both said that persons found guilty of making false statements in order to evade the regulations and thus qualify for unemployment benefits are now being prosecuted to the full extent of the law and that this policy will continue until the practice stops.

COMBS' LONG CAMPAIGN DRAWING NEAR A CLOSE

NOV. 2 VOTING TO DETERMINE STATE ISSUES

Bonus and Sheriff's Amendments Sharing Places on Ballots

Kentucky will at next Tuesday's election choose a Governor, other state officials, state Representatives and Senators and also pass judgment on two constitutional amendments.

The day will see the close of a year of hard campaigning in every corner of the Commonwealth by Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee. He is opposed by John M. Robson, Jr., Louisville Republican.

One of the proposed constitutional amendments would permit sheriffs to succeed themselves or act as deputies for succeeding terms. The other would pay a bonus to veterans of the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II and the Korean War.

The bonus would be paid through the issuance and sale of bonds, the bonds to be retired from the proceeds of a retail sales tax.

The November campaign for votes, though earnestly waged by the respective candidates, is a tame affair when compared with the free-swinging primary fight waged last May.

City elections in three Floyd municipalities enliven the campaign scene and will assure heavy voting wherever such contests are being staged. These are in Prestonsburg, Martin and Allen. City tickets at Wayland and Wheelwright have no opposition.

In addition to the names of the gubernatorial candidates and the constitutional amendment questions, the general election ballot will list these candidates:

For Lieutenant Governor—Wilson W. Wyatt (D), Pleaz William Mobley (R).

For Secretary of State—Henry H. Carter (D), Edwin E. Freshney (R).

For Attorney General—John B. Breckinridge (D), Samuel S. Cannon (R).

For Auditor of Public Accounts—Joe Schneider (D), Mrs. E. P. "Jo" Warinner (R).

For Treasurer—Thelma L. Stovall (D), Wallace (Wah Wah) Jones (R).

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—Wendell P. Butler (D), Douglas F. Miller (R).

For Commissioner of Agriculture—Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp (D), George P. Whittington (R).

Prestonsburg Man Aiding Botanist Develop New Classification System For Plants By Chemical Analysis

A scientific team at the University of Kentucky is working on a method to classify plants by a new system. Assisting the three-man group is Joe Isbell, 24, of Prestonsburg.

Dr. Herbert Riley, head of UK botany department will direct the research that could give botanists a major tool for plant classification through a chemical method. He has a $13,600 grant from the National Science Foundation.

Isbell, son of Mrs. S. L. Isbell, of Prestonsburg, and the late Mr. Isbell, is a graduate of Georgetown College and is working toward a Master's degree at the University. He also holds an assistantship in the Botany department there. Working with Riley and Isbell is Truman Bryant, of Lexington.

Botanists now classify plants into species, genera, and families on the basis of observation of structure of leaves and flowers.

Under the system to be tried by Dr. Riley, plants will be taken to the laboratory and put through tests to develop color patterns that vary with the chemical compound present.

"It is believed," Dr. Riley said, "that each species will develop a pattern peculiar to its kind."

If the system works, botanists can use the color patterns as an aid in classification, eliminating some of the margin for error under the present system.

Dr. Riley, who has been head of the U. of K. botany department for 17 years, said the chemical

Floyd County Man One of Three Convicted In Lawrence Theft

Louisa, Ky., Oct. 22 — Three men pleaded guilty in Lawrence circuit court Thursday to the theft of a $300 power saw from Harold Scarborough of nearby Charley, Ky. A jury fixed their penalty at one year in the LaGrange Reformatory.

The men are James Prater, 27, of Lackey, Thomas Wallace, 24, and Orville Howard, 20, both of Lowmansville.

SCHOOL GROUP HOLDS MEET

Ninth District P.-T.A. Hears Ashland Woman Discuss Role of Home

Members of Parent-Teachers Associations and educators heard Mrs. C. B. McClaren, second vice-president of the Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, at Wheelwright high school Saturday affirm the responsibility of the parent to prepare the child at home for its participation in school life.

The occasion was the fall conference of the Ninth district of the Kentucky Congress. The Wheelwright P.-T.A. was host to the visiting members and others from Boyd, Lawrence, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, Pike and Floyd counties.

In these days of changing times it is the responsibility of the parent to strengthen the home, Mrs. McClaren said. She pointed out that the teacher has the responsibility only a fraction of the time that the home does.

The welcome address was given to the visitors by Mrs. Landon Rowe, president of the Floyd County P.-T.A. A Council, Charles R. Elswick, of Pike county, spoke on "The Value of Belonging to the National Congress," and an evaluation of the legislative program of the Congress was discussed by Mrs. W. B. Naale, editor of the magazine, Kentucky Parent Teacher.

A skit, "Mrs. Parent's Problems," written by a member of the organization, Mrs. Harvey Patton, of Ashland, was presented. Portrayed in the skit were Mrs. Parent, Gifted Child, Inadequate School Buses, Obsolete Building, Retarded Child, Not Enough Textbooks, Not Enough Classrooms and Mrs. Legislation.

The group was offered several musical presentations, among them being piano solos by Danny Greer and Shirley Peraino; group singing under the direction of Mrs. Winnie Winder; and a choral group by the M.Y.F. of Wheelwright.

The Ninth district president is Mrs. N. H. Langthorne, Ashland.

HUNT MISHAP KILLS CONLEY

Michigan Pheasant Shoot Attended by Tragedy; Burial Made At Lackey

A former Lackey man was killed by his brother-in-law in a Michigan hunting accident early Sunday morning.

The victim, Robert Lee Conley, 36, of Ypsilanti, Mich., died instantly as the charge of a shotgun was fired into his head by his brother-in-law, Jimmy Bayes, while they and others were pheasant-hunting near Dexter, Michigan.

The tragic mishap took place after a party of hunters split into different groups. Conley was not believed to be in his brother-in-law's group. He was wearing a tan hunting cap trimmed with fur, and when Bayes glimpsed Conley's head as it moved he fired thinking the moving object was a squirrel, it was explained.

The victim was a son of Milton H. and Martha Waddles Conley, of Lackey, and was a World War II veteran. He leaves his widow, Norma Lee Boyd Conley, two sons, Robert Walter and Donald Ray, a brother, Frank Conley, of Kendallville, Ind., and three sisters, Mrs. Laura McClure, of Kendallville, Mrs. Virginia Howard, of Prestonsburg, and Miss Louise Conley, of Lackey.

The body was returned Tuesday to the home of the parents at Lackey, and funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Missionary Baptist Church at Mousie by the Rev. J. S. Bell. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Lackey under direction of the Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

COLE ENTERS GUILTY PLEA

Salysville Man Receives Life Term For Killing Sheriff

Early Cole, 22-year-old Salysville lumberyard employe, last Thursday entered a plea of guilty to a charge of killing Magoffin County Sheriff Dona Arnett with his truck, Sept. 27, and was sentenced to serve a life term in the state reformatory.

Arnett, who was a native of the Middle Creek section of this county and who was in the second year of a four-year term as Sheriff, was found dead at Swampton. His body apparently had been dragged about 65 feet.

When Cole was arrested the following day he denied knowledge of the Sheriff's death. Later in the day, however, Mary Ross, 18, of the Mason's Creek section of Magoffin county, was arrested, and she told authorities Cole planned the death of the official. She said they saw Arnett walking along Ky. 7, a short distance from the home of his son where he had been visiting, and that Cole drove to the opposite side of the highway to hit Arnett, then backed the truck over the Sheriff's body.

Cole denied knowledge of the accident and subsequently underwent lie detector tests at Frankfort. His plea of guilty came as a surprise move to many gathered in the courtroom for the trial.

EVANS, PRICE ARE SPEAKERS

At Woman's Club Meet; Science Teaching Status Discussed By Counsellor

Wayland, Ky. — George E. Evans, Jr., president of the Evans Elkhorn Coal Company, and Lawrence B. Price, former Wayland high school principal, were the speakers at the Oct. 17 meeting of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club.

The Woman's Club here has entered the "Barnstorm for Brains" contest, a campaign for better education in Kentucky, and this name was developed by the two speakers. Mrs. N. D. Howard is the club's contest chairman.

"A proper respect for education and recognition of the importance of the school in the life of the community is most sorely needed in Eastern Kentucky," Mr. Evans emphasized.

In reporting on the series of meetings held recently by the Eastern Regional Planning Commission, he advised that the means whereby the various phases of the educational system in Eastern Kentucky may

Lie Detector Tests For Auxier Postponed; Trial Scheduled Jan. 25

Lie-detector tests for the family of Halford Auxier, 51, charged with raping his daughter, have been put off until the second week in November. The tests had been scheduled late this month.

Commonwealth's Attorney W. B. Hazelrigg said the delay stemmed from crowded scheduling of facilities at Frankfort, where the tests will be given.

Testimony by members of Auxier's family led to his indictment on a charge of raping Rosella, one of his 15 children.

Rosella ran away from home after the alleged incident in December, 1957. She suffered frostbite, which led to the amputation of both her legs at Louisville. Rosella is now 17. She was found in an abandoned shack at Prestonsburg.

Auxier's trial is scheduled for January 25 in Johnson County Court. He is free on $5,000 bond.

THREE JAILED FOR ASSAULT

Intent To Rob Charged By Grocer; Fourth Man Sought By Authorities

Three Hueysville men were jailed here Tuesday on charges of assault with intent to rob, and state police were seeking a fourth man who allegedly committed the same offense at Lackey, the same day.

Jailed were Roger Reed, Jr., 17, Harold Lloyd Prater, 19, and Charles Edward Castle, 21.

They were named after Carlo Caudill, owner of a grocery store and fruit market at Hueysville, was slugged early Tuesday afternoon in what he claimed was an attempt to rob him. The three were jailed by State Detective Chester D. Potter, State Troopers Wright and Williamson.

Charles Weaver, about 23, is being sought after Paul Stone, Lackey service station attendant, identified him as the man who slugged him early Tuesday night. Stone, who was struck twice on the head, was hospitalized at McDowell but was expected to return to Lackey today (Thursday).

Caudill, the victim of the Hueysville slugging, told officers the three young men came into his store and

BOY'S CHASE OF HIS DOG LEADS SEARCHERS OVER ROUGH TRAIL

A boy's chase after his dog led five members of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad and upwards of 100 others, including members of the Johnson county Civil Defense group, a rugged chase over Martin county hills Monday night and Tuesday morning.

The lad, nine-year-old James Pauley, was sent late Monday afternoon by his mother to bring the cows from the pasture near the Pauley home at Beauty. He did not return. His brothers found the cows but no trace of James. A search by members of the family, aided by neighbors, began. Civil Defense at Paintsville was called in, and later State Police called on the Emergency & Rescue Squad here.

Five members of the squad turned out to tramp over Martin county hills, and others were preparing to join them when the boy appeared at home. It was then that searchers learned what had happened.

The boy first gave chase to a mule that had escaped from the Pauley pasture-field, with his dog scurrying on ahead. Then as the dog ran on the boy followed till he was on another creek, seven miles way, in strange surroundings, and it was dark. He made his way to a farmhouse where he was invited to spend the night, since the family there had no telephone or means of transportation. Next morning, he caught a school bus to Warfield, was recognized by a teacher who had heard the alarm and who sent him on home.

The Martin Kiwanis Club announces that its annual Aunt Jeannine Pancake Day to provide milk for underprivileged children in three schools will be held Saturday, Nov. 7, at the Sea Cafe, Martin, from 6 a.m. till 7 p.m.

Underprivileged children of the Allen, Martin and Maytown schools will benefit from funds raised. Tickets may be procured from any member of the club or at the door.

COAL DECLINE STAYS STEADY

Big Sandy Production Shows Downward Trend; Captive Operations Hit

Coal production in the Big Sandy field, on a steady decline since the 1947 peak year, continues on its downward trend.

The steel strike isn't helping matters any, as a large percentage of the area's coal, being of metallurgical quality, is consumed by the steel industry.

Settlement of the steel strike would have a noticeable effect on over-all economy of Eastern Kentucky, because big steel companies operate large captive mines in the area, especially in Letcher, Floyd, and Harlan counties.

These captive operations also purchase quality coal from independent operators when demand justifies it.

A report from the Geological Survey of Kentucky in collaboration with the United States Bureau of Mines points up a severe recession in Kentucky coal mining for 1958, with production in the eastern part of the state suffering hardest.

The recession carried over through the first three quarters of 1959. Coal-mine employment dropped 15 percent last year in Kentucky, according to the report, with a tonnage decrease of 11 percent, which was 21 percent below the peak year.

The recession was more pronounced in Eastern Kentucky, where production declined 16 percent, compared with only 3 percent in Western Kentucky. Eastern Kentucky coal was largely used for metallurgical purposes and Western Kentucky coal by electric utilities.

Figures released by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association show a production decrease of 5.14 percent in this field so far this year. Big Sandy production in 1958 at this time totaled 9,368,000 tons as compared with 8,386,400 tons up to mid-October, 1959.

The picture is similar in the Hazard field, which has produced 5,221,640 tons so far in 1959 against 6,433,700 tons during the corresponding period last year.

Total United States coal production is estimated at 306,767,000 up to this time in 1959 whereas for the corresponding period of 1958 it was estimated by the National Coal Association and the United States Bureau of Mines at 309,831,000.

The block, given the trade name of Lite-Wate, will be much cheaper than cinder or concrete block, Hall says. It was necessary only to grind the material, then mix it with concrete and fly ash additive to get the necessary strength and durability. The color is a grayish-red, he noted.

UMWA Official Convicted For Murder of Operator In Laurel Circuit Court

A Laurel Circuit Court jury Tuesday convicted an United Mine Workers official as an accessory after the fact in the slaying of a nonunion coal operator.

The jury recommended a year in jail and a $1,000 fine as penalty for the misdemeanor.

Attorneys for the defendant, Taylor Maddox, Middleboro, indicated they would appeal.

The trial was the second for Maddox. His first ended in a jury disagreement.

Maddox testified in his own behalf and acknowledged that he made no attempt to contact police after the shooting of Woodrow Smith last March, near Smith's mine at Stinking Creek.

To Subscribers: Next Monday, November 1, The Times subscription list will undergo a major operation.

At that time all subscriptions in arrears will be cut from our mailing lists. Announcement of our intention to do this was announced a few weeks ago and has been advertised during succeeding weeks. As a result, many subscribers have renewed their subscriptions.

We hope everybody is in good standing. For, come Monday, we propose to eliminate all subscriptions that are in arrears, and we fear that some of those subscribers who have failed to renew are among our best friends. But we shall not play favorites.

We would also remind out-of-state subscribers that on and after November 1 the yearly subscription rate is $4. Otherwise, the subscription rates remain unchanged.

HALL MAKES NEW PRODUCT

Allen Concrete Firm To Manufacture Block From Mine Waste Files

A new product, made from a residue material of mining operations, was recently put on the market by the Hall Concrete Block Company, of Allen. A conventional size building block, it is revolutionary in that it combines its lesser weight with strength superior to cinder and comparable to concrete blocks.

The block, upon which the Hall firm has been experimenting for 10 years, has never before been manufactured in this region. Edgar H. Hall, the company's head, said that finding the right "red dog" material, which is formed by burned shale, had posed a problem. The presence of undesirable chemicals in most piles of the materials in this area was a deterrent factor to the block's manufacture but an adequate supply with the right chemical constituents was discovered on Beaver Creek.

The block, given the trade name of Lite-Wate, will be much cheaper than cinder or concrete block, Hall says. It was necessary only to grind the material, then mix it with concrete and fly ash additive to get the necessary strength and durability. The color is a grayish-red, he noted.

Hall initiated the concrete products business at Allen in 1945 following his return from World War I. He now employs 15 persons at the Allen plant.

Hayes Is Transferred To Fulton; Simpson Is Successor in Area

H. D. Hayes, manager of the Paintsville office of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, will be transferred to Fulton, Ky., Nov. 1, and at the same time B. R. Simpson will be transferred from the company's Louisville office to Paintsville.

Mr. Hayes, who has been the Paintsville area manager since 1956, will occupy the same position in the Fulton area.

Mr. Simpson, his wife and two children have already moved from Louisville to Paintsville.

DEPUTY GOES TO JAIL HERE TEMPORARILY

Stone Affidavit Says Mack Lewis Shot Him; Same Bond for Three

The examining trial of Joe Wheeler Lewis as an accessory in the shooting of James Stone was indefinitely postponed today (Thursday) by Commissioner Glenn Burchett when Stone refused to testify on the grounds it might incriminate him. Burchett indicated he would ask a higher court to certify the law.

Warrants were issued Wednesday afternoon by County Judge Henry Stumbo for the arrest of Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis and his brother, Mack Lewis, in the Oct. 4 shooting and wounding of James Stone, 33, near Allen.

Mack Lewis was arrested on a charge of shooting and wounding after Stone had stated in an affidavit that he was the person who did the shooting. Deputy Sheriff Lewis was accused of aiding and assisting in the shooting.

Bond of the brothers was set at $2,000—the same bond required for Stone, who executed bail Tuesday of this week. The warrant for Stone's arrest was issued shortly after the shooting, while Sheriff Lewis was still in a local hospital, it was said. He returned here last week from a Huntington hospital where he underwent surgery.

Stone's affidavit said: "The affiant, James Stone, Oct. 4, 1959, Mack Lewis, with a pistol, shot me, and assisted in the shooting." (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

TAYLOR IN ACCIDENT

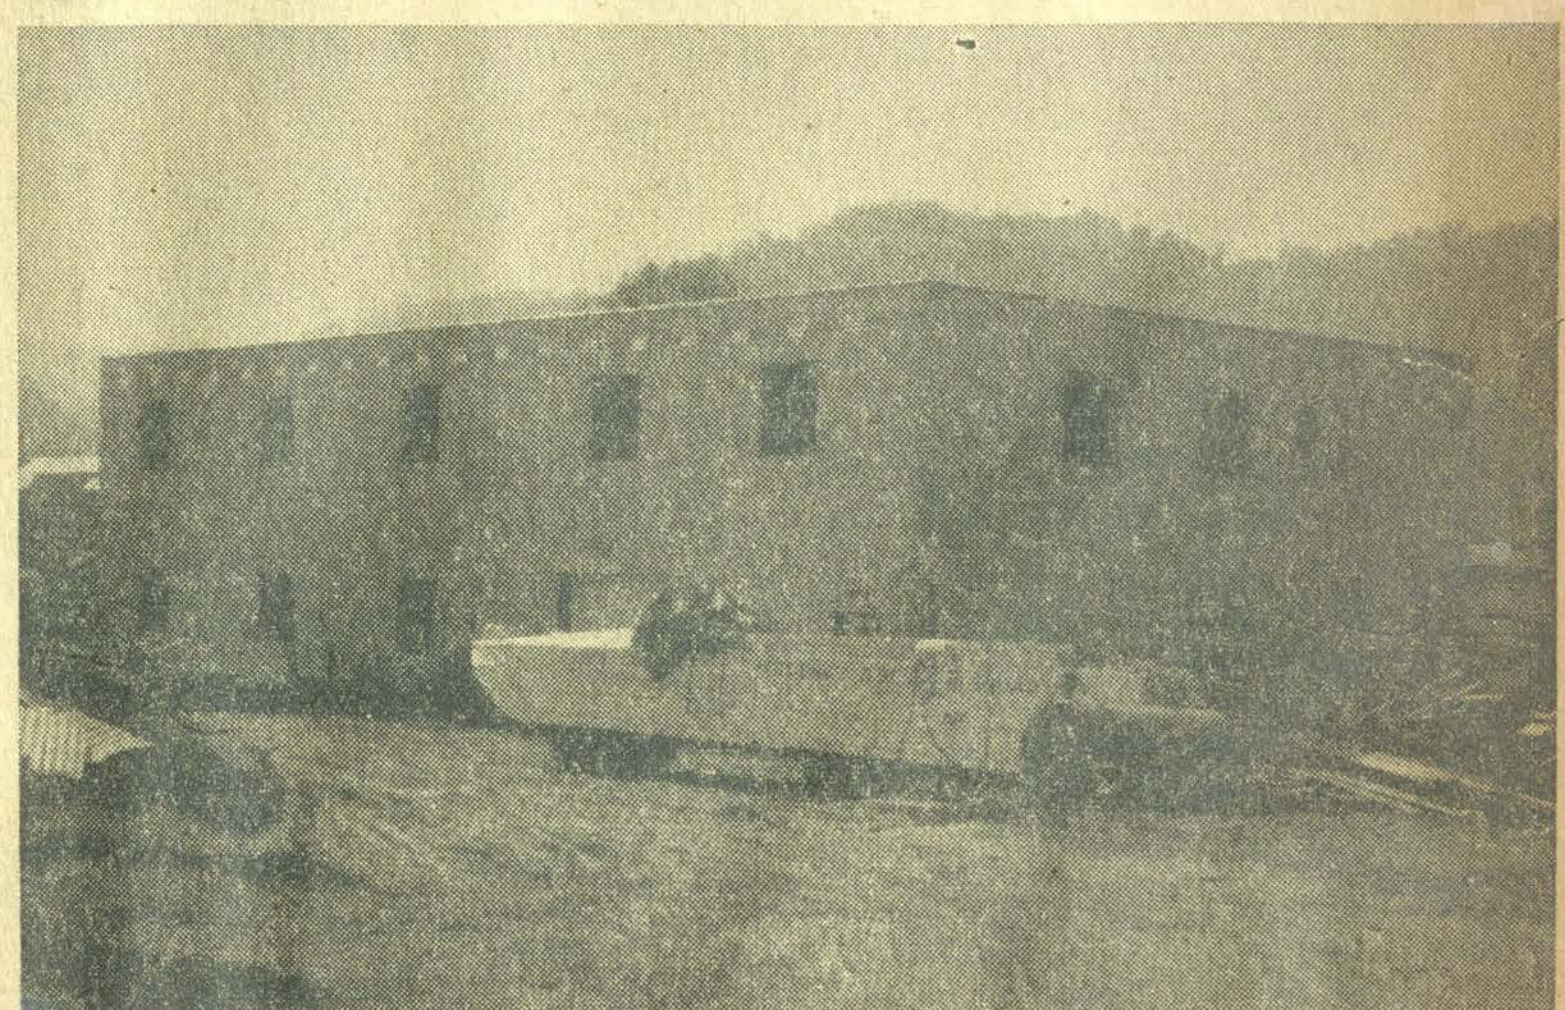

Second Victim Claimed Within Rites Conducted

The second death of a Creek resident in a traffic accident within 28 days Saturday. William Henry

Hughes-May Vows Said At Baptist Church Here On Friday, October 16th

Miss Mona Louise Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hughes, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Walter E. May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl May, of Pikeville, exchanged marriage vows Friday, Oct. 16, at 6:45 p.m., at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist church here.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Guy Dean, of the First Baptist church, Martin. Mrs. Ira McMillen, Jr., sang "O, Promise Me," and played "The Wedding March."

The bride wore a white jersey dress with blue cummerbund and matching blue feather hat. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Her only attendant was Miss Peggy Music. Estill Lee Carter served as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony, the newlyweds left to spend their honeymoon in Florida. They will reside here where Mr. May is an announcer for Radio Station WPRT.

PEOPLE'S TICKET

VOTERS, DO YOU FAVOR:

1. Taking all parking meter revenue to pay on an $80,000.00 parking lot thereby forcing the taxpayer to make up this revenue?
2. Are you in favor of your town going in debt year after year? The present council has borrowed $11,000.00 to date at 6% interest and it will be necessary to borrow at least $4,000.00 more before the property taxes come in.
3. Do you think it is just to take any citizen's home for any purpose the city planners desire? THE COOLEY HOME IS NOW BEING TAKEN AND YOURS COULD BE NEXT. We promise that we will never take any citizen's home or property against his wishes.
4. Do you favor paying twice the amount of your present fire insurance premiums?
5. Do you favor a select few deciding what is good or bad for you as is now being done by the city planners?
6. Do you favor spending your money on lawyers and law suits when your plans for building on your own property conflicts in any way with the wishes and desires of your city planners?
7. Do you favor leaving the sewers in their present bad condition and making very little effort to even find out what can be done in order to provide adequate sewerage systems?
8. Do you favor using your money to hire employees for the city, then turn them loose to work when and where they want to with little or no cooperation among city departments?
9. Do you favor electing a council to represent you that makes snap decisions, passes ordinances such as URBAN RENEWAL, PLANNING AND ZONING ORDINANCE, without giving the majority of the people an opportunity to express their wishes either for or against?
10. Do you favor electing a council that is controlled by a minority group more interested in personal progress than public progress?
11. Do you favor electing a council that helped set the payment for the retirement of the sewage bonds at such a high figure that it is draining your pockets to pay the increased water and gas bills, yet no improvement is in sight for our deplorable sewer systems?
12. Do you favor electing a group of men who call themselves businessmen to conduct the affairs of your city in such a loose manner that it is fast approaching bankruptcy?

Study the record of past performance of the opposition and then you decide whether this record and platform of progress has been FOR THE PEOPLE OR TO THE PEOPLE. HAS IT BEEN A RECORD OF PROGRESS FOR ALL THE PEOPLE OR PROFIT FOR A FEW? WHEN HAS THE RECORD OF THE SPONSORS AND BOOSTERS OF URBAN RENEWAL, PLANNING AND ZONING, AND LOW RENT HOUSING EVER DISPLAYED HONEST CONCERN FOR THE POOR AND UNDERPRIVILEGED? WHAT IS BEHIND THIS SUDDEN CONCERN?

If you do not favor the above mentioned points, then go to the polls Nov. 3, and vote for all eight names appearing on the PEOPLE'S TICKET.

Twenty-three years ago, Medley Garrett, 75-year-old Dwale man, acquired a duckling which was in time named Dicky. Here Mr. Garrett is shown as his patriarch of the duck kingdom waddles along as friskily (or as waddlingly) as ever. Dicky is a bachelor duck, since there are no other of his kind around. Before age crept up on him the pet followed Mr. Garrett on jaunts around the place.

Prestonsburg Bank Woman Slated To Head World Fraternal Group

Within six years Mrs. Iley B. Browning, Prestonsburg native and now a resident of Henderson, will become the leader of an international group of three million men and women. But she is irked at the slow rate of progress.

"You spend a lifetime getting anywhere," explained Mrs. Browning at the recent Louisville convention of the Order of Eastern Star. "No one is elected to anything before 50 and then it takes 10 to 15 years to reach the top. So then when you have all the honors of your office to enjoy you're too old to get the most from them."

The Prestonsburg woman is right, worthy grand conductress of the General Grand Chapter. In two more sessions she will be elevated to most worthy grand matron.

Until last year Mrs. Browning lived at Ashland but moved to Henderson because of her husband's interests there.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRESTONSBURG:

We have waited since the beginning of this campaign for the opposition ticket to come forth with their platform. We have read handbills and newspaper articles that have been published by the opposition party, and have found no platform of any sort, only a policy of being AGAINST, against Urban Renewal, against low-rent housing, against the new water plant, against garbage collection.

We would like to call to the attention of the voters that our water plant is considered to be one of the most adequate in the State of Kentucky, and it was certainly a necessity for the public health and welfare and for attraction of any new industry to our city. Prestonsburg enjoys the lowest gas rate of any city on the Big Sandy River. Our garbage collection which was initiated by the Progressive Ticket is adequate to our needs, and we do not believe that the taxpayers would want to do without these services.

The opposition has tried to scare the voters with a threatened doubling of fire insurance premiums. They do NOT tell the public how they will fulfill the requirements of the Kentucky Inspection Bureau, or whether they WOULD meet such requirements. The low rate set up by the Kentucky Inspection Bureau which we now enjoy was acquired under the administration of the Progressive Ticket.

The opposition has not said what they propose to do about property taxes, but we would like to point out that Prestonsburg now enjoys a rate of only 75c per $100 valuation. Paintsville charges a rate of 91c per $100 valuation, and has a much higher assessment rate. Pikeville charges 80c per $100 valuation and that city also has a much higher assessment rate. The opposition advocates a new financing program, but they give the voters no clue as to what type of financing they would adopt, nor the proposed source of income for the city.

There have been no accusations of fraud or mismanagement because there is no basis for such accusations. The Progressive Ticket has always and will continue to have open meetings with all discussions of the city's problems before the public.

The opposition's only record is being AGAINST.

The opposition's only platform is being AGAINST.

We believe the voters will support a ticket which has laid open its record to the public and which has come out emphatically for progress for the City, rather than a ticket which has run its campaign on no platform and misleading criticism, and a ticket which, if elected, would set the City of Prestonsburg back 25 years.

The Moral of an Economic Report

The recent report made by the State Department of Economic Development showing that 201 communities in Kentucky have shared in the two-billion-dollar investment made in the state during the past 11 years by manufacturing interests is interesting, to say the least.

The map showing where these new manufacturing enterprises have been located carries the same interest, but the people of the Big Sandy area also find in it something more. It is the official witness to their disappointment, because not one of these plants is on the Big Sandy.

The figures show that the increase in manufacturing employment and payrolls in Kentucky last year far surpassed the national average.

But the Big Sandy—you can make it all East Kentucky and be almost wholly accurate—does not enter this bright picture.

Those who have opposed, or been lukewarm toward, river canalization should take a look at this industrial map to realize the vital part water transportation plays in industrial development.

Only last week the announcement was made that a second site has been purchased on the Big Sandy, above Catlettsburg, for a chemical plant. Neither of these plants is yet past the planning stage, but acquisition of the sites where they are eloquently emphasizes the importance of water to industry.

Not until the Greenup dam construction began, with its completion guaranteeing slackwater up the Big Sandy to a point near Lockwood, was anybody interested in a site at any place on this river for such a purpose. Now two sites have been bought, and so development of this sort at last invades the valley.

The conclusion is inevitable: When, and if, the Big Sandy is canalized—with headwaters reservoirs assuring a constant flow of water—the chemical industry and others will find in this area what it seeks for new plant locations.

Reservoir construction—depending upon the willingness of the President to free funds for that work—has already been authorized. That is an objective for the entire valley to strive for, with flood control figuring largely in the plans. And after that—locks and dams to make the Big Sandy a useful waterway and its basin a center of industrial activity.

TOURIST PROMOTION

Is there a reason for a tourist to linger a little longer in your community? If so, that tourist will spend five cents for every minute he lingers.

I know every community has some sacred spot of ground, a historic old home, a beautiful church, or a scenic view. If it gives the citizens of your community pleasure and is an object of interest to the tourist — if only the tourist knows about it, Bardstown and Pineville have just concluded a most successful first season of newly created tourist attractions.

Due to the personal interest of the press of this country and abroad in the Henry Watterson National Shrine at Jeffersonton, Kentucky, it is expected that over a half million new visitors will be drawn to Kentucky and the Watterson Shrine during its first year of operation. These visitors will spend $15 million for every day they remain in Kentucky. While they are here I want them to visit all of Kentucky.

It would be appreciated if you would take this matter up with your civic leaders and send me all possible data on those things in your community that can be developed as a tourist interest. I will see that your community attractions are properly catalogued with the Tourist Commission for use in their advertising.

Laban P. Jackson, Secretary Commission on Tourist Promotion

RADIOLOGICAL TRAINING

Twelve locations will be established in Kentucky to offer training in radiological monitoring, a civil defense planning group has decided. The group also decided that instructors for these locations will be trained at a radiological monitoring course at Frankfort, Jan. 11-15.

A North Carolina test showed that when new tobacco plants were sprayed with milk before transplanting, tobacco mosaic disease was controlled. Only 12 percent of the sprayed plants got the disease, but 90 percent of the unsprayed plants.

ordered two bottles of a soft drink. While he was serving the two, he said, the third got behind him and struck him on the head. The weapon used was identified as a heavy pop bottle. Caudill said he then caught hold of his assailant as he was falling. He said one of the others threw a bottle at him before the trio fled.

Detective Potter said Reed has admitted hitting Caudill.

The Lackey assault was made at a service station owned by Marlin Combs. Mrs. Combs told The Times that Weaver, whose address was given as Welch, W. Va., watched her husband and others go into the garage, next door to the service station, then imprisoned them temporarily by placing the lock over the hasp of the door. Then, she said, he went into the service station and asked Stone, the attendant, to give him a dollar in silver. Using a dime of this to get a soft drink from a machine, Mrs. Combs said, he used the bottle in his attack on Stone. The attendant put up a fight, yelled for help, and his assailant ran, she added.

State police arrested a man who was listed as James George Adams on Abbott mountain, near here Wednesday and took him to Pikeville where he will face cold check charges. Two others with him were questioned. It was reported that Adams had also passed checks in Prestonsburg.

Lawrence Brown was jailed this week on a charge of grand larceny by State Detective Potter, State Trooper Wright and Deputy Sheriff Joe W. Lewis.

Kendall Chaffins, who was arrested last week at Wheelwright by Deputy Sheriffs J. Hall and H. Johnson and booked for drunkenness and breach of the peace, was listed also at the jail on a grand jury indictment for shooting into the dwelling of Deputy Sheriff Paul Lucas. When arrested he had in his car a shotgun loaded with a heavy ball and an over-and-under combination shotgun and rifle.

Virgil Thacker was booked last Wednesday by Deputies Hall and Johnson on a drunk driving charge.

Attention All Parents

Student Guidance: Tests and Testing

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles on student guidance. Others will appear in subsequent editions of this newspaper.

By Dr. Edward C. Roeber

Have you ever been caught in a situation where you would like to have a quick, easy solution to your problem? If you have, you are very much like the rest of us.

If you would like to see what parents sometimes want, you might be interested in reading the mail of a vocational counselor.

"We have a boy who isn't doing so well in school. We were wondering if you would test him. Maybe tests would help him and..."

"Do you give that test which tells a person what he is best suited for?"

"Could we have an appointment for testing? We don't have much time? Could you do it in an hour some morning?"

"I've been out of college for ten years and am beginning to wonder whether I ought to change jobs. Do you have a test that might help me?"

"Could you help us settle an argument? My husband thinks our seventh grade daughter is real bright. I think she is just a good normal youngster. Could you give her an I.Q. test so he'll stop bragging about his genius?"

One thing stands out in each request. All of them felt that tests would in some way solve their problems in a hurry.

Some tests are directly related to vocational guidance. Other tests are helpful but only indirectly related to career planning. In either case, it becomes important that every parent know something about tests and what part they play in educational and vocational planning.

The beginning of standardized tests go back a good many years. The first test was designed to help pick out children who needed a special kind of training. Both World Wars gave a push to the development of testing. Today there are hundreds of tests, testing to some extent such characteristics as interests, intelligence, scholastic aptitude, personality, achievement in skills or school subjects, mechanical reasoning, space relations, clerical aptitude, and many others.

Tests are only tools. They can be used by the amateur, confusing both students and parents. Or they can be used by the professionally trained person, enabling him to help both students and parents.

Ordinarily students and parents expect too much from tests. What then are some of the things which parents should know about tests?

Tests are only samples of what a person can do or how he feels about something. A test of how well one can do arithmetic cannot cover every possible arithmetic problem. In building such a test, it is necessary to pick out a few arithmetic problems which separate those that know something from those that know very little about arithmetic.

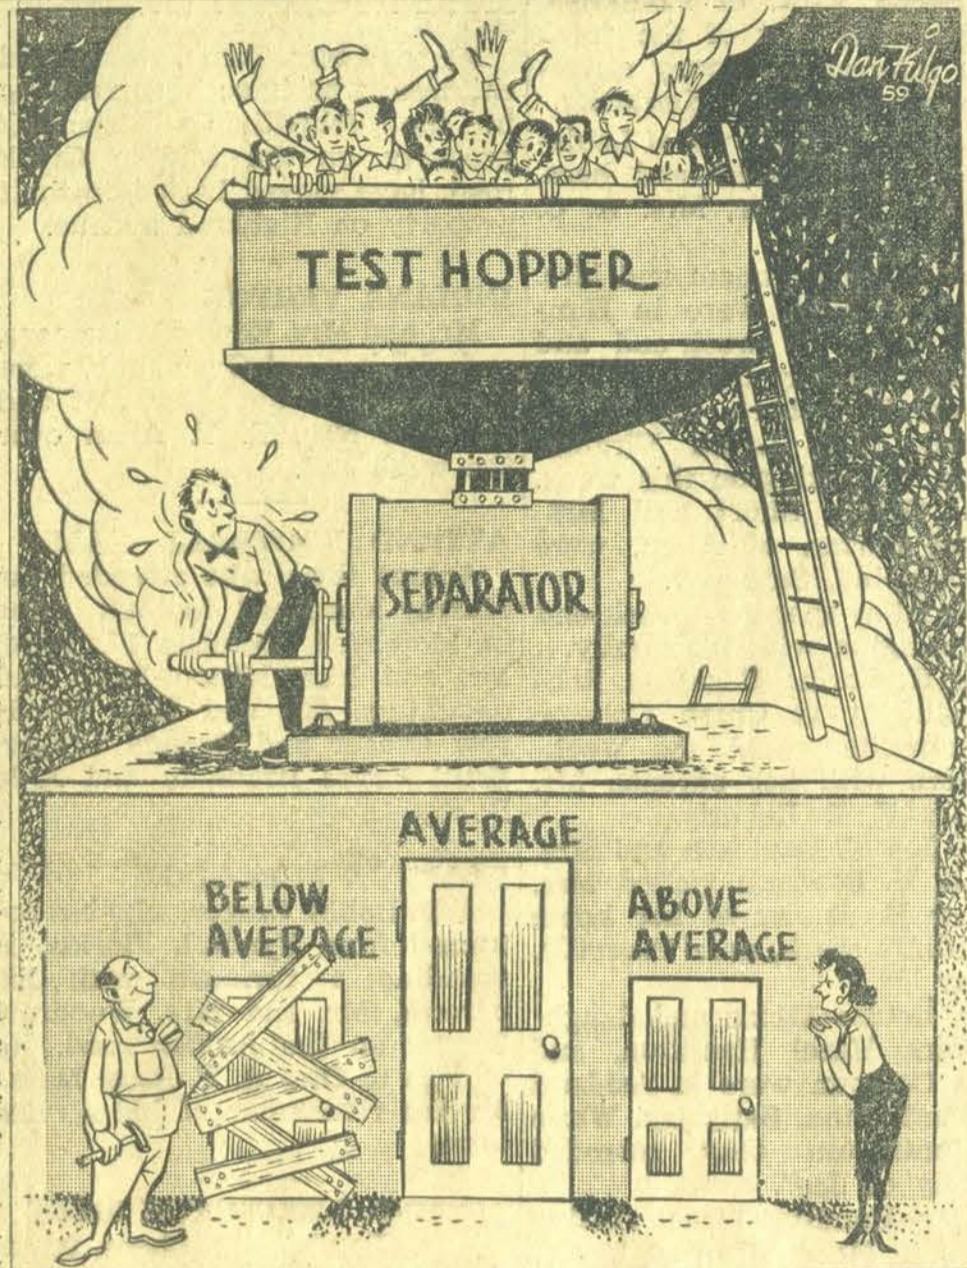

If a test is a sample, it is important to remember that a single test may not always show a student's skill with arithmetic. The sample for some reason or other may be a poor one for some students.

On the other hand, if several similar tests show the same trend, we can have more faith in the samples and especially if the same trend continues over a period of time.

Interest inventories, when given to an adolescent, are good examples of tests which can show abrupt changes. A very unusual experience may cause a drastic change in a student's interests and test results.

The way in which tests are given to groups of students may also have something to do with the results. A student's attitude toward intelligence tests may cause scores to differ from time to time. Students may "clutch up" when given this type of test. Some may not want to take the test in the first place. These are just a few of the problems to be considered when trying to make sense from test scores.

Tests never make decisions for anyone. They merely give bits of information which have to be viewed in the light of previous experiences. The value of a college aptitude test is increased when it is compared with school marks. Test results and school marks may or may not agree. In either case, the test results become meaningful for students as they have a chance to talk them over with a counselor or a teacher with special training and skills.

The importance of counseling as a part of understanding tests and their results is all too often overlooked by students and their parents. This "talking it over" gives meaning to the tests. For this reason, the mailing of test results to students, even though accompanied by explanations, is not a very good practice.

Interpreting tests is tricky business, requiring far more knowledge than most people imagine. The I.Q. or intelligence quotient, for example, creates some real problems. For some reason, a child's I.Q. within the average range is a curse to some parents. They forget there are a lot of average people in the world. And many of them assume very important responsibilities. Any time you strike an average, some people by definition are going to be above that mark and some below.

Sometimes parents forget that test results may vary over a period of time. Johnny's parents found out that his I.Q. was "only 95" when he was in the fourth grade. In their minds this number grew way out of proportion to its value. They even made some remarks about his ancestors. Although actually within the average range, Johnny was treated from that time on like a moron. He even began to believe it himself. Not until someone took time to check once again in the tenth grade did they discover that another test gave different results — and there is no magic in the results of a single test of any kind.

Testing will become effective when the schools of America make an adequate counseling and testing service available to students and their parents.

OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED AT REGIONAL LIBRARY

(By your regional library)

An oasis of culture can be found at the Regional Library in Prestonsburg.

The word culture is used in the sense that any citizen can appreciate life more fully through books, art and music to be found at the library. It was books, and the use of books, that aided great men as Lincoln, Jefferson, Hamilton, both poor and rich men, to attain greatness within their time.

Learning to utilize the library means that you may find independence from boredom, your television set, or the shackles of your own self-knowledge that you do not "know enough."

This week, our column is devoted to our record collection. We will mention a few of the masters of music, exponents of every era of music change, as Tchaikovsky, Shostakovich, Rossini, Respighi, Ibert, Beethoven, Gershwin, Richard Strauss, Rachmaninoff, Saint-Saens, Verdi, Bizet, Mozart, Steinberg, Bartok, Kodaly, Leinsdorf and Ravel.

If you love poetry, as well as Classical Music, we have famous people recording the works of past and contemporary poets. In our dramatic series, to mention a few; we have "The Cocktail Party," by T. S. Eliot, "Fairy Tales," Oscar Wilde, Twenty Century Poetry in English (Rukeysor, Adams, Baker, Lewis), Album of Stars (noted actors in outstanding scenes), poetry of Edgar Allan Poe, "The Three Musketeers," read by the late Errol Flynn, "Oliver Twist," Don Juan in Hell, and the works of Shakespeare.

We can also offer aids to the aspiring linguist as records of conversational Spanish, German, Russian and French. These are simple to use records with a booklet to guide your study.

A number of records are devoted to the children who can be led to more prolific learning through records and books if they are acquainted with the facilities of the library.

We have Walt Disney's "Pinocchio," "Children's Songs for a Rainy Day," "A Trip to Adventure Land," "Baby Sits With Stories and Songs," "Bible Songs," "Mother Goose Songs," "A Child's Treasury of Songs," "The Elephant's Child" (as read by Garry Moore).

As Christmas approaches, many would like Handel's Messiah. This work is available, as are the English Madrigals, a splendid choral presentation.

For those who wish to learn more about the world's finest music, classical music, there is the record explaining the mechanics of the symphony orchestra.

Titled, "The Orchestra." This guide gives you the framework of a symphony and the instruments used in forming the symphonic sound.

We have one restriction. You must have a good record player. We inspect our records on check-out and on return.

Since they are expensive records, we feel that they should be given the best of care. Damage to the records results in a fine. The records are loaned out for two weeks — absolutely free — as also are our books.

Fire Destroys Four Frame Buildings In Sandy Hook

Four frame buildings on Main street, including an automobile-repair garage, were destroyed by fire Sunday night. The estimated loss totaled $31,500.

The fire, believed to have started in the basement of the garage owned by Bess Adkins, burned through three small structures owned by Ollie Holbrook, a barber. Destroyed were Holbrook's shop, a vacant store building, and a three-room house occupied by Mrs. Ollie Fannin.

Adkins estimated his loss, including a wrecker truck and two cars inside the garage, at $25,000. Holbrook placed his loss at $6,500. The barbershop and store building were adjacent to the garage, the dwelling behind it.

Morehead firemen prevented flames from reaching Holbrook's own home nearby. Sandy Hook has no fire department.

RUG CLEANING STUDIES

Vacuum cleaning all-wool rugs — all wool medium to high grade wools and velvets — was studied recently at the Nebraska Experiment Station. Their finds may be helpful to busy homemakers at this season when much dirt may be brought in from outside, says Frances Stallard, home management specialist with the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service.

Ex-Policeman Faces 2nd Count of Murder

Hazard, Ky., Oct. 23 — Darrell Eblevins, 34, former Jackson and West Liberty policeman, has been arrested and charged with murder in the robbery-slaying of Ken Carpenter, 53, Jackson.

It was the second murder charge placed against Eblevins.

A few days ago he was charged with the pistol slaying of Harold Helton, night policeman at West Liberty. Helton was killed Oct. 11.

State Police Detective J. E. Combs said he had evidence indicating Eblevins and Helton worked together in the Carpenter case.

Eblevins was held in Breathitt county jail at Jackson pending arraignment on the second murder case.

Combs said Carpenter was fatally shot at his home Sept. 17. He was robbed of several guns and a little money.

The detective said Eblevins made no statement.

Floyd UK Students Score High in Tests

Six Floyd county students at the University of Kentucky ranked in the top quarter in placement tests given to freshman and new students at the University this fall.

The tests measured general ability of the students and their proficiency in English and mathematics. "These scores represent excellent preparation for college work and reflect favorably on the students' homes and schools from which they have come," Dr. Ernest McDaniel testing director, said.

The students were: Harold W. Cooley, Ira D. Frazier, Dorothy G. Martin, Joseph S. Sammons, Theodore T. Tackett and James D. Willis.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Robert Conley, of Lackey, Kentucky, and Willow Run, Michigan.

"DID YOU KNOW"

Did you know God was plucking flowers Sunday, Oct. 25th, in fields of Michigan? He must have looked them all over and chose Robert. There are many why's. One, of all the great things Robert loved, it was God's decorated fields.

Yes, he labored and constructed homes for man to dwell in. When tired, he went out to look over God's fields to live in. And on the way to the little church he went slowly riding by. Fields, bowed their heads, as if to say, "Hi".

Yes, his stay here was short, I think I know why; While God was picking, he plucked. And said, here's an apple of My eye.

Oh, how our hearts ached to give Him up, but God knows best; Our prayer and goal is to walk The road which leads to that Eternal rest.

COURT DAY CELEBRATION IS HELD AT MT. STERLING

Court Day at Mt. Sterling just isn't what it used to be for Big Sandians and Eastern Kentuckians. Years ago, when good roads were enjoyed by sections other than the mountains, cattlemen drove their herds of cattle and sheep along the mountain trails to the town on the edge of the Bluegrass to sell on the first day of county court.

Better roads changed that. The mountain drives of horsemen, livestock and dogs yielded to the highway truck. Mt. Sterling lost its allure as the mecca of traders from this area. It was succeeded by Pikeville, Paintsville and Catlettsburg as livestock sale centers.

However, Court Day at Mt. Sterling goes on without the mountaineer trader and even without court days. Monday of last week the town stage a Court Day when there was no court just to prove that the event can be just as good as it used to be.

We are indebted to the Mt. Sterling Advocate for the story: A crowd estimated at between 10,000 and 20,000 jammed Mt. Sterling Monday for our celebrated October Court Day and included visitors from all over the state and several adjoining states. Some said that the crowd was the largest in their memory while others said that they had seen larger.

Although a majority of the visitors came to "see the sights" and "Jockey Row," many local merchants reported a brisk business and restaurants were busy all day.

Tourists and others traveling through town Court Day crawled at a snail's pace and had plenty of opportunity to ask what in the world was going on, and looked slightly incredulous when informed that the crowd was here for Court Day although there was no court going on and about the only connection with court was the "courtin'" being done by traders of each other to see who could get the best of a deal.

The famed "Jockey Row," located in the vicinity of the Farmers Stock Yards between Locust and the railroad tracks, was jammed packed with humanity practically all day. It was a good natured, patient and orderly crowd with no one in a hurry.

The symphony of sound arising from the thousands of people ranging from babes in arms to patriarchs over 90 included the nasal chant of patent medicine men and auctioneers of various types of merchandise, the twang of guitars in a hill-billy band, the blare of trumpets in high school bands, the braying of mules and the baying of fox hounds and coon dogs, the strident voices of itinerant preachers, and the sonorous tones of politicians.

Trucks and automobiles filled with sorghum lined East Locust street and thousands and thousands of gallons were sold by the usual method of sampling from a screwdriver, ice pick or beer can opener. One enterprising fellow parked a bunch of automobiles on Locust last Thursday and sold parking places to sorghum trucks at $10 a crack.

Food and rummage sales sponsored by churches and other organizations were in every crevice and nook that could be found and people were eating tuna fish sandwiches and cakes as early as 7 p.m.

Practically every type and make of gun known to man was offered for trade or sale, ranging from cap-and-ball duelling pistols to army rifles. Most of the hundreds of dogs looked like refusees from a Haumane Society's dog pound and one small boy was seen beaming happily after paying all of 15 cents for one that caught his eye.

More Shetland pointers were in evidence than during the past few years; honey appeared to be a somewhat scarce item, nearly overwhelmed by the sorghum makers; axe, hammer and hatchet blades were plentiful, as were apples.

It seemed that every person had one or more knives and one fellow had a hard time getting the apple he was eating cut up because of showing it to prospective buyers. A man we know made eight trades and ended up with the knife he had when he started swapping.

The Mt. Sterling police department did a good job with traffic and Jailer E. H. Swope was host to less than 30 who mixed too much cider with their beer and got lost in the shuffle.

Tuesday morning all that remained of the big day were a few stray dogs, a forlorn looking pony apparently forgotten in a truck and enough debris on the streets to make the street department wish it had never heard of Tuesday after Court Day.

CORRESPONDENTS ADDED

The Floyd County Times has added three new correspondents in the Wheelwright area.

Floyd S. S. Benefits Total $1,908,840, Said;

As of February, 1959, old-age, survivors and disability insurance monthly benefits were being paid in Floyd county at the rate of $1,908,840 a year, according to Thomas B. Thompson, manager of the Pikeville social security district office.

"This is an increase of $414,330 over last year," Thompson said. Thompson stressed that while the benefits are intended primarily for the beneficiary's economic security, the payment of social security benefits at the rate of $1,908,840 a year in Floyd county helps business generally because most of the money is spent immediately on food, clothing and other necessities. "In February social security benefits were being paid nationally at a rate of nearly 10 billion dollars annually." "Payments to a retired worker with no dependents receiving benefits averaged $87.50 a month nationally in February, and to a retired couple $119.40 a month," Thompson said. The average for a widow with two young children was $165. The maximum payment for a family is $254.

"There were several reasons for the increase in beneficiaries over last year," Thompson said. The long-term growth of the aged population and of the proportion of the aged population eligible for benefits are important factors in the continuing increase in the number of beneficiaries. Other reasons for the increase of beneficiaries are found in the provisions of the 1958 Amendments to the Social Security Act which now make it possible for the wife, dependent husband, and children of a disabled worker beneficiary to receive monthly payments. These amendments also provide for benefits to aged dependent parents of a deceased worker even though other survivors are entitled to payments.

Moreover, Thompson pointed out, it is now easier for a disabled worker to qualify for benefit payments. He no longer needs social security credit for 1 1/2 years of work in the last three years before he became disabled. If he worked under social security for at least five years out of the 10 before he became disabled, he may be eligible for disability benefits.

"Increases in average benefit payments reflect the seven percent raise in benefit amounts which became effective with the checks for January, 1959, Thompson said. Average disability benefit payments also reflect the elimination of the so-called "offset" provision in the old law. Disability benefits under social security are now payable in full even though benefits are also payable under State workman's compensation or under some other Federal Government program.

For the entire State of Kentucky, social security payments at the end of February, 1959, were being paid to 2,253,563 beneficiaries at the rate of $11,813,336 per month.

Questionnaires Mailed In Agricultural Census; Yerkey Is Supervisor

Questionnaires for the 1959 Census of Agriculture are now in the mail and will be in the hands of local farmers within a few days, it was announced by Field Director Robert A. Yerkey, of the Census Bureau's regional office at Cincinnati.

The farm census questionnaires are being mailed from Chicago, Illinois, with the distribution timed so that the report forms will reach farmers about a week ahead of the date when census takers will begin the field canvass. The advance mailing is for the purpose of giving farm operators time to consult their records before filling in the answers required by the questionnaires and getting them ready for the census takers to pick up. This procedure is designed to insure greater accuracy of reporting and to save time both for the farmer and the census taker when the latter calls at the farm.

The 1959 Census of Agriculture questionnaires is designed to provide information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm expenditures, arm values, and mortgage debt. On the average, each farmer is asked about 100 questions, many of which can be answered by simply checking "yes" or "no."

be improved is the main line of thought in recommendations to be submitted by the Commission to the next Kentucky Legislature.

Mr. Evans named as a few of the recommendations to be presented: the expanding and modifying of the vocational education program in order that it may better suit the needs of industrial employers and be more able to provide the right person for the right job; a special study of school-building in Eastern Kentucky; a set of standards for the measurement of progress in the section of the state that will show what has actually been accomplished rather than using standards that are already beyond reach of the area; special aptitude tests for Eastern Kentucky students written in the terminology to which they are familiar and can understand rather than language of other sections of the country; and finally a curriculum to prepare the high school student for whatever his terminal point is going to be, whether it be high school or college.

L. B. Price outlined the area of services, testing, guidance and counseling in which he is now working with all the larger schools of the county as coordinator or supervisor under the National Defense Education Act.

"The hope is entertained that all truly outstanding pupils in abilities, aptitudes, interests and skills may be identified as early as possible," Mr. Price said. "The schools are beginning to provide this service through people who are qualified as guidance-counselors."

He added that three Floyd county schools, Martin, Maytown and Garrett, are receiving remodeling work on their science departments. Other schools will receive the same in succeeding years. Additionally, in all of the high schools and larger elementary schools, during this present year a very significant appropriation has been provided to purchase supplies and equipment. This, it is presumed, will put the teaching of general science on an acceptable basis of quality by all state standards. This work for the present year is costing approximately $31,000, with the federal government probably assuming 50 per cent of the amount. The program will continue for at least two more years.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Meadows, Mesdames Ellen Hornsby, W. T. Hatcher, Earl Castle, Henry Fultz, George Evans, Jr., Glenn Pack, M. M. Collins, M. H. Staley, L. B. Price, N. D. Howard, and the hostesses, Mesdames Harry Sherman, John Reed, S. M. Martin and Fred Hale. Mrs. Cecil Johnson was a guest of the club.

Rev. Joe Lafferty Served Church For 70 Years; Died At Age 98

Rev. Joe Lafferty, second from left, on his 95th birthday. On his right is Mrs. Liza Garrett, Fisher Lafferty and wife, Sarah Ann Lafferty, with a great grandson, Bobby Lafferty, are on the aged minister's left. The picture was taken at Dwale.

Seven years ago the Rev. Joe Lafferty died at Dwale following a ministerial career in the Methodist church of 70 years. He was 98 years old at the time of his death.

Rev. Lafferty, or "Uncle Joe," as he was affectionately known by his people, was proud of his long service to the church but he was proud, too, of his smooth, easy association with his neighbors and friends.

"I never sued a man, nor was I ever sued," he was often heard to say. "I never was indicted, nor did I ever indict any man." He always added that throughout life he was a total abstainer, even in his early days.

Rev. Joe was proud also of a strong physique. He was able to do a man's day of labor when he was 95 years old. To prove it, he climbed upon a house on his 95th birthday and roofed the building.

He was born in Raleigh county, West Virginia, but came to Floyd county when he was in his teens. He lived in the Dwale section all of his life.

He and his wife, Susan Jarrell Lafferty, lived together 72 years. She died in 1946 following her 95th birthday. She had been confined to a wheelchair for years. At her death the old couple was living with a son-in-law, Fisher Lafferty, at Dwale. She and Uncle Joe had yielded a bit to the infirmities of age only when she was 95 years old and finally decided to live with their daughter and son-in-law.

Rev. Joe and Susan Lafferty were the parents of nine children, three surviving. They are Sarah Ann, Ange and Tincy. Sarah Ann, now 79, is the wife of Fisher Lafferty, in whose home the old couple died.

around Right Beaver Creek fire-sides (when the youngsters will stop watching television long enough to listen).

A square dance or some such "party" was scheduled for a certain night, and in those days the youngsters of the neighborhood converged on the host's home on foot. So it was that they were obliged to walk past a long "graveyard point" which sloped back to the timberline, and that gave Uncle Wiley an idea.

He had "Aunt Polly Martin help him don a sheet. Then, arming himself with a pine knot which he proposed to convert into a torch at the proper moment, he climbed the hill and took cover.

What he didn't know was that, soon after he left the house, Aunt Polly had dressed her husband in similar attire, supplied him with a pine torch and sent him to hide a few yards uphill behind the prankster.

A full moon rose, and the "graveyard point" looked more ghostly than usual to the youngsters as they hurried past. Suddenly there appeared coming out of the cemetery a white-shrouded figure, giving with long leaps and waving a firebrand, and the group of youngsters broke into a wild terrified rout.

Just then the plot thickened considerably.

Uncle Wiley, between leaps and chortles, heard a noise behind him and glanced over his shoulder to see another ghost which was rapidly overtaking him!

The old story goes to the effect that those youngsters and the wily Mr. Patton ran a dead heat for the shelter of the house.

WE SURRENDER!
It may or may not be apropos to say that Floyd county has had its weird political campaigns and some political "literature" that was even more weird, if possible. However that may be, we stand ready to surrender No. 1 position in the department of "campaign literature" to Dickenson county, Virginia.

The better part of a page in THE DICKENSONIAN, a weekly newspaper published at Clintwood, recently had to do with the merits and high accomplishments of a gentleman who is a candidate for County Treasurer. We skip a solid biographical background established by the article to quote this sentence: "The enormous respect with which he is held over the county is at times a bit awesome."

And if such "enormous" and "awesome" respect aren't enough, read this further qualification: "He also has another gift that is dispensed free of charge to any who ask, and that is the ability to find water with the aid of a peachtree switch. . ."

That ought to qualify him for treasurer. He at least knows something about liquid assets.

Deputy Sheriff Lewis commented, "I shot James Slone."

He said he shot Slone only after Slone had emptied his revolver into the car he and his brother, Mack, were driving and while Slone was trying to bring a rifle to bear upon him.

Particles of glass from the shattered car window were removed from Deputy Sheriff Lewis' eyes at the Prestonsburg General hospital. Glass cut both of the Lewises about the face. Slone was seriously wounded, shot in the "roof" of his mouth.

Deputy Sheriff Lewis requested examining trial today (Thursday).

Resentful of the lack of support from the County Judge's office, he went to jail, at least temporarily, shortly after the warrant was issued and after it had been executed by Chief of Police Epp Lafferty.

"If this is where they want me, I'm here," he said.

He said John Henry Warren, 33, Arjay, told him he had shot an unidentified man and didn't know if the victim was dead.

Maddox testified he advised Warren to go with him to Barbourville and surrender to Knox county authorities.

Warren became frightened and refused to go to the police, Maddox testified, and he later gave Warren $10 and let him and another miner, John Cox, 75, out of his car near town.

Warren was convicted of murder earlier and has appealed.

Cox, who testified for the Commonwealth, said Maddox made no effort to turn Warren over to authorities, although Warren told him he shot Smith four times.

The jury deliberated about an hour before finding Maddox guilty. Smith's killing March 31 was one of the first acts of violence in the U.M.W.'s Eastern Kentucky coal strike, which began March 9.

GOBLIN TIME OR ANY TIME

It's great to be a family!

Who says only the kids enjoy Halloween? This happy time is for the whole family. Trick or treaters inspire the delight of living that a truly happy family can appreciate and enjoy. Call it what you will . . . "family fellowship" or "love of family living."

Men, women, boys and girls enrolled under "The Family Fraternity's" banner know these joys by participating in our ever-expanding program of fraternal and community service. They also know the security of the protection of safe, sound, legal reserve life insurance. Our Society also provides outstanding fraternal "plus benefits" such as free assistance of up to $1,000 to members of a year or more afflicted with lung cancer.

"Blueprint For Action"
Theme of District Meet
Of Future Homemakers

"Blueprint For Action" was the theme of the fall district meeting of the Future Homemakers of America at the Johns Creek high school, Saturday, Oct. 17.

The devotional presented by the Salyersville high school interpreted the important aspects of architect instruments as related to Blueprint of every day living.

The district officers presented a seven-point plan by which each chapter may help to carry out the proposed program of work for the year 1959-60.

A highlight of the day was a period in which district officers gave suggestions to chapter officers in carrying out their respective office. The state treasurer, from Louisa Chapter, assisted in conducting the officer's training session. Accompanying her was Mrs. Ruby Becknell, advisor of Louisa Chapter.

Six of the national projects—"Youth Can Do," "Teen-Age-Consumer," "Family Unity," "Family Health," "Getting to Know You," and "Your Future With Home Economics" were presented in interesting ways to encourage participation by local chapters.

The noon luncheon was served by the Johns Creek Chapter in the school cafeteria, which was decorated in the United Nations motif.

During the afternoon Miss Big Sandy F.H.A. was selected. She is Carol Ann Cerrato, of the Belfry Chapter.

Chapters represented were: Oil Springs, Meade Memorial, Salyersville, Prestonsburg, McDowell, Mullins, Virgie, Elkhorn City, Belfry, and the host school, Johns Creek.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of John Lafferty, who died Oct. 27, 1958:

We cannot say, we must not say
That he is dead. He is just away!
With a cheerful smile,
and a wave of the hand
He has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be,
since he lingers there;
We think of him fairing on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here,
We think of him still as the same, and say
He is not dead, he is just away.

ARNOLD COMPTON

JOHN A. CONLEY

J. L. GUNNELL

A. H. STRATTON

Four employees of United Fuel Gas Company, who have completed 25 years' service, were presented engraved gold watches and service emblems Thursday, Oct. 22, at a luncheon at the Wise Restaurant here.

C. Arnold Compton and J. L. Gunnell, both of Prestonsburg, John A. Conley, Martin, and A. H. Stratton, Louisa, received the awards at the company's annual service awards ceremony, attended by employees who have 25 or more years' service.

The presentations were made by John W. Partridge, president of United Fuel, who expressed his appreciation for the employees' loyal service.

Simeon S. Willis, Ashland, former governor of Kentucky, was the guest speaker for the function.

In addition to the gold watch recipients, four employees were presented lapel emblems symbolic of 30 years' service each. They were W. Ray Flanery and G. A. May, Jr., both of Langley; E. L. Moore, Harold, and H. L. Stumbo, Printer. These and the other veterans present received their gold watches at 25-year ceremonies in years past.

Entertainment was provided by a male quartet made up of gas company employees.

United Fuel Gas Company is a member of the Charleston Group Companies of the Columbia Gas System. The Prestonsburg luncheon is one of five being held in the Group's four-state operating area to honor veteran employees. Approximately 35 veterans, plus company executives, attended the local luncheon.

WHEELWRIGHT

HONOR MRS. BRADBURY

The Wheelwright Woman's Club gave a surprise party, Oct. 21, for Mrs. Arthur Bradbury to honor her for having been governor of the Seventh district and for her service to her club.

Mrs. R. L. Hall, club president, presented her with a beautiful silver tray as a token of the clubmembers' appreciation. Mrs. Bradbury thanked the members and said that it had been a joy to be governor of the district.

Canasta and bridge were enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the Social committee: Mesdames Roy Souleyrette, Oscar Smith, G. William Lockin, Elmer Nemet, and Miss Frances Petry.

Guest at the party was Dr. Rosemary Hulley, of Sheffield, England.

FLOYD SAFETY RECORD POOR

Health Service Figures Show County Far Below Average for the Nation

Special to The Times New York, Oct. 26 — What are the chances, if you are a resident of Floyd county, of going through an entire year without having an accident of some sort?

On the basis of a survey made by the Public Health Service, covering the entire country, there is less likelihood locally than in most communities in the United States.

Taken into account in the survey were all types of accidents, including those sustained on the job, in traffic, while flying, while swimming or boating and in the home. The last is by far the most frequent.

During the year ending June 30, 1958, some 47,000,000 people in the nation were involved in accidents that called for medical attention or required confinement for a day or more.

Among residents of Floyd county, in the 12-month period ending January 1, 1958, there were 37 fatalities resulting from accidents, says the Public Health Service in its recently issued report. Of these, 19 were due to auto accidents.

The figures refer to all fatalities involving local residents, even if they occurred elsewhere. Not included, however, are local accidents affecting non-residents.

The toll in Floyd county was high from a population standpoint. It amounted to a rate of 83 fatal accidents per 100,000 people.

The average, in the United States, was 55 per 100,000. In the East-South-Central States it was 61.

The figures show that the female is a more careful person than the male. Injuries to women and girls added up to about 20,000,000 in the year, compared with 27,000,000 for men and boys.

For every fatal accident in the United States, it is stated, there are 493 others that are not fatal. The cost is tremendous. The National Safety Council puts the bill at more than $12 billion a year, covering lost wages, medical and insurance payments, reduced production, property damage and the rest.

On a proportional basis, assuming the average amount per accident applies locally, the annual cost in Floyd county totals $4,658,000.

'The Coal Facts,' Inland Steel Paper Wins Top NMA Prize

Three members of the Inland Foreman's Club attended the 36th national conference of the National Management Association in Detroit, Oct. 21, 22 and 23 as representatives of their NMA affiliated Club. They were Paul C. Linkous, Harold Wakefield and E. H. "Buster" Roberts, of the Inland Steel Company.

Linkous attended in the capacity of Zone E vice-president of the NMA; Wakefield, as the current president of the local club; and Roberts, as co-editor of the local club publication, "The Coal Facts."

A noteworthy honor was accorded the local club when its monthly publication, "The Coal Facts," was adjudged as being the first place winner in the N.M.A. for the year 1958-59. This paper was entered in competition with 59 others throughout the nation. Judging was performed by a professional group of industrial editors. Considering that the N.M.A. has a total membership of 65,000, its clubs have memberships up to 3,300 and that there are presently 320 clubs, the odds for a publication being so honored from a club with 118 individual memberships seems small indeed. E. H. Roberts accepted the bronze citation plaque on behalf of Raymond Gibson, co-editor, the local club, and himself.

KING IS GRADUATED FROM FINANCE SCHOOL

Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. — Army 1st Lt. Donald P. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Estill King, of Wheelwright, Ky., completed the officer basic course Oct. 15, at The Finance School, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Lieutenant King was trained in matters relating to the disbursing of funds, accounting, personnel management and the military pay system.

He is a 1953 graduate of Wheelwright high school and a 1957 graduate of Eastern Kentucky State College in Richmond.

The new church at Martin, an independent Baptist institution, has been in use two months but is still incomplete. Funds are still urgently needed to buy the final materials and final dedication of the building is being deferred until it is finished. Rev. Martin recently held a week's revival in it and conducts services regularly, Sunday and Wednesday of each week.

The Faith Baptist church is the third built through the efforts of Rev. Martin since he returned following the request of Haywood, A native of Letcher county, he and his wife, established a church at Dock and also the Grace Chapel, at Buck's Branch, at Martin. In addition to building the three churches, he has pastored five churches and conducts two radio programs.

Kentucky, Famed Race Horse Land Scenic, Historic

The four-county center of Kentucky's Bluegrass region, domain of the thoroughbred race horse, is one of the most scenic and historic regions of mid-America.

It is to these four counties—Fayette, Woodford, Bourbon and Jessamine—that tourists are directed who have requested a look at the industry of breeding race horses. The dominating design of this green land, a symmetry of neat white-fenced meadows, is repeated in more than 150 horse farms here.

Between Lexington, largest Bluegrass city, and Paris, seat of the county that gave Bourbon its name, the landscape along the main road and the by-ways falls into the horse farm pattern of large double-fenced tracts ornamented with elegant homes and white barns. And between Lexington and other towns the pattern occurs frequently.

Lexington, named for the Battle of Lexington, founded in 1779, has "Hopemont," the home of John Hunt Morgan; "Ashland," the home of Henry Clay; the homes of Mary Todd Lincoln, Vice President John C. Breckinridge and James Lane Allen, and Transylvania, the first college west of the mountains. Near Lexington, the thoroughbreds run at Keeneland, considered a model track.

Another historic place is Camp Nelson, overlooking the Kentucky River, where a national cemetery contains graves of more than 500 Union soldiers killed at Perryville and Richmond in Civil War.

Paris has historic Duncan Tavern, erected in 1788, now D.A.R. state headquarters. It houses manuscripts of John Fox, Jr., Kentucky author born near Paris and buried in Paris cemetery. Near Paris is spot where William Holmes McGuffey taught school in 1823 while writing his famous reader. On U.S. 460 south-east of Paris is the Cane Bridge Meeting House, erected in 1791, scene of the great revival of 1804, from which emerged the Christian Church, only major denomination to originate in this country.

Predator Call Provides Sport For Hunters

If you have a stout heart and a yen for action, get yourself a predator call and arm yourself for action, says the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. The agency adds:

The small wooden call, when placed to the lips and blown through, mimics the death scream of a rabbit or some other small prey of predatory carnivores. The sound of distress means only one thought to the meat eater—food.

There is always an element of suspense connected with calling predators, because there is no certainty as to what animal or bird will come or how it will react. Fox, bobcat, owl, hawk, coon and many more respond to the call. They may come in slowly and silently or like an unleashed cyclone. A bobcat or fox may even attack the man who has blown the call.

The best time to call predators is from dawn until about 9 a.m., and from 4 p.m., until dark. The man should conceal himself in or near a field or pasture and make four or five loud calls at eight second intervals, wait two or three minutes and make two or three more calls. When the quarry is sighted, the calls should be softer and almost continuous until the animal is within gun range.

This method of calling the flesh eaters was used by the Indians, yet only in the past decade has the modern hunter begun to capitalize upon it to eradicate various species of predators and to enjoy some of the most exciting hunting to be had.

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.
AS OTHERS SEE US

When I was motoring and camping in our Kentucky mountains this summer of 1959, I could not help thinking again of the innumerable false pictures of our hill folk, in Kentucky and elsewhere. We have had enough bad reporting from our mountain counties of big-city newspapers representatives to warrant a good lot of lawsuits. Apparently the writers know in advance what they expect to find, for they have been ardent students of such great interpreters of mountain life as Al Capp; they find what they are looking for. Of course, if they had visited some other area and found similar conditions, they would not have been awake or conscious. Mountaineers just must fit the pattern set by outsiders who are looking for local color insiders who just must please these same outsiders.

At Pikeville a recent visit of a reporter from a New York newspaper discovered a very modern invention: cables that bring down the moonshine liquor from up on the mountains to the tourist and other trade. At least, that is what she wrote in her article and thereby helped to pay her exploratory trip into the wilds of Kentucky. She failed to ask locally what these strange cables were; she would have discovered that they were from aerials on top of the mountains running down to the huts in which these same barefooted mountaineers live, bringing in television shows that surely must shock people who have seldom had a bath and worn shoes. Fortunately, the excellent people of Pikeville enjoyed the sneers of the high-born lady who had come among the heathen on a slumming tour. She probably will tell to the end of her years about those cables down which jugs ride to their destination. Since she concocted such a fable, why didn't she discover that the cables were pipelines, bringing a continuous flow of mountain dew?

But the mountaineers are not alone in being queer objects that goggle-eyed tourists can see and interpret properly to the fellows back home who did not get a chance to come to the wild areas of Kentucky and escape without being shot at. In the middle of June of this same year I camped alone one week-end at Mammoth Cave. There I met a well-dressed man of some forty-five, with a big station wagon and a well-dressed family. He told me that he and his wife had had a trip to see some of the upper South, places he had read a lot about and heard more. He had driven west from Indianapolis, where he lived, across Illinois, into the Ozarks of Missouri and Arkansas, across the Mississippi at Memphis, and on up as far as Mayfield before he turned and came through the southern Pennsylvania, one of the finest agricultural areas, as informed people know, in the state. This poorly educated but honest man had been surprised to death at seeing such fine soil, such handsome country homes, such evidence of prosperity and culture. He was going back, he said, to his church—one of the emotional off-breeds that I had barely heard of—and tell his folks that he had not seen any grown people barefooted, that he, the proprietor of a seed store, could tell good crops when he saw them, and that western Kentucky had them. I could not help rejoicing that one tourist, not too well educated, certainly pretty narrow in his view of life, had found a new world. He frankly said he expected to find poor cabins sitting on hillsides, with half-starved children playing in the dirt around them. Maybe he should write a letter to some of the eastern papers and tell his strange experience.

Adkins Participates In Special Alert

Fort Campbell, Ky. — Army Pfc. Donald L. Adkins, 24, of Harold, Ky., participated with the 101st Airborne Division's 187th Infantry in a special STRAC (Strategic Army Corps) alert at Fort Campbell, Ky., Oct. 19-17.

A rifleman in the 187th's Company E, he entered the Army in February, 1958. Adkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. King D. Adkins, Harold, Ky., attended Richlands (Va.) high school.

MAGISTRATE CONLEY

Two letters left on the desk by Charles Fraim, of Paintsville, for this column are interesting bits of the past. One is from William M. Conley, magistrate and blacksmith, of Bonanza, to M. P. Colvin, dated May 29, 1887.

It follows: "Sir, after a long delay I thought I would write you and let you know where I am and what I am doing. I am at a little town on Abbott Creek called Willow Grove working at my trade, blacksmithing. I get more work here than I can possibly do. The family has a real nice garden and about three acres in corn. We have a nice prospect for water-melons.

"There is a splendid crop of Buckner men here but few for Tate. We think it is time to stop if there is no man in the state of Kentucky but Tate that is fit for treasurer. Some of the others on the ticket has been there too long to merit support.

"My law day comes the first day in June. Two cases on the docket. Thomas Williams and wife vs. Anderson Allen by acct. $25.00. James Sturgeon vs. A. J. Alley debt by acct. $7.87. Last week three cases at breach of peace. Two got 25c each and the other came clear. About four weeks ago I tried (name deleted) for adultery. She was fined $45.00 and failing to pay or replevy the same was committed to jail for 22 days in default thereof. Next week we will try (name deleted) and (name deleted) for adultery. They will get about fifty dollars each.

"On the 2nd Monday in June we have a convention in Prestonsburg for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent the counties of Johnson and Floyd in the next legislature. Your county has recommended William Auxier and all we have to do is to endorse him and we say hurrah for Will. At the same time we will select delegates to the Senatorial convention. We are for J. S. Patton of Martin county for Senator and for Beck for U. S. Senator.

"Now you, Rena and the children be sure and come up at water-melon time. This leaves us all well. Write soon. This is the 2nd letter I have wrote you since I was there. Again, write soon and receive me as ever your brother. William M. Conley."

JOHN MAY WRITES

The other letter left by Mr. Fraim is from John May, Cherokee, Iowa, to Mr. Colvin, dated Nov. 23, 1879. "Dear Sir, I received your letter some time in July but neglected to write sooner. We are all well at present and enjoying beautiful weather. This has been the driest summer that has been known for many years. The people will have some trouble to get water for their stock. Times are pretty good and money tolerably plenty. The corn and the oats crop was good, wheat light owing to dry weather.

"The farmers are busy husking corn. We have over 2,000 bushels husked and almost as much to husk yet. Our hands are getting pretty sore but we will get done in about two weeks. The corn crop is large here this year and is averaging about 50 bushel to the acre. The prairie fires have done a great deal of damage in some localities in N. W. Iowa burning stock, grain, etc., though not a great deal in this settlement.

"This country is a rolling prairie and one can see almost as far as

Harry Holbrook, 83, Is Victim At Thelma; Rites Conducted Friday

UNDER THE MERIT RATING PLAN

1. No accidents within past four years—a 30% savings.
2. No accidents within past three years—a 20% savings.
3. If you have had one accident prior to the past 12 months, we can write you at the regular rate, and give you a chance to bring your premium down each accident-free year until you accumulate a maximum of 30% credit.
4. No further discounts allowed if you qualify at the beginning for the maximum of 30%.
5. We write young adults under age 25, who are the owners, or principal drivers, at the regular rate, and give them an opportunity to bring down their rates each accident-free year.
6. We write the people who have been unfortunate in that they cannot obtain insurance elsewhere. You are rated on a point system, according to your record. This premium is higher than regular rates, depending upon your driving record.
7. We write those people over age 65. They are charged a certain number of points for each year over age 65. Premium higher than regular rates, but you have a choice of your amount of coverage.
8. We write people who have had their driver's license revoked or suspended. This premium, again, is based upon your past driving history.
9. Your premium remains the same during a policy period. If you are unfortunate, and have an accident, your renewal premium will reflect the change back to the regular rate.
10. In other words, the careful driver pays a cheaper premium than the reckless driver.
11. Our payment plan is: 40% down, 30% within 3½ months, and the balance at the end of 7½ months.

This explanation of the new merit rating plan, we hope, will benefit the many people who have inquired of us as to how the plan operates.

This will help to clarify our circular that was mailed to you recently. Please contact us if we can be of help in securing this plan for you.

Kentucky Shares Lowest Business Failure Rate

Kentucky was one of two states which recorded the lowest rate of business failure in the nation in 1957, according to the State Department of Economic Development. The agency said 1957 was the last year for which figures from the Statistical Abstract of the U. S. Department of Commerce are available.

Of 42,750 firms in business in Kentucky in 1957, the failure rate was only 0.12 percent, or 52 firms—a number considerably under the national average—said the department. It added:

This record was shared by North Dakota, which experienced 13 failures among 10,844 firms for a similar rate of 0.12 percent.

Average for the nation was 0.52 percent, or a total of 13,739 failure among a total of 2,652,248 firms.

Among Kentucky's neighboring states in the southeast, Tennessee reported a failure rate of 0.45, or 195 firms of a total of 43,047; Georgia, 0.41 percent, 208 of 51,092 firms; Virginia, 0.25 percent, or 115 of 46,929, and North Carolina, 0.19 percent, 117 of 62,232.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS

The Woman's Christian Service Club of the Gio Church of Christ held its regular monthly meeting, Oct. 22, at 7 p. m., in the home of Mrs. Ralph Blankenship. Mrs. John Spradlin led the group in prayer. Mrs. J. T. Spillman was in charge of the devotional program, and the subject was, "Christian Duty." Sermonettes and scriptures on this subject were given by Mrs. Spillman, assisted by Mrs. Elwood Banks. Mrs. Buford Rollins gave a report on the last meeting and it was decided to still sponsor the buying of lunch tickets for needy children. The next meeting is to be in the home of Mrs. L. B. Price and Mrs. John Spillman to be in charge of the program. The next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 19, at 12:30 p. m. Those present were Mesdames Tramble Turner, J. T. Spillman, Carl Stewart, Buford Rollins, John Spradlin, Albert Webb, Otto Martin, L. B. Price, Gene Decoursey, Henry Fultz, Edward Banks, Mary Martin, Gene Decoursey and George Banks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Spillman spent the week-end in Morehead. While there they attended the Homecoming program of M.S.C. and visited with their daughter, Ginger, who teaches in Mount Orab, Ohio, and with Don Carter, of Morehead.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stout and Mrs. H. M. Sikes, of Louisville, visited their parents and grandparents recently. Their visit here was in honor of the birthday of their grandmother, Mrs. M. V. Wicker.

Mr. and Mrs. Tramble Turner and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Turner spent the past week-end in Chattanooga, Tenn., visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joe Turner and Mrs. Gilbert Hobbs. Mrs. Charles Hughes and Miss LaFaye Bamer are in Louisville this week attending the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star of Kentucky.

Judith Price, of Morehead College, spent the week-end here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Price.

The October meeting of the Willing Workers Homemakers Club was held in the home of Mrs. Tramble Turner. The program was opened by the president, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, and the lesson was on party snacks. Some interesting ways of entertaining and serving were discussed, and booklets on manners, entertaining and new recipes were given to members. The next meeting will be Nov. 10, at 10:30 a. m., in the home of Mrs. Buford Rollins at Lackey. Those attending were Mesdames Buford Rollins, Harry Sherman, Carl Stewart, J. T. Spillman and Mrs. Winford Bentley.

ALFALFA

To lengthen stand of alfalfa, don't cut any more until the plants have turned white. Many stands are weakened each year, because they are cut too close to frost. By waiting, the roots have time to build up a supply of food to keep through the winter.

After frost has bleached the plants, it is best to remove the top by either grazing or cutting for hay.

The limited amount of hay land available, make it all the more important to obtain high yields. Alfalfa, if properly fertilized, will outyield other kinds of hay. A yield of 3 to 5 tons per acre can be expected.

COUNCIL EXTENSION COUNCIL

The County Extension Council met last week to evaluate the Extension program. K. R. Howard, Chairman presided at the meeting.

Pasture production, Soil Testing, Forestry Improvement, 4-H and Homemaker program were items determined to be stressed next year. In addition to these, other agriculture and home economics problems will be included in the plan of work for 1960.

During the next month planning meetings will be held to determine ways and means of solving farm problems. Plans will be drawn up for livestock, crops, soils, forestry, strawberries, gardening, 4-H and Home Economics.

The next meeting of the County Extension Council will be held November 19.

STRAWBERRIES

All indications point a good strawberry market next year. Acreage throughout the state and area is down. Those that set new patches or renovated old patches, are in a good position for next year.

To obtain top yields and high quality berries make plans now to mulch. Mulching has several advantages. It prevents winter damage, holds blooming back, to miss late frost, conserves moisture, keeps berries off ground.

Either of two materials straw or sawdust, makes satisfactory mulch. Use 1½ to 2 tons of clean straw per acre, or ½ layer of sawdust. A word of caution in buying straw, make sure it is reasonably free of weeds. Don't try to use hay, this is inviting trouble.

Plan to mulch in December, about the time the temperature is expected to go down to 20 degrees.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Floyd County Junior 4-H Club members entered 21 projects at the Junior Achievement Day, October 17, at Louisa and received 13 championships and eight other blue awards.

Club members receiving project championships were: Ossie Spencer—strawberry; Burgess Lowe—farm labor; Dana Jack Hicks—electricity and boys junior leadership; Ruby Mae Gayheart—clothing and girls junior leadership; Rhoda Ann Gayheart—housekeeping; Mae Rita Gayheart—room improvement; Gaylord Martin—garden and rabbits; Sue Boyd—health; Randy Blankenship—safety; Steve Hunter—woodwork.

An Open Letter TO MY NEIGHBORS OF EASTERN KENTUCKY

In these closing days of the campaign for Governor of Kentucky I want to make my final appeal to you, my Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky neighbors and friends.

My wife, Mabel Hall Combs, and I have spent all our lives among you. We were born in the mountains, reared and educated with you. Your problems, with which I have been familiar a lifetime, have often been my own individual problems—the problem of procuring an education, earning a living and getting ahead in life. Our section has been denied a position in the mainstream of progress a long time.

I want here to renew my pledge to work to improve the economic and educational level of our area. We need industry, better schools, more roads and recreational facilities. These are the needs of you and your children. These are my needs and my children's needs, for I live and work with you.

Together we can have victory on election day. Together, during my term of office as Governor, we can do great things for our people.

On election day we will be at the water's edge—you and I, Floyd county and all of Eastern Kentucky. The improvement of our area and the building of a greater Kentucky should transcend our political affiliations. Our needs are one, our will to lift ourselves to a better Floyd county and a better Eastern Kentucky should be as one.

In closing, Mabel and I want to express to all of you our heartfelt thanks for your support in this campaign. The inherent goodness of the people will always be our most sacred memory.

HAZARD RESCHEDULES GAME WITH LESLIE CO. ELEVEN

The Whitesburg Yellowjackets gained sole possession of second place in the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference by virtue of its win over Prestonsburg while Pikeville bowed to M. C. Napier. Apparent champion Hazard fell victim to the weather and rescheduled its meeting with Leslie County for last night. They still lead the 10-team mountain league with a 5-0 mark.

Thus Whitesburg, with only weak Elkhorn City left on the schedule, should wind up in second place in the loop standings, regardless of how Belfry and Pikeville finish. Hazard has only to down Fleming, Saturday night, to wrap up its second consecutive title.

Aside from Whitesburg's easy 58-7 conquest of Prestonsburg and Pikeville's surprising 33-14 loss to M. C. Napier, Paintsville romped over Elkhorn City, 38-0. Russell shut out Wheelwright, 16-0, and Everts bounced Fleming-Neon, 48-12.

On the Region 4, Class "AA" front, Hazard and Everts are now tied for first place with 4-0 records and Corbin is in third place with a 3-0 mark. Pikeville is now out of the running with a 4-1 slate.

By scoring six touchdowns against Prestonsburg, Whitesburg's Roger Kincer established a new scoring mark for his school, a new confer-

Six Defeats Taken By Wheelwright Team; Hobbs Loss, Handicap

An injury riddled Wheelwright eleven absorbed its sixth defeat, 14-0, last Friday night at the hands of visiting Russell after two pitchouts were converted into touchdowns.

Coach Ray Brackett said the loss of star kicker Gary Hobbs handicapped the team. Poor punts kept the Wheelwright team backed up in its own territory most of the game.

The first quarter ended in a 0-0 deadlock. A safety was scored by Russell after a penalty backed the Maroons to their goal line and a fumble in the end zone was made. A sustained drive exhibited by visiting Russell, late in the second quarter, climaxed in a pitch-out for the touchdown. The try for the extra point was stopped.

A 50-yard pass from Perry Taylor, junior fullback, put the Maroons in scoring position in the second quarter. However, the Wheelwright team failed to penetrate from the 10-yard-line. Russell followed their second quarter touchdown pattern by taking a short kick and moving by ground plays to score. A pitchout, the second used the entire night, provided the play that made the counter. The try for extra point again failed. At this point Russell led 14-0.

Wheelwright could not move in the rain-spattered field but was successful in its passing game. Taylor was especially dangerous on the long passes, and quarterback Duke Justice showed offensive promise as well as defensive skill.

Brackett commended the work of his two tackles, Ishmael Thornsberry, 240-pound senior tackle, and Major Reed Hall, 185-pound left tackle. "Both were just outstanding," he said, adding that Thornsberry has played every minute this year without relief.

Officials at the Wheelwright-Russell game said that Wheelwright is one of the most improved teams in this area. Other players cited by Brackett as turning in good performances are Stanley Logan, L. B. Spradin, Bill Lee, Sonny Phillips, and Red Hall.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

This Saturday marks the opening of goose season at Dewey Lake; however, the duck season will not open until November 30. No waterfowl hunting will be permitted in the restricted area from Dick's Creek to the German bridge, a distance of about five miles in the upper end of the lake.

Several pinioned ducks and geese have been released on the lake to serve as live decoys, and these are not to be bothered.

This is the first season in the history of Eastern Kentucky high school football that more than two players have scored over 100 points in one season. Already four players have passed that figure, and all have games yet to be played.

Whitesburg's ace Roger Kincer, who has already established five new scoring marks, leads the parade with 173 points in nine games. His team has yet to meet Elkhorn City. Paintsville's Mike Minix has 116, Napier's Jerry Brewer and Pikeville's Charles Mims each have 109 markers.

Everts high, which comes to Prestonsburg Friday night to meet the Black Cats, leads the state in victories this season with a 9-1 record. The Class "AA" Region 5 team

CONGRESSWOMAN KATHERINE GUDGER LANGLEY (1888-1948)

Mrs. Katherine Langley was born in Asheville, N. C., Feb. 14, 1888, a daughter of the Hon. James M. Gudger, Jr. Her father was a member of the national House of Representatives for 12 years from North Carolina. She was graduated from Emerson College, Richmond, Virginia, and married Congressman John W. Langley, of Pikeville, Nov. 4, 1904. The photo here is of Mrs. Langley in her wedding dress.

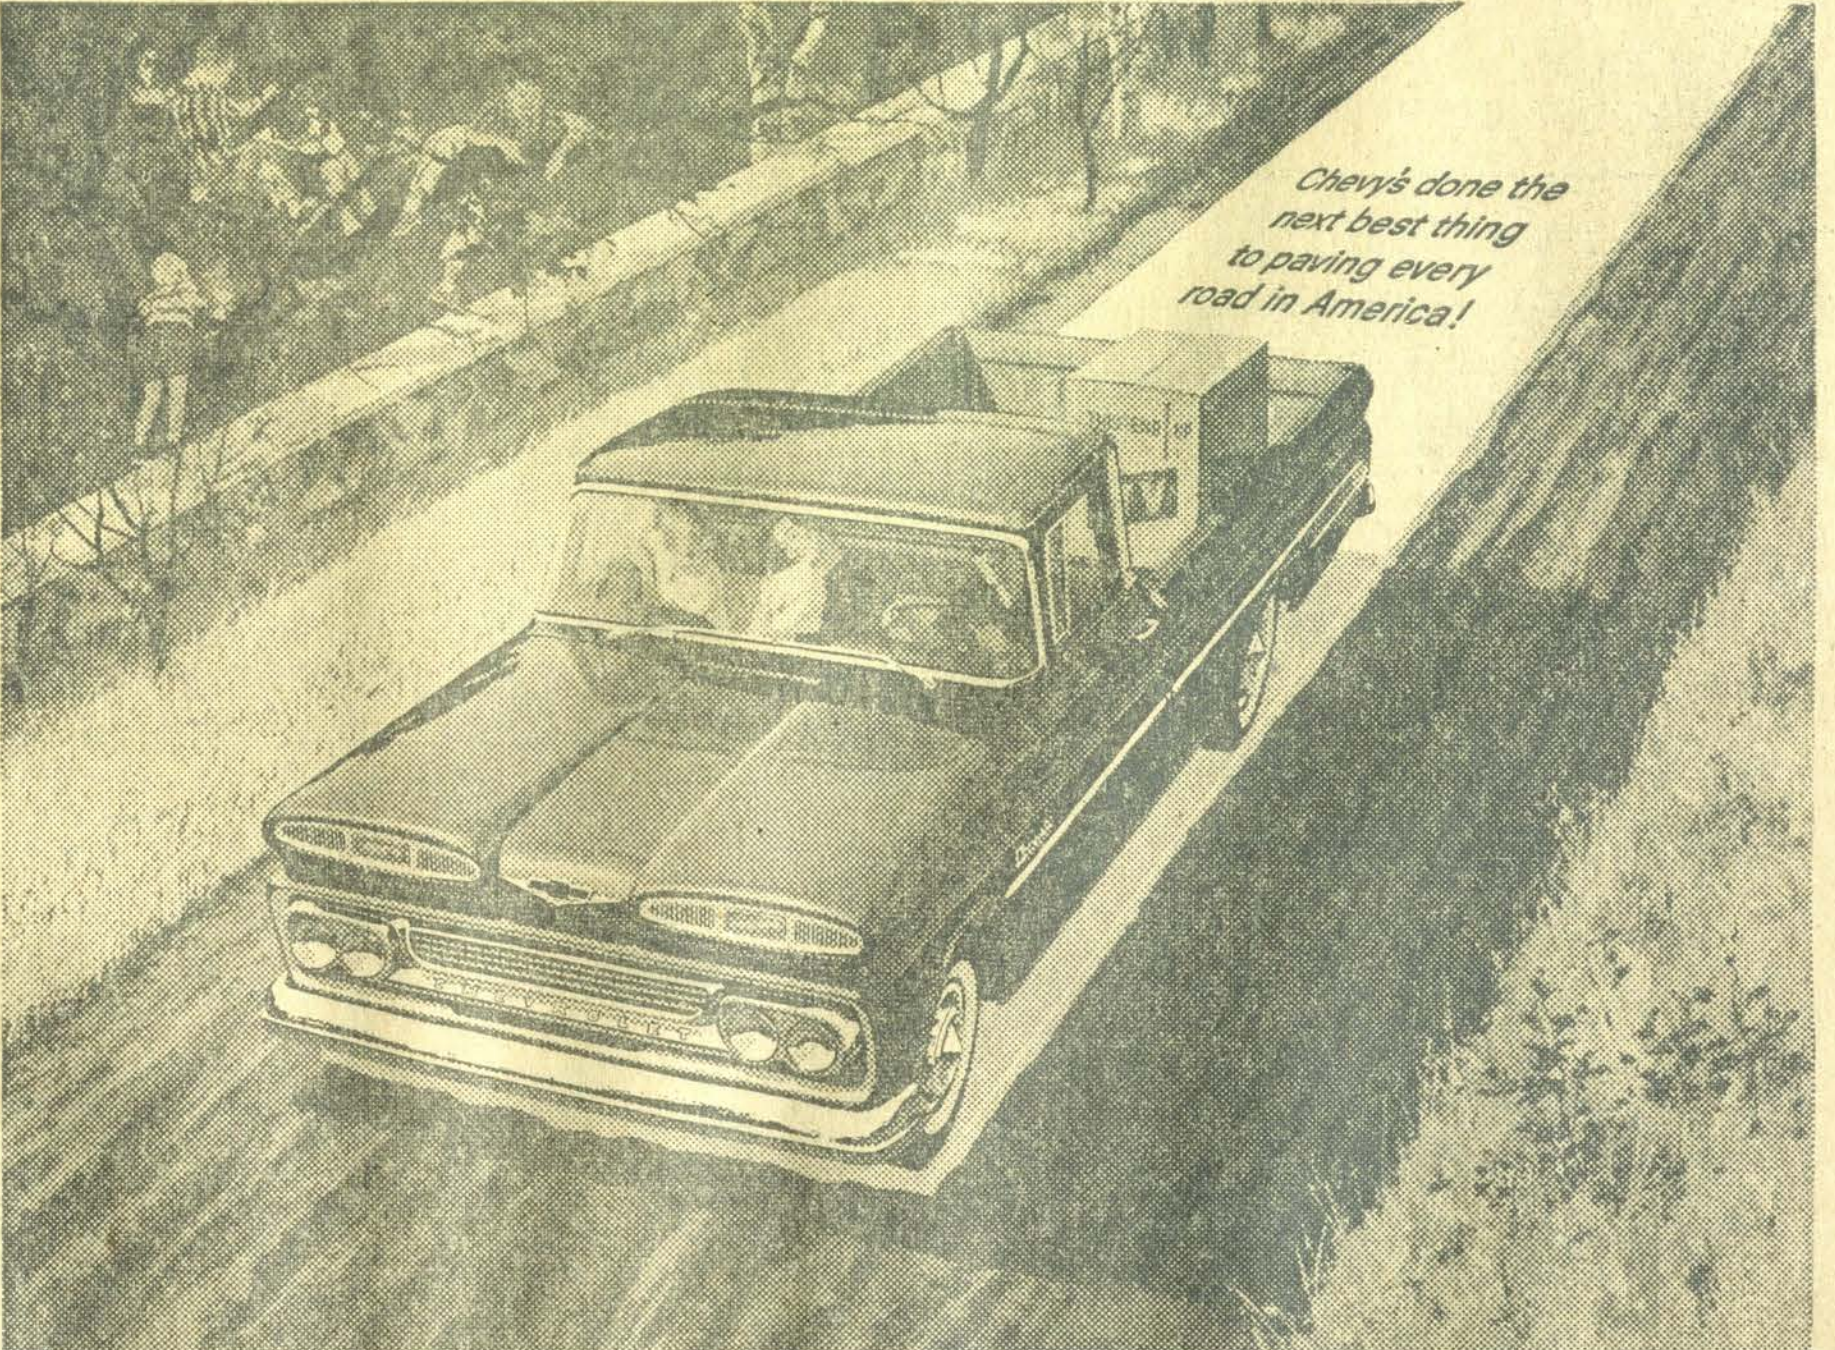

Her husband, John W. Langley, native of Floyd county, served several terms in the Congress. He was ably assisted in campaigns and in office by his wife. An able speaker, she contributed much to the successful political career of her husband.

Mrs. Langley was elected to succeed her husband in 1928 as a member of Congress and was re-elected in 1930 for a two-year term. Following her tenure as one of the nation's few women to serve in Congress she was twice elected to the office of Railroad Commissioner for the Third District of Kentucky.

Mrs. Langley found time during her active career in public life and from rearing a family to serve in many capacities in civic and patriotic organizations. She was a member of the Daughters of American Revolution, Eastern Star, the Business and Professional Woman's Club, of Pikeville, and was three times president of the Pikeville Woman's Club. She died August 25, 1948, beloved and honored by the people of Eastern Kentucky.
