

This Town— That World

Ninety-nine per cent of the people of the United States are thankful, this Thanksgiving, that they're not in the cranberry business. The other one per cent is thankful for not being in the newspaper business.

WE ARE THANKFUL

I do not have to wait till next Thursday to be thankful for many things. I did not improve my financial standing this year, I made few if any advances all along the line of physical living. I did not even catch one big fish. Yet we all have so many things to be grateful for, not only at this season but every day of the year, that it is only fitting and proper that we stop, take stock of our blessings, at the same time making a frank estimate of our unworthiness—and give some sort of earnest expression to our gratitude.

FISHING REPORT

Somewhere in the preceding paragraph there was a mention of the inevitable fishing. Which reminds me that Heber Burke last Sunday caught a six-pound bass at Dewey Lake, then returned in Wednesday's freezing weather to land one that went beyond the seven-pound mark. The old doll fly was used, and yours truly couldn't catch a fish on one of those contraptions if it was already tied. . . . It may be that we will have to enjoy this Mr. Burke until the weather gets so the rest of us can totter out and have a hand at the sport.

GRAND JURY NAMES CASTLE

UMW Man Is Indicted In Pike Circuit Court On Ramp Blast Charge

A United Mine Workers official was indicted Friday by a Pike county grand jury on charges stemming from the dynamiting of a nonunion coal ramp.

Joe Castle, Pikeville, a representative of the U. M. W.'s District 30, was charged in connection with an early morning blast at a ramp of the East Kentucky Colliery in Pikeville September 15.

The grand jury did not indict two other U. M. W. officials charged in the same case. They are C. E. Beane, district vice-president, and Matt Combs, secretary-treasurer of District 30.

Castle was implicated after state police found six sticks of dynamite in his car, parked in the driveway of his home.

The owner of the colliery, Preston Walters, estimated damage at $100,000.

Prestonsburg Police Are Given Pay Raises; Parking Area Provided

A pay-raise for members of the Prestonsburg police force, retroactive to Sept. 1, was voted by the City Council at its Monday night meeting.

An ordinance was enacted creating a public parking facility the area at the northern side of the Municipal building. The area will be used by persons having business with the city. It has been used for the last year or more as a taxi station by the Nelson brothers.

The Council meeting was adjourned till Dec. 30.

RETAIL SALES TAX ENDORSED BY PLANNERS

Education, Job Programs Need Additional Revenue, Regional Group Declares

A general retail sales tax to support education and provide job opportunities was endorsed Tuesday by the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission at its meeting in Prestonsburg.

This action was taken on recommendation of the commission's Advisory Council on Education.

The Advisory Council met Nov. 11 in Jackson with Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College and a commission member, as chairman.

In explaining the Tuesday endorsement, Dr. Doran said, "An adequate development program to create job opportunities must be based on a sound educational system."

"Neither a sound education nor a job opportunity program can be established without adequate revenues."

Dr. Doran also added that education and business leadership must work together on this problem.

The Education Advisory Council to the EKRPC is composed of 35 members representing education, and professional life in the 32 counties in Eastern Kentucky.

The formal statement, issued by Chairman B. F. Reed, of Drift, endorsing the sales tax covered other areas.

"The EKRPC recommends and urges the passage of a general sales tax by the 1960 session of the Kentucky General Assembly. This action is taken upon recommendations of the Eastern Kentucky Advisory Council on Education, and in regard for the advice and interest of many Kentuckians interested in the future progress of the state."

"The Commission suggests that the sales tax be levied on all retail sales and urges that two of the principal uses of the revenue thus obtained include the financing of the maximum possible improvements of our educational system and of an aggressive program of broad economic development of the state's resources, commerce and job opportunities."

"The Commission feels that the passage of resolutions endorsing an adequate revenue program for Kentucky is not good enough, and recommends that the leadership of all the state's official and citizen organizations join together to take a strong and realistic campaign to the people for public understanding of this issue."

Reed also announced the Commission's action program for 1960 is expected to be completed and go to the printers by Dec. 15. This program includes roads, forestry, agriculture, water resources, education and community industrial development.

Commissioners attending the meeting in addition to Reed were Dr. Doran, R. H. Worden, Pikeville; Lewis Ware, Ashland, and S. C. Van Curon, Harlan.

The Commission is a statutory agency of state government charged with development of the Eastern Kentucky region.

Prestonsburg Float Set To Head Inaugural Show; Contributions Sought

A drawing of the Prestonsburg float scheduled to head the parade at Combs' inaugural, Dec. 8, at Frankfort, went on display this week at the First National Bank here. A committee, headed by Bob Francis, has been at work for several days designing the entry at the inaugural festivities.

The float depicts humor, recreation and industry of the mountain area. One feature will be the Little Judge, nickname bestowed by the Governor-elect's political enemies but fondly accepted by his friends.

Francis appealed for funds this week to assist in the construction of the float. He pointed out that staging Floyd county's entry was necessitating a considerable outlay in effort and funds. Contributions may be made at the First National Bank or at Bob Francis, Apparel, it was noted.

BEST, OWENS ALLEN NAMED

To EKEA Positions; Sales Tax Endorsed By Area Educators

Three Floyd county educators were named to positions in the Eastern Kentucky Education Association at the 36th annual meeting of the organization at Ashland, Friday. Earle P. Martin, retiring president and director of pupil personnel of the Floyd county school system, presided.

James J. Carter was named secretary pro-tem till the next election of officers. His appointment was made necessary by the absence of James B. Goble, who is in business in Pike county. Bids will be asked on fire insurance for the new building, and these are to be opened at the December meeting, it was said.

A committee was appointed to plan the inscription to appear on the plaque which will be placed on the new headquarters building. The plaque is being donated by the Bank Josephine.

W. A. Malone, of Allen, chairman of the board of directors, presided at the meeting. Directors attending were Bill Napier, Charles C. C. J. McNally, Rev. Harold Dorsey, Graham Burchett, Henry Stumbo, Carl Wise, W. E. Callihan, Homer Neeley, James J. Carter.

The delegates recommended the General Assembly impose a retail sales tax to implement the 11-point educational program outlined and sponsored by the Kentucky Education Association. The endorsed program is the outcome of a study made by citizen's committees at local levels.

Martin pointed out that the two-day Ashland meeting had larger attendance than usual and that all speakers expressed concern for a higher quality education and more pay for teachers.

"The public doesn't care to pay higher taxes if it gets higher quality education for its money," Martin said in a speech. "Our educational program has to be sold to the public. The people want to know what they are buying."

He added that only higher salaries would stop the exodus of educators to other states.

Wendell P. Butler, State Superintendent-elect of Public Instruction, suggested as the motto for the campaign for school improvements: "One for the soldier boy, two for Sonny Boy."

The motto he suggested apparently meant a state sales tax of 1% for the veterans' bonus and 2% (See Story No. 6, Page 6)

RESCUE SQUAD SEEKS FUNDS

To Complete Building On Highland Ave. Here; Contributions Sought

Talk of a fund-raising drive by the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad was heard last Thursday evening at the squad's board of directors meeting in its new headquarters building.

The group, as a result of its own members' work, contributions of funds and materials made by citizens and business firms and concessions on charges for materials and work, has almost completed its new building with a debt of only $4,000 against it. It needs $500 additional for the purchase of materials to complete interior work on the structure.

Burl Spurlock, finance chairman, will attempt to raise the $500 immediate need and also to procure tile, paste and felt for upstairs floors which include the assembly room, kitchen, hallway and two office rooms.

To help pay off its $4,000 debt, the board of directors adopted County Judge Henry Stumbo's suggestion that each member of the board of directors solicit or himself contribute $50 on or before the Dec. 3 meeting. Charles Clark, principal of Garrett schools, suggested a campaign for funds in the school there with each child asked to make a contribution, however small.

James J. Carter was named secretary pro-tem till the next election of officers. His appointment was made necessary by the absence of James B. Goble, who is in business in Pike county. Bids will be asked on fire insurance for the new building, and these are to be opened at the December meeting, it was said.

A committee was appointed to plan the inscription to appear on the plaque which will be placed on the new headquarters building. The plaque is being donated by the Bank Josephine.

W. A. Malone, of Allen, chairman of the board of directors, presided at the meeting. Directors attending were Bill Napier, Charles C. C. J. McNally, Rev. Harold Dorsey, Graham Burchett, Henry Stumbo, Carl Wise, W. E. Callihan, Homer Neeley, James J. Carter.

LIBRARY NEED GREAT, NOTED

State Library Program Needs Added Revenues; Service Is Inadequate

Public library service in Kentucky is poor and inadequate—both in quantity and quality.

Nine of the 120 counties have no library service at all, five have no public library, and 30 others have no county-wide service.

These facts were reported in a study of public-library services just completed, probably the most comprehensive study to date of public libraries in Kentucky.

The study was made by the Legislative Research Commission.

Like other publicly supported services, there is not much wrong with the libraries that more money wouldn't correct.

Kentucky law permits tax funds to be used to support libraries. Cities, counties, and boards of education contribute money to libraries.

The State has a grant-in-aid program to local libraries. During 1958-59, the State distributed $50,000 in $100-to-$1,150 grants to 96 counties. To qualify for a grant, counties must appropriate from county funds at least an amount matching the State grant.

Counties are limited by a constitutional maximum tax rate of 50 cents at $100 of assessed property valuation. This and statutory commitment of county funds "renders almost impossible the adequate local financing of public library services," the report said.

The report suggested that library taxing districts could be set up to provide more money.

"Aside from providing more library revenue by means of public-library taxing districts, public libraries could be more adequately financed if library services in the counties were unified and supported by county taxes," the report said.

The study points to strides in library service—Bookmobiles and the regional library plan under way with the help of federal funds.

However, both of these projects are at the crossroads, the report said.

The Bookmobile project got up full speed in 1954 when 34 Bookmobiles were purchased with funds donated by corporations and individuals. Now 93 are operating to provide library service, mainly in rural areas.

COMBS GIVEN WELCOME ON RETURN TO P'BURG

Governor-elect Bert Combs and Mrs. Combs came back to Prestonsburg last Saturday to be greeted at the high school gymnasium here by a cheering crowd of friends, neighbors and supporters. The gathering was estimated at 1,500.

The 47-year-old Combs, who with his family left for a Florida vacation after having been swept into office by a landslide of votes, returned home on the wings of a late-autumn storm. The weather was such that a parade which had been planned as a welcome-home expression was cancelled. But the gathering at the gymnasium, the welcoming banners across Prestonsburg streets and signs in places of business showed no dampening of spirit.

"This is the best of all, for I know that every person here has come because he or she wanted to, without hope of reward but to express your friendship to us as your neighbors," the Governor-elect said in a brief address which was relayed by radio broadcast to others over the area. But, Combs noted, the joyousness of the occasion had been marred by the passing on the preceding evening of a respected Prestonsburg neighbor and colleague. He referred to the death of Claude P. Stephens, former Floyd official and U. S. district attorney.

Expressing deep appreciation to the people of his home voting precinct (Cliff), those of Prestonsburg, Floyd county and all Eastern Kentucky for their support, Combs said, "I am so grateful and so proud that Floyd county will be first in the inaugural parade."

Traditionally, the parade is headed by the county giving the winner the greatest victory margin. Combs' home county, Floyd, gave him a 9,129-vote majority, greatest in the

TIPPLE FIRE IS ATTEMPTED

Accused Executes Bond, Leaves For Ohio; Police Place Car Theft Charge

Accused of attempting to destroy by fire the coal tipple of the Turner-Elkhorn Mining Company on Stumbo Hollow, near Drift, Clarence Martin was required Monday to execute $5,000 peace bond after a hearing held for him before Trial Commissioner G. C. Burchett.

It was said that the company preferred a peace bond to prosecution of the accused man. He left the following day for Ohio.

"Dope" from journal boxes of railway cars had been scattered about the tipple but there was no evidence that the highly inflammable material had been ignited.

Jailed here Saturday on a charge of car theft by State Troopers Elmo Allen and Green Long were Gary Douglas Conley and Oscar Blair.

Six juveniles were booked at the county jail on housebreaking charges arising from a break made into the Dairy Queen here and homes in the vicinity. They were arrested by State Detectives E. L. Cornett and Chester Potter and Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald. Two of the six who already are under probation—Robert Craft, Jr. and Henry C.

state in an election which saw him win by an unprecedented 179,895 votes.

"The Governor-elect voiced a plea for an end to the bitterness engendered by the two election campaigns in which he was involved this year. "It is important," he pointed out, "that we be good winners. We were good losers, four years ago—now, let's be good winners. I hope that all will be charitable, friendly and courteous to those who did not agree with us."

"We will be on trial, the next four years—not just Mabel and Bert Combs but all Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky," he said. "I am (See Story No. 4, Page 8)

HI GRADS AT COLLEGE ARE INCREASING, SAID

Thirty-eight percent of Floyd county's 1958-'59 crop of high school graduates have entered college, it was noted this week in statistics released by Earle P. Martin, director of pupil personnel of the county system. Maytown high school led the nine county schools in the number of graduates seeking higher education.

Sixty-one percent of the Maytown graduates have gone to college, as have 53 percent of the Garrett graduates. This places Garrett in second place. Prestonsburg has 52 percent going to college for third place.

Prestonsburg high school, with its higher enrollment, naturally led the nine high schools in graduates when 126 received diplomas but while over half went to college only three percent stayed at home. The highest stay-at-home figures are 39 percent at Betsy Layne. Thirty-eight percent of the Wheelwright graduates stayed at home but only five percent of the Garrett graduates did so.

Comparable figures for the 1958 graduates were released by Martin.

Combs Is First War II Veteran Named Governor

Bert T. Combs will be the first World War II veteran to take the oath of office as Kentucky's governor.

Combs entered the ranks as a private when he volunteered in Sept. 1942. He attended officers candidate school and before the war ended was a captain.

Early in 1945 young Lt. Bert T. Combs went overseas to serve on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff in the war crimes department. Eventually he became chief of the investigation section.

For his work in apprehending and prosecuting Japanese war criminals Capt. Combs won the bronze star and was decorated by the Philippine government.

After the war Combs took an active part in veterans affairs. He helped organize the Floyd County Overseas Veterans, Inc. and was incorporator, charter member and first judge advocate of Walter Karr Bowling post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Also he has been an active member of the Prestonsburg American Legion post and the 40 and 8 Society.

Spirit Of Thanksgiving To Prevail As Presbyterians Dedicate Building

With a special spirit of Thanksgiving, members of the Drift Presbyterian church will dedicate their new church building next Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock. The small congregation has waited several years for this opportunity to become of additional service to the community.

The church was organized in May, 1956, with the Rev. George Watson leading the congregation at that time. Prior to that, the Rev. Orville Pearson helped in the beginning of the church by conducting Daily Vacation Bible School, starting in 1953, and later, in 1954, Sunday School. The classes and later worship services were conducted in the Drift grade school. The Rev. Andrew VanAntwerpen served as pastor, beginning in July, 1957, after Dr. Watson left.

In June, 1959, the Rev. Clifford B. Ball was ordained and installed as pastor of the church. This was the first meeting held in the partially completed building which the congregation was remodeling and redecorating.

The unusual thing about this new building is that apart from the parttime assistance of a local carpenter, the men in the congregation have done the work themselves. The membership is only 25, and the men available have been few. In the planning and building the chairman of the Building Committee, William Hoffman, has directed the men who helped do a beautiful job, to the glory of God, on an unused mining company store.

The sanctuary will seat approximately 100. There are five Sunday School rooms, a social room, kitchen and pastor's study and a utility room, housing a coal furnace. The interior is finished with knotty pine paneling and celotex walls and ceiling.

A former pastor, Rev. VanAntwerpen, Dr. A. A. Page, president of the Pikeville College and moderator of the Synod of Kentucky, will participate in the service.

The congregation of the church and the pastor invite the public. A reception will follow the service.

Turner Requests Aid To Lessen Violations Of School Bus Passing

V. O. Turner, county superintendent of schools, appealed to the State Police and the Sheriff's department today (Thursday) for aid in lessening the number of violations of the law forbidding auto drivers passing school buses while loading and unloading children.

"There seems to be an epidemic of these violations in certain areas, particularly along the river highway and on certain Beaver Creek roads," Turner said. "We've had two narrow escapes by children near Betsy Layne. It is a situation that cannot be tolerated."

The Pikeville office of State Police and Hershell Warrens' office here have assured Turner they will do all in their power to apprehend offenders.

AREA LEADERS FORM COUNCIL IN MEET HERE

Organization Is Designed For United Work Toward Drawing Tourists to Area

Groundwork for a regional agency to promote tourist travel development was done at a meeting of area leaders held here Monday.

The development project was tentatively dubbed "Project 60," and in its temporary form the agency is known as the Eastern Kentucky Tourist Industries Council.

Mayor Bill Napier, of Prestonsburg, was named temporary chairman of the Council which will elect permanent officers at its Dec. 14 meeting at Hazard.

A similar organization already had been effected in the Pineville area to promote Levi Jackson State Park, but the Pineville organization announced it was ready to throw in with the regional group.

Purpose of the regional council, it was explained by John D. Whisman, executive secretary of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission, would be to work in two directions—out to the people, to muster active public support of the program of tourist-attraction development; and, in the other direction, to point out to the proper state authorities what the region needs to achieve its tourist aims.

The meeting, which was held at LaDale Restaurant, preceded by a day the meeting held here at the First Methodist Church of members of the Regional Planning Commission. Among the almost 100 business and professional men from several counties of this section were three members of the commission—R. H. Worden, Pikeville, S. C. Van Curon, Harlan, Lewis Ware, Ashland.

Making an unexpected appearance at the meeting, Governor-elect Bert T. Combs, who has big plans for the park system in Kentucky. He extolled the romance and tradition of the mountain region and pointed to the historical and well as the scenic points of attraction.

The tourist program, he said, "can do more for the people of Kentucky at less expense than anything I know."

Kentucky needs to promote and advertise its system of state parks, Combs declared. Virginia and North Carolina, he said, have excellent setups for the purpose, "but we can do as good or better in Kentucky because we have more to advertise."

He said he would work closely with the Governor of Virginia in the development of Breaks Interstate park, which straddles the Kentucky-Virginia border, "and I intend to prod him along just a little bit."

Kentucky, he said, can afford to spend money to improve its (See Story No. 5, Page 8)

FORD FIRM LOW BIDDER

On Dewey Lake Road; Highway Is Envisioned As Most Scenic Route

Low bidder on construction of 1,200 miles of the Dewey Lake road from Hager Gap to the vicinity of Camp Chatterawha, on Goble Branch, is the Winston Ford Construction Company, of Prestonsburg.

Ford's bid for grade, drain and Class I surfacing of that sector of road was $131,374.01. A contract on the project had not been formally awarded as of Wednesday afternoon.

The Hager Gap-Goble Branch portion of the route is a part of an overall plan for a lakeside scenic highway extending all the way from Dewey Dam to the boat dock, near Lancer.

The Ford company has completed surfacing of the part of the road extending from the boat dock to the Stratton Branch recreation area. Ford became the contractor after the Elam Construction Company, original successful bidder on the project, failed to complete the job. Only installation of guardposts and other minor work remain to be done.

When completed, the lakeside highway will be perhaps Kentucky's most scenic route.

The Department of Highways this week called for bids on grade, drain and bituminous surfacing for 1.25 miles of the McDowell-Frazier Creek road, beginning at McDowell.

FORMER U.S. ATTORNEY PASSES AT HOME HERE

Claude P. Stephens, former United States attorney for the Eastern district of Kentucky and for 40 years a public official, died at his home, Garfield Place, here last Friday night at the age of 69.

Although he had been in failing health as a result of a heart condition for some time, his death came as a shock to friends here and over a wide section of Kentucky. He had transacted business uptown during the day Friday, later in the afternoon suffering a mild attack. Stricken again after fears concerning his condition had been allayed, he died about 9 p.m.

Because of the heart condition Mr. Stephens had limited his private law practise since retiring as U. S. attorney in 1954. His public career began with his appointment as County Attorney of this county in 1914 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Lee Roberts. He held that post four years and was said to have been the youngest lawyer to occupy that office in Kentucky at the time. He was elected Commonwealth's Attorney of the old 31st judicial district, composed of Floyd and Knott counties, serving from 1921 through 1933 when he was appointed assistant U. S. attorney. He became U. S. attorney in 1944, holding that position 10 years.

Born at Allen, Nov. 30, 1890, he was the eldest of the children of the late Albert Stephens, himself a former Commonwealth's Attorney from this district, and Mrs. Anna Clark Stephens, who survives. His father died when he was 16. (See Story No. 3, Page 3)

Martin Pastor Issues
Invitation To Study;
Bookmarks Distributed

An invitation to "join the world's largest Bible reading class" was issued this week by the Rev. Guy M. Deane, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist church, Martin. This great program includes Christians across the globe who will join in the 16th annual Worldwide Bible Reading program, sponsored by the American Bible Society, he added.

Members of his congregation, the Rev. Deane stated, are circulating lists of Scripture selections, in bookmark form, to be read daily from Thanksgiving through Christmas. Over 60 million copies of the Worldwide Bible Reading bookmarks have been distributed all over the world, and one of the primary values of this inspirational effort is that every year it introduces the Bible to new thousands who never before have read it.

Began in 1943 by the request of an unknown marine on Guadalcanal for a Bible-reading fellowship with his family in this country, the worldwide effort has had the significance of joining Christ of various nationalities and races in reading the same Bible text.

Other churches in this community will also distribute the bookmarks, and they will be available too through local libraries, stores, etc., the Rev. Deane stated.

Radio and television stations will announce the daily readings. Over 1500 newspapers ran stories about Worldwide Bible Reading or printed the selections last year. This program is sponsored by a distinguished committee of laymen, headed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Other members are Glenn Cunningham, Faith Baldwin, Dale Evans, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., Brooks Hays, Helen Keller, Robert G. LeTourneau, Bob Mathias, Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, Roy Rogers, Lowell Thomas, Harry S. Truman, and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

BETSY LAYNE

The Betsy Layne W.S. regular monthly meeting of the Methodist church Thursday, Nov. 19, 1959, was presided over by Mrs. R. E. Williamson, vice-president. The program, "Social Creeds and Moving Populations," was presented by Mrs. Edward Lykins. During the business meeting Mr. Lykins accepted the secretary of promotion position. Mrs. James George volunteered to be responsible for getting and mailing cards to sick members.

A community choir met at the Free Will Baptist church Sunday afternoon to rehearse for the community Thanksgiving service to be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 23, at the Free Will Baptist church, with Mt. Zion Mission as the host church.
Mr. and Mrs. James Williamson and family, of Bell, W. Va., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Williamson over the week-end.
Eddie Lykins, a student at Sue Bennett College, London, visited with his family the past week-end.
Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Davis accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Gene Davis to Charleston, W. Va., last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis, who are the parents of a new son, Mrs. E. P. Davis will remain for a short visit.

A birthday party honoring Lila Lee Layne was given Saturday evening by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Layne. Many young friends attended, and the honoree was the recipient of many useful and attractive gifts.
A Fellowship supper was enjoyed in the basement of the Methodist church, Nov. 7, by the pastor, Rev. Elswick, the church families and visitors. A special Christmas program will be a part of the December supper, the first Saturday evening of December at 6 p.m., at which time gifts will be brought for the orphanage.

Mrs. Dockie George received word Saturday that her brother, Dr. Peter Loar, Silverton, Oregon, is seriously ill.
Friends of Mrs. Eliza Blackburn will be pleased to know that she is convalescing nicely at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, W. Va., after major surgery. She hopes to return home within the next week or ten days.

Mrs. Myrtle Howes visited her mother and sisters in Huntington, W. Va., over the week-end. Mrs. Georgia Wallace accompanied her to Paintsville where she visited with relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. John Slater, Cannonburg, Pa., visited Mrs. Slater's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Crum, during the week. While here they attended the opening basketball game of the Bob Cats.
Mr. and Mrs. Orvie Brooks, Home Creek, Va., have moved to their home here. The community welcomes them back after many years' absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Conn, Boston, Mass., recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Branham, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Branham, Jr., were in Louisville this week on a business and pleasure trip.
The Betsy Layne Homemakers Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Jesse Elliott. The project lesson, "Party Foods," was presented by Mrs. Glenn Blackburn and Mrs. Edward Lykins. The refreshments were prepared and served at the meeting. The next meeting will be held in the basement of the Methodist church, Nov. 24, with Mrs. A. D. Snyder as hostess. The lesson will be on gift wrapping. All members are urged to attend and bring a guest.

Mrs. Beatrice Francisco, of Johns Creek, visited her cousin, Mrs. James George, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Billie Osborne attended E.K.E.A. in Ashland, Friday, and also visited her mother at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington.

MEASLES
Measles is such a common childhood disease that most people do not realize it can be dangerous, says the Kentucky Department of Health. Yet in Kentucky in 1958, 21 deaths were attributed to measles from 20,043 cases reported, adds the agency.

McDowell Band Boosters Set Goal At $3,500

Plans for a campaign to completely equip the McDowell high school band with new uniforms were proposed and accepted by the McDowell band boosters at their first official meeting of the current year, Monday.

After a price demonstration of what new uniforms would cost by the music teacher, Mrs. Adrian Hall, the monetary goal was set at $3,500. It was decided that with the help and support of the McDowell school, parents of the band members and friends in the community — this goal could be achieved.

Plans were made for a pre-Thanksgiving bake sale to be held at Foster Stumbo's Grocery on Nov. 25, from 10 a.m. till 2 p.m. Arrangements were also made to buy attractive Christmas cards for the members to sell. They will be available for purchase by Nov. 25. Mrs. Hall announced that a band concert will be given in the school auditorium on Dec. 1, with a Band Boosters meeting immediately following.

Business meetings will be held on the 2nd and 4th Mondays of each month at 6:30 p.m., in the band music room. Anyone who is interested in the McDowell band is welcome and urged to attend.

New officers elected were: Mesdames Edward Turner, president; Buster Turner, vice-president; Paul E. Patton, secretary; Edgar Jones, treasurer; Goble Tackett, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Floyd County's IFYE Delegates Returning Home

Kentucky's 1959 IFYE delegate will be returning home to Eastern, this week after spending four months in Ireland and Northern Ireland.

Reba Joyce Salyers, a former Floyd county 4-H Club member, lived and worked with farm families during her stay there. She graduated from Berea College with a degree in home economics just before leaving for Ireland in June.

Along with 31 other IFYE's from 22 states, Reba arrived in New York City November 10. These young people have been living in 14 European countries as International Farm Youth Exchange delegates. They spent Nov. 12-15 at the National 4-H Club Center in Washington, D. C., where they evaluated their program.

During 1959, a total of 93 rural young people have lived in rural homes in more than 40 countries throughout the free world. In return, 108 exchanges from these countries have come to the United States to experience the American way of life. The exchanges are conducted in the United States by the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Club Foundation.

As a people to people program, the International Farm Youth Exchange is financed by voluntary contributions of 4-H Clubs, civic and rural groups, business concerns, individuals, foundations and others interested in world understanding.

After returning home, each IFYE delegate will spend several months reporting his or her experiences and telling about the country visited. Groups interested in having an IFYE delegate tell about his trip should contact the 4-H Club Department, University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service, Lexington. Former IFYE's, as well as this year's delegates, are available to give talks in some parts of Kentucky.

AT SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET

Two Floyd women have traveled all the way to Columbus, Ohio, for the 14th annual Sunday School Convention being held there in beautiful 4,000-seat Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Those in attendance are Miss Barbara Wynsma and Miss Lois Holmquist, of Eastern. Convening on Wednesday evening Nov. 11, the more than 60 Christian Education experts from United States and Canada presented 110 workshops and institutes covering every phase of Sunday School operation; supplies and equipment teaching help, visual aids and youth program helps.

FERTILIZER LAWSNS

During November, lawns should be fertilized. Most homeowners forget their lawn when the grass stops growing. Attention now will help control crab grass. Bluegrass will grow some through the winter, crabgrass is never dead. Fertilizer applied now will strengthen the bluegrass stand.

An application of 15 pounds of 5,10,10, 4,12,8, or 6,12,12 fertilizer per 1,000 square feet of lawn, will be sufficient for most lawns. Another application of the same amount should be applied in March. By sowing good seed often and fertilizing at the proper time, crabgrass can be controlled.

William Ray Campbell, Former Koppers Foreman Dies At Martin Hospital

William Ray Campbell, 59, former federal mine inspector and general foreman at Weeksbury for the Koppers Coal Co., died at 2 a.m., Tuesday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, after an eight-day illness. A cerebral hemorrhage was given as the cause of death.

A resident of Weeksbury the last 30 years, Mr. Campbell at the time of his last illness was safety director for the Underwriters Safety & Claims Co., a position he had held since 1951. He also was a past president of the Big Sandy Coal Mining Institute, a past master of Wheelwright Masonic lodge and was a member of El Hasa Temple, Ashland.

A son of Joseph M. and Lora Susan Burton Campbell, he was a native of Indian Mountain, Tennessee. He was a member of the Missionary Baptist church. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Janella Campbell, one son, Charles Ray, and a daughter, Miss Mary Sue Campbell, both of Weeksbury; five brothers, Paul, James, Samuel, George and Joe Campbell, all of Vico, and one sister, Mrs. Hannah Combs, Rock Ledge, Florida.

The funeral was conducted this afternoon (Thursday) from Community church, Wheelwright, by the Revs. James Kirk and H. M. Wiley. Burial was made in Johnson Memorial Park, near Pikeville, under direction of the Call Funeral Home.

Active pallbearers were Kenneth Moore, Kermit Clark, Arthur Reynolds, Elmer Womett, Bill Martin, Frank Falls, Ira Frazier, Jesse Dale, L. B. Jesse.

Mr. Stephens attended schools of the county, including the old Eastern Kentucky Normal College here from which he received the bachelor of law degree. In 1906 he received the bachelor of science degree from the East Texas Normal College, Commerce, Texas, which was founded by his kinsman, the late Bee Mayo.

He was married Jan. 5, 1918, to Miss Bess Leete, daughter of the late Dr. Ralph Herman Leete and Maggie Fitzpatrick Leete. He and his wife lived at the old Garfield Place, so-called because it was the Civil War headquarters of General James A. Garfield during the campaign which culminated in the battle of Middle Creek.

Mr. Stephens was a deacon in Irene Cole Memorial Baptist church here and was a Scottish Rite Mason.

Besides his mother and widow, he is survived by four sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Alex L. Davidson, Mrs. Blaine Smith and Mrs. J. W. Howard, all of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Cora S. McHone, Wheelwright, Lindsay Stephens, Denver, Colo., and Lewis Stephens, Ashland.

The funeral was conducted at 2 p.m., Monday from the residence, the Revs. Ira McMullen, Jr., Harold W. Dorsey and M. Robert Regan officiating. Burial was made in the Mayo cemetery here under direction of the Moore Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were members of the Floyd County Bar Association.

INSTITUTE MEETS WERE POPULAR GATHERINGS FOR EDUCATORS

Tachers Institutes were highly popular with educators of decades ago. These meets were usually held at the county seat although many were held in larger towns in the county. The meets were for a whole week and prominent educators were listed as speakers.

Rev. D. M. Allen, of Hueysville, was county superintendent of schools in Floyd county, 1897 to 1901, and shown here is an institute meeting held at the courthouse during his tenure of office. Allen, Prof. Walter Byington and Prof. George Clark are pictured sitting in front at the right.

The First National Bank presents these old pictures in recognition of a rich historical heritage and salutes the educators of yesteryear who served long and well.

Local Churchwomen Plan for Coming Year; Urge Clean Literature

The Better Literature committee of the Local Council of Church Women met in the sanctuary of the Church of God last Thursday to make plans for the coming year. Mrs. Ben Fraley, Jr., conducted the business session. The group decided to formulate a letter of thanks for past cooperation and a plea for continued help in keeping undesirable literature, from local news stands. Copies of this letter are to be mailed to news stands, ministers of local churches, The Floyd County Times and the local radio stations. It was also decided to contact Robert Wallace, regional librarian, and pledge the help of the committee in promoting good literature. Two members of the committee were appointed to visit local news stands and assist owners in determining what is desirable literature. Those present were Mrs. Ben Fraley, Jr., Mrs. Garnet Fairchild, Mrs. Lois George, Mrs. Jean Burke, Mrs. Maria Hill and Mrs. Phyllis Ranier.

Facts Worth Considering

Two statements made at the meeting here this week at which the Eastern Kentucky Tourist Council was formed deserve consideration.

One was made by John D. Whisman, executive secretary of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission; the other, by Governor-elect Bert Combs. Let us consider them in the order in which they were made.

Mr. Whisman pointed out that an all-out advertising program to bring tourists to Eastern Kentucky now would ruin the area as a tourist attraction for twenty years.

Although the truth of that statement may be obvious to many now, certainly it has not always been. Many have assumed that all Eastern Kentucky needs is to let the rest of the world know of its natural scenic beauties and the windfall of tourist dollars would start raining down.

But, as Mr. Whisman so correctly points out, first of all this area of Kentucky, for all its natural beauty, must develop what it has, prepare facilities for the entertainment of visitors and be prepared to give them something beyond a mere feast for the eyes which cannot be expected to hold the traveller long in one spot.

During the last two years Kentucky's Department of Conservation has advertised Dewey Lake in national magazines as a fishing paradise and, by associating it with Kentucky Lake and other centers where tourist facilities have been developed, has inferred that a well-rounded program for the entertainment of the visitor to Dewey Lake has been carried out. We perhaps would have felt "sighted," had not our own Dewey Lake been mentioned in these advertisements as a major Kentucky lake, but the fact of the matter is, it was no more ready for an influx of tourists than a private home is ready for a political convention.

Visitors from a wide section of the country have come to Dewey Lake, as a result. And, as a sad consequence, they have left, disappointed, and bearing the word back to their friends and all others who will listen to stay away from Dewey.

This beautiful impoundment will require years to live down the damage already wrought by premature advertising. And the Eastern Kentucky story, as Mr. Whisman says, will be the same if the area is not developed first and made ready to appear "as advertised."

Governor-elect Combs' statement that deserves particular attention was his reference to the history, romance and tradition of the area. Therein lie assets which will enable Eastern Kentucky to best almost any competition in this highly competitive business called tourism. But to capitalize on these to the fullest many of our people will find it necessary to be less sensitive and to let the stranger see the mountains of other generations as well as of the present.

We do not suggest that any of us accept the onus of being a moonshiner or a feudist or a character out of a Webb's "Mountain Boys" cartoon, but we will have to restore much of what we have lost if we are to captivate the visitor with the olden romance and tradition of the Kentucky mountains. Let them see us at our modern best, yes—but let's not be so thin-skinned or hypersensitive that mention or sight of a log cabin, mule and sled, loom or feudist's rifle will send us wailing that a proud people have been insulted.

And, please, let us not forget that one of the charms of our section is the native friendliness of the people. Let us be on our good behavior, and let us teach our children that one discourteous remark to a stranger will cause the insulted one more quickly to forget the picturesque mountains and the air of romance that pervades the land more quickly than any other one circumstance.

LOWER TAXES TO CREATE 20 MILLION JOBS BY 1975

A lowering of income taxes and changes in the capital-gains tax are urged by a financial expert to keep our present 67 million workers employed and to find 20 million additional jobs for Americans who will be added to the labor force in the next 16 years.

Roswell Magill, former Under Secretary of the Treasury and now President of the Tax Foundation, outlines these proposals in a November Readers Digest article, "Needed: Lower Taxes to Create 20 Million New Jobs," as they will be presented to House Ways and Means Committee hearings in November.

Magill says it takes about $14,000 in new capital to create one new job in industry and that tax changes to encourage rather than discourage the starting of new enterprises are needed. He points out that the peak 91 percent in the present income tax schedule is the "highest personal-income-tax rate known in the world."

"The government can stimulate economic growth," he writes, "by adopting a tax system that leaves private investors with enough savings and enough encouragement to promote vigorous private enterprise."

All rates should be reduced. Setting the range of rates at 16 to 64 percent would be a great improvement over the present span of 20 to 91 percent.

"We know that such a cut in tax rates would encourage economic expansion, for it has done so whenever it has been tried in the past... A reduction in rates also would produce more revenue for the Treasury. Business expansion automatically increases the government tax take."

Magill also urges revision of the capita-gains tax, perhaps applying to the sale of investments the same treatment now applied to sales of residences—to the extent that the proceeds are reinvested, no taxable gain is recognized. "Thus new investments would be made possible," he explains, "and new jobs would result."

OHIO RIVER DAMS

Three dams being constructed by the federal government to improve navigation on the Ohio River also will improve fishing and waterfowl hunting in Kentucky, says the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

TIME Magazine's Political Page Features Combs' Kentucky Victory

Kentucky's gubernatorial election was featured in last week's TIME Magazine, which has released to this newspaper for publication its Kentucky election story.

The TIME story, under the heading, "Kentucky Earthquake," follows:

In last week's election of top state officers, Kentucky Democrats crushed the Republicans under a mountain-sized landslide that shot tremors through the remaining GOP provinces in the farm belt.

Elected Kentucky's Governor by an all-time-record majority (515,299 to 325,404): Bert Thomas Combs, 48, wiry (5 ft. 10 in.), handsome ex-judge from the mountain-valley town of Prestonsburg (pop. 3,585, altitude 645 ft.). Combs exploited a year of falling farm income by attacking his opponent, G.O.P. ex-Congressman (1952-58) John M. Robison, Jr., for pro-Benson votes while in the House—and never missed a chance to mispronounce Robison's name "Ro-Benson." Combs' running mate for Lieutenant-Governor, onetime Louisville Mayor Wilson Watkins Wyatt, 53, one of the founders of the left-wing Americans for Democratic Action, and Adlai Stevenson's 1952 campaign manager, piled an even bigger majority (498,278 to 308,622) upon Ballard Singer Pleaz Mobley, a G.O.P. candidate with songs aplenty but little political appeal.

Another noise drowned in the landslide's rumble: two-time Democratic Governor Albert Benjamin Chandler, 61, sometime U.S. Senator and unlamented baseball high commissioner (1945-51). Barred by law from succeeding himself as Governor, "Happy" Chandler tried in the May primary to win the nomination for a handpicked successor. He failed against a Combs campaign expertly engineered by ex-Senator (1950-56) Earle C. Clements, 63, bitter factional foe of Chandler for a quarter-century (Time, May 25). Only a Republican victory in the election could have restored Democrat Chandler's slipping grip on state political power, perhaps let him pick delegates to the 1960 Democratic National Convention and thus renew his one-man 1956 campaign for the presidential nomination. So Chandler did his bombastic best to defeat his own party, blasted Combs only a few days before election day as "the biggest liar I've seen in 30 years in politics... a poor little dunce who will have to let Clements run him."

Cold-eyed Earle Clements, again the strongman in Kentucky politics, and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson's handymen on the national scene, won the power to pick Johnson-for-President delegates for most of the state's 31 convention votes. If Texan Johnson's bandwagon bogs down, Clements' men are convinced that they will be swung over to Missouri's Stuart Symington. But such plans may run into intraparty fire from Lieutenant-Governor Wilson Wyatt, who may wind up fighting for a chance to split off some of the votes for Old Friend Stevenson.

As the Johnson-chosen director of the Democrats' senatorial campaign committee, Clements moved last week to label the party victory in Kentucky "the beginning of what is going to happen in the United States in 1960."

Stamp Issue Will Honor Dr. McDowell

One hundred and twenty million U. S. postage stamps will be issued at Danville, Dec. 3, to honor Dr. Ephraim McDowell during the 150th anniversary of the first successful abdominal operation.

McDowell's apothecary at Danville, now restored as a shrine, will be the scene of the stamp-issuing ceremony. The shop, first apothecary west of the Allegheny Mountains, was built in 1782. McDowell's father, Samuel, was a judge of the first Kentucky court in 1783 and president of the convention that framed the state's first constitution.

In December, 1809, Dr. McDowell was called to treat Mrs. Jane Todd Crawford of Greensburg. He told her that he must perform a dangerous internal operation that he had never before performed. She made a painful 60-mile journey from her home to Danville by horseback.

She was placed on a long table and men held down her arms and legs with force. During the operation, Mrs. Crawford repeated the psalms, conscious of every move of doctor and assistants. Thus was performed the first successful ovariectomy, before discovery of the methods of anesthesia. Dr. McDowell reported, "In five days I visited her and found her engaged in making her bed."

The operation was not considered important by Dr. McDowell. But seven years later he was persuaded to publish an account of it. The report met with indifference, incredulity, even ridicule. Many years passed before he received recognition. He practiced medicine until his death, June 20, 1830.

HOMEMAKERS CLUB METS

The South Prestonsburg Homemakers Club met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Frances Burke. The devotional was given by Mrs. Norma Stepp. The lesson was on "Christmas Wrappings" and was given by Miss Frances Howland, home demonstration agent. Miss Howland showed a display of many Christmas packages, and the club learned several new and unusual ways of decorating Christmas packages. Plans were discussed for the Christmas party and the party will be at the home of Mrs. Eve May, December 21.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Frances Burke, to the following members: Mrs. Alice Williams, Mrs. Bertie May, Mrs. Virginia Senters, Mrs. Eve May, Mrs. Margie Robinson, Mrs. Pluma Stumbo, Mrs. Rebecca Derossett, Mrs. Grace Derossett, Mrs. Pearl Crum, Mrs. Ruth Hall, Mrs. Norma Stepp, Mrs. Ora Bussey, Mrs. Pat Graham, Mrs. Joan Boggs, Mrs. Barbara Wright and Miss Frances Howland.

WHEELWRIGHT

Mrs. Janie P. Harris and daughter, Anna Rae, of Portsmouth, O., were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram "Buddy" Couch were the week-end guests of Mr. Couch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maddin, of Amburgey, Ky.

Miss Geraldine Fain, of Columbus, O., is on an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fain.

Miss Mary C. Damron attended the Pikeville Concert Association program, Monday evening. The program consisted of classical and popular music presented by Bill Thompson, organist, of St. Petersburg, Florida.

E. M. Pace, Arthur Bradbury, Olney Collins, Delbert Davis, G. W. Lockin and W. A. Pack, all of the Inland Steel Company, attended the Kentucky Mining Institute meeting held in Lexington, November 12 and 13.

H. O. Zimmerman, manager of coal properties, Inland Steel Company, attended a meeting of the Kentucky Water Pollution Control Commission, of which he is a member, November 9 and 10. Mr. Zimmerman has been elected a member of the board of trustees of Pikeville College.

The Wheelwright Band participated in the band competition held at Paintsville, November 13. Mrs. Daniel Autore and Mrs. G. William Lockin and children were in Columbus, Ohio, visiting Mrs. Autore's mother and shopping last Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Anita Hall, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fain, is a patient in the McDowell hospital.

The Beaver Valley Kiwanians were guests of the Wheelwright high school Key Club, Monday. It was father-and-son and father and daughter night. The meal was prepared by the parents of the Key Club, with the proceeds going toward expenses to the Key Club convention in April.

Mrs. Roy Souleyrette had as her guests on November 11 Messdames N. D. Howard, Harry Sherman, W. E. Parker, Harry Martin, Earl Castle, Fred Hall, J. C. Wells, and Ellen Hornsby from the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club and Messdames Arthur Bradbury, H. O. Zimmerman, C. R. Tankersley, Elmer Smith, Robert Smith, and Alton Roy from Wheelwright. The women worked on the sawtooth quilt that Mrs. Souleyrette is making.

The Inland Foreman Club is sponsoring a turkey shoot Saturday, November 21, at 1 p.m. Shooting will be with rifles, shotguns, and twenty-two calibre pistols. The "shoot" will be held on the slate dump at Wheelwright.

The Wheelwright Woman's Club had its annual family night dinner, Saturday, at the high school cafeteria. It was a "pot-luck" dinner, and each member brought a covered dish.

Hostesses were Messdames R. L. Hall, Charles Hopkins, Charles Wilson, Oscar Smith, and Ronald Childers.

Miss Chloe Gifford, president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, designated this month Count Your Blessings Month. In keeping with this, Mrs. R. L. Hall, president, asked that the lights be turned out and that each person strike a match and think of one blessing that they had to be thankful for.

The next meeting will be on December 14 in the clubhouse. The program will be sponsored by the executive committee.

Joan and Wanda Obroff were here from Columbus, Ohio, visiting their mother, Mrs. Grace Obroff, last week-end. Joan has returned to Columbus.

The Wheelwright Woman's Club sponsored a card party last Friday night. Hostesses were Messdames Hubert Cantrell, chairwoman; John Rupe; C. R. Tankersley; Clayton Dickerson; and Miss Frances Petrey. Those attending the party played canasta, bridge, and pinocle. Prizes were given to those having the highest and lowest score in each game. After the prizes were awarded, the hostesses served pumpkin pie and coffee. Out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Crit Wells and Mrs. Ellen Hornsby from Wayland.

GRAY PARTICIPATES

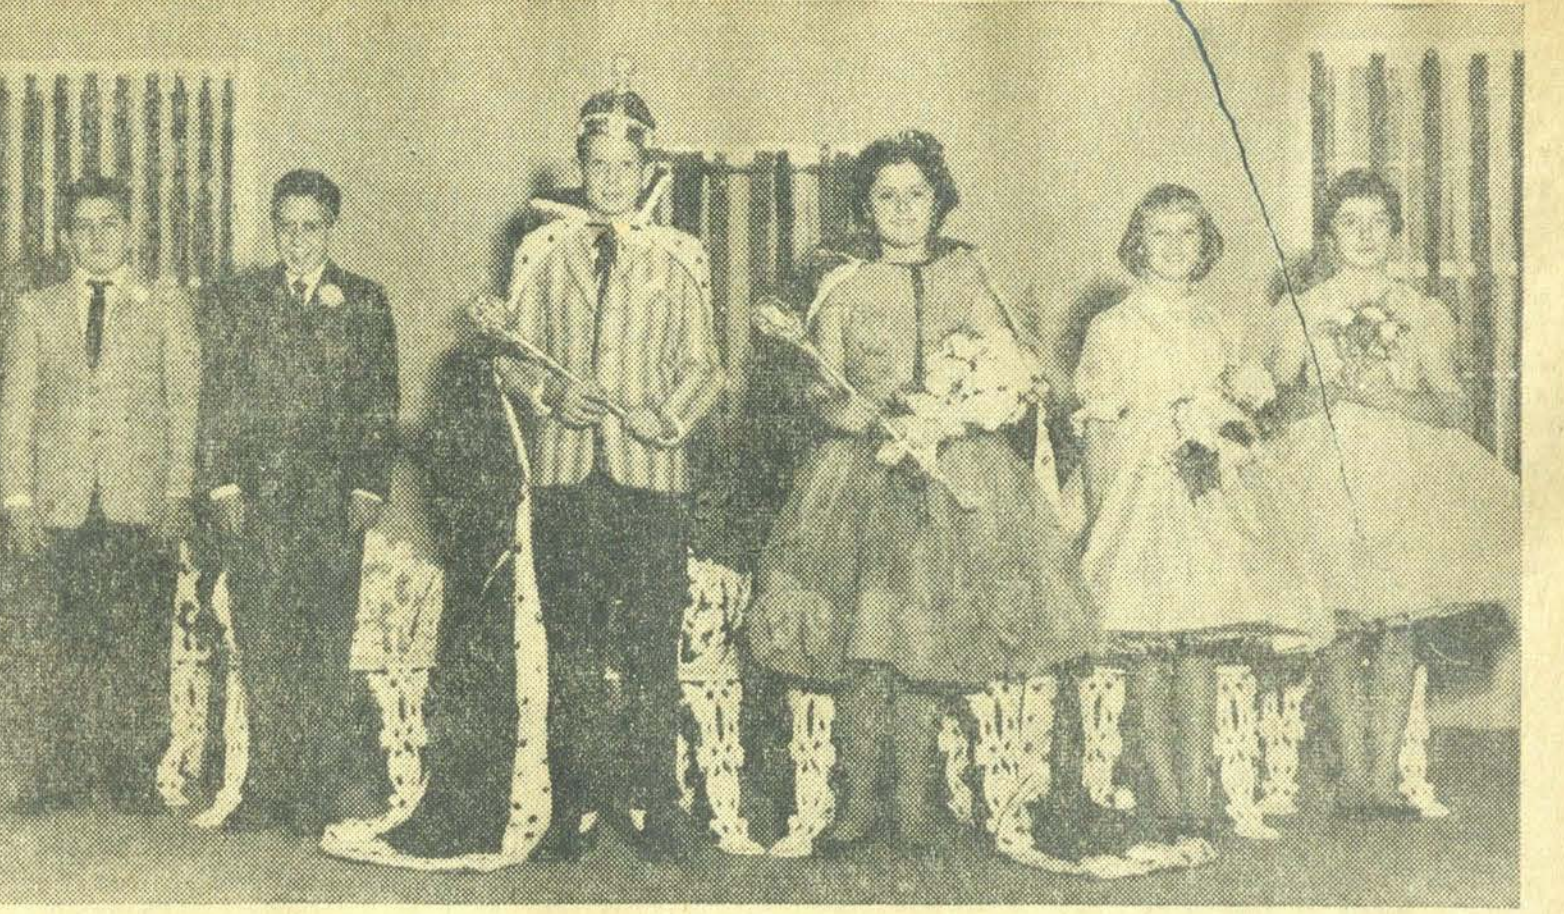

Grafenwohr, Germany — Army Pfc. Richard F. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray, of Wayland, Ky., participated with the 3rd Divisions 4th Infantry in a combat capabilities demonstration conducted before a gathering of NATO commanders and Army officers at the Grafenwohr Training Area in Germany.

The theme of the demonstration, which involved tanks and armored personnel carriers, was the modern concept of the helicopter-borne rifle company in the attack.

Gray, a team leader in the infantry's Company D, entered the Army last February, received basic training at Fort Benning, Ga., and arrived overseas last August.

The 19-year-old soldier attended Floyd County high school, Prestonsburg.

cent for education.

Speaking at the closing general session, Butler declared that veterans are not the only heroes in Kentucky. Teachers, he said have sacrificed by working for low salaries and are "patriots."

"What will it cost to improve education?" is the big question Butler said. "Our reply should be, 'What will it cost if we don't do it?'"

If Kentuckians don't pay for education, he said they will be paying for illiteracy and ignorance. "Kentucky must build upon a foundation of education."

Butler said that if the General Assembly meeting the first of the year doesn't grant immediate and substantial appropriations for education, "things will get worse."

Feeling ran high during the convention for more funds for education.

The Boyd Education Association proposed a resolution to inform the Legislature that the E. K. E. A. is in full support of the K. E. A.'s 11-point legislative program and "in support of it, is willing to walk out if necessary."

John C. Stringer, principal of Boyd county high, said the resolution did not mean the teachers would strike by leaving their classrooms, should the Legislature not act favorably on the legislative program.

The resolution was referred to the convention's resolutions committee, but was not acted on.

Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, urged cooperation with the legislative program. "I do hope we'll not go off half-cooked," he said, "I'm committed as strongly as you are to hold the individual's feet to the fire who said it can be done, but we must hold up their hands to help who said it can be done, but we them do it."

Dr. Doran was referring to the incoming state administration. He said nothing should be done before now and January that would jeopardize the position of teachers.

Other speakers included Representative Carl D. Perkins, Hindman Democrat, who said he was convinced the only way to solve the problems of qualified teacher supply is through the use of an equalization form of federal assistance to education.

Dr. Ruth A. Stout, past president of the National Education Association, called for federal support of education instead of federal aid.

J. Marvin Dodson, executive secretary of the Kentucky Education Association, said teachers are going to have to help sell the state on a source of revenue for education.

Dr. Hoffmann Urges Diabetes Examination

Every man, woman and child in Kentucky was urged this week by Robert J. Hoffmann, M.D., chairman of the Kentucky State Medical Association's Diabetes Committee, to take advantage of the free diabetes tests offered by physicians, hospitals and laboratories during National Diabetes Week, which begins Sunday.

The importance of early detection of diabetes was stressed by Governor A. B. Chandler who has proclaimed the period from Nov. 15-21 as Diabetes Week in Kentucky.

"An estimated 1,000,000 persons in this country and 15,000 in Kentucky alone have undiscovered diabetes," said Doctor Hoffmann, "and it is to find these people and to give them an opportunity to take advantage of available control measures that the K.S.M.A. has sponsored the Drive annually since 1951."

He emphasized the importance of being tested each year, since early detection can greatly simplify the problems of control of the disease.

"The unfortunate victims of the disease are those that are unaware they have it," he said, "because when caught early, very often the only precaution needed to insure a long life are control of weight and diet."

State Historical Society Has Shelby Items

Among Isaac Shelby items owned by the Kentucky Historical Society at the Old Capitol here are a portrait of the first governor, his razor, a British rifle that he captured in the American Revolution, a replica of a gold medal presented him by Congress, a peace pipe given him by the Chickasaws, and his gold watch.

The portrait by Matthew Jouett hangs in the Governor's Gallery in the senate chamber. Beneath Shelby's portrait is that of his wife, painted by P. Henry Davenport. A full length painting of Shelby hangs opposite the Gallery.

Shelby, governor in 1792-96 and 1812-16, was born in Maryland in 1750, the son of Evan Shelby, landowner, army officer and statesman. One of Isaac's prized possessions was the razor, first carried in the French and Indian War and later used by both father and son.

At 24, Lt. Shelby served with gallantry in his father's company at Point Pleasant. In the Revolution, he is best remembered for his leadership and heroism at King's Mountain. He carried away the British rifle, known as "Brown Bess," as a souvenir.

From 1783 to 1792 Shelby played a prominent role in the Virginia district of Kentucky and then helped frame the state's first constitution. After his first term as governor, he retired to "Traveler's Rest," near Danville. He was recalled to lead Kentucky in the War of 1812. For his role, he was presented a gold medal by Congress, a replica of which is in the Old State House.

Shelby and Gen. Andrew Jackson were commissioned in 1818 to negotiate the Jackson Purchase from the Indians and Shelby received the peace pipe from the Chickasaws.

He died in 1826 at Traveler's Rest, presently a state shrine. The society has Shelby's gold watch, inscribed shortly before he died: "I. Shelby, 12th Nov., 1824."

Many Eligible For Pensions Under New Law

Many new cases will become eligible for pensions on the effective date of the Veterans Pension Act of 1960, next July 1, the Veterans Administration estimates.

Seventy-four percent of the new cases will be widows and children of veterans made eligible by the widows equalization clause and 26 percent will be living veterans, widows and children made eligible by increase in income limitation, the VA added.

If you are one of these veterans, a widow, or the guardian of a child not now eligible for pension administered by the VA, but you believe you may become eligible after June 30, 1960, what should you do? The VA suggests you do nothing until after the first of the year.

If you wait until the early part of 1960, both you and the VA will benefit. The VA will avoid premature correspondence and interviews and after the first of the year you will be able to estimate better your income for the calendar year 1960.

Do not worry about a delay at this time, VA says. File application with the Veterans Administration within the first few months of 1960. This will allow ample time for processing by the July 1 effective date.

age to the ramp at $7,500 to $9,000. Several other nearby buildings were slightly damaged and two persons suffered minor cuts from flying glass.

New Telephone Directory Delivery Begins, Monday; Dialing Is Explained

Delivery of Prestonsburg's new telephone directory will begin Monday, November 30.

Byron Simpson, local manager for Southern Bell, said the job of getting a new telephone book to all Prestonsburg, Martin, Allen, Wayland, and McDowell subscribers will be completed before December 3.

The delivery of the directory was timed so that everyone will have a directory before all telephone numbers in these exchanges are changed to the new nationwide numbering plan.

The new numbering plan referred to as the 2-5 number plan goes into effect here on December 2. All telephone numbers will have an exchange name and five figures after that date.

Simpson said that it is important that subscribers do not use the new directory until after the change has taken place. He asked, however, that everyone consult the directory after December 2 since all numbers will have changed to conform with the new system.

"Before dialing any number refer to the telephone directory, thereby eliminating the possibility of dialing a wrong number or a number that does not exist," Simpson said. It will be necessary to dial only the first 2 letter on the office name plus the 5 figures. For example, T-U-6-1.2.3.4.

The office names are Prestonsburg, Tucker-6; Allen, Trojan-4; Martin, Butler-5; McDowell, Franklin-7; Wayland, Elgin-8.

Kentucky Lake Dock Is Leased By State; Terms Are Released

The State-owned boat dock at Kenlake Hotel on Kentucky Lake will be privately operated after next Tuesday.

The boat dock has been leased to J. W. Wilham & Company, Danville, for 12 years. Wilham is a former boat-dock operator at Herrington Lake.

Under the lease, Wilham will pay the State 12 per cent of the gross on boat and motor rentals and mooring services, 4 per cent of the gross on food concessions, and 1 1/2 per cent on gasoline and oil sales.

Last year, the boat dock grossed about $87,000. Hence the State could expect to receive at least $9,000 a year from Wilham.

Boats and motors owned by the State will be sold at auction next Monday.

The two other boat docks on Kentucky Lake have been privately operated for several years.

One at Kentucky Lake State Park—above Kentucky Dam—is operated by James Coakley. Coakley's contract began January 1, 1953, and will expire July 1, 1969.

Coakley pays the State a flat 12 per cent of gross income. Last fiscal year, that amounted to $5,855. He has no food concessions.

At Kentucky Dam Village State Park—below the dam—the boat dock has been under lease to Kentucky Dam Boat Basin Company since August, 1948, for 20 years. The company is owned by Price E. Lackey, W. Prewitt Lackey, and R. L. Myre, Paducah, and E. E. Cook, Smithland.

The company built the dock, and also pays the State 12 per cent of gross income on boat and motor rentals, 3 per cent of food sales, and 2 per cent from sale of motor fuels.

Robert Cleveland, deputy commissioner of conservation, said a big item in operation of boat docks is maintenance. Motors, for example, usually must be replaced about every three years.

Private operators furnish boats and motors, and maintain them.

JACKSON HONORED

State Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson has received the Kentucky Farm Bureau's award "for distinguished service to Kentucky agriculture." Jackson, a Shelby county farmer, won a certificate and a gold engraved wrist watch at the Farm Bureau's recent meeting at Louisville.

USE TIME'S WANT ADS FOR AMAZING RESULTS!

Wildflecken, German Army Specialist Four Everett Osley, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ousley, of David, Ky., is participating in a five-week large-scale field training exercise with the 3rd Armored Division in Wildflecken, Germany. The training is scheduled to end Nov. 20.

The maneuver, which involves air, armor, infantry and artillery units, is designed to test the combat readiness of the 3rd Armored Division, a major part of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

A mechanic in Company B of the division's 32nd Armor in Friedberg, Specialist Ousley entered the Army in February, 1958, and received basic training at Fort Hood, Texas. He arrived overseas in July, 1958.

Ousley attended Prestonsburg high school and was employed by the Pioneer Rubber Company, Willard, Ohio, before entering the Army.

Eastern Kentucky did not become attractive to pioneer settlers until the power of the Indians north of the Ohio River was broken at the Battle of Tippecanoe in 1811.

Three Floyd Brothers In Ohio School System

Three Floyd county brothers are employed in executive positions in the schools of one Ohio county. They are Walter, Jr., Eugene and Blaine Martin, sons of the late Walter Martin and Ellen Cox Martin, of Wayland, who are working in the Ross county school system, Chillicothe, Ohio.

Walter Martin is superintendent of the Buckskin Valley Township school. Eugene is principal of the Harrison Township school and Blaine is guidance director and supervisor of Ross county schools. Eugene Martin also is president of the Ross County Teachers' Association.

NEW WELDING METHODS STUDIED

Pete Jarvis, of the R. V. May Company, dealer for The Lincoln Electric Company, manufacturer of air welding equipment, has returned from Cleveland where he spent a week in an intensive training course to learn the latest welding developments with which to serve better the welding needs of this area. Mr. Jarvis cited new hardsurfacing materials as one new development of special interest. Machinery of all types, it is claimed, can be given a long service life by putting hardsurfacing weld metal at the right place at the right time.

Eastern State College Adds Ten New Teachers; List Includes Floyd Man

Richmond, Ky. Nov. 11 (Spl.) — The addition of two full-time and nine part-time instructors to the faculty of Eastern Kentucky State College was announced last week by Dr. W. F. O'Donnell, president.

The full-time members who joined the Eastern faculty are Dr. Darnell Salyer, a 1952 graduate of Eastern who received his Ph.D. at Ohio State University in 1955, joining the faculty as assistant professor of chemistry, and John S. MacKenzie, from New York City, as instructor of English.

Salyer, a native of Allen, Floyd county, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Salyer, served with Shorter College in Rome, Ga., for three years prior to coming to Eastern. MacKenzie received a B.A. degree from the University of Southern California in 1940, and an M.A. from Columbia University in 1955, and has two years of doctorate work at the University of North Carolina. Before coming to Eastern, he was an instructor at Clemson College, S. C.

Additional instructors who were added as part-time members to the faculty include Mrs. Louise Kendall McVaine in the English department; Gerald May, president of the Lincoln County Bank in Stanford, who teaches an evening commerce class; Mrs. Opal Ballou Patterson, previously a part-time instructor at Eastern, in the biology department; Dr. Roy B. Clark, retired head of the English department, teaching a Saturday English class; Henry Price, assistant principal at Mercer county high school, Harrodsburg, teacher of a Saturday psychology class; Mrs. Thelma Whitlock, a regular member of the science faculty at Model high school, Richmond, teaching an Education class; William S. Hart, graduate student, assisting two sections of psychology; Mrs. Sharon Brown McConnell, graduate of Eastern, assisting in the library; and John Ratliff, an Eastern graduate from Newport, assistant in the library.

Forestry Conference Scheduled At Lexington; McArdle Named Keynote

Richard E. McArdle, chief, US Forest Service, will be keynote speaker for the Kentucky Forest Fire Prevention Conference, Dec. 1-2 in Lexington.

McArdle's acceptance was announced by Gene Butcher, director, State Division of Forestry, at a recent planning session for the Conference.

A native of Kentucky, McArdle has been a career government forester for 35 years. He has served in the major forest regions of the United States and has been dean of the School of Forestry at the University of Idaho.

Butcher, who is program chairman for the December meeting, said other speakers would be Mrs. Ed Jackson, state conservation chairman, Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, Beattyville; Circuit Judge J. B. Johnson, Williamsburg; former State Senator Ray Moss, Pineville; Frank Heyward, Jr., director of public relations, Gaylord Container Corp., Bogalusa, La., and G. D. Dosker, president, Gambel Bros., Inc., Louisville.

Most of the speeches will be Dec. 1 and will develop topics on public relations, law enforcement, legislation, education and industry's role as they relate to the prevention of forest fires.

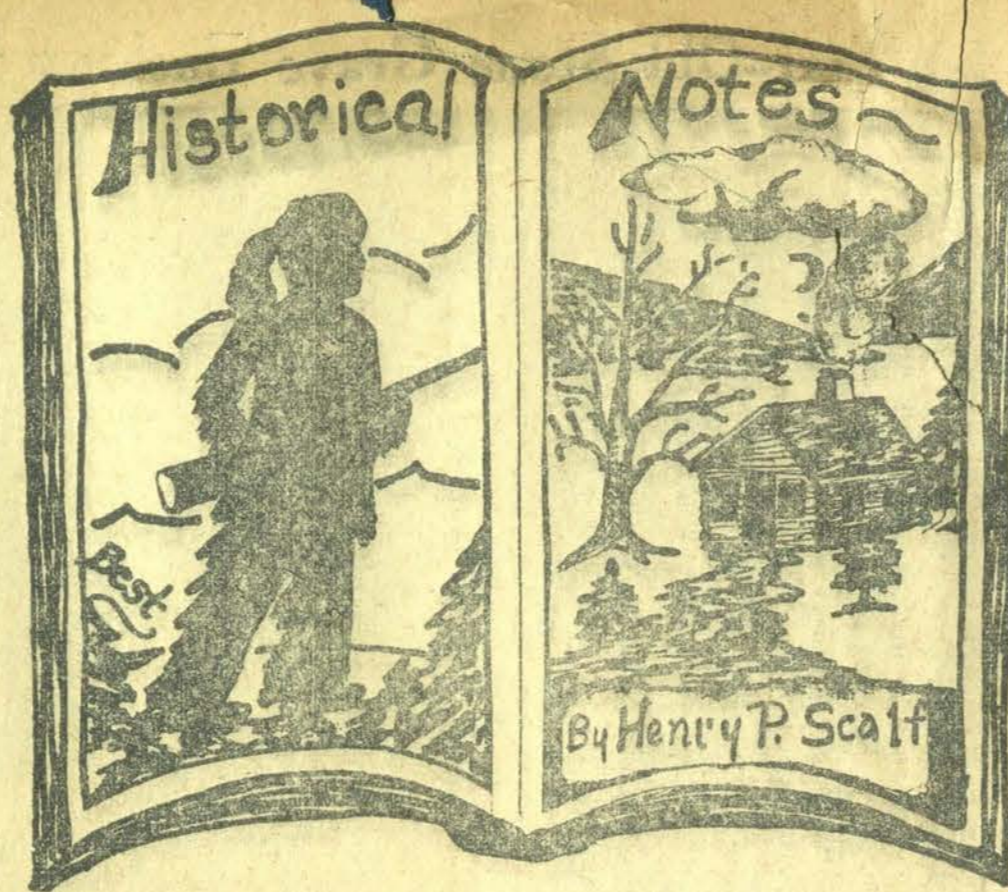

Workshops on the topics will be conducted Dec. 2 and the last item on the program will be a panel discussion in which the Conference recommendations will be compiled for distribution to every Kentuckian, Butcher said.

The Forest Fire Prevention Conference is the first statewide meeting designed to focus attention of every Kentuckian on his place in the prevention of forest fires, the greatest menace to our forest lands, Butcher said.

"Each session will be developed to appeal to the average citizen who must aid the professionals in protecting our forests. Door prizes and other entertainment will be planned and tickets for the University of Kentucky's first home basketball game will be available to persons attending the conference," he added.

T. C. Helm, chairman of the conference, said approximately 500 people are expected for the conference meeting. "I am sure every person who attends the conference will feel his time has been well spent. This conference is our first big step in placing our forest's full potential into the economy of Kentucky," he concluded.

Pork production this year is expected to be at its highest point since the World War II years of 1943-44. The increased output this year will be enough to provide each person in the nation with six more pounds of pork than last year.

BREATHITT FEUD DAYS

Marvin McIntyre, of Simpsonville, was for a long time confidential secretary to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He recounted many of his recollections of his early life in Kentucky to Kelly Kash, of Irvine, who was at one time Commonwealth's Attorney in Breathitt county. Kash met McIntyre in Washington.

Kash wrote an article, "Feud Days In Breathitt County," for the Oct. 1954 issue of the Filson Club Quarterly in which he relates an episode in the life of McIntyre. He was one of the state militiamen sent to Jackson to assist the courts during the Hargis-Cockrell feud troubles.

Mr. Kash wrote: "Among the State troops sent to Jackson was a young man from Shelby county, a slender, boyish fellow in his early twenties. I happened to make a slight acquaintance with him while there. He came to Washington some 30 years later and it was my good fortune to know him well, and to hear him recount episodes during his stay in Breathitt county. That young man was one of the important assistants to President Roosevelt, Col. Marvin McIntyre.

"I met Colonel McIntyre for lunch one day at the Mayflower hotel in Washington, in the early thirties. Two other friends were present, and I recall his first words at that meeting—this after 30 years: 'Kelly, do you remember Asberry Spicer?'"

"I most certainly did. He was wanted on a murder charge, as related by Marvin, and lived some 12 miles out in the county. The court directed Captain Longmire to take a posse and bring him in. Young McIntyre and one other trooper, and a guide, accompanied Captain Longmire on the adventure.

"They reached the Spicer cabin at the head of a small stream. The posse was deployed. Young McIntyre with a revolver was placed at the kitchen door, the other trooper at a window, the guide holding the horses, and Captain Longmire at the door.

"A knock on the door brought 'Whose there?' from the inside. The Captain answered that he had come with a posse to take Asberry to jail, and told him to come out. A match was struck inside, a kerosene lamp lighted, and a voice from the inside: 'All right, boys, I'll put on my clothes and be ready in a few minutes.' He told his wife to give him a shirt and a pair of socks and

"Sell Kentucky" Trip Plans Industry Selling

The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce "Industrial Team" will be in the metropolitan areas of the east coast starting Monday, November 16.

Major target areas will be New York City, Boston and several other points in the New England area. J. C. Zimmerman, Director of Industrial Development for the Kentucky Chamber, said that executives of approximately one hundred major corporations will be visited by the "Team" during the week.

Purpose of the trip is a continuation of efforts by the "Team" to promote and sell industry on locating their new plants in Kentucky. "This is not a new approach to the effort being made to interest industry in Kentucky," Zimmerman said. "Several trips are made each year to major industrial centers in this competition to attract new plants."

Companies who will have industrial representatives on the trip to the east coast include: Louisville Gas & Electric Company; Kentucky Utilities Company; Union Light, Heat & Power Company; Kentucky Power Company; Louisville & Nashville Railroad; Illinois Central Railroad; Texas Gas Transmission Corporation; Western Kentucky Gas Company; E. B. Kennedy Consulting Engineer; Department of Economic Development and Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

Planning and coordination of the trip is under the direction of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce. Companies participating in this chamber program will be prepared to furnish highly technical industrial development data to industrialists so that Kentucky may be properly evaluated as a state in which to locate and do business.

The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce feels that this trip is a primary step in attracting industry to Kentucky. Kentucky's cities, however, must be prepared to make the final sale when industry visits the state at a later date to select a city in which to locate.

that he would be back soon.

"He opened the door, shook hands with the Captain, and the troop detail started back to Jackson, young McIntyre riding behind Asberry. They reached the jail about daylight.

"He was later tried on a charge of murder, was convicted, broke jail pending an appeal to the Court of Appeals, escaped, and was never again apprehended.

"That," said the distinguished likeable and able Col. Marvin McIntyre, "was the most exciting experience of my life."

"I COME FROM THE MOUNTAINS"

The late John W. Flannagan, 18 years Congressman from the Ninth Virginia district, a delivery classic, addressed before the Appalachian Wildlife Conference in Asheville, Va., April 4, 1938. The Flannagan on Pointe-a-Pic, will be named the John Flannagan Dam for him. Congressman Flannagan's speech has been widely circulated and it is reprinted here for those who want to preserve a copy. Flannagan's speech is just as applicable to the mountains of Eastern Kentucky as to Southwest Virginia.

The speech follows: I come from the mountains where God's purity is revealed in every flower and His Majesty written upon every crag and peak.

I come from the mountains where rivers wind their way down narrow valleys studded with giant poplar and oak, and filled with the perfume of the rhododendron.

I come from the mountains where nature's carpet of bluegrass, fringed in the spring with the white of dogwood, in the summer with the pink of ivy, and in the fall with the colors of the cloak of Jacob of old, covers the earth, and export steers graze beside the crystal brooks and lambs gambol over hills as soft as velvet and as blue as the canopy of the heavens above.

I come from the mountains where the wonderful twilight lingers while old Sol, secreted behind the distant hills, flirts with Diana as if loath to let darkness fall upon a land so fair.

I come from the mountains where sham has been outlawed, hypocrisy by common consent excommunicated, and sterling worth and true ability stand for more than Norman blood.

I come from the mountains where the values of manhood and womanhood are not reckoned in terms of dollars, but are measured by the old fashioned standards of virtue and mortality.

I come from the mountains where "a man's a man for a' that," whether he travels the highway in a Packard car driven by a liveried chauffeur or ambles along with a step as firm as that of the MacGregor when his foot was upon the heather and his eye on the peak of Ben Lomond, dressed in a hickory shirt, a jump-jacket and overalls, with a peacock feather in his hat, ornate badges on his lapel, and a banjo under his arm, all dressed up and no place in particular to go.

I come from the mountains, where true emotions are expressed and polish and education have not dimmed in man that innate fondness for the melodies and ballads of the days of yore, and "Sourwood Mountain" and "Cumberland Gap" still bring joy to the heart and action to the feet, and are to this day proclaimed, without a blush or the semblance of shame, the musical classics of the hills.

I come from the mountains where hospitality, not lavish but simple, not ostentatious but genuine, is dispensed with all the charm that ever graced the home of the true Virginian.

I come from the mountains, where romance still lives and lovers on evenings warm walk arm in arm down shady nooks bedecked with the perennial verdure of the hills, and at nights sit beside restless streams and watch the moonbeams play on laughing water.

I come from the mountains where the purest Americans in America live, proud of their past and, despite the vicissitudes of life, hopeful and confident of the future.

I come from the mountains where lovers of a country dwell, praying for peace and the brotherhood of man, but ever ready to shoulder arms and march to the beat of the drum in defense of their country.

I come from the mountains where the present is not forgetful of the past, and the fundamental principles upon which this republic was founded are still cherished, taught around the fireside, and handed down by word of mouth from generation to generation as governmental principles to be preserved and held inviolate.

STATE HOSPITALS

Mental Health Commissioner H. L. McPheeters reports that Kentucky has cut the population of its mental hospitals by 800 patients in the last four years.

For best keeping and cooking quality, store potatoes at temperatures of 45-50 degrees. Higher temperatures are likely to cause sprouting and shriveling. Lower temperatures for even a week or two may cause potatoes to develop a sweet taste because some of the starch in them change to sugar.

Methodist Youth Group Conducts Revival; Lake Is Evangelistic Leader

The Big Sandy Methodist Youth Fellowship sub-district youth revival lasted four nights and one Sunday afternoon. It began Nov. 12, at Paintsville First Church with Charles Lake as evangelist; Pete Miller, soloist; and Rev. Larry Buskirk, song leader.

About 103 were present the first evening and the attendance increased steadily with each meeting. Monday night was the closing service of the youth revival and about 100 attended. About 10 young people were converted, and Monday evening more than 20 dedicated their lives to God and His work.

Charles Lake is originally from Ashland, Ky., and is now a sophomore at Asbury and pastor of Community Methodist church here. He has been very active in the evangelistic services in Eastern Kentucky, Ohio and held some services in a few other places. He is about 19 years old and is studying for the ministry.

Pete Miller, of Pensacola, Fla., who was the guest soloist, is also a sophomore at Asbury. This past summer he has been very active in his home state in holding evangelistic services as the evangelist or song leader. He is 18 years old and is studying for the ministry.

Rev. Larry Buskirk, the song leader in the youth revival, is from Louisiana, and is pastor of the Louisa Methodist church. He has been preaching for over 10 years and is youth director of the Ashland district MYF, of which this sub-district is a part.

88-Year-Old Stone Grave Enclosure

As late as the post-Civil War period many graves in Big Sandy valley were stone-enclosed. Craftsmen carved the rectangular or round stones from native sandstone and erected the enclosure as part of their trade. Most of the artificers built chimneys, many still surviving the ravages of time and change, as their chief work.

Origin of the custom of building a stone housing over graves is lost in history. It was practiced by the ancient Druids, early Romans, Northern European races and others following the dawn of history.

The custom died out in the Big Sandy Valley decades ago but many of the graves with protective stone coverings are still extant. The above picture is that of the stone-enclosed grave of Mrs. Artie Osborne Webb, wife of the late Jonathan Webb, at Eastern. It was built in 1871 and is still in good condition.

THE GOOSE-KILLERS

We don't have any names, have too few of the facts in this case, but we do know enough about it to relate that so-called sportsmen ran down with boats and otherwise killed all but a mere remnant of those wild geese the Department of Conservation had released on Dewey Lake as "live decoys" for the '59 hunting season. Remember: These geese were pinioned; they could not fly. Hunters and boaters had been asked not to harm them.

The pity of it is, there is nothing the law can do about it. These meat-hunters had hunting licenses and federal stamps, and they did not make the mistake of hunting after hours. The only hope the law has is to prove they exceeded the bag limit.

These are men whose names should be posted at the boat dock and other conspicuous points. Public opinion then would do them the full justice they deserve. May every fish and fowl they catch or kill now and forevermore taste like goose feathers!

WE OVERLOOKED FDR

Somehow, we got the idea that, since Bert Combs beat Herbert Hoover's Kentucky majority, his lead set a new record. Now we learn it has passed the 180,000 mark, and yet at the same time we are reminded that a fellow named Franklin D. Roosevelt still holds the record with a majority of 186,000 votes.

Will somebody please explain how we could overlook The Champ?

DUFF PARTICIPATES

Fort Eustis, Va. — Army Pfc. Harold E. Duff, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Duff, of Hippo, Ky., recently participated with the 159th Transportation Battalion's 1099th Company in an amphibious assault landing exercise near Manteo, N. C.

The exercise began when the troops landed and established a beachhead against simulated aggressor forces and then worked their way inland where they participated in an extensive field training exercise.

Duff is regularly assigned to the company at Fort Eustis, Va. He entered the Army in January, 1959, and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

The 20-year-old soldier attended Maytown high school, Langley.

ate parks and he hopes to see the passage of a revenue bond issue to finance the park system "so we can have real park development."

Combs said he intended to employ "the best man we can get in the United States to do this job—a man with imagination and determination."

"I need all the advice I can get on this subject," he added, "as it is something I am vitally interested in."

Development of the park system throughout the state, he said, would require four or five times the present financing.

Among those at the meeting were several newly elected state senators and representatives.

The conference Monday, on tourist promotion and development, was the last of a series sponsored by the commission, which included forestry, education, and agriculture, in seeking solutions to depressed area problems.

Whisman summarized a proposal for the organization of Kentucky's tourist-travel development, stressing the need for a regional agency to accomplish this purpose in Eastern Kentucky.

Within this state-wide program, he said, "it is essential that there be established also a regional tourist program. Such a program would allow the private-enterprise association to organize area groups."

Special promotional efforts, he continued, should be applied continuously to stimulate travel in Kentucky by Kentuckians.

Other speakers included Mayor Napier, who welcomed the visitors to Prestonsburg and introduced Combs; the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, of Prestonsburg, and Ed Gabbard, manager of Levi Jackson State Park.

Whisman, who presented the program and the proposed regional organization to the group, pointed out that tourist travel promotion must be recognized as Kentucky's major program and that such an undertaking must be administered by one agency of state government.

Whisman pointed out, however, that "an advertising program to bring people to Eastern Kentucky right now would destroy the area as a tourist center for 20 years." Development is first needed, then promotion, he explained. Whisman also pointed out that mere points of interest are not sufficient. Also needed, he said, are "things to do," particularly for young people.

District Woman's Group Holds Betsy Layne Meet

The Eastern Kentucky District Woman's Auxiliary convention was held at the Betsy Layne Free Will Baptist church, Monday of last week. Rev. Ray Smiley gave the welcome address. Response was made by Rev. Dalton Heath. Mrs. Emogene Burton presided at the business session.

The organization, its purpose to help churches support missions, will hold its next meeting at the Southside church in Paintsville. A large crowd attended the Betsy Layne meeting and churches from Ashland, Prestonsburg, Paintsville, Drift and Thealka were represented.

Refreshments were served in the church kitchen and dining area which was recently completed. Decorations had a Thanksgiving motif with autumn flowers.

just one of you. I look like you, think like you and, I'm sure, feel like you do. I want your support, your interest and your prayers for the next four years."

Combs added with a touch of dry humor, "You got me into this. Now you've got to help get me out."

In traditional mountain-style Kentucky hospitality, he invited everybody to the inauguration. "No engraved invitations will be sent out, but I want you all to come and see us. You are always welcome."

Combs promised, on the definite side, a highway to link this section with Central Kentucky, and even as he spoke engineers were planning the new route which has been hailed as the answer to one of this area's great needs. He also pledged his efforts to a greatly improved system of parks.

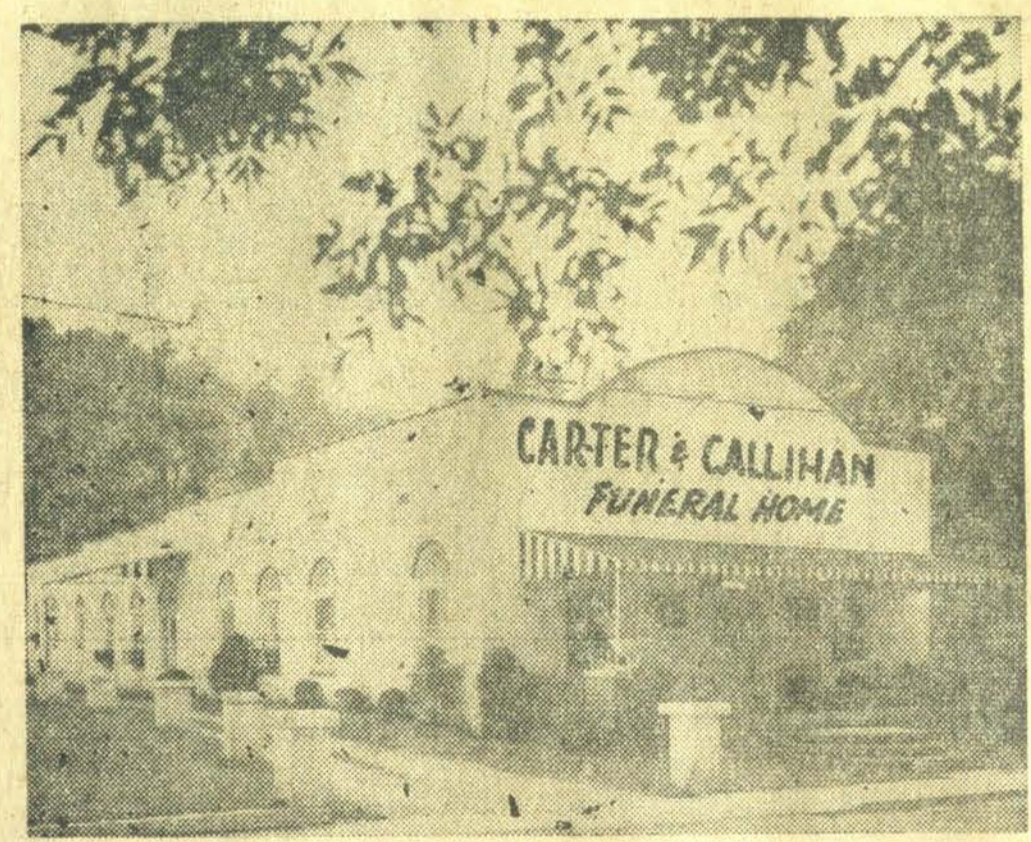

Mrs. Combs was presented by James J. Carter, on behalf of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad, a bouquet of flowers. She sat in the speakers' group with her husband, Mayor Bill Napier and two Prestonsburg ministers, Harold W. Dorsey and Ira McMillen, Jr. The Rev. McMillen, the Governor-elect's pastor at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist church, asked the invocation, and the Rev. Dorsey, pastor of the First Methodist church here, pronounced the benediction.

The three high school bands which played—those of Prestonsburg, Maytown and Meade Memorial—and the Prestonsburg Majorettes, a group of tiny tots and grade school girls, drew Combs' close interest. Boy Scouts formed the other group represented at the gathering.

Although the welcoming party had only brief billing, it drew many from surrounding counties.

Floyd Warrix Works and At Clear Creek Baptist School

Floyd Warrix, of Allen, is shown working on a pulpit at the Clear Creek church furniture factory at Pineville. He is a third year student at the Clear Creek Baptist School, working in the factory in the afternoon and attending classes each morning.

Thirty-three years ago the Rev. Lloyd C. Kelly, pastor of Pineville's First Baptist church, started a small summer school for mountain preachers. He dreamed of an institution that would offer "workshops" to students seeking a career in the ministry.

Recently alumni and friends of Clear Creek Baptist School dedicated the new church furniture factory at Pineville. It had been in the throes of birth and growth for 10 years, always afflicted with the anemia of financial embarrassment. Today 125 students are indebted to Clear Creek for an opportunity to work and study.

Rev. Dennis M. Aldridge, head of the institution since 1954, is ever aware of the need for money to keep his school going but there is the devotion, to his mission that sustains him. Too many Christian mountain leaders yearn for an education to fit them for service for them to be denied an opportunity.

WAYLAND

The Willing Workers Homemakers Club met for their November meeting in the home of Mrs. Buford Rollins, of Lackey. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, who read Psalms I and II and gave an interesting report on the first Thanksgiving. The lesson was on Gift Wrapping and Miss Frances Howland, home demonstration agent, gave the lesson and presented many novel and interesting ways of wrapping for different occasions. The December meeting will be in the home of Mrs. J. T. Spillman on Dec. 8, at 11 a.m. Each member is to bring something she has made to exchange for gifts. Luncheon was enjoyed by Mesdames M. M. Collins, J. T. Spillman, Carl Stewart, Tramble Turner, John Spradlin, Buford Rollins and Miss Howland.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Price and children spent last week-end in Cynthiana visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jacobs and children, of Galax, Va., spent the week-end visiting his father and sister, Leonard Jacobs and Mrs. Buford Blankenship.

Lawrence Allen Stewart, a student at Morehead State College, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stewart.

Mrs. Tramble Turner gave a luncheon recently in honor of Mrs. J. T. Spillman on her birthday. Covers were laid for Mrs. Ben Hall and Mrs. Allie Howard, of Allen, Mrs. Carl Stewart and the honoree, Mrs. Spillman.

Mrs. Gilbert Hobbs has returned to her home near St. Elmo, Tenn., after spending two weeks visiting her daughter, Mrs. Champ Gibson, of Eastern, and Mrs. Tramble Turner, of Wayland.

The Big Sandy Youth Rally of the Churches of Christ will meet at the Glo Church of Christ, Dec. 7, at 7 p.m. A good program is planned.

Gibson-Keplar Wedding Solemnized, Nov. 14th

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Lena Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave A. Gibson, of Wayland, Ky., and Mr. Otis L. Keplar, of Bucyrus, Ohio. The double-ring ceremony was performed at Wise, Va., Nov. 14. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Crowder and a nephew of the groom.

Kentucky has about 14,000 miles of running water in its 31 rivers and some 800 smaller streams.

Rheumatic Pain Gone In 8 Hours

"For years I had rheumatic pains in my shoulders, legs and ankles; when I walked I would flinch with agony, but recently I got RUGON and the pains began leaving my body in 8 hours. Now I am entirely free of pain and praise RUGON to the sky." This is a true, sincere testimonial. RUGON is helping so many victims of rheumatism and neuritis because this NEW Liquid Formula contains Three Wonderful Ingredients. Not a tablet or capsule. RUGON goes to the very source of pain almost at once and costs but a few cents a day to take. So don't go on suffering. Get RUGON at W. A. Rose Drug Co.

DAVID

The David Woman's Club last month sponsored an adult sewing class. The instructor was Mrs. Catherine Moore, home economics teacher at Prestonsburg high school. The course included selecting and using a pattern, buying material, learning to use a guide sheet, putting in a zipper and lining a skirt. Each member made a skirt. There were some nice skirts completed and are to be modeled at the club's next meeting.

The concluding meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ray Spears. Mrs. Moore announced a dress-making class will be held in February at Prestonsburg. She invited the class to take part.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Lillia Mae Price, Mary Capelli, Leona Wilson, Virginia Harmon, Jewel Tussey, Lois Marshall, Ruth Dahlin, Doris Spears, Alma Wells, Imogene Cole, Mabel Spears, Nova Bussey and instructor, Mrs. Moore.

The three forks of the Kentucky River come together at Beattyville to form the main stream.

There's nothing like a new car—and no new car like a Chevrolet. This is the 1960 Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Coupe!

PEOPLE SAY THESE ARE THE THINGS THEY WANT IN A CAR...and CHEVROLET for '60 comes closest to meeting every need!

Interviews with thousands of car owners across the country show clearly what they like or dislike about their present cars . . . and what they want most in their 1960 cars. Here's what the people tell us they want . . . and here's how Chevrolet meets their needs.

"Price, that's what's uppermost in my mind." All Impalas and Bel Airs with V8 engines are lower in price, as are automatic transmissions and many other popular options. Also Biscaynes now include as standard equipment conveniences formerly optional at extra cost.

Chevrolet. You've got big, sturdy brakes underfoot, for example, that last longer. As it has been for years, safety is standard equipment in Chevy.

1960 is no exception. But really, this kind of lightness and precision you've simply got to enjoy for yourself.

"And how about operating economy? And resale value?" You keep right on saving after you buy your favorite Chevrolet, too. And Chevrolet's traditionally higher resale value means you'll get more back when you trade.

"Let's keep upkeep down, too." More than ever, Chevrolet for 1960 is built to stay on the road and out of the repair shop. You can tell that from its hushed, unruffled way of going, from the solid thunk of Chevy's big doors. Of course, if you should need service, you're always near efficient, economical attention to your needs.

"... a car you can look at and be smug about buying it." Chevrolet for 1960 leaves the low-price field far behind when it comes to fashion. But you're the best judge of styling, so take a good close look at Chevrolet. We warn you: you're about to fall in love.

"Give me plenty of good old-fashioned comfort." There's comfort and then some in this one. Chevy's long on space, for one thing. Once you're under way you'll know just how comfortable Full Coil suspension makes your ride.

"I want a car that will stand up to the driving I do." For proof of Chevy's staying power, just spend a minute watching the nearest road. You'll see more Chevrolets traveling on it than any other car—evidence-on-wheels of Chevrolet durability. (And that higher resale value attests to it, too.)

"And performance. Let's have a hot one!" Chevy's spirited V8's have set the standard for ultra-efficient power in American-built passenger car engines. You've got a long list of performance-minded transmissions to pick from, too.

"Safety—don't forget safety!" You're surrounded by safety features in a new

Handling's always been Chevy's forte, and

So that, friends, is what you told us you want. We think it can be summed up rather well in just one word: value.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

The four-sport, ten-team Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference will hold its regular fall meeting in Pikeville at 1 p.m., Thursday.

Selection of the annual all-conference team will highlight the meeting and the football championship trophy will be awarded to Hazard and the runner-up to Whitesburg.

Confronting the group also will be the problem of basketball scheduling and the possibility of returning to a conference basketball tournament to select a champion. In the past four seasons, the loop has selected a champ on the basis of six games played in the circuit with the Dickinson system of rating as the final measuring stick.

M. C. Napier in winning six games and losing four enjoyed the best football season in its four-year grid history. In looking forward to next season Coach E. Orick has 22 of 30 lettermen returning next season.

Replacing halfback Jerry Brewer, who scored 145 points this season, and fullback Kidd Fugate will be the major problems facing Orick next season.

Hazard's Bulldogs, representing Region 4, Class "AA," will meet Highlands of Fort Thomas in that city Friday night in the semi-finals of the Class "AA" Kentucky high school football playoffs.

The final game between the Highlands-Hazard winner and the winners of Region 1-2 playoffs will be played in Lexington, next Friday.

Local conservation officials estimate that only six deer were killed on the Dewey Lake refuge during the archery season. They estimate that some 400 remain. Gun season does not open until Dec. 4, and runs through Dec. 6.

The new initiates are Gordon Ray Hopkins, Wheelwright; George T. Slaughter, Hardyville; George William Rose, St. Albans, W. Va.; William R. Harrington, Owensboro; Kenneth H. List, Jeffersontown; Leslie Adkins, Vine Grove; Jack Mellett, Lexington; Richard B. Watkins, Fort Thomas; William B. Fisher, Trenton, Tenn.; Reginald Bethel, Louisville; William E. Dunning, Eddyville; Robert Chesney, Monticello; Will K. Brown, Chicago, Ill.; Cho-Yen Ho, Kwangsi, China.

UK Med School Has 200 Applications

More than 200 persons have applied thus far for admission to the University of Kentucky's College of Medicine and applications are still coming in at the rate of about 20 per week.

Dr. Robert Straus, chairman of the department of behavioral science and head of the College's admissions committee, said thus far 15 applicants, all from Kentucky, have been formally recommended to the school. Other applications are pending.

Qualified Kentucky residents are being given preference in compliance with the College's policy, Dr. Straus added. However, some well-qualified out-of-state residents will be admitted to each class as a means of attracting additional physicians to Kentucky.

The first class will start work next fall.

AROUND FLOYD COUNTY

By Quentin Allen

A shorter but speedier team has succeeded the 1958 basketball version of the Martin Purple Flash.

Coach Denzil "Boss" Halbert, however, has little to moan about, since his charges have two of the county's most talented basketball players.

David Conley, lanky forward, is an established performer who played basketball for Wayland last year. When his family moved to Martin, Conley naturally followed and has brightened the basketball future of his new hometown. On one of his most recent outings, Conley had 34 points against Maytown.

Darryl Luxmore, 6-4 center, is not only an excellent ballhandler who leads Martin's fast break but also a fine rebounder and shot-maker.

Martin's difficulties, as coaches see it, is the team's lack of overall height. It averages, at the most, an even 6 feet, and that, today, is getting on the short side.

To compensate for the overall lack of height, the Martin mentor has adapted the "all court press." This is a dogged defense which harries offensive men the entire length of the court. It forces the opposition into fundamental errors of dribbling and passing.

The dangers of the "all court press" lie in the fact that, once solved by a team well-versed in the fundamentals, easy "gimme" baskets, crisp shots, are given. But devotees of the system, such as Pikeville's very successful John Bill Trivette, convert mediocre talent by this defense system into regional champs.

Starters on this year's team are Jes Hampton, guard and captain; Whitey Colline, guard; David Conley, forward; Rabon Wright, forward, and Darryl Luxmore, center. Managers of the team are Ernest Hughes, Larry Prazier, Jack Rice, David Skeans, Earl Thompson and Albert Lawson.

Cheerleaders are Sandy Click, Capt. Brenda Mayo, Sue McDavid, Lois Flannery, Mavis Flannery.

Martin's schedule:

- November —
- 6 Auxier, home.
- 7 Maytown, home
- 10 McDowell, away
- 21 Breathitt County, away
- 24 Mullins, home
- 27 Betsy Layne, away

- December —
- 1-5 Floyd Co. Tourn. - Wheelwright, Martin vs. Prestonsburg.
- 8 Salyersville, away
- 11 Double header at Wayland Garrett vs. Martin Wayland vs. Maytown
- 12 Wayland, home

Wayland Wasps Inflict Defeats On Opponents; Trusty Grabs 27 Points

The high-flying Wayland Wasps of Coach Eugene Frasure have dealt three stinging losses to early-season opponents, Van Lear, 83-40, Hindman, 54-52 and Garrett, 58-55.

Hindman was edged in an overtime period. Regular play ended with the game tied 48-48.

The charges of Coach Campbell's Garrett aspirants met the latest sting from the Wasps in a thriller, a 58-55 defeat which saw G. Trusty, Garrett center, connect for 27 points.

Three men scored in the double figures for Wayland, with M. Mullins, G. Hall and L. R. Fultez, finding offensive success. M. Mullins led the winning team with 16 points.

Overpayment To Vets Subject To Recovery

Overpayments of GI benefits are subject to recovery by the Government, Olney B. Owen, VA Regional Office Manager, said.

But veterans can prevent overpayments by promptly reporting changes in their income or dependency status, Owens pointed out.

"Overpayments made because the veteran furnished incomplete or inaccurate information," Owen said, "obligates VA to recover the money."

This often comes as a hardship to the veteran and his family." The Ex-GI's attending school or in job or farm training under the GI Bill should make sure the monthly certificate for VA is accurately and completely filled out before they sign it. Special attention should be given to the attendance report.

HAVE MORE TURKEY? Famous last words on Thanksgiving Day! And when you're far away from home what you wouldn't give to hear them! Well, why not give the folks at home a Long Distance call—you can almost smell the turkey and taste the pumpkin pie! Or if some member of the family can't come home—give him a call and share all the fun going on at your house. Costs so little, too, because bargain rates are on all Thanksgiving Day.

INEVITABLE QUESTION

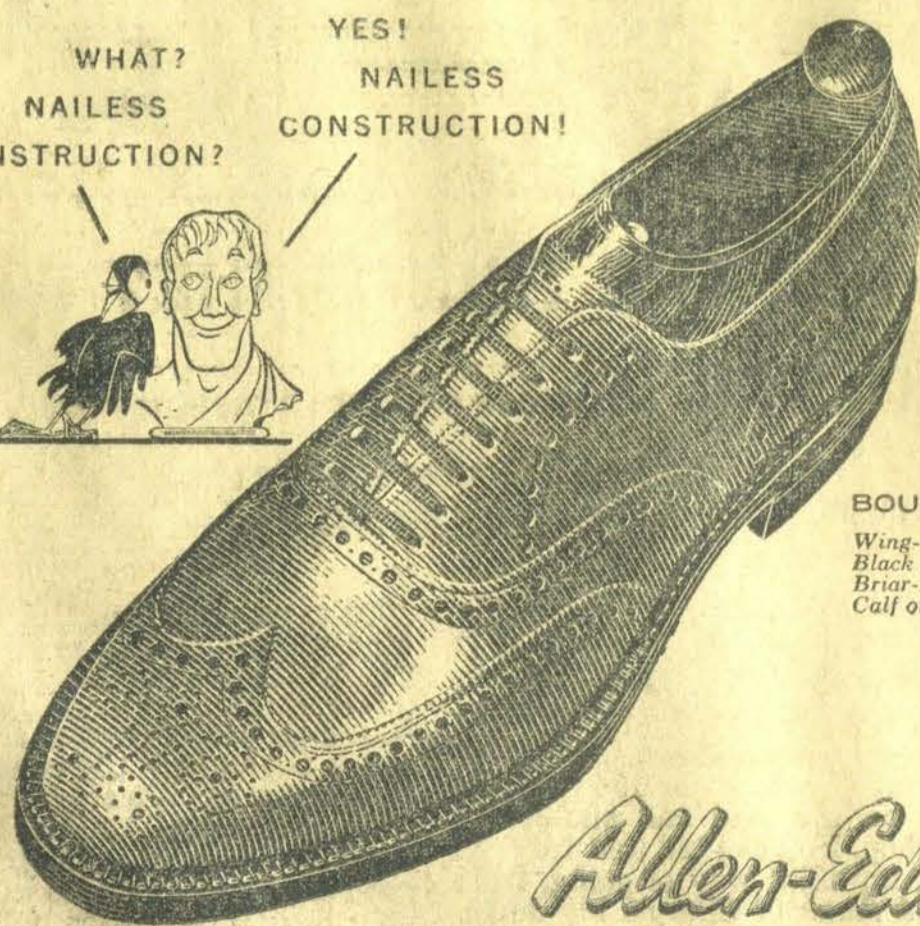

— what to give so-and-so for Christmas! Although Christmas is over a month away, still the Day of Decisions is arriving. May I make a suggestion? Here's a gift anyone would love—an Extension phone! Can't you see a teenager's delight with a personal telephone? Or Grandma's? And Dad—he'd be like a bee in clover with a phone of his own in the den. Extension phones, in color, are a happy solution to any Christmas gift problem.

WORLD'S LARGEST SWITCHBOARD! It's in the Pentagon Building and has more than 44,000 telephone outlets! It's staffed by 210 operators. Requires as much telephone service as the average city of 200,000 population! Whether it's important business conducted from that building, or our own everyday calls, it takes a lot of planning and a lot of know-how to meet the needs of modern telephone service.

SIXTY MINUTES—a whole hour of fine entertainment coming up Friday, November 20, on the Bell Telephone Hour television program. For time and channel, see your local newspaper.

Pikeville College is an odds-on choice to annex the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference since Georgetown College appears to have lost its star player.

Two of Pikeville's most dependables hail from Floyd county. They are regular forward, Paul Setser, and guard, Dick Brashear.

Setser, a surprise last year in becoming a star, will team with veterans Donniss Butcher, Vernon Woods, and brilliant-shooting George Carroll.

Brashear is a lithe, small guard who is well-known for his clutch ability. He is quiet and unassuming but gets the job done and will probably see considerable action on the basis of his superior experience.

Dick is hot in contention for the fifth starting position left open by the graduation of Garrett Mullins, last year's star forward.

Setser is a former Auxier star and Brashear is a native of Manton who played high school basketball for a military school.

NOTICE

The Floyd County Board of Education will receive bids for supplying the following items:

Soil Conservation
By L. R. Johnson
Soil Conservationist

Last week the Floyd County Times gave the announcement of the 1959 Soil Conservation Essay contest, as stated by the Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and Radio Station WHAS. Since the awards of the Floyd County Districts was not announced, we feel a complete announcement is advisable.

The sponsors are: The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and Radio Station WHAS in cooperation with the Kentucky Association of Soil Conservation Districts and the State Department of Education. The Floyd Soil Conservation District is also sponsoring the contest.

The subject of this annual essay is: "How Forest Conservation Benefits My Community."

The rules:

1. Any boy or girl enrolled in a grade or high school in Floyd county may enter the contest.
2. Your essay must not exceed 1,000 words and the number of words must be shown on the first or cover sheet of the essay.
3. You may gather information from any source. Suggested sources include: School library references, soil conservation service technicians, vocation agriculture teachers, county agricultural agent, U. S. Department of Agriculture, University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, experience of local farmers and leaders.
4. Your essay must be written in ink or typewritten on one side of the paper.
5. The essay must be signed by one of your parents and either your teacher or principal. It must bear the following certification: "I hereby certify that this essay is the original work of (your name)."
6. Place the following information on a separate sheet of paper and attach securely to the essay: Your name, age and grade indicate Miss or Mr.; address, school and county.
7. All essays from a school must be taken to the office of the school superintendent not later than Dec. 5, 1959.

The writer of the winning essay in each school is eligible for a certificate of merit.

A $25 U. S. Savings Bond will be presented to the writer of the winning essay in the county.

The first-place entry from each district will be judged for state awards.

Winners of state awards ($100, $75 and $50 bonds) will turn over their $25 district prizes to second place winners in the district.

Awards will be made by Floyd Soil Conservation District first and second for each grade: For 12th grade $10 and $9; 11th grade $9 and $8; 10th grade $7 and $7; ninth grade, $6 and $6; eighth grade $5 and $5; seventh grade, $4 and $4; sixth grade, $4 and $4; fifth grade, $3 and $3; fourth grade, $3 and $3; third grade, $2 and $2.

For the past five years Floyd county students have written more soil conservation essays than any other county in the state.

There has been splendid cooperation on the part of everyone, which made the winning possible, so let us keep up the good work.

It takes 1000 tons of coal to build just 1 mile of concrete highway!

That totals 640,000 tons of coal if Kentucky uses concrete for all 640 miles of its new Interstate System Highways. Kentucky needs new coal markets—and new Interstate Highways. Concrete brings the two together. The result? Better business. Better highways.

Today's new-type concrete is smooth and solid all the way... is laid flat to stay flat. It actually has a life expectancy of 50 years and longer, with upkeep expense 75% less than for asphalt (based on Kentucky records). This is vital because the Federal Government pays 90% of initial construction cost—but not a single cent for maintenance.

Add it up. Concrete means greater coal usage, greater driving comfort, and greater maintenance savings.

The 40-mile Kentucky Turnpike, from Louisville to Elizabethtown, was directly responsible for the consumption of 40,000 tons of coal.

Mr. Fred Ballard, Executive Secretary of the Kentucky Coal Association, has this to say: "Cement and reinforcing steel are two basic ingredients of the modern concrete highway. With their high consumption of coal during manufacture, the Association believes that paving Kentucky's Interstate Highways with concrete would be an invaluable aid to the state's coal industry."

Mrs. Phyllis Handshoe, Of Garrett, Is Victim; Was Ill Only Few Days

Mrs. Phyllis Brown Handshoe, 29 of Garrett, died at the McDowell Miners Memorial hospital, Thursday of last week following an illness of only a few days. She was the wife of Floyd Handshoe, who survives, and the daughter of Morrison and Nora Turner Brown, of Garrett.

Surviving, besides the husband and parents, are the following sons and daughters: David, Roger, Edwin, Brenda Kay and Teresa Ann, all at home. Two sisters survive: Mrs. Billy Payne Conley and Mrs. Nadine Branham, both of Garrett. Funeral rites were conducted at home at 10 a.m., Monday, the Revs. Banner Manns, Jimmy Johnson, Millard Blanton and others officiating. Burial was made in the Tom Martin cemetery at Garrett under the direction of Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

Mrs. Laura A. Burke, Age 97, Victim Oct. 28; Burial, Ford Cemetery

Mrs. Laura A. Burke, 97, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ola Hall, at Auxier, Oct. 28. She was the last of the family of Jefferson and Lorena Auxier Conley. One of Johnson county's earliest teachers, she was married to Albert Burke, and was the mother of nine children.

Mrs. Burke had been a member of the Methodist church for 79 years. Her husband, a son, and daughter preceded her in death. Surviving children are Mrs. Ola Hall, Auxier, Mrs. Stella Wells, Elyria, Ohio, Roy Burke, Columbus, Ohio, Bert and Sherman Burke, Williamson, W. Va., Willie Burke, Marion, Ohio, and Mrs. Helen Pritch, Ft. Gay, W. Va. Funeral services were conducted from the Free Will Baptist church at Auxier, Oct. 31, with Rev. S. C. Honeycutt officiating. Burial followed in the Ford cemetery at Auxier under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Commonwealth of Kentucky Department of Highways Notice To Contractors

Sealed bids will be received by the Department of Highways at its office, Frankfort, Kentucky, until 9:00 a.m., Central Standard Time on the 4th day of December, 1959, at which time bids will be publicly opened and read for the improvement of:

Eating Habits Follow Parents' Example, Said; Relaxation Is Suggested

Lexington, Ky. — Children's eating habits form early in life, and they usually follow the example set by their parents, according to Elizabeth Helton, UK Extension specialist in foods and nutrition.

Parents' attitudes toward food, eating and mealtime are often adopted by their children, Miss Helton points out. If mother and dad enjoy a variety of foods, youngsters probably will do likewise. But if parents turn down one kind of food, the child will probably refuse it, too—perhaps this makes him feel more grown-up.

When parents are tired or nervous, children quickly catch the same mood, she says. Such tension at mealtime lessens appetites and slows digestion for the entire family. A few minutes relaxation before meals often will make eating more enjoyable—food will taste better and digest better.

For the same reason, talk about pleasant subjects that interest all the family at mealtime, Miss Helton suggests. During meal is a good time to talk to children about play and school.

Children usually like to eat "child-size" bites of food and are more likely to enjoy "child-size" servings—second helpings are better than too much at first. Serve "finger foods" often, too.

Encourage children to serve themselves and to choose between two or more vegetables, she recommends. Bribing the child to eat what is good for him—"if you eat all your vegetables, you can have some dessert"—gives him the idea that all the meal is unpleasant but dessert. Make the rest of the meal as attractive to the child as dessert.

New foods should be served when children and the rest of the family are hungry and when they are in good spirits, Miss Helton says. The family is more likely to accept and like different dishes at such a time.

Rowland in Cast Of Berea College Play

Berea, Ky., Nov. 19 (Sp.) — Dan Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rowland, of Langley, and a freshman at Berea College, will play the roles of Jamie and Young Opponent in the Berea Player's fall major production of William Saroyan's "The Cave Dwellers."

Performance dates are Nov. 26 and 27 at 7:30 p.m., and for alumni Nov. 28 at 2:30 p.m., at the College Tab. Fred Parrott, director of the dramatic laboratory, is staging the show. Special music for the play is being composed by Joseph Firsz of the music department and recorded by the Berea Community Orchestra.

Four of Tommy Boyd's dependables for this coming season in Betsy Layne's basketball plans are Joe Reynolds, 6-4 center, Morton Hunt, 6-5 forward, Eugene Hall, 6-2 forward, and Joe "Boy" Blankenship, 5-8 guard.

Ray Clark, former Betsy Layne great, may be a regular starting guard for Vanderbilt. Clark, we predict, will give the University of Kentucky the "dickens" with his all around basketball talent. He is a fine shot, also an excellent defensive man and ball handler.

The same prediction applies to Porter Powers, a coaching product of Jack Frost Wells and Bill Goebel, Jr., and is doing his college playing at Alabama. As of last year, we were under the impression that Porter's great freshman basketball season has insured him a starting position on the varsity this year.

As we speak of Powers and Clark, we feel that the young men have made wise decisions in attending out-of-state colleges in continuing their basketball careers. (In this instance, we are speaking of Southeastern Conference basketball, where there are a number of colleges offering scholarships that are easier to attain than those of the University of Kentucky. This is also to point out that our boys are not necessarily deficient in talent but somehow achieve more as basketball players in colleges south of Kentucky. Many fine college teams are in Kentucky—among them, Pikeville, Morehead, Eastern, Western, Bellarmine, Georgetown, Union, Wesleyan, Louisville, Murray and Berea.)

Many players come to mind, but a few such as Cassidy, Inez, Collinsworth of Salversville, Atkins of Ashland, Hughes of Prestonsburg, Grigsby of Martin, Butcher of Meade Memorial . . . it is a long line.

Our Eastern Kentucky gymnasiums have their limitations. Our ball players are a little lost upon encountering the system of Baron Rupp, the owner of an outstanding record. At U. K. you find them glumly on the bench.

Rupp demands top talent. If his talent is not extremely advanced, he relegates them to the bench for minor roles. Many talented boys of starring potential lose confidence in themselves. The attempt by many boys to make the "big show" at Lexington often ruins more promising basketball players than it makes. Rupp is quick to discard because he is under pressure to maintain a basketball team which is analogous to baseball's New York Yankees in the ability to win games.

He wants winners, not losers, and his quest for winning basketball players sometimes eliminates what a less harried coach could develop into an outstanding player.

It is too bad, but so true, that athletes lose faith in themselves when they hit on the bench for long periods. At U. K., the substitutes, who do not play very much, enter the game with a spirit of, "Oh, gosh! —I'd better be careful and keep Mr. Rupp happy."

This state of mind is not conducive to aggressive play and frequently leads the Baron to put some apprehensive individual on his "list." The list is sometimes permanent, and no matter how some subs acquit themselves in practice sessions, they remain on the bench. Rupp, it may be observed, works with about seven players the entire season. He knows who they are before the season starts and does not deviate. Many coaches do this, we also observe, not only Mr. Rupp.

His success is not to be debated, but Powers and Clark will haunt Rupp this season. They will make Rupp wish that he had them safely tucked away on his bench, where he has disposed of so many fine Eastern Kentucky boys. If other boys sign with U. K. —remember, you cannot play with any other S. E. C. team and therefore cannot be eligible for another S. E. C. scholarship.

We tend to root for the University of Kentucky . . . but we will be hoping that Powers and Clark do well all this season—even against U. K.

The fourth-longest dam in the United States creates Kentucky Lake, one of the largest man-made lakes in the world. The giant dam is across the Tennessee River near Benton, Ky.

This is also to point out that our boys are not necessarily deficient in talent but somehow achieve more as basketball players in colleges south of Kentucky. Many fine college teams are in Kentucky—among them, Pikeville, Morehead, Eastern, Western, Bellarmine, Georgetown, Union, Wesleyan, Louisville, Murray and Berea.)

Many players come to mind, but a few such as Cassidy, Inez, Collinsworth of Salversville, Atkins of Ashland, Hughes of Prestonsburg, Grigsby of Martin, Butcher of Meade Memorial . . . it is a long line.

Our Eastern Kentucky gymnasiums have their limitations. Our ball players are a little lost upon encountering the system of Baron Rupp, the owner of an outstanding record. At U. K. you find them glumly on the bench.

Rupp demands top talent. If his talent is not extremely advanced, he relegates them to the bench for minor roles. Many talented boys of starring potential lose confidence in themselves. The attempt by many boys to make the "big show" at Lexington often ruins more promising basketball players than it makes. Rupp is quick to discard because he is under pressure to maintain a basketball team which is analogous to baseball's New York Yankees in the ability to win games.

He wants winners, not losers, and his quest for winning basketball players sometimes eliminates what a less harried coach could develop into an outstanding player.

It is too bad, but so true, that athletes lose faith in themselves when they hit on the bench for long periods. At U. K., the substitutes, who do not play very much, enter the game with a spirit of, "Oh, gosh! —I'd better be careful and keep Mr. Rupp happy."

This state of mind is not conducive to aggressive play and frequently leads the Baron to put some apprehensive individual on his "list." The list is sometimes permanent, and no matter how some subs acquit themselves in practice sessions, they remain on the bench. Rupp, it may be observed, works with about seven players the entire season. He knows who they are before the season starts and does not deviate. Many coaches do this, we also observe, not only Mr. Rupp.

His success is not to be debated, but Powers and Clark will haunt Rupp this season. They will make Rupp wish that he had them safely tucked away on his bench, where he has disposed of so many fine Eastern Kentucky boys. If other boys sign with U. K. —remember, you cannot play with any other S. E. C. team and therefore cannot be eligible for another S. E. C. scholarship.

We tend to root for the University of Kentucky . . . but we will be hoping that Powers and Clark do well all this season—even against U. K.

"Our home is our hobby"

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bailey are Living Better Electrically now . . . plan to live even better electrically in the future

The Baileys' comfortable home is equipped with many modern labor-saving electrical appliances, but the goal they are pursuing—as they would a hobby—is to make it 100% electric.

Mr. Bailey, a U.S. Postal Department employe, says: "Our electrical appliances play an important part in our daily lives. They are safe, clean, easy to operate and about as trouble-free as anything you can buy. We plan to install electric heat in a year or so and have discovered it won't cost a cent more than what we are using, and I think it will save us money."

Mrs. Bailey says: "My electric washer and dryer take away all the work and worry of doing the family wash. Why, I can have fresh sheets back on the beds in a short time. Our freezer saves us money on food bills, and my range is just perfect—cooks exactly right every time. If it weren't for our electric appliances, I'm sure the Baileys would be in for a lot of unnecessary headaches."

The Bailey youngsters, Carolyn and Jack, Jr., raid the family refrigerator for an evening snack.
