CHARLES F. CLARK

GARETT MAN WILL SUCCEED SUPT. TURNER

Administration Forces Defeat Move To Elect W'wright Hi Principal

Charles F. Clark, Garrett high school principal and leader in Floyd county educational circles, was named county superintendent of schools by the Board of Education at its regular January meeting, Tuesday. Clark will succeed Superintendent Virgil O. Turner, whose term will expire June 30.

John E. Campbell nominated Clark, and the motion was seconded by Mrs. Ethel Osborne, John M. Stumbo, board chairman, presided at the meeting and he cast his vote for Clark.

Ray Howard and John G. Hall, anti-administration board members voted in opposition to Clark after Howard had entered a motion to table the Campbell move for 30 days. Howard observed that the matter has not been discussed with him as to the best qualified man. Hall objected to the nomination of Clark on the grounds that the Garrett high school principal had not submitted his qualifications for the position to the board.

Hall nominated Boone Hall, Wheelwright high school principal, and the nomination was seconded by Howard.

Supt. Turner produced a standard administrative certificate filed by Clark and in the ensuing discussion read a statute showing that this certificate qualified Clark for the office.

NEW COUNCIL TAKES OFFICE HERE MONDAY

Veteran Police Chief Out, Potter Is Named; City Workers Selected

Prestonsburg's new City Council was formally inducted into office Monday evening and began wrestling with the problems of government by holding a series of evening meetings at the Municipal building.

The Council was composed of new members, with two exceptions, and was presided over by Mayor Bill Napier who resigned to accept a job with the state. Dr. Edward B. Leslie had been sworn into office as Mayor a few days previous to Monday evening's meet.

Present at the first meeting of the council Monday were all the new members—Tom O. McGuire, Virgil Griffith, Jody Fannin, W. B. Boyd, William May, Orville Cooley; and re-elected members, Watt Hale and Joe Wheeler Jarrell. They were sworn into office by Joe Hobson, acting as a notary public.

Promoted by the new council to succeed veteran Police Chief Ep Lafferty was Policeman Bill Potter and named to assist Potter as policemen were B. M. (Pony) Thompson, Frank Blackburn and Kelly Frasure. Frasure was re-named from the police force of the old administration. Bill Vaughan was appointed an assistant to the police department as a meter repair man and to assume in a general way the duties of David Leslie, former traffic officer and meter man. The new chief will receive $300 per month and the three policemen $275 per month. Vaughan's salary was set at $150 monthly.

Joe Hobson was appointed city attorney to succeed S. C. Ferguson. Hobson's salary was set at $75 monthly, an increase of $15 over the amount paid Ferguson. Dick Spurlock was appointed city treasurer to succeed Paul Martin. Spurlock's salary was set at $75 monthly, representing an increase of $15 per month. The increase of the treasurer and city attorney's salaries were the only two upped by the new council.

Renamed to the sanitary department was Anderson Hatfield and appointed in the place of Elvin Lowe was Jess Craft. These two employees will furnish their own truck and gasoline at their jobs and receive $200 monthly each. Mrs. George Glenn Hatcher was appointed to succeed Mrs. Judith D. Archer as city clerk at $75 monthly. Garbage collection will still be under the direction of...

Prestonsburg Soldier Seized By FBI In Ohio

Lima, Ohio — FBI agents and Lima detectives Thursday arrested a man identified as Edward Sweeney, 20, of Prestonsburg, Ky.

He was arrested at the home of a friend. Authorities had been watching the home. Officers said Sweeney enlisted in 1957 and served in Germany, but failed to return from leave last January after returning to this country.

P'BURG NATIVE WRECK VICTIM

Stephen Smith, 2 Others Die in Dec. 26th Crash Of Cars Near Lexington

One of three young men killed in an automobile collision on the night of Dec. 26 on the Lexington-Richmond road was Stephen Gorton Smith, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith, of Lexington, formerly of Prestonsburg. Young Smith was born in Prestonsburg and lived here until his parents moved to Lexington shortly after World War II.

He was killed outright, as were the occupants of the second car figuring in the tragedy—Harry M. Arnsperger, Jr., 20, of Lexington, and Donald Wayne Smith, 21, of Stamping Ground.

Smith was driving alone toward Richmond at 3:40 a.m., when the Arnsperger car, en route to Lexington, met him at a slight curve. Both autos were traveling at high speed, it was said, and one—which it had not been determined—apparently crossed the center stripe of the highway.

Young Smith is survived by his parents and one brother, Edward W. Smith, of Lexington. Funeral rites were conducted Dec. 28 from the Whitehall Funeral Chapel by the Rev. James W. Angell, and burial was made in Lexington cemetery.

101 - Year - Old Jason Brown Victim Following Illness Of Only A Day

Jason Brown, 101, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Henry Spradlin, on Abbott mountain, at 2 p.m. Tuesday. He was ill only one day.

Mr. Brown, probably the section's oldest man, was in good health until two years ago when he fell at Cedar Grove church on Middle creek and fractured a hip. He recovered from this injury and had enjoyed good health up to the day of his fatal illness.

A member of the United Baptist church, he attended services here regularly until two years ago. He usually walked the two miles to church and return each Sunday. He celebrated his one-hundredth year in May, 1958, with a dinner at which time scores of friends and relatives called. At that time he had 140 living descendants.

He was born May 20, 1858, in this county, a son of James and Nancy

Bays Brown. His father came to this section in the early 1800's from North Carolina. He was twice married, both wives preceding him in death. His first wife, Christine Spradlin Brown, died about 50 years ago. He was married the second time to Ilant Adams Brown.

Mr. Brown was a farmer most of his life with the exception of a short time that he carried the mail horseback from Prestonsburg to Hindman when the route was ridden with family feuds.

Besides Mrs. Spradlin, another daughter, Mrs. Dennis Prater, of Flatwoods, survives.

Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. from the Arnold Chapel, the Revs. Wallace Calhoun and Alex Stephens officiating. Burial was made in the Bays cemetery at Myrtle under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 28

Blackburn Charged With Wilful Murder Of Bill Buck Baker

The Floyd circuit court grand jury voted 28 indictments, one of which was a wilful murder bill against Bennie Blackburn, before adjourning Wednesday to recess until Jan. 27.

Blackburn was charged with the slaying of his nightwatchman, Bill Buck Baker, at the Blackburn home at the scene of the Floyd school bus tragedy. The only witness who appeared before the grand jury in the case was Derrill Joseph.

Other major indictments follow: Paul D. Green, detaining a Prestonsburg woman against her will; Wilda Smith, obtaining goods under false pretenses; Billie Burgess, breaking and entering the home of Thelma Korowsky; John Crisp, deserting pregnant wife; Spencer Sword, cold check; Myrtle Taylor, taking or damaging property; Russell Jarrells, shooting at without wounding Edgar Hurd; Kenneth Stratton, carrying a concealed deadly weapon; Tuley Salisbury, reckless use of a deadly weapon and carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

Noah Frasure, shooting at without wounding Richard Moore; Ronnie Neeley, cutting and wounding Isadore Bradley; Harold Lloyd Prater and Charles Castle, assault with intent to rob Carlo Caudill; Bobby Conley, Danny Terry, Ernest Moore and Eugene Hicks, grand larceny, accused of stealing copper wire from the Elkhorn Coal Corp.; Harold Courts, breaking and entering Wheelwright high school, allegedly taking $300 in cash from school safe and four class rings; and the following on child delinquency charges, William Biggs, Bill Johnson, Johnnie Nutters, David Mosley, James McKenney, Buddy Jones, Donald Lee Ray, James Estep.

HILL URGES ENFORCEMENT

Of Intoxicants Laws; Larceny, Perjury Hit In Jury Instruction

The Three L's of Floyd county crime were discussed by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill in his instructions to the grand jury and in a discussion of the crime situation in general before all jurors of the January court term, Monday morning.

Liquor, Larceny and Lying—these three were listed as the main ingredients to the crime mess.

Taxicabs and clubs as sources of illegal liquor and the availability of intoxicants over the county were discussed. "But," said Judge Hill, "the sheriff and his deputies can't go out and clean up all the liquor; nor can the Commonwealth's Attorney and the County Attorney do it. It is the job of every one. Much responsibility rests upon the citizens of this county."

Judge Hill spoke of the confiscation of buildings and other property used in the liquor traffic, but reminded the courtroom gathering that "you can't expect the Commonwealth's Attorney and the County Attorney to file suit unless evidence is made available and unless interest is shown on the part of the public. It's a question of what you want," he added.

He urged a crack-down on breaking and entering and stealing, then suggested strong prosecution of perjurers. "It's regrettable but true," he commented, "that you find persons who will perjure themselves to avoid paying a little fine of $10."

While it is the duty of the courts to penalize perjury, Hill commented that the trouble starts with the home where stronger teaching of respect for the truth needs to be taught.

Only one other violation was specifically called to the attention of the grand jury, and that is the pollution of streams. The judge noted that some promises have been made, mainly by coal companies, to stop dumping refuse into streams. Some have prepared cleaning pools but others have not, he said. So he suggested: "It might be well to summon them in before you, and either indict or refer the cases in your final report to the April grand jury."

SAYS PUBLIC HOUSING NEEDS PLANNING WORK

Gail E. Godsey, area director of the Planning and Zoning Division, Kentucky Department of Economic Development, told Prestonsburg's new City Council Tuesday evening that if they expected to go ahead with the proposed low-rent housing project the City Planning Commission should be continued.

Asked by Mayor Edward B. Leslie why the town was eligible now under the National Housing Act, the Hazard man said that a city must have a city planning program in effect for five years before making application but that President Eisenhower declared an emergency existed in Eastern Kentucky following the 1957 flood and the five-year requirement was waived. Godsey pointed out if the city zoning and planning was stopped now five years of new zoning and planning would have to elapse before the city would again become eligible.

Godsey said 13 Eastern Kentucky towns had availed themselves of the provisions of the housing grants. "We are here strictly to aid your city," Godsey said. "We do not want to interfere in your internal affairs. The low-rent housing project will bring you an outright gift of $1,000,000."

Godsey suggested a later meeting to discuss the benefits available to Prestonsburg from the project and said that in the meeting he could "eliminate rumors and give you the facts." He said that all labor and materials used in the project would be procured locally and that the housing would not compete with other rental property in town.

City planning does not obligate a city either for low-rent housing or urban renewal plans, he said. The city may adopt either, or both, if it so desires.

Councilman Watt Hale asked the availability of grants to aid in the construction of new sewers, and Godsey said that such assistance is available under another department of government but that he would cooperate with the Council in doing liaison work for them. He said that Hazard, Paintsville and Whitesburg have made application for such aid but no approvals have yet been received, he thought. A great number of cities are alert to the benefits

ADAMS KILLS WIFE, SELF

Murder-Suicide Tragedy Witnessed By Daughter; Five Children Orphaned

Mrs. Betty Bays Adams, 37, former Floyd county woman, was killed last Wednesday afternoon at Ploverton, Ind., by her husband, William Adams, 39, who then turned his revolver on himself to end his own life.

The murder-suicide took place in the bathroom of the Adams home and followed drink-inspired bickering between the husband and wife. Ploverton authorities said Adams apparently was crazed by vodka.

The double-slaying was witnessed by the couple's 15-year-old daughter Patricia.

Officers said they learned that Adams, who had been arguing with his wife through the day, followed her into the bathroom-dressing room of the home and fired five shots from a .32-caliber revolver, four of the bullets striking the woman in her right shoulder and the fifth behind the right ear.

Their daughter said that as she bent over her mother's body Adams turned the gun on himself staggering a few feet and fell beside the body of his wife. The daughter said her father cried, "Honey, honey!" as he fell. Mrs. Adams died instantly. Her husband was breathing when police arrived but could not talk.

Patricia said her father had been

This Town— That World

DON'T HELP

Last week, while the presses were set here and time dragged, with the pressure off, I thought surely I'd come up with a column in my spare time. But—you guessed it—I'm more barren of ideas than usual, now that there is a paper to get on, and I may as well admit that that's getting pretty barren.

FORCE OF HABIT

We are all slaves of habit in one form or another. Some happily have good habits rather than the bad. Some have bad habits rather than the good. There was the case of a certain writer who, the story goes, could not compose except with pen nib on ruled paper while wearing an and, somewhat bedraggled nightcap slung along the lines of a to-be-had. He tried writing without the headdress but couldn't come up with an idea. His wife dug up the boggy and settled it on the noble one, but still (according to the story) the flow of deathless prose could not come. The situation was desperate until the observing little man noticed something awry. The hassle was hanging over the left instead of the right side.

We talk of "payola" and those other nefarious advertising dodges our moderns have conceived and inflicted on an unsuspecting but not wholly stupid public. But we catch a glimmer of hope for us when we consider that even tombstones have been used as advertising media in other days and in a generation that many think had a corner on all the virtues.

Consider these inscriptions found in cemeteries:

From an English marker: "Sacred to the remains of Jonathan Thompson, a pious Christian and affectionate husband. His disconsolate" (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

STUMBO LEASE SURRENDERED

On Park Boat Dock; State Agrees To Pay For Equipment Bought

The Stumbo Coal & Realty Company this week surrendered its lease on the Jenny Wiley State Park boat dock on Dewey Lake to the state without a court battle.

Wayne Stumbo, head of the firm, agreed to relinquish the lease with the understanding that he would be paid for equipment he had purchased for operation of the dock. Representatives of the Division of Parks checked his investment in the dock Tuesday, and an agreement was reached.

Mr. and Mrs. Stumbo moved back to their home at Minnie. They had occupied the state-owned residence of the state park manager, near the dock, since Mr. Stumbo's appointment as manager, early in the Chandler administration.

The lease was executed by the state to the Stumbos, shortly before expiration of Governor Chandler's term of office. At the same time leases on several other state-owned boat docks were executed. Soon after his inauguration, Gov. Bert Combs declared the leases void. One such lease was granted to Hence Terry, who moved his dock this fall from German to Hager Gap, in the lower section of Dewey Lake.

A settlement with Terry has not yet been effected. Nor has a permanent state park manager been named.

RESCUE SQUAD FINDS TRUCK

Submerged in Lake; Banner Man Reported Loss, November 1958

A pickup truck recovered Tuesday night from Dewey Lake, near the mouth of Copperas Creek, has been identified as a vehicle reported stolen from Ike Hall at Banner in November, 1958, an investigator said.

Insurance on the truck was paid by the Travelers Insurance Company.

Discovery of the truck beneath the surface of the lake brought a call for the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad here, early Tuesday night. Using a "Duck," amphibious equipment it has acquired since its organization, the squad hauled the truck from the lake. Fear that the driver had been drowned in the truck was dispelled when the recovery was effected. The ignition key was at his position.

A gas company employe had detected what he believed to be the shadow of a vehicle beneath the surface of the water.

PLANNERS RECOMMEND $1 1/2 MILLION FOR PARK

The Jenny Wiley State Park Master Plan committee met at the offices of Marvin Music here Monday evening and recommended an expenditure of more than $1,500,000 for development of the park. The committee, under the chairmanship of Music, has been quietly at work on the project since early fall.

Plans call for a 50-room lodge with a dining room to seat 250 persons, the erection of 20 additional cottages, improved swimming and camping facilities and an outdoor theatre. One of the projects envisioned by the committee is the completion of the Hager Gap-Stratton Branch road. This would become a northern access road to the swimming area.

The total figure recommended by the Music committee is in line with the money asked by the Kentucky Parks committee, a private group promoting the state's recreational centers. This group met in September and the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, Prestonsburg, submitted a proposed budget of approximately $1,500,000 for three-quarter million dollars in park here.

The needs of Jenny Wiley State Park are to be expressed in a brochure to be completed by the committee by Jan. 20. Each member of the committee was assigned part of the brochure's preparation.

The Jenny Wiley Drama Association was recently organized here with the intention of promoting an outdoor drama on the site of Eastern Kentucky's most outstanding borderland Indian captive. Plans call for a drama written by one of the nation's top dramatists.

The drama promotion group is holding its first board of directors meeting after work of the master plan committee has jelled to point where concrete results are envisioned.

Recommendations of the plan committee will be submitted to the Kentucky General Assembly late January.

McGUIRE SAYS COOPERATION

Offered By Firemen; Inspection Bureau Asks Increase of Personnel

Darwin McGuire, new chief of the Prestonsburg fire department, told The Times Wednesday afternoon that the department is near full strength, despite the loss of members of the volunteer crew who quit when Fire Chief Henry Gray was supplanted by McGuire.

It was indicated earlier in the week that none of the 1959 volunteer firefighters would report for duty after the new City Council relieved Gray of his post.

McGuire said 11 men met with him Wednesday night and that several of these had had previous experience. Two others, he said, have told him they will "fill in" as needed.

Former Fire Chief Gray said his volunteer crew included 14 men, all with experience, and that the Inspection Bureau had called on him to increase the number to 24-12 for each fire truck.

Gray added he offered to Mayor Leslie his help in acquainting the new fire chief with equipment.

Prior to the Council action, all members of the department had said they would not report for duty if Gray was dismissed. Mr. Gray reported the situation to the Kentucky Inspection Bureau in a letter dated Jan. 2.

Wrote G. H. Parker, Bureau manager, in response to this letter: "This certainly shocks me and, without knowing the reasons or wishing to interfere in a local situation, I think the action of the firemen was ill-advised and was done on the spur of the moment without considering what might happen."

Urging earnest work to effect a satisfactory solution to the situation, Parker added: "I sincerely hope that, while your good people are assisting the city officials to bring about harmony, earnest consideration will be given to the recommendations of this Bureau regarding improvements in your fire defenses, the necessity for which is brought about, in part, by the enlargement of your city through annexations."

The Bureau several months ago indicated that, if Prestonsburg is to retain its present insurance classification and its present insurance rate, a third fire truck must be acquired. Cost of such a truck has been estimated at $15,000.

Our Historic Heritage

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky (No. 76 in a Series)

VIEW OF SOUTH PRESTONSBURG FOUR DECADES AGO

This winter view of Prestonsburg, looking south, depicts photographically the growth of the oldest county seat town in the region. The large bottom at the south end, now filled with homes and business buildings, was then an undeveloped area. In this picture are many old landmark homes no longer in existence. Several other structures no longer survive, victims of progress in a growing, modern town.

Prestonsburg, founded in 1797, had six persons in the 1800 census. Today, it has 6,000 people within its borders, most of the increase being in recent years. It is a good place to work and live.

The First National Bank is proud of its contribution to the economy of Prestonsburg and Floyd county. It offers complete and friendly banking service.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The three circles of the Women's Missionary Society of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church met Jan. 3 at the Baptist annex. Each unit met separately with its chairman to discuss the different projects for the ensuing year, after which they met together for the program for the evening and for the general business of the society. Mrs. Gerald Leslie, president, opened the meeting with the watchword, "Not by Power But by Thy Spirit, Lord God of Hosts." Prayer was offered by Mrs. Robert Regan. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. R. W. Feiler and other reports were also heard. The main project for the month of January is to be children's clothing and shoes. Committees were appointed to see about these. After the business session the subject announced by Mrs. Leslie was "Southern Baptists at Work in Cuba." She pointed out that Cuban young people especially were drawn into the throes of the conflict there, and were greatly hindered from taking a part in church work and organized spiritual life. Mrs. Lucien Lafferty continued the subject, "What Hast Thou Given?" telling of the U. S. government's store house — $7 million worth of surplus wheat, corn, rice, butter, cheese and dry milk. Mrs. Franklin Moore, continued with "Witness from the Storehouse — the Bible," which was responsible for the believers in the first group of Baptists in Cuba. She told of Cuban Baptists this year taking advantage of the opportunity to distribute God's word to a half-million countrymen and half a million from the city who gathered in the new Republic Square to listen to Fidel Castro. Mrs. G. C. Young, continued, adding that our gifts must not be kept too long, or they will spoil. The social committee served refreshments to Mesdames Lucien Lafferty, Franklin Moore, J. B. Clarke, G. C. Young, Bill Osborne, Garce D. Ford, Ed Ray, Harvey Gunnell, Peter Rippe, H. G. Salisbury, Ira McMillen, William J. Dingus, Robert Regan, R. W. Feiler, Hoover Harrington, Roy Arnett, Gerald Leslie, Ruth Isbell, Miss Hazel Greene.

Little Dog's Bark Uncovers Theft Loot

This dog's bark may not be worse than his bite, but it gets results. When Sugar, a small Chihuahua, began raising a rumpus in the vicinity of the home of his master, Bill Petrey, on North Lake Drive last Sunday night, investigation showed that he was giving tongue to a woman's fur-lined boots. Closer investigation uncovered a box containing approximately $200 worth of tools. Owners of the items at the nearby States Motel, said they had been stolen from their auto. The thief has not been identified.

WE'RE ADJACENT, JASON!

After years and years of looking we've finally found an expert with whom we agree. He is Jason Lucas, fishing editor of SPORTS AFIELD magazine, and in the following statement is where Jason and I lay our lines out across the water in perfect harmony:

"Anglers like to blame the poor fishing nowadays on everything except the plain and obvious fact that bad fishing for about all game species except sunfish can be attributed almost entirely to removal of too many fish. This is in spite of the currently popular but absurd theory that almost unrestricted fishing can't hurt fishing—this holds true only where it's so bad that nothing can make it noticeably worse."

Did you hear about the fellow who woke up, New Year's morning, with a smoking man's taste?

It has been suggested that I do a piece for this column on a Christmas Tree. But what shall I call it? Not "I Am a Christmas Tree," for I have not been all lit up. But, shoving aside the technicalities, let's say it:

I am a Christmas Tree. They stood me in a corner and dressed me in tinsel and spangles, with lights. They said I was beautiful. Gifts lay at my feet till, one morning, they took them away and left behind a mess of wrapping paper and gay ribbons.

And now, here I am on a garbage truck. What has become of all my fine dress? And the Star—what has become of it? Seems that everybody forgets the Star, these days.

MARTIN

The Allen-Martin Woman's Club held a Christmas program meeting, Dec. 21, at the home here of Mrs. John C. Hall. In addition to Christmas music, the program consisted of several members reading Christmas poems and interesting legends about the circumstances of Christ's birth, Christmas customs in other countries, and other interesting stories appropriate to the season.

Intead of exchanging Christmas gifts, the club members each contributed to a fund which will be used to give to a family of children who would not have as much material joys at Christmas otherwise. The attractive Christmas decorations in the hostess' home added greatly to the enjoyment of the holiday program. A dessert course was served by the hostess to the following members and guests: Mrs. David Marrs, Mrs. William Martin, Mrs. T. A. Combs, Jr., Miss Nell Music, Mrs. Carl Martin, Mrs. T. J. Allen, Mrs. John W. Hall, Miss Adele Hall and Mrs. John Sherman.

A dessert course was served by the hostess to the following members: Mrs. David Marrs, Mrs. Carl Martin, Miss Nell Music, Mrs. Beecher Scutchfield, Mrs. John W. State Grants U. L. $5,000 To Study New Coal Uses Frankfort, Jan. 4 (Spl.) — The Kentucky Department of Economic Development has announced award of a $5,000 contract to the University of Louisville Institute of Industrial Research for a six-months study to consider advantages of nuclear radiation in chemical reactions leading to new uses of Kentucky coal.

Robert Solomons, director of the Nuclear Information Division, said the study is to determine the products obtained when coal is reacted with such materials as ammonia, nitrogen, chlorine, fluorine, steam, hydrogen, oxygen, olefins and mixtures of these gases.

The advantage, he said, is to identify proper operating conditions for those reactions which appear favorable as a basis for future laboratory investigations.

This contract is part of a large-scale effort of the department and the Kentucky Advisory Committee on Nuclear Energy to use unique research characteristics of nuclear energy to aid the coal industry in developing new products and markets. Federal legislation was introduced earlier this year to establish a nuclear energy-coal experiment station in Eastern Kentucky. This bill is now in committee.

Heroic Women Saved Bryant Station Fort

The courage of a small band of women saved Bryant Station near Lexington, from an attacking force of 620 Wyandots, Lake Indians, Canadians and Tories.

The besiegers were led upon the fort in the summer of 1782 by Capt. William Caldwell, a British officer; Alexander McKee, the noted Tory, and Simon Girty, the renegade.

They crept along the creek and hid in tall weeds near Bryant Station Spring. Inside the stockade, dismay spread through the defenders because they lacked enough water to last a long siege.

The leaders inside the fort surmised that the Indians outside were an advance guard which was unaware its presence had been detected. The leaders in the fort wanted the Indians to continue in this error until the fort could be supplied with water.

So the women were asked to go to the spring for water, as was their custom, just as if no danger lurked in the weeds around them. The idea was that the Indians would hesitate to attack a few women when, by waiting until their full force arrived, they might take the entire fort by surprise.

Jemina Suggett Johnson took her little daughter by the hand and gathering up her buckets started down the hill to the spring. Quickly the other women followed.

Because of the fear, the walk down the hill seemed long, the filling of the vessels an endless task and the trip back an eternal trek. The Indians, still thinking they were undiscovered, did not move and the women passed safely, if a little too swiftly, into the fort.

The women had the satisfaction of knowing that the fresh water enabled the fort to withstand the terrible attack that followed until help arrived from nearby Lexington and drove off the raiders.

Communicable Diseases Studied By Health Unit

Kentucky's chief communicable disease problems during the past year were infectious hepatitis, hospital-acquired staphylococcal infections and poliomyelitis, according to a report by the State Health Department.

The 1958-59 fiscal year report said prevention and control of these and other diseases is the duty of the department's Communicable Disease Section, which investigates outbreaks as they occur and offers services to county health departments and physicians.

The report continued: Kentucky ranks 10th among the states in hepatitis, with 822 cases reported during the year. Outbreaks were investigated in Mercer, Wayne, Mason, Lewis, Jefferson, Bath, Henderson and Harlan counties. Late in the year Floyd county was hit by the disease.

A booklet outlining procedure for hospitals to follow to control staphylococcal infection was published by the agency and a study was begun to determine if the infection in a community can be controlled with non-antibiotic nasal sprays and gargles.

Seventy-five cases of polio were reported during the fiscal year, 62 of which were paralytic. Fourteen of the paralytic cases resulted in death. Of total cases, 52 had no vaccine, four had one inoculation, seven had two, and 12 had three. Surveys showed that the immunization status of Kentuckians is low, with less than 30 per cent of the population in Lexington and Ashland—where the survey was conducted—protected by three inoculations of Salk vaccine.

Our Job to help you live better Electrically. Our job is generating electricity and getting it to where it's used. We're in this business because it is concerned with the supply of a fundamental requirement of modern living, because it's an honorable one, because we like it, and because we want to earn a living at it. We aim to give one kind of service to everyone... the best that's possible. That means supplying our customers with what they want when they want it. It means being courteous at all times and maintaining attractive easy-to-do-business-with offices. It means doing everything we can to keep complaints from arising, and it means prompt and fair handling of those that do. We are a citizen of each community we serve and take an active part in its affairs. Like any other citizen, we want our neighbors to think well of us. Besides, it makes good business-sense. We can only prosper as the community prospers so we help it thrive in every way we can. Such is our job as we see it. We are trying to do it well and to do it better all the time. New Development Heads Named; Kennedy, Wyatt To Spearhead Program Frankfort, Dec. 7 — Lieutenant Governor Wilson W. Wyatt and Commissioner E. B. Kennedy, Department of Economic Development, recently announced the appointment of three new directors and the creation of a new Division of Community Development in the department.

Wyatt and Kennedy announced that Jerry Mahoney, Owensboro, had been appointed director of the newly created Community Development Division. Damon W. Harrison, Louisville, was appointed director of the Research Division, and Leonard T. Kernen, Frankfort, was named director of the Industrial Development Division.

Lieutenant Governor Wyatt and Commissioner Kennedy, who plan to spearhead the industrial development program for Kentucky, aggressively seeking industries for Kentucky communities, said the new Community Development Division would encourage and help local communities to do a more effective job in preparing the local areas in order to attract new industry.

The Division will put great emphasis on assisting communities to prepare themselves, through community development, to compete for new industry. The communities will be advised of the assets and attractions they must have to appeal to industrial prospects.

The Division's research and technological experts will make a frank appraisal of a community's assets and disadvantages. They will recommend any improvements which a community should make in order to satisfy industrial prospects. These improvements could include, for example, better street lighting, a larger water supply, more attractive store fronts, and greater development of educational and recreational advantages for citizens, just to name a few.

Horsemanship, pony, junior riding, junior and senior trail clubs have sent American youth back to the horse. These equine activities are booming now.

THE PEERY SAW BOAT

The picture of the saw boat that appeared in The Times three weeks ago aroused considerable interest with oldesters who remembered the Kelly store and the boat. John F. Brown, Prestonsburg octogenarian, points out that he is in the picture. He is standing with John Kelly on the store porch. Kelly was a native of Tennessee, the Prestonsburg man says.

Brown recalls that the boat belonged to Jim Peery. He explains that logs were rolled into the river at the end of the boat and a steam winch pulled them into the craft for sawing. Brown's memory is excellent—he even remembers the names of the draught oxen. He should for he was hauling coal with them the day the picture was taken.

Brown left the Kelly employment in 1899, the year the picture was taken. He recalls that his wages the first year were $7 per month, the second year he received $10 and in 1899 he was paid $12.50 per month.

The picture was the property of the late Malcolm Harris, of Prestonsburg. It depicts an era in Big Sandy history that is gone forever.

WILLIAM PENNINGTON, SR. We have had considerable data in the Pennington family in these columns recently but a new bit is about William Pennington, Sr. His great-granddaughter, Mrs. Lucille P. Davison, 4700 Winchester Ave., Ashland, Ky., says he was killed near his home on Lick Creek, Lawrence county, probably in the first five months of the year 1881. He met death at the hands of Home Guards.

Pennington's will, written in 1857, was proven in court, May 12, 1862. His wife was Della Caudill Pennington. It is said she later married a Thompson.

OLD IRON FURNACES Charles S. Collett, in his column, Ironton Soliquoy, in the Huntington (W. Va.) Advertiser, of recent date, adds items on the old iron furnaces of southern Ohio from which this area drew much of its iron and iron products in the last century.

We excerpt briefly: The pig iron industry upon which Lawrence county, Ohio, was founded and flourished from before the Civil War to the close of World War I, has completely vanished and been replaced with new type of industry . . . Heirlooms of ox-cart years are getting scarce year by year. . . What about Hecla iron . . . Hanging Rock stoves. . . Belfont and Kelly nails . . . Ironton wood mantels and sores of other items once manufactured here have completely vanished.

Union Furnace, the first erected in the county started at Hanging Rock in 1826 . . . The last heat at the Rock was in 1923 . . . The new highway now passes high over the site of the old furnace . . . COMBS FAMILY This column reprints an article by J. Emerson Miller on the Combs family history that appeared recently in the Courier-Journal.

It follows: The Combs family came to Kentucky when it was still "Indian country." It was among the first to blaze the trails, build rude log cabins, hew rough farms out of the wilderness, and hold back the Indians, depending primarily upon their long rifles and keen eyes for food and shelter, and upon that most prized possession, the great family Bible, for spiritual nourishment.

It is peculiarly fitting and appropriate, therefore, that when Governor-elect Bert T. Combs takes the oath of office Tuesday, it will be on his family's old Bible. And hovering in the background will be the ghosts of men in coonskin caps, others in kneebreeches and wearing periwigs, for the Combses were in America before the Mayflower dropped anchor or off Plymouth Rock. They are real "FFV's."

Governor Combs is ninth in descent from John Combs, seignior of the ancient Combs family, Lords of Combs Manor, in Devonshire, England, whose lineage has been traced back 1,000 years and more.

John Combs came to Virginia on May 20, 1619, on the ship Marigold. Two of his grandsons, John and Joseph Combs, II, settled in Stafford county, Va. John married Sylvia "Seth" Bullitt, daughter of Capt. Benjamin Bullitt, and his wife, Elizabeth Harrison, daughter of Thomas Harrison. They were the ancestors of the well-known Bullitt family of Louisville.

Benjamin Combs, a son of John and Seth, settled in Clark county, Ky., in 1775 and was the father of General Leslie Combs, who entertained Lafayette on his visit to Lexington in 1825. The general was the great-grandfather of Leslie Combs, III, the nationally known breeder of Thoroughbred horses.

Joseph Combs, II, married Elizabeth Harrison, a daughter of Burr Harrison and a cousin of his brother John's wife.

Dr. Josiah H. Combs, distinguished professor of languages at Texas Christian University, a native of Hazard, Ky., who has done extensive research on the Combs family in America and Great Britain, stated in a letter written in 1956 that the first Kentucky ancestor of Bert T. Combs was John Combs, a son of Joseph, II, and his wife, Elizabeth.

John Combs, born in Virginia in 1759, settled in Lincoln county, Ky., about 1790 along with other members of the Combs family, including eight brothers who settled in what are now Clay and Perry counties.

John moved to Perry about 1810, later lived in what is now Boyle, and died in 1848 at the home of a daughter in Washington county, where his kinfolk, the Harrisons and Hardins had settled after the Revolution.

He enlisted in the Revolution when a youth, served under Washington and was present at the surrender of General Cornwallis at Yorktown. Of his sons who remained in Perry county, the eldest, John "Jack" Combs, was the governor-elect's great-great-grandfather.

'Baptist Church of Air' Introduced To Listeners

Last Sunday at 8:30 a.m., Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church introduced to listeners over Radio Station WPRR "The Baptist Church of the Air," a 30-minute worship program consisting of favorite hymns and a message by the pastor. This special half-hour will replace the broadcast of the morning worship service which has been heard for the past several years over the same station. The pastor explained that the reason for the change was that a program of the type of the Baptist Church of the Air could be directed entirely to the radio audience and would, therefore, prove to be of greater benefit to those who will hear it. The "Sunshine Corner" program, heard over WPRR each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 1 p.m., will continue at the same time during the new year, it was said.

The cap is changed...

...but not the man who wears it!

You may have been accustomed to seeing him in an Aetna cap in Kentucky and Southern Indiana or in a Frontier cap in Buffalo and Western New York. Now it says Ashland Oil. That's a change, but not as big a change as you might think.

It's common knowledge that all Aetna and Frontier stations have been affiliated with Ashland Oil & Refining Company for many years. Like Ashland Oil stations, they have been selling top quality products and endeavoring to maintain consistently high standards of customer service.

Even more important, the people of Aetna, Frontier and Ashland are so much the same kind of folks that it takes more than an emblem to make any difference. They are all part of one great independent oil family.

It's a big one, this Ashland Oil family. There are more than 4,900 direct employees, plus additional thousands on the payrolls of independent Ashland distributors, jobbers and service stations. Almost 40,000 people have put their savings into shares of Ashland Oil stock. And again this year, we are looking forward to product sales of over $300 million.

Yes, it is a big family, yet the man who wears the Ashland Oil cap has certain family traits. He has a sense of personal freedom, initiative and independence. He takes pride in the products he sells.

Wherever you meet him, in any one of more than 4,000 Ashland Oil outlets in 12 states from New York to Tennessee, you'll recognize the family resemblance. Even if his cap didn't say Ashland, you would know him by his interest in being a good neighbor and in providing you with the finest petroleum products and services for your car. Look for the man with the Ashland cap—he's a good man to know.
