SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

JUNE 2, 1960

THURSDAY

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

This Town-- That World

We asked for Fishtrap Dam funds and got beans. Thanks for the beans!

JUST A TIP

We salute the town of Salyersville as it prepares to celebrate its centennial. The boys over there are wearing beards. Prestonsburg undertook a sesquicentennial celebration, and one thing we learned: The easiest thing about such undertakings is whisker-sprouting.

There's a guy named Ray Wencil who may never join the immortals because of his writings, but one line of his will make him long-remembered by me. It reads: "The easiest way to get a youthful figure is to ask a woman her age."

A magician can saw a woman in two, or make you think so. But that is a trick deserving of no more than a passing glance. Almost any man can easily make his wife fly into pieces.

CRAZY, MAN!

While looking over some photographs of cave-man drawings and still other art works from an ancient tomb recently I decided those artists weren't the most talented we've had. But further thought about the matter caused me to wonder . . . maybe those old boys were tops.

A little comparison with modern art caused me to give those old-timers the benefit of doubt. Suppose (I reasoned) this civilization is blasted to smithereens, and then some day—a thousand or so years later, say—whatever form of life is left starts digging in the rubble and comes up with a bit of this surrealism that passes for art, these days. What do you think the poor creature would say about the ability of artists, back in the dim past of 1960?

STORES HIT BY THIEVES

Six New Break-Ins Reported In County; Arrowood Loses $1,600

The value of loot taken from Floyd businesses by break-in artists mounted further within the week into the thousands of dollars, with at least six new lootings reported.

Latest break-in was discovered here Monday morning at the Arrowood Hardware Company from which had been taken a haul of cash and shotguns valued at $1,600.

Last week, between $1,000 and $2,000 worth of television and radio sets and appliances were taken from the Collins Hardware Company at Lackey. The same night, the safe of the Evans Elkhorn Company, Estill, was carted away.

Earlier, a haul of approximately $3,000 worth of men's clothing had been taken from Keith Scott's Store at Garrett.

The Evans safe was later recovered. It had been broken into but contained only company records, State Detective Chester D. Potter said he was told.

Three men were jailed here Tuesday, two of them accused of stealing an electric motor and an electric drill from the Francis Coal Company mine on Rock Fork Creek, near Garrett. They are T. J. Murphy and Maryland Craft. The third man, Edward Bentley, was jailed on a charge of knowingly receiving stolen property in the Francis mine case. He executed $1,000 bond. The stolen items were recovered when (See Story No. 4, Page 8)

BONUS FORMS ARRIVE, RUSH QUICKLY STARTS

GUARD TRUCK BRINGS 1,500; 6,551 NEEDED

Veterans' Organizations, Red Cross To Give Help In Filing Applications

The rush for bonus application forms began here this morning (Thursday) within minutes after a limited supply arrived at the County Clerk's office.

Only 1,500 applications were delivered today by a Kentucky National Guard truck. According to Floyd Chapter, American Red Cross, 6,551 veterans or survivors of deceased veterans are eligible to apply from this county.

Mrs. DuRan Moore, wife of the Floyd county clerk, said today (Thursday) that she has five girls working on little else than making certified copies of veterans' discharges. Original discharges will not be returned if they accompany the bonus application, and so certified copies are in great demand.

"It looks like a long wait for anybody wanting a deed recorded," Mrs. Moore said, commenting on the demands made on her office force for certified copies of discharges.

The veteran must send with his application either his original discharge (which will not be returned), or a certified copy of his discharge or an attested photostat copy.

Veterans whose discharges have been lost and never recorded at the County Clerk's office may procure them through the Army Records Center, 9700 Page Blvd., St. Louis 22, Mo.

KENTUCKY GOVERNOR IN ROLE OF LIEUTENANT AS HIS FRIEND SPEAKER AT WAYLAND SCHOOL

Paul R. Jordan, chief of the Frankfort bureau of the Associated Press, Tuesday evening became the first high school commencement speaker to be introduced by a Governor of Kentucky as he addressed the graduating class of his high school alma mater at Wayland.

The Governor with characteristic humility enjoyed basking in the reflected glory of his newspaperman-friend.

Introducing Mr. Jordan, Combs told the 56 graduates of Wayland high school that "there is as much opportunity in Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky as there is in the whole world. There is no limit to what Eastern Kentucky can do, and you can do it, too," he added. "Don't look to the far horizons—look right here."

He cited Jordan as an example of the success which Eastern Kentuckians can attain. "You, too," he told the graduates, "can become a famous newspaperman or even a governor. Paul Jordan has proved that Wayland high school is as good as any in the United States."

Mr. Jordan, who was graduated from Wayland high 17 years ago, pointed the graduating class to "a world of opportunity. 'Business, industry and science are eagerly awaiting you and your talents.' He spoke of the keen competition between major corporations for the services of young men and women

Little League Baseball To Make David Debut

Little League baseball will make its 1960 Floyd county debut next Wednesday at David when the Redlegs meet the Indians, Frank Heinze, Little League secretary, announced this week.

The Yanks and the Red Sox are also meeting in a game at Auxler. Both games will start at 5:30 p.m.

Schedule for the remainder of the week is as follows:

June 9, Cardinals vs. Dodgers
June 10, Indians vs. Yankees

STATE OKEHS CLINIC HERE

TB Outpatient Service Will Eliminate Travel For Periodic Checkups

The Floyd County Health Department has been notified by the State Tuberculosis Commission that its request for a quarterly outpatient clinic in Prestonsburg has been granted. The action was taken at the Commission's May meeting.

Dr. Russell L. Hall, head of the health department, hailed the Commission's approval of the application. Location of an outpatient clinic here will eliminate long and costly travel to distant state sanatoria for tuberculosis patients in whom the disease has been arrested but who need periodic examinations.

Date of the first clinic here has not yet been set. Dr. Hall said this will be learned from Dr. W. Duane Jones, director of the State Tuberculosis hospital at Ashland.

The health department this week said that the hepatitis outbreak in the Banner school and vicinity apparently is dying out. Twenty-six cases have been reported there since last October, and among these are two adults. The disease appeared in mild form, Dr. Hall said. He added that check of the water supply failed to locate the source of the disease.

STATE PLANS BRIDGE HERE

Road Department Asks Permission of Engineers; Span Length is 178 Feet

The Kentucky Department of Highways has filed application with the U. S. Army Engineers, Huntington, W. Va., for approval of location and plans for a bridge to be constructed across the Big Sandy River here as a part of the Bluegrass-to-the-Mountains highway proposed by Gov. Bert Combs.

Plans call for a five-span, continuous-girder bridge, which will be constructed on a nine-degree skew. The main span over the river will be 178 feet long from center to center of the piers. The minimum vertical clearance above low water mark at the right channel pier will be 55.9 feet and above high water elevation it will be 7.2 feet. The high water elevation is based on the 1862 record flood.

Width of the bridge was not given, but a four-lane span was talked in the early days of planning for the highway. It will cross the river here to enter Prestonsburg at the north end of the Second street floodwall fill.

Objections to the proposed bridge from the standpoint of navigation may be filed with the Corps of Engineers until June 6.

Work on the Campton-to-Prestonsburg sector of the highway is expected to begin within the next few weeks, it was said recently.

RC OFFERS CHILEAN AID

Earthquake, Tidal Wave Victims May Be Helped By Contributions Here

Floyd Chapter, American Red Cross, will not make a special drive for the purpose but will accept contributions of Floyd countyans for the relief of victims of the Chilean earthquakes and resultant tidal waves there and elsewhere in the world. It was announced this week by Miss Ella Noel White, the chapter's executive secretary.

Miss White is currently pinching-hit as general field representative in five counties of the area, serving with others to take up the slack created by the recent injury of Robert Glenn, field representative. Mr. Glenn, who was injured in an auto accident near Allen eight weeks ago, remains unconscious and his recovery is doubtful. He is in Veterans' hospital, Huntington, W. Va.

Miss White is doing the work of the field representative in Floyd, Johnson, Knott and Magoffin counties.

Red Cross persons desiring to donate funds for Chilean earthquake relief may give money to local Red Cross chapters. All such funds will be sent to the Chilean Red Cross.

Miss White said the regular 1960 Red Cross fund drive in this county is only half-subscribed.

The Red Cross secretary said this week that there are 6,551 veterans in Floyd county who are eligible to receive bonus benefits. (This figure includes veterans of three wars and deceased veterans whose survivors are eligible.) She added that assistance in preparing bonus applications will be another service supplied by the Red Cross chapter.

STATE ALLOTS MARTIN FUNDS

Health Center Planned At Inez; Estimated Cost Of Structure, $54,000

The state allotted $13,500 for a new county health center at Inez, Friday, Finance Commissioner Robert R. Martin announced.

Estimated cost of the center is $54,000. Half of the cost will come from federal Hill-Burton funds, fourth from the state, and a fourth from a special 10-cents-per-$100 assessed valuation voted by Martin countyans.

The Martin County Health Department is now housed in rented quarters. Construction of the new center will begin by September 1.

The hospital and medical facilities division of the Department of Health said five new health centers in Butler, Wayne, Taylor, Lewis and Allen counties have been completed since last July 1.

Now under construction are centers in Franklin, Clay, Estill, Knott, Wolfe, Bracken, Grayson and Perry counties.

In addition, 43 other centers have been built with federal, state and local funds.

PAUL GREEN

Playwright Plans Wiley Park Visit

Paul Green, nationally-known playwright of Chapel Hill, N. C., will be in Prestonsburg, Wednesday of next week, to study plans to present an outdoor drama in Jenny Wiley State Park. Green was invited to come to Prestonsburg by the recently-organized drama association here.

Green, author of "Wilderness Road," which was presented for four years at Berea, and other successful plays, may be designated to write a drama depicting the Indian captivity of Jenny Wiley who settled after her escape in Johnson county. He was awarded the Pulitzer prize a few years ago for his work as playwright.

Members of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association held a conference April 9, at Mt. Sterling, with Kermit Hunter with a view to employing him to write the proposed play. Hunter, a teacher at Hollins College, Hollins, Va., is the author of "Unto These Hills," which is being offered again this year at Cherokee, N. C. He is also the author of "Horn in the West," running for the last few years at Boone, N. C.

A drama association spokesman said that one or the other of the playwrights will be asked to write the drama here.

Plans were formulated several months ago in a construction amphitheatre at the park costing $149,000. The play will be presented in either 1961 or 1962, depending on the availability of lodging and construction of the theatre.

AWARDS MADE TO LEADERS

In Boy Scout Work; Reed Presents Collins With Scoutmaster's Key

Outstanding adult volunteer Scout leaders were honored at an Appreciation Banquet held at the First Presbyterian church in Hazard recently. Principal speaker was Commander Thomas J. Keane, U.S.N. (Ret.), executive commissioner for relationships, Boy Scouts International Bureau.

Receiving the Silver Beaver, the highest award given on a local council level for outstanding service to boys, were H. O. Zimmerman, of Wheelwright, C. H. Wolfe, Jenkins H. A. Street, Grundy, Virginia. Tom Collins, of Troop No. 43, Grundy, Virginia, was awarded the Scoutmaster's Key.

J. Lincoln Kiser, national Council representative in charge of presenting the Silver Beaver awards, said that it was difficult for the nominating committee to make a selection because of the outstanding service of many men. Council president H. E. Greer, honoring Silver Beaver Award to C. H. Wolfe, of 55 such and commented that only in the awards had been given by Barber, Council since 1936. A. R. presented the Silver Beaver to H. A. Street, Grundy, Va., and praised his record of community service. Walter P. Walters, council president, presented the Silver Beaver to H. O. Zimmerman, of Wheelwright.

E. F. Reed, council executive board member, presented Tom Collins, Grundy, Va., with the Scoutmaster's Key. Mr. Reed pointed out that, no matter how many volunteers did the work of running the Council, ultimately the important man was the unselfish, devoted Scoutmaster. He also recognized the troop and pack committeemen, den mothers and district committeemen present.

Byron F. Pennebaker, Scout executive, introduced Commander Keane as one of the pioneers of Scouting. Commander Keane, in a short but moving address, told the story of his experience in Scouting since 1920. "I found that when leaders gather," Commander Keane stated, "60, 70 and sometimes 80 per cent had been trained in leadership" (See Story No. 5, Page 8)

SMALLWOOD IS CHARGED

Confession Is Signed By Clay Man In Death Of Patrick Near Hazard

Charged with the murder of Charlie Patrick, retired Garrett miner, is 18-year-old Elbert Smallwood, of Panko, Clay county, who last Wednesday signed a confession that he beat Patrick to death near Hazard the preceding Saturday night.

The victim was about 70 years old. His body was found on a mine road, approximately 1 1/2 miles from Hazard, and was beaten almost beyond recognition.

Hazard police quoted the youth as saying both he and Patrick were drunk and that Patrick hit him first. He admitted taking $20 from the older man's pockets after beating him to death.

Smallwood was quoted as saying he broke two clubs during the beating, then used one about four inches in diameter in finishing the killing. Officers said the slayer has a record of convictions on charges of breaking and entering, in Clay and Leslie counties.

Patrick's body was taken to Morgan county, place of his birth, for burial. The victim had worked for years in coal mines at Wayland and Garrett.

REVENUE LOSS SEEN THO ASSESSMENT UP

Although Floyd county's property assessment for tax purposes shows a gain this year of $1,862,061 over the 1959 assessment, the returns in tax dollars to the county from this source may be lower, it was indicated this week.

The possible loss is posed by the fact that the big increase in assessment was on stocks and bonds and other intangibles on which the county collects no tax, and also by the drop in values placed on real estate and improvements.

The assessment figures, Tax Commissioner Manis Conley said, are as they stood when the board of supervisors completed its work recently. They are yet to be approved by the State Department of Revenue.

The entire assessment for this year totals $27,141,890 as compared with $25,279,829 last year. But real estate and improvements dropped from $12,383,683 in 1959 to $11,908,021 this year.

The 1960 real estate assessment items follow, with the 1959 figures appearing in parentheses:

Residential property, $3,710,278 ($3,720,853); farm lands and improvements, $3,626,269 ($3,634,195); commercial and industrial buildings, $1,710,293 ($2,174,393); oil rights, $24,720 ($29,682); other mineral and timber rights 2,836,461 ($2,824,560).

Tangible property assessment also is down this year—from $7,294,675 to $7,230,715. One big item in this category, manufacturing machinery, is not subject to local taxes. The tangible assessment items are:

Autos and trucks, $2,803,298 ($2,411,477); merchants' inventory and manufactured finished goods, $999-

Beans Added To Diet As Protein Supplement Of Commodity Consumers

Beans soon will be added to the diet of needy persons receiving surplus food from the government in Eastern Kentucky and other depressed areas.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper said the Agriculture Department has informed him 18 million pounds of beans, obtained in the price support program, would be released to the states today.

Needy persons, Cooper said, "have been needing something that will stick to their ribs."

He said he has for years been urging the department to include more protein in the diet it serves to the needy to public institutions and in the school lunch program.

Cooper said he asked the department a year ago to set a date after which it would no longer attempt to sell the beans to recoup the money it paid for them.

The department set May 31 and the beans went unsold.

SPEAKER SAYS BUILDING BEST FOR PURPOSE

Plaque Is Unveiled, Building Is Dedicated To Memory of Victims

Two years of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad's planning and hard work were climaxed here Saturday by the dedication of its new building and a parade of its personnel and big store equipment along streets lined with hundreds of residents of the county.

Open house was observed during the week-end, and an estimated persons toured the two floors of big building which is located between Highland avenue and Colley Lane. Drawing keen attention were the squad's varied equipment which includes an amphibious Army "duck," boats, motors, trailers, trucks, rescuers, short-wave radio sets, searchlights and all paraphernalia used by modern rescue groups to meet emergencies. This equipment—all paid for—valued at $31,000.

The two-story, 80 x 50-foot block structure has on its first floor space for garage and storage of machinery; on the second, its assembly room, offices, lounge and kitchen. Its value was recently estimated at $30,000. The 14,735 man-hours of labor put into the building by squad members themselves and the contributions of cash and materials by many individuals and firms leave only $4,000 of the cost of the building unpaid.

Capt. Paul Medcalfe, of the Greenville, Tenn. Rescue Squad, delivered the dedicatory address. Capt. Medcalfe was one of who worked in Floyd county until 1958. He is searching for the 1958 school bus disaster which claimed the lives of 26 schoolchildren and the bus driver. He was instrumental in encouraging the Floyd county group to organize for future missions of assistance and mercy in time of emergency.

"This building," the speaker said, "is a monument to those who built it as well as a memorial to those in whose memory it was built."

Medcalfe said the $30,000 estimate of the value of the building is over-conservative. "I would place the value at twice that figure. I have never seen another Emergency and Rescue Squad building the equal of this one. It is a miracle to me that 22 men—the number they started with—could do so much."

And that was the view expressed over and over again by those who visited the structure.

A striking part of the dedicatory program was the unveiling of a plaque on the outside wall of the building, which reads:

"This squad was organized and building erected by a group of dedicated men who recognized the need of trained personnel as a result of the tragic school bus disaster of Feb. 28, 1958, in which 26 school children and the driver lost their lives. We dedicate this building and (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

CLIFF-PERCHING ACT AT ALLEN SENDS SQUAD ON RESCUE JAUNT; EMERGENCY 'POSSE' HALTS TRAIL

Bob Blanton cut himself a shine Saturday afternoon.

Officers said he, first of all, got some sort of intoxicant under his belt. Their attempt to arrest him in drunkenness led to other events the afternoon.

What followed caused a frantic search to be sent here to the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad, finding that a man was precariously perched on the cliff overlooking the way tracks at Allen, that he was unable to extricate himself from the perilous perch, and that help was needed, pronto.

This call came as dedication of the Emergency & Rescue Squad was ending, so the entire squad headed for Allen. There they joined the police, town police and a horning of 100 or more curious spectators.

Blanton had fled along the old road leading around the mountain from Allen to Prater Creek, and where the road had been cut by an earth slide had slid to the edge of the precipice overlooking the railroad. Pleas for him to climb back to safety evoked only discourteous remarks and tosses of gravel and rocks in the direction of would-be rescuers. Fears that he would lose his hold mounted. Once he began sliding toward the cliff's edge, and the crowd gasped, but he set his elbows down, breaking to a skin-scraping halt.

A Rescue Squad member moved to climb down to him, to attempt to persuade Blanton to return to safety with him, but his plan was cancelled by others who feared Blanton might tussle with him and throw them both over the cliff. Meanwhile, a manifest freight was flagged as it was feared Blanton might drop onto the tracks in front of it.

Finally, he indicated that if "those fellows in white" (rescue squad members) would withdraw, he would accept help. They did, a rope was lowered to him, and he was pulled to safety.

During the parleying with him Policeman Frank Crum, of Allen, promised Blanton he would not arrest him if he would return to safety. Crum kept his word. But state troopers had other ideas, and soon thereafter the erstwhile cliff-dweller was in the safety of the county jail here.

County Judge Henry Stumbo fined Blanton $10 and costs and added a 10-day jail term which he is now serving. "And if you ever pull another caper like that," the judge warned, "I'll give you six months."

"It was a pretty silly trick," the prisoner admitted to the judge.

Buck Vanderpool, 63, Of Estill, Is Victim; Funeral Held Friday

Buck Vanderpool, 63, of Estill, died at 3 p.m., Tuesday of last week at home. He was a merchant.

Mr. Vanderpool was a son of John and Martha Ann Vanderpool and the husband of Ida Vanderpool, who survives. Surviving sons and a daughter are: Eitel Vanderpool, of Estill; Walter Vanderpool, of Estill; and John Vanderpool, of Estill.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Baptist Bottom church, the Revs. Burton Howard and Emanuel Manns officiating. Burial was made in the Cooley cemetery under the direction of Hindman Funeral Home.

Let's be sure we get a change this time in our educational system.

I am running in Edu. Dist. 5 to vote with Ray Howard and John Hall to help them to improve education in Floyd county.

I will appreciate assistance from anyone who should want to help that lives outside my district.

JOE I. MAY

SPEAKER

Dr. Norman Tant, Morehead State College director of audiovisual education, will make the commencement address at the McDowell high school graduation program on Friday, June 10, at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Tant came to Morehead State College in 1952 from a principalship in Monroe, Georgia. He was born and reared in Georgia and received his education through the second year in college there. He received the bachelor of science degree at Jacksonville, Alabama State Teachers College in 1940.

After one year of teaching, he entered the U. S. Army and was sent to the Philippine Islands where he was stationed at the outbreak of war between Japan and this country. He is one of the few survivors of the Bataan Death March and the subsequent Japanese prison camps after the fall of the Philippines.

Dr. Tant earned the master of arts degree in 1948 and the doctor of philosophy degree in 1952 at George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tennessee. He is a former football and basketball coach.

The topic of the address will be, "Yin, or Yang?"

Two stepdaughters survive: Mrs. Geraldine Jarvis and Mrs. Mildred Morrison, both of Endicott. Surviving brothers and sisters are Edgar Ratliff, Columbus Ohio, Shirley Ratliff, of Pikeville, Graham Ratliff, in Michigan, Mrs. Lizzie Blackburn, of Williamson, W. Va., Mrs. Birdie Blackburn, of Gulgare, Mrs. Connie McCoy, of Thomas, Mrs. Zettie Morrison, Ann Arbor, Mich., and Mrs. Joetta Smith, of Heenon.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 11 a.m., from the Clark schoolhouse at Endicott, the Rev. Henry Crider officiating. Burial was made in the Clark cemetery under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

SEWING

Sewing synthetic fabrics so that the seams do not pucker requires special sewing techniques. Loosen tension on one or both threads; set the stitch regulator for 10 to 12 stitches per inch; sew at a slow and even speed. Stitching sheer fabrics over tissue paper also helps prevent puckering.

Application Deadline For Exams Is June 5

A Civil Service examination for young men interested in entering one of the Service Academies will be given on Monday, July 11. This examination is for young men interested in the Air Force, West Point, Naval and Merchant Marines Academies.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins said he would be glad to arrange for all interested persons to take this preliminary Civil Service examination and to supply them with a list of sample questions.

Young men who are interested in taking the examination should write to Congressman Carl D. Perkins, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. before June 5.

The test will be given in Ashland, Hazard, Lexington, Richmond and Paintsville.

For best results, buy cottage cheese from refrigerated cases at the store and keep it cool at home. Keep the container tightly closed to prevent drying and absorption of off-flavors from other foods.

Naval mines so intelligent they will select only the biggest, best and most important ships to blow themselves up under are being developed by underwater warfare experts at the Naval Ordnance Laboratory, Silver Springs, Maryland.

Miss Alma Conn and Miss Reeda Case were named valedictorian and salutatorian of the Betsy Layne high school senior class this year, according to an announcement by D. W. Howard, principal. The school will graduate 69 seniors. Miss Conn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Conn, of Dana, and Miss Case is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hassell Case, of Printer.

MAYTOWN

MRS. HAVER HOSTESS
The Maytown Woman's Club held its May meeting at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Haver in Allen. Mrs. Charles Felkner was co-hostess.

The new president, Mrs. C. L. Allen, called the meeting to order by asking for reports from the officers and committees. It was reported that $147 had been collected in Maytown during the Red Cross drive. The club purchased a floor-length mirror for the Home Economics department.

Mrs. Allen gave a very interesting report on her visit to the state conference which was held in Lexington recently.

Mrs. Charles Felkner was appointed chairman of the Yearbook committee.

The club presented a beautiful earring and bracelet set to Mrs. Paul Borders, outgoing president.

An honor club certificate was presented to the club for meeting all requirements for the past year's work.

A dessert course was served to Mesdames Roland Burchett, Paul Borders, George Patton, Theodore Gibson, C. L. Allen, Ivan Bouch, David Reed, Edward Robinson, L. E. Roberts and Charles Patton.

Mrs. L. E. Roberts and Mrs. Ivan Bouch were hostesses to the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the home of Mrs. Roberts, recently. Mrs. Jones Tallent presented the annual pledge service program.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Click had as their week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. James Hall, of Ypsilanti, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tackett, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tackett and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Little, of Weeksbury.

Mrs. Henry L. May spent several days last week with relatives in Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Hagans and Mrs. Virgil Moore and daughters of Waverly Ohio, spent the week-end with Mrs. Mary Ratliff. Mrs. Ratliff and companion, Mrs. Claudia Judd, returned with the Hagans for a two-week visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Patton and children attended the Carter high school graduation exercises in Carter county last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutton attended their granddaughter, Judy's, graduation in Nitro, W. Va., last week, while visiting Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Snoddy. From Nitro, they went to Covington to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crowe.

Mr. Sutton attended the Redlegs-Braves baseball game, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Patrick, of Dayton, Ohio, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Patrick. They motored to Salyersville Sunday, to visit other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey and Stannie spent Sunday with their son, Glennis, at Morehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Nellus Goodman, Butch and Patty, of Wilmington, Ohio, spent the week-end with Mrs. Bertha Click. Also visiting Mrs. Click, Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Frazier, of Weeksbury.

The many friends of Mrs. Hazel Kelly, who was seriously injured when struck by a car in New Mexico, will be pleased to learn that her condition has improved.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Maggard attended the graduation of Nicky Turner and Charlotte Maggard at the Bowling Green College of Commerce, May 23.

The Methodist Youth sub-district meeting was held here last week with 142 young people in attendance. The election of officers for the coming year was held. Miss Janet Harmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Harmon, will hold the office of president of the sub-district. Miss Melanie Conley will also hold an office.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen, of Ashland, were visiting relatives and friends here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Thompson have moved into one of the David Reed houses.

Devil's Jump on the South Fork near Stearns is one of Kentucky's most scenic attractions. It is an area where the normally wide river is compressed by high rocks down to a width of 10 feet or less, creating a stretch of frothy, swirling water an eighth of a mile long.

SEVEN GIVEN TEN HONORS

Floyd Countians Awarded Recognition In Sports; Woods Has High Grades

Pikeville, Ky. June 1 (Spl.)—Seven young Floyd county men received a total of 10 honors Saturday night for participation in Pikeville College's sport program during the year.

Vern Woods, the Bears' tallest man last basketball season, turned out to be the tallest scholastically also, as he won the Dr. Charles F. Wilson Academic Achievement Award, a cash prize for the basketball player with the highest grades. Woods held an average of 1.62 (quality credits per semester hour) out of a possible 3.0 for the year.

Everett Horn, Tomahawk, Ky., won the Dr. William C. Hambley Free-Throw Award, also in cash, for which at least 50 attempts during the season are required. Horn took exactly 50 tries, and sank 40 for an .800 mark, tops on the squad.

Walter Hambrick, Bears coach for four years in Pikeville's junior-college days, from 1951 to 1955, received an ovation for an inspirational talk. Academic Dean Redford Dameron was master of ceremonies.

Big Paul Setser and Archer Childers, both of Aukier, and Dick Brashar, Manton, doubled on the honors. The awards included:

To Setser, the jacket with a letter given to third-year lettermen on the Pikeville basketball squad, and a plaque for taking part in baseball; to Childers, a freshman basketball plaque and a baseball plaque; to Brashar, a jacket like Setser's, and a plaque for participation in golf; to Carlos Blankenship, Weeksbury, a plaque for baseball participation, and plaques also to Sam Martin, Jr. McDowell, in golf, and to Bill Brashar, Manton, and Billy Ray Tussey, Water Gap, for membership in Pikeville's first track team.

After having a runner picked off first base in each of the first two innings, the Tom Cats got to lefty Robert Shelton for two runs in the third. With one away, Eddie Ferguson started the uprising with a single. Steve Meyers and J. D. Minnehan walked and Ferguson scored on Ronnie Mayo's single. Myers came in when Gary Wright was given a pass.

Ashland added three more runs in the sixth.

"Confidence Gets Business—Satisfaction Keeps It"

For Eastern Kentucky
In Whitesburg Speech;
Special Works Urged

Whitesburg, Ky. — Lt. Governor Wilson W. Wyatt has offered a "bold, simple and practical" three-point plan which he is convinced would solve the economic plight of the Appalachian region, which includes Eastern Kentucky.

The plan which Wyatt outlined in a commencement address at Whitesburg high school, May 20, calls for a change in standards for federal aid in road and dam projects to put an end to the Appalachian region's "downward spiral."

Special works projects to bolster employment would also be part of the plan which, Wyatt said, "is based on the fundamental fact that in the Appalachian region the roads are bad and the creeks and rivers are unstable."

But existing federal standards for road and dam assistance, he said, prevent Eastern Kentucky and other "pockets of poverty" in the Appalachian region from qualifying for government help.

He said it is nothing new for this country to apply "the principle of special treatment of special problems in order to bring about special results."

His plan, he said "would require no new program, no new agency, no relief."

"It would require merely the realistic recognition of the simple fact that this area of the United States is entitled to a constructive solution."

In addition to Eastern Kentucky the area includes parts of Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Tennessee.

Wyatt called on the senators and congressmen from the six states to "join hands in a great regional effort to initiate and carry forward" his program.

It would be a new approach, he said, "different from any of the depressed-area bills which have been considered by either party."

There is no party line, he said, in the problem of the Appalachian region.

Wyatt's program calls for a three-pronged attack:

1. Roads. The standard formula for determining federal aid in road building is traffic count, he said. But in the Appalachian region there are almost no major roads and consequently no major traffic. Therefore, he said "interstate highways under the present formula cannot be built." The solution: restate the formula.

2. Dams. Dams to halt flash floods and impound industrial and recreational water can be built, he said, "provided something known as the economic feasibility test is adequately met." For this special region, he said, "there should be applied a special rule of feasibility that will recognize the special problem."

District Homemakers
Meet In Johnson-Co.;
Miss Prater Presides

Kay Prater, of Salyersville, presided at the Big Sandy district meeting of the Future Homemakers of America which met Saturday, May 14, at Meade Memorial high school. Theme of the meeting was "FHA-ers in Teens with a Purpose." Schools represented were Feds Creek, Johns Creek, Biefry Elk-horn City, Mullins, McDowell, Prestonsburg, Salyersville, Oil Springs and Meade Memorial. About 150 girls and their advisers attended the meeting.

Shelby Prater, of Prestonsburg, was chosen to be president of the group for 1960-61. Other officers elected were: first vice-president, Connie Hackney, Oil Springs; second vice-president, Linda Collier; secretary, Gail Lawson, McDowell; treasurer, Janice Music, Meade Memorial; parliamentarian, Linda Colvin, Meade Memorial; historian, Glendora Blackburn, Johns Creek; reporter, Julia Hackney, Elkhorn City; recreation leader, Margaret Stone, Prestonsburg. Miss Hazel Hill is the district adviser.

Miss Patti Bolin, head of the Home Economics department, Morehead State College, spoke to the group about "Their Future with Home Economics." Mrs. Betty Dale, a teacher and a homemaker, told of the pleasures and satisfactions of being a professional person as well as a homemaker. A representative of Frall's Department Store, Paintsville, demonstrated the use of accessories with a basic dress and how the dress could be used for so many different occasions.

The group was entertained by a dance band from Meade Memorial and each school presented special talent. A cake walk was held at noon, and the proceeds were used for the scholarship fund. Each chapter answered roll call by telling how their chapter had participated in the Friendship to Korea project.

The meeting adjourned with the impressive candlelight service for installing the new officers.

Three Honor Students Named

BARBARA ANN CARTER

CAROLYN AKERS

JANNIS SUE SALYERS

Miss Barbara Ann Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carter, of Prestonsburg, has been named valedictorian of the 1960 graduating class of Prestonsburg high school, and Miss Carolyn Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Akers, of Dwale, will be salutatorian.

Miss Carter has maintained an all-A, 4-point standing during her four years in high school. Miss Akers' standing is 3.96.

Miss Jannis Sue Salyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Callie Salyer, of the Middle Creek road, won third honors and was selected historian of the class. She also was chosen by the faculty and student body for the Good Citizenship Award sponsored by John Graham Chapter, D.A.R.

These pupils have also been active in the extra-curricular activities of the school. Miss Carter was president of the Y-Teens and attended the Youth Assembly in Frankfort for three sessions. For her work as a member of the cabinet she was commissioned a Kentucky Colonel. She served as accompanist of the glee club, was of the senior class, editor of the local chapter of the National Honor Society, and of the P-Club. She also was a cheerleader.

Miss Akers was president of the Tri-Hi-Y, secretary of the local National Honor Society, treasurer of the Senior Class, editor of the Hi-Times, member of the annual staff, member of the junior historical society and of the dramatics club.

Other pupils ranking in the upper 10 per cent of the class and who will participate in class night exercises on Monday evening, June 6, in the high school gymnasium here are Eunice Marie Craft, Sharon Allen, William Allen, Betty Jean Rowe, Jo Ann Setser, Judy Smiley, Brenda Stepp, Carol Howell, Patty Ann Smith, Tommy Cole, Alpledha Campbell, Virginia Ann Allen and Joyce Bingham.

Whether to produce and feed corn silage to their cows, or to feed them hay-crop silage is a question many Kentucky dairymen are asking.

Mormon Conference Slated at Martin

District conference of the Church of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) will be held at the Martin church Sunday, June 5, with Frank Brown, district president, as the speaker. Two sessions will be held—at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. President Brown will be accompanied to Martin by the mission staff.

HOLD YOUR FIRE, MEN!
WE DIDN'T WRITE THIS

The most miserable citizens in the United States are the 7,000,000 mountain dwellers in this and 15 other states, according to the current (June 4) issue of 'The Saturday Evening Post.'

These hill people in Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and elsewhere live in abject poverty due to causes largely beyond their control, Jerome Ellison reports in an article entitled, "The Plight of the Hill People."

He cites the case of Jake Smith, a composite of many men. His annual crop income of $1,120 is above average in Elliott county, Ky., where he lives, but it gives him not quite 40 cents a person a day to feed, clothe, shelter and educate his family of five.

"Jake's plight cannot be ascribed to sloth, stupidity or debauchery," Ellison writes. "As the average citizen of his county, he is of normal intelligence, works hard, belongs to the Baptist church, is in good health, a teetotaler and in the prime of life. His predicament is a common one."

Ellison says that for a long time the problems of the mountain folk were remote enough from other citizens to be regarded as merely "colorful." But not all hill dwellers are tidy teetotalers like Jake Smith. When the boom brought "the hillbillies" swarming to the city for factory jobs, even crime-hardened Chicago was stunned by the hurly-burly of violence, bawdiness, drunkenness and dirt occasioned by the newcomers.

For the first time since the Great Depression, it is noted, there was something like a national emergency about native Americans who know what it's like to be really poor.

Mrs. Linda Thornsbury,
Age 56, Hueysville, Dies
Of Heart Attack, Friday

Mrs. Linda Thornsbury 56, of Hueysville, died at home Friday of a heart attack. She was a daughter of the late Johnny and Hulda Isaac, of Knott county, and the wife of Cecil Thornsbury, who survives.

Surviving sons and daughters are Hager, Clarendia, Nance, Marie and Merline Thornsbury, all at home, Mrs. Arizona Isaac, and Mrs. Oma Johnson, both of Hall, Mrs. Rose Isaac, Hueysville, Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, Kendallville, Ind., Mrs. Irene Isaac, of Estill, and Miss Anna Thornsbury, in New York. Surviving brothers and sisters are Hiram Caudill, Stacy Caudill, Carlos Caudill, Kathleen Caudill and Cora Caudill, all of Knott county.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m., Monday, at the Dry Creek Regular Baptist church, Revs. Ellis Hopkins, Troy Nickles, and George Cook officiating. Burial was made in the Caudill cemetery on Dry Creek under the direction of Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Connors Observe Fiftieth Anniversary, May 29

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Connors, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wells, Georgetown, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. James Paul Connors, of Auxier, Tenn. of 12 grandchildren were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Connors were married at Alma, Tennessee, May 1, 1910. Mrs. Connors is the former Delphia West, of Onedia, Tennessee. They have lived at Auxier for 43 years. Mr. Connors is 71 years old and Mrs. Connors is 65.

State Trooper Jerry Combs spotted a truck bearing the loot.

William Arrowood, owner of the hardware store entered here, said 10 shotguns, about $400 in cash and an undetermined quantity of ammunition were taken. The thieves effected entrance from the rear of the store, climbing onto a low addition to the main structure and entering the store through a second-story window.

The looters used a pole-ax from the store's stock to break the dial and handle of the safe, also ruining six gloves from the store which they apparently used to wrap the handle and dial and thus deaden the sound of the hammering.

An open cash register containing small change was untouched. State and city police are investigating the break.

Deputy Sheriffs Joe Wheeler and Harold Lewis jailed James Johnson and Silas Woodrow Elkins on grand larceny charges and Eugene Counts for breaking and entering Tuesday in a Wheelwright theft. Except for these and the arrests in the Francis mine case, the thieves have not been identified.

through Scouting." Commander Keane went on to say that when he stepped a ship, he attempted to get as many former Eagle Scouts as possible. "I could teach them the skill of seamanship," he said, "but I knew these men had already had four years of training that I had not the time to give them—training in self-reliance, adaptability and resourcefulness—the three qualities of leadership learned in Scouting."

Wyatt did not suggest how the formulas should be restated, but he said the road and dam projects should be undertaken in connection with his third point of attack:

3. Work projects. There exists in this region, he said, "just as great a need today for special work projects as the country had need for them generally during the Depression." He said they should include "the worthwhile projects of taking the silt from the streams, treating the areas of erosion, reforesting great areas and so forth."

The plight of Eastern Kentucky was stressed recently by Wyatt in an appearance before the House and Senate Public Works Appropriations Subcommittees in Washington in seeking increased funds for Kentucky flood control and navigation projects.

He told the subcommittee that "In Eastern Kentucky a very critical and special development problem exists. This is the part of our state which lies in the mountainous Appalachian region. We have become acutely aware of the unusual frustrations which are borne by the people of this region. Principal among these concerns are two: the terrible and constant fear of flash floods, and the serious problem of isolation which stems from an inadequate system of mountain roadways."

Wyatt said that Kentucky and its local communities are soon to reach their maximum effort in development work, but added that "Beyond this point it is inevitable that we look to the federal government for assistance."

AMERICAN FAMILIES EAT

Americans ate more than $500 million worth of frozen prepared dishes last year—mostly in convenient containers that could be thrown away after use, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Almost one in three cups of coffee now is made from instant coffee.

80-Yr Victim Of Rheumatic Pain

Recently an 80-year-old lady said she always enjoyed health until 3 years ago when rheumatic pains afflicted her entire right side. She said she tried everything she heard of but never got any real relief until she found RUGON. Now she says she can walk without pain and enjoys life once again.

RUGON is helping so many victims of rheumatism and neuritis because this NEW Liquid Formula contains Three Wonderful Ingredients. Not a tablet or capsule. RUGON goes to the very source of pain almost at once and costs but a few cents a day to take. So don't go on suffering. Get RUGON at W. A. Rose Drug Co.

The plaque was unveiled by Mrs. James B. Goble, of Emma, mother of two of the children lost in the bus tragedy, and Mrs. Graham Burchett, wife of the captain of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad.

Capt. Burchett presided at the dedication as master of ceremonies. The invocation and benediction were pronounced by the Rev. M. Robert Regan, squad chaplain.

The morning parade, staged in threatening weather, included the rescue squads of Floyd and Pike counties and of Greeneville and Morristown, Tennessee, and the bands of Prestonsburg, McDowell, Maytown, Martin and Wheelwright high schools.

THE RESULTS

"Make a better mousetrap and the world will beat a path to your door." Elbert Hubbard advised years ago. The story is told of a man from Chicago receiving as a gift while visiting in this county a pint of the "best" moonshine whiskey produced hereabouts. He took it with him.

"Now look what you've done," exclaimed a friend of the donor of the bottled goods, a few days later, pointing to a special train loaded with company officials from Chicago.

Graduation Day is a proud day and we are as proud and happy as your parents, friends and fellow students.

The First National Bank is proud, indeed. Your effort and academic standing are indicative of your contribution to the future of our region. Graduation from high school is but the first long step to success but you have taken it with honors after years of study. In you lies our hope for the progress and advancement of Eastern Kentucky.

Again, we congratulate you and at this happy we extend our very best wishes. Wherever you go and whatever you aspire to accomplish, may success reward you.

MARTIN
The Allen-Martin Woman's Club met May 16 with Mrs. I. A. Combs at Maytown for its regular monthly program meeting. Mrs. Hazel Adams was program leader for the evening and presented George Lee Shannon, architect from Prestonsburg, who gave an interesting talk on architecture and the home.

The club members were pleased to hear the delegates to the Federation meeting held in Lexington the week of May 10, report that the club had received first prize for a painting submitted by Mrs. Combs and two certificates for being one hundred percent for CARE and a Hundred Percent Club.

Mrs. Combs served a dessert to the following members: Marjorie Sammons, Hazel Adams, Florence Marshall, Katherine Hall, Jerry Martin, Jane Allen, Nell Music, Ann Seutehfield, Frances Sherman, Linda Hall, Auda Lee Hall, Dorothy Martin, Mrs. David Morris, Dora Spradlin and Mrs. I. A. Combs.

REPORTER 'LOGS' DAY IN LIFE OF GOVERNOR

By MALCOLM PATTERSON
Frankfort, Ky.—This is the log-account of one day in the life of Kentucky's governor, Bert T. Combs, who's campaigning again—on issues now, not for public office.

Whether typical or not, the governor's work day seemed hectic to this accompanying reporter and left him bone-tired. It extended over 14 hours and involved travel on foot, by car and plane. Combs made appearances in three cities and met scores of people, most of whom chatted with him briefly. If some had been more long-winded, we'd have gotten more behind schedule than occurred late in the day.

Governor Combs, far more used to such a pace, appeared to take this day, less pressure-packed than those of last winter's legislative session, in stride. He had kindly consented to this reporter's request to go along to log the governor's day. It went like this:

8:47 a.m.—Bareheaded and clad in a dark blue suit, raincoat and black shoes, Combs and his driver, State Police Sgt. John Ed Tomlinson, formerly of Lawrenceburg, arrived at the governor's Capitol office, having walked over from the mansion. Before Combs could get to his private office, he was buttonholed in the reception room by Ed Eastarley, the governor's press secretary, checking on the day's schedule of activities.

8:50—In and out of Combs' office were Miss Cattie Lou Miller, from Horse Cave; Wendell Ford, Owensboro, and Robert Matthews, Shelbyville, of the administrative staff. And Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, Frankfort, a Capitol receptionist-guide, brought in the first of a stream of visitors, most of whom arrived later in the day.

9:02—Off with Tomlinson and the reporters for Lexington, after the staff conference, for a talk at the annual meeting, Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. Combs passed along orders to Capitol lawn workers to police up the grounds and in progress. Hopping into the and expressly the hillside near the mansion, where new flower plant-front seat of his Buick sedan alongside the drive, the governor soon was out, stopping near the mansion "to take a gander at the garden." His pride and joy: five-foot-tall tomato plant (Rutgers variety) in the greenhouse. He remarked to prison trustees mending stone walls, "This looks much better."

9:08—Away to Lexington, talking about putting the Old Capitol, headquarters of the Kentucky Historical Society, on an open-daily operation. Kentucky has a great tourist attraction in Frankfort, Combs said, the New and Old Capitols as well as many other historic places.

9:15—In the next few weeks, the governor told the reporter, he hopes to hold meetings over the state, taking his staff along, to learn more of the needs of Kentuckians and not have to have them make long trips to Frankfort. "I can drop in on state institutions unannounced" during these trips, he added.

9:27—Combs looked over typed notes of his talk, checked the clubs' program as a light drizzle added to the discomfort of a dark, chilly day this Thursday, May 12.

9:45—Arriving at Phoenix hotel in Lexington, Combs remarked to clubwomen at the reception desk their coffee looked good and promptly Mrs. George Cohen, of Mt. Sterling, formerly of Prestonsburg, the governor's hometown, and Mrs. Wyatt Wood, Williamsburg, served coffee to Combs and the reporter.

10—The governor, Lexington Leader reporter Graydon Hambrick and the writer found they were the only men in the convention hall. Combs adjusted a microphone in a do-it-yourself day (he later was carrying his own traveling bag and finding his way around meeting places) and urged support for a limited revision of Kentucky's 69-year-old Constitution and approval of a $100,000,000 road and park bond issue this November. He said he found during his campaign that education was most on the minds of most Kentuckians. He asked for leaders to explain the state's new sales tax program as a pillar of support for increased aid to public education.

10:20—Combs said he had asked to be allowed to make the address, terming the women's organization one of the most influential groups of leaders in Kentucky. As he made his way out the center aisle, shaking hands, he paused as a resolution was voted upon. Unanimously, the clubwomen approved support of the proposed limited constitutional convention. Facing the clubwomen's president, Mrs. W. B. Frazier, Bourbonville, and then turning to others as he spoke, Combs said, "I thank you very much."

10:25—Left for Frankfort, the car radio on. Asked about the Floyd county license on the sedan, instead of a yellow state tag, Combs said the latter would "attract too much attention." Traveling Combs mostly listened to the radio, but in reply to questions said: He'd quit smoking in 1955 after an appendix operation before he first ran for governor, now was 48 (being born on a Friday the 13th), weighed 162 and was five-feet 10-inches tall. The smoking reporter reflected his weight was the same, but on a six-foot two-inch frame, and the governor mused that the smoking perhaps made the weight difference.

11:05—Combs stopped for a talk with a Frankfort friend and soon arrived at the Capitol, where more than a half-dozen busloads of school children, their high voices echoing through the corridors, were seeing the sights. (Combs ducks out of his office to speak with the various groups.)

11:43—House Democratic Majority Leader Tom Ray encountered Combs near a side door of the governor's private office, declaring "I want to see you just two seconds." Into the office they went, finding Agriculture Commissioner Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp and a few others waiting. A secretary related that in the governor's absence, long lines of school children had been shown through his office, which now had eight men and women waiting to see the governor, some with, some without appointments.

Noon—Luncheon at mansion with nearly a half-hundred educators from throughout the state, discussions centering on a whole range of school subjects and the state's new education and tax programs.

1:55—Luncheon meeting broke up but it was 10 minutes later before the soodbye-saying was over.

2:07—Back to office, which had accumulated more visitors to see the governor—and so it went until 3 p.m., scheduled departure time for a flight to Louisville, with visitors remarking to secretaries, "I really want to see him." "Be only about two minutes." To save time, these young women at the reception desks have worked out a system similar to that employed by some doctors who put waiting patients into a series of cubicles with the doctor going from one to another. Combs met with some in his office and others in various parts of the huge nearby conference room. With him moving around, incoming and outgoing visitors can be shepherded by staff personnel, instead of visitors entering and leaving one room.

Johnson Participates In Science Program

Larry Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Johnson, Prestonsburg, has been selected as one of the 48 summer participants in the University of Tennessee's National Science Foundation program in science for high school sophomores.

All expenses will be paid by the University of Tennessee with the exception of meals. Competition for places in the program were received by the U. of Tennessee from 300 high schools located in eight states. The program will last six weeks.

Morris Offers Advice On Social Security

"Some self-employed farm operators as well as some other self-employed people have the idea that by paying two years social security self-employment tax just before reaching retirement age will qualify them for social security monthly payments," James A. Morris, field representative of the Social Security Administration, Pikeville, said recently. "Although it is true that any self-employed person who reached retirement age before July, 1955, may qualify for monthly social security payments if he has had two years of coverage in a trade or business covered under the social security law, it is also true that such persons reaching retirement age after that date will usually require more than two years of coverage," he said.

As an example, any self-employed individual reaching retirement age after June, 1955, and before July, 1961, may require from three to five years coverage, depending on his date of birth. After that date he will require more than five years coverage until finally, self-employed individual reaching retirement age after June, 1969, or later will require a minimum of at least ten years' social security coverage in order to qualify for monthly payments.

Social security coverage for self-employed individuals is not voluntary. It is compulsory under the social security law if a person nets $400 or more in a taxable year from a trade or business covered by the law. "So be safe, not sorry, by filing timely social security tax returns through the Director of Internal Revenue," Morris concluded.

Preliminary Survey Shows Soil, Water Needs In Floyd County, Noted

L. R. Johnson, of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, last week released preliminary figures on soil and water conservation needs for this county.

Johnson, who is chairman of the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation Needs Committee, was given assistance from ASC Daniel Akers, Lewis Burchett, William Hicks and Elder Goble, county agent Bob Jones and Bill Music, of the Forestry Department, in getting the information together.

Conservation needs figures are used by the supervisor of the Floyd county S.C.D. in working with the various agencies to develop an annual district plan for 1960.

The preliminary figures arrived at by the committee show that in 1975, 9,785 acres will be used for row crops, cane and truck crops; 23,242 acres will be used for permanent pasture and 201,131 acres are projected to be in woods.

Members of the board of supervisors of the Floyd soil conservation district are J. B. Clarke, Roy Denney, Billy Merritt, R. C. Barnett and Mill Stanley.

NOTICE
We are authorized to announce Mrs. W. D. Osborne, of Bypro, Ky., as a candidate for member of the Floyd County Board of Education Educational Division No. 4.

Our Historic Heritage

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky
(No. 94 in a Series)

THE NEW BREAKS INTERSTATE PARK NEAR ELKHORN CITY
The Breaks Interstate Park area lies athwart the Virginia and Kentucky border. Here the Russell Fork River cascades downward toward the "Breaks," where it has cut its way through Cumberland Mountain to form what has been called The Grand Canyon of the South.

The Breaks Interstate Park is the result of a dream by conservationists, led by Kelly Day, Pikeville businessman. It was John Fox, Jr., who first brought the area to the notice of the world. Fox's enthusiastic stories on the region induced Day to visit the area decades ago. The park is rapidly becoming a "must" for thousands of American tourists.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of our scenic region as a bit of its friendly service with the hope they will contribute to your understanding of our historic heritage.

for the things you want

This is the Kingswood 4-Door 9-Passenger Station Wagon

With wagons like this one in the lineup, it's no wonder Chevrolet is the most popular car in the whole U. S. All five Chevy wagons, 6- and 9-passenger models, are widest where wagons should be wide—with comfortable seating space that becomes up to 92-cu. ft. of cargo area by a simple adjustment. All five feature all the things that are making Chevrolet first choice, too: FULL COIL SUSPENSION cushioning all four wheels... an ECONOMY TURBO-FIRE V8 that gets up to 10% more miles to the gallon on regular gas, or that well-known savior, the HI-THRIFT 6... the shift-free smoothness of TURBOGLIDE... a wider front seat and more entrance height in Chevy's roomier BODY BY FISHER than you'll find in any other car of the leading low-priced 3. BOY,
AM I
NUTS!

A Letter To My Friends:

I took a load of Scrap Iron, Copper, Brass and some other metals to Ashland, and didn't get a dime more outa it than Mountain Metal Company, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, offered me.

That's the second time I have goofed.

I can see now when prices fall at Mountain Metal they do ever where else, so they ain't no use luggin Scrap another hundred miles when you can get just as gooda deal clost to home, it's down right foolish.

Old McCoy at Mountain Metal has allus done right by me, and I didn't realize it, till I goofed coupla times takin a loada Scrap away down the river, and didn't get a blame cent more outa it, time I figured my headaches and expenses.

Once I plum lost on a load, I blowed a tire and the dang tire blow out got me checked by the police, I got stuck with bad brakes, lights and the load had shifted and they fussed like the devil about that, and gave me fair warning that I better straighten up and fly right, and if I come back I better be right.

So being so blamed disgusted, I said to myself old boy if I get outa this mess them fellers in Ashland ain't never gona see me again, I'll take 'er to that Irishman at Mountain Metal Company, sometimes he's a hateful cuss, but by jove he'll weigh you right and pay you right, if ye get your Scrap clean, and not a lot of rags, wood and dirt in it, all ye gotta do is burn your car bodies and keep the dirt outa your Iron and Coy will do ye right.

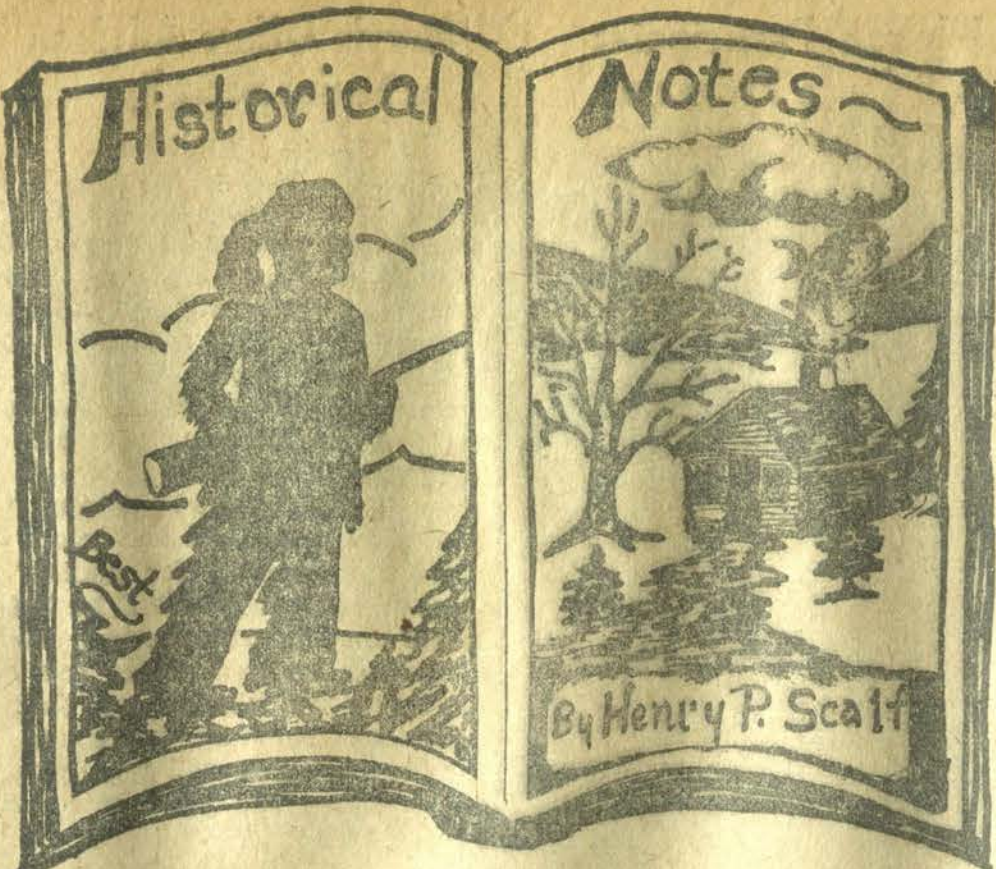

McCoy tells me the Scrap is awful low now, he says the big reason is, them Ferners is shippin steel into this country cheaper than our mills can make it. We lost our markets over seas. Knowed blame well some body'd fool around and throw a sprag in the wheel.

Well I tell ye when it gets too cheap to haul to Mountain Metal, I'll pile 'er up, and when I get tired pilin 'er up I'll haul it to Mountain Metal. Whether the price is high or the price is low Mountain Metal Company is the best place to go.

Now I'm just right well pleased to give you this bit of writin, and ifn ye don't believe what I'm tellin ye, just you go right ahead and learn the hard way like I did.

I've been scrappin nigh onto fifteen years now, and a man oughta learn somethin in that time.

Your friend,

STEAMBOATS AND TIMBER

We are indebted to James Borders, of Paintsville, an old river pilot of the Big Sandy, for the names of many steamboats that plied the river trade.

The Borders list follows:
Tom Hatcher, Dew Drop, Red Buck, Jerry Osborne I, Mountain Boy, Mountain Girl, Sonoma, Tom Spurlock, Lexington, Fair Play, Elec Yost, Josie Harkins, John C. Hopkins, Cando, Donkey, Lena Leota, Guyandotte, Willie Jones, Frank Preston, Maxie Yost, Vincennes, Hatton, Cricket, Sipp Bays, Beclah Brown, Big Sandy, Sandy Valley I, Thealka, Argand, Favorite, Dr. York, Miles H., Andy Hatcher, Mary L. Hatcher, Sea Gull, Independent, Sandy Valley II, Fanny Freese, Wild Boy, Louisa, Dexter, Ingomar.

There were other boats mentioned recently to this columnist by oldsters who knew the river trade before the days of the railway. There were the Sandy Fashion, Jerry Osborne I, Jerry Osborne II, Tom Hackney, Sam Cravens, Fleetwing, Sally Freese, Sea Lion (towing) and others.

Noted by oldsters who had information from others of another generation on the Big Sandy timber trade was that Capt. William Callihan rafted timber and reassembled it at Catlettsburg for transshipment to Cincinnati. This was before Catlettsburg itself became a great hardwood timber market.

Buyers of timber in the Big Sandy region were D. D. Geiger, Hansford Kinner, James Bertram, Mordecai Williams, John Meek, Robert Eastham, specializing in the purchase of round timber were the firms of Vinson, Goble, Prichard, Williamson & Hampton; Vansant & Kitchen Company, C. Crove & Co., Yellow Poplar Lumber Company.

Catlettsburg was the scene of the feverish timber industry in the years following the Civil War. In the years 1864-1865, when the timber business was getting started after the war, Henry M. Childs provided wharf boats and a landing below the city that entered into competition with the city wharf. Capt. Washington Honshell, owner of the White Collar Line, patronized the private wharf. There was much litigation over wharfage between the city and private wharf operators.

A river captain much mentioned by oldsters is Capt. Hiram Davis, of the Sandy Valley. This was the boat commanded by Col. James A. Garfield for use in transporting supplies to Union troops from Catlettsburg to Pikeville. John W. Dillon was chief engineer. Other Big Sandy River captains were John Layne, George Dixon, Charles Grover, Hiram Tyler, Henry Hager, Milton Freese, David Garred, Sol Williamson, Alex Smiley, O. C. Bowles, John Hopkins, Dol Vinson, Marion Spurlock, Green Meek, Jonathan Parsons, John McGuire. Pilots were Lute Anderson, Jim Davis, Rector Vaughan, William Vaughan, Jim Welch, John Welch, John McSorley, Wilbur Callihan, Sam Gallagher, Sol Williamson, George Killen, Albert Fulkerson, George McGuire, Isadore Garred, Taylor Davis, Charlie Stafford, Wash Davis, Will Ward, Fons Osborne, Rhodes Owens, William Smiley, Rush Williamson.

COURT OF INQUIRY RECORDS

The voluminous record of the Court of Inquiry held by County Judge Henry Stumbo on the school bus tragedy here in February, 1958, was by order of Circuit Court turned over to the Kentucky Historical Society. It was delivered to Frankfort by Charles F. Hinds, former secretary-treasurer of the Society. G. Glenn Cliff, assistant secretary of the society, writes about the disposition of the records: "The trial reports of the school bus tragedy were duly brought in to me by Mr. Hinds and are now a part of the archival materials received in 1960. "My initial treatment of such materials is to describe the data, date of acquisition, source, etc., and nature of restrictions as to use, if any. These descriptions are published in the quarterly we issue under the heading "Manuscript Acquisitions in Kentucky" during the year. After that, the material is indexed and placed on file in our manuscripts collection. "I am glad to get these reports and to have them a part of the Commonwealth's records.

MRS. WELCH WRITES

As evidence that Historical Notes serves a purpose in bringing people together who are engaged in genealogical research is a letter, from Mrs. W. H. Welch, 2700 Sea Island Drive, Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Recently this column ran several letters from her, highly interesting ones, too. "I have had several people write me since the article on the Coxes came out. One woman from California wrote on the Terrill family. I invite correspondence from anyone interested in the name."

Ground Breaking Set For New Student Center At Pikeville College

Pikeville, Ky., June 1 (Spl.)—Ground will be broken for Pikeville College's proposed student center at 5:30 p.m., Saturday (June 4), immediately before the annual banquet of the Pikeville College Alumni Association.

Dr. A. A. Page, will be the chief speaker at the banquet, which will feature also activities honoring 25th and 50th-year classes, those of 1935 and 1910. Members of this year's graduating classes will attend the banquet as guests of the association.

The student center to be built by the college's student labor and maintenance men, is expected to be completed in about a year for $40,000, well below the estimated $100,000 cost of commercial construction. Its 9,600 square feet, on four floors, are to include a student lounge and snack bar, the college bookstore, recreation and meeting rooms, and other facilities.

Occupying 50 feet along Sycamore street just north of the log cabin now used as a student center, it will be 72 feet deep, and will rise one story above Sycamore street on the entrance side. Space under the top floor will be used to make the building four stories high at the back.

Tickets for the banquet have been placed with Homer Wright, Prestonsburg, it was announced.

Oldest Brick House In West Is Made Shrine

The oldest brick house in Kentucky and the West, built about 1783, was called the "guardian of the Wilderness Road."

From this pioneer mansion between Stanford and Crab Orchard, Ky., its builder Col. William Whitley led his private militia to protect settlers and travelers along the Wilderness Road from marauding Indians when it was just a trace through the forests.

Now restored as a Kentucky state shrine, the house, where George Rogers Clark and Gov. Isaac Shelby were guests, was the center of the religious, political and social life of the Transylvania region.

Since the house served as a fort and stockade as well as a home, first floor windows were placed high above the ground to prevent Indians from shooting accurately inside. A third floor ballroom contains a secret corridor that was used for hiding women and children during attack.

The bricks, made on the site, were laid in Flemish bond, with slightly darker bricks used to form diamond patterns on the gable ends. The initials "WW" on the front of the house and "EW" (Whitley's wife, Esther) in the rear were set in lighter bricks. Thirteen panels over the parlor mantel symbolize the 13 colonies. The handrail of the stairway balustrade curves downward and outward to form the newel. The elaborately hand-carved doors, swung on leather hinges, consisted of two layers of wood with a heavy sheet of iron between. A basement dungeon was used to imprison captured Indians. The interior of the house displays much more elegance than the plain exterior.

Because the home overlooked Kentucky's first race track, it was called "Sportsman's Hill." It was considered a haven of safety and hospitality to those who traveled in the wilderness.

Whitley, born in Virginia in 1794, had been awarded a grant of 10,000 acres in recognition of his military services. Though 60 years old when the War of 1812 broke out, he disregarded his previous service and rank and enlisted as a private. He was killed in the Battle of the River Thomas in 1813.

Bookmobiles Satisfy Thirst For Knowledge

Frankfort, June 2 (Spl.)—People of rural Kentucky thirst for knowledge, success of the bookmobile program has dramatized.

The program has grown prodigiously since 1953 when Mary Belknap Gray, Louisville, gave four bookmobiles to the State Library Extension Division for use in rural Kentucky.

The state now has 96 bookmobiles. The travelling libraries, each loaded with about 1,000 volumes, make regular circuits through their territories. Two counties usually comprise a territory and the bookmobile is based at one county library.

Bookmobiles are received so enthusiastically that they've elicited testimonials from thousands of borrowers. Miss Margaret Willis, director of Library Extension, has a file of the letters.

A Russell Springs woman wrote Miss Willis "I wanted to write and tell you how we appreciate the bookmobile of this county. There are so many books to choose from."

Children write most often. A little girl from Sunnybrook wrote: "Just a line to tell you we sure enjoy the bookmobile. It sure is a lot of past-time."

For many bookmobile borrowers, the librarian is the only "stranger" they see in weeks. One teacher wrote, during the heavy snow last winter, "If you can't come to our school, try to get to the store, and we'll meet you."

Ordinarily the bookmobiles run on rigid schedules—every two weeks—and rural wives can depend on having a pleasant chat while making book selections.

Librarians say the Civil War is a popular area of reading for most borrowers in rural areas. So are books by Janice Holt Giles and Jesse Stuart.

The state has been spending $60,000 a year for bookmobile books—selected, purchased, catalogued and processed at Library Extension headquarters in Frankfort.

The new budget calls for an annual outlay of $100,000 for books, and $50,000 to counties for library and bookmobile maintenance.

And in the next two years, as bookmobiles wear out, the state will spend $181,000 for 23 replacements at about $7,500 each. The new bookmobiles will haul some 3,000 volumes—three times the number carried by the old trucks, which in many cases were converted ambulances.

McGuire Named President

John D. McGuire was recently elected president of the Kentucky Vocational Association. He was born July 5, 1911, at Lexington, and attended Lexington Public Schools and graduated from Henry Clay high school before attending the College of Commerce at the University of Kentucky. All agriculture, home economics and shop teachers in this county belong to the Kentucky Vocational Association. McGuire resided in Chicago, Ill., from 1933 to 1939, and was employed by Marshall Field & Co., wholesale division, and the Pullman Company, engineering department. He returned to Kentucky in 1939 and was employed by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company until he entered the U. S. Army Air Force in 1944. He served in the China, Burma and the India Theater of operations until 1946.

AGENTS DIRECT CONTACTS THAT RUN INTO THOUSANDS

How would you like to read a newspaper of 220 pages? Or listen to a radio program that went on for 17,560 minutes? Or a television program that lasted 10 hours straight? You couldn't take it, of course, nor could you stand to read at one sitting 204,000 letters on more than 2,000 different subjects. But that's what Kentuckians did one month last year, the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service said this week. A 1959 survey in the state's 120 counties showed that volume of "business" on Extension Service affairs.

Two Famous Trees Stood At Frankfort

Two trees on the south lawn of the Old Capitol here have figured prominently in the history of Kentucky.

One is known as the Inauguration Elm. For more than 100 years the governors of Kentucky took the oath of office under it.

The other is a hackberry. It received the bullet that passed through and killed Gov. William Goebel on January 30, 1900.

Elm trees have become symbolic of American public life. Indians used them as council trees. William Penn and Daniel Boone made treaties with Indian tribes under these trees. George Washington took command of the Continental Armies under an elm tree.

The Inauguration Elm has a limb spread of 90 feet and is more than 80 feet tall. Its circumference is more than 10 feet.

The death bullet entered Goebel's body near the right breast, broke a rib and exited through his back with enough force to lodge in the hackberry tree about three feet up its trunk. The Marlin .38-caliber rifle bullet was taken from the tree and admitted as evidence at the trial.

The hackberry, which bears a sugary purple fruit, is in much better condition than the elm. Both are tourist attractions.

TIPS ON OUTFITTING

Summer outfits for children should be selected carefully, even though summer clothes usually cost less than those for winter wear, according to Rachel Rowland, University of Kentucky Extension clothing specialist.

3:05—Threatening weather made doubtful the plane flight; 3:18, then 3:37, 3:55 and still visitors are seeing the governor before he got away in a white station wagon from the airport. One visitor rode along to talk with the governor and finally broke off by saying he'd try to continue the talk the next day.

4:18—Arrived at Frankfort airport, meeting pilots Sandy Hocken-smith and Boyd McDaniel; airborne at 4:23; good view of interstate superhighway being built between Frankfort, Shelbyville and point east of Louisville; 4:42—touched down at Bowman Field, Louisville, after 19-minute flight. Eighteen minutes later arrived at Brown hotel in downtown Louisville in state police car driven by Trooper Ray Morgan.

For seven minutes around 5, the governor and reporter looked for someone at the state chiropractor's meeting, which had earlier adjourned its afternoon session and wasn't to convene until a dinner session; left word of the effort to make an appearance.

5:18—Arrived at Kentucky hotel, where Combs appeared at Kentucky Academy of General Practice banquet for installation of Dr. John Archer, of Prestonsburg, as new Academy president. Combs carried along his dinner-suit, having been laughingly told Dr. Archer had advised it was a formal affair, but just as soon keep on his business suit, pointing to Adjutant General A. Y. Hero Of Tripoli Shores Is Buried In Frankfort

On a knoll in Frankfort cemetery overlooking the graves of vice-presidents, senators, governors, artists and patriots who fell in war against wilderness and foreign aggressor stands a simple stone marking the grave of Lt. Presley Neville O'Bannon, the Marine Corps' "Hero of Derne."

It was O'Bannon, a Kentuckian, who raised the Stars and Stripes on foreign soil for the first time and who is remembered in the first line of the Marine Hymn, "To the shores of Tripoli."

His part in the Tripolitan War was glorious although the war itself was not. O'Bannon was an officer in a force of 600 enlisted in Egypt by William Eaton for an attack on Derne, Tripoli, a stronghold of ruthless pirates who in 1805 were looting American ships off North Africa.

Few armies have been more international or outthroat than this which had to cross 600 miles of Libyan desert. The force was about half Christian and half Mohammedan, and once dissension, mutiny and lack of food and water threatened to turn it back to Alexandria.

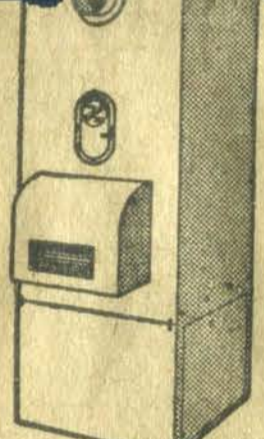

But Derne was sighted April 25, and Eaton sent word to the city that he was prepared to accept its surrender. Back came the Arab challenge, defended by twice as many soldiers as Eaton's. "My head or yours!" Two days later, the motley army without its Mohammedan half but with U. S. Naval support, attacked. When all seemed lost, the Marine detachment consisting of O'Bannon and seven others made a desperation charge and the battle was won.

Even after this victory the United States had to pay $60,000 in bribery to the Pasha in Tripoli for a peace treaty, and unlawful seizure of American shipping by Barbary pirates continued.

O'Bannon came to Kentucky and was elected to the Legislature from Henry county, where he was buried after his death in 1850. In 1920 the Legislature provided for his removal to the state burying ground at Frankfort.

JEALOUSY OF NEW BABY
Sharing the family spotlight with a new baby, brother or sister often leads to jealousy, especially with younger children. When the older child has been the center of attention, he may resent having another get some of mother's attention. Careful handling both before and after the new baby arrives is needed to overcome this, according to Mrs. Mary Browder, University of Kentucky Extension family life specialist.

EASTERN

INFORMATION IS SOUGHT
University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service specialists are seeking information on wheel-track planting of corn in Kentucky.

But control measures will kill the algae, says James Herron, University of Kentucky Experiment Station weed control specialist.

HEALTH OFFICERS INCREASE

The number of Kentucky counties having doctors in charge of their health departments has increased more than 50 per cent in two years—from 62 to 96. The actual number of health officers is 36, each with from one to five counties. Dr. Edwin H. West, director of the Bureau of Local Health in the State Department of Health, said that with Kentucky's new indigent-medical-care program due to start Jan. 1, it is important for as many counties as possible to have medical officers. The Department of Economic Security will administer the program, but state and local health groups will supervise medical care.

Gasoline Burns Fatal To Teresa Jones, 3, Formerly of Floyd-Co.

Teresa Jones, three-year-old daughter of Charlie and Allie Burkett Jones, formerly of this county, was claimed by burns at Defiance, Ohio, Saturday. A young brother spilled gasoline on her and it was accidentally ignited by a heater. Surviving, besides the parents, are these brothers and sisters: Earl, Doug, Christine and Shirley, all at home. Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 11 a.m. from the home of Jeff Burkett, at Allen, the Revs. Green Boyd and Doug Burkett officiating. Burial was made in the Riley Hall cemetery at Allen under the direction of Turner-Ryan Funeral Home.

FAMILY FOOD GUIDES

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's most popular publication has been re-issued in revised form. "Family Fare," a guidebook to feeding the family, was prepared by Agricultural Research Service home economists, applying latest knowledge of nutrition and food management to the job of preparing family meals in the home kitchen.

WEIGHT WATCHING
Are you beginning to put on pounds in the wrong places? Then right now is the time to do something about it, says Elizabeth Helton, University of Kentucky Extension specialist in food and nutrition.

Algae, a form of marine plant life, will be making Kentucky farm ponds unsightly from now on with a thick green scum.
