SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

OCTOBER 13, 1960

THURSDAY

This Town-- That World

These, the poet said, are the melancholy days. Which makes this column no easier.

Come to think of those lines of Bryant's, he surely was writing about late autumn. "Naked winds and wailing winds and meadows brown and sere?" Not till later in these parts. The woods are yet to take on their gorgeously colored "dying dress," and the only thing melancholy about the view at such time is the thought that this, too, must pass.

CHANCE FOR A "WRITE-IN"

Friend of mine comes up with some information that may console some folks, even if their candidate for the Presidency loses. He quotes from a life insurance company report:

"Except for President McKinley, assassinated in 1901, the actuaries found that 20th century U. S. Presidents had a mortality rate 32 per cent higher than the national average, while defeated candidates had a rate 30 per cent lower than average."

This, he says, raises the question: "Did the winner lose and the loser win?"

If the voters learn of these findings and can agree on some skunk they all hate enough, we may see a "write-in" candidate winning by a landslide.

GOOD SUGGESTION

Commenting further on the possibility that some "write-in" might get stuck with this man-killing job, my correspondent writes:

"If this happens, you and I best go join this old fellow out in the Ozarks who said to a friend: 'Here it is Thursday, and I'm still fishing. I fished Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, too. Think I'll take a day off tomorrow and go fox-hunting.'"

STATE TELLS SEWER PLANS

Highway Department To Effect Drainage In So. Prestonsburg

The State Highway Department will soon begin construction of storm sewers on U. S. 23 in South Prestonsburg, Mayor Edward B. Leslie announced Monday. Leslie said he has been informed by the highway Department that work will probably start next week.

Drainage of the highway in Prestonsburg is a responsibility assumed by the state in its program and the work will be done without cost to the city.

When completed, drainage will have been effected from Ray & Bob's service station south to the Pilot Oil station. Lines will be laid across the highway at the Valley Motor Car Company building to the river. The project will cost the state an estimated $25,000.

This project was contemplated by the Highway Department several years ago but was never started. Land lying on the east side of the highway is low and the road bed deteriorates rapidly due to the insufficient drainage.

Following completion of the South Prestonsburg job, drainage along the highway will also be instituted by a system of sewers, the Department informed Leslie. This project will cover the area from Greenwade's garage to the Porter Addition.

Completion of these two projects would completely drain the highway right-of-way through Prestonsburg.

NEEDS OF COMMUNITY TALKED AT MEETING

WEBB SPEAKS AS LEADERS PLAN ACTION

Committees Organized To Push Study, Work; Mrs. May Heads Group

Prestonsburg's needs and how to meet them were considered at a meeting of civic leaders and city officials here Wednesday afternoon with Don Webb, a representative of the Kentucky Department of Economic Development.

The meeting was a follow-up of previous meetings held to form an organization for a coordinated program of community development, and Mr. Webb appeared here to assure the local group of the state government's interest in Prestonsburg and its problems.

In a brief talk at the luncheon meeting held at the Wise Restaurant, Mr. Webb pointed out that the state seeks to help Prestonsburg in its economic development as it competes with other communities for new industry. He added, however, that its assistance will consist mainly of counseling with community leaders and giving them the advantage of the state department's knowledge of how other communities have met their problems. Financial aid is not within the scope of the department, he added.

"Prestonsburg will be one of our community development towns for the next year," he told the group. He pointed out that community development is an entirely new field for state government and that this has been undertaken hitherto in Kentucky only by the Chamber of Commerce.

He listed basic factors considered by new industry as location, transportation and, finally, the community itself. Webb commended the clean-up work already done here under the supervision of Councilman Watt Hale, chairman of the City Beautification committee.

Mrs. R. V. May, chairman of the executive committee formed several weeks ago when Prestonsburg first undertook the community development program, presided at the meeting. Reviewing the organization work already done, she pointed out that nine committees—Transportation, City Beautification, Tourist Promotion, Recreation, Industrial Development, Utilities and City Services, Health, Education and Culture, Retail Business and Public Relations—have been tentatively formed. Of these, five have chairmen: Transportation, Marvin Music; City Beautification, Watt Hale; Tourist Promotion, Frank Heinze; Health, Education and Culture, Dr. R. L. Hall; Public Relations, Arbor Jones.

The group approved the recommendation made by Mrs. May that a Community Council be formed, consisting of the Executive committee, members of all standing committees and the President's Council, the latter composed of presidents of all Prestonsburg service groups. This suggestion proposed that the various standing committees and the Executive committee hold weekly meetings, and that the findings of such meetings be reported to the Community Council at its monthly meeting on the first Wednesday of the month. Executive and standing committee meetings were set for each Wednesday at 12:30 p.m.

Brief comments were heard from community leaders during the discussion. (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

Enterprise Association To Hold 83rd Session

The 83rd annual session of Enterprise Association of Baptists will be held next Thursday at the First Baptist Church, Martin. The Rev. Ira McMillen, of Prestonsburg, will preside as moderator.

The morning session will be highlighted by a missionary message given by A. B. Colvin, secretary of mission and evangelism, General Association of Baptists. Among the speakers at the afternoon session will be Dr. Robert Mills, president of Georgetown College; Dr. Henry Buchanan, minister at Central Baptist hospital, Lexington, and Sam Ed Bradley, general superintendent of the Board of Child Care. The sermon at 8 p.m. will be given by the Rev. Bill Reed, pastor of First Baptist Church, Hazard.

REED SLATED AS SPEAKER

Kentucky Leads Region In Combatting Problems; Area Governors To Meet

Kentucky, a leading state in combatting economic and social problems of mountainous regions, is host to the second conference of Appalachian Governors, Oct. 17-18.

This state's Gov. Bert Combs is chairman of the conference which will meet at Lexington to seek ways of utilizing Appalachian economic resources, such as forests, coal and tourist attractions.

Attending will be governors of their representatives from Alabama, Georgia, Maryland, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

The conference will ponder means of forming a working association of Appalachian states.

Formation of a cooperative state and federal Appalachian region-wide development program is a major objective of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Development Commission. This is a unique statutory agency of Kentucky state government devoted to improvement in mountainous Eastern Kentucky. Commission Chairman B. F. Reed will address the conference briefly.

Governor Combs will present a broad program of continued association among the states. Objective will be to improve underdeveloped areas having severe economic and other problems. He will emphasize the possible influence of such a group on pending developments in water resource and transportation, agriculture, tourist travel and industry. Combs expressed hope for a program to accelerate and coordinate federal and state programs and encourage local efforts.

Each state will be encouraged to develop a citizen-led economic development organization such as the Kentucky commission. The economic impact of the interstate highway program on the region will be studied.

Other topics include: State and federal roles in economic development, discussed by Kentucky Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt.

151 BALLOTS ARE SOUGHT

Armed Forces Apply For Absentee Voting; Procedure Is Outlined

As of Monday, 151 members of the armed forces had filed applications for absentee ballots, and as a result of this a new procedure will be put into effect Friday under the new state election law.

All candidates for public office in the county and the chairmen of the two political parties or their representatives will gather at the County Clerk's office when the Election Commission meets to approve or reject these applications. This meeting is being called Friday for service men's applications only, since many of the ballots will be sent overseas and a longer period in transit will be required.

A second meeting of the Election Commission, candidates and party representatives will be held October 25, day after the deadline for filing for absentee ballots. At that meeting applications of those other than military personnel will be considered.

Absentee voting will not be done by machine. Instead, special ballots will be printed, these will be mailed to applicants, and they can be returned to the clerk's office only by mail.

The early totals on applications of absentee voters indicated keen interest in the November election. Besides the 151 members of the armed forces who had applied, 46 voters who are absent as civilians and 42 students had asked for ballots as of Monday. With approximately two weeks to go before the October 24 deadline, the total of all absentee ballot requests may exceed the 309 voted in the last county election and the 274 in the Governor's race last fall.

DEMO TICKET SUPPORT URGED BY ROOSEVELT

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., speaking at a Democratic rally here Friday. He was accompanied by party nominees and state leaders.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., former New York Congressman and son of the late President, visited Prestonsburg Friday, in the interest of the Democratic ticket and in a speech at the courthouse delivered an attack on the Republicans generally and Vice-President Nixon in particular that was reminiscent of his father's colorful verbal assaults.

"You'll need a Democrat in the White House to sign a depressed area bill," he told a crowd estimated at 500 persons. "America wants to march forward again," he said, saying that the Eisenhower years had been years of indecision and years of dread.

He defended John F. Kennedy's Catholic religion, said Kennedy will live up to his oath in the presidency as he did in the Navy and Congress. He pointed out that the Democratic candidate for President had opposed federal aid to parochial schools and voted against an ambassador to the Vatican.

"He'll maintain religious freedom in this country," Roosevelt said, "and he will maintain separation of church and state."

He noted that Kennedy had supported federal aid to education and that Nixon had killed it when he broke a tie vote. He said that under the bill to aid the states in education Kentucky would have received $17,000,000 in grants. "A whole generation of Kentucky schoolchildren received a setback by Nixon's vote," he added.

Scout Leaders Plan Breakfast To Kickoff Drive

Jenny Wiley district of Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, will launch its annual finance drive with a kickoff breakfast at the Wise Restaurant here at 7 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 18. It was announced this week by Clifford B. Latta, Prestonsburg attorney, who is district chairman for the drive.

"Be a Scouter of the Sixties!" is the theme adopted by Lonesome Pine Council for the fund-raising campaign, and this council has devised a plan that is new to the national Scouting movement in promoting this idea. It is estimated that $15 will sponsor a boy as a Scout for a full year, and the Council has designed an attractive certificate which will be awarded each individual, group or business participating to that extent in this job of training youths as future citizens.

George E. Evans, of Estill, is chairman of the Council-wide campaign.

"In paying your $15, $30, $45 or more, if you wish to sponsor one, two, three or more Boy Scouts, you will become a Scouter of the Sixties and this help the boys of our region meet the challenges of this decisive decade—1960-1970," Mr. Latta pointed out.

The district chairman announced the following men have accepted the responsibilities of local community chairman:

Bert Colvin, Prestonsburg; Hollie Conley, Garrett; Arnold Cassidy and Herb Ousley, Maytown; Wesley Campbell, Martin; Jim Reed, Drift; Crit Wells, Wayland; Eugene Allen and Don Martin, Allen; Ray Bradbury, David; Dick Shockley and Bill Locklin, Wheelwright; Dr. Bob Wilhite and Henry Lewis Mayo, Paintsville.

Once a Boy Scout himself, Mr. Latta is a graduate of Washington & Lee University, Lexington, Va., and the University of Kentucky Law School. He has three sons who in a few years, he hopes, will become Boy Scouts.

There are approximately 900 Scouts in the district, which has 37 Scouting units.

Frank Conley Victim At East Point Home; Rites Held Wednesday

Frank Conley, 60, of East Point, died at home at 10 a.m., Monday. A former miner, he had for some time assisted his wife, Mrs. Malinda Conley, in the operation of the Black Cat and LaDale Drive-in restaurants.

He was a son of the late Len and Elizabeth Robinson Conley. Besides his wife, two sons and a daughter survive: Earl Conley, of Bowling Green, Rev. Franklin Conley, Elliston, Ky. and Rebecca Conley, at home. Brothers and sisters surviving are Sid Conley, Smith River, Calif., Luther Conley, Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Ollie Kestner and Mrs. Gracie VanHoose, both of Springfield, O. Two grandchildren also survive.

Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p.m., Wednesday, from the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist church, the Rev. Ira McMillen officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Hager Hill under the direction of Moore Funeral Home.

MUSIC HEADS BOND DRIVE

Plans General Committee To Promote Bond Issue; Groups Endorse Proposal

Marvin Music will serve as chairman of the Kentucky Better Roads Council activity in Floyd county, the Council announced this week.

A general committee composed of leading citizens, and endorsing organization officers will be formed to distribute accurate information on the importance of passage of the $100 million roads and parks bond issue to be on the ballot November 8.

"If we are to have adequate roads in our time, this bond issue must pass," Chairman Music said. Huge federal allotments have been made available to continue a major road-building program in all sections of Kentucky. Funds from current revenues are not sufficient to match this federal money without seriously affecting maintenance and rural road construction.

All local, civic and trade organizations will be asked to endorse and work for the passage of the bond issue. The committee will attempt to present a clear picture of what might happen, should the bond issue fail, the chairman said, adding: (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

WORK ON GOLF COURSE BEGUN IN STATE PARK

Work was begun last week on a nine-hole golf course at Dewey Lake State Park as one of several improvements planned there.

Sites for greens have been peld off, and earth for construction of the greens is being hauled. Grass greens and all other appointments of a modern golf course will be provided, it was said.

The course was designed by Hal Purdy, Kingsport, N. Y., architect. Engineering work on the project is being done by Homer Salisbury, of Prestonsburg.

No definite opening date has been set, nor is the overall cost of the course known. It is hoped that the course may be opened next July.

More than 5,000 feet of drainage tile will be installed, and a four-inch water line will be run to each green. Water from Dewey Lake may be used for watering the greens.

Five greens will be located in the area paralleling the highway between the Brandy Keg dike and the small road leading onto the picnic grounds, a short distance from the boat dock. The others will be in the hollow opening off this area. The longest hole will be a dog-leg up the hollow, and the entire course will be approximately 3,500 yards in length.

Construction of a 50-room lodge has been suggested by the Dewey Lake Master Planning Committee, but this improvement has been delayed—for one reason, because construction of a road skirting the lake from the boat dock to the present road at Goble Branch has not been made. The scenic highway has been delayed, in turn, by engineering difficulties created by the necessity of crossing two large pipelines.

POLL OFFICIALS' STUDY OF MACHINES SET HERE

Railway Firm Pays Cost Of Fire Suppression; Cooperation Is Pledged

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company paid $420.87 for suppression costs of forest fires in this county set by the railroad's diesel engines in the spring fire season, it was noted this week by Forrest Burchett, forest ranger. The amount was paid to the state Division of Forestry for seven instances of violations of the forestry laws.

Two additional cases are pending settlement, Burchett said, until investigation of cost is completed. All the fires occurred between Allen and Prestonsburg. Approximately 500 acres were burned over within a period of ten days, it was said.

It is explained that the smoke-stack of a diesel train engine accumulates carbon and that this becomes ignited and causes a wood-land blaze when it settles on the ground.

The railway company has pledged its cooperation in lessening the number of forest fires, Burchett said.

VOTE MACHINE TOUR PLANNED OVER COUNTY

Officers and Voters To Get Pointers; 136 Poll Officers Named

This county's election officers, named for the 34 precincts set up for the use of voting machines, will go to school before election day.

They will assemble here, well in advance of the Nov. 8 polling, for an intensive course in how to handle the voters as most of them for the first time cast their ballots by machine instead of the time-honored stencil or pen. It will be their job, too, to learn how to manipulate the machine itself, so that they can be helpful to the voter and so that, on occasion, a voter may be prevented from casting a ballot in an election in which he is not a legal voter.

This latter situation will arise in the city election here and in some precincts where a member of the board of education is being elected. Consolidation of precincts complicates the duties of election officers as some voters from an educational division which does not have a school board election will be at the same precinct with those who do have such an election. In that case, the election officer may lock out the school board ballot to the ineligible voter, and this is done by manipulation of the voting machine mechanism.

County Judge Henry Stumbo said last week that it is planned to load one of the new voting machines onto a truck and to send it on an educational campaign, so that voters may become acquainted with the new voting method. The plan, as it now stands, is to have the truck visit the larger schools of the county where not only high school pupils but all adults who care to do so may examine the machine and actually "practice" its use.

Voting by machine really is not the complicated chore many imagine it to be, it is explained. Yet those who are not acquainted with it in advance may pass up the opportunity to vote, fearing they will not be able to operate the device.

At the end of election day, the (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

DEATH CLAIMS BANKER HERE

B. M. Spurlock Victim At Prestonsburg General Following Long Illness

Funeral rites were conducted at the Full Gospel Tabernacle at West Prestonsburg, Saturday, at 2 p.m., for Beriah Magoffin Spurlock, 96, pioneer banker and businessman.

Mr. Spurlock succumbed to pneumonia, Thursday of last week at the Prestonsburg General hospital. Although he had been in ill health for several months, he was hospitalized only three days.

He was one of the organizers of the First National Bank here in 1904 and the last surviving member of the group. At the time of his death he was chairman of the board of directors. A former president of the institution, he had served in several other official capacities with the bank.

Born on Spurlock Creek near Printer, he was a son of Hiram Kenas and Betty Martin Spurlock. His wife, Julia Langley Spurlock, sister of the late Congressman John W. Langley, preceded him in death Nov. 19, last year.

He began his career as a teacher in the public schools but soon entered the business of merchandising at West Prestonsburg and continued until a few years ago when he retired from active work. He was a member of the Full Gospel Tabernacle Church and was a member of Zebulon Masonic lodge 67 years.

Surviving are two sons and two daughters: Richard and Robert Spurlock, both of Prestonsburg, Mrs. G. R. Fannin, West Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Irvin Langley, Paoli, Indiana.

Revs. Orin M. Simmerman and Ira McMillen officiated at the last rites. Burial was made in the Mayo cemetery under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Burial rites were under auspices of Zebulon lodge. (See Story No. 2, Page 5)

VOTE MACHINE PROCEDURE TOLD FROM STATUTORY DIRECTIVES

Several days before Nov. 8 County Clerk DuRan Moore will insert the printed ballot forms in the newly-acquired Floyd county voting machines. This is but one of the first steps in the detailed and intricate process of implementing the will of the electorate.

Moore, or his assistants, will then lock the voting mechanism of the various machines and enter in a book the number of the machine designated for each of the county's 34 precincts.

Not later than three days before the election the County Court Clerk will notify the election commissioners, Sheriff Hershell Warrens, Mrs. Josephine Evans and Donald L. Meade, that the machines are ready for use. Not later than two days before the election the commissioners will meet at Moore's office and examine the machines. If the machines are in order as provided by statute the commissioners will then endorse their approval on the book after the name of each precinct and the machine number. Following completion of this formality, Moore will deliver the keys to the machines to the commissioners. Not later than one hour before the opening of the polls the commissioners will deliver the keys to the election officers. The election officers will then receipt for them. The commissioners will retain possession of master keys to each machine.

In the meantime other matters relative to the proper handling of the machines will have transpired. The commissioners, five days before the election, will have the election officers to a briefing on how the machines are to be used. If any officer fails to show up, another qualified voter will be instructed in his stead.

Clerk Moore is charged with delivery of the machines at least one hour before the polls open but, since they weigh 900 pounds each, this heavy hauling, storage and care of the machines will cost approximately $1,540 yearly. This operation will be done by the Coal Bit Company, Prestonsburg.

It is the duty of each precinct clerk to arrange the placing of the machines but it is the obligation of Sheriff Warrens or his deputies to arrange a curtain, screen or hood to insure the voter's concealment while marking his ballot.

The statute charges the election officer in each precinct to examine the machines to see if they are ready for use. If it is not ready the officers will notify the election commissioners or county court clerk and a reserve machine will be delivered. Floyd county has one reserve machine

MEET BELFRY, SATURDAY

The Prestonsburg Black Cats will probably encounter their second toughest opponent Saturday night when they meet the Belfry Pirates in the Pike county town.

Both clubs have identical records at 4-2. The Black Cats are 3-2 in the E.K.M.C. and Belfry is 2-2. Using Hazard, Pikeville and Wheelwright as common foes, the game looks as a toss-up. On their home field, Belfry lost 28-6 to Hazard and Prestonsburg dropped a 26-0 decision. The Black Cats downed Pikeville, 14-13, while Belfry lost a 7-6 contest to the Panthers, and Belfry drubbed Wheelwright 41-0 while Prestonsburg nipped Wheelwright 14-8 in the opening game of the season.

Belfry is a much larger club than the Cats and has an outstanding end in senior Doug Neace, who has scored more than 60 points in six games.

The Black Cats have been most impressive in their last two games in presenting a well-balanced ground attack and good defensive line play. Quarterback Bobby Marshall and Dickie Fitzpatrick have shown remarkable improvement in these two wins.

Marshall scored three touchdowns in the 33-0 win over Louisa, intercepted two passes and did an excellent job kicking. His effort earned him the title of Black Cat-Player-of-the-Week as selected by the Francis Stores through its selection committee.

Hazard high upheld the prestige of mountain high school football with its 19-6 victory over always-tough Ashland last Friday. The Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference champions and also Class AA, Region 4 reigning kings, have only Leslie County, Fleming-Neon and Middlesboro to hurdle for an unbeaten season. A victory over Fleming-Neon would assure the Bull Dogs of another loop championship, since they are the only unbeaten team in the league.

Wheelwright's Trojans should annex their third victory of the season Saturday, when they travel to Hyden for a meeting with Leslie County in a non-league tilt.

Two of the state's individual leading scorers will be pitted against each other in Pikeville, Friday night as the unbeaten Paintsville Tigers battle the once-beaten Panthers.

Mike Minix, who vans the state scoring picture with 150 points in six games, will be featured with Bill Baird, who has tallied 74 of Pikeville's 120-point total. Waiter Brugh's charges won last season's meeting in Paintsville by the margin of 32-6.

Both Minix and Baird are "straight A" students and outstanding gentlemen off the field as well as on the gridiron, as is Hazard's fine halfback, Darwin Turpin.

Little League Opener Scheduled For Monday; Eligibility Is Named

Prestonsburg's first Little League football teams will open the 1960 season next Monday night at 7:30 on the local athletic field as the Browns meet the Colts.

Then on next Thursday, the Cardinals will battle the Eagles, also at 7:30 p.m.

Two games will be played each week until an eight-game schedule is completed. All games will be played on Monday and Thursday night.

Regarding play of the games, a total of 18 offensive plays will constitute each quarter. Kickoffs, points after touchdowns and accepted penalties will not count as plays.

To be eligible for each game, a player must maintain a "C" average in all of his school work and be in school five days a week prior to the game.

No player who weighs more than 110 pounds will be permitted to play in the backfield, and there is to be no side-line coaching.

All parents will sit on the side of the field next to the advertising markers, and only players and coaches will be permitted on the side of the field next to the grade school building.

No admission will be charged for any of the games; however, the sheet will be passed at halftime to accept donations for the entire program.

The schedule, in part:
Monday, Oct. 17, Browns vs. Colts
Thurs., Oct. 20, Cardinals vs. Eagles
Mon., Oct. 24, Browns vs. Eagles
Thurs., Oct. 27, Colts vs. Cardinals
Mon., Oct. 31, Browns vs. Cardinals
Thurs., Nov. 3, Colts vs. Eagles

Hazard Bull Dogs' String Still Unbroken; P'burg Faces Belfry This Week

Hazard's rampaging Bull Dogs, defending Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference and Region 4, Class AA champions, appear "in" as repeaters in both events and now eye an undefeated season after disposing of the Ashland Tom Cats in 19-6 fashion.

In winning its first game over Ashland in history, Paul Wright's unit converted two fumbles and a pass interception into three first-half touchdowns. The losing Tom Cats failed to muster any kind of threat until the final five minutes.

Unbeaten Paintsville rolled to its sixth consecutive victory in taming Paris Western, 40-6; Jenkins nipped arch-rival Whitesburg, 13-12; Prestonsburg overpowered Louisa, 33-0; Belfry shut out Wheelwright, 41-0; two winless elevens, Elkhorn City and Raceland, battled to a 19-19 deadlock, and Pikeville won out over Fleming-Neon, 28-20.

Senior Hazard halfback Darwin Turpin had one of his best nights of the season against Ashland. He scored two touchdowns, gained 84 yards rushing, intercepted two passes and returned two kick-offs for a total of 61 yards. The Bull Dogs also got able assistance from Junior Davidson, Gerald Burklow and lineman Kenny Fitzpatrick and Lloyd Caudill as Ashland was limited to a total of 69 yards gained on the ground.

The Pikeville Panthers replaced Fleming-Neon in second place in the E.K.M.C. race by outlasting the Letcher countians 28-20. Seniors Bill Baird and Bobby Venters produced all the Panthers' scoring as quarterback Jan Anderson and Darrell Tackett did likewise for the losers. Pikeville tallied once in each quarter, with Baird crossing the goal line twice and passing to Venters for the other six-pointers. Each kicked two conversions, Anderson registered 5 and 17-yard touchdown treks in the first and third periods and kicked an extra point and ran for another. Sophomore halfback Darrell Tackett countered in the final frame from six yards out.

Paintsville's two Mikes—Minix and Lyons—led the Tigers over Paris Western for their sixth consecutive win. Minix rolled for his usual four touchdowns, with Lyons on the hurling end of one 43-yard pass.

Belfry chalked up two touchdowns in each of the first three periods and held Wheelwright to four first downs in whipping the Wheelwright Trojans, 41-0. Floyd Hatfield and Jim Carton were the offensive stars for Al Vipperman's Pirates as each registered a six-pointer and passed for another.

Prestonsburg's Black Cats raised their season record to 4-2 by downing an undermanned Louisa eleven, 33-0. Senior quarterback Gordon Young scored three touchdowns on runs of 4, 11 and 12 yards. Fullback Bob Smith added one and halfback Dennis Stephens picked up an eight-yarder after Smith had put the oval in scoring position with a 35-yard run. Bill Leedy ran for three conversions.

The Jenkins Cavaliers scored the winning touchdown in the second quarter when Phil Helton plunged one yard after he had blocked an attempted kick at the Whitesburg 12. Teedy Pace ran for the point. Jenkins tallied first midway the initial period when Russell Adkins passed 15 yards to end Larry Pack. Whitesburg retaliated in the second quarter on a one-yard dive by Russell Hall. In the final frame, Hall passed 19 yards to end Kyle Raleigh for the last Whitesburg marker.

Collier's Corner

BY BLANTON COLLIER

University of Kentucky

Ten Kentucky tackles saw action Saturday night against Marshall, four or five of whom had played very little previously. Three or four guards also played extensively for the first time.

Our great need at Kentucky has been to give our young players a chance to grow up some under game conditions. Because of the rugged competition in the first three games, we have had to go with our more experienced boys.

We generally hustled as a team and hit pretty hard. Some of the younger boys played fairly well, but others still have a lot to learn. Yes, I know, we won by 55 to 0, but really that doesn't tell very much about how our team performed.

No discredit to Coach Charlie Snyder and his Marshall squad, but they're not in our league. Our boys are better football players. We could make mistakes against Marshall—and did—that would kill us against a major opponent.

The lesson our young players must learn is deceptively simple—and this applies to some of the more experienced boys, too. That is to concentrate on one or two basic things and exclude all others.

For instance, a defensive lineman—high school, college, or professional—has just two things to keep in mind: 1. hit the man in front as hard as you can; 2. then look for the ball carrier.

But the lineman must concentrate. If he worries about his stance, the score, the crowd, the man beside him, or anything else, then he's in trouble. He must put his whole mind to the task of smacking the player in front of him, and then finding the man with the ball.

Simple, sure it is, but you'd be surprised how difficult it is to get a boy, particularly an inexperienced one, to do it. Some never learn.

In trying to teach this lesson, we move slowly. First we have the boy hit a blocking sled, with no distraction whatever. Then we add a back with a ball and have the lineman hit the sled and then find the ball. Last, we add the other players.

It's amazing how much concentration is lost when there are 21 other men on the field, and even how much more is lost when you add the crowd and the other trappings of a game.

Pilot Recalls First Military Plane Flight In Reader's Digest Story

America's "Army Aeroplane No. 1," the world's first military plane, soared aloft fifty years ago this year from the Fort Sam Houston parade ground at San Antonio.

Its pilot, Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, retired Army Air Corps chief who now lives at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., recalls the flight and early army aviation in a $2,500 "First Person" award article in the October Reader's Digest titled "... And Teach Yourself to Fly."

Before the 7½ minute flight on March 2, 1910, Foulois, then a 30-year-old lieutenant, had flown 54 minutes with Wilbur Wright but had never been up in a plane alone nor taken off or landed. But he had exchanged letters with Orville Wright about these matters.

"So far as I know," recalls Foulois, "I am the only pilot in history to have learned to fly by correspondence."

While some cavalymen hooted, Sgt. Stephen J. Idzorek and Cpl. Vernon L. Burge cranked the 25-horsepower four cylinder engine and Foulois took off. He circled the parade ground six times at a height of 150 feet and had to swerve suddenly in landing to avoid a doctor's automobile that had been driven on the field.

Now retired colonels, Burge, lives at 240 Rosemary Ave., San Antonio; and Idzorek at 879 Edinburgh St., San Mateo, Calif. They and General Foulois are the sole survivors of America's first flying detachment.

'Book for Tired Eyes' Program Urged Nationally

St. Louis, Mo. (Special) — Encouragement of a "Book for Tired Eyes" program in the public libraries was unanimously voted as a national project for the American Optometric Association by delegates attending a two-day conference here, October 6 and 7, on visual problems of the aging.

Dr. H. E. Midkiff, who attended from Prestonsburg, commented that the group felt that the American Library Association was to be commended for its efforts in this field. In some communities there are lists available of books printed in 12 or 13 point type, which makes it possible for older people and others with eye-sight limitations to read easily without fatigue.

Dr. Midkiff also pointed out that the added cost of printing books with more pages is discouraging to the publishing trade. However, if the general public is made aware of the great benefit of this type of book, there will be a large enough demand for such a service in libraries to make these books economically feasible.

discussion of community needs. It was announced that Marvin Music is personally sponsoring an essay contest in the grade school here, offering three $5 cash prizes to the winners of best essays in three age groups. Subject of the essays is "How and Why We Should Clean Up Our Town." One division includes the first through the third grades; another, the fourth through the sixth grades, and the third includes the seventh and eighth grades.

Mayor Edward B. Leslie introduced the subject of sewers, pointing out that an adequate sewer system is "the backbone of an improvement program." "Everybody," he added, "knows this town is a cesspool." There was no other comment on sewerage.

Dr. Russell L. Hall, county health doctor, pointed out that Prestonsburg has "some major things from a health angle that need to be done now." He commented on the need of public support and urging of officials before the community can expect much to be done.

Burl Spurlock, president of the First National Bank, called to the attention of the gathering the need for support of the road bond issue which will be voted upon at the November election.

Mr. Spurlock also quoted Secretary of Labor Mitchell as saying, in effect, in a television appearance Tuesday night that the depressed areas of West Virginia and Kentucky are no concern of the federal government.

Mrs. Mary Jane Harkins, representing the Kiwanis, spoke of her interest in the community program and pledged her support.

Mrs. May announced that a town meeting is still planned, with Governor Combs to be present.

poll officials will certify the total vote for each candidate and the countywide returns will be quickly tabulated here on election night. The voting machines themselves will in all probability not be returned to Prestonsburg till the following day. Once the returns are read by the election officers from the machines, the devices are locked and cannot be opened again except by the election commissioners.

The fiscal court Monday entered into a contract with the Coal Bit Company for storage of the county's 25 machines in the company's building here at a space rental of $180 a year. The machines this year will be taken to the voting places by DeGarmo DeRossette, manager of the Coal Bit Company.

Because of their weight, approximately 900 pounds each, only a truck equipped with a hoist is practical in their transportation and loading and unloading. This weight feature will preclude the use of second-floor voting-places, such as the circuit courtroom here which has been used for many years by Precinct No. 1 voters. A downstairs office in the courthouse or the hallway will probably be used at the November voting.

Names of election officers follow, the clerk, two judges and sheriff appearing in order in each instance:

West Liberty, Salyersville, Louisa, Paintsville, Pikeville, Hazard and Whitesburg, was accompanied here by Congressman Carl D. Perkins and former governor Keen Johnson. Perkins is seeking reelection and Johnson is the Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator. Johnson introduced Roosevelt. Other speakers were Burnis Martin, Floyd county Democratic campaign manager, Ann B. Hall, former State Representative, and Smith Broadbent, state campaign manager.

Roosevelt went back in reviewing the Republican record, said G.O.P. leaders had affirmed the Social Security program would bankrupt America.

"Let us not be misled in a time of crisis," Roosevelt warned. He warned of the dangers of Communism, said that they were only 80 miles from America in Cuba. With Kennedy in office America will deter aggression, he continued.

Roosevelt praised Perkins and Johnson as Democratic leaders, pointed out that he and the Seventh District Congressman had served in the national House of Representatives together and that they voted alike, for they had the same political philosophy.

He appealed for support of the Democratic ticket by saying America needs John F. Kennedy's leadership.

"We in America represent the hope and longing of millions around the world," he concluded. "We are the trustees of the hope of men of the world who want to be free."

"Roads already started or in the planning stage which will affect the economy of this section could be curtailed drastically and might be completely stopped. This applies to rural roads as well as main highways."

None of us want this to happen. Committee divisions are being formed in every section of the state to tell the "road bond story." More than 100 state-wide and local civic, trade and professional associations have endorsed the bond proposal. Scores of Kentucky newspapers have indicated editorial support. Organizations include business, labor, medical, educational and farm groups.

DEAR FRIENDS OF THE SCHOOLS:

Superintendent Clark, or some of his many assistants, have been spreading half truths in a deliberate attempt to discredit us with the group that we have fought hardest for and for whom we have the most respect—THE TEACHERS.

The Superintendent is well aware that all qualified teachers were already employed at the time the Superintendent's recommendation was made for placement of the teachers. The school law states that any qualified teacher, when not notified to the contrary before April 1, is automatically employed for the next school year. The date of the order referred to by the Superintendent's propaganda sheet, June 7, 1960, the only question before the Board was placement of teachers. The Superintendent recommended the placement of all teachers as a group. In this group many qualified teachers were transferred to distant places from their homes. When the Superintendent refused our request to make any changes to help these transferred teachers, to show our protest for this type of political placement of teachers, we realized our vote was only a protest, but we did not want to go on record as sanctioning the transfer of qualified teachers from their home schools, and replacing them with Emergency teachers.

The propaganda sheet did not give any background as to why we voted for or against an order. For instance: The half-truth sheet again states that we voted against the architectural firm of Chrisman and Miller for drawing plans for the Big Mud Elementary School, the inference being that we were not for the school. The vote for the school was unanimous. The full record will show that John G. Hall and Ray Howard were for a citizen of Floyd County, Lee Shannon, to draw the plans for the school, rather than the Lexington firm of Chrisman & Miller. The equally qualified Floyd County man, who makes his living here and pays school taxes, was turned down by Mr. Campbell, Mrs. Osborne and John Stumbo for the Lexington firm.

The half-truth sheet did not show our votes against the eighty thousand dollar maintenance crew, the wasteful office force, and many other orders of the Board that Mr. Campbell, Mrs. Osborne and John Stumbo voted for, but would like for the people to forget.

We feel that we have voted 100% for those things which were in the best interest of the schools, and have voted against those things which were not in the interest of the teacher and child.

Demagogues through the ages have used the technique of "half-truth" to deceive the public. Khrushchev is a past master of the art.

The record of the old Board is too well known for the people to be deceived—a record of waste, mismanagement, nepotism and neglect of the fundamental and basic duties of a school administration, that of seeing that every tax dollar spent is for the benefit of the school child.

Do not be deceived by a slick-talking politician. Help us complete the Crusade to clean-up our schools.

Convention Delegates Agree Revision Needed By Later Generations

Opinion was divided at Kentucky's 1890 Constitutional Convention on the question of how later generations of Kentuckians should change their constitution.

This was the fourth convention in almost a century of statehood, and experience had proved that some revision would be necessary. Many delegates agreed that their work would have to be changed as times changed. "We must presume that the people will be able to take care of themselves. . . I cannot conceive how it is possible that we can bind generations yet to be born," said Cornelius Tacitus Allen, delegate from Caldwell county.

Allen was not the only delegate who fought for making the constitution easy to amend, if the people wanted a change. H. H. Farmer, delegate from Henderson county, one of many who spoke in favor of making the constitution responsive to the people's will said, "Experience teaches that when constitutions are difficult to amend, they will be changed in spite of written restrictions. Constitutions are strong only when they are in harmony with the wishes of the people. Inflexible constitutions are not necessarily the strongest."

The outcome of many days of argument among the 1890 delegates was two procedures whereby the Kentucky constitution can be changed by amendment and convention.

Both methods have proved difficult to use in actual practice. Two proposals to hold a convention, in 1931 and 1947, have been defeated, mostly because of lack of public interest.

An amendment can relate to only one subject, and only two amendments can be proposed each two years. During the past 69 years, 18 amendments have been approved and 22 have been rejected. Of states with constitutions written during the 1870-1890 period, all but Illinois and Tennessee have adopted more amendments than has Kentucky, and Tennessee held a limited convention in 1959.

If the proposal to call a constitutional convention, which for the first time is limited to 12 subjects, is passed at the November election, one subject which the delegates could consider is the mode of revision or amendment of the constitution.

Cincinnati Church Group Crusades To Caney Jr. College To Commune With Founder's Ideas of Service

Pippa Passes, Ky. — "Children Seek the Best." So began Alice Lloyd's "Study of Ethics to Teach the Teachers" with the first mountain boys and girls gathered around her as students at her fireside in Caney Creek in 1926.

Varying this theme to read, "Men and Women Seek the Best," 19 members of the Cincinnati 9th Street Baptist Church Baraca Class and their wives, traveled to Mrs. Lloyd's school at Caney Creek to commune with the ideas of service they have identified with the Caney school settlement.

Led by Burton E. Robinson, this class of older men thus undertook its second annual crusade to Caney Creek, with plans for increasing numbers to come each year, in a refreshment of dedicated spirits and a paying of tribute to ideals of unselfish service.

Mr. Robinson noted that in the 1930's, Mrs. Lloyd had led her Caney Youth in a Mountain Children's Crusade to northern cities, including Cincinnati, and that the "Purpose Road" chart of an unselfish life which these youth presented remained with him as a most attractive reminder of human value in the world.

During their visit the Cincinnati Road chart printed in large letters, Baraca group saw this Purpose

I am not overemphasizing this point. Nothing is more important or basic in football. If a lineman doesn't turn all his attention to whipping the man in front of him, then that man will run over him. There never was a finer example of the adage about first things first.

It is in this department that we have had our troubles this year. We showed some improvement Saturday, but not enough. Just how much the younger boys learned we'll find out Saturday night when we play L. S. U.

Against a team of this caliber, we need more than ever to strike hard and fast, and to concentrate. If our Marshall game helped us to learn this one valuable lesson, it will have been worthwhile.

We also had some bad luck Saturday. Quarterback Tom Rodgers fell on the point of his shoulder—an injury that will keep him out of action for awhile. Just how long, we don't know.

On the plus side, we didn't have to use linebacker Lloyd Hodge, so his ankle was given added time to heal. Also, three other boys who have been hurt— tackles Bob Hunt and Bob Butler and guard Don Sinner—got in the Marshall game for a few minutes. We wanted to give them the feel of contact again.

We haven't been pleased with our running game so far, but I think we improved some Saturday. Perhaps there will be a carry-over this week. We hope our young linemen learned a lesson. The best back in the world can't run without good blocking.

ATTENTION VOTERS OF EDUCATIONAL DIVISION NO. 3

About ten months ago I announced myself as a candidate for Board of Education with only three things in mind: the Children, the Teachers, and YOU, the taxpayers. This is found in the FOR THE CHILDREN program as sponsored and endorsed by John G. Hall and Ray Howard. I still remain obligated to John G. Hall and Ray Howard and the FOR THE CHILDREN program as was stated in past endorsements. I would appreciate any loyal support that you citizens could give me in order that I may be elected the Board Member from District No. 3 to help make this program a reality.

I am sponsored and supported by the citizens who are interested in a better school system and not a group of politicians, who are interested only in the self-gain of the school system.

REPORTING ON THE REPORT

The grand jury in its recent report suggested the Health Department should take some sort of action against the City of Prestonsburg because of the offensive odor emanating from sewer manholes. This should assure all and sundry that it isn't business that's that bad. Joe Tackett commented on the report: "Looks like somebody has been nosin' around."

PLEASE!

Ex-President Truman may not be the only prominent man to resort to salty expressions and profanity or words bordering on same, but it does seem that he would be setting a better example for the rest of the country, particularly youngsters, if he would be a little less colorful in his speech.

THERE'S ALWAYS ONE

We are, somehow, reminded of a story, and if we have printed this one before don't bother about stopping us.

It has to do with the 1,000 bees which decided to go south for the winter and along the way ran out of gas. Exactly 999 of them set down at a service station handling a well-known gasoline. But the one lone dissenter flew on, came down at an Esso station and yelled, "Fill 'er up!" The king bee was a bit displeased with the loner, and he asked one of his underlings, "Why do you suppose that bee had to leave the swarm and go to an Esso station?"

"Oh, well," replied the other. "there's always one Esso bee in any crowd."

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

(The following is taken from the column, "Pitching Horseshoes," written by Billy Rose 12 years ago.)

In 1923, a group of the world's most successful financiers met in Chicago. Present were:

The president of the largest independent steel company; the president of the largest utility company; the greatest wheat speculator; the president of the New York Stock Exchange; a member of the President's Cabinet; the greatest "bear" on Wall Street; the president of the Bank of International Settlements; the head of the world's greatest monopoly.

Collectively, these tycoons controlled more wealth than there was in the United States Treasury.

Twenty-five years later, let's see what happened to these men:

The president of the largest independent steel company, Charles Schwab, lived on borrowed money the last five years of his life, and died broke.

The greatest wheat speculator, Arthur Cutten, died abroad, insolvent.

The president of the New York Stock Exchange, Richard Whitney, was recently released from Sing Sing.

The member of the President's Cabinet, Albert Fall, was pardoned from prison so he could die at home.

The greatest "bear" on Wall Street, Jesse Livermore, committed suicide.

The president of the Bank of International Settlements, Leon Fraser, committed suicide.

The head of the world's greatest monopoly, Ivar Krueger, committed suicide.

All of these men had learned how to make money, but none of them had learned how to live.

BEWARE!

Just a few days ago Paul Branham, of Langley, was fined $40.00 for driving on an expired driver's license.

Renew your license without fail in your birth month and avoid having to be required to take another written test and also taking the risk of being fined.

TO THE TEACHERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

I would like to make clear my position as it concerns the teachers of the county. It is my belief and it shall be my policy that all teachers have equal treatment. Under no circumstances should there be any discrimination against teachers on account of the way they voted. I believe that employment should be placed on a merit basis. No teacher should be moved from one place to another in the county against his wishes as long as he is doing a good job where he is. If I am elected to the Floyd County Board of Education, it shall be my policy to see that all teachers get fair and equal treatment at all times.

Health Conference Set At Morehead, October 27; Rural Health Is Theme

"Partners in Health" will be the theme of Kentucky's eighth Annual Rural Health Conference at Morehead, October 27, on the campus of Morehead State College. Sponsored by the Kentucky Rural Health Council, this conference, prior to 1959, had always been held in Louisville, and this is the first year for the meeting to be held in Eastern Kentucky. Although it is a state-wide meeting, particular emphasis is being placed on encouraging attendance in approximately 20 counties near and surrounding Rowan county.

Mitchell B. Denham, M.D., Maysville, chairman of the Rural Health Council, said this year's conference is being held at Morehead in the hope that it will be more accessible to rural citizens.

All interested in promoting better health for rural people are invited to attend this one-day conference in Morehead, Dr. Denham said. There is no registration fee. Lunch will be served in the college cafeteria by going through the line. The program starts at 9:00 a.m., and will adjourn at 3:30 p.m.

The Rural Health Council is composed of representatives from 24 Kentucky organizations having a mutual interest in furthering better health for Kentucky's rural citizens.

Kennedy Names Perkins To Advisory Committee On Flood Control Problems

Congressman Carl D. Perkins has been appointed by Senator John F. Kennedy to his Natural Resources Advisory Committee, the Democratic presidential candidate's Washington headquarters announced Saturday.

"I am particularly glad to have Congressman Perkins on this committee, because of his special interest in water and conservation problems," Senator Kennedy said.

"The committee will have an important role in the campaign clarifying the issues on this field, which has been retarded and neglected by the Eisenhower-Nixon administration. The committee will then make the recommendations for an action policy on natural resources for my administration."

Representative Perkins said he had discussed the water and flood control problems of Eastern Kentucky with Senator Kennedy.

"We are both convinced," Congressman Perkins said, "that real progress can be made toward the solution of these problems under his administration, through sound investment in our natural resources. I am pleased to serve on the committee, not only to help point up this issue during the campaign, but in order to help determine the policy of the new administration."

Extension Service Plans Library Conference Here

The Floyd County Extension Council will meet Friday, Oct. 14, at 7:30 p.m., at the Regional Library to kick off the 1961 program, it was announced this week by Robert M. Jones, county agent.

The agenda will include the East Kentucky Resource Development program, plan of work for next year, state and district extension councils and other matters.

Jones urged leaders in farming to be present. "The attendance of a large number of leaders is needed if the extension program is to include the most important problems of the county," he said.

INFLATED BALLOONS

Inflated balloons make perfect casting targets for fishermen who want to improve their skill. Anchored on a stream or lake with a piece of monofilament and a small sinker, they'll explode when the sharp hooks of your lure hit them.—Sports Afield.

NATURAL CHEESE

Natural cheeses are grouped into four classes of hardness: very hard, such as Parmesan; hard—cheddar; semi-soft, such as Muenster; and soft—Camembert or cream.

FROM NOW ON...

What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own.

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done. From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WAYLAND

ALL-DAY CLUB MEETING

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Women's Club met at the clubhouse for a combined program and sewing meeting, Oct. 5. Hostesses for the day were Mesdames George Evans, Charles Collins and Bert Stapleton, who served a buffet lunch.

Mrs. M. M. Collins gave an interesting program on legislation and public affairs.

At the business session, conducted by the president, Mrs. Glenn Pack, club members discussed the community improvement project, dealing with the clean-up campaign for the three communities, Lackey, Garrett and Wayland. It was voted that the club ask the P.-T.A. of each school, the business people and all citizens to help make their towns cleaner and better places in which to live; also that a letter be written to the County Board of Education asking it to build incinerators at each school to take care of the trash. A copy of the letter will be sent to Charles Clark, county superintendent.

The club voted to secure barrels and get them painted and placed in each town to be used to keep the trash off the streets and roads.

At the sewing meeting, a quilt top was finished and another will be started at the next meeting. Mrs. J. C. Wells announced that 100 pounds of pecans were in from the south and ready for sale.

Club members attending the meeting were Mesdames N. D. Howard, Fred Hall, Arnold Cooley, J. E. Miller, Rex Martin, Ellen Hornsby, Otis Kilburn, M. M. Collins, Adam Bukovich, Glenn Pack, L. B. Price, Delbert Sloan, Rudolph Spencer, Charles Hornsby, J. T. Spillman, J. C. Wells, Charles Collins, George Evans, Bert Stapleton, Earl Castle and guest, Mrs. Frank H. Cooley, Wabasso, Fla.

Those attending the Seventh district convention at Jenkins Saturday, from the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland club were Mesdames N. D. Howard, Fred Hall, M. M. Collins, Rex Martin, Earl Castle, J. C. Wells.

SELECTING APPLES

When selecting apples, remember that good color for the variety means good flavor. Firmness indicates high quality. Bruises and decayed spots are wasteful.

SOIL CONSERVATION

By L. R. JOHNSON
Soil Conservationist

G. C. Shepherd, of Big Branch of Middle Creek, has constructed a livestock pond. He has already constructed a wire fence around the pond to exclude all livestock.

A pipe with a valve was put through the dam and a watering tank will soon be installed. His livestock will have clear, clean water in the trough all the time.

Mr. Shepherd plans to stock his pond with fish.

Earl Stone, of the Blue River community, has completed the installation of 88 feet of tile. He said that he could not believe that there was as much water in the top three feet of his land as he found there.

If he had done this job during the winter or early spring, he would have been surprised.

There are several other farmers who have planned to do some tiling this fall.

Delegates to the proposed constitutional convention in Kentucky would be elected on a non-partisan ballot.

ANSWERS TO YOUR TAX QUESTIONS
 BY WILLIAM E. SCENT
 KENTUCKY'S COMMISSIONER OF REVENUE

Q. Recently the 1960 state and county property tax bills were mailed to property owners. When should these bills be paid?

A. The property owner should pay his property tax before November 1, and save two per cent. If the bill is not paid by November 1, there is no discount. If not paid by January 1, there is a penalty.

Q. When should the property be listed for assessment?

A. During January and February, property should have been listed as of January 1, for the 1960 taxes. The same will be true for the 1961 property taxes. The property holder should list his property with the tax assessor during January and February.

Q. What happens if the property is not listed?

A. Property not listed at the time the Board of Supervisors adjourns becomes omitted and thereby subject to a 10 per cent penalty. The Board of Supervisors meets during the week of the second Monday in May to hear appeals.

Q. To whom should the property tax be paid?

A. The property tax should be paid to the sheriff of the county where the property is assessed. The sheriff received the tax bills Sept. 15 and the taxes became due and payable on that date.

Q. If the taxes are not paid by January 1, how much is the penalty?

A. On January 1, all unpaid tax bills become delinquent and subject to a 2 per cent penalty. On February 1, all delinquent taxes are subject to a 6 per cent penalty.

CLAY COUNTY NARROWS

We are indebted to Nevyle Shackelford, Beattyville correspondent of the Lexington Leader in an issue several weeks ago, for an interesting bit of history.

It is an article on the Clay County Narrows of the South Fork of the Kentucky River, a mile or so from Teages and is revealing of the dangers encountered in raft "running" in Eastern Kentucky.

We let Mr. Shackelford tell the story:

It is a land of wild water, small-mouth bass, singing birds, abelea, tall wooded hills, and bottoms broad enough for all the facilities necessary. More than that, it is rich in pioneer and Indian lore.

The Clay County Narrows, or as it is more widely known, "The Naars," is a mile-long stretch in the South Fork River which owes most of its notoriety to raftsmen of times long gone. These rapids which are said to fall twelve and a half feet to the mile, was a nightmare in the lives of old-time raftsmen who had to pilot rafts through them. And 69-year-old Granville Davidson, who now hangs out around Oneida, recalled that once a logger entered the Narrows on a raft, he virtually took his life in his hands. With the river at high tide and boiling between the cliffs like high seas racing before a storm, one error on the part of the raftsmen usually resulted in their craft being overturned and broken on the hidden rocks.

Irvine Hensley who "ran the river" for nearly 50 years and, as a consequence, navigated the dangerous narrows many times, said, however, that fatalities were miraculously few. Many raftsmen, he said, were injured on the short trip but as far as he knew, only one man lost his life.

Hensley recalled many narrow escapes from drowning, one of which involved John (Buffalo) Burns. Like many other persons who have made a living on the water, Burns couldn't swim.

As Hensley recounted, Burns, two or three other men, and himself started to take a raft through this stretch one day when it went out of control, bowed a rock, swung around in the current, and went under the boiling water.

Hensley and the other men were swept off the raft, but Burns who had grasped a tiepole used to fasten the logs together, went under. He was gone and gone, Hensley said, and we knew he was drowned.

But after an elapse of several minutes, Hensley continued, the portion of the raft on which Burns had been riding, resurfaced. Burns was still grasping the tie-pole.

"We all swam back to the raft," Hensley said, "and were trying to get it back under control. We still thought him dead but after we had got the raft straightened out, I looked back to see him spouting water like a hippopotamus. By the time we had navigated the stretch and had reached quieter water, Old Buffalo had recovered. He must have been under the water for a full ten minutes."

Aunt May Bishop whose husband, Blowey Jim Bishop, was numbered among these intrepid raftsmen, remembers that people used to line the banks of the river at every tide to watch the men fight for their lives going through the "Naars."

"It was," she said, "sort of a Roman holiday."

At the exit of the Narrows the moldering remains of an old water mill can still be seen. Years ago this mill, operated by Frank Allen, was the center of social life in the area. Old-timers around nearby Oneida recall that while waiting for their "turns" to be ground, they would sit around the fireplace in the mill, parch corn, and indulge in various forms of horseplay which often wound up in good old-fashioned free-for-all fights. One way of getting a fight started, they said, was to heat grains of corn to parching heat and then drop them down some unsuspecting person's shirt collar. This trick rarely ever failed.

A thousand and one tales exist of episodes and incidents occurring at the Narrows and indeed it is romantic country. These stories alone, should a park be established, would certainly attract many people.

Then all up and down the river on both ends of the Narrows, the swift water offers the potential for some of the best smallmouth and muskie fishing in the state. There are deep quiet pools and sandy beaches excellent for bathing; broad bottoms that could be developed into golf links, and hills and cliffs and flora approaching the ideal in scenery. For a park, the "Naars" has what it takes.

BAD JOHN WRIGHT

Some called him Bad John, others Devil John Wright. John Fox, Jr., in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," called him Devil Judd Tolliver. There were others, however, who earned reputations within or without the law. Some of them were Dr. M. B. Wright, whom Fox called the "Red Fox of the Cumberland," Big Ed Hall and Bad Talt Hall.

The writer spent two years in research on these men and the story is in a little pamphlet. It may be procured from the writer for $1.00, postpaid. Address Postoffice Box 421, Prestonsburg.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our thanks and appreciation to everyone who helped in any way during the illness and upon the death of our beloved mother, Caroline Cains. We are grateful to the many friends and relatives who sent food and flowers, or in any way helped us, to the ministers, Burton Howard, Raymond Howard, Banner Manns, M. C. Wright, for their consoling words, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

A Curriculum Fable

At one time the animals had a school. The curriculum consisted of running, climbing, flying and swimming; and all the animals took all the subjects.

The duck was a good swimmer—better, in fact, than his instructor; and he made passing grades in flying, but he was made to stay in after school and drop his swimming class in order to practice running. He kept this up until he was only average in swimming. But average is acceptable, so nobody worried about this except the duck.

The eagle was considered a problem pupil, and he was disciplined severely. He beat all the others to the top of the tree in the climbing class, but he had used his own way of getting there.

The squirrel led the climbing class, but his flying teacher made him start his flying lessons from the ground up instead of from the top of the tree down, and he developed charley horses from over-exertion at the take-off and began getting C's in climbing, D's in running.

The practical prairie dog apprenticed his off-spring to a badger when the school authorities refused to add digging to the curriculum.

At the end of the year, an abnormal eagle that could swim well, run, climb and fly a little was made valedictorian. —Anon.

METHODIST CHURCH CONFERENCE OF 1900

A conference of the Big Sandy Valley Methodists held at the Louisa Methodist Church, in 1900, brought together leaders of their faith from a wide area. All those attending, as far as is known, have gone to their reward.

This picture was taken at the Louisa Methodist Church. Rev. Michael Crum, of Floyd county, is shown near the end of the group sitting in front. Rev. Crum was a revered Methodist leader several decades ago.

The First National Bank presents these pictures in recognition of our religious heritage and with the hope they will contribute to a knowledge and understanding of our historic past.

Beautifully proportioned to the

CLASSIC
LOOK

A magnificent view . . . the '61 Ford Galaxie Club Victoria . . . the Villa d'Este near Rome.

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT
TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

You are looking at the trend-setting car of our times, the '61 Ford . . . a car whose clean and classic profile is unmatched by any other in the world. Just one glance at the Big Circle taillights and sculptured rear deck, one look at the crisp, fresh front-end design and you'll know the '61 Ford is the classic style of the Nineteen Sixties.

Here is a Ford that is not only new in looks and ride and comfort, but new in its entire concept. The '61 Ford is actually built to take care of itself! It lubricates its chassis . . . cleans its own oil . . . adjusts its own brakes . . . protects its own body.

Indeed, here is a car that will save you valuable time and money by doing away with many stops for service.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF . . . THE FIRST 1961 CAR DEALER-WARRANTED FOR 12,000 MILES OR ONE FULL YEAR

Lubricates Itself. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication. Cleans Its Own Oil. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Guards Its Own Muffler. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Adjusts Its Own Brakes. New Truck-Size brakes adjust themselves automatically.

Protects Its Own Body. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath the doors.

Takes Care of Its Own Finish. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

Warranty. The '61 Fords are built to meet three principal goals: finest quality, greatest durability, most reliable operation. Expressing their complete confidence that this has been accomplished, Ford Dealers led the industry in extending their warranty on '61 Fords to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first. See this warranty at your Ford Dealer's now.
