

THURSDAY

This Town-- That World

With the state basketball tournament in Lexington and the Wheelwright Trojans playing therein, we'll give you one guess at naming Floyd county town could qualify for the title of Deserted Village.

MONKEY BUSINESS

It appears that I have unjustly accused John Warrick. When I learned that he planned to be in Lexington this week-end on business for the United Fuel Gas Company, I immediately accused him of arranging his alleged business to coincide with the state basketball tournament, but now I learn that he's there on monkey business. It seems that a Lexingtonian left his pet monkey at home alone after carefully closing off the gas, but the monkey monkeyed around till he got the gas going again without any fire. Upshot of the matter was, the monkey got an overdose of gas and then and there died. And now his bereaved owner would like for United Fuel to pay for the late monkey.

Which gets Mr. Warrick to Lexington but which does not prevent him from getting lost and straying into the Coliseum where there may just happen to be a basketball game in progress.

"DEDICATED TO THE PROPOSITION"

This one turned up in The Congressional Record, about income tax time last year, and while we would not attempt to reprint most matter that shows up in that worthy publication, we think this particular excerpt might be apropos at this season of the year.

"Two score and four years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new misery, conceived in desperation and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created taxable. Now we are engaged in a great long form, test- (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

DAVID MINES CUT PAYROLL 162 WORKERS

Night Crew Layoff Temporary, Is Hope; Market Slump Blamed

The lay-off of 162 employees representing the entire night shift at Mines Nos. 1 and 2 has cut the coal production of the Princess Elkhorn Coal Company at David in half, it was said here this week.

The cut in employees was caused by poor market conditions, and resumption of night work at the two operations will await an improved market.

Twenty-five workers were laid off about six weeks ago, and during the last three weeks the mines, with both night and day shifts working, were operated only two days a week.

Although the curtailment of night shift operation reduces the payroll at David by approximately $80,000 a month, the effect on the area economy will be no more adverse than if all the men had remained on the payroll but working only two days a week, it was explained. This situation arises from the fact, it was learned, that all the day crew will be working from four to five days a week while those laid off will be drawing $37 a week unemployment compensation, and the $37 pay, tax exempt and untouched by travel and other expenses, will equal the net earnings for only two days' work.

Left at work in daytime operation of the two mines are about 190 Union members, plus salaried employees.

Until the present market slump came Princess Elkhorn had held for 19 consecutive years the best work record of any company operating in Kentucky.

And those who have been working at the mines have the feeling that this lay-off is only a temporary matter.

Selective Service Quiz To Maintain Inventory Of Nation's Manpower

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 24 (Sp.)—In administering the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as amended, Selective Service local boards have the responsibility for maintaining an inventory of the nation's manpower both for peacetime and potential emergency purposes.

Since each local board must maintain a current inventory of manpower resources, registrants including veterans of the armed forces are receiving a "Current Information Questionnaire" from their local board.

All registrants should provide the necessary information by completing the form and returning it immediately to the local board in the self-addressed envelope, which requires no postage.

PLAN SCHOOL IN COURTESY

Berea Man To Teach Frank Manners Here, Frank Heinze Announces

A Courtesy School sponsored by the Prestonsburg Community Council will be held at 7:30 p.m., March 21, at the Wise Restaurant, it was announced this week by Frank Heinze, chairman of the Council's Tourist Information committee.

The school, it was explained by Mr. Heinze, is designed to train those people who are most likely to meet tourists in the proper way to meet and greet the touring public, to learn what courtesies can be extended and what information they should have available as a service to visitors.

Paul Hadley, vice-president of Churchill Weavers, Berea, Kentucky, who is acting as a special assistant to the Commissioner of Economic Development, will be here to conduct the class.

"We are inviting, especially, all motel managers, restaurant owners, store managers and service station owners, since we feel that they are the people who first meet the tourist when he comes into a town," Heinze said.

The Courtesy School is a part of the overall community improvement effort being made by the Community Development Council as it seeks a better atmosphere to attract others, on tour or on business, to Prestonsburg.

SURVEY TEAM COMING HERE

Building Need Study For School System Set By Education Department

A survey team of the Bureau of Instruction, Division of Buildings and Grounds, Department of Education, Frankfort, will arrive in Prestonsburg at 1 p.m., April 17, it was announced this week by Don C. Bale, Bureau head. The team will spend three days in studying the building needs of the Floyd county school system.

At some date preceding May 26 the Curriculum Study committee appointed by the Commission on Public Education will come here to conduct a field study of a number of schools selected at random.

The announcement was made this week by Carl E. Abner, chairman of the committee.

County Superintendent Charles F. Clark said that principals of the schools to be studied curriculum-wise would be notified a few days previous to the committee's appearance. Clark requested several weeks ago that the building survey team study needs here.

"I am interested in promoting a building program here," Clark said. "We are going to have more funds, and I am personally anxious to start building."

Recent action of the Board of Education laid ground work for an expanded building program of looking forward to new structures and several consolidations. Cost of the program would be financed by a bond issue.

Girl Scouts Celebrate Founding of Movement; Cookie Sale Progresses

From Sunday, March 12, to Saturday, March 18, Girl Scouts of the Sandy Valley Council will join Girl Scouts all over the nation in celebrating the 49th birthday of the founding of Girl Scouting.

Each day honors a part of the Scout program, it was noted by Mrs. Robert Hughes, executive (See Story No. 6, Page 6)

HIGHWAY HEAD NOTES ROAD DEFICIENCY HERE

Floyd county, with 236.9 miles of highway under the Federal aid system, has 151.7 miles that do not measure up to the standards set for such roads, Henry Ward, Commissioner of Highways, Frankfort, pointed out this week in a letter to Kentucky Congressmen.

There are 760 deficient road miles in the 12th Highway district, Ward said. The district is composed of Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Letcher, Martin and Pike counties. Floyd county is second to Pike in deficient mileage, Ward said. The latter county has 205.1 miles not meeting Federal standards. Pike has a total Federal aid mileage of 338.4.

Deficiency mileage noted by Ward in other counties of the district show Johnson with 76.2; Knott, 60.8; Lawrence, 109.5; Letcher, 108.2; Martin, 48.5. Total Federal aid road mileage in the district is 1,313.7, Ward said.

Ward told the legislators that unless more federal money is made available we cannot expedite the Federal aid highway program in Kentucky.

"Under the present financing plan, we will have an estimated $29,786,050 a year, which the Federal Government and State Government has put up in equal

TWO RESCUE SQUADS HUNT

For Body at Offutt; Kirk Boy Is Drowned While Crossing River

The Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad was joined Wednesday by the Pike County Rescue Squad in a search of the Big Sandy River at Offutt, Johnson county, for the body of 12-year-old Thorburn Kirk, who was drowned there Monday afternoon.

The Floyd squad had eight men with two boats in the search Monday night and the same number of men on the river again Tuesday. The boy, it was said, was crossing the river in a boat alone when he was drowned. He had crossed the river and had caught hold of an overhanging willow at the landing when the boat suddenly swerved, the willow knocking him off balance.

The tragedy was observed by a man working on a nearby hillside. The witness said young Kirk fell into the river when the boat had swung out from shore a distance of about 25 feet.

Offutt is about six miles north of Paintsville.

Prestonsburg May Seek Demonstration Project; Washington Grant Made

Prestonsburg may seek a spot as a pilot city in the two-year demonstration project to be started April 1 to show how states can help cities rehabilitate slum areas, it was said this week.

Kentucky's part in the project was assured Monday when the Urban Renewal Administration of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency announced in Washington a $100,000 grant to the state for this purpose.

AGED DRIFT MINISTER VICTIM WHILE BROTHER'S RITES HELD

Rev. William Fraley, 82, of Drift, died Friday afternoon at his home while funeral services were being conducted for his brother, Benjamin Fraley, 74, of Cliff. One other brother, Charley Fraley, of Draffin, Pike county, survives.

Rev. Fraley, a victim of diabetes and a heart condition, was a retired miner and a minister of the Pentecostal Church for 45 years. He had been in ill health ten years, seriously so six months.

He was a son of William and Delilah Louisa Baldrige Fraley. His wife, Laura Owens Fraley, survives. Surviving sons and daughters are Robert Fraley, Detroit, Michigan, Jake Fraley, Mrs. Laura Preston, Mrs. Russell Price, Mrs. Eugene Simpson, all of Drift, Mrs. Neal Simpson, Ulysses, Kentucky. Surviving are 26 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 2 p.m. from the Drift Pentecostal Church, the Revs. Ted Sammons and Ernest Brock officiating. Burial was made in the amounts, to accomplish the job," Ward said. "At this rate it would take 34 years to bring the deficient highways up to the standard."

Ward bases the figures on a report of the Automotive Safety Foundation and reviews of that report by the Department of Highways since its completion. They show there are 9,210.2 miles of road in the state that are deficient. There are 19,091 miles of highways on the Federal aid system in Kentucky.

"These deficiencies cannot be corrected with the funds available to the Department of Highways in a period of time that would meet the needs of our state," he said.

Ward continued, "I am not suggesting that we are seeking to transfer this whole problem to Washington. It is one that all of us as Kentuckians need to know about, however, so that we may work together to seek its solution."

MRS. KILGORE, OTHERS TALK CLEAN-UP HERE

The Community Development Council's committee on City Beautification was joined Monday evening in its meeting at the Municipal building by Mrs. Ben Kilgore, of the Department of Conservation, who contributed to planning for the community clean-up campaign scheduled next month.

The citywide clean-up has been scheduled for April 15 to May 15 to coincide with the statewide clean-up campaign proclaimed by Governor Combs.

Mrs. Kilgore suggested cooperation of school organizations and children as a vital part of the community effort. She also cited instances of business district beautification through the use of flower boxes.

Dump heaps at various points here and automobile graveyards were mentioned by Councilman Watt Hale, chairman of the Beautification committee, as major problems. Mrs. Kilgore said a new type of electric furnace which converts scrap into steel without the addition of ore, as in the old process, is reducing or removing such accumulations of scrap metals and old cars wherever such a plant is located. She added that such an installation in the vicinity of the Kentucky Plant of the Kentucky Power Company, near Louisa, has been talked.

Hale said more public participation, in and support of, the clean-up job here will be necessary this year, because the city is not able to bear the financial burden as was the case last year. County Judge Henry Stumbo told the group he would recommend to the fiscal court that it appropriate $150 to aid the campaign.

Mrs. R. V. May, president of the Community Development Council, who presided at the meeting, said it is proposed to divide the town into five sections, name a captain for each area, survey needs and organize, section-by-section, for the clean-up effort.

"The courthouses is not only an eyesore, it is one of our worst health hazards," Dr. Russell L. Hall said. He also pointed out that

BRANCH BANK AUTHORIZED

First National Plans Subsidiary at Martin Between "Twin Bridges"

The First National Bank here received last Thursday the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency of the plan to install a branch bank at Martin, it was announced this week by Burl Spurlock, president of the bank.

Architects are now preparing plans for the bank building, and, barring any unforeseen delay in completion of these plans, the structure is expected to be ready for occupancy within the next three or four months.

The building will be located between the "twin bridges," above Martin, on a lot adjacent to Messer's Store. Although its appointments were not detailed, it was said that the bank will be modern in all respects. In addition to regular banking facilities, it will provide for both drive-in and walk-up banking.

Announcement of approval of the branch bank by Ray M. Gidney, comptroller of the currency, was made by Reed Dolan, chief U. S. bank examiner.

Governor To Speak At Kiwanis Meeting

The Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club announces that Charter Night will be held at the Wheelwright high school cafeteria, Monday, March 20, at 7 p.m. Guest speaker will be Governor Bert Combs.

This will also be Ladies' Night, and neighboring clubs and guests have been invited.

REPORT NOTES COAL SLUMP

Average Weekly Run Down to 2 Days, Says Report by Association

The slump in the coal business is graphically described in statistical information supplied by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association on mining activities for the week ending March 4.

These figures show that the 18 member-mines that week worked an average of only 2.2 days, as compared with 3.39 days the same week a year earlier, and that tonnage was down from 205,230 the week ending March 5, 1960, to 149,450 the same week this year.

Only two operations worked as much as four days during the week ending March 4, it was reported. These were Guaranty Mines and Island Creek Coal Company.

Tonnage for the calendar year was off 186,990, or 9.46 per cent. Member-mines of the Association for the year are down from 18,022 60-ton cars to 15,196 and captive mines have dropped from 7,925 to 6,039. But truck mine operations and other mines which are not members of the Association show loading gains. The truck mines are up from 1,627 cars in 1960 to 1,469 while other non-member mines are up from 12,558 to 13,088 cars.

TALENT SHOW IS SCHEDULED

By Floyd 4-H Council; County Winners Noted In Achievement Fields

The annual 4-H Club Talent Show is scheduled Friday, March 24 at the Allen grade school auditorium at 7 p.m., it was announced this week by Jack Friar, associate county agent.

"All the members should be encouraged to participate in this show as this provides an opportunity for the club members to gain poise, confidence and work harmoniously with others," Friar wrote club leaders.

Most of the 4-H clubs will have rallies in April, Friar noted. This will enable them to improve project work before the county rally.

"At the Community Rally we would like for the girls to bring in their project work in sewing and foods and the boys to bring their work in woodwork and electricity," Friar said. "We hope that many of the 4-H boys and girls will participate in the speech and demonstration contests. This will give them experience before County Rally Day."

Friar noted that Pam Combs and Delbert Owsley have been named county winners in 4-H Achievement (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

FLOYD COUNTY PILOTS IN ADULT EDUCATION

Floyd, one of a dozen Kentucky counties to pilot an adult education program, is getting off to a good start, it was noted this week. Several classes have been organized and scores are enrolled, it is learned.

"The program is designed to give high school drop-outs a second chance to complete a secondary education and to receive a regular high school diploma," Walter Frasure, assistant superintendent of schools says.

One class, organized here in art, is conducted by Mary Auxier Hale. Her class of 15 meets at the grade school. McDowell has organized four classes, is contemplating a fifth.

Violet T. Moore is teaching a class of 15 in bookkeeping at McDowell, Paul Branson has 25 enrolled in a typing class, Hugo Miller instructs 15 in American History and Anna S. Stumbo teaches 16 persons in an English class. Hazel I. Hill, home economics teacher here, initiated an adult

MAYOR SAYS 2 PROJECTS CONSIDERED

For Urban Renewal Work As Program Recertified; Sees Sewer System Help

Two urban renewal projects are under consideration for Prestonsburg, Mayor Edward B. Leslie said Tuesday after a representative of the Housing and Home Finance Agency conferred with him and after Prestonsburg's workable program for community improvement had been recertified.

Considered for urban renewal are an area between Court and First streets, near the L. Richmond Company building, and another on Lake Drive, in the vicinity of the States Motel.

Leslie said he is encouraged about the possibility of receiving more federal aid than had heretofore been expected on construction of a sewer system and a sewage disposal plant. Already available from this source for construction of a sewage disposal plant is $148,000.

The cost of the overall project has been estimated at $760,000, but financing the difference between the $148,000 grant and that total has stymied the undertaking. Now, the Mayor said, a federal loan may be procured for a maximum of 40 years, the federal government purchasing bonds issued by the city.

Even more by way of an outright grant may be possible under the new Kennedy program, Mayor Leslie said. He referred to the Depressed Area Bill which provides grants for public facilities not exceeding $10,000,000 prior to July 1, 1962. Amount of each individual grant, however, may not exceed 65% of the difference between the cost of the project and the amount of all obtainable loans, including any loan received from the federal government.

A loan for this purpose must first be approved by state and federal agencies. Homard K. Bell, Consulting Engineers, Inc., Lexington, wrote the Mayor recently it would not have plans and specifications for sewerage and disposal here completed and ready for submission to these agencies before August 1. The firm estimated that 30 days would then be required for approval by the agencies, after which the project could be (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

Kiwanis International Wins Freedoms Award

Kiwanis International has won its tenth top award in the annual Freedoms Foundation citizenship contest, it was announced by Arthur Bradbury, president of the Kiwanis Club of Wheelwright. The high honor, specified as the Distinguished Service Award, came to Kiwanis on February 22. It was presented at the annual Freedoms Foundation awards ceremony at Valley Forge. The award was made in recognition of citizenship activity (citizenship quotient) project which encouraged citizens to determine the extent and kind of their individual citizenship activity (citizenship quotient) and to take steps to correct any deficiencies noted. Kiwanis has won a top award in all but two of the twelve annual Freedoms Foundation citizenship contests.

LARGE AMOUNTS PAID TO FLOYD RECIPIENTS

Public assistance grants totaling $16,305,348 were paid by the State Department of Economic Security last year to 21 Eastern Kentucky counties, including Floyd, which have been classified as depressed by the Department of Labor.

John McCaslin, director of research and statistics in the Kentucky Department of Economic Security, said the depressed counties are those which have a substantial surplus of labor.

Unemployment insurance was claimed by 837 Floyd claimants in January, McCaslin said no estimate has been made on the number of unemployed persons in the county who do not draw insurance.

There were 12,131 persons in the entire 21-county area who claimed unemployment insurance last month. The total number of unemployed as of last November was estimated at 20,000, McCaslin said the number is undoubtedly much higher now.

Public assistance grants in this county last year totaled $941,920. Payments are made in four categories: old age, dependent children, needy blind, and the permanently and totally disabled.

The Department of Economic Security also assisted 986 unemployed persons in locating jobs in this four-county area, including Floyd, during 1960.

McCaslin said the 21 labor-surplus counties had 564,418 residents, or 13.6 per cent of the state's total population in 1960. Public assistance recipients received 28 per cent of the total money paid by the department in the state.

The 21 counties classified by the Department of Labor as depressed are Floyd, Boyd, Clay, Laurel, Knox, Whitley, Harlan, Leslie, Bell, Breathitt, Perry, Letcher, Greenup, Carter, Elliott, Rowan, Pike, Martin, Johnson, Magoffin and Knott. Payments to Floyd claimants on the State's public assistance rolls totaled $81,462 in January, Commissioner of Economic Security Ernie V. Powell announced this week.

Powell said the payments represent a total increase in the county of $9,721 over January, 1960.

The average payment to the county's aged last month was $46.08; payments to the families of dependent children averaged $83.71; payments to the needy blind averaged $50.55; and payments to the permanently and totally disabled averaged $50.92.

WHEELWRIGHT TROJANS WIN SPOT IN STATE BASKETBALL TOURNEY

WHEELWRIGHT GAINS STATE TOURNEY TRIP

The Wheelwright high school trojans will make their first start in the state high school basketball tournament tonight (Thursday) when they see action in the final game of the first round at Memorial Coliseum, Lexington.

The rangy Trojans won the 15th region tournament in Prestonsburg, Saturday night, with one of the finest shooting exhibitions ever in a final game and also recorded the widest winning margin in earning their first trip to the "Sweet Sixteen."

- ### All-Tournament Team
- Tommy Castle, Virgie
 - John Pelphey, Oil Springs
 - Bruce Belcher, Wheelwright
 - Forest Newsome, Wheelwright
 - Jim Rose, Wheelwright
 - Larry Sturgill, Meade Memorial
 - Rickey Kostner, Belfry
 - Ernest Ison, Belfry
 - Kenny Goble, Paintsville
 - Robert Maloney, Ezel
 - Jimmy Adkins, Virgie
 - Jesse Hampton, Martin

Don Wallen's charges, often disorganized and behind in five previous tournament games on the same floor, mustered a blazing fast break and controlled the backboards in downing the game Paintsville Tigers, 86-60. After 3:45 had elapsed in the initial period and Wheelwright had jumped out in front by 10 points, the outcome was never in doubt.

The Trojans will meet Lone Jack, 13th region victor, in their first state tournament game tonight.

Rated third throughout the season in most statewide polls, they have lost only to top-rated Ashland, St. Xavier and Maysville in taking an overall 29-3 record to Lexington.

Guiding force behind the big squad is likeable Don Wallen, who was a star for three seasons on Wheelwright fives in the early '50's. He later was a regular guard at Georgia Teachers College (now Georgia Southern) for four years and is in his fourth year at Wheelwright.

He has a veteran squad, blessed with height and good outside shooting ability and capable reserve strength. The starting five averages six feet, three inches. Four of the five starters are seniors; only 6-2 guard Jim Rose is a junior.

Bruce Belcher, 6-6 senior center, is the biggest squad member. He is a three-year regular and is one of the best big men in Eastern Kentucky.

Forwards Perry Taylor and Major Hall, both regular members of the football team, are seniors and tip the scales at 190 pounds each. Hall is a 6-3, two-year veteran and Taylor a 6-2 one-letterman senior. They have averaged nine and eight points, respectively, this season.

Jim Rose, 6-2 junior, is the team's leading offensive producer with a 22.8 per game average. His favorite shot is a jumping one-hander around the foul circle.

Four-year regular Forest Newsome, 6-2 senior, is the workhorse of the squad and sports an 18-point-per-game average. He is the ball-control specialist and shoots best outside with a long one-hander.

Number one replacement is Ken Walker, 5-9 senior, who can play any position. He often starts when Rose is shifted to forward and Taylor is left out of the line-up.

Other capable reserves are junior guard Bob Sword, Lawrence Thornsby, 6-2 sophomore center, senior guard Gary Dameron, 6-2 sophomore forward Clyde Bates, sophomore guard Charles Hall and 5-10 freshman guard Denny Hall.

Wheelwright averaged 80.7 points per game throughout the season and limited opponents to 57.9.

They have defeated one other state tournament team and that was Lexington Dunbar in Lexington, 75-66, on January 13.

MOREHEAD HAS CINDERELLA TEAM IN NCAA TOURNAMENT

Morehead, Ky., March 11—Morehead State College is truly the "Cinderella" team of the year among NCAA tournament participants.

Picked to finish fourth in the always rugged Ohio Valley Conference, the Eagles finished with a rush to tie pre-season co-favorites Western Kentucky and Eastern Kentucky. All had 9-3 conference marks.

The three went into a post-season playoff to decide which would represent the conference in the NCAA and the Eagles, despite having to play four games in nine days, upended Eastern 55-54 and Western 80-72 in an overtime.

The Eagles' affable head coach, Bob Laughlin, who is a shoo-in for "Coach of the Year" honors in the OVC, started the season with seven sophomores, two juniors and three seniors. Observers agreed that he had the raw material, but felt that he was a year away.

But little did those same observers know that the Eagles' guard duo of 5-11 speedsters Henderson

SPORTS CHATTER

REGIONAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

Prestonsburg high school, host to the 15th regional high school basketball tournament last weekend, sponsored the richest regional tournament ever staged in the area.

Eastern Kentucky basketball fans poured $8,335.50 into the till during the four nights of play. As host, Prestonsburg high received $1,067, or 15% of the net gate. Each participating school received $765.48 as its equal share—$131 more than last year.

The eight competing schools set all the policies for the disbursement of funds, except the 15% to the host school that is established by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association.

Expenses involved in conducting the tournament totaled $1,131.16, which include officials, taxes, printing of tickets and etc.

Wheelwright is the first Floyd county school to enter the state tournament since Wayland advanced to the semi-finals in 1956 with the fabulous "King Kelly" Coleman. Inez and Pikeville high have made more trips to the state tournament than any other regional school. Both have been nine times. From Floyd county, Wayland has been three times in 1947, 1951 and 1956. Garrett high sent the only other team to the state meet, and that was in 1948.

"King Kelly" Coleman, former Wayland high and Kentucky Wesleyan basketball whiz, is now setting the Eastern Basketball League afire with the Baltimore Bullets. In two games last week, the "Blonde Bomber of the Mountains" hit 26 of 30 shots from far out to lead Baltimore over Williamsport, 140-129, and tallied 48 points as Baltimore downed Scranton, 128-92.

NOTICE

The Floyd County Board of Education will receive sealed bids for transporting school children on the runs listed below, until 10:00 o'clock a.m., April 1, 1961, the successful bidder to furnish vehicle and driver.

- Deniel's Creek Run.
- Mill Creek Run—Wayland.
- Boyd's Branch Run — Prater Creek.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. 3-16-61.

Bill Spivey, former Kentucky all-American, who is on the same team with Coleman, terms him one of the greatest outside shots he has ever seen.

The Baltimore Sun recently did a half-page feature story on Coleman's shooting.

Foster "Sid" Meade, South Portsmouth city school superintendent, will officiate his third state tournament this week. He officiated the 58th district and the 15th regional tournament in Prestonsburg, Milford "Toodles" Wells, former Prestonsburg resident, will also work the state tournament along with Warren Cooper, Morehead, Kenny Arnold, Louisville, and Charles Irwin, Hopkinsville.

Other officers elected by the board Sunday were Dr. Russell Hall, vice-president; Mrs. Mary J. Harkins, secretary; Edward Music, treasurer; Arber Jones and Mrs. Edward P. Hill, Jr., committeemen-at-large.

It has been indicated that state architects will start work on the proposed amphitheatre in Jenny Wiley State Park in May. Several sites have been viewed and it is thought that a location near the swimming area at Stratton Branch will be accepted.

The number of the board of directors was recently expanded to 20 by amending the organization's by-laws and Dr. Leonard Roberts, of Morehead State College, was named as a director. Roberts and Mrs. Kathryn Frazier were both named to a resources committee to assist Green in compiling information and lore for his projected play.

Next meeting of the board of directors is scheduled at 8 p.m., Thursday, March 23, at the Regional Library.

TIMES WANT ADS PAY

"Heekie" Thompson and Granville Williams would become one of the finest twosomes at guard in the nation. And little did those same observers realize that the Eagles' quartet of big men—6-8 Ed Noe, 6-8 Norman Pokley, 6-6 Arthur Cole and 6-5 John Gibson, would devour the opposition on the boards.

In a capsule, that has been the story behind Morehead's surprising success—great shooting from the guards and tremendous rebounding by the big men—plus the hard-to-define qualities of spirit and desire.

Morehead is no stranger to the NCAA as the Eagles have represented the OVC in the big show twice in the past five years. Laughlin's charges won two and lost one in the 1956 tournament and set a season's national scoring record of 95.6 points per game—a record which still stands. The following year, Pittsburgh edged Morehead by one point in the first round.

"Statistically, the Eagles have been in the top ten nationally all year in scoring. Currently, Laughlin's youngsters are averaging 81.6 points and boast an 18-10 won-loss record.

Granville Williams, who hits uncannily with his one-handed jump shot, is Morehead's leading scorer with a 22.6 average while his running mate at guard, "Heekie" Thompson, has an 18.4 average.

Both have hit phenomenally from the free throw line as Thompson is fifth nationally with an 87% mark and Williams is just out of the top ten with an 83% mark. Thompson is a senior and Williams a junior.

Next in scoring for Morehead is junior Ed Noe who has a 13.1 average and has collected 301 rebounds for a 10.8 average.

Norman Pokley, a sophomore forward, is averaging 10.1 points and 13.3 rebounds a game. He had his best night as Morehead downed Western last Wednesday in Louisville, capturing 24 rebounds which was just three less than all three of Western's big men.

The other forward is manned by sophomore John Gibson and senior Arthur Cole. Gibson is averaging 5.6 points and Cole 3.7 points. Mickey Morgan, a 6-0 senior, spells the terrific Williams and Thompson at guard and averaged 13.6 points as a starter last year before being edged to the sideline by the 5-11 twosome.

Genius Night Banquet Held At Church, Feb. 28; Several Awards Made

Genius Night was the theme of the Cub Scout Pack No. 6 blue and gold banquet held at the First Presbyterian Church here, February 28. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion in blue and yellow crepe streamers.

The Cubs aided in the making of nutcups, ash trays and place mats for the banquet with each den having a different centerpiece. Carrying out the theme of the banquet, each Cub was given a "genius kit" — articles with which they were to build an item. John Leach won the prize for the best item.

Two new Bobcats were pinned. These were Jimmy Flower and James Dewey Goble. Wolf badges were awarded to Stephen Patton and Billy Potter; the Gold Arrow Point under the Wolf Badge went to Butch Bradley, Stephen Patton and Phil Horn. Silver Arrow Points under the Bear Badge were awarded to David Flower and two Silver Arrow Points were given to John Leach. Two-year pins were given to David Flower and Joe Horn. One-year pins were awarded to Ray Burton and Phil Horn.

SPECIALIST GIVES TIPS—Lexington, Ky.—Some tips on slip cover care for this spring are listed by Kathryn Sebree, University of Kentucky Extension specialist in home furnishings. This is a good time to wash soiled slip covers that are made of washable material. Use lukewarm water and a mild soap, Miss Sebree suggests. Damp-dry the slip covers in an automatic dryer or on the clothesline.

The David Woman's Club held its March meeting at the David Church. Mrs. Clara Bradbury gave the devotion. In the absence of the president, Mrs. C. T. Dohlin, Mrs. Bill Mullins, vice-president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Ora Howard gave a report on public welfare. Mrs. Lilla Mae Price gave the treasurer's report. The club voted on new officers for the coming year. They will be installed at the April meeting. The third week in April was set aside for Clean-Up Week in David. The club members were urged to attend church on Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Bill Mullins introduced Mrs. Edna Davis, a teacher in the David school. The program was on Fine Arts. Mrs. Davis introduced five members of the band at the school. Several members were absent but they did an excellent job of entertaining the group.

The club voted to present the music department a check to be used as needed. Hostesses for the evening were Miss Fannie Mae Howell, Mrs. Clara Bradbury, Mrs. Ginny Harmon, Mrs. Lilla Mae Price and Mrs. Oliver Marshall.

REMODEL OR BUILD?

Lexington, Ky.—Should we build a new home or remodel the one in which we now live? Many families are asking this question, according to Mrs. Gladys Lickert, University of Kentucky Extension housing specialist. She lists some points to check in making your decision.

Born at Jack's Creek; attended Drift grade school; a graduate of Maytown high school; son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Greaser) Robinson, of Maytown; married to Margie Neeley, daughter of Elzie and Susie Baldrige Neeley, of Prestonsburg. Has been employed at WPRT since 1952. Was elected Representative of 96th District and was one of the youngest Democrats ever to serve in the House of Representatives. Sponsored or co-sponsored eight major bills. Now president of the Young Democrats of Floyd county.

He led the fight to pay all veterans. Co-sponsored the bill for the increase in pay for our teachers. Co-sponsored more money for the unemployed. Co-sponsored more money for workmen's compensation.

James Explains Bill To Aid Vet Dependents In Securing Education

The benefits of the Junior GI Bill (Title 38 U. S. Code Chapter 35) were explained this week by Commander Tom James, of Floyd Post No. 129, of The American Legion.

Commander James pointed out that the Junior GI Bill provides education opportunities to children whose education might otherwise be impeded or interrupted by reason of the death of a parent caused by service in the armed forces during World War I, World War II or the Korean Conflict.

The Junior GI Bill provides for those qualifying for its benefits $110 per month for full-time training in approved education institutions, he said. A payment schedule is also set up for those who must pursue their education on less than a full-time basis.

The American Legion, under its child welfare program, pushed for the enactment of the Junior GI Bill, Commander James explained, after the Legion found that there were some 150,000 students who would need such benefits and more being added each year as they reach the age of 18.

Any student in Floyd county who for the benefits of this program believes he or she might be eligible should contact either Commander James or Floyd Post No. 129.

Mrs. Ella S. Layne Is Victim In Florida; Was Former Postmaster

Mrs. Ella Stanley Layne, 68, former postmistress at Justell, died Sunday at her home in Clermont, Florida, following a brief illness.

Mrs. Layne and her husband, the Rev. Carl Layne, moved from this county to Florida about three years ago. She was a daughter of the late Judge Robert E. Stanley and Eliza Skeans Stanley, and was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two sons, Glenn Stanley Layne and Clyde Edward Layne, both of Florida; three brothers and four sisters, J. E. Stanley, Prestonsburg, John E. Stanley, Baltimore, Maryland, Gene Stanley, of Betsy Layne, Mrs. Nora S. Allen, St. Petersburg, Florida, Mrs. Ruth Roberts, Frankfort, Kentucky, Mrs. Edith Caldwell, Clermont, Florida, and Mrs. Sylvia Helen Stevens, Charleston, West Virginia.

The funeral was conducted Wednesday morning at Clermont, and burial was made there.

Attending the funeral from this county were J. E. and Gene Stanley and Richard Spurlock.

MARTIN

By BETTY PREFLATISH

Among the many who will go to the state tournament from Martin are Coach Delzil Halbert, wife and son, Stevie, also most of the 1960-61 Purple Flash team.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Maddox spent Sunday with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. DeMorris Martin, at McDowell.

We salute the Wheelwright Trojans in winning the district and regional tournament and hope to be able to welcome them home from Lexington as "the new state champs."

Mr. and Mrs. Warner Liles, of Dayton, Ohio, were week-end guests of her father, E. K. Frazier, and other relatives.

Mary Louise Osborne, medical student at the University of Louisville, visited home folks at Wheelwright, and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Maggard at Martin, over the weekend. She also attended the regional tournament games.

Mrs. Juanita Roark and daughter Susie, were guests of relatives in Louisville and Lexington, Saturday and Sunday.

We are happy to hear that another bank, The First National, of Prestonsburg, has enough faith in the future of our town of Martin to establish a branch bank here, between the twin bridges.

Colin Dingus, a student at Caney College, came home to attend the Martin-Wheelwright game.

The Martin Purple Flash and Coach Denzil Halbert are to be congratulated for their fine season's record, and their good games during the district (runners-up) and regional tournament.

Pfc. Hopson Honored While on Furlough

Pfc. Leo D. Hopson is spending his 30-day leave of absence with his parents, Mr and Mrs. Buck Hopson, of Prestonsburg. He arrived in Prestonsburg, February 15.

He was honored with a going away party given by his sister Joyce Daniels. The party was given March 10 at her home at Knotley Hollow. Among the many friends present were: Billy R. Blackburn, Linda Clifton, Johnnie Shell, Betty Grace Blackburn, Steve Minix, Bessie May Derossset, Lowell Beverly, Larry Beverly, Frank Derossset, Samuel Goble, David Blackburn, Noleka Hunter, Sharon Kay Kelly, Ina May Newman, Denny Whitten, Aloha Jean Rodebaugh, Ernestine Radloff, Donald Lafferty, Wanda Jo Lafferty, Bonnie Hopson, Robert Hopson, Douglas Chaffins, Jimmy Fleming.

Mrs. Ella Stanley Layne, 68, former postmistress at Justell, died Sunday at her home in Clermont, Florida, following a brief illness.

Lexington, Ky.—What can you do for that mid-morning slow-up? How can you avoid that tired feeling in the afternoon? How can you improve concentration and efficiency while working? A good breakfast is the answer for many people today, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says. Many studies have shown that those who have an adequate meal before work get more done than those who skip or skimp breakfast. The usual "break" or snack between meals is not a substitute.

INSTALL ALUMINUM SIDING NOW! Homeowners!

We solicit your aluminum siding business and can give you several reasons why you should give us your business.

1. We are not playing up the fact that our siding is made by Alcoa, Reynolds, Kaiser or any particular company, for we can get it from any of them.
2. We have no tricks or gimmicks to get you to answer our ad, for we have nothing to give away nor has anyone else that we know of.
3. We will not advertise "no money down" and then come into your home and ask you to give us a deposit on your order before we do your work.
4. We have aluminum siding jobs not too far from where you live and we welcome your inspection.
5. We have F. H. A. financing which is much lower in rates than other forms of financing. We ask no down payment, and you make regular monthly payments starting 30 days after your house is completed.
6. We are a local concern and we stand behind our work. Compare our prices, compare our work, compare our product, compare our finance plan with any other that has been quoted you and see if you don't feel that you will do better by trading at home.

Spend your money in Floyd County and Eastern Kentucky and help strengthen our already shaky economy.

Rev. Yates To Present
Widely-Acclaimed Film

The Rev. Clarence M. Yates, promotional director of THE STORY, America's newest religious color television program, will appear here at the First Methodist and Community Methodist Churches, Saturday and Sunday, to present a film of the well-known series and also as guest-speaker.

THE STORY will be shown at the Community Methodist Church at 8:30 p.m., Saturday during the revival now in progress there. At 7:30 p.m., Sunday, the film will be presented at the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Yates, former pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, Lexington, and First Methodist Church, Miami Springs, Florida, also will be the guest-speaker at the 10:55 a.m. service Sunday at First Methodist Church.

THE STORY, called a "new idea in television," is the name of America's newest religious television program. Under the direction and inspiration of Kentucky-born Ford Philpot, THE STORY is both entertaining and thought-provoking. THE STORY definitely proves that the presentation of the Christian message can keep pace with modern times.

THE STORY features on each of its programs THE WHITE SISTERS TRIO, called "the trio with most perfect harmony." The White Sisters were headed for stardom on the nightclub circuit before their conversion. Also featured on each program is Howard Whitmore, one of America's brilliant lyric tenors, and a regular member of the Ford Philpot Evangelistic team. Other famous artists who appear on various programs of THE STORY are George Beverly Shea, Dr. Samuel Kamaleon, noted base-baritone from India; Ronnie Avalone, former Metropolitan Opera star; and Joe Emerson, of "Hymns of All Churches" fame. The musical storytellers, a mixed chorus of high quality, appear on all the films.

THE STORY also brings some of the nation's outstanding businessmen, entertainers, and athletes who tell in a straight-from-the-shoulder manner how Christianity has influenced their lives. Big Ed Beck, 6-8 center on the University of Kentucky 1958 NCAA basketball championship team, appears on one of the films, along with Don Odle, athletic director of Taylor University, Dr. Walter Sligh, of Lakeland, Florida, and many others.

Ford Philpot brings each film to a climax with a simple, direct and challenging gospel message. Dr. Philpot is one of the nation's outstanding young evangelists. Converted fourteen years ago from the hopelessness of alcoholism, Dr. Philpot immediately entered the ministry. Remarkable success has accompanied his labors in church, community and city-wide campaigns. THE STORY is currently being seen on TV stations in over 15 states.

Music Program Planned
By Caney Jr. College
At Several High Schools

The Caney Junior College Men's Glee Club will present a program at the Carr Creek, Wayland, McDowell and Martin high schools on Tuesday, March 14, at Hindman, M. C. Napier, and Dilce Combs high schools, March 17.

The choral program will consist of "Whatever God Ordains Is Good," "Down by the Riverside," "Steal Away," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Old Man Noah," "Stout-hearted Men," "Winter Song," and "Oklahoma."

This is the second music program that Caney Junior College has presented in local high schools during this school year. The Girls' Glee Club presented a program of Christmas carols at several high schools in December.

Both glee clubs are under the direction of Howard A. Jewell, music director at Caney Junior College.

Watershed Development
Proposed by Rep. Perkins
Over Ten-Year Period

Congressman Carl Perkins introduced a bill Monday that would provide $250,000,000 over a 10-year period to stimulate development of watershed projects in depressed areas.

"For the intents and purposes the Watershed Act has never worked in the whole Appalachian region," Perkins said. "The requirements have been so stringent that no projects have been approved in that region."

Perkins' bill calls for liberalized financing for watershed projects in areas with low family incomes and substantial and persistent unemployment.

Until now applications for watershed projects in these areas have stumbled against unfavorable cost-benefit ratios.

Perkins' bill ignores cost-benefit figures, and asks that the Secretary of Agriculture consider instead factors such as raising family income, improving living conditions, and alleviating unemployment.

The Grand Jury Recommended
Surrender

The city of Philadelphia and most of the country were shocked to learn that a grand jury had recommended that prostitution be legalized there, that a "red light" district be established, houses of prostitution licensed, protected and policed.

Then, a day or so later, a member of that grand jury—a woman—told why such a recommendation was made. The lady seemed to be very serious about the whole matter when she said she had favored such an arrangement after she had sat through the investigation of a hundred or more cases of rape or attempted rape.

This, she indicated, was the jury's idea of how to remove the temptation to commit a sex crime.

It apparently did not occur to the lady and her conferees on that grand jury that there are basic causes of sex offenses which should be removed rather than to compound the felony by making fornication a legal act. Not every rapist is a sex maniac; many of them are sex-maddened by prurient "literature" and movies, with loose social morals and the use of intoxicants and drugs adding to the whole mad mess.

A clean-up starting in homes and continuing on to the news-stands, book stores and movie houses; a change in the whole outlook of adults who should know better but who, either by acquiescence or outright encouragement, expose youth to every unsavory temptation—attention to such basic things would have made it unnecessary for this grand jury to run up the white flag. The red lights of caution and warning in the home are what is needed—not red light districts.

The abject reasoning of this grand jury smacks strongly of that employed by those who say you will always have whiskey, they'll drink it as long as people live, so you may as well license the sale of it and draw a little profit from it.

Incidentally, we got a laugh out of Bowling Green, Ky., the other day—Bowling Green which voted back the legal sale of whiskey by the pint or quart but which was howling to high heaven about a move to sell it by the drink.

The state will put up $50,000 to come from operating expenses of the urban-renewal section of the Department of Economic Development.

The project is the first of its kind in the nation.

Lieutenant Governor Wilson W. Wyatt, in acknowledging the grant, said:

"This demonstration project will permit Kentucky to greatly increase its urban-renewal effort and to demonstrate to the nation how a state can aid communities in successful undertaking of renewal actions. . . . I have long been aware of the great need for adequate programs of housing and urban renewal in Kentucky communities."

Co-ordinator of the project will be E. G. Hinds, chief renewal specialist. Assistant co-ordinator will be Walter Edelen, urban-renewal assistant. Specialists in codes, municipal finance, housing and citizens organization will be hired during the next three months.

Under the project, the Department of Economic Development will demonstrate techniques, methods and procedures under which a state can utilize its resources to supplement local actions in carrying out urban-renewal programs.

The project will be carried out by providing three levels of assistance — statewide, regional and individual cities.

At the statewide level, two meetings are planned to train local personnel, to help as many communities as possible. The Department will co-operate with the Kentucky municipal league in planning the meetings.

At the regional level, seven workshops will be conducted to give more intensive training.

Eight communities with certified urban-renewal programs will be selected to receive concentrated assistance from the entire staff.

Other cities will be assisted in particular problems, and cities that do not have urban-renewal programs will receive help in starting them.

ing whether that taxpayer, or any other taxpayer so confused and frustrated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that struggle. We have come to dedicate a portion of our income to the great causes useless and foolish, which have taken our money that this nation might continue to support other nations. And yet, in a larger sense, we cannot afford, we have not got, we will not have, this hallowed money. For the brave taxpayers, broke and penniless, who paid here, have dedicated it far above our poor power to add, subtract, multiply, divide, refer to separate schedule Z, etc. The world will little note nor long remember what we pay here, but the Bureau of Internal Revenue will never forget if we don't. It is for the living rather to be here dedicated to the unfinished payments which they who made here have thus far so reluctantly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the tremendous payments still remaining before us—that from the examples of these financially bankrupt we take increased deductions for the cause for which they gave the last full measure of their money—that we here highly resolve that these paupers shall not have forked over in vain—that this taxpayer, underpaid, shall have a new birth of lower taxes and higher wages, and that government of the taxpayer, by the taxpayer, for the taxpayer, shall not perish from the earth."

WONDER!

A Prestonsburg grade school youngster waxed enthusiastic about his family, the other night. He mused out loud, to this effect: "My Dad, he's got a good job and brings home money to buy everything we need. My brother, he's in college; my sister, she's in high school, they're doing fine, too. Me, I'm in grade school." Then he paused, looked the family circle over and came up with a question: "Wonder what mother does?"

INVENTION

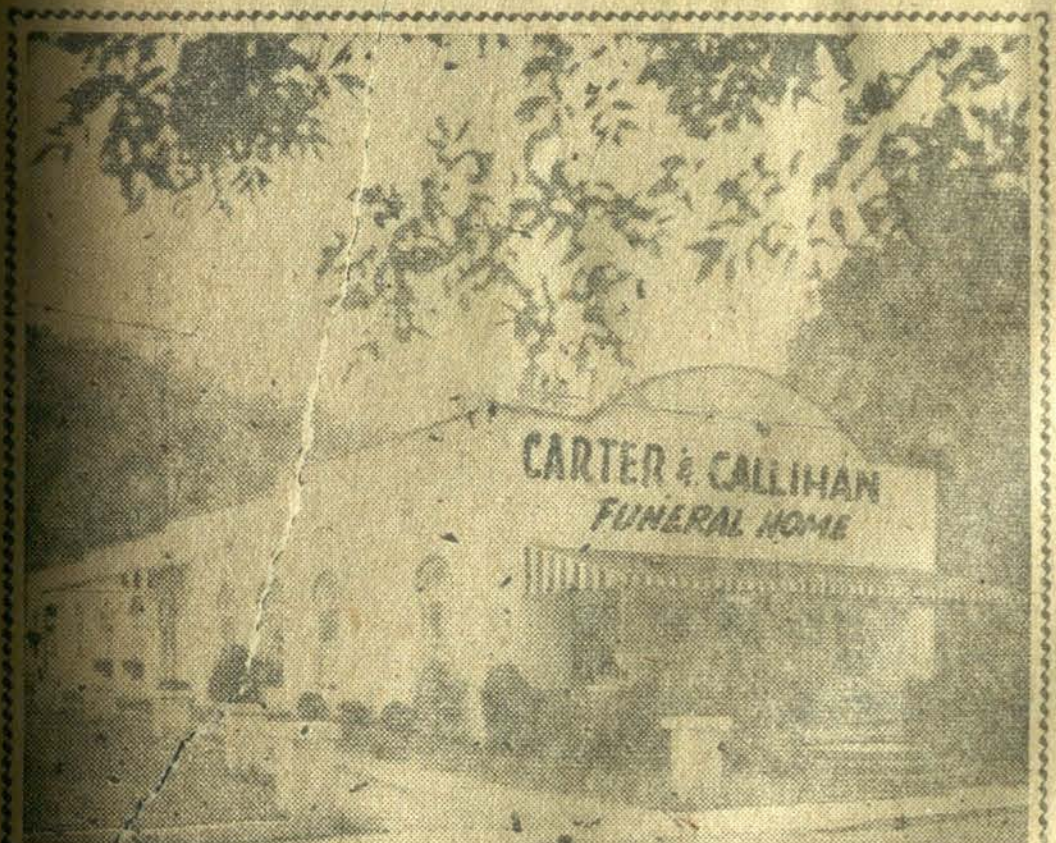

Fellow in the south end of the county says he has come up with a highly useful gadget. Claims he has invented a contraption which measures the degree of fertilizer increase in the atmosphere during heated political campaigns. Furthermore, said he, he has evolved a method of keeping tab on the amount of increase; he turns up the cuffs of his pants one turn for each 10 units of increase registered on his Fertilizer Ferrometer. But he sadly reports he was prevented from registering the total units of increase during a recent election because he was threatened with arrest for indecent exposure.

SAFETY AWARDS MADE BY MINING INSTITUTE

The Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute, Pikeville, Kentucky, announced winners of its annual Safety Awards at the Institute's annual banquet held at Wheelwright, February 25.

Recipients of the Safety Awards were Mine 22, Bethlehem Mines Corporation, Deane, Kentucky, for Class A mines, and Liberty Mine No. 2, Floyd Elkhorn Coal Company, Drift, for Class B mines.

The bronze plaque safety awards are presented each year by the Institute to employees and officials of the mine having the best safety awards are presented to the mine record in each class. Class A having the best safety record and with an annual production of $200,000 tons or more. Class B awards are presented to the mine with the best safety record and an annual production of less than 200,000 tons of coal.

Bethlehem's No. 22 mine production of over 750,000 tons of coal during 1960 was accomplished without a lost-time injury to any of the mines employees. This topped all previous safety records of the mines more than 10 years of operation.

At the company's annual safety meeting, David A. Zeeger, division superintendent of the company's Kentucky operations, commended the mines employees and officials for their outstanding safety record. Hershel E. Childers, superintendent of Mine 22, received the award in behalf of mine employees and officials.

The Class B award went to the Liberty mine of the Floyd Elkhorn Coal Company, Drift, which mined nearly 80,000 tons of coal while sustaining only two minor lost-time accidents to its employees. B. F. Reed, secretary-treasurer of Floyd Elkhorn Coal Company, expressed appreciation for the efforts of employees and supervisors toward this safety achievement. The award was received by John P. Sammons in behalf of the company's employees and officials.

New officers and directors of the Institute were elected at the February meeting. They are:

McCOY IN KANSAS

Fort Riley, Kan.—Army Pvt. James D. McCoy, 18, son of Mrs. Myra McCoy, of Weeksbury, Ky., is receiving intensive unit training with the 1st Division's 2d Battle Group, 8th Infantry at Fort Riley, Kan.

The training, conducted in the field under simulated combat conditions, is designed to train individuals to perform their assigned jobs in coordination with other members of their unit and to function as a team under the most trying conditions. The battle group and its personnel will depart for Korea in May.

McCoy, an automatic rifleman in the infantry's Company C, entered the Army in June 1960 and completed basic training at the fort.

He is a 1960 graduate of Wheelwright high school.

E. T. Queen, president; H. B. Jones, first vice-president; H. E. Childers, second vice-president; C. Alan Reed, third vice-president. New directors are Arthur Bradbury, Claude H. Brown, Phillip K. Epling, Archie Elkins, C. T. Dahill, Raymond A. Bradbury, Harry LaViers, Jr., M. E. Prunty, Marvin May, Ray Spears, W. E. Wheeler, J. C. Wilson, D. A. Zeeger, H. O. Zimmerman, E. M. Pace, retiring president, and John L. Coyer, honorary director. Arlie Webb was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

VA Identifies Vets Who Will and Will Not Receive Insurance Pay

The Veterans Administration today identified which veterans will and which will not share in the more than a quarter-billion dollar GI insurance dividend to be distributed under the President's accelerated payment plan designed to assist the economy.

The Veterans Administration plans to pay the dividend by March 31, 1961.

Olney B. Owen, manager, Veterans Administration Regional office, Louisville, outlined a method GI policyholders may use to find out if they have a dividend coming.

First, note the letter in front of the policy number.

Then, follow this guide:
1. You will receive a dividend—IF the letter "V" precedes the policy number, or IF the letter "K" precedes the policy number.

2. You will not receive a dividend—IF the letters "RS" "W" "RH" or "H" precede the policy number. Owen added that—IF an in-service waiver of premium payment is still in effect you will not receive a dividend, or IF you have already received your dividend for 1961, you will not receive another one.

Owen pointed out that about 77,132 policyholders in Kentucky will participate in the dividend. Approximately $3,934,700 in GI insurance dividends will be received by Kentucky veterans.

He urged veterans to forego bringing their individual questions to VA.

"Veterans will help themselves and VA by not flooding our office with individual phone calls and letters. Answering them will divert personnel from processing the dividend and might actually delay the payments."

John P. Sammons, of the Floyd Elkhorn Coal Co., Drift, (left) holds the bronze plaque awarded the company for its outstanding safety record. At right is Elmer T. Queen, Elkhorn City, newly elected president of the Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute.

Lake Boating Rules To Be Much Stricter, Announced At Frankfurt

Frankfort, Ky., March 13 (Spl.)—The Division of Boating will be "especially strict" this year in enforcing safety rules on Dewey Lake and other Kentucky waterways, Director Scott Barbour warned today.

In developing a program for "better use of our 14,000 miles of waterways in terms of what boaters themselves want from their sport," Barbour says the division, part of the State Department of Public Safety, will stress safe water practices.

Operators of overloaded boats, those without required life preservers and those driven negligently will be issued citations, Barbour says.

Elimination of negligence, he adds, will make boating many times safer in Kentucky, fast becoming a mecca for inland boating fans. The U. S. Coast Guard reports 54 per cent of fatal boating accidents last year were caused by negligence. Surprisingly persons with considerable boating experience were responsible for most of the accidents. Many accidents are caused by ignorance of safety precautions and poor judgment, according to Barbour.

"We want everyone to have the most fun with the greatest measure of safety in 1961," Barbour says. "Boating is a family affair. Let's make it safe . . . for all the family."

Lexington, Ky.—Spring oats should be seeded as soon as possible, says S. H. Phillips, UK Cooperative Extension Service agronomist.

BANKS IN OKLAHOMA

Fort Sill, Okla.—Army Pvt. Ted Banks, son of Mrs. Virgie Banks, of Wheelwright, Ky., is receiving eight weeks of advanced individual training at The Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla. The training is scheduled to be concluded March 17.

Banks is being trained to service and maintain the 105 millimeter howitzer, a light field-artillery weapon.

The school, which has as its motto, "skill is better than luck", emphasizes leadership and the practical application of field artillery tactics and techniques in the employment of artillery mortars, conventional cannon, free rockets and guided missiles.

He entered the Army last October and completed basic training at Fort Knox.

The 18-year-old soldier is a 1960 graduate of Wheelwright high school.

"St. Elmo's Fire."—Did you ever witness the strange phenomenon known as "St. Elmo's Fire?" This is common throughout the Appalachian Mountain region, when the hot summer air seems taut and surcharged with electricity. Balls of fire may often be seen rolling around the head and mane of a horse or some other animal; sometimes sheets of flames will be seen flashing or rolling along the ground, or around trees, and sometimes around people. This spectacular electric phenomenon is caused by heat on a hot summer day, just before a thunderstorm. It is not supposed to be dangerous to animals or people. Sailors often see this electric display in the form of balls of fire rolling around the mastsheads of ships at sea.

THE LOWLY POSSUM

In all of North America we have but one marsupial, the lowly possum, popular with boys who like to hunt them and with the southern darkies who prize them highly for baking or roasting during late fall or winter. The possum is one of our most interesting animals to study; it has a head and tail like a rat, its tail being long, naked and scaly; sometimes it uses its tail to hang suspended from a tree limb. The possum has coarse, grayish hair, a snout like a pig and uncommonly large, naked ears, which stick out prominently on the sides of its head. It has rather sharp teeth and claws; it is the only animal that leaves a footprint like the hand of a baby imprinted in sand or soft earth. This print is made with the hind foot, which has four spreading toes and a thumb that sticks out at a right angle to the hand.
I once wrote the following lines about a possum's footprint I found in the snow:
Of all the creatures in the land,
The possum prints a friendly hand
That seems to say, "Let's shake,
brother,
And be warm friends with one another."
The mother possum has a pouch on her belly for carrying her babies, which are but a few weeks old when born. Most people are surprised to learn that new-born baby possums are even smaller than bumblebees. They measure less than one-half inch in length and less than one-fourth inch in width. The baby possums ride around in the mother's pouch for about a month; then they crawl out and ride her piggy-back. As soon as mother possum believes the young are old enough to shift for themselves, she shakes them off her back and leaves them to make their own way in the forest.

The best-known, most popular species of possum is the Virginia possum, Didelphis virginiana which sometimes grows to be as large as a groundhog. This possum prowls at night and its favorite foods are: papaws, grapes, persimmons and chickens, when it can catch these.
The fur of the possum is always in demand on the market and when trappers skin one, they usually turn the pelt inside out and hang it up that way to be cured.
The meat of the Virginia possum is whitish and is said to be of excellent flavor, better than that of the coon or groundhog. Most darkies put possums in pens and fatten them a while before eating them.
The darkies have their own special way of preparing a possum for the table, and it cannot be excelled by the chef of the finest hotel.
First they stick him and hang him up to bleed. Then he is cleaned and drawn and left to hang in the dry, cold air until he "melts." Then he is parboiled in several waters, to which hot peppers have been added. Then he is stuffed with bread crumbs and sage and put in a clay oven to bake. The clay holds in all the delicious flavor and makes the possum a tasty dish, one fit for a king.
Darkies who do not have a clay oven, sprinkle the parboiled possum with salt, pepper and lemon juice and then roast him all buried under golden yellow yams. My mouth is watering now for a piece of possum, the way the southern darkies can fix it. Pass the possum, please!
The possum is one animal that plays dead when captured or molested by its enemies. Some say it is stupid to do this, but it eludes many of its enemies in this manner. Very few animals will stop to prey upon another animal that appears to be dead. I suppose man is the only animal smart enough to be wise to the possum's trick of playing dead. This characteristic of the possum has given us a rich phrase of our English language; we say of those who are pretending, "they're playing possum."
Today far too many people often play possum in the face of life's dangers and problems.

Emergency Road Need
In Martin-Co. Aided
By $5,000 State Advance

Frankfort, Ky., March 9 (Sp.)—The Department of Finance has approved an advance of $5,000 to Martin county to meet an emergency road condition there. The money will be deducted from the county's share of truck license fees to be distributed next fiscal year.

Robert Matthews, Jr., commissioner of finance, said that right-of-way has been acquired for 4.6 miles of the South Williamson road in Martin county, but the county must move several buildings. The road is a federal-aid project.

"The county does not have funds for moving the buildings in the current budget and since this is an emergency non-recurring expense, I approved the advance," Mr. Matthews said.

Matthews explained that distribution of half the truck license fees collected by the state each fiscal year is made to Kentucky's 120 counties shortly after the close of the fiscal year. The law requires the state to give counties half of all revenue from this source.

Previously, in a few emergency cases, a portion of a county's share of the truck license proceeds has been advanced prior to regular distribution.

INFORMATION For VETERANS

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest to veterans and their dependents:

Q. Is there any chance for a woman to get into a VA hospital as a patient? I'm a World War II veteran but was never stationed outside the states.

A. Yes, Women veterans are eligible for VA hospitalization on the same basis as are men. For further information, get in touch with the nearest VA regional office or apply directly to a VA hospital.

Q. Has Congress passed any of the proposed legislation which would furnish special benefits for peacetime veterans?

A. There are several benefits already established for peacetime veterans. Any VA office can give you full particulars. However, the proposed legislation you mean concerning education, home loans, etc., has not yet been passed by Congress.

Q. If I am admitted to a VA domiciliary, what kind of care am I entitled to?

A. Complete care, including medical treatment. Of course, if hospitalization is required, a domiciliary member is eligible for transfer to a hospital.

Q. Should I write Washington, D. C. concerning my GI insurance? My home is in Brunswick, Maine, and I pay my premiums to Philadelphia.

A. The VA District office, 5000 Wissahickon Avenue, Philadelphia 1, Pennsylvania, handles your insurance account and not Washington.

DITTO IN GERMANY

Mannheim, Germany—Army Pvt. Gordon R. Ditto, son of Mrs. Alma J. Ditto, Melvin, Ky., recently received a safe driver award for driving 6,000 miles without an accident, while assigned to the 51st Transportation Company in Germany.

In order to qualify for the award a soldier must have been assigned as a driver of a military vehicle for 12 months. He must have a good record of maintenance on his vehicle and no record of traffic violations for this period.

Ditto, a heavy-truck driver in the company in Mannheim, entered the Army in January 1958 and arrived overseas in April 1959.

The 21-year-old soldier attended Wheelwright high school.

EAST KENTUCKY AID GROUP IS SEEKING NEW APPROACH

BY NEVYLE SHACKELFORD

Quicksand, Ky.—The most desperate need of these hectic times is for new ideas. This need applies everywhere, of course, and in all fields of human endeavor. Anyone who can come forth with a new concept, especially if it is workable for the benefit of the community, is not only assured of monetary gains, but a measure of immortality.

It was upon the idea that this area could be pulled out of the mire of economic despondency that the University of Kentucky, in its concern for the people of the area, sponsored the Eastern Kentucky Resource Development Program now beginning to take shape here. And it is firmly believed that the success or failure of the program will be decided by new ideas and the development of such.

The results of the movement so far have been most encouraging. Already, citizens who have become acquainted with the hopes and intentions of the program are giving voice to ideas that are fundamentally sound and will be taken under serious consideration by the specialist or specialists to whose field the particular idea may be related.

One of the most heartening things observed so far is not so much in the new ideas already advanced, but in the new attitudes that are beginning to develop. Heretofore, the general line of thinking has been that difficult economic problems could be solved or softened by a factory in the community. The thinking is still in that direction, but with a difference. Now the people are beginning to think in terms of a factory built by themselves and for themselves and are beginning to move instead of sitting by and wishing and waiting for outside investment.

Some notable examples of this are to be seen in Laurel county, where several small but important plants and factories have already been established; in Jackson county, where the people are on the verge of getting a new $50,000 milk processing plant; and in Estill county, where local citizens are negotiating the construction of a million dollar waterworks plant which will be of inestimable value to the betterment and industrial development potential of the community. Without exception, all these projects have been brought about by new ideas fostered and developed by far-thinking citizens within the communities.

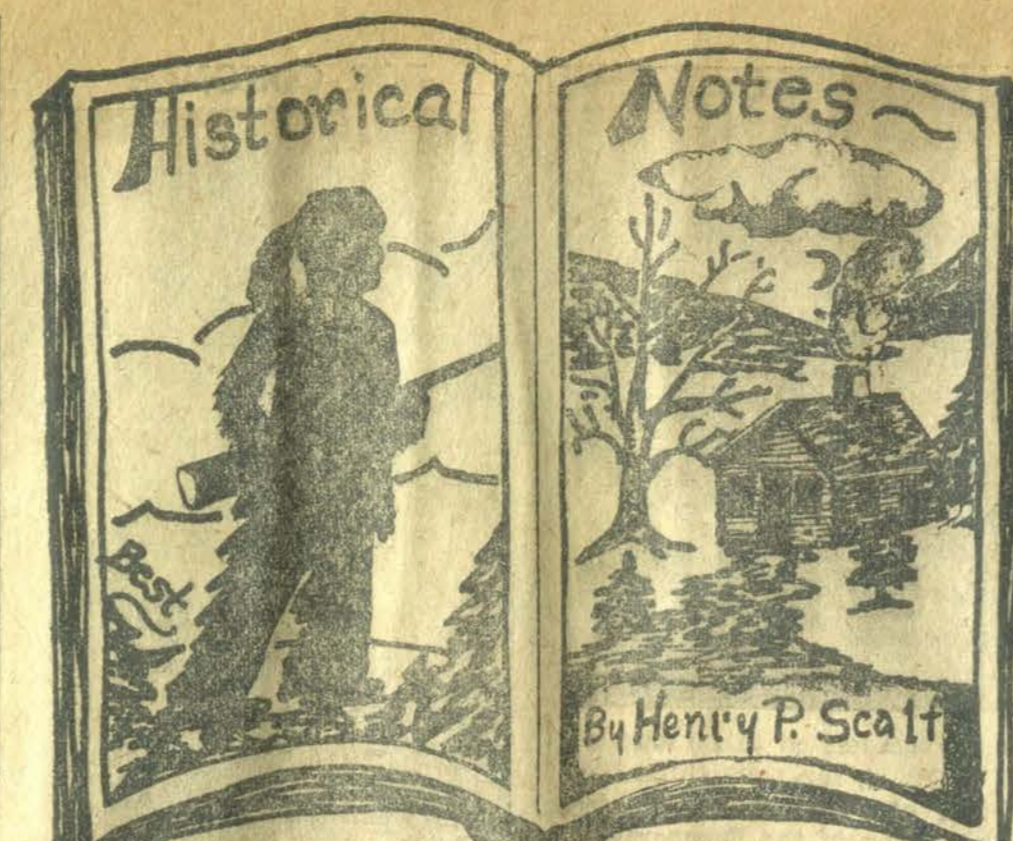

One thing the EKRDP has discovered in its short life is that community-developed enterprises are possible and that money for such is readily available if the ideas behind them are sound and feasible. Officials of improvement associations and local citizens interested in and working on the projects mentioned say getting the money was the least of their difficulties.

In getting the Eastern Kentucky Resource Development Program underway, chairman Keith Kelley stated it would require tremendous amounts of imagination. Local improvement agency officials agree and add yet another quality: patience. Tangible results of any worthwhile project or program, these officials say, will not generally show up in a day or a week or a month. In some instances it may take years. In the case of the waterworks project in Estill, Russell T. McClanahan, Jr., who is chairman of the waterworks board, said the program had been in the making for the past three years and still has a long way to go.

Going back to ideas, any program is only as feasible as the ideas behind it and the willingness and initiative of all concerned to back them up with concerted action. The idea behind EKRDP is logically and basically sound, and through it this area and the state can and most surely will benefit. The citizens must, however, advance their own ideas and, with the technical assistance afforded, help carry them out.

Anybody have any ideas? If so, they will be treasured as gold.

WHO WAS ELIZABETH HALE?

Who were the parents of Elizabeth Hale, widow of William Hale, of Floyd county? William Hale, 1621 Chestnut Drive, Ashland, Kentucky, inquires of this column about Elizabeth Hale, his great-grandmother. Mr. Hale writes an interesting letter.

"I have searched diligently and many times through the old records and I have found practically all the information that I need concerning my ancestors, each and every one of them, and it is almost complete except for one item and the one that is the most important to me. Strange how it works out that the one thing that means the most to me I cannot find. I will try to outline below what I am up against . . .

"There are numerous bound out orders in old Order Book 6 and 7 (I believe that Book 6 and 7 are combined into one book and would probably be Book 7) some of which I have copied on the attached sheet for your information and I believe that the beginning of the bound out procedures started with the following one—April Order Book No. 6, page 380, which reads as follows:

"Ordered that a subp. be awarded against Elizabeth Hale to appear here and show cause if any she hath why her children, Henderson, John, Mial, Nancy and Masandry Hale shall not be bound out as the law directs."

"If you will glance through all of these you will notice that they all read the same—'infant son or infant daughter of William Hale, deceased,' but no where can I find the maiden name of this Elizabeth Hale and she was my great-grandmother. I cannot find a marriage record of William Hale and this Elizabeth. It may be in that office somewhere but I can't find it.

"From reading these bound out orders it appears to me that there must be some kind of disastrous story connected with it. After reading all of the orders, perhaps with your knowledge you might be able to give me an interpretation of what might have happened to cause these children to be bound out. Most of all, however, I want the maiden name of that Elizabeth Hale.

"My brother-in-law, Circuit Judge E. Poe Harris at Catlettsburg, tells me that somewhere in that office there should be the original papers concerning these orders or packets of trial records which pertain to each bound out order after the parties were brought in and the hearing held . . ."

Our Ashland correspondent lists seven orders relative to the bound out children.

One is given here in detail: Floyd county Order Book 7, page 113. "Floyd County Court, December term, 1842, first day.

"Ordered that Henderson Hale, infant son of William Hale, deceased, aged 13 years of age on the 14th day of February last, be bound to Thomas Burchett till he arrives at the age of 21 years to be taught the art, trade or mastery of a farmer and that the clerk attend to taking the indenture."

October term, second day, 1841. Mial Hale, "infant son of William Hale, deceased," was bound to Gilson P. Hammons to be taught farming. Mial was seven years old on June 7, 1841.

Same date, Leester Ann Hale, age 11 years, November 16, 1841, was bound to John P. Walker and to be "taught the art and mastery of a spinster."

On the same date the court ordered that Mial Hale be taken from Gilson P. Hammons. The sheriff was directed to receive the boy for the court. Mial was again bound out, this time to James P. Ford to "be taught the art and mastery of a blacksmith."

One year later, on the third day of the October term, 1843, the county attorney made a motion for a "subpoena to be awarded against Thomas Burchett . . . to show cause if any he can or hath to say why Henderson Hale . . . shall not be taken from him for his failure to enter bond or give an indenture as required by law and also for mistreating Henderson Hale.

At the May County Court, 1845, Nancy Jane Hale, infant daughter of William Hale, was "bound out to James P. Harris until she attains the age of 18 years to be taught the art and mastery of housewifery . . ."

Mr. Hale has an appendix to his letter that Henderson Hale was bound out first to Joseph Ratliff in 1841. He mentions two others in his notes, Mary Ellen and George W. Hale, whom we presume were also children of William and Elizabeth Hale.

All of this, while interesting, doesn't resolve the question for Mr. Hale: What was the maiden name of Elizabeth Hale?

MOSES STEPP (1735-1855)

A letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Stepp Wooten, 707 W. Beacon St., Lakeland, Florida, inquires for information on the Stepp family.

"I would like to get in touch with someone who is a relative of Moses Stepp (1735-1855), who fought in the American Revolution, settled in Martin county, Kentucky, on Wolf Creek.

"My father was William Harlan Stepp, the son of Laban T. Stepp, who was the son of Aaron Stepp, who was the son of Moses Stepp, Aaron and Laban settled at White Post, Pike county, Kentucky."

Moses Stepp was probably the oldest man to live in Kentucky. He lies buried beside the road on Pigeon Roost Fork of Wolf Creek. A Revolutionary soldier, he was a native of South Carolina. He and his wife, Sally Jackson Stepp, are ancestors of hundreds of people in Eastern Kentucky and Southern West Virginia.

MAYTOWN

FASHION SHOW SCHEDULED

The Maytown Woman's Club will present its seventh annual Spring Fashion Show, Saturday evening, April 1, at 7:30. Theme of this year's show will be "The Jackie Look," and Mrs. S. J. Tallent will be narrator. Clothes will be shown for the little girl, sub-teens, teenagers, college or career girls and the young matron. The show will be highlighted by the crowning of Miss Maytown and Little Princess. Candidates who have been nominated will be announced in next week's column. Door prizes will be awarded, and refreshments will be served.

ATTENDS MUSIC CONTEST

Mrs. David Reed, vice-governor of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs for the Seventh district, was chairwoman in charge of arrangements for the Seventh district music contest. This event was held for young musicians at Pikeville College and is an annual affair. Next year's contest will be open to pianists only, and all clubs are urged to sponsor a contestant.

Sympathy is extended to the families of G. C. (Dock) Patton, Mrs. Lucille Layne, and Allen (Dock) Ratliff, all of whom passed away last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stewart are the parents of a daughter born March 12 at the McDowell hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crowe, of Covington, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Snoddy and daughters, of Nitro, West Virginia, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Prater have moved into the Jim Click house which was vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Beverage Reffitt.

Bess Ratliff spent Sunday with Mrs. Ada Goble and family, of Dwale.

Mr. and Mrs. Lymon Branham were visiting relatives in Ashland last week.

Mrs. Della Hayes is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Rondall Hagans, and family in Ashland, while she recuperates from a recent heart attack.

Armintha Patton is now home after being a patient in the Beaver Valley hospital.

STRAWBERRIES

The Strawberry Advisory committee set March 18, as the deadline for placing plant orders. This was necessary, if plants are to be delivered on or about April 1. Any one who has not placed their order can do so, by going to Paul Martin at the First National Bank in Prestonsburg. The plants will cost $15.50 per thousand delivered to Prestonsburg. The plants will be the Pochontas variety, certified to be from virus free stock.

Floyd county is still a little short of its quota and it isn't too late to get on this project. For the person laid off his job, miners working only one or two days a week, boys and girls still in school looking for a job, farmers making 100% of their living on the farm, and for the part time farmer looking for more income, strawberries should be seriously considered. No other farm enterprise will make the profit as strawberries, considering the amount of capital invested.

To help farmers decide if they should set strawberries, a series of meetings will be held throughout the county starting on Wednesday. Those interested in strawberries are urged to attend the meeting of their choice. Following is a schedule of meetings:

- Wednesday, March 8 — 1 p.m., Greeley Dotson's store; 2 p.m., Grover Holbrook's store; 4 p.m., Pyramid postoffice; and 5 p.m., Risner postoffice.
- Thursday, March 9 — 4 p.m., Joe Blackburn's store.
- Friday, March 10 — 1 p.m., Thurman Newman's home; 2:30 p.m., Daniel Akers' store; 4 p.m., Fred Conn's store; and 5 p.m., Banner postoffice.
- Saturday, March 11 — 9 a.m., Bonanza school; and 10:30 a.m., Forks of Bull Creek school.
- Monday, March 13 — 1 p.m., Shepherd's store; 2:30 p.m., Hueysville store; 4 p.m., Eastern at Bailey's store; and 5:30 p.m., Maytown school.

GARDENS

One of the problems with the gardens in the county may be that many of them are too large. Weeds, insects and disease control will be more difficult on a large garden. How large should a garden be? One thousand square feet (1/4 acre) will be enough for one person if properly cared for. Time and expense can be saved by doing a good job on a small area instead of a poor job on a large garden. The extra ground could be put in strawberries for home use or to sell at the process plant.

Plan for a continuous harvest. Many vegetables such as beans, corn and lettuce have short harvest periods. By making several plantings of these crops, you can serve these fresh from the garden all through the growing season.

Each time a vegetable is planted, add a few feet to be canned, frozen or stored. This will spread out the processing work for the housewife and make the job much easier.

Sign up on the family garden improvement program and get the latest information on gardening. Membership cards are available at the county Extension office.

FEED SHADE TREES

Shade trees in the lawn should be fed now, if they have not been fed for several years. Use either a 10-10-10 or 12-12-12 fertilizer. The amount will depend on the size of the tree. Trees less than three inches in trunk diameter measured 4 1/2 feet from ground, need 1 1/2 pounds of fertilizer per inch of trunk diameter. Trees 3 to 6 inches in trunk diameter need two to three pounds per inch. Larger trees need four pounds per inch of trunk diameter. For example, a tree with a 15 inch trunk needs 60 pounds of fertilizer.

To get the fertilizer down to the trees' feeding roots, punch holes in the soil 12 to 18 inches deep and fill these holes with fertilizer. The holes should extend out from the trunk as far as the branches reach.

JONES IN MARINES

Parris Island—Marine Pvt. Bill Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jones, of Bevinville, Kentucky, completed recruit training, February 14, at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, South Carolina.

Relatives and friends of many of the new Marines were on hand to witness the graduation ceremonies.

The 12-week training schedule included drill, bayonet training, physical conditioning, parades and ceremonies, and other military subjects.

Three weeks were spent on the rifle range where the recruits fired the M-1 rifle and received instruction in basic Marine infantry weapons.

This recruit training prepares young Leathernecks for further specialized infantry training at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

Green State Subject Of Essay Competition; May 7 Deadline Is Set

Frankfort, Ky., March 9 (Spl.)—This spring, Kentucky school students and teachers can win honors for themselves and their schools by working together on the campaign to "Make Kentucky A Cleaner, Greener Land." The Kentucky Department of Conservation, State Department of Education and the Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers are sponsoring a school contest to stress the importance of cleanliness and beautification in our classrooms and school grounds.

Each school can participate in two contests—an individual student's contest and a school contest. The individual student's contest will be judged at three levels—home room, school and school district. Recognition will be given at each of these levels in the form of a certificate to the home room winner, citation to local school winners, and a citation and inscription of the school district winner's name on the honor roll in the executive offices of Gov. Bert Combs.

Schools will be judged on their school yard beautification and improvement programs, which can include providing adequate trash receptacles for student use, planting grass, flowers, trees, shrubs, etc., and an over all plan for continued beautification of the school grounds.

The contest will end May 1, 1961. Judging of home room and local school activities must be completed by May 7 and the school district contest by May 15.

For complete information and a contest kit, write Mrs. Violet Kilgore, executive director, "Make Kentucky A Cleaner, Greener Land," Department of Conservation, Frankfort, Kentucky.

LEGISLATION MAY COST 100,000 MINING JOBS

"Approximately 100,000 coal miners will lose their jobs if Congress passes the so-called mine safety bills," said Charles D. Richards, executive secretary of the National Independent Coal Operator's Association, Middlesboro.

The House select sub-committee on Education and Labor is holding hearings on three house bills which would require all coal mines, regardless of the number of employees, to come under the Federal Coal Mine Safety Act which, in turn, puts them under the supervision of the federal mine inspectors.

On February 21, Senator John Sherman Cooper, senior Senator from Kentucky, testified before the House select sub-committee regarding these bills. The Senator program legislation that might cause thousands of coal miners to lose their jobs. He recommended that Congress should first require a complete survey of all mines (large and small) in order to determine whether or not regulatory legislation is actually needed and, if so, upon whom and, what type.

Cooper pointed out that vast areas of the coal fields are extreme areas of depression and, that if Congress passed these bills, as written, there would be no type of employment to absorb the surplus labor from the small mines.

It was pointed out to Senator Cooper that he sponsored an amendment to a mine safety bill in 1959 and that the bills now under consideration are almost identical to his amendment. The Senator replied that the amendment was the best compromise possible in 1959 and, although the amended bill was better than was the original, it is still not good legislation.

In closing, Senator Cooper again recommended that a survey of the entire coal mining industry be made prior to any imposition of strict federal regulations that might take jobs away from thousands of miners.

Richard said: "Coal mines having 14 or less men regularly employed underground are classed at Title 1 Mines and, are at present exempt from federal supervision and regulations. They are under the rigid supervision of, and must comply with, the mining laws of the various states.

"As a rule the small coal mines are not signatory to the United Mine Worker's contract. As a consequence they do not pay tribute to U. M. W. in the form of 40 cents per ton of the coal they are now mining. This group of mines produce approximately 50,000,000 tons of coal per year. Besides the $30,-000,000 per year the United Mine Workers are not collecting on this tonnage... the small operators, who refuse to sign the union contract, are not good examples for the other segment of the coal industry.

"If the small operators can be legislated out of business, the tonnage they now mine would in all probability be mined by large operators who are paying the United Mine Worker's wage scale, plus 40 cents per ton on all coal they mine. It is clear that the United Mine Workers could have very good reasons for pressing Congress to pass legislation that would cause the closing of small coal mines. We can also see why a few large coal operators have in the past joined with the U. M. W. in urging Congress to pass such legislation."

Robert Holcomb, president of the National Independent Coal Operator's Association, pointed out to the select committee one factor that would cause thousands of small coal mines to be closed was they were required to comply with the Federal Coal Mine Safety Act. Said Holcomb: "If any one of the bills now under consideration were to be passed each mine, even though there might be but one employee therein, will be required to hire a certified mine foreman to make a pre-shift examination of the mine before others could enter. We have no objections to pre-shift examinations of our mines, but, we cannot do it with certified men for a very simple reason. In Kentucky alone there are approximately 2,700 truck mines and less than 700 certified men, 75% of which are already employed in large mines. It was said, in refutation to this same plea before a Senate Sub-committee in 1958, that any operator could make the pre-shift examination himself if he can pass the mine foreman's examination. Kentucky's requisites for certified men are quite rigid, in fact some 50% of the Federal Inspectors who have taken the Kentucky examination failed. If this legislation passes it will take years to get enough certified men to reopen the mines that could afford to pay $100 to $200 per week."

CARD OF THANKS

We want to take this means of expressing our appreciation to every one who assisted us during the recent death of G. C. (Dock) Patton. We are grateful to the Rev. Bob Martin, Rev. C. O. Montgomery, and to the pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church of Martin, for their words of comfort; and to all those who sent flowers and contributed other services. We want also to thank the Turner-Ryan Funeral Home for its fine and efficient service.

Hopson-Spencer Vows Solemnized At Ashland

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hopson, Langley, announce the marriage of their daughter Bonnie Joyce to Paul Berman Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glover Spencer of Martin.

The double-ring ceremony was performed February 18, at the first Methodist Church, Ashland, the Reverend William Jennings officiating. The couple's only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie D. Hopkins of Ashland.

Both are students at Morehead State College, where they are now making their home at the Alfrey apartments.

JACOBS IN OKLAHOMA

Fort Sill, Oklahoma—Army Pvt. Clard Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jacobs, of Wheelwright, Kentucky, is receiving eight weeks of advanced individual training at the Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Oklahoma. The training is scheduled to be concluded March 17.

Jacobs is being trained to service and maintain the 105 millimeter howitzer, a light field-artillery weapon.

The school, which has as its motto, "skill is better than luck," emphasizes leadership and the practical application of field artillery tactics and techniques in the employment of artillery mortars, conventional cannon, free rockets and guided missiles.

He entered the Army last October and completed basic training at Ft. Knox.

The 19-year-old soldier is a 1960 graduate of Wheelwright high school.

IVEL

Floyd Ratliff is seriously ill at his home here. He has been sick for several months.

We were sorry to hear of the passing of Mrs. Ella Stanley Layne, wife of Clyde Layne, of Clarrmont, Florida. They were former residents of Justell.

Mrs. Leonard Layne has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Robert Butler, and family, at Hager Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Tipton, of Wheelwright, and Mrs. J. T. Ratliff, of Allen, visited their aunt, Georgia Damron, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hall, and son Jimmie were shopping in Huntington, Saturday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Burchett were the Sunday guests of his mother, Mrs. Dick Burchett.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Damron, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Damron and children, Robert, Michael and Linda, visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Damron, of Lucasville, Ohio, Sunday.

Mrs. Harry McCarty is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Lafferty, and family at Inez.

Mr. and Mrs. Latt Damron and Georgia Damron, were guests at a dinner given by I.O.O.F. Lodge, No. 294, at Pikeville, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Adkins entertained to dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carr and children, of Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Adkins and children, of Stanville.

More and more Americans are "eating out." Each week, 48 million persons in the U. S. eat away from home, according to research estimates. About 20 per cent of the family food budget goes into away-from-home eating.

Ella Stewart Chullun Announces For Representative

In announcing my candidacy for Representative of the 97th Legislative District, it is my intention to win, and to serve Floyd County in Frankfort.

1. I announce upon the strength of my many friends and relatives. I am the daughter of Cinda Hall Stewart and the late Lee Stewart, of Melvin, Ky., and as such I am related by blood through the Stewarts, Triplets, Halls, Turners, Stumbos and Gearharts, and by marriage to the McCowns, Tacketts, Moores, Vincents, Evans, Mills, Rowes, Hopkins and others.

2. I announce because, living at Melvin in the center of the district, and married to a coal miner, Johnie Chullun, I understand the problems of this district, which extends down Left Beaver through Arkansas, and which extends through the Mud country, goes down through Harold, Betsy Layne and on to the outskirts of Allen.

3. I announce because, as a mother of three, with two children already in school, I am highly interested in the future of education in our county. I live in an area of pitiful depression, and understand the problems of the unemployed, the old aged, the needy blind and dependent children.

4. I announce because I do not intend to be the tool of any special interest group, nor do I intend to vote blindly for administration supported bills which do not meet the needs of my neighbors.

5. I announce because I want to help take the sales tax off food, clothing and medicine.

6. I announce because, as the wife of a veteran, I feel that the veterans are entitled to the maximum $300.00 and $500.00 bonus for which the people voted.

7. I announce because I am interested in better paid teachers and their retirement rights.

8. I announce because I want to help the dear and beloved coal miner, and other people of the working class, who earn their living by the sweat of their brow.

My dear friends, please give me your support and I shall give you mine, because I truly understand your needs.

AN EASTERN KENTUCKY FARM SCENE IN 1910

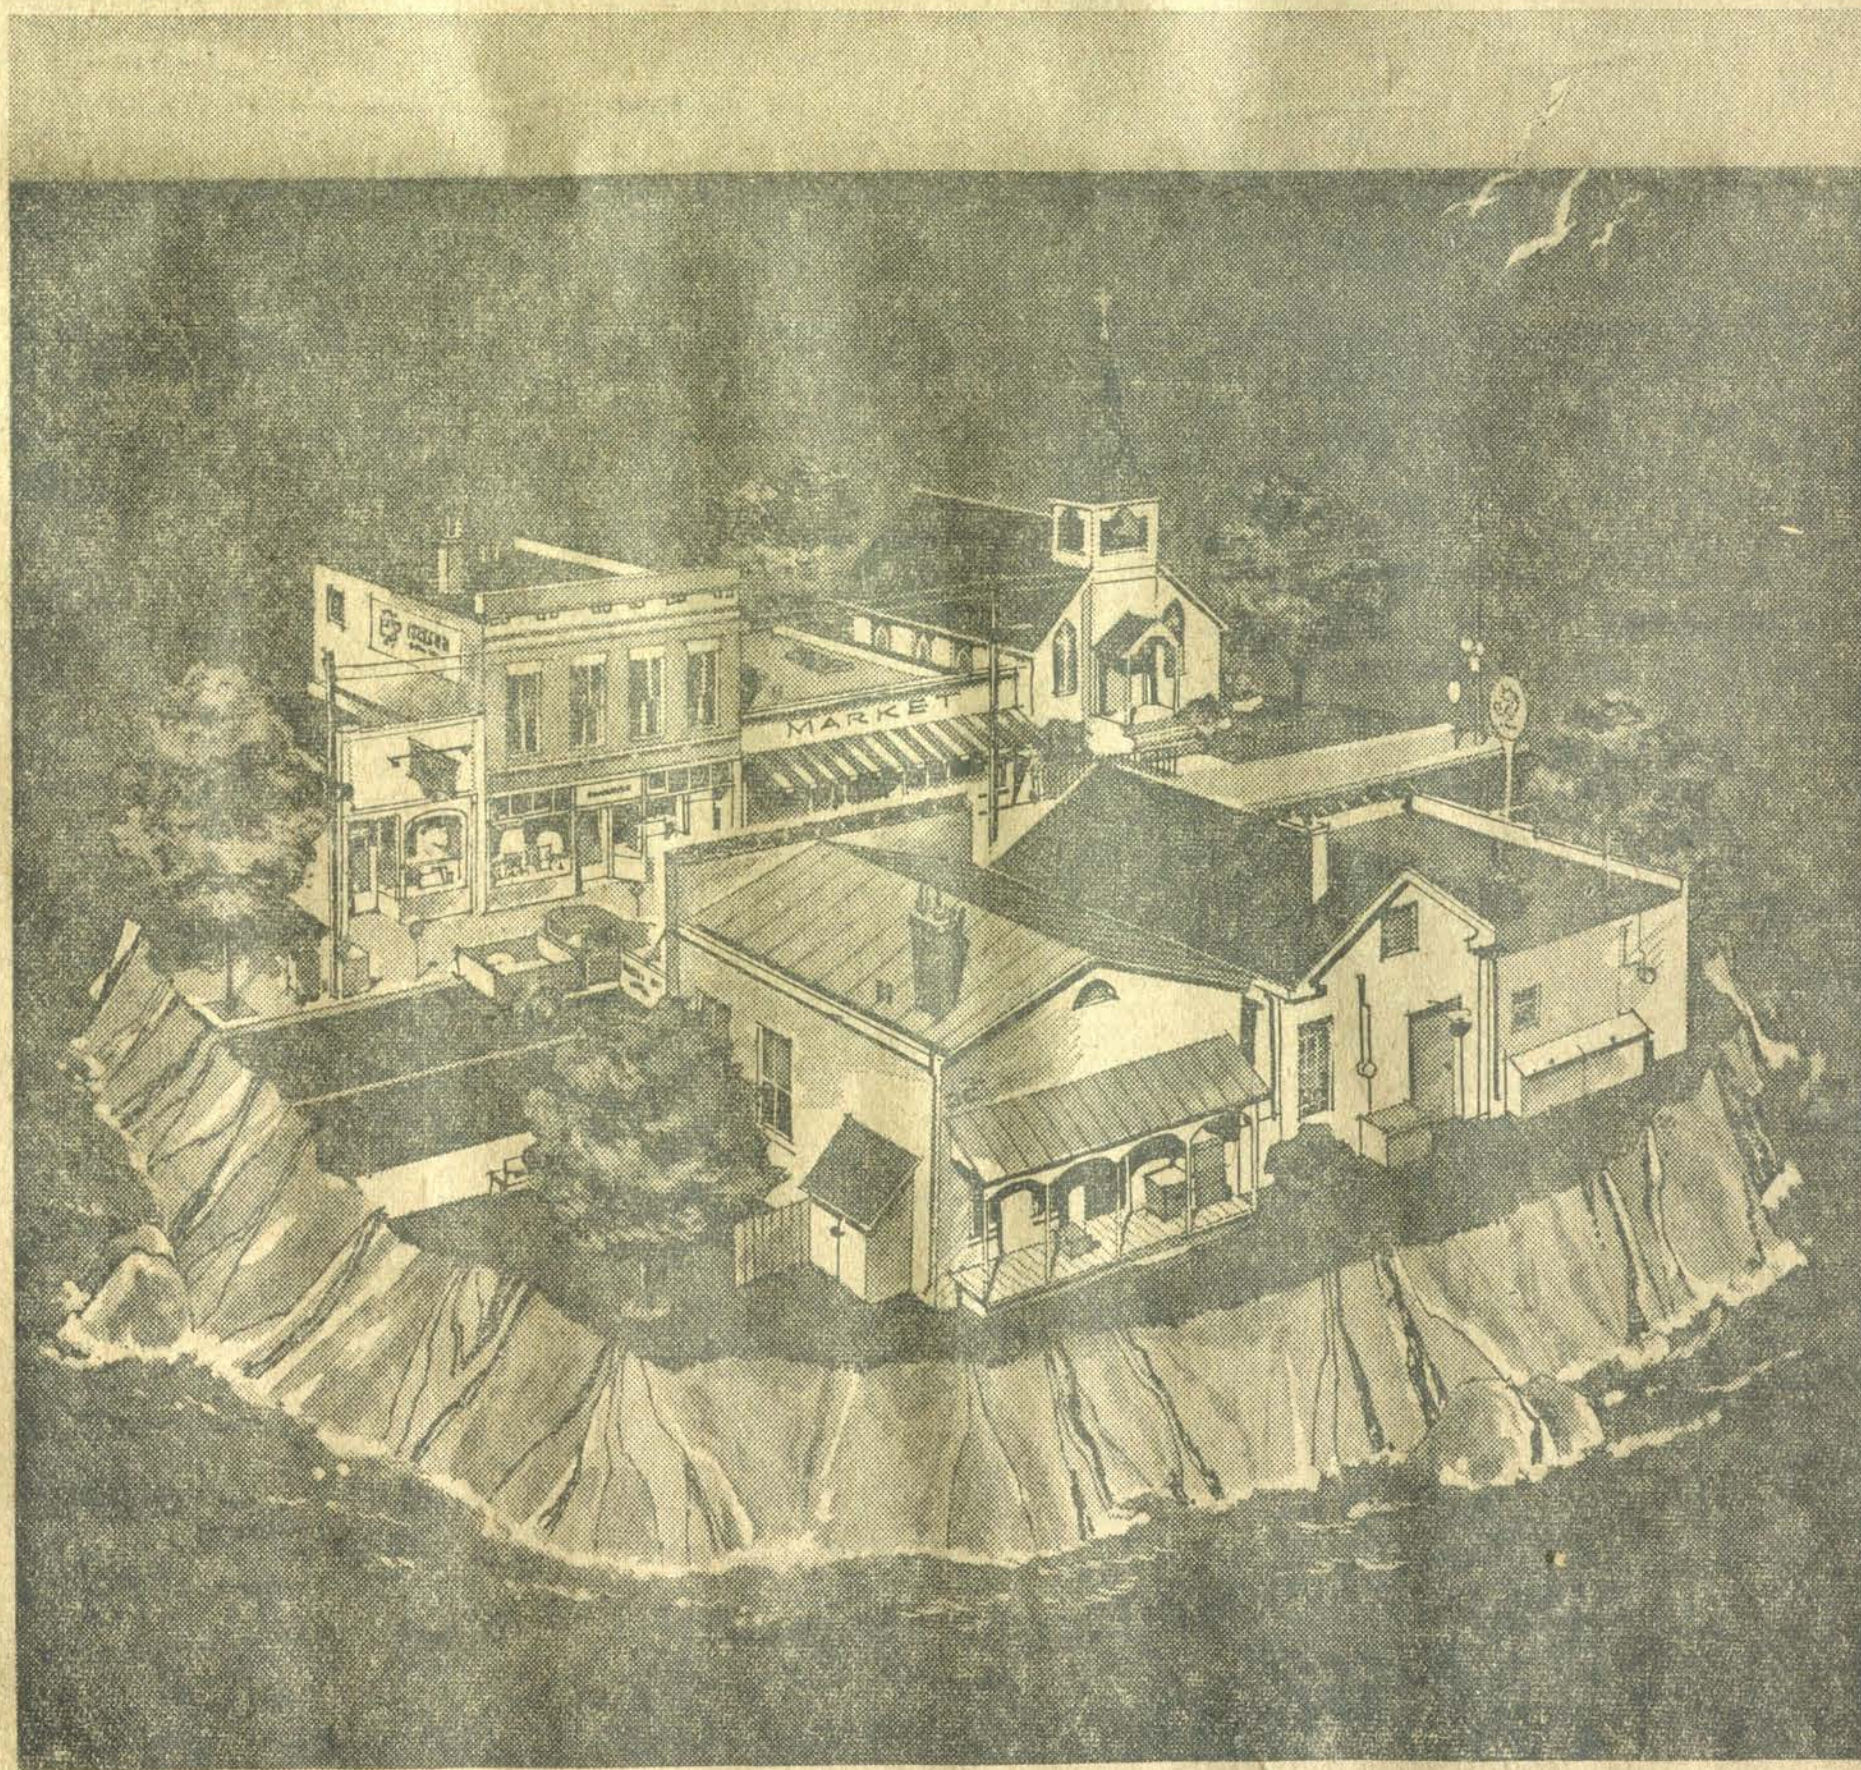

The inexorable roll of the years make fewer and fewer those who can recall those idyllic days when the farm family of half a century ago met casually, in between hours of hard work, to enjoy a few minutes together in the orchard, field or garden. The old team, like fleeing youth, is but a memory now.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of our past, trusting they will recall pleasant memories of our yesterdays.

Kentucky's farmers originally built their rural cooperatives for one purpose only... to get the electric power they could not buy elsewhere. Out of their cooperation has grown a force powerful enough to keep Kentucky's prosperity growing.

So, when the Kentucky farm was modernized and improved with rural electricity... the town
