

This Town-- That World

Fellow told us recently that he knew the news before it was printed but that he read the paper to see who got caught.

WE'LL TAKE NO MORE CHANCES

I will not gripe about the weather. Furthermore, I will not comment on it. Last week, this column pointed to those cold days back in May and hinted about the sweltering heat that was upon us—and, lo! before the paper had hit the street folks were trotting out the smudge pots again (if they had anything to smudge). The whole matter has me thinking like a criminal—whatever I say may be used against me.

The record will show that a little boasting by this newspaper about the crime rate dropping has on occasion sent it soaring, and a word about the weather sends the barometer into a tizzy. Any time I venture a mile from a boat dock without a raincoat, look for squalls, and if you want a dry spell just outfit me for rainy weather. The name is Joe Pfisk.

WHY?

There are things man is not expected to understand. The Bible lists the way of a man with an eagle in the air, a ship at sea and a serpent on a rock. But it does seem that somebody should be able to explain why it is that when I stand idly watching another mow a lawn I whiff the odor of ripe watermelon but when I'm at the business end of the machine I catch only the smell of a hot motor and a hotter motor.

WATCHFUL, WAITING

There is a story we've deliberately passed up this week, and that is the one about the Corps of Engineers' plan for locks and dams on the Big Sandy. We may print it next week, but just now we aren't a bit excited about it. That's what 30 years of blowing bubbles and having somebody sit by and gouge 'em with a pin will do for you.

I am reminded that the duller the idea the harder it is to make your point.

HALE, GOBLE CONTEST SUIT REPLIES MADE

Both Allege Opponents Violated Law, Counter With Bribery Claims

Answers, counter-claims and counter-claims to contest actions filed against them were made last week by Dan Goble and Henry C. Hale, holders of certificates of Democratic nomination for the offices of Jailor and Sheriff, respectively.

Goble's answer contends that his opponent, Lawrence Hale, and supporters violated provisions of the Corrupt Practices Act through the use of a slush fund of at least $8,000. At the same time he claims that he himself did not violate the act and that no other person violated it with his knowledge and consent. He also maintained that if absentee voters were present in the county on election day for any legitimate reason, their votes should not be held illegal, because the voiding of such ballots would deny the voter the right to vote and would violate the state constitution.

Goble also contended that if voters named in certain paragraphs of Hale's complaint cast illegal votes, they were cast for Hale. His answer asks that the vote cast in both Middle Creek and Rough and Tough precincts be thrown out. He alleged that 43 voters were assisted by election officers in Middle Creek precinct in such a way that secrecy of the ballot was violated, and that they were voted for Hale without the voter making proper affidavit that he or she was unable to read or write or was otherwise incapacitated.

In Rough and Tough, it was claimed, the election officers permitted numerous voters to enter the voting house through a rear door.

SHOT WOUNDS EDGAR HALL

Allen Businessman Removed To St. Mary's, In Serious Condition

Edgar H. Hall, 51, prominent Floyd business man, was shot and seriously wounded Saturday morning while in the office of the Hall Concrete Products Company at Allen which he founded and operates.

Hall is at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, West Virginia, where the hope was expressed Wednesday that he will recover. He is partially paralyzed by the shot.

A bullet from a .38-caliber revolver passed through his left arm, entered his chest and lodged near the spine, it was said.

It was established, officers said, that only Hall and his wife were in the office at the time the shot was fired. Mrs. Hall was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, suffering from shock, and has not been questioned by authorities.

The shooting took place between 8 and 8:30 a.m. The revolver was picked up in the office by a man who arrived shortly after the shooting and was given to Sheriff Hershell Warrens.

There has been no official investigation of the shooting, and there has been no arrest made.

It was said that an operation will be performed Friday on the wounded man.

Two Men Are Fined For Illegal Fishing; Copley Notes Limits

For fishing without license Walter Hall, of Viper, Ky., and Earl Limings, Logan, W. Va., were each fined $21.50 by Magistrate Grover C. Holbrook recently, Conservator.

Officer Raymond Copley reported last week. Other cases are pending. Copley said some undersize black bass are still being kept, despite state regulation fixing a 12-inch minimum size for this species in Dewey Lake. He said there is no size limit on white bass but that any person found with black bass less than 12 inches long and taken from Dewey Lake will be arrested and prosecuted.

COURT HIRES ROAD ADVISER

Former Sheriff Meade Named by Magistrates At $1 Per Year Salary

The fiscal court in a special meeting Monday unanimously voted to employ A. B. Meade at a salary of $1 a year as its special adviser and consultant.

Mr. Meade, who is administrator of the malt beverages division of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, was named, the resolution explained, because of his willingness to serve at a nominal salary; because of his experience in fiscal and administrative affairs gained as County Clerk 16 years and as Sheriff four years, and because his services "can be utilized to great advantage in securing from the state maximum economic benefits for this county, including various types of road construction."

The motion to employ Mr. Meade was made by Magistrate Holbrook and seconded by Magistrate Ousley.

Another unanimous action of the court was to approve Magistrate Ousley's motion to allow the County Judge a trial commissioner at a salary of $300 a month, effective July 1. The motion was seconded by Magistrate Caudill.

CLARK, BOARD ARE INVITED

To Frankfort Meeting; Floyd School Problems To Be Discussed, Said

Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd schools, and members of the Floyd County Board of Education will go to Frankfort Thursday, upon invitation of State Superintendent Wendell P. Butler, for a discussion of county school problems.

In a letter addressed to the superintendent and all board members, Butler set the time of the meeting at 10 a.m., and added that the meeting is being called "for the purpose of discussing some of the problems existing in the Floyd county school system."

Superintendent Clark said copies of the minutes of each meeting of the Board held since January 3 have been transmitted to the State Department of Education.

Although he said he had no advance knowledge of the line the discussion will follow, he expressed the opinion that these minutes had afforded Butler reason to call the conference. Ray Howard, chairman of the Board, said his only information was contained in Butler's letter.

PLANE CRASH CLAIMS LT. WM. GARY MARTIN

Word was received here Wednesday morning that Lt. William Gary Martin, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, of Martin, had been killed in a plane crash in Colorado during the preceding night.

Details of the tragedy are not known at this time. An observer flying with Lt. Martin was critically injured.

The Floyd countian was stationed at Ft. Carson, Colorado, as a pilot. He had gone to Ft. Carson shortly after Easter, after receiving his "Wings" at Ft. Rucker, Alabama, in January and later completing the instrument phase of flying.

Lt. Martin was a graduate of Martin high school and the University of Kentucky. He entered the Army Air Force in September, 1959, soon after receiving his college degree. An Eagle Scout in his boyhood, the flier was an outstanding young man.

Surviving are his parents and one sister, Doty Gay Martin. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

AMVETS CLUB IS BLASTED

Salisbury Miner Jailed On Dynamiting Charge; Halbert Yet Uncaptured

One man was jailed here Sunday and another is sought on a warrant sworn out by Martin Chief of Police A. J. Reed in connection with the dynamite blast which early last Friday morning partially destroyed the Amvets Club at Martin and damaged several nearby buildings.

Edward Smith, 28, Salisbury miner, who had been held in the Martin city jail since Friday was arrested and brought to the county jail here on a warrant naming him as an accomplice in the dynamiting. Cecil Halbert, about 38, a cousin of Smith and also a resident of Salisbury, was released from the Martin jail before a warrant was sworn out for his arrest, and he has not been captured.

Reed said he, State Detective Chester D. Potter and another witness will appear before the special grand jury when it reconvenes Wednesday to make an indictment against Smith. If the grand jury, which was empaneled to investigate the May 23 primary election, cannot take action in the dynamiting case an examining trial for Smith may be held by County Judge Henry Stumbo.

The blast, which was caused, it is estimated, by the discharge of a case of dynamite, cracked and bulged the concrete walls of the Amvets Club, tore away a part of its roof and ruined the interior of the structure. Damage to the club was estimated at $10,000.

The Martin Supply Company, directly across Ky. 80 from the Amvets Club, suffered next heaviest damage as plate glass windows were blown out. The owner, T. J. Allen, placed his damage at $1,500. His loss was not insured.

The adjoining American Legion Club, the Beaver Lumber Company, Judd's Service Station, Tackett's Radio & TV Shop and Caudill's Watch Repair felt the blast and were damaged in varying degree, mainly through window breakage. Several window panes in the Beaver Valley hospital, around a hundred yards away, were shattered by the concussion, as were windows in five or six homes.

Reed said he knows the motive for the dynamiting but declined to say what it is. "We are positive we have sufficient evidence to convict," he said.

Other losses included the autos of Glenn Patrick and J. R. Key, which had been left parked near the building after the club closed around midnight.

Policeman Reed placed the overall loss at $45,000.

Patrick and Key had driven with William Wohlford in Wohlford's auto from the club to a restaurant outside Martin, leaving their own cars behind. Driving back into Martin, they trailed Shelley Woods, of Emma, who was driving from up-Beaver. As Woods approached the end of the building the explosion occurred.

All four men escaped possible death by a matter of 10 seconds, it was surmised.

An electric clock in the Beaver Supply Company stopped at 1:17, and this is given as the time of the explosion. The chief of police at Martin branded as untrue a report

Airport Story Errs On Harmon Sta. Site

The Times erred last week in its airport story through a misunderstanding of the geography of Blockhouse Bottom, proposed site of the airstrip.

The site of the pioneer Harmon Station is not on the land of Mrs. Douglas Galbraith and the fact that the landing field will stop short of Mrs. Galbraith's property line does not necessarily mean that the Harmon Station site will not be affected by the airport, it has been pointed out to this newspaper.

DEVELOPMENT PLANS MADE

Regional Leaders Meet At Camp Chatterawha To Hear Gov. Combs

Community and industrial leaders from a wide section of southeastern Kentucky met here last Wednesday with representatives of state and federal governments in the Program 60 area development workshop.

The workshop was planned and held with the aim of forming the Big Sandy Development Council, with all parts of the valley joined in common effort to improve the economic lot of the area, but interest in the undertaking attracted leaders from the Cumberland valley which has similar problems.

Forums on the subjects of Area Development, Tourist Industry Development, Community and Community Industry Development were held at the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria Wednesday morning. There approximately 200 persons attending the workshop were welcomed by Mayor Edward B. Leslie, of Prestonsburg, who stressed the point that "divisions and rivalries" are fading away as Big Sandy communities are working together.

B. F. Reed, chairman of the East Kentucky Regional Development Commission, reviewed the beginnings of that group and what it has been and is doing in the valley. He said the commission was an outgrowth of the disastrous 1957 flood which swept the Big Sandy region, that the commission first talked of the need of the Eastern Kentucky tollroad and had worked to get construction of reservoirs in the headwaters of the Big Sandy begun.

Mrs. R. V. May, chairman of the Prestonsburg Community Development Council, told of the formation of the Council and the progress made toward attaining its dreams of local improvement.

Clifford B. Latta, of Prestonsburg, presided at the workshop and directed the program activities.

At noon between 175 and 200 persons attended the luncheon served at Camp Chatterawha on Dewey Lake by the Prestonsburg Neighborhood of the Sandy Valley Girl Scout Council and heard Governor Bert T. Combs discuss the program state government has in operation.

He told the gathering that approval of the U. S. Bureau of Roads had only a few days earlier been given for a four-lane bridge across the Big Sandy at the point where the Mountains-to-the-Bluegrass highway enters Prestonsburg and had approved four

Mud, Middle Cr. Centers Are Given Top Priority In Survey Team Report

Five new buildings, consolidations to reduce the number of schools both large and small and an overall improvement program which may require a vote on the question of a special tax—these were among sweeping recommendations made in a report last week to the Floyd Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education by a survey team from the State Department of Education.

The facilities survey report submitted by the survey team was the outgrowth of a study made last April 17, 18 and 19 at the request of the Superintendent and the Board. The team making the study was composed of Eugene Adkins, of the Division of Buildings and Grounds, and Earl Adams and Lee Gentry, of the Division of Instructional Services.

Given top priority for construction were the Mud Creek and Middle Creek centers, each recommended to be of 16 to 18 rooms and designed to eliminate 19 rural schools. The Board of Education already has acquired, or arranged to acquire, sites for both these schools.

But the building which would effect the most sweeping changes is that which is recommended for construction at the Forks of Beaver, near Martin. A new school there to house the high school population of all Right Beaver Creek and to eliminate the present Martin, Maytown, Garrett and Wayland high schools is recommended. The new structure would accommodate approximately 100 pupils. It also was advised that Progress toward construction of a modern post office at Garrett, was announced last week by Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

"President Kennedy has called for an accelerated postal construction program this year as a spur to the economy," the Postmaster General said. "The post office that will be constructed here will not only benefit the community by way of more efficient postal service but will help to implement the President's program."

Mr. Day said the Post Office Department is seeking competitive bids to build and lease the new post office. The building will be a small, modern, functional facility built in accordance with Post Office plan, to serve a small community.

Under the Department's commercial leasing program the successful bidder will construct the building and rent it to the Post Office Department for a basic period of five years, with four options to renew the lease. The Department's capital investment will remain under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

Bids should be submitted to W. E. Boles, Field Services Officer, Post Office Box 2038, Cincinnati, O., no later than July 17, 1961. The field services officer will supply bidding forms, building specifications, lease provisions and other information.

Bonus Director Says Accusations Are Spite; Charged by Grand Jury

William A. Maggard, of Frankfort, Thursday charged persons who accused him of violating laws in the Floyd county primary are "just out to spite me."

Maggard, director of the Kentucky veterans' bonus program, was charged by a special grand jury of making false statements to obtain an absentee ballot.

"I don't think the people who charged me are sincere," he said. "I don't believe anyone in Floyd county or anywhere else in Kentucky can question my character or moral conduct."

Maggard was one of five people charged with vote fraud at Prestonsburg.

He said he was in Floyd county election day but "I would like to say I didn't attempt to vote, having already voted an absentee ballot."

Maggard explained, "After casting my ballot, I was urged by my nephew, Barkley J. Sturgill, a candidate for county attorney in the primary, and my sister to return to Floyd county to help his campaign."

"At their insistence, I finally agreed to go back to work for Sturgill's cause, and I was in Floyd county on election day."

Maggard is specifically charged with being present in the county on election day despite having signed an application for an absentee ballot saying he would not be in the county to vote.

scribed as "great." For this reason the survey team recommended that the county "attempt to embark upon an extensive building program that will make immediate progress toward better facilities for all the students."

This comment was added: "With present statutory limitations on financing building programs, it is evident that building needs cannot be met without special voted taxes. Therefore, it is recommended that the Superintendent and the Floyd County Board of Education provide the people of Floyd county an opportunity to vote on a special tax to construct new facilities for this present generation of school children."

The survey of May, 1953 is superseded by the new report. Reasons given for the survey: 1. There has been a population shift generally from the rural to the urban centers.

2. A need exists for consolidation of the small one and two-room elementary schools.

3. An excessive number of high schools make it impossible to offer a comprehensive program of studies.

4. A need exists for a countywide, long-range building program.

The county has eight consolidated schools (grade and high school) one high school center (Prestonsburg) and seven elementary centers of five or more teachers. It has three four-room schools, 10 three-room schools, 18 or two rooms and 59 one-room schools.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Lou Riffe, of Ashland, his widow, his brother and one sister, Mrs. C. J. Fox, of Ashland.

Funeral rites were conducted at 1 p.m. Wednesday, from the John Steen Funeral Home, Ashland, and burial was made there.

STATE PARK ENVISIONED

By Combs At Fishtrap; Governor Tells Club Possibilities of Area

Elkhorn City, Ky. June 16—The possibility of another State park for Eastern Kentucky, which would embrace part of the federal government's $43,800,000 Fishtrap Reservoir project, was raised Friday night by Governor Combs.

The Governor, speaking before the Pikeville Rotary Club at Breaks Interstate Park, said that Fishtrap, with its planned lake of approximately 1,000 acres, "has tremendous possibilities both for flood control and park and recreation purposes."

Furthermore, he said, it is customary for the federal government to turn over use of the surrounding land to the state at no cost.

"I am sure that the Department of Parks and the State Parks Board will give every consideration to converting that land, or a substantial portion of it, into a state park."

The federal budget, now being considered by Congress, contains $1,780,000 for start of construction of the Fishtrap project, on the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River in Pike county. The Governor, anticipating approval of the budgeted amount, said construction likely would begin this fall.

He said the project, coupled with two flood-control projects in Virginia, would give complete flood protection to Pikeville and harness floods in a 395-square-mile area.

Combs also announced that the Highway Department would let a $350,000 contract about September 1 for construction of a paved road 3 1/2 miles long into the Buckhorn State Park in Perry county. The state is investing $750,000 in a lodge, cottages and other facilities for the park, which will be opened for the 1962 season.

Harley Spears, 64, Dies At Pikeville; Brother Of Floyd Residents

Mr. Spears is survived by four sons and a daughter: Harry J., Edgar and Jack Spears, all of Ashland, and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Hall, Pikeville. Two other brothers survive: Ruford Spears, South Point, Ohio, and Willis Spears, of Inez.

Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p.m., Saturday, from the Vogle-Day Methodist Church at Boldman, and burial was made under the direction of Kilgore-Collier Funeral Home.

The technical and industrial school proposed for the vicinity of Martin be located on the site of the new high school and that the site originally proposed for the trades school be used for a central maintenance shop. The present Martin high school should be renovated to house a modern elementary school, it was recommended, and this structure would result in the moving of pupils there from eight smaller schools.

The Martin center, however, is listed in the third priority group.

In the No. 2 priority group are a new 16-room elementary center on U. S. 23 at or near Cow Creek and a new 20-room elementary school on a new site at Wheelwright to house the present enrollment and also the students of the Palmer-Dunbar elementary school (colored) when feasible.

Justification for the Cow Creek center depends, it was pointed out, not only upon the consolidation of the schools in the Cow Creek section and those at Corn Fork, Brandy Keg and Lancer but also upon its relieving the Prestonsburg elementary school of its crowded condition. To relieve the Prestonsburg grade school congestion, it was suggested that the Prestonsburg district be re-districted in part.

The Cow Creek school would serve 10 existing schools and possibly five others.

Listed with the Forks of Beaver school in No. 3 priority rating are: Adaptation of the present elementary building at Betsy Layne to house a complete, modern high school program for 450 to 500 students and that a new elementary building to accommodate 500 pupils be constructed there.

Addition of six to eight rooms to the Melvin elementary school, with lunchroom and library.

Continuance and improvement of the McDowell school as a 12-grade center till the possible later date when the high school students there can be accommodated at Wheelwright and the new Forks of Beaver high school.

In fourth priority are six schools, all scheduled for renovation for elementary purposes. These are those at Auxier, Garrett, Martin, Maytown elementary, Prestonsburg elementary and Wayland.

Betsy Layne and McDowell gymnasia are placed last in line for construction.

The survey team recommended that the old Prestonsburg high school building be renovated and adapted for use as a school administration building. Industrial arts facilities and an agriculture shop should be added to Prestonsburg high school at the same time the athletic field and stadium are constructed here, it was recommended. Work on the athletic field has already been started.

Rural schools which would be consolidated with larger centers, if the plan submitted is wholly adopted, are:

With McDowell — Gearheart, Head of Frazier's Creek, Ned's Fork and Sizemore.

With the new Mud Creek school — Mink Branch, Mouth of Branham's Creek, Head of Branham's Creek, Neck Branch, Lee Alley, Will Hamilton, Frasure Branch, Antioch, Teaberry.

With the new Middle Creek school — Katy Friend, Forks of Middle Creek, Langley, Conley, Open Fork, Rough and Touch, Arnett, Adams, Needmore, Buckeye.

With the proposed Cow Creek center — Home Branch, Spears, Clark, Upper Cow Creek, Lower Cow Creek, Slick Rock, Emma, Corn Fork, Brandy Keg, Lancer and possibly Forks of Bull, Warrix, Laterty, Derosssett and Lower Bull.

With Betsy Layne — Rosenwald, Tram, Ivy Creek, Head of Little Mud, Stanville.

With Allen — Banner and Daniels Creek.

With Auxier, which would transfer its high school students to Prestonsburg, and continue as an elementary center — Upper Little Paint, Lower Little Paint, Cliff and Spradlin Branch. (Part of the pupils from Cliff and Spradlin Branch would be sent to Prestonsburg.)

With Bonanza — Whittaker.

To Garrett — Salyers Branch, Raccoon, Shepherd.

To Lackey — Stone Coal.

To Martin — Alum Lick, Cold Spring, Burke's Branch, Spurlock, Dinwood, Arkansas, Salsbury, Hunter.

To Maytown — Brush Creek, Turkey Creek, Pitts Fork.

To Melvin — Riley's Branch, Buckingham, Upper Jack's Creek, Lower Jack's Creek.

To Prestonsburg elementary — West Prestonsburg, Big Branch, part of Cliff and Spradlin Branch.

Other recommendations: Bosco to continue until the Forks of Beaver Center is in operation, then to be consolidated with Garrett; David to continue till the Middle Creek center is completed; Drift to continue till such time as it is feasible to consolidate with McDowell; Dwale to continue till consolidation with Allen is feasible; Harold, Weebury and Lackey to continue as grade centers.

These schools would continue to operate until roads and facilities will permit their consolidation with other centers: Neeley, Myrtle, Prater, Spruce Pine, Beaver, Tinker Fork, Tackett Fork, Ligon, Lambert, Clear Creek.

Kendrick's Affidavit Says Information False

Paul Kendrick, of Wayland, in an affidavit acknowledged June 15 by Cassie J. Allen, said no offer of money was ever made to him by Robert Wright or Robert Martin, and that the indictment made against them by the special grand jury here last week was based on false information.

The two men were named in the indictment on a bribery charge in connection with the May primary election.

GOVERNOR URGES JUDGES TO DEAL IN STERN MANNER WITH TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

Gov. Bert Combs has called upon judges to deal more sternly with traffic violators and to resist pressure to fix traffic tickets.

Speaking at the recent Governor's Safety Conference in Frankfort, Combs told more than 700 persons who met to study means of making the highways safer: "We face greater perils on the highways than we faced in No Man's Land."

Labeling highway accidents more deadly than war, Combs said 8,176 persons were killed on Kentucky roads in the last 10 years, compared with the 5,715 Kentuckians killed in World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict. He said accidents cost about $250 million a year in Kentucky.

Combs said punishing of violators "is not society's pound of flesh" but rather "it is the deterrent to wrongdoing . . . society's way of protecting itself."

The Governor added, "I'd just as soon help a convicted thief get off, thief-free, as a drunken driver. The cost is much less of a public danger."

To take the pressure off law enforcement officials, Combs suggested "a foolproof way of numbering traffic tickets so they can't be filed away or torn up."

He said the state will begin issuing reflectorized license plates in 1963 for safer night driving and suggested that cars show a different colored light when stopped than when slowing down.

Progress is being made in Kentucky in prevention of farm and home accidents, fire losses and in water safety, Combs said.

Power Interruption To Affect Some Areas

The Kentucky Power Company announced this week that it will find it necessary to interrupt power service on Sunday, June 25, starting at 9:00 a.m. and lasting approximately one hour. The line involved will be the Spring Fork Line, and this will interrupt service from Spring Fork at Evanston to and including the area around Lackey, up Jones Fork to Hindman, Wayland, Glo, Garrett and down Right Beaver Creek to North-ern, at the mouth of Goose Creke.

The interruption will result from work being done in order to provide better service in these areas, it was said.

COOK-OUT TIME

Warm summer weather calls for a cook-out and this is just the time to feature chicken at your next outdoor meal, for broilers are both plentiful and a good buy now.

Since 1947, the average U. S. family has increased its food costs per person from $318 to $394 each year, but income has increased enough during this time that food takes less of the total family income. In 1947, an average of 27 per cent of family income was spent for food, compared with 20 per cent in 1960.

Boy Scout Meeting Set Here Next Thursday

Reorganization of Boy Scouting in Prestonsburg is the aim of a meeting scheduled June 29 at 8 p.m., at the American Legion Hall here. It was announced this week. All persons who are interested in the Boy Scout work here are being urged to attend.

BEVINS FAMILY

A letter from Mrs. S. R. Bevins, Route 2, Concord, Tennessee, asks about the Bevins family of Eastern Kentucky.

She writes: "My husband was born in Scott county, Virginia. His father, Phillip Wheeler Bevins, came from Russell county, Virginia; he was the son of Rev. William Bevins, a Baptist minister. That is as far back as we can go. We have learned that there were several Bevins in Pike county, Kentucky, and we have wondered if, perhaps, they came originally from the same clan that settled in Southwest Virginia.

"They are the only people who spell the name exactly as we do. In this area there are Bevins, Bivins, Bivens and Ebevins but none except our particular family who spell it Bevins.

"Do you know where the Kentucky Bevins came from originally? Someone told us that originally the name was 'Bevin' without the 's'. Do you know whether any Bevins were Revolutionary soldiers?"

Search of the files reveals a September 27, 1953, copy of the Ashland (Ky.) Daily Independent with an article, "The Bevins Fifth Annual Homecoming," by G. C. Ratliff.

Ratliff quotes Pike county Superintendent of Schools, C. H. Farley, who read a brief history of the Bevins family at the reunion.

"The history begins with Joseph Bevins, of Belfast, Ireland, in 1763. Joseph's parents crossed the Atlantic in 1770, coming to Philadelphia. But soon the Bevins family migrated down the Shenandoah valley of Virginia and settled at Osborne's Ford, near Gate City, in Scott county, Virginia.

"At Osborne's Ford, Joseph grew into manhood and married Mary Annie Noble, who was also Irish. In 1803 Joseph, and perhaps his parents also, moved to Big Sandy and it is believed that he first settled on the Levisa Fork of the river near what is now Millard, 12 miles south of Pikeville. That was Floyd county then.

"No one appears to know the date when Joseph and Mary Annie left the river, traveled up Ratliff's Creek, a short distance below Pikeville, crossed over the low hill into the Burning Fork of Racoon, down that fork to Johns Creek. But it is certain that it was after 1803.

"Nine miles east of Pikeville, in the beautiful valley of Johns Creek, Joseph made his home. The land where he settled is now the Will Ford farm, which the Pikeville-Williamson highway, U. S. 119, splits in two.

"Joseph died in 1824 at the age of 61. He was buried on a hill overlooking the Ford farm.

"At the Sunday gathering it was proposed that the Bevins family erect a marker at the grave.

"From Joseph and Annie came five sons but no daughters. They were John, 1785; Thomas, 1788; Joseph, Jr., 1790; James, 1792; and George, born about 1794. George later migrated to Lawrence county and settled on the creek that bears his name.

"John, the eldest son, fell into possession of the old home. He married Mary Jane Stacy. Thomas married Elizabeth Porter, the first time and Lidia Ratliff, second. James married Molly Pinson.

"Thomas Bevins was one of the first magistrates to serve in Pike county after its creation in 1821. The first marriage he solemnized was that of Eli Hatfield and Anna Evans, September 20, 1827."

There is a discrepancy in the Ratliff story and "Lesley-Leslie, 200 Years in America," by Ruth Cleveland Leslie. On page 330, Miss Leslie wrote that Joseph Bevins served in the Revolution. There is a strong tradition in the Bevins family that Joseph Bevins actually served in the Revolution, but no member of the family seems to have done any research on the matter.

The Leslie-Bevins marital connection was made when Hiram Kilgore Bevins, youngest of the ten children of John and Mary Jane Stacy Bevins, were married December 10, 1835.

FOUR MEN OF THE CUMBERLANDS

"The four were badmen and lawmen. Revolvers had ruled The Pound before they came. When they were gone the Cumberlands were quiet but only after a crescendo of blazing guns."

Thus begins the pamphlet, "Four Men of the Cumberlands," upon which I spent two years research. It is the story of Big Ed

Hall, Bad Tolt Hall, Devil John Wright and Dr. M. B. Taylor, whom John Fox, Jr., in his book, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," called the Red Fox of the Cumberlands.

In the pamphlet is the story of what oldsters called The Mountain Killin' near Pound Gap. Big Ed Hall, lawman extraordinary, was ambushed and shot in the back, Bad Tolt Hall and Dr. Taylor were hanged at Wise, Virginia. Only Devil John Wright lived to a ripe, old age and died in bed.

The booklet may be procured by sending $1 to Henry P. Scaff, Box 421, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. Only a dozen or so are left.

window or windows, to cast their votes and leave by the same route, while a large number of other voters were at the door seeking an opportunity to vote. Many of the latter were deprived of their right to vote because of lack of time, it was claimed. Fraud, intimidation, bribery and violence were alleged in both precincts.

Goble's answer and counter-suit were filed by the law firm of Tackett & Tackett.

In his answer to the contest filed by David B. Leslie, Henry C. Hale asked that the complaint be dismissed because it fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted and because the contestant failed to join "indispensable parties," member of the Election Commission, to the action. He denied all allegations of fraud and protested that all absentee ballots should be void.

Hale's answer contends that KRS 128.285 holding illegal the votes of absentees who are present in the county on election day is unconstitutional, in that the statute denies the right to vote persons who may have intended to be absent but by necessity returned to the county on election day.

The answer denies that the polls were kept open beyond the 5 p.m. closing time in Middle Creek, Rough and Tough and Jim Banks precincts, and maintains that the election officers in each performed their duties.

In his counter-contest Hale alleged that Leslie, his friends, relatives and supporters, with his knowledge and consent, violated the Corrupt Practices Act and spent at least $10,000. This allegation was followed by the naming of "strikers" for Leslie in 21 precincts.

Hale claims the polls were kept open past the legal closing hour in Cow Creek, Melvin and Little Mud precincts, with a total of 139 votes being cast for Leslie illegally.

His answer was filed by Atty. Paul E. Hayes and Burnis Martin.

NEITHER QUIET NOR SHELTERED

Joe Creason's statement that Kentuckians have a disturbing tendency to apologize for Kentucky, for all its beauty and wealth of history and tradition, reminds us of the story told about the mountaineer who was a misanthrope with a capital M. A visitor remarked on the beauty of the sunset.

"Just the sun shinin' through smoke, Hills are out—you oughta see the other side."

"That mountainside — it's so lovely and green."

"Full of nettles and young locusts—don't try to climb it." And so it went. Always something disparaging. Finally the stranger remarked, "You live a quiet, sheltered life here, don't you?" To which the misanthrope replied: "You oughta been here one evenin' last August. Thunder drove me deaf, and I got as wet as a drowned rat!"

lanes a short distance up Middle Creek. He promised that as soon as west Kentucky road bonds are sold he will again stress action on this end of the giant highway undertaking.

Governor Combs pointed to a stepped-up educational program in Kentucky which has seen the biggest increase in the nation in instructional salaries, though these salaries still remain low when compared to those paid in some parts of the nation; of the advances made in health and welfare and of the gains made in attracting industry to Kentucky. He mentioned in connection with the work of attracting industry the activities of Lieut.-Gov. Wilson Wyatt.

The forum on area development heard John Whisman, special assistant to the Governor, point out that an area development organization is an avenue of communication between communities and agencies working within them or for them. Such an organization, he said, should have representatives from each community within the area and also be represented by special groups such as the professions, agriculture, labor and the like.

John R. Fernstrom, of the Area Redevelopment Administration, Washington, D. C., stressed the need for local initiative. He pointed out that federal funds appropriated are small when the area to be covered is considered, that organization of areas is necessary for participation in federal programs. "This aid will not solve all unemployment problems," he reminded the group, "but it will help us help ourselves."

Mr. Fernstrom said there already are 100 federal-aid programs and listed the following area in which help is available:

1. Loans for individual community projects;
2. loans and grants for public facilities;
3. technical assistance;
4. loans for occupational training.

Robert Luckey, of Cincinnati, regional director of the U. S. Department of Commerce, related his office is a link between the Big Sandy valley and Washington. He said his office has $8 million worth of research reports in studies available to all Big Sandy area residents.

A committee whose duty it will be to form an area organization was partially formed at the workshop, and it is expected to meet within the next month. Named to the committee at that time were:

From Pikeville—H. H. Kincaid, of the Kentucky Power Company and president of the Pikeville Chamber of Commerce; from Prestonsburg—C. B. Latta, vice-president of the First National Bank and chairman of the Industrial Development committee of the Community Development Council; Paintsville—O. T. Dorton, of the Second National Bank; Louisa—Howard Queen, chairman of the Louisa Community Development Council; Martin—Mayor Haskell H. Frye; Jenkins—C. V. Snapp, superintendent of city schools; Salyersville (tentatively)—Mrs. Lena Riggsby.

Others taking part in the group discussions were:

James L. Patton, assistant superintendent of public instruction; Gilbert Kingsbury, director of the Kentucky Tourist and Travel Commission; Lon Rogers, of the Breaks Interstate Parks Commission; Malcolm Mason, community specialist, Kentucky Utilities Company; James H. Nutter, deputy commissioner of the Kentucky Community Development Commission; Milton Ogle, community development resources development counselor, Council of the Southern Mountains; William Miller, community development specialist, Eastern Kentucky Resources Development Project; Miss Ruth Murphy, Kentucky Division of Economic Development, and Rufus Thomas, industrial development representative, Kentucky Power Company.

Other state and federal representatives were: Mrs. Violet Kilgore, Kentucky Department of Conservation; Keith Kelly, director of the East Kentucky Resources Development Project; Bernard Carter, Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources; Glenn S. Anderson, Department of Economic Security; June G. Davis, Kentucky Department of Agriculture; Thomas B. Thompson, Pikeville, district Social Security office; J. H. Guthrie, U. S. Corps of Engineers, Huntington, W. Va.

Two visitors who took a deep interest in the study of problems which are not unique to this area but which perplex minds in their own lands were Abdul Awwad, of Jordan, and Lytton L. Guimaraes, of Brazil.

The Prestonsburg Community Development Council met with several agencies to set up Wednesday's workshop.

RIGHT BEAVER CREEK FLOOD OF 1907

Who remembers the Right Beaver Creek flood of 1907? The valley was not industrialized then and the damage was less extensive than a flood of comparable size would be now. However, the loss to loggers and farmers was great.

Shown here is the flood of Right Beaver Creek sweeping by the town of Bosco. Mrs. Rebecca Dyer, wife of C. H. Dyer, who resided nearby, is shown milking in the road.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of our past in recognition of Eastern Kentucky's rich historical heritage.

Galaxie styling is inspiring more admiration (and imitation) than any other car on the road!

This is the look that started with Thunderbird—sired the Galaxie—and quickly became the styling success of the Sixties.

Many cars have tried to copy it. No car has succeeded. Incomparably beautiful, the 1961 Galaxie maintains its distinction—as originals always do.

Styling is only part of Galaxie's distinction: this is the car that's beautifully built to take care of itself. The '61 Ford goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications... 4,000 miles between oil changes. Brakes adjust automatically. The muffler is built to last three times as long as ordinary ones. The body is specially treated to resist rust and corrosion. The finish never needs waxing.

Wouldn't it make sense to STOP spending money on an old car that can never do for you what a new Ford can do?

SWAP right now while your Ford Dealer's sales are booming—and the swapping is easier than it's ever been before.

SAVE with the Ford that makes saving fun!

Wells Receives Degree In Veterinary Medicine From Auburn University

James Earl Wells, of Auxier, completed requirements for a degree in veterinary medicine this month at Auburn University, Auburn, Alabama, under the provisions of the Southern Regional Education Board's interstate contract program.

At the present time SREB interstate contracts permit a state which does not have medical, dental, veterinary, medicine, public health or social work schools to send its citizens to a state which does.

Wells also has completed his internship and is practicing his profession in the Madisonville, Ky., area. He is a son of Mrs. Carrie Wells, of Auxier, and the late Leonard Wells. A brother, Lloyd Wells, is a member of the Prestonsburg high school faculty.

WHEW! Good old summertime's here. And of all the time and labor-saving devices to keep your temperature down and help you live better, few can compare with the telephone. Might think about that next time the mercury scoots up and you've got to run here and drive there and do a dozen things. Just lift the receiver of your telephone and take it e-e-a-ay!

PATIO PATTERN—Now you have that new patio just like you want it—floodlights, grill, outlet for stereo, casual furniture and all. What could make it more complete? How about a patio telephone? That's the modern way to live outdoors, with an extension phone so you needn't run back into the house to make or take calls. Wherever your patio is located, we can put a phone there, either the portable or permanent type. In your choice of pretty colors, too. The cost is small. Just call our Business Office for more information.

HI, JAMAICA! A new telephone cable between the U.S. and Jamaica is to be completed by the Bell System by 1962. It will serve as a major artery in the oceanic phone network planned for Caribbean and South American points, and will handle up to 128 voice circuits.

DON'T FORGET TO STOP THE MILK before you go on vacation. Do remember to plan ahead by Long Distance. It's a good idea to phone in advance for reservations and make sure of a place to stay. And it's mighty nice to phone friends along the way. Of course you'll want to call back home later and check on how things are going. Let me remind you also that you can find vacation needs fast in the Yellow Pages, everything from cameras, luggage and sports equipment to picnic supplies. Have a swell vacation!

NEW MINING DEVELOPMENT PLANNED IN BUCHANAN-CO.

A new mine, providing employment for some 400 persons and having an annual capacity of 1,200,000 tons, will be developed jointly by Republic Steel Corporation and Island Creek Coal Company.

In making the announcement last Friday, T. F. Patton, Republic's president and chief executive officer, and R. E. Salvati, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Island Creek, said a new corporation, the Beatrice Pocahontas Company, will be formed by the two companies.

Plans for the new company are being completed. Closing transactions are expected to take place within the next two months upon completion of financing and related arrangements.

Plant site of the Beatrice Mine will be in Buchanan county, near Grundy, Virginia. It will be served by the Norfolk and Western Railway Company.

The mine, which will require a multi-million dollar investment, will yield a high quality, low ash, low sulphur, Pocahontas No. 3 seam metallurgical coal.

"The Beatrice Mine will be equipped with the most modern mining and preparation equipment available and, because of its recoverable reserves, will be engineered for long life," Mr. Patton and Mr. Salvati said. They added that "the reserves are being acquired by sublease from Island Creek."

Mr. Patton added, "The new company will give Republic not only an adequate reserve, but also a ready supply of one of the finest, low volatile coals available anywhere." Island Creek, because of its outstanding record in the mining and marketing of coal, will manage the new company.

Island Creek Coal Sales Company, a subsidiary of Island Creek, will market a portion of the output from the Beatrice mine.

Low volatile coal is blended with high volatile coal to obtain maximum stability in the production of coke. Use of low volatile coal improves coke quality by reducing the ash and sulphur content in the coke.

Coal from the Beatrice Mine will be used by Republic at its steel plants in Cleveland, Youngstown, Warren, Canton, and Massillon, Ohio; Chicago, Illinois; and Buffalo, New York.

Fort Jackson, S. C. (AHTNC) — Army Pfc. Donald M. Harrington, 24, whose wife, Dolores, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover Harrington, live in Prestonsburg, Ky., was graduated from the Third U. S. Army Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) Academy at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, June 10.

The purpose of the academy is to broaden the professional knowledge of the soldier and to instill in him the self-confidence and sense of responsibility required to make him a capable leader of men.

A driver in Headquarters Company of the U. S. Army Training Center, Infantry at Fort Jackson, he entered the Army in May, 1960, and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

Newly-Organized Folk Song Group

A new folk song group, the Jenny Wiley Chanters, has received its first invitation to present authentic balladry. They were asked to participate this week in the 187th anniversary celebration of the founding of Harrodsburg. The group plans to preserve and present only authentic folk music indigenous to the region. It was organized by Mrs. Edith F. James. Shown here, left to right, are Vivian Shannon, Mrs. James, Margaret Ann Rowe, Ruth James, Mrs. Claude P. Stephens, Polly Napier, Lolita Campbell and Sharon Ellis. Not shown are three other members of the Chanters: Mary Belle Short, Mary Jo Shivel and Betty Crisp.

Railway Donates Car For Art, Craft Display; Berea College Sponsors

Frankfort, Ky., June 12 (SpL)—The Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen and the Louisville and Nashville Railroad are cooperating to launch the nation's first "Art and Craft Train."

The Railroad is donating a baggage car and a passenger car to the Kentucky Department of Economic Development to be used "exclusively for public purposes." The state will turn these cars over to the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen for operation. The Guild was organized last January as a non-profit, charitable corporation.

The baggage car will be converted into an exhibition gallery and the passenger coach converted into a crafts demonstration workshop and living quarters for a curator-instructor. The exhibition gallery will be equipped to display paintings, sculpture and craft products.

The passenger coach has been delivered by the railroad to Berea College, where it will be remodeled under the direction of the Guild president, Lester Pross, who is co-chairman of the Berea College Art Department. Equipment will be installed for demonstrating woodworking, ceramics, weaving and other crafts.

Part of the equipment is being donated for use in the passenger car. Thomas Industries, Louisville, is furnishing the lighting fixtures and lighting engineering. Rockwell Manufacturing Co., Russellville, is providing the power tools and the Norman Kiln Company, New York, the potter's equipment.

The plan is for the train to be sent to communities which normally do not have access to art or craft exhibitions. It will serve the dual purpose of introducing residents of these areas to works of art and to fine examples of design in craft work and to stimulate interest in local production of similar work.

Persons interested in producing brought in touch with the Guild's art and crafts products will be non-profit marketing program. A major purpose of the train will be to stimulate community industries to provide new income to Kentucky areas of under-employment.

The first tour of the train is expected to start in September. This is the first time that a railroad has been used to circulate a series of art and crafts exhibitions and to provide a traveling school for instruction in crafts work, according to Bruce Kennedy, commissioner of the Department of Economic Development.

In addition to donating the cars to the State Department of Economic Development for use by the Guild, the L & N Railroad has agreed that it will without cost to the Guild or to the state transport the cars over its lines, interchange them with other railroads that will cooperate and perform routine maintenance.

CONLEY SERVES

Mannheim, Germany—Pfc. Denver Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil B. Conley, of Garrett, Ky., recently became a member of the Seventh U. S. Army's Order of Gold Patriots while serving with the 51st Infantry in Germany.

Members of this voluntary movement have pledged their support of President John F. Kennedy in reducing the outflow of gold from the U. S. In so doing they have agreed to save a certain percentage of their pay each month. Chapters of the Order are being established in all units throughout the Seventh Army.

Conley, a mechanic in the infantry's Company C in Mannheim, entered the Army in April, 1960, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and arrived overseas the following August.

The 22-year-old soldier attended Garrett high school.

TOP DRESS ALFALFA
Alfalfa is the most productive hay crop grown, therefore, it requires a good fertilization program to keep the plants from starving and the stand going out.

After the first cutting top dress with 60 pounds of phosphate, 120 pounds of potash and 10 to 15 pounds of borax. This is supplied with 600 pounds of 0-10-20 or 300 pounds of 0-20-40 borated fertilizer.

Since a good stand represents a sizeable investment, take out an insurance policy by top-dressing this year.

GARDENS
It is surprising how few gardeners are equipped to control insects and disease in the garden. Many don't have either a sprayer or a duster. A few dollars invested in spray equipment and the proper materials may mean the difference whether the family is well fed or not this summer.

Every gardener should have a duster or sprayer, preferably the Malathion, Methoxychlor, and D. D. T. for insect control and either Zenb or Maneb for disease control. Then follow directions on the package.

Many gardeners are still insisting on using old remedy instead of using what science has developed to do a much easier job.

STRAWBERRIES
The new strawberry patches are developing nicely. Runners are developing and are starting to set roots. Weeds are also growing fast. This is the time when the men will be separated from the boys. If the weeds are kept under control, the job will not be as difficult. Strawberries is a crop that can't be laid-by. Like a garden a little work weekly is better than waiting and trying to do the job all at one time.

The first runners should be pulled between the plants. After the area between the plants are filled in runners should be spread to wider the row.

'Stephen Foster Story' Opening Set, June 23

Frankfort, June 16—THE STEPHEN FOSTER STORY, by America's foremost writer of folk-drama, Paul Green, opens its third season in Bardstown, Friday, June 23, at the J. Dan Talbott Amphitheatre on the grounds of My Old Kentucky Home State Park.

In its first two seasons this widely acclaimed musical drama played to more than 116,000 persons in unparalleled seasons which were marred by only one rain-out in 131 performances. Again these summer performances will be given nightly at 8:30 except Mondays, over a ten-week period which will extend from June 23 through Labor Day, September 4.

A play with music, THE STEPHEN FOSTER STORY covers one year in the life of this balladeer and is sprinkled with approximately 50 of the more than 200 songs which Foster composed. It is filled with the story of Foster's battle to be a composer in the world bent upon industrialization, with little time or patience for the artist.

Capt. James Estill, companion of Daniel Boone and founder of Estill's Springs, was killed by an Indian at the Battle of Little Mount near the present site of Mt. Sterling in 1782.

7. The original score sheet, completed before improvement will be sent to the home agent.

8. Final scoring for the year must be completed by May 31, 1962. After scoring the score sheets will be returned to the Extension office. In case of a tie the winning individual or county will be drawn by the Better Kitchen Awards committee.

9. If a new home is to be built, the present kitchen may be scored in the "Before Improvement" column of the score sheet and the new kitchen in the "After Improvement" column.

10. No director or employee of any rural electric coop, or member of his family will be allowed to enroll in this activity.

The awards are:
1. Each entrant who earns 50 or more improvement points (June 1, 1961-May 30, 1962) will receive the Better Kitchen Awards suitable for framing.

2. The two entrants earning the highest number of improvement points in each Extension sub-district will each receive valuable electric prizes, as follows:
1st prize: a range hood, an electric fry pan, a steam iron, an electric party grill and a spiralite pole lamp.

2nd place winner will receive an electric fry pan, and a Spiralite lamp.

3. A county must have a minimum of 15 entries to be eligible for the county award. The 30 entrants with the highest scores in the winning county will receive a one-day all expense tour to Louisville. This tour will include points of interest in areas related to homemaking, special compliments from industry and presentation at the Kentucky State Fair.

For more information, please contact Mrs. Frances Pitts, Floyd County Home Demonstration Extension Agent, Prestonsburg.

Kentucky Question Box
UK QUESTION-ANSWER SERVICE

How many one-room school buildings are still being used in Kentucky?

According to Dr. Paul Street, head of the Bureau of School Service at UK, there are more than 1,300 one-room schools in the state. The majority of these schools are located in the Eastern mountain counties. The number of one-room schools declines yearly. Ten years ago there were over 3,100 one-room schools.

What area of Kentucky is included in the Pennyrile section of the state, and what is the origin of the name?

The Pennyrile section includes 35 counties or parts of counties in the southwestern section of the state. It is bounded by Meade county on the Ohio River south to the Tennessee line, and from Rockcastle county in the East to Crittenden in the West. Pennyrile is a variation of Pennycroft, a flowering plant that grows in the area.

What are the best books on Kentucky history? (Eliza L. Williams, Greenville, S. C.)

The best of the recent historians probably is Thomas D. Clark's "History of Kentucky." Dr. Clark is head of the History Department at UK, and is a recognized expert on this topic. Of the older works, Lewis Collins' two-volume history is considered the best.

How many Kentucky votes did Lincoln receive in 1860?

In 1860, Lincoln received only 1,364 votes in Kentucky, or less than one per cent of the entire vote.

How many Kentucky high school graduates attend college?

According to Dr. Ernest McDaniel, head of the Testing Service at UK, about 9,000 Kentucky high school graduates enter colleges. This is about 35 per cent of the number of students graduating from Kentucky high schools yearly.

ELM TREES ARE STRICKEN BY TWO DEADLY DISEASES

Lexington, Ky.—Two diseases are hitting elm trees in Kentucky, and control measures are difficult. That's the word from the University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station plant pathology section.

R. A. Chapman, pathologist, says one difficulty is the two diseases have similar symptoms. One is Dutch elm disease, caused by a fungus; the second is phloem necrosis, caused by a virus.

In each case, Chapman says, the cause of the disease is carried by insects. The elm leaf hopper carries the virus causing phloem necrosis, and two elm bark beetles (perhaps other boring insects) carry the fungus causing Dutch elm disease. The leaf hoppers feed on the leaves, the beetles in twig crotches.

"This means that control of these diseases is very difficult and depends upon thoroughly covering all parts of trees with insecticide. If one infested insect is missed it can infect the tree. Unfortunately, controlling the insect carriers is the only possibility for controlling the diseases and attempts to control the insects can be very expensive, especially on large trees."

Chapman said that before control attempts are begun, plant pathologists at state Agricultural Experiment Stations should be consulted. The only way to be sure of the cause of the disease, he notes, is inspection of samples from supposedly infested trees. The plant pathology section will do this. Specimens should be pieces of twigs about eight to 15 inches long and cut from twigs that are 1/4 to 1 inch in diameter. These should come from branches having wilting and dying leaves.

Chapman said the rate of spread of Dutch elm disease seems to be increasing. This is one reason laboratory tests should be made of specimens. Both native and imported trees are susceptible to the Dutch elm disease fungus.

"Most of the surviving old native elms are immune to the virus that causes phloem necrosis. Susceptible trees were killed long ago. However, imported elm trees that have been planted by nurseries are frequently susceptible to the virus."

He noted that in Kentucky there are no extensive solid stands of elm trees "and the loss of elms will not result in the kind of denuded areas that have occurred north and east of the state."

Lexington, Ky.—The old standby insecticide, DDT, which represented a major breakthrough in insecticides about World War II, now has a new look.

It is an additive discovered by a chemist at the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation. The additive makes DDT effective again against insects it once killed but which eventually became resistant or immune to straight DDT.

Scouts Take Initiative In Displaying The Flag; Citizens Are Encouraged

Walter P. Walters, of Pikeville, president of Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced that 4,200 boy members and adult leaders of the Council have taken the initiative in a new effort to display the United States Flag at their homes, especially on holidays.
The Scouts and leaders are also encouraging all citizens to do likewise.
"Over the years, the Boy Scouts of America have encouraged the use and display of the flag of the United States as an external symbol of the freedom and privileges we enjoy as citizens," Mr. Walters said.
"Our five million present and twenty-eight million former members," he continued, "have come to know the flag as a symbol of the ideals, hopes, goals and history of our people."

HARKINS HELPS INVENT REVOLUTIONARY DEVICE

A native of Prestonsburg, who now is a Boston surgeon, has teamed with a research engineer to devise a unique machine to revive the human heart after it has stopped beating, or to restore strength to a failing heart.

The surgeon, 33-year-old Dr. George A. Harkins, now resident surgeon at Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston, and the engineer, M. L. Bramson, began work on the revolutionary new device while Dr. Harkins was a surgical fellow at Presbyterian Medical Center, San Francisco, California. Mr. Bramson is a consultant at Presbyterian's cardiovascular surgical unit and is a pioneer inventor of heart-lung mechanical equipment used in open-heart surgery. The two have continued development of the device since Dr. Harkins transferred to Boston, and it was first demonstrated before a scientific meeting in Boston this year.

Dr. Harkins is a son of Mrs. Marguerite Fox Harkins, of Danville, Ky., and the late Walter Scott Harkins, Prestonsburg attorney.

The machine which the two have devised massages the heart from outside the chest, without surgery. Its best can be geared directly to the feeble electric current of the heart muscle itself, as long as the heart is even faintly alive. And if a heart has stopped completely, the machine can perform its life-saving massage in a pre-set rhythm, artificially imposed, till the heart resumes its life-giving beat.

The Harkins-Bramson device, the first of its kind developed in the nation, has been tried successfully on human patients. It is a mechanized outgrowth of a technique for closed-chest manual heart massage first announced by John Hopkins University researchers a year ago. Until the external technique came along, the only way to restore life to a stopped heart was by opening the chest cavity surgically and squeezing the heart by hand.

In closed-chest massage—now standard for emergencies at many hospitals—a rescuer presses down hard with the heel of his hand on the patient's breast-bone at regular intervals. The pressure compresses the heart, forcing blood out through the ventricles and into the arteries. With regular pulsating pressure like this the heart's pumping action has been maintained successfully for more than an hour, and many patients have been brought back to life.

But closed-chest massage is difficult to maintain by hand. Rhythm must be regular, and pressure must be delicately controlled—too light, and the heart won't pump enough blood; too heavy, and ribs can be fractured. Besides, in the case of a failing heart which is beating only faintly, it is impossible to time the hand massage so that the pressure is synchronized exactly with the heart's own natural rhythm.

The Harkins-Bramson machine solves these problems automatically. It consists of a padded plunger, activated by gas pressure and mounted above a hard mattress—that and a pulsing device.

The pulsing device can be regulated to push the plunger down a given number of times per minute, or it can be triggered by signals from an electrocardiograph. In the latter case, the plunger moves downward at exactly the moment that the heart itself signals it is about to contract.

Surgeons at Presbyterian Medical Center, San Francisco, have hailed the machine as a highly significant new development in handling emergency cases of failing hearts or complete cardiac arrest. They have ordered one of the machines.

Dr. Harkins, who spent his boyhood in Prestonsburg, was educated at Princeton and was graduated from Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland, in 1955. He did his internship and residency there, for two years was a surgical fellow at Presbyterian Medical Center, San Francisco, and last year became resident surgeon at the Boston medical center.

Mrs. Stumbo Honored

Mrs. Marie Stumbo, of McDowell, was honored at the recent commencement exercises at Pikeville College. Mrs. Stumbo, wife of John M. Stumbo, was awarded the Margaret E. Record and a $20 cash award for standing second in the graduating class. She is a teacher of the ninth grade at McDowell.

She never attended a full regular term at any college. She began her college career at Eastern State College and earned the first 53 hours there. She transferred to Pikeville College in 1956. She earned 129 hours of college work and a Bachelor of Science degree in elementary education by attending extension classes at nights, Saturday classes and at summer terms.

Mrs. Stumbo, who is now determined to earn a Master of Arts degree, has been real busy earning college credits. While studying, she has been teaching, raising a niece and making a home. She has taught 15 years in the Floyd county school system.

She was graduated with a 2.73 standing in a class of 180 students.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky

By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

The Louisville Journal, a strong pro-Union paper when it came to making a choice between the Union and the Confederacy, nevertheless was a stout advocate of Kentucky's officially proclaimed policy of armed neutrality, and so was the Louisville Courier, which was just as strongly pro-Confederate if the question was the support of one or the other of the two warring powers. That was largely true throughout the state: Editors favored either the North or the South when they wrote about the struggle between the two sections, but for the Commonwealth they preferred neutrality.

One hundred years ago this week, the Journal pointed that out to the Owensboro Shield, one of the few Kentucky newspapers that did not like the policy of armed neutrality. "Why arm the state at all if she is to be neutral?" the Shield had asked. "Why expend money in arms if they are not to be used. Many who urge this miserable policy do so from the prompting of fear; others, and the more designing, that the state may thereby become an easy prey to the enemies of the South."

The Journal reminded the Shield that Governor Magoffin, who favored the South, and such pro-Confederate newspapers as the Courier, the Lexington Statesman and the Frankfort Yeoman all were for armed neutrality. Looking ahead to the congressional election June 20, the Journal said: "The general duty of the representatives of Kentucky at the coming session of Congress is prescribed clearly by the attitude of the state and by the reasons for the attitude."

"The attitude of Kentucky is neutrality, not because she is indifferent, as to the cause at issue between the belligerents, and not because the Crittenden Amendment is yet unadopted, but for the reason that her people are linked by natural sympathy with the people of the South, that she believes offensive war is adopted to consummate the downfall rather than the salvation of the country and, finally, that her citizens are so fiercely divided amongst themselves with respect to the side which stern duty would call her to espouse actively that she could not actively espouse either side without precipitating a deadly conflict at home between her own sons."

The fierce division between Kentuckians was illustrated by a news story in the same issue: "A serious affray occurred at Cynthiana in which Robert Jones was mortally wounded by Benjamin Desha, who shot him with a revolver. The twain had been drinking, and the former was shouting for Lincoln and the latter for Jeff Davis, when each pulled out his pistol and fired at the other, but Desha's shot was more effective . . ."

Adams Express Company announced that a letter for a point in the Confederacy could be enclosed with 25 cents in a larger envelope addressed to Adams Express, Louisville, and the company would post it at the Confederate post office at Nashville—and vice versa.

"Book of Job" Opens June 22 at Pine Mt. Park

Frankfort, Ky., June 16—Kentucky's spectacular outdoor religious drama, "The Book of Job," will open its third season at Pine Mountain State Park's Laurel Cove, Pineville, June 22.

The unique and colorful presentation, which has won world acclaim since it was born at Georgetown College in 1957, is a careful arrangement of the King James translation of the oldest book in the Bible. Players in the 10-member cast chant, speak, sing, intone, moan and cry to depict man's victory through submission to God.

Costuming and makeup, patterned after the mosaics of the Byzantine church, are an unusual feature of the drama. Players dressed in gleaming robes, gloves and wigs form, dissolve and reform more than 100 tableaux in an art that has been hailed for centuries as a Christian masterpiece.

Orlin Corey, producer and director, has been with the choral drama since its birth. He feels that this summer's run—from June 22 through September 4—will, from all indications, be the most successful yet.

CROW TALK AND CROW SONGS

"The crow doth sing as sweetly as the lark
When neither is attended."
—Shakespeare

A man once hid a mike in some trees where the crows came to roost, and then he "listened in" on their talk. To his amazement, he discovered that crows talk to one another all during the night, in low, guarded whispers, as if they were afraid of revealing their hiding place.

He also made the discovery that crows actually sing. He listened in during the hours of early morning, when the crows were beginning to stir. A number of the old birds joined in a chorus of warbles that were soft and musical. This was something new to him. But it had been poetically stated by Portia when she pronounced the lines quoted above, as recorded by Shakespeare.

Crows warble when "not attended," and that is perhaps the reason so very few persons have ever heard them sing. They are elusive and self-conscious in regard to their music.

When the crows finally discovered the man listening in on their early morning music, they seemed as outraged as a prima donna caught practicing in her private boudoir. They let out a hue and cry, scolding the intruder, and heaping upon him abuse because he had eavesdropped upon them.

Crows also have alarm calls. The alarm is given by the crow sentinel, which stands on guard while the rest of the flock is feeding. The alarm usually consists of two sharp, quick cries, which seem to say, "Caw! Caw!" or "Fly, fly!"

Crows also have food calls. When one of the flock discovers a feast, it gives loud calls to the others, that seem to say:
"Come and get it!" They also have assembly calls, when they call all the flock together for a "conference."

The young crows are quite noisy when being fed, and make harsh, gurgling sounds, which seem to have a sort of nasal twang. Without doubt, crows are among the most intelligent of all birds and very few persons know all their wisdom and cunning ways. They make fine pets and can be taught to say various words and phrases.

THE STARLING, A MOCKER

The much despised starling, a member of the Sturnidae family, and much resembling the crow in some ways, is adept at mocking other birds. Once in the middle of winter, I thought for sure I heard the whistling of a bobwhite. When I hurried out to see, I found a starling perched in a tree and he was giving a perfect imitation of the bobwhite's call. I have been fooled many times by the starling's imitation of other birds, including the wood pewee, the robin, the meadowlark and others.

The starlings are aggressive, and so successful where other birds fail to survive, there is grave danger they will drive out many species; birds like the purple martin, wrens and bluebirds are being forced to leave by the more aggressive starlings. These birds congregate in vast flocks during the winter, and often as many as two million may be found at a single roosting place!

MALLARD "TALK"

The wild mallards, called the most important of all ducks, in their economic value to man, have a variety of calls which can be closely imitated by hunters.

When discovering a food supply, the female mallard gives a series of rapid calls like, "Tuckata—tuckata—tuckata!"

When danger is seen approaching, the mallard gives a low alarm call, "whank!" This puts the whole flock to sudden flight. They also have a "hall call," which is given as a series of loud, sharply descending quacks that proclaim: "All is well!"

Dogwood trees respond to the use of magnesium, and Epsom salts is one of the least expensive sources of magnesium. Use ½ pound Epsom salts for each inch of trunk diameter; scatter the salts under the spread of the branches and let it extend a little beyond—then wash it into the soil with water. This application should give the tree enough magnesium for 3 to 4 years.

INFORMATION FOR VETERANS

Q—Is it true that the VA has patients in some non-VA hospitals?

A—The VA uses some beds in Federal hospitals under the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Beside beds in non-VA Federal hospitals, the VA may authorize care in non-Federal hospitals for veterans with service-connected disabilities, under certain conditions.

Q—Because of my income, I am not entitled to the VA pension although my deceased husband had the required wartime service. Are my minor children by my deceased veteran husband eligible?

A—Yes, minor children may be eligible even if the mother is not.

Q—More than 20 years ago, I was rated totally disabled for pension benefits. Can my disability be now ruled as not permanent and total?

A—No, your present rating will last your lifetime.

Q—Is it possible for a man to have first priority for VA hospitalization without actually serving on active military duty? I have heard of such a case.

A—Yes. Certain very few inductees or enlistees of World War I, World War II, and the Korean Conflict who did not enter active duty may be entitled to hospitalization under the first priority group. To be eligible, they must have incurred disabilities not the result of their own misconduct while en route under orders to report to a place for final acceptance, inductance, or entry upon active duty, or while at such place or enroute home.

Q—I am a non-service-connected World War II veteran. Can I be admitted to a VA hospital?

A—A war veteran requiring hospitalization for non-service-connected illness or injury may be admitted to a VA hospital if a bed is available and if he signs an affidavit that he is unable to pay for hospitalization.

Q—Do veterans with mental illness have a special priority for admission to VA hospitals?

A—No. But veterans with service during World War II or the Korean Conflict who developed an active psychosis within two years from the date of their separation from service are deemed to have incurred the disability in active service. Therefore, they are in the first priority group for VA hospitalization.

Q—I have just heard that my GI insurance will pay another dividend this year. When will I get it?

A—A "special" GI insurance dividend will be paid in 1961, between July 1 and September 4. VA advises waiting as correspondence will delay payment.

Q—My son was killed in World War II. I have now lost my business and have no income. I did not apply for compensation earlier. Am I entitled to compensation now?

A—Yes. Contact your nearest VA office.

(Veterans living in or near Prestonsburg who wish further information about their benefits should write or visit the VA office at 1405 W. Broadway, Louisville 3, Ky.)
