SEPTEMBER 7, 1961

This Town-- That World

The folks who don't believe in air-conditioning left for the Far North a week ago.

MODERN NOAHS

The unsung heroes of this generation may be those folks who have the courage to build bomb shelters while their fellows stand by and scoff and in their great wisdom predict shelters will never be needed. One wonders how many Noahs must have had to listen to while he was building the Ark and trying to convince the people of their need, even though the sun was shining at the moment.

FEDANTRY

Maybe it was the heat, but one paragraph from a certain book did me in, the other evening. The first words I encountered were "stoicism" and "pyrrhonism," and then was tossed in a French phrase and I didn't stick around for any more. I know you can write "down" to folks and make it so simple that you become "plumb simple," but this straining for an effect of great learning on the part of competent writers who should know better gives me the pips. A magazine article recently tossed these words at the unsuspecting reader: privatism, familism, dichotomy and ambivalence, and then whipped over the outside corner this pippin, genuesse dovee.

The title of that magazine article containing those jaw-breakers? It was, "Where Is the College Generation Headed?" We wonder where the English language will wind up?

Speaking of big words, we are reminded of a misogynist is a man who thinks a woman's place is in some other man's home.

SPARE THAT DEER—PLEASE!

This is a plea for a deer. Just one deer. And we hope those who go to the Dewey Lake refuge this hunting season, armed with bow and arrow or any other lethal weapon will read it.

This deer is a pet, a fine, young buck, and he will be, if I may mix a metaphor, a sitting duck to any hunter. Folks who have been camping along the lake tell of his antics. Arnold Workman says the deer has been at his camp, rubbing his antlers on tent-ropes, "standing to be petted and sometimes, through (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

AIRPORT PROponents STUDY HILLTOP SITE

FEDERAL AID WOULD LESSEN HIGHER COST

Blockhouse Bottom Plan Held In Reserve; Added Cost Is Not Seen As Bar

Proponents of an airport to serve Floyd and Johnson counties are exploring the possibility of a hilltop location for the air facility, it was learned here this week.

Members of the Prestonsburg and Paintsville committees named to represent the two communities in the venture met at Paintsville last week in a discussion of the possibility of such a site. Attending from Prestonsburg were Burl Spurlock, C. B. Latta and Marvin Music.

The site under study is on a ridge in the Dewey Lake section which would be accessible to both communities. Paintsville representatives told those from Prestonsburg they would cooperate, regardless of the location of the air field, that their main concern is for the early development of an airport.

It was emphasized, however, that work toward location of the facility in "Blockhouse Bottom," across the river from East Point, will be continued and will not be dropped unless the new site is definitely approved.

A hilltop airport, it is estimated, would cost $400,000, as compared with the $150,000 to $200,000 cost of the proposed airport at Blockhouse Bottom. But, it is pointed out, financial assistance from the federal government would be added to that afforded by the state, and that in the end the part of the cost to be shared by the two communities would not be prohibitively great.

U. S. assistance, it was said here, is given on mountaintop projects but would not be available on the Blockhouse Bottom airfield. Such landing strips are valuable to the federal government as emergency landing fields, and are usually developed more fully than those under state and community sponsorship alone.

Jessee Named President Of Wheelwright Kiwanis; Is Weeksburg Engineer

L. B. Jessee, of Weeksburg, was elected president of the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club, at the club's regular election meeting Monday evening, August 28, at the Inland Steel Company's clubhouse. Also elected were H. M. Wilkinson, Jr., vice-president, Bob Allen, treasurer, Bill Harris, secretary. New board members elected were Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson, Rev. Bob Fitts, Joe Fargo, and John Brock.

Jessee has been an active Kiwanian for a number of years, as well as being active in Masonry. He is a civil and mining engineer with offices at Weeksburg.

MANY NEEDY MISS STAMPS

Families Not Receptive To Cash Outlays Asked; Dopson Cites Advantages

Many needy families in Floyd county who are receiving public assistance funds are missing a good opportunity to expand their food budgets by using food stamp coupons, it was said here this week by Arvid Dopson, U. S. Department of Agriculture representative supervising the pilot food stamp program in the county.

Less than a fourth of the families on the public assistance roll are receiving food stamp coupons, he said. The public assistance cases are automatically eligible to receive food stamp coupons, Dopson said, but probably due to the fact that most would have to buy part of their coupons they have declined to participate in the program. Although the purchase requirement may at first seem high to many families, USDA figures show that the average family will get at least a 25 percent increase in food buying power by participating in the food stamp program. Most families will receive a larger increase.

For example, a family of six receiving $105 a month in public assistance funds can receive $87 in coupons for only $43. A family of two getting $50 a month can receive $38 in coupons for $20. Dopson said that he is requesting the aid of Floyd county grocers in encouraging their customers who are public assistance cases to sign up for food stamp coupons.

"This would not only mean improved diets for the needy families, but would also mean more income for the grocers and the county itself," Dopson said. "If all of the public assistance cases were receiving food stamp coupons, at least $40,000 more in food coupons would move into food stores each month in the county. This would have been a sizable boost to the $74,497 worth of food coupons which were distributed to recipients in the county during August."

Despite the fact that the number of public assistance cases receiving food stamp coupons remains relatively low, the total number of needy families receiving coupons in Floyd County continued to rise.

Business transacted by the board follows:
1. Rescinded an order directing the Harold and Betsy Layne schools to buy milk and bread from a specific firm. The two schools will be permitted to buy from whom they desire.
2. Accepted preliminary plans and authorized the superintendent to advertise for construction of a central heating system at the Auxier consolidated school.
3. Directed the superintendent to have the maintenance force to cut six and a half feet from the street side of the Martin teaching. This was made necessary by the town's urban renewal project.
4. Employed, on Superintendent Clark's recommendation, Joyce Lafferty Stone as clerk of Wayland and Garrett schools and Betty Stumbo as clerk at the McDowell school.
5. Accepted a proposal of the Inland Gas Company relative to the removal of gas transmission lines on the site of the proposed Middle Creek school building. This work will cost the board approximately $7,000.
6. Accepted the high bid of Albert Lafferty for the Cliff school building which has been abandoned for school use and awarded the Riley's Branch school building and grounds to Clifton and Virginia Johnson on their highest and best bid. The Riley's Branch school had also been abandoned.
7. Employed these certified teachers: Franklin Honeycutt, Prestonsburg high school; Hope Blackburn, Brandy Keg school; and William Thomas Crothers as classroom teacher and assistant football coach at Prestonsburg high school.
8. Named these other teachers: Gerald Stimmerman, Auxier high school; Larry Triplett, David to Wheelwright; Eleanor Allen, Drift; Lea Williams, Melvin; Camilla Lawson, Lackey; Tandy Moore, Maytown; Betty Jean

FLOYD FAIR START SET

Fair Board Schedules Last Meeting; Howard Notes General Rules

The Floyd County Fair Board will hold its last pre-fair meeting this evening (Thursday) at the Regional Library to put finishing touches to the exhibition plans.

Fair Board Chairman Kermit Howard urges all members to be present as this is one of the most important of the long series of meetings planned for the fair opening next week. He said that catalogs could be picked up at the county agent's office.

The fair will open Monday of next week with rides and concessions but the actual exhibits are not scheduled for entry until Wednesday. Entries of livestock and poultry are not to be listed. Howard said, until Saturday by 11 a.m. Flowers must be entered by noon Friday. Detailed general rules are listed in the catalog.

This, the ninth annual post-war agricultural and commercial exhibition, promises to exceed all previous fairs, promoters say. Planned schools exhibits, heretofore larger than any other department, will be pressed this year by the volume of farm entries.

An annual feature of the fair is Pancake Day, Saturday, Sept. 16, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club. Serving will be made in the high school cafeteria. Funds derived from this project will be donated to underprivileged children.

COMBS NAMES COMMISSIONER

Of Revenue Department; Louisa Native Succeeds U. S. Attorney-Designate

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 4 (Sp.)—James V. Marcum, 35-year-old attorney and tax expert for the Ashland Oil & Refining Co., is the new commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Revenue, succeeding William E. Scent who has been named U. S. attorney for the Western District of Kentucky.

Marcum's appointment was announced by Gov. Bert Combs at Hazard, where he was conducting a temporary governor's office, the 13th project of its kind in taking state government to the people.

The new revenue commissioner is a native of Louisa and since his graduation from the University of Kentucky School of Law in 1951 has been associated with the Ashland Oil & Refining Company. He joined the firm as a tax attorney and since 1954 has been the company's chief tax attorney handling state and local tax matters in Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, West Virginia, Tennessee, Missouri, and Washington, D. C.

During his last year at the University of Kentucky he was editor of the Kentucky Law Journal and during the same period was also president of the Student Bar Association. He is a member of the Order of the Colt, a legal honorary society.

Marcum is a World War II veteran of the Marine Corps, serving in the South Pacific, and did his undergraduate work at Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, and Marshall University, Huntington, W. Va., before attending the University of Kentucky.

Marcum is married to the former Clara Mae See, of Louisa, a niece of former State Senator Ira See, and they are the parents of three daughters. He is a son of the late Marlin Marcum.

CLASSROOM TEACHERS, OTHERS ARE EMPLOYED

Employment of personnel to fill the needs of the transportation system and placing of 19 additional classroom teachers was the chief business transacted by the Floyd County Board of Education at its regular meeting here Saturday evening.

Several teachers were transferred, a few resignations were accepted and substitute bus drivers were named. The meeting was held in the offices of County Superintendent Charles Clark. All of the members were present.

HANDICAPPED CHILDREN TO BE ON CRUSADE

Upwards of 160 physically or mentally handicapped children will take part in the 1961 WHAS Crusade for Children on Sept. 23 and 24. The children will be representing thousands of youngsters who have received help from past contributions to the 16½-hour radio-drama program to benefit handicapped children of Kentucky and Southern Indiana.

Crusade officials announced this week that WHAS home director Phyllis Knight and newscasters Jay Crouse and Hugh Smith will work with 25 of the youngsters and several therapists from 14 Kentuckiana children's agencies in a Sunday morning therapy demonstration. The children are receiving special training because of handicaps involving cerebral palsy, polio, amputations, blindness, mental retardation, deaf-oral and speech impairments, cystic fibrosis and muscular dystrophy.

Child-Victim's Father Asks $50,000 Damages

Mander Johnson, father of four-year-old David Johnson, who was killed July 10 near Melvin when hit by an auto, filed suit in the Floyd circuit court Saturday, seeking to recover a total of $51,000 from Claude Little, driver of the death-car.

Johnson, who sued as administrator of his son's estate, alleged careless and negligent operation by Little of the auto. Damages of $50,000 and $1,000 funeral expenses were asked.

Damages in the amount of $10,000 were asked in a suit filed Friday by Charles Arnett against Robert J. Dorey. Arnett alleges that Dorey drove his auto against the rear of his truck as he was driving on U. S. 23.

CASTLE STORE LOOTED HERE

Break-In Accomplished By Smashing Window With Stone In T-Shirt

The Castle Jewelry was looted of approximately $500 worth of watches and other items before daybreak Tuesday by robbers who can be accused of breaking but not of entering.

They wrapped a rock in a T-shirt, smashed a window and reached inside to the jewelry display, without leaving the sidewalk, and made away with their haul.

Earl Castle, owner of the business, listed as missing 10 watches, an electric shaver, a few rings, tie clasps and perhaps other miscellaneous items.

The sound of breaking glass was heard around 4 a.m. by a resident of the vicinity, and that hour was fixed as the time of the robbery. State Detective Chester D. Potter was assisting Prestonsburg police in an investigation of the break.

The T-shirt and the stone around which it was wrapped were found on the sidewalk in front of the store. The shirt, one of large size and apparently never laundered, is a Fruit of the Loom product.

This week's haul is the second of a heavy nature to be made by thieves here within the last few weeks. Theft of a number of guns and watches from the Hatfield Trading Post netted thieves an estimated $600.

Two moonshine stills have been confiscated within the week by members of the Sheriff's force. Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis cut up a still on Parsons Branch of Big Mud Creek last Friday and arrested its alleged operator, Amos Mature. The charge against Mature was transferred to U. S. district court at Pikeville. The second raid was staged shortly after midnight Saturday when Sheriff Hersell Warren, Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald destroyed a still on the head of Frasure's Creek on Left Beaver. The operation had only recently been started, and the operator was not found.

Others jailed within the week included: Harrison Gibson, driving while intoxicated, jailed by State Trooper Donald Lafferty; Columbus Quillen, three cold check charges, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson; Ardy Inman, driving while intoxicated and without an operator's license, booked by State Trooper J. Combs; Ervin Gilchrist, drunk driving, arrested by State Trooper Joe Hamelcox.

Citizen Representatives Needed At Area Meeting; Whisman Is Optimistic

The need of citizens to represent the county as a whole at the Sept. 20 area redevelopment meeting scheduled at the Paintsville Country Club was discussed at Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Prestonsburg Community Development Council.

Mayor Haskel Frye, of Martin, and two others who in their official capacities represent the county—Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill and Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley—attended the Wednesday meeting. Other county representatives are urged to attend next Wednesday's noon meeting at the Wise Restaurant, Mrs. R. V. May, Council president, said. County goals will be discussed at next week's meeting here.

The area meeting at Paintsville will be the third of its kind and is expected to see formation of a permanent organization to represent counties and communities of the valley in their effort to benefit from the area redevelopment legislation recently enacted by Congress.

WPRT AUCTION ASSISTS DRIVE

For Retarded Children; Gov. Combs Asks Support At Kick-Off Dinner Here

Gov. Bert Combs, in making an annual appeal for support of the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children at a fund raising kick-off dinner at the high school cafeteria here Tuesday evening, pleaded for funds needed to continue the three schools for exceptional children in this county.

The Governor commended Floyd countians for their whole-hearted support of previous fund drives and urged they support the radio auction of station WPRT that began Wednesday afternoon.

E. H. Roberts, of Wheelwright, president of the Council, discussed the needs of the organization, the work done and how the funds are used. He told the approximately 200 dinner guests that the Council was accomplishing much with its limited resources and urged expanded support.

Mrs. D. C. Stephens, of Radio Station WPRT, in commenting on the radio auction, was optimistic Wednesday that support would be forthcoming to the fund-raising effort.

"The work of the Council in supporting the three schools in this county is vital to the educational needs of retarded children and I am optimistic about the fund drive," she said.

The auction will continue through Saturday and Mrs. Stephens commented that the biggest need now is bidders on the merchandise offered. Although the public had been liberal with contributions, merchandise for the auction sale, as well as cash, was still being accepted and appreciated, she added.

Stumbo Agrees He Erred In Defining Court Case; Hamilton Waives Hearing

Cassie J. Allen, Attorney for Charles Ray Hamilton in his attempt to gain release from the county jail here by habeas corpus action last week, said Tuesday that Hamilton was not held in jail on a petit larceny conviction as Trial Commissioner Harold J. Stumbo had claimed. And Stumbo this week agreed he was in error.

The habeas corpus petition contended Hamilton had been held in jail without a hearing or opportunity to execute bond since his arrest on August 9. He and two others were charged at that time with breaking and entering the Wayside Market at Garrett.

When a hearing was offered Hamilton last week he waived to the grand jury, which convened Tuesday.

NAMED POLICE JUDGE

The Prestonsburg City Council at a call meeting Wednesday evening named Henry P. Scalf as Police Judge to succeed the late R. W. Feiler.

DRIFT WOMAN PICKED FOR PEACE CORPS JOB

One of the 30 young American women and men who have already been accepted for service in the U. S. Peace Corps in Pakistan is Miss Mary Clare Cahill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Cahill, of Drift.

Asked why she joined the Peace Corps, the 21-year-old Miss Cahill said, "I just want to help people who haven't been as fortunate as we have been. I hope to do my part toward teaching the people of Pakistan to help themselves, for I know that if they can do this it will be much easier for them to retain their freedom. In short, they will not be so dependent upon other nations."

STEALING, BOOTLEGGING OFFENSES ARE NOTED

New Coal Washing Plant Construction Contract Awarded To Hayes Metal

A. E. Hayes, president of Hayes Metal Products, Inc., of Hi Hat, last week announced that his firm is to build a 100-ton-per-hour coal washing plant to be installed at the Turner Elkhorn Mining Company's Guaranty mine, near Martin.

The plant will be in operation this month and will be used principally to wash stoker size coal, and will enable the Turner Elkhorn Mining Company to increase its stoker coal market.

The plant was designed by the Wilford L. Roller Company, consulting engineers, of Pittsburgh.

JUDGE FEILER IS CLAIMED

Veteran Police Jurist, Native of Cincinnati, Dies of Long Illness

Prestonsburg Police Judge Richard W. Feiler, 76, died at 11:30 p.m. Saturday at the Prestonsburg General hospital after a long illness. Judge Feiler had suffered a series of serious illnesses dating from May, 1960.

At the time of his death he was in his 12th year as police judge here, and during his service in that capacity he had earned wide recognition for his effective handling of cases of juvenile delinquency and traffic law violation.

Judge Feiler was a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, the son of Edward and Betty Marshall Feiler. He was associated with the McKinley Supply Company, at first residing in Parkersburg, West Virginia, as that firm's representative and coming to Prestonsburg in 1930 in the same position. After severing his connection with the company in 1939 he became associated with the late J. T. Williams in the drilling business and continued that activity till about 1950.

He was a member of the Benovolent and Protective Order of Elks, and because of his interest in civic affairs and in people held the esteem of a wide circle of friends. Judge Feiler was married July 11, 1938 to Miss Anna Harris, of Prestonsburg.

Besides his widow, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Mae Wingerter, Ft. Thomas, Ky., and Miss Sarah Feiler, of Cincinnati.

His funeral was conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday from Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, the pastor, the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr., and Dr. George W. Redding, a former pastor of the church and now of (See Story No. 4, Page 6)

JUDGE URGES INVESTIGATION OF OFFENSES

Greene Named Foreman Of Grand Jury; Foley Given 2-Yr. Sentence

Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill told the grand jury Tuesday morning that "the impression I get is, the main trouble now is stealing and bootlegging."

"That will be a large part of our work," he told the grand jurors in his instructions, which he termed "a report of impressions I get as to law enforcement after pottering about the county."

"Stealing," he explained, was used as a term to cover a broad field of related offenses, including breaking and entering. He mentioned specifically one other offense—violation of the election laws which was investigated by a special grand jury in June. "Those who violate the election laws should be punished—I know no other way to stop it," he said.

Judge Hill told of letters he had received about bootlegging, adding, "You, the grand jury, can't enforce the law yourselves. The Sheriff, his deputies and the citizens of this county are needed as a working team." He suggested heavier penalties, pointing out that trial under the law governing second and third offenses should be held when violators of the liquor laws are repeaters.

Yet he explained that his remarks were not to be construed in any way to prejudice the rights of any defendant. The law, he added, presumes every accused person to be innocent until proven guilty.

He named James E. Greene, of West Prestonsburg, foreman of the grand jury. The jury is composed of nine women and three men.

Sammy Foley was sentenced Wednesday to a year in the state reformatory on each of three charges of breaking and entering and one of grand larceny. He was convicted in 1959 but was granted probation, and his sentencing this week was on violation of probation.

Profit Moore was acquitted Tuesday of a child desertion charge, and Alex Patton entered a plea of guilty to the same charge. He was given a one-year term but has filed for probation.

The grand jury had not reported any indictments as of Wednesday morning.

PICK MARTIN PARTY LEADER

Democratic Convention Names Campaign Heads; Hereford, Co-Chairman

State Senator Burnis Martin and David R. Hereford have been named campaign chairman and co-chairman to direct the November election campaign for the Democratic Party nominees. These selections were made Saturday at a party meeting at the courthouse in Prestonsburg.

The called meeting was attended by most of the party nominees and by Democrats from all parts of the county.

Sam Hale, the Democratic county chairman, selected the party nominees present to act as a nomination committee. The nominees committee recommended Martin and Hereford to the party members present, who then adopted the choices.

Martin and Hereford were given authority to select the various committees to round out the Democratic organization for the fall campaign.

Prior to the selection of the chairman and co-chairman numerous short campaign talks were made by the unsuccessful primary candidates and party leaders in support of the Democratic nominees.

MISS CAHILL

Hughes in Title Round At Paintsville Tourney

Henry Hughes, of Prestonsburg, was runner-up to Doug Miller, of Paintsville, in the championship flight of the Paintsville golf tournament last week. He lost to Miller on the 18th hole after shooting a 77.

Hughes shot two 75's for the 18-hole course in defeating Paul Ronald Hall and Phil Jenkins, and had a 79 in downing Howsie Johnson on the way to the finals.

THE SALES TAX DID THIS

The sales tax is fully vindicated, if ever it really needed vindication, by the record $101,500,000 allotted last week to Kentucky's public school districts. Last year's $95,000,000 allotment was almost unbelievable in this state which had in other years thanked God for Arkansas, because Arkansas had stood between Kentucky and the very bottom rung on the educational ladder. This year's figure is expected to go even $2,000,000 higher when final adjustments are made, and $3,000,000 in state "guarantees" to 23 local districts will go on top of that—all making a financial contribution to Kentucky education that for this education-neglected state is nothing short of phenomenal.

Go back to the good, old days, remove the sales tax, water it down, adjust it to suit this group or that, it is argued. And it can be done—but education and other state services will go back to the "good, old days," too.

True, it can be argued, and with effect, that money alone does not mean education; that higher salaries do not necessarily mean better teachers. Stone walls do not a prison make, either, but they help to keep law-breakers off the streets and highways, if arresting officers and officials and citizens have the desire, and nerve enough, to put them there.

By the same token, higher teachers' salaries can and will mean better teachers if school superintendents and boards of education hew to the line and seek better teachers for children rather than better and more powerful political allies for themselves.

Careful, conscientious studies of the Kentucky educational picture are being made. The Combs administration has taken the lead in cleaning up one sore spot on the educational map; namely, Carter county. Others are under scrutiny. All these studies and moves are being made with the knowledge that as education is given a greater opportunity through access to funds never heretofore available the responsibility of education is commensurately greater.

Higher teachers' salaries will permit the women and men who teach the children of this state to maintain a decent economic standard and to live as the economic equals of others. Higher pay will reward a job well done and will permit teachers to continue the training which will make them better qualified. Higher salaries will make the homeland school more attractive, will bring back to Kentucky from Ohio, Michigan and other states some of Kentucky's finest teaching talent. Moreover, adequate pay and assurance of employment will cause many talented young people to look upon the teaching profession with more interest than in those days when teaching was a pauper profession.

Besides all this, this sales-tax-created support of education, undeniably a basic need of the state, is providing for millions of dollars of school construction as the school population mounts yearly.

Is all this worthwhile? We are convinced that it is. Are Kentucky's teachers and those who are concerned about their children so convinced? Then beware of the promised return to "the good, old days." Consider, first of all, what those days held in the way of hope.

Education is on trial, these days. The people are paying the bill, and the schools at last are getting their chance. School people and those who support better education are on trial, too, in another way. They are being tested to see if they will stand up and be counted.

How much are the teachers and those interested in teachers and schools supporting this oft-maligned tax which is supporting them? What are they doing to counteract the sniping and the little snipers? Are they willing to let the derisive reference to the tax as a "Bertie" so indoctrinate the public mind that the public will lose sight of the greater aim and purpose and result?

These are questions we all should ask ourselves. Our answers should be made after due reflection, and they should never, never reflect upon us or our state.

Lewis G. Howard, 84, Salyersville Native Succumbs At Lexington

Lewis G. Howard, 84, former grand master of the Odd Fellows Lodge of Kentucky and a veteran of the Spanish-American War and World War I, died at 3:30 a.m. Monday at the Good Samaritan hospital, Lexington, after a short illness.

Mr. Howard lived in Lexington where he had moved about seven years ago. A native of Salyersville he had lived in Mt. Sterling for several years and was a retired hotel manager.

He had been post commander of the Spanish-American War Veterans, post commander of the Patriarch Militant and grand master and grand patriarch of the Mt. Sterling Odd Fellows Lodge.

He was a member of the Woodland Christian Church, Lexington. Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Ethel Woodruff Howard; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Louis Brown, Lexington; two nieces, Miss Minnie Howard, Paintsville, and Mrs. Ruby Trinkle, Bloomington, Ind., and a nephew, Lloyd Howard, New Albany, Ind.

Services were conducted at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Eastin-Richey Funeral Home by the Rev. James Seal and Dr. J. E. Moss. Burial was in Hillcrest Memorial cemetery, Lexington. Odd Fellows rites were held at the funeral home.

At Cherokee State Park, near Hardin, the renovation of the bathhouse is complete and a picnic shelter building is under construction.

At Kentucky Lake State Park, near Hardin, work has been recently completed on renovation of cottages, redecoration of Kenlake hotel, a central service building for the tent camping area to meet the needs of this growing outdoor recreation plus a resort-type swimming pool and golf course for lodge and cottage guests.

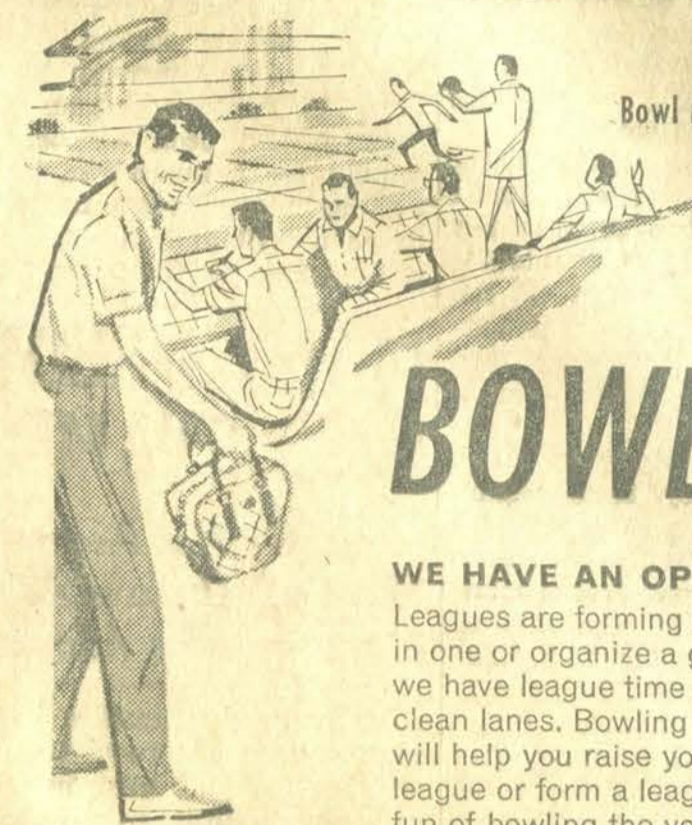

The Mud River Watershed in Logan county will provide flood control measures to enable better conservation of land. The Soil and Water Resources Division of the Fish and Wildlife Department is spending some $382,000 on this project in cooperation with the U. S. Soil Conservation District.

GOOD GOVERNMENT DOESN'T JUST HAPPEN... PEOPLE VOTE FOR IT!

Dear Friends and Fellow Citizens:

I am directing this letter to you and your family, as God fearing people are the ones that are interested in good law enforcement. A better place to live and raise your children. Floyd county is not that kind of place at the present. Political favoritism and the desire to perpetuate the political in office has, and will be, the by-word until our people demand that our county officials abide by their oath—and conduct the offices of this county for the PEOPLE instead of for themselves; to spend your tax dollar for the people, restore dignity and truth to our courts and to deserve the honor and respect that should go with a public trust—to be servants of the people instead of masters.

We all know that the primary election was a disgrace, and to call it a fair election would be a gross exaggeration of the truth. Had all the people been allowed to vote, the results would have been much different. Our politicians saw to that. They bought and paid for absentee ballots, and the county judge and the fiscal court neglected to provide enough machines or ballots for the voters. Voters were paid to stand in line all day to discourage good citizens from going to the polls. The slates bought and paid for and set up to buy, barter, or steal every possible vote, to beat your son or your neighbor's son, to elect the politician's choice, not your choice. With this kind of democracy, how long will we be able to enjoy the great freedoms that our forefathers fought and died for?

I know there is much to be done. The vote is a precious thing. It is the protector of these freedoms, the safeguard of democracy. The vote is a right to be cherished and guarded with your life, if necessary. The politicians cannot enforce our election laws! How can you prosecute yourself? They are the perpetrators of all these election schemes, the schemes that make your vote valueless.

My friends, help me to this opportunity to serve you and your people. Our elections need to be cleaned up and the violators of our freedoms punished. I will restore dignity and respect to your court. Your tax dollars will be spent for the people instead of the politician and their stooges. Your road equipment will be working on the roads that need to be built, not on private driveways, house seats and drift mouths for private individuals. Remember, when you help me you are helping yourself. I will work for the people and not discriminate against any one. I will see that justice is done, and no one will suffer because of his or her political or religious faith. I will restore your voting precincts and provide enough equipment for every one to vote.

GOOD GOVERNMENT DOESN'T JUST HAPPEN . . . PEOPLE VOTE FOR IT.

MISS PHILLIPS, MR. MUSIC WED

Allen Methodist Church of Allen, was the scene, Sunday, August 6, of the wedding ceremony which united Miss Ella Faye Phillips, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Ed Phillips, of Allen, and Mr. Marvin E. Music, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Music, Sr., of Prestonsburg.

The Rev. James Critt Stratton, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar flanked by white gladioli and flanked by seven-branched candelabra. Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Chalmer Frazier at the piano, and Mrs. Estill Lee Carter who sang, "Because," "Oh, Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer," at the end of the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of petal white Chantilly lace over matching satin, designed with an elongated bodice, pearl and sequin-etched sabbina neckline and long tapering sleeves.

The full ballerina skirt, enhanced with a front panel of crystal pleated tulle, was styled with an inset of scalloped edged tiers. Her tiered illusion veil was caught to a pearl crown. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley with an orchid in the center.

Miss Betty Ann Phillips, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor, and Miss Nellie Joyce Akers was her only bridesmaid. The two wore matching street-length dresses of lavender organza, with matching picture hats. They carried baskets of white and lavender daisies with streaming white ribbons. Her flower girl, Miss Deborah Lynn Phillips, niece of the bride, wore a white dotted Swiss dress with a head band of white daisies.

The groom's father, Marvin Music, Sr., served as best man.

I-H'ers TAKE PART

While you're at the Kentucky State Fair, September 8-16, stop and see the 4-H exhibits and events, invites George D. Corder, chairman of University of Kentucky Extension 4-H programs. Four-H Club members from every section of Kentucky will take part.

When planning your food budget, keep in mind the resources you have—time; money; energy; skill in meal planning, buying and preparing food; equipment for preparation, and space for storage. These will affect your decision about what type of food to buy.

Some suggestions for cooking eggplant are: wash the vegetable, then pare, cube or cut into strips and cook, covered, in a small amount of salted water until just tender; drain thoroughly and serve with chopped chives, parsley or grated sharp cheese. To fry eggplant, dip slices in dry crumbs, then in egg mixture, then in the crumbs again; fry in fat for about 10 minutes until tender and golden brown; season with salt and pepper and, if desired, a dash of garlic salt.

Some points to check when buying a ready-made garment are: good seam allowance; stitching done with matching thread; firm, evenly-stitched buttonholes; ample hems; neat darts; and securely-sewn fastenings.

"Beef and Liberty" was the motto of an unusual club in England during the 18th and 19th centuries.

The name of the club was "The Sublime Society of Beefsteaks." Members of the club wore a blue coat and buff waistcoat to the meetings. The waistcoat had brass buttons engraved with the motto. The menu was always beefsteaks served on hot pewter plates. Club rules strictly prohibited displays of bad temper and the society became noted for its good humor.

When buying turkey, choose frozen birds that do not have damaged skin; exposure to air dries the meat and causes the bird to become rancid more quickly if kept for any length of time in the freezer.

WOMEN'S LABOR FORCE
Lexington, Ky.—Working wives now bring home an average of 20 per cent of the family income. And, for those who work full-time the year round, the figure is 38 per cent or almost two-fifths of the take-home pay, Kentucky women attending the National Home Demonstration Council meeting in Maine were told last week.

PEPPERS IN FREEZER
Lexington, Ky.—Have you ever frozen green peppers? They are one of the easiest vegetables to freeze because they don't have to be heated in boiling water or steam before packing for the freezer, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists.

Heart Assoc. Leaflet Tells Steps To Take When Attack Suffered

What should you do if you see someone apparently have a heart attack and you are the only person there? What should do if you, yourself, have symptoms (like headache, dizziness or fatigue) that sometimes go with high blood pressure?

These and many other inter-related questions are answered simply in two leaflets being offered free of charge by the Kentucky Heart Association, 311 Speed Building, Louisville. Both may be obtained on request.

In the leaflet, "Heart Attack," is emphasized that the most important thing to do for the person seemingly stricken is to call a doctor at once. Then help the patient take a position most comfortable for him, usually halfway between lying and sitting. You should loosen tight clothing and see that the sufferer does not become chilled. Never attempt to carry or lift such a patient, or give him anything to drink, without the doctor's advice, the leaflet cautions.

It lists the symptoms of heart attacks and describes also the chest pain known as angina pectoris. It gives an explanation of how atherosclerosis—the blood-vessel clogging condition responsible for most heart attacks—develops. It points out that most patients are able to continue with their usual jobs once they have recovered from a heart attack.

In the leaflet "Your Blood Pressure," telling your doctor about the symptoms you experience is also recommended as a first step. This pamphlet explains what hypertension (high blood pressure) is and how your doctor will examine you for it.

It is not necessarily a serious disease (more than 5,000,000 Americans have it) but physicians do not take it lightly, the leaflet explains, because it puts an extra share of work on heart and arteries. These overworked parts may not function well if hypertension continues for a long time. The doctor will tell you what treatment, if any, such as drugs or diet, he considers best for you and will give you general rules to follow.

DR. DORAN TO SPEAK AT CANEY ALUMNI HOMECOMING, SEPT. 17

Pippa Passes, Ky., Sept. 4 (Spl).—The Caney Alumni Association has announced plans for its annual homecoming picnic and program to be held at Caney Junior College here on Sunday, September 17.

President Adron Doran, of Morehead State College, will speak to the alumni in the 2 p.m. program. It was announced to the alumni directors by program chairman Charles Clark, of Prestonsburg.

Dr. Joe Taylor Hyden, of Martin, alumni president, made appointments leading to arrangements for parking, welcoming of guests, preparing the grounds and publicity.

Visiting the campus with its new hillside road leading to the new faculty building, seeing the work on science laboratories and the new Art Room are arranged for 10:30 till noon. Alumni and visitors will register at the alumni dormitory from 10 a.m. till noon. Caney Junior College students will guide visitors about the campus and park cars. Alumni will welcome guests on the picnic grounds at noon. Lunch will also be served in the college dining room to visitors at 1 p.m.

Dr. Hyden will introduce Dr. Doran and other guests on the lawn facing the Alumni Dormitory, which was dedicated last year by Governor Bert Combs to its use in Caney Junior College. Caney Junior College girls will provide a welcome of singing and traditional dances.

A business meeting will follow, for election of officers and plans for the Association's efforts in the development of the college.

The TV film of "This is Your Life, Alice Lloyd," will be re-shown in Cushing Hall several times during the morning and noon period. Mrs. Lloyd herself will look forward to meeting returning alumni. All friends of Caney's educational philanthropy to mountain youth are welcomed to the homecoming program.

SCHEDULE OF FALL REGISTRATION

Caney Junior College announces plans for its first extensive pre-registration orientation period this fall for September 12 to 16. Students will report Wednesday evening, September 13, for room assignments and general assembly.

Orientation to courses of study, student activities, procedures of the college and testing will fill the morning and afternoon periods on Thursday and Friday. An especially full program of subject matter testing will be employed for scheduling and sectioning purposes. Evenings will be devoted to pre-registration program and campus as-

Gov. Combs Convinced Of Right Stand; Urges Cleanup of Newport

Governor Bert Combs, in his appearance here Tuesday evening as featured speaker at the kickoff dinner for the drive for funds to benefit the Floyd Council for Retarded Children, turned to other items of wide interest in the course of his talk.

He spoke of the Newport vice cleanup campaign and of the investigation of the Carter county school situation.

"When you get a rotten apple in the barrel," he told the audience, "throw it out."

Governor Combs said that, despite all criticism, he is convinced he is right, that the good people of the state want done what is being done, and that he proposes to stick to his guns.

His most recent critic is the mayor of Newport. Earlier, Combs drew the fire of Ex-Governor Chandler. This week, two officials of the Carter County Teacher's Association were critical of the investigation of activities of Heman McGuire, superintendent, and the county school board.

I HAD A HOPE... MY OPPONENT WOULD TAKE A STAND

I had a hope my opponent would endorse, as I did, the editorial, "Crime Doesn't Pay," in the Floyd County Times two weeks ago. Apparently he is not willing to take the strong stand for law enforcement I am taking.

The good people of this county are concerned about law enforcement and are anxious that there be an honest administration of the Sheriff's office. They do not want another Campbell county or several Little Newports. They do not want conditions created by lax law enforcement that would make the highways unsafe.

The voters are entitled to know a candidate's stand on important matters. I have taken mine on law enforcement and my opponent should do the same.

AGAIN, I SAY... IT HAPPENED AT NEWPORT—IT MUST NOT HAPPEN HERE

Lexington Policeman,
Johnson Native, Drowns

The body of a Lexington policeman who drowned in Herrington Lake Sunday was recovered by a dragging crew about noon Monday. State police and rescue workers were still dragging the lake near Collier's Point Monday night in search of the policeman's companion.

After recovery, positive identification was made of the victim, Larry E. Crider, 23, a native of Johnson county. His companion was tentatively identified as Charles Stinnett, Lexington. The men were thrown from a speedboat.

A witness, Bob Smith, of Lexington, said he saw the two men struggling in the water and the boat running unmanned on the lake.

Smith said the men's boat cut the rope of a water skier, but that neither the operator of that boat nor the skier could reach the two men in time to help them.

Crider joined the Lexington police force about six months ago.

overfriendliness, making a nuisance of himself.

Workman tells of how he lured the deer away from his camp, the other morning. Simply crawled in his boat, started up the motor and moved off across the lake at trolling speed. Whereupon the deer plunged into the water and swam in pursuit. Across the lake, Workman had an idea he would give his friend the dodge; but, at sound of the motor, up came the buck's head as if to say, "Oh, no you don't!" and off he took swimming back across the lake.

The camper lured the deer, this time, up the lake to what is locally known as "The Jailer's Rock," and there he gave the pet the slip. How? Because the deer saw another man setting up camp, on the hillside, and took a notion to go up and make a new acquaintance.

Sportsman, spare that deer! If you don't you are not a sportsman, and I do not use language these days that would do justice to you.

This deer, we learn, was a pet from fawnhood, in Magoffin county, and was liberated in the lake area only this year. Come to think of it, maybe our conservation officers should lure that deer into a nice, comfortable, safe barn and keep him there till the hunting season is past.

Salt was one of the principal manufactures in Kentucky from about 1778—the year Daniel Boone and others were captured by the Indians while making salt at Lower Blue Licks—until the War Between the States.

TIMES WANT ADS PAY!

STAY IN SCHOOL

A drifter is likely to find himself in a dangerous spot. Many an uncharted, unplanned life ends up in disaster.

Floating away from school is one of the first steps to this disaster. Listed below are a few of the many facts that the drifter, the drop-out, will face:

Young people who drop out of school hold many more of the low paying jobs than high school graduates do.

Finding a job is much harder for a non-graduate.

The non-graduate doesn't earn as much as the graduate. The non-graduate is not promoted as fast as the graduate.

Practically all good jobs today require a high school diploma.

The competition for better jobs is greater today because the majority of young people are high school graduates.

Most occupations—law, medicine, engineering, teaching, selling, almost any one you can name—require first the broad educational background represented by a diploma and their specialized training.

In 1956 approximately 64 per cent of young people were graduated from high school; in 1946 the figure was 48 per cent. Are you 10 years behind the times? Are you in step with the times? Where will you be 10 years from now?

What kind of person you're going to be depends on you. You can go as far as you want. But one thing is sure. Education will help you get there.

Gifford also announced that the Interludes have been added to the talent for this year's eighth annual Crusade.

The Interludes are joining an impressive list of entertainers on the Crusade. Previously announced were the Eddie Heywood Trio, Jim Walton, Phyllis Knight, Randy Atcher, "Cactus" Tom Brooks, Jay Crouse, Hugh Smith, Bill Brittain, the Fort Knox Chorus and the Crusade Chorus.

The WHAS Crusade for Children is dedicated to improving and enlarging the treatment, care and facilities being provided mentally and physically handicapped children of Louisville, Kentucky, and Southern Indiana.

It assists children's agencies in expanding their programs of service to handicapped youngsters up to the age of 18. The Crusade is not meant to relieve an organization of efforts toward self-support nor of responsibility for services already in existence.

Crusade grants must be spent entirely in Kentucky and Southern Indiana. No part of a grant may be sent to a national headquarters with which a local agency may be affiliated.

As a general rule, grants are made for projects that can be undertaken in the span of a year's time, thus providing reasonably immediate benefits to handicapped children. It is against Crusade policy to hold funds in escrow.

Grants to Louisville and Kentucky agencies are made only from contributions by the people of Kentucky. Indiana contributions are allocated solely to grants for children of that state.

Full authority for allocation of funds raised by the Crusade rests with the members of the WHAS program, "The Moral Side of the News." Dr. J. J. Gittleman, Rabbi, Temple Adath Jeshurun; Dr. Duke McCall, president, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary; Monsignor Felix N. Pitt, secretary, Catholic School Board; Dr. Paul Stauffer, pastor, First Christian Church.

Recipients of grants must agree to furnish the Crusade quarterly reports on use of the funds received.

Applications for grants from the 1961 WHAS Crusade for Children should be made in six copies, post-marked no later than midnight on Saturday, Sept. 30, 1961, and addressed to WHAS Crusade for Children, c/o WHAS, Incorporated, 525 West Broadway, Louisville 2, Kentucky.

ATTORNEY GENERAL EXPLAINS ILLITERATE VOTER'S RIGHTS

If an illiterate voter prefers a write-in candidate, do election officials have the authority to write the voter's choice on the voting machine?

The attorney general's office told Clay county Sheriff T. C. Sizemore Thursday of last week that, provided such a person takes an illiteracy oath, the election clerk may indicate by pencil dot where the voter is to mark the ballot.

The office gave advice on several other matters.

To Howard Trasher, a teacher in Clinton county schools: There is no law against a teacher selling school accident insurance to children—as long as the policies are purchased on a voluntary basis.

To Austin Bailey, of Handshoe (Knott county): A defeated candidate in the primary election may run as a write-in candidate in the general election.

To Edmonson county School Superintendent J. P. Alexander: The school board may contract for a private automobile to transport children in inaccessible areas, but the vehicle must bear a printed identification as a school bus and conform to certain standards.

To attorney Jackson Guerrant, of Danville: Boyle Fiscal Court has no authority to increase salaries of magistrates who will take office in January. That must be done before the first Monday in May of the election year.

To Calloway county attorney Robert Miller: The state cannot recover uncollected Quarterly Court fines from a county judge who is discharging his duties under the statutes.

Hamilton-Sims Wedding Solemnized

Miss Brenda Joyce Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Butler Hamilton, Ypsilanti, Mich., formerly of Martin, this county, and Mr. Ortle Joseph Sims, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ortle Joseph Sims, of Ypsilanti, exchanged double-ring wedding vows June 24, at 2 p.m. in the North Prospect Baptist Church, Ypsilanti.

The Rev. William Nichols, of Ann Arbor, officiated at the ceremony. The couple said their vows before an altar of floral arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Robert Davis sang, "O, Promise Me," and "Because," and was accompanied by Mrs. Peggy Thompson.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin which was fashioned with a scalloped neckline and long lace sleeves which terminated into points at the wrists. She carried a bouquet of sweet-heart roses centered with an orchid on a white Bible. Her only piece of jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Venda Lois Ratliff, twin sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor. She wore a blue chiffon over satin with a matching lace jacket and white accessories and carried a bouquet of rosebuds and white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mary Tate, Ypsilanti, and Karen Sims, of Whitaker. They wore dresses fashioned identical with that of the matron of honor but in shades of pink. Each carried a bouquet similar to the matron of honor.

Flower girls were Miss Sherry Lorraine Compton, niece of the bride, and Miss Mary Anna Maynard, niece of the groom. They wore pink nylon over satin with matching headpieces.

Serving as best man was Lewis Maynard, of Willis, Michigan. Ushers were James and Jerry Sims, brothers of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hamilton selected an ice blue dress with lace centering the neckline, white accessories and she pinned a pink carnation to her shoulder.

Mrs. Sims was attired in a navy blue sheath dress with white accessories and she too wore a pink carnation corsage.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlor where a four-tiered wedding cake was served. Serving the guests were Mrs. Margaret Wyese, Mrs. Lois Murdock, Mrs. Paul Olson, Mrs. Arnold Deck, all of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Paul Branham, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Roy Ratliff, of Nashville, Tenn.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to north Michigan. Upon their return they will make their home at 313 Pearl St., Ypsilanti.

The bride was graduated from Martin high school, Martin, Ky., and is employed by the S. S. Kresge firm. Her husband was graduated from Lincoln consolidated high school and is employed by a Saline firm.

Gustavus (Gus) H. May, Former Adjutant General Is Victim At Frankfort

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 2—Gustavus H. (Gus) May, 68, former Kentucky adjutant general, died at 2:35 a.m. today at King's Daughters hospital here.

He had undergone surgery for an intestinal ailment at Louisville recently, then returned to his home here. He later was hospitalized.

May, a native of Salyersville, was named adjutant general in 1944 by former Gov. Simeon Willis and served until 1947.

May was a veteran of World Wars I and II and served in the reserve and National Guard from 1927 to the outbreak of World War II. He was a major when tapped for the state post and later became a major general in the Army.

Willis said May was responsible for the impetus in armory-building in Kentucky. In the Willis administration, armories were constructed at Madisonville, Owensboro and Ashland.

Willis said May was "a very fine man in every way and had great ability," adding "his death comes as a shock."

May was assistant cashier of the Second National Bank at Ashland for many years and in recent years had operated a motel near Frankfort on the Louisville road.

He was a member of the Christian Church and the American Legion.

First Art, Crafts Train Schedules Hazard Visit; Kentucky Guild Sponsors

The nation's first Art and Crafts train will open at Hazard, September 16, with Governor Bert Combs, Lieutenant Governor Wilson Wyatt and other state officials present for the ceremonies.

Unique in the art world as well as in the annals of rail-roading, the train will display paintings by well-known artists, fine examples of sculpture, pottery, weaving, wood and metal work and examples of other major crafts.

Included in the initial display will be paintings by Thomas Hart Benton, and John Sloan, on loan from the Whitney Museum of American Art, New York, and a number of other rare items.

The project is sponsored by the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen, with support from the Kentucky Department of Economic Development, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and various businesses and individuals throughout Kentucky. John Dillehay, an Owensboro native and former director of the Junior Art Gallery in Louisville, is curator-instructor on the train.

The two-car gallery workshop will remain at Hazard for a week. Other week-long stops are scheduled at Jackson, October 2-7, and at Whitesburg, October 16-21. Eventually the train will touch almost every town in Kentucky where there is a railroad, to provide each citizen in the state an opportunity to take advantage of its unique services.

Main purpose of the rail-borne exhibit, according to Director Dillehay, is to encourage the development of more arts and crafts work in Kentucky, especially in areas where employment is low.

In addition, the train will enable visitors to view first hand, many works of art found heretofore only in large art galleries and museums of the country.

The program has been underwritten for a year, mainly by state funds and private donations. Numerous industries located in Kentucky have donated equipment and supplies. The L. & N. Railroad donated the two cars for use by the Guild. One car was renovated by the industrial arts department of Berea College, Berea, Ky., and the other in the L. & N. shops at Louisville. Both cars are completely air conditioned, and appearance of the train in various cities will be sponsored by local clubs and organizations.

Any group desiring to sponsor the train should contact the Kentucky Guild Art Train, Department of Economic Development, Capitol Annex, Frankfort.

The Whitley House near Stanford is said to be the first brick house in Kentucky. Col. William Whitley, its owner, was a skilled Indian fighter. Visitors to his home included George Rogers Clark and Gov. Isaac Shelby. Theodore Roosevelt in his book, "The Winning of the West," describes the house as the center of the political, religious and social life of the Transylvania region.

Kanawha County Conference Headed By Floyd-Co. Native

BANKS ON NEW JOB . . . Harry Banks, Floyd county native and former Pikeville city school superintendent, (center, black suit), but now head of instructional services, Kanawha county, W. Va., schools, meets with the system's administrative staff. Kanawha County Superintendent L. K. Lovenstein, center, front row, is shown discussing an education problem.

Though school doors won't open for 60,000 Kanawha county students until September 5, more than 2,200 county teachers will be back on the job this week for the Kanawha county schools' fourth annual pre-school conference, Harry Banks, director of the conference and the county's director of instructional services, said.

The main conference goal will be to find concrete ways that teachers can apply the principles of child growth and development to everyday classroom situations.

"The whole child" will be the central point of attention during meetings this year," Banks said. He explained that the "whole child" study approach involves inquiry into a student's mental, social, physical, scholastic and emotional makeup.

To aid teachers and school administrators in their search for facts a team of consultants from West Virginia and Marshall Universities, Morris-Harvey College, Kanawha County Schools and West Virginia Department of Mental Health, will be present to lead group discussions the second day. These educators are specialists in child growth and development areas, Banks explained.

Keynote for the pre-school sessions will be Dr. Russell V. Lucas, Jr., assistant professor of Pediatrics, West Virginia University. He will deliver an address that will lay groundwork for discussions throughout the group sessions.

Banks, who is a son of Ed Banks, of Water Gap, has been superintendent of Pikeville city schools, a post he held until his resignation earlier this year.

Out-of-state tourist traveled 3.3 billion miles on Kentucky roads during 1959, according to the Copeland survey of Kentucky's tourist business.

Former Wayland Man Succumbs at Newport; In Insurance Business

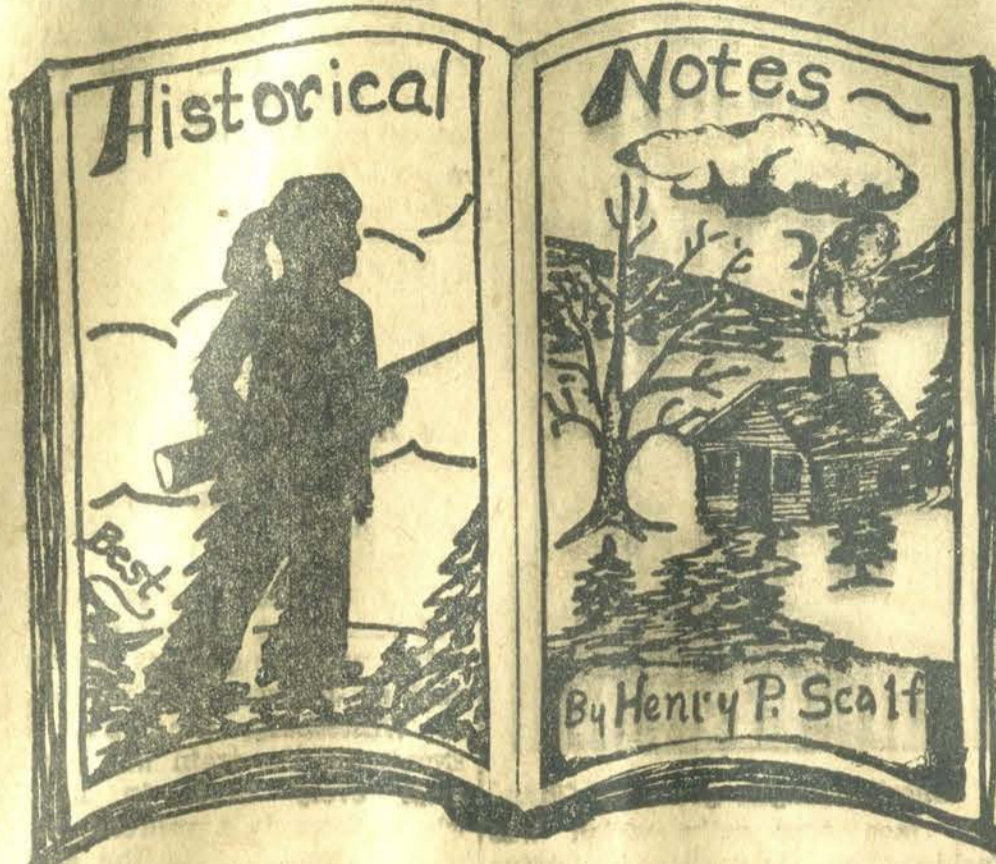

Funeral rites for Amerida G. DeCoursey, 47, former Wayland man, who died August 23 following a heart attack suffered at his home at Ryland, Ky., near Covington, were conducted August 26, and burial was made in Flora Hills cemetery, Newport, Ky.

A native of Hazard, Mr. DeCoursey was a son of the late Charles D. DeCoursey and Hester Cornett DeCoursey. He had resided at Wayland since boyhood, moving about five years ago to the Covington area where he was engaged in the insurance business. He was educated at Union College, Barbourville, was a member of the Methodist Church and had been for 25 years a member of the Masonic order.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Betty Krebs DeCoursey, three children—Eugene DeCoursey, Gregory, Debbie and Sandy; of Wayland, Ed DeCoursey, of Hindman, Charles D. DeCoursey, II, Clinton, Connecticut, and one sister, Mrs. Arthur Dixon, Bucyrus, Ohio.

The officiating minister at his funeral was his father-in-law, the Rev. Clarence Krebs, a former pastor of a Paintsville Methodist Church. Burial was under direction of the Erschell Brothers Funeral Home.

NICKELL AND SALYERS

At hand is a letter from Mrs. Oliver Nickell, Driggs, Idaho, relative to the Nickell and Salyers families. It was originally addressed to the Floyd County Clerk and sent from there to Mrs. Robert Martin, of Martin. Mrs. Martin refers the letter to this column.

Mrs. Nickell's letter follows: "In looking through 'Kentucky Land Grants,' by Willard Rouse Jilison, Sc.D., Filson Club publication No. 33, I found several Nickell names. I am interested in John Nickell, who married Civilian Jane (sic), May 1, 1822. They had four children: George, Alexander, Joe and Nettie."

Mrs. Nickell refers to land grants mentioned in Dr. Jilison's book. These grants were made in 1820, 1835, 1844, 1845 and in 1851.

Referring to John Salyers, Mrs. Nickell notes that he had grants in 1827, 1832, 1834(2), and 1835.

"He (John Salyers) married Margaret Sparks and they had two children to my knowledge: Catherine and Benjamin. Do you have any information? I would like their parents' names and where they were from."

SCALF FAMILY

This column is indebted to Mrs. Della Rae Marvin, 2509 Kulshan Street, Bellingham, Wash., for this brief history of a branch of a Scalf family which originated in Pennsylvania in 1815.

We print Mrs. Marvin's sketch as submitted.

It follows: "The record of the past history of the Scalf family will be sketchy indeed, since no written records of the family were kept, and the details of this paper were gleaned through a personal interview with James Allen Scalf. James Scalf was himself an old man when the interview was held and many of the important details were not known by him, thus the history is brief and many of the recorded facts may seem unimportant in the light of the present day requirements for a family history. But we shall endeavor to present the facts as he gave them.

Our record goes back to 1815, to Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, to the birth of John Scalf. Little is known of his early life in Pennsylvania, but we do know that he came to the Southeast part of Missouri in 1840. There he married and though the name of his wife is not known, we do know that they had two boys whose names were Wess and Frank. Sometime after the birth of the youngest boy, his wife died leaving John and the boys. John, being a man who loved to travel, left the two boys with a Mr. Young in Unionville, Missouri, and began a long career as a roaming man.

He first made his way to California in 1849, along with thousands of other people who had dreams of making a fortune in the Gold Rush of 1849. Unlike many of those anxious people, Mr. Scalf was fortunate enough to "strike it rich." He tired of the life of a miner, or else the gold strike ended. At any rate the next record we have of our ancestor is further wanderings. He boarded a ship and sailed around Cape Horn and landed at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the east coast.

The urge to see his sons and the old home in Missouri caused him to board a train that would take him home again. But he discovered that he would have a four hour wait at the depot in Philadelphia, and while he was waiting his attention was drawn to a little house just across the street from the station. His gaze kept going to the little old man who was sitting on the porch of that house. Something about the old fellow seemed to draw John to him. The impulse to go across and speak to the old man grew stronger and stronger and just when John had decided to go speak to him, the train pulled into the station and John left on it. Years later, when John's brother Louis came to Missouri, he told a tale that explained the attraction of the old man to John, and caused John untold sorrow as the years went by. Louis brought the news that the old man reading the newspaper on the porch of that little house was none other than John's own father whom he had not seen since he left his home in Pennsylvania in his youth.

Upon his return to Missouri, John met and married Ann Eliza Tate in 1856. His older sons were both soldiers in the Civil War. Frank was killed, but Wess returned and reared a family of two children. John and Liza were blessed with five children: James Allen Scalf (my great grandfather) born on April 5, 1861, Sally, Elizabeth, Armina and Evalyne.

INFORMATION For VETERANS

Q.—I'm a Korean veteran interested in writing. How may I enter the writing contest conducted for veterans?

A.—The Hospitalized Veterans Writing Project is sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi national fraternity for women in journalism, only for veterans who are patients in Veterans Administration hospitals. Although the hospitals, service, civic, welfare organizations, newspaper and magazine editors, and columnists cooperate in the project, it is not open to the general public.

Q.—I am retired with spare time for some useful purpose. I have heard about volunteers at Veterans Administration hospitals. Where can I find out about the VA program for volunteers?

A.—If you belong to a veterans, fraternal or patriotic organization in your community which cooperates with the VA Voluntary Service, you can get the information and enroll in the program through that group. Or you may as an individual contact the director of voluntary service at the nearest VA hospital.

Q.—The VA hospital where I was treated years ago wants me to return for a recheck, in connection with a medical research project. Will this affect my compensation?

A.—No. A research project has nothing to do with compensation. You can make a valuable contribution to medical science by returning to the hospital for reexamination.

Q.—Can I get transportation to and from a VA hospital? I'm a World War II nonservice-connected veteran.

A.—Nonservice-connected veterans are eligible for transportation to and from VA hospitals, if they cannot afford to pay for it and if they get prior authorization from VA; there is no provision for payment of travel by ambulance or otherwise unless the travel is authorized in advance.

Nature Trails BY RUFUS M. REED

Old-time fishermen, and those who raise fish-bait for sale, sometimes use a secret for producing those plump, juicy worms, the pride of the enthusiastic angler. They fill boxes with loose moist dirt and mix with this a goodly portion of stale coffee grounds, in which they rear the worms. They claim that coffee grounds quickly produce the fattest, juiciest worms.

NATURE STUDY IN THE BIBLE

King Solomon drew upon Nature for the subject of his famous proverbs and songs. He spake or wrote 3,000 proverbs and produced 1,005 songs, and some of his favorite subjects were: Trees, wild flowers, like lilies, "the cedars of Lebanon," animals, birds, creeping things and even the fish. Which verse in the Old Testament mentions oak trees, poplars and elms? You will find these mentioned in Hosea 4:13, which describes them as being fine trees to produce shade.

STRANGE ANIMAL OF THE BIBLE

The Behemoth, an animal described by Job, is one that has caused much speculation among Bible scholars, and naturalists, too. Job describes this animal as one "that eats grass like an ox, moves his tail like a cedar, and his thighs are knit together, and his bones are like tubes of brass, and his limbs like bars of iron. He that made him giveth to him his sword (tusks?) and the mountains bring forth his food; his strength is in his loins and his force in the muscles of his belly; he lieth under the lotus-trees in the covert of the reeds, and of the fen; the willows of the brook compass him about, and if a river overflows, he trembleth not; he is confident, even though the Jordan swell even up to his mouth, and, shall any take him when he is on the watch, or pierce through his nose with a snare?" See Job 40: 15-24.

What beast was this so graphically described? Some authorities believe Job was describing the mastodon; if so, this animal must have been known to him. He says it had swords, or tusks, similar to those of the mastodon. Others think Job had in mind the hippopotamus which made his bed among the lotus and willow trees. A dromedary was the huge Arabian camel, which had only one hump on its back, and it was powerful and swift. The true, or Bactrian camel, had two humps. The prophet Jeremiah compared Israel to a "swift dromedary traversing her ways." Jeremiah 2:23. Where are eagles referred to as "bald?" In Micah 1:16. The chameleon and many other kinds of reptiles are mentioned in the 11th Chapter of Leviticus. These and the crocodile too were classed as "unclean"—unfit for human food.

How and where did 400 young men escape on camels? When David was slaughtering the Amalekites for their raids upon the lands of Israel, 400 young men got away by fleeing on swift young camels. See 1 Samuel 30:17. Where does the Bible refer to a wild boar? In Psalms 80:13, David refers to the wild boar out of the woods as being a ravager of the "vine of the Children of Israel."

Where do we read of a cart as being drawn by cows?

The Philistines yoked two cows together and used them to haul a cart on which was returned the ark of Jehovah to the Children of Israel. 1 Samuel 6th chapter.

Where do we read about a carpenter planting an ash tree? In Isaiah 44:14, we read how "A carpenter plants an ash tree, and the rain doth nourish it."

The grafting of fruit trees is described in much detail by Paul in the 11th chapter of Romans, using this as an analogy of the grafting in of the Gentiles.

Where is the raven first mentioned in the Bible? While the raven is often mentioned in the Bible, the first time is in the seventh verse of the Eighth chapter of Genesis, where Noah sent forth the raven to explore the earth during the flood.

What king grew nails that were like the claws of a bird?

This was King Nebuchadnezzar, who was driven out of his kingdom for his boasting and his great vanity, and he ate grass like the oxen, and his hair grew like eagle feathers, and his nails like the claws of a bird.

When was a spring of bad water purified by the use of table salt? The prophet, Elisha, used a cruse of salt to cleanse and purify the bad-tasting waters of the springs around Jericho. 2 Kings 2:19-22.

REV. HALL HAS PREACHED 45 YEARS

The Rev. W. B. Hall, 78, of Betsy Layne, is now in his 45th year of service in the ministry of the Church of Christ and has baptized more than 4,000 persons. Twenty-four of those baptized have become ministers. Ordained in 1914, he has preached in Virginia, West Virginia, Alabama, Michigan and many sections of Eastern Kentucky.

POPULATION COUNT SHOWS FLOYD BACHELOR SURPLUS

Special to The Times
New York, N. Y., August 21 — Would-be brides, sit up and take note! Floyd county has a surplus of eligible bachelors on hand.

Details of the over-supply are contained in a report just released by the U. S. Census Bureau. It is based on the latest marital statistics, gathered in conjunction with last year's population count.

Numerically, not counting widowed or divorced people, there are 3,917 single men and boys locally and only 2,993 single women and girls, making the county a good place for a manhunt.

That is it such a good place has already been discovered by the fair sex. The figures show that they have been making appropriate use of the romantic opportunities.

The overall picture in Floyd county, taking into account both men and women of marriageable age, reveals that 66.0 per cent of the total are now married.

That is a relatively large proportion. Elsewhere in the United States, the Census Bureau shows, the ratio ranges from less than 50 per cent to more than 80 per cent. Yet, there remains a preponderance of bachelors locally. The chief reason for it, according to the report, is that men wait much longer than women before getting married.

As a result, men in the United States are approximately 2½ years older than women when they first marry.

At the present time, the median age is 22.8 years for men and 20.3 years for women. Back in 1900 it was 25.9 for men and 21.9 for women.

The figures have been getting lower and lower in line with changing social and economic conditions that have been making it possible for young people to marry earlier. A principal one is the increased tendency of girls to continue working after marriage, at least for a year or two.

Where a person lives also seems to have an effect on his marital status. One of the striking facts brought out by the census is that a considerably larger proportion of farm men, compared with urban men, stay single. Among farm women, however, the reverse is true.

Reported also, for each community, is the number of ex-married residents. The Floyd figures show, for men: 382 widowed and 164 divorced and, for women, 1,327 widowed and 227 divorced.

a farm in Putnam county (county seat) Missouri, near the West Locust Creek. He was a devoted husband and father, but died shortly after his marriage before he saw his family to manhood and womanhood. After his death in 1872, his only son, James just a youth then himself, took over the farm and became the head of the household. Young James took his responsibility seriously and conscientiously cared for his mother until her death.

James married a neighbor girl, Sarah Scott, in 1885. They became the parents of eight children: Roy, Dollie, Lelah, Charley (my grandfather), Annie, Opal, Bertha and Finis.

Jim, as he was known, inherited none of the wandering instincts of his father. He settled on the farm his father homesteaded, sent his children to the same school where he had attained his limited education. He died on a little farmstead within a mile of the old home, the home place having passed into the hands of his son, Charley, a few years before his death. His children seemed to inherit the same homing instinct James showed in his life, since the records of that little country school showed that not only all his children were students, but all of his more than twenty grandchildren either attended or were graduated from that school and his great-grandchildren are among the students now registered in that same little school.

To show the ability of this grandfather, when his small son Charles was less than six years old, a team ran away throwing him out of the wagon, cutting his hip badly. There being no doctor near, this father sewed the wound up with a needle and thread, washed it with turpentine.

He died on September 14, 1949 and interment was in West Liberty cemetery. Minister W. A. Pollock who was with him when his soul was saved and he joined the Methodist Church, officiated.

Mrs. Sealf made her home with her son James until her death in 1911.

John and Liza Sealf, parents of James Allen Sealf, were both buried in the Mt. Grove Community cemetery.

Sarah Jane Scott Sealf joined the United Brethren Church when quite small. She passed away November 6, 1963, and was interred beside her husband James in the West Liberty cemetery.

This history was given to me by my grandfather Charles V. Sealf, who is living and resides in Unionville, Missouri.

HERE'S HOW YOU BENEFIT BY DOING ALL YOUR SHOPPING LOCALLY

When you buy from your hometown merchants you get

1. HONEST VALUES
2. AMPLE SELECTION
3. INSTANT DELIVERY, SERVICE AND ADJUSTMENT
4. MORE PERSONAL AND FRIENDLIER TREATMENT
5. SAVING OF TIME
6. RELIEF FROM COSTLY TRAVEL
7. FREEDOM FROM ROAD HAZARDS
8. ELIMINATION OF COSTLY PARKING PROBLEMS
9. AVOIDANCE OF JOSTLING CROWDS
10. THE CHANCE TO BUILD A BETTER COMMUNITY BY PUTTING YOUR DOLLARS TO WORK HERE

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

NUCLEAR TESTS

Our nuclear weapons must be tested to make sure they work; otherwise the United States is guarding world peace with unsure weapons, Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission warns in the September Reader's Digest.

EMERGENCY FOOD SUPPLIES ARE SURVIVAL NECESSITY

A two-week-emergency supply of food is a survival necessity for every Kentucky family, Agriculture Commissioner Emerson Beauchamp urged. Under the Kentucky emergency plan the Commissioner of Agriculture would be delegated the responsibility for the control and distribution of food products in the event of a national catastrophe brought about by nuclear warfare.

In urging a family stockpile of food sufficient for a 14-day need, Beauchamp lists seven major considerations in selecting food for shelter storage. These are: (1) A relatively long shelter life; generally, the selection of foods having a longer shelf life reduces the problem of stored food surveillance and replacement. (2) Palatability—foods selected should be of the kind usually consumed by the family. Salt and other condiments should also be provided. (3) Relatively economical—costs of the food stored should not be so great as to make the shelter program generally prohibitive but at the same time the shelter diet should not be so austere as to help demoralize the shelter occupants. (4) Ease of preparation and serving—foods selected should be suited to the available equipment and fuel supply. Selections should include simple meals that can be served directly from their containers. (5) Completely edible foods selected should be entirely edible to minimize the problem of garbage disposal and to save space. (6) Suitability—the individual needs of the family should be considered particularly in cases where some of the shelter occupants may be infants, invalids or diabetics. (7) Variety—while milk, juices, and soups are nutritious, a reasonable amount of "chewy" and "bulky" foods are needed to add variety and roughage to the meals.

June Davis, civil defense coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, estimates the cost of stocking a family shelter runs about $10.50 per person. This should be sufficient for a two-week period, Davis said. He added that this could be made a part of the normal non-perishable family food supply and could be rotated regularly by placing the fresh cans to the rear of the shelf and using the oldest stocks on the front of the shelf.

Davis listed the following types of foods as being essential for a family shelter: canned meat and meat alternates including dried eggs and peanut butter; non-fat dry milk and processed cheese; canned fruits and vegetables; grain products including corn meal, rice and cereals; fats and oils; sugars and sweets; and coffee and tea, soluble.

Davis added that interested persons could obtain a detailed list of suitable shelter foods and the recommended amounts of each by writing the State Department of Agriculture or the Division of Civil Defense in Frankfort.

Carl Ray Fraley, Wayland's gift to golf who already has captured two invitational golf tournaments this summer, has now established a new course record for the Beaver Valley Country Club.

Last Sunday, while playing with Willard Castle, Harold Roop, John Scaif and Tommy Boyd, Fraley bettered the par 70 course by nine strokes for his record 61. The old record for 18 holes was set in 1955 by Willard Adkins with a 62.

The record for nine holes was also set in 1955 by Adkins with a 28. Fraley tied this mark also with a 28 on the first nine, and posted a 33 on the second nine.

Fraley, after taking an eagle 3 on the first par-5, 475-yard hole, recorded ten pars and seven birdies.

Very few people realize the cost of equipping a high school football player. Today's range is from $135 to $180 per player. Costs rise each year, just as the cost of groceries and gasoline and other essentials of life. Salaries go up each year but the general public never concedes these things but, generally speaking, gripes.

Prestonsburg high school followed the policy of several other area schools this year by raising the price of home football games to $1.25, a price that three schools last year established for adults. Students still pay 50c each and shouldn't have to pay more if they purchase their tickets in advance at their respective schools.

We all remember when flour was 40 cents a bag and the same bag today is about $1.40; yet, we like only to remember the things that are most pleasant and least expensive.

The next home football game with Elkhorn City, Friday, September 15, will be played on the new athletic field. Little League play will also begin on the field, Tuesday, September 19.

BLACK CATS LOSE OPENER; HAZARD POWER ESTABLISHED

Hazard high school left little, if any, doubt that its 1961 football team will win the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference crown for the third consecutive year.

Paul Wright's Bull Dogs whipped a veteran Jenkins team, 26-0, as the prep season began rolling in high gear last week-end. Belfry's power-laden Pirates showed their prowess in blasting Whitesburg, 34-13.

Thus the show-down for the league title will probably come September 29 when Belfry invades Hazard.

In other action involving Eastern Kentucky schools, Prestonsburg fell to Loyall, 13-6, on the strength of Jimmy Jamerson's passing arm. Fleming-Neon won its second game in downing Cumberland, 19-6; Wheelwright overpowered Dilce Combs, 33-18; Pikeville received a mild shock in bowling, 6-0, to Mt. Sterling Dubois; Paintsville nipped Raceland, 19-12, and M. C. Napier won over Leslie County, 20-7.

After a scoreless first quarter, sophomore Butch Green grabbed a Jenkins punt on his own 49-yard line and scampered to pay dirt midway the second period. Quarterback Ronnie Joseph pitched to halfback Junior Davidson in a 19-yard scoring effort to give the Bull Dogs a 12-0 halftime command.

The Bull Dogs added two more six-pointers in the third frame on Joseph's pass to end Bill Kidd, who ran 50 yards to tally. Midway in the same period, Green sped 60 yards. Davidson converted on two of four extra-point attempts.

Prestonsburg and Loyall battled to a 6-6 tie until the final four minutes when halfback Odell Pursifull got behind the Black Cat defense and grabbed a pass from Jimmy Jamerson, good for a 34-yard touchdown.

Senior guard Dickie Fitzpatrick had given the Black Cats a 6-0 lead by grabbing a mid-air fumble and moving 23 yards for the six-pointer. Loyall came roaring back before the half with the pass combination of Jamerson to Pursifull registering the marker.

The Belfry Pirates displayed a strong offensive show in belting Whitesburg, 34-13. They jumped into a 21-0 first quarter lead on the passing of quarterback Floyd Hatfield to all-state end Rickey Kestner and halfback Junior Catron. Kestner tallied in a 70-yard run and pass drive, Catron on a 60-yard pass and a 11-yard run by Jim Hunt. Both clubs scored once in the second and fourth periods.

EARLY APPLES GOOD FOR COOKING

Early apples now on the market are especially good for cooking. Many of these are tart so they make fine-flavored applesauce, pie or tarts — and they're juicy and tender so they cook up quickly. Because they are tender, they won't keep long in the kitchen; but only as long as you will use within a week.

What's Going On in FISH & WILDLIFE

by MINOR CLARK, Commissioner
Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

Q. I am a resident of Indiana but own and operate a farm in Kentucky. Is it required that I have a hunting or fishing license to hunt or fish on my farm? J.E.S., Madison, Indiana.

A. Non-residents of Kentucky, who own a farm in this state, are required to purchase a non-resident hunting or fishing license to hunt or fish on their farms. For fishing he may purchase a 10-day fishing license for $2.25. A resident owner of farmlands, his wife or children, or tenants and their children, residing on these farmlands, may hunt or fish on that property without a license during the open seasons. If, however, the owner or tenant of said lands does not reside on the farm, then a license for both hunting and fishing is required.

Q. Would you please advise me when the first hunting license was issued in the state of Kentucky? H.P., Covington.

A. As far as records show, the first hunting and fishing licenses were authorized in a session of the legislature in 1912. At that time, an embryonic section on fish and wildlife was created in the Department of Agriculture. Records also show that a revision of this legislation was brought about in the 1916 session of the Legislature. Information concerning the issuance of such licenses is vague, but so far as can be determined no licenses were sold prior to 1912.

Q. Are you required to have a live bait dealer's license to sell earthworms? B.C., Russellville.

A. No license is required for the selling of earthworms. However, if you also sell minnows or any type of aquatic invertebrate you are required to have a live bait dealer's license.

Q. We are building a new pond and since we have an old pond near it full of turtles we are wondering if there is any way to keep these turtles out of the new pond. E.A., Bowling Green.

A. There is no reason to worry about turtles in your new pond as a danger to a new fish population. We know of no reason to keep them out but we do have plans for turtle traps if you want to go to the trouble of catching some from the old pond. You will not be able to catch all of them.

Lt. Hall Graduates From NOCS At Newport

Newport, R. I. (PHTNC)—Among the officers graduated, August 18, from the limited duty officer indoctrination division of the Naval Officer Candidate School at Newport, R. I., was Navy Lt. (jg) Charles E. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Hall, of Wheelwright, Ky.

Each of the graduates had at least 18 years active duty in the Navy before reporting to Newport, July 10, as chief petty officers.

Before reporting to the school, each man passed a competitive examination and then was interviewed by an examining board of officers.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

If you're looking for a new place to try out your spinning gear on salt-water fish, go to the Ten Thousand Islands of the Everglades, suggests Robert D. Hall, Salt Water Fishing Editor, Sports Afield Magazine.

This undeveloped area lies along the southern section of the west coast of Florida and in some regions is just as primitive as when the Calusa Indians lived there many centuries before the Seminole people were driven to the lower part of Florida. This section of the Everglades extends from Marco Island southward to the famous waters of Shark River and Whitewater Bay at Cape Sable and is composed of literally hundreds of mangrove-covered islands. Some are a mile in length, others only a few hundred feet in size.

Among the interlaced mass of tough, oyster-covered mangrove roots, lie snook, redfins, mangrove snappers, jacks, sea trout and a host of other species of fish that offer exceptionally fine spin fishing which is difficult to duplicate anywhere else in the United States. What makes this particular branch of fishing so fascinating is the unusual size of the fish you may encounter and the environment that permits the use of ultralight fishing equipment.

You may be casting a small quarter-ounce white nylon or bucktail lure for snook when an eight or ten-pound redfish will strike the bait with a savage headshaking motion. Other times you may be using a red and yellow spotted surface plug when a six-foot tarpon decides the lure is to its liking and will strike with a sudden lunge, exploding the water in every direction.

It is not always the size of the fish that makes this area so exciting but the great variety that is available. Thus if you want to catch big fish or fresh water spinning equipment and have all the peaceful surroundings of inland fishing, try this little-explored region of the west coast of Florida.

Taxicab Certificates Of Operators Revoked; Austin Rector Suspended

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 4 (Spl.)—The state last Wednesday revoked the taxicab certificates of four Perry county taxi operators on charges that they operated taxis in competition with buses by cruising bus routes outside town or city limits.

The orders issued by the State Motor Transportation Department also suspended the permits of three Eastern Kentucky taxi operators, including one from Floyd county, and restricted the permit of another on the same charge.

Operators whose permits were revoked are Frank Reynolds, of Wilcox, and Harry Francis, Raymond Campbell and the Igo Taxi Co., all of Hazard. The revocations are effective immediately.

Those whose permits were suspended and periods of suspension are: Charlie R. Shelby, Harlan, 60 days; Austin Rector, Wayland (Floyd county), 90 days; and Lafayette Young, Hazard, 60 days. The suspensions are effective September 1.

The permit of John Lee, doing business as Lee's Taxi, Irvine, authorizing the operation of four taxicabs, was restricted so that Lee may operate only two cabs for 30 days, effective September 1.

Assistant Motor Transportation Commissioner George L. Willis said bus operators had complained of the illegal activity by taxi operators. He said bus lines reported that as a result of taxis picking up riders along bus routes outside cities, several bus schedules were cancelled because of lack of customers.

Following the complaints, the Department sent inspectors to the areas to detect violations. The orders were issued after hearings set by the agency.

Section 281.805, K.R.S., provides "that no person shall operate a taxicab in competition with a common carrier outside the corporate limits of a city or outside the limits over the route or any part of the of an unincorporated community route covered by the certificate of the common carrier," except when called.

Fire Insurance Rate Changes Are Explained; Examples Are Detailed

Higher fire insurance rates on dwellings and contents valued at $5,000 and less have been put into effect by the Kentucky Insurance Department, Commissioner W. T. Hockensmith has announced.

At the same time, the Department lowered rates on dwellings and contents valued at more than $5,000, he said.

The rate changes apply only to new and renewal policies and not to policies currently in force, the commissioner explained.

The larger premiums on fire insurance for low-priced houses will increase the availability of this type of policy, said Hockensmith. He explained that companies had almost stopped offering this type of policy since premiums on this protection were not paying a fair share of the losses.

For the past year, the Department has been conducting a study of the problem, Hockensmith reported, by holding public meetings across the state and sending questionnaires to all fire insurance agents. From these, the Department decided that rate adjustments were necessary "to distribute fire insurance costs more equitably according to the size of the policy."

H. Pell Brown, fire and allied lines director in the department, coordinated the study. The committee conducting the meetings was composed of agents and executives of stock and mutual companies and a representative of the Kentucky Inspection Bureau.

Citing examples of the effect of the rate changes, Hockensmith said the cost of a $2,500 policy on a one-family frame dwelling with approved roof would increase 72.2 per cent in Louisville, 70 per cent in Frankfort, and 61.7 per cent in rural areas with no fire protection.

The cost of an $8,000 policy on a one-family frame dwelling with approved roof would decrease 27.1 per cent at Louisville, 19.4 per cent at Frankfort, and 8.5 per cent in rural areas, he said.

Confederate Gen. Kirby Smith once conducted a military academy in a house at New Castle, Ky.

OBSERVE WILEY RICE DAY

Helping her great-grandfather, Wiley Rice, celebrate his 100th birthday is little Rebekah Jane Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Rice, of Wayland.

Wednesday, August 23, was proclaimed "Wiley Rice Day" by Mayor Max L. Howard, of Salyersville, to pay honor to one of Eastern Kentucky's oldest living citizens on his 100th birthday.

The festivities included a parade by the Salyersville high school band, singing of songs, prayer and receiving friends from all over Eastern Kentucky.

Mr. Rice is a gifted historian, and his memory of the ancestry of the citizens of Eastern Kentucky is amazing. Kentuckians and residents of other states often seek from him information on the early history and pioneer settlers of this area.

Floyd county friends attending the centenary observance were Mrs. Rebecca Dingus, Mrs. Grace D. Ford, Miss Mary E. Powers, Mrs. G. R. Allen, Mrs. A. C. Harlowe, Mrs. Winnie F. Johns, Rev. and Mrs. M. Robert Regan, all of Prestonsburg, and the Rev. Bob Martin, of Martin.

Tan Whitaker, 71, Dies At Paintsville Hospital; Rites Conducted Aug. 28

Tan Whitaker, 71, died at 8:10 a.m., August 26, in a Paintsville hospital. He suffered a stroke about one year ago from which he never recovered.

A retired C. & O. railway employee, he completed 38 years of service for the company in 1959. He had been a resident of West Van Lear for 34 years. He was born December 9, 1889 in Floyd county, one of the 18 children of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Whitaker, who migrated to the Little Paint section from the Carolinas nearly one hundred years ago.

He was a member of the United Baptist church.

Surviving is his wife, Nora Martin Whitaker, to whom he was married October 11, 1913 at Bonanza.

Other survivors are two sons, Earl J. and Jackie, of Dayton, Ohio, four daughters, Mrs. Mabel Blair, Jenkins, Ky.; Mrs. Lurue May, West Van Lear; Mrs. Ethel Tevis, Van Lear; Mrs. Grace Thomas, Cincinnati, Ohio; ten grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren. Also surviving are three brothers, Frank Whitaker, West Van Lear, Tom Whitaker, Waverly, Ohio; Cleveland Whitaker, Whitaker, Ky.; six sisters, Mrs. Cora Kindle, Saginaw, Michigan; Mrs. Marie Blair, Leander, Mrs. Laura Robinson, Ashland; Mrs. Dora Blair, West Van Lear; Mrs. Polly Johnson, Hartley, Ky.; and Miss Clara Whitaker, Whitaker.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m., Monday, August 28, at the Cedar Grove United Baptist Church at West Van Lear. Officiating ministers were the Rev. Frank Arms, Rev. Elza Banks, and Rev. Jim Trimble.

Burial was in the family cemetery at Whitaker.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to express our appreciation to everyone who in any way assisted us during the illness and upon the passing of our loved one, Mrs. Mint P. Hopkins. We are appreciative of the floral offerings, the sympathy that has been extended, and the many acts of kindness. We want to especially thank the Methodist Church choir and the Rev. Orrin M. Simmerman for their songs and words of comfort and consolation. We would not forget to extend our appreciation to the Hill Funeral Home, of Kingston, Ohio, and Carter & Callahan Funeral Home for their fine and efficient service.

THE FAMILY

FARMER'S SHARE

As a general rule, the farmer's share of the food dollar goes down as the amount of processing goes up, but this is not so for oranges. The grove owner gets 32 cents of the dollar spent on fresh oranges, 38 cents of the dollar for canned orange juice, and 43 cents of that for frozen orange juice concentrate.

Singing Meet Scheduled At Little Paint Church; Rev. Conley To Preside

The Floyd County Sing Association will hold a monthly meeting Saturday at the First Church of God, on Little Paint Creek, it is announced by Rev. Johnny Conley, chairman. The organization, founded several months ago, holds regular monthly meetings at various places in the county.

Many groups of singers from the region will participate in the vocal presentations, it is said. The public and vocal groups from the area are urged to attend.

The first white settlement in the Shelbyville area was at Painted Stone. There in 1779 Squire Boone, brother of Daniel, built a fort that for more than a year was the only refuge on the road between Harrodsburg and Louisville.

EASTERN KENTUCKY ROAD CONSTRUCTION IS HURRIED

By FRED W. LUIGART, JR. (In the Courier-Journal)

Winchester, Ky., Aug. 20—Contractors on the Eastern Kentucky Turnpike between Winchester and Campton are using double shifts to complete the $38,000,000 project.

"It's too early to say whether the road is ahead of or behind schedule," said Claude "Wick" Barnett, State Highway Department engineer supervising the work.

"We're on a tight schedule, but we believe we can complete it by late 1962," Barnett added.

That's when Governor Combs has indicated he would like to dedicate the largest state-sponsored project ever undertaken in Eastern Kentucky.

Construction is proceeding along the entire route of the 43-mile limited-access divided toll road.

Giant bulldozers, earth movers, and other equipment can be seen along the entire distance. Dust and dirt fly night and day when weather permits. More than 550 men and 350 pieces of road-building machinery are being used.

The highway is unlike any road ever built in this region, where roads traditionally have followed bases of steep mountains or paths or meandering streams.

The toll road is being built on as much as a beeline as is possible in a region where the terrain challenges the imagination of highway construction engineers.

"We cut and we fill. We cut and we fill. That's the story of the Eastern Kentucky Turnpike," Barnett said.

Instead of skirting streams and mountains, contractors are bridging and cutting.

There are about 50 culverts and underpasses and 54 bridges and twin bridges along the road, Barnett said. Pillars already have been set for some bridges.

Twin bridges, each 459 feet long over Red River at Roslyn, are the longest spans.

The cuts and fills vary from a few feet to 104 feet, the depth of a cut near West Bend in Powell county. Fills and cuts of from 30 to 60 feet are not uncommon.

Engineers for construction contractors on the road say construction features are comparable to standards for interstate construction in Kentucky.

The toll road has two 24-foot driving lanes divided by a 36-foot median. Outside shoulders are 12 feet wide. Inside shoulders are 10 feet wide. The road is to be paved with nine inches of concrete over four inches of rock.

Interchanges are provided at an intersection with I-64 at Winchester and at Waltersville, Stanton, and Slade in Powell county and at Pine Ridge and Campton in Wolfe county.

The toll road ultimately will continue north from Campton into Salyersville, about 28 miles as the crow flies, where it will connect with a proposed highway into Prestonsburg. A southern arm will extend from Campton into Whitesburg.

Paving contracts have already been awarded by the state for the final 15 miles.

Six contractors are doing the work. Codell Construction Company, Winchester, holds two contracts totaling $4,553,043.45 for 8.6 miles. R. C. Durr Company, Walton, has two contracts, totaling $2,581,159.37, for 9.5 miles. Ralph Myers Construction Company, Salem, Ind., was awarded contracts totaling $7,751,608.06 for 10.5 miles.

Other contractors are Talbott Construction Company, Winchester, $2,885,625.39 for 5.5 miles; J. C. Codell Company, Winchester, $1,512,270.87 for 3.7 miles, and S. J. Cross Company, M.neapolis, $1,297,190.63 for 5.3 miles.

Both contracts held by Ralph Myers Company and one held by Codell Construction Company include paving. All other contracts are for grade and drain work only.

Barnett estimated other paving contracts totaling close to $7,000,000 remain to be let by the state.

Kentucky's first governor, Isaac Shelby, commissioned the first Kentucky Colonel—his son-in-law, Charles S. Todd.
