

THURSDAY

This Town-- That World

My Aunt Hattie from Cincinnati had an attack of the vapors Wednesday afternoon.

PLEASE! This gets us around to the matter of conversation-starters. I don't know what we would do without them, unless it would be to simply smile or frown or grunt when we meet our friends, and beyond that keep our yaps shut.

"Think it'll rain?" Now there's a lulu. And if the other fellow doesn't think at all, he'll express an opinion, and you're off on a talking jag that will kill 15 minutes of time you'll later swear you didn't have in the first place.

Ordinary folks start off, sometimes, with, "What's the latest?" Fishermen occasionally grow frank with each other and half the other fellow with, "Tell me a lie." One, once upon a time, made the mistake of suggesting that the other fellow tell him another lie. They're funny, those fisher-folk, they say.

On, well, we probably couldn't get along without some inanity or other to use in passing the time of day and whiling away the vagrant hours, etcetera. So you can ask me any of the old questions, use any of the old bromides, brag till you pop if you like. I'll talk.

But don't, please, hail me with, "Whaddayaknow?" For, as this column bears solemn witness, I know nothing.

FISH, GREAT AND SMALL

Hazel George sends us along her subscription, and encloses therewith a newspaper clipping which tells about her husband, W. C. George, and his fishing prowess, luck, or whatchamaycallit. Anyway, he and a companion caught seven kings and five Spanish mackerel on one foray, and he landed five mackerel on another. . . My son and I caught three bass—bang, bang!—the other afternoon. Laid end to end, they measured 23 inches.

DAYS AND WEEKS AND SUCH

On occasion this column has poked a bit of fun at all these Days and Weeks that are proclaimed. Let's see what October has in store for us: Rice Harvest Festival, Cheese (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

SPECIAL SERVICE TO OBSERVE 25-YEAR SERVICE OF MINISTER

A special church service will be held at the First Church of God here, Tuesday, at 7 p.m. to commemorate a quarter of a century of service of Rev. Moses Kitchen in the ministry. His ministry, which his congregation and friends will commemorate, began at Van Lear. Rev. Kitchen has served six churches as pastor, conducted revivals in six states and preached hundreds of funerals. He is currently serving on several boards incident to the work of the Church of God in Kentucky.

The minister will speak himself at the special service and special singing will be presented. The public is urged to attend. Churches, besides the Prestonsburg church, served by Rev. Kitchen since he began his ministry are at East Point, Paintsville, Staffordsville, Martha and Ashland.

Refreshments will be served in the church basement by the ladies of the First Church of God Missionary Society immediately after the commemorative service.

BALLOT ALTERNATIVES POSE SUIT POSSIBILITY

CLERK FACES 2 PROBLEMS ON BALLOTS

Paper Ballot Polling In Municipal Elections, Filing Dates Studied

The approaching November election is giving the County Clerk's office fits on two counts: 1. It faces the possibility of a lawsuit if the Clerk either does or does not authorize, in accordance with the fiscal court's recent order, the printing of paper ballots for all city races in which there are opposing candidates. 2. It faces the job, according to Kentucky statutes and legal advice, or leaving off the ballot names of candidates for office in two sixth-class cities who filed too early and did not re-file.

The printing of ballots is of special interest at Martin where the petition of one slate of candidates may be attacked on the ground that some of their petitioners also signed the petition of their opponents and that this slate, consequently, does not have the required number of unchallengeable names on its petition.

If this happens, those losing their place on the ballot are expected to stage a "write-in" campaign. But voting machines, new in Martin as elsewhere in the county, present a problem for such a move. So it is that those who (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

DAMAGE SUITS ASK $132,500

Jarrell Seeks $50,000 From Coal Truck Owner; Waddles, Mosley Plead

Three damage suits filed in circuit court here last week seek to recover a total of $132,500. Two of the actions grew out of auto injuries; the third, the aftermath of a fall.

Bill Jarrell asks $50,000 for allegedly permanent injuries and $10,000 for doctor and hospital bills, naming as defendants Carlos Helton and James C. Hunter. The former was named as the owner of a coal truck which was driven by his employee, William Lee Goble, who is now dead. Jarrell alleges carelessness and negligence resulted in the collision of the truck and an automobile driven by Hunter as the two vehicles approached each other, near McDowell, October 4, last.

Educational Council Sets October Meeting; Zimmerman To Preside

The next regular meeting of the Citizens Educational Council has been scheduled for October 19, it is announced this week by R. A. Bradbury, of David, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

H. O. Zimmerman, president, of Wheelwright, who has been out of the state for several weeks, will preside at the Council. Matters of high importance to the Floyd county school system are on the agenda, it is said.

The Advisory committee of the Council held its regular meeting at the Allen grade school building, September 26. In the absence of President Zimmerman and vice-president Henry P. Scaif, Bradbury presided.

The Council was formed several months ago to assist in the promotion of a good school system in this county. Regular meetings are held at the Allen grade school building.

Bishop Gum Schedules Sermon Here Wednesday

Dr. Russell R. Patton, superintendent of the Ashland district of the Methodist Church, announces that Bishop Walter C. Gum, resident bishop of the Louisville area of the Methodist Church, will speak at a mass meeting at the First Methodist Church here next Wednesday at 10 a.m. in behalf of Christian Higher Education and Church Extension.

His subject will be "Meeting the Lesser Idea With the Greater." He proposes to show that the ideas back of Communism can be met only by the Christian idea of a spiritual interpretation of life and that this can come only through Christian education.

Bishop Gum presides over both the Louisville and Kentucky Con- (See Story No. 7, Page 5)

In the second auto accident action Sheard Waddles sues for $50,000 damages, plus $7,500 doctor and hospital bills, naming Marvin Music as defendant. Waddles, who was injured on U. S. 23 here, April 22, claims negligence and carelessness on the part of the defendant.

Hereford Picked as Grand Champion

Lon Edward Shepherd, 12-year-old Prestonsburg seventh grade student, of West Prestonsburg, received a first blue ribbon for his Hereford calf entrant at the recent Floyd County Fair. Following that award the 11-month-old animal was named Grand Champion over all entrants.

CONFERENCE DISCUSSES TRUANCY IN SCHOOLS

The Floyd county school system, faced with a high loss in state funds due to non-attendance of pupils from low income families, is seeking to reduce the absentee incidence through conferences of parents, law enforcement officials and school personnel.

The first of these conferences was held Saturday in the office of Trial Commissioner Harold Stumbo with County Superintendent Charles Clark, several parents of truant children and attendance officers present.

To stories of little income, few clothes and insufficient food by the parents Clark replied:

"We are trying to help your children, nothing else. I feel if you try hard enough you'll get your children in school. You are doing your children a horrible injustice.

They don't have to be well-dressed. I've gone to school with patches on patches on my clothes."

Earle Martin of the pupil personnel department of the schools, said that last year the school system distributed clothing, but observed: "We are not social workers but attendance officers. Our job is to get your children in school for your children's sake."

Martin and Richmond Sloan, associate attendance officer, pointed out the law on truancy, especially noting the four exemptions from the compulsory attendance law. These are high school graduates, private school enrollees, mentally and physically retarded and the deaf and blind.

One parent commented under questioning:

"I have nine children, five in school age. My children are barefooted. No shoes at all. I am physically unable to work. I get the food stamps but of course I can't buy clothing with them. I do some work, however. I dug a well for a man and was paid two bushels of potatoes."

Another parent, who admitted he was unemployed, said:

"It's a matter of pride with me. My children have food but not sufficient clothing to attend."

Other parents, under questioning by Commissioner Stumbo and Superintendent Clark, gave similar answers, most of them pointing out they were unemployed.

To an implied threat of a parent to withhold his children from school until they received free food and clothing, Clark replied:

"Threats to keep your children out of school is cutting off the nose to spite the face. The thing that moves us is that we think a lot of your children. We feel like we are doing the best thing in the world for your children if we get them in school."

Stumbo pledged the cooperation of the court if the proper charges were filed.

Martin observed to the parents at the close of the conference:

"The whip has to be cracked and we intend to do it for we have the backing of the county superintendent."

CD DIRECTOR IS CONCERNED

Over National Defense; General Lloyd Appeals For Shelter Protection

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 2 (Sp1.)—Maj. Gen. Arthur Y. Lloyd, adjutant general of Kentucky and State director of civil defense, points to a growing concern, all over the nation, about civil defense.

"It coincides with the resumption of nuclear testing," he said, "and the troubled state of international relations in general."

Elaborate plans have been made through all levels of government to cope with the emergencies that would accompany a nuclear attack on the United States.

"City, county, state and national departments and agencies have a pattern of action for such a dire event," Lloyd said. "But the average citizen remains an enigma. All efforts so far have failed to arouse him to the necessity for his personal participation in the effort for survival."

"A fundamental aspect of the individual's responsibility lies in the family fallout shelter. This is the protection each family is being urged by Washington to provide for itself. The fallout shelter cannot protect against a close-proximity blast. It is designed to shield the family from the invisible, deadly rain of radioactive particles that may be carried on the wind for great distances. Without such protection, millions of citizens might perish painfully and needlessly. With the extensive use of fallout shelters the casualties expected from an atomic attack can be reduced tremendously."

General Lloyd described fallout as the microscopic dust that is belched skyward when a nuclear explosion occurs.

"While the blast travels out in all directions, destroying everything for miles, the typical mushroom-shaped cloud boils up high into the atmosphere," he explained. "As this immense cloud drifts apart it begins to release its heavier components. Tiny bits of rubbish and debris begin to rain down in a quite visible, deadly shower of dust, killing with radiation every living thing it covers. Everything in the cloud, however, is lethally radioactive. Even the invisible, microscopic particles that will ride the atmosphere for perhaps thousands of miles are constantly radiating their (See Story No. 8, Page 6)

FOOD OUTLETS LOSE $25,000

Participation Failure Of Eligible Families In Stamp Program Told

Floyd food retailers lost $25,000 or more in business last month because of the failure to participate in the Food Stamp program of 200 families who had "signed up" to receive stamps and an additional 300 persons on public assistance who are automatically eligible to such aid.

This was pointed out Tuesday by Cam Horn, supervisor of the Floyd county food stamp issuance office. Food stamps issued during September to 1,281 families (approximately 6,400 persons) had a value of slightly more than $75,000. The average value of food stamps per family was nearly $59.

Had the 200 families signed up participated and had the 300 eligible as public assistance recipients claimed stamps, the total value of food stamps issued during the month would have exceeded $100,000, Horn said.

Since the Food Stamp Program was initiated in the county, June 1, more than $280,000 worth have been issued.

Plans are being made to establish a branch food stamp issuance office at Martin, County Judge Henry Stumbo said a few days ago. The branch office is considered necessary in order to save recipients time and expense in travel.

FLOYD NAMED PILOT COUNTY

School Lunch Program To Be Expanded Here; Plans Incomplete, Said

Floyd, one of the seven counties in the United States named a pilot county for the Food Stamp Program initiated by the Kennedy administration, has been designated as a pilot area in another field, it was announced this week.

The county has been selected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for aid in a school lunch program in schools heretofore unreached. The Department, County Superintendent Charles Clark said, is particularly interested in reaching isolated rural schools.

Although the pilot lunch program will be limited at first and restricted to only five schools, Clark is hopeful it will later be extended to reach all schools which do not already have such a facility.

Mr. Clark said representatives from the Atlanta office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture made a survey of the Floyd situation last week. Although the survey was not exhaustive, he said he understood that Floyd county is considered ideal for a pilot program of this type.

Certain research is under way to the end that cooked foods may be processed and supplied small, rural schools in such form that they will require minimal preparation. Teacher supervisor of preparation of such foods on a hot plate at the school and refrigeration storage space in each community for milk will be requirements to be met.

Work on the rural school lunch program was begun in July.

Mr. Clark was enthusiastic about possibilities of the program, which he described as presently being in the planning stage. "We don't know how much of a problem the Floyd (See Story No. 6, Page 5)

The Governor's Tour, sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, was delayed by inclement weather and the buses carrying the entourage did not reach here until 5:30 p.m., instead of the envisioned early afternoon hours.

The tour, designed to inform Kentucky businessmen of the Eastern Kentucky region, began at Lexington Tuesday morning. Many officials of the state government and business leaders accompanied the tourists.

The group, coming here from Paintsville, were met at East Point by a reception committee composed of Cliff B. Latta, Edward Music, R. V. Mosby, Burl Spurlock and others. Mary Ann Music, secretary of the Kentucky Parks Board and a member of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, was in the Governor's party.

The Parks Board secretary told the group at Johnny Wiley State Park that 15 million dollars in business annually has been going to West Virginia but might be once the Eastern Kentucky highway was completed this huge volume of trade would be directed toward Lexington and Louisville.

Ward, impressed by the park and its potential as a tourist attraction after being told there were 600,000 visitors there last year, said an entry into the park would be provided from the new U. S. 23.

Jones Is Guest Speaker At Wheelwright Kiwanis; Basic Youth Needs Told

The Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club, of Wheelwright, held its regular meeting Monday evening. Robert Jones, county agent, was the guest speaker. Other guests included Miss Linda Layne, 4-H Club president, of Wheelwright high school and Mark Hopkins, 4-H Club president of Wheelwright grade school. Miss Layne has just returned from the State Fair.

Jones spoke on the 4-H Club program. He explained how the clubs originated, what they have done, how they have grown and what they expect to accomplish. In summarizing he gave the basic needs of youth and commented on each. They are understanding, developing personality, moral values, healthy body and mind, security and success, recognition, experience and self-respect.

Plans are being made, it was said, to begin another program of interest to customers of membership of the Association after Thanksgiving. Awards and dates will be announced later.

COAL MINE TONNAGE INCREASES IN STATE

Kentucky coal mine production for 1960 was 67,067,740 tons of which more than one-half was produced in the Eastern coal field.

Although the overall state production was up a three percent plus over the preceding year, production in the field represented by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn field was in decline. Weekly reports of the Association released by the Pikeville office of the group show that for the last two weeks tonnage mined was off approximately ten percent from the corresponding period last year.

The figures on production and incidentals of the mining industry were released this week from the Department of Mines and Minerals by Commissioner A. H. Mandt, former Manton coal operator.

Of the five divisions of production areas, four are in Eastern Kentucky. Production of these fields follows: Prestonsburg, 5,513,280 tons; Pikeville, 9,423,953 tons; Kentucky River, 10,003,316; and Cumberland Valley, 11,723,642. Western Kentucky produced 30,403,749 tons.

Mandt announced that the department had temporarily closed 653 truck mines and three rail mines due to unsafe working conditions. There were 57 mine fatalities last year as compared with 43 in 1959. No mine explosions or fires of a serious nature were reported last year, Mandt said.

Production in the field represented by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association showed a 9.87 percent decrease from the corresponding period last year. Production was off 877,980 tons. The average work-week has dropped from 3.88 days for the same week last year to 2.7 days for the week ending September 23, this year. Only eight mines in the field worked the full five days.

COMBS, WARD BREAK NEWS HERE TUESDAY

Governor's Tour Party Arrives Late; Leaders Tour Jenny Wiley Park

Four miles of the Middle Creek section of the Eastern Kentucky highway and the projected bridge where it enters Prestonsburg will be advertised for construction late this month and the bids will be opened November 21, Governor Bert Combs and Highway Commissioner Henry Ward told the chief executive's fellow-townsmen here Tuesday.

CHAPTER G MEETS

Chapter G, P. E. O., held its regular meeting September 25, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Winston Ford, with Mrs. Chalmers H. Frazier as co-hostess. The program was on Cotley College, International Peace Scholarships and Educational Loan Funds.

The guest speaker was Miss Valerie Bauhofer, of Vienna, Austria, who came to this country in 1949. Voluntary contributions by the members are providing scholarships for selected women from other countries for graduate study in universities in the United States and Canada. Since the beginning of the program in 1949, 671 scholarships have been given to 322 students from 63 countries for a total of more than $500,000 to attend 165 colleges and universities. Other guests were students from Prestonsburg high school. Members present were Mesdames Robert Hughes, Fred Francis, W. A. Rose, William R. Cahillan, W. W. Burchett, Earl McDonald, George P. Archer, Woodrow Greenwade, Sidney Garland, George Branham, Miss Margaret May, Mary Jane Harkins and the hostesses.

Methodist Ministers In Breakfast Meeting

The Hi-Land Methodist Ministers of the Ashland district of the Methodist Church met at the Wise Restaurant here Monday, for a fellowship breakfast. Officers for the new year were elected. They are: Rev. Orin M. Simmerman, Sr., Prestonsburg, chairman; Rev. James Crit Stratton, vice-chairman; Rev. William L. Stratton, Louisville, secretary.

Dr. Russell R. Patton, district superintendent, spoke at length on the coming Crusade for Education and Church Extension. The group enjoyed the many color pictures and the interesting comments made by the Rev. Charles Perry, of Paintsville, of his recent trip to the 10th World Methodist Conference in Oslo, Norway in August of this year.

VISITING IN VIRGINIA

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Greene left Thursday to visit their daughter, Mrs. K. D. Maggard, and Mr. Maggard at Narrows, Va. While away they will visit their granddaughter, Mrs. Paul Chilton, and Mr. Chilton at Richmond, Virginia.

PARSONS SERVES

Fort Knox, Ky.—James L. Parsons, 20, son of Mrs. Margie Parsons, of East McDowell, Ky., is presently assigned to Company C, 13th Battalion, 4th Training Regiment where he is taking his eight weeks of basic combat training. Upon successfully completing the two months of training, he will be assigned elsewhere for eight weeks of advanced individual training in a particular skill needed by the United States Army. Parsons is scheduled to graduate October 28.

SHOWER FOR MISS LEETE

Miss Judith Carol Leete, bride-elect of Mr. Phillip Morris, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. B. F. Combs on Arnold Avenue. The hostesses, Mrs. Combs, Mrs. C. W. May, Mrs. Paul Hager, Mrs. O. T. Stephens and Miss Sarah Clay Stephens, received the guests, presenting Miss Leete, her mother, Mrs. John Justice, of Ashland, and Mrs. Rel Morris, of Paintsville, mother of the groom-elect. The reception rooms were effectively decorated with conversational floral arrangements by Miss Stephens. The library was used for the display of gifts, which included crystal, silver, china, linens, electrical appliances and many miscellaneous household items. Miss Leete acknowledged her appreciation of her gifts to all present. At 9 o'clock guests were received in the dining room where they were served decorated cakes, nuts and fancy mints. Mrs. Paul Hager presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Don Compton poured coffee. The table was lovely with its appointments of an imported Italian cut cloth with a low arrangement of large, white mums, interspersed with pink baby-breath in a silver bowl, flanked by low, silver candlesticks holding white candles. Guests were: Mesdames Rell Morris, Paintsville, Mrs. John Justice, Ashland, M. J. Leete, Claude P. Stephens, Herbert Salisbury, Winnie F. Johns, Tom James, A. C. Harlowe, Nannie Hughes, Tom Fields, F. L. Heinze, Osa F. Ligon, Mrs. Ruth D. Clarke, Everett H. Sowards, Olga May Latta, M. Robert Regan, Paul C. Combs, Harry Sandige, Ben S. May, Harris S. Howard, Lee Shannon, H. L. Mayo, Edward May, C. W. May, Blaine Smith, O. T. Stephens, Grace D. Ford, Paul C. Hager, B. F. Combs, Don Compton, Miss Sarah Clay Stephens.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Meade and son Michael, of Huntington, West Virginia, were Sunday guests of his aunt, Mrs. Rainley White, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hall, of Lima, Ohio, visited Mr. and Mrs. Perry Greene here last week, returning home this week.

Mrs. Maud Foley, Portsmouth, Ohio, is visiting Bill Foley and family, Prestonsburg. Avery Foley, Pikeville, and Mrs. Martha Bevins, Stanville.

Barbara Sue Clark, of Ashland, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Clark, here this week.

Mrs. John R. Clark, of St. Albans, W. Va., and Ber Ferguson last Sunday visited Mrs. Ferguson, who is a patient at St. Mary's hospital, in Huntington. She is showing great improvement.

Mrs. O. T. Stephens has been confined to her home this week, suffering from influenza.

Mrs. Mary Jane Harkins spent the week-end in Lexington attending the football game and visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Wiechers, and Mr. Wiechers, and Mrs. Billie Harkins.

Dr. and Mrs. George P. Archer attended the football game in Lexington Saturday, spending the week-end with their son, Raleigh, a student at the University of Kentucky.

Mrs. Abigail Allen Marcum was in Illinois, her former home, last week on business.

Mrs. Csa F. Ligon and Mrs. John R. Clark were in Huntington Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Joe M. Davidson and Mrs. Ruth D. Sowards returned home Friday from Frankfort, where they were houseguests of Mrs. W. R. Jillson.

Mrs. Kermit Baldrige is home from the Prestonsburg General hospital where she was a medical patient for six days. Her condition is improved.

Miss Donna Ann Meade, of Lexington, visited her aunt, Miss Ella Noel White, here over the week-end.

Marshall Davidson, visited his mother, Mrs. Jessie Housan, in Louisville last week while there on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Derossett and Mrs. Lula Lafferty returned last week from Detroit, where they visited Calvin Derossett and Oscar Derossett.

Mr. and Mrs. Worley Boyd visited Clyde Neal Boyd and Charlie Ray Boyd in Williamson, W. Va., over the week-end.

Mrs. Wall Hamilton was in Lexington, Friday, shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ensminger visited Walter Denton in Owingsville last week.

PROCLAMATION

To All To Whom These Presents Shall Come:

WHEREAS, Public Law 176 of the 79th Congress of the United States suggests that the first week in October be observed as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week; and

WHEREAS, Kentuckians are conscious of their obligation to the handicapped and desire to afford them every opportunity to become self-sustaining and thus prosperous and happy as full-fledged, responsible citizens; and

WHEREAS, the employers of our great Commonwealth have a unique opportunity to assist in this national effort to rehabilitate otherwise qualified but physically handicapped citizens by employing their services;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, BERT COMBS, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby proclaim the week of October 1-7, 1961, as in Kentucky, and urge all Kentuckians to cooperate with the Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

COURT STREET • PRESTONSBURG, KY.

Miss Arlene Shadrach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Shadrach of Florence, Ky., and Joseph Patterson Tackett III, son of Joseph Patterson Tackett, Jr., and Mrs. Dorothy Cunningham, of Prestonsburg, were married Saturday, Aug. 5, at the First Christian Church in Covington.

The bride wore a princess gown of white satin with rose point lace outlining the scoop neckline and forming bracelet sleeves. The bouffant skirt trimmed with bows and edged with lace extended to a chapel train. Her veil cascaded from a double crown of crystals and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Robert W. Noelker, Jr., of Florence, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. J. Buford Crager, Morehead; Mrs. Michael A. Dudley, Frankfort; Mrs. John W. Fannin, Jr., Southgate; Miss Carol Ann Nowacki, cousin of the bride, Chicago, and Miss Jacqueline Wilson, Florence. They wore hyacinth silk organza sheaths with bouffant overskirts. Mrs. Noelker carried a cascade of orchids against a hyacinth background. The bridesmaids carried pink asters and orchids in cascade arrangements. The attendants all wore petal hats with veils.

James Buford Crager served as best man. The ushers were Robert E. Rose, Wurtland; Nathaniel R. Grubbs, Louisville; Tony Cavallo, Gary, W. Va.; Ronald Leslie, Louisville, and Chuck Tackett, cousin of the bridegroom, Prestonsburg. The reception was held at the church. A dinner was held for the wedding party and out-of-town guests at Southern Trails Restaurant.

After a wedding trip through the Smokies, Mr. and Mrs. Tackett are living in North Miami Beach, Fla.

The bride is a graduate of Morehead State College and will teach in an elementary school in North Miami.

Mr. Tackett attended the University of Kentucky and Morehead. Last year he was basketball coach at Fairview high school in Ashland. He will teach and coach football in a North Miami high school this year.

The Need for a College Is Obvious and Great

No unbiased observer could have noted the interest shown in extension classes organized here recently by Morehead State College without reaching the conclusion that a college is needed in Floyd county.

The Times does not in any sense seek to minimize the service offered by Morehead, but it must be remembered that these educational facilities being offered by the college are night classes, three nights a week and that only three subjects are being taught.

Despite these limitations, not less than 300 persons gathered here for the organizational meeting, and of these more than 200 already have enrolled. By year's end 350 are expected. The response has been three times greater than that expected when the classes were first planned, we are told.

Among these who are enrolling are teachers seeking to earn additional credits; high school graduates of other years who did not have the opportunity or means to continue their education through residence work in a distant college or university, and some who were graduated from high school only this year and who met the same discouraging, dismaying set of circumstances faced by graduates of other years.

This experience Morehead has had here points up the inescapable fact that a college in Floyd county is needed. The need is here, the interest is great. And that need and interest do not cry out for extension classes or a so-called "center" operated by any of the existing state institutions of higher learning. They call for a full-fledged, state-operated college, independent of others, a candle in its own right burning in a place left dark because of few educational opportunities.

Floyd county is just about midway that 175-mile stretch from the Kentucky-Virginia border to Morehead, where the nearest state college is located. Floyd and surrounding counties graduate between 1,500 and 2,000 high school seniors a year. Pike county alone, we are told by an educational leader who should know, had 500 high school graduates this year who were unable to attend college because of the distance to a state college and the prohibitive cost of going there after it was ascertained private colleges in the area could not accommodate them.

From the same source we learn that these same high school graduates would be glad to pool rides in an expense-sharing undertaking to attend a college located in Floyd county.

That is only a part of the picture. One thousand young women and men applied at Caney Junior College this year. Only about a hundred could be accepted. That wasn't Caney's fault. Neither was it the youngsters'. It is Kentucky's fault that they are not in college.

The potential of a state college in Floyd county is difficult to envision, and predictions are so optimistic they are hard to believe. It has been estimated that a college would enroll for its first year in this county no less than 1,500 students. A student-body of 5,000 is envisioned within five or six years.

Morehead State College and others have in recent years enjoyed phenomenal growth. The demands on all of them will increase every year. It is interesting to note that Rowan and surrounding counties have an aggregate population of only about 88,000, while Floyd and counties surrounding it have a total of 168,000.

The state of Kentucky, its General Assembly and Governor cannot with justice to an area such as this continue to spend millions on existing educational centers, building vast educational complexes in a few chosen and favored spots, and yet leave higher education beyond the grasp of thousands as literally as if these great centers were on another planet.

Our people must be educated. To do that, education must move out to the people.

Aged Garrett Resident Dies At Paintsville; Burial Made At Ivel

Bill Hall, 65, of Garrett, died Monday at the Paintsville hospital. He was a retired miner and a veteran of World War I.

Mr. Hall was a son of Jacob Hall and Maggie Hyder Hall. His widow, Pearl Hall, survives. He had no surviving children. Surviving brothers and sisters are Nort Hall, of Virginia, John Hall, of Van Lear, Mrs. Lucy Hyden, of Cliff, and Mrs. Artie Baldrige, Paintsville.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m., Wednesday, from the Garrett United Baptist Church, the Revs. Archie Everage and Chester Lucas officiating. Burial was made in the Davidson cemetery at Ivel under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Minnesota Grocer Loses Right of Participation In Food Stamp Program

Pine Grove store, a retail grocery outlet owned and operated by Patrick Doyle, Orr, Minnesota, was suspended recently from participation in the Federal Food Stamp program. The store was charged with accepting food coupons in exchange for nonfood items, the U. S. Department of Agriculture disclosed.

Signed statements obtained by investigators for USDA allege that the Pine Grove store accepted coupons in exchange for beer, gasoline and other nonfood items for which food coupons may not be used under program regulations.

As a result of the suspension, the store is prohibited from accepting or redeeming food stamp coupons. It must also surrender its authorization card, posters and other material that identifies the store as one authorized to participate in the Food Stamp program.

The Big SWITCH

The past few years have seen a big switch to electricity. At home and on the job, folks are turning over more work to electric service—finding more tasks that electricity can do better. In fact, the average home today has 15 to 20 more electrical appliances than it did just a few years ago. And, even though electricity has become so necessary to our daily living, it has not gone up in price.

There's a reason for the big switch to electricity. It's economical and easy to live better... electrically.

W. J. Dotson, 72, Cliff, Succumbs At Pikeville; Rites Conducted Friday

W. J. Dotson, 72, of Cliff, was claimed at 9:45 a.m., Wednesday of last week, at the Pikeville Methodist hospital. He was a retired carpenter.

Mr. Dotson was a son of Lewis and Ellen Conley Dotson. He was twice married, his first wife, Carrie Fields Dotson, preceding him in death. His second wife, Josephine Wallen Dotson, survives. One son of the first union, Lewis Dotson, Prestonsburg, survives.

Surviving sons and daughters of the second marriage are Charles Edward Dotson, Newport News, Virginia, George Archer Dotson, at home, Mrs. Walker Keathley, of Ashland, and Miss Marcie Alice Dotson, of Cliff. Two step-sons, Russell Elliott, of Cliff, and William O. Elliott, Hamilton, Virginia, survive. Surviving brothers and sisters are Joe Dotson, Cement, Oklahoma, Ernie Dotson, Fort Smith, Arkansas, Mrs. Charlie Shatt, Lawton, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Johnny Patton, of Auxler.

Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p.m., Friday, at the Floyd Funeral Home chapel, the Rev. John Conley officiating. Burial was made with rites of the I.O.O.F. and burial was made in the Davidson cemetery at Ivel under the direction of the Floyd Funeral Home.

HYDEN CALLS HALE A MUDSLINGER

fear loss of a place on the voting machine ballot prefer a printed ballot, so that the process of writing in candidates' names may be simplified.

The fiscal court entered an order, directing the printing of paper ballots for the city elections. An Attorney General's opinion was filed in support of the order. But County Clerk DuRan Moore has since talked with the Attorney General, and now he isn't certain that the action is legal. The wrangle continues.

Kentucky Revised Statutes 118-130 provide that candidates for office in cities of the sixth class must file with the County Clerk not more than 60 days nor less than 45 days before the election. The towns of Wayland, Wheelwright and Allen are in that class.

One slate of candidates at Wheelwright, which is unopposed, filed April 7 and has not refiled. Candidates for the office of town trustee at Allen filed April 8 but have refused to comply with the law. The only contest there is between Chester Porter and John B. Lafferty for police judge, but both have filed again to comply with the law.

But the story at Wayland is not so simple. Virgil Combs filed there for police judge and five candidates filed for Council on April 7. They have not refiled. So it appears that their names will not appear on the ballot. Name of Robert Hicks who did file for police judge on August 21, will have a place on the ballot. W. Elmer Bowe's name will not appear because his petition was not in proper form, it was said. A Council ticket which also filed with Hicks will also be on the ballot.

County Attorney Robert S. Wellman, upon request, advised Mrs. Kathleen Moore, wife of County Clerk Moore, this week that "all petitions for city elections governed by KRS 118.130 which have been filed outside the prescribed period are invalid, and the Clerk should refuse to certify any names tendered for nomination by means of such invalid petitions."

Commented Mrs. Moore: "The County Clerk is happy to cooperate with all candidates and certify all names, but the law prescribes certain procedures and we must comply with the law as fully as we know and understand it."

poisonous rays. It is from these minute particles that the human body must be shielded.

"The family fallout shelter is the answer," Lloyd stated emphatically. "Protection against fallout is the direct responsibility of every head of a family. It was just as important for our pioneer forebears to protect the family against murderous attack as it was to provide food. Today's responsibilities are no less. I join Gov. Bert Combs and President Kennedy in urging every citizen to prepare for the day that we all pray will never dawn."

Since weather and winds are not exactly predictable, there is no way of knowing just where or for how long fallout danger will be present, Lloyd said. A family might have to stay under cover for as long as two weeks. During that time they must have food and water, stay healthy and keep informed on radiation conditions outside so they can emerge as soon as possible.

The construction of a fallout shelter presents no great problems for anyone handy with tools. People without the do-it-yourself bent can obtain F.H.A. financing with very little trouble. Building contractors will gladly make the installation, whether it is a conventional structure or one of the pre-fabricated models.

Lake Lanes Extension Structure Work Begun; Parking Area Improved

Work has been begun by Lake Lanes, Inc. on an extension to its original bowling center structure which will afford a total of 18,270 square feet of floor space, enlarge the building to 75 by 250 feet, overall, and add six bowling lanes.

The addition, which is expected to be completed and occupied within 60 days, will house, in addition to the six new lanes, a youth recreation and meeting room and will provide an enlarged nursery. A part of the new addition will not be in use, it was said, but will be available for additional lanes or can be used for shops.

Because the 12 original lanes are occupied by league bowling, owners of the lanes, Dr. George P. Archer and Edward Music, decided to provide the additional six lanes for open bowling.

The 125x375-foot lot purchased last March from Willie Boyd has been further improved for parking, and the parking area will now accommodate 150 cars. The recreation room for youth will be under adult supervision, it was said.

Printing Firm Owner, Former Allen Employee, Is Gun Wound Victim

Max A Conley, operator of the Pikeville Printing Company and a former employee of the Mountain Printing Company at Allen, was found dead at 6:50 p.m. Sunday in his Pikeville place of business with a bullet wound in his right temple. He was 56 years old.

Pike county Coroner Raymond Call said Conley had been dead about two and a half hours when found and that the wound was apparently self-inflicted. The bullet was fired from a .22-caliber pistol. Mr. Conley was widely known in this section. He was a native of Moundsville, West Virginia, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conley, and had resided at Pikeville for years. He had been a member of the Baptist Church there 20 years. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Bevins Conley, and two brothers, Frank Edward Conley, of Wheelwright, and William Glenn Conley, Logan, West Virginia.

Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. from the Call Funeral Chapel.

Charge "Sticky Fingers" In Our Probate Courts

Every year millions of dollars are withheld from widows and orphans and paid to politically-appointed "special guardians" and "appraisers" of their inheritances, reports Murray Teigh Bloom in an October Reader's Digest article, "Sticky Fingers in Our Probate Courts."

Not all such appointments are unnecessary, writes Bloom, but often the fee bears no relation to the services performed. One guardian collected $6000 for 20 minutes work.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

The bowl selection committee of Paintsville's 11th Big Sandy Bowl named Belfry (3-2) of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference to meet McKell (5-0) of the North-eastern Kentucky Conference in the 1961 renewal of the event, Saturday, November 11.

Fleming-Neon (5-0), had been considered but the committee felt that Belfry had played the "tough-er" schedule.

Belfry has yet to play Wheelwright, Prestonsburg, Jenkins, Matewan and Williamson, while Fleming has Pikeville and Hazard.

The Prestonsburg Parent-Teachers Building Committee is planning a "work session" for Saturday at the new athletic field. Volunteers are asked to report at 9 a.m. to assist in building a press box, burying the scoreboard wire and other details to complete the field.

The committee also will build concession stands under the end sections of the stadium.

The annual Eastern Kentucky basketball clinic for cage officials and coaches will be held in the Pikeville high school gymnasium Tuesday, October 10, at 1:30 p.m. Officials who plan to officiate games this season must attend this or one of the other clinics sponsored by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association.

Butch Green, five-foot-eight, 158-pound sophomore at Hazard high, is the scoring sensation of the area this year as he has romped for 14 touchdowns already this season. With two seasons of varsity play left, he may surpass Mike Minix's Eastern Kentucky scoring record before he graduates.

By virtue of its 51-7 triumph over Belfry, Hazard has zoomed into ninth place in the statewide high school football ratings. Undefeated Fleming-Neon is in 19th position, and Belfry is 26th.

Prestonsburg's freshman football team will travel to Pikeville next Tuesday to tangle with the Little Panthers at 7 p.m. on the Pikeville athletic field, Prestonsburg met Hazard at home, Wednesday night.

Everett Horn, Jr., has replaced U. G. Horn as head basketball coach at Inez high school... Eastern Kentuckians are expected to flock to Morehead State College Saturday afternoon as the Eagles battle Murray in an Ohio Valley Conference football game.

Youth Conference Set At Cumberland College; Young People Invited

The first annual Mountain Youth Conference will be held on the campus of Cumberland College, October 20-22. All mountain young people are invited to attend this conference. The cost of the conference, including room and board is $4.00. Reservations may be made by writing J. Edward Cunningham, 1644 South Limestone, Lexington, Kentucky.

The conference is designed to help mountain young people make plans for their future. It is sponsored by the Missions Department of the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky and the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

HAZARD NEARING 4th TITLE IN MOUNTAIN CONFERENCE

Fleming-Neon is the only obstacle in Hazard's path for a fourth successive Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference high school football crown.

Their games in Neon on October 27 will also decide the Division II district championship in Region 4, Class AA, now that Hazard has eliminated Belfry from contention with a 51-7 walloping.

Jack Hall's Pirates trail Hazard by one-half game in the league standings with a 4-0 record after pounding Elkhorn City, 53-0, Saturday night. Five backs scored for the Letcher countians. They were paced by Claude Tolliver, who scored on sprints of 36, 77 and 11 yards. Fullback Keith Pack raced 10 yards and returned a punt 88 yards for two t.d.'s. Scoring one each were Richard Kincer, Bill Cantrell and Roland White.

The ease with which Hazard overran Belfry in the last half surprised even the most optimistic Bull Dog rooster as their favorites led by only 13-7 at halftime.

Sophomore Butch Green's seven touchdowns were the highest number tallied by a player in a single game in this area in the past ten years. His longest six-pointer was for 58 yards and the shortest was from the six yard stripe.

Jenkins upped its standing to 4-2 in a 12-7 comeback win over Clintwood, Virginia, Saturday night. Trailing 7-0 in the final ten minutes, two pass interceptions paved the way for two Cavalier drives. Quarterback Russ Adkins sneaked over from the one-yard stripe and halfback Phillip Helton smashed across from the two.

Prestonsburg and Pikeville battled to a 6-6 deadlock as both teams muffed other scoring opportunities.

Senior fullback Dixon Nunney gave the Black Cats a first-period margin on a six-yard payoff run after the Panthers had fumbled.

Paintsville dropped a 41-12 decision to the Catlettsburg Wildcats in the Class A, Region 3 contest. David Davidson was the big offensive gun for the invaders as he scored three touchdowns and five extra points. Teammate Alva Adkins racked up two six-pointers and Kenny Adkins marked up a four-yarder.

James May scored both touchdowns for Walter Brugh's losers. M. C. Napier razz its season record to 3-3 with a 19-7 Saturday night conquest of Wheelwright.

What's Going On in FISH & WILDLIFE
by MINOR CLARK, Commissioner
Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

Q. I would like to know if Indiana residents may buy deer hunting licenses in Kentucky? J. C. E. Jeffersonville, Indiana.

A. Residents of Indiana are not permitted to hunt deer in Kentucky because the state of Indiana prohibits non-residents from hunting in Indiana.

Q. While spreading lime my pocketbook containing my hunting licenses fell into the spreader but I still have parts of it which give the age, date, number of license and county. Will I have to get another license? S. E. H., Hatton, Ky.

A. If you have a part of your license left and it is enough to identify you, you will not have to purchase another.

Q. At the State Fair I noticed a display on the lakes of Kentucky. Information on Buckhorn Lake listed the kinds of fish present but after the word "muskie" there were question marks. Does that indicate their probable presence? J. H. K., Shelbyville.

A. Before the impoundment of the Middle Fork of Kentucky River, making it into a lake, muskie were present in that stream. The Department biologists are not sure that they will thrive in the impounded waters, although the general belief is that they will do all right.

Q. There has been much wrangling between the skiers and fishermen as to rights on the various lakes. Why does not the Department zone those lakes in question so that the fishermen would use one area while the skiers would use another? B. H. C., Slaughter, Ky.

A. It has been ruled by the Attorney General's office that the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources does not have the power to zone lakes or waters for fishing and boating other than the waters owned by the state. That ruling precludes any such zoning on lakes such as Cumberland, Dale Hollow, Herrington, Kentucky and other major lakes.

Q. Please send any information you may have regarding Guist Creek Lake near Shelbyville, pertaining to restrictions of the lake, size of boats, motors and the like. H. L. B., Louisville.

A. No motor larger than an 18 hp. may be used on Guist Creek Lake, and no boat longer than 16 feet, center line, is permitted. Water skiing is permitted in designated marked areas and swimming is permitted only in designated areas where a life guard is on duty. The lake will be open to fishing on and after January 1, 1963.

Q. What are the dates for shooting on a licensed shooting preserve? J. H. T., Salyersville.

A. The hunting season on licensed shooting preserves opened on October 1 and continues through March 31 during which time the hunter may shoot quail, chukars, pheasant and duck (mallard, two years removed from wild). The license for the operator of a shooting preserve costs $25.00 and the operator must also have a propagation permit, cost of which is $2. Other small game may be killed on these preserves during the legal statewide hunting season.

Q. Is there a special type of non-resident license available for persons hunting on a shooting preserve? M. A., Madisonville.

A. There is a special non-resident hunting license available at a cost of $5 and which is sold only by the shooting preserve at which the hunter wishes to hunt. This permit is non-transferrable and may not be used on any other preserve than the one at which it was sold.

Ford introduces for 1962 two distinguished new series: Galaxie & Galaxie/500

with the power to please

With Thunderbird styling...
Thunderbird power... and quality craftsmanship that sets a new industry standard... the 1962 Ford Galaxies give you every essential feature of far costlier luxury cars:

Swift as a rumor, silent as a secret, Galaxie '62 has the timeless distinction and talent for travel of the Thunderbird that inspired it. Every quick quiet mile whispers: here is a new standard of quality. And every luxurious detail confirms it. This is the car that introduces twice-a-year maintenance. Routine service is reduced to 30,000 miles on many items such as major lubrications, twice a year or 6,000 miles on the rest. We suggest you see the new Galaxie and Galaxie/500 (shown above) for yourself. We are confident you will agree: it's pointless to pay more—or settle for less.

Mrs. Ann Scalf, 79, Dies
At Sandusky, Ohio; Rites
Conducted At Endicott

Mrs. Ann Scalf, 79, of Endicott, was claimed by a long illness at 5 p.m. Sunday at Providence hospital, Sandusky, Ohio. She was the widow of Melvin Scalf, who preceded her in death in 1952.

Mrs. Scalf, a native of Floyd county, was in ill health several months. She was removed two weeks ago from her home at Endicott to the home of a daughter at Sandusky.

She was first married to Jack Collins and to this union were born these surviving sons and daughters: John D. Collins and Mrs. Sallie Spradlin, both of Stanville, Bill Collins and Hestus Collins, both of Louisa, Red Collins and Mrs. Mary Ratliff, both of Ivel. Surviving son and three daughters of her second marriage are Walter Scalf, Mrs. Gertrude Lewis and Mrs. Carlie Lewis, all of Sandusky, and Mrs. Mattie Alice Scalf, Hazel Park, Michigan.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m. Wednesday, at the home at Endicott, the Rev. Henry Crider and others officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

HUTSINPILLER FAMILY

"Brumback-Hutsinpiller Genealogy," by Elizabeth Chapman Denny, Vann and Margaret Collins Denny Dixon, is one genealogical work that is more than the mere record of a family. It integrates the family story with the German chapter of the history of Virginia and as such is a contribution of importance.

The secondary title of the tome is "Some of the Descendants of Melchior Brumback of the 1714 Germanna Colony in Virginia through his daughter Elizabeth who married Stephen Hutsinpiller." It was published this year. A copy is kindly loaned this columnist by Dr. C. L. Hutsinpiller, Prestonsburg.

Steffen Hutssebieller, immigrant from the Palatinate, Germany, came to America on the ship, Morionhouse, in 1728. The ship reached Philadelphia, August 24, that year. It had on board 205 passengers, 80 men, 69 women and 56 children. Hutssebieller signed an oath of allegiance as did the other passengers and thus was his name preserved for posterity.

The young Palatinate immigrant found his way to Germantown which was settled by his countrymen and there he married Elizabeth Brumback, between 1732 and 1736. She was probably born in the colony of Germanna in 1715.

Stephen, who wrote his name later as Hansobella, was closely associated with Joist Hite's colony in the Shenandoah valley across the Blue Ridge from Germantown. Hite gave him a grant of 450 acres of land on Opechan Creek. He and his descendants became blacksmiths and forged the tires for wagons of the immigrants moving westward.

Stephen and Elizabeth had 12 children. Stephen in later years, or at least official records bear this out, wrote his name as Hutsinpiller. Official scribes, unacquainted with the name, were inclined to write it by ear and there is evidence that Stephen changed the spelling at times. THE BRUMBACK-HUTSINPILLER GENEALOGY notes that over 40 variations in spelling have been found. Several branches of the family spell it Hotsinpiller.

The first wife of Stephen died and he remarried to Barbara . . . her surname lost to history. He provided for his last wife and others in his will in 1776. He signed the document, Stephen Hotsenbella.

His widow Barbara lived many years after the death of Stephen. The estate left by her husband was considerable. It was not completely settled until 1801.

One son of Stephen and Elizabeth Brumback Hotsenbella was Jacob, born about 1740. His parents gave him 376 acres of land on Cacophon River in the present Hampshire county, Virginia. It was a bit of the vast Fairfax estate and had been surveyed by George Washington. He acquired additional land and spent his life as a farmer and miller. He signed his name, Hutsinpiller, in German script, while he was old in Greenbrier county. His wife's name was Elizabeth, her last name unknown. Jacob and Elizabeth had four sons and they left at their death a large estate of realty, much of it in Greenbrier county, then Virginia, now West Virginia. He died circa 1819, probably before then. His sons were Anthony, Benjamin, Abraham, born October 8, 1772, and John.

Abraham Hutsinpiller, called Abram, was born in Hampshire county, moved to Greenbrier county when a young man. He married Magdalena (Mollie) Wax, January 27, 1789. She was born in 1781, died 1840.

Not having enough land in Greenbrier county, he followed some kinsmen to the new country of Ohio, probably in 1800. He settled in Green Township, Gallia county. He and Mollie were the parents of 11 children, some dying young. He died March 10, 1854.

One son of Abram and Mollie Hutsinpiller was Henry, born June 11, 1815. He married Jane Dodge, October 15, 1838. Jane lived to be 95 years of age, having been a widow for 42 years.

Henry and Jane lived for a while in Faecon Township but returned to his Gallia farm in his old age. He was a semi-invalid all his life and most of the burden of rearing a family fell to the management of his wife. He died May 20, 1873. He had six children.

One son of Henry and Jane Hutsinpiller was Abraham, born January 23, 1845. He assisted in the management of the family farm while one son went off to join the Union army. Abraham married first, Naomi Safford (1853-1882), daughter of a pioneer of Gallipolis, Ohio. Following the death of Naomi, Abraham remarried June 1, 1887, to Catherine Laiblin (1855-1941), daughter of a former professor of Heidelberg University, Germany.

Besides his estate in land he owned with his brothers and managed a furniture factory. He died September 26, 1922. He and his wife are buried in Mound Hill cemetery, Gallipolis, Ohio. Surviving were three sons and two daughters.

One son is Dr. C. L. Hutsinpiller, of Prestonsburg, for many years owner of the Hutsinpiller Drug store but now pharmacist for Fountain Korner Drug store.

The line of Brumback goes back to Joseph Brumback and his wife, Josephine, her last name unknown, who were married February 23, 1647, near the town of Siegen, Germany. They had nine children, he dying in 1677, his widow in 1704.

Melchior Brumback, father of Elizabeth Brumback, who married Stephen Hutssebieller, the immigrant, came to the German colony of Virginia according to an official oath, June 2, 1724.

SPECIAL COLLEGE CLASSES AT PIKEVILLE DRAW 243

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 2 (Spl.) — Pikeville College classes for school teachers and other working persons offered week-ends and evenings, have drawn an enrollment of 243 as the college opens the year with seven new faculty members.

Included among the Saturday students are 43 Floyd countians. The announcement was made by Dr. A. A. Page, college president.

Besides large classes on Saturday mornings and afternoons, evening courses of 26 persons in general psychology and 12 in American government have been organized. The latter is affiliated with the course being given at 6:30 a.m. daily on a national television network.

Among the new teachers is Dr. T. H. Reynolds, former head of the department of history at Oklahoma State University and holder of the Ph.D. degree from George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee, teaching social studies. He also has been a faculty member at Kentucky Wesleyan and Centre College.

Lilly Justus, holder of the M.A. degree from the Franz List Academy, the former Royal Academy of Music, in her native Budapest, Hungary, and a concert vocalist and teacher in conservatories, has joined the music faculty.

Also teaching music is Bette Miller, a graduate of the University of Massachusetts and holder of the degree of master of music from the University of Miami (Fla.), who has been professor of music at Southern Union College, Wadley, Alabama.

Ruby M. Roten, Knoxville, Tennessee, a Berea College graduate with a master of science degree from the University of Tennessee, is a teacher of physical education.

Giisela Cuervo, Pikeville's new teacher of Spanish and science, is a native of Agramonte, Cuba, and holds the degree of Bachiller en Ciencias, with major in sciences, from the University of Havana, where she was professor of chemistry.

Michael F. Dallett, Pikeville, a 1960 graduate of Pikeville College and a graduate student at the University of Kentucky last year, also is teaching social studies.

Mrs. Muriel Whitehead, a graduate of Kansas State Teachers College, is a new housemother at Pikeville. A former student at Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana, she has been teacher and principal in grade and high schools in Richmond, Ky.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

THE STRANGEST DISEASE KNOWN TO MAN

The strangest, most baffling disease known to man is called three descriptive names: "The Aleppo button disease," "The Aleppo evil," and "The Bagdad date mark." This disease attacks the inhabitants, and travelers, too, in the regions surrounding the city and province of Aleppo, Syria, and around Bagdad, Mosul and the regions of Mesopotamia. It is a disease for which there is no known remedy, and any treatment or interference with its eruptions only makes the disease worse and causes it to leave unsightly scars on the face and hands, and sometimes on the feet. These scars look like buttons sewn on the skin, and a large portion of the people living in these regions have these button-shaped scars on their face and hands.

The disease begins as a soreness and swelling on the skin, and pretty soon the boils form. If the eruptions are left untouched and untreated, they will heal within about six months, leaving no scar. But if they are irritated or treated, they leave the button-shaped scar.

No one knows what causes this disease. Travelers passing through these regions, when they return home, often develop the disease months or years later. Some claim the waters of the streams around the city of Aleppo causes this disease, and yet it is common in many other regions of that country. The disease is more severe with children and causes them extreme pain and irritation. They cannot avoid rubbing or irritating the eruptions, and that's why so many persons in that country have the "Aleppo button scars." The disease has no connection with leprosy, also found in that region, but it tends to get well of itself, when not molested.

Some Bible scholars believe this disease may be a far-off echo of the days when the Children of Israel were held prisoners in Egypt by King Pharaoh, and among the plagues sent on the king and his subjects, there was one of "boils and blains," which was brought about after Moses scattered ashes in the atmosphere, which settled down upon the people and caused boils and blains to break out.

Here, no doubt, was the first instance of deadly fall-out from the sky. This strange "Aleppo button disease" may be a heritage from that plague! In Exodus 9:10, we read: "And they (Moses and Aaron) took ashes of the furnace and stood before Pharaoh, and Moses sprinkled them up toward heaven; and they became a boil breaking forth with blains upon man, and upon beast. And the magicians could not stand before Moses because of the boils: for the boil was upon the magicians, and upon all the Egyptians."

So this strange and painful eruption known as the "Aleppo button disease" could well be a reminder to the people of today of the plagues sent on King Pharaoh, because he hardened his heart against God.

LICORICE, A MOST UNUSUAL PLANT

Most children like to chew on licorice candy, which comes in stores in black, gummy sticks, and I've heard them humming the words of a song that went like this: "I like to lick that licorice stick."

Very few people know that licorice is strictly protected by the Pure Food and Drug laws, and no adulteration is permitted. Licorice is said to have high nutritional and medicinal value.

Licorice is unknown as a wild plant in the United States. It grows mainly in the Hermus River Valley of Asia Minor. The licorice plant belongs to the legume family and bears pods of beans. Its roots are yellow! They are sweet, too, and are often processed and used as chewing sticks or candy. However, the licorice we buy in stores is made from the juice of the roots, which is extracted and dried and made into twisty black sticks of candy.

People in the Hermus Valley dig and dry the roots, much in the same manner as the root-diggers of the Appalachians, who dig wild ginseng to dry and sell. The licorice roots are dried and tied in bundles, to be shipped to America for processing into candy. The diggers get only a few cents per pound for licorice roots, but they retail for ten times as much as the diggers receive. Licorice is derived from the Latin word, Glycyrrhiza, which means sweet root.

Neuritis Pains Go; Can Raise Arms

One man said the neuritis pains in his shoulders disappeared for the first time in 2 years and he can raise his arms above his head once again. He got RUGON only a few short weeks ago and says this is the only medicine that ever really helped him. He is among hundreds who praise it.

RUGON is helping so many victims of rheumatism and neuritis because this NEW Liquid Formula contains Three Wonderful Ingredients. Not a tablet or capsule. RUGON goes to the very source of pain almost at once and costs but a few cents a day to take. So don't go on suffering!

FALL-OUT SHELTERS URGED TO INSURE OUR SURVIVAL

BY DR. RUSSELL L. HALL

Our major concern should not be the bomb-rattling Communists preaching their Godless doctrine, but the group among us who throw up their hands and yell, "Fallout-shelters are useless, and all of us are doomed if there should be a nuclear war." If we all take this defeatist, fatalistic attitude—then we are asking to be destroyed, and we probably would be.

When our ancestors built block-houses to ward off Indian attacks, they didn't build these just to save themselves, but to save their families, their children, to insure that future generations would survive in this land of freedom. It was not within their power to prevent the savages from attacking. It was within their power to protect themselves and theirs against this threat by constructing forts, blockhouses and manning the ramparts when an attack was launched against them.

It is not within the power of any of us to prevent nuclear war, however terrible its consequences. The power is ours, however, to build shelters to afford us whatever protection is possible. We are under no less obligation to do what we can to insure the survival of future generations and our way of life. Fallout-shelters are only a modern version of the blockhouses of our ancestors' day, and the need for them is equally as great.

In events beyond our control our armament must be devout faith in God, a solid belief in our way of life, and a mighty heart. Our faith in God must be tempered with the awareness that "God helps those who help themselves," and the recollection that those who sat on their posteriors while Noah was building the Ark were drowned.

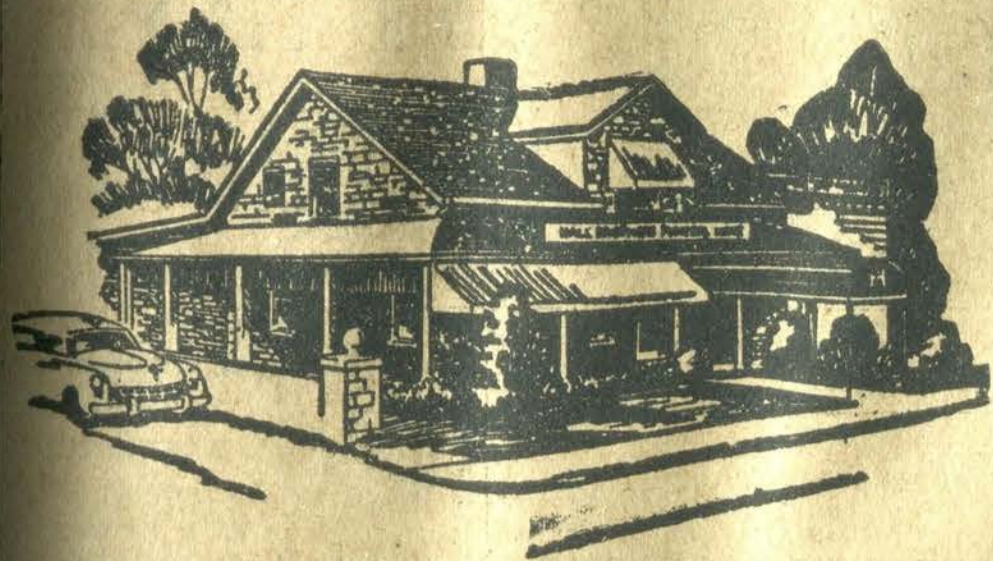

Our belief in our way of life must not only be strong and solid but also sound from the knowledge that the freedoms we enjoy, the guarantees that protect the basic concepts of "government by the people" do not belong to us, or to any one generation, outright; that we hold them in trust only, with the sacred obligation to protect and preserve them for future generations—and to do all in our power to assure that there are future generations to enjoy their blessings.

The armament of a mighty heart is of paramount importance, for faint heart never won fair lady—or victory, either. It sustains us when death is gurgling 10 feet from our elbow. It directs our course when we know we are a great nation under God; that we enjoy certain inalienable rights endowed by our Creator. It strengthens us in the face of an opponent that denies the very existence of God. It propels us as we perform the multitude of tasks along the rough highway of life.

At this hour these three should move us to doing that which is within our power: To building our "modern blockhouses," fallout-shelters to protect ourselves and ours before it is too late.

"Critical of Opponent's Mudslinging"

SAYS:

Since my entry into politics in 1947, I have never resorted to mudslinging or attempted to degrade my opponent. I feel that such a campaign, whether by newspaper ads, handbills or malicious gossiping, is not proper and that the Democrats and Republicans alike will agree that it has never benefited any candidate, regardless of his party affiliations.

INSTEAD:

I propose to run a campaign based upon a solemn pledge of using my every effort, as Sheriff of your county, to promote law and order at your churches, around your homes, on your highways and in your business establishments.

AGAIN:

I state, openly and publicly, that I, as the Sheriff, will be uncommitted, unbossed and uncontrolled by any persons or groups. I expect to seek the advice of prominent, respectable citizens in filling assistant and deputy jobs when I am elected your Sheriff

BECAUSE:

I have four sons—Ben, age 4, George, 7, Tommie, 10, and Jim, 13. When I leave the Sheriff's office four years from now, my oldest son will be 17 years of age. I, like all of you, will want these boys to go through their most trying years in a legally clean, a morally straight and a better and greater Floyd county.

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

SAVING AND WASTING

Some years ago I was to be a guest in the ancestral home of one of my friends who, like me, had been away from home for many years as a teacher. Meanwhile her mother had grown quite old but had held to customs that were in vogue and usually necessary when she was young, away back in the middle of the previous century. Before we arrived at the home, I was told what to expect, especially about things that seemed valuable and should not be destroyed. Sure enough, when I was shown into the guest room, there on the dresser, tucked as if they were precious documents, were almost a month's accumulation of the daily newspapers. There may have been other evidences of saving, but that is the only one I remember. But I understood, for my mother would have been famous as a string-saver or a can-saver or a newspaper or magazine-saver in anybody's generation. She had grown up in a large family, just this side of pioneer times, where everything that was of any value had to be carefully kept for future use.

Growing up in such homes as did my friend and I, we cannot help thinking daily, when we destroy armloads of waste paper or tin cans or other household litter, of what our mothers would have said. When a good-looking screw-top jar comes into our house now, I often find myself laying it aside after it is empty, for use on camping trips; once or twice a year I have to invade the junk room and destroy the wonderful gadgets that were never used. Once or twice a week the garbage men come by and remove from our cans the typical garbage of any home and also pounds of magazines and newspapers. If they didn't come, we would soon be groping our way among pyramids of yellowing paper and dust collecting stuff. But I never pass a week without wondering what Mother and other women of other and needier times would have said when such wastefulness appeared.

One of my brothers, when he would have chills and fever, would always begin to plan what he wanted to eat before he had got through shaking, knowing the family would be more tolerant of his hungers when he had been so sick. I almost envied him, for my chills and fevers brought intense nausea, which was merely increased with thoughts of good eating. This brother often wanted a can of oysters, always on sale at Fidelity. Those tiny little oysters seemed like tidbits of angelic food to me; it would be worth several chills to get a taste of even one. The can, after the last thumb-nail-sized oyster had disappeared, was carefully washed and saved. It was just about the right size to make a biscuit-cutter, that is, for biscuits in a large family like ours. If we had used a dainty cutter, I would probably have starved to death and not be talking now, as an old man, about earlier eating. I wonder just how many pans of small biscuits one such boy as I could have eaten; the larger ones disappeared fast enough. Several oyster cans, or larger ones, also carefully saved, could be made into the door-stop I mentioned in a recent essay. And a tin can is a wonderful container to have around, to hold salt or sugar or soda, or, by a considerable leap in thinking, fishing worms. Tin cans of this size, however, were not often plentiful enough to degenerate into bait cans. Father's being a doctor brought us lots of bottles and cans, especially some square tin cans that held a kind of quinine, with a big name but still as bitter as ever and with the same effects as the less-imposing kind. I grew up almost believing that the manufacturers of that quinine had fishermen in view when they designed such a handy can; one such can of worms was just about the right thing for a mess of fish from Beechy Fork Creek. Father had lots of bottles, too; these were useful and were kept as if they were the finest crystal. Wide-mouthed ones made excellent cups for cupping a neck with a crick in it or a back with a misery. Merely lighting a piece of paper, thrusting it into the wide-necked bottle, and creating a vacuum made a quick suction cup, for it was stuck immediately on the sticky place; the vacuum did its work by drawing up the skin into that bottleneck, until, by and by, this relieved some of the pain or transferred it to other places. "Waste not, want not" was lived daily at Fidelity.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Thomas Hereford, Plaintiff,

V. Execution No. 3033

Tivis Yates, Defendant.

On the 2nd day of October, 1961, an Execution was directed to me from the Floyd Circuit Clerk's office in favor of Thomas Hereford against Tivis Yates, and on October 30th, 1961, I or one of my deputies will sell at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, at 10 a.m. the following described property to-wit: levied upon as the property of Tivis Yates being located at Little Mud Creek in Floyd County, Kentucky.

Being the same land conveyed to first parties by Morgan Gearheart and wife by deed bearing date September 3, 1955, and recorded in deed book 161, page 107, Floyd County Clerk's office.

Being the same property conveyed to Tivis Yates and wife of Basil Kidd and wife by deed dated November 8, 1937, recorded in deed book 108, page 295, Floyd County Clerk's office.

Being the same land conveyed to Tivis Yates by George R. Kidd and Della Kidd on deed bearing date January 28, 1958, duly recorded in deed book 167, page 17.

Beginning at the end of tile, at county road; thence up the hill direction eight feet on the left of the pipe line; thence up the creek direction to the edge of the point; thence turning left up the creek direction a straight line to a cedar seven feet above a dead top black walnut; thence running a straight line to the lower corner of the K. F. Clark grave yard at the fence; thence running up the creek direction with the grave yard thence to the upper corner; thence a straight line thirty feet on the same direction to a stake; thence turning right handed direction with Will Clark's cemetery to the upper corner of said cemetery; thence a straight line up the hill to a cedar; thence to white oak; thence turning left handed up the hill to a hickory near Nora Clark's line; thence running down the hill with Nora Clark's line to the County Road; thence down the road with the right-of-way line to opposite the corner of Frank Kidd and George R. Kidd. (The George R. Kidd property being included in this deed); thence crossing the road to the corner of the Frank Kidd property; thence with his line across the bottom to a poplar; thence across the creek with Frank Kidd's line up the creek to Nora Clark's line; thence up the hill with her line to the top of the point at Fred Clark's line; thence down the hill with Fred Clark's line to the creek; thence with Fred Clark's line across the bottom to an apple tree near the edge of the road; thence across the road to the culvert, the place of beginning.

This levy and execution was made upon and includes all the land owned by Tivis Yates on Little Mud Creek in Floyd County.

This sale is made subject to a Mortgage lien of the Bank Josephine.

TERMS: Sale will be made on a credit of six (6) months bearing interest at the rate of six (6) per cent per annum with approved surety and having force and effect of Replevin Bond.

Atomic Energy Program Creates 200,000 Jobs; Many More Envisioned

Atomic energy has created 200,000 jobs so far and will provide at least 75,000 more by 1970, writes Robert O'Brien in an October Reader's Digest article, "New Careers for Americans—Exploring the Atom."

"Radioactive isotopes are breaking open research frontiers fully as thrilling as those revealed by the discovery of the microscope," says Dr. Norman Hilberry, director of Argonne National Laboratory in Illinois. "Every discovery raises more questions than it answers. Opportunities in atomic energy are unlimited."

Salaries range from an average of about $2.32 an hour for starting junior technicians up to $8000 and $12,000 a year for college-trained men and women with several years' experience. Top flight scientists of proven ability are earning $25,000 a year and up.

A recent survey of 158 plants with Atomic Energy Commission contracts showed that about 20 percent of their employees were engineers and scientists; another 20 percent were skilled mechanics, welders, etc.; 11 percent were technicians. The rest were in management, mining, atomic-fuel production and other branches of the industry.

All are enthusiastic; many work 50 to 60 hours a week voluntarily. And they respect education. A 30-year-old Ph. D. at Oak Ridge told O'Brien: "Nothing should discourage young people from finishing their education. A degree means more interesting work, bigger opportunities and more money."

Audiologist Reports For New Hearing Work; To Train Volunteers

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 2 (Spl.) — Miss Dorothy Carolyn Gibson, of Lexington, has reported for duty at the Kentucky State Department of Health as audiologist with the hearing conservation program, according to an announcement by Dr. Judith S. Hood, director of the Division of School Health.

Miss Gibson, who recently received a M.A. degree in special education with emphasis on audiology and speech therapy from the University of Kentucky, will make Frankfort her headquarters. Although she will be working statewide, her main efforts will be concentrated on initiating a hearing conservation program in the 18 counties surrounding Boyd county. A Hearing Conservation Center is being established at Ashland for hearing evaluation among children of that area.

As an audiologist, Miss Gibson will work through county health departments in the training of community groups and volunteers who give the initial hearing tests. She will then interpret the tests, make recommendations to parents, and referrals to private physicians, as well as assist public health nurses in following up cases of impaired hearing.

Pikeville Offers Credit For Television Course

Pikeville, Ky., Sept. 27 — The Pikeville College will offer credit for its first televised courses this year.

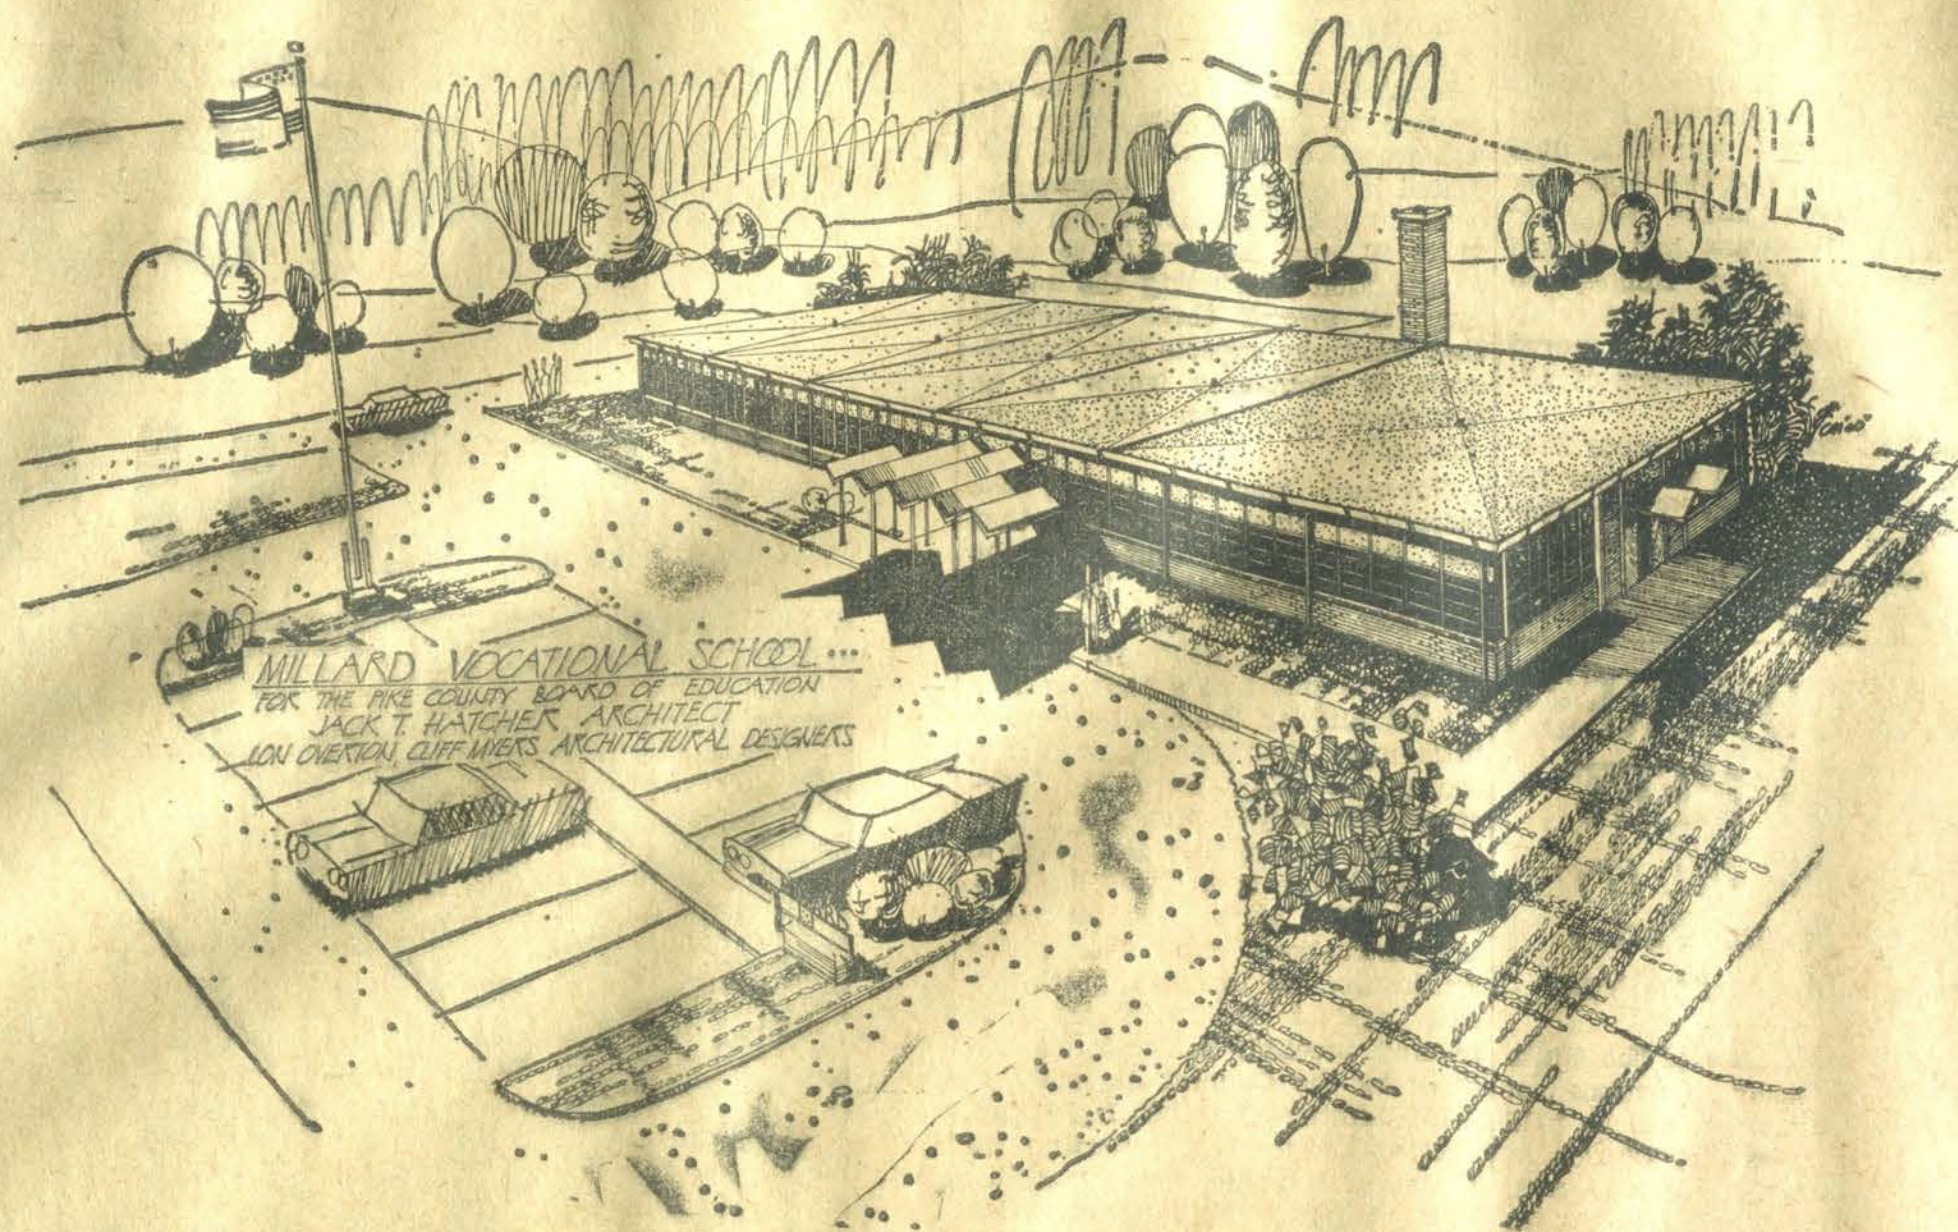

Pikeville will be one of a number of colleges across the country giving credit for successful completion of this fall's course, "The American Government," on the program "Continental Classroom," Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said today. Followers of the program, at 6:30 a.m. Monday, Tuesday, of each week on a nationwide network, NBC-TV, can earn three semester hours of credit by attending a seminar, and meeting its requirements, at the college at 6:30 p.m. on Thursdays through the semester.

Conducting the seminar sessions will be Michael F. Dallett, of Pikeville's social-studies faculty.

Registrations must be completed in the office of Pikeville's academic dean by Monday (Sept. 18) to allow time for ordering textbooks, Dr. Page said. First broadcasts of the program are scheduled for Monday, Sept. 25, and the seminar will meet first on Thursday, Sept. 26, in Wickham Chapel at Pikeville.

Credit for the course will not be considered to have been earned "in residence."

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL BRANCH OPENS

One hundred-and-five boys from seven high schools are enrolled in a new Pike county vocational school at Millard, about 15 miles south of Pikeville.

The school, which opened September 5, is the second Pike county branch of Mayo State Vocational School at Paintsville. The other branch is at Beltry.

Subjects taught at the school this semester are electricity, welding and drafting. There are three instructors, paid by the state through Mayo.

More teachers and additional subjects will be added as soon as the demand justifies it, George Ramey, Mayo director, said.

Ramey said night classes for adults probably will be added by January 1. High school classes, he pointed out, should be completely organized by then.

The one-story building was constructed by the county school board at a cost of about $150,000, under direction of Abner L. Justice, supervisor of buildings and grounds for the county school system. The plant contains about $30,000.00 worth of equipment purchased from state funds. The building and site belong to the county, but the school is operated by Mayo State.

The one-story building, containing 18,000 square feet and located on an 18-acre site, is a fire-resistant structure made of structural steel and concrete. The building was designed by Jack T. Hatcher, architect and associates of Pikeville.

The building contains three classrooms, a drafting room, a shop, office and utility rooms. Hatcher said the school was planned with future expansion in mind. The floor area could be tripled.

Students enroll for one subject and receive one hour credit a semester in that subject. Each student spends half a day at the vocational school and the other half at his "home" school where he studies academic subjects.

The eight schools represented by students are Fads Creek, Phelps, Elkhorn City, Heller, Dorton, Virgie, Mullins and Pikeville high school.

200 Different Meats Sold in United States

More than 200 different kinds of table-ready and ready-to-cook meats are sold in the United States. The almost endless variety of sausages and cold-cuts can be grouped into four main classes: (1) fresh, uncooked sausages such as bulk pork sausage, links, fresh ground beef and bockwurst; (2) smoked or cooked sausage like frankfurters, bologna and liver sausages; (3) dry or semi-dry sausage that are highly-seasoned meats such as pepperoni, salami and verelat; and (4) luncheon loaves and rolls like veal loaf, cheese and meat loaf, jellied corn beef, and others.

Kentucky Gov. Beriah Magoffin, a Confederate sympathizer, resigned his office in August, 1862, when the State Legislature became pro-Union in sentiment.

To My Friends and Relatives in Floyd County:

Very shortly after the primary election I made a statement to my friends and relatives stating that I wanted to thank them for what they had done for me. I firmly meant it when I said I felt no ill will toward anyone no matter whether he was for or against me.

I now wish to repeat that I am mad at no one; that I am a Democrat and that I shall support one and all Democrats on the present ticket.

It is my belief that the better Sheriffs are elected by the Democratic party — past records have proven that.

I ask and beg all my friends and relatives, Democrat and Republican, to support the entire Democrat ticket. I also want it thoroughly understood that I am 100% for my opponent, Mr. Henry C. Hale.

Elect a Democrat and Floyd county will progress. Let's look forward, never backward. Let's go forward with the Democrats.

With these words, I remain,

Sincerely, JOHN M. HALL

HERE'S HOW YOU BENEFIT BY DOING ALL YOUR SHOPPING LOCALLY

When you buy from your hometown merchants you get:

1. HONEST VALUES
2. AMPLE SELECTION
3. INSTANT DELIVERY, SERVICE AND ADJUSTMENT
4. MORE PERSONAL AND FRIENDLIER TREATMENT
5. SAVING OF TIME
6. RELIEF FROM COSTLY TRAVEL
7. FREEDOM FROM ROAD HAZARDS
8. ELIMINATION OF COSTLY PARKING PROBLEMS
9. AVOIDANCE OF JOSTLING CROWDS
10. THE CHANCE TO BUILD A BETTER COMMUNITY BY PUTTING YOUR DOLLARS TO WORK HERE

We don't believe you gain anything at all by driving long distances to shop at BIG CITY stores. Our local sources have merchandise that's just as good and costs no more.

But merely for the sake of argument, suppose you do save a few dollars on a time-consuming trip many miles from home. And suppose you don't even count the cost of gasoline and oil, car wear, parking fees, etc. Forget, too, if you like, the hazards of driving in today's heavy highway and city traffic.

But don't overlook these things: What you buy here can be in your home in a few minutes—no waiting several days for delivery. And if the merchandise doesn't give full satisfaction, any needed service or adjustment of the purchase can be made without shipping the items back to the BIG CITY or being forced to make a second trip yourself.

Why drive scores of miles looking for trouble? Shop right around the corner and be safe and satisfied.

Winter squash is not as fragile as many other vegetables but does need some care to preserve its quality. Squash should be completely mature before being removed from the vine, and some part of the stem is best left on the squash. They should be handled carefully to avoid bruising as bruises cause decay spots. Store squash in a cool, dry place—about 50 to 55 degrees.

Small Customer Payments On Back Bills Suggested To Food Stamp Grocers

Encouraging needy customers to pay off back bills in small monthly payments is a good business practice for grocers participating in the Federal Food Stamp Program.

This is pointed out by Arvid Dopson, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, supervising the pilot food stamp program in Floyd county.

He cites benefits of a small cash payment plan to grocers who are prohibited from accepting food coupons in payment of existing grocery bills.

One benefit is in connection with folks on relief who are not purchasing food stamps out of their allotment checks because so much of this money is being used to reduce back bills.

Consequently, the store misses out on the additional business that would result from the "bonus" coupons which these needy customers would have for food purchases if they participated in the Food Stamp Program.

"A small payment arrangement in such cases would not only be good business. It's good public relations in view of the fact that the grocer is actually contributing to the improvement of his needy customers' diets," Dopson said.

He said some grocers are following the small payment practice and advising needy customers, if eligible, to participate in the program. An additional benefit to these grocers has been the practical elimination of "slow pay" accounts.

In other cases, many charge-account customers owing back bills do purchase food coupons. However, they do not have enough remaining cash after the stamp purchases to make what they consider a sufficient payment on their back bill, even though the grocer might. Rather than risk embarrassment with the grocer who extended the charge privileges, they use the coupons for food purchases elsewhere.

In such cases, Dopson says, the small installment plan would not only clear up existing bills but result in the recovery of lost customers.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky
By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week, Kentucky having lost hope of remaining at peace in armed neutrality while the other states fought out a war which the Commonwealth had opposed from the start, Kentuckians began a period of painful adjustment to the realities of the situation. During the previous week Confederate troops under Major General Leonidas Polk had crossed the state line from Tennessee, and two days later a Union force under Brigadier General U. S. Grant had crossed the Ohio River from Illinois and occupied Paducah. Then thousands more from both sides had moved in to seize various positions of advantage.

Polk had notified Governor Magoffin that he would withdraw his troops from Kentucky if the Federal forces would leave simultaneously, and had said he would guarantee the Confederates would remain outside Kentucky's borders if U. S. troops were not again allowed to enter or occupy any part of the state.

Now it became apparent what the voters had done when at the August election they had put enough Unionist candidates into the legislature to control both houses. A resolution that the governor be requested to demand the immediate withdrawal of both armies was defeated in the House of Representatives, 68 to 29. The House approved, 71 to 26, and the Senate, 25 to 8, a resolution instructing the governor "to inform those concerned that Kentucky expects the Confederate or Tennessee troops to be withdrawn from her soil, unconditionally."

Governor Magoffin vetoed the resolution which demanded that one side only get out, but the Unionist-controlled legislature promptly passed it over his veto. Magoffin was a Southern sympathizer. He was also a conscientious official and an honorable man. A little more than two years before, the people had elected him governor. But only a month ago they had elected enough Union men to the legislature to override his veto. So he acted at once to carry out the instructions given him by the legislature: He issued a proclamation against the side that he favored, precisely in the terms laid down by the General Assembly.

In addition to the legislature, another group was meeting in Frankfort a hundred years ago this week. A States' Rights convention was in session. Presiding as chairman was Richard Hawes, who was destined to return to the state capital in 1862 to be sworn in as Confederate governor of Kentucky. The convention adopted a resolution in favor of the strict neutrality which in May had been favored by both political parties, but now was being disregarded by two powerful armies. The States' Rights delegates, who included leading Southern sympathizers, pledged that if the Federal military camps in Kentucky were broken up, they would themselves join in driving the invaders from Tennessee back across the state line.

PTA CONGRESS SLATES MEET

At Pikeville, Oct. 17; Dorsey, Snapp, Farley Scheduled On Program

The fall conference of the Ninth District, Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be held at the First Methodist Church in Pikeville, Tuesday, October 17, with the district president, Mrs. N. H. Lanthorne, of Ashland, presiding.

Registration is scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. and the opening session will convene at 10 o'clock. The pre-conference meeting of the district board of managers is scheduled for 9 a.m. in the church basement.

Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, pastor of the church, will give the invocation which will open the all-day meeting. Welcoming the delegates will be C. B. Snapp, superintendent of Pikeville city schools, and extending greetings will be C. H. Farley, superintendent of Pike county schools. Mrs. O. T. Dorton, Paintsville, district treasurer, will give the response.

Highlighting the morning session of the conference will be addresses by Mrs. George Spoonamore, Jr., Stanford, vice-president in charge of home service of the Kentucky Congress; Mrs. James G. Sheehan, Danville, citizenship and international relations chairman, and Mrs. Dallas Brightwell, Frankfort, executive secretary of the Congress.

Other members of the Congress board of managers from Ninth district who will attend and take part in the conference program are Mrs. C. B. McClaren, Congress first vice-president; Mrs. Minnie C. Winder, cultural arts chairman; Mrs. W. B. Nalle, editor, Kentucky Parent-Teacher magazine; Mrs. Harvey Britton, membership chairman, all of Ashland, and Mrs. Bess Hays, McVeigh, Congress reading and library service chairman.

During the afternoon session state and district chairmen will conduct workshops in various phases of P-T.A. work for officers and chairmen of local units.

The W.S.C.S. of the Methodist Church will serve luncheon, and the Pikeville city P-T.A. will be host at a coffee at 9:30 a.m.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made with Mrs. William C. Woolter, Pikeville, chairman in charge of arrangements for the conference, by Friday, October 13.

Floyd county units receiving the conference calls are Allen, David, Drift, Prestonsburg grade, Prestonsburg high and Wheelwright.

DRY BEANS IN SEASON

Dry beans are always in season. They are available in retail stores the year 'round; may be bought in 1, 2, or 5 pound units, and will keep well when properly stored. They keep best in a bag or can with a tight cover that shuts out dust, air and insects; store in a cool, dry, dark place.

The construction of the Elkhorn & Beaver Valley railroad up Beaver Creek, Floyd county, in the early part of the second decade of this century to tap the rich coal field brought all the strains incident to the intrusion of industry into an agrarian economy.

There were a great number of lawsuits of many different kinds and some violence accompanied the construction work. The road subsequently became a branch line of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company.

Shown here is a scene on the newly-constructed road. The readers are asked to identify the location. The photograph was taken about 1915.
