This Town-- That World

Either these bi-focals of mine are the greatest, or I'm looking harder, these days. Anyway, I know the hills and their trees, the lake and all else around us are more beautiful this year than I've ever seen before.

THE PICTURE TELLS THE STORY

A few weeks back, this newspaper published some photographs pointing up the need for cleanup. Now some low fellow has snapped a picture of the editor's desk (see cut).

This should even matters. I doubt if any property in the city is more cluttered than what is pictured here. But I will not accept any help, thank you, from any cleanup squad. My files are such that they can't stand any more disorder.

Consider that chair, you youngsters who dream of journalism as a profession, and brand that fiction about "the editor's easy chair" for the lie it is. You know why that chair has a newspaper lying where the occupant would sit? There's a crack in that chair-seat which, if left uncovered, may cause the sifter to take off with chair attached.

A telephone, a cluttered desk, a plain chair, a waste-basket and a typewriter--what else does an editor need except patience, a thick skin and somebody to keep him from starting?

SAFETY DAY PLANS MADE

Ninth Annual Meeting Slated At Wheelwright; Mandt, Malesky Judges

The Inland Steel Company's coal mining operation will hold its ninth annual Safety Day and First-Aid contest in the Wheelwright ball park, June 9, it was announced last week. In case of rain or threatening weather, the contest will be held in the Wheelwright high school gymnasium.

Ten teams of men, representing the various mines and coal preparation plants, have been undergoing intensive training during the past several weeks in preparation for this contest. The twofold purpose of this training is to make employees more safety-minded and less prone to injury, and to have men located throughout the operation who are well-versed in the

After 15 Years and 50,000 Miles

Bill Hamilton, who is known as "Pa" by the children who were his passengers, is retiring after 15 years of continuous school bus driving. During that time he traveled 50,000 miles and hauled 610,000 pupil-passengers without a serious accident.

The children who rode his bus from Toler's Creek to Betsy Layne presented him with a pocket knife on the last run and suggested that he get caught up on his whittling and fishing.

COLLEGE ARCHITECTS HIRED TO DRAW PLANS

CONSTRUCTION BIDS SLATED BY YEAR END

Conference Encourages School Movement Heads; '64 Opening Envisioned

Architects will begin drafting plans for the Prestonsburg Community College next month, and a contract for construction of the building to house classes and other functions of the institution is expected to be let by January 1.

This was the encouraging news coming out of a conference in Lexington last Thursday of leaders of the college movement here with President Frank J. Dickey, of the University of Kentucky, and from the U. K. president's talk the following day with Governor Bert T. Combs.

All fear of delay was allayed. The architects, George Lee Shannon, of Prestonsburg, and Jack Hatcher, of Pikeville, have been employed.

They will start work on plans by July 15, or earlier if U. K. officials decide the size of the structure, before that date. This will be determined after a survey of the number of high school graduates and of curriculum needs is made by the University's Extension Department.

From four to five months are expected to be required for the completion of plans and specifications. Immediately after this work is done, the project will be advertised for contractors' bids.

The college, however, will not be ready for opening in the fall of 1963, University spokesmen pointed out. Since the building will not be ready for the 1963 term opening and a mid-year opening would not be feasible, the college will begin accepting students in the fall of 1964.

Commissioner of Finance Matthews already has been instructed to proceed with the business of acquiring for the state title to the college site.

Conferring with Dr. Dickey and other U. K. officials were R. V. May, W. J. Reynolds, Jr., Burl (See Story No. 7, Page 6)

Jackie Hall Convicted For Breaking, Entering; Meted Five-Year Term

Jackie Hall was convicted in circuit court Wednesday morning of breaking and entering the Hatfield Trading Post here from which several hundred dollars' worth of guns and watches were taken. His term was set at five years.

One of the witnesses in the case was Darryl Stratton, who was brought here under guard from the LaGrange reformatory.

The case was docketed for trial at the recent criminal court term.

DEALER FILES DAMAGE SUIT

Griffith Asks $148,199 Of Credit Corporation; Hale Sues for $50,000

A Garrett furniture dealer has sued his former financing agency for one of the largest sums ever asked in a similar action in the Floyd circuit court.

The dealer, Robert Griffith, who does business as the Griffith Furniture Store, has sued the Appliance Buyers Credit Corporation for a total of $148,199.43.

Griffith claims $24,199.43 of that total is due him in the form of a cash debt. Contending that the company had falsely alleged that he was indebted to it, had in his absence removed his office records and had spread rumors derogatory to him, Griffith asked an additional $100,000 for restitution and $25,000 punitive damages.

The plaintiff's suit points out that the credit company agreed to handle the financing of accounts for him, holding out 10% as a reserve against possible default of payments by customers. He claims he sold all his retail sales contracts to the firm from September 15, 1958, to January 12, 1961, but that the defendant failed to pay him the amount of the contract above the 10% to be withheld.

A $50,000 damage suit was filed June 1 by Willie Hale, administrator of the estate of his wife, Julia Ann Hale, 64, who was fatally injured in a truck-car collision at Garrett, May 11. Defendants in the action are Hager Johnson, owner, and Charles Jennings Johnson, driver of the coal truck which struck the Hale car driven by the victim's son, Andy Hale.

Harry Ray Porter asks $10,000 damages for permanent impairment of his earning power allegedly resulting from a collision of two cars. Ralph Reynolds is named defendant. He claimed Reynolds so recklessly and carelessly operated his car as to cause its collision with a car driven by Ashland Joseph and in which Porter was a passenger.

A third damage suit is that in which Joseph R. Derossset and Irvin Goble name Ronald D. Snodgrass, a minor, and Snodgrass' father, Harry D. Snodgrass, as defendants. The action claims negligence on the part of the youthful Snodgrass resulted in the collision of his father's car with an auto owned by Goble. The wreck occurred at Lancer, the night of May 7. Derossset asks $1,500 for damage to his auto; Goble, $10,000 for injuries.

History Groups Plan Joint Meeting Here; Hazelett Notes Interest

A joint meeting of the Floyd County Historical Society and the Johnson County Historical Society will be held at the Community Methodist Church this evening (Thursday) at 7:30, it was announced this week. The special meeting will discuss sponsorship of the proposed Jenny Wiley Trail and the second annual presentation of The Proud Heritage here.

The Jenny Wiley Trail, which will start from where she escaped in 1790 at Little Mud Lick Creek falls near Staffordsville and continue to Blockhouse Bottom near the mouth of Johns Creek, has been promoted by Scout leaders for several weeks. It is planned to open the trail next summer.

The Proud Heritage, a drama depicting events at The Garfield Place here while Col. James A. Garfield was conducting the Big Sandy Civil War campaign of 1862, will be sponsored the second time by the Floyd county history group. Vance Mitter, local store manager, has accepted the post of business manager of the historical play and (See Story No. 5, Page 6)

TWO WOUNDED BY GUNSHOT

Suicide Attempt Hurts Prater Creek Man, Wife; Both Are Hospitalized

A Prater Creek man and his wife were wounded, the latter perhaps fatally, late Friday afternoon at their home when he sought to forestall her suicide attempt, investigating officers said this week.

Mrs. Bertha Conn, about 43, of Dana, is in critical condition at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, and her husband, Willie Conn, 45, is in the same hospital with an arm wound which is not regarded as serious. A shotgun charge entered Mrs. Conn's abdomen.

Sheriff Henry Hale and Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald said the couple apparently was wounded when Conn attempted to wrest a shotgun from his wife's hands when she threatened to take her life. They said they were told that the husband had been working in the family garden, near the home, that Mrs. Conn had taken water to him half an hour before the shooting.

After returning to the house, this version of the shooting continues, Mrs. Conn called to her husband, announced her intention to kill herself and asked him to be good to their children. Conn reacted to the house, and when his pleas for his wife to drop the shotgun failed, lunged for the weapon.

It was then that the shot was fired. The blast struck Mrs. Conn in the left side of the abdomen. Several pellets entered her husband's arm, which was powder-burned.

Mrs. Conn has been in ill health for some time, it was said here.

STUMBO DIES OF PARALYSIS

Former Floyd Sheriff Victim At Residence; Rites Conducted Today

M. T. (Taylor) Stumbo, 69, veteran peace officer and former Floyd county sheriff, died at 8:30 a.m. Monday at his home on the Middle Creek road after an illness of several months.

Mr. Stumbo's condition had been serious for some time as a result of paralysis.

Beginning work as a deputy sheriff at the age of 16 when his father was Sheriff, he served during the administrations of other Sheriffs, including that of his brother, Oliver H. Stumbo. He himself served as Sheriff for four years, beginning in 1934. Mr. Stumbo's last work as an officer was at David.

A son of the late W. M. (Bill Buck) Stumbo and Mary Allen Stumbo, he was a native of Minnie but had lived on the Middle Creek road, near here, most of his adult life. He was married to Miss Rhoda Fitzpatrick, daughter of the late Ike Fitzpatrick. She and the following sons and daughters survive: Isaac and Bill Stumbo, of West Prestonsburg; Loren Stumbo, of Bonanza; Mrs. Clyde Clark and Mrs. Naomi Ruth Bailey, both of West Prestonsburg; Mrs. Tom Burga, Dayton, O., and Mrs. Curt Bartley, Naples, Florida. Also surviving are two brothers and two sisters, Grover C. Stumbo, of McDowell, Dewey Stumbo, of Drift, Mrs. Elizabeth Myers, Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. W. H. Mathis, Waynesboro, Virginia.

Mr. Stumbo was a member of Zebulon Masonic Lodge, and his funeral at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) will be under auspices of that lodge. The last rites will be conducted from the residence by the Rev. Robert Martin, and burial will be made in a new cemetery, near the Stumbo home, under direction of the Floyd Funeral Home.

YOUTH LOSES LIFE IN VAIN RESCUE TRY

A heroic Floyd county youth saved one life last Friday afternoon, then lost his own in a desperate attempt to save yet another.

The victim was Darrell Edward Briggs, 19, of Water Gap, who drowned in Stillner Creek, near Grundy, Virginia, as he sought to save the life of a 12-year-old girl.

Young Briggs, who was visiting his father, William Elzie Briggs, at Grundy, was wading or swimming with two girls in Stillner Creek. Suddenly he became aware that his companions were in trouble, in water beyond their depth, and unable to swim to safety. He swam to their rescue and succeeded in getting one of the two to safety. Then he returned to the water for the second.

But, weakened by his exertions and grappling with the frantic girl, he fell in this second attempt, and both he and the girl drowned.

Surviving, besides his father, are his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Lafferty Briggs, of Water Gap, and six brothers and sisters, Betty Ruth, Billie Jean, Eula Mae, Taylor, Tommy and Carl Ray Briggs, all of Water Gap.

The body was returned to Water Gap where funeral rites were conducted Monday afternoon from the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Briggs, by the Rev. Floyd Lafferty. Burial was made in the Derossset cemetery there under direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

MARTIN GROUP HOLDS MEET

Citizens' Committee Hears Charles Spears; Recreation Plans Made

Martin, Ky., May 31 (Spl.)—The Citizens' Participation committee met in the high school building here, May 28. Charles Spears, head of park recreation in Kentucky, made the talk for the evening.

Mr. Spears pointed out that every Kentucky state park is providing recreation for every kind of person. Last year, several millions of tourists visited these parks. Each park has something to distinguish it from another, Spears said.

Several counties in Kentucky have park and playground programs in successful operation, and any community willing to support and maintain such a program can enjoy this addition to community and recreational life, the speaker added.

Temple Jarrell, who is director of the Southeastern states can give us advice any time if he is notified ahead of time.

Some suggested methods of financing such a program are: 1. Knock on every door and ask (See Story No. 4, Page 6)

WOMAN DIES OF INNURIES

Mrs. Caldwell Succumbs At Pikeville Hospital; Rites Conducted Monday

Mrs. Dixie Lee Caldwell, 64, of Betsy Layne, was claimed Friday at the Pikeville Memorial hospital by injuries received in an auto accident May 20. She was the widow of John Caldwell, who was found dead on U. S. 23, near Betsy Layne, several years ago.

Mrs. Caldwell, her daughter, Anna Sue Caldwell, Morg McKinney, of Prestonsburg, and two grandchildren were in an auto driven by her daughter south of Harold when the vehicle was struck, it is alleged, by a car driven by L. B. Howard, of Harold. Miss Caldwell was injured but was recently discharged from the hospital. Mr. McKinney was hospitalized at Huntington and his condition has not been learned.

Howard, at first charged with assault and battery with an auto, was arrested following Mrs. Caldwell's death and charged with manslaughter and drunken driving. Examining trial for Howard has been set for Friday.

Mrs. Caldwell was a daughter of the late James H. Loar and Polly Ann Nunney Loar. Surviving sons and daughters are Jimmy Caldwell, Wyandotte, Mich., Charles Caldwell, Dearborn, Mich., Mrs. Earl Layne and Anna Sue, both of Betsy Layne, and Mrs. Loray Sweeney, Earcase, Mich. A brother, James Loar, of Bluefield, W. Va., and a sister, Mrs. Sadie Stratton, of Betsy Layne, also survive.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 1:30 p.m. from the home, the Revs. Isaac Stratton and Ray Smiley officiating. Burial was made in the Loar cemetery at Betsy Layne under the direction of the Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

The proposed improvement will involve grade, drain and high type surface on .66 mile of the highway.

A public hearing on improvement of a section of U. S. 23 and U. S. 460 between Pikeville and Prestonsburg will be held by the Kentucky Highway Department, June 13 in the Pike county courthouse.

All interested persons who will be affected by the construction will have an opportunity to express their views on the economic effects the improvement will have on the community. The hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the county courtroom.

Plans for this project, which will remove two sharp curves from the highway one mile east of the Floyd-Pike county line, may be seen before the hearing at the Pikeville district office of the Highway Department. They will also be on display at the hearing.

An inquest was held by Coroner Carter, the jury holding that Ramey met his death "by being accidentally struck by a train."

Surviving the victim are his widow, Mrs. Minnie Allen Ramey of Hueysville, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Conley Ramey, of Garrett, and one sister, Mrs. Woodrow Mullins, of Ohio.

Funeral rites will be conducted from the residence at Hueysville today (Thursday), and burial will be made in the Gearheart cemetery at Hueysville, the Turner & Ryan Funeral Home directing.

MINES OFFER MAIN REFUGE

Study Shows Floyd Lacks Buildings Satisfactory As Fallout Shelters

Except for coal mines, Floyd county has a serious dearth of satisfactory fallout shelters for sizeable groups of people, George Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect-engineer who has been engaged in a study of shelter possibilities, said this week.

After completing Phase I of the study, Mr. Shannon said perhaps two buildings in Prestonsburg and two in the county outside Prestonsburg would qualify as group shelters.

He will go to Louisville this week to confer with Civilian Defense authorities before beginning the second phase of the study which he contracted, early this year, to do in an area covering several counties.

The work done to date includes a survey to locate existing buildings, mines and caves, each of which would shelter at least 50 (See Story No. 9, Page 6)

FOOD STAMPS DEPEND UPON LOCAL FUNDS

Floyd Officials Say State Help Necessary; To Confer with Combs

Unless state help is forthcoming, the million-dollar-a-year food stamp program which was plotted in Floyd county during the past 12 months will end June 30, County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill indicated this week.

The federal government through its Department of Agriculture demands that local government bear certain administrative costs and other expenses of the program.

"Floyd county will need about $30,000 to continue the food stamp program through the next fiscal year, beginning July 1—and it doesn't have it," County Attorney Sturgill said.

That means, he added, that the county again will go to Governor Bert T. Combs for help. He said he and Judge Stumbo will confer with the Governor at Frankfort today (Thursday).

"I'm almost ashamed to ask the Governor for help again, he has done so much for the county and has received such little thanks for it, but it's our only hope," Sturgill added.

RAMEY KILLED BY COAL CARS

Hueysville Trucker Dies At West Garrett; Coroner Holds Inquest

Robert Ramey, 45, Hueysville truck-driver, was instantly killed at West Garrett at 12:55 a.m. Tuesday when hit by a locomotive hauling a string of loaded coal cars.

The victim was seen in a crouched or kneeling position, between the tracks, before he was hit but the engineer was unable to stop the heavily loaded train before hitting him, it was said.

The train was left where it stopped until Coroner James J. Carter, Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley and County Attorney Barkley Sturgill arrived on the scene. The body was about 12 cars back from the engine when it was removed from the tracks. Ramey's truck was parked at the side of the highway, nearby. Multiple skull fractures and other injuries were reported.

An inquest was held by Coroner Carter, the jury holding that Ramey met his death "by being accidentally struck by a train."

Surviving the victim are his widow, Mrs. Minnie Allen Ramey of Hueysville, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Conley Ramey, of Garrett, and one sister, Mrs. Woodrow Mullins, of Ohio.

Funeral rites will be conducted from the residence at Hueysville today (Thursday), and burial will be made in the Gearheart cemetery at Hueysville, the Turner & Ryan Funeral Home directing.

Thirty Years Ago

(Edition of June 3, 1932)

The open sewer condition existing in Prestonsburg was scored by the grand jury report signed by Malone Hall, of Allen, former Floyd county judge. The school census of this county stands at 13,990. The I.O.O.F. building on First avenue here is nearing completion. Maytown's 4-H demonstration team last Saturday won in competition with the Betsy Layne team the right to represent the county at Junior Week in Lexington. The Glogora Coal Company at Glo has divided a tract of about 250 acres into garden plots for miners affected by the depression and slack mine runs. W. L. Roberts, 54, father of Magistrate Dewey Roberts, was severely injured when he fell while walking in his sleep Sunday morning. He was at the home of a brother, Ben Roberts, in Pike county. Charles Roberts, 25, was killed by a train near here, early Friday morning. Deputy Sheriff Harrison Frasure was shot and seriously wounded Friday, near Martin. Married: Miss Otela Spradlin, daughter of Mrs. Cordelia Spradlin Whittier, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. V. A. Smiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smiley, of Dana, on Sunday, May 29. Graduated from college: Miss Mary Elizabeth Auxier, of Prestonsburg, from Pikeville College; Clyde P. Allen, of Martin, from Berea College. There died: Mrs. Hulda Waddell, 41, May 25 at her home on Abbott Creek.

S. diplomatic corps, who was taken into "protective custody" by the Japanese at Shanghai, China, will leave for the United States, June 14, in an exchange of diplomats and their staffs to be made between the U. S. and Japan. Only six poll tax bills from last year's poll tax book were collected in Prestonsburg, an audit made by R. R. Allen shows. The 10 o'clock curfew ordinance here was invoked by the City Council this week. Graduated from college: Henry D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., from Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond; Quentin Lockwood, 19, from Ashland Junior College; Miss Betty Jean May, 17, from Sullins College, Bristol, Virginia; Miss Minnie Martin, of Eastern, and Miss Ruby Allen, of Langley, both from Berea College. Ten Years Ago

(June 5, 1952)

Floyd mines felt the pinch this week as the nation's steel mills were closed by a strike. It was announced this week that the new Boy Scout camp on Dewey Lake will be opened June 15. County Judge Henry Stumbo announced Tuesday he will personally pay a reward of $50 for the arrest and conviction of those who caused the partial burning of a county-owned grader at Branham's Creek Sunday night. J. M. Stumbo, assistant sanitary inspector for the Floyd County Health Department, said this week he is beginning a campaign against garbage dumping. Eight-year-old Patty Linn Smith was seriously injured Monday night when Irvin Combs' car in which she was a passenger was hit by a train at Drift. Four Prestonsburg men—W. A. Wills, Clabe Eingham, Grover Lowe and Ois Cooley—suffered burns Wednesday when a gas well they were drilling on Bull Creek burst into flame. Dr. John J. Sherman, Huntington surgeon, will join the staff of Our Lady of the Way hospital at Martin, June 5, to replace Dr. H. B. Stratton for the summer. The Princess Elkhorn Coal Company announced these scholarship winners: Opal June Hopson, Janet Jean Wells, Bill Perry Hall, Alvin Akers, Arnold Lee Horn. There died: Ellis Morrison, 50, of Bypro, May 27 of mine injuries; Mary Wireman Spradlin, 85, last Thursday at Auxier; Mrs. Diele Meade Bentley, 77, of Glo, Monday at a Williamson hospital; Jerry Allen, 81, Wednesday at Cliff.

persons. At first, Civilian Defense demanded that each shelter, to be acceptable, must have a protection factor of at least 20—i.e., afford 20 times more protection than would be available to the individual in the open. Now, however, the protection factor has been raised to 100.

Interest in family-type fallout shelters has dropped sharply within the last few months, but Civilian Defense has given no indication that it will slacken its efforts to afford community and group shelters for the population.

Whether the Governor, if he decides to help the county with its financing problem, will work through Department of Economic Security resources or will be obliged to turn to other reserves is not known. Floyd county is the only pilot county in Kentucky for the food stamp program and is one of seven spots in the United States where the work was instituted a year ago on an experimental basis.

As of May 24, six days short of a year since the program was initiated here, food stamps worth $1,033,000 had been issued and spent with Floyd county food retailers.

Carl R. Horn, county supervisor for the program, said that at this time stamps are going to 1,737 families, or to a total of 9,191 individuals.

He pointed out that the million-dollar business with retailers as a result of the food stamps had netted the state a minimum of $30,000 in sales tax funds during the last 12 months.

As an added incentive, the team judged to be the winner will receive the championship trophy, and each team member of the three winning teams will receive individual trophies. These three winning teams will represent the company in the district contest, which is sponsored by the Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute in September.

The annual Safety Day is promoted each year by the Inland Steel Company with the cooperation of Local Union No. 5899 and District 30, United Mine Workers of America, the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, the U. S. Bureau of Mines and local and national coal operators' associations.

Ambrose H. Mandt, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, and J. S. Mallesky, district supervisor of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Norton, Virginia, will serve jointly as chief judges. Other officials and inspectors of these organizations will judge the work of the teams during the contest.

Other men who are engaged in safety endeavors of the coal mining industry have been invited to attend and participate in the Safety Day activities. Among those are: James Westfield, assistant director of Health and Safety, United States Department of the Interior, U. S. Bureau of Mines; Charles Ferguson, safety director, U.M.W.A.; George Trevorrow, safety director, Bituminous Coal Operators' Association; C. E. Beane, president, District 30, U.M.W.A.; Jim Thornberry, president, Local Union No. 5899; Joseph H. Lyons, administrative secretary, and Arlie Webb, safety director, Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Operators' Association; Robert Dickson, safety director, Kentucky River Mining Institute; George Parry, district supervisor and Tom Mark, engineer, U. S. Bureau of Mines, Barbourville, Ky.; and Willard Stanley, district inspector, Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals.

The ceremonies will include the recognition of 16 employees for 25 years of continuous service with Inland Steel Company. Employees who achieve this long period of work are presented watches for their faithful service.

OF NECKWEAR

Friend of mine was discussing our item of last week about the fellow who wanted a tie so strong two men would be needed to tie it, and this reminded him of another story. Said Grandpa had never worn a tie in his life and scorned all who had. But when a relative died and he was to attend the funeral the folks insisted he would have to adorn his neck.

"They held him and tied one on him," my informant avows. "But just as they turned him loose a gust of wind blew the tie across his shoulder and scared him so bad he ran away."

OUR MIND (IF ANY) IS CHANGED

This senior citizen had an idea that, since the daughter had become interested in horses, maybe he would buy a nag and perhaps sneak in a ride, once in a while, when nobody was looking. But since his neighbor, Carl Watson, had his experience with the genus equus last Saturday the idea doesn't seem so good. Carl boarded a pony while visiting in Woodford county at the home of his brother-in-law, the Rev. Franklin Conley, and the pony promptly deposited him on terra firma, fracturing his left arm.

There's nothing funny about falling off, or being thrown from a horse, but we who have come over the croppers should remember the days when the Prince of Wales parted with his mount at every hedge and waterhole. But the Duke had his talents. He of the unsteady seat used it to land on.

Mrs. Sarah Vanderpool, Age 80, McDowell, Dies;

Mrs. Sarah Vanderpool, 80, died Sunday at the home of a son, Kindie Vanderpool, of McDowell. She had been in failing health three years and seriously ill three weeks.

Mrs. Vanderpool was the widow of Joe Vanderpool and a daughter of Ike and Lorene Wireman Vanderpool. She was a member of the Regular Baptist church.

Surviving, besides her son, Kindie, is another son, John Vanderpool, of Waldo, Ky., and three daughters: Mrs. Viney Joseph, La Porte, Ind., Mrs. Lizzie Bailey, Decoy, Ky., and Mrs. Emma Vanderpool, New Haven, O. Surviving brothers and sisters are Earl Vanderpool, Huesville, Dick Vanderpool, Campton, Ky., Mrs. America Sword, Lambric, Ky., and Mrs. Lizzie Manns, Knox, Ind. Surviving also are 48 grandchildren and 80 great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m., Wednesday, from the Little Rosa church at McDowell, the Rev. Harry Moore, Hershell Huff and others officiating. Burial was made in the Allen cemetery at Midas under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

Eagle Scouts James Goble and Carl Chaffins, Troop 27, Prestonsburg, end a day last week on the projected Jenny Wiley Trail by visiting her grave at River, Johnson county. The marker was recently erected by the Kentucky Division of Parks.

WILEY CAVE IS FOUND NEAR HISTORIC FALLS

By HENRY P. SCALF

Knowledge of the actual site of the rockhouse, or cave, in which Jenny Wiley was held captive by the Indians and from which she escaped "in the late winter," or probably March, 1790 was lost until last week except to a few local residents in the Little Mud Lick Creek area of Johnson county.

Its rediscovery was the result of research and exploration incident to the proposed establishment of The Jenny Wiley Trail.

Tradition affirms that Mrs. Wiley was confined on Big Mud Lick Creek, near Staffordsville, on the present Ky. 172. Elderly residents point out the Jenny Wiley Rocks near the mouth of a boulder-strewn stream. This may have been one of the rockhouses where she was held for a while but historians, particularly William Elsey Connelly, thought otherwise.

Connelly wrote a good description of the cave or rockhouse and pinpointed it at the end of the falls on Little Mud Lick Creek. He wrote from information given him by Rev. Adam P. Wiley, the border heroine's son. Adam was born in 1798 and was 33 years old when his mother died. Mrs. Wiley often described the place to him and took him on visits to the cave. She died in 1831 but Adam Wiley was alive when Connelly took notes on the story. Wiley and Connelly made several trips to the area and explored the entire Little Mud Lick Creek valley. Adam Wiley pointed out exactly where his mother was held.

Decades passed, history was little read and tradition took over. The place on Big Mud Lick Creek was shown to tourists and history-minded persons as the actual cave. No one questioned it until a few weeks ago when the Scouts proposed to set up a trail along Mrs. Wiley's escape route to Harman's Station near the mouth of Johns Creek.

The trail had to begin, Scout leaders said, at the actual cave. Last week two Eagle Scouts, James Goble and Carl Chaffins, from Troop 27, Prestonsburg, with David Stephens, Jr., of Radio Station WPRT and the writer, of The Times staff, went to Little Mud Lick Creek falls area to find it. They carried topographical sheets of the area and Connelly's history, "The Jenny Wiley Captivity and the Founding of Harman's Station," which was published in 1910.

Little Mud Lick Creek falls were created many millenia ago when the stream cut its way through a mountain backbone to join Big Mud Lick Creek, a tributary of Big Paint Creek. The canyon sides, from the top of the mountain to the deep recesses of the creek, are draped with giant hemlocks, poplars, ferns and rhododendron.

There are three levels to the east side of the canyon walls, either easily traversed horizontally and entered only near the first of the three major falls.

The group chose to explore the stream bed first. It would be highly dangerous to attempt when the creek was full but Thursday of last week the water was low. The two Scouts clambered over the rocks, let themselves down over the falls and negotiated the giant sandstone boulders in striking contrast to their accompanying elders.

Coming out at the end of the falls area, they began to explore the first level of caves or rockhouses. One was particularly intriguing, for at many places on the walls the heads of horses had been carved. It was named Horse Head Cave.

Kentucky Garden Club Given National Award For Beautification

Frankfort, May 28 (Spl.)—Kentucky has won its second national award for beautification.

The 1962 Bronze Seal award of the National Council of State Garden Clubs has gone to the Garden Club of Kentucky, Inc. Mrs. J. Richard Gott, Jr., accepted the award for Kentucky at the council's national convention in Los Angeles. Mrs. Gott, a Louisville resident, is president of the Garden Club of Kentucky.

The Bronze Seal award is made for an "outstanding, unusual completed project worthy of national recognition." This year it went to Kentucky on the basis of a scrapbook showing step-by-step construction of the floral clock and other beautification efforts on the Capitol grounds in Frankfort.

Three months ago, Kentucky became the first state to win the "Keep America Beautiful" award in recognition of its "Make Kentucky a Cleaner, Greener Land" program. This award, previously made only for beautification efforts on a local or community level, was accepted by Gov. Bert Combs in New York.

Swimming Pool Meet Scheduled At Hazard; Flood Persons Invited

Floyd county swimming pool owners, operators, managers, operating personnel, life guards, and health department personnel are invited to attend.

Subjects to be discussed include water safety, sanitation, records, chemical testing, and filtering systems. There will be opportunity for discussion of individual problems.

This conference will help swimming pool personnel to continue maintaining safe, clean pools for public enjoyment. It is being sponsored by the Kentucky State Department of Health, Division of Engineering, in cooperation with the county health departments of many eastern Kentucky counties.

BONUS CLAIMS ARE DELAYED

Maggard Says Many Improperly Filled-Out; Payment Delay Noted

Frankfort, May 28 (Spl.)—"A considerable number of Kentucky veteran bonus claims cannot be paid because of oversights in filling out the applications," Veterans Division Director Arnold Maggard has warned.

He advised any veteran who submitted a claim more than six months ago and has not received any correspondence about it to contact the Veterans Division, Department of Military Affairs, Frankfort, to determine the status of his claim.

Maggard pointed out that to date 3,000 bonus claims have been disapproved because the applicants did not provide complete information.

Most of these applications are six months to a year old, Maggard said, and the Veterans Division has corresponded with each claimant on at least three different occasions trying to get the needed information or document.

"In the cases where we receive no response at all from the claimant," Maggard said, "we are forced to issue notices of disapproval for failure to provide sufficient information."

Bonus claimants receiving a notice of disapproval have 30 days in which to provide the requested information or appeal the disapproval to the division's Board of Review, Maggard said. He added that the disapproval notices have brought a decided upswing in the number of responses to requests for additional information.

Some of the more common discrepancies on bonus applications listed by Maggard are:

- Failure to provide a birth certificate if the applicant is the beneficiary of a veteran;
- Failure to sign the bonus application or have it notarized;
- Failure to include military separation papers or to have the copy of the separation notarized;
- Failure to prove residence in Kentucky at the time of entry into the service and six months prior thereto.

Youth Work Veteran Named Superintendent Of Kentucky Village

Frankfort, Ky., May 28 (Spl.) — Robert G. McClure, of Buckhorn, veteran of 27 years in youth work, has been appointed superintendent of Kentucky Village, juvenile correctional institution near Lexington.

His appointment, effective July 1, was announced by Commissioner Richard G. Clendenen, of the Department of Child Welfare. The department operates Kentucky Village as a correctional institution for juvenile delinquents 10 to 18 years old committed by juvenis, circuit and county courts.

L. M. Baker has been acting superintendent since the retirement of Robert B. Hammond last September. Baker, assistant superintendent for more than 20 years, will remain in that capacity.

McClure, 46, has been administrator of the Presbyterian Child Welfare Agency at Buckhorn in Perry county since 1956. Before that he was for 16 years director of Ows-Lee Parish, Booneville, and for five years Booneville police judge.

Commissioner Clendenen said the selection of McClure is a move in line with new directions in the program of treatment and rehabilitation at Kentucky Village. Clendenen described as typical of the new emphasis a plan of group therapy established in February.

For Phillips 66 Dealers, besides providing high performance Sixty-Six Gasoline, are also glad to clean the glass all around and brush out inside the car. Try Phillips 66 service the next time you're out driving. You'll like Phillips 66 "Hospitality on the Highway."

Kennedy Allocates $800,000 in State For Disaster Help

Frankfort, June 4 (Spl).—President Kennedy has authorized allocation of $800,000 in federal disaster assistance funds to the Kentucky counties affected by a series of floods which began Feb. 25.

The President declared Kentucky a major disaster area on March 12 after Governor Combs and a Kentucky delegation conferred with the President at the White House.

The federal funds will supplement state and local efforts in the rehabilitation of public facilities such as buildings, streets, highways, and water systems.

Major Gen. Arthur Y. Lloyd, director of Kentucky Civil Defense, said that 89 counties in Eastern, Central and Western Kentucky suffered damages in the floods, which finally subsided on April 25.

So far, however, only 39 of the counties have officially submitted flood damage reports to Lloyd. He has asked the 50 others to submit their reports by June 10.

The United States Marine Band first appeared in public on March 27, 1794, at an entertainment in Philadelphia's Tun Tavern, birthplace of the Marine Corps.

TIDBITS of Kentucky Folklore
By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

IF I ONLY COULD HAVE LIVED THEN

It would be only natural to suppose that people of my generation everywhere, and not merely at Fidelity, were often so entranced by stories about earlier times that they began to wish that they could have lived then. I know now that our best yarn-spinners often brought in the bad along with the good in their yarns, but the good so far overshadowed the bad that earlier times seemed like fairyland. Hoeing corn or stripping tobacco or watering and feeding the stock seemed so tame after hearing Grandpa or someone else tell about times when it was worth a lot to live. I suspect that many of our story-tellers finally got to believing in their highly embroidered yarns, that they forgot, deliberately, the sordid and miserable sides of their earlier lives.

Many people, not so remote as we were at Fidelity, were so taken with these glorious pictures of a Never-Never Land that has not existed and will probably never exist that they refused to believe the most factual history. Here we are in the 1960's recalling daily what was going on in the 1860's. Thousands of those who read of the unfortunate and tragic happenings of a century ago will never believe anything that contradicts what imaginative ancestors told of the Golden Age before we arrived here. A few great plantation houses that, after a century, still are impressive become for those whose history is largely traditional the ordinary, the average for a time that they never knew except through imagination. Heroic actions, and there were plenty of them, just obliterate the sordid, brutal, cruel ones that were just as common. Here is a case in point: Mother had three brothers in the Southern Army; two of them were captured at Fort Donelson, spent some months in prison, were exchanged, fought until the end of the war, and lived to be very old men. It was one of my greatest joys as a boy to hear them, especially the younger one of the two, tell of the brave and comic sides of the great struggle. But we rarely heard much said about the third brother, who was murdered by his own neighbors, a group of ruffians who did not have the nerve or the decency to join either army. The older I have become, the more I marvel at my mother's good sense in not hating all the other side because her brother, in a gray uniform, was killed by somebody. Anyone who has read such scholarly and readable books as Carl Sandburg's life of Lincoln will know that the roseate aspects of the Civil War were few and have largely been added by people who were not there. War was and is everything that Sherman said it was, even though there appear in the darkest hours some very human and very impressive events.

Maybe I am not old enough yet to sink into the common error of regarding the past as the only time worthy of praise. When I do start prating of the past in that fashion, you will know that my brain cells, if any, are slowly hardening. But here is a strange thing: I often find myself wishing that my parents or some other people who loved life could have lived down into my own time and shared my old age with me, remaining young and vigorous and healthy. It is perfectly natural, I suppose, for me to think almost daily of what my first roommate would have done and felt and thought if he could have lived down into a ripe old age; at twenty-six he was gone, one who seemed born for a long and useful life. Everything I think of that he would have liked and enjoyed or had his good-humored criticism of is perfectly sensible, of course, for his being only two years older than I would have enabled him to be still my contemporary. But it is equally easy to imagine others who would now be away past a century old still living examples of people who refuse to die. Maybe it is just as foolish to wish for our elders to live on like the ancient patriarchs as it is for us to imagine how great we might have been in the Good Old Days, when every goose was a swan, and every less a queen; when valor was the ordinary gift to humanity; when all our dreamworld was actuality.

NATURE TRAILS
By RUFUS M. REED

THE HOLY BIRD OF THE AZTEC INDIANS

What bird was held sacred by the famous and highly civilized Aztecs of Mexico? This was the most brilliantly colored bird and they called it the "quetzal bird." They regarded it as the very embodiment of the spirit of beauty and named one of their gods in honor of this bird; this was the god of light, air and sun, Quetzacoatl. It is said the eyes of this bird so dazzles the sight it is like looking at the sun! It is a brilliant shining green on the head, throat and chest, and it wears a glowing golden-green crest like a tuft of fine silken hairs. The lower parts of the bird are deep-dyed scarlet, and its shining scarlet tail hangs down fully three feet long! Its legs are so weak it can hardly walk, and it builds its nests in old tree stumps, or in hollow trees. The quetzal bird is found today in the wilds of Central America and Mexico and it is a member of the trogon family. Although old Cortez, the cruel conqueror of the Aztecs, completely destroyed their temples and their worship and robbed them of all their wealth, he failed to destroy the reverence for the quetzal. This magnificent bird is still highly regarded in Central America and it is the national bird of Guatemala, and is used as the country's symbol on their postage stamps and coins.

THE TOM SAWYER OF THE BIRD WORLD

The yellow-breasted chat is often called "The Tom Sawyer of the Bird Kingdom," because of his mischievous antics and highly amusing ways. This bird is incorrectly called "Yaller mocking-bird" by many people, but he is not even closely related to the true southern mocking-bird; he is a member of the wood warblers and is the largest warbler known. However, he is an expert at mockery and seems to delight in entertaining human beings who come near his domain. The presence of a man is said to excite the chat and stimulates it to show off his brilliant plumage and his powers of mimicry. He is a confirmed extrovert and a show-off. The chat has a glowing yellow breast, wears white spectacles, is olive-green on his back, and white on the belly. He has a long tail and is over 7½ inches in length. He is often seen weaving his head back and forth in the trees as he goes through his repertoire of mimicking and calls. He whistles, mews and "beeps!" Some of his most colorful phrases are:

"Cluck, yit-now. Hit it, caw, caw, cut, cut it, tea-boy!"
Sometimes when the chat notices a person watching him, he will fly up in the air with his feathers all ruffled up and his legs dangling; he will bounce up and down in the air and act like a clown at the circus. Sometimes he seems tipsy on the wine of spring!

The chat is also an expert ventriloquist and can throw his voice; he delights in fooling his listeners, and you will think he is hidden in a brier tangle when he's really in the tree overhead! Often he will cavort and carry on his "foolish mimicry" at all hours of the night, and seemingly delights in keeping people awake to hear his vocal expressions. The chat is considered the "most un-warblerlike of all the warblers."

The chat builds its nest in brier tangles, about four feet up from the ground; the nest is made of dead leaves, strips of bark, dried grass and weed stalks, and is lined with soft, fine grass. The eggs are usually 3 to 5, pure white, tinged with pink, and often spotted with chestnut and lavender.

GIANT SOUTH AMERICAN RATS

Giant rats bigger than most dogs and three times the size of a large cat are fast over-running Florida and other sections of the south. It is greatly feared these rat monsters will soon spread to all parts of the country! They are the famous South American COYPU RATS, which grow to weigh over 40 pounds and are often two and one-half feet long! They are today spreading all over England, where they were imported a few years ago. These huge rats are prolific breeders and often produce five or six litters each year. Their scientific name is MYOCASTER COYFU, and they were imported a few years ago by fur dealers and farmers who wished to raise them for their fur. However, their fur proved not as valuable as expected, so the big rats were not slaughtered; they escaped from the fur farms and are now spreading fast!

Once the jack rabbits increased so rapidly they over-ran the whole continent of Australia and threatened to wipe out all the vegetation and endanger the lives of other species. Stern measures had to be adopted to control their numbers. It may require drastic means to stop the spread of the giant South American coypu rats!

Kentucky Ranks Third Using Federal Funds.

Frankfort, June 4 (Spl).—Kentucky ranks third among the states in the use of reimbursable federal highway funds, according to the latest report from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The report shows that through March 31 of this year, Kentucky had utilized 86 per cent of the reimbursable Federal Aid allotted to it for fiscal 1962, and that the average for all the states was 60 per cent.

Highway Commissioner Henry Ward said that Kentucky has since put to work all but a fraction of the $54,449,000 in reimbursable Federal funds available for this fiscal year.

"We have been able to do this," Ward said, "because the people of Kentucky had the foresight to authorize $190,000,000 in highway bonds. This has put Kentucky in a position where it can make use of all Federal Aid highway funds as they become available."

These rats are black, with shaggy hair on head and back. They have long whiskers common to all rats, and the naked, scaly tail.

All the species of rats of North America have been imported from Asia, Europe and South America, and they have spread over the entire continent. Most of these came across the ocean from Europe and Asia as stowaways on ships. Prior to 1775, rats were unknown as pests in this country! We now have two common species in our region: the brown and the black rats, and with the addition of the big rats from South America, we will have three highly destructive species. The brown rat, also called the Norway rat, is the most common and destructive of all. This rat can live and breed most any place—in sewers, in tunnels underground, under houses, in caves, and they eat anything—carrion, dung, scraps, eggs, biddies—anything they can get! They have been known to attack and seriously injure children; their bite is dangerous often poisonous. Rats carry diseases like the bubonic plague, transmitted by fleas on their bodies. Rats now do nearly $200,000,000 damage in the United States, and this figure may increase rapidly with the spread of the notorious coypu rats from South America!

and from which she escaped. Connelly had written: "The Indians holding Mrs. Wiley in captivity arrived at the mouth of Little Mud Creek about the first of April, possibly as much as a week or ten days earlier than that. They took up their abode in a rockhouse in the face of the cliff on the east side of the plateau. This rockhouse was just below the falls of Little Mud Creek, but at a higher elevation in the cliff than is the bed of the creek at the falls. The ledge at the entrance of the rockhouse overhangs the creek which runs 100 feet or more below it, and the entrance is sixty feet at least below the top of the cliff. It is reached by following a narrow ledge along the face of the cliff from a point opposite the upper falls. This rockhouse is of considerable extent. It afforded a safe retreat for the party and one almost inaccessible to enemies if properly defended by even a few persons. It afforded a cool and pleasant habitation in summer."

This was the rockhouse from which Mrs. Wiley fled in early 1790. From this rockhouse thousands of Boy Scouts from the Eastern and Central states will start next year to hike the long escape route to Harman's Station.

LUNG CANCER DANGER TOLD

British Royal College Report on Cigarettes Reviewed by Digest

In an article titled "Lung Cancer and Cigarettes" by Lois Mattox Miller, the June Reader's Digest summarizes the British Royal College of Physicians' recent report, "Smoking and Health," and terms it "a clear and stern warning" on the subject.

The article lauds the report as the first "to spell out a practical program of preventive measures for the individual and the government" and urges that the United States follow the British in such measures.

At the same time, the Digest announced that its international editions will accept no more cigarette advertising after present contracts are fulfilled. U. S. editions of the magazine have never carried it.

Highlights of the report quoted by the Digest include:

"Cigarette smoking is a cause of lung cancer and bronchitis, and probably contributes to the development of coronary heart disease and various less common diseases."

"Cigarette smokers have the greatest risk of dying from these diseases, and the risk is greater for the heavier smokers."

"The many deaths from these diseases present a challenge to medicine; insofar as they are due to smoking they should be preventable."

"The harmful effects of cigarette smoking might be reduced by efficient filters, by leaving longer cigarette stubs, or by changing from cigarette to pipe or cigar smoking."

The American Cancer Society endorsed the Digest article with a statement by Dr. Harold S. Diehl, the Society's Senior vice-president for Research and Medical Affairs. Several other health and education organizations are calling it to the attention of their members.

"According to American Cancer Society figures, approximately 40,000 Americans will die from lung cancer in 1962," said Dr. Diehl. "This total has now reached the annual number of deaths from automobile accidents and represents a thousand per cent increase in deaths from lung cancer compared to thirty years ago."

"Nearly all of these deaths are among people who are cigarette smokers. If the smoking habit were eliminated from American life, some 25,000 lives could be saved each year. Because of our belief that only a well-informed public can make decisions important to its health, I am particularly gratified to see the Reader's Digest's excellent presentation of the latest findings on lung cancer and cigarettes. These findings, all of which show that death rates from lung cancer increase with the number of cigarettes smoked, are well accepted by the medical and scientific community here and abroad."

"Mrs. Miller's provocative comments on how this health menace can be tackled in the United States are challenging. Every reader, particularly cigarette smokers, can benefit from this article and give thought, as the author does, to how we can halt this alarming rise in lung cancer, which can truly be called an epidemic."

A letter from Senator Maurice Neuberger, of Oregon, to The New York Times taking issue with a tobacco company's claim that its employees have fewer deaths from cancer and heart disease than the general public is reprinted in the press section of the June Digest. "The Society of Actuaries . . ." wrote Mrs. Neuberger, "reports that the rate of death and permanent disability claims for tobacco-industry employees is significantly higher than the rate for comparable employees in other industries."

The 2,500-word article appears this week in the United States and Canadian editions of the Digest. It will also be published in the June issues of the British, Japanese and Iberian editions of the Digest and later in other foreign editions.

Accompanying the article in the international editions will be an announcement titled "About Cigarette Advertising," saying: "The editors of the Reader's Digest can find little room for further doubt that cigarettes are harmful to the health of smokers. The present article constitutes an important addition to the body of evidence leading to that conclusion. It is to be expected that other articles, keeping our readers informed of facts and developments in this important area, will appear in the Digest from time to time."

"In these circumstances, and as long as these circumstances exist, the editors feel it unconscionable to continue to accept advertising which has as its purpose the encouragement of cigarette smoking. We are accordingly advising our advertisers of this policy decision, which will take effect after the fulfillment of existing contracts."

PHONES BRING PEOPLE TOGETHER

"Penny's Waiting to Say 'Good Night'"

It's happy time — when Daddy calls from out of town to say good night to his two best girls. That's what telephones are for — keeping people close, whether miles apart or just around the corner. There are so many things your phone can do. Day or night. So nice to know whatever your reason for calling, your phone does it quickly and easily.

SGT. CHARLES FLOYD

Here's a research problem on the Floyd family posed by Mrs. Oliver Floyd Stoner, 1511 N. 12th Avenue, Melrose Park, Illinois. She wrote Regional Librarian Robert Wallace, who relays the inquiry to this column.

She writes:

"I am interested and have been doing research on the genealogy of the Floyd family of Virginia and Kentucky. I especially desire to learn something of or about the family of Sgt. Charles Floyd of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, his father, grandfather, brothers and sisters, if any, and in what way, if any, they are related to Gen. William Floyd, signer of the Declaration of Independence.

"My father, deceased, was a direct descendant of the family of Floyds of Ohio and Iowa."

THE FIRST STEAM MILL

The first steam grist mill in the Johns Creek area was installed, we learn from R. B. Maynard, Heenon, Kentucky, by Fields and Rev. Heenon Maynard, late in the last century. Part of the ancient saw rig is still in use near Ocala, Florida.

Mr. Maynard, in writing about the first steam saw and grist mill in the area, comments:

"Heenon and Fields Maynard bought a 20 h.p. steam saw and grist mill and set it up near the mouth of Spannum Branch of Big Brushy Creek in the late 1800's."

"Friday was 'grind day' and as this was before meal could be bought in stores and very few families used flour, every family for ten miles in every direction was usually represented at the mill on 'grind day'."

"Heenon and Fields would have steamed up and be grinding corn by daylight. The old timers would begin assembling from up the creek and down, from across the mountains, usually on horseback. A large number would bring a 'turn' on their backs and a few on ox-drawn sleds. It was no unusual sight in those days to see two or three men coming in, each with a bushel of corn on their backs which they had carried across the mountains out of Martin county. It usually took until after dark to grind all the corn that was brought.

"By 1920 the two owners had worn out two steam boilers with the grist and saw rig and Elmer Maynard, Fields' oldest son, is still using the old saw rig near Ocala, Florida."

THE WEST LIBERTY ELM

"A giant elm tree located in a broad valley near West Liberty city limits has survived the ravages of time and battle," writes Mrs. Joe Nevius, past president of the West Liberty Garden Club.

Mrs. Nevius, in describing the area in which the tree stands, notes that an Indian mound is located on one of the surrounding hills.

"The circumference of the tree is 14 feet. A picture of the tree appeared sometime ago in the Lexington Leader.

"During the Civil War it was located between the Union and Southern forces when a battle was fought prior to the Battle of Middle Creek, Floyd county. (Our correspondent, in referring to the battle there, evidently meant the Battle of West Liberty in which Capt. Andrew Jackson May's Confederates were defeated by Gen. W. O. Nelson's Union troops).

"Years before the Civil War battle the Morgan elm was a silent sentinel during a battle between the Indians and white settlers."

ELLIOTT AND HARRIS FAMILIES

L. T. Harris, 3327 Hyacinth Street, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, writes of John M. Elliott, Confederate Congressman from Prestonsburg and Henry C. Harris, an attorney who studied law under him.

"John Milton Elliott was born in Scott county, Virginia, in 1820, located in Floyd county, Kentucky, in 1841, and started studying law under Col. Henry C. Harris in 1842. He married Miss Susan J. Smith, daughter of William M. Smith, of Prestonsburg in 1848.

"My great-grandfather was named Lytleton Tazewell Harris. He had two older half-brothers, Henry C. Harris and James Harris. L. T. Harris was born in Tallahassee, Florida, in 1821. I do not know the birthplace of the other two but the family moved to Plaquemines Parish, Louisiana, after 1821. All three of the boys went to Kentucky and became lawyers. Henry C. was already practicing at Prestonsburg when Lytleton T. arrived in Kentucky and he studied law under his older brother at the same time that John Milton Elliott was studying under him. L. T. Harris met Mary Jane Elliott, the sister of John M. Elliott, and were married. Elliott and Harris became law partners.

"Later, Henry C. Harris and James Harris lived in Covington, and L. T. Harris moved to Louisiana and practiced in New Orleans.

"Since all of these Harrises moved away and apparently left no heirs in Prestonsburg, one can see why no one could ever find a connection between Henry C. Harris and the other Harrises in your area.

"As far as we know H. C. Harris had only one child, Mary Louise, who married Judge Robert Carter Richardson, of Covington, in 1859. The records indicate that they had four children and I am presently engaged in trying to locate some of the descendants at Covington to see if they can add to my Harris antecedent information.

"Mary Jane Elliott Harris died in 1916 at 90 years of age at Harris Plantation, Monroe county, Arkansas, and is buried in the Harris family area of Elmwood cemetery, Memphis, Tennessee. Her husband, L. T. Harris served as Colonel of Louisiana cavalry, Confederate Army, after moving from Kentucky to New Orleans. He moved to Mississippi after the war, died in 1882, and is buried at the same place."

Sites Are Acquired For TV Education Net; Buy Transmitter Sites

Frankfort, May 28 (Spl.)—The state government will begin acquiring transmitter sites as the first step in establishment of a statewide educational television network.

Gov. Bert Combs has directed the State Finance Department to acquire sites for 10 transmitting stations. The network will have 11 stations, but one of them is expected to be that of the Jefferson County Board of Education, already in operation. The sites and their development will cost approximately $175,000.

The Governor made the announcement in a commencement speech at the Oneida Institute, a mountain mission school in Clay County, which he attended as a boy.

Federal funds will help finance the project.

The Governor acted after an appraisal of the educational television program by Roy H. Owsley, special consultant.

Governor Combs said the television network will be utilized not only by public schools but also by colleges and in programs of adult education and job training. And he stressed that educational television would supplement teaching methods and not replace any teachers.

Plans for the network, recommended by a special committee of the General Assembly, call for 11 transmitter stations and six studio production centers, connected by two microwave channels. Production centers would be located at Bowling Green, Lexington, Louisville, Morehead, Murray and Richmond, with central production and transmitting facilities at Lexington.

There would be production and transmitting facilities at each of the six studio production centers except Richmond, whose productions would be fed by microwave to Lexington and telecast there. Additionally, there would be transmitting stations only at Ashland, Covington, Hazard, Madisonville, Pikeville and Somerset.

Total construction cost for the completed statewide network is estimated at between $5 million and $7 million. Operating cost would range from $372,000 to $514,000 a year.

Combs said Kentucky is in a position of leadership in educational television. "No other state has so comprehensive a plan not one so well coordinated from the beginning. The 49 other states are watching with immense interest the progress of Kentucky's network," the Governor added.

MARINES BORN IN 1775

The United States Marine Corps was born in 1775 at Tun Tavern, a favorite rendezvous of seafaring men in Philadelphia. Its robust proprietor, Captain Robert Mullen, was one of the first Marines appointed to the newly-formed Corps, and acted as one of the principal recruiting officers throughout the Revolution.

Safety Held Concerned Over Death Increases On Kentucky Highways

Frankfort, June 4 (Spl.) — Kentucky Public Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern has expressed "deep concern" over this year's 19 per cent increase in traffic fatalities over the same period in 1961.

"The responsibility for every pointless traffic death on our highways must be shared by all Kentuckians," Lovern said. He added that State troopers, judges, police officers and civic leaders throughout the state have joined in an effort to curb the 1962 road death toll.

With the advent of the vacation season, Lovern listed driving tips for a safe holiday:

1. Leave early enough to allow for a safe trip;
2. Arrange luggage so it does not obscure rear vision;
3. Provide games and toys to keep children entertained;
4. Stop and get out of the car at least once every two hours, especially at night;
5. Don't drink alcoholic beverages when you drive.
