TWO DEPUTIES HELD TO BOND IN MAY DEATH

Police Laboratory Asked To Make Study Of Bullets from Body

Bonds of $5,000 each for Deputy Sheriffs Troy Mullins and Marion Martin, set by County Judge Henry Stumbo following a hearing Wednesday of last week in the fatal shooting of former Magistrate John May on Cow Creek, were executed that afternoon by the two officers.

Mullins, Martin and a posse of officers had sought to serve a warrant on May, August 29, when the shooting occurred. Judge Edward P. Hill, instructing the grand jury Tuesday, ordered May's death investigated.

At the hearing Wednesday details before and at the time of May's death were given in testimony before a crowded courtroom.

Results of tests on two bullets recovered at an autopsy on May's body, made Tuesday of last week, and on slivers of a bullet or bullets found in the death room will not be available for two weeks, it is said. The laboratory was asked to determine the calibre of the bullets and the guns from which they were fired and, if possible, to make the same determination on the slivers recovered. Finally, the laboratory was asked if skin discolorations on May's body could have been made by a gun blast at short range.

Commonwealth's Attorney Hollie Conley, County Attorney Barkley J. Sturull, James Dixon and Clifford B. Latta represented the Commonwealth at the hearing. State Senator Burns Martin appeared for the defendants.

Martin objected to Sheriff Henry Hale and Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald being called as witnesses on the grounds they were under investigation. Judge Stumbo overruled and Martin excepted in the record.

Asked when he first heard of a difficulty between May and Deputy Sheriff Willie Johnson, Sheriff Hale said that his wife called him at about 6:30 p.m. and said he was wanted at Wayland. With Joe Horn, Hale drove toward Wayland, State Police Lieutenant Lykins, Detective Chester Potter, Troopers Don Goble and Delmar Lafferty were parked at Allen as Hale was on his way to Wayland, and Hale testified that he was asked by Lykins if Johnson had the warrant for May's arrest. Hale said he didn't know. Passing the car of Mullins, Martin and Johnson at the Arkansas Creek curve, Hale turned his car and followed them back to the Y at Allen.

When Hale returned to Allen he said he was told by Mullins that he had a warrant for May issued by Wayland Police Judge Virgil Combs. Three cars of officers then started toward May's place on Cow Creek.

When the officers arrived at the May place, the car driven by Mullins and in which Martin and Johnson were riding, was in front. Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale's car was behind that and Sheriff Hale's car brought up the rear. Mullins, Johnson and Martin got out. Johnson asked for a flashlight and stationed himself near the upper corner of the building. Mullins and Martin entered the house. Sam Hale covered a man, later identified as Ebb Bentley, as he fled for his car parked nearby.

Sheriff Hale, hearing the shooting, entered the house. Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald had preceded him. Sheriff Hale testified that Mullins was standing on the left of the kitchen door with his arms down. Martin was standing beside him. May, between the Sheriff and deputies, was in a crouched position, with a gun in his hand. Hale saw May slump over. Martin picked up the dead man's gun and then saw that Mullins was shot. Hale asked Mullins out and took him to the hospital. He said that May died when he left. On his trip to the hospital he met the State Police on the mountain.

Hale exhibited and identified the May gun, a .32-20 calibre. Three shells, allegedly fired from the gun were presented. Marion Martin's gun, a S. & W. .38 Special, was exhibited, as was Mullins', a .357 Magnum.

Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald testified that Joe Horn called him from Prestonsburg and requested him to come to Allen, said, "Let's work tonight." He and Horn usually checked the highways at night, he said.

Herald went with the officers to (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

Bootlegging Threat Told By Judge

This Town-- That World

THE LIGHT THAT WAS

If, as we surely believe, one's love of God finds expression in love for others, Alice Lloyd must have loved her Creator much.

Use all the adjectives you can recall—devotion, concern, dedication, consecration, any and all of them—and you still fall far short of describing the great spirit of this woman whose life was a sacrifice for others, particularly for those who needed her most.

I, as has been the story so often in my experience, never met Mrs. Lloyd; I waited and postponed pilgrimage to her. Yet I knew her as a friend, because her life and work touched so many whom I know well.

Some say she buried herself in Caney Creek, this woman who sacrificed a brilliant journalistic career to come to the Mountains. But she was never buried till Tuesday; while she lived, life burst the bounds of a crippled body, and it shed a radiance in so many dark places. She came to Caney, almost without purse or scrip; she died, we are told, without ever having had a bank account of her own. Her wealth lay in a direction where so many scarcely deign to look.

Few of us worked with her as we should. Sometimes, our people may have thoughtlessly thrown barriers in her way. But, on the whole, we appreciated her within the limits of our ability to comprehend such a great soul. Of one thing we are not guilty: We did not entertain an angel unawares.

A ROUGH ROAD TO TRAVEL

A man's life is full of snares. He comes into the world without his consent and usually goes out against his will. When he is little, the big girls kiss him. If he remains poor, they say he is not energetic and if he gains riches, they say he inherited it. If he needs credit, nobody knows him, but if he is prosperous, everybody seeks favors.

If he is in politics, they say he is a grafter, and if he is out of politics, he is stupid. If he saves money, he is a miser. If he spends freely, he is a sucker. If he works hard, they call him crazy and if he doesn't work, he's a bum. If he pays all bills, he is a sap, and if he doesn't he's a deadbeat. If he rules his home, he is a tyrant and if he doesn't, they call him henpecked. If he is a doctor, some say he should have been an undertaker. If he is a dentist, he missed his calling and should have been a blacksmith. And if he splits kindling for widows, he's called a philanderer, but if he doesn't, he's a bad neighbor. And if he fishes—no, don't say it!

BUSINESS MEN MAKE TOURISM STUDY TOUR

Seventeen Prestonsburg business men visited Gatlinburg, Tennessee and neighboring Cherokee, North Carolina, last Tuesday and Wednesday to see at first hand the work residents of that area have done to make the Great Smoky Mountains area, and Gatlinburg, in particular, a tourist mecca.

The tour was made as leaders here envision the possibility of a huge influx of tourists, with Jenny Wiley State Park opening a million-dollar development this month and with the Breaks Interstate Park offering its facilities.

Those making the trip were encouraged by what they saw and learned.

They learned that Gatlinburg began its development 15 years ago with the opening of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park; that this resort center, which basically is a mere village of 1,641 souls, has accommodations for 9,000 persons a day—and that for the seven months of the tourist season these accommodations are filled to the limit, visitors often having to drive as far as Knoxville, Morristown and other cities for lodging. In seven months a total of 4,762,000 persons visited Gatlinburg.

The town has 118 motels, courts, lodges, inns and hotels, and building permits for private construction amounted to $1,000,000 last year. It thrives solely upon the tourist busi-

LARGE STILL IS SEIZED

500-Gallon Capacity Installation Served By Water, Gas Lines

One of the largest and most modern moonshine stills ever found in this county was destroyed Thursday of last week at Minnie. The 500-gallon still had a gas and water line connections for its operation.

Grant Arnold was arrested as the owner by Deputy Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis, Claude Flannery of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and two federal officers. He was taken before U. S. Commissioner Jack Page at Pikeville Saturday. Trial date, on a second offense charge, was set for Oct. 8.

In other raids by Lewis, Flannery and Sheriff Henry Hale, not heretofore reported, quantities of intoxicants were seized and the violators arrested.

The raids follow:

Sam Roberts, of Amba, searched August 1. One hundred ninety-four cans of beer were found and Roberts was charged in Magistrate Fred Conn's court.

A raid, August 3, on Walker Newsom, at Teaberry, netted 12 one-half pints of red whiskey and 15 cans of beer. He, too, was charged in Magistrate Conn's court.

Kelly Keathley, of Osborne, was searched August 13 and 100 gallons of mash and a still were destroyed. He was charged in the U. S. District court at Pikeville.

CANEY COLLEGE FOUNDER VICTIM AFTER DEDICATED HALF-CENTURY

Alice Spencer Geddes Lloyd died in the small hours of Tuesday morning in her bedroom, only a few feet removed from her "office" where she had planned and worked through the years for the education of mountain youth at the Caney Creek Community Center and Caney Junior College at Pippa Passes.

Mrs. Lloyd's passing was not unexpected. She had been a semi-invalid for more than 50 of her 86 years, and her condition became such in 1960 that she retired from the active directorship of the famed Knott county institution. Although she was director-emerita of the school and continued to work as long as her physical condition permitted, her condition became progressively worse. The approaching end became daily more evident.

News of her passing was received by thousands of students at the Caney Creek school, alumni and friends with a deep sense of sadness. "A light that came to the dark places has gone out," said one. The sentiment was representative.

Born in Athol, Mass., Nov. 13, 1876, the daughter of William E. and Ella May Geddes, Mrs. Lloyd was educated at Radcliffe College. Publisher-editor of a Massachusetts newspaper, she later was a newspaperwoman in Boston and was a Chataqua lecturer.

When she was about the age of 30 the illness occurred which resulted in the dedication of her life to the people of Eastern Kentucky. Once she spoke of this, "I was sick, spent more than a year on a hospital bed. It was then that the thought occurred to me, 'What shall I do with my life?'"

The answer was put into action. It is known not only at Pippa Passes and up and down the creeks and hollows of Knott and Floyd and surrounding counties but in every metropolis of the United States.

After partially recovering from the attack of spinal meningitis, she travelled overland with her mother by horse-and-buggy to Ivis, Knott county, in 1915, and the next year they went to remote Pippa Passes to found a school.

The site for the school was given her by the late Bisha Johnson, resident of Caney Creek. Mrs. Lloyd later added to the site by the purchase of more land. The Caney Creek Community Center began with one small mountain building. Today, 50 buildings are on the campus of the Center and Caney Junior College.

NEW SCHOOL BIDS ASKED

Board Hires Teachers, Employs Clerks, Others At Saturday Meeting

The Floyd County Board of Education, at its regular meeting Saturday evening, authorized Superintendent Charles Clark to petition the fiscal court to advertise for bids on the construction of the projected 22-room Middle Creek elementary school and the Garth vocational school. The two structures have been in the planning stage for months.

Clark said that he expects the bids to be opened and the successful bidder named at the October board meeting. Materially effecting the construction cost is a wage determination made recently by the Department of Labor Relations at Frankfort. Appeal date on the determination expired Sept. 2, Clark said. The new wage scale provides for a slight increase in skilled rates and set common labor at $1.25 per hour. Skilled common labor will be paid at the rate of $1.50 per hour.

Other business transacted by the board was the employment and transfer of teachers and school clerks.

Employed as teachers, upon the superintendent's recommendation, are Joyce Hampton, Spurlock school; Doris Robinson, Drift; Olivia T. May, McDowell; Kenneth Eads, Wheelwright; Chester Lafferty, home-bound unit; Lonnie Stone, Upper Jack's Creek; Elsa Prater, Big Branch; Brenda Hall, Left Toler Creek; Chattie Lou Hardwick, Maytown high school; Jean Rondell Prater, Wayland high; Kenneth Kitchen, Garrett high to teach music.

Teachers transferred are Polly Harmon, home-bound unit to Mare Creek; Vivian Tackett, (See Story No. 4, Page 5)

BAILEY DIES IN ACCIDENT

Maurice Allen Hart In Huesysville Mishap; DeRossetts Are Injured

One man was killed and a dozen or more persons were injured on Floyd county highways over the Labor Day week-end.

Ollie James Bailey, 20, of Hippos, died shortly after the car which he was driving collided Saturday with another on Ky. 80, between Garrett and Bosco, Charles Howard and Robert Bailey, also of Hippos, who were riding with him, were injured but not critically.

Maurice Allen, of Huesysville, driver of the other auto figuring in the tragedy, suffered a broken leg and other injuries. His wife also was hurt. Their one-year-old baby escaped, almost unhurt.

An investigation made by State Trooper Delmar Lafayette showed that Allen's car was in its proper lane of traffic and that the left side of Bailey's car collided with Allen's, then slid onto the highway, hit the shoulder of the road, turned over at least one time and stopped on its wheels. All three occupants were thrown from the car.

The family of James DeRossett, of Little Paint, had a narrow brush with death Sunday afternoon when their pickup truck was hit by a semi-trailer which jack-knifed as it was being driven down Abbott Mountain. Nine persons—Mr. and Mrs. DeRossett, their four children and Mrs. Martha Jane Mochler, of Lancer, and her two daughters—were in the truck. Most severely hurt were:

Joe DeRossett, broken arm; Donna Maria Mochler, broken leg; Mrs. Georgia DeRossett, fractured jaw; Ross Linda Mochler, concussion.

The semi-trailer was driven by (See Story No. 5, Page 8)

REED NAMED DRIVE HEAD

Lonesome Pine Council To Begin Fund-Raising October 1, Announced

B. F. Reed, drift coal operator and civic leader, will head the 1963 fund-raising drive of Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, which will begin October 1.

The drive is scheduled to close on Oct. 10. A budget of $51,000 has been adopted for the year, and this will be the goal for the fund campaign.

Mr. Reed, who has been recognized both locally and nationally for his years of Scouting activities, said of the Scout movement in referring to the Council's program for boys and to the finance drive:

"If I were a citizen of a nation controlled by the Communists, it would not be necessary to make this appeal. We ask for a modest investment to support an organization that helps boys develop their character and their bodies to become leaders in the American way of life. In Communist-controlled countries, the state furnishes the financial support, but they also train the boy in the way that the state wants them to go. Parents have no voice in the training given their children.

"As we begin the annual campaign for funds to support the Boy Scout program in the Lonesome Pine Council, we should first give thanks because the Boy Scout organization has a strong religious background and emphasizes the christian principles of our nation. In the Communist countries, all children are taught to be atheists and to despise Christianity."

The tentative budget adopted by the Lonesome Pine Council is just over $51,000. Forty-two per cent of this amount is used to pay the salaries of the trained professional staff members who work at the job of promoting Scouting every day in the year; 12 1/2% of the budget is used to pay the salaries of the office workers in the main office at Pikeville; 12 1/2% to pay the day-to-day travel cost of the professional staff; 8% to maintain Camp Shawnee on Dewey Lake; 1 1/2% represents the fee to the national organization of Boy Scouts; 5% is required for rent, utilities and postage at the Pikeville office; 18 1/2% of the budget covers other (See Story No. 3, Page 9)

JURY WARNED CHICAGO-LIKE SETUP POSED

Hill Urges Sheriff, State Police To Act; Asks Jailer Warned

Organized bootlegging in Floyd county, reminiscent of Chicago's days of gangsterism, was described by Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill to the grand jury Tuesday morning as that body prepared to begin an investigation of crime.

In his talk instructing the grand jury, he suggested Sheriff's office should work that State Police and the together to put an immediate end to the situation. He said it is rumored that one individual has the wholesale liquor rights in the county.

A few weeks ago, Judge Hill told the jury, a "big" liquor dealer from the Blue Grass came to the county and negotiated for the lease or purchase of property on which has been built a concrete block building into which a truck could be driven. He pointed out that this building is located behind a residence, and added, "It could hardly be a grocery store."

(The block building referred to by the judge is on Brandy Keg, a short distance outside Jenny Wiley State Park. County Court Clerk's records show that the property was sold by James C. Stone to B. Williams Dec. 1, 1960. If Williams has sold the property, the deed has not been recorded. A resident of the community said a woman at the property recently said she was Mrs. Willis Clay Henry and that she and her husband proposed to make of the property their summer home.)

"Nested in these hills, comparatively isolated, we are now getting a good road, a college, public housing, fine facilities at the lake, thanks to our good Governor. I think it is time to clean up our town and stop bootlegging on every corner," Judge Hill told the jury.

He turned to the practice adopted by Jailer Lawrence Hale of permitting prisoners to be at large as trustees, and asked the grand jury to give Hale forceful warning that he is violating the law by doing so. Hill told the jury he would prefer that if not indict the Jailer but that it should "remind" him.

J. S. Cramer, of the Auxier road, was named foreman of the grand jury.

SEEK THIEVES IN BREAK-IN

Wheelwright Robbery Loss Set At $3,000; Potter Assists Police

Thieves who broke into the Inland Steel Company store at Wheelwright and made away with an estimated $3,000 worth of merchandise, the night of August 26, are still being sought, State Detective Chester D. Potter said here this week. The loot, taken from the drygoods department, included $2,000 worth of jewelry.

Potter joined Prestonsburg police this week in the investigation of a break into the Prestonsburg high school lunchroom last Thursday night. Silverware and dishes were stolen.

A reward of $100 has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who burglarized the school. Woodrow Allen, principal of the high school, said it was the second break made into the building this summer. The first was effected about five weeks ago.

Bobby Henderson, John Henry Tucker and Elmer Ray Miller, who were jailed here Aug. 28 on a breaking and entering charge, executed bond to answer to the grand jury. Others booked at the jail.

Lester Prater, no operator's license, booked by Sheriff's deputies; Robert Lewis Tackett, accused of dynamiting a stream, arrested by Conservation Officer Don Mead; Orby Newman, drunk driving, jailed by State Trooper Elmo Allen.

THE PRICE IS TOO GREAT—
BESIDES, IT BUYS NOTHING

The present Democratic administration in Washington as well as its predecessor, the Republican, have so adamantly stuck to the policy of importing residual oil to the damage of an important part of this country's industry that we have for some time now been asking, "Why?"

To this hour we have not had a satisfactory answer. A definitive answer seems to us to be very important. This cheap, residual oil is being welcomed into the United States in direct competition with the coal industry, one of the nation's most important, and one which is beset by many ills exclusive of the handicap placed on it by its own government through importation of this competitive fuel.

This oil is being sold at any price—repeat, any price—to beat down competition from coal. And the monetary loss sustained by selling this oil at almost giveaway prices is recouped by piling on the charges to the American user of refined oil products.

While this is being done to help producers of what amounts to waste oil products, the same beneficent Uncle Sam demands of the coal industry compliance with various regulations, including hours, overtime, safety and other items. These same coal producers contribute greatly, not only as sources of employment and production of a vital fuel, but to the tax revenues of the nation. Meanwhile, they are burdened with a foreign competition through the false philanthropy of their own government.

Why largess for producers of residual oil—the waste from foreign refineries—and only a doler for those who depend upon the coal industry here at home for employment and a living?

Why does the United States sanction and encourage this importation of residual oil for the benefit of one or two foreign countries and a handful of international oil companies and to the sure destruction of a home industry on which so many good Americans depend for their chance at the pursuit of happiness?

Some tell us that the United States by this means seeks to buy the friendship of these foreign countries.

What a price to pay!
This foreign, waste oil is now entering the country in an annual amount equivalent to more than 44 million tons of coal. Each million of those displaced tons of coal, if it were produced, would mean adding some $4,650,000 dollars to the gross revenue of a coal company; would add $3,400,000 to the revenue of coal-carrying railroads, and would put an estimated 364 miners back to work.

The encroachment of residual oil in historic Eastern markets for Eastern Kentucky coal can be held partly accountable for a decline of more than 2 million tons in bituminous coal production in Kentucky last year.

Western Kentucky production also is affected because when Eastern markets are taken over by residual oil, Eastern and Southern coal which would otherwise be marketed there is diverted into midwestern markets in competition with East Kentucky coal.

This decline in Kentucky production last year cost an estimated $9 million in gross revenue, reduced the revenue of coal-carrying railroads approximately $5.4 million, and eliminated around 885 jobs in the coal industry, in addition to hundreds of railroad jobs. Damage to the Kentucky coal industry this year may be even worse due to the 10 per cent increase last April 1 in the residual oil import quota allotment to 185 million barrels for the 1962-63 quota year.

And does that price, which represents misery to so many workers and financial distress to those who have invested in a home industry, buy that coveted friendship? Indeed, can friendship be bought? It should at last become evident to this nation that it cannot.

It is time that the government take stock of this situation and take action to correct it.

The answer is simple.
Either Congress or the Administration has the power to place meaningful limitations that will take into account the interests of the citizens of the United States rather than the interests of a few companies and one or two foreign countries.

Rehabilitation Work
In County Progressing

A record-breaking 1,776 mentally and physically handicapped Kentuckians were rehabilitated during the past fiscal year by the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services of the Kentucky Department of Education.

In Floyd county 43 persons were rehabilitated and 80 cases served by the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services.

Ben F. Coffman, director of the bureau, said the number rehabilitated is a 20 per cent increase over the 1,475 persons rehabilitated in 1960-61.

The bureau does not classify a person as rehabilitated until he is fully employed. Coffman said many of those rehabilitated had previously been receiving relief payments.

In a year-end report submitted to Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler, Coffman said the rehabilitation bureau spent $1,110,623 providing services to 4,370 people in all of the state's 120 counties. People were rehabilitated to employment in every county, he said.

In addition to rehabilitation services, Coffman said training services were provided for 1,191 people and 535 others were enrolled in college.

Watching your weight? Then take advantage of summer vegetables to help you stick to your diet. Most of them are low in calories and high in minerals and vitamins. But watch the seasoners you use. Rich sauces or lots of butter or fat add many calories. Serve the vegetables raw — or, when you cook them, bake, broil or steam them. Then add no-calorie seasoners, such as spices and herbs or a dash of lemon juice or vinegar.

Telephone Talk

By GUY HISLE

Your Telephone Manager

WHEN IN ROME ... say "Pronto." That's how Italians answer their phone calls. The French say "Allo" ... For mosans, "Hwai." The Japanese say "Moshi, Moshi," the Spanish, "Digame."

AN UNUSUAL TALE concerns Clem, the Hysterical Hamster of Barberton, Ohio. Seems Clem was deposited in a phone booth for safe-keeping while his young owner went shopping. Clem got bored and started exploring. Eventually, the only sign of Clem was a wildly wagging tail sticking out of the phone's coin slot. A telephone repairman released a visibly shaken Clem who was presumably only trying to go visiting by telephone.

DEFENSE COMMUNICATIONS AND YOUR TELEPHONE COMPANY. If this country is ever attacked by enemy planes or missiles, a few minutes' warning could mean the difference between national disaster and survival. Fortunately, we have a warning system, which, in case of attack, sends out an alert over nationwide telephone and teletypewriter networks ... which the Bell System helped build, equip or connect. In the crucial hours following an attack, Bell System circuits would carry defense communications by special routing to prevent service interruptions. This communications system is unmatched anywhere in the world and is one of America's great strengths.

NOW! TWX IS DIAL—the latest Bell System development which brings new speed and flexibility to business and industrial communications. Dial TWX makes possible direct connection between 60,000 machines in the nationwide teletypewriter exchange service at the turn of a dial. Users can type back and forth on the same connection for immediate replies to inquiries. Line between sender and receiver is direct and completely private. Operators will be available to handle collect and conference calls and requests for assistance. Dial TWX is another way your telephone company works to bring you the best communications facilities available anywhere in the world.

"We plan this year," Reed said, "to contact more people and ask them to give us their financial support, even though that support may be small. We will contact industry and business, professional people, and people in all walks of life. To be successful in our campaign, we must get the support of everyone."

The Council Campaign Committee has developed a plan which includes an effort to solicit funds for the 1963 budget by giving opportunity for contributions by a larger number of citizens which number would equal 12 to 15 percent of the total population of our respective communities under local community leadership. For example, a community with a population of 2,000 people would have normally 240 to 300 citizens, when properly selected from the total population, who would like to make a contribution to the administrative cost of the Council's operating budget. In order to reach the most people possible without undue burden on the campaign workers no one will be expected to contact more than 10 prospective contributors, and so a community of 2,000 population with 240 to 300 prospects would require 25 to 30 campaign solicitors.

Lonesome Pine Council is divided into six districts for administrative purposes. District chairmen are: Don Combs, Pikeville, of the Pike District; Byron C. All, Norton, Va., of the Jefferson Forest District; Woodrow Allen, Prestonsburg, of the Jenny Wiley District; I. F. Burke, Hazard, of the Kentucky River District; John Blankenbecker, Whitesburg, of the Letcher District; and H. A. Street, Grundy, Va., of the Breaks District.

These men are now in the process of selecting the manpower for such an organization for the respective communities of the 15 county Council.

Said Mr. Reed: "I urge everyone to support the Boy Scout program and to urge your neighbor and your friend to do the same. I know of no family that has had a boy grow up in the Scouting program that is not willing to support the program and do everything possible to make it available to more boys. A successful Boy Scout program will eliminate many problems with juvenile delinquents in our county courts. Ask your County Judge about the value of the Boy Scout program and when you are asked for financial support, give a little more than you had planned to give."

By GORDON MOORE

The Hazard Bull Dogs come to Prestonsburg Friday night in quest of their 26th consecutive conference win. They have not lost a league game since the 1957 season, when Jenkins turned the tables.

After scoring a 14-0 opening win over Jenkins last Friday, Hazard has Whitesburg as the major hurdle to its fifth successive conference title, and also the Class AA Region 4 crown. They meet in Hazard on September 21.

Prestonsburg beat Wheelwright, 19-12, in a tough struggle for the Floyd county championship, but the Black Cats don't have the power or experience to cope with the veteran Bull Dogs, who have a returning backfield of Butch Green, Kenny Tate, Ronnie Joseph and A. J. Davis.

Linemen Benny Pisman and Dean Snor are veteran 200-pound tacklers and outweigh any of the Black Cat linemen.

By way of comparison: Jenkins stopped Wheelwright, 39-0. Then Hazard downed Jenkins, 14-0, while the best Prestonsburg could do with Wheelwright was a 19-12 win.

One bright spot for Prestonsburg was the play of quarterback Mike Wells and halfback Paul Fuester, who tallied all the game touchdowns and was the leading ground-gainer for both teams. If the rugged 185-pounder had the blocking of former Black Cat teams he might well become the top runner in the school's history.

Prestonsburg has never beaten Hazard in football in 16 meetings and it is doubtful if the Cats can hold the visitors to a three or four touchdown win in the 8 p.m. encounter, Friday.

Individual scoring stars were plentiful in games played last week-end as six players scored a minimum of two touchdowns. Whitesburg's Delano Thomas tallied three, as did Paintsville's Johnny Porter and Prestonsburg's Paul Fuester. Pikeville halfbacks John Ratliff and Virgil Honaker, tallied twice and Hazard's Butch Green registered two.

Wheelwright will play its first home game Friday night when the Elkhorn City Cougars move in. The two clubs battled to a 6-6 tie last season. The Pike countians opened their season with a 32-0 conquest of Wurtland.

The Floyd County Board of Education has awarded a contract to the firm of Akers & Akers to install a new floor in the Prestonsburg high school fieldhouse. Installation will begin Thursday of this week. The fieldhouse has been repainted inside.

Once again the Francis Stores of Prestonsburg are sponsoring the Player of the Week Award. This week's recipient is Paul Fuester, 185-pound senior halfback. A new ruling this year states that a player cannot receive the award for two consecutive weeks.

TWO TOWNS GRAB WINS

Hazard, Whitesburg Take Impressive Games On Area Football Front

Hazard and Whitesburg have rolled to impressive victories on the Eastern Kentucky high school football front.

Walt Green's Perry county Bulldogs nipped Jenkins, 14-0, for their 25th successive Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference win. Whitesburg whipped Belfry, 27-6, and Elkhorn City made Jack Hall's debut a rousing success as the Pike countians belted Wurtland, 32-0.

Prestonsburg had its hands full in edging Wheelwright, 19-12, for the Floyd county championship. Walter Brugh's Paintsville Tigers spoiled Rowan County's first football efforts, 42-0, and Pikeville had an easy time conquering Mr. Sterling Dubois, 26-6.

Individual scoring stars were numerous as Paintsville's burly fullback, Johnny Porter, scored 22 points, three touchdowns and four extra points. Whitesburg's speedy halfback, Delano Thomas, sped for three six-pointers and Prestonsburg's Paul Fuester tallied three times.

Butch Green, Hazard's junior scoring star of last season, scored both touchdowns in pacing the Bulldogs over Jenkins. Green ran 30 yards for a second quarter score and was on the receiving end of a 15-yard pass from Kenny Tate for the other.

Delano Thomas put Whitesburg on top, 7-0, in the first quarter with a 14-yard jaunt, and he also ran for the point. He came back with a six-yard run in the second period before the Pirates cut the margin to 13-6 with a TD in the third quarter. Thomas' eight-yard run in the third period and fullback Ronald Day's one-yard plunge ended the scoring.

Porter, a 195-pounder, got his three markers on runs of 4, 5, and 13 yards while his mates held the visiting Rowan countians to a minus 16 total yardage. Paintsville halfback James Smith turned in the longest touchdown run with a 40-yarder. End Jim Allen gave the Tigers two points on a safety and B. Kazee and Marty Tackacs each registered six-pointers.

Pikeville's two halfbacks, John Marvin Ratliff and Virgil Honaker, each scored twice as the Panther's atoned for last season's 6-0 setback. Honaker raced 55 yards in the third period after scoring earlier in the three.

Prestonsburg jumped into a 12-6 halftime margin as Fuester, 185-pound bruiser, galloped 55 and 20 yards to paydirt. Wheelwright tallied in the second period as quarterback Vernon Hall hit end Doug Hall with a 40-yard scoring strike.

Fuester again went 14 yards in the third period to up the count to 19-6. Vernon Hall climaxed a 78-yard march by diving over the two for Wheelwright.

The heavier Trojans outgained Prestonsburg on the ground and through the air.

Prestonsburg will be host to defending champion Hazard this Friday night.

THE FEMININE SIDE OF BOWLING NEWS

By IMA BOWLER

Well, girls, league play begins this week for the fall season, and after a summer of either rest or practice scores should begin going up and some real games should be bowled this winter. I hope by now all of you have organized your leagues, and are ready to go. I know that many of the league secretaries did not attend the meeting to receive their supplies, and I will try as I can to get these to you. But, if you are ready to bowl, and don't have them, you can pick them up at my house. Memberships must be renewed right away, so don't neglect your dues, and help to get some leagues sanctioned on time, for a change. They must be in within three weeks after league play begins and are not supposed to be accepted unless they are. So let's do things right this year.

A new rule states that games bowled by an ineligible bowler shall not count, so be careful about this. It is our intention that every bowler should have a rule book. If you do not receive one, please notify your secretary, who may in turn order them from us. These supplies are available and can be yours if we all work together to get them distributed.

Betadely, let's add our heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Estill Carter on the arrival of Edward Lee.

High bowler at Lake Lanes this week is Shirley Callihan, with a 198. And Lake Lanes will hold its organizational meeting for Junior leagues for boys and girls Saturday at 9 a.m. Ladies' Coffee and Do-Nut League will get rolling this Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. Call Lake Lanes if you are interested. Also at Lake Lanes, September 11 and 12, there will be an AJBC resident certified instructors' school. Bob Mason, AJBC field representative, will be in charge of the two-day school.

On the Pro Bowlers at Lake Lanes, Saturday before last, there were two three-member team matches where the amateurs bowled the pros in two two-game series. Pros won all games. Pro Sonny Hughes (bowling on wrong foot) bowled 815 for four games, averaging 204. Don Smith excelled at trick shots and closed by rolling between Archie Fuller and Sonny Hughes' legs, and got a strike. Free instruction was given all day.

May I also say that this column is meant to be impartial, representing all establishments and bowling events in this area. If it sometimes seems that it isn't, it simply is because I can only write what is turned in to me, and if I don't get it I can't write it. Now, I know our managers are busy, but if you would like to see more news from somewhere, mention it to your manager. They simply get too busy to turn in anything, and in turn I feel that it might look like I was at fault.

Visiting Clinic Held At Pikeville, Aug. 29; Fourth One Presented

The first three were held at Scottsville, Corbin and Shelbyville.

Floyd Fair Amusements Features Merry-Go-Round; Early History Is Told

The musical merry-go-round coming with the Gooding Amusement Company, one of the major attractions at the Floyd County Fair, represents the latest development in the oldest of all riding devices.

Eye-catching and ear-snaring, the merry-go-round of today is a far cry from the first model built in 1837 by a German wheelwright who had stumbled onto the idea while cooling the hot rims of wagon wheels.

It was Michael Dentzel's, custom to place the rim while hot, on a wheel, and then as it cooled, it contracted making a snug fit on the wheel. Then, to keep his children occupied, he built a small bench on top of the axle and placed them in it, figuring they would be both safe and amused as he worked.

To his amazement, the children were thrilled. So, too, were the neighbor children. Pondering this, Dentzel decided to build a ride using the same principle. In 1837 he built the first merry-go-round, a crude affair by the standards of present day, but it proved to be a sensational success.

That first ride was powered by hand. Horse power eventually took over but was soon replaced by steam power about the same time the inventor's son G. A. Dentzel, came to this country to build his first merry-go-round in 1867.

Floyd Gooding, owner and general manager of the Gooding Amusement Company, bought his first merry-go-round while still in his teens and started his career in the amusement ride business. Today, the Gooding Company sends 14 of these merry-go-rounds, along with 100 other rides, through 17 states each season. Gooding has been supplying rides for more than 50 years and is grateful to Dentzel for his imagination and mechanical genius in organizing his idea for one of the most popular of all rides that have been devised in the past century.

Miss Honaker Completes Marine Corps Training

Parris Island, S. C.—Woman Marine Pvt. Shirley L. Honaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Honaker, of Harold, Kentucky completed recruit training for women marines August 15 at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, South Carolina.

Parris Island is the only training base for women marines. The indoctrination to Marine Corps life includes basic military law, discipline, military drill, customs and courtesies and other military subjects. In addition, women marines receive individual training in business English, spelling, typing, filing, correspondence techniques, and other professional subjects.

Miss Martin saw Mullins and Martin come inside the house. She was leaning backwards in the chair and as she saw them, Mullins first with a gun in his hand, she cried: "Oh, Lord, have mercy!" Mullins, then, she testified, said: "Don't move, I'll kill you." She said, "When Johnny turned, Troy shot."

May told her to run and before Miss Martin got outside the second shot was fired. "If Johnny got his hand on his gun it is more'n I know," she said. She testified that she was positive of only three shots while she was inside the house but when she got outside the firing "sounded like firecrackers."

Under cross-examination by Burnis Martin, she said that May's gun was at his left hand but the shells were at the right. She admitted that May seemed drunk. Under cross-examination she added that Lonnie Herald was in the door immediately after she saw Mullins and Martin. She concluded that when she came outside, Willie Johnson said, "Get her."

Willie Johnson, from whom, it was alleged, May had taken a gun earlier in the day, testified that he, Mullins and Martin drove to May's place and Mullins told him to post himself at the upper end of the building and not let May see him as it might offend him. He was there when the shooting occurred, couldn't see inside, judged that four to six shots were fired. One shot, he said, seemed ahead of the rest.

Mullins, Johnson continued, was led out of the building after the shooting, and he looked inside. John May was lying with his head under a table or dresser and, he believes, on his face.

Asked if he ever saw the May gun before the day of the hearing, he said, "Yes, he put that gun in my face and belly with the gun cocked at Ligon." This was in reference to the difficulty Johnson had had with May several hours earlier and for which a warrant was written.

May, Johnson said, had come to his home at Ligon, at 4 p.m., and at gun-point, said: "You hired a man to swear a lie on me," referring to a witness who had sworn to a search warrant the day before. William Younts, the witness, was then in the back seat of May's car. May said he was going to tie

Cow Creek and he testified Mullins and Martin were already in the May house when he arrived. He started in the house but Sheriff Hale got in front. "If I remember right, Hale stopped a moment," he added. Four or five shots were fired inside the building as Herald was standing at the door. Herald commented that it was strange he didn't see Martin but he said Mullins was standing at the side of the door with his hands down. May was attempting to rise, got about halfway up, turned once and fell. Herald said he turned then and left the building. He demonstrated the position May was in just before he fell, said that he didn't see a gun in May's hands. He was there, he said "by orders of the Sheriff." He was delayed in getting into the building by a woman rushing out, screaming. He said he didn't know how many shots were fired.

Catherine Martin, housekeeper for May, was the only eyewitness to the actual shooting to testify, since Mullins and Martin did not take the stand. She said she and May were sitting at the kitchen table, May eating supper. Edd Bentley and Virgie Yates were there and were about to leave when May came home. Bentley got May something to eat from the stove and they went outside. May had been home, Miss Martin said, about 30 minutes when the officers came. She testified subsequently that May had said he was expecting the State Police but she didn't ask him why. May's gun was on the left side of the table.

He had left May eating and had arrived at his car about 75 yards away when the shooting occurred. Virgie Yates was sitting in the car. Someone put a flashlight in his face, said: "Don't move, I'll shoot you." Catherine Martin ran out of the house, screaming for him to go to May but Virgie Yates was screaming for him to get in the car.

Willie Johnson, recalled to the stand, stated that about the time the shots were fired Catherine Martin came through the door. He thought there were four or five shots but added that he was guessing. One shot was fired, then there was a pause, then three or four close together.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale, who said Deputy Sheriff Henry Stone rode with him to Cow Creek, testified that he held the flashlight on Bentley until he was searched. The shooting occurred, he told the court, at about the time he stopped his car at May's place. He couldn't say how many shots were fired. He put Catherine Martin and Virgie Yates in his car "to bring them in."

Catherine Martin, on a recall to the stand, was questioned by Burnis Martin about her statement in an affidavit that she saw May reach for his gun. She answered that May may have reached "around like that (demonstrating) with his left hand" but only after the first shot was fired.

She went on to say that as far as she knew he didn't get his gun and that the first shot was fired before he attempted to reach his gun. Asked who fired first, she replied: "I would have to say Troy shot first." She added that when Mullins came in he made a few steps inside but she couldn't estimate the distance between May and the officers but she affirmed it "was pretty close." She brushed close to Mullins and Martin as she fled the room. The second shot was fired as she went through the door, she added.

John Johnson but Mrs. Johnson came out and cocked a pistol at May's back. Johnson told her not to shoot May.

The three drove to Everett Reynolds' place and Younts said: "There's Bee Osborne who'll swear that I never saw you before." Younts signed some kind of a statement exonerating May from selling whiskey and then May required Johnson to sign this statement: "I never in my life hired no man to swear a lie on John May." Younts and Johnson were released, the latter going to Wayland where he got with Mullins and Martin. Armed with a warrant, the three drove towards Allen.

He said that at Wayland he knew of no one calling Sheriff Hale. When he entered the death room on Cow Mountain, he was in the room only about a minute after the shooting. He alleged, under examination by Burnis Martin, that May kidnapped him, drove with his right hand with his pistol in his left hand.

Henry Clay, May's landlord, and Mrs. Clay testified they live about 300 yards from the house tenanted by May and at the time of the shooting were sitting on their front porch. Clay said he heard three shots and "no more" and his wife testified the same. Mrs. Clay demonstrated for the court the manner in which the shots were fired by tapping a table. There was a pause after the first shot, then two others in rapid succession.

Ebb Bentley, who left the house about the time May returned home, testified that he heard only three shots but wouldn't say no more were fired. He corroborated the Clays in the manner the shots were fired. He never saw May's gun, he added.

He had left May eating and had arrived at his car about 75 yards away when the shooting occurred. Virgie Yates was sitting in the car. Someone put a flashlight in his face, said: "Don't move, I'll shoot you." Catherine Martin ran out of the house, screaming for him to go to May but Virgie Yates was screaming for him to get in the car.

Concrete gives taxpayers riding quality that lasts... the National Road Test confirms it

Out of the recent $27 million National Road Test comes significant new information on pavement performance.

Sponsored by the American Association of State Highway Officials, this road test was the most scientific ever conducted.

Side by side on 5 loops near Ottawa, Illinois, concrete and asphalt test sections carried the same truck traffic for two years. After the impact of more than 1,100,000 loads, the surviving concrete still averaged "very good," while most of the surviving asphalt averaged "fair." Here is further evidence that concrete can give taxpayers long-range riding comfort and lower upkeep costs for their new streets, roads and highways.
