MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

Mr. and Mrs. Goble Branham announce the marriage of their daughter, Aileen, to Mr. Vance Mitter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Mitter, of Charleston, West Virginia, on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 11, at 3 o'clock, in the First Methodist Church, Prestonsburg.

The Rev. Orin M. Simmerman performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar of palms. An arched gateway to the altar was interlaced with smilax and white mums, flanked by branched cathedral candelabra holding white candles which were lit by David Evans and Bill Frazier. Tall standards of white gladioli centered the background of the archway.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Chalmer H. Frazier presented a program of organ nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. John Evans, who sang, "Always," "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace, tier on tier over satin, featuring a basque bodice, sabrina neckline and lily-pointed sleeves. Her imported waist-length veil of illusion, edged with matching Chantilly lace, was held in place with a queen's crown of seed pearls and multi-sequins. She carried a lace-covered Bible with white roses, centered with an orchid and streamers of white satin and stephanotis. Her jewelry was a strand of matched pearls.

Mrs. Alex Holbrook, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore a floor-length chiffon dress of cotillion blue with matching shoes and mitts. Her small hat was the same shade with orange blossoms and flowing veil.

Little Miss Pamela Goble, the flower attendant, wore the same identical dress as the matron of honor. She carried a basket of rose petals and dyed carnations.

Mr. Vance Mitter served his son as best man. Ushers were David Hereford and Jack Branham.

Mrs. Branham, mother of the bride, wore a heavenly blue brocade dress with matching jacket, a tiny blue hat with matching veil. She wore blue crystal jewelry and a corsage of white carnations. Her accessories were blue.

Mrs. Mitter, mother of the groom, wore a sheath dress of royal blue peau-de-soie with wrist-length sleeves and side drape, a matching turban and accessories. She wore white carnations.

The bride, a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and the Mayo Vocational School, is associated with the American Finance Co. Mr. Mitter, a graduate of Stonewall Jackson high school and West Virginia University, is manager of Cox Department Store, here.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlours. White flowers decorated the reception room. The refreshment table, covered with filigree lace cloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Silver candelabra held lighted tapers flanked by pale orange carnations, gracing the wedding cake. Assisting at the table were Mrs. Carl Day, Nadine Hammond, Shirley Hatfield and Mrs. Williams of Paintsville.

The bride and groom left, immediately following the reception, for a honeymoon in the Smoky Mountains and Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Vance Mitter, Mrs. Evelyn Pittman, Mrs. Lester Pauley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ashmore, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Alexander, III, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Payne, Jr., Phil Smith, George Dennett, William Krantz, Junior Griffin, Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. Jones, of Drift.

OBSERVE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Card Canvass Yields Satisfactory Results For Telephone Company

Only one out of every dozen Martin and Allen telephone customers had unfavorable comments about the telephone company or its service in the post-card canvass just completed in these two towns, according to Guy Hisle, local manager for Southern Bell Telephone Company.

"We are quite pleased with the response we received from our Martin-Allen customers," Hisle said. "We mailed 915 cards and 165 were returned with comments. Seventy-six replies, or about eight percent of the total mailed, were criticisms, even though we pointed out we were not looking for compliments."

The company started the canvass eight weeks ago, mailing double postcards to all customers here. The purpose of the project was to find out which customers had complaints so the company could try to remove the causes of the complaints.

Each customer was asked to fill out and return half of the card, listing their comments or criticisms of telephone service or the telephone company, and to mail replies to the company's manager.

"All customers who had complaints have been contacted in an effort to clear up the source of their complaints," Hisle said, "and about 80 percent have expressed satisfaction."

Some of the complaints dealt with minor mechanical difficulties with equipment at the customers' premises, and these were easily remedied, according to Hisle.

"We want to express our appreciation to everyone who returned comments during the canvass," Hisle added. "Their comments are a big help to us in our most important job of giving our customers the kind of service they want."

"We hope everyone realizes that the post card canvass is only one way to make their complaints known. If any of our customers have a service problem now, or in the future, we hope they will be sure to call it to our attention," Hisle said.

SNOW SERVES AS SHELTER FOR BEASTS, BIRDS, PLANTS

Snow is an insulator, a warm shelter and a vital stepladder for the world of birds and beasts and plants. So reports Jean George, well known nature writer, in a December Reader's Digest article, "Snow Is to Live With."

The fall of a foot of snow, for example, lifts wide footed rabbits who stay on top of it to a new level of twigs and stems for their food. Snow is one of the best insulators for many plants.

The most fascinating use to which snow has been put by the creatures of the wild is in its development as cities. Under the snow are millions of rooms, tunnels and roadways—drilled, packed, dug and bitten there by wintering animals, until a cross-section of a week-old snowstorm looks like a Swiss cheese.

On the rock slopes of the west and the north, the oaks or conifers—mountain rabbits with short ears and no tails to get cold—live their daily lives under tons of snow. Mice, shrews, weasels and otters all carve roads and rooms beneath the whiteness. The star-nosed mole makes clover-leaves and roller coasters.

Most wild animals, dogs and children love the snow. Mink and weasels play in it, leaping like darning needles in and out, diving into the snow like water. The article is condensed from National Wildlife.

Is the Damage Irreparable?

Floyd county may have suffered its greatest damage from the labor troubles which have plagued the mining sections the last two months.

Heretofore, capital has informed communities seeking manufacturing plants or other industrial installations capable of cutting into the unemployment problem that certain facilities and advantages are necessary to attract such business. Such matters as transportation, education, the religious life of the community, recreation, entertainment a generally wholesome atmosphere—these are vital, those seeking such enterprise for their communities have been told.

Floyd county has taken, or is taking, care of most of these matters. Better schools already are serving the county; a junior college here is little more than a year away; there has never been any dearth of religious life for those who will participate. Dewey Lake has provided a great area for recreation, and now Jenny Wiley State Park, its million-dollar lodge and improvements give this county an edge over most counties of Kentucky and adjoining states in the area of recreation and entertainment. Meanwhile, Prestonsburg is near to realizing a great need in a new sewerage system and a sewage disposal plant. The town of Martin has an urban renewal project under way, and Prestonsburg is working toward the same improvement. And the state of Kentucky, under the leadership of Governor Bert Combs, is driving into this county the first modern highway the Mountains have ever known.

All this removes the old, pat objections to this area. Construction of dams in the headwaters of the Big Sandy will even rid the valley of the constant threat of flood.

But these may be forgotten by capital as it casts about for a spot to locate a plant and invest its money. For there are other objections now—dynamiting, violence, even attempted murder.

(You say, such things shouldn't be printed in a newspaper; we should keep quiet about all such unpleasantness? Don't kid yourselves—the moving finger has already writ, the record stands, and all our silence and secretiveness cannot obliterate it.)

The Times is not attempting to fix the blame for this tragic situation. Perhaps we all are to blame. It is saying, however, that the use of dynamite and guns does not speak for the county a welcome to those who might—who just conceivably might—have an idea of investing a few hundred thousand dollars in a business here. The coal business has already passed its peak in this county. We must look elsewhere for at least a part of our economic existence. The day will come when we shall have to look elsewhere for all. Tourism will help. Canalization of the Big Sandy River would help.

But what would help most would be a change of heart, a way of thinking which does not hold to the gun as the means of settling differences.

DECEIT

"Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience." (Eph. 5-6)

The church is the light. It is as a city set on a hill whose light cannot be hid. The church cannot have fellowship with the world of darkness for we are of the Lord, and should walk as children of light. We should have the pure mind of Christ and live Christlike lives. We have put off the old and put on the new. Let us walk upright daily before all people. We should not grieve the holy spirit but put all malice and strife from us and all evil speaking. "And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you." (Eph. 4-32)

We should be followers of God. We can be men and women in Christ so that we can help those who have lately accepted Christ. We can have enough and to spare of the things of Christ. God will give us the things we need to stand, and we can give to others. God has plenty, and He will give us more. We have nothing to fear, God is our shepherd, and we are the flock.

What's Going On in FISH & WILDLIFE by MINOR CLARK, Commissioner
Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

Q. I notice the grouse season does not open with that of the other small game in Kentucky this year. The small game season opens on November 15 and continues through January 13, but for grouse the season runs from December 1 through January 29, according to the regulations. Why was this season set for a later date? R. W., Wilmore, Kentucky.

A. There are several reasons for the later grouse season (By the way it is the same as for last year). First the grouse is a hardy woods bird and offers good late hunting. Since he is found in the wooded areas, he is easier to spot when he flushes if all the leaves have fallen from trees and vines. The hunters success is therefore better during the later months. Secondly, many quail hunters also like to hunt grouse. With the later season on grouse sportsmen are permitted to hunt from November 15, the opening of the quail season, through January 29, the ending of the grouse season, thereby giving them almost two and one-half months of hunting. By the way, the grouse population in their native habitat in Eastern Kentucky is described as excellent this year.

Q. Is it too late to have a new pond stocked with fish this year? J. B., Springfield.

A. The answer is yes. There are two fish deliveries made each year, with the bluegill being delivered in the fall and the bass in the spring. Both deliveries have been made for this year. However, you should make application for stocking with your conservation officer right now. He will send that application to this office and both species will be delivered next year. The bass delivery usually occurs in late May or early June while the bluegill delivery occurs in November.

What's your question about the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources? Send it to Minor Clark, Commissioner, Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Kentucky, and it will be answered in this column in the near future. All questions must be signed by the sender but initials only will be used in the column if desired.

CLIPPING DAIRY HERD
Lexington, Ky. — Clipping the dairy herd is a task of farmers during the fall, says E. C. Troutman, UK Ag Extension Service dairyman. A regular clipping program pays, he says, because: Clipping makes it easier to keep cows clean, saves time preparing cows for milking, lowers bacteria count, reduces sediment in milk and avoids contamination of milk.

Tuberculosis has been known as a major disease of mankind as far back as recorded history goes.

A Major Tragedy Impinges

Governor Bert Combs has called a meeting in Frankfort at which all the interested parties will try to find ways to keep open the Miners Memorial Hospitals in Eastern Kentucky. The Welfare and Retirement Fund of the United Mine Workers, which owns and operates the hospitals, has hinted that it will close at least four of the hospitals if it cannot give them to the communities in which they are located.

This would be a major tragedy for Eastern Kentucky. The region already suffers a severe shortage of doctors, dentists, nurses and hospital beds. In some of the counties in which the Miners hospitals are located, they constitute the only available hospital facilities. Rising costs of hospital operation, coupled with the declining number of miners eligible for hospital admission, undoubtedly prompted the U.M.W. decision. But these same factors make it extremely unlikely that the hard-pressed coal communities in which the hospitals are located could undertake their support and operation. Four Eastern Kentucky communities in recent years have been forced by rising costs to convert their hospitals into first-aid centers. It would require substantial outside help to enable them to reverse this process.

Governor Combs is quick to admit that he does not yet know how these hospitals can be kept open without U.M.W. participation. Neither, it appears, does anyone else. Regional compacts, under which several counties could co-operate in the support and operation of the hospitals, have been suggested, but whether such compacts are feasible, considering the fiscal plight of most of the coal counties, or legal under present state law, no one knows. For that reason, it is good to see that the Governor has invited to next month's meeting his best and most imaginative advisers, as well as representatives of the affected counties, and the medical and mining profession.

It may be that federal or state aid will be necessary to continue operation. Perhaps some way can be found to defray the cost of treating the charity and ineligible-miner cases which now constitute such a financial burden for the hospitals. Certainly every effort must be made. It would be a shame to the state, as well as a tragic blow to the mountains, if we should allow these splendid hospitals to stand vacant and idle in the midst of so much need. —The Courier-Journal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FROM ONE WHO IS THANKFUL EDITOR, The Times:

Thanksgiving has come and gone, and I wonder if we have ever stopped to think about just how much God has given us in the past year. We are to be thankful for our country is still free of war, even though we did have some dark days. But God brought us through them. This summer, we had sunshine and rain for our crops, beautiful flowers and birds to look at; we have our children we love so much, and most of us have nice homes and more food than is good for us to eat. We have cars and enough clothing for our bodies. And, most of all, we have God and His word for our salvation, and He is the greatest of all.

Tonight, if I had my choice between Him and all the goods of this world, I would without hesitation choose God. Without God we are nothing, and have nothing. He is everything.

You see why I am writing this, in the past year I did not do His will but my own. So this next year I vow to do His will. My life is His to do with as He chooses and whatever He chooses to do with it I will be thankful. I hope in this next year we will all show God thanks by reading His word in the Bible and spending some of every day we live on our knees in prayer and helping our fellowmen.

Shepherd Alleges Tree Rustlers Took Walnut On Open Fork Farm; Used Mules, Truck In Operation

Tree rustling is a new twist to area offenses it was learned this week when Hargis Shepherd, of Gunlock, former Magoffin county deputy sheriff, charged that unknown persons entered upon the isolated land of the late Sam Shepherd on the head of Open Fork of Middle Creek and "rustled" a giant walnut tree.

The tree, prized by Sam Shepherd during his lifetime, was of the curly variety and measurements of the stump show it was 27 inches in diameter. Value of the tree was set at several hundred dollars. Hargis Shepherd said the thieves used mules and a truck to remove three logs cut from the tree. Investigation fall to produce a single clue, he said. Shepherd, who owns one-seventh of the timber area, offers his interest in the land as a reward for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the "rustlers."

Manager Malinay Gives Beneficiaries Advice; New Address Important

When you move, make sure your social security check follows you.

This is the advice given Prestonsburg beneficiaries by E. B. Malinay, district manager of the Pikeville social security office.

"Whether you are moving to California, Florida or only across the street," he said, "be sure to notify social security of the new address." The notice should be sent at least two weeks before the next check is due, to make sure that check will go to the correct address. If the change of address notice is received before the middle of the month, the Social Security Administration has time to change its records before the next month's checks are issued. The change of address notice may be mailed to the Pikeville district office, or the beneficiary may visit that office to give notice in person. Mr. Malinay added that the notice must be signed by the person who receives the checks and must show the social security number.

If notice of the change of address can't be sent in early in the month, Mr. Malinay suggested that beneficiaries, after notifying the social security office, make arrangements with the post office to have the next check forwarded to the new address. He also said that beneficiaries should notify social security of any other events which may affect the receipt of their checks. Those needing assistance in making a report should get in touch with the social security office at Second and Division streets in Pikeville, or they may meet a representative at the Employment Office here on any Tuesday.

Kentucky Farm Income Now Totals $667,632,000, Commissioner Announces

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 25 (Spl.)—Farm income in Kentucky during 1961 amounted to $667,632,000, placing the state 23rd in the nation, State Agriculture Commissioner Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp has reported.

A recent news story quoting a 1959 U. S. Department of Agriculture study based on a "level of living" placed the state in 44th position among other states at that time.

Beauchamp also pointed out that Kentucky led all South-Central states in the percentage increase in farm income between 1960 and 1961. The increase amounted to 16 per cent, he said. Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma are included in the South Central states.

Beauchamp also pointed out that Kentucky's beef industry is booming. During 1961 the state had a 9.6 per cent increase in number of animals, the highest increase in the nation, he said.

Kentucky, which ranks first in the nation in the production of burley tobacco, produced 65 per cent of the U. S. burley tobacco crop in 1961, Beauchamp said. And, he added, more tall fescue is grown in the state than in any other.

State Conservation Commissioner J. O. Matlock pointed out that since much of the state's land is unutilized and thus can only impractically be farmed, great emphasis is being placed on forestry. Last year more than 16 million seedlings were planted in the state, he said, with the poorest farm counties receiving the most trees. Leslie planted 273,500; Perry planted 803,500; and Breathitt planted 298,000, he reported.

Gene L. Butcher, director of the Kentucky Division of Forestry, said that the state is working to find new uses for timber and to find new markets. The Forestry Division works with both timber growers and manufacturers using wood to help them operate more efficiently.

Emergency Control Plan Adopted by Committee; Rationing Is Envisioned
Frankfort, Nov. 25 (Spl.)—Two key emergency plans which would place the state under strict food rationing and price-wage control in the event of a national nuclear emergency or disaster have been adopted by the Kentucky Emergency Resource Planning Committee.

The plans would be invoked by executive order of the governor, which could be decreed either before or after a national emergency.

Details of the plans have been reported by John F. Simons, Louisville, committee chairman, and State Finance Commissioner Robert Matthews, emergency planning coordinator.

"Interested parties may direct inquiries or suggestions on food rationing and price-wage control plans to the Finance Department between now and Dec. 6," Matthews said.

The price-wage plan would freeze all wages and prices at prevailing levels immediately on the date of the governor's executive order proclaiming the state of emergency. Some adjustments are authorized on a local basis if approved by the emergency authority at the county level, Matthews pointed out.

The county board would be headed by the county judge and would include a representative of the State Department of Economic Security and four others appointed by the county judge. The Kentucky Emergency Resource Planning Committee would review the actions of the local boards and the State commissioner of finance would coordinate all price-wage levels on a statewide basis under provisions of the plan.

The food rationing plan calls for advance registration of all residents of Kentucky, making all persons over six years old subject to the regulations for adults. Those under six years would be classified as infants.

Food rationing plans would take effect after a five-day adjustment period during which time all food stores will be closed during emergency conditions. Food would come either from home supplies or from mass feeding centers provided by Civil Defense organizations.

Perkins Nears Top Spot On Education Committee;

The defeat of West Virginia's Representative Cleveland M. Bailey makes Carl D. Perkins, Hinman, the Democrat who ranks next to the chairman of the House Committee on Labor and Education.

The chairman, New York's Clayton Powell, has said he wanted only one more term, the one to which he was elected Nov. 6. Should Powell carry out his intention to retire in two years, Perkins would become chairman of the committee that controls legislation dealing with health, welfare, labor and schools.

DRURY J. BURCHETT

The following biographies were taken from Kniffen, Perrin and Battle's History of Kentucky. "Drury J. Burchett is a native of Floyd county, Kentucky, was born August 15, 1842. His father and mother, Ainstead (Armstead) and Rebecca Pig Burchett, are also natives of Floyd county. His paternal grandfather, Drury Burchett, came from Virginia and was among the earlier settlers of Floyd county. The great-grandfather of our sketch was one of four brothers who came from Scotland and fought in the war for American independence and in that struggle two of these brothers lost their lives.

"Drury J. Burchett, at the age of seven years, was taken from Floyd to Lawrence county by his parents, and at Louisa worked at the trade of blacksmithing. At the breaking out of the Civil War he enlisted in the Fourteenth Kentucky Infantry, Federal service, served nearly four years, and rose to the rank of major from that of a private soldier. On his return to Louisa he was elected to the Kentucky Legislature, in 1885, to represent Lawrence and Boyd counties and was reelected in 1879; was tendered the nomination for Congress in his district in 1886 on the Republican ticket.

"He was married March 15, 1865, to Miss Addie Jones, daughter of Daniel D. Jones, a deceased merchant of Louisa, but in 1877 changed his trade to that of boots and shoes exclusively, carrying a stock worth from four thousand to five thousand dollars; is treasurer of the county, and secretary-treasurer of the Louisa public schools. Mr. Burchett is a Freemason, a Republican and a member of the Methodist Church."

JOHN M. BURNS
"Hon. John M. Burns, Judge of the Sixteenth Judicial District, of Kentucky. The subject of this sketch is of Scotch ancestry, and comes along the same line of descent as Robert Burns, 'Nature's Poet.' On the maternal side is the name of Elizabeth Rowland, of a family famous in the history of the Huguenots of France.

"The ancestors in this country came from Scotland and settled in Maryland. Members of this family were in the Revolutionary War. The father of Judge Burns, Roland T. wa sa farmer, preacher, lawyer and legislator. He lived in what is now Boyd county and represented his district in the State Legislature. He was a farmer, preacher, lawyer and divine. Four of his sons are lawyers of distinction. William Harvey Burns died but recently in southwestern Virginia, the most distinguished jurist and advocate of his time. Roland T., a brother, and Roland C., a son of the subject of this sketch, are prominent members of the bar of Eastern Kentucky.

"Judge Burns was admitted to the bar in 1851, having completed his legal preparation under the careful tutelage of his brother, W. H. Burns, with whom he engaged in practice as partner for three years, the judge removing to Letcher county, where he was elected and served as county attorney until 1853 when he removed to Prestonsburg, Floyd county, there forming a partnership with Hon. John M. Elliott, the distinguished jurist, whose tragic death, when judge of the Court of Appeals, at the hands of Thomas Buford, is so well-known. In 1857 Judge Burns was elected to the Legislature from Floyd and Johnson counties, serving with distinguished ability, developing rare power in debate and legislative matters generally. He was elected to the Senate from his district in 1860.

"Meanwhile 'grim visaged war had reared its horrid front,' and his county was alternately occupied by the Federal and Confederate troops, causing a suspension of courts and entire loss of business, and necessitating an abandonment of his profession there. Having cast his lot with the preservation of the Union of the States, he removed to Catlettsburg in 1864, within the Union lines, and resumed the practice of his profession. In this county, as in Floyd, he served as commissioner of common schools, and devoted his talents and energies in awakening an interest in the cause of education.

"In 1868 he ran as the Republican candidate for the office of commonwealth's attorney and in 1876 for the office of judge of the criminal court and again in 1880 for the office of circuit judge, all in the Sixteenth Judicial District. While unsuccessful in these contests, in every instance, he made a brilliant popular canvass and yielded only to the stubborn adverse political majority in the district.

"In 1872 he ran as the Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth Congressional District. At the previous election the Democratic candidate had received a popular majority of over four thousand, but so vigorous and aggressive was the canvass of Mr. Burns that the returns showed a majority of only one hundred against him. A contest followed but the seat was finally awarded to his Democratic opponent. Mr. Burns served as special agent of the United States Internal Revenue Department for one year, 1884-85. During all these years Mr. Burns continued to practice law and also successfully conducted a farm near Catlettsburg. He removed from his farm to Ashland in 1885 and in 1886 made the race for circuit judge of his district and was elected by a large majority. His term expires in 1892.

"The judge is a leading member of the Baptist church and is a Royal Arch Mason. His friends are legion, and his popularity with all sects, creeds and parties is unbounded. Eloquent of speech, genial, warm-hearted and of kindly disposition, of broadest sympathy and unbounded charity, his character fits him eminently for discharging the responsible duties of his high trust. He is making an excellent record in his office for impartial judgment and devotion to official duties. His power as an advocate has been established in a long service at the bar, always in defense of the accused. A worthy cause never lacked a champion when the judge was appealed to and many poor men will rise to call his memory blessed in recalling the innumerable instances when, without price, the generous sympathies of the distinguished advocate prompted him to the relief of the oppressed. The judge was born March 11, 1825. He still retains the mental and physical vigor of manhood's prime."

REFERENCE NOTES
An enterprising newspaper reporter comes up with some lullus culled from references written by folks trying to give applicants to the Peace Corps a boost. Here are what some of the "recommendations" said:
"About emotion, he can take it or leave it."
"He can carry on a conversation with anything that comes up."
"Although he shakes a little, I feel he is emotionally stable."
"His kindness and understanding . . . liket warm feelings."
And one wrote that the person in question "is a Catholic but tolerates an occasional Baptist." Another said of an applicant:
"Recently her folks have been working, but before that her father was a minister."

REFERENCE NOTES
An enterprising newspaper reporter comes up with some lullus culled from references written by folks trying to give applicants to the Peace Corps a boost. Here are what some of the "recommendations" said:
"About emotion, he can take it or leave it."
"He can carry on a conversation with anything that comes up."
"Although he shakes a little, I feel he is emotionally stable."
"His kindness and understanding . . . liket warm feelings."
And one wrote that the person in question "is a Catholic but tolerates an occasional Baptist." Another said of an applicant:
"Recently her folks have been working, but before that her father was a minister."

Our Historic Heritage

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No. 217 in a Series)

THE LATEST IN FASHION... IN 1890

Many Eastern Kentuckians were just as responsive to the demands of fashion three-quarters of a century ago as they are today. This photograph, made in 1890 in Pikeville is pictorial evidence of what young men and women wore in the Big Sandy valley on festive or formal occasions.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of Eastern Kentucky in recognition of our heritage.

Ford ideas so contagious they started a new trend in cars!

If you think today's cars have a lot in common, credit the Ford sketches above. For these ideas sparked a revolution in car design that's reflected wherever you look on the American road.

Ford ideas have a habit of being exciting—practical, too. Consider the innovations found only in our '63s. There is Ford Galaxie's smooth new velvet ride. It cost Ford $10 million to bring it to you, but costs you not a penny extra to enjoy. There is Ford's full twice-a-year or 6,000-mile maintenance* schedule that cuts service worry and expense to a minimum. There's a new manual transmission that lets you shift down from second to first without coming to a stop. And for '63, there's the biggest choice of models ever offered—44 in all!

Only Ford offers all these advantages now. Other cars will eventually catch up—but if you can't wait, here's a tip. See your Ford Dealer today!

MARTIN FOR STATE SENATOR

Without any solicitation from Senator Martin, we take this means of bringing to the attention of the general public and the Democratic voters of this county the immediate need of having Burnis Martin return to the State Senate to represent the people.

His record in the state senate for the school teachers and the schools, for the establishment of the college in Floyd county and his record in the state senate of having never voted wrong on a labor issue should especially endear him to the Democratic voters of this county.

Senator Martin has had four years experience in the State Senate, would make a strong candidate in the two Democratic counties of Floyd and Knott, and knowing his way in and around Frankfort and the maneuverings of the legislative process, the Democrats should all unite and get behind Senator Martin and return him to the State Senate where he can be of great benefit to the people.

If you want a man who can have confidence in, a man who will stand and fight for the interests of the common, laboring class of people, a man of experience and unquestioned ability, a man who, at the last session of the legislature, was named by a poll of the newspapers as an outstanding Legislator, I urge all Democrats and Republicans alike to get behind Senator Martin and request that he run for re-election.

BEARS FACE SEASON WITH FIVE LETTERMEN

Pikeville, Ky., Nov. 26 (Spl.) — Paul Butcher's Pikeville College Bears, who include Charles Blevins, New London, Ohio, a former Betsy Layne high school cager, and Gary Newman, of Grethel, also a Betsy Layne product, face the upcoming basketball wars with a 16-man squad headed by five returning lettermen, each a starter during part or all of last season.

With a pair of 6-5 forwards, Don Elliott and Bob Fletcher, at the summit, the veteran quintet includes 6-4 Blevins, 6-3 Roger Mullins, and 5-10 Jim Moore. Three men up from last year's junior varsity, two junior-college transfers, and six aspiring freshmen complete the Pikeville squad, which will open December 5 at home against West Virginia Wesleyan.

From the Jayvees of last year are 6-0 Raynor Mullins and a pair of 5-10 guards, P. D. Scott and Russell Ward. The transfers are 6-3 Jim Frazier, from Ashland Junior College, and 6-3 Ira Joe Lewis, Wise, Virginia, from Irawamba Junior College, Fulton, Mississippi.

Tallest of the freshman hopefuls is 6-5 Terry Bower, Dunedin, Florida, an all-stater at Dunedin high school and holder of the scoring record in the Florida state high school basketball tournament. Other fresh are Newman and Hugh "Bud" Thomson, Silver Grove, Kentucky, both 6-2, and Roger Campbell, Chatteroy, West Virginia; Don Ratliff, of Russell, and Charles "Chuck"

Plastic Film Involved In Five Infants Death; Fuqua Issues Warning

Frankfort, Ky.—In recent months an alarming number of infants and small children have died as a result of the misuse of very thin plastic film, intended to protect clothing after cleaning and laundering, for packaging new linens, foods, toys, sporting goods and other items.

In Kentucky five infants under six months of age have died in the last three months alone, Victor Fuqua, director of Accident Prevention, Kentucky State Health Department, said. In every case plastic film was involved in some way.

In Fayette county a five-month-old infant suffocated with a plastic crib cover over his head. Six-day-old twins died in McCracken county as a result of plastic film being used as a covering for a bed sheet. A cleaning bag over the head was the cause of death of a four-month-old Boyle county child. And in Wolfe county an infant of six weeks died as a result of the misuse of plastic film.

Mr. Fuqua issued this warning: Plastic bags look harmless, but they are very thin and often become full of static electricity, then adhere to whatever they come in contact with. A helpless infant has no defense against this increasing cause of death. Most deaths as a result of plastic film occur among children under the age of one year.

Extreme caution and common sense should be used in dealing with this problem. Never use a plastic bag as a makeshift cover in cribs, play pens, baby carriages, for mattresses or upholstery. Never give a plastic bag to a child as a plaything. It is not for children. It should be kept out of their reach. Never keep a plastic bag after it has served its intended usefulness.

"The suffocation of an infant is a tragic and unnecessary price to pay for the convenience of plastic film," Fuqua said.

HAROLD

The Harold P.-T. A. met November 13 at the Harold lunchroom. The president, Cecil Sturgill, presided and discussed the by-laws for the P.-T. A. as recommended by the National Parent-Teacher Association. A need for filing cabinets for each classroom, these to be bought by the P.-T. A., was discussed by the principal, Earl Martin. Fifty-five parents and teachers were served refreshments and then made a tour of each classroom to observe each pupil's display of work. Next P.-T. A. meeting date will be Dec. 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the Harold lunchroom.

INSTANT STEAM

...without even boiling the water

Ever since man harnessed fire, steam has been made by boiling water.

In two huge generating plants, we now have a new super energy-making process at work. By combining extreme heat and pressure, steam power comes instantly. Water is water one second, steam the next—the pressure is too high for boiling.

Result: the world's most efficient power production, by forcing each pound of coal to give up even more of its heat-producing energy to make steam.

Doing things in new ways to improve service and efficiency is one big reason why the average unit price of electricity, for customers of Kentucky Power Company, has not gone up during twenty years of inflation.

Your service is better, your rates are lower because Kentucky Power Company is a part of the American Electric Power System. Supplying more electricity than any other investor-owned utility, AEP aids the economic growth of 2,350 communities in seven states. Through integrated operations, progressive engineering, research and coordinated management, the six member companies of AEP bring you low-cost power with greatest dependability.

KENTUCKY IFYE DISCUSSES EXPERIENCES IN FINLAND

Lexington, Ky.—"I could talk for weeks about my experiences in Finland," Laurel Hampton said when she arrived in Kentucky last Sunday after spending six months in Finland as an International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) delegate. Laurel, who is 22 and a former 4-H Club member from Ballard county, plans to graduate in August from the University of Kentucky with a home economics degree.

Laurel's reaction is typical of returning IFYE's—and she'll get plenty of chances to talk about Finland in the months to come, according to Boyd Wheeler, UK Extension Service advisor to the Kentucky IFYE program. Now that she is home, the second part of her IFYE experience begins—telling people in Kentucky about Finland.

Laurel stayed with six families in Finland, five of which were farm families. While in Finland, she learned about the way of life there by actually taking part in the everyday activities of her host families. IFYE, which is conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service, has as its goal international understanding. The program is privately supported by 4-H Clubs, business and industrial firms, foundations, and individuals, Wheeler said.

Laurel was one of a group of 53 young people from 27 states who spent Nov. 14-17 at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C., evaluating their IFYE experiences. This group was the first of the year's 122 U. S. delegates to return home; they have been to 17 of the 42 countries taking part in the 1962 exchange. Kentucky has three IFYE delegates this year, Wheeler pointed out. Mary Jo Dixon, Boone county, will soon be arriving home from Turkey and Barbara Landrum, Simpson county, recently arrived in Panama.

Laurel, of course, is already talking about her trip, Wheeler said. Here is one of the first experiences she told about:

"Before going to my fifth host family, I was told that they were somewhat hesitant about having me stay with them. Their reasons were that their income was a little below average; they had few close neighbors and there was little to do in the neighborhood; and the family consisted of only the parents and their 30-year-old son—they were afraid an American girl would be 'bored' and would not 'fit in.'"

"Of course, I couldn't help but think of this when I arrived. Then my host brother met me at the train with the news that his mother was in the hospital and I would have to 'take over.' When we got to the house, he showed me where the kitchen was and said he had to go do the milking. If I was worried about the unexpected situation, he was even more so.

"Although the mother came home from the hospital the next day, I did not think she should do any work. So I did the cooking and other housework and worked hard—in the fields, for it was harvest season for wheat and rye.

"Although I spent only two weeks with this family, they were among my favorites—and I think I was accepted as a family member there as much or more than anywhere else. My host brother told me later that they felt I 'fit in' during the crises even better than a Finnish girl would have because my pride did not stop me from doing any work that had to be done."

Every IFYE returns home with such stories of his visit, along with a deeper appreciation of the problems and the potential of other people in the world, Wheeler noted. By taking part in the day-to-day activities of their host families, IFYE's gain a new understanding of others, as well as leaving a better understanding of the U. S. with their hosts.
