LOOKING BACKWARD AGAIN ... After reading in this column of our renewal of acquaintance with the loved and lost Mary J. Holmes, two friends express an interest not only in these old novels but also in those of Mrs. E. D. N. Southworth—in "Ismael" and its sequel, "Self-Raised." They frankly confess to the tears they shed when they read these stories of yesteryear.

Now, "Ismael" was the first work of fiction that I encountered, and never since has any work, masterpiece or pot-boiler, hit me so hard, for the simple reason that I wasn't so sure but that every word was the truth. I promise my friends that if I find three copies of the book I will reserve one for each of them. But if I find only one, they'll have to keep looking.

Anyway, as one wrote: "You are right. It has been a long time, but I love to remember." By the way, does anybody know what those initials, "E.D.E.N.," stood for?

EASTERN HEAD VOICES APPROVAL OF COLLEGE

MARTIN NOTES SCHOOL NEED IN AREA HERE

Kiwanians Given Advice On Faculty and Housing; Advocates Strong Library

Dr. Robert R. Martin, president of Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, voiced his approval of the community college program here Thursday evening of last week in a speech at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

"I believe I have talked more in favor of community colleges than anybody in the state," he said. He told of an incident when, he alleged, his remarks were lifted out of context to make it appear he was opposed to the institutions.

Dr. Martin reviewed the pressing needs of college facilities in Eastern Kentucky and said that enrollment at Eastern Kentucky State College had tripled and that college students would be doubled within this decade.

He said that there was controversy within the ranks of educational leaders as to the solution to the problem of mounting enrollment. One group was advocating the raising of fees to control the number of entrants and another group was suggesting tests that would allow only the brilliant to enter.

He offered the Kiwanians, many of them leaders in the move to establish the Prestonburg Community College, advice as to what they should do to make the college here a strong institution.

Make the town attractive and do not be satisfied with less than a strong faculty, he said. Adequate housing is a must for a good faculty and he suggested a committee to help provide it. The institution will need a strong library and a good laboratory.

"Be sure the students will get as good training here as they can anywhere in the state," he urged. "The fact that you are going to be associated with the University of Kentucky doesn't mean Eastern Kentucky State College won't work with you in any way possible."

In closing he warned against the town's thinking of the college as just another customer and asked the community leaders to help on its problems.

Brother of P'burg Man Named Executive Veep Of West Virginia Firm

The board of directors of the Island Creek Coal Company, following a meeting held Tuesday in New York City, issued the following statement:

"Raymond E. Salvati announces his retirement as chief executive officer of Island Creek Coal Company, but remains as chairman of the board and director. James L. Hamilton assumes the responsibility as chief executive officer and continues as president of the company. Nicholas T. Camicia, formerly vice-president-operations, was elected to the newly-created position of executive vice-president."

Mr. Camicia is a brother of J. R. Camicia, of Prestonburg.

Letcher Coal Companies Charged With Violation Of Fair Standards Act

Two Letcher county coal companies have been named defendants in suits filed in U. S. district court at Pikeville alleging violation of the overtime, record-keeping and shipping provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

One of the defendants is Barbella F. Bates, individually and doing business as the B. F. Bates Coal Company, of Mayking; the other is the Pee Wee Coal Co., Inc., doing business as C. & P. Coal Company. The offenses ascribed to the defendants were allegedly committed in 1961. The district court is asked to enjoin further violations of the law.

Father of Carl Wise Heart Attack Victim

Taylor Wise, 75, retired lumberman, and father of Carl Wise, Prestonburg restaurant-owner, died at 6 p.m. Saturday of a heart attack at his home at Spruce Pine, North Carolina.

Besides his son who lives here, Mr. Wise is survived by another son and seven daughters. Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p.m. Monday, and burial was made at Spruce Pine.

DIXON NAMED COACH HERE

Hade Durbin Announces Resignation; To Take Job At Elizabethtown

Resignation of Hade Durbin as head football coach at Prestonburg high school was announced recently. Mr. Durbin left the Prestonburg post, which he has held the last two years, to accept a position with Elizabethtown high school as assistant coach and teacher of art.

Gordon Moore, assistant principal of the high school here, said Tuesday that Bert Dixon, a Prestonburg high school and Morehead State College alumnus, has accepted the coaching job vacated by Durbin. In his senior year in high school here Dixon was named the school's outstanding senior athlete. He played end on the Morehead State football team four years, and since his graduation from Morehead has held a coaching post at Shawnee high school, Louisville.

Mr. Durbin came to Prestonburg from Eastern Kentucky State College where he was assistant football coach. His wife, who taught in the physical education department here, will teach in the Elizabethtown school where she formerly was a student.

2 RAIDS NET INTOXICANTS

Beer-Laden Truck Seized Here; Shine Confiscated At Estill

Captured here last Friday by Sheriff Henry C. Hale, Deputy Sheriffs Sam Hale and Lonnie Herald with a truck laden with 50 cases of beer, a man who gave his name as William J. Rose soon thereafter was free after pleading guilty before Magistrate Bryant DeRossett and paying a $50 fine, plus $22.50 costs.

A second raid staged the next day by ABC Agents and State Police netted 141 cans of beer, 14 gallons of moonshine whiskey and 24 half-pints of "red" whiskey at Punkin Center, near Estill. But the intoxicants were found in the ditchline along the railway tracks, and their ownership could not be established.

The home of Junior (Red) Martin, about 75 feet distant, was searched, but no beer or whiskey was found. Making the raid were State Troopers Elmo Allen and Larry Halton and ABC Agents Bill Y. Manning, Roger Couch, Elwood Whitt and Claude A. Flanery. Members of the party said the beer was an Ohio product.

Deputy Sheriff Herald said the driver of the truck which was captured here said he was from Covington and that his destination was Pikeville. He made a telephone call to an unnamed man at Pikeville after he had been arrested.

Trial of seven men and two women arrested in the county recently in a one-day blitz staged by ABC representatives and State Police is scheduled in quarterly court here, next Monday.

Bill Crum, Geraldine Crum and Alex Adkins were jailed here Monday and held for questioning in connection with the disappearance Sunday night of a truck owned by Charles May, of Allen. The truck was found, Tuesday afternoon, near the mouth of Town Branch, across the river from here. State Detective Chester D. Potter photographed fingerprints on the truck and was prepared Tuesday afternoon to fingerprint the three prisoners for comparison. The truck was stolen from where it had been parked by Mrs. May, near the Allen Methodist Church during the Sunday evening service.

A juvenile was jailed Sunday by Chief of Police Bill Potter and Policemen Hack Thornsbury and Woodrow Salyers and was booked in service trades.

Two women doctors and a dentist were added from one Floyd town this year to the ranks of Kentucky professional men and women. All three are graduates of Wheelwright high school. Reuben Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Roy was graduated from the Dental School, University of Louisville, June 16. Miss Mary Alice Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hall, and Miss Mary Louise Osborne, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Osborne and the late Dr. W. D. Osborne, were graduated in June from the University of Louisville's School of Medicine.

WHEELWRIGHT CONTRIBUTES 2 WOMEN DOCTORS, DENTIST TO KY. PROFESSIONAL RANKS

Miss Osborne, who earlier was educated as a lawyer and became a member of the Kentucky bar, will intern at St. Joseph's hospital, Louisville. She is a former Miss Kentucky.

Mary Ordeil Ray, a Wheelwright high school alumna, is already a practicing physician.

LEADERS VIEW AREA PLIGHT

Gov. Combs Stresses Changing Job Economy At Paintsville Meeting

Federal and state officials were joined Saturday at Paintsville by more than 200 educators and other citizens in a conference to study in detail the plight of the unemployed and the uneducated in Eastern Kentucky.

Governor Bert Combs welcomed the conferees to Paintsville and stressed the changing job economy of the area. Calling for an emphasis on education and training, he said that it is estimated that by 1970 only five per cent of the jobs to be available in the area will be classified as unskilled. Formerly, 40% of the jobs in the area were unskilled.

Because of the railroad strike threat, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz was not present at the meeting. He was represented by Daniel P. Moynihan, assistant secretary of labor.

Mr. Moynihan said he expects Kentucky to receive under the Kennedy Administration's proposed retraining bills more than its share of funds, as the state has done under the present bill because it matched federal funds for money other states did not use. He said the new legislation will lower the age limit for those entering the retraining program from 19 to 16 in order to reach the illiterate and the youthful unemployed.

Wilbur Cohen, assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, said the Administration's retraining bills would triple the current vocational funds and also meet the problem on two new fronts.

The proposals, he said, would liberalize the now stringent "need" requirements and enable the state and federal governments to shift retraining money within a broad manpower-training range.

This would mean, Cohen said, that money would be provided for job training in skills for which there is no present demand.

A pool of skilled craftsmen, Cohen said, often is enough of an enticement to draw industry into an area. It was also noted that with a sufficient number of persons trained in recreation and tourism and related trades, outside interests can more easily be persuaded to locate resort complexes in the area.

The second front which the federal bills would attack is the elementary training of the "functional illiterate."

"Functional illiterates"—there are 61,268 persons so classified in Eastern Kentucky—were described by Cohen as those unable to write a telephone number or who cannot total items on a restaurant check.

Under present manpower-development and retraining bills, he said, there are no funds to educate these people in marketing skills.

In this 30-county area there are an estimated 11,000 people who never went to school and another 97,000 who have completed only one to six years of school. The proposed bills, the assistant secretary said, allocate funds to teach these people reading, writing and other basic skills needed to take additional training.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins told the educators and vocational counselors that there is already a demand for skilled labor in Eastern Kentucky.

There are massive present and projected public-works programs which will require persons skilled in the planning, designing and construction of projects such as the Mountain Parkway and the Allegheny Parkway. He asked whether the firms doing the roadwork, for instance, will be able to draw their skilled workers from the immediate area or whether they will be forced to go out of the state for them.

He also visualized a growing tourist and recreational area which will require trained office personnel, recreation directors, electrical technicians and repairmen and workers in service trades.

FIRE DAMAGES HALE'S HOME

Residence Burglarized, Set Afire As Sheriff, Family on Vacation

An apparent attempt to burn the home of Sheriff Henry C. Hale on the David road Wednesday night was being investigated this morning (Thursday).

The home, it was reported, had been broken into and diesel oil had been poured onto the basement floor. Apparently an explosion accompanied the fire, officers said, pointing to the fact that a window had been blown out.

The basement stairway was burned up to a metal landing, and this non-inflammable material is credited with saving the house.

Sheriff Hale and family were visiting Willard Stephens and family at Wheatfield, Indiana, at the time of the blaze.

Ten-Month-Old Child Is Suffocation Victim At Grandparents' Home

Karen Crooks Hisle, ten-month-old daughter of A. Guy Hisle, Paintsville, local manager for the Southern Bell Telephone Co., was found dead in bed at 9:50 a.m. Sunday at the home of her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Crooks, Mt. Sterling, where the family was visiting over the week-end.

Coroner A. L. Mitchell, of Montgomery county, ruled the child died from suffocation.

Surviving, besides the parents and the maternal grandparents, are a sister, Lenda LeGrand, at home, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hisle, Mt. Sterling.

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a.m. at the MacPelah cemetery at Mt. Sterling, the Rev. John Howard officiating. Burial was made under the direction of the Mitchell & Douglas Funeral Home.

Rural Electric Co-Op Re-Elects A. B. Veech

Alex B. Veech, Finchville, Kentucky, was re-elected president of East Kentucky Rural Electric Co-operative at the annual meeting in Winchester recently. James S. Patterson, Cynthia, and Albert Dicken, Sharpburg, were re-elected to the offices of secretary-treasurer and vice-president, respectively.

NINE-MILE ROAD ARM BIDS ASKED BY STATE

75 Floyd Youths W.O.W. Camp Guests

Approximately 75 boys and girls from Floyd county, who belong to Woodmen Of The World, recently spent three days on the Campus of Eastern State College as guests of Woodmen Of The World at the annual encampment. This event is furnished to young Woodmen between the ages of eight and 15 years.

The highlight of the boys encampment was a special program on safety conducted by State Police Sergeant Edgar Moss from the Department of Public Safety. The girls attended a showing of the new outdoor drama, "Home Is the Hunter."

The youngsters were accompanied by District Manager Ernest Turner.

GAS COMPANY NAMES FOUR

In $20,000 Damage Suit; Firm Alleges Defendants Tapped Gathering Line

The Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company in a suit filed in circuit court last Friday seeks to recover from four Floyd men a total of $20,000 for natural gas they allegedly used and for punitive damages.

The suit names as defendants Forrest Burchett, Joe W. Burchett, Otto Sesco and Bradis Goble.

The petition, which was signed by W. W. Wallen, the company's vice-president in charge of operations, alleges that defendants conspired with each other and did, through fraud and deceit, tap the plaintiff's natural gas gathering line and hook onto it a natural gas distribution system owned and operated by the defendants. Natural gas so taken was valued "in excess of $10,000."

Plaintiff's petition also pleads that defendants should be required to account for and pay to the plaintiff the fair market value of all gas used and that each should be required to disclose the time when such connection was made, the use thereof and the consumption of such gas, both individually and collectively.

EARLY TRAIN HISTORY RECALLED WITH NOSTALGIA BY OLDSTERS

Fifty-eight years ago Floyd County Judge Robert E. Stanley headed a large delegation of Prestonburg citizens who were taking the first passenger train ride to Pikeville. The date was July 4, 1905.

July 7, this year, County Judge Henry Stumbo and three small boys boarded Train 36 at Allen for the last ride. The large number of people who took that first trip and the one adult and three youngsters who took the last were symbolic of the rise and decline of passenger train service on the Big Sandy Division of the C. & O.

Many elderly men now, but mere lads or in their teens in 1905, recall that first train ride.

Joining the passengers at Allen were Wesley L. Martin, his son Wesley N., then only six years old, Bob Stone, Shade Combs and others. Dr. E. K. May, Mrs. Kate Finlayson and others had got on the train at Dwahl.

The Prestonburg group comprised most of the town's leading citizens. Among them, besides Judge Stanley, were Joe Harris, Frank Hopkins, W. S. Harkins and family and Sheriff Bartee Weddington.

A derailment at Tram fixed the occasion in the minds of every passenger. The first train came slowly around the curve there on the still-new roadbed. Opposite the mouth of Mare Creek, a rail snapped loose from an end bolt. There was a series of sudden jerks as the coaches bounced over the rails. A woman screamed, and a few men checked the possibilities of going through the windows. However, in an hour the train crew had it back on the track and they proceeded to Pikeville and returned without mishap.

Prestonburg Police Judge Watt Hale, who moved to this county in 1914, recalls with a bit of nostalgia the old passenger trains. Judge Hale says that the four daily passenger trains were always crowded and if many returning raftsmen were on the up-valley trains, there were always a few who had bought a supply of intoxicants at Catlettsburg and were deep in their cups.

"We had little recreation around here 50 years ago," Hale said, "and meeting the passenger trains was quite an event. Many people met them all. There was always a great curiosity to see who got off or on."

Some of the early C. & O. telegraph operators at Prestonburg were Bill Runcells, Sut Blankenship, a Mr. McCowan and others.

Robert Harris, onetime Floyd county sheriff, and proprietor of the Harris hotel, always met the train to guide drummers to his hotel and to assist them with their trunks.

Following the completion of the bridge, now dismantled, across the river at the end of Court street, a new passenger stop known as East Prestonburg was set up opposite the town. To make the bridge accessible to the main depot, a narrow road was built between the railroad and the river. There were few, if any cars in those days, and if a drunk passed out at West Prestonburg, he was thrown in a wheelbarrow and pushed along the dusty road and over the new bridge to temporary lodgment in the city jail.

Many of them were tied in the wheelbarrow so they wouldn't flop around while getting the free ride. A few years after the completion of the bridge a controversy arose between the C. & O. and the bridge company. The latter, backed by most of the townsmen, wanted the road built between the tracks and the river. The railway firm feared the construction of the road would impair its road bed.

There was a lot of legal maneuvering. The town council got interested in the wrangle and passed a few ordinances. One required the railway company to build a three-foot-wide concrete walk from the end daily passenger trains were always crowded and if many returning raftsmen were on the up-valley trains, there were always a few who had bought a supply of intoxicants at

BID-OPENING DATE IS SET ON BIG LINK

Road Surfacing Here Stated To Start Soon By Mattingly Bridge Co.

Remainder of the Floyd county section of the Salyersville-Prestonburg arm of the Mountain Parkway was advertised for bids this week, with the bid-opening date set for August 2. It was announced by Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward.

The 9.318-mile project will begin at the end of the present construction which has been completed from Prestonburg to 2 mile beyond the junction of the route with Ky. 404 (the David road), and on which surfacing is now being done. The project, financed by state and federal funds, will extend to the Floyd-Magoffin line.

Grade and drain work has been completed on the sector of highway from Prestonburg to Ky. 404, and surfacing had been completed Tuesday from the junction with Ky. 404 to the bridge, near the M. T. Stumbo home. Blacktopping of this part of the route is being done by the Adams Construction Company.

Meanwhile, the work of surfacing U. S. 23 from Patton street to Friend street here and the approach to the four-lane bridge spanning the river is ready to be started by the Mattingly Bridge Company. The widened U. S. 23 between these two streets will be composed of eight inches of concrete to the level of the existing two-lane highway, then two inches of blacktop will cover the entire width of the highway.

From 30 to 45 days will be required to complete all this work, including the road surfacing on Middle Creek, it was said.

Surfacing on the new U. S. 23 from Auxier to a point near Hager Hill is scheduled to be started next week by the Harper Construction Company. Completion of this road has been delayed by the work of removing slides and excavating a roadbed from deeper in the hillside, between Auxier and Blockhouse Bottom.

Revision of two sectors of the Prestonburg-Auxier road (new U. S. 23) at points where the highway has broken or sagged because of slides will be completed by the Kentucky Road Oiling Company within the next two months, it was predicted.

The new grade and drain construction on Middle Creek to the Floyd-Magoffin line will run into 1964. But surfacing of all these other roads is scheduled for completion by November—and that includes the extension of the Mountain Parkway from Campton to Salyersville.

DR. SIZEMORE VICTIM HERE

Veteran Physician Dies Following Long Illness; Burial At Paintsville

Dr. John Sizemore, 92, one of Eastern Kentucky's oldest physicians, died at 2 p.m. Sunday here at home following an illness of several months. He retired a few years ago after having practiced for more than 60 years.

Dr. Sizemore was born here June 8, 1871, a son of Dr. Farris Sizemore and Mourning Clark Sizemore. His father practiced medicine in this area during the Civil War and for several years later.

The veteran physician was graduated from a Cincinnati medical college in 1898 and did post-graduate study at Columbus, Ohio. He began practice at Newport, Kentucky, with his father, but later moved to Greenup county. He came to Paintsville in a few years as a physician for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company, then moved in 1909 to Prestonburg where he practiced until a few years ago. His last professional service was rendered as Floyd county health doctor, from which position he retired in 1961.

Dr. Sizemore had been a member of Zebulon Lodge No. 273, F. & A. M., since 1922, and was a member of the Methodist Church.

Surviving is his wife, Emma Akers Sizemore. An only child, Palmer Sizemore, died young. He had no surviving brothers or sisters. Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday from the home, the Rev. Isaac Stratton officiating. Burial was made in the Mayo cemetery at Paintsville under the direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Callihan-Hereford Vows Said

The wedding of Miss Mary Jo Callihan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Robert Callihan, and Mr. Robert Callihan, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hereford, II, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, July 7, at 2:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of organza over poi de soi, princess style, with off-the-shoulder neckline, with scalloped alcon lace medallions, long, fitted sleeves and self-covered buttons fastening the fitted blouse in the back, which was attached to a very full skirt in the back, falling in a long train-length skirt. The bouffant skirt was embellished with large, lace medallions. Her double finger-tip veil was attached to a crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and Stephanotis, with satin ribbon cascade.

Miss Brenda Sue Scalf, maid of honor, wore a short, full skirt of peach taffeta, pleated in the front with a blouse of cream lace over the same material, short sleeves and a headband of white with short veil attached. She carried a nosegay of multicolored mums and peach satin ribbon cascade. Miss Ann Benton Callihan, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Other maids were Misses Sharon Stumbo, Kaye Lemaster and Bonnie Caudill, all wearing dresses identical with that of the maid of honor and carrying nosegays. Mr. Thomas Hereford, II, father of the groom, served as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Steve Stephens, David Hereford, Richard Fitzpatrick, Robert May, Charles Wills and Daniel Spurlock. Little Judy Ann Hyden served as flower attendant. William Robert Callihan, III, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Callihan, mother of the bride, wore a blue silk dress with jacket and matching hat, blue shoes and accessories. Her flower was a white orchid shoulder corsage. Mrs. Hereford, mother of the groom, wore a white eyelet over pink with pink sash, a small pink hat and veil, white accessories and a white orchid shoulder corsage.

A reception was held at the Callihan home following the wedding ceremony. The house was arranged with bouquets of white gladioli, roses and mums. Friends were invited to sign the guest book by Miss Harriet Ann Sandige. The bride's table was covered with a cut Italian linen cloth, centered with the five-tiered, decorated wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Ellis Buchanan and Miss Jane Webb, cousins of the bride, presided at the cake plate and punch bowl. Mints and nuts were on the table. Napkins, inscribed, "Mary Jo and Thomas, July 7, 1963," were placed near the crystal serving plates.

The bride and groom left immediately after the reception for a honeymoon at Daytona Beach, Florida. They will spend the summer here before entering Centre College, Danville. Both are Prestonsburg high school graduates.

Real Help Suggested

The Breathitt County Improvement and Development Association submitted to members of the General Assembly during its recent special session a resolution which went unpublicized but which deserves the most careful consideration.

Primarily, it hit at flaws in the state program to aid dependent children. We trust the Breathitt group does not intend to oppose such aid in its totality, for without state help many helpless and deserving cases would be without hope and, in some cases, utterly without means of existence. Anyway, the Association points out that the program is either weak or plain harmful in several ways (we quote from the statement submitted to the legislators):

Decreases human initiative in supplying their own family needs.

Third and fourth generations of ADC recipients have developed their own low standard of ethics, morals, education, community pride, and individual responsibility. Health and nutritional standards are inadequate and decreasing.

Family unity is threatened and morals depleted when the husband "deserts" or secures a sham divorce to enable a family to receive assistance.

Aid to Dependent Children money is used for items not essential to the health and welfare of the children. Industry is not interested in a community where most of its labor force is "incapacitated."

And what does the Breathitt County Improvement and Development Association recommend? Mainly work, plus personal initiative and closer investigation and supervision of all such cases. These recommendations, in the area of work, include the "Little WPA" plan such as in effect in West Virginia, a Youth Conservation Corps, a National Service Corps, and gardens to be grown by recipients.

The resolution also includes—and this also emphasizes the matter of initiative and work—the recommendation that continuing education be required of adults and youth alike and that provisions for enforcing that requirement be increased.

Why not work for every person able to work? Why not education and every other influence that will lift people above the status of wards of the state?

Speaking of ethics and morals, we are reminded of the comment a Floyd countian recently made on state aid intended for children but which really goes to the mothers of illegitimate children—women who are "repeaters" in this matter of illegitimacy and who are wanton violators of the moral code. He said:

"When I went to Europe during World War II, I was shocked to learn that Hitler really was paying a bounty to unwed mothers as he worked to create a 'Master Race' by mating selected individuals who were fine physical specimens. But shouldn't I be more shocked by our own system which is, in effect, a bounty for the promiscuous mating of physical and mental unfit?"

Proudly We Hail...

THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES hails the action taken recently by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and Kentucky State Police in their series of raids on Floyd county places involved in the illegal liquor traffic.

One such raid a week, or oftener, would eliminate the situation that has developed in this county.

Confiscation and sale of property used in such business, upon conviction of the person using or owning that property, is the big weapon—if it only would be used. And there is another, as described in this section of the Kentucky Revised Statutes:

"The conviction of the owner or manager of a place of entertainment for violation of the alcohol beverage control laws may be an additional ground for revocation and forfeiture of the place of entertainment permit by the county court."

But that, too, requires positive action and a show of colors by somebody—officials and/or citizens.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from files of The Floyd County Times of 30, 20 and 10 years ago.)

Thirty Years Ago

(July 14, 1933)

Floyd county's teachers, of whom there are 280, will meet here Friday and Saturday, in the annual teachers' meeting preceding the rural school term, it was announced by John Stephens, superintendent of county schools. Two men were wounded on Left Beaver Creek this week in separate shootings: Henry Rackley, Tuesday night at Weelsbury, by a shotgun blast, and Kermit Carpenter, Wednesday, below Wheelwright, by a pistol bullet which grazed his chest. Less than a week after the school election gun battle the same vicinity at the Head of Prater school house, was the scene of another killing last Friday when Sherman Akers, 21, died after being struck in the chest by a shotgun charge. The new May Memorial M. E. Church, South, at Maytown, will be dedicated Sunday, the pastor, Rev. O. P. Smith, announced. Miss Geraldine Allen was adjudged Prestonsburg's prettiest girl at the conclusion of the Jordan beauty contest held last week at the Unique Theater, here. There died: Miss Anna Auxier, 51, of Prestonsburg, at home, Monday; Darwin (Darb) Shepherd, 29, of Prestonsburg, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, Sunday, of tetanus resulting from knife wounds received June 27; J. C. B. Auxier, 73, of Prestonsburg, Wednesday.

Twenty Years Ago

Both Floyd county draft boards face, next month, their heaviest calls since the beginning of the war—a total of 497—and the supply of single men listed with Board 44 is expected to be exhausted as a result. Last week, for the first time in Prestonsburg history, a Democratic ticket filed for City Council here. Claude Edmond Akers, two years old, of Lancer, succumbed at the Prestonsburg General hospital, Tuesday night, to scald burns suffered at the Akers home, Monday, when the child pulled a pan of hot water from the kitchen stove. The present scarcity of meat in many markets of Eastern Kentucky is largely due to public buying of meat from black market sources, E. Reed Wilson, district director of the OPA office, said last week. Pvt. Lee Baker, of Johns Creek, was killed in action in the Pacific during recent fighting against the Japanese. Shoe retailers all over the country are preparing to get rid of their odds and ends of broken stock and obsolete odd-lot shoes under OPA's so-called "Grab Bag Amendment" between July 19-31. There died: William Spencer Edens, 70, at his home at Martin, Friday; R. C. Delong, 83, of Edgar, last Thursday, at home; Mrs. Chattie Workman Scott, 66, of McCombs, last week; Pvt. James Kelly Collins, 19 years old, of Lackey, at Fort Lewis, Washington, July 4; Bonnie Sue Garson, three months old, of Manton, at the Martin General hospital, Sunday; Carolyn Dapine Salsbury, one year old, of Hunter, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin.

Ten Years Ago

A representative of the State Property and Buildings Commission was slated to arrive here today to inspect local sites recommended for a structure to house the district office of the Economic Security Department. Lieut. Sam Summo, of the U. S. Marine Corps, was killed in Korea, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Summo, of Lancer, have been notified. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes, of Haysville, have learned that their son, Randolph, who was taken prisoner three years ago, died in a Red prison camp, his cousin, L. J. Gearheart, was wounded recently in the Korean fighting. Tom James, of Prestonsburg, was named vice-commander of the Kentucky Department, American Legion, at the state Legion convention in Louisville last week-end, and J. Frank Dixon, of Wayland, was chosen Department chaplain. The United Mine Workers of America have decided not to endorse any candidate for nomination at the August primary, but it is pointed out that this does not mean that individual local unions may not make endorsements. The Lake Motor Company has purchased the Chrysler-Plymouth franchise and equipment of the Music Motor Company here. Stuart Stephens, of Prestonsburg, scored a grand slam in the bait-casting tournament held Sunday at Dewey Lake, winning all three events. Married: Miss Betty Ruth Young, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Alex B. Patton, of Emma, July 8 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Young; Miss Rose Marie Bayes, of West Prestonsburg, and Mr. James Meade, of Paintsville, July 11 at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Laura Bayes. Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Glenn Hatcher at St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington, July 14, twin daughters. There died: Bernice Gene Hale, 18, formerly of Hueysville, as the result of a car wreck early Tuesday at Greenwood, Ohio; Mrs. Katherine Sammons Meeks, 72, Sunday at East Point; John Benjamin Baldrige, 77, Saturday at East Point; Mrs. Lucreasy Williams, 67, of Gretnel, Monday while visiting at Baileysville, West Virginia; Mrs. Essie Hall Newsome, 44, at Gretnel, July 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maggard, of Hazard, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kathryn Agnes Maggard, to Mr. Isaac LeRoy Vanderpool, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Abraham Vanderpool, of Prestonsburg. Miss Maggard, granddaughter of Mrs. Elmer E. Gabbard, of Berea, and the late Dr. Gabbard, attended Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, where she was pledged to Sigma Kappa sorority. She is a junior at Berea College. Mr. Vanderpool is a June graduate of Berea College where he was a member of the Executive Council, the Judicial Commission, and vice-president of the Student Association.

The wedding will take place at 2 o'clock, the afternoon of August 26 in the First Presbyterian Church, Hazard, Kentucky.

Funeral of Mrs. Maude Leslie Seitz, 53, who died here last Wednesday night, were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday from the chapel of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Mrs. Seitz died of a heart attack at the Prestonsburg General hospital, at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, shortly after arrival there. She was stricken while visiting at the home here of her brother, David B. Leslie.

Mrs. Seitz was supervisor of nurses at New Jersey State hospital, Trenton, New Jersey, at the time of her passing and had held that post the last 12 years. She left this county about 30 years ago when she entered college for nurse's training. She was a member of the Methodist Church and General David Foreman Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Born near Emma, she was a daughter of the late David Banner Leslie and Maude Harris Leslie. Surviving her are two daughters, Mrs. Janet Unfried and Miss Jill Leslie Seitz, both of Baltimore, Md., two sisters, Mrs. Loula J. Lee and Mrs. Joan Edwards, of Trenton, N. J., and two brothers, Dr. Edward B. and David B. Leslie, both of Prestonsburg.

Officiating at the funeral were the Revs. Paul Stonking and Isaac Stratton. Burial in the Leslie family cemetery, near Emma, was directed by the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home. Callbearers were: Graham Burchett, John Henry Burchett, Beverly Burchett, Bert N. Porter, Walter Porter, Frank Leslie, Wynnan Walters, Ralph Leslie, Joe Wheeler Harris, Tom G. Outdoor Advertising Bar
Brings Kentucky $65,488
From Federal Government

Frankfort, Ky., July 15 (Spl.) — Kentucky is the first state to comply fully in restricting outdoor advertising on interstate roads and has a check for $65,488 from the federal government for the effort.

Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges presented the check to Gov. Bert Combs in Washington, commenting that "the people of Kentucky have given concrete evidence they want the interstate highway system in their state free from distracting signs which mar the beautiful countryside."

The bonus stems from a U. S. Bureau of Public Roads agreement with Kentucky that an amount equal to one-half of one per cent of federal interstate highway grants will be given when billboards are restricted. Nineteen other states have agreed but Kentucky is the first to fully comply with regulations and received the first check.

The amount is for the section of I-64 from Frankfort to Middletown. Kentucky Highway Commissioner Henry Ward explained the state expects to receive about $3 million in bonuses by the time the 700 miles of interstate highway in Kentucky are completed. There are no restrictions on spending the money, Ward added.

Interest rates charges on the total outstanding farm debt was only a little higher in 1962 than in 1961. But amount of credit used by farmers has shown a strong upward trend for several years.

The Floyd county club members will join with club members from Johnson, Morgan, Magoffin, Elliott, Menifee, Martin and Lawrence counties.

4-H STRAWBERRY PROJECT

Fifteen Floyd County 4-H Club members received strawberry plants and fertilizer through the Sears Foundation projects this year.

Club members receiving the project were Jim Derossett, East Point; Andrew Ousley, Risner; Burnell Hicks, Hippo; Troy Ousley, Dock; Ballard Stone, David; Donny Sellers, Allen; Martha Cook, Drift; Dudley Collins, East Point; Ray Hunter, Printer; Raymond Goble, Jr., Hippo; Bonnie Hunter, Garrett; Freddy Martin, Prestonsburg; David Turner, Pyramid; Sandy Newsome, Harold; Donnie Hatfield, Prestonsburg.

STRAWBERRIES

In many ways this was a rough strawberry season. Maybe the most difficult that we will have. Even with the flood followed by drought, and then a late freeze killed a large percent of the blooms, several growers that I have talked with said they made some money.

The short supply of berries throughout the middle states, caused prices to remain steady throughout the season. The shortage of berries also brought the truckers into the county to buy berries. Since these truckers were offering attractive prices, many growers sold at the patch rather than to the processor. This was predicted two years ago at several strawberry meetings. What made this situation so damaging this year was that total production had not reached the volume necessary to supply both fresh and process markets. The question that I would like to have answered, and probably no one can, will the truckers be available again next year and the year after. The experience of those that have followed the strawberry game for many years, indicate that these truckers will not be back unless there is another short strawberry crop.

The Big Sandy valley has great potential as a strawberry producing area. Today a good start has been made. Many growers have demonstrated that there is as much or more money to be made producing strawberries as any other farm enterprise. The land, people and market is available, what is needed now is a strong determination on the part of farmers and others to make it go.

With the new strawberry patches set this spring, and the proper care of old patches, next spring should be the best strawberry year in the history of Floyd county.

If every grower will pledge to first establish a process market, then I am sure the strawberry industry will grow so that there will be both a process and fresh strawberry market for all of the valley.

4-H WEEK

Eight 4-H Club members and one Extension agent from Floyd county joined with some 800 4-H Club members and about 200 county Extension workers and local volunteer 4-H leaders attended the annual state 4-H Leadership conference, held at the University of Kentucky, June 10-13.

The 4-H'ers, who represented almost 85,000 4-H boys and girls in the state, heard talks and took part in discussions on their responsibilities as citizens. Special sessions also were planned for the adults attending this 40th annual 4-H meeting at UK; the leaders and agents discussed career exploration and trends in 4-H work.

Delegates from Floyd county were Burgess Lowe, Tyrone Martin, Donny Wallen, Joe Ed Ousley, Mae Rita Gayheart, Sharon Sturgill, Marsha Fain, Sarah Hall and Mrs. Frances Pitts.

Major speakers during the week were C. E. Barnhart, associate director of the UK Ag Experiment Station, and Frank A. Santopolo, UK Extension specialist in rural sociology. Their topics were "Your Place in Kentucky's Growth" and "Responsibilities as a Citizen." The boys and girls also heard speakers on citizenship responsibilities in the fields of economics, social situations, education, political affairs, family organizations, and personal values.

Our Historic Heritage

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No. 246 in a Series)

Captain Anderson Hays (1822-1912), C.S.A.

Captain Anderson Hays, Confederate veteran, was a son of John Hays and Elizabeth Anderson Hays, pioneer settlers of Right Beaver Creek, Floyd county. Capt. Hays married Rachel Sizemore and they were the parents of ten children, one of them being Lewis Hays, early settler at the Forks of Troublesome Creek, now Hindman. Lewis Hays, first county court clerk of Knott county, was the father of the late State Senator Doug Hays.

Hays fought at the Battle of Middle Creek, was captured at the Battle of Cynthiana and taken to Ohio where he was imprisoned. He finally escaped and returned to Buckhorn Creek, Breathitt county, but later returned to Troublesome Creek, Knott county. He was the leader of the Hays faction in the feud with Old Claib Jones at Hindman but when peace was made he became a pillar of civic, social and political stability in the area.

The First National Bank presents these pictures in recognition of our historic heritage.

Body of Daughty Combs, Who Died in Lexington, Returned to County

Daughty Combs, 73, formerly of Garrett but a resident of Lexington for several years, died Thursday of last week at Lexington. He was a retired miner and farmer.

Mr. Combs was a son of Barlow and Nancy Combs. He was a member of the Regular Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Rosa Hoover Combs; a son, Carlos Combs and a daughter, Mrs. George Lee, both of Lexington. Surviving brothers and sisters are Monroe Combs, Hazard, Dolph Combs, in Ohio, Mrs. Mallie Scott, Garret county, Mrs. Clara Hicks, Robertson county, and Mrs. Della Ramey, Knott county. Four grandchildren and one great-grandchild survive.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday from the home of Mrs. Maggie O'Quinn at Garret, the Revs. Ed Moore and Burt Howard officiating. Burial was made in the Hoover cemetery at Garret under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

HARDSHIPS OF MANKIND SYMBOLIZED BY DRAMA PRESENTED AT PINEVILLE

Pineville, Ky.—As the modern world writhes under the shadow of the bomb, it becomes more and more difficult to summarize the hardships facing all mankind.

Yet, a drama from the oldest book of the Bible may provide a soothing balm to the disturbing questions of the atomic age.

It is titled, quite simply, "The Book of Job," from the same Biblical book, and started, as Hebrew scholars feel, as a play and written in verse for one actor, a bard, playing many parts, or for a company.

The tormenting question, "Why does man suffer?" is a constant and omnipresent query to mankind of every age, regardless of color, creed or race.

Mankind, as Job today, is a pawn within the nuclear condition. He is buffeted and harassed by the inevitability of man's inhumanity to man.

"How can God permit this?" he asks himself and the world. And there is no clear-cut answer to modern man or Job.

The Biblical Job unknowingly is a pawn in a celestial argument between God and Satan. God wagers that Job will remain unswervingly loyal despite the most fiendish tests to which Satan can put him. God's dignity rides on Job's faithfulness, and here perhaps is the only answer offered Job (or man) in the abyss of despair (minus sons, family, wealth, lands, cattle, friends, health and sight).

The answer and consolation is, "At last I am God's," and the viewer leaves unsettled, perhaps, but fulfilled.

Such profound fare has taken on a spectacular showing in the scenic hill country of Southeastern Kentucky. This is hardly the center of the performing arts for avant garde drama.

Yet every summer since 1959 at Laurel Cove within the woody confines of Pine Mountain State Park, Job has persevered throughout a relatively isolated location and has brightly prospered.

It has outlasted the usual two-to-three-year run very successfully. Despite the cardinal rule of being off the trodden tourist path, audiences for the last four years have substantially increased.

But this is not all. Few plays have dared to beard the New York critics in their own den as did "The Book of Job." This past winter, during the New York newspaper strike, "Job" flourished while seventeen other Broadway and off-Broadway dramas folded. "Job" has appeared for the last two years at the off-Broadway Park Avenue Methodist Church.

Said the New York Times in 1961: "An awesome and most majestic rendition. The imagination is stirred, the eye magnetized. 'The Book of Job' should not be missed!"

The New York Morning Telegram: "One cannot but sit and be totally absorbed, feel its power and glory. No one should miss it."

"The Book of Job" raises a host of buried questions, answers few, but brings folks back. Many have

Warning To Viewers Of Eclipse Is Issued; Blindness Is Threat

The Kentucky Optometric Association this week warned against viewing the impending solar eclipse Saturday (July 20) with the naked eye.

The eclipse will be full or partial, depending upon the viewer's area. From Alaska to Maine, the eclipse will be total. A partial eclipse will occur over the rest of the nation.

Observers should not use telescopes, binoculars, sunglasses or any other type of glasses to see the eclipse, the Kentucky Association said. Dr. J. Joe Cheek, Bowling Green, president, advised the use of neutral density filters or the construction of a simple viewing aid.

Permanent retinal damage and blindness have been reported after eclipses in the past. In 1959, 170 Australians suffered partial loss of central vision after watching an eclipse for a few seconds. Complete blindness was reported in 21 cases in Utah in 1960.

Unfortunately, there is no immediate hint of danger. First symptoms of damage to the eye may come several hours or a day after the exposure. It causes a change in the shape of objects and the injured person sees with a reddish tinge.

If you want to view the eclipse Dr. Cheek suggested the use of a pinhole device which avoids the harmful infra-red rays. It can be made by punching a clean hole with a pin through a piece of cardboard.

The viewer should turn his back to the sun, hold the punched cardboard over one shoulder and let the sun rays come through the hole onto another piece of white cardboard. The sun's image is thus reflected on the white cardboard with no damage to the viewer's eyes.

Dr. Cheek emphasized that no attempt be made to view the eclipse through the pinhole itself. It simply intensifies the damage.

Governor To Be Speaker At Combs Family Reunion

Governor Bert T. Combs will be the speaker at the Combs family reunion to be held at Hazard Memorial gymnasium from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, August 25, it was announced here this week.

The reunion will include all who are related to the Combs family by blood or marriage, residents or non-residents of Kentucky. Those who desire may bring their lunches; otherwise, box lunches will be available.

More than 40,000 winter-raised bobwhite chicks were delivered to co-operating sportman's clubs throughout Kentucky this spring. These winter chicks were produced in heated quarters at the State Game Farm near Frankfort and sent to clubs which have facilities to raise them until they are six weeks old. At that age these early birds are released into the fields where it is hoped they will produce coveys their first year.

Two Floyd Soldiers In Display Honoring JFK
Hanau, Germany — Army Specialist Five John Hudson, 42, son of Mrs. Hattie Hudson, Garrett, Kentucky, and Pfc. Larry P. Collins, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Collins, of Printer, Kentucky, participated in a massive display of missiles, artillery and engineer equipment in honor of President John F. Kennedy's visit in Hanau, Germany, June 25.

Specialist Hudson is assigned to the Air Mobile Company of the 3rd Armored Division's 503rd Aviation Battalion in Germany. He entered the Army in 1941 and was stationed at Ft. Benning, Georgia, before arriving overseas in September, 1962, on this tour of duty.

Hudson is a graduate of Garrett high school and attended Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond.

Collins is a member of Company A of the 32nd Signal Battalion in Germany. He entered the Army in February, 1962, and received basic training at Ft. Knox, Kentucky. Collins was stationed at Fort Gordon, Georgia, before arriving overseas in October, 1962.

Collins is a 1960 graduate of Martin high school and attended Morehead State College.

Plan Radar Equipment For State Police Cars; Lovern Explains Program

Frankfort, Ky., July 15 (Sp.) — Eight Kentucky State Police cruisers will be equipped with portable radar equipment before Labor Day to combat speeding and provide a greater margin of safety for State Police in catching speeders, Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern has announced.

"Chasing speeders, sometimes at 90-100 miles an hour, is dangerous. With these units we can clock and time them and then radio ahead so that a roadblock can be set up," Lovern explained.

The cruisers will be stationed where eight local troop and 16 post commanders think speeding is the greatest problem.

Lovern said the radar equipment would be demonstrated to court officials before it is put in use so they will understand it before arrests are made.

The eight units, weighing about 15 pounds each, cost the State $5,737. More will be added if they prove effective, Lovern said.

Lovern explained that the psychological effect on motorists—knowing radar is being used—will cut down speeding, that the units will make the job of State Police—men less dangerous, and in turn make driving less hazardous for all motorists.

Louisville Man Named Pikeville Group Mgr. By Southern Bell Co.

Jay M. Gipe, of Louisville, has been named Pikeville group commercial manager for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, it was announced this week by A. Guy Hisle, local manager.

He replaced R. W. Taylor, who was transferred to Winchester as district commercial supervisor.

Gipe, who has been with Southern Bell since 1956, has held a number of assignments in the commercial department in Louisville. A native of Owensboro, he gained fame as an all-state basketball star while attending Owensboro high school until 1947. He attended Tulane University and is a graduate of Murray State College. Prior to joining Southern Bell, he coached high school basketball for four years in Missouri.

He is married to the former Ann Vernon Miller, of Owensboro, and they have three children.

Gipe was an active in the Optimist Club in Louisville and he and his family are members of the South Louisville Christian Church.

Wildlife Service Crew Study Trout Situation; Stream Restocking Noted

A three-man crew has arrived from the Federal Fish & Wildlife Service in Atlanta, Georgia, to study the trout needs for Kentucky streams and lakes. Aides of the Kentucky Fish & Wildlife Resources Department will work with them and possibly other federal agents from Washington to come later, according to Bernard T. Carter, director of the Kentucky Division of Fisheries.

A survey last year indicated that expanded hatchery facilities in neighboring states could meet the demand for trout stocking in Kentucky. However, Edward E. Thompson, of Louisville, an ardent fisherman, went to Washington in March with a petition of 13,000 signatures which described the study as inadequate. This petition asked a trout hatchery for Kentucky.

The living conditions for trout in Kentucky streams is to be studied by the federal crews, Carter said. A stream is automatically "out" as a trout source, if the temperature is over 72 degrees. Trout need temperatures between 60 and 70 degrees for optimum conditions, such as those in the trucks which transport them from hatcheries.

Kentucky's Division of Fisheries has been restocking its trout streams with 10,000 to 20,000 pounds a year from the Paint Bank, Virginia, hatchery, some 500 miles from Frankfort. About 60 truck trips a year are required for this transfer, Director Carter pointed out. The estimated need is 75,000 to 100,000 pounds a year now.

Additional help is expected from a trout hatchery now under construction at Celina, Tennessee, near the Kentucky state line. The long-range plan of Kentucky's Fish & Wildlife Resources Department would require an annual, assured supply of trout, Director Carter emphasized.

State's Senior Golfers Ready for Tournament; Ray Fraley To Compete

Ashland, Ky., July 15 (Sp.) — Kentucky's senior golfers—age 55 and over—are busily polishing their games in preparation for the annual senior championship tournament to be held this month over Bellefonte Country Club's course here.

Defending champion Art Nutting, of Louisville, will be on hand to seek another state title. Ray Fraley, of Wheelwright, current holder of the Butler Trophy, and last year's medalist Earl Walker, of Louisville, also will be attempting to repeat their victories of last year at Idle Hour Country Club at Lexington.

James J. Ryan, Sr., vice-president and senior tournament chairman of the Kentucky State Golf Association, says the 121-yard, par-70 Bellefonte course will be in excellent condition for the matches to be held July 25 through July 28.

"This is the only tournament limited exclusively to senior golfers in Kentucky," Ryan said, "and if early entries are any indication, we can expect an excellent turnout of competitors from every section of the state."

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

There is a lot about foxhounds to excite the interest of outdoorsmen and you sure can uncover a hornet's nest of verbal controversy by expounding the merits of one strain of foxhound over another, according to Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dogs Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

These are strains of the American foxhound:

The Trigg and the Walker, like the Goodman, Trumbo, Shaver, Spalding-Norris, Birdsong and Robertson, were named for the families that originated them. The July strain was named for a famous stud hound that established the characteristics of the strain.

Kentucky has been the birthplace of many strains of foxhound. These include the Goodman, Robertson, Whitlock Shaggy, Walker, Trigg and Trumbo. The Bywaters strain was named for the Bywaters family of Virginia. South Carolina contributed the Hampton-Watts-Bennett hounds; Maryland was the birthplace of the Maryland black-and-tan, the Sugar Loaf and the Brooke strains; Georgia produced the July family, although the dog, July, came from Maryland; Arkansas was the home of the Arkansas Traveler strain, while the Shaver hound found his genesis in West Virginia. The famous Hudspeth hound originated in Kansas, and a strain called the Wild Goose appears to have been brought into Tennessee from Virginia about 1830 and made quite a reputation in the Tennessee hills.

In New England, where the fox is hunted with the gun, the Buckfield and the New England Native strains originated.

In the northeastern states, where the going is rough and snow is encountered, a number of strains have been developed, some named for the originating families, others for their geographic locations. Among these are the Gossett, the Merrit, the Helderberg, Green Mountain, Adirondacks, Catskills and White Mountain. Another strain of distinction, noted for its ability to take the rough going in snow country, is the Cookhound, established by Mr. H. E. Cook of Detroit, Michigan. Many of these hounds were used successfully in wolf hunting. Another excellent strain is the Travis, developed by George Travis and widely distributed among his fox-hunter friends.

High School Dropouts Subject of Conference; Problem Second In State

Frankfort, July 8 (Sp.)—A state-wide youth conference, August 22-23 in Louisville, will make plans to combat the continuing problem of high school dropouts in Kentucky.

The state in 1962 had the second-highest dropout rate, 42.8 per cent, in the nation. An intensive survey of the situation by the Kentucky Department of Education is to be released at the conference.

Gov. Bert Combs has directed all units of state government in the Health and Welfare Agency to participate in arrangements for the conference in co-operation with the Kentucky Commission on Children and Youth. Theme of the five sessions at the Kentucky hotel over the two-day period will be "School Dropouts—Road to Social Disaster."

An organization in every county—if possible, in every community—for study and action is the main purpose of the conference. More than 5,000 invitations have been issued to county and community leaders, representatives of public agencies and to citizens active in programs for children.

The Kentucky conference was planned as part of a national movement after a study by Dr. James Conant, former president of Harvard University, who called the condition "social dynamite."

Six Contracts Awarded For Booths, Equipment On East, West Highways

Frankfort, July 8 (Spl.)—Six contracts totaling $750,000 have been awarded for toll booths and collection equipment on the Western Kentucky and Mountain Parkways by the Kentucky Highway Department. Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward has announced.

Contracts for toll booths, collection equipment and an administration building were awarded for the 33-mile section of the Mountain Parkway from Camp-ton to Salyersville. A 43-mile segment from Winchester to Camp-ton was opened to traffic in January.

Dawson-Evans Construction Co., Cincinnati, submitted the low bid of $126,600 for the toll booths and administration building.

Shoup Electronics, a division of Shoup Voting Machine Corp., New York City, was awarded the toll collection equipment contract for $110,580.

Projects on the 127-mile Western Kentucky Parkway from Elizabethtown to Princeton were awarded to: Shoup Electronics for toll collection equipment for $296,000; inter-communication facilities to J. M. Hisle and Associates, Lexington, Ky., for $5,990; overhead lighting and signing to Henover Manufacturing Co., Louisville, for $113,777.10; and toll booths to Michaels Arts Bronze Co., Erlanger, Ky., for $16,107.

Both parkways, financed by separate bond issues, are expected to be opened to traffic this year.

"Awarding of these contracts signals the final construction of these important parkways before they are opened for the people's use and enjoyment," Ward said.

Floyd Woman To Serve In Alaska As Church Recreation Director; To Teach Indian, Eskimo Girls

Miss Anna Mae Childers, of Indianapolis, Indiana, formerly of Wheelwright, will be one of about 450 young people who will make themselves a short-term volunteer service corps at work under the auspices of the Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Childers, Sr., of Wheelwright.

Miss Childers left June 6 for Fairbanks, Alaska, and she will work at Presbyterian Hospitality House in Fairbanks where she will be a recreation director. Hospitality House was established because there was a real need for Christian hospitality in Alaska and it serves as a Y.W.C.A. where the Indian, Eskimo and white girls can live until they can find work or are placed in foster homes by the Welfare Department or Bureau of Indian Affairs. Some of the very remote villages do not offer any education beyond the eighth grade and some do not go that far, so many of the girls living in Hospitality House have come for the purpose of attending school in Fairbanks in September and many are sent on to Sheldon Jackson School in Sitka.

Miss Childers accompanies the girls when they go bowling, hiking, swimming, roller skating and organizes outdoor sports for them. She teaches classes in sewing, flower making and arrangement, folk music and folk dancing (being a graduate of Berea College, class of 1960, she is interested in the folk music of her native Kentucky) and anything that comes under the heading of Arts and Crafts. Her real reason for going to Alaska, however, is to share her faith with the people, many of whom need to know so desperately that they are loved, and to help them to walk in the way the Lord would have them go.

When the director, Mrs. Mabel Rasmussen, is away Miss Childers fills in as a devotional leader and leads the girls in an organized Bible study. In addition, she has an opportunity, as do all the staff members, to witness to the girls individually and help them find solutions to their problems in a Christian manner.

She will leave Alaska in August and will fly back to Kentucky where she will spend two weeks with her parents in Wheelwright before returning to Indianapolis, where she teaches religious education to the fourth and fifth grades.

Other students will serve as summer Bible teachers and recreation leaders in rural and small town churches or staff day care programs for the children of agricultural migrants. One group will help hold services for tourists and summer employees in the Adirondack Mountains; another group will serve as summer relief workers at a mountain home for delinquent, orphaned, or otherwise 'needy' children in Kentucky. Others will travel to Alaska to hold summer programs in fishing villages of the Southeast.

The summer work in mission areas of the United States is under the auspices of the United Presbyterian Board of National Missions in cooperation with the denomination's Board of Christian Education and the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, U. S.

In addition to work reinforcing the denominations' missionary programs in the United States and the West Indies, additional United Presbyterian and Presbyterian students will journey overseas for similar work under ecumenical auspices and take part in seminars in the United States and other countries that will help them understand the Church's mission in a time of rapid change.

Lumber Firm Enjoined From Statute Violation; Judge Ford Issues Order

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has obtained a court order in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky at Jackson, permanently enjoining and restraining Elec C. Smallwood, doing business as Smallwood Lumber Company, from violating the minimum wage, record-keeping and shipping provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. The defendant is engaged in the lumber and building supply business.

The order was approved by United States District Judge H. Church Ford, following the filing of a complaint based on an investigation conducted by personnel of the U. S. Department of Labor's Lexington Field Office of the Wage-Hour Division, located at 402 Cowden Building, 121 Walnut Street, Lexington, Kentucky.

According to the complaint filed by the Secretary of Labor the defendant is subject to the federal Wage-Hour Law by reason of the fact that he and his employees have engaged in the receipt and shipment of goods and materials from and to states other than Kentucky.

Jest Among Us...

By Jack Wild

(Public Relations, University of Kentucky)

For thousands of Eastern Kentuckians their state university's interest in them was brought to their ears through the Mountain Listening Centers during the 1930's and 1940's, and before their eyes and hearts in the person of Miss Corsia Whitaker, whose story this is.

The plan to bring Kentucky's isolated regions into contact with the outside world through the then-infant medium of radio (the first such plan in the world) was conceived and executed by the University's Elmer G. Sulzer. His first listening center, complete with a battery-operated radio, was set up in Owsley county in 1933.

Sulzer met his greatest helper in 1937 while he and a technician were rigging up a center at Lots Creek School in Knott county. The two men had chosen a tall tree to hang their aerial on, but hesitated to make the 40-foot ascent. Without further ado, a young English teacher tied the wire around her waist and shimmied up the tree. Thus, Miss Corsia Whitaker actually "climbed up" into her job.

In the years that followed, Kentucky's new "trainsin' woman" traveled the length and breadth of the mountain counties. By 1939 she was supervising 28 listening centers.

But UK's traveling apostle of the airwaves did more than just tend her centers. She entered into the lives and the hearts of the members of every community she visited. Miss Corsia taught the classes of teachers who were ill. She brought news to the men and recipes to the women. She helped one man line coffins.

The fame of the listening center program and of Miss Corsia spread throughout the nation and the world. National radio networks heard of her and told her story. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt came to Lexington in 1938 to talk with her and became an active supporter of the project. India established a program of its own along the lines of the UK plan.

By 1949, better roads and mail service, and more radios and telephones had made the work of the centers unnecessary. Miss Corsia's decade of service was over, but to thousands of mountain people she will never be forgotten.

(Miss Corsia received her initial college training at what is now Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes. She is now Mrs. Cleo Hale and lives at Manton in this county.—Editor.)

Hospital Bill Signed

SIGNED INTO LAW by Gov. Bert Combs is the measure which makes possible the continued operation of five former United Mine Workers' hospitals at Hazard, McDowell, Harlan, Middlesboro, and Whitesburg. The law authorizes a non-profit, non-sectarian corporation to oversee the hospitals' operation and a $700,000 appropriation for hospital care of indigent patients during the 1963-64 fiscal year. Looking on is Congressman Carl Perkins, Eastern Kentucky U. S. Representative, of Hindman, who worked with Federal officials to gain a $3.9 million grant from the Area Redevelopment Administration to purchase the hospitals.

NEW PAROLE PROCEDURES ESTABLISHED BY ASSEMBLY

Frankfort, July 3 (Spl.)—Kentucky's General Assembly ended its second special session of the year with passage of a bill by the House of Representatives (66-20) to aid rehabilitation of prisoners by reforming parole procedures. The Senate previously had approved the bill.

The measure (SB 1) was signed by Gov. Bert Combs, along with a measure to enable the state to help keep open five United Mine Workers Hospitals. Combs had called the special session to authorize a non-profit corporation to operate the hospitals which the U. M. W. had planned to close.

The parole measure, which goes into effect October 1, 1963, empowers the State Parole Board to decide when a prisoner is eligible for parole. In effect, juries will prescribe maximum sentences for convicted criminals and the Parole Board will determine minimum sentences. The old law required a prisoner to serve a specified time before he was eligible for parole.

The parole act expands the State Parole Board from three to five members. It raises the minimum salary of members from $7,500 to $10,000 a year, with an additional $500 a year for the chairman. Members now get $8,000 and the chairman $8,500.

The act also creates a commission on corrections as general overseer on all aspects of probation and parole.

Members, serving without pay, would be composed of the commissioner of the Department of Corrections, directors of the Department's Division of Probation and Parole and Division of Institutions, chairman of the Parole Board and seven members appointed by the Governor.

The appointed members would include two circuit judges, a psychiatrist, a professional educator, a representative of business and industry, a labor representative and a practicing attorney.

The act appropriates $125,000 for 1963-'64 to meet additional costs caused by the changes.

On the final day of the session, U. S. Representative Carl Perkins, Hindman Democrat, told the state House of Representatives that the hospital bill was "the most humanitarian act ever taken by this Legislature."
