

DATA SHOWS IMPACT OF COAL ON COUNTY

MINING ADDS $16 MILLION TO ECONOMY

1962 Industry Payroll Topped $10 Million In Floyd-Co. Alone

The coal industry added a total of $16,601,413 to the economy of Floyd county in 1962 in wages, expenditures for supplies and services and taxes, and the economic impact of coal that year on the county was perhaps lighter than that of 1963.

These figures and data accumulated in an 18-month study sponsored by the National Coal Association, the National Coal Policy Conference and the United Mine Workers of America were released last week to Gov. Edward T. Breathitt.

Coal during the year directly added $274,598,179 to the economy of the state as a whole. Muhlenberg and Hopkins county were the year's biggest producers. Floyd ranked in the top six counties, along with these two and Pike, Harlan and Union. This county produced 3,746,688 tons of coal in 1962.

The coal production payroll in this county in 1962 was $10,486,503. State and local taxes paid by coal operations added $501,386, with the total being increased by $5,613,525 more which coal firms spent for services and supplies.

EASEMENTS ARE SOUGHT

Clearing and Snagging On Beaver In Danger; Sturgill Issues Plea

County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill said this week that easements for the Right Beaver Creek clearing and snagging project is approximately 95% complete.

"We have approximately 110 easements and according to our engineers we need only about 10 or 12 easements which need to be secured," Sturgill said. "I do hope that any persons who own property along the creek will sign these easements so that we can proceed promptly," he continued.

"The easements of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad and the gas companies are in the process of being approved and it would be a shame to lose this project, which will put about $80,000.00 into the Right Beaver Creek section, because five or six people refuse to sign these easements," Sturgill added.

In a meeting Monday with the Corps of Engineers it was again stressed that the right-of-way must be acquired in time to permit the Corps of Engineers to advertise for equipment and to secure the necessary labor in the short time left to start this project.

Sturgill issued an appeal for easements to be signed:

"We have worked exceptionally hard to get this project and I appeal earnestly to these people holding easements to sign them and send them to me so we can certify that we have acquired the necessary right-of-way for this project."

This Town . . . That World

"Snow on the p'int, blood in the gullies." So spoke an old mountaineer of the dogwood and redbud that glorify these hills, this wonderful season of the year.

WE MAINTAIN . . .

Today medical men from New England to the plains country are at Jenny Wiley State Park, and already our ears have heard the soothing music of praise of the beauty of this picturesque part of America. We still maintain that the planting of dogwoods and redbuds by the thousands from one end of the Mountain Parkway to the other would not only make this the most beautiful drive in America but would give visitors such as these something to remember for the rest of their lives. This drive, Washington and its cherry blossoms couldn't touch us.

THE FIX WE'RE IN

Prestonsburg's streets are in that well-known condition better known as a fix. To offset the gripes, the city fathers might adopt the prize-winning slogan submitted to explain the torn-up streets of Corpus Christi, Texas: "When you gotta grow, you gotta grow."

How long has it been since you heard somebody remark that it "sarved" him right?

FISHING REPORT

Went white bass fishing, the other afternoon. Ran into a passel of tightwads, up around the mouth of Brushy. They wouldn't make up a kitty of $5.00 for going home.

P.S. They didn't catch any fish, either.

THE ANSWER

Friend of mine, in serious mood, asked me, not long ago, if I never caught any fish. Well, I had to admit that I'm not the guy to re-write "The Compleat Angler," but I do catch some fish, sometimes. Then he wanted to know why I wrote one of those times when I debated whether to dynamite the fish or shoot myself. Whereupon I had to remind him that anybody can lie or brag enough to be a pretty good fisherman but that people aren't interested in his success or mine on these little jaunts of ours to lake or stream. Which would interest you most—a picture of yours truly hooked firmly in the seat of the pants on his back-cast or tussling mightily with the biggest bass in these parts?

AUTO MISHAP KILLS FOLEY

Floyd Native Victim At Cleveland, Ohio; Rites Held Wednesday

Tazewell Foley, 47, native of the Johns Creek section but a resident of Cleveland, Ohio, for the last 18 months, was killed Saturday at 1 p.m. in Cleveland in an auto wreck.

Mr. Foley suffered multiple injuries when a car in which he was a passenger went out of control and struck a tree. The driver and other passengers were not seriously injured. Names of the others are unavailable. The victim was a construction worker.

Mr. Foley was a son of Mrs. Maud Fraley Foley, Portsmouth, Ohio, and the late Wallace Foley. His wife, Frieda Ashbury Foley, survives.

Surviving children are Max Foley, Cleveland, Ohio, Joe Foley, James Foley and Miss Florence Foley, all of Charleston, West Virginia. Brothers and sisters surviving are Avery Foley, Pikeville, William T. Foley, Prestonsburg, James Foley, Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. Sylvia Purdy, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at 1 p.m. from the Auxier Free Will Baptist Church, the Revs. John W. Conley and W. H. Horn officiating. Burial was made in the Foley cemetery at Auxier under the direction of the Floyd Funeral Home.

WINSOME CANDIDATES. Shown are nine of the 10 Floyd county girls who will compete for the title of Miss Floyd County and the right to represent the county in the competition for the title of Miss Kentucky. The Floyd county contest, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club, will be held at 8 p.m., May 16, at the new Jenny Wiley State Park amphitheatre. From left, first row—Helen Wells, Prestonsburg; Joan Hicks, Maytown; Rita Kay Spurlock, Drift; Sallye Hill, Prestonsburg; back row—Ann Ryan, Martin; Brenda Horn, Prestonsburg; Judy Ratliff, Drift; Brenda Milligan, Prestonsburg; Brenda Patton, Allen. (Absent when photo was made was Susie Wells, of David.) Miss Floyd County will be crowned by Ex-Governor Bert T. Combs and will receive from the Junior Woman's Club a $100 scholarship.

KENTUCKY MED GROUP MEETS AT MAY LODGE

Two hundred or more physicians and surgeons are at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, today (Thursday) for the 14th annual interim meeting of the Kentucky State Medical Association. Approximately 60 members of the KSMMA woman's auxiliary are meeting there at the same time.

Dr. George P. Archer, of Prestonsburg, KSMMA president, presided at all sessions except the afternoon meeting at which Dr. Delmas M. Clary, Hopkinsville, president-elect, presided.

Theme of the meeting was "64—Medicine's Year for Political Action," and addresses by doctors, most of whom were from other states, never strayed far from that subject.

At the opening 9:45 a.m. session Dr. Daniel F. Hanley, Brunswick, Me., discussed "The Physician and Health Insurance," demonstrating that Blue Shield, properly supported, can remove all need for King-Anderson type of legislation.

Invocation at the opening of the meeting was given by the Rev. W. D. Jagers, of Prestonsburg, and the welcome address was by Dr. James D. Adams, Prestonsburg, president of the Floyd County Medical Society.

Dr. Ernest B. Howard, of Chicago, assistant executive vice-president of the American Medical Association, spoke on "The Truth About King-Anderson," citing its weak points and some of the more popular alternate plans. "Fiducare and Politics" was the topic of Dr. Durward G. Hall, Springfield, Missouri, Congressman from the Seventh district of Missouri. The status of medical care legislation and what the physician can do to stem what he termed the tide to socialism were stressed by the speaker.

Humor, philosophy and inspiration featured the address, "Keys to Success and Happiness," by Clarence N. Walker, Atlanta, Georgia, executive staff representative of the Coca-Cola Company, at the 12:30 luncheon session.

Discussing the alternatives of free enterprise or disaster, Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, Peoria, Illinois, director of the School of International Studies, Bradley University, offered a stirring contrast of the Communistic and free enterprise systems of government at the afternoon session. Born and educated in Hungary, a participant in the underground movement in Hungary during World War II, and Finance Minister of the anti-Communist Hungarian government in 1948, he was forced to flee his native land because of increasing Soviet pressure. He is now an American citizen and in this country has established himself as an educational and civic leader.

The 1965 interim meeting of KSMMA will be held at Owensboro.

Invocation at the opening of the meeting was given by the Rev. W. D. Jagers, of Prestonsburg, and the welcome address was by Dr. James D. Adams, Prestonsburg, president of the Floyd County Medical Society.

Dr. Ernest B. Howard, of Chicago, assistant executive vice-president of the American Medical Association, spoke on "The Truth About King-Anderson," citing its weak points and some of the more popular alternate plans. AREA ASKED TO CLEAN UP

Mrs. Harkins Appointed To Lead Drive Here; Unemployed To Assist

When the third trial of Troy Mullins and Marion Martin, Floyd county sheriffs charged with the slaying of Ex-Magistrate John May, is called here Monday, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley nor Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo will be involved in the case.

Judge Conley disqualified, some weeks ago, to preside at the trial, and Stumbo agreed to step aside as prosecutor if there was objection to prosecution of the case by him.

In a pre-trial conference held here April 9 by Judge James Stephenson, of Pikeville, who was designated by the Court of Appeals to preside at the trial, an attorney for relatives of the slain man stated that certain persons interested in the prosecution were objecting to Stumbo as prosecutor, since he had, before taking the oath of office as Commonwealth's Attorney, filed an answer in a civil suit for Sheriff Henry Hale.

Judge Stephenson held that there was no conflict of interest and that Stumbo was charged with the responsibility of representing the Commonwealth when those interested in the prosecution made a selection.

Cordell H. Martin, Hindman attorney, last Friday notified the court that he would accept the appointment, and on the following day Judge Stephenson ordered that Stumbo be relieved of all responsibility in the case and appointed Martin to prosecute.

Among things that she stressed were the need of cleaning up public buildings and grounds. In this connection she spoke of the sad condition of courthouses and schools in the state.

May Clean-Up Month, April 15 to May 15, is being observed in Prestonsburg. Mrs. Mary Jane Harkins, general chairman of the drive here, said unemployed fathers now at work under city sponsorship are helping with clean-up activities. City employees will haul accumulated brush and other debris from cleaned premises on call by the property-owner.

Merchants and other business people often forget the adverse effects of conditions around their businesses, Miss Quinn said. This is especially true of customers who visit places of business. How often have we failed to return to the store, restaurant, service station or other place of business or recreation that was dirty? In this connection she told of a factory owner looking for a new location. After being shown around an unusually dirty town.

NEW HOMES PROJECT PLANNED AT LANCER

Site preparation for a housing development here which eventually may involve the expenditure of more than $450,000 has been completed by C. R. Hatton, Prestonsburg insurance man.

The 12-acre tract on which the homes will be built was purchased by Mr. Hatton from Mrs. Anna Allen, of Lexington, and Mrs. Mabel Curmutte, of Ashland. It was said the transaction marked the first time the land has been outside the ownership of the Mayo family since 1799. The site is the old Eureka Coal Company mining camp, near the New Lancer Addition.

TWO CONFESS TO ENTERING

Two Breaks Admitted, Third Charge Denied; Coin Theft Alleged

Two men jailed here Tuesday by State Trooper E. B. Allen admitted breaking and entering two Right Beaver Creek stores but denied complicity in a break made into the Garrett postoffice.

The prisoners, Bobby E. Williams and Frank J. Jones, were arrested after the store of Gordon Collins at Lackey and that of Keith Scott at Garrett were looted. Three television sets, tools and other items were taken from Collins' store. Clothing was missing from Scott's.

A window of the Garrett postoffice was broken, but no loss of cash, stamps or mail was reported.

Others booked at the jail within the week and charges listed against them follow:

Turner Lafferty, no operator's license, jailed by Deputy Sheriff Joe Hale; Randall McKinney, uttering a worthless check, booked by Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson; James Salisbury, hunting without license, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs R. Hall and Harold Johnson.

Two Michigan juveniles were jailed Tuesday night by State Trooper Allen and Constable Gillis Conn on a charge of stealing a coin collection from the grandfather of one of the two.

INLAND SETS SAFETY DAY

Preparation Plants, Mines To Enter Teams; Agencies Cooperating

In an effort to cause employees to be more safety-minded and less subject to injury, Inland Steel Company will hold its 11th annual Safety Day and First-Aid Contest, April 25, in the Wheelwright high school gymnasium.

The contest will start at 1:30 p.m. and will feature eight teams of men representing the various mines and coal preparation plants.

The winning team will receive the championship trophy, and each member of the three winning teams will receive individual prizes. An opportunity will also be given to the three winning teams to represent the company in the district contest, which is sponsored by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute next fall.

Annual safety day is promoted each year by Inland with the cooperation of Local Union No. 5899 and District 30, United Mine Workers of America, the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, the U. S. Bureau of Mines and local and national coal operators' associations.

All Inland employees, their families and the general public are cordially invited to attend. The ceremonies will include presentation of watches to eight employees in recognition of 25 years of continuous service with Inland Steel Company.

High Postal Official Schedules Speech Here

Deputy Postmaster General Frederick C. Belen, third highest official of the Post Office Department, will be the guest of Kentucky postmasters at their annual state convention which will be held May 3-5 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Mr. Belen will address the postmasters Monday evening, May 4. A native of Lansing, Michigan, he is a veteran of World War II, leaving the military service as a colonel. His military career included a key role in establishing security responsibilities for ports of embarkation of the Army Transportation Corps and establishing the wartime security system for the Pentagon.

A graduate of Michigan State University, he was named "Most Distinguished Alumnus" of that institution in 1963.

More than 75 postmasters had registered for the convention as early as last week, and the attendance is expected to be unusually heavy.

ATTEND PERFORMANCE

Sara Cooley, Barbara Spradlin and Ethel Sammons spent the week-end in Lexington, attending the Saturday night performance of Peter, Paul and Mary.

RETURNS FROM SCHOOL

David Stephens, Jr., who has been studying at Elkins Radio School, Dallas, Texas, for a radio engineering license, will return home this week-end.

MANY WELLS FAIL; MINE WATER USED

Cause Is Conjectural, Residents Say; Stumbo Fears Typhoid Cases

Rainy weather regardless, the town of McDowell is suffering from a severe water shortage.

Between 25 and 30 homes there are without water, some wells as much as 100 feet deep have gone dry, and some householders have been forced to use waters from nearby coal openings.

John Milton Stumbo, Floyd County Health Department sanitation inspector, said Tuesday he fears the possibility of an outbreak of typhoid as a result of the water shortage and consequent use of water from sources which may be contaminated.

Cause of the sudden departure of water from wells in the Left Beaver Creek community is a matter of conjecture, but it was said that the water shortage coincided with the pulling by the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company of casing from an old gas well there. The company is plugging the well, and it was said here Tuesday morning that some gain in water has been noted.

A few wells went dry as far away as Minnie, a mile from location of the gas well. Others in East McDowell were similarly affected. The supply of water at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital was threatened as the level of the well drilled there to a depth of about 400 feet dropped.

McDowell citizens were being assisted Tuesday by health department and gas company personnel in making arrangements to have water hauled there from Prestonsburg by tank truck. A tank formerly used by H. B. Ranier in supplying water to the town of David was available but a truck was needed. Col. Reed, of Kentucky Civil Defense headquarters, Frankfort, was contacted Tuesday afternoon to ascertain if surplus portable tanks can be supplied to relieve the situation.

WARD GIVES ROAD HELP

Stumbo and Sturgill Talk To Commissioner On Financial Problem

A solution of Floyd county's road financial problems apparently was reached recently in a conference between Highway Commissioner Henry Ward and County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill.

Approximately $14,000—enough to finance the operation of equipment through remainder of the fiscal year—was made available to the county.

And after July 1, when the new fiscal year begins, the load should be much lighter on the county. For at that time the former $5 million state rural highway fund will be augmented by an additional $5 million, and Floyd county's share will be double the present $50,000 a year.

"We should, after July 1, be in the best shape we've ever been," Judge Stumbo said.

Floyd county has adequate road machinery, and most of it is paid for, but until the Frankfort meeting it appeared funds would be lacking to pay the wages of operators.

Conservation Committee Schedules Meeting Here

The study committee on land use, forestry, conservation and water, which was set up recently, will meet Wednesday of next week at 7:15 p.m. in the Division of Forestry office here, it is announced by Jack Friar, Extension agent.

"This will be the first meeting of this committee and it is highly important that all members make every effort to be present," Friar said.

UDC District Conducts Meeting At Cynthiana; Marker Dedication Set

The Perryville district, Kentucky Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, held its annual meeting in Cynthiana, April 18, with the Jo Desha Chapter as hostess. The district is composed of other chapters from Lexington, Frankfort, Catlettsburg and Prestonsburg. Mrs. John Pearce Campbell, of Paducah, division president, presided.

Progress on the monument being erected at Gettysburg National Military Cemetery honoring all Confederate soldiers and sailors was discussed. This monument will be dedicated early in November.

Mrs. John R. Clark, president of Greenville Davidson Chapter, Prestonsburg, extended an invitation to the dedication of a marker near here, marking the route General John Hunt Morgan and his men took upon their withdrawal from Kentucky after the battle of Cynthiana. She also extended an invitation for the district meeting to be held at Jenny Wiley State Park in 1965.

What Would We Do Without It?

Sometimes it must occur to those men who have invested their money and their futures in the coal business that the one question in the minds of many is, "What shall we do next to the coal mining industry?"

We know of no industry so hemmed in by governmental regulations and restrictions as is this. None faces such competition as coal, with residual oil importations abetted by the national government and with depletion allowances denied coal while the competing industry is granted such benefits. When not under market pressures the coal producer is facing attack from some other direction. Strikes beset it. Some have urged a coal tax. Even the weather often is an enemy, and every winter nature takes a hand in the onslaught by freezing over the Lakes and denying the business access to a major market.

Little wonder it is, then, that those engaged in the business develop the feeling that they are a perennial target.

As we ponder these matters, we are reminded that the coal industry had in this county alone, in 1962, a payroll of $10 million and that taxes and purchases of supplies by coal companies added directly to the economy of the county no less than $16 million.

The question which arises in our mind, then, is not "What shall we do to the coal business?" but more realistically is, "What could we do without it?"

Communities grow excited about the prospect of a manufacturing plant which will employ a hundred or so men or women. They persistently seek, as they should, such plants, for a variegated industry is needed. Yet a new coal mine and its huge payroll are accepted in matter-of-fact fashion, with few buttons bustin' from community promoters' vests.

Floyd county's future may depend upon business other than coal, but its present is undeniably tied to and dependent upon it.

The Times does not suggest that those companies and individuals responsible for this $16-million-a-year business in Floyd county are always right and above blame. It cannot, for instance, accept the despoilation of soil, timber and streams by the reckless strip-mining methods practiced by some. Yet it does maintain that the coal business is entitled to the full respect and cooperation of every citizen who is interested in a county where coal still is king.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from files of The Floyd County Times of 30, 20 and 10 years ago.)

Thirty Years Ago

(April 20, 1934)

Ashland Ousley, 20, was shot and killed near Bosco Sunday night. The strike at the Garrett mine of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation ended, a few days ago. The work-stoppage, it was said, resulted from the company's refusal to discharge a mine foreman. Floyd county teachers voted unanimously in an open meeting here Saturday, endorsing the work of Dr. A. L. Hill in the General Assembly and the sales tax. The State Highway Commission expressed the belief, a few days ago, that it "had been taken" in a transaction with Floyd county. The county gave the road commission a two-year-old gasoline-powered shovel in return for road work, and now the Ohio manufacturer demands that the state pay the $8,200 yet due on the shovel or return the equipment. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, of Prestonsburg, April 5, a son—William Ernest. There died: M. V. Allen, 66, postmaster at Garth, Monday at his home; Freddy Davis, 20, of Garrett, last Thursday at a Pikeville hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

(April 20, 1944)

Rumors that Prestonsburg may lose its Vocational Training Shop were denied this week by Fred A. Martin, local coordinator. The Floyd draft quota for May is 359. T/Sgt. Patrick Hicks, of Blue River, has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in the South Pacific. Condition of Pvt. Herschell Tackett, of Prestonsburg, who has been critically ill of pneumonia at an army hospital in Atlantic City, New Jersey, is reported improved. Mrs. Sarah Collins, 46, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Goldie Robinson Combs, 40, of West Van Lear, died Saturday and Sunday, respectively, of injuries received in separate auto wrecks in this county. There died: James Carroll Howard, 40, of Prestonsburg, Friday at an Ashland hospital; Mrs. Earl Campbell, 42, Monday at her home on Brandy Keg; Mrs. Mary Case, 55, of Little Mud, last Thursday as she walked toward Harold where she hoped to receive a letter from her soldier son; Tom McCown, 49, Tuesday at McDowell.

Ten Years Ago

(April 22, 1954)

The first person to be slain in this county in eight months is Mrs. Sadie Halbert, 32, of Printer, who died at a Martin hospital Friday night, almost eight hours after she was shot in the forehead at the home of a neighbor. Body of Charles Webb, age about 40, of Laynesville, was found Sunday in a ravine near Phelps, Pike county, where he had apparently been bludgeoned to death. Henry P. Scalf, of The Times' staff, is one of 30 outstanding Kentucky citizens to be honored tomorrow by Transylvania College at Lexington. Henry Bradley, 51, of Risner, drowned Monday in the Big Sandy near Louisa. Married: Lt. Agnes Teresa Ward, USAF-NC, Wallaston, Massachusetts, and Lt. Josh T. Williams, of Prestonsburg, January 30 at Itazuba Air Force Base, Japan; Miss Lois Hughes, of Lackey, and Mr. Hatler Turner, of Wayland, April 11 at Hindman. There died: John Smith, 42, of Tram, victim of a slatefall in a West Virginia mine; John Riley Bradford, 74, Wednesday on Middle Creek; Mrs. Rebecca Newsome, 72, Wednesday at Ligon; George Rattiff, 59, at Lackey Monday; Dr. John Wess Duke, 80, Friday at Hindman; Uriah Leroy Humphreys, 78, of Ironton, Friday at West Prestonsburg; William Martin, 75, Floyd native, April 12 at Ashland.

THE JET AGE

Thomas D. Bailey, state superintendent of Florida schools, tells the story of two second-graders who were standing in the school playground during recess when a jet flew over. "Look at that," said one lad, "it's a BX50." "No, a BX51," said the other. "You can tell by its wing sweep." "You're right," the first youngster conceded. "It's not going more than 760 m.p.h., either, because it didn't break the sound barrier."

On this point they both agreed. "It's amazing the pressure that develops on those planes when they go into a dive," the second boy said. "Almost 1,200 pounds per square inch."

At this point the bell called the children back to the classroom. The first boy turned to the second. "There's the bell," he sighed. "Let's go back in and finish stringing those damn beads."

Flower seeds held from one year to the next generally are not worth saving, say USDA plant specialists. Most kinds of seeds lose much of their vitality when stored under household conditions; they tend to germinate slowly and produce poor seedlings. USDA suggests you buy new seeds each year—not too long before planting time. For best results, allow no more than a 3-month holding period.

Dr. Herbert G. Salisbury scored a hole-in-one on the par 3 No. 6 hole at the Paintsville Country Club last Sunday afternoon. Using a 9-iron, he whacked the ball on a line for the flag 135 yards away. The ball hit the green and ducked like a rabbit into the cup. Dr. Salisbury was playing with Joe Burke, Jack Walters and Bruce Gray Walters at the time.

he was told that while the town was dirty, the people were the best in the world. To this he replied, "No, if they were they would not live in a town like this," and took his new factory elsewhere.

In many cases the clean-up cannot be confined to the physical property, and certainly not the public physical property, she pointed out. Clean-up often needs to be applied to service, sense of knowledge and cheerfulness of the help in shops, stores, stations and restaurants, etc.

"Clean-up is a personal program, each one must do it himself," was another of her remarks. The community club, the city, the county or the state cannot do it. While they can help by hauling the trash away, and fining or jailing the "litter bug," the individual must do his part.

In speaking of the tourist dollar she said that research has shown that the dollar passes through 17 hands before it is banked 14 days after it is spent, and that if 24 tourists a day stopped (just stopped, not staying overnight) it was the equivalent to a payroll of $100,000 per year to the community.

THE PRINTER ERRED

The Times in its story last week of the robbing of a Left Beaver Creek postoffice erroneously listed the office as that at Printer. The burglarized postoffice was Minnie.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Ellis Slone, Jr., wishes to express deepest appreciation to all who came to us in our grief and sorrow at his tragic death. Your expressions of food, flowers and other courtesies overwhelmed us. We are truly grateful. Especially do we want to thank Revs. L. P. Tussey and Ashland Shepherd for their consoling words and the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home for its efficient service.

JOHNSON PLANS VISIT TO STATE NEXT WEEK

Perhaps as a prelude to his endorsement or rejection of the Appalachian Regional Commission's proposed redevelopment program, President Johnson will visit Kentucky and other Appalachian states next week. A planned visit to the region was a spur-of-the-moment decision.

Prior to Tuesday's announcement, it was predicted the President would come to Kentucky in May. President Kennedy had contemplated a visit to Eastern Kentucky December 6 but was assassinated November 22.

Johnson will meet next week with the region's governors. It is presumed. Under-secretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., chairman of the Appalachian Regional Commission that presented his group's proposed plan of redevelopment to the President recently, is understood to have been urging Johnson to visit the mountain states.

The Commission's proposals, endorsed by eight Appalachian state governors, provides a broad front of attack on the depressed economy of the region. Among the proposals are developmental highways, revamped agricultural approaches, water resource development, construction of community facilities, creation of timber use complexes and increased forestry acreage, power and mineral resource development.

Envisioned under the Commission's plan is a network of 2,150 miles of new highways with 500 miles of auxiliary roads. Over a five-year period it is thought 9.5 million acres of pasture land could be added to the agricultural economy. Dams, water control projects and accelerated construction of sewage and water facilities feature the plan.

Timber resource development would be patterned after the recently-formed Kenwood Corporation which is now seeking investment capital. A new national forest, its center pivoted in Letcher county, would be created to take up 4.3 million acres of depleted timberlands.

Appalachia is envisioned as a source of electric power, due to its abundance of water and coal. Intensive research on coal use is part of the overall plan.

A proposed Appalachian Development Commission would be charged with development and implementation of the Roosevelt program. Most of the plan for creation of a better economy in the region would be financed by federal and state funds, the former meeting most of the cost, tentatively set at $4 billion or more.

It is hoped that Johnson's visit to the Appalachian states will give the region a psychological boost and demonstrate to the President the urgency of Appalachia's needs.

The Roosevelt group's plan will probably be presented, either with or without modifications, to Congress next month. Concern has been expressed that the plan is rather low on the President's legislative priority list for 1964. The visit here may alter that considerably.

Ted Hicks Is Named Jaycees President; Pick Other Officers

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, at a recent meeting, elected officers for the ensuing year, it is announced. Ted Hicks was named president of the civic organization.

Other officers named are Harry R. Burke, vice-president, John Picklesimer, secretary, Paul P. Hughes, treasurer. Named to the board of directors are Claude Swiney, David Hereford and Paul Hager.

The civic group, which has sponsored many public projects, recently completed house numbering of Prestonsburg homes and business firms. A map of the city, based on the new numbers, has been completed and given to the postoffice.

Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet makes roads feel as smooth as the maps they're printed on

Run your finger over a map and find yourself a place to go. That's a preview of how it feels to get there in a Chevrolet.

We've put what we think is the best suspension system in its class under this great highway performer. A big husky coil spring at each wheel and double-action shock absorbers to soak up bumps. Over 700 sound deadeners throughout the chassis and that spacious Body by Fisher to blot out noise from road and wind.

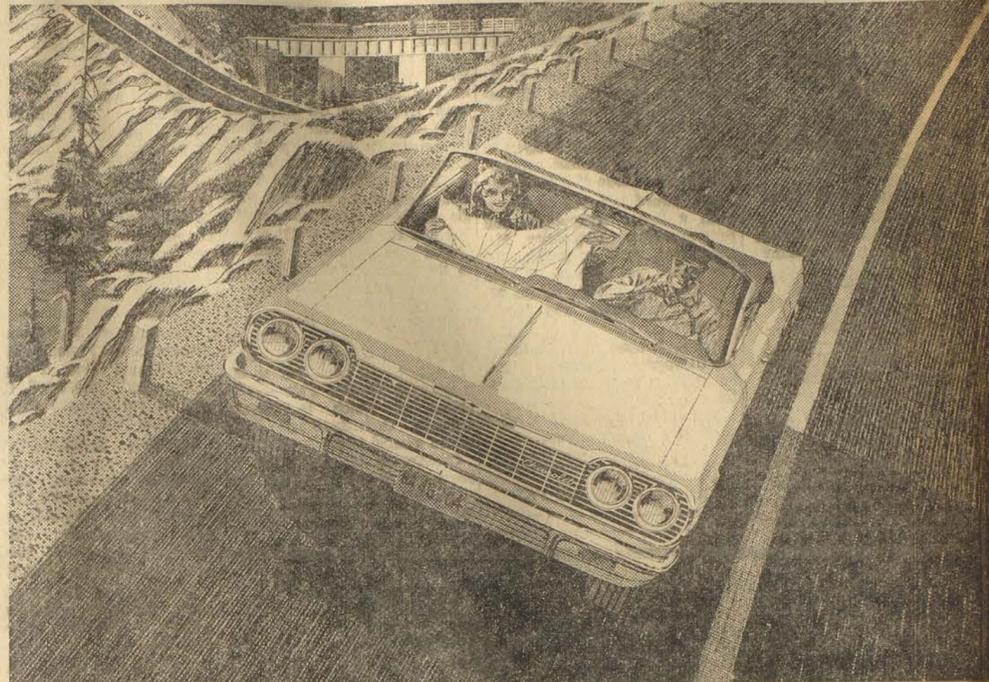

There's a lot of other Jet-smooth luxury, too. FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

Wide seats with foam-cushioning front and rear. Luxurious wall-to-wall deep-twist carpeting (this year it comes with even the lowest priced Biscaynes). A choice of seven great engines, all precision-balanced for smoother running, with four smooth-shifting transmissions to match. Everything that makes Chevrolet the great highway performer it is.

So get out those road maps. And wherever you go, get off to a good start—during Trade 'N' Travel Time at your Chevrolet dealer's.

McDowell Senior Wins College Scholarship

James Rodney Johnson, McDowell senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harve Johnson, of Ligon, has been notified by Joseph Block, president of the Inland Steel Corporation, that he has won the Inland Steel-Ryerson Foundation independent scholarship to the college of his choice.

This award is based on scores from a highly competitive and comprehensive examination. Mr. Block said, "The competition for this award was exceedingly keen and the great majority of the 229 eligible applicants was highly qualified."

Young Johnson plans to attend the University of Kentucky where he plans to major in mathematics.

The award amounts to $1,300 a year for each school year.

Miss Stambaugh, Winner Of Contest, To Take U. N. Youth Pilgrimage

Betty Stambaugh, student at Wayland high school and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Stambaugh, of Estill, has been selected as the winner of a contest among teen-age high school sophomores and juniors to take part in the 15th annual United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth this summer.

Miss Stambaugh will visit New York from June 16 to June 22 as one of more than 1,000 student observers of the United Nations from throughout the United States and Canada. The project is sponsored by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

Delegates will study and observe the UN in action, see committees and commissions at work in the five official UN languages, and learn of the vast work done throughout the world by such UN departments and agencies as UNO, UNESCO, FAO, and Technical Assistance. They will visit the American Association of the UN and the headquarters of the United States-Canadian Mission to the UN, as well as those of various other member nations.

International House, where graduate students from more than 80 countries live under one roof, will be visited, and a special feature will be a day at the New York World's Fair—the theme of which is "Peace Through Understanding" and whose symbol is the unisphere.

Certificates of merit will be presented to the following students who won honorable mention in the contest: Irene Newman, Betsy Layne, runner-up; Arnold Fouts, Garrett; Elmer Frasure, McDowell, and Rickey Smiley, Prestonsburg.

Sponsors who will pay for the week in New York and the educational bus tour are Prestonsburg Lodge No. 293, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31, of Prestonsburg. The awards will be presented by Bill H. Howard, committee chairman.

Here's how Floyd county's miners in 1962 spent the $10,486,503 paid them in wages:

For food, $2,946,707 ($524,325 at restaurants, $2,422,382 for home food).
Housing, $2,852,329 (this broken down to: rent and mortgage interest, $859,893; home purchases, $608,217; real estate taxes, $136,325; repairs and maintenance, $314,595; fuel and electricity, $356,541; house furnishings, $576,758).

Apparel, $849,407 (men's and boys', $293,622; women's and girls', $338,000; footwear, $167,784).

Transportation, $1,226,921 (new cars, $293,622; used cars, $178,271; auto repairs, $125,838; gasoline, $251,676; other, $377,514).

Medical, $608,217 (doctors, $220,217; dentists, $94,379; hospitalization and surgical insurance, $157,298; drugs, $73,406; other, $62,919).

Personal care (beauty shops, barber shops, cosmetics, etc.), $241,190; recreation (TV and radio sets, sporting goods, magazines, newspapers, etc.), $576,758; other goods and services (laundry, dry cleaning, household detergents, etc.), $1,184,975.

These figures, it was pointed out, were taken from a company-by-company survey made of the coal industry by Operations and Policy Research, Inc., Washington, D. C. The report to Governor Breathitt was given by Fred Bullard, Lexington, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, and 13 other members of the Association's Kentucky State committee which includes representatives of both management and labor.

The coal-industrial complex in Kentucky employs 33,492 people. Their wages of $168,281,277 provide, in turn, millions of dollars spent in Kentucky, the report said.

For example, these workers spent $47,287,039 for food, $45,772,507 for housing, $19,688,909 for transportation, $13,630,783 for apparel, $9,760,314 for medical care, $9,255,470 for recreation, $3,870,469 for personal care, and $19,015,783 for other goods and services. Taxes, other than federal corporate levies, took $10,457,782.

Comet...World's 100,000-Mile Durability Champion

At Daytona, a team of four specially equipped '64 Comets each traveled day and night 100,000 miles at over 105 miles per hour—an unequalled feat of stamina and durability.

In Africa, Comet showed its stamina again in "the wildest ride on earth"—the monsoon-swept East African Safari Rally. 94 cars started. Only 21 finished the run—two of them were Comets.

Route of the "wildest ride on earth"—3,188 miles through the heart of Africa.

Leads the sales success parade!

Is it any surprise that Comet sales are up to almost double last year's? Comet proves what it can do. After 100,000 miles at Daytona, one of these special Comets has traveled another 31,000 and is still going strong. Then rally-equipped Comets slogged through 3,188 miles of African mud, rocks and jungle—the first to carry America's colors in the world's toughest car event. Want more reasons? Just take a look at this new Comet. Husky, racy, beautiful, and built, really built. Make tracks for a Comet at your Mercury dealer's.

Telephone Talk

By ROY L. ATHERTON
Your Telephone Manager

ARE APRIL SHOWERS KEEPING YOU INDOORS? Then this is the time to remember how many things you can do at home with the help of your handy telephone. Make appointments. Order groceries. Chat with friends. Make party, meeting, or business plans. You and your telephone can be the world's most efficient get-things-done team . . . even on a rainy, rainy, day!

BEING QUICK ON THE DRAW was an important qualification for telephone operators out west in the early 1900's. A memo recently found in some old files told about the visit of a telephone official to a company office. The man noticed a .45 revolver lying on the switchboard. When he asked the operator whether she ever had to use it, she said, "If the customers see it there, they won't try to hold me up, and they won't try to walk out without paying for Long Distance calls." Things have changed considerably since that day. Qualifications for telephone operators, for instance, today, instead of being quick on the draw, operators are trained to be quick with the service and courtesy that has become a telephone company trademark.

ARE YOU EASY TO FIND? You are if you're listed in the telephone directory. But what about other people living in your house, using the same telephone? Grandparents. Teen-agers. Additional listings for all of them cost so little. Why not call our business office about it now.

SOME CONVENIENCES TO LOOK FORWARD TO IN THE HOME OF THE FUTURE: solar ovens that will cook foods in seconds. Heating and cooling devices built into rugs and furniture. News printed in your home as it breaks—foreign material translated into English. And, of course, wherever there is progress and development, the communications industry is in the front line. As part of this great industry, your telephone company will continue to bring you the newest and best in telephone service and equipment.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

The Prestonsburg high school track team will seek its third consecutive home victory tonight (Thursday) at 7 against the Pikeville Panthers and the Hazard Bulldogs.

Tuesday night, the Black Cats copped a six-way meet, despite the absence of Paul Tackett, Lonnie Prater and Freddie Setser, all out with injuries. Prestonsburg scored 87½, Jenkins 46, Oil Springs 19, Mullins 15, Blaine 11½ and Flat Gap 5.

Hal Lockhart, Mullins senior, bettered the 12-year-old Eastern Kentucky high jump mark of 5 ft., 8 in. by one inch Tuesday night, and Garland Lemaster, Oil Springs senior, who has never lost the 880 or mile run on the local runway, again posted double wins in the same events. His time of 4:40 in the mile run was the fastest in recent years in the event.

Chalmer Howard, two-year Black Cat veteran, again won the low hurdles in the good time of 23.2, also won the 100-yard dash in 10.9, and ran on both the winning 880 and mile relay teams.

Tuesday, April 28, Paintsville, Pikeville and Blaine will return and on Thursday, April 30, Louisa, Hazard and Paintsville will be the opponents.

The Black Cat baseball team, handicapped by inclement weather and possession of a 1-1 record to date, will resume action at 4 p.m. Friday when they meet Denzil Halbert's Martin Purple Flash at Martin.

Every boat owner in this area should take the time and trouble to voice disapproval of the exorbitant fees charged at the state park boat dock and the manner in which the dock has been operated.

Commissioner Robert Bell, of the Division of Parks, has assured us that many services are to be rendered, many changes are to take place in the operation of the dock; however, the current charges of 50 cents a foot per boat and a $2.50 and $3.50 per month locker charge are merely donations, since no service is rendered.

Fishing season usually begins around March 15, but as late as April 15 the local facility was not open, no gasoline was available, thieves were having a picnic at night, yet the charges went on. This year, the gasoline pumps have been moved back to the head of the dock, thus every boat needing to purchase gasoline must plow by all the docks and all rental boats must pass by the mooring area.

Kentucky's and Prestonsburg's promotion of tourist business will continue to lag unless a conscientious effort by the local politicians and community leaders begins to take same progressive action other than the family circle at the local "gossip corner."

Class Of 1954 Of Martin High Holds Reunion

Members of the Martin high school class of '54 held their ten-year reunion at the May Lodge, the evening of March 28. An anniversary cake decorated in the school color of purple with "Class of '54" inscribed across the top was used as a centerpiece.

Following the dinner, the class meeting was called to order by the last class president, Virgil Stephens, Lima, Ohio. Business was discussed, and each class member was asked to tell of his or her work and introduce his wife or her husband.

The group organized for another five-year reunion in 1969 at a date to be set later. For the next reunion, Mrs. Altonette May Bentley was appointed chairman and secretary in charge.

After the meeting, the class adjourned to Martin high school and saw the film of their senior trip. Following the showing of the film, they went to the Martin gymnasium, where a phonograph had been provided, and reacquainted themselves with old classmates at the dance.

The following members of the class were present:

Billy Holbrook, Elyria, Ohio; Mrs. Janet Fraley Oatney and Mr. Oatney, Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. Mikell Preston Burchett and Mr. Burchett, Indianapolis, Indiana; Mrs. Ada Hall Moran and Mr. Moran, St. Mary's, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Stephens, Lima, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Royce Samons, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. Hager Stephens, Pleasant Lake, Michigan; Miss Wally Jewel King and Ken Henton, Lexington; Mrs. Ida Allen Elliott and Mr. Elliott, Ligon; Mrs. Wilena Campbell and Mr. Campbell, Alden; Mrs. Altonette May Bentley, Langley; Mrs. Patricia Hewlett Salisbury and her husband, Franklin D. Salisbury, Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Salisbury, Prestonsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Osborne, McDowell; Douglas Smith, Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Parsons, Allen.

A special invited guest was their former principal, James W. Salisbury, and Mrs. Salisbury.

It is hoped that the following graduates will be present at the '69 reunion: Mrs. Marie Cole Woodrum, Ripley, West Virginia; Roger Burcham, Groton, Connecticut; Mrs. Bonnie Click Shepherd, Warsaw, Indiana; Mrs. Ruth Friend Turner, Waterfield, Ohio; Mrs. Fern Salisbury Martin, Minnie; Miss Norma Salisbury, Fairborn, Ohio; Mrs. Audrey Miller Stephens, Morral, Ohio; Merle May, Emma; Joe Ed Halbert, West Terre Haute, Indiana; Franklin Fannin, Martin; Bill Ratliff, Manton; Bill Lambert, Charleston, West Virginia.

Class officers for 1954 were: President, Virgil Stephens; vice-president, Ada Hall; secretary-treasurer, Norma Salisbury.

Betsy Layne Team Wins Grade School Invitational Meet

The John M. Stumbo invitational basketball tournament held at the Mud Creek elementary school last week saw seven teams put on a tremendous show.

The finals, held Friday night, pitted Allen, a team that had devoured Harold, 64-20, and John M. Stumbo, the host team, 61-19, against Betsy Layne which had beaten Prater, 48-19, and Sprucepine, 64-14.

The first half developed an interesting battle, with Betsy Layne leading at intermission 21-20. The second half saw a strong spurt by Betsy Layne as they pulled away to an 11-point lead, with Jim Bailey leading the attack. Allen rallied with three minutes to go by cutting the lead to its final score, 48-43.

Jim Bailey led the victorious Betsy Layne team by scoring 21 points, with Dale Conn getting 12 and Duran Newsome 7. Jackie Crisp led his team in scoring with 21 points on some excellent outside shooting.

The winner's trophy was furnished by Fred Newsome and the runner-up trophy by Cline Mitchell.

END OF THE LONG PULL HOME. Shown are Prestonsburg Explorer Scouts nearing the Jenny Wiley State Park boat dock after a three-day canoe and camping trip which started last week in the upper reaches of Dewey Lake. The trip was sponsored by the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad. Taking part were Larry Herald, Tom Herald, Leo Harris, Bobby Goble, Doug Osborne, Tom Blackburn, William Messer, Larry Leslie, Johnny Burke, Kenney Brown, Tipton Wyatt, Robert Hicks, Billy Joe Vaughan, Mike George, David George. They were accompanied by James M. Goble, president, and Manis E. Gray and Douglas George, counsellors.

Post To Buy Flags For Veterans' Graves

Martin Amvets Post No. 27 voted Saturday to buy and place the American flag on all known war veterans' graves in Floyd county, this Memorial Day. Cost of the undertaking will be paid by the club. Post and donations from members.

Names of veterans and the location of their graves should be turned in to the Amvets Post Commander, Frank Stewart, at Langley Service Station, Maytown, or the Amvets Post building, across from the Martin Supply Company.

Saturday night, the Amvets had a chicken fry for its more than 200 members. Twenty-five new volunteers were recorded for the "walking" blood bank which the Amvets Post has in operation. This means that more blood can be had at short notice.

Garrett High School Senior Winner Of Essay Contest

Seventeen-year-old Deborah Trusty is the winner of the $25 first prize offered by the Floyd County Council of Parents and Teachers in the essay-writing contest on the subject of school drop-outs. A senior at Garrett high school, Miss Trusty is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Trusty, Jr. Her essay follows:

DON'T BE A SCHOOL DROP-OUT

Ours is an average high school of Floyd county with an approximate enrollment of three hundred ten. We have a Pep Club, a Glee Club, a 4-H Club, and of course, a basketball team. Small though our school is, we have, in common with other schools of the nation, experienced the problem of the drop-out.

It was in 1961 that I entered Garrett high school as a freshman. The homeroom enrollment for that year was eighty-two. This year our senior homeroom list was only forty-six. What has become of the absent thirty-six? A few, we can say, have left Garrett and are enrolled in other schools; but most, alas, must be classified as "drop-outs." Why did they quit, when we were content to remain? What will be their fate—these missing comrades of ours? Many and varied were the reasons they gave as they left us; but few, we feel, were satisfactory. Yet because we knew and liked those who deserted us and because we feel that their stories may help other pupils tempted to become drop-outs, too, let us consider these reasons anew:

There were those who sobbed, "No one cares!"

Lack of encouragement is a major cause of drop-outs. Without someone to push him when he falters or to compliment him for work well done, a pupil seldom has the desire to excel. Even if a pupil's parents offer no encouragement, a teacher or a friend whom he respects can play a vital role in his advancement in education. Often a discouraged pupil "stays on" when he discovers there is one who really cares.

Another drop-out inquired, "Oh, what's the use?"

For this drop-out the future held no promise. Every person needs to have a purpose in life. Each student should set a goal for himself in the field of education. A lack of definite goal leads many students to believe that there is no reason to continue going to school. He becomes, then, an easy prey to the "drop-out" blues.

"I just can't get that stuff!" wailed a few.

The inability to learn quickly can be very discouraging. To wrestle with a problem long after others have conquered it is a constant source of embarrassment for the "slow." A feeling of inferiority and a desire "to quit it all" are the results. The taste of success is essential for self-respect.

Others wanted excitement. "Why waste all that time?" they asked.

Looking upon schoolwork as a chore rather than a challenge can be harmful to a student. The lack of enthusiasm and a desire to learn on behalf of the student presents quite a problem. Many students have failed to continue school because they find it too boring.

"I'm getting married," happily gurgled some.

"Cupid" has caused drop-out statisticians to quiver in astonishment. Many students "fall in love" and quit school to get married. In my opinion, this is a stupid, absurd reason. Marriage involves responsibilities best assumed by educated people. It can and should follow graduation from college.

"I want my own money," others cried.

Some people think that money is a major reason for quitting school. But while quite a few drop-outs are accredited to financial problems, usually these students suffer from the lack of a real craving for learning more than a lack of money. Many great men have gone to school barefoot, shabby, and hungry just because of their pure desire for knowledge. A person who really wants to learn can either find a job to help himself or obtain a scholarship. The need for money cannot equal the need for an education.

"I just don't belong!" rationalized a few.

There are those students who seemingly cannot "mix" with their fellow class-mates—who never gain any social recognition at school. Soon they develop the feeling that they are unwanted. These students often drop out of school. Surely we can find the time to show a little more interest and concern for our classmates.

Consider each cause for school dropouts. Weigh them carefully. These causes are not as serious as they seem at first and they can be remedied. Parents and teachers must help; but as students, we can best serve the cause. We can remain alert to the needs of our classmates.

When a person we know seems to have no encouragement from home, we can talk to him, share his problems, and show him the advantages of a good education.

Thus we will give him the encouragement he needs. For him we can be "the ones who care."

Those people who have not set a goal in life can be induced to think about their future. We can help them discover their potentials, or we can persuade them to seek the guidance of a trained counselor. A person who has found his way in life seldom fails to reach his destination.

A person who cannot learn quickly can usually be helped. We can help him discover those things which he can do best, and we can encourage him when his studies become too difficult. The glow of success can quickly restore the needed self-respect.

A boring class is very easily remedied by pupil participation. The sharing of ideas stimulates the mind and awakens interest. Teachers too can often work wonders with new teaching methods.

A few current financial records and figures may be the answer for the drop-out who sighs for money. Actually, the high school drop-out has little chance to earn money: Few are the companies that will hire him, and those who do so, quickly dismiss him when work becomes scarce.

Merely by being friendly, the more popular students can frequently bring the shy ones out of their shells and awaken their enthusiasm and interest in school.

As we have seen, there are various causes for high school drop-outs: Financial problems, lack of purpose or goal, a lack of encouragement, an inability or slowness in learning, marriage, and schoolwork boredom. Each of these causes, we have demonstrated, can usually be remedied. Obviously, there are many more reasons for continuing school. The rewards of a good education are numerous: Here are found the deep satisfaction of being able to converse intelligently; the increased security for a higher social position and income; and the profound contentment of being able to guide your children in their school work.

Alexander Pope once said, "This education forms the common mind; Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

This epigram summarizes in a few words the real need for getting a good education. You and I must make sure the twig bends in the right direction. Don't be a drop-out!

Now—Kelvinator has the answer for growing families

The new Trimwall gives them twice the storage space in the same floor space as their present refrigerator—and the Trimwall keeps their food truly safe at the lowest "No-Frost" operating cost. As your family grows, your food needs grow. But your kitchen doesn't. That's why Kelvinator designed the Trimwall to give you 17 cubic feet of storage in the same floor space your old 8-cubic-foot refrigerator occupied before. And that's just the start of the advances in this remarkable refrigerator. You never have to defrost the refrigerator or the freezer.

You get all this convenience for operating costs that are far below other similar-sized frostless refrigerators. And Kelvinator's exclusive new Trimwall construction provides safer storage temperatures and makes the cabinet stronger and more dent-resistant. Come see this remarkable new advance!

Subscribers to the Saturday Evening Post and Ladies' Home Journal may already have won in Kelvinator's Trimwall Sweepstakes. 106,086 prizes! Nothing to buy! Just bring in your coupon from the March 28 Sat. Eve. Post or April Ladies' Home Journal. First prize: $25,000 plus a Rambler Ambassador and 10 Kelvinator Appliances.

TRIMWALL

First basic advance in refrigerator cabinets in 50 years!

Trimwall bonds inside wall, mirror, foam insulation and outside wall into a single, solid unit!

You get twice the space inside, in the same floor space, as Kelvinators built 10 years ago!

Fresh-food compartment is chip-proof, shock-proof, acid-resistant—without a single crack or crevice to clean!

Operating costs for Kelvinator "No-Frost," which already were the lowest, are now 20% lower, based on comparable capacities!

Temperatures in both refrigerator and freezer are always just right, regardless of room temperatures!

OF THANKS
I wish to express our deep gratitude to everyone whose kindness meant so much at the loss of our husband. We hesitate to mention names for fear that we forget someone who was especially helpful but, realizing that you give us if we do, we want to express our special appreciation to Rev. Bill Amburgey and Walter Collins, to those who were flowers, to those who brought food, to James Carter and Callahan and their helpers, to all who share our loss.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky.

ASHAMED TO PLAY
A news release from the United States Department of the Interior in early March, 1964, quotes Edward C. Crafts, director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, as saying: "Our national habits must change, but to overcome the force of habit is most difficult. Our national conscience must change and so must our sense of guilt about leisure."
These brief sentences somewhat summarize what I have so often said in this column about the old-fashioned devotion to work or what pretended to be work. Idleness as the devil's workshop was a bit overdone at Fidelity, so that we would be going through the motion of working when we were actually idling. Many of the "take warning" stories we heard were about boys and girls who did not work, who idled and therefore got into trouble.

As I look back now at my childhood, it seems to me that very few people knew how to relax. The ones who went fishing, for example, justified their outing by proclaiming how much their catch would aid the family larder. And many people whom I knew would fish so hard that they must have come back worn out with their leisure. Not a great many people felt that they had had any leisure unless they had eaten more than was good for them or even had drunk something stronger than branch water. A week-end binge of fishing usually left the fishermen pretty worn out to face another week's labor in the fields.
Most heads of families at Fidelity, especially the better families, frowned on leisure. Bad boys, who were sure to grow into no-count men, might take off on Saturday afternoon from their farm work and make merry at the stores at Fidelity, but boys of the stricter families could get this privilege only by persuading their parents, and their consciences, that a trip to the store was necessary to purchase some needed groceries or farm needs. The actual time of purchasing was brief, and that left some time to hear the latest risqué jokes or to witness some good practical joking. If the boy who felt that he must make the trip to the village got too enthusiastic about the easy life at the store, and got home later than he was expected, he got a lecture on the evils of wasting time.

Consciences, however, could be eased by our supposing that a dinner on the ground at Quarterly Meeting was just a part of a religious occasion. And on the Fourth of July, with a patriotic speaking both before and after the huge meal, we could feel that we had done our duty as citizens and, sheepishly, forget how much we had enjoyed the cessation of our sweaty work in the fields and our being able to allow crabgrass to grow and tobacco worms to fatten.

In my capacity as a keeper of records, I wonder why I never tried to follow up the later careers of people who defiantly took their time off and compare this research with another one on the model fellows who preached and pretended to practice work, six days at a stretch. Somehow statistics are lacking to show just which of the numerous faults of the no-counts brought about their continuing being just no-count. Maybe hanging around the country store brought all the evils to our portion of humanity, that is, all except what the moon, the Civil War, and the party in power assured us. Most people believed in cumulative evils; therefore several generations must have hung around the stores, for some of the worthless ones just could not have been the products of a single generation.

When my family and I, in 1931, actually took off for a three-week vacation in Michigan, with some side trips, as to Niagara Falls on our round-about way home, a very pious lady of our acquaintance seemed badly puzzled. She said that she had never had a vacation, as such, in her life, somehow implying that there might be something wicked about the whole idea. Though she wished us well when we went away and actually asked us what sort of time we had had when we got back, I still believe that she expected us to suffer some calamity for being so worldly.

Buick has a great transmission.

An automobile transmission, we grant you, isn't the most soul-stirring subject on earth. Nothing to look at either. But if you'd like for your next new car to give you a better break on performance and gasoline mileage, something happened last week to be your guide.

The Los Angeles to New York Mobil Economy Run proved one thing for sure. There's quite a difference in the transmissions of new cars.

Three out of four for Buick

The long-time champion in the transmission league—Buick—walked off with the 1964 economy pennant. No other single make of car won as many events as Buick. Four entries, three winners.

The winning Special carried the new Super Turbine 300 automatic transmission; the LeSabre was equipped with the Super Turbine 400 (both optional at extra cost). They're the latest in a long line of Buick transmissions well known for their smoothness and absence of "shift feel". The Super Turbine is a refined and improved torque converter type to help you safely pass cars and trucks as well as gas stations.

You'll hear a lot about it in the next couple of years as this modern kind of transmission is adopted by more and more car builders.

What about engines?

Of course, an efficient transmission gets more efficient when teamed up with a fast, agile engine. The winning Buick power plants were our new V-6 and V-8. The 300 cubic inch V-8 in the winning Buick Special (the lowest priced of all Buicks) and the Buick LeSabre (the lowest priced big Buick) is like a well-conditioned fighter. All muscle, no fat. Weighs in at far less than other V-8's of similar punch. It took every other V-8 in the Economy Run.

Your type of driving—regular gas.

The Run was through cities and towns, across super highways, in traffic, out of traffic. This was not race track driving or proving ground driving. This was your kind of driving—even though you can't expect to get as good mileage as these expert drivers in their finely tuned production cars. The distance was 3,245 miles, about what most families log in four months. All three Buicks used regular gas. So the Economy Run is not just a cross country tour for the Mobil people and a few car buffs. It's a reliable test of a car's power team and what it's able to squeeze out of its fuel.

We don't expect everybody to rush out this week-end to buy a new Buick just because we won a few economy trophies. There are so many other good reasons for leaning to Buick that economy usually gets second billing. There's styling, naturally. An unusually great ride. Extraordinary engineering and workmanship. And very young performance. Small wonder Buick sales are running at 11.5% over last year.

But it's nice to get economy as a plus in a Buick. Beyond the dollars saved on gasoline, there's a certain pride in knowing you have a car that's built to get the most out of every tank of gasoline.

 Louisville, April 18 (Spl.)—Dr. H. E. Midkiff, of Prestonsburg, today registered for the 62nd annual Congress of the Kentucky Optometric Association at the Sheraton hotel.

TIMES WANT ADS PAY

STATE TO MATCH MONEY FOR TOURIST ATTRACTIONS

Frankfort, April 20 (Spl.)—1962. The tourist trade is one of Kentucky's most rapidly growing business enterprises. It has increased 162 per cent since 1943, well above the 98 per cent growth in all retail trade and service business . . .

Governor Edward T. Breathitt told the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce at its annual Kentucky breakfast in Louisville that a $115,000 appropriation approved by the 1964 General Assembly would be used for this purpose. The appropriation is for the 1965-'66 fiscal year.

Localities which have an attraction to promote and a plan of promotion will be encouraged by this program, he said, to help complement state advertising and promotion campaigns.

The program will be worked out and administered by the State Department of Public Information. Details and requirements to obtain state participation will be announced later.

Breathitt noted that Kentucky's tourist industry has grown rapidly during the last few years and predicted that the season now gaining momentum will result in "another record breaking year."

A report on "Travel in Kentucky—1963" prepared by Dr. Lewis C. Copeland, Department of Economics, University of Tennessee, says:

"All travelers spent $320 millions in Kentucky during 1963. This was a new record high for the travel and tourist trade. Tourists from other states spent $220 million on their travel within Kentucky. The 1963 volume of tourist spending was 7.3 per cent above expenditures during

Strip-Mined Land Areas To Be Reclaimed, Said; Research Is Envisioned

Reclamation of strip-mined land will be studied in Perry and Knott counties near Hazard on areas made available by the Kentucky Oak Mining Company. It was announced today by William B. Sturgill, company general manager, and Director R. D. Lane of the U. S. Forest Service's Central States Forest Experiment Station.

An agreement permitting Forest Service research on the Company's land was entered into April 10. Lane said initial research will be concentrated on ways of getting plant cover quickly and stabilizing spoil banks after strip-mining. Plants to be studied for their ability to provide quick cover include herbs and grasses, both annual and perennial, as well as woody plants. Stability studies are aimed at finding ways to prevent slides and reduce erosion on slopes.

The research is being conducted by scientists of the Station's Berea field office. In addition to forest revegetation and watershed protection, emphasis is being given to developing water, wildlife and recreation resources. Results of this work will be available to all interested groups and the public.

Our Historic Heritage

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No. 279 in a Series)

Family Group of Many Decades Ago

Rev. Isaac Stratton, of Banner, requests identification of this family group picture given him many decades ago. In the lapse of years he has forgotten the names of those pictured and appeals to the readers of The Floyd County Times to assist him.

Rev. Stratton thinks the photograph was made about the turn of the century. It could possibly be, it is thought, of either the Stratton, Branham or Leslie families. There is the possibility that the family resided on Johns Creek.

Anyone able to identify the picture is requested to contact Rev. Stratton, The Floyd County Times or The First National Bank.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of our past in recognition of our historic heritage.

Inez, Class C Winner In Community Tests

The community of Inez took first place in Class C at the first annual Awards Dinner of the Northeast Kentucky Rural Community Development Association Saturday night in Ashland. First prizes in the three classes were $100 each and two permanent roadside markers.

Second and third places were won by Salyersville, Magoffin county, and Sandy Hook, Elliott county.

In all, there were $300 in cash prizes and 18 baked-enamel roadside markers presented for community achievements. Class A covered rural farm communities, Class B the rural non-farm communities, and Class C was for villages and towns.

The awards were for progress in community organization, youth programs, increased income and better family living.

Floyd Student Named Berea Junior Adviser

Berea, Ky., April 20—A Floyd county girl has been named a junior adviser at Berea College, officials have announced.

Miss Ruby Mae Gayheart, a sophomore, was named to the position by Women's Dean Miriam I. McReynolds. Miss Gayheart will live in a dormitory with freshmen women during the 1964-'65 school term, assisting them in their adjustment to college and group living. She was selected as adviser on the basis of leadership and cooperation ability.

A graduate of Maytown high school, Miss Gayheart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Gayheart, of Eastern.

'NOT ON YOUR LIFE,' SAYS COMBS ABOUT 2nd TERM

By GEORGE W. HACKETT
(In The Courier-Journal)

Lexington, Ky.—If there's an easy road back to private life, former Governor Bert Combs hasn't found it.

He walked out of the Executive Mansion at Frankfort four months ago and opened a law office . . . but:

His unlisted telephone continues to ring incessantly at home. "People who want to talk politics know how to track you down."

His calendar shows he still is in great demand as a speaker. "I'm appearing at everything from garden clubs to dedications."

Dozens of letters arrive daily, each carrying the same introduction. "Dear Governor: Can you help me . . ."

These are "hangover duties" which followed Combs out of office. He doesn't complain about them, because "the shoe's now on the other foot. I was always asking for volunteers, so it's their turn."

He feels, however, that the state should make some provision to cover the transition period from Governor to citizen.

Why not furnish the outgoing Chief Executive with an office staff for six months? "This would give him time to tie up the loose ends and keep regular hours, maybe."

Combs' work week begins each Sunday afternoon when he climbs aboard a plane for a flight to Amherst and the University of Massachusetts, where he teaches two days a week.

"I'm lecturing on practical politics. It gives these youngsters an opportunity to test theories against actual examples, and to find out things they won't learn in books," he explained.

Combs opens with a brief talk, then calls for questions. The class immediately fires away.

"How do you get started in politics? How do you handle pressure groups? Is there any money to be made in political life?"

Combs draws upon his own experiences for the answers, which are "frank, to the point, and sometimes shocking to the kids."

The university, in co-operation with the Ford Foundation, employs a visiting professor each semester. "This year, it was a governor's turn, and I was one of two who was out of a job. They picked me."

Combs will draw $10,000, but, he says, "at least half of it goes for airplanes and hotels. Still that's good pay for a professor if he behaves himself."

After class on Tuesday afternoon, Combs flies back to Lexington, and is in his law office by 8:30 a.m. the next day.

He and his staff occupy a third-floor suite, parts of which still are unfurnished. The rooms are tastefully decorated—with paneled walls, thick carpets and plenty of chairs.

"We want prospective clients to be comfortable," Combs explains with a grin. He already has two retainers, the Southern Railway Company and the Kentucky Central Life Insurance Company.

His busy schedule leaves little time for such things as hunting or fishing, or even bee keeping. He brought five hives with him from Frankfort, but they haven't been producing.

"I sorta suspect my queen bee has taken up with a horse fly," he said.

At 52, Combs says he is in excellent health. Tanned, and with a few more gray hairs, he has dropped at least a dozen pounds. "Attribute that to my disappearance from the chicken and mashed potatoes circuit, one of the hazards of office."

There has been speculation that Combs might seek another term as Governor.

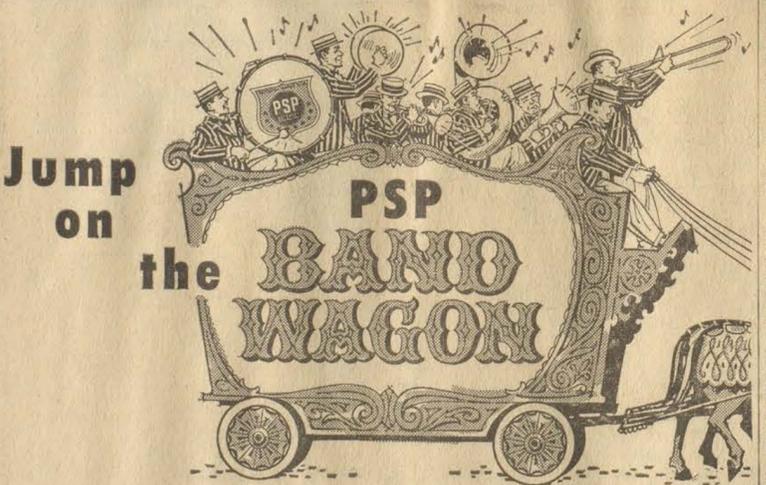

"Not on your life, I'm happy where I am."

Politics, he says, "is a precarious profession. You work two years in advance of the primary, and it's a gamble as to whether you will get in."

He would like to see a limit placed on the number of times a Governor can serve. "I don't favor two terms back-to-back. Perhaps we could restrict it to one six-year term, and that would be it."

The office is a test of physical endurance, and "just plain, monotonous, grinding hard work."

BROAD POVERTY PROGRAM ADVOCATED BY PERKINS

BY FRED W. LUGART, Jr.
(In the Courier-Journal)

Washington, D. C.—If President Johnson's anti-poverty program clears Congress, the most pleased man on Capitol Hill will be Representative Carl D. Perkins.

The reason is simple enough: The President's bill consists mainly of programs Perkins has been pleading with his colleagues to enact since shortly after coming to Washington in 1949.

"Community action" for attacking acute poverty—a feature of the President's bill—is old hat to the Hindman, Kentucky, Democrat. He first urged this back in 1954 in a bill introduced into the House.

Perkins also is familiar with the youth programs the President requested, including the job corps and work studies for unemployed teen-agers and needy students. He sponsored legislation in 1956 to provide financial aid for underprivileged high school graduates that would have allowed them to continue their education. The job corps is merely an extension of the Youth Conservation Corps, which Perkins advocated in 1959.

A provision in the bill which would expand work opportunities for unemployed parents is similar to legislation introduced by Perkins in the mid-1950's.

Perkins' own legislative "war on poverty" was first launched in 1952 in response to rapidly changing economic conditions in the agricultural areas and coal fields of his Seventh Congressional District.

Wage demands and automation of the coal mines, which occurred almost overnight and left thousands in Eastern Kentucky jobless and their children desperate for food and clothing, spurred Perkins to urge the revival of the old Works Project Administration and other federal programs for alleviating unemployment.

Since then, Perkins has been storming the halls of Congress with legislative proposals for solving the problems of the poor.

Whether in his office here or on a trip through his district, Perkins is never far away from the acute hardships imposed by unemployment and low income.

As he rides through his district, it shows up in the somber faces of undernourished children and impoverished adults, in rundown housing, and on hillside farms where aging farmers measure their annual incomes, not in terms of the administration's $3,000 yardstick for measuring poverty, but in annual incomes of less than $1,000.

In Washington, the pleadings of the poor arrive daily in the mail Perkins receives from throughout most of his district.

"Mr. Perkins, I have to have help," an unemployed miner wrote recently. "I'm not able to work, haven't worked since 1957. I have four small children and they have to have something to eat."

Another wrote: "I am an unemployed widow and I have a daughter 17 years old. We draw $75.80 Social Security (a month) but as we are both sick a lot that is not enough to live on and pay the doctor bills. My daughter has to have an operation and I don't have the money to pay for it."

Letters like these come to Perkins' office at a rate of about

The Truth Is Not Always Told But Here Is the Truth

J. D. Payne, of Martin, Kentucky, is representing one of the greatest monument companies in the United States. This company represents the consolidation of three large monument firms, and by this merger a cut of 30% in prices to the customer resulted.

I'll save you money. All monuments shipped, freight prepaid, and installed in concrete footer, free of charge. I offer the people the finest monuments and markers for the graves of their loved ones—blue or pink granite or snow-white marble which will last until the Resurrection.

I refer all to the First Guaranty Bank, Martin, Kentucky, as to my reliability.

Get that monument in place at your loved one's grave before Memorial Day, May 30.

Heads School System

Walter Martin, Jr., son of the late Walter Martin, Sr., and Mrs. Martin, of Wayland, has been appointed superintendent of the Plains school district, Mt. Sterling, Ohio. Mr. Martin also has been elected president of the Madison County Teachers Association for 1964-'65. He is the first administrator to be elected president of the association for many years.

Mr. Martin and his wife, the former Hessie Hall, of Kite, Knott county, who also is a teacher in the Plains school system, will attend the National Education Convention in Seattle, Washington this summer.

Martin served as a high school teacher at Wayland and was principal of M. C. Napier high school at Hazard before going to Ohio in 1956.

POWER FIRM ANNOUNCES CUT IN ELECTRIC RATES

Kentucky Power Company this week announced electric rate reductions, effective Wednesday, that will total an estimated $240,000 per year.

Approval of the company's application to reduce rates was given Monday by the Kentucky Public Service Commission. The new rates primarily affect industrial customers but also include some residential and commercial customers.

F. M. Baker, vice-president and general manager of Kentucky Power, said that the lowered rates were made possible by the recent 2% reduction in the federal corporate income tax rate—an action taken to stimulate the nation's economy.

Baker explained that the rate reductions, in line with the intent of the Congress, were designed to provide the largest possible amount of stimulus to the economy of the area of Eastern Kentucky served by the company and therefore were applied primarily to its industrial and mining customers.

"Reduction in our power rates, we sincerely hope, will help attract some new industries to our service area and encourage some present industries to expand," Baker said. He added that "either development would be, in the best sense, an example of the intended effect of the recent tax cut."

Two reductions were made in residential rates. For all home usage between 800 and 3,000 kilowatt hours per month, the rate was reduced from the present 1.5c per kwh to 1.2c per kwh. Likewise, for all home usage

Moore Wins Award From Ashland Oil

Douglas Moore is $50 richer this week as a result of good customer service.

Moore, who operates the Ashland Oil service station on Route 80 at Martin, was visited recently by one of Ashland Oil's "Friendly Man Service Award" evaluators, and as a result was awarded a cash prize this week for his good customer service and the appearance of his station by Ellis Whitt, district manager for Ashland Oil.

WORK BEGUN ON FORESTRY CAMP IN MORGAN-CO. FOR DELINQUENT BOYS

Construction has started on Woodsbend, Kentucky's second forestry camp for the treatment of delinquent boys at West Liberty in Morgan county.

Participating in the recent groundbreaking ceremony were Congressman Carl Perkins, State Child Welfare Commissioner Richard J. Clendenen, State Forestry Director Gene Butcher and J. T. Cox, assistant to the Commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The Morgan county camp is the first extension of the Child Welfare Department's camp system since its original boys camp at Gilbertsville, in Western Kentucky, was established in 1958.

Funds for construction of the camp are being provided by the state and federal governments—$52,000 each.

The federal government's share was made available through a grant under the Accelerated Public Works Program. It was obtained through the Fish and Wildlife Resources Department because of the camp's usefulness in conservation work and wildlife protection.

Boys committed to the camps participate in a work program at nearby State Forestry Division nurseries, as well as receiving treatment and schooling. They are paid a nominal 50 cents a day for their work.

Immediate construction at the new camp will include a combination dormitory and administration facility with another building for storage and utility.

Commissioner Clendenen said construction will start at once and boys, generally in their mid-teens, will be assigned to it by early summer.

Construction work is being done jointly by the firm of Frederick & May and the firm of Haney & Haney, both of West Liberty.

Architects were Shannon & Morgan, of Lexington.

Clendenen said future plans of the department include construction of two other forestry camps for boys. One is being planned in the Lake Cumberland area for older boys capable of general and heavy-duty forestry work such as building fire trails, roads, towers, thinning out woods and replanting.

The other camp is planned for younger boys. Clendenen pointed out that children as young as 10 may be committed to the Department under Kentucky law, and that many of this age are presently at Kentucky Village near Lexington. This institution is the state's main center for rehabilitating delinquents.

Clendenen hopes the construction of these additional camps will allow the Department to thin out the population of Kentucky Village to about 300 children a year. It presently averages about 450 per year.

Both the Morgan county camp and the projected Lake Cumberland Camp will accommodate between 30 and 40 boys.

CHECKING OVER PLANS for Woodsbend, Kentucky's second forestry camp for delinquent boys are (from left) U. S. Representative Carl Perkins; State Forestry Director Gene L. Butcher; Kentucky Child Welfare Commissioner Richard J. Clendenen; and J. T. Cox, assistant to the commissioner of the State Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. The four participated in groundbreaking ceremonies for the Child Welfare Department's new institution located near West Liberty in Morgan County. The camp will offer schooling, work in an adjacent State Forestry Division tree seedling nursery, and counseling and treatment for 30 to 40 delinquent boys from the Eastern Kentucky area.

MRS. BERKELEY IS SPEAKER

"Europe helped to build our country in the early years, but later our capital went into the building up of European countries," explained Mrs. S. C. Berkeley last Monday evening, speaking to the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club on "The Atlantic Community."

Mrs. Berkeley pointed out that the Atlantic Community started back in the settlement of America when we depended on European countries for government and all else. "Geographically and economically we are bound together." Continuing, Mrs. Berkeley touched briefly on the Common Market and this country's present troubles with France's President DeGaulle.

During the devotional period Mrs. Richard Vinson admonished her hearers to realize that "We are preparing for a heaven or a hell. This life is only a breath." She further pointed out that "love is stronger than all else, for it never fails."

At a business meeting following the program an election of officers for the coming club year was held and the following elected: Mrs. J. C. Wells, president; Mrs. Earl Castle, vice-president; Mrs. Glenn Pack, treasurer; Mrs. Otto Martin, secretary, and Mrs. J. T. Spillman, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. S. M. Martin and Mrs. Charles Scott were hostesses. Eleven members were present.

Swift Silver Mine Discovery Believed Made In Wolfe-Co.; Firm Has Land Under Lease

Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the Department of History, University of Kentucky, is reasonably certain the legendary John Silver didn't find any silver—but an exploring party in Wolfe county has found what it believes is the Swift mine, and leaders of the party are betting Dr. Clark is wrong.

Ralph W. Griffith, president of the Mountaineer Mining and Exploring Co., of Clarksburg, West Virginia, said the discovery was made recently on the farm of John Adams on Mill Creek in Wolfe county.

The location is about one mile south of Pine Ridge and within a mile of the Mountain Parkway. The Adams farm, consisting of approximately 300 acres, was leased immediately after the discovery by Griffith's company. It joins U.S. Forest lands.

Griffith said his party went 30 feet inside the opening where they encountered a four-foot thick stone blocking another passage. He said machinery will be moved in this week to drill and dynamite the obstruction.

Griffith said his company has been searching in the area at various times for six years for the mine and a vein of silver, described in reproductions of Swift's Journal as the "richest" Swift has ever seen.

The group is equipped with electronic equipment and reproduction of Swift's Journal and maps, which give directions for finding the mine and silver, as well as some $50,000 in money and crowns Swift reportedly hid in the area.

According to information in the Journal, Swift, an Englishman, came into Southeastern Kentucky annually from 1760 to 1769, as head of a company of Englishmen, Frenchmen and Shawnee Indians that mined silver. Their operations were abandoned in 1769 when Swift was imprisoned in England for 15 years. After he was released, he returned but was blind and unable to guide a party to the exact location of his mining operation, according to the Journal.

Another exploring party, headed by Ed McGowan, vice-president of the Swift Mines, Inc., of Norfolk, Virginia, is searching an area about two miles north of Griffith's operation.

McGowan said his party has 6,000 acres of U. S. Forest lands under mineral lease and that a search has been conducted at various times for nine years in the area. McGowan's party has rented a house near Pine Ridge and employed Robert Hill, Pine Ridge, as guide. Kelly Dunn, Slade, is guide for Griffith's party.

McGowan said markings, identified as those made by Swift's party, have been found in the area his party is searching, which is about a mile west of Pine Ridge in the Chimney Top area of the Cumberland National Forest lands.

McGowan has reproduced copies of Swift's Journal, maps, and other material. He said his party found what it believes was the

Price Student Named 'Hills O' Color King

The 1964 "Hills of Color Festival" will be held in the Pikeville College gymnasium Thursday, May 7.

The 1964 Hills of Color queen will be Miss Aloma Burks and the king will be Danay Branson.

Miss Burke, the daughter of Mrs. Fannie Fleming, of Etty, is a senior majoring in secondary education. Mr. Branson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Branson, of Price, is also a senior majoring in secondary education.

The queen's attendants, representing the classes at her coronation, are Jill Smith and Roger Mullins, seniors; Shirley Roberts and Commodore Craft, juniors; Gail Williamson and John Henry, sophomores; Pam Young and James Tackett, freshmen.

The theme for the festival will be a European tour based on a plan written by Miss Sandra Pinson, a student. This tour will include visits to Ireland, Spain, France, Italy and Austria, as well as a visit with the royal family in England.

Phillips 66 Trop-Artic® outperforms other great oils -regardless of price. Here's proof!

In recent tests, here's how Trop-Artic compared with 6 of the other great motor oils in the world

	TROP-ARTIC	OIL "A"	OIL "B"	OIL "C"	OIL "D"	OIL "E"	OIL "F"
HIGH TEMPERATURE TEST	1	6	3	2	4	5	4
SLUDGE TEST	1	1	3	5	2	4	1
RUST TEST	1	6	3	4	5	2	5
SHEAR TEST (S.A.E. 30 VISCOSITY AFTER TEST USE)	1	1	5	2	3	4	4
STARTING TEST	1	2	1	3	1	1	1
OVER-ALL RATING	1	3	2	3	2	3	2

Our research scientists at Phillips 66 are pretty conservative fellows. They are not apt to go overboard.

But when they developed present Trop-Artic, they said it was the greatest motor oil they'd ever seen. No if's, and's, or but's. The greatest.

So we had this Trop-Artic tested against six other great long-mileage motor oils—including some that cost up to $1.00 or more a quart. These recognized tests included established standards set by the Automotive Manufacturers Association.

As you can see in the chart, Trop-Artic won hands down. In over-all performance, none of the other oils were in the same league.

So it really adds up to this: You can pay more for other motor oils—a lot more. But why? This present Trop-Artic is in a class by itself.

Go first-class...go Phillips 66!

P. S. If you'd like a free illustrated brochure giving full details of the tests, just drop us a line; Motor Oil Division, Phillips Petroleum Company, Bartlesville, Oklahoma.
