This Town... That World

STILL ABIDE THOSE DOG DAYS

This is that ominous time of year known as Dog Days, when snakes are said to be blind and doubly dangerous, when the water is pizen and sores won't heal hardly at all. This was the time of year, once upon a time, when you could meet 10 boys and every other one of them would have a yarn string soaked in turpentine or coal-oil, tied around his big-toe. That was before athlete's foot became popular and the scientific name for a certain affliction was "toe eetch."

ONE CAN'T

Friend of mine has been having trouble with his eyes and has been a bit stubborn about getting glasses. Somebody told him he could pick up reading glasses at any bargain counter for very little money.

This recalls the story told of the dowager-like lady who went to the bargain basement and a stack of cheap spectacles through which she pawed, trying on a set, looking through them at a paper in her hand, discarding and trying another pair, discarding and trying till she found a pair which she figured were satisfactory.

You could almost see her peering through a lorgnette as she turned, glasses in hand, and remarked to her companion, "One can't be too careful about one's eyes, can one?"

DAHLIN DIES AT HOSPITAL

David Mines Manager Heart Attack Victim; Burial In Pennsylvania

Courtland T. Dahlin, 45, general manager at David of the Princess Elkhorn Division of Princess Coals, Inc., died at the Prestonsburg General Hospital, shortly before Tuesday midnight, approximately 13 hours after he had been stricken by a heart attack.

Although Mr. Dahlin had suffered an earlier illness of the same nature, his passing was unexpected. He became ill while at work Monday morning and collapsed near his home at David. He was widely known in Kentucky mining circles, having served both the Big Sandy Coal Operators Association and the Big Sandy Mining Institute as president. He was a member of the First Methodist Church here, was a Mason and Shriner and was active in both Boy and Girl Scout work.

He started work in the coal industry near Elkins, West Virginia, as chief electrician, later working at another mine near Morgantown. For 11 years he was sales representative of the Joy Manufacturing Company, during that period residing at Pikeville from 1948 through 1951 and in Denver, Colorado, four years. He spent the year 1944 in England and Scotland, working with the Ministry of Fuel and Power on the mechanization of British coal mines.

After leaving the Joy firm he was production engineer of a Virginia mining operation, and in April, 1956, he became associated with Princess Elkhorn at David, first as general superintendent and in July of that year as general manager.

VACATION PAY TIFF CLOSES AREA MINES

FLOYD COAL PRODUCTION IS LOWERED

Work-Stoppage Orderly At Beaver Operations; Mud Creek Unaffected

A dispute over vacation pay has extended the miners' vacation in the truck-mine industry of this county to the extent that production is only a fraction of normal. It was said here this week.

Chiefly involved are mines on Left Beaver Creek from McDowell to Martin and on Right Beaver Creek, up to Maytown.

The work-stoppage has been orderly and without violent demonstration of any kind, it was said.

When the regular miners' vacation period ended, a workers' committee approached miners at the several small operations and requested that they stay away from work because their vacation pay had not been paid. One small operator said a committee spokesman told him of the action being taken and that he assured him the committee was trying to handle the situation without any trouble.

Contacted at his Pikeville office, C. E. Beane, president of District 30, UMWA, said he knew little about the dispute. "I've heard," he said, "that they didn't pay for vacation time."

A few mines reportedly returned to work Monday but are being closed again. It was reported here Wednesday. A union meeting was held Tuesday evening at Martin high school.

One operator said the Mud Creek section apparently has not been affected, that coal is being trucked to tipples for loading in railway cars as usual there.

The same operator said he and (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

ETB NAMES FLOYD GROUP

Committee Is Charged With Reviewing Roll Of Public Claimants

Appointment of a 10-member Floyd County Social Service Advisory Committee has been announced by Governor Breathitt.

Eight committee members were re-appointed. They are: County Judge Henry Stumbo, chairman; J. B. Clark, Rev. W. D. Jagers, Mrs. Regina Mayo, Tom James, and Paul Martin, all of Prestonsburg; Rev. Robert Martin, of Martin; Mrs. Foster Stumbo, McDowell.

New members are Chalmer Frazier and David B. Leslie, both of Prestonsburg.

The committee is charged with reviewing the list of public assistance recipients and working with the Department of Economic Security in its relations with the needy.

BERRY GROWERS PAID TOTAL OF $37,277.80

The strawberry processing plant which ended its season here recently paid growers $31,277.80, it was said by Carl Abbott, plant owner. The plant received 5,378 crates of 24 quarts each.

In addition to the amount paid for strawberries, the plant owner had a payroll of $3,632.28. Forty-three growers from this county sold their berries at the plant. Johnson county led the list with 94 growers.

Naturalist and Artist Sets Park Visit Here, Robert Bell Announces

Ray Harm, naturalist and wildlife artist, will be at Jenny Wiley State Park, Saturday night and Sunday, August 1-2.

Robert D. Bell, state parks commissioner, said that the noted painter on Saturday night will present a program of wildlife study and interpretation, plus a presentation of his paintings.

On Sunday morning, Harm will conduct a nature walk highlighted by interpretations of wildlife and nature.

This special recreation offering was started by the Kentucky Department of Parks last summer, to make available variety in the recreation program.

FLOYD COURTHOUSE NEARS COMPLETION

The new Floyd county courthouse is expected to be occupied by county officials by August 15, and then will begin the final phase of the big face-lifting job undertaken for Prestonsburg through urban renewal.

Abandonment of the old courthouse will permit that structure to be razed in preparation for the Courthouse urban renewal project which is to provide a large parking area and beautification of that section of Prestonsburg.

Units of the chiller mechanism for the heating-cooling system already installed in the new courthouse arrived Wednesday morning, and installation is expected to require about a week. Steel for the jail section on the third floor of the new structure is being installed. This is a longer job, but continued work on that floor will not delay occupancy of the lower two floors. The old jail will continue to be used till this work is finished.

Demolition of the old courthouse and clearing of its grounds remains the largest clearing job to be undertaken for urban renewal by the Prestonsburg Municipal Housing Commission. Already, the old bus station, the service station and Moore Barber Shop structures have been leveled in that area.

The former C. B. Wheeler residence and that of the late Mary D. Allen have been razed and the lots practically cleared between Front street and Arnold (Second). This area, the Central Business District project, will also be used for parking.

Meanwhile, the project which will involve surfacing or resurfacing of all Prestonsburg streets is under way, with present work of the Adams Construction Company, contractor, being restricted to drainage. This work is being done at this time in the Porter Addition, on Dingus street and North Central avenue.

Other small employers in Eastern Kentucky are being forced out of business, she charged because a new wage-hour office in Pikeville is pressing for strict compliance with the minimum-wage law.

Miss Pack said she has challenged without success the right of the government to classify her as a dealer in products that move in interstate commerce.

"I rearranged my operation so that I would not be selling across state lines," she said. "They first told me that I could sell within Kentucky without being subject to federal minimum wages."

"Then they came back to me and said I couldn't even sell inside Kentucky, because our goods are sold to tourists and the tourists carry them across state lines."

"The small lumberyards are getting the same treatment, because most of those around here must deliver to Huntington, West Virginia."

Miss Pack said she has stopped accepting the handmade articles of mountain craftsmen and that she is trying to liquidate her stocks in an orderly manner.

ALL SCHOOLS OPEN AUG. 24

Teacher Changes Made At Meeting of Board; Harold Building Sold

All Floyd county schools, including the new Clark elementary school on Middle Creek, will open August 24, it is said by Superintendent Charles F. Clark. The date was approved July 11 at the regular meeting of the board of education.

The board made several changes in teachers and other personnel. It accepted the resignation of Billie Jo Bradley, Drift elementary, Judith Stone, Prestonsburg high, and Paul Branson, McDowell high. Judith Price Music was employed to replace Judith Stone. Freda Tackett was named to succeed Paul Branson and Wecie Allen, recently employed at Ned's Fork school, was transferred to replace Billy Jo Bradley at Drift. Wendell Martin was employed at Ned's Fork. Herman Gray and Oscar Wal-

FLOYD COURTHOUSE NEARS COMPLETION

Drainage work is the most time-consuming part of the undertaking, but the contractor maintains that it as well as surfacing and sidewalk construction will be completed by November 15.

Average thickness of the surface to be applied to streets here will be around 2 1/2 inches, John Hill, of the Prestonsburg Engineering Co., said.

MINIMUM WAGE FIRE CLOSURES HILLS CRAFTS

Miss Jo Pack, who formerly operated a small woodwork shop in Prestonsburg as a part of her Kentucky Hills Handicrafts at Paintsville, is going out of business because of a crackdown by federal minimum-wage administrators.

Her decision to quit idles a few fulltime employees and an estimated 200 part-time workers who produced novelties and notions at home for sale at the Paintsville center.

An ironic consideration, Miss Pack said, is that the federal government spent about $35,000 at the Mayo State Vocational School, Paintsville, to teach the arts and crafts work to the mountaineers.

"What this crackdown means is that more Eastern Kentuckians are being forced out of work that President Johnson's poverty program can put back to work," she said.

She said the nature of the work for her establishment is such that she cannot afford to guarantee the $1.25 an hour demanded by the federal wage-hour law.

Other small employers in Eastern Kentucky are being forced out of business, she charged because a new wage-hour office in Pikeville is pressing for strict compliance with the minimum-wage law.

Miss Pack said she has challenged without success the right of the government to classify her as a dealer in products that move in interstate commerce.

Rev. Heintzelman Named County Jail Chaplain

The Rev. Dan Heintzelman, of Martin, has been designated chaplain of the county jail soon to be put into service in the new courthouse building.

The minister's appointment was concurred in by County Judge Henry Stumbo and Jailor Lawrence Hale. He will serve as a volunteer chaplain, without pay.

The Rev. Heintzelman said this week he will arrange for regular worship services to be held in the jail and that he will be on call at any time for a visit to prisoners at the request of their parents. The services, it was explained, are not intended to interfere with in any way those regularly conducted by the Rev. Fred McGinnis and the Rev. Frank Speaks at the jail, and will be in cooperation with the Floyd County Ministerial Association.

Counseling will be one of the chaplain's duties. His work will be non-denominational.

The minister has been at Martin 10 years, having come to this county from Grand Rapids, Michigan.

BUS SERVICE IS PLANNED

Business Men Back Move To Get Charter From Allen to P'burg

A new bus line to connect the upper section of the county and Prestonsburg has been suggested by Prestonsburg businessmen, and one step toward its realization was taken Tuesday night when an attorney was directed to begin work toward applying for a charter.

The Pikeville City Bus Line, which first succeeded in getting its franchise extended to Ivel, now operates to Allen. Businessmen here see in that arrangement a funneling of business from this county to the Pike county seat. The bus charter under consideration by the local group would extend service on to Prestonsburg, with schedules convenient to those traveling by bus.

"For business reasons and to serve the Prestonsburg Community College and students who will attend it, it is our thinking that this bus line should be in operation by September 1," Arbor Jones, president of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce, commented.

CHURCH ENDS NINTH MEET

Annual Camp Meeting Of Churches of God Closes Here July 5

The Eastern Kentucky Camp meeting of the First Church of God closed its ninth annual gathering here July 5 following four days of evangelistic effort.

Hundreds, many from other states, attended. Rev. Robert Kitehen, Hope, Kentucky, son of Rev. Moses Kitehen, former pastor here, preached the revival sermons. Clyde Cunningham, Boma, Tennessee, conducted services as youth evangelist, the first time the camp meeting had the services of a youth leader.

Meals and lodging were provided free for those in attendance through freewill offerings. The kitchen and cafeteria of the high school were utilized by permission of the Floyd County Board of Education.

Rev. Walter Strong will conduct the camp meeting scheduled here through the first four days of July next year, it is announced.

Rev. Moses Kitehen served as manager of the meeting and Rev. Coy Rigney was host pastor. Elder Goble served as secretary and treasurer.

"We believe this was one of the best, if not the best, meetings that has been held," Goble said. "Many souls were saved and the cause of Christ was elevated."

SANITATION CONTROL SET

By Health Department; Sanitarian To Patrol Impoundment Weekly

The Floyd County Health Department in its continuing fight against disease takes hundreds of water samples annually, and now in the same line of duty it has literally taken to the water.

In cooperation with the management of Jenny Wiley State Park, the health department has established a Sanitation Control boat service on Dewey Lake. A sanitarian will patrol the length of the impoundment, one or two days weekly, to detect and report any health hazard on the lake shore.

Heavy use of the land along the lake by campers, picnickers and others creates the possibility of health hazards, and some contamination of the lake has in the past resulted from boats, particularly house-boats.

The boat put into service by the health department flies a blue flag with a white center and bears the legend, "Floyd County Health Department Sanitation Control."

LOW BUDGET THREAT TO EXTENSION WORK

Local AA Chapter Sets Anniversary Observance

The 14th anniversary of Alcoholics Anonymous will be observed Saturday, at 6:45 p.m. at an open meeting scheduled at the picnic pavilion near the Girl Scout camp. The meeting is sponsored by the Prestonsburg chapter of the group.

An out-of-town speaker will feature the meeting, it is said. Refreshments will be served and all persons interested in the problem of alcoholism are urged to attend.

CAB DRIVER IS ARRESTED

Whiskey Confiscated From Car; Revocation Of License Is Possible

Steve Smith, who was recently granted a driver's license by the Prestonsburg City Council to operate a taxicab for Dayton Joseph, was arrested here, shortly before Thursday midnight, last week, by Policemen Ray Cluck, Woodrow Salyers and C. W. Booth, and two half-pints of whiskey were taken from his cab.

Smith was booked on charges of running a stop sign, having defective brakes and transporting intoxicants. His trial and that of Sam Adkins, who was recently arrested when police found intoxicants on his premises here, were scheduled for Wednesday.

Revocation of license of Smith to drive a cab and that of Joseph as owner is possible under the city ordinance which became effective July 1.

James Hall, one of five arrested last week by Sheriff Henry C. Hale and deputies on the charge of grand larceny, remained in the county jail Tuesday. Two other men, Claude Stone, Jr., and Robert Taylor, are at liberty under bond. Two juveniles were released to relatives. They are accused of stealing copper wire from a Floyd coal operation.

Others jailed: Victoria Collins, accused of keeping a disorderly house, and John Ed Collins and Trudy Stone, charged with adultery, the two women granted bail; Rex Conn, robbery; Kenis Lucas and Ballard Edward Hall, grand larceny.

JONES NOTES FUNDS NEED FOR AGENTS

Summer Meeting Hears Discussion by Leaders; District Head Attends

The Floyd County Extension Council held its summer meeting at the Regional Library here Tuesday evening under the ominous foreboding that it may be necessary to reduce the Extension personnel here unless the Floyd county fiscal court agrees to increase the appropriation for personnel purposes.

S. C. Bohanan, chairman of Agricultural Extension programs, Lexington, wrote Floyd County Agent Robert M. Jones recently that the present appropriation of the fiscal court is insufficient.

The Extension budget this year totals $6,049, of which $5,359 comes from the special district tax. Another $700 added to this year's budget was carried over from last year.

"The situation this year," Jones said, "is that there will not be funds available to meet the requirements of the University of Kentucky for a staff of three agents."

Attending the meeting Tuesday evening were several agricultural leaders, the Extension agents and R. H. Lickert, District 5 leader of the Extension program. In the absence of Kermit Howard, Council president, Jones presided.

Subscription Rates Per Year:

In Floyd County, $3.50 • Elsewhere in Kentucky, $4.00

Entered as second class matter June 13, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Kentucky, under the act of March 3, 1879.

These Roads Must Be Seen To Be Appreciated

Floyd county has a wide variety of road needs but two routes are in such condition that they deserve immediate and careful consideration by the Department of Highways. These are Ky. 404 from the junction with Ky. 114 to David and Ky. 7 from Bosco to the surfaced section of that road at the mouth of Raccoon on Salt Lick Creek.

Considered in the order in which they are here listed:

Ky. 404 is that narrow, twisting route which was largely a hasty improvisation done in the 1940's to serve the mining town of David. Over this dangerous road school buses must run, and beginning in late August, transport to school and back home, daily, every child of school age in that part of the populous Middle Creek section. Drive the road today and you wonder how a vehicle as large as a school bus will be able to meet and pass other traffic. You shudder at the thought of a loaded bus plunging down high embankments which have not a semblance of a guard-rail.

Ky. 7, on the other hand, is a comparatively new highway, reasonably straight and wide. Here, the great problem, and problem it is, is dust.

This is the route now followed by all traffic from the upper Right Beaver Creek section of Floyd and Knott counties on the way to the Mountain Parkway and the Blue Grass and by miners travelling to and from Magoffin and Breathitt county employment. The traffic is heavy, and the result is a cloud of dust, by day and night. Homes and vegetation along the route lie deep in a coating of dust. There are many dusty roads in Kentucky, we realize, and we have seen our part of them, but never have we seen one so heavily travelled as Ky. 7.

If inhalation of dust is harmful to humans, respiratory and other ailments may result. Pride in home and its exterior appearance is utter vanity there, for no paint of whatever color or permanence can compete with the dust. And, if school buses drive the highway, and they surely will, come late August and the opening of school, their headlights will burn in broad daylight, competing with the brilliant rays of the sun as the driver hopes to warn other motorists of the approach of his vehicle.

The Floyd County Times has a deep respect for the judgment and integrity of Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward, and it does not want to make his difficult job harder for him. It is aware of his obligations to all Kentucky and of the limitations of resources for road purposes. But we do wish he could drive over these two roads and see the situation for himself.

Geneva Smith, Scalf, et al., Defendant.

BABE RUTH TOURNAMENT SET FOR W'WRIGHT

Garrett, Ky., July 20—For the first time since the Floyd County Babe Ruth League was organized in 1961, the district tournament will be conducted within the county. Each year heretofore the annual affair was played at Elk Horn City. It will be played at Wheelwright this coming week-end, July 25 and 27.

The president of the Floyd county league, Shelby Draughn, of Garrett, will serve as tournament director of the three-game series. Mr. Draughn met with the presidents and officers of the district leagues represented in the district, Sunday, at Tackett's Dairy Freezer at Allen to prepare for the event.

In the first game Sunday, July 25 at 1:30 p.m., the Floyd county team will meet the team of Prestonsburg Community League. In the second game at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Elk Horn City will go against the Johnson county league. The championship game will be played at 4 p.m. Monday.

Umpires tentatively chosen are Dave Chaffins, Pikeville; Donald Hughes, Garrett; Graham Burchett, Allen, and James Milford Wells, Prestonsburg.

The district winner will go to the state tournament at Owensboro on July 30-31 and August 1. This year, a 13-year-old tournament will be conducted, along with the regular team one. However, Prestonsburg is the only league in District 6 that indicated it would enter a team.

The Wheelwright tournament has been set at a time so as to not conflict with Little League tournaments. In the event of rain, games will be played the following day.

LEAGUE SCHEDULE EXTENDED

Garrett, Ky., July 20 — The president of the Connie Mack League, 16-19-year-old boys, Shelby Draughn, of Garrett, has extended the season schedule for two additional weeks. The season officially closed with Sunday's games as far as the league champion and state tournament team are concerned. But since the state tournament isn't until August 14, 15 and 16, the teams need to continue regular play through the week-end of August 8. The All-Star game scheduled for Wheelwright, July 25, has been changed to August 8 at 8 p.m.

A representative of the Quaker Oats Company will be at the game to present his company's trophy to the league champion. The remaining schedule will have Pikeville at Wheelwright and Elk Horn City at Virgie on Saturday, July 25. On Sunday, Virgie will be at Pikeville while Elk Horn City will be at Wheelwright, Saturday, August 1, Pikeville will be at Elk Horn City while Wheelwright is at Virgie. Then on Sunday, August 2, Wheelwright is at Pikeville and Virgie is at Elk Horn City. The game at Wheelwright, Saturday night, August 8, will be between the first-place team and a team composed of five players each from the three remaining teams.

terminate if they are true. But, if you doubt any of them, we have an idea you're as able to check as we are.

This set of circumstances gives weight to the adage that history does repeat itself. They pertain to the string of ironic parallels to be drawn in the assassinations of Presidents Lincoln and Kennedy:

- 1. Both Presidents were concerned with Civil Rights.
2. Lincoln was elected in 1860; Kennedy, in 1960.
3. Both Presidents were slain on Friday and in the presence of their wives.

- 4. Their successors, both named Johnson, were Southerners, Democrats and had served in the U. S. Senate.
5. Andrew Johnson was born in 1808; Lyndon Johnson, in 1908.

- 6. John Wilkes Booth, assassin of Lincoln, was born in 1839; Lee Harvey Oswald, in 1939.
7. Both Booth and Oswald were Southerners.

- 8. Both slayers of Booth and Oswald (Boston Corbett and Jack Ruby) murdered the assassins before they could be brought to trial.

- 9. Both Presidents were shot in the head.

- 10. The wives of both Presidents lost children through death while living in the White House.

11. Kennedy's secretary was named Lincoln; Lincoln's secretary was named Kennedy.

FISHY STORY

We'd like to get around to putting this a little less bluntly, but it all sounds like somebody's lying. Bill Pettey says John Warrick reported losing his lantern in Dewey Lake, a week or so back. Seven days later—mind you, this is not my story—Warrick returned to the spot with grappling hooks, and soon brought to the surface the lantern. Still burning.

This story told, Pettey reminded Warrick of the afternoon the latter lost his spectacles in the lake, a year back. "Well," he reported, "I was down there, the other afternoon, hooked this big fish and worried him around till I got him to the surface. A big catfish. Had your glasses on."

After that, we are told, Warrick agreed to blow out the lantern if Pettey would take his glasses off the fish.

Men were employed as school bus drivers and a leave of absence was granted Linda Sue Stephens, Prestonsburg high school, to pursue advanced studies. Holly Faye Wicker, Betsy Layne high school, was transferred to Martin high school, and Doris Prater, Martin high, was transferred to Prestonsburg high. Charlene Gibson Sexton was employed to replace Holly Wicker at Betsy Layne.

Other actions of the board follow:

- 1. Authorized Superintendent Clark to advertise for contract runs and also to advertise for bids on lunchroom supplies and materials for Clark elementary school.

- 2. Set a special meeting for July 16 with the Floyd Fiscal Court to discuss the bond issue for the new Wheelwright elementary school.

- 3. Ordered the Progress Report compiled by Superintendent Clark and staff to be made a part of the board's minutes. (Separate story).

- 4. Voted to accept the high bid of G. E. Con of $711 for the Harold frame school building.

Shown selling produce grown by fellow members of the Prestonsburg Chapter, Future Farmers of America, is Bruce Blair, high school sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Blair, of Water Gap. Buying fresh corn are Mrs. Earle Stumbo, Prestonsburg, and her granddaughter, Kay Ann Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers H. Frazier.

Twenty of the 80 boys in the Prestonsburg Chapter, Future Farmers of America, grow cash crops of their own and sell it at the wayside market adjacent to the high school here, it is said by Lloyd Wells, advisor. A few grow tobacco, several others strawberries but most grow general produce.

Wells outlined the operation of the market here. The boy who "tends" store gets nine percent of the gross and one percent is deducted for paper bags. The member-clerk keeps sales records.

EARLY CHURCH DAYS DESCRIBED BY MEEK

BY HENRY P. SCALF

The last published work of Zephaniah Meek, D.D., Catlettsburg editor and Methodist divine, was "A History of Methodist Episcopal Church, South." The thin little volume was issued as a "Centennial Souvenir" of the church which ended its first hundred years of organized work in the Big Sandy valley in 1908.

The history, published several weeks after Rev. Meek died September 4, 1909, is not only a brief resume of Methodist history in the valley for the preceding century but there is much information on the Paintsville Methodist Church, which was organized in 1812.

Methodism was brought to the Big Sandy valley by the Rev. Cornelius McGuire, a lay minister who had migrated to the area in 1796. McGuire had married Esther Stratton, daughter of Solomon Stratton and sister to Col. Harry Stratton, Col. Harry, whose right name was Henry, and McGuire settled near each other at the present Ivel, Floyd county. Stratton was converted in 1796 by McGuire and the first Methodist class was organized that year at Stratton's home.

McGuire continued to labor for his church and the Lord until 1809, when, old and weary, he bore a petition to the Western Annual Conference which met at Cincinnati, September 30. As a result of McGuire's effort, the Sandy River Circuit was formed and Benjamin Edge was appointed preacher in charge.

Rev. Edge traveled up and down the valley, preaching and holding classes wherever he could find people. The whole area was almost entirely a wilderness, and paths through the forests substituted for roads.

We let Rev. Meek describe the difficulties of travel:

"These paths, many of them, were so difficult to follow without a guide, that Mr. Edge procured from a blacksmith an iron rod with a sharp point with which he marked the trees where the paths parted, that he might, when alone, not get lost." . . . The circuit, according to official records, "extended from the headwaters of the Kentucky River to the mouths of the two Sandys, a distance of five hundred miles, with two additional appointments in the State of Ohio, in what was called the French Grant."

In 1810 the annual conference was held at Brick Chapel, Shelby county, Kentucky, and John Johnson was appointed to the Sandy River Circuit. He expanded Methodism in the Big Sandy, added numerous preaching places. More than 1,200 persons were added to the church, 118 of them colored.

Marcus Lindsay was named to the Sandy River Circuit at the conference of 1811 which was held at Cincinnati, Ohio. Rev. Lindsay, according to Meek, "was one of the most distinguished preachers of his day, and, though almost a century has elapsed since his ministry in the valley, yet his name is a household word in many homes of our older people."

Rev. Lindsay organized the Paintsville Society in 1812 at the home of John Auxier "which afterwards was bought by and became the home of Moses Preston, familiarly called Cobe Preston." The house was situated in the east end of Paintsville. Preaching was conducted there as long as John Auxier lived in the home and for years after it was acquired by Preston.

The conference name was changed in 1812 from Western Conference to Ohio Conference and it met at Chillicothe, Ohio. Jonathan Stamper was appointed to the Big Sandy Circuit as it was called after it had been divided.

Stamper had enlisted to fight against the Ohio Indians and could not set out for his new charge until December.

He was at first disillusioned by his work in the Big Sandy and wrote:

"There were often times of great excitement and what would usually be called revivals of religion; but so volatile and unstable were the subjects of these excitements that no lasting effect was produced. Often in the short space of three weeks, many that professed religion and shouted as if they were in the suburbs of heaven, went back into their former profligacy. I was led to fear that no permanent good could be effected among these people, but time has proved the contrary."

The roll of "circuit riders" following Stamper was long and honored and Methodism expanded in the valley under their dedicated labors. Rev. Meek names many in his little booklet and turns to a distinguished layman.

"Among citizens of the section who were influential and zealous in organizing and maintaining the church, we mention Lewis Mayo, who was a power for good and perhaps the most influential layman in the Big Sandy valley. He conducted prayer and class meetings and was a ready and willing worker and contributor at all times and in all places."

Meek notes the contribution of the Howes family to Methodism. Rev. Alexis Howes "was a man of great influence, preaching and exhorting and holding prayer meetings and using his means for the promotion and growth of the church. His son, Rev. John Howes, also followed in the footsteps of his venerable father and was a man of large influence and great usefulness to the church. The Howes family furnished a larger number of Methodist preachers than any other family in the Big Sandy valley."

Mentioned in the thin little volume are the liberal supporters of the church in its early days. Named were Moses Preston, Daniel Hager, Lewis Todd, Samuel Friend, D. B. Wells, John Vaughan, John Auxier and many others.

The general conference adopted a plan of separation in 1844, and the Methodist Church fell into two distinct parts, chiefly over slavery. The Paintsville church became the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The congregation began the construction of a church house in 1860, and it was finished except for the furniture when the Civil War broke upon the distraught country. During the internecine struggle it was burned to the ground. The congregation continued to worship in private homes and school-houses. Following the war, a brick church was built but Meek neglects to state the year.

In 1864 a Methodist Episcopal Church was organized, several members of the southern branch defecting to it. Soon, however, both churches were prospering.

In ending his booklet on the history of Big Sandy Methodism, and more particularly of the Paintsville church, Rev. Meek urged the observance of the (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES STUDIED BY KENTUCKY

Did you know that someone is watching your weight? He is one of your best friends, a person who is constantly at work in communities throughout the state checking weighing and measuring conditions and marketing practices. He is your State Department of Agriculture weights and measures inspector. He is concerned about conditions and marketing practices that may deny you of the full value of your purchases. He is on the job every business day checking scales and gas pumps, check weighing prepackaged merchandise and following up on a variety of complaints. His objective is to provide the best weights and measures advice and services possible for handlers of all commodities and to keep the number of violations to a minimum.

To promote more accurate weighing and measuring practices, consumers are encouraged to become unofficial weight watchers, especially while they are shopping. Their interest will mean much to the state program and it should result in a number of improvements for commerce. Everyone is encouraged to familiarize himself with the commonly used weights and measures. Do you and other members of your family know how many ounces there are in a pound avoirdupois? How many fluid ounces are there in a quart? Information of this type should be memorized by the discriminating shopper to enable him to better compare and evaluate a purchase. Prices of commodities will sometimes vary between brands and packages, due only to a minor change in measure. Purchases should not be made until the shopper has carefully considered this information which by law appears on the label.

Shoppers need to familiarize themselves with the state's weights and measures seal. It serves as a notice that your friendly inspector has been about his business in promoting improved marketing conditions. The seal serves as an indication of the accuracy of the measuring or weighing device. Look for the round, blue and silver sticker showing the latest date the device was tested and approved. It should be conspicuously displayed and it is usually found on the dial. If it is not on display ask the clerk where it is located.

Merchants who are concerned and are dedicated to the development of a good image for their business are usually very conscious of weights and measures and the conditions under which these operations are performed. This service is fundamental to successful merchandising. Quality and quantity determinations are essential to the maintenance of a sound marketing program. Due to the importance of the weighing and measuring operation in a business, the appearance of the equipment and the orderliness of the surroundings where the equipment is located is very influential in developing a desirable image for the merchant and his business. Good equipment easily read and interpreted is desired by shoppers. It should be conveniently located to facilitate use and the general appearance of the area should promote good weighing and measuring conditions. Everything that will hinder the operation and obstruct the view of shoppers should be removed. Displays and exhibits, etc. should be prohibited around a scale or measuring device.

Evolution

Revolution

The world-famous army 'Jeep' vehicle started it all. Then came the evolutionary changes. Sensible changes. Like more ground clearance. Stronger suspension. Weather proof tops. Fun changes. Like pink and white striped upholstery. Fringed sunray tops. Lively colors. A sports roadster. A station wagon — rugged, durable, designed for work and play.

Then came the 'Jeep' Wagoneer. A revolution! The Wagoneer is so revolutionary, it's hard to recognize your old 'Jeep' friend. It's a station wagon. And a looker! You'll be stunned. Slide into that luxurious interior. Beautiful. Comfortable. Visibility unlimited!

Turn the ignition key. You've got an overhead cam engine purring for you. The only one in any American production car. Try that steering. Power. The brakes. Power again. The transmission. It's automatic. Feel that rde. Pure luxury.

And the 'Jeep' heart and spirit are still there. Pull one simple lever and you're in 'Jeep' 4-wheel 'Drivepower.' Then there's hardly a hill that can keep you down . . . hardly a mud hole that can bog you down. In fact, there's scarcely any driving situation that can get you down. You're free to go anywhere with the traction to pull you through.

COOPER, RANDOLPH SAY AID BILL NEEDED

Washington, D.C.—Senator John Sherman Cooper said last week that some people in Kentucky and other Appalachian states now "are worse off than they were during the Depression of the 1930's."

The Kentucky Republican said the Appalachian regional-development bill is needed to give the area the same kind of opportunities enjoyed by other parts of the nation.

Speaking in a recorded radio interview, Cooper said the proposed legislation "will help not only the people of the area, it will help the whole United States."

The interview was on "Washington Reports to the People," a non-network program sponsored by the AFL-CIO, on several hundred radio stations.

Senator Jennings Randolph, on the same program, said the Appalachian bill would not conflict with the proposed anti-poverty legislation.

The West Virginia Democrat said the Appalachian bill would be similar to legislation that created the Tennessee Valley Authority in the 1930's. He added:

"We are thinking of a specific section of the country, but even though it is sectional in degree, it is not sectional in giving its benefits, and we believe they will accrue to the nation as a whole."

Cooper and Randolph said one main benefit of the proposed legislation would be the development of roads to bring industry and tourists into the mountainous Appalachian area.

The mountains have long formed a barrier to fuller development and resulted in the Appalachian states being bypassed by progress, Cooper said.

Randolph said the Appalachian bill "is not a handout in any sense. It is a cooperative effort of the federal and other political subdivisions of government working with the people themselves."

He added, "There are 15 million persons in this 10-state Appalachian region."

When unhooking a sheephead, don't underestimate the power in its jaws. These fish feed upon clams, barnacles and oysters and crack them like peanuts. —Sports Afield.

WHY FALL?

What causes falls? According to the National Safety Council, falls occur when you're in a hurry, fail to remove tripping hazards, are indifferent to your surroundings, or use the wrong equipment for the job. Poor housekeeping, poor balance, and using ladders in poor repair also cause many falls. Common causes of falls around the home are throw rugs or loose rug edges; carelessness around the bathtub or shower and on stairways is often at fault, too.

Scramble for Leases On In Morgan County; UF Drills Deep Wells

(Licking Valley Courier)

A wide scramble for oil and gas leases in Morgan county is under way, prompted it is believed by one or perhaps two recent developments in nearby areas.

Four or five major companies are leasing in Morgan now as well as one or two individuals.

The big scramble for Morgan acreage may stem from rumor of another deep test well to be drilled in the area, from the expected extension into Kentucky of the Trempealeau sand where the new Morrow, Ohio pool was discovered.

A well that may be a deep test is being drilled on the William O'Hara farm at Trent in nearby Wolfe county. A rotary rig was set up there last week and was down to 2,400 feet Wednesday.

The location at Trent is about a half mile north of the Irvine-Point Creek Fault, a structure that many oil men think may produce oil from the deep sands. Reports say the well will be drilled to Pueblo sand, about 9,000 feet deep.

A few miles eastward, P & S Oil and Gas Corporation has 5,000 acres along the fault in the area of Pilot Knob and is drilling more wells.

Santa Fe Oil and Gas Corp., of Oklahoma, in April completed a deep test well in southeastern Montgomery county near the Powell-Menifee line, but all the findings were kept secret. It too was drilled with a rotary rig but to an unknown depth.

Deep tests have been drilled by United Fuel on three sides of Morgan. A well in Elliott went to 5,200 feet, one in Breathitt to 11,300 and one in Martin to 13,000, indicating that the deep strata slopes southeastward against the Irvine-Point Creek Fault. A deep well at Trent would further test the strategic area along the fault that runs northeast from the Trent area through Daysboro and Cannel City to White Oak Branch.

Some oil men speculate that the granite, or deepest strata, is about 17,000 feet underground along the fault in Morgan. This would be the deepest area, and favorable for oil, they speculate.

Emphysema is a disease in which the lungs become enlarged and lose their elasticity, making breathing difficult.

STATE INCOME HITS NEW PEAK FOR YEAR

Frankfort, Ky. — The state of Kentucky's income from all sources in the fiscal year that ended June 30 totaled a record $661 million, up 11 percent over the year before.

Federal and other grants-in-aid accounted for another $179,632,748, up almost 23 percent.

Other nontax income amounted to $30,332,244, up 19 percent.

The state's three percent sales-tax was the big money-raiser. It brought in $109,454,822, a gain of $7,095,233 over the year before.

Road-fund-tax receipts totaled $99,920,277, up 6.5 percent.

State agencies collected $4,229,561 in taxes, mostly from sales of hunting and fishing licenses and other license and privilege levies.

The most phenomenal gain came in a late surge of the state's three percent usage tax on sales of new automobiles to $11,297,587, or 16.4 percent above last year's record high.

Taxes on racetrack admissions climbed 14 percent to $140,843, and the state's tax on pari-mutuel betting rose nearly 20 percent to $3,336,359.

Individual income-tax collections of $46,067,012 were down 2.3 percent from last year.

The corporation income tax, reflecting the recent upsurge in profits, reached a high of $23,254,783, up more than seven percent over last year.

The 10-cent-a-gallon tax on distilled spirits produced or imported into Kentucky brought in $3,515,978, up about six percent.

Beer-consumption taxes rose more than 13 percent to $2,946,382, but this was due largely to credits granted wholesalers which depressed the previous year's receipts.

The drop in stock-market prices during 1962, resulting in lower price levels on January, 1963, than the previous January, caused a decline in the state's property tax on intangibles.

General-fund receipts totaled $246,595,375, up almost $10 million, or four percent, over last year.

The 7-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline and other motor fuels brought in $71,872,000, up five percent.

Receipts from sale of automobile-license plates also climbed 5.5 percent to $13,992,183.

Sales of drivers licenses brought in $358,331, up three percent.

RAIL FIRM AWARDS JOB

Huntington Firm Given 20-Mile Relocation Job In Fishtrap Dam Area

A contract for grade, drain and culvert construction on 20 miles of relocated railway in Pike county was signed last week between the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company and the Frederick-Engineering Co., Huntington, West Virginia.

The railway relocation was made necessary by the construction of Fishtrap dam and reservoir. The relocation job will eventually cost $11 million and, finally extending for 35 miles, will employ 350 men at the start. Hiring of employees will begin at Millard within five days.

The railway firm will abandon several miles of line from Millard and up the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River. The relocated line will begin north of Millard, ascend Lower Pompey Creek, and by a tunnel enter the Grassy Fork of Coon Creek. It will descend that stream to the Zebulon postoffice, down Coon Creek to Johns Creek and up it to a mining operation near Nigh, Kentucky. Near this railhead the N. & W. Railway Company has its main line.

M. I. Dunn, vice-president of the C. & O., says that 1,000 men may be needed to complete the 35-mile relocation job. Other contracts will be let in a few months. Types of employees needed are laborers, bulldozer operators, shovel and scraper operators, heavy equipment mechanics, truck and earth-moving equipment drivers.

It is said that all of the right-of-way on the line has been procured.

Persons connected with the coal industry view the Johns Creek extension as opening up a whole new area for development between Zebulon and Nigh.

Acute respiratory infections are the major cause of time lost from school and work; they account for about 65 percent of all acute sickness.

SALE

In this sale we go 'way, 'way back to Pioneer Days. And in this sale there hangs a tale—a bear's tale, if you will pardon the pun.

More than a hundred years ago, David Cooley, father-in-law of Isaac Richmond, operated a General Store here in Prestonsburg. He was the great-great-grandfather of the present I. Richmond Store manager.

In those early days of business, the oldest of Floyd county businesses, Mr. Cooley owned a bear which he kept chained to a tree on the property where the store was located on First Avenue here, a few doors away from the site of the present store. It was his custom in those days to invite home with him for lunch all customers who happened to be in the store at the noon hour. The invitation was usually accepted, and store and bear were left unattended.

On one such occasion Mr. Cooley and his friends returned to the store to find the bear had broken his chain and was inside the building. Since he kept sugar in a barrel, the whereabouts of the bear was no mystery. They found the barrel overturned and the bear helping himself to its contents.

As a result of this incident, Mr. Cooley staged Prestonsburg's first sale—a sale of the sugar from the barrel, at bargain prices.

And now, a century later, we go 'way back to the bear and his bit of history to tilt over for our customers and friends barrels of bargains in our Semi-Annual Sale.

Accepted As Student At NABAC School

Miss Burieta Gearheart, assistant vice-president of The Bank Josephine, has been accepted as a first-year student in the NABAC School for Bank Audit, Control and Operation. She will be among 465 bankers from throughout the Western Hemisphere attending the school's 12th annual session being conducted August 2-15, at the University of Wisconsin.

To graduate, Miss Gearheart must attend the three-year course and complete assigned extension problems between sessions. Classroom work is augmented by informal evening seminars.

There's no cause for complacency about tuberculosis. Preliminary figures indicate that there may be practically no decline in either case or death rates this year.

Kiwanis Club Sponsors Pig Chain

KIWANIS SPONSORED PIG CHAIN . . . Roger Nelson, 14, (center), member of the Dwale 4-H Club, shown receiving a pig from K. J. Bowles, in the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club's pig chain. Right is the boy's mother, Mrs. John Nelson and behind is Edward P. Hill, president of the Kiwanis Club.

Twenty 4-H Club members were recipients here recently of a purebred Yorkshire pig from the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club as the beginning of a chain that is expected eventually to reach and benefit many club members in the county. The pigs were the gift of the civic club's agriculture committee, headed by K. J. Bowles.

Each club member will give a pig from the first litter back to the Kiwanis Club and these will be given next year to other 4-H members. The pigs given out Tuesday were six weeks old and were purchased from a breeder at Corbin. They are from stock developed by Quaker Oats Company in Illinois. The project cost the Kiwanis Club $400.

The sow and the first litter, less the one given back to the Kiwanis Club, becomes the property of the club member, but he agrees to raise two litters.

The pigs will be exhibited in a pig show sponsored by the Kiwanis Club in October. Purina Mills will give a trophy at the show to the best fitted and groomed hog. Paul Francis donated a bag of feed Tuesday to each club member receiving pigs.

Hill, in commenting on the program, said it was designed to improve swine breeding stock in the county and to improve town and country relationship.

BELL SEES PARK WORK

More Camp Facilities, Cottages Are Needed, Officials Informed

centennial year of its establishment in the valley.

He wrote: "As Methodism was officially established and first organized in the Big Sandy valley by the Annual Conference which met in Cincinnati, Ohio, September 30, 1809, this is the Centennial Year of its organization. And as that Conference adjourned, the first week in October, I suggest and recommend that Sunday, October 10, 1909, be observed in every Methodist Church in the valley as Centennial Year, and that services suitable to that occasion be held. Where there are several appointments in a charge, let a service be held each succeeding Sunday until all are reached."

Commissioner of Parks Robert Bell told the gathering at the dedication of the Jenny Wiley State Park amphitheatre July 11 that the construction work at the park "may well not be over."

More and better camping facilities and a greater number of vacation cottages were listed as prime needs there. "If you keep on asking, you may get these," he said.

All rooms at May Lodge and all vacation cottages are booked solid till September 1, and this has been the situation through practically all this season and last.

Improved camping facilities and larger camping areas are needed. Department officials have been told. During the July 4 week-end a "tent city" of 116 tents and trailers were crammed into the narrow Stratton Branch camping area.
