

This Town . . . That World

CLOSED (Period)

All previous reports to the contrary, the Dewey Lake game refuge will be closed—repeat, CLOSED—to deerhunters this season. Nor will there be any duck-hunting on the impoundment.

Apparently game division biologists have finally agreed with most of the rest of us that the deer population there already has been decimated enough.

ALIBI

Fellow told me he had come up with an original story to tell if ever he showed up with a knot on his head and is some wise guy asked what his wife hit him with. "I'll just tell 'em," said he, "that I've been driving the Mountain Parkway and have visited Jenny Wiley State Park and the Prestonsburg Community College—and that knot rose when I pinched myself to see if I was dreaming."

THE TIMID ONE SPEAKS UP

This is told as the unvarnished truth and as having taken place only a few weeks ago. The little boy was going to school for the first time, and, since he was believed to be on the timid side, his father went along with him. At school the little fellow was given a little book, with large print and pictures and all, and the teacher also deciding this one was timid, took special pains to set the youngster at ease. He opened the book and pointed to the picture of a cat and a bowl of cream. "Tell me what that is, Johnny," teacher said.

"That's a fat."
"Right, Johnny. Don't you suppose the cat is hungry?"
"Why, you old ----, if that fat was hungry it'd drink that milk!"

THE AWFUL TRUTH

The people of the United States are being told with dismayingly regularity that a shortage of water will beset the country by 1980. That's less than 30 years away, and many of those now living may reasonably be expected to be around to suffer.

We talk of what we are doing for our children and what we want to leave them. It's time we turn honest and admit some of the things we are doing to our children. Included among these crimes: denuded hillsides, hollowed-out slopes, acid waters from

SALISBURY TRIAL SET

To Start Monday; 100-Member Venire Will Be Summoned

Trial of Roy Salisbury, who is charged in three separate murder indictments with the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denney and Thomas S. Combs at Drift, was set last Thursday by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley for next Monday.

When brought into court and asked if he desired to enter a plea, Salisbury made no answer, nor did he answer when asked by his court-appointed attorney, Burnis Martin, to answer the court and make a plea.

Thereupon the court entered for him a plea of not guilty and set the trial date.

An order also was entered calling for a special venire of 100 names to be drawn from the jury drum for possible jury service at the trial. This was done, the order explained, because of the wide relationship of those involved in the case, the publicity given it and the fact that the Commonwealth has indicated it will ask the death penalty. To this defense counsel objected.

HUMPHREY TO SPEAK AT DISTRICT RALLY

VP ASPIRANT SETS MAJOR SPEECH HERE

Former Gov. Combs To Introduce Senator; Breathitt Slates Talk

Eastern Kentucky will get its chance to see and hear U. S. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic nominee for Vice President, at 2:30 Saturday afternoon when he will speak at the Prestonsburg high school gymnasium.

President Johnson's running-mate will be introduced by Former Governor Bert T. Combs, State Representative W. J. Reynolds, Jr., Floyd county Democratic campaign co-chairman, who will act as master of ceremonies.

On the speaking program will be Governor Edward T. Breathitt and Congressman Carl D. Perkins.

Senator Humphrey's appearance here is billed as "a major Eastern Kentucky Democratic rally," and delegations from all counties of the area are expected to attend.

INLAND HAS 2 WINNERS

Wheelwright Teams Annex Mine Rescue, First-Aid Honors

The 28th annual Safety Day, sponsored by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute, was held in the Pikeville city park, September 19. The event was kicked off at 9 a.m. with a mine rescue contest in which teams from Bethlehem Mines Corporation, Jenkins; Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright, and Republic Steel Corporation, Elkhorn City vied for first place honors.

First place in the mine-rescue division went to Inland Steel Company's Wheelwright mine team. Team members are: Vernon Badley, captain, Russell Tackett, James E. Conley, Franklin Mink, Worley Mase, Luther Hall, and Eddie Micyus. Second place was won by Mine 22, Bethlehem Mines Corporation, Jenkins, composed of Wilmer L. Donahue, captain, Burton W. Sanders, Wilson Day, Jr., Thomas W. Tackett, Jack M. Barker, Albert P. Childers, and James W. Salyers. Third place honors were won by Republic Steel Corporation's Republic mine team, Elkhorn City. Team members are R. E. Bartley, captain, R. E. Coyer, Larnce Rife, Fayette May, Hubert L. Stapleton, Dan Thacker, Richard Davis, and Edgar Elswick, trainer.

Teams were judged by a panel of judges selected from personnel of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals and the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Highlighting the Safety Day program was the Institute's first "Miss Black Diamond" pageant. This event began with a parade through Pikeville in which high school bands from Norton, Virgie, Elkhorn City, Phelps, Bellevue, Johns Creek, Feds Creek, Mullins and Pikeville high school participated. Also taking part in the parade were members of the Big Sandy Valley Saddle Horse Club led by Ray Chapman, club president.

The title of "Miss Black Diamond," selected on the basis of points for various accomplishments, went to Glenda Sue Tackett, representing Virgie high school. Susan Gray, of Belvue, was runner-up and Katherine Davis, of Jenkins, took third-place honors. The Institute plans to make the pageant an annual Safety Day affair.

THREE HURT IN MISHAPS

On Area Highways; Hunt and Kendrick Seriously Injured

Two Floyd county men were injured last week, one critically, in two separate highway accidents, and a third man, a resident of Paintsville, is in a critical condition in a Paintsville hospital.

Zeke (Dad) Hunt, of Allen, truck driver for Allen Lumber Company, was critically injured Friday afternoon when a pick-up truck he was driving collided with a car driven by Robert DeRossett, Prestonsburg. The accident occurred at Smith's Camp, north of Emma.

Hunt was at first taken to the Prestonsburg General hospital but was removed late Sunday afternoon to the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. DeRossett was not seriously injured.

The impact of the collision knocked both vehicles off the highway. The DeRossett car was totally wrecked.

In an accident on the Big Mud Creek road Thursday afternoon, W. R. Kendrick, Prestonsburg contractor, was seriously injured when an automobile he was driving left the highway near Teaberry. Kendrick's left hand was mangled.

Deer Hunting Banned In Dewey Lake Area, Conservationist Says

There will be no deer hunting this year in the Dewey Lake area, it was pointed out by Don Meade, conservation officer. He pointed out that management areas to remain closed, besides Dewey Lake area, are Beaver Creek, Pine Mountain, Robinson Forest and Ford Wildlife Management area.

Only grouse and quail can be killed in Dewey Lake area, Meade said.

RAIDERS HIT MELVIN CLUB

Officers Force Doors, Say Admission Refused; Confiscate Intoxicants

Officers who raided the Floyd County Development Association at Melvin Saturday night and confiscated both beer and whiskey said they were obliged to force the doors of the building after its occupants had refused their demand that the door be opened.

Slate Troopers Larry Hatton and Elmo Allen and ABC Agent Claude A. Flanery arrested George Hamilton as operator of the place and confiscated 212 cans of beer and seven half-pints of whiskey inside the building. Two half-pints were found unbroken outside a rear window.

The officers said the door was slammed shut when they drove up, and that the occupants refused to open either the front or the rear door when they informed Tackett they held a search warrant for the place. Allen kicked open the back door, and Hatton knocked a hole in the front door, then reached in and unlocked it, it was said.

Hamilton and others, however, were quoted as saying later that no search warrant was presented and that the officers may be sued for destruction of property. A dozen or more persons were inside the building when the raid was made.

Three liquor cases set for quarterly court trial Monday were continued till October 15, and a fourth was continued till October 20. Continuances were granted when the attorney for most of the defendants could not be present because of illness, and one case was continued when a doctor's statement said the defendant himself was ill and could not come to Prestonsburg. County Judge Henry Stumbo made it clear to the defendants that trial will be held October 15, regardless of the physical condition of attorneys or defendants at that time.

Hart Is Reassigned To Soil Service Here

Gerald N. Hart, soil conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, has been reassigned from Jackson to Prestonsburg, and began work in this county last week.

Mr. Hart will assist the Floyd County Soil Conservation District. Prior to his assignment here, Mr. Hart assisted the Breathitt, Harlan and Morgan county Soil Conservation Districts.

In 1954 he received a B.S. degree in agriculture from the University of Kentucky. He is a native of Corbin.

AREA MEET SET HERE

Ashland Chamber Sets Meet At Jenny Wiley; Bus Tours Are Planned

Invitations will go out shortly to more than 300 business and civic leaders in the Big Sandy valley and in the counties of Morgan, Elliott, Rowan, Greenup and Carter to be guests of the Ashland Area Chamber of Commerce for dinner meetings next month at Jenny Wiley State Park and at Carter Caves State Park, Davis E. Geiger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announced.

The Big Sandy group, going as far upriver as Pikeville, will see two bus loads of Ashland business leaders and industrialists visiting Louisa, Paintsville, Prestonsburg and Pikeville on October 14. They will return to Jenny Wiley State Park late that day to meet guests from each of those cities, plus others from Martin, Salyersville and points in the several counties. A social hour and dinner will be held at the May Lodge.

On October 21, the same group of approximately 50 Ashland men will go to Caveland Lodge at Carter Caves State Park to welcome guests from Morehead, West Liberty, Sandy Hook, Olive Hill, Grayson, Greenup, Russell and intermediate points. The assemblage at Jenny Wiley State Park is limited to a total of 250 because of the dining room's seating capacity, and at Caveland Lodge the limit is 200.

Because of the mileage involved, the buses will not be able to tour the cities west of Ashland in time to return to Carter Caves (See Story No. 6, Page 6)

COLLEGE DEDICATION SCHEDULED TUESDAY

EXERCISES ARE SLATED AT 11 A.M.

Oswald To Deliver Dedicatory Address; Educators To Attend

The Prestonsburg Community College, Eastern Kentucky's representative in the state's growing community college chain, will be dedicated next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

And an invitation to attend the dedicatory exercises has been extended to every person who dreamed of, worked and gave for such a college and to all who are in any way interested.

New History Instructor Joins College Faculty

Mr. Kukainis received his elementary and high school education in Europe and has A.B. and M.A. degrees in history from Indiana University. His wife, Beate, also has her A.B. from Indiana U.

FOURTH TRIAL FREES MULLINS AND MARTIN

The fourth trial in the Floyd circuit court of Deputy Sheriffs Troy Mullins and Marion Martin ended last Friday in a "not guilty" verdict, directed by Special Judge G. M. Wright, Shelbyville, Kentucky.

The first trial resulted in a "hung" jury; the second, in a conviction, which was later reversed by the Court of Appeals, and the third was declared a mistrial when the special judge, James Stephenson, of Pikeville, became ill and unable to continue with the hearing.

Judge Wright's action came after all the testimony had been heard and opposing counsel had concluded their arguments. The motion for a directed verdict was made by John Young Brown, of Lexington, who with Scott Collins, represented defendants. Attorneys for the Commonwealth, Clifford B. Latta and Cordell H. Martin, protested that testimony was sufficient to go to the jury for a verdict.

Testimony heard at the trial was much the same as had been produced at previous hearings of the case. Katherine Martin, who in the first two trials claimed May was shot while his revolver lay on a table at which he was eating, testified that the shooting of the former Floyd magistrate was done only in self-defense after he had opened fire on the officers. She claimed she told her original story because of "pressure" from the May family. She was asked to explain what pressure was brought to bear on her when she told the original story while held in jail here, immediately after the shooting.

Deputy Sheriff Mullins said he did not fire until after May had fired a shot at him from almost point-blank range. He maintained May's bullet grazed him across the back, that by whirling he escaped being shot in the chest.

Ebb Bentley, who was outside Stephenson, of Pikeville, became ill and unable to continue with the hearing.

Other actions of the court within the week:

The one-year pen term of Gordon Ray Clouse, who pleaded guilty to a breaking and entering charge, probated; dismissed for "lack of evidence"—Stanley Fritz, converting the property of another, and Luther McKinney, obtaining property under false pretense; filed away, subject to being redocketed—George Hall and Dennis Jones, each accused of negligently setting fire to woods, Lamar Collins, uttering a worthless check, Bernard Perkins, assault and battery, Kenzie H. Adams, issuing a worthless check.

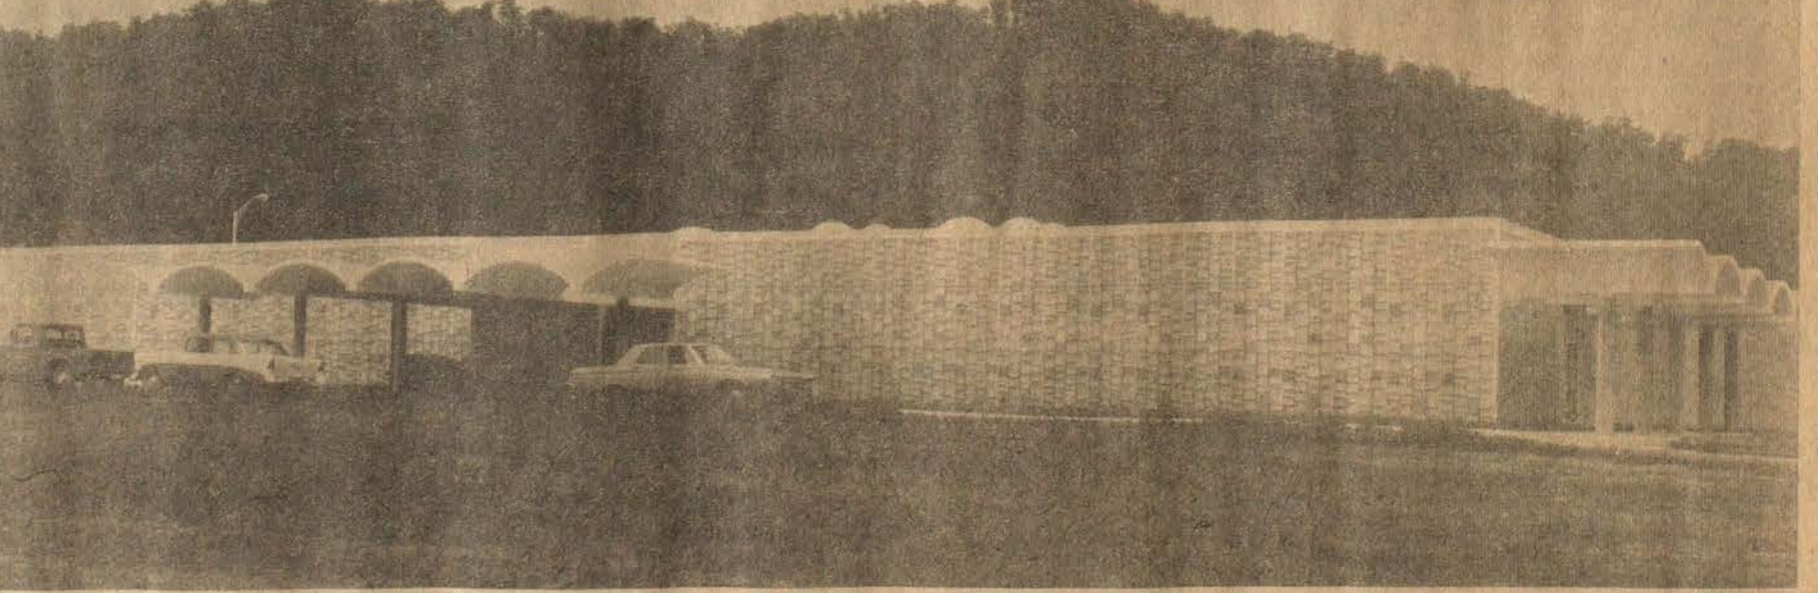

Two warrants have been sworn out by Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo charging Katherine Martin, who changed from a state's witness to one for the defense in the murder trial of Deputy Sheriffs Troy Mullins and Marion Martin, with falsifying.

One of the warrants, placed with the Sheriff's office, has been returned, marked "Searched for and not found." The other was given to State Detective Chester D. Potter, who had not made a return on the warrant as of Tuesday noon.

Court officials said they had been told that the Martin woman has married and now lives in Louisville. She was listed as a witness in circuit court records as Katherine Martin.

Her original story, told to the grand jury when the officers were indicted and in two trials of the case, was to the effect that John May was shot before he could reach his own gun and as he turned toward the door through which the deputy sheriffs entered. At the last two hearings of the case she testified that May fired the first shot.

"If we permit a witness to admit lying and if we do nothing to penalize the witness for such an offense against the law, the courts will be at the mercy of any person who wishes to tell a story to suit his or her case," the prosecutor commented.

Introducing Comet 1965:

livelier, more beautiful sequel to the World's Durability Champion

We couldn't make Comet much tougher, so we made it more beautiful. Made the outside sleeker, sportier—from every angle. Made the interiors more luxurious. Made every engine bigger, from the 200 cu.-in. "6" through the hefty new 289 cu.-in. Cyclone Super V-8 (225 hp). Made the ride even smoother, more solid and silent. The one thing not new in this racy '65 sequel is the stamina that made Comet the World's Durability Champion. You wouldn't want that to change, would you? It didn't.

USS Floyd County Celebrates Birthday In Hawaiian Islands

The USS Floyd County celebrated her 20th birthday September 5 while in active service in the Hawaiian Islands area, and her commanding officer, Lt. F. L. Frayome took time on that occasion to write County Judge Henry Stumbo here to let him know something of the history of the county's namesake.

The USS Floyd County is listed as LST-762, and was commissioned at Algiers, Louisiana, September 5, 1944. Her first taste of battle was on April 1, 1945, when she discharged 400 marines under fire on the beach at Okinawa. Three days later, she was credited with shooting down a Jap plane off Okinawa.

The craft, which was named the Floyd County not only for this county but for counties of the same name in Georgia, Indiana, Texas, Iowa and Virginia, earned during World War II the Pacific Campaign medal, the American Defense medal and the World War II Victory medal.

She was decommissioned at Tongue Point, Oregon, in 1946, and was reactivated there, after outbreak of hostilities in Korea, on November 3, 1950. She participated in the Second Korean winter campaign (1951-1952) while operating in and around Inchon, Pusan and Kojido, Korea. For this service she was awarded the United Nations Medal and the Korean Defense Medal with one star.

From July, 1953 to April, 1954, she operated in the Eniwetok Bikini atomic energy tests. For meritorious service, the ship and all crew members received Certificates of Achievements from Commander Joint Task Force Seven.

She was awarded the China Service Medal April, 1955, for participating in the Tachen Island Evacuation.

With two months of her present six months' deployment to Hawaii behind her, the USS Floyd County is island-hopping in the Hawaiian while redeploying Marine Corps and Army units. The officers and men are looking forward to a little rest and recreation in Hilo, Hawaii, during the Hawaiian State Fair, October 20-25.

On December 11 she will start home to San Diego and arrive there in time for the Christmas holidays. Lt. Rayome wrote.

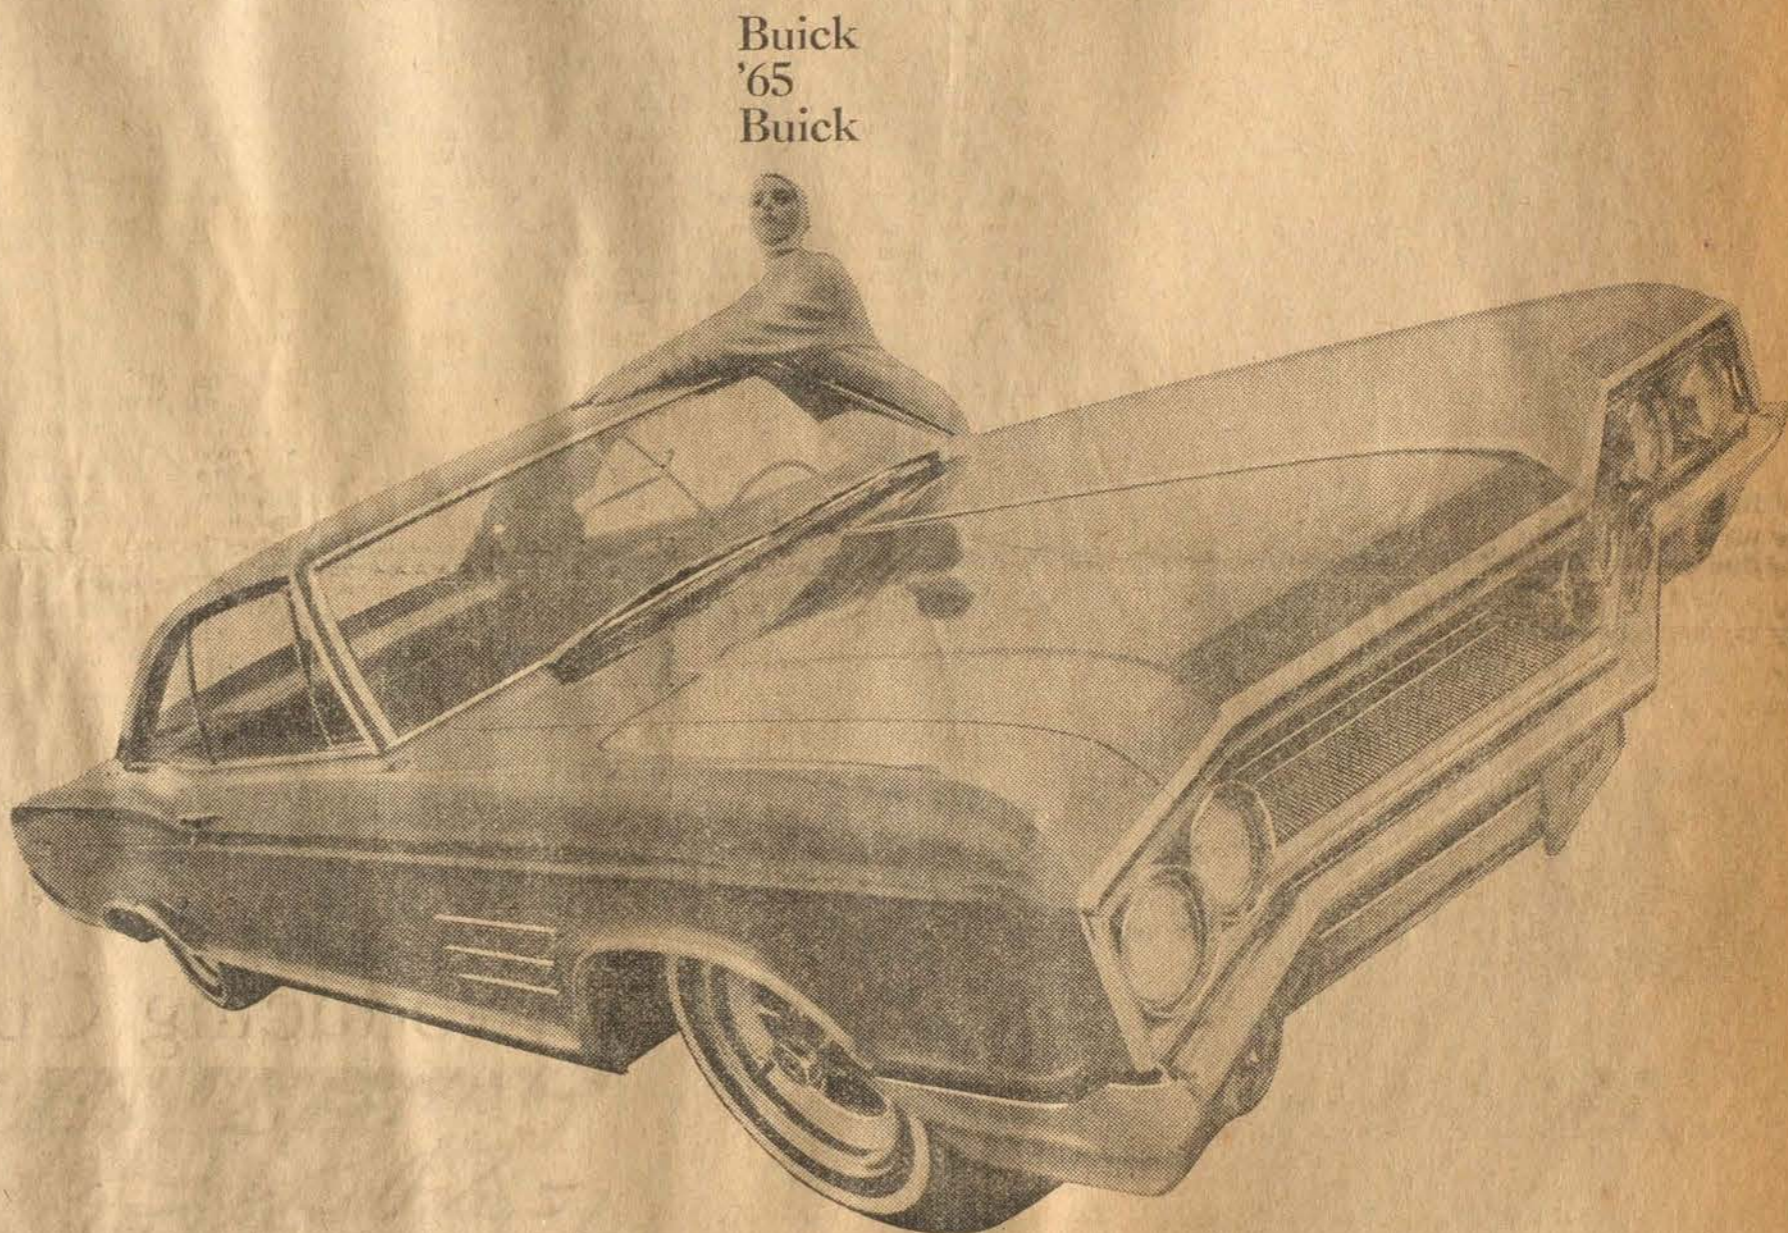

Dedication Is Planned For Historical Markers At Inez and Warfield

Two historical highway markers in Martin county will be dedicated October 8, it was announced this week by Rufus Reed, Martin county director of the marker program. The markers will be erected at Inez and Warfield.

Dr. Robert Martin, president of Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, will dedicate the Inez marker. It will commemorate the late Prof. W. B. Ward and the founding of Martin county.

The Warfield marker, commemorating the founding of Warfield and a Civil War skirmish between Col. Vincent Wichter, Confederate, and the Home Guards, will be dedicated by Henry P. Scaif, of The Times staff.

The Inez marker will be dedicated at 10 a.m. and the Warfield marker at 2 p.m., Mr. Reed said.

Buick '65 Buick

We changed the Buick a lot this year. And you may never be the same again yourself.

We doubt you'll want to be the same. Not once you set eyes on our new Buicks. On the Buick Special and the Skylark. The LeSabre, Electra 225, Riviera. And on the sleek, modified fastback of the wild, wilder, Wildcat in the picture.

True, there's a new high-style touch. But that's hardly all. Engineering still has the emphasis. It's a Buick tradition. So are the extras Buick spends a little extra on. Like finned brake drums that do a little better. And smoother drivelines. A tuned suspension to smooth ribcage roads. Now add Buick's Super Turbine transmissions—and you have an idea of what Buick owners have always liked about Buick. We think you'll feel the same.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick

Sixth District D.A.R. Meets at May Lodge

The Sixth district D.A.R., which includes Pogue, Jane Owen West, Hazard, Breathitt county, Louisa, Harman Station, Pikeville, John Graham, Indian Mound and Morgan county chapters, held its annual meeting at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, September 18, with the Jane Owen West and Pikeville chapters as hostess chapters. A coffee preceded the registration at 9 a.m.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. T. Ewing Roberts, state D.A.R. vice-regent. The invocation was given by Mrs. Bailey P. Wooten, state chaplain; scripture reading by Mrs. Isabel Alexander; Pledge of Allegiance, Mrs. John S. Miller, Pikeville; the American's Creed, Mrs. George Stewart, Morgan county chapter; the National Anthem, by Miss Octavia Trivette, Pikeville chapter; Welcome, by Mrs. A. H. Wellman, Pikeville, and Miss Ruth E. Smith, Belfry; response by Mrs. Fred Osborne, vice-president general, N.S.D.A.R.

A music program was given by Miss Octavia Trivette, of Pikeville.

The morning session heard reports from state officers. After the roll call, the registration chairman reported present eight state officers, two honorary officers, seven state chairmen, seven chapter regents, four visitors and 52 members. A prayer for peace was given by Mrs. Wooten.

The afternoon session was devoted to a workshop conducted by Mrs. Robert C. Hume, state regent, assisted by Mrs. James L. Redwine, chairman of the Sixth district.

Invitation for the 1965 district meeting was extended by the Hazard chapter.

Our Own Invitation

The Times has so frequently attempted to put into words its feeling of gladness, even exultation, as the Prestonsburg Community College has become real and next-door to us that, now that the time for dedication of the college approaches, it is suddenly lacking for expression.

Then let us simply urge every person who can leave his or her job or other responsibility to attend the dedicatory exercises here next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Let us do that out of gratitude for what has been done for us and for what, working together as we rarely have so worked, we have helped do for ourselves.

The dedication will be held without you or us; the college will continue to function without many of us. But the dedication will not be complete, and the college will not be what it should be, unless we dedicate ourselves to it and its purposes enough to give of our time, our efforts and even our prayers for its success.

See you Tuesday.

The Crusade For Children

A few years ago, Jim Walton, master of ceremonies for the WHAS Crusade for Children, tried to answer the question, "What does the Crusade for Children mean to you?" Here, in part, was his answer:

"It means a chance for all of us to prove our faith, hope and love. The Crusade is not a program to perform as much as it is a feeling to experience. It's a long moment when thousands of people show the part of themselves which is closest to God. It's a time when our values come into proper focus.

"But how do you explain your feeling when a crippled youngster who has never walked takes his first step toward you?

"What do you feel when a young girl with a keen mind fiercely struggles to control her palsy-stricken face and hands to give her few pennies to help someone else?

"What grips you when you see the look of accomplishment on a mentally retarded child as he writes his name and buttons his shirt?

"How do you describe your thoughts when a deaf child talks clearly to and with his teacher, when you know there would have been no specialized schooling for that child without the Crusade for Children?

"How do you feel when you experience all of this within a few hours and you remember that your own children are strong and straight and well?

"There can be only one reaction to such an experience and that is to thank God for whatever we have and share it with these children who so desperately need our help.

"The Crusade for Children is a time for thousands of neighbors to join in our finest demonstration of love. There can be no greater motive or meaning than love of children."

This year's Crusade begins at 10:00 p.m., Saturday, September 26. Let us each be a generous Crusader.

BEAUTY PAGEANT WINNERS — The new "Miss Kentucky RECC" is Phyllis Ann Thompson, 16, of Edmonton. She represented Farmers RECC, Glasgow. At left is the first runner-up, Patricia Jo Stacy, of West Liberty, who entered the contest as Miss Licking Valley RECC. Suzanne Richie, right, of Route 2, Somerset, representing South Kentucky RECC, was second runner-up.

Miss Phyllis Ann Thompson, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Thompson, Edmonton, was crowned Miss Kentucky RECC of 1965, September 16, at the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville. Representing Farmers Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation, Miss Thompson won top honors in a field of 20 contestants chosen by rural electric cooperatives throughout the state at their annual meetings in July.

Runner-up honors went to Miss Patricia Jo Stacy, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Stacy, West Liberty, representing Licking Valley RECC. Miss Suzanne Richie, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Horton, Somerset, Route No. 2, was awarded third place honors. She represented the South Kentucky RECC.

Both Miss Thompson and Miss Stacy also won additional honors. Miss Stacy won the title of Miss Cordiality of 1965. This title goes to the girl who is considered to be the most friendly and popular by her fellow contestants. Miss Thompson was awarded a silver cup for winning the personality division of the contest. In the opinion of the judges, she did the best job in projecting her personality during her appearance before the audience.

As Miss Kentucky RECC, Miss Thompson received a sash emblematic of her victory in the state contest, a portable 19-inch television set, a portable stereo phonograph, a silver tea service, and a mounted tiara trophy. She also won the right to represent Kentucky in the national beauty contest to be held in January in Miami, Florida. As a state winner, she will compete with beauty winners from other states for national honors. Miss Thompson will also be taken on a tour of the sights of Miami as a part of her all-expense-paid trip.

Miss Stacy received a second place sash and a $125 diamond wrist watch. She will serve as an alternate to the winner in the national finals in event the winner cannot go to Miami. Miss Richie received a third place sash and a matched luggage set. She will be the second alternate to the national finals. Miss Stacy received a silver cup for winning the title of Miss Cordiality.

State Park for dinner. On the Big Sandy trip, at each stop the buses will be boarded by informed guides who will conduct a tour of the municipality, pointing out historic attractions, new developments and proposed improvements.
 "These will be marvelous opportunities for residents of Eastern Kentucky to renew old acquaintances and to make new ones," Mrs. Geiger said.
 "In addition to being hosts for the fellowship hours and the dinners, our top-flight Ashlanders making the trips also will provide unique favors. At both lodges, the finest dinner on the menus has been ordered.
 "Tentative plans call for assembling at 6 p.m. at both parks. On the Big Sandy trip, we will not be able to visit Martin and Salyersville, but residents at both points have been asked to prepare invitation lists for us.
 "This is the first time in many years that such a group from Ashland has made formal calls and played host to the people who make up the Ashland area of Kentucky.
 "There will be no 'hoopla' surrounding these two occasions—no fancy vests, straw hats or canes. We will be going simply as friends from Ashland who want to make it known that the Ashland Area Chamber of Commerce is truly area-wide in goals and spirit. We want to learn the problems and the aims of each city and community in our 'neighborhood' in order to be of help in our mutual goals for development.
 "The after-dinner program will consist of five-minute talks from representatives of each population center, with a 10-minute roundup of the overall aims of the Ashland Area Chamber of Commerce.
 "We are inviting representatives of the press, television and radio to accompany us on these two trips, because they will be newsworthy events and the several media can do much toward promoting each city or community in the eastern section of the state.
 All arrangements for these events are under the direction of E. Paul Williams, chairman of the Area Development Committee of the Ashland Area Chamber of Commerce.

Hall Plans Speech At AL Homecoming; Reports Scheduled

Dr. Palmer L. Hall, dean of the Graduate School, Morehead State College, and a former superintendent of Floyd county schools, will be the keynote speaker at next Sunday's homecoming to be sponsored at Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, by the Alice Lloyd Alumni Association. Dr. Hall is an alumnus of the college, Class of 1930.
 Registration will begin at 10 a.m. and alumni and guests will picnic on The Meadow from 12:15 to 1:30 p.m., this to be followed by student entertainment.
 Kermit Everage, alumni president, will preside during the homecoming program which will begin at 2 p.m. Alumni will be welcomed back to the campus by William Hayes, director of the college, June Buchanan, head of the Caney Creek Community Center, will speak briefly.
 Quentin Bogart and Claude Frady will report on old business to the former students. New business will include the election of officers and directors of the association.
 In addition to Mr. Everage, present alumni association officers are Boone Hall, vice-president, and Emma Lois Pigman, secretary-treasurer. Ed Madden is immediate past president.

Cooler weather causes insects such as cluster flies, boxelder bugs, ants, crickets, and spiders to look for a place to hibernate, says Richard L. Miller, UK Extension entomologist. Unfortunately, they may consider your home an ideal location and cause trouble throughout the winter.

Lexington, Ky.—You can expect a lot of unwelcome guests during the next few weeks—that is, a lot of insects will be trying to get in the house, and they'll probably succeed unless you do something to stop them, says R. L. Miller, UK Extension entomologist.

Insurance Firm Head Addresses Stockholders

Harris L. Wood, president of Teachers National Life Insurance Company, announced to company shareholders at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Sept. 10, that the firm has in a six-month period succeeded in breaking the first year sales record of a domestic life company in the state of Kentucky. The luncheon at which he spoke was attended by over 300 shareholders and guests.

Edward C. Music, president of Music-Colvin Motor Company, Prestonsburg, spoke at the shareholder luncheon. Music, who is also a director of Teachers National, spoke on the subject of a domestic life insurance company's favorable effect upon the state's economy. He pointed out that both the employment ratio and the amount of capital investment is far greater, per company in a domestic life company than in a foreign life company transacting business in the state.

Teachers National had written $15,500,000.00 in natural death and $7,250,000.00 in accidental death benefits for a combined total of $22,750,000.00. Wood stated, that based upon present production and economic trends, the life company expects to have $100 million of life insurance in force at the conclusion of its third year of operation.

"The hard-earned money of our people, is right now, serving to create jobs in other states, when jobs are desperately needed here. It is providing capital investment for other states, when that is needed here also," Music said.

Mayor George P. Archer, of Prestonsburg, spoke on the necessity of systematic saving on the part of individuals if they would be economically independent in their later years. Citing life insurance as one of the most modern and systematic means of saving for retirement age, he described this method of saving as "sound, disciplinary and profitable."

STRIP-MINE SPOIL BANK RECLAMATION IS PLANNED

Frankfort, Ky. — Reclamation of 2,000 acres of strip-mine spoil banks in two Eastern Kentucky counties is the goal of a pilot project started by the State Department of Natural Resources.

In co-operation with the Department of Economic Security, the conservation project is already under way and will eventually use some 80 unemployed fathers to do grading and drainage work in preparation for reclaiming land in Bell and Harlan counties next spring.

J. O. Matlick, Natural Resources commissioner, said his department's divisions of Forestry and Strip Mining Reclamation are working together to plan and supervise the work.

"The U. S. Soil Conservation Service is also co-operating by laying out approved drainage plans for the job," Matlick said, "and the landowners in the area are lending us heavy equipment for the necessary grading and drainage work."

The land being reclaimed consists of so-called "orphan banks"—those abandoned by strip-mine operators several years before strip-mine regulations went into effect—and land on which operators have forfeited bonds to the Department of Natural Resources.

Elmore Grim, director of the Strip Mining division, said the primary purpose of the project—other than to get the land reclaimed—is to gather cost information for use on future reclamation work.

"No one knows now how much it will cost to do a thorough job of reclamation," Grim stated. "We hope to come up with figures on labor, equipment and materials and arrive at a logical conclusion on the cost of reclamation per acre."

Grim hopes to use these figures as a basis for making plans to expand the pilot reclamation work into other counties in both Eastern and Western Kentucky. There are an estimated 20,000 acres in Eastern Kentucky and 30,000 acres in Western Kentucky of "orphan banks" or land on which bonds have been forfeited, he said.

The pilot project, with the exception of salaries paid to the unemployed father workers, is being financed by $18,000 in Federal funds matched by $18,000 in state funds, and by those operators' bonds which have been forfeited for failing to comply with reclamation regulations.

The unemployed fathers working on the project are interviewed and assigned to the job by the local offices of the State Department of Economic Security, and their salaries are paid by that department through federal funds allotted to a public assistance works and training program for unemployed fathers of families with dependent children.

Earle V. Powell, Economic Security commissioner, said the salaries vary according to the budgetary needs of the families but they average "roughly around $1 an hour." The maximum salary is $160 per month.

Powell pointed out that the new Economic Opportunities Act, passed by Congress and signed by President Lyndon B. Johnson last month, earmarks $150 million to the 50 states for use on works and training projects.

"Kentucky has requested a total of $12 million worth of projects from this fund," Powell said. "If these requests are approved, we should be able to expand the unemployed fathers program from the present nine counties to 39."

Such an expansion would also allow the strip mine division to enlarge its pilot reclamation project, Grim explained, by providing manpower to carry on the work.

Present plans call for the pilot program to run continuously through the spring planting season—a period of about 30 days beginning sometime after the last frost, Grim said.

The trees to be planted will be purchased from the three state seedling nurseries, at Kentucky Dam and Pennyville Forest in Western Kentucky and in Morgan county in Eastern Kentucky. Cost of the seedlings is $8 per thousand.

"We will lean heavily to Virginia, loblolly, short-leaf and white pines," Grim said, "with some hardwoods, including black locust, maple, sycamore and yellow poplar."

"We will also be planting grass and legumes before the tree-planting—sometime in December—to provide initial ground cover to help in quick stabilization of the spoil banks," he added.

Grim pointed out that the project will include reclamation of access roads to the mines, covering the open faces of coal, filling in auger holes and covering up reject coal and acid-producing material that causes pollution of streams and waters.

Herbie Johnson, reclamation forester stationed at Pineville, is in charge of the pilot project. Grim said Working under him will be a labor foreman in each of the two counties, and others who will be in charge of eight crews of 10 men each. The latter supervisors will come from the ranks of the unemployed fathers, he said.

PERSPECTIVE

By Robert J. Hastings

HOW'S YOUR EYESIGHT?

An electric eye that can see in four directions at once has been developed for use at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Alabama. It will be used for tracking stars and laser images.

Although some schoolboys think their teachers have eyes in the backs of their heads, most of us must settle for eyes that focus in one direction at a time. But for those who are alert and sensitive to life around them, there is plenty to see, one direction at a time.

We can see opportunities, where others see only gloom and defeat. We can see beauty, while others are preoccupied only with the ugly, the sordid, the repulsive. We can see needs, and discover ways to meet those needs out of our abundance. We can see truth, perceiving lies and half-truths and distortions for what they are. We can see ourselves—our potential as well as our limitations, our strong points as well as our weaknesses. We can see some good in the worst of others, while some are content to watch for the worst even in the best of men.

On one occasion, Jesus asked his listeners, "Having eyes, see ye not?" (Mark 8:18). He evidently felt they were blinded by prejudice and narrowness, which means that poor vision can not always be corrected with glasses. Sometimes the problem is deeper—a problem of attitude, of motive, of intent.

By the way, how is your eyesight today?

Today is '65 Pontiac Day.

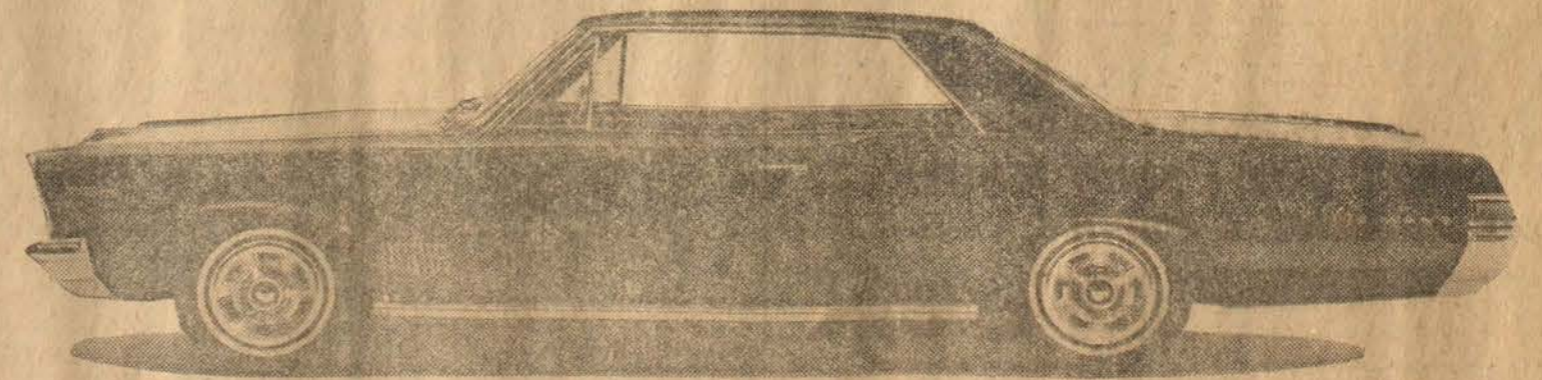

1965: The year of the Quick Wide-Tracks

What do we mean by "quick"? Just this: A new-all-over Pontiac offering a new Turbo Hydra-Matic—the silkiest, swiftest-shifting automatic transmission you ever touched a toe to; eager new Trophy V-8 power; new steering agility; a surer-footed Wide-Track ride. And a new Pontiac Tempest that's become even more of a Pontiac with new style, new length and Pontiac-quick reflexes to match. You never knew cars could be so beautiful, and so keenly alert to your touch. This is your year to drive a Wide-Track—quick!

'65 Pontiac Pontiac How does the success car outdo itself for 1965? Beautifully, just beautifully. But this Pontiac has no intention of getting by on looks alone, though it could. So there's new quickness, Pontiac style. A new nimbleness. New fuel savings. A smooth, easy new ride. Drive a '65 Pontiac and see how one success leads to another.

'65 Pontiac Tempest Tempest's even more of a Pontiac now, and what more could a car be than that! The '65 Tempest looks like a Pontiac, as you can see. Rides like a Pontiac on Wide-Track. Goes like a Pontiac, too: a 140-hp six is standard. Or you can get a quick V-8, up to 285 hp. You'll wonder how we can keep the price so low on so much car.

CONSIDER THE HAMMER

A lot of people could take a lesson from the hammer. A good one never loses its head and flies off the handle. It hits the nail on the head and drives it home. It looks on the other side and clinches the matter. It keeps pounding away till the job is done. It is the only knocker in the world that does constructive work.

Paul Daniels is the third accident victim and is in serious condition. Frank DeRossett, Jr., son of Circuit Court Clerk Frank DeRossett, was returning to Morehead Sunday afternoon and stopped at a Thealka drive-in. While he was inside, it was said, Daniels and a boy from Martin, both friends of DeRossett, drove away in his car. A few minutes later Daniels attempted to pass a truck and wrecked after hitting a soft shoulder in the road. This car was also totally wrecked.

Daniels' companion, said to be an Ison, was hurt but not seriously.

Both the DeRossett cars were owned by the B. & D. Motor Company at Allen.

Awarded Degree

Sally Lou Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Allen, of Willard, Kentucky, formerly of Eastern, was awarded a B.S. degree in home economics in dietetics curriculum from Berea College.

On September 2, Miss Allen completed a 12-month dietetic internship at Harper hospital, Detroit, Michigan, and she has accepted a position in the dietary department of the King's Daughters' hospital in Ashland.

existing colleges to the community college plan, Combs said. "Come hell or high water, the community colleges will be built."

On February 5, 1963, a Prestonsburg Community College scholarship fund was created.

But in April came word that the plans submitted by the architects were unacceptable, since the cost of the building envisioned by them would be too costly. To begin anew would consume too much time. Consequently, the plans already accepted for the Elizabethtown Junior College were adopted for the building here, and bids were asked.

On July 10 contract for construction of the college was awarded to the firm of Meade & Kendrick. An earth fill of approximately 100,000 cubic yards was made for the foundation to raise the structure above the high water mark.

On September 2, last year, ground was broken for the college. On September 3 this year—four weeks ago today—the Prestonsburg Community College opened its doors to students. And so goes the record—from dream to paper to reality. And now the dedication of the college next Tuesday morning at 11 a.m.

TWO SLATE TALKS HERE

Area School Board Members Set Meet; Blair Is Chairman

William Justice, Pikeville, member of the State Board of Education, and Mr. Gray, of the Tax Division of the State Board, will be the speakers at the Eastern Kentucky regional school board meeting at 6 p.m. October 5 at the Prestonsburg high school lunchroom, it was announced this week.

Mr. Gray will discuss the improvement of assessment practices, and Mr. Justice's topic will be, "The Relation of the State Board to the Local Board of Education."

Their talks will be followed by a panel discussion in which Mr. Justice, Sam Alexander, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, Cecil Sherman, member of the Johnson county board, and Sheldon Clark, Martin county superintendent, will participate.

Bill Blair, Floyd county board member, is chairman of the Eastern Kentucky region, and Floyd Superintendent Charles Clark is secretary. School systems to be represented at the meetings are those of Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Masoffin and Martin counties, and the Paintsville, Van Lear and Pikeville independent districts.

Troop To Take Part In Frontier Roundup

Garrett, Ky., Sept. 22—Garrett Boy Scout Troop No. 144 will hold a roll call and inspection Friday, September 25, at 7:30 p.m., in the basement of the Garrett Baptist Church as the official kickoff for the troop's part in the Frontier Roundup of the Lonesome Pine Council.

Other events planned by Troop 144 are participation in Uniform Day on September 30, October 31, November 30, December 13 and unit meeting nights, October 27 will be the official Council Uniform Day. Every Scout who has a uniform must participate in Uniform Day.

The Lonesome Pine Council will award the Honor Unit banner to each unit which qualifies, and also will present the Frontier Roundup Patch to all members and leaders of a unit earning the Honor Unit banner as well as to each boy recruiting a new boy, and to each new boy registered in the unit. It also will present the Recruiter Award to each Scout recruiting a new member—this in addition to the Frontier Roundup patch. A special certificate will be awarded to all unit leaders and assistants whose units qualify for the Honor Unit banner.

The Garrett troop is sponsored by the Garrett Baptist Church, the Rev. Rush Sloane, the pastor and institutional representative.

AN ABUNDANCE OF GAME IS SEEN FOR THIS SEASON

Frankfort, Ky. (Spl.) — An abundance of game is indicated for Kentucky hunters when they take to the fields for the feature attraction of Kentucky's small game season.

That's the opinion of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources after checking farmers, conservation officers and others who are in a position to know about the game fluctuations.

It is an established fact that more squirrels are being harvested than last year and the early indications are that the dove population is as great, if not greater, than for the preceding season. The Department knows that the deer herd is in good condition and with the opening of eight more counties more white-tails are expected to be harvested by a greater number of hunters.

Reports from the nesting grounds indicate a better supply of certain species of ducks, and the snow goose crop is better than it has been for several years. With these known facts about these species, the Department is confident that the hunter will be well-rewarded.

The status of the bobwhite quail and the cottontail rabbit, two species that are most popular in the small game category, was at least satisfactory at the end of the summer and with favorable weather the harvest of these two species may reach an all-time high for the past two years.

Almost without exception, farmers in most sections of Kentucky claim an increase in the rabbit population. They report a good survival of the early crops of bunnies and sighted small rabbits right up to the end of the summer. The same optimistic outlook for the quail is given also by these farmers, who report having seen some especially large coveys during the summer.

Conservation officers, too, are optimistic about the prospects for quail and rabbits, and from Eastern Kentucky come glowing reports on the ruffed grouse. The population of this fast flying bird has increased from year to year until the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission, upon recommendation of Commissioner Minor Clark, has increased the length of the season to the greatest number of days since the bird started its comeback. Grouse, which are found mostly in the Eastern Kentucky section, present one of the finest targets for the hunter and more and more nimrods are meeting the challenge that this mountain bird presents. The season this year opens on December 1 and continues through February 23 with a bag limit of four and a possession limit of eight.

The Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission debated about extending the length of the rabbit and quail season past the 60-day mark, but finally, in its August meeting, decided to hold the season to the 60 days. The season for these two species, and for furbearers, opens on November 19 and continues through January 17. The bag limit for rabbits is again eight per day with a possession limit of 16 after two or more days of hunting. For quail the hunter may take 10 per day or have in his possession 20 after two days of hunting. There are no limits on furbearers.

Hunters are finding plenty of squirrels, and the forecast of an increased population by Department biologists is being borne out. This healthy increase is attributed to a fine mast crop which occurred last year and which most usually means a good squirrel crop the following year. The eastern season opened on August 29 and continues through November 15; reopens on December 1 and continues through December 14. The western season opened August 15 and will continue through November 15.

Early reports from the dove hunters (the season opened on September 1) indicate a crop comparable to that of last year and with favorable weather more are expected to be harvested than for the previous year. The first part of the split season closes on October 30. The second season opens on December 1 and continues through December 10. With an anticipated increase in the population the Department of Interior and the Department increased the bag limit from 10 of last year to 12 and the possession limit to 24 after two or more days of hunting.

The gun deer season opens on November 25 and continues through November 29 in all 48 counties that were opened last year and for eight new counties a one-day season, November 28, has been set. These new counties are Green, Larue, McLean, Monroe, Todd, Ohio, Wayne and Whitley.

The archery season opens on October 15 and continues through November 15 in all counties opened to the gun season, plus Woodford and Anderson. Only one deer may be taken by a hunter in the archery and gun season combined and each hunter, in addition to a valid hunting license, must have a deer hunting permit, cost of which is $10.50.

The duck season opens on November 25 and continues through January 3, a total of 40 days which is five more than for the preceding season. In addition, due to a comeback in the canvas-back and redhead species, these birds have been included in the bag and possession limits. The bag limit of four may include not more than two mallards; two wood ducks and two canvasbacks or redheads or one of each of the latter two species. In the possession limit of eight there may be not more than two wood ducks; four mallards; two canvasbacks or redheads. The bag and possession limits may consist totally of black ducks.

The Kentucky goose season opens on November 7 and continues through January 15 with a bag and possession limit of five which limits may not include more than two Canadas or two whitefronted or one Canada or subspecies and one whitefronted. Sunrise to sunset hunting will be permitted for both ducks and geese.

For the Ballard County Wildlife Management Area the duck season opens on December 1 and continues through January 3, while the goose season opens on December 1 and continues through January 15. The statewide bag and possession limits apply to the management area but only morning hunting will be permitted.

"Book of Job" Completes Engagement At Fair; Overseas Tour Slated

The famous drama, "The Book of Job," has just completed its engagement of 14 performances at the New York World's Fair.

The play is being presented this week in Montreal, Canada, from where the cast will be flown to Europe. After three weeks in Europe, "The Book of Job" will jet to South Africa where the production will be presented in the major cities through the first of January.

A new play from Belgium, "Reynard the Fox," designed and produced by Orlin and Irene Corey, will accompany "Job" on the South African tour and will be presented on alternate nights.

According to General Manager Preston Slusher, "Reynard the Fox" is available for an outdoor theatre for next summer and three locations in Kentucky are now being considered. "The Book of Job" is scheduled to be presented for the seventh season next July and August at Pine Mountain State Park Amphitheatre, Pineville, Kentucky.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Willie Collins, of Grethel, announces the engagement of her daughter, Irene Saunders, to Mr. Kenneth F. Transeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Transeau, Williamsport, Pennsylvania. Miss Saunders is the daughter of the late James Saunders. The bride-elect is a graduate of Betsy Layne high school and the Appalachian Bible Institute, Bradley, West Virginia.

Mr. Transeau is a graduate from South Williamsport high in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and attended Prairie Bible Institute in Alberta, Canada.

The wedding will be an event of October 17 at Memorial Baptist Church, Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

The couple will enter the new Tribes Missionary Training Institute, Jersey Shore, Pennsylvania, in January to train further for foreign missionary service.

Meet one of America's most versatile businessmen—your Phillips 66 dealer!

When you stop to think about it, a man has to have a remarkable combination of qualities to give the first-class service you get at a Phillips 66 station. In fact, as you can see below, your Phillips dealer really needs to be five men in one!

Mechanic—Your Phillips dealer has to know cars inside and out. He has to have a natural skill with tools and machines. He has to have a knack of seeing what's needed the minute he lifts your hood. He must be able to spot trouble before it happens!

Businessman—Your Phillips dealer is an independent businessman. He has to run his own business, keep the books, manage his staff. He actually operates an automotive store, selling not only gasolines and oils, but tires, batteries, spark plugs—you name it.

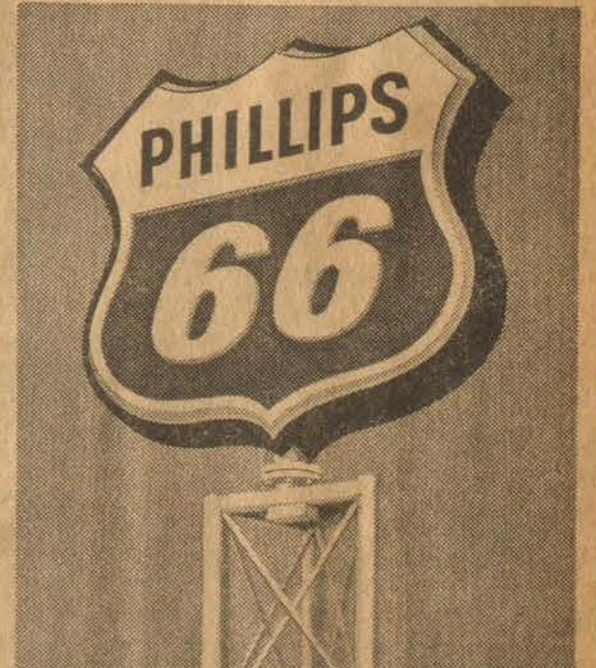

Night and day worker—Few men in any line of business put in longer hours than your Phillips 66 dealer. He's often on the job from dawn to dark to be sure you get first-class service. Saturdays and holidays are usually working days at your Phillips 66 station.

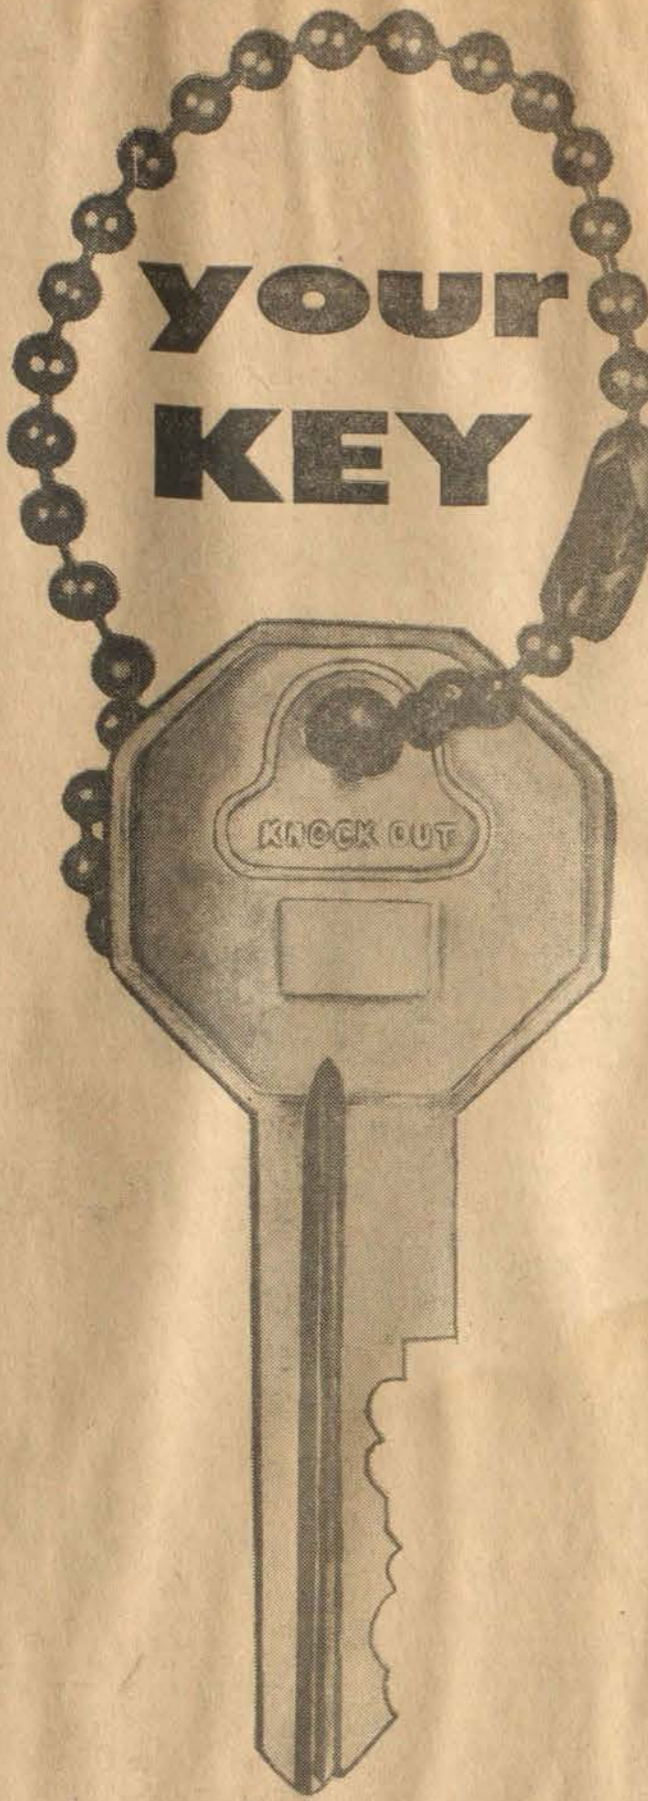

Community man—You'd be surprised how many Phillips 66 dealers find time to work on community projects, to help with things like the volunteer fire department, the Boy Scouts, or the Red Cross. You could say his service to the community never really ends.

Public relations man—To be a successful Phillips dealer, a man has to be cheerful, courteous and prompt. He has to have a gift for dealing with people—a gift for making friends as well. That's why so many motorists stop at Phillips 66—even away from home.

See your Phillips 66 dealer soon. You'll find he not only offers you first-class service and first-class products... but he's a first-class guy himself! And remember that now in 47 states you can... Go first-class... go Phillips 66! (It costs no more.)

FIRE LOOKOUTS MAN KEY FOREST TOWERS

Frankfort, Ky. — Forest fire lookouts manned their towers a month ahead of schedule in mid-September as dry weather and high winds across the state caused mounting fire danger.

State Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlick said the key towers in each county were manned and the secondary posts will be filled soon.

Kentucky's fall forest fire season normally does not begin until October 1, and the lookouts generally take their posts around October 15.

Weather stations in each forestry division district, however, turned in readings indicating an early "build-up index" of nearly a hundred, Maynard Marcum, fire control officer in the Forestry division, said the index is normally around 35 to 50 in September.

The build-up index refers to the amount of moisture in the air and in the ground that indicates how deeply a fire will burn and how fast it will spread above ground—determining in part how fast it can be put out.

"The real danger period will come when we have our first frost. Conditions are dangerous now for this time of year, but as long as the leaves are still on the trees they are not critical," Marcum said.

"Unless we have some rain before we get cold weather, our forests will be in real trouble," he stated.

Commissioner Matlick issued an urgent appeal to all motorists, hunters and others to take note of the danger signals and be careful in and around woodlands with fires, cigarettes and matches.

"The Forestry division has completed all of its pre-suppression work," Matlick said, "and

WORSHIP GOD

(Apoc. 19:10; 22:9)
 This is a material, unspiritual, mechanical, and ungodly age. Men have made gods of themselves. Hitherto the world has had rafters and a roof; now it has none, and whirling wings are all affluter. Man has subdued the air, earth, and water at God's command (Gen. 1:23). What lacks he yet? He lacks his deceitful and desperately wicked heart; he has sought out many sinful inventions, tho' his Creator made him upright (Eccles. 7:29; Lk. 18:19). Although he boasts of being the captain of his soul, and the master of his fate, he is so much a beast that he cannot know himself to be one until God teaches him. (Eccles. 3:13, 21). Read the whole 9th chapter of the Acts of the APOSTLES, and see for yourself how the Proud, self-righteous and Rabid LAW-teacher, Paul, was converted from his beastly nature to CHRIST. Furthermore, read the 3rd and 4th chapters of Daniel and see what a great and wonderful change was wrought in the furiously self-righteous Nebuchadnezzar's heart by and through the UNMERITED favor, and the free Spirit of God. No creature ever razed God's image out of its nature, but only man. There is no such depravation in the Nature of any creature except in the diabolical nature.

Of all the creatures God has made There is but man alone. That stands in need to be arrayed In coverings not his own. The brutes obey their god, And bow their necks to men. But we, more base, more brutish things, Reject his easy, easy reign. By nature; bears, bulls, and swine, With fowls of every wing, Are much more warm, more safe, more fine, Than man their fallen king.

Hitherto the world has had laws teaching what is right, morally; now it has none, as it were, but brute force is replacing "Reason" EVERYWHERE as the arbiter of man's affairs. Hitherto we have had Judgment, Justice, Mercy, TRUTH and Equity, but "now" TRUTH has fallen in the street; Mercy has long since fled the earth; men have no patience with talk about FAITH in God. Preaching that does not make much of man is now despised and rejected. Man has become his own providence and god. Man himself is his greatest problem! Judgment is turned away backward; Justice standeth afar off; Dishonesty reigns; the joints of society are loosened; the foundations are out of course, and equity cannot enter. Man has made man his god, and JEHOVAH is dethroned in his thoughts. The Anti-Christ of the NEW TESTAMENT (2 Thess. 2:4) who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped, is "now" showing himself that he is God. The days of Noah have come again! The earth is filled with violence, and the wickedness of man is great in the earth, and every imagination of the thoughts of his heart is only evil continually. And NOW, as never before, the Anti-Christ is using the ether and skyways to disseminate his INFERNAL ERRORS. LISTEN to what, (CANDID reader, LISTEN attentively!), some of these CONVERTED (former priests) of the ROMAN CATHOLIC Church have to say about POPEDOM. I. J. A. Giguere, 9331 Chambard St., Montreal, Canada (church address), says: "I had been brought up with the conviction that outside the Roman Catholic Church there is no salvation. I had been taught that the Bible is a PROTESTANT book, and therefore not a safe guide to salvation. SALVATION by works is the most deadly principle in the Roman Catholic teaching. The BOOK OF THE LORD teaches (Eph. 2:8, 9, 10) "BY GRACE you have been saved through Faith; and that NOT FROM YOURSELVES, FOR IT IS THE GIFT OF GOD; NOT AS THE OUTCOME OF WORKS. LEST ANYONE BOAST, FOR HIS WORKMANSHIP WE ARE, CREATED IN CHRIST JESUS IN GOOD WORKS, WHICH GOD HAS READY BEFOREHAND THAT WE MAY WALK IN HIM."

But the Roman Catholic Church teaches the OPPOSITE, that men can be saved through their own works of PENANCE, self-denial, and observance of the many man-made laws of the Church. It "reverses," to the nth degree, the TEACHING OF CHRIST (and the APOSTLES) when HE says, "I AM THE WINE and Ye are the BRANCHES" (John 15:5). This means that we draw life out of Him alone, and because of this connection with Him through faith, we bear much fruit, that is GOOD WORKS. But according to the teaching of the CHURCH OF ROME, the fruit or GOOD WORKS gives life to the faithful. But HOW could the fruit of the tree give life to its branches? Although the church of Rome PROFESSES to teach that Jesus CHRIST died to save sinners, it does not believe that is sufficient. They teach UNCERTAINTY of Salvation!!! It teaches that the sinner must still earn his own salvation. And the best he can hope for, even after his sins are "pardoned by the priest" is that he will go to PURGATORY (A place and name invented in the Eleventh Century) when he dies. He must live in perpetual fear and trembling that he may not be fully pardoned for his sins in "confession." THIS IS THE REASON Roman Catholics are urged to pay money to have "masses" said for souls AFTER they die."

2. Reverend J. J. Murphy, Associate Editor of the CONVERTED CATHOLIC magazine (another converted Catholic Priest) saying in "The ROAD FROM ROME."
 "The final reason for my turning away from the ROMAN CATHOLIC Church was the barrier it places between the soul and God. It makes salvation to DEPEND upon such arbitrary rulings as the one which allows two ounces of meat to be eaten with immunity on Fridays, but condemns the eating of more than two ounces as a grievous sin for which the offender will suffer in hell for all eternity UNLESS he "confesses" to a PRIEST, and obtains pardon from him BEFORE he dies."

3. Reverend L. H. Lehman, Editor-in-Chief of the CONVERTED CATHOLIC MAGAZINE, 229 West 43rd Street, New York 19, New York, says the following Profession of Faith in the Papal Church "Must" be "sworn" to by all PROTESTANT Converts to ROME:
 "IN. N., having before me the holy Gospels, which I touch with my hand, and knowing that no one can be saved without that faith which the Holy Catholic Apostolic Roman Church holds, believes, and teaches, against which I grieve that I have greatly erred. Inasmuch as I have held and believed doctrine opposed to her teaching; I NOW, with sorrow and contrition for my past errors, PROFESS that I believe the Holy CATHOLIC APOSTOLIC Roman Church to be the 'only' and 'true' Church established on earth by Jesus CHRIST, to which I submit myself with my whole soul. I believe all the articles of faith that she proposes to my belief, and I REJECT and CONDEMN all that she rejects and condemns, and I am ready to observe all she commands me. I believe in PURGATORY . . . in the Primacy, not only of honor but of jurisdiction, of the Roman Pontiff, successor of St. Peter, Prince of the APOSTLES, Vicar of Jesus CHRIST. I believe in the VENERATION of the Saints AND THEIR IMAGES. AND I believe in EVERYTHING else that has been defined and declared by the sacred canons and by the general councils, and particularly — by the council of the VATICAN, especially concerning the Primacy of the Roman Pontiff, and his 'infallible' teaching authority. With a sincere heart, THEREFORE, and with unfeigned faith, I DETEST and ADJURE every error, heresy, and SECT OPPOSED to the said Holy, Catholic, and APOSTOLIC Roman Church. So HELP ME GOD, and these His holy Gospels, which I touch with my hand."

POOR ADAM-ridden sinner, awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead; awake to righteousness; the night is far spent, and the day is at hand. Beware of the Scribes, who like to walk about in LONG Robes and to be greeted in the market place, and to have the FRONT seats in the synagogues and the FIRST places at suppers; who devour the houses of the widows, making PRETENSE of LONG prayers. THESE SHALL receive a heavier sentence (Mk. 12:33, 40). (Douay version) WORSHIP GOD! Beware of men! Listen to the Sweet Singer of Israel, (Ps. 33:6): "Behold thou hast made my days measurable; and my substance is as nothing before Thee. And indeed all things are VANITY; EVERY MAN LIVING." There is NOT a JUST man upon earth that doeth good and sinneth NOT. (Eccles.), Up! worldly wise man from UP! to GOLGOTHA, WORSHIP GOD (Apoc. 19:10; 22:9).

"LOOK away to Jesus! LOOK away from all! Then we need not stumble. Then we shall not fall."
 "From each snare that lures, Foe or phantom grim, SAFETY this ensueth, LOOK AWAY TO HIM!"

I am FULLY PERSUADED by what I have seen, (beginning in 1939), that the great hour hand on the dial of "time" has almost moved around. This is a day of trouble and of rebuke and blasphemy (Isa. 37:3). Yes, in this day of grief and desperate sorrow (Isa. 17:11) DELUSION supplies the place of the POWER and of the Spirit of the gospel. DEAD orthodoxy is the most subtle enemy which we have to watch and SHUN in these PERILOUS times. Dear Christian friends, let us cease from REBELLION and going DOWN INTO EGYPT, and TRUSTING in the STRENGTH of Pharaoh (Isa. 30:2). Away with those who decree UNRIGHTeous DECREES to turn aside the NEEDED by JUDGMENT, and to take away the Right of the POOR of MY PEOPLE (Isa. 10:1, 2), that widows may be their prey, and that they may ROB the FATHERLESS. Beware of men! the best of men are men at best. "Cease ye from man whose breath is in his nostrils" (Isa. 2:22). Worship God! (Apoc. 19:10; 22:9). PLEAD constantly, and LEAN with all your weight upon these ABSOLUTE PROMISES of God: "And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I WILL ANSWER; and while they are yet speaking, I WILL HEAR" (Isa. 65:24). "I WILL NEVER Leave Thee nor forsake thee" (Heb. 13:5).

"Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will save My people from the East country, and from the West country; And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem; and they shall be My people, and I will be their God, in truth and Righteousness." (Zech. 8:7, 8) "And ALL thy children SHALL be taught of the Lord; and great shall be the Peace of thy children" (Isa. 54:13). "And she (MARY) shall bring forth a SON, and thou shalt call His NAME JESUS; for He shall SAVE HIS people from their sins" (Matt. 1:21). "And we KNOW that ALL THINGS work together for GOOD to them that love GOD, to whom who are the CALLED according to His PURPOSE. FOR whom He did foreknow, He ALSO did Predestinate to be conformed to the IMAGE OF HIS SON, that He might be the first born among many brethren" (Rom. 8:28, 29). "To HIM the porter openeth; and the sheep hear His voice; and HE calleth His own sheep by Name, and leadeth them out. I am the good Shepherd, and KNOW MY Sheep, and am KNOWN of Mine, and I lay down MY Life FOR THE SHEEP" (Jn. 10:3, 14, 15). "I pray NOT for the world, but FOR THEM which THOU hast GIVEN ME; for they are THINE" (John 17:9). He shall cry unto me, "Thou art my father my God, and the rock of my salvation. ALSO I will make him my first born, higher than the kings of the earth. MY mercy will I keep for him for EVER-MORE, and my COVENANT shall stand fast with him. His seed also will I make to ENDURE FOREVER, and His throne as the days of heaven. If his children FORSAKE MY LAW, and walk NOT IN MY Judgments; If they break my statutes, and keep NOT my commandments; Then will I visit their transgressions with the rod, and their iniquity with stripes. NEVER-THELESS MY loving kindness will I NOT TAKE FROM him, NOR SUPPER my FAITHFULNESS TO FAIL MY COVENANT; will I NOT BREAK, NOR ALTER the things that is gone out of MY mouth." (Ps. 89:28-34). Dear CHRISTIAN friends, Have faith in God!!! LEGALISM will impart its IFS, but the Lord slays them as fast as they rise. ETERNAL SHALLS AND WILLS make glorious havoc among the IFS and BUTS. "God is not a man, that He should lie; neither the son of man, that he should repent; hath he spoken, and shall he not do it? Or hath he spoken, and shall he not make it good?" (NUMBERS 23:19). For I am the Lord, I change not; therefore ye sons of Jacob are not consumed" (Mal. 3:6). "In hope of Eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, Promised before the world began" (Titus 1:2). "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from ABOVE, and Cometh DOWN from the FATHER of lights, with whom is NO VARIABleness, neither shadow of Turning" (James 1:17).

ALL the great REVOLUTIONS and world-shaking events now coming in this VAIN world are but the turning of the wheels of PROVIDENCE Making ready for His coming again, personally, to gather His jewels Home to Himself; "They which are written in the LAMB'S book of life" (Rev. 21:27; Apoc. 21:27). "AND Whosoever was not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the Lake of Fire or pool of fire Apoc. (Rev. 20:15). Apoc. 17:8; 13:3. Please read this Scripture attentively: "The beast that thou sawest was, and is not, and is about to come up from the abyss, and will go to destruction. And the inhabitants of the earth—whose NAMES HAVE NOT BEEN WRITTEN in the Book of Life FROM THE FOUNDATION OF THE WORLD—will wonder when they see the beast which was, and is NOT" (Apoc. 17:8). Beware of scoffers who say, "Where is the 'PROMISE' of His coming?" If men brand you as an Alarmist or Pessimist, care not for it. The Prophets of the Lord who have spoken in His NAME have borne SCORN and HATRED in every age of this PROUD AND UNBELIEVING world; yet they ENDURED as seeing Him who is invisible (Heb. 11:27).

Announcement:

Ford Motor Company introduces an entirely new kind of Mercury for 1965... now in the Lincoln Continental tradition

We predict that many people seeing a 1965 Mercury for the first time will wonder: "What car is that?" Mercury is that new. The look is new. Completely. Low, sleek, beautifully proportioned. (Notice the long, low proportions of the hood, the full-width grille, the unique front pillar lights.) The ride is new. It's smoother, solidier, quieter. Inside, there's a wide selection of options for personal customizing—luxury features once reserved only for the most expensive cars. The idea behind all this newness is to bring you the most luxurious, best-riding car in its field... a Mercury that reflects the Lincoln Continental tradition. See how well the idea works—at your Mercury dealer's. No medium-price automobile has ever come so near in luxury to the high-price class.

MEDICAL AUXILIARY HOLDS FALL MEETING

The Johnson-Floyd-Magoffin County Medical Auxiliary held its first fall luncheon meeting at the Starfire Motel, Paintsville, September 10. Those attending were: Mrs. A. B. Carter, Mrs. P. B. Hall, Mrs. R. A. Hall, Mrs. Jerry Fraim, and Mrs. Lon C. Hall, all of Paintsville; Mrs. George P. Archer and Mrs. James D. Adams, of Prestonsburg. New members attending were: Mrs. E. E. Archer, of Paintsville, Mrs. William O. Goebel and Mrs. E. R. Burke, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. M. M. Collins, of Lackey.

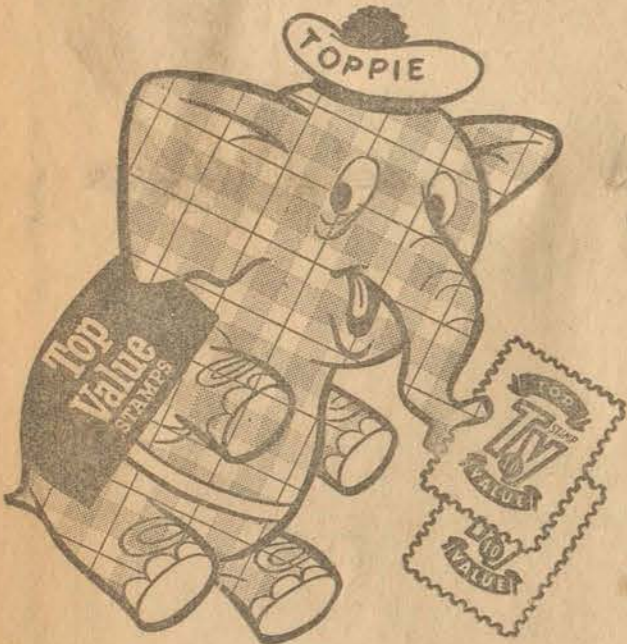

Mrs. Carter opened the meeting by asking Mrs. James D. Adams, secretary, to read minutes of the past meeting, and Mrs. Carter tendered a report by the treasurer.

Mrs. George Archer, Prestonsburg, introduced the new members and welcomed them. Mrs. Archer stated that all wives, mothers and sisters of doctors who are in good standing with the Kentucky State Medical Association are eligible for membership in the Tri-County Medical Auxiliary.

The next meeting will be at 12:30 p.m. at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, October 8.

Teen-age girls and boys are invited to join a 4-H Club during National 4-H Club Week, September 27-October 3.

4-H boys and girls participate in a wide variety of activities suitable to both city and country living.

Your average rate per unit of electricity becomes lower and lower as you increase your use of it!

How to get your electricity for less and less

The more work electricity does for you, the more you benefit from our "quantity" rates!

Stores offer many "large economy-size" packages at lower cost per pound. Electric rates are figured this way, too. As your use of electricity goes up, your average cost per unit goes down, in progressive steps.

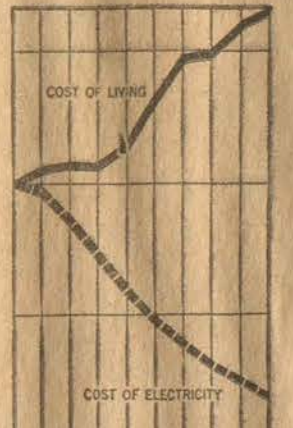

You can enjoy "quantity" rates while working toward the ideal Total Electric home. When you buy an appliance... a water heater, a clothes dryer, a range, or a heating system... make sure it is electric. The more use you make of flameless, clean, convenient electricity, the lower your average cost becomes!

Free booklet gives details Sooner Than You Think shows what steps you should take to get low "quantity" rates. Phone for it, stop in, or mail the coupon.

AEP SYSTEM 7-STATE HIGH-VOLTAGE TRANSMISSION GRID

All of our electric power generating plants are interconnected and we have interconnections with neighboring systems as well. We send power to areas that need it. They ship current back to us when we need it. We pass the savings along to you in the form of the lowest rates in our history!

Our rates were never so low. This chart shows how the average cost per kilowatt hour of electricity has been lowered 18% in the past 10 years. We're dedicated to continue this trend. As a comparison, the cost of living has risen 14% in the same period.

KENTUCKY POWER COMPANY is a part of the American Electric Power System. This system produces more electricity than any other investor-owned utility in the United States. It serves over 2300 communities in 7 states--Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee. Through coordinated management and operations, progressive engineering and research, the six member companies of AEP bring you low-cost power with greatest dependability.

Near 50% Compliance With Junkyard Law Reported by Ward

Almost half of Kentucky's junkyard dealers have submitted applications for permits in compliance with the state's screening law, Highway Commissioner Henry Ward announced last week.

Ward released figures which showed that 44 applications for permits were received during August, thus bringing to 415 the total number of applications received by the Department's Office of Compliance.

There are presently 999 junkyards in operation in Kentucky, and this figure is expected to decrease as District Office personnel inspect premises. Plans for screening are submitted with applications, and a permit is issued only after the junkyard operators have erected suitable screens.

Ward said that 51 permits were issued during the period August 12-September 11, upping the total number of permits issued to 119. The Office of Compliance undertook enforcement of the screening law on July 1.

CLUB HAS BUSINESS MEETING

The Laekey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met last Monday evening at the clubhouse. Plans for the coming K.F.W.C. fall conference and the Seventh district convention, both to be held at Jenny Wiley State Park, were discussed. Mrs. Earl Castle and Mrs. Ellen Hornsby were appointed delegates to the convention, and Mrs. Charles Scott and Mrs. Glenn Pack as alternates.

The president, Mrs. J. C. Wells, read a letter reporting that $10,000 was made last year by Kentucky clubwomen on the sale of note cards. The club decided to sell them again this year to help finance the K.F.W.C. 1964 project to construct a Congressional Medal of Honor Memorial at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Wells also read an invitation from the Drift Woman's Club to attend an inter-club meeting at a date to be disclosed later.

A letter of recommendation for the Bentley garage collection was read and approved. A discussion was held to decide on the club's community project for this year, and geratology was selected. An invitation to Matwona's Flower Show was read. The Scottish Rite dinner, which the club will cook and serve was planned. Eleven members were present.

ATTEND PRICHARD RITES

Among those attending the funeral, Sept. 15, of Mrs. C. L. Prichard at Harold were Mrs. W. L. Hinchman, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Hatcher and Myrtle Small, of Huntington, W. Va.; Mrs. Grace Perdue, Ceredo, W. Va.; Harold Hatcher, Columbus, O.; Mrs. Eva Flannery, Judge and Mrs. Watt M. Prichard all of Ashland.

Applicants must have had real estate closing experience and be members in good standing of the bar of a state, territory or the District of Columbia. Full details regarding filing applications may be obtained from Mrs. Ross, Room 4005, Personnel Office, 502 Eighth Street, Huntington, West Virginia.

Woman's Club Group To Offer Courses

After every election, the League of Women Voters of Kentucky receives many complaints from voters regarding violations at the polls, according to Mrs. Thomas B. Stroup, Lexington, State League president. "The League believes that most precinct officers and voters want to comply with the law and that violations are frequently due to misunderstanding and lack of information," Mrs. Stroup said.

Some of the basic provisions of Kentucky election laws are:

1. To vote, a person must be registered in the precinct in which he lives.
 2. On entering the polling place, each voter must sign his name in the Comparative Signature Book and enter the voting booth alone.
 3. No assistance shall be given in the booth unless the voter states under oath that he is blind, disabled or illiterate.
 4. No electioneering, including handing out campaign material and soliciting votes is allowed inside the polls nor within 50 feet of the polling place.
 5. No persons allowed in polling places except election officers, challengers and voters.
 6. A voter's eligibility to vote may be challenged at the polls by a challenger. A challenged voter may sign affidavit of eligibility.
 7. No voter shall be bribed, intimidated, threatened or coerced.
- If irregularities occur, they should be called to the attention of the precinct sheriff. Mrs. Stroup said, adding that the county sheriff and election commissioners should be notified if there is need for further action.
- "If voters are familiar with these basic provisions of the law, then each person's vote will be protected and the burden of precinct officers charged with the responsibility of conducting elections will be eased," Mrs. Stroup said.

The League of Women Voters of Kentucky is a non-partisan organization whose aim is to encourage citizen interest and participation in government.

Olivia Wiley, 14, Floyd county, was named state champion in 4-H girls' agricultural engineering demonstrations during the Kentucky State Fair with a demonstration on "How To Sand Wood." She had earlier been chosen county and sub-district winner in 4-H girls' agricultural engineering demonstrations to become eligible for state competition. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wiley, Betsy Layne, she has been a 4-H member for five years.

Fonzo Akers, 15, of the Betsy Layne 4-H Club, was a first-prize winner at the State Fair in Louisville recently in the division of agriculture economics on keeping farm records. He is a sophomore at Betsy Layne high school and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Akers, of Grethel.

SHOWDOWN GAME SLATED FOR REGION AT BELFRY

The "show-down" for the Region 4, Class AA, District 2 high school football race will come this week-end as the leader and favorite, the Hazard Bulldogs, move into Belfry.

Jack Carey's Bulldogs took another step toward the crown last week-end as they nipped the Whitesburg Yellowjackets for their third regional triumph. The victory margin surprised many area fans as Hazard was supposed to romp at will, but the 21-20 win indicates that Gardner Bates' Yellowjackets are rapidly improving.

Pikeville's Panthers moved atop the Class A, Region 3, District 2 standings in belting Catlettsburg, 27-6. Jenkins posted its second regional win with a 20-0 conquest of Prestonsburg, and Elkhorn City raced to its fourth consecutive win in pasting M. C. Napier, 54-12.

Fleming-Neon entered the win column for the first time with a 12-0 triumph over Morgan County. Belfry and Welch, West Virginia battled to a 14-14 deadlock, and Paintsville tasted its first victory by overpowering Wheelwright, 41-0.

Catlettsburg took the opening kickoff and marched to the Pikeville three-yard stripe, but a fumble killed the drive and the Panthers came roaring back downfield with halfback Neil Smith running 39 yards for the game's first score. Barry Runyon ran the point after.

Two minutes before halftime, Runyon tallied from four yards out and added the extra point for a 14-0 halftime command. Runyon added another six-pointer in the third period, and Kenny Trivette scored the Panthers' fourth touchdown in the fourth period on a nine-yard run. The losers' lone touchdown came in the last 20 seconds when Jim Lambert sped 17 yards.

Senior halfback Leonard Meek, quarterback Marty Takaos and Walter Davis each scored two touchdowns as the Paintsville Tigers walloped Wheelwright, 41-0. Walter Brugh's Johnson countians built up a 27-0 halftime margin and coasted for two final markers in the last half. The Tigers outgained the visitors, 236 yards to 49 on the ground, and 81-2 via the air. Wheelwright mustered only four first downs and never passed beyond the Paintsville 25-yard line.

Halfback Roger Hall scored two touchdowns in the first half and Jimmy Mullins another in the third period as Jenkins downed Prestonsburg, 20-0, for the Cavaliers' third victory against an opening loss.

Cookbooks Available November 30

We will receive a limited printing of our cookbooks, "What's Cooking in Kentucky," November 30 or soon thereafter. We are taking advance orders and they will be filled before any others are sold. The cookbook will contain 700 recipes, gathered from Kentucky cooks living in both Kentucky and other states, with the exception of 10 to 15 recipes. It will contain two of Mrs. Edward Brethitt's favorite recipes, two of Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's, three of Mrs. John F. Kennedy's, Abigail (Dear Abby) Van Buren's pecan pie, and Luci Baines Johnson's brownies, among others. It has a 12-point cover instead of the usual 10. It will have sectional tab dividers, followed by an index of each section. It will have a plastic binder and open flat. The price is $2.50 (plus 35¢ if mailed). If you live in Floyd county, we can give the name of the place nearest you where you can pick up your cookbook, when we send your receipt. Please do not send cash. Mail your check or money order, payable to: Chairman, Cookbook Committee, Box 138, Hueysville, Ky. If you want to reserve one or more copies from the first printing, as soon as cookbooks can be distributed to each place, the names will be printed in the Floyd County Times of the various places over the county where they may be picked up by the ones who placed advanced orders.

REGIONAL PLAYOFFS

The Pikeville Panthers and the Elkhorn City Cougars, who meet in Elkhorn City, October 16, are the current leaders in their respective districts in the K.H.S.A.A. football playoffs. Both are in Class "A", Region 3, District 2, which also includes Morgan County, Fleming-Neon and Paintsville from this area.

Gene Davis' Panthers made a big stride toward the championship over the past week-end when they stopped Catlettsburg, 27-6, for their second regional win. Paintsville, 0-0 in regional action, travels to Catlettsburg this week-end. Elkhorn City has whipped Ludlow for its lone regional conquest, but is a heavy favorite to add its second this Friday when Fleming-Neon comes to town.

Pikeville's Friday meeting with Prestonsburg is a non-regional game, since both are in different classes.

In the nine-team Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference, Pikeville, Hazard and Elkhorn City are all tied for first place with identical 2-0 records.

PRESTONSBURG, KY.

HOSPITALS TO SEEK $1.5 MILLION GRANT

Lexington, Ky. — Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc., will ask the federal government soon for a $1.5 million grant under the Appalachian Redevelopment Program.

The money is needed to put the hospital chain on a break-even basis, according to A.R.H. president Dr. Karl S. Klicka.

Dr. Klicka proposed to divide the grant on these lines:

- $700,000 to repay a one-year loan from the United Mine Workers Union. The union built the 10 hospitals in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia.
- $191,321 to erase a deficit incurred last fiscal year in operating five of the six Kentucky hospitals. A.R.H. took over the last five facilities only two months ago.

3. $608,679 to "strengthen our operating position and meet other requirements."

Dr. Klicka predicted the hospitals would be in the black by the end of this fiscal year if occupancy levels can be brought up to normal. (At least two — Pikeville and McDowell — averaged only slightly better than 50 percent occupancy last year.)

"We have in mind that this would be a nonrecurring grant request, designed primarily to provide operating capital for the five hospitals just added."

Once these debts are paid, Dr. Klicka said, the hospitals can pay their own way with "income from operations supplemented by contributions from foundations and private industry."

A continuing deficit, on the other hand, would mean closing the hospitals that are losing the most money. Dr. Klicka declined to say which hospitals this would be if closing became necessary.

Financial problems forced a cutback of personnel recently throughout the hospital system. A.R.H.'s later proposal to cut wages, opposed by the U.M.W., will be heard by a federal arbitrator, October 6.

Jay G. Coberly, A.R.H. vice-president, told the conference the chain lost $191,321 in fiscal 1963-1964 operating the Harlan, Middlesboro, Whitesburg, Hazard and McDowell hospitals.

On July 1, A.R.H. acquired the remaining hospitals, at Pikeville, Wise, Virginia, and Beckley, Man and Williamson, in West Virginia.

A.R.H. showed a paper profit of $98,900 after operating all 10 hospitals from July 1 through August 31, Coberly said. However, the chain has not been billed for about $100,000 to $125,000 worth of supplies, "which would result in a loss of $12,000 to $37,000."

"Our serious problems appear to be in two areas," Coberly continued.

"First, the operation of the Williamson, Whitesburg, Harlan, Pikeville and Hazard hospitals needs to be given careful study since it is in these five hospitals that we have our greatest loss."

"Secondly, we must correct the shortage of working capital created by the normal delay experienced in payment of our accounts receivable."

Patients owed $774,654 as of June 30. Since adding the other five hospitals, the total has risen to $1,526,320. Dr. Klicka said it probably would level off at about $1,750,000.

A basic problem, Dr. Klicka said, is that A.R.H. began operations last year without sufficient working capital to cover such items as accounts receivable until they are paid.

The federal grant, if received, would alleviate this situation considerably. A.R.H. could repay the union's loan, wipe out the deficit, and have more than $600,000 left over.

"Our hospitals currently are operating on a break-even basis. But we know that our accounts receivable will increase, and we have to have operating capital in order to cover this."

The hospitals have one other loan outstanding, a long-term $750,000 loan from Kentucky Central Insurance Companies, Lexington.

NESBITT FAMILY

A letter from Thomas M. Nesbitt, 5910 Harding Avenue, Sciotoville, Ohio, is an inquiry on his Nesbitt family forbears in this area.

He writes: "I am the son of Martin Nesbitt. He was the son of William Nesbitt. He was from the Johns Creek section. William Nesbitt was the son of John Nesbitt, of Allen, who married John Graham's daughter, John Graham is my great-grandfather."

My grandmother Nesbitt was Morgan Clark's daughter. The Clarks were early settlers in Floyd county, Sam (Samuel?) Clark was my grandmother Nesbitt's brother. My mother is Erin Wells' daughter from Boons Camp, Johnson county."

Mr. Nesbitt is interested in the Nesbitt and Clark families and readers are invited to correspond with him.

A GRAVE REWARD In Joe Creason's column, Courier-Journal, July 9, there appeared an item that intrigues interest. He calls the story, A Grave Reward.

Creason's two-paragraph story follows: "There's a $2,500 reward being offered anyone in Kentucky who can furnish the whereabouts of one Daniel Pope Cook. Now the reward for locating Cook isn't one of those 'dead or alive' incentives; as a matter of fact, he's been dead for perhaps 130 years, and the reward is merely for finding his grave, which is believed to be somewhere in Bourbon, Scott or Woodford counties."

The Cook county, Illinois, Historical Society is offering the reward. It wants to find the burial plot of the man for whom the county (Chicago) was named in order to erect a $5,000 monument at the site, Cook, who was born in Scott county, moved to the Illinois Territory as a young man, studied law there under Ninian Edwards, went into politics and was a leader in making Illinois a state. Sick with tuberculosis, he returned to Kentucky in the 1830's, died and was buried in the grave the historical society is seeking to locate."

LOST, WANDERING STUDENT BECAME LEGENDARY FIGURE

A college registrar's stock answer to an anxious mother is, "Don't worry, madam. We haven't lost a student yet." The University of Kentucky registrar, however, can't make that claim.

On the evening of Sept. 22, 1908, Willis E. Smith, a green UK freshman, left his dorm room to attend a class meeting. Sometime during the following five minutes he completely disappeared.

UK administrators at first supposed Willis had been "captured" by some fraternity and pointedly suggested that he be released. In early October, however, Willis' brother, also a UK student, received a note warning him not to investigate the disappearance. It was signed: "The Black Hand."

As the months passed with no word from Smith or his "abductors," the Fayette county grand jury investigated, and somehow decided that he had met with foul play.

Around Christmas time an Indiana cousin of the missing student talked to his "spirit" during a seance and announced that poor Willis had been killed on campus and thrown, lifeless, into a well. But before the cousin could come to Lexington to locate the well, a sun-tanned, healthy youth turned up in Owensboro. The date was December 28 and the youth was none other than Willis E. Smith.

When pressed for an explanation of his three-month absence, Willis told a wild story of being kidnapped and held captive in a cold Wisconsin cave. He concocted another tale, in collaboration with his brother, which the UK student newspaper reported as "The Second Series of Wandering Weary Willie's Novels." It was obvious now to all that "Wandering Willie" had simply tired of college life after two weeks, and, like the fabled Arab, had silently stole away.

During the following few years, before the fame of Willis Smith faded into oblivion, Sept. 22 was celebrated on the UK campus with lowered flags and eulogies at a "graveside" in front of the Administration Building. Only the registrar never completely recovered from this. It took away his best punch line.

Salyers To Get Diploma From Police Academy

The eighth Kentucky Peace Officers' Association-sponsored school graduated 25 police officers from the State Police Academy at Frankfort. They represent 20 Kentucky community police departments.

The one-week special course featured lectures from experts in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Louisville and Lexington Police Departments, as well as in the State Police. In the evenings, the men viewed safety films in the Department of Public Safety library.

State Safety Commissioner Glen Lovren presented diplomas to the following from this area:

Woodrow Salyers, Prestonsburg; Bernard Nelson, Louisa; and Ronald Perry, Ashland.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

You can generally tell a comparative beginner at fishing because of his long casts. Usually he's not showing off; it's just that he likes to make them and hasn't yet come to realize that long casts usually get him quite a lot fewer fish than short ones.

Of course, there's the comparatively rare born showoff who wants to have everybody around see what wonderfully long casts he can make—and hopes they don't notice that he's catching few or no fish.

So what length casts are best for bass, and for most other species?

Generally, surprisingly short casts do best, for the simple reason that they let you lay the lure in more spots that look promising, and you waste less time retrieving it through water unlikely to hold fish.

However, "For such short casts to be productive, keep low to the water—wade deep, or sit in your boat," advises Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. And you must sneak up on fish quietly; don't send vibrations through the water by scuffing your shoes on the bottom, or such.

The best thing is to try to imagine that you're sneaking up on a rabbit. Everybody realizes that a rabbit has a sense of self-preservation; but for some strange reason, many seem to think a fish has none, and that's among the very good reasons why some people catch so few.

The experienced angler often stands in his boat to cast—in spite of the screaming from some old maids or both sexes who know nothing about boats.

Standing, you must make considerably longer casts to do well. Longer casts are especially needed when the surface is glassy, as fish can see you from farther away than when there is a ripple.

Really long casts are never necessary—and are usually undesirable, except when you're fishing from shore and can't reach some good spot otherwise. If you do get a strike on that long cast, you're pretty likely to miss it. And if you do hook the fish, you'll probably lose him on the way in.

Two outstanding members of the Floyd county May family of the Beaver Creek section were John May (1832-1920) left, and Rev. George May (1828-1912), right.

John May married Darcus Conley (1830-1915). They were the parents of five sons and three daughters, one son being the late Andrew Jackson May, former Congressman and one of the organizers of the First National Bank in 1904.

Rev. George May (1828-1912), a former Floyd County Judge, married Mahala Hagan (1833-1890). John and George May were brothers.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of the region in recognition of our historic heritage.

THE DAY SET APART FOR THE DEDICATION OF THE NEW

Prestonsburg Community College

AND NOW PRESTONSBURG, FLOYD COUNTY AND THIS ENTIRE AREA HAVE A NEW DAY OF THANKSGIVING. MARK IT--

Tuesday, September 29, 1964

We are grateful that now the opportunity for higher education is at hand and not far removed from us.

We acknowledge our gratitude to Former Governor Bert T. Combs, who led the Community College program from dream to reality; to all those who worked and gave to the end that the college would be located here; and to Dr. John W. Oswald, president of the University of Kentucky, whose faith in Community Colleges and whose warm support of the program lends it strength and great promise.

We commend Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the Prestonsburg Community College, and all members of the faculty for the dedication with which they have entered upon the work of developing it toward its great potential.

And we congratulate those young women and men who are, this year, the first students of many thousands who will attend this college.

We invite you to join us at the dedication Tuesday, September 29, at 11 a.m., of this institution which stands as a shining example of Eastern Kentucky progress.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Civil War in Kentucky
By JOE JORDAN
(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week—in the early morning of September 4, 1864—Brig. Gen. John Hunt Morgan of Kentucky, one of the most daring and spectacular of Confederate cavalry leaders, was shot to death in the garden of the Williams mansion, in Greenville, Tennessee. He had slept in the house the night before and had been awakened at daylight on a rainy morning to find the place surrounded by Federal soldiers.

Morgan's troops were encamped about Greenville, and pickets had been posted on all roads leading into the town. Union Army cavalry approaching by one of the main roads had left it before reaching its Confederate picket post and had used a small connecting lane to enter another main road inside the picket post on that highway. The surprise was complete.

The Federal soldiers who galloped into town and immediately rode to the Williams home and surrounded it knew exactly where they would find Morgan. Mrs. Joseph Williams, daughter-in-law of the owner of the house, had ridden 18 miles through the mountains to inform Brig. Gen. A. C. Gillem, commander of a cavalry division of the Union Army.

The young woman had nursed a Capt. Keenan, assistant adjutant-general on Gillem's staff, who had been wounded in an earlier battle and had been taken to the Williams mansion. Morgan had paroled Keenan. In violation of his parole, Keenan had written a report detailing the number, position and condition of Morgan's command, and had given it to Mrs. Joseph Williams to convey to the Federal commander. She had concealed it in a prayer book. At a previous time when Morgan was making his headquarters at the house, his chaplain, Dr. Cameron, had picked up the prayer book and found there-upon revoked Keenan's parole and, over the protests of the young woman, had sent him to Lynchburg to be held in a prison. Thus Mrs. Williams, besides being a Union sympathizer, had an additional, personal motive for exerting herself against him.

Col. Basil Duke, Morgan's brother-in-law, who succeeded him in command, wrote after the war: "His friends have always believed that he was murdered after his surrender. Certain representations by the parties who killed him, their ruffianly character, and the brutality with which they treated his body, induced the belief. His slayers broke down the paling around the garden, dragged him through, and while he was tossing his arms in his dying agonies, threw him across a mule and paraded his body about the town, shouting and screaming in savage exultation."

When Gen. Gillem arrived, he halted the demonstration and sent the body to the Confederates under a flag of truce. It was first buried at Abingdon, Virginia, later was removed to Hollywood Cemetery at the Confederate states capital, Richmond, and in 1868 was reinterred in his home town in Lexington, Kentucky.

KENTUCKY FAMILIES

A letter from Mrs. M. V. Lopez, 365A Santa Clara Avenue, Oakland, California, asks information on four Eastern Kentucky families.

She writes:

"I am trying to locate any living survivors of my great-uncle, Milton Stanfill or relatives or forebears of Cynthia Stanfill, born in Tennessee, daughter of Hannah Beard and Letcher Stanfill.

"Lucy Rudy (Ruddy), mother of Hannah Beard, married Rufus (?) Beard in Kentucky. Betsy, surname not known, mother of Lucy, wed a Silas Rudy in Kentucky. Birthplaces are unknown to me. Cynthia Stanfill married a Clayton David Sween in Jacksonborough (Jacksonboro), Campbell county, Tennessee, October 21, 1886.

"I am particularly interested in learning anything of the Stanfills, Beards, Rudys and Sweets that may be available, for my grandfather Sween came from somewhere in Kentucky and it seems also that my Grandmother Stanfill did.

"My grandfather, Clayton David Sween, was born somewhere in Kentucky and somewhere in your general locality. That is all I know. I don't even know his birth date. He did have a brother. I think his name was David. Perhaps it was his grandparents whose name were Rudy. I don't know.

"All I know is that all of the names I've mentioned to me by my grandmother and grandfather Sween in a brief visit with them in 1939. It was the only visit I ever had with them.

If any of the readers have any clues to the location of persons bearing the name Sween, Stanfill, Beard or Rudy, would they write Mrs. Lopez?

ATLAS TRACTOR TIRES

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky.

A good friend of mine, who has a teen-age son, told me a story recently that shows another sign of our times, a sure sign that boys still grow up and become men. His son, at the breakfast table, a few days before Christmas, 1963, stopped eating long enough to say, "Dad, in 325 days I can get my driver's license." That certainly was worked out in true boy fashion. I suppose that there have been and will be several more announcements of the approaching Great Day as the 325 days pass over the horizon. By the time this column appears, the boy will have only 200 or more days to wait to be a full-grown man, armed with a driver's license.

It was not so long ago that my own son, now a very dignified college professor, came in from high school at noon, proudly displaying his driver's license, issued on his sixteenth birthday! His teacher had allowed him to be out of school long enough to go over to the Armory, take his tests, and sign on the dotted line. You see, both he and my friend's son had fairly grown up with a steering wheel in their hands. My own son had wanted to sit in my lap and hold the wheel before he could make a full sentence. And, like all fathers who have sons, I held him there, secretly guiding the wheel from beneath his baby hands. He laughingly tells even yet that he sat in my lap and drove until he was so large that the seat would no longer hold the two of us, even though we pushed it as far back as it would go. And, on country roads he drove on his own, with me sitting by for moral and legal support. In fact, he could drive better than his father the very day he secured his permit to handle the wheel. And what boy, born since the 1920's, let us say, could not do just that? The ancient Romans had a celebration of declaring their boys mature. It was not at any certain age, but when it seemed that Junior, or whatever he was called, was ready to be rewarded as a man, there was a big show, in proportion to the prominence or wealth of the boy's dad. All of one's friends and hangers-on formed a procession and went down to the Forum; there a religious ceremony was conducted, the boy was given his first shave (unless he, like modern boys, had stolen out the family razor and given himself a bloody trial or two), and then he was dressed in the TOGA VIRILIS, the toga that only full-grown men wore. Wouldn't you like to have attended such a ceremony? And wouldn't you like to have seen the triumphant look on the face of the boy, Roman though he may have been? And the father, too, must have strutted a bit as he showed to the world that he was now the proud parent of a grown son.

Now, we did not have any cars at Fidelity when I was growing up. We did not have any Forum except the Loafers' J'ant at the country store. We did not have any TOGA VIRILIS to put on a boy who had grown up. But there were some similarities between a boy's life at Fidelity and one at Rome or at Bowling Green. Maybe wearing long pants for the first time was a sort of Fidelity version of donning the TOGA OF MANHOOD; maybe "carrvine" one's first date to Mount Carmel Church in the family buggy was a sort of steered-down version of marching down the streets followed by all sorts of dressed-up fellows and a horde of hangers-on who were looking for the square meal that attended this coming-out party for Junior. Now, when I see a more baby boy in long trousers, looking like a miniature copy of his grown-up daddy, I am sad, because that boy will never know what a thrill used to come when one's parents allowed a boy to wear long pants and galluses and shave himself, maybe, if he had

CONTROL MOSQUITOES

Lexington, Ky. — Control mosquitoes around your home to guard against encephalitis (sleeping sickness), recommends Fred Knapp, UK Agricultural Experiment Station entomologist. The present encephalitis epidemic in Boyle county makes mosquito control vital in preventing spread of this disease, he warns.

CONTROL MOSQUITOES TO PREVENT ENCEPHALITIS

The common household mosquito probably is the carrier which is spreading encephalitis in Boyle county, says Fred Knapp, UK Ag Experiment Station entomologist. Mosquitoes breed in standing water, so destroy any containers that might catch and hold water, and drain any standing pools of water, if possible.

Lexington, Ky. — Roughage in the form of hay still is a valuable part of steer rations, the U. K. Ag Experiment Station animal science department said this week.

Chevelle Malibu '65

New style, new ride—and plenty of V8 stuff. Here's all that made Chevelle America's most popular new-sized car—plus some surprises that promise to make it come on even stronger. Like those cleaner, bolder lines. Like the silky way its new ride skims over the choppiest roads. Like V8 power that'll make you think we stole some of Corvette's stuff—which we did. All told, five engines are available from a quieter six to a V8 that comes on 300 horses strong.

'65 Chevy II Nova 4-Door Sedan

Chevy II Nova '65

It may very well be the expensive-est looking thrifty car you've laid eyes on. But thrifty it is. The big difference being that Chevy II's marvelous mechanical efficiency now wears a debonair new look. And offers a new range of engines, including a new 300-hp V8. If you go by all the fine new features, you could get the idea that saving you money was about the last thing we had in mind. And in a way it was. Right up until we pasted on the price sticker.

New top-of-the-line Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe

Corvair Corsa '65

How's this for sport with an international flair? The longer, wider design gives all closed models a hardtop roof, accented by frameless curved side windows. It also allows more shoulder and entrance room. And to go with the racier look, there's up to 180 hp available in the new Corsa series, up to 140 hp in the Monza and 500 series. Also a flatter riding independent suspension system, bigger self-adjusting brakes, more responsive steering and a wider road stance.
