This Town... That World

PREDICTIONS FOR '65

Around New Year's 1964 Woodrow Burchett stuck his neck "way out and predicted that Cassius Clay would become heavyweight champion and that the popularity of Nikita Khrushchev would hit an all-time low. Subsequent events made a prophet of him, and so it was that his forecasts for 1965, made at a recent meeting of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club, were of more interest even than usual.

Among other things, he predicted:

That the first frost next fall will come on October 14 and that there will be a white Christmas. (Last year, he predicted first frost for October 16, a day early, and opined there would be no white Christmas.)

That the Colts and Browns will not repeat; that the Cincinnati Reds will have a better season but no pennant, and advised that fans will watch the Giants; that Clay will remain champ and the Yanks will win the World Series.

Under the heading of sports he predicted:

"Dick and Elizabeth Taylor Todd Fisher Burton will still be together, only because Liz doesn't believe in divorce."

Mr. Burchett foresees a draft of Combs for governor, and his prediction of political events on the local scene is one you can lay your bottom dollar on:

"Higher salaries and an air-conditioned courthouse will be..." (See Story No. 4, Page 6)

SCHOLARSHIP DRIVE SET

Reynolds Announces Annual Effort To Aid College Students Here

The 1965 drive for scholarships for deserving students at the Prestonsburg Community College will be launched shortly. It was announced here this week by W. J. Reynolds, Jr., of Allen, committee chairman.

Reynolds said that the committee will seek not only the renewal of the 20-scholarship program, subscribed this year by individuals and firms but also new grants in order to afford help to as many needy and deserving youths as possible. He emphasized the point that it is important for the total number of scholarships to be made available for the next school year to be provided not later than next May, so that high school seniors graduating at that time and others in need of financial assistance may know of the aid available and so make their plans accordingly.

Scholarship grants this year are for $250 each. They are tax-deductible.

Other members of the scholarship committee are Walter Frasure, of Allen; Tom G. Dingus and Marvin Music, of Prestonsburg; Elmer Ferguson, Wheelwright, and Chester Patton, of Allen.

Of the 20 scholarship students at the college during the first semester, all but two made successful grades.

UMWA REDUCES AGE TO 55 FOR PENSIONS

The United Mine Workers of America announced Monday that it is reducing by five years the minimum age for beneficiaries of its retirement fund. It also increased by $10 the amount to be paid monthly.

The new minimum age is 55, believed by officials of the union to be the lowest of any mass pension system.

The monthly payment rises from $75 to $85 for 64,000 currently receiving pensions as well as the additional amount which will be eligible under the new age minimum.

FLOYD WOMAN DIES IN OHIO ACCIDENT

HUSBAND, 2 OTHERS ARE VICTIMS

Crash Is Considered One of Area's Worst; Funeral Held Today

Four persons are dead, one of them a Floyd county woman, and four others are hospitalized as a result of a three-car accident Sunday at New Carlisle, Ohio.

Dead are Mrs. Ruby Ashbaugh, 50, formerly of Lancer; Harry Ashbaugh, her husband, both of New Carlisle; Mrs. Stanley Hutchison and Mrs. Etta May Turner, both of St. Paris, Ohio. Mrs. Turner died enroute to a hospital but the others were killed instantly. Hospitalized are the Rev. Stanley Hutchison, husband of one of the victims, and their three children.

State police, after investigating the accident, said that Rev. Hutchison, his children and Mrs. Turner were occupants of a car driven by the minister. His car collided with a third vehicle and the impact threw his car into the opposite lane and in the path of the oncoming car driven by Ashbaugh.

The head-on collision that resulted was said to have been one of the worst accidents in the area in years. The Ashbaugh and Hutchison autos were so driven into each other by the force of the collision that it required the services of two wreckers to pull them apart.

Mrs. Ashbaugh was a daughter of William S. Goble, of Lancer, and the late Mrs. Mary Harris Goble. She has no surviving children. Surviving, besides her father, are three brothers and two sisters: John Goble, Willard. (See Story No. 9, Page 6)

Mrs. Laura Brown, 65, Lancer, Dies Dec. 22

Mrs. Laura Brown, 65, of Lancer, died December 22 at the Golden Years Rest Home, at Lackey. She was a daughter of the late John Crum and Mrs. Elizabeth Seiser Crum, of Lancer.

Mrs. Brown was twice married. She was first married to Addison Dials and after his death she married Paris Brown, who also preceded her in death.

Surviving sons and a daughter are C. F. Dials, Robert Crum, and Mrs. Nance Sevier, all of Lancer, and John E. Dials, Ypsilanti, Michigan. Two brothers, Joe and Bill Crum, both of Lancer, survive.

Funeral rites were conducted December 24 at 2 p.m. from the home of her mother at Lackey, the Revs. John W. Conley and Henry Crider officiating. Burial was made in the Harris cemetery at Lancer under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

UMWA REDUCES AGE TO 55 FOR PENSIONS

Officials of the fund estimated that the number of pensioners added as a result of dropping the age to 55 will total 10,000 in 18 months. The age and amount changes, which go into effect February 1, thus would add close to $17 million a year to the fund's expenditures.

A further liberalization was made in the 20-year service requirement for miners now employed. Miners who retire from regular employment after February 1 will receive credit for all classified employment in the coal industry. Under this provision, for example, it will be possible for a man entering the mines at age 20 and working regularly until 40 to qualify for a pension when he becomes 55. The present application of 20 years' service within the 30-year period preceding application remains in effect for miners who ceased working before February 1. These may apply for a pension at age 55 or over.

Trust-fund pensioners and their dependents are also provided hospital and medical care.

$307 Contributed For Weeksbury Poor

A. B. Meade reported this week that $307 was contributed by Prestonsburg individuals and businesses to the fund solicited for Christmas food and gifts for poor families in Weeksbury and vicinity.

Hill Is Administered Appellate Court Oath At Private Ceremony

Judge Edward P. Hill was privately sworn in Monday as judge of the Court of Appeals at Frankfort. The oath was administered by Chief Justice James Milliken, of the Appellate Court.

Judge Hill's formal induction to the Appellate Court bench will be held next Monday.

Defeating Judge Robert Bird for the Seventh Appellate district post at the November election, Judge Hill becomes the second Floyd countyman to win an appellate judgeship. Bert T. Combs was the first.

Judge Hill has named Miss Rebecca Ellis, of Prestonsburg, veteran court reporter and stenographer, as clerk in his Frankfort office. Miss Ellis already has moved to Frankfort.

JUVENILES ARE CHARGED

Driver of School Bus Says Vehicle 'Rocked'; Tram Family Jailed

Earl Vanderpool, Jr., 18, and two juveniles of the Hinesville vicinity were jailed here last week, accused of throwing rocks into a school bus on Salt Lick Creek and damaging the vehicle. The juveniles were released to the custody of their parents, but Vanderpool remained in jail Tuesday.

The bus driver, Columbus Jacobs, was quoted as saying that the three, who are not enrolled in any Floyd county school, thumbed him as he drove up the creek with a load of pupils. He did not stop and when he returned the bus was "rocked," one window being damaged, he added.

Two Ohio youths, both juveniles, wrecked a stolen car here last Wednesday and in the process damaged two other autos. Officers said they at first stole a car in Akron, Ohio, drove to Hazard and there took an auto owned by E. G. Perry. Here, they sideswiped an auto owned by Paul Messer and another owned by a Paintsville man named Cantrell and crashed into a six-inch pipe set in concrete in front of Arvie Burchett's place of business.

One of the boys was hospitalized. The other was jailed. Both were released Saturday afternoon after their parents had made restitution.

Lige Collins, his wife Victoria and three of their children were in jail this week, the parents (See Story No. 8, Page 6)

Lake Lanes Purchases Bus for Student Use; Service Set Next Week

Purchase of a bus, the better to serve Prestonsburg Community College students in their physical education courses, has been made by Lake Lanes, it was announced this week.

The bus will be placed in service with the resumption of classwork at the beginning of the second semester at the new college next Wednesday. Students who take bowling, the only physical education now available at the college, will be picked up at the college and returned at the conclusion of the bowling class.

Transportation difficulties have held the number taking physical education to around 55 during the first semester, it was said.

Martin Miner Victim At McDowell Hospital; Funeral Held Friday

Maryland Isaac, 70, of Martin, died December 29 at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital. A miner, he had been in ill health for years.

Mr. Isaac was a son of Willie and Debbie Hall Isaac. His wife, Anna Compton Isaac survives.

Surviving sons and daughters are Virgil Isaac, Mrs. Lassic Crisp, Virnus Isaac and Mrs. Ocie Manuel, all of Martin, and Mrs. Opal Lafferty, Pikeville. Surviving brother and sisters are: Bill Mullins and Mrs. Non Tackett, both of Hartley, Kentucky; Mrs. Mary Little, of Martin, and Mrs. Rosana Johnson, Jackson, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted Friday at 10 a.m. from the Martin Free Will Baptist Church, the Rev. Robert Martin officiating. Burial was made in the Dingus cemetery at Martin under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

BOGUS BILLS CIRCULATED

Agents Arrest Coleman At Paintsville Trailer After Investigation

Counterfeit $10 and $20 bills were circulated last week in Pike and Floyd county and a Pike county man has been charged with passing the larger denomination. A counterfeit $10 bill was received here last week by the First National Bank.

Charged at Pikeville is Ralph Clifton Coleman, 37, of Paintsville, but a former resident of Raccoon, Pike county. If there is any connection between the bills passed in Pike county and the bogus bill received by the bank here it has not been established.

Coleman was arrested Tuesday morning of last week at his trailer home in Paintsville by federal and state officers. Given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Hobart C. Johnson at Pikeville, he entered a plea of not guilty and the charge was referred to the federal grand jury which convenes in April. He was released under $2,500 bond.

A Pike county man who had been in Coleman's company for several days in Pike county was questioned but no charges were placed against him.

The arrest of Coleman was the climax of an investigation by federal officers, Kentucky State Police and Pikeville City Police which began a few days ago when local banks, other businesses and individuals began reporting the counterfeit bills to officers.

About 45 or 50 of the bills are believed to have been circulated in Pike county.

One of the officers who took Coleman into custody said 104 of the counterfeit $20 bills were found hidden in Coleman's trailer. If real, the bills would have been worth $2,080.

The officer said Coleman was believed to be the only person involved in passing the bills in the Pikeville area.

HIGHER PAY ANNOUNCED

Unemployed Fathers On Public Projects To Get Wage Increase

Unemployed fathers working on public projects in Floyd and eight other Eastern Kentucky counties will draw bigger paychecks, beginning next week, it was announced Tuesday.

Their pay will jump from a straight $1 an hour to as high as $1.52 an hour, depending upon skills. The average pay will be about $1.25 an hour.

"These fathers deserve the raise, and it will mean an increase in their buying power and will benefit the economy in general," County Judge Henry Stumbo commented.

He and County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill learned of the new pay schedule Tuesday while conferring at Whitesburg with county judges and other officials of the area on the programs now in effect and under consideration for the benefit of mountain counties.

The maximum payments to unemployed fathers have been $1.60 a month, but these now may go as high as $250 a month. Work credits are based on a maximum 40-hour week. Counties affected, in addition to Floyd, are Knott, Pike, Perry, Letcher, Breathitt, Bell, Leslie and Harlan.

Under the new program, however, skills will become a factor. A painter or carpenter, for example, can work fewer hours to receive the payments for which he is qualified. Prevailing local wages for the skills will determine the hourly credits. (See Story No. 7, Page 6)

Former Policeman Here Succumbs At Pikeville; Was Pound Police Chief

Neise (Pie) Gilliam, 55, former Prestonsburg and Allen policeman, died Thursday, December 24 at 9:45 p.m. at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. He had been hospitalized since November.

Mr. Gilliam was serving as chief of police at Pound, Virginia, when he became ill. He had been a police officer for 26 years. Besides his employment at Prestonsburg and Allen, he once served as chief of police at Elkhorn City. He was a native of Pike county.

Mr. Gilliam was a son of Arson and Mettie Beck Gilliam, of Coal Run, and was a member of the Church of Christ.

Surviving, besides his parents, are a brother, Warren Gilliam, of Coal Run, and a sister, Mrs. Elzie Ewen, Hazel Park, Michigan.

Funeral services were held Sunday, December 26 at 2 p.m. at the Coal Run Church of Christ, the Revs. Larry Ozden and E. W. Damron officiating. Burial was made in the Gilliam cemetery at Coal Run under the direction of Baker Funeral Home.

Prestonsburg College Teacher Honored For Research Study

Dr. Doris Anita Berry, of the Prestonsburg Community College, has just been awarded the Delta Pi Epsilon Research Award for the outstanding research study completed in the field of business education in 1963. The study, "The Role of Office Practice Instruction in the Training for General Office Assignments," was completed as an Ed. D. dissertation at the University of Indiana with Dr. Elvin S. Eyster serving as adviser to the study.

The award was presented to Dr. Berry at a dinner meeting of Delta Pi Epsilon at the Palmer House in Chicago, December 29. Delta Pi Epsilon is a national honorary fraternity in business education. The award was presented by Dr. Russell J. Hosler, of the University of Wisconsin, chairman of the research committee.

Research studies for the 1965 competition are now being received by the chairman of the Research Award Committee for next year. All studies submitted should have been completed during the calendar year of 1964 and should be mailed to Dr. Arnold Condon, Business Education Department, Illinois State University, Normal, Illinois, on or before February 23, 1965.

GRAND JURY VOTES THREE MURDER BILLS

The grand jury, soon after beginning its work Monday morning, voted three indictments against Headmon May—two accusing him of willful murder in the recent slayings at Harold of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hobson and a third naming him for the shooting and wounding of his wife, Ruth May, daughter of the Hobsons.

May remains in the county jail here. A motion was filed last week before County Judge Henry Stumbo by May's attorney, Francis Dale Burke, of Pikeville, requesting that May be committed to an institution for observation by a psychiatrist. When no immediate action was taken on the motion the attorney decided to delay the proposed action until an indictment was returned, it was said.

Trial of the Harold man is not expected to be held at the current term of court, unless the case is set down ahead of the Roy Salisbury murder case which has been docketed for January 25, or unless Circuit Judge Hollie Conley extends the January term well into February.

The slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Hobson were referred to Monday morning by Judge Conley in his instructions to the grand jury. He in particular hit at the liquor traffic in this county.

Only civil cases were being heard this week. First of the criminal cases to be brought to trial will be that of Raymond Hall, who was named in three manslaughter indictments after three persons were killed at Drift in a collision with a car occupied by Hall. His trial is scheduled to begin Monday.

Estill Newsome, a key witness, who was in the car with Hall and others, is missing, and efforts of Commonwealth's Attorney Harold Stumbo to locate him have failed. He said members of Newsome's family say they do not know his whereabouts.

Orville Rice was named foreman of the grand jury. Judge Conley Monday named as jury commissioners Chester Patton, of Allen, Joe Hicks, of Wayland, and H. M. Wilkinson, Jr., Wheelwright.

NEEDS CITED BY PERKINS

New Road Construction, Health Facilities, Aid On Flood Control Asked

Major emphasis to road construction, water, sewer and other public works, flood control and health facilities was given Monday by Congressman Carl D. Perkins in introducing the Appalachian Development Act of 1965.

Perkins, in his remarks on the floor of the House at the time of the introduction of the new legislation, cited steadily declining employment in the coal and related industries, the lack of financial resources to construct roads, bridges, flood control projects, water, sewer and other public community facilities, as creating a condition so severe in the hardships imposed upon the people in Eastern Kentucky's Appalachia that federal financial assistance to undertake these projects was necessary in providing a stable economy.

The Perkins Appalachian Development Act would authorize the construction of 2,350 miles of major highways in Appalachia and 1,500 miles of small byways to serve specific residential, recreational, educational, or industrial needs.

"Of major importance," said Perkins, "was the feature of the legislation which would greatly expand the community facilities construction over previous versions of the legislation by extending the Accelerated Public Works program in the Appalachian region with an additional authorization of $500 million to enable the construction of water and sewer facilities, city streets, public buildings, and other public works where they were necessary in developing the economy of communities."

Perkins termed the legislation a "national investment" in an ill-starred area of the United States with vast undeveloped resources and potential but which had long been neglected and bypassed by economic development programs. The road construction features of the legislation were emphasized by Perkins. "The construction of roads and highways throughout Eastern Kentucky and all of Appalachia will erase its isolation and will permit natural economic forces to allow Appalachian families to enjoy the general prosperity of the nation," he said. ## ENGINEERS APPROVE STREAM CHANNEL JOB

Mobile X-Ray Unit Scheduled At Harold; Baby Clinic Slated

The mobile X-ray unit, sponsored by the Floyd County Health Department, will be at Harold Wednesday, next week, it is announced. It will be located near the school building and will be in operation from 10 a.m. till noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The unit will make X-rays for anyone living in the Harold area, it is said. All foodhandlers are urged to get chest X-rays at this time. (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

MATH BY TV IS OFFERED

Martin Announces WSAZ-TV Telecast To Begin January 9

If parents want help toward becoming able to help their children with the new mathematics being introduced into the schools, they should watch WSAZ-TV's broadcast of "Patterns in Arithmetic" which will be initiated Saturday afternoon.

So said Clem Martin, supervisor of instruction, Floyd County Board of Education, this week when he announced plans for the televised instructional series.

"Patterns in Arithmetic" is a new mathematics telecourse produced by the University of Wisconsin. Although the television series was arranged primarily for and by the Ashland (Ky.) school system, it will be available to all who have television reception from WSAZ-TV, Channel 3, Huntington, West Virginia.

The classroom units, fifth grade level, will begin January 26 and will be broadcast thereafter every Tuesday and Thursday from 9:15 to 9:30 a.m. The half-hour teacher orientation programs will begin Saturday, January 9, at 1 p.m., and will be telecast on succeeding Saturdays at the same time.

The office of Superintendent Charles Clark is encouraging all principals and teachers to use the program in their classrooms wherever television sets and service are available. The television series will be one of the principal topics of discussion at Monday night's principals' meeting to be held at the Martin consolidated school.

F. M. Baker, vice-president and general manager of Kentucky Power, in announcing the latest action, said the decrease would apply primarily to the power company's residential, school, commercial and small industrial customers.

"These rate reductions have been made possible by the decrease in federal income tax rates and also by the rising use of electricity, especially for heating, in Kentucky Power's service area," Baker said.

"These reductions are further proof of our determination to render the best possible electric service at the lowest possible cost and to lower them still further whenever opportunities arise."

The largest single block of savings in the $217,000 total would be in the residential rates. Some 39,000 such customers, comprising nearly half of those served by the company, would benefit by a total of $127,000.

These savings would come about as the result of a new residential rate. Under this new rate, a portion of the energy now costing 2.4c per kilowatt hour will cost 1.5c; some now costing 1.5c per kWh will cost 1.4c; and some now costing 1.2c will cost 1c. The monthly usage needed to enter the 1c per kWh level has been reduced for both the new residential rate and the company's present rate for all-electric homes.

"Over 600 schools in Kentucky Power's service area would also benefit by the proposed rate reduction," Baker said. All told the reduction would save these institutions, including public, private and parochial schools in both elementary and secondary grades, a total of $52,000 per year, he noted.

Kentucky Power's proposal to the PSC calls for a drop in energy charges to non-electrically heated schools to a new low of 2.5c per kWh. For electrically heated schools, the bottom step in the rate would drop from 1.2c to 1c per kWh. For schools including colleges and universities (See Story No. 5, Page 6)

TWO DAMS IN VALLEY RECEIVE OK

Martin Project Cost Estimate Is $3,456,000; Perkins, Cooper Aid

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers this week approved a $3,456,000 stream channel improvement project at Martin as a flood prevention measure and also gave the nod for construction of two more flood-control reservoirs in the Big Sandy valley.

The Martin project, which has had the backing of Congressman Carl D. Perkins and U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper since the community's disastrous flood experience in 1957, had earlier been considered not economically feasible as was the case with the other projects.

The two dams approved by the Corps of Engineers call for the expenditure of $20,000,000 at Yatesville, on Blaine Creek, Lawrence county, and $16,970,000 on Big Paint Creek in Johnson county.

Apparently the Johnson administration rule that counties reimburse the federal government for "excess recreational benefits" gained from such projects will be waived. Without this waiver, Louisa would have been required to contribute $3,197,000 on the Yatesville dam, and Paintsville's share of the cost of the Paint Creek project would have been $1,645,000. Neither community, it is certain, would have been able to meet this demand.

On November 7, Perkins, Cooper, and a large delegation of business and political leaders from Kentucky and West Virginia met with Elmer Staats, the deputy director of the Budget Bureau.

The rule on "excess" recreational benefits, it would be impossible, they argued, for the local communities to raise $7 million. Staats made no promises.

The next development was a new report on the projects from Brig. Gen. Leber's office in Cincinnati. He recommended, despite the Administration policy, that the excess-benefits rule be waived.

But there are roadblocks ahead. Leber's recommendation could be vetoed by his superiors in the Corps of Engineers or by the Budget Bureau.

In that event, Cooper and Perkins could attempt to persuade Congress to ignore the Administration's position.

They have had informal word from the Administration that the Budget Bureau is sympathetic to the problems in Appalachia and to the request for a waiver of local contributions. But an exception, in this case, could set off a stream of demands from other sections of the country for the same treatment.

TOTAL PARK VISITS LESS

August, Banner Month For Visitations, Said; Decrease Factors Told

The number of visitors at Dewey Lake and installations connected with it during 1964 was announced this week by Dean Merritt, dam operator, U. S. Corps of Engineers, as 592,365.

This total was slightly below that of the preceding year, but Mr. Merritt ascribed the small drop to early opening of schools and weather conditions.

The total given represents those who visited Jenny Wiley State Park, May Lodge, camping areas, the dam and lake.

August was the banner month for visitors, and the peak day of the year saw 19,800 visiting this No. 1 Eastern Kentucky attraction.

Merritt succeeded in the post of dam operator Celsus Meek, who was transferred recently to Summersville, West Virginia, where construction on a reservoir is now under way.

Dewey Lake, which underwent a drawdown to the stream channel, late in October, is being refilled. Gates of the dam were closed Monday morning, and by Wednesday the water had risen to about four feet of the normal winter stage, Merritt said.

He expressed the belief that the drawdown, made in stages of five feet a week, had not resulted in any appreciable loss of game fish. The Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources has promised heavy restocking of the lake this spring.

Queen-Beverly Vows Said

Miss Gloria Jane Queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Q. Queen, of Frankfort, and Mr. Lowell Preston Beverly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Beverly, of Prestonsburg, exchanged marriage vows at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 20, in the Frankfort (Ohio) Methodist Church.

The Rev. Haskel Moore, assisted by the Rev. Herbert H. Lockwood, of the South Bloomfield Methodist Church, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar enlaced with two vases of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and roses against a background of palms and greenery. Multi-branched candelabra were placed at each side of the altar.

Mrs. June Fisher, organist, played "O Promise Me," "Aloes," "One Alone" and traditional wedding marches, and Miss Mary Lockwood, of Columbus, sang "I Love You Truly," "Ave Maria," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Wearing a floor-length gown of white velvet, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. The dress was designed with a round neckline, long sleeves and a chapel train. A cascade of hand-fashioned velvet and satin roses added back interest at the waistline. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was caught to a crown of seed pearls, and she carried an arrangement of white roses, carnations and lilies of the valley on a white Bible. The sterling silver pendant she wore was a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Miss Joyce E. Queen, was maid of honor, and Miss Phyllis Darling, of Dayton, bridesmaid. All wore identical street-length sheaths of emerald-green velvet accented with velvet overskirts. Other fashion details included round necklines and three-quarter length sleeves. Matching velvet and tulle fashioned their headpieces. Each carried a white fur muff arranged with red carnations and holly.

The bride's mother combined pink accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses with her two-piece suit. With her emerald-green brocade dress the bridegroom's mother wore a corsage of pink roses.

Eighty-five guests were invited to the reception which was held in the church social room. The three-tiered wedding cake was encircled with red and white carnations and greenery, and the punch bowl was ringed with holly. Assisting were Miss Sharon Scott, Miss Kathy Glasgow, Miss Linda E. Brown, Mrs. Lyle Fuller, Mrs. Maynard Cunningham, Mrs. Wayne Borst, Mrs. Lawrence Cline, Miss Sharon Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Share.

For traveling through the South, the new Mrs. Beverly changed to a navy-blue suit with which she wore a mink-trimmed beige coat, a mink-trimmed hat, white gloves and a white rose corsage.

The former Miss Queen is a graduate of Frankfort high school and Carnegie School of Medical Technology, Cleveland. She is a senior at Ohio State University where she is majoring in comprehensive science in secondary education. She also is a part-time receptionist for Dr. John W. Heffelfinger, Columbus. Mr. Beverly is a graduate of Wayland (Ky.) high school and the Ohio State School of Cosmetology. He is a private first class in the First Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas.

tract a record number of candidates. All present incumbents will stand for re-election, and there will be one new officer in the courthouse. Radios and newspapers and the candidates will be red-hot and vitriolic. The electorate will be amused and disgusted. The advertising media will record a profit, and the sun will come up over the same hill, the morning after the election's over.

THE TOUGH ONES

Since the day I learned that the Puritans, who presumably came to this land to "worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences," chased Roger Williams all the way to Rhode Island because his doctrine did not jibe with theirs, I have respected these old boys not for their desire for freedom for all men but simply because they were tough. Tough enough to set sail for a new world and tough enough to tough it out.

This week I am reminded by Paul C. Combs that they had some pretty tough laws, too. These are excerpts from a few of their regulations:

"If any man, after due conviction, shall have or worship any god but the Lord God, he shall be put to death. (Leviticus XXIV, 15-16)."

"No one shall run on the Sabbath Day, or walk in his garden, or elsewhere, except reverently to and from meeting."

"No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep house, cut hair or shave, on the Sabbath or fasting-day."

"If any child above sixteen years old shall curse, or smite his, her or their parents, such child or children shall be put to death (Exodus XXI, 17; Leviticus XX, 9; Exodus XXI, 15), unless it be proved that the parents have been very unchristianly negligent in the education of such child . . ."

"And this last one, just to prove that, even then, the wimmin-folks had all the best of it: 'A man that strikes his wife shall be fined ten pounds. A woman that strikes her husband shall be punished at the Court's discretion.'"

Another event scheduled by the health department is a "Well Baby" clinic to be held at Bypro, Monday, January 18. The clinic will be held at Osborne's store between 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Mothers are urged to bring their babies to the clinic to start their immunization program. State law requires all children to have "shots" before they are one year of age.

Dr. Hall urges parents take advantage of this opportunity to have their children immunized.

Floyd county has 445 fathers at work now, and with 119 other applications for work now being processed the total is expected to rise soon to 550 or more.

More emphasis will be placed on benefits to the individual. Under the new program, training that will make the recipients more employable will be stressed. In some cases, jobless fathers will be paid for going to vocational classes instead of working along highways or on creek and river beds.

Unemployed parents of two or more children will qualify for work credits under the new program the same as under the old program. The number of dependent children will determine how much each worker or trainee is to receive.

MANY NEW JOBS VIEWED FOR SKILLED AMERICANS

Barring unforeseen war or depression, some 13 million new jobs will open up for technically trained Americans by 1970, predicts Lester Verlie in a January Reader's Digest article, "Where the Jobs Are." Three fourths of the jobs will be in private industry, the remainder in local and state government, schools, colleges, hospitals.

"We also need more men and women to teach the young and adult alike," writes Verlie. "Of the two million jobs created by the entire economy last year, the biggest group was in teaching."

In the next few years billion-dollar industries will arise from occupations that sounded like a fiction writer's fantasy a decade ago; recovering minerals and oil from the ocean floor; producing artificial human organs; vacuum freeze-drying foods; instructing electronic computers in how to perform office jobs.

Along with these there'll be soaring demand in the older professions. By 1970 we'll need 69 percent more engineers; more than twice as many mathematicians; 39 percent more chemists; 68 percent more metallurgists; 88 percent more biologists. Doctors, lawyers, technicians, business executives—all will be in sharply increased demand.

The key to individual success in this encouraging job picture is education, the Digest article asserts. Of the new jobs, 94 percent will require a high school diploma or better.

Government and industry are creating vast new training programs to meet the challenge, Verlie reports. The federal government and the states are spending more money than ever before on education. Area vocational high schools and free community colleges are burgeoning throughout the nation. Student loans and scholarships have reached all-time highs and are going higher.

Employers together provide some 17 billion dollars yearly for employee training—a sum equal to one third of the total spent on all public and private education. Some companies maintain training centers and even offer advanced degrees in cooperation with universities.

It adds up to a shining future for those who are prepared. Automation is a threat to those who are not equipped to meet its challenge. Some four million Americans have already been stranded by the rapid disappearance of manual work. Between them and a job stands a wall—that of education and training. As the process of automation accelerates, the wall may grow higher.

GOOD WEATHER PROGNOSTICATOR

Did you notice the little chipmunks, or ground squirrels last fall when they were scurrying around with their jaw pouches full of nuts, busy at laying by a winter store? If you did and saw how they held their tails, you were warned of the kind of winter to expect. In the fall of the year, if the little chipmunk holds its bushy tail straight back behind, it is a sure sign of a normal, seasonal winter; if it holds its tail straight up, it is a sure sign of a mild winter, with little snow. But if the chipmunk curls its tail over its back, then look out! We are due to have a bearcat of a winter! Those chipmunks I observed last fall were holding their tails straight out, which would seem to indicate a fairly normal winter, such as we are having. But the chipmunks don't know much about the kind of winter now, for they have long since crawled into their burrows, to snooze winter away.

TWO SPECIES OF VANISHING WILDLIFE

I shall now discuss two widely separated forms of wildlife, both of which are doomed to disappear from the picture in the not too distant future. Both species are doomed because of man's cruelty and thoughtlessness in dealing with all species of wildlife.

One of these is the whooping crane. These are magnificent birds, lords of the air when flying, and masters at vocal expression. The crane's long neck is equipped with a hollow trumpet and it makes a clanging noise that can be heard two miles away—hence the name "whooping crane." These birds are snow-white and fascinating to see. They have a red face and a green bill, and their wing feathers are tipped with black. Their long legs are also black, and their conspicuous black-and-white plumage has long made them prime targets for gunners. Hunters used to shoot them to get their snowy plumage; also in the days of the California Gold Rush, many of the gold-seekers would shoot the whooping cranes to get their long, hollow quills for carrying their gold dust.

But the whooping cranes are doomed to go the way of the famous passenger pigeons: the saddest thing about the disappearance of any species of wildlife is, it can never be brought back once it has vanished.

The whooping cranes were once nearly as abundant as the wild passenger pigeons, according to observers who watched their great flocks migrating around the year of 1800. It is said they would fly over in migration in such great numbers, it took them all of one day and a night to pass a given place, and when they were flying high overhead, the noise of their trumpeting was so deafening, it drowned out all sounds for miles around.

The flight of the whooping crane is a sight to watch. They fly with their long neck thrust straight out, and their black legs extended straight back, their whole body held straight as an arrow, and they are expert flyers, shooting through the blue like an arrow.

Today there are scarcely more than three dozen whooping cranes left out of the vast flocks that once filled the skies. Naturalists and others are working frantically to try to save the whooping cranes from extinction; but it is a losing gamble. They simply do not seem able to stage a comeback, and most experts agree it is only a matter of time until the last great whooper will vanish and join the ranks of the extinct birds.

The whooping cranes should always have compelled man's admiration and invoked in him a strong desire to save them instead of shooting them for their plumes and quills. In New England, the whooping cranes sometimes stopped off in their fall migrations to eat some of the farmer's corn; and the farmers declared war on them and shot them on sight! The whooping crane stands up straight when on ground, not feeding, almost as tall as a man! They lived once on a time in the southern swamps and marshlands and dined mostly on frogs, crayfish, salamanders, fish and insects; they also ate the juicy roots of various swamp plants. But the great ornithologist, Edward Howe Forbush, says: "The whooping crane is doomed to extinction. Much of its former habitat has been destroyed—wiped out by man when the swamplands were drained and filled to make room for subdivisions."

We now look across the ocean to a most interesting and beautiful animal that is now fast disappearing. This animal is the cheetah, which is the fastest animal in the world and can outrun an automobile doing 70 miles an hour! The name cheetah comes from the Hindu word, chita, meaning a leopard; it is a member of the cat family, and is about four feet long, with tawny yellow fur covered with black spots.

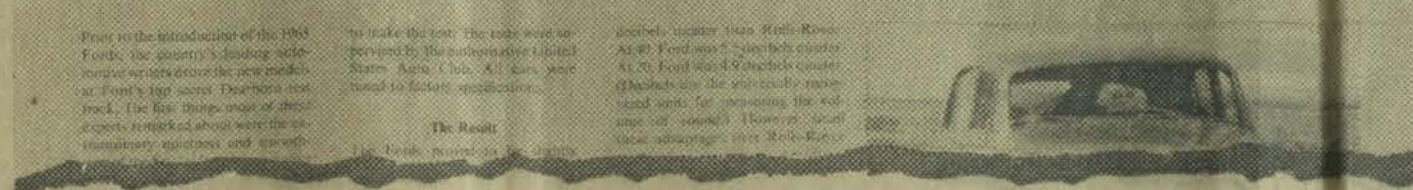

The cheetah has the longest legs of any of the big cats, but unlike the other cats, it cannot draw in its claws. Its long legs make it known as "the fastest land animal known." But the cheetah, once abundant in India and other Asian countries, has almost completely disappeared. The natives of India used to tame the cheetah and train it to run down various kinds of game; but it seems they took all the game away from it and let it starve.

The cheetah's fur is stiff and sleek and has been in much demand for making coats and high-priced outer garments. So it has been almost exterminated.

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

...and now let's talk about some other Ford surprises...

Test-drive a Ford—and you're in for some surprises. Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which 1965 Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, XL and LTD Hardtops) with 289-cu. in. V-8 engines rode quieter than a Rolls-Royce. These tests were certified by the U. S. Auto Club.

When you feel a 1965 Ford in action—with the strongest Ford body ever... a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" vibration... new ultra-soft coil spring suspension—you're bound to be impressed. But the ride is only one of Ford's surprises...

■ New swept-back instrument panel adds five inches extra knee room. ■ Transmission tunnel is lower for extra foot room. ■ Trunk has more space than ever—holds four 2-suiter standing upright. ■ Handy new "reversible" ignition key—works either side up.

■ Hot, but hushed, 289-cu. in. V-8 is standard equipment in XL and LTD models. ■ Smooth, thrifty all-new Bix Six in other models—the most powerful standard Six offered by any car in Ford's class. ■ V-8 options to 425 hp.

■ All Ford automatic transmissions have the speed, not two as in some competing cars. Result: you pass faster, shift smoother, save on gas. ■ Fully synchronized manual transmissions—you can even shift down to first without clashing gears. ■ New Ford LTD 4-door hardtops have 10 courtesy lights, ash trays. Upholstery treated to keep its beauty with Scotchgard® stain repellent. ■ Luxuries you'd expect only in the highest priced cars.

Surprised? You will be... when you visit our Ford Dealer and test-drive the Quiet One. Do it soon!

Our Historic Heritage

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No. 313 in a Series)

Buchanan Methodist Chapel and Cemetery

Buchanan Methodist Chapel, Buchanan, Lawrence County, Ky., is one of the historic landmarks of our region. Early river raftsmen watched for it on their descent of the river and noted the mileage and time to Catlettsburg. It has been a religious symbol for the community for more than a century.

The church cemetery is historic in its own right for here are buried members of the pioneer families of Kinner, Prichard, Curnutte, Mead, Stuart and many, many others. The small grave enclosure shown at the right is that of a small child, the elaborate and laboriously-constructed stone work indicative of the affection held for it in the hearts of the parents.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of the past in recognition of our historic heritage.

MEET PIKEVILLE SATURDAY
The Black Cats seek their fourth consecutive basketball triumph on the local court Saturday night when the Pikeville Panthers come to town. Pikeville has a 6-3 mark as compared with Jack Wells' club record of 7-4.

Meade Memorial zoomed to ninth place in Tuesday's state-wide high school basketball ratings. Holding Louisville Male, now fourth, to a three-point win was responsible for Meade Memorial's advance.

Martin is in 16th spot and Mullins, after beating Helliher twice, moved into a tie with Martin.

Other 15th region teams are rated in this order: McDowell, Morgan County, Wheelwright, Blaine, Belfry, Helliher and Prestonsburg.

Lexington Dunbar, the state's No. 1 prep team, is expected to receive the first bid to the annual Louisville invitational tournament this week. Ashland and Breckinridge County will be extended a bid and possibly Shelby County. If Ashland turns down the invitation, Denzil Halbert's Martin Purple Flash could get the nod.

Bob Tallent, former Maytown high all-state cager, is the leading scorer on the University of Kentucky freshman team with a 19.7-point per game average. His last-second goals last week won two games for the Kittens.

High schools have the opportunity to purchase tickets to the state high school basketball tournament this week. Sale to the public does not start until January 15. This year's event will be staged in Louisville's Freedom Hall, March 17-20. Now is the time to make hotel reservations.

Bayes To Participate In Training Program Slated At Frankfort

Wendell Bayes, district engineer in the Twelfth district highway office at Pikeville, has been selected as one of 32 key employees of the Kentucky Department of Highways to participate in a management training program in Frankfort, beginning January 4, Commissioner Henry Ward has announced.

The training program, which will run for six weeks, is designed to provide better coordination between the various district organizations and the central office in Frankfort, as well as to prepare employees for advancement within the Department's organization.

Bayes, who has been district engineer in Pikeville since 1962, will be replaced as acting engineer by K. B. Johns, assistant to the state highway engineer in the Frankfort office.

"I look upon the training program which we are initiating as one of the most vital programs begun in the Highway Department," Ward said in announcing the participants in the program.

The Twelfth highway district administers the highway program in the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Letcher, Martin and Pike.

Jackson Banker's Wife Victim of Home Blaze; Husband, Son Escape

Smith, asleep in another room, managed to get out but had to be treated for smoke inhalation.

One of the couple's three sons also fled to safety. The other two were visiting relatives.

Officials said there was a possibility the blaze may have been started by Christmas tree lights strung outside the two-story home.

They also theorized that Mrs. Smith, the former Barbara Hogge, of Morehead, was awakened by the fire and managed to reach the door but was unable to open it.

Fire damage was confined principally to one room. Smoke and water damaged much of the remainder of the house, however.

Smith, 39, became president of the First National Bank when he was 27. A native of Hindman, he also served as mayor of Jackson and as president of Lee's Junior College.

Mrs. Smith was a member of the First Methodist Church at Jackson and was a member of the board of directors of the bank.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, Hilliard Hagan Smith, Lester Hogge Smith and Leonard Wayne Smith, all at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hogge, Morehead; her grandmother, Mrs. James Cooper, Morehead, and two brothers, E. M. Hogge, Morehead, and Robert Hogge, California, Missouri.

Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday at the First Methodist Church, Jackson, by the Rev. Virgil Fryman, the Rev. Robert Yates and the Rev. William Delaney. Burial was made in the Jackson cemetery.

FEARS THAT INFLUENZA WILL STRIKE EXPRESSED

Epidemiologists of the U. S. Public Health Service fear that a serious influenza epidemic will strike in the winter of 1965-66, reports Don Murray in a January Reader's Digest article, "Flu—The Underestimated Enemy."

With its major complications, pneumonia, flu is the nation's No. 6 killer. The last flu epidemic, in 1963, added 57,000 to the normal U. S. death toll and the increase exceeded the number of automobile fatalities for that year.

Alone, influenza is rarely a direct cause of death. But the flu virus is a clever saboteur which infiltrates the body and aids the enemies within us. It makes us susceptible to bacterial infections, especially pneumonia. The aged are especially vulnerable to flu and its complications.

Last summer, the U. S. Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practice recommended that all people suffering chronic diseases, everyone over 65, and pregnant women be vaccinated. A first vaccination in September, with a second two months later, before the flu season begins, ordinarily gives winter and spring protection. Similar measures probably will be recommended this coming year.

Influenza has been a recognized killer since 1510, and more than 30 pandemics—worldwide epidemics—have been documented. In the 1918 pandemic, U. S. deaths exceeded 500,000, ten times the combat casualties of the American Expeditionary Force in World War I. Worldwide, more than 21 million people succumbed. The article is condensed from the Denver Post.

SERIOUS NEW DISEASE FOUND IN OHIO

Lexington, Ky.—"Maize dwarf mosaic" is the name picked for a serious new disease of corn first found in the Ohio River Valley in 1962. Kentucky is one of several states where the disease has been identified in the field. It severely stunts corn, reducing yields drastically and in some cases virtually wiping out field plantings.

PRIVATE LAND PRODUCTIVE

HOW DOES THE MANPOWER TRAINING PROGRAM WORK?

Frankfort, Ky.—What can unemployed Kentuckians do to increase their chances of finding permanent full-time jobs? One possible answer to this question is offered through job training courses under the Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA) or the Area Re-development Act (ARA). These courses are generally called job training, and in many cases can offer training and living allowances while a person is attending a course which teaches an employable skill.

What should an interested person do to see if he or she can qualify for one of these statewide programs?

Economic Security Commissioner Earle V. Powell has issued an invitation to Kentuckians interested in learning a new skill to contact one of the 24 district offices of the State Employment Service serving the Commonwealth.

"All applications for job training are taken by the employment service, which is a division of the Economic Security Department," Powell said.

To find out where to go to make application consult the local telephone directory under Kentucky state government listings. If there is no listing for a local employment office, there will be a number for the Economic Security Department's Division of Public Assistance which can furnish the needed information, he said.

Powell explained that job training classes are the joint responsibility of the State Departments of Education and Economic Security. All applications, however, are taken by Economic Security, which refers the students to the proper class and location, Powell said.

The commissioner said that job training applicants are interviewed to obtain information as to past education and employment experience. Tests are given to further assist in finding interests and aptitudes of potential students.

Recent changes in the manpower training programs now allow greater numbers of youthful applicants to qualify, and add to the total number of persons between the ages of 17 and 22 who may now be trained. These persons are often enrolled in special youth training classes for which training allowances of up to $20 per week plus other benefits may be paid to help them continue in training.

Adults, both men and women, can also qualify for training and payments while attending manpower classes if they are in a household in which the head of family is unemployed. The amount of the training allowance is based on an unemployment insurance formula and currently is about $34 a week, although more may be paid as a training allowance under certain conditions.

The payment of a training allowance is limited to one person in any one family or household, except for a youth receiving benefits under special youth training courses. Others may qualify for training, but do not receive the training allowances.

Powell also pointed out that trainees are allowed to work part-time up to 20 hours per week while training before such earnings affect the training allowance paid them under this program.

How long does this training last?

Some courses are as short as 16 weeks, but presently most run for 44 to 52 weeks. Changes in the manpower training law may allow some classes to go on longer in the future and include further training, he said.

What occupations are covered? The commissioner said that more than a hundred job specialties have been the subject of training courses thus far. The occupational variety runs from automobile mechanic or draftsman to farm worker for men and from clerk-stenographer to practical nurse for women.

Some classes also include basic education studies related to the content of the manpower course itself. This kind of training is especially important to trainees who have had only limited amounts of formal schooling, he said.

HOW MANY NUTS?

Two pounds of nuts in the shell will yield about one pound of nut-meats, says Mrs. Letta Jasper, UK Extension marketing specialist. Therefore, when the price of unshelled nuts is half the price of nut-meats of the same variety, the values are equal.

WIGGERY BURGLARIZED

Fort Worth—Fort Worth had a $21,000 wigery burglary Monday night. Police said thugs took 200 women's wigs from the Jane Russell shop. More than half the wigs belonged to customers and were in the shop for refurbishing—and therefore were not insured.

Lexington, Ky.—Should Kentucky farmers continue investing $40 million annually in ground limestone and fertilizers? Yes, says Harold Miller, UK Ag Extension Service soils specialist. A survey of soil test samples demonstrate vividly the continuing need for even more fertilizer than state farmers are using.
