SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, JANUARY 21, 1965

This Town . . . That World

The weather is improving, according to all schoolchildren and maybe a few teachers. Snow and ice closed the schools two days this week.

ON THE OTHER HAND . . .

These youngsters may sound a bit impertinent but they quite often make sense—or at least as much sense as their elders make. The story is told of the father who went to considerable pains to explain to his ten-year-old that a day missed in school now means a day to make up, next spring. "You've got to consider the future, son," was his sage advice. "That," rejoined the youngster, "reminds me of what the preacher was saying to you, the other night."

ON THE "BOOB-TUBE"

I like this Andy Griffith TV show, mainly because of Don Knotts and the opening scene in which Andy and the boy whistle their way toward the old fishin' hole. But, so help me, if I were Andrew I would teach that brat not to throw a rock into the water, first thing. This show for pleasant relaxing. Then for something to make you plumb tired is that one where they use a gadget to show a fellow if his nose is stopped up.

METER TIFF STIRS TOWN

Highway Department Says City of Martin Must Remove Meters

All parking meters on the east side of Ky. 80 through the town of Martin were out this week as the first step toward compliance with an order of the State Department of Highways, and the net result was a flurry of complaints from motorists and business men there.

Mayor John Roberts explained that the situation is one which is beyond his control or that of the City Council. He said that Department of Highways representatives met with him and other officials last week, pointed out that the meters are on the state right-of-way by permission of the department and that if the city did not remove all meters on both sides of the highway the permit originally granted for location of the meters would be revoked and the state would remove the meters.

Roberts said that a special meeting of the Council was then called and that removal of the meters on the east side of the highway was directed as a "compromise" measure. Meters on the opposite side of the highway are scheduled for removal unless a change in the road department order is made. He added that appeals have been made, asking Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward to relent from the order given last week. "Now," he said, "it's not a matter of what I want to do or can do. It depends on Frankfort."

Mayor Roberts said state road department personnel contended last week that the city of Martin has been "dragging its feet" on the elimination of parking meters along Ky. 80.

The 80-car parking lot constructed in connection with the Martin urban renewal project has been completed, and 36 new meters have been installed on it, it was said. Meters removed from the east side of the highway will be added to these to bring the number up to capacity of the lot.

Although it is claimed that the parking lot will accommodate as many vehicles as are ever parked at one time at the highway (See Story No. 7, Page 6)

$25,000 FUND SEEN FOR FLOYD PLANNING

GROUPS ACT TO INSURE BENEFITS

Domestic Peace Corps To Have Four Working In Rural Floyd County

The Floyd County Development Association and the Floyd fiscal court have acted jointly to procure through federal aid a planning service to insure Floyd county the fullest possible benefits from the so-called Anti-Poverty Bill recently enacted by Congress.

The county, as a result, may receive $25,000 for the employment of a full-time planner, with whatever assistance and facilities necessary, it was announced by County Attorney Barkley J. Stungill. The county will be required to appropriate only 10% of that total.

The move for this help for the county to plan various projects and take advantage of the varied benefits expected from the Johnson administration's "war on poverty" began with a meeting here January 12 of the Floyd County Development Association. After hearing details of the plan, the Association adopted a resolution authorizing County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney Stungill to submit the planning application to Washington.

Next day, the fiscal court named the Floyd County Community Action Committee, which is to act under the Floyd County Development Council and is to be recognized as an agency of the county with the sole authority to work out a community action program and submit it to the Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington, D. C.

Judge Stumbo said the county's part of financing the $25,000 planning facility has been made available.

COURSE SET FOR GROWERS

Strawberry Production Subject of 4 Classes; A.R.A. To Delay Cost

A training course for berry growers, the first of its kind in the state, was approved this week by the Area Redevelopment Administration for the counties of Floyd, Pike, Johnson and Martin. Emphasis of the course will be on strawberry production, it was said.

A similar course was approved two years ago for peach growers in Pulaski county. The classes here and in the other counties will run 16 weeks, six hours a day, five days weekly. It is thought that approximately 20 persons will be enrolled in each class.

The classes, to start in February, will be held at Prestonsburg high school for this county, at Johns Creek high school for Pike county, at Oil Springs high school for Johnson county and (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Dimes March Chairman Explains Fund Needs; Birth Defects Noted

Residents of Floyd county, by contributing to the March of Dimes campaign, will help combat birth defects which doom thousands of children to a lifetime of mental or physical disability, according to Mrs. Lloyd Stumbo, of McDowell, local campaign chairman.

Last year more than 5,000 Kentucky babies were born with recognizable birth defects such as deformities of the brain, spine, arms and legs, cleft palates and facial blemishes. And at least half of these infants died.

"Through centers and clinics, financed by our contributions to March of Dimes, trained medical teams are providing the best medical care available for birth-defect children and are developing new techniques to help many more of them live a useful life," the chairman said.

"Two of these centers are in Kentucky—at the University of Kentucky Medical Center and at Louisville General Hospital under sponsorship of the University of Louisville Medical School. They are seeking the causes of birth defects and ways of preventing them."

The March of Dimes campaign, headed in Kentucky by former Gov. Bert Combs, continues through Jan. 31. Contributions from Kentuckians helped to eradicate polio in this state. March of Dimes funds financed research on both the Salk and Sabin vaccines, which proved effective against the disease.

NEW ROTC PROGRAM DISCUSSION SLATED

Captain Stanley W. Campbell, assistant professor of Military Science, University of Kentucky, will be on the Prestonsburg Community College campus Tuesday, January 26, at 11 a.m. to discuss the new two-year ROTC program with interested male students. This meeting will be held in the lecture room at the college.

Highlights of this program include a commission as a second lieutenant in the United States Army, retainer pay of $40 per month during the two years the student is in the program. Also available are various special programs which offer financial assistance to the student who completes under-graduate studies and desires graduate work.

Significant changes in the traditional Air Force ROTC program now make it possible for junior college students to enter the advanced program and compete for career assignments as officers in the United States Air Force, even though they have not taken the basic AFROTC course.

These changes were brought about through recent passage of

Floyd county's first Certificate Night will be held next Wednesday evening at the Martin high school auditorium. It is announced. Approximately 70 adult students will receive high school equivalency certificates.

Dr. Harry Sparks, state Superintendent of Public Instruction, of Frankfort, will be the featured speaker. He will be introduced by County Superintendent Charles F. Clark.

BEAVER CREEK PLAN IS TOLD GROUP HERE

An ambitious program to improve two areas of this county and prepare them for future industrial development beyond the limitations of coal-mining is proposed that all pumps, motors and chemical feeders be replaced; the new intake lines be installed; the storage tank be repaired, cleaned and painted, since it is now unsafe for full capacity storage of 100,000 gallons; that approximately half of the existing two-inch distribution lines, a potential source of contamination of the water supply because of their rusted condition, be replaced. All this, it is estimated, would cost $22,000.

Wayland is supplied by a water system which is owned and operated by the water district and presently has 235 customers. It is proposed that all pumps, motors and chemical feeders be replaced; the new intake lines be installed; the storage tank be repaired, cleaned and painted, since it is now unsafe for full capacity storage of 100,000 gallons; that approximately half of the existing two-inch distribution lines, a potential source of contamination of the water supply because of their rusted condition, be replaced. All this, it is estimated, would cost $22,000.

It is recommended that 3,000 (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

Mr. Wells said applications have been filed for federal grants which, if made, would finance most of the cost of the giant undertaking involving improvement of water facilities from Wayland to Lackey, installation of such a system in the McDowell-Drift section and a sewer system for the Right Beaver area.

Basically, the proposed improvements would embrace water systems and sewage collection and disposal. But other items are included in the overall plan.

Besides the two major phases of the work, plans call for two lakes of approximately eight acres each, one at Wayland, the other in the McDowell-Drift area, to serve as water reservoirs, afford flood protection and offer recreation; a single-story stone structure at Wayland to serve as a community center; at each lake site a recreation building with bowling, billiards and restaurant facilities; a 60-bed nursing home for the aged at Wayland and McDowell, and a minimum of 10 duplex low-rent public housing units for each of the two areas.

Some of these and other detailed projects are admittedly ambitious, but it is pointed out that the water commission headed by Wells makes no apology for that, for "where there is no vision, the people perish."

To the group here last Friday night Wells explained that the plan is one designed not only to make the areas involved attractive and livable now but also to establish an environment which in the future will be attractive to new industry. The planning being done now, and the work proposed, he emphasized, is looking to the future when new industry will be necessary to save now-existing communities from the "ghost town" status as coal reserves are exhausted.

Cost of improvement of the existing water system in the Wayland area and of extending it to serve as far north as Lackey and of constructing a new system to serve the McDowell-Drift area is estimated at $702,040. A federal grant of 65% of the cost has been asked, the remainder to be paid by the sale of long-term revenue bonds.

Sewer system cost is estimated at $800,000. Although a grant of 80% is the highest yet made by the federal government, a 90% grant has been asked for this work.

The Beaver-Elkhorn Water District would be the fiscal authority for both areas.

NEW COAL OPERATION NOW IN PRODUCTION

Ky. 7 Section Slated For Blacktop Surface; March Contract Planned

A project to blacktop a section of the Lackey-Salersville road (Ky. 7) in this county has been authorized by Highway Commissioner Henry Ward.

Ward said the project would begin at Ky. 80, near Hueysville, and extend westerly a distance of 2.8 miles to the existing pavement on Ky. 7 at the mouth of Raccoon fork of Salt Lick Creek. He pointed out that this section was the last unpaved stretch of Ky. 7 between Salersville and Hueysville.

The project will be let to contract in March and completed by August of this year, Ward said. It will cost an estimated $222,000.

AUTO MISHAP KILLS MUSIC

Bonanza Man Victim On Abbott Mountain; Conduct Rites Monday

Kenneth Gale Music, 29, of Bonanza, was instantly killed Friday at 9:45 p.m. when the car he was driving collided with a pickup truck on the north side of Abbott Mountain. A passenger in the Music car, Clarence Fraiture, of Bonanza, suffered a fractured arm and was hospitalized at King's Daughters' hospital, Ashland.

Melvin Swain, of Paintsville, driver of the truck, suffered a dislocated hip. He was taken to the Paintsville hospital.

Music suffered skull, chest and other injuries. None of those involved was thrown from the vehicles. The truck, it is said, had to be lifted from the car in which Music was killed.

Music, who was never married, was associated with his father in the operation of the Ken Coal Company.

He was a son of Gale and Mattie Spradlin Music, who survive. Surviving are two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Lora Jean Burchette, St. Albans, West Virginia, Miss Phyllis Ann Music, and James Gordon Music, both of Bonanza. Also surviving is the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Laura A. Spradlin, of Bonanza.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at 10 a.m. from the Bonanza United Baptist Church, the Revs. Wallace Calhoun and John Pelphrey officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Floyd Man Succumbs In Ashtabula, Ohio; Burial At Buckingham

Minas Cook, 32, formerly of Buckingham, this county, died Tuesday at Ashtabula, Ohio. Death was sudden while he was at work in a greenhouse.

Mr. Cook was a son of Dave Cook, of Buckingham, and the late Mrs. Oka Hall Cook. Two children survive. Surviving brothers and sisters are Nelson Cook, of Buckingham, Raymond Cook, New Albany, Indiana, Mrs. Allene Greene, Michigan City, Indiana, and Mrs. George Kings, Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral rites will be conducted Friday from the residence of Burnis Hall, at Buckingham. Burial will be made in the family cemetery under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

MINISTERIAL GROUP VOICES OPPOSITION

Opposition to HR 2362, the administration's federal education bill, was voiced this week by the Floyd County Ministerial Association in a letter to Congressman Carl D. Perkins, who will head the House subcommittee hearings on the proposed legislation.

The bill seeks to skirt the issue of separation of church and state by providing for financial assistance to persons, or pupils, rather than directly to schools.

But, wrote the ministers, "We do not believe that President Johnson's proposal to circumvent this church-state issue does so. This is definitely violating our historic principle that Congress shall make no laws respecting an establishment of religion."

Concerning indigent children, they have always been welcome, are welcome now, and will always be welcome at our public schools. It is not necessary for any child to attend a private or parochial school. Do not let the mask of poverty hide this attempt to destroy our genius of a free church in a free state."

Though a dominant figure in the drive for federal aid to education for several years, Congressman Perkins has opposed such aid to private and parochial schools.

MILLION-TON PRODUCTION PREDICTED

Evans Mine at Printer Expected To Work 200; 25 Years of Work Seen

A Floyd county mine which is designed ultimately to employ 200 men has been opened on Spurlock Fork of Left Beaver Creek, near Printer, and already is in operation at approximately half of its potential of a million-tons-per-year capacity.

Two sections of the big operation are now working, and the remaining sections are expected to be opened to work during the first quarter of next year. George E. Evans, Jr., president of the Evans Elkhorn Coal Company, said this week.

The Left Beaver Creek mine is the fourth to be placed in operation in this county by Evans Elkhorn which is now one of the largest independent employers in the valley. The mine is operated under full union contract.

Operation of the first two sections began after the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company had constructed a three-mile spur track up Spurlock to the mine site where a modern coal preparation plant, described as the equal of anything in the Big Sandy valley, is being built.

Evans Elkhorn has under lease from the Elk Horn Coal Corporation and the Harkins Mineral Corporation there 21 million tons of coal. It is expected that within two to three years the mine will be producing a million tons of coal a year.

Contractor on the preparation plant is the McNally Pittsburgh Manufacturing Corporation. Foundation work is being done by Irvin Akers, sub-contractor, and erection of the plant is scheduled to begin February 1.

The mining operation is completely mechanized, and some of its equipment is such an innovation that coal industry representatives from practically all parts of the country have come to the mine site to inspect it.

DR. HYDEN WANTS TO BE YOUR COUNTY JUDGE

A man who offers experience and who is interested in better financial management, efficient administration, and a revamped, progressive road-building program for Floyd county. A man who believes that the oath of office is a sacred trust to be honored as such, and believes that justice should be impartially administered, though tempered with mercy.

MY REASONS FOR WANTING TO SERVE YOU:

1. While a student at Caney Junior College I took an unwritten pledge to return to the mountains to serve my people. It was my understanding that such service would be rendered in whatever field that my talents would permit and that personal sacrifice would not stand in the way. I have prepared myself, through twenty years of study in public schools and colleges, through health service in the dental field and through extensive interest in public affairs.
2. I believe that I am better prepared to offer a forward program of cooperation with both local, state and federal governments in bringing their assistance to Floyd county.
3. I believe that it is my duty, with the help of all Floyd countians, to return the office of County Judge to the people. It is my belief that, after 26 years in office, any man should step aside for younger people. I ask for only four years.
4. I believe that too many of our people in the hollows and creeks have been long neglected in the road-building program—to them I will be dedicated and only by serving as your County Judge will I be able to help.
5. I want to be your County Judge because I believe that I can better provide leadership in economic development by encouraging a better climate for industrial growth and job opportunities.
6. I want to be your County Judge because I think this is one of the greatest honors any man can have bestowed upon him, one in which his descendants will be proud. Should we select only one man every 25 years?—Then there would only be 4 different ones every 100 years.

Cawood Calls BASKETBALL

by Cawood Ledford

THE "BIG MAN" HUNT

Everybody, it seems, is looking for that "good" junior college basketball star. The recruiting of players from the two-year colleges has come into fashion in recent years. Boys who are overlooked in the annual talent search for high school players, or who develop late, usually enroll in the junior colleges. Not too many years ago they played their two years there, then forgot about any further athletic ambitions. Not any more. Coaches at the four-year schools who have come up short for some reason or another, actively recruit the junior college star. His most important asset is that he immediately becomes eligible to play, without the one-year enforced layoff that faces a transfer from a four-year college.

Two Kentucky schools are on tour right now, seeking the junior college "big man" who can step right into the lineup next season. Kentucky and Western have found themselves without that "big man" so vital to basketball success these days. And neither has one on its freshman team to take over next year.

Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp says, "We're looking for the best big junior college player in this country, and we mean to get him when we find him." Coach Rupp says if that player happens to be a Negro, he will be the first to play at UK. "We simply have been unable to win against some of the big teams on our schedule," says Rupp. "All we need is that big boy, and just bide your time, we're going to get him." Western is in much the same boat. The Hilltoppers in their struggle to get back on top in the Ohio Valley Conference, have recruited some first class talent. But that "big man" is missing, and the junior colleges, in Western's opinion, hold the answer. While Kentucky and Western are the most eager seekers of talent from the junior college ranks in this area, other colleges across the nation are plagued with the same problem. As usual, it will be a hectic recruiting race.

RESCHEDULED

Inclement weather during the week caused postponement of two Tuesday games on the high school basketball front. Martin's invasion of Prestonsburg has been reset for this Saturday night and Paintsville will journey to Wheelwright, also on Saturday for its make-up.

Martin, now leading the 15th region with an overall record of 22-2, also has attained the highest L-R rating of any regional school, 17th place in the state. Meade Memorial, second in the region, is in 21st place and Mullins is 23rd. Others in the region's top ten are: McDowell, Morgan County, Belfry, Wheelwright, Hellier, Prestonsburg and Virgie.

The Floyd County Fish & Game Club is now selling memberships for the year. Cost is $1.00. Enroll now and support a worthy group. The Kentucky Division of Fisheries has released 33,000 large-mouth bass in Dewey Lake. The size was from three to eight inches. An additional 17,000 are to be released in March.

LANDOWNERS RESTRAINED

Interference Enjoined In Auguring Operation On Right Beaver Creek

Garland Martin and J. W. Webb, Turkey Creek landowners, were temporarily restrained last Thursday by order of the Floyd circuit court from interfering with or preventing the Turner Elkhorn Mining Company from auguring-mining coal on their lands which had been conveyed by old mineral deeds.

At the same time the company filed a complaint asking a permanent injunction against the landowners.

One of the deeds to the mineral was dated July 11, 1890; the second, on November 1, 1905. The plaintiff says that the Court of Appeals has held that under these deeds the owner of the coal is entitled to mine by strip or auger operation without liability for any damage to the surface, "unless such coal-owner acts arbitrarily, wantonly or maliciously."

The company also says refusal of defendants to permit mining operations to continue on the surface lands claimed by them will stop an operation producing 600 tons, or $2,400 worth, of coal a day, and idle $150,000 worth of machinery and 14 workers. Auger mining is proposed along five or six miles on Turkey Creek, and plaintiff points out that it is not feasible for them to skip one farm along this line of operation.

feet of four-inch water line be installed at Glo, a future development area, and that the existing six-inch line which now ends at Estill be extended to Lackey, a distance of approximately 8,000 feet—this at an estimated cost of $68,000.

An additional $14,000 would be required for new meters for the entire system.
The new 300,000-gallons-per-day water treatment plant and distribution system proposed for McDowell-Drift would entail the expenditure of an estimated $400,000.

Sewer system work at Wayland would cost an estimated $425,000; at Garrett, $250,000. (Sewer work for McDowell-Drift is not asked, since a water system is not in operation there.)

Estimated costs of other lesser projects:
Each of the two small lakes planned, $60,000; recreation building at each lake site, $62,000; Wayland community center, $49,000.

Cost of the study made of the Beaver-Elkhorn watershed area by the Triangle Service Company, Lexington, and other expenses incident to the filing of applications for federal aid have been privately borne.

Burl Spurlock, Prestonsburg banker, suggested that the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District commissioners could more effectively work for federal aid through the Regional Development Association. Citing experiences of Prestonsburg in financing its varied improvements, he said that federal planning grants are available.

Taking part in the discussion of the plans for the two areas of the county were J. M. Stumbo, sanitarian, Floyd County Health Department; George Evans, Wayland, coal operator; County Superintendent Charles Clark and Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, both residents of the area, and Arnold Cooley, member of the water commission.

Others attending the meeting were E. G. Foresman, Jr., of the Triangle Service Co., Lexington; Art Travis, representing the Stephen W. Watkins Engineering Co., Lexington; George Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect; Mrs. J. C. Wells, and Mrs. Arnold Cooley, of Estill; Mrs. William Hoffman and Mrs. C. J. Cahill, both of Drift.

Milk cow numbers in 1964 was 16.1 million, and it is expected to drop about two percent this year. This continues a long-time trend in the United States.

Sturgill, Hazard, chairman of the board of the Kentucky Coal Association (second from left) and Fred B. Bullard (right), Lexington, president of the Kentucky Coal Association. The luncheon celebrated the mining this month of the three-billionth ton of Kentucky coal. A solid block of coal representing that three-billionth ton will be placed in the rotunda of the capitol.

An article in the current number of COAL AGE by David E. Bayer, vice-president of Evans Elkhorn, discusses some of this equipment. Coal is being mined there by conventional mining methods by the use of rubber-tired cutters. No estimate of the cost of the entire installation was made available.

Hauling of coal from the mine to the preparation plant will be by battery-powered tractor-trailers, which Evans Elkhorn officials themselves designed. The trailers, which will transport about six tons of coal per trip, can be unloaded without uncoupling from the tractor, and use of a battery-powered motor eliminates trailing power cables. "This new equipment is beginning to show up real well," Mr. Evans commented.

Opening of the new mine comes 24 years after Mr. Evans first entered the coal mining business in this county. His first operation was in the Estill-Glo vicinity where main offices of the company are located. The company operates three other coal tips—at Glo, Goose Creek and Welco—and a preparation plant at Wayland.

Officers of the company, in addition to Mr. Evans and Mr. Bayer, are Daniel H. Slone, secretary, and Mrs. Josephine Evans, treasurer.

OPEN TO QUESTION ON ALL POINTS

Lon Hill sends me the following anecdote, with this note: "I should think that a good Baptist or a bad newspaperman, or vice versa, would soria advertise the enclosed."

The enclosure was this: Two high school graduates were riding on a bus in Texas and discussing their futures, much to the discomfort of a little old Baptist lady who was sitting behind them.

"I think I'll go to Southern Methodist," said one. "I understand there are only five Baptists enrolled there."
"I'm going to Texas Christian," said the other. "There are only two Baptists there."

The little old lady leaned forward and tapped them on the shoulder. "Why don't you go to hell?" she snapped. "There aren't any Baptists there."

meters, business people point out that the removal of the meters to the parking lot will cost them the business of motorists who refuse to walk from the lot to their stores.

Roberts said highway personnel also talked of removal of the two traffic lights now operating in Martin, but that his and other appeals resulted in a decision to permit them to remain in operation until the end of the present school term. He said the state proposes speed limit signs through the town in lieu of lights.

If the state sticks to its order, the only parking permitted on either side of the highway will be at designated zones for loading or unloading.

The same situation is expected to prevail in Prestonsburg upon completion of the two parking areas to result from urban renewal.

COURTESY AND EFFICIENCY URGED AT KENTUCKY PARKS

It's not only what's up front that counts—but also how it's served. Front-desk personnel at all of Kentucky's 13 vacation-type State parks heard this many times during their recent five-day training school at Jenny Wiley State Park. And courtesy was mixed in the efficiency package they were taught to present to state park guests. Superintendents of the parks watched the package presentation, too. As Parks Commissioner Robert D. Bell put it, "The first impression for our visitors is made at the front desk. This many times is the most lasting impression that some of our visitors have. Even the comment cards from the guests prove this. "We've emphasized courtesy and efficiency since the beginning of Kentucky State parks, but we can't overdo it—especially with our system continuing to expand as it is. "Our front-desk personnel need to know more than just the rates. They must be very courteous and efficient, of course. And they should know all of the programs in the park they serve, other area attractions, and road routes." And the school, taught by specialists in pertinent fields as well as by state park personnel, accentuated these ideas throughout the five days of instruction. This front-desk course was another of the 11 different schools planned for this winter and next spring for workers in all phases of state park operation.

COURTESY AND EFFICIENCY are emphasized in this demonstration at the school for State Park front-desk personnel held recently at Jenny Wiley State Park, near Prestonsburg. Behind the registration counter are Lowell Baker, superintendent, and Miss Barbara Hignite, clerk, both of the host park. The "guests" signing in are Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Flanagan of Lake Cumberland State Park, near Jamestown. He is superintendent, and she is the reservation clerk at Lake Cumberland.

Reservation procedures—even for veteran personnel—were included in study and practice during the school. Attention focused on the business side of state park operation, too. Bud Camp, internal audit director for the Kentucky Department of Parks, lectured and led discussions in administration and auditing. Louis Hempel, director of the Central Reservation office in Frankfort, reviewed that unit's highly successful first year. In addition to expressing gratitude for the various parks' cooperation last summer in this key new function, Hempel projected improvements for the second year coming up. The Fall Package Program at state parks was successful, despite the late start, those at the school were told by Charlie Spears, director of operations. A Spring Package Program, Spears said, will include special week-ends and/or days in these probable themes: spelunking (cave hunting and exploring), folk music festival, archery tournament, fishing festival, golf tournament, spring flower festival, stamp collecting, coin collecting, bridge playing, competitive casting, square dancing and antique cars. Greenskeepers for State park golf courses had attended an earlier school at Kentucky Dam Village State Park, near Gilbertsville. Another school, for boat dock supervisors, was held at Jenny Wiley. Still others, by these specialties, are planned as follows: Maintenance supervisors, February 1-3, Cumberland Falls State Park, near Corbin; chefs and cooks, February 22-26, also at Cumberland Falls; general staff seminar, March 29-31, also at Cumberland Falls; business managers, April 12-23, Lake Cumberland State Park, near Jamestown. A meeting for souvenir supervisors will be held May 3-4 at General Butler State Park, near Carrollton; for house keeping supervisors, May 11-13, at General Butler; and for recreation supervisors, June 7-9, at Lake Cumberland. The site and date for a school for dining room supervisors is still to be announced.

HALE FAMILY

The Hale family, long prominent in the Eastern Kentucky counties of Floyd, Martin and Magoffin counties, is the subject of a section in THE MIDDLE NEW RIVER SETTLEMENTS AND CONTIGUOUS TERRITORY, by David E. Johnston, published in 1906. The section is reprinted here.

The section is titled "The Hales of the New River Valley." It follows:

"This family is of English origin, descendants of the Hales of Kent. The first American emigrant of the name coming in 1632, bore the coat of arms of the Kentish Hales—three broad arrows, feather white on a red field. The traditional story in the family of these New River Hales is that the family was quite numerous in Massachusetts and Connecticut, and that some time prior to the beginning of our war for independence there were in one family of this name seven brothers, all of whom joined the American army; a part of them served through the war under General Washington in and around Boston, in the Jerseys and in Pennsylvania; that one of the older brothers, who had a family, drifted south to Virginia some years prior to the beginning of the Revolution, and located in what is now Franklin county, Virginia; that this settler had a son Edward, who served in the American army in the early period of the Revolution, and later, in 1779, came across the Alleghenies into the New River Valley, and later married a Miss Patsy Perdue and settled on Wolf Creek."

Edward Hale was born about 1750, was a man of rather small stature, fair complexion and blue eyes, was a man of information and intelligence, and became a prominent figure on the border in his day, engaging in the Indian wars, fights and skirmishes. He was with the party under Captain Matthew Farley, that followed the Indians in the summer of 1793, after their attack on Mitchell Clay's family, on the Bluestone at Cover bottom, and was in the skirmish had with a part of these Indians on Pond Fork of Little Coal River, in which he killed an Indian at the first fire. From the back of this Indian killed by Edward Hale, William Wiley, who was in the party of pursuers, took a strip of the Indian's hide, which he gave to Hale and was used by him and a number of his family for many years as a razor strap. Opposite this page is the photograph of Dr. James W. Hale, a descendant of the Captain Edward Hale above mentioned.

"Edward Hale marched with Captain Shannon's company to North Carolina, in February, 1781, and was in the engagement at Wetzel's Mills, on the 6th day of March, and at Guilford Court House on the 15th day of the same month. In 1785 Edward Hale married Miss Patsy Perdue, a daughter of Uriah Perdue, then recently removed from what is now Franklin county, Virginia. Mrs. Hale was a sister of the wife of the elder Joseph Hare. The names of the children of Edward Hale and his wife are as follows, viz: Thomas, Isaiah, Charles, Jesse, Isaac, Daniel, Elias and William; and the daughters, Mary and Phoebe. Thomas married Miss Lucas, Isaiah married Margaret Lucas, Isaac married Miss Lucas, Jesse married Margaret Watts, Daniel married Elizabeth Watts, Elias married Nancy Peters, William married Miss Williams; Mary married John Williams, and they moved to the state of Missouri, and Phoebe married John McClougherty, son of Jesse.

"Thomas Hale had sons, Charles, Edward, Lorenzo D., Green, Thomas and Ralph; daughters, Priscilla, who married William H. French, Martha, who married, first, David F. Alvis, second William Shannon; Rhoda, who never married.

"Isaac had one son, Daniel P., daughters, Eliza who married Captain James F. Hare; Martha, who married Russell G. French; Mirian, who married Isaac H. Day; Mary, who married Charles E. Hale; Sarah, who married, first, Rufus Brown, second Luke Wells; Daniel P., married Martha Shumate. Daniel had sons, Thomas, Charles E., John A., and Daniel F., and daughters, Elizabeth, who married William Shumate; Paulina, who married C. W. Tolley; Linney, who married R. G. Rowland; Cornelia, who married William Brown.

"Charles had sons, John D., William H., and Isaac (the latter died young); daughters, Hulda, who married Andrew Fillingim; Martha, who married John Walker.

"Isaiah had sons, Erasim (who died young), Luther C., who married Miss Alice Peck; the daughters, Charlotte married William Moser, Louisa married Jacob Snidow, Juliana married Wolf Crothing, Virginia married James Kinzie, Wilmath married Andrew J. Hare. Isaiah Hale married a second wife Mrs. Sallie Lybrook, whose maiden name was Hall; they had daughters, Lizzie, who married George Spangler; Sallie L., who married J. Harvey Dunn, and the son, Luther C., above mentioned.

"Jesse had sons, Hamilton J. (died during the Civil War), Ed.

To the Public

We, the family of Maryland Isaac, wish to take this means of telling all concerned how sorry we are about the disturbance caused over the Dingus cemetery at Dinwood. At the time we did not know of any agreement and were given permission to bury him at the spot mentioned. We sincerely hope this will not keep others who have planned to be buried there from doing so. If any damage was done to the property or any charges are expected, the landowners will have to notify the family immediately. Mr. Isaac has been moved to the May cemetery, Mantion, Ky., where we believe he will rest in peace.

FORESTRY PROGRESS REPORTED FOR YEAR

Frankfort, Ky. — All divisions within the Department of Natural Resources were responsible for significant benefits to the state during 1964, Commissioner J. O. Matlick has reported.

Summing up the year's work in a report to Governor Edward T. Breathitt, the Commissioner led off with the forestry division's accomplishments.

Most important on the list, he said, was the completion of a three-year inventory of Kentucky's forest resources. The first since 1949 and by far the most comprehensive yet undertaken, the study shows timber by acreage, kind, and size in a county-by-county breakdown.

Together with a newly-completed directory of the primary forest-products industries in the state, the inventory is expected to help fulfill timber's role in Governor Breathitt's billion-dollar farm income goal, the report stated.

Progress was also made in a related effort—fire-fighting.

Commissioner Matlick reported that, despite the tinder-dry fall season of 1964, the department reduced "fire occurrence and acreage burned by 40 percent from the 1963 rate." This was done by:

—Adding more equipment, 10 new fire-weather stations, and additional miles of fire-control access roads;

—Extending the state's organized fire-protection system to a total of 92 counties;

—Training 1,500 rural civil defense volunteers in proper fire-fighting techniques, as part of a federal-state pilot project intended to bring the remaining 28 counties into the regular statewide program, and

—Alerting the fire-fighting crews a month earlier than usual and enlisting public support.

Perhaps the biggest Natural Resources story of the year, reported by the department, was the 1964 General Assembly's enactment of a tougher strip mining law, emphasizing more intensive reclamation of lands.

To meet the new needs called for by the law, Deputy Commissioner Robert K. Montgomery reorganized the Strip Mining and Reclamation Division, then expanded the force of field inspectors who must see to compliance with the law and regulations.

In 1964, 187 new permits and 133 supplemental permits were issued to coal operators representing 7,642 acres; nine operators who had not complied with the laws were prosecuted; and ten others paid $9,700 in bond forfeits to the state.

Meanwhile, in Congress, Kentucky's "Master Plan" for flood protection got a healthy boost toward reality in the form of additional appropriations for projects around the state.

"The acceleration of the flood control program," the Commissioner told Governor Breathitt, "resulted in six new major dams under construction, three flood protection projects initiated, and six new dams seemingly feasible and ready for authorization by Congress."

The 1964 General Assembly also passed a bill extending the authority of the Flood Control and Water Resources Development Division, providing penalties for failure to obtain approval of construction plans affecting streams, and strengthening enforcement procedures to prevent indiscriminate dumping in the state's waterways.

Looking to the future, Commissioner Matlick recommended support for:

1. The proposed $176 million bond issue in 1965, so that the department—one of its planned beneficiaries—can finance needed forestry facilities and improvements as well as continue the state's program of developing a "chain of lakes" through the use of highway fills as dams.

2. A new departmental committee set up to promote outdoor recreation on private farms and state forest lands alike.

3. More Forestry-Corrections camps designed to improve the forests and to rehabilitate the prisoners.

4. Intensifying the Beautification Division's campaign to "Make Kentucky a Cleaner, Greener Land."

5. Key educational and promotional programs, especially the Conservation Caravan and the new quarterly magazine, OUR HERITAGE.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.

Western Kentucky Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky.

"LEAVES, BARKS, ROOTS"

In October, 1964, I lectured to the class in Folklore at Morehead State College, using my Mammoth Cave regional study as a basis. On the same evening a student of last year had been asked to return and give her review of the project she worked out for the course. It was a large biscuit board, containing some sixty specimens of leaves, barks and roots used in folk medicine in her own mountain county and, usually, by some relative or neighbor of hers. Her arrangement was clever, with fresh leaves at the top of the exhibit board, strips of bark in the middle, and roots at the bottom, all wired securely to the board. When she was asked why this arrangement, she said there was nothing secret about it: leaves grow from stems, and stems have roots. In my lifetime of attending folklore meetings I do not recall any more effective arrangement and presentation.

Each specimen was named, usually with the folk name, which, fortunately, has become well known scientifically. As there was not enough room for the uses of the specimen on the board, the lady student explained how pokeberries were good for rheumatism, horehound for coughs and sore throat, catnip tea for colic, etc., pointing out each time to the group of listeners the actual specimen. I was so impressed with her project that I urged her to give her talk and exhibit her specimens at our state folklore society meeting next spring or some other time. Before and after her talk and my speech she and I discussed my half-serious, half-comic idea of a folk drugstore. Her exhibit would certainly represent a big section of what I had thought of. Both of us wished that it were possible to have the actual teas and salves and poultices and candy and pills that these leaves and barks and roots could make. I suggested, of course, some branch water and some stump water, which are two of my trademarks as a folk medicine man.

One of the surprises this exhibit gave me was that in nearly every instance these same remedies of the Kentucky mountains were identical with those at Mammoth Cave, but they varied widely from the ones I knew in Calloway county as a child. You see, as I so often have said in this column, Fidelity and much of the Jackson Purchase had a great many early settlers from North Carolina, many of them descendants of families who were not FfV's but relatively late comers to America from Northern Ireland. In the numerous studies of folk language made in our mountains there is a considerable gap between the usage there and the usage in the Mammoth Cave area. The mountains have far more left-over words from older periods of English, but, apparently, the folk remedies stuck better.

It has been a source of great satisfaction to me that the older people whom I have been interviewing seem to recognize the importance of getting some sort of record of these earlier words and practices. I still think the best comment I have heard was made on the day when I made my first recordings of voices. I

ROY L. ATHERTON
Your Telephone Manager

THEY DIDN'T KNOW WHAT THEY WERE STARTING! We're talking about Gardiner Hubbard and Thomas Sanders who financed Alexander Graham Bell's early experiments and shared in his patents. That was back in the 1800's. We've come a long way from those early earthbound experiments to Telstar and trans-oceanic cables! By the way, the first telephone had 12 parts. To meet today's high standards, our phones require 475 parts!

WHY IS YOUR TELEPHONE LIKE A LADY'S COSMETIC CASE? Sound like a silly question? Well, it has a very sensible answer. Western Electric, the company that manufactures telephone parts, uses many beauty preparations in the manufacturing process. Beeswax (the same kind that goes into eye shadow) is used as a preservative for small wooden parts. A special kind of alcohol, also used in cologne, is used as a finishing solution for telephone parts. Talcum powder in pressed cores is used for loading coils which are placed in telephone circuits. You might say, the same cosmetics that subtract years from a woman's appearance, add years to the life of your phone!

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN EATEN OUT OF HOUSE AND HOME? Do you lead a charmed life? Are you merry as the day is long? If so, you're a living example of some of the immortal quotations from William Shakespeare. Day after day, all over the world, lines from his writings are in every English-speaking country. Even though his writings are hundreds of years old, his thinking is as up-to-date as tomorrow, and means as much to us as it did to the Englishmen of his time. Here are some more of his famous quotes: Method in his madness . . . give the devil his due . . . the milk of human kindness . . . elbow room . . . with bag and baggage . . . laugh yourself into stitches. And, to quote the Bard again . . . all's well that ends well!

WE HAVE A CURE FOR THE "AFTER-CHRISTMAS-THANK-YOU-NOTE-BLUES" . . . telephone your thank you's! It's such a nice, personal way to say "thank you." (Quicker, too!)

BREATHITT PLEDGES SUPPORT TO HIGHWAY

"It will take a lot of hard work, as you all know," he told a crowd of 300 who had come to the Martin county seat for Governor's Day. "But I know you have it in you and it made me proud today to sit down with your able leaders and hear their plans for roads, water and sewage systems, and consolidated schools. All of this is needed before industries will come here with jobs, and those of us in your government will do our best to help you."

In a speech at Inez high school, he advised the assembled students not to join the drop-outs, no matter what sacrifice it might take to stay in school. The untrained and uneducated, face an uncertain future, with low pay at best and fewer and fewer jobs in years to come.

Strongly urged on the Governor by Martin and Floyd county groups, including officials of the two counties, was construction of a highway up Middle Fork of Rockcastle Creek to connect with new U. S. 23 at the Mouth of Johns Creek. Gov. Breathitt promised that he would confer with Highway Commissioner Henry Ward and seek to determine the fastest way that the road can be built.

The road, as envisioned by supporters, would come down Daniels Creek, below Dewey Dam, and connect with U. S. 23 at the mouth of Johns Creek. The route is urged as a short cut to Prestonsburg, its Community College and Jenny Wiley State Park and as a means of opening Martin county to modern transportation and industrial development.

Later on in the busy day, the Governor paid an unscheduled visit to the Inez headquarters of a new public health drive. Project workers were hard at work cleaning up a vacant store for a temporary clinic when Governor Breathitt walked in and grabbed a broom to help out.

Dr. David Steinman, a young Texan with the U. S. Public Health Service, explained to the Governor that the program officially opens January 18 and combines a continuing state-administered tuberculosis eradication project with a Federal pilot project of physical examinations.

Before mid-April, when the project ends, examinations will be given to 2,000 men, women and children—about 22 per cent of the county's population. Assisting Dr. Steinman will be Dr. Russell L. Hall, Floyd-Martin county health officer; Dr. John W. Ford, of Inez, and a team of three other doctors, two dentists, three X-ray and laboratory technicians, three nurses, a health educator, and two clerk-typists.

Soil Conservation

BY GERALD N. HART
Work Unit Conservationist

The drainage systems were installed by the following cooperators during 1964:

Troy Frasure, of Galveston; Jesse Wright, of Prestonsburg; Clyde Osborn, of Grethel; Milton Prater, of Brush Creek; Willie Hale, of Pyramid and Cleverett Akers, of Prater Creek. Several other systems were surveyed and designed but weren't installed.

There are 2,590 acres of imperfectly drained soils in Floyd county which need draining to secure the maximum potential. Some of the benefits from tile drainage are (1) It lowers the water table, (2) Increases the root zone, (3) Increases air movement in the soil, (4) Allows more intense rotations on less erodable soils, (5) Reduces the amount of erosion due to excessive surface runoff, and (6) Plants being grown receive greater benefits from fertilizers being applied.

Anyone interested in open or closed drainage should contact the Floyd county SCD or Soil Conservation Service in Prestonsburg. For cost-sharing on the above practices contact the A.S.C.S. office in Prestonsburg.

Frankfort, Ky. — Kentucky's state parks and shrines already have been visited by over two million visitors more than in last year's record tourist season — with December totals still to be counted.

Frankfort, Ky. — Gov. Edward T. Breathitt has approved a $40,334 grant from his contingency fund to provide administrative costs for the federal food stamp program in seven Eastern Kentucky counties.

Our Historic Heritage

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky
(No. 315 in a Series)

Tree At Grave of Samuel Auxier (1779-1801)

Samuel Auxier, Revolutionary soldier, founded the Auxier settlement at Block House Bottom in the Big Sandy Valley near the present East Point in 1795. During the Revolution he served chiefly as a wilderness spy in Eastern Kentucky in order to guard the Virginia settlements from sudden Indian attack.

Two of his associates on spy tours were Lazarus Damron and James Fraley, both later pioneers in the region they explored while in service.

Auxier was killed in 1801 while hunting on Abbott Creek. His horse, frightened at being suddenly spurred, ran against a tree, fatally injuring the old pioneer. He lived but a few days and was buried in Block House Bottom under the spreading branches of this giant oak tree that shaded his grave for more than a century and a half.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of the past in recognition of our historic heritage.

"The children of Elias Hale and his wife, Nancy Peters Hale, are as follows, viz: John E., married Miss Moore; Charles A., who married Miss Bailey; Captain Rufus A., who married Julia Bailey; Conrad married ... daughters, Mary, who married Calvin Harry; Ardella, who married John T. Carr; Julia, who died unmarried.

"Edward Hale died about 1820 and his descendants are among the most valued citizens of the country; they have occupied prominent and important positions in the civil and military affairs of the district of the country in which they have lived. They have been farmers, physicians, lawyers, merchants, magistrates, members of the Legislature and judges. As soldiers they have always been the equals of any that the country has sent forth; they fought, bled and died on nearly every important battlefield of our civil war.

"Dr. James W. Hale—formerly a distinguished physician—now an able lawyer, residing at Princeton, West Virginia, was a valiant Confederate soldier in the Civil War, losing an arm at the Battle of Piedmont, Virginia, July 5th, 1864. He is a great-grandson of Edward Hale. Edward McClaugherty, another great-grandson of Edward Hale, was a lieutenant in Company A, 17th Virginia regiment of cavalry, and died in the service. Honorable Robert C. McClaugherty, also a great-grandson of Edward Hale, is a prominent lawyer residing at Bluefield, West Virginia. He served four years as Prosecuting Attorney of Mercer county, and eight years as Judge of the 9th Judicial Circuit of West Virginia.

"The late Captain Rufus A. Hale of Mercer county, was one of the bravest men in his regiment, serving throughout the war 1861-5 with distinction, and was more than once commended by his superior officers for his gallantry and good conduct on the battlefield. Charles A. Hale, a brother of Captain Rufus A., was a highly reputable citizen, made a good soldier and name as a valiant soldier of the 8th Virginia regiment of cavalry.

"James Perdue, who died in Mercer county in 1900, at the age of one hundred and one years, was a relative of Captain Edward Hale."

National Association Honors Carl Perkins

Washington, D. C.—U. S. Representative Carl Perkins received an award from the National Audio-Visual Association (NAVA), during ceremonies at the Shoreham Hotel last Friday night.

The framed citation was presented to the nine-term Congressman at a banquet which was attended by more than 200 NAVA members. It represents the national non-profit group's appreciation of Congressman Perkins' outstanding legislative efforts to further education.

As a member of the Education and Labor Committee of the House of Representatives, Mr. Perkins actively supported the expansion of the National Defense Education Act. The purpose of the Act is to improve educational facilities in critical areas such as science, mathematics and modern foreign languages.

Board Member Can't Seek County Post

Frankfort, Ky.—A school-board member may not enter a race for County tax commissioner, the attorney general's office said.

The advice went to R. E. Pace, Jr., Pembroke, who said he has served two terms on the Christian county Board of Education, has been certified for a third term, and has been urged to enter the commissioner race.

Assistant Attorney General Walter Herdman said if Pace became a candidate for tax commissioner in the forthcoming primary he would have to vacate his school-board post.

His father's '65 Ford rides quieter than his father's Rolls-Royce

We know it's hard to believe a Ford could ride quieter than the famed Rolls-Royce. But it's a fact. Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which three V-8 powered Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, new Galaxie 500/XL and LTD Hardtops) with automatic transmissions rode quieter than a new Rolls-Royce. The tests were certified by the U.S. Auto Club. Of course, the best test of all is to get behind the wheel yourself... and listen to a '65 Ford in action.

That's what Chuck's father did. Ford's quietness really impressed him. But it wasn't the quietness alone that sold him. He shopped around and found that Ford offers features and models and quality that simply aren't matched by other cars in its class. For example:

- 100% new body—strongest Ford body ever.
- New frame "tunes out" vibration.
- Decorator-appointed interiors in LTD's, thick nylon carpeting.
- More luggage space than in most competing cars—trunk holds four 2-suiters standing upright with room left over.

- Thrifty, quiet new Big Six—the biggest Six offered by any car in Ford's class... 289-cu. in. V-8 in XL's and LTD's.
- All automatic transmissions have three speeds, not two as in some competing cars—smoother shifting, more economy.
- Silent-Flo ventilation (in 4-door hardtops) provides fresh air in car with all windows shut.
- Handy reversible key works either side up.

There's more... much more in a Ford than you'd expect for the money. Visit your Ford Dealer and take a test drive soon.
