SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1965

This Town . . . That World

THIS ACTION AND MORE NEEDED

The Food and Drug Administration has cracked down on the so-called "pep pills," demanding that they be sold only on prescription. And it's about time.

Wonder if this covers the "yellow jackets" which are so popular hereabouts? And who will either reduce the alcoholic content of the skin bracer family or make it a bootlegging offense for a retailer to sell the stuff to known drunks?

As matters now stand, the House of David basketball team could buy a case of after-shave, anywhere, and sometimes from men who look down their noses at a common, ordinary, illegal vendor of whiskey and beer.

WHO FIRED THAT SHOT?

You probably have heard of a fellow being hoist on his own petard. Well, I've been blown up by my own wife.

It falls my lot on Thursday mornings to show up at this office by 7 o'clock, or earlier, and so it happened that on a recent Wednesday I bethought me to set the alarm clock for 6:30, since I had a feeling I might be drowsy, come morning, having stayed up till past 11.

This was a good idea, as far as it went. But I made the mistake of leaving the aforementioned clock in a room somewhat removed from my own; the clock went off but I went on sleeping.

An explosion snapped me out of it. I saw the flash outside my window, heard the roar — and sprang (yes, sprang) from my bed to see what was the matter, meanwhile entertaining some vague notion of taking a broomstick to whatever young miscreant had aroused me. A look outside and then back inside failed, of course, to locate any such miscreant, and I was at the point of retiring all over again when it suddenly dawned on me that that alarm clock should be buzzing.

The alarm clock had been turned off, and my keen, analytical mind quickly came around to the conclusion that it had sounded off till the woman had grown tired of listening to it and . . .

CARPET FIRM LOAN MADE

A.R.A. Gives Approval Of $1.2 Million; 142 New Jobs Envisioned

The Area Redevelopment Administration has approved an industrial loan of $771,900 to the Greater Louisa Industrial Foundation, Rep. Carl Perkins, Hindman Democrat, announced last week.

The loan will be used to establish a $1.2 million plant for manufacturing tufted carpeting. The project, when fully operative, will create 142 new jobs.

The ARA is participating with the Kentucky Industrial Development Finance Authority in the loan. Four Kentucky banks will lend a total of $90,000, and the Greater Louisa Industrial Fund will invest $180,000 in the project.

At Frankfort, Leonard Kern, Kentucky's deputy commissioner of commerce, said the new plant will obtain a $150,000, 20-year loan from the Kentucky Industrial Development Finance Authority.

The plant will be built on a 17-acre plot in the High Bottom section, south of Louisa. The land is estimated to cost $20,000, the building $427,000, and machinery and equipment $650,000.

Backers of the plant are Mose Painter, former owner of Painter Carpet Mills in Dalton, Georgia, and Julian Weiss, New York City, owner of Exclusive Carpets.

CANDIDATES QUIZZED BY FLOYD MINISTERS

ALL OFFICE ASPIRANTS NOT PRESENT

Ministerial Group Expresses Belief Meeting Is Helpful

An even dozen candidates for countywide office appeared before the Floyd County Ministerial Association and a group of church laymen Sunday afternoon in the county court room to state their views on general questions and to answer specific questions pertaining to the particular offices which they seek.

Without exception, the one woman and 11 men questioned declared their belief in good government and their intention to work to that end, if elected.

Although admitting that little of the unexpected was elicited from the candidates, a spokesman for the ministerial group expressed the belief that the overall effect of the meeting will be helpful. "All who are seeking office now know," he said, "that there are Christian citizens who are vitally interested in good government, and we ourselves are pleased with the fact that these candidates were willing to stand and take a position on definite issues."

Not all candidates for office were present, and it was explained that attempts of the ministers to reach some had failed and that in the cases of others who had not filed at the County Clerk's office and had not published announcement of their candidacy they were not given notice of the meeting because their names were not known.

The meeting moved smoothly, with candidates being called to appear singly and in alphabetical order. The Rev. W. D. Jagers presided as chairman. Taking part in the questioning were the Rev. James Straton, Dan Heintzelman, Adrian J. Roberts, T. W. Chisholm, Coy Rigney, Cohen Campbell, Eugene Kelly, Lorie Vannucci and Logan Whalen, Frank DeClue.

Each candidate discussed briefly the three topics:

1. What is your concept of good county government in relation to the office you are seeking?

2. What are your motives in seeking this office?

3. What are your ideas of political ethics?

Discussion of each of these topics was followed by questions by ministers and, occasionally, by persons in the audience.

First to appear were the three candidates for County Court Clerk—Miss Peggy Crum, Rody Davis and C. Ollie Robinson, in that order. Miss Crum gave as her concept of political ethics: "Be honest, on the level and tell the truth." She explained that she likes the work in the clerk's office and that she knows more about it than other work.

FLOYD EDUCATION AID UNDER BILL IS SEEN

The dollars and cents impact that President Johnson's Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 would have on each Kentucky county was made clear in estimates released this week by the Kentucky Education Association.

Floyd county would receive approximately $15,400 for improvement of education during the next fiscal year if Congress approves Title I of the President's proposal, according to Dr. J. M. Dodson, KEA executive secretary. Title I funds are designed to help children from low income families.

The largest sum—$2,268,300—would go to a school district in Jefferson county, where 10 percent of the 5-to-17-year-old population (or 15,122 school-age children) comes from families with annual incomes of $2,000 or less.

The next highest amount—$93,250—would go to Pike county, where 25 percent of the school-age population of 5,755 is in the low income category on which the Johnson proposal is based.

Local school districts in a given county will be eligible for payments equal to one-half the 1963-64 expenditure for each pupil in average daily attendance in Kentucky multiplied by the number of children in that county (age 5-17) in families having annual incomes of $2,000 or less. Kentucky's 1963-64 expenditure per pupil in ADA was $300, so half that amount or $150 is used in the formula to determine

Three Survive Plunge In U.S. 23 Accident; Teacher's Car Found

An 84-year-old Shelbiana man, his crippled wife and their woman-driver emerged without serious injury Tuesday morning from a wreck on U. S. 23 at Emma in which their car left the highway and plunged approximately 50 feet down the bank to the river's edge.

Involved in the wreck were D. H. Campbell, his wife, who was crippled in an auto wreck last April, and Ruth Hall, driver of the car. Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale took the three to the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. The car was "totaled" when it crashed into a large boulder.

The Campbell auto hit an icy spot on the highway as its driver attempted to pass a truck, it was said.

Sheriff Henry Hale recovered Tuesday afternoon, the auto of Miss Sarah Clay Stephens, Prestonsburg teacher, on Middle Creek, two hours after it had been reported missing.

PIKE VENUE CHANGE SEEN

Pike School Officers May Be Tried In Floyd; Runyon Case Set Here

Three Pike county school officials under indictment as the result of grand jury probes have been granted a change of venue for the trials of their cases, and it was said at Pikeville last week they may be brought to Floyd county.

The three defendants are C. H. Farley, Pike superintendent of schools; Herbert Cool, finance officer for the Pike County Board of Education, and Alvery Potter, county school board chairman.

Already on the Floyd circuit court docket are the multiple indictments against Woodrow Runyon, who is accused of presenting false claims.

The defendants claimed they could not get a fair and impartial trial in Pike county and the commonwealth claimed they could.

Fayette Circuit Judge Scott Reed, who conducted a hearing on the motion for a change of venue at Pikeville late in 1964, has sustained the motion of the defendants for a change of venue. His order sustaining the motion was entered in Pike circuit court.

Judge Reed in delivering his opinion noted that Woodrow W. Runyon, Sr., a former Pike county school bus supervisor, was jointly indicted with the other three defendants, and that Runyon earlier had been granted a change of venue transferring a hearing on charges against him to Floyd county.

He said that in view of that

UMWA PLANS AREA DRIVE

Union Organization Of Small Mines Object Of New Program

Officials of the United Mine Workers of America will begin this week to plan to organize the 25,000 or more workers employed by small, nonunion soft-coal mines.

These mining operations have been increasingly disturbing to the union. It estimates that they now account for about a quarter of the 490 million tons of soft coal mined annually.

Union president W. A. Boyle expressed his determination to bring the nonunion mines under the union's national bituminous contract.

Boyle took over as president when Thomas Kennedy died in 1963. His full five-year term will begin April 1.

The organizing drive represents Boyle's first major innovation. He has named the first national organizing director in the union's 75-year history to conduct it. He is John T. Kmetz, of Nanticoke, Pennsylvania, who will head a five-man committee that will work full-time coordinating the drive.

"There's not going to be any violence," Boyle said. "That's not the way to organize in this day and age. Perhaps there was a day when you could hit a guy over the head with a baseball bat and get him to join the union, but that time is long past. You've got to use persuasion."

Boyle said the union had not been responsible for the violence directed at the nonunion mines in Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia.

Unfortunately, he said, some union members, acting on their own, had joined roving bands of pickets that have tried to close the nonunion mines.

Lawsuits totaling about $80 million have been filed against the union by mine owners, who charge disruption of operations and loss of business.

Boyle said he hoped that one benefit of the organizing would be to end the violence and the litigation.

Boyle brushed aside the contention of the small nonunion mine owners that they would have to go out of business if they had to pay union wages and provide the fringe benefits called

$5,000 BOND IS EXECUTED

By Mrs. Fitzpatrick; Mrs. Akers' Condition Is Critical, Announced

Mrs. Maude Fitzpatrick waived trial Monday in answer to a charge of aiding, counseling and advising a person in the commission of a felony and was held to $5,000 bond to answer to action of the April grand jury.

The charge against her followed the beating on January 30 of one of her tenants, Mrs. Catherine Pennington Akers. Willie "Jap" Harris, who is accused of the beating of the woman, is being held without bond after waiving a preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Akers remains unconscious and in critical condition, county officials said they were told this week. She has been removed from the University Medical Center, Lexington, to a nearby building, since officials said they learned, further hospitalization is not considered beneficial.

Henry Miles Poston, who is charged with breaking and entering, also waived examination Monday and was held under $500 bond. Last week, $1,000 bond was asked for the release of Claude Greer after he had waived examining trial on a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon. Greer was already under bond after having been charged with armed robbery.

Jailed within the week were: Troy Isaac Hurd, escapee from Kentucky Village; by Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale; Roger Vinson, parole violator, jailed by Sheriff Henry Hale and Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald; William C. Daugherty, booked for driving while intoxicated and as having no operator's license by State Trooper E. B. Allen; William Riley Wells, Jr., arrested Saturday by State Trooper Harmon, Constable Gillis Conn and Policeman Woodrow Salyers and booked for liquor possession; Wendell Lawson, driving while intoxicated and no operator's license, jailed by State Trooper Harmon and Deputy Sheriff Mill Hunt; Edgar, Anthony and Clinton McKinney, charged with breaking into a Mud Creek school, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale and State Detective Chester D. Potter; Alfred Brown, Bill and James Cook, grand larceny, accused of stealing copper wire, jailed by State Detective Potter; Harlis Little, booked by State Trooper Harmon on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Salyersville Policeman Shot Serving Warrant; Condition Good, Said

Police Chief Glenn Prater, of Salyersville, was shot Tuesday as he attempted to serve a drunkenness warrant on an armed man.

Prater, hit in the stomach, was reported in good condition.

The 32-year-old officer identified the gunman as Francis Connelly, who was picked up later by state police.

Prater, accompanied by Connelly's wife, approached the family's home near Salyersville with the warrant. He said Connelly appeared with a rifle and began firing when he tried to wrest the weapon from him.

Salyersville is in Eddyville prison. His execution date has been set for April 9.

Headman May, who is scheduled for trial at the April court term on a murder charge arising from the slayings of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hobson, at Harold, was returned to jail here Tuesday by Sheriff Henry C. Hale and State Detective Chester D. Potter. May was committed February 2 to Central State hospital, Louisville, for observation by a psychiatrist. Thirty-five days were originally allotted for the study of his condition.

TEST RESULT ANNOUNCED

Tax Commissioner Job Draws 317 Applicants; Allen Is Successful

The results of examinations taken by applicants for county tax commissioner on Feb. 9 have been announced by State Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett.

Taking the examination were 317 applicants, Luckett said, with 143 successfully qualified who will receive certificates.

Kentucky law requires that before any person's name may be placed on a ballot as a candidate for county tax commissioner, except an incumbent seeking re-election, he must pass the required examination.

The law also requires that records relating to the examination be retained by the Department of Revenue for one year. The examination papers are kept in the department's vault. Any person who took the examination may review his own record by visiting the offices of the department in Frankfort.

Commissioner Luckett said a second examination will be offered on March 9 for prospective candidates in the 43 counties where no one other than the incumbent is now qualified to run for the office.

Knott, Perry, Martin, Breathitt, Greenup, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Menifee, Morgan and Owsley are Eastern Kentucky counties in this group.

Listed by county, the applicants from counties in this area who passed the Feb. 9 examination are:

Floyd—Harry Gordon Allen; Boyd—Marjorie Lorraine Jones; Carter—Thomas Parsons, Jr., and W. J. Lewis; Johnson—Custer Coleman Picklesimer and Hershel Pack; Magoffin—Hargis Arnett and William Grady Conley; Pike—Lucille S. Smith; Rowan—Robert Dale Bradley; Wolfe—James A. Dalton.

267 STUDY AT COLLEGE

Dr. Campbell Tells Kiwanians of Number Receiving Assistance

The Prestonsburg Community College has enrolled 267 students for the spring semester, according to Dr. Henry Campbell, Jr., president. Of these, 222 are full-time and 45 are part-time students.

The information was issued recently in Kiwanotes, weekly bulletin of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club, of which Dr. Campbell is editor.

"The college is expecting 400-500 full-time students during the fall semester and 100 part-time for a combined enrollment of 500-600 students," he wrote in a report to the Kiwanians. The college must add eight to ten faculty members to handle this expected load. The administrative officials of the college are in the process of contacting prospective faculty members to help fulfill this need.

"Prestonsburg Community College has been awarded 59 work-study programs for needy students during the spring semester," Dr. Campbell continued. "These jobs will pay our students from $1 to $1.40 per hour. Students will work as faculty aids, library aids, lab assistants, book store helpers and maintenance helpers. The college has also applied for 110 student work-study for the fall semester."

"The college currently has approximately $3,000 loaned out on its revolving loan fund and has 22 students on scholarships. However, next year we will need as many additional scholarships as we can get from interested citizens and business firms. Because of the raise in tuitions at all Kentucky colleges and the university, it will cost each student approximately $325-$350 for tuition, books, fees and incidentals during the coming school year."

NEW TRIAL IS DENIED

Accused Slayer Plans Appeal To High Court; May Trial Is Scheduled

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley last Thursday overruled the motion and grounds filed in an effort to win a new trial for Roy Salyersville who is under death sentence for the slaying of Mrs. Mallie T. Denney at Drift last April 23.

Filing of the motion and grounds for new trial by Salyersville's attorney and denial of the motion by Judge Conley were preliminaries to an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

Salyersville is in Eddyville prison. His execution date has been set for April 9.

Headman May, who is scheduled for trial at the April court term on a murder charge arising from the slayings of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hobson, at Harold, was returned to jail here Tuesday by Sheriff Henry C. Hale and State Detective Chester D. Potter. MARTIN JOB ENDANGERED BY RULING

Cost-Sharing Demand Of Bureau of Budget Blasted by Perkins

Congressman Carl D. Perkins warned the House of Representatives Tuesday that a dispute between two federal agencies could hold up Big Sandy flood control projects, including one in this county, which would involve $50,000,000 worth of work.

A $3,456,000 channel clearing project at Martin is part of the overall project threatened by the dispute.

Perkins told the House the situation has been created by a demand by the Bureau of the Budget that costs of the projects must be shared by localities or the state, while the U. S. Corps of Engineers has deleted any requirement for local cost-sharing on Big Sandy projects.

Two other Big Sandy projects threatened are the Yatesville reservoir in Lawrence county, $20,030,000 estimated cost of construction; and the Paint Creek reservoir in Johnson county, $16,970,000.

The Budget Bureau formula would require the Paintsville area to provide $1,645,000 of the cost and the Louisa-Lawrence area to share to the extent of $3,197,000.

Local sharing of cost is demanded by the Budget Bureau because of recreational advantages accruing to communities as a result of flood control dams and reservoirs.

Congressman Perkins termed this an "infamous policy." He and Senator John Sherman Cooper succeeded in getting the Corps of Engineers to eliminate this cost-sharing requirement from its plans because of the economic situation in this area, but the Budget Bureau is standing firm.

Perkins pointed to the inability of these Eastern Kentucky communities to bear such heavy expense and said that if the Budget Bureau has its way "we would never be able to have an adequate flood control program in Eastern Kentucky."

He said that the cost-sharing policy should not be uniform and apply to these projects, because Eastern Kentucky is "a special problem" area.

TWO FLOYD MEN VICTIMS

Michigan Road Mishap Claims Four; Funerals Conducted At Teaberry

Two former Floyd countians died last Friday at Albion, Michigan, in the head-on collision of two automobiles which claimed in all, four lives.

The dead are: Dayton Hamilton, 24, and John W. Johnson, 20, former Teaberry neighbors who resided at Albion; Gary Seger, 16, and Tim Young, 15, both of the Albion area.

The Floyd countians were driving in Hamilton's car, it was said, when the crash with the auto occupied by the teen-age youths occurred. Both autos were almost demolished.

Funeral of the two Floyd victims were held simultaneously at 10 a.m. Tuesday at homes separated by only a few hundred yards, and both were buried in neighboring cemeteries.

Hamilton had resided in Albion about four years and was employed there by the Albion Malleable Iron Company. Johnson had been an employee there of the Brooks Foundry for about two years.

Surviving Hamilton are his parents, Andy and Stella Newsome Hamilton, of Teaberry, and the following brothers and sisters: Jonas, Foster, Gretho and Andy Hamilton, Jr., all of Teaberry; Nelvin Hamilton, Homer, Michigan; Clement Hamilton, Albion, Michigan; Mrs. Marie Hamilton, of Albion, and Miss Cosetta Hamilton, of Teaberry.

Johnson's parents, Ermil and Delma Martin Johnson, now reside at Albion. Besides his parents, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Susie George Johnson, one son, Ronnie, and seven brothers and sisters: Robie, Foster, Irene, Crystalline, Eline, Shelly Jean and Ovine, all of Albion.

The funeral of Johnson was conducted from the home at Teaberry of his grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Johnson; that of Hamilton at the home of his parents, Ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiated at both funerals. The burials were under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

SCOUT LEADERS HEAR BUSINESS PROGNOSIS

Leaders of Area Industry, Most of Them Veterans of Activity in Financing and Promoting the Boy Scout Movement, Met at the Saona Restaurant at Garth Monday Evening and Talked the Future of Coal, with Overtones of Scouting. The Event was a Periodic Dinner Meeting of the 100 Club.

Robert Graback, of Elkhorn City, in discussing the relationship of the industry to Scouting, posed the question of what kind of men would be required to produce the nation's coal in 15 years. He thought that the character being developed through the virtues of Scouting would produce the leadership. Other speakers were Walter P. Walters, Byron Pennybaker and B. F. Reed.

Pace pointed out that the coal industry, faced with the challenge of keen competition for the nation's energy fuel markets, is going through many changes.

"We are living and working in a changing environment," he said, "and we must develop operators who can adapt to the new conditions."

He said that although 1964 was the best year in the steel industry it was taking less and less coal to manufacture it. Steel was meeting the competition of aluminum and other metal products and coal would have to face up to the competition of natural gas. The demand is getting greater for low price coal and less for quality coal.

Zeeger told of his company's development of a new mine four miles from Shelby Gap to offset mines of the firm going out of production. It will take a year and a half yet to get into production. Of the Hendricks mine, near Deane, he explained that a new transportation system is in operation with 62-ton motors and 35-ton coal cars.

"The future of our whole area looks good," Beeger said. "It must look good or George Evans would not be spending heavily in the industry or B. F. Reed, either."

B. F. Reed, Drift coal operator and chairman of the Lonesome Pine Scout Council fund drive, told the club members and others present that "we brought you here to further your education on Scouting." He said that in the near future literature would be sent out on Scouting and its needs. "Take a good look at it," he urged. "We are going to keep our drive for funds on a high level. There will be no arm-twisting."

Powell said the survey was requested by the Locomotive Shoe Co., a subsidiary of the Williams Manufacturing Co., Portsmouth, Ohio, which recently announced plans to build manufacturing plants at West Liberty in Morgan county and at Paintsville in Johnson county.

Information obtained will be used in selecting the persons to be interviewed, tested and eventually referred to the company for employment.

The survey was made in two days at Salyersville, West Liberty and Paintsville to obtain personal information and

AUTO SEARCH BARRED IN TRAFFIC CITATION

In reversing a Floyd county liquor conviction the Court of Appeals last week reaffirmed its view that officers cannot legally run a full-scale search of a motor vehicle after stopping it merely for a traffic violation.

Last week's opinion was based on the court's ruling in a Boyd county case last November which was roundly criticized by many peace officers as an unreasonable restriction of their work.

This latest opinion was delivered in the case of Bobby Joe Conn, who was found guilty here of transporting beer for sale in dry territory. Sixty-three cases of beer were taken from a vehicle which he was driving.

The opinion, by Judge Squire N. Williams, recounted that Conn was stopped by a state policeman on a routine check for a driver's license. The officer issued him a citation because he did not have a valid registration receipt for his truck.

The officer then requested permission to search the truck. Conn refused, so the officer got a search warrant. As it turned out, the search warrant was void for technical reasons.

At any rate, Judge Williams said, the search would have been improper because there was no probable cause for issuing the warrant at the time the policeman went to get it.

Judge Williams acknowledged that the police sometimes have the right to make an extended search after an arrest, but he said Conn was given a mere citation, which is not an arrest. The opinion failed to state the circumstances under which search after arrest might be permissible.

Conn had been fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

In another case, the court rejected the plea of a convict who said he was deprived of

Back To Nature—Where?

The time may come when the American seeking escape to nature unsullied will find it necessary to climb a mountain peak or seek the loneliness of the desert—unless the federal government moves soon to acquire vast acreages and place them under the strictest guard against the spoilers of streams and forests.

Here in Eastern Kentucky, Nature's First Estate, that of pristine purity and beauty, already has almost been lost. But this is only one corner of the land, and the devastation is general, not localized.

The coal, oil and gas industries are the present-day whipping boys in this part of Kentucky as the landscape is torn apart and streams are black with coal-dust and, in some cases, oil. But the despoilation of Eastern Kentucky began long before either industry came to the area. The silt-filled beds of streams resulted from ancient as well as current crimes and follies. A patch of "new ground" cleared, a forest fire consuming the leaf and vegetation protecting the soil—the work of the ignorant, the careless, the uncaring and the wilfully destructive has not been confined to only a few years.

The tragedy is national—wherever there is any sizeable concentration of people. Man, as Bambi sagely put it, is the Destroyer.

Lake Erie, a great inland sea and for generations considered a never-failing source of pure water, has been so contaminated by chemicals, industrial wastes and sewage that its great supply of fish is dwindling and many of its beaches have been branded unsafe for bathing.

The Potomac, one of the most majestic of the nation's rivers, is a flowing cesspool, so germ-laden that where it flows past Mt. Vernon and the nation's capital nobody in possession of his wits dares bathe in it.

It is not only raw sewage and the widely publicized industrial wastes that do all the damage. The heavy concentration of detergents entering streams from larger cities is as deadly as these other better recognized contaminants.

Add to all this the destruction of wildlife by insecticides and other poisons, the national waste of topsoil through erosion which began with a land denuded of grass and trees, the dangerous pollution of the air by exhaust fumes, and it becomes apparent that the escape from himself is moment by moment becoming more difficult for modern man.

Apparently President Johnson has recognized the gravity of the situation and has made an important decision about it. He has proposed a dozen new national parks which would have a total of 754,000 acres. He proposes matching grants to help municipalities open up parks for their crowded millions. As TIME Magazine recently reported, he has realized that the nation's unprecedented progress "threatens to make the countryside invisible, the water undrinkable, the air unbreathable and the city unlivable."

Said President Johnson: "We have not chosen to have an ugly America. We have been careless, and often neglectful. But now that the danger is clear and the hour is late, this people can place itself in the path of a tide of blight which is often irreversible and always destructive."

Strong governmental action to reverse the tide and immediate action to acquire vast areas over which government can play the splendid role of husbandman are necessary, and there is no time left for further delay.

Davis said he could do a good job. He hit at political mudslinging, remarking, "If I have nothing good to say about an opponent, I will keep my mouth shut."

County Clerk Robinson said that the Clerk's office is the only self-supporting office in the county and pointed out that he has had more than three years' experience in the office. He explained his interest in the office by saying that he is married and has two children and "I like politics, I like people."

All three agreed excess fees should be returned by the clerk and that they would employ the best-qualified help. Davis added that he felt excess fees should be kept in the county and not sent to Frankfort "because you never know what becomes of the money after it goes to Frankfort."

Jailer Lawrence Hale was the only candidate for that office to appear. Explaining that the Jailer's is a tough job and that he often must take a lot of verbal abuse, he succinctly described his job: "The Sheriff brings the prisoner in, I lock the prisoner up, the judge tells you when to release him—I follow those rules."

The questions became more specific as to bootlegging and law-enforcement as candidates for County Attorney, County Judge and Sheriff were introduced.

Clifford B. Latta, first of the candidates for County Attorney, pointed out that his concept of good county government in relation to the office he seeks would apply to any office; that he has long been interested in the area of personal service and that he knows of no short cuts or any substitute for hard work. He added that every candidate should run on his background and his image in the community, and, if already in office, on his record. Latta said he does not believe in the mudslinging type of campaign but does believe in bringing legitimate issues before the public.

Of bootlegging he said: "I don't believe in it. But it isn't a thing which should be resurrected every four years but should be worked 365 days a year." The law, he said, should be impartial, though there are occasions when mercy should apply. Strict enforcement should apply on bootlegging, pinball machines and gambling, he said.

Asked by Mayor John Roberts, of Martin, his position on private clubs, Latta said, "I don't look at the private club in any light other than any other violator. I don't make a blanket indictment against them, but the law should be enforced. Law-enforcement officials need to restore the confidence of the people in them."

Barkley J. Sturgill, incumbent candidate for County Attorney, pointed out that every official has a job to do, "and at the best—the very best—we often come up short."

"I am trying," he said, "to do what I can in my official capacity to move progress forward in the county."

Asked his personal attitude toward bootlegging, he said, "Bootlegging is against the law. We have no choice. The local option law, I think, is a weak law, and in the last three years we have had a definite organized scheme, both in transporting and selling whiskey." He added that the statutes limit legal action to reduce the liquor traffic. Bootlegging, he said, is permeating the county at all levels.

"The 30-day jail sentence is what we're stinging them with," he commented after listing the fines which may be imposed.

Both men, as well as all other candidates involved in the area of law-enforcement, said they would cooperate with state and federal authorities toward enforcement.

Both listed duties of the County Attorney, Sturgill pointing out that there are 77 different jobs involved.

Asked by Walter Manns if he believed in enforcing all the law—local option, election and others—Sturgill replied that he does.

Dr. Joe T. Hyden, candidate for County Judge, met, head-on, the rumor that he is connected with bootlegging. "I know," he said, "that many of you have heard that I am a bootlegger. That hurts, because I have five fine children, a fine wife and good brothers and sisters." He then told of an investigation of his income being made by a representative of the Internal Revenue Department, of the agent's statement that he had heard of Dr. Hyden being referred to as a "king bootlegger."

He said he did not fear the investigation, that the investigation was made and that he was given, as he knew he would be, "a clean bill of health."

He described the duties of judge as three-fold: administrative, judicial, including the work of law-enforcement, and fiscal. In fiscal and debt management, he said, lies the matter of qualifications. Hyden added that the bootlegging situation is bad—"bad to the point that something must be done." He promised that he would work with any Sheriff elected but that if that arm of county government should fail he would "pour it on and pour it on hard."

County Judge Henry Stumbo described his concept of good government in relation to his office as the work of "doing a good job, going according to the statutes, cooperating with the public and elected officials and rendering any possible assistance to improving your community."

He said frankly that "if there wasn't some money in this job, I wouldn't have it," then explained that his day was usually a 18-hour day. "We have come a long way," he added, "and there are many other things yet to do."

Stumbo expressed the conviction that he has been a good judge. "I have made mistakes, but they have been honest mistakes. I've been tough on bootlegging, and I'll continue to be tough."

Jury selection bobbed up in the questioning of the candidates for judge and sheriff, and some of the latter did not appear to understand that the question was asked because the sheriff summons "bystanders" as jurors for quarterly court trials. Judge Stumbo said he has advocated drawing names of jurors from a jury wheel. He added that the Legislature passed a law to that effect. "Everything is fine till you get to paying the jurors—they didn't provide any money for that."

The question of a county police force was raised, and Judge Stumbo commented: "It could be a lot of help, or it could be dangerous. You could have a bigger racket than we have today."

Four of the six announced candidates for the office of Sheriff showed up for the meeting. Charles E. Bradley, first called, hit at the huge amounts of money spent in elections. "Sometimes," he said, "there's going to be a sheriff elected who will not spend $30,000 to $40,000 to get an office that pays a little over $7,000 a year."

Bradley said he considered the liquor and gambling situation bad, that he would like to see state police in every corner of the county and that he would hire deputies who would hold the respect of the public and these would not be on commission but on salary.

W. W. Cooley promised, if elected, to do "my duty without hesitation or reservation." In cooperation with state and federal authorities he promised to take the lead, and he pledged: "If elected, the sheriff's office will be conducted differently than by any sheriff in the last 10-15 years."

He described the bootlegging situation as "ridiculous, a bad situation." Cooley promised he would seek advice as to how to get the job done and that he will work to get the support of the good people of the county.

David B. Leslie saw bootlegging and gambling as "a tremendous problem. Some say you can't clear it up, but I know better than that." Promising strict enforcement, he said he would be glad to have members of the ministerial association screen applicants for deputies' jobs.

Leslie said he considered a preventive program important as well as that of enforcement. His deputies, he said, would be selected on the basis of physical fitness, character and temperament—"masters of their own tempers, calm, cautious."

Joe Wheeler Lewis said he would fight three things in particular—bootlegging, drunk driving and breaking and entering—and of bootlegging he said:

"When I was a boy of 16, in my second year of high school, I found my father, killed. Later, one of my brothers killed a man. Then I had a sister killed. All because of liquor. No man on earth hates it more than I do."

Lewis said he has 14 children and cited them as one reason for his seeking the office. "In my neighborhood," he said, anybody who wants to bootleg, they bootleg, and they sell even to children.

"I believe," said J. M.

"oodles" Wells, that if we fail to do any job we should be fired, and that goes for officials. But impeachment is a long-drawn-out affair."

Having said that, Wells made this promise:

"I will, if elected, write a letter of resignation to the Governor, have it put in the paper, and give it to a committee, and any time I fail to do my duty, I would be out of a job."

Wells added, "I would be kidding you if I told you I would dry it (the liquor traffic) up. But I would hit at the source of supply and would post deputies in front of these places where it's sold."

He pointed out that the sheriff is supplied with a list of those who buy federal liquor stamps adding: "These stamps, you know, aren't bought just to be kept in their places of business."

Asked by J. R. Cummings if the posting of deputies in front of bootlegging establishments might not result in violence, Wells said he would do this where other means of enforcement failed.

Pike Judge Regales 100 Club With Scout Jamboree Stories,

Pike County Judge Irvin Pruitt, veteran Scout leader, regaled members of the 100 Club Monday evening at Garth with an account of an overseas jaunt with Boy Scouts.

In discussing his trip to Athens, Greece, with the American contingent of Boy Scouts to attend the International Jamboree, he alternately held the serious attention of the audience or rocked them with laughter.

He described his trip as a "mountain-top experience." It began at New York City with boys from 50 states, or a total of 650 Scouts and leaders from the United States. London made a profound impression upon him, especially the Shakespeare country and Oxford University. He visited St. Peter's, saw the Pope, went out on the ancient Appian Way.

In his talk he hurried on to Athens. "Athens is like Prestonsburg or Pikeville on the Fourth of July," he said. Everybody comes to town after 6 p.m. and there is a traffic problem of monumental proportions.

Pruitt said that each evening the Greeks turn the heart of Athens into a carnival of gambling, drinking, dancing and care-free excitement.

It seemed to Pruitt that every Greek must have owned a donkey and these beasts start braying at 4 a.m., awakening the entire countryside on the Plains of Marathon where the Scouts were camped. The Pike judge was up with the Scouts late at night and arose with the braying donkeys at 4 a.m. so many days that he had to take recourse to sleeping a great deal in the day.

It was the Athens Jehus who Pruitt will remember the longest. These taxicab drivers drove on the wrong side of the road, made wrong turns, passed other vehicles at illegal passing zones and "scared the daylight out of their passengers."

"The right side on which to drive was any side you happened to be on at the time," Pruitt said. "I often wondered why they had white lines in the middle of the road but I soon found out. One side of the road was for traffic going a certain way and the other lane was for traffic going in the opposite direction. The white line was reserved for the taxis. They used it for going both ways."

There was a lot of visiting back and forth between the Scouts from the various countries. A bit of American fun, however, almost caused an international incident.

As was their religious custom, the Pakistani Scouts arose at 4 a.m. and half an hour later would assemble in a group to pray for the sun to rise. The American Scouts upon learning of this custom of the centuries began to form in groups as the sun was going down.

"Our Scouts began to pray for the sun to go down," Pruitt said. The Pakistani were highly incensed when they found out what the American Scouts were doing and a ruptured international friendship was averted when Scout leaders ordered a discontinuance of this budding American Scout custom.

Kentucky Park Audit Shows Surplus; Five Net Operating Profit

The annual audit of the State Department of Parks shows a surplus of $96,839 for fiscal 1963-64.

Robert D. Bell, state parks commissioner, has announced that surplus, as of June 30, 1964, according to an independent audit by Yeager, Ford and Warren, Louisville accountants. (The audit by an outside agency is required by terms of the 1962 revenue bond issue.)

The audit report also indicated that the operating reserve fund, likewise created under the 1962 bond issue, has been restored to $1 million.

The Louisville accounting firm reported a total of $7,182,086 in available funds during 1963-64 and a total of $7,085,247 in expenditures.

Five parks last year operated at a profit as compared to two the year before.

These five were Kentucky Dam Village, near Gilbertsville, which showed a profit of $125,803; Lake Cumberland, near Jamestown, $17,910; My Old Kentucky Home, near Bardstown, $11,927; Carter Caves, near Olive Hill, $9,802; and Kenlake, near Hardin, $6,390.

Bell cited several reasons for the improved state park financial situation. Among these were a tighter winter-time operation during 1963-64 and increased use by the public of new facilities throughout the system.

In addition, two new lodges—at Buckhorn Lake State Park in Perry county and at Natural Bridge State Park, near Slade—were opened last summer.

These new facilities, improvements, and expansion also helped in the $400,000 gain in receipts reported during the first six months of the current fiscal year, Bell said, as compared to the same period in fiscal 1963-64.

Bell pointed out that "we are wearing two hats in the Parks Department. We are maintaining, improving and expanding a system of public parks. At the same time, we also are playing a major role in developing Kentucky's fastest growing industry, tourism.

"We not only are attracting out-of-state tourists and vacationers with our nationally-recognized state park system. We also are keeping Kentucky vacationers within the state."

And Bell again said, in pointing to the state parks' major role in Kentucky's travel industry, that the system should not be put on a profit-and-loss basis except for commercial enterprises within some parks.

Bell pointed out that 15,000 of the more than 50,000 state park acres require daily maintenance during the parks' operating season, as do over 250 miles of bridle and hiking trails. In addition, at all 12 vacation-type parks, full-time recreation directors and assistants are employed in organized recreation programs for adults and children.

Other parks facilities include 30 public playgrounds, 18 picnic shelters with rest rooms and 23 others without, 14 beaches, 12 golf courses, and 11 horseback riding facilities.

Seven of the 15 state shrines and museums provide no revenue, Bell said.

Kentucky's expanding park system, now totaling 36 parks and shrines, in 1964 drew a record 14 million visitors, over 3.1 million more than the previous high of 11 million in 1963. Forty per cent of overnight park visitors, according to Bell, are from out-of-state.

These out-of-state tourists' expenditures with area businesses, he pointed out, for such items as gas and oil, groceries, various supplies and other entertainment are not recorded in park receipts but boost the local area's economy and the state's.

Another action of Judge Conley last week was that which granted a permanent injunction against operation of the Sugar Shack, at Hueysville, which had been temporarily closed on complaint filed by Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. WORTHWHILE

We trust we have given every candidate who appeared before the Ministerial Association here a "fair shake." Trying to set down their every statement was a bit beyond us.

We didn't go to this meeting expecting anybody to stand up and say he would not enforce the law or do his full duty, and we doubt if anybody else did. But it was good to see these people get together and conduct an orderly meeting such as this and to hear those seeking office do the good job of it that they did in stating their respective cases.

ENROLLS AT BEREA

Berea, Ky., Feb. 18—Douglas A. Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hicks, of Hueysville, Kentucky, registered at Berea College for the spring semester as a junior. Hicks graduated from Garrett high school in 1959. Before coming to Berea he attended Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes.

transfer it would appear that the administration of justice would be best served if the entire matter were tried in the same county.

Judge Reed was appointed special judge to conduct hearings in multiple charges resulting from the investigations.

The defendants cited widespread publicity as among the reasons for requesting a venue change.

for by the union's national agreement.

He said these operators engaged in cutthroat competition, selling coal below the market price because of the low wages they paid. But, he added, they could raise their prices, pay union rate and still clear a profit.

The nonunion mines pay $5 to $12 for a 10-hour to 12-hour day, Boyle said.

In Eastern Kentucky, he said, wages are so low that unorganized miners are eligible for federal surplus food and the mines close down when it is distributed so the miners can pick it up.

The union rate is $25.25 a day.

Boyle charged that the Tennessee Valley Authority sent purchasing agents to small non-union mines to encourage them to slash coal prices. And because the TVA awards contracts for less than $10,000, Boyle said, its purchases are exempt from the prevailing wage requirement under the law.

"TVA is the biggest cutthroat outfit we've got to contend with," said Boyle. "Who should be the first to pay the going rate if not the government? Why, there are women working underground in coal mines to turn out coal for TVA at a cutthroat price. And they talk about a war on poverty."

Aside from more aggressive efforts to organize the nonunion mines, Boyle indicated that the union's policies would not change much now that he has his own mandate from his 150,000 members.

WAYLAND

STATE TROOPER SPEAKS

"There were 910 deaths on Kentucky highways last year," reported State Trooper Jerry Combs last Monday evening at Wayland, speaking to members of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club on "Safety."

In explaining the reasons for these accidents, Trooper Combs said that "speed, drinking and foolish mistakes" were the usual causes. He also reported that in 1940 for 36 miles of dual highway and 10,000 miles of single highways there were 449 state patrols. Now, with 649 miles of dual highways and 21,000 miles of single highways, the state still has only 449 state troopers, when at least 825 are needed. He urged his hearers to advise any young men who can qualify for such service to do so.

Trooper Combs showed a film on safety titled "4:28," narrated by Governor Breathitt, showing the actual sequence of events that led to the deaths of five people on a Kentucky highway and a ruined life for the sixth person, who caused the fatalities. Governor Breathitt admonished the viewers to "Drive for yourself and for the other man," and to "know what is in front and behind you at all times."

A Driver Refresher course will be conducted by Trooper Combs at the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland clubhouse, beginning the first Monday of March, to be sponsored by the club and open to all interested persons.

Devotions were conducted prior to the program by Mrs. J. T. Sullman, who spoke briefly on Abraham Lincoln and the qualities he possessed that all Christians should emulate.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. J. C. Wells, to 19 members.

Allen Raps Grouping Of Pupils by Ability; New Trend Condemned

(In The Courier-Journal)

Lexington, Ky. — An Arizona educator took sharp issue here yesterday with the practice of grouping elementary school students by their learning abilities. "The idea of fragmenting . . . groups by their abilities in classrooms is the most damnable idea ever perpetrated on American education," Dr. R. Van Allen asserted.

"Nothing we have ever done in educational methodology has hurt children as much," he added. "We brand these children in the lower ability group as incapable when what these children need is a few more months to live."

He charged the practice was foisted on education by a textbook industry eager to sell packaged instructional materials on the basis of "flimsy" evidence and tests purporting to show that some elementary school children, unless segregated by their abilities, are unable to learn.

The effect of fragmenting classroom groups, Dr. Allen said, is to cause some students to lose confidence in their abilities and their sense of membership in the group.

Dr. Allen is a professor of education at the University of Arizona, and co-author of the book, "Learning To Read Through Experience."

His comments came in two talks held at the University of Kentucky for high school teachers, university educators and education students on the problems of educating the culturally different children.

The workshop is one of two the UK College of Education is sponsoring this year in response to efforts within the state and nationally to improve educational training for children from socially deprived and culturally deprived families.

Dr. Allen said teachers have a responsibility to develop a sense of belonging in the culturally different child.

"Successes everyday are essential to them," he added.

It is also essential that teachers, Dr. Allen said, help culturally deprived children develop a commitment to their future.

"No one moves from a deprived culture into the mainstream of our society without making some strong personal commitment," he noted.

In a later talk, Dr. Allen cautioned educators and teachers against "sure-cure" instructional materials which, he indicated, the textbook industry claims will teach language arts to culturally deprived children.

"You don't buy a (reading) program," Dr. Allen said. "You hire a teacher." In teaching reading to the culturally deprived child, he explained, a "warm, personal" teacher-pupil relationship is essential.

Dr. Allen urged teachers to relate reading instructions to experiences the children have had.

ENJOY THE MODERN COMFORT - CONDITIONING OF AN ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP

Why put up with part-time comfort? It's so unnecessary when a clean, quiet electric heat pump cools in summer, heats in winter, maintains an even temperature all year 'round. (You just set it and forget it!) Convert to full time comfort-conditioning with a heat pump. It's the smart way to modernize your home or place of business!

Call your nearest power company office for facts on converting to a heat pump.

Enjoy the Wonderful World of Flameless ELECTRIC Living

An electric heat pump is another modern marvel in the wonderful world of electric living. Best of all, it costs so little to convert to an efficient, automatic, economical heat pump. Your Reddy Kilowatt recommended heating and cooling dealer does quality conversion work and handles the entire job. Call him today.

KENTUCKY POWER ONCE AGAIN REDUCES RATES

Despite higher living costs, you'll be paying less than ever for each kilowatt-hour of electricity.

For the second time since last April, we've reduced rates. The new rates, which became effective on meters read after January 1, will save customers an estimated $217,000 per year.

This reduction brings to over $450,000 the total of rate decreases put into effect by Kentucky Power during a nine-month period.

These rate reductions were made possible by the decrease in Federal income taxes. The rising use of electricity in our service area, coupled with improved techniques of generating and delivering electricity, also contributed to the reduction.

Under our new rates, residential users will save about $127,000 a year. Public, private and parochial schools, an estimated $52,000 annually. Commercial and small industrial customers will benefit by about $38,000 in yearly savings.

You also may be interested in our plans to spend nearly $50 million within the next seven years for expansion and modernization of electric facilities. This will give us increased capacity to handle the anticipated growth of our 18-county area of eastern Kentucky.

This rate reduction, along with our expansion program, is further evidence of our determination to render the best possible electric service at the lowest possible cost.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

DISTRICT MEET TO BEGIN WEDNESDAY

The climax to the 1964-'65 high school basketball season will begin Wednesday night, March 3, when the 56th district tournament opens in the Prestonsburg field-house.

In the 7 p.m. opener, McDowell's Dare Devils clash with Betsy Layne, and in the second game at 8:45, Wayland is matched against Wheelwright.

Thursday's 7 p.m. session has Prestonsburg paired against Maytown and favored Martin going against Garrett in the final game of the first round.

Past performances and records mean little, if anything, at this stage. Denzil Halbert's Martin Purple Flash have the region's most impressive mark with 29 victories in 31 games.

McDowell has beaten every club in its bracket in rolling to a 23-7 record.

The Prestonsburg high school track team will participate in the schoolboy division of the Mason-Dixon games in Louisville, Saturday.

Floyd county basketball teams have entered the state high school tournament nine times. Wayland and Betsy Layne have each made three trips. Garrett two and Wheelwright one.

Pikeville paces the 15th region with 13 trips and Inez is next at nine. Inez has twice won the state championship and lost once in the finals. No other 15th region team has ever reached the finals.

Other schools in the region that have gone to the tourney are: Dorton, one; Elkhorn city, three; Meade Memorial, two; Paintsville, one; Virgie, two.

Prestonsburg's Freddie Setser continues to pace the 15th region in individual scoring. He has 632 points in 22 games for a 28.7 per game average. Junior teammate Beecher Hale sports a 20-point average.

This factual comparison is presented for your consideration as the hour approaches when your Congressman and Senators will be asked to vote on a most vital issue: Whether to provide limited health care for all the elderly, or to provide more extensive care for people 65 and over who need help in financing the expenses of hospital and medical care. Please read, then let your representatives in Washington know your views.

COMPARE

ELDERCARE

Herlong-Curtis ELDERCARE Bill (HR 3727)

What are the provisions?

ELDERCARE would provide for hospital and nursing home charges.

ELDERCARE would provide for drugs in and out of the hospital.

ELDERCARE would provide for Physicians' care.

ELDERCARE would provide for Surgical costs.

Who would be eligible?

Those over 65 who need care and cannot pay for it would be eligible. The lower the income, the more financial help an elderly person would receive. People over 65 would qualify—before illness strikes—merely by submitting a simple statement of income—similar to that given by a person when opening a department store charge account. There would not be any "welfare type investigation". ELDERCARE would assure the elderly person free choice of physician, hospital, and nursing home.

How would ELDERCARE be financed?

By federal and state funds through a program that already exists. ELDERCARE would not require a new payroll tax.

When seen in light of the above, Medicare is not an "end all", "do all", "be all". It would only provide for limited care, would be very costly to implement, and would be increasingly costly to maintain. We must not learn this the hard way!

THE PHYSICIANS OF KENTUCKY—THE PEOPLE WHO CARE FOR THE ELDERLY—ARE AMONG THE SUPPORTERS OF ELDERCARE. THEY BELIEVE THE DIGNITY AND RIGHTS OF ALL INDIVIDUALS ARE BEST SAFEGUARDED BY THE HERLONG-CURTIS ELDERCARE BILL (HR 3727).

MEDICARE

The name by which the King-Anderson Bill (HR 1) is generally known

What are the provisions?

MEDICARE would provide for hospital and nursing home charges.

MEDICARE would not provide for drugs out of the hospital.

MEDICARE would not provide for Physicians' care.

MEDICARE would not provide for surgical costs.

Who would be eligible?

All persons over 65 would be eligible for Medicare, including the wealthy and the well-to-do. By applying Medicare to everyone, the help that any given individual would receive would be much less than if some method of selection based on need were used. It has been estimated that this widespread approach would cost today's taxpayers thirty five billion dollars merely to pay for the limited care the elderly now over 65 would need during the rest of their lives.

How would MEDICARE be financed?

MEDICARE is a tax plan and would require a new payroll tax. This would hit hardest those least able to pay. The $5,600 a year worker would pay as much tax as the $56,000 a year executive.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR, THE TIMES: NOTHING HAPPENED

"Why don't you write something good about our community?" say citizens who are tired of crime news about their community.

Step right up, folks. There's better news today—with only one hitch. This time it's poverty news. Where did it happen? Well, according to our newspapers, it happened on Mud Creek just recently. A few years ago there was no such rumor as Mud Creek being poverty stricken.

This rumor was instigated or publicized by various newspapers in the area. A few weeks ago a leading newspaper of this state, perhaps, printed a brief story accompanied by photographs of the members of the family mentioned in the story as reprinted as follows:

"One third of the way through collections of food, clothing and money, for their second trip to Kentucky's 'Poverty Pocket,' Mr. and Mrs. pause to survey some of the warm clothing they will be taking with them next week. The LaCarne couple with their two daughters visited Sandusky yesterday to pick up their bulk of the load shown here from a collection point in the basement of The young eyes of (the two children) will see Appalachia's poverty first hand as they will accompany their parents, to the Mud Creek area of Floyd county to help distribute the donations from Erie, Huron, Ottawa, Sandusky and Wood counties of Ohio." The names were omitted in this question in respect for the donors referred to.

The above story is, perhaps, not the first to appear in recognition of Mud Creek and certainly not the last. One week ago another story appeared in Floyd county's only newspaper honoring another Ohioan for his aid to the Mud Creek community in the form of clothing, bread and chickens.

It is here that the respectable citizens of the Mud Creek community wish to thank the Ohioans for their poverty sympathy and their newspapers for carrying the good news to the public. They've done a good job of telling the worst of it—exaggerating a little.

What the donors did was a bit unusual in that individuals can become charitable in the time of need. The truth of the matter is the poverty pocket in the Mud Creek breeches is not as big as it is accredited with. Another thing that is just as unusual is the fact that Mud Creek is and has been getting its more-than-fair share of publicity in this matter. The Mud Creek folks are not selfish.

The citizens admit that their community has a small number of destitute families. Many of these families are self-made by their unwillingness to work, though they are able. This statement is witnessed by the fact that the community's coal operators are "crying" for help, but few, if any, have come to their rescue. Farm laborers are needed also, but no one is supposed to work, for fear that he might lose his stamps and welfare checks.

But all is not bad. As for the Mud Creek community's need for chickens, it can boast of a modern poultry farm with LIVE and HEALTHY chickens. A local sawmill, furnishing employment for twenty men, has provided lumber for many of the modern homes in and around the Mud Creek community. When one wishes to go out for the evening for a ride, there is a bituminous surfaced highway to travel over.

Mud Creek now boasts of its modern eighteen-classroom school plant consisting of a library, and an auditorium, as well as modern lunchroom facilities. The John M. Stumbo elementary school, referred to above and in a recent Times article, has a provisional rating by the state. So, you see, the citizens of Mud Creek community aren't really among the dung hills of a much publicized "slum area."

Again, concerning the Times' recent article about the clothing, bread and chickens arriving at the Mud Creek school, the article stated that the products were distributed by the teachers to the needy families. A correction—the teachers did not take the commodities outside the school to distribute them. The teachers only assisted the needy students in selecting the garments they could use. As for the chickens, these were not taken out into the community; but rather were used in the school's lunchroom.

Only a few years ago, there was no such thing as Mud Creek being "poverty stricken." Why all this fuss and publicity all of a sudden? Is it because Mud Creek has fallen prey for someone seeking to make a name for himself? With all the millions that might be spent, "The poor shall never cease out of the land" (Deut. 15:11). Who, besides LBJ has the ignorance and courage to say, "Poverty will no longer be?"

Is this the mark that our out-of-state neighbors recognize us by? Evidently it is, since they have been so well-informed. Does the author of the recent article think that the Mud Creek community is alone in poverty? Does he not know about the slums in and around our small towns, including the Prestonsburg area.

Did the young eyes referred to above really have to travel over three hundred and fifty miles to see poverty? The writer doubts it, since he has visited in Huron and surrounding counties of Ohio. The young eyes have never arrived in within the poverty-pocket; but, if they had after seeing some of the modern homes, might not they have said, "Why, this pocket hasn't such a big hole after all?"

What the writer has pointed out is that the Mud Creek community is no different than other communities of its rurality.

POLITICAL NOTEBOOK

Dr. Hyden Offers Platform To Force Floyd Forward

As your Democratic Candidate for County Judge, I pledge a program of progress for Floyd county. I offer it as a platform both to run on and TO OPERATE BY when I am your County Judge.

I am certain these activities which I pledge to perform will indeed FORCE FLOYD FORWARD:

- FISCAL MANAGEMENT — TAXATION AND SPENDING
1. To offer sound, honest, ethical and efficient fiscal management with devoted attention to debt retirement.
 2. To present a balanced budget geared to the revenue available; and expended—not on salaries, useless office expense and frivolous programs — but directed to our county's real needs and progressive programs. LET'S SPEND WITHIN THE BUDGET.
 3. To recommend to the fiscal court the elimination of the petty and annoying Merchant's license taxes on soft drinks, ice cream, cigarettes and other items. These license taxes add not a great deal to the county treasury, but it is strictly up to the County Judge and the Fiscal Court whether or not they are levied on our merchants and restaurants.
- ROAD CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE
4. To construct, maintain and locate county roads on the basis of need—not votes.
 5. To use the small amount of county highway equipment we now have to the maximum during all daylight hours on our many rural roads in poor repair. This can be done by operating this equipment on two shifts—adding an extra crew during the late Spring, Summer and early Fall—thus, taking advantage of every hour of daylight available. Our road equipment now sits idle a great many hours, when its use could benefit many Floyd countians.
 6. To cooperate fully with the State Highway Department in the location of new roads, in procuring right-of-way, and in using wisely and fairly the funds allocated by it to our county.
- GENERAL ADMINISTRATION AND JUDICIAL FUNCTIONS
7. To give my PERSONAL attention to the affairs of and duties of the office of County Judge and not to delegate the administration of this vital office to others.
 8. To be an official elected by and for the people—not one selected by outside interests.
 9. To exercise the powers of this office for all Floyd countians—not to feather the nests of a favored few.
 10. To at all times, thru the Fiscal Court, cooperate with our County Board of Education, in going forward with a sound educational program.
- INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AND COUNTY IMPROVEMENT
11. To provide leadership in industrial development and real cooperation with the local, state and federal government in bringing money to Floyd county. In this respect to develop a program fully implementing the federal Appalachian plan in Floyd county.
 12. To at all times be prepared to present a workable plan that will take advantage of the Kennedy-Johnson-Combs-Perkins progressive program for Eastern Kentucky.
 13. To provide a cleanup program for removal of garbage from along our rural roads—with the aid of the fiscal court and the cooperation of interested civic organizations. The establishment of at least two public garbage dumps in every magisterial district shall be our goal. This is in keeping with Kentucky's cleaner, greener program for greater tourist attraction.
- PROMOTION OF THE GENERAL WELFARE
14. To plan and provide for a welfare program administered impartially on need — not used to build a political machine.
 15. To work towards securing a training camp thru state and federal funds for our area, utilizing the services of our unemployed young men.

To the
PEOPLE of FLOYD COUNTY:

This is an election year in Floyd county. Once again you are going to decide who will lead your affairs of government for the next four years. This is a most important election.

I am now completing my first term as your County Attorney. Four years ago I promised you I would work hard for progress, strict law enforcement, and to do my dead level best in serving all the people of Floyd county. I have kept that promise.

PROGRESS: I believe that everyone can agree that during the last 4 years Floyd county has made more progress than anytime in its history. We have a new Courthouse, a new College, more new rural roads, clearing and snagging project of Right Beaver Creek, Food Stamp Program, Unemployed Parents Program, just to name a few. These projects have required hard work, cooperation and the help and support of all the people. WE ARE JUST BEGINNING, much more can be and will be accomplished!

LAW AND ORDER: During the last four years our county has been the scene of a conspiracy and well organized liquor ring. Bootlegging has been organized as never before. There are those who would have completely taken over if allowed to, if the County Attorney had not prosecuted liquor violations RIGHT DOWN THE LINE. There have been more liquor convictions in the last four years than in any previous period in our history. I have done my dead level best to cooperate with the Governor's Office, State Police, ABC Agents, and other law enforcement officers to halt the terrible liquor situation in Floyd county. I am on the side of law and order. The churches, ministers, parents and P.-T.A. groups and others have been a great source of strength to me and I appreciate their help and support. We have not stamped out bootlegging, but we have kept the ELEMENTS OF ORGANIZED CRIME from taking over in Floyd county.

UNBOSSSED: This is my first term in office. Anytime a new man takes public office—there are those who want to boss the show—. I am not tied to any man or group. I am not, and will not be controlled by Banner Meade, and his cronies or any selfish group of men or clique in an effort to get control of this county. The only job I have is to work hard for the people of Floyd county. I AM NOT BOSSSED BY ANYBODY! I am frank to say, however, that if any man can boss me in public life, it is my friend and adviser, BERT COMBS. I always seek his advice on public matters—I will continue to do so because Bert Combs is vitally interested in Floyd county's affairs.

EXPERIENCE: I am now in my fourth year of office as County Attorney. I have learned a great deal and I firmly believe I am in a much better position to be of greater service to all the people. I know that it is vitally important that we continue to work hard and go forward, move ahead in a spirit of cooperation with all local officials, state officials and Federal officials. I know I can do this. I know much more can be done for Floyd county. New State and Federal Programs are being started every day, and we must work to get the benefit of each program for our people. To do this, you must have cooperation. We cannot move forward by fighting among ourselves. Hate, vengeance, and discord will only destroy the hope of progress for the future.

I ask YOUR support and help to build a greater, safer and prosperous Floyd county.

BARKLEY J. STURGILL

COUNTY COURT CLERK

PEGGY CRUM

Democratic primary, May, 1965

I was born and reared at Lancer, Kentucky, near Prestonsburg, the daughter of Joe Crum and Esta Burchett Crum, granddaughter of the late W. G. Burchett and Julia Hubbard Burchett, and the late John R. Crum, and Elizabeth Setser Crum, now living at Lancer, Kentucky. I have two sisters, Faye Crum Fisher and Jackie Lynn Crum, and one brother, Johnny Crum. My relation extends to the Crums, Burchetts, Setzers and Hubbards, to the Blackburns, Akers, DeRossetts, Branhams, Laffertys, Conns, Samons, Jarvises, Banks, Gobles, Crisps, Hunters, Hammonds and many other Floyd county families.

I am a member of the First Baptist Church of Allen, Kentucky, and at various times have taught Sunday School and worked with the young people of my church.

I attended Allen Graded School, Prestonsburg High School and Morehead State College and was an honor student, both in high school and in college.

I am now employed by Porter Electric Co., of Allen, Kentucky, and previous to this I worked four years in the County Court Clerk's office under DuRan Moore.

This is the first time I have ever asked for a public office but with my four years' experience I feel I can do a good job for all of Floyd county.

I'm sure you all agree that the work in this office is done almost entirely by women, so why spend additional tax money to pay a man who has to hire women to do his work?

I have met most of you people and served you in this office and hope to visit with every one of you in your homes before this election. I want each of you to know and see who you are voting for.

I'm just a working girl with no money, and the only way I can possibly make this race with success, is with the help of all the good, honest people. I know when you go to the polls to vote, you'll not forget me.

Your friend,

Chevy II

With aluminized exhausts that discourage corrosion . . . Delcotron generators that encourage longer battery life . . . brakes that adjust themselves . . . rocker panels that flush themselves free of dirt and salt. Tight? They're downright miserly!

You're looking at the lowest priced sedan and station wagon that Chevrolet makes. We make a point of this since they neither look nor act their price.

They're roomy. The sedan seats six. The wagon gives you a full nine feet from the back of the front seat to the tip of the lowered tailgate.

They're rugged. The unitized body is by Fisher. Up front, there's an independent suspension system and in the rear, Mono-Plate (you'll never hear a squeak) springs.

They're good looking. Clean. Functional. Foam-cushioned front seats, padded front armrests and color-keyed front seat belts are among many unexpected standard equipment features.

You can get an economical 4-cylinder engine in the sedan or in both cars, a 120-hp Hi-Thrift Six. It's fast to warm up, idles almost silently and is very, very easy on gas.

For even more power, there's a special Six you can order: the 230-cubic-inch Turbo-Thrift job.

As we said earlier, these are our lowest priced cars. But you'll never know just how economical they are until you own one.
