

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SPAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1965

This Town ... That World

HOW HE DIDN'T

Asked how he had become such a great success, the man replied:

"It's hard to say. But one thing is certain—I didn't get to the top by hitting the ceiling, every time things failed to suit me."

CRUEL REMINDER

Once upon a time there was a fellow who went fishing on Feb. 22, returned home, told of losing a big one—and then was cruelly reminded that it was the birthday of that fellow who cut down the cherry tree.

Smile!—the "grouch" season ended Sunday. And don't grouse about it.

QUESTION

The latest report—repeat, "report"—received from Dewey Lake is that the State Park boat dock will not be open to business till April 15. I wonder, if a body should rent a locker on this date, will they go back and date his rent as of April 1? Has been done, you know.

ADD EXCUSES

As usual, I have left off the writing of these lines till the very last. And now there has by the illness of one of the staff been suddenly dumped in my lap the answering of various telephone calls, headlines to write, proofs to check, occasional customers to be waited upon, complaints to be heard, praise to be listened for and not heard—and it almost becomes impossible to keep up steam. So this is one chore I'm quitting right here.

STUMBO SAYS EXECUTIONS BAN NOT TO AFFECT TRIAL PLANS

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo said Monday that Governor Breathitt's order of last week banning executions of condemned prisoners until the 1966 Legislature can act on the controversial death penalty, will not affect plans of the Commonwealth to seek the death penalty for Headmon. May accused slayer of elderly Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hopson.

"I can't," he pointed out, "assume that the Legislature will change the law. In my opinion it will be inconsistent for me to ask the death penalty for Roy Salisbury and not for Headmon May."

Stumbo also said that under the Constitution any defendant is entitled to a speedy trial and that it would thus be impossible to postpone May's trial until April, 1966.

May was returned here last week from Louisville where he underwent psychiatric examination.

Governor Breathitt's decision means that nine men, including Roy Salisbury, of this county, who are facing electrocution at Eddyville state penitentiary, will be spared at least until the 1966 General Assembly meets next January and decides if the present law providing capital punishment shall remain in force or be annulled. Salisbury's execution date was originally set for April 9, but even without the Governor's action it is doubtful if the sentence would have been carried out on that date because of an appeal from the jury verdict.

The Governor said he wants the 1966 General Assembly to have a chance to act upon recommendations to be made by the task force on criminal justice. He wants use of the death sentence sharply curtailed.

"If the legislature does not change the law," Breathitt said, "I would not let by personal feelings influence my judgment in a capital case although I would review each individual case very carefully."

There has been only one execution in Kentucky in the last eight years, although the average population on death row has been about eight over that period.

Breathitt feels that capital punishment is not enough of a deterrent to crime to justify the state in taking a man's life.

He said he will not issue an order for execution before next March. Without an order from the governor, an execution cannot take place.

Breathitt has asked his task force on criminal justice to study the subject and make recommendations to him for legislation.

Breathitt is thinking along the lines of abolishing the death penalty in all cases except for a person under life sentence who commits murder.

He said he hopes that retention of the death penalty in such instances would deter a man from killing someone in attempting to escape from prison.

A bill calling for the outright abolition of capital punishment passed the Kentucky House of Representatives in 1964. The measure, however, died in a Senate committee as the session ended.

Last Wednesday, the governor of Iowa signed into law a measure ending the use of capital punishment. It was the 10th state to do so.

Indiana appears next. A bill outlawing the death penalty has passed both Indiana houses and is being adjusted technically before the House.

COOPER SEES ROADS RESULT OF AID BILL

Senator John Sherman Cooper described at a Lexington meeting last week a system of developmental roads and interstate highways for Eastern Kentucky that could be expected to materialize from the Appalachian aid bill.

Speaking before a luncheon meeting of the Kentucky Better Roads Council, Inc., Senator Cooper said that 400 to 500 miles of roads will be constructed in the state as a result of the bill.

In its present form the bill will make $840 million in federal funds available for road construction in eleven states. With the states matching these funds on a 70-30 basis, about $1 billion will be allocated for roads over a five-year period.

The focal point of the road system now being planned for a 49-county area of Eastern Kentucky will be two interstate "corridors" running roughly north-south and east-west through the area, said Senator Cooper.

The north-south corridor will run from Ashland to Louisa, Paintsville, Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Jenkins, Harlan, Pineville and Middleboro. In effect, it would open an interstate link between Columbus, Ohio, and Knoxville, Tennessee.

The second corridor will run from Campton to Hazard, Whitesburg, Jenkins and connect with Interstate 81 in Virginia, providing access to the manufacturing centers to the east of the Appalachians.

Other roads in the area will be improved as feeders for the two main corridors, Senator Cooper added. In particular, he mentioned that Ky. 80 would be improved between Somerset and Hazard, a comment that drew a prolonged applause from the audience, which included many people from Eastern Kentucky.

The area's biggest problem, Senator Cooper said, has been an isolation that has been largely created by the continued use of lines of communication that were developed at the time the state was formed.

One original corridor that is still heavily used runs from Ashland to Louisville. The second runs from Cincinnati to Knoxville.

"Interstate roads have been established along those old channels," said the senator. "The result is that the other areas have become isolated."

The purpose of the Appalachian aid bill is "to extend interstate roads into other areas of Kentucky," he said, to open them to capital investment and to the construction of tourist and recreation centers.

The injection of federal funds for road construction into that area would also free state road funds for projects in other areas, and "will lead to the strengthening of the economy of all of Kentucky," he said.

Senator Cooper emphasized that plans for the road system would not be final until they had been submitted to a commission that will be established by the bill. The commission—made up of the governors of the eleven affected states and a federal representative—will make the final decision on which roads are to be constructed or improved.

C.C. TALKS DEFINE WORK

Need of Locations For Industry Cited At Chamber Banquet

Steps that have been taken toward community progress and improvement and work yet to be done were defined by speakers at the first annual banquet of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

How well the community has succeeded in improving itself was represented by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce plaque awarded Prestonsburg as winner of the district Community Improvement Contest. Dr. George P. Archer, mayor of Prestonsburg, on behalf of the city received the plaque at the banquet.

Clifford B. Latta, first of the speakers introduced, told of the recent visit to Prestonsburg of representatives of industrial firms who were seeking a site for a plant. Because Paintsville had a site ready and Prestonsburg had none, Mr. Latta said, the Johnson county-seat got the nod for the new industry.

COURT SETS LOAD LIMIT

Move Is Initiated To Preserve Highway Through Auxier Town

The fiscal court at its meeting last Wednesday voted unanimously to set a 12-ton load limit on the county road from the Auxier bridge through the town of Auxier, effective March 1.

The road is used by trucks hauling coal from an auger-mining operation to a tippie at Auxier, traveling via Dewey Dam and the road along Dewey Lake.

Hearing for three truckers cited as having exceeded the load limit on the road from the dam to Auxier has been continued till March 22. The citations were issued by representatives of the Division of Motor Transportation.

Robert Jones Assigned To Grant County Job

Robert M. Jones, Floyd county Extension agent since 1955, will assume the job of county agent in Grant county, April 1. He will reside at Williamstown. In addition to the usual duties of a county agent, Jones will also be concerned with the problems of planning and zoning.

Jones, a native of Cynthiana, was graduated at the University of Kentucky in 1951 with a degree in agriculture. He was awarded a master's degree at Michigan State University at East Lansing in 1963.

Several progressive programs were initiated by Jones during (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

RURAL ROADS PACT OKEHED

Allocation from State For Next Fiscal Year Reported at $107,206

The Floyd fiscal court at its meeting last Wednesday approved the rural highway contract with the State Highway Department which provides for an allocation of $107,206.57 to the county for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Ninety-five projects totaling 151.3 miles were listed in the agreement. Of this total, 25.7 miles are slated for bituminous surfacing and 125.6 miles for traffic-bound macadam. Two bridges are listed.

The work involved in the program is pothole patching, skin-patching of bituminous surfacing and repair of base failures; blading or grading road surfaces; application of dust palliatives; ditching and shouldering, cleaning of ditches, removal of slides, replacement of old drain pipes up to 36 inches in diameter, repair of roads and bridges damaged by slides and other circumstances; repair, cleaning and painting of bridges.

The contract provides that the county is to supply all rights-of-way and to keep the state free of damages on any project undertaken.

BLEVINS DIES IN ACCIDENT

Weeksbury Man Killed At Knott-Letcher Line; Funeral Held Monday

Paul Ed Blevins, 19, of Weeksbury, was killed instantly Friday at 2:30 p.m. in an automobile accident on Ky. 7 near the Knott-Letcher county line. No other car was involved in the mishap, it is said. Blevins suffered multiple skull injuries.

He was a student at Mayo State Vocational School, Paintsville. His parents, Charles and Larsie Johnson Blevins, survive. Surviving also are one brother, Vinson Charles Blevins, of Weeksbury, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dock Blevins, Weeksbury.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 11:30 a.m. at the Church of Christ, at Weeksbury, the Revs. Bennie Blankenship and Willis Green Blankenship officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Weeksbury under the direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

JAIL MOTHER OF 3 IN WARRIX SLAYING

EX-HUSBAND OF WOMAN IS VICTIM

Mrs. Short Expected To Waive Examination In Zean Warrix Death

Miss Joyce Viars, 27, Prestonsburg, died Monday at home. A daughter of Russell and Delphia Cole Viars, she had been an invalid for life. She was never married and had no surviving brothers or sisters.

Funeral services were conducted today (Thursday) at 1 p.m. at the home, the Rev. W. D. Jagers officiating. Burial was made in the Gearheart cemetery under the direction of Carter & Callihan Funeral Home.

Mrs. Virgie Gibson Short, 50-year-old mother of three, is in the county jail here, accused of shooting to death her former husband, Zeen Warrix, of Water Gap, late Sunday afternoon on the Short Branch of Abbott Creek, near the woman's home.

Six bullets from a .25-caliber Italian-made pistol entered Warrix' body, and he was dead on arrival at the Prestonsburg General hospital.

The accused woman has declined to make a statement until she confers with her attorney. She was jailed after she had telephoned Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale, after the shooting, to come to her home and get her.

Mrs. Short waived examining trial and was expected to execute $5,000 bond Wednesday afternoon to answer to action of the April grand jury.

Warrix was shot while standing on the porch of the home of Ernest "Cat-Tail" Campbell, a neighbor of Mrs. Short. He was shot in the left side of his face, in his right arm, right shoulder and three times in the abdomen.

POLLUTION PROBLEM TALKED AT MEETING

Their concern about the problem of stream pollution was emphasized by members of the Seventh District Wildlife Federation in a meeting held last Wednesday night in the county courtroom here.

Dr. C. L. Allen, of Langley, vice-president of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, who presided in the absence of the Federation president, expressed the belief that "some progress is being made." He said the Pollution Commission is doing a better job and is covering the territory more closely.

John Redwine, of Sandy Hook, Seventh district conservation supervisor, explained the reason for the directive issued to conservation officers, instructing them to contact the Pollution Commission on violations before taking action themselves. He said the officers may take action without first giving this notice to the Commission, in an emergency, but that notice to the Commission before taking action would prevent duplication of effort.

Minor Clark, commissioner of conservation, was quoted as having said, "If we can stop one building from being built in Paducah, Kentucky, because it violates the law, we can stop a coal mine."

The gathering was told that in Magoffin county, where old oil wells have been water-flooded, a heavy flow of salt water into nearby streams has resulted. The Magoffin conservation officer said those carrying out these water-flooding jobs are now being required to prepare huge sump holes to contain the salt water. "And," he added, "they're going to continue doing this — or wish they had!"

The possibility exists, the district group learned, that the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources may purchase the 60,000-acre Ford tract of land in Clay and Leslie counties which has 71,000 acres of timber-cutting rights. The Department, said Sam Garnett, Hazard, member of the State Conservation Commission, is now exploring means of financing the transaction, which would require approximately $2 million. Hunting rights on the tract may be purchased by the Department, he said, even if funds for purchase of the land itself are not available.

Dr. Allen said the League of Kentucky Sportsmen's board of directors has recommended to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources that the 1965 squirrel season be opened, statewide, on the same date, although a split season will be recommended.

He asked that all local conservation and sportsmen's groups send representatives to the League convention at Paducah, June 11-13.

The Pike County Sportsmen's Club presented, and received approval of, a resolution which is to be presented at the League (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

Martin Physician Dies At Lexington Hospital After 2-Week Illness

Dr. J. A. Stumbo, 60, well-known Martin physician, died shortly after noon Wednesday at Central Baptist hospital, Lexington after an illness of about two weeks.

The fatal illness had its inception with a blood clot which reached the doctor's lung. He entered the Lexington hospital February 22, later underwent surgery and apparently was improving when stricken suddenly Wednesday.

"Dr. Slick," as he was familiarly known, began the practice of medicine in 1935 at Martin, where he maintained his office during his entire professional career except for a brief period spent at Logan, West Virginia.

A son of the late William H. and Artie Salisbury Stumbo, he was a native of Printer. He received his early education in the schools of the county and at Casey Junior College, Pippa Passes.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Stella Brown Stumbo, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Edmund Barnett, of Martin, and the following brothers and sisters: Charles Stumbo, of Lancer, Kendall and Harry Stumbo, both of Printer, Walter Stumbo, McDowell, Perry Stumbo, Betsy Layne, Mrs. Maude Hall, McDowell, Mrs. Mona Muncey, of Pike county, Mrs. Arizona Clifton, of Allen, Mrs. Ida Williams and Mrs. Viola Allen, both of Printer.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

HEART CLINIC DATES GIVEN

Separate Dates Set For Adults, Children Here March 16 and 17

A two-day consultative and diagnostic heart clinic for medically indigent patients will be held in the Floyd County Health Department here on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 16 and 17.

This clinic is being organized so that adult patients only will be admitted to the clinic on March 16, and children only will be seen on March 17.

Physicians from the departments of Medicine and Pediatrics at the University of Kentucky Medical School will conduct the clinics.

Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Heart Association and the state and county Health Departments, this clinic provides a diagnostic service for the patient along with recommendations for treatment and management of the case. It also provides an opportunity for the referring physician to consult with the clinician regarding his patient.

Necessary expenses of the clinic are being underwritten by the Kentucky Heart Association and the State Department of Health. Clinic personnel as well as space and equipment will be provided by the Floyd County Health Department as well as the State Health Department and the Kentucky Heart Association.

Only those patients who have been referred by a physician and have a written referral will be admitted to the clinic. Counties in this clinic area are Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike.

START MADE MONDAY ON MIDTOWN CENTER

Mobile X-Ray Unit To Be at Wayland Wednesday, Mar. 10

The mobile X-ray unit will be at Wayland, near the old company store, next Wednesday and will be in operation from 10 a.m. till noon and from 1 to 3 p.m., it was announced this week.

Dr. R. L. Hall, health officer, Floyd County Health Department, is urging all citizens in the Wayland area to visit the unit and have a chest X-ray made. He said he would especially urge all foodhandlers, teachers and contacts of known cases of tuberculosis to visit the unit.

Those who have had an X-ray in the past and have received notice to have a large chest picture made are asked to bring this notice to the unit.

ARROWOOD'S ANNEX FIRST WORK BEGUN

Richmond Estate Plan Considers Construction Facing Parking Area

The I. Richmond estate this week broke ground for an annex to the William Arrowood Hardware Company, and from that beginning a midtown shopping center is expected to develop.

Work has been started by Bev Burchett, building contractor, on a 48x63-foot two-story addition to the Arrowood structure and later a 38x63-foot single-story annex to the same building will be constructed.

The two additions will join the rear of the present Arrowood building and will front on the Central Business District parking area which is scheduled for completion this spring. The Arrowood warehouse at the rear of the store is on the Richmond estate property and is being torn down to make way for the new structures.

Arrowood's will thus face on both Court street, as at present, and on the new parking area.

The Richmond heirs own a 196-foot frontage between the rear of the Arrowood building and the new Central Business District urban renewal project, and present plans call for development of this space by construction of three or four other shops facing on the parking area.

FLOYD GRANT IS APPROVED

Cong. Perkins Says $22,977 for Planning Allocated by O.E.O.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins notified The Times Tuesday that the Office of Economic Opportunity has approved a grant of $22,977 to develop a county-wide program for Floyd county within a period of nine months.

The grant is designed to insure this county the fullest possible benefits from the anti-poverty legislation already enacted and the Appalachian Bill which is now nearing final passage by Congress.

The county will be required to appropriate 10% of the grant amount.

Funds thus made available will make possible the employment of a fulltime planner and whatever assistance and facilities he may require in preparing a beneficial program.

The application for the federal grant was filed in mid-January by County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill after they had been authorized to do so by the Floyd County Development Association.

A planner to carry on the work of developing a countywide program under the new federal legislation has not yet been named, but this is expected to be done within the next two weeks.

HALL CHILD CAR VICTIM

7-Year-Old Is Claimed Instantly at McDowell Last Saturday Evening

Jerry Thomas Hall, seven-year-old son of Milford and Olga Blankenship Hall, of McDowell, was killed instantly Saturday at 6:20 p.m. by a car in the road near his home. The car, it is said, was driven by Robert Hall, a former Floyd county deputy sheriff. The tragedy was unavoidable, it is said.

Besides the parents, survivors include four brothers and a sister: Danny Joe, Jimmy, John and Timothy Hall, all at home, and Mrs. Violet Tackett, of McDowell.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 2 p.m. from the home, ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiating. Burial was made in the Greenberry Hall cemetery at McDowell under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Commonwealth Seeks $30,000 In Damages For Ky. 80 Bridge

The Commonwealth of Kentucky filed this week in circuit court here a suit asking $30,000 damages of Harry B. Ranier, Prestonsburg contractor, and his employee, John Reatherford.

The state alleges that Reatherford operated a Ranier truck in a negligent and careless manner and that the truck collided with a bridge on Ky. 80 in September, 1963.

Location of the bridge was not specified. The only bridge known to have been damaged on the highway by machinery owned by Mr. Ranier is the span across the Big Sandy at Allen.

fore being sent to Gov. Roger Branigin.
Kentucky law permits the death penalty for murder and armed robbery.
The state has executed 162 men since the electric chair was installed at Eddyville in 1911.
The last man executed was Kelly Moss, of Henderson, who was put to death on March 2, 1962.
That was the last execution since November 30, 1956, when three Jefferson county men were electrocuted.
The nine persons now on death row at Eddyville who have received the temporary stay of execution are:
Arnold B. Alcorn, 50, Jefferson county, convicted of murder in the holdup slaying of Shively loan company employee Bobby Morris, on death row since March 8, 1962.
Henry R. Anderson, 50, Jefferson county, murder in the gunshot killing of Dr. J. Alden Terry, General Electric Co. medical director, March 1, 1960.
Donald Ray Carson, 27, Warren county, murder, March 5, 1963.
Rudolph Hamilton, 24, Meade county, murder, July 8, 1964.
Hassie Cain Martin, 40, Fayette county, murder, February 9, 1961.
Johnnie Smith, Jr., 30, Fayette county, murder, November 29, 1962.
Willie Gaines Smith, 27, Fayette county, murder, August 31, 1960.
Nimrod Wedding, 39, Harrison county, murder, December 1, 1962.
Roy Salisbury, Floyd county, murder, February 10, 1965.
The Kentucky Court of Appeals recently reversed Wedding's conviction and ordered that he be retried.

HAROLD MAN DIES AT 82

Veteran Schoolteacher, Area Merchant, Victim At Pikeville Hospital

G. M. (Matt) Hale, 82, of Harold, died Saturday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, following an illness of two years.

Mr. Hale, a native of the Big Mud Creek section, was a retired Floyd county teacher and merchant. He conducted stores during a 40-year period of merchandising at Ashland, Harold, Drift and Paintsville.

He was a graduate of the first class of the old Eastern Kentucky Normal School, predecessor of the Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond. He was a member of the Church of Christ for 35 years and served as an elder.

Mr. Hale was a son of Jack and Jane Meade Hale. He was twice married, first to Bessie Bush Hale, and following her death, to Stella Boyd Hale, who also preceded him in death.

Surviving sons and a daughter are E. W. (Gene) Hale, Glenn Hale, Fred Hale and Mrs. May Allen, all of Harold. Four brothers and sisters survive: Sam Hale, John Hale, Mrs. Basil Hamilton, all of Harold, and Miss Bessie Hale, of Amba.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday at 1 p.m. from the Harold Church of Christ, the Rev. Bob Kessinger officiating. Burial was made in the Bush cemetery at Harold under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Presentation Planned By John Jacob Niles

John Jacob Niles, dean of American balladeers and native Kentuckian, will present a program of folk music at the Prestonsburg Community College Monday evening.

Niles has had a versatile career. He was taught music by his mother and following his graduation from high school he traveled in most of the mountain counties of Kentucky and collected ballads. He remained in Europe after serving in World War I and continued his education at French and English universities. He later studied music at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

He has published several books and issued albums of folk music.

Teachers of Illiterate Learn New Techniques; Librarians In Training

"Each one, teach one" is the aim of a State Department of Libraries project to bring the joy of reading to unlettered adults around the state.

Directors and other librarians from nine of the department's 13 library regions, plus eight members of the Frankfort staff, attended a workshop recently at Kentucky State College, Frankfort, to learn the technique of training other teachers of the illiterate.

By passing the technique on to county and Bookmobile librarians in the 63 counties participating in library regions, the department hopes to create a chain effect and a considerable blow at illiteracy around the state.

The workshop, directed by Kentucky State College librarian James O'Rourke, featured the Reverend Leo Lesser, director of the St. James Literacy Center in Louisville. Reverend Lesser gave the librarians an 11-hour course in the Laubach system, a method of streamlined English using word-and-picture associations and a vocabulary of practical use in everyday life.

Using this method, Reverend Lesser said, formerly illiterate persons are able to read directions on medicines and other products, fill out forms and applications, read their newspapers, and make use of some of the informative and entertaining material found in their local libraries. The course generally lasts six months and is suitable for small groups up to five persons.

Visual aids, workbooks, and special reading materials for the project will be furnished by the Department of Libraries through the 13 library regions, Miss Margaret Willis, State librarian, said.

The following officers were elected: Lyda S. Howard, president; Anna Jean Tackett, vice-president; Margaret Spradlin, secretary; and Burieta Gearheart, treasurer.

MIXING INSECTICIDES

Mix pesticides in a well-ventilated area, preferably outside, UK Extension entomologist suggests; because dangerous fumes may result. Don't mix different insecticides together unless the label recommends it, they warn.

Lexington, Ky.—Most jumpers and aborvites make unsatisfactory landscape plants because they are very susceptible to bagworm infestation, they are the wrong shape, and they grow too large for foundation planting. Some also are very likely to be troubled by spider mites, says Dr. Earl H. New, UK Extension horticulture specialist.

Lexington, Ky.—Good financial records save time, temper, and money—especially at this time of year when you're puzzling over tax forms. If you haven't kept careful records of family income, spending and saving in the past, start now to keep them, recommends Frances Stallard, UK Extension specialist in home management.

IN ONE DAY, an average of more than 66,000 people in the United States become hospital patients. The chances are almost 1 in 2 that someone in your family may need hospital care this year. If you have no accident-sickness insurance, or if your present coverage is inadequate to cover today's high medical costs, or if you just want information on Kentucky policies—check the type of coverage you're interested in at the right. Pike Pastor Named 'Mt. Minister of Year'

Pineville, Ky.—Dr. L. O. Griffith, a Southern Baptist Convention official who spent 20 years pastoring Eastern Kentucky churches, will speak at the Clear Creek Baptist School "Mountain Minister of the Year" program here on March 4.

Dr. Griffith is now director of the Division of Education and Promotion of the Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Ga.

The program will honor the Rev. D. E. Meade, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Forest Hills, Ky., in Pike county. Rev. Meade was selected from the eight-state Appalachian region by Clear Creek for its annual mountain minister award.

convention. This would call on the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources to close the season on red foxes. A resolution to eliminate the present "dogs only" season for raccoon was offered by the Left Beaver Coon Hunters Club, and it also was approved. Ben Ferguson, of the Floyd County Fish & Game Club, led a discussion on the possibility of procuring a field trial area in the Dewey Lake section.

his tenure of the Extension office here, chief of which was the organization of the Floyd County Development Association. Other work accomplished under Jones' guidance were the strawberry processing plant, the successful promotion of a garden improvement program, the organization of a livestock improvement association, and the advancement and expansion of 4-H Club work. In addition to these Jones concentrated on greenhouse promotion and feels that enough has now been done to insure future expansion.

"I am leaving Floyd county with genuine regret," Jones said. "The people have cooperated well with the Extension program and much of what has been accomplished was the result of that cooperation. I am particularly proud of the work of the Floyd County Development Association which I helped organize. The leaders of that civic-minded group will be able to do much for Floyd county."

Jones' wife is the former Miss Betty Jean Shadd, of Cynthiana. They have two children.

The shooting took place in sight of the woman's home where her husband, Roe Layne, was fatally wounded, June 18, 1960, by Warrix. Layne succumbed, a few days later, to two bullet wounds which were also inflicted by a .25-calibre pistol.

Ernest Campbell said he was not at home at the time of the shooting. His wife, Lucy Campbell, 23, signed a statement elicited under questioning Sunday night by Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo and State Detective Chester D. Potter.

Mrs. Short, she said, came to the Campbell home and had been there about five minutes when Warrix came onto the porch and knocked at the door. "I want to talk to Virgie," she quoted him as saying when she opened the door. During the conversation which followed between Warrix and his former wife, she said, Warrix said he could support their child and that he intended to "knock her out" of food stamps, adding that he got two dozen eggs.

After Mrs. Short had asked him when he got the eggs, according to Mrs. Campbell, she pulled her handkerchief from her right front pocket, then drew a small pistol from the same pocket and fired several times at Warrix who was standing three or four feet from her.

The shooting over, Mrs. Campbell added, Mrs. Short turned to her and said, "That's good enough for him."

The only other signed statement procured during the investigation immediately after the shooting was procured by County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill and Deputy Sheriff Hale from Wallace Coburn, 29, of Bull Creek.

Coburn said Warrix was drinking when he came Sunday morning to get him to repair a television line, and that he later drank beer and whiskey. He said he and Warrix had several drinks and he described the other as "pretty well full." Coburn said Warrix had a .38-calibre pistol in the glove compartment of his car which he later described as having pearl handles. (This weapon was found on the porch of the Campbell home when Warrix' body was moved, but Mrs. Lucy Campbell claimed she did not see it at the time of the shooting.)

After the television line work was completed, Coburn said, he and Warrix drove to Prestonsburg where Warrix told him he wanted to go see his former wife. Arrived near the woman's home, Warrix left the car and went toward a house, leaving Coburn in the car. He added that a woman was standing near an old barn, across the branch, that Warrix called to her, that she replied, and that Warrix crossed a foot-log over the branch and the woman started running down the left side of the branch and into the house, next below where the car was parked.

After Warrix went up to a house which Coburn did not identify, and remained there two or three minutes, he returned to the car and said, "We'll back here and turn." But, after this was done, he added, Warrix announced, "I'm going back to talk to her," then turned off the motor and took the car keys with him.

Coburn said he watched Warrix go to the porch of the house, about 50 yards from where he sat in the car, and that while he was looking in the other direction the shooting began. He said he turned to see Warrix fall onto his right side.

Coburn said he did not know Mrs. Short, did not see her at the time of the shooting and would not know her if he met her. He said he ran to another home farther down the branch and told a man what had happened, then returned to the Campbell home as Warrix was being loaded into an ambulance. Coburn said he and a man were walking back down the branch when a car passed them, driving toward the Campbell house. Later, when a man at the house called to him to come back, he said, he was afraid "because I didn't know who was up there," and kept walking down the branch. At the command of "halt," he said he began running, and kept running out to the main Abbott Creek road and across a bridge to a house where, he said, he told a woman what had happened.

Coburn was not held for further questioning.

The slain man was a son of Mrs. Josephine Calhoun Warrix and the late Add Warrix and was a native of the Bull Creek section where he resided. He was an overseas veteran of World War II. Surviving him, in addition to his mother, are a daughter, Kathy, of Cliff, and two sons, Eugene and Larry, of Indiana; two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Crum, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Stella McClamahan, of Water Gap; and three brothers, Curtis Warrix, of Water Gap, Theodore Warrix, of Waldo, Kentucky, and Virgil Warrix, of Sarasota, Florida.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the chapel of the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home by the Rev. John W. Conley, and burial was made in the family cemetery at Water Gap.

Curtis Clark, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and city manager, later pointed out that there are 16 potential sites in this vicinity. A move to acquire the best available site may be launched soon. Clark said a clothing manufacturer and an aluminum firm are interested in locating in the area.

Marvin Music, newly elected Chamber of Commerce president, accepted the Chamber leadership, and declared his personal opposition to the routing of U.S. 23 via Bull Creek and warned Prestonsburg businesses that this routing would eliminate 75% of the traffic through Prestonsburg. He pledged service to the best of his ability and called a meeting of the Chamber's board of directors next Monday evening at his office.

Reporting to the Chamber and its guests on the "State of the City," Dr. Archer described it as "a state of confusion for the last three years" while public improvements have been pushed. He pointed out that the city and the City Council have gone as far as they can go on these projects. The $10,000 still due on the 22-acre park-playground here must come from civic groups and individuals, he added. Dr. Archer expressed the belief that Appalachian Bill aid is doubtful if matching local funds are demanded and if Lexington, Kentucky and Charleston, West Virginia are the type of cities to be helped.

City Manager Clark reviewed individual efforts of the Chamber since its founding last July and its successes. He listed as important the effort to procure a bus franchise, with bus service to be supplied from Harold to Prestonsburg, the Community College here and Auxier. A hearing on the matter will be held here three days, March 23-25, he said.

Clark said the 41 unemployed fathers working in Prestonsburg are paid about $8,000 a month in federal funds, and that their work has saved the city $10,000 in the razing of the old courthouse and the salvaging of much of the materials in that structure for future use at the city park.

Dr. Archer introduced visitors, past officers and directors of the Chamber. Mr. Music succeeds Arbor Jones as president.

Food Plot Applications Due Soon with ASC

Those who would grow food plots and fence rows for wildlife must file application with the ASC office here, it was said this week. Applications may be procured from either the ASC or the Floyd County Fish & Game Club.

Such applications should be filed immediately, since they will be accepted only on a first-come, first-served basis because of limited funds.

Mrs. Fannie Kidd, 47, Heart Attack Victim At Rochester, Ohio

Mrs. Fannie Frances Kidd, 47, formerly of Honaker, died February 24 at Rochester, Ohio. Death was due to a heart attack.

Mrs. Kidd was a daughter of Sanford Parsons, of Honaker, and the late Mrs. Polly McKinney Parsons. Her husband, Charles Kidd, survives. She was a member of the Church of Christ for 32 years. She had no surviving children.

Surviving brothers and sisters are Graydon Parsons and Henry Parsons, both of New London, Ohio, George Parsons, of Drift, Homer Parsons, Greenwich, Ohio, Oscar Parsons, Akron, Ohio, Mrs. Josha Harvey, of Honaker, and Mrs. Essie Case, Peebles, Ohio.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Betsy Layne Church of Christ, the Revs. Henry Parsons and Roy Hall officiating. Burial was made in the Parsons cemetery at Honaker under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Disease Control Task For Constant Vigilance

By DR. RUSSELL L. HALL
 Floyd County Health Doctor

Controlling infectious diseases is like stopping leaks in a dike that holds back the sea: new leaks are continually occurring, and old breaks open up again and again. Catastrophe is always an instant away; an unguarded stretch of the dike, or slackening of immunization programs, and the dike breaks or epidemics of disease strike.

During the first three weeks of 1965 (compared with the first three weeks of '64), meningitis, diphtheria, encephalitis, measles, scarlet fever, streptococcal sore throat, typhoid and rabies have increased; hepatitis, polio, tetanus (lockjaw), and tularemia (rabbit fever) decreased.

These diseases, together, have killed more people than all the wars since the beginning of time. Many of these can be controlled by immunizations. A nurse is on duty in this Health Department each week-day (Monday thru Friday) to give immunization to all who need them. The people are urged to avail themselves of this life-saving service.

If our progress in this field appears to mimic the Booby Bird of Jamaica that takes two steps forward and one step backward, we can take measure of our progress by looking at our sister countries of Central and South America. There, the major illnesses of concern are malaria, yellow fever, leprosy, plague and smallpox. These ceased to be a threat in our country several years ago.

Changing Agriculture Picture Is Discussed At Cooperative Meet

One of the real challenges confronting farmer cooperatives today is the development of plans to cope with the changing agricultural picture, declared L. O. Brumback, director of membership relations for Southern States Cooperative, at a regional board meeting held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, last Thursday.

These sessions—there are 48 of them being held in a five-state area—are held annually by the cooperative for local board and committee members, guest young farmers, agricultural workers and managers of the cooperative's retail outlets.

Mr. Brumback told the session that "not only are changes occurring in agriculture, but also in other segments of our economy. The businesses serving agriculture—either in the supply or in the marketing field are undergoing similar changes."

James L. Campbell, of Rt. 4, Harrodsburg, a director of the cooperative, presided at the session.

Young guest farmers attending the meeting were John C. Williams, Leon Younce, and James Sheppard, all of West Prestonsburg.

Attending the session from this area were Kenneth Meade, John Wallen, Ollie Wallen and Clifford Calhoun, of the Prestonsburg Farm & Home Store; board members, Arthur Garrett, chairman, Prestonsburg; Marvin Marshall, secretary, Water Gap; Jesse Wallen, Prestonsburg; Burnis Martin, Prestonsburg; Frank Arnett, West Prestonsburg, and Joe H. Arnett, West Prestonsburg; and special guests, Elder Noble, ASCS office; Jack Friar, associate county agent, and William L. Wells, vocational agricultural teacher, all of Prestonsburg.

WILEY PARK . . . IN ILLINOIS

A few weeks ago an out-of-state correspondent wrote this column, inquiring about Jenny Wiley State Park and noting that there was a small park in Illinois named for the Wiley family. Our correspondent said that he was sure the Wileys for which the Illinois park was named were from Kentucky.

However, the Galva News, Galva, Illinois, writes, in answer to an inquiry, that the Wileys of Illinois were not Kentuckians. There went, of course, what would have been a good story.

Frances Townsend, of the editorial staff of the Illinois newspaper, writes:

"This city (Galva) was founded in 1864 by William Lorenzo Wiley and his cousin, James Martin Wiley, who migrated here from Vermont. The early histories do not mention any connection with Kentucky.

"The Wiley Park, named for the founders, is a small city park which includes a playground, wading pool, picnic shelter and comfort station. It is the proposed site of a municipal swimming pool.

"Thank you for the information you sent about Jenny Wiley State Park. The pictures are beautiful and make us all want to visit there sometime."

STUMBO-STUMBAUGH FAMILY

A letter of inquiry from Gloria Stumbaugh, 22 Signal Hill Blvd., East St. Louis, Missouri, is an inquiry on the Stumbaugh-Stumbo-Stambaugh families. She says she has found the name spelled three ways in the same document.

Miss Stumbaugh writes of her ancestral line:

"Our line goes back as follows: John Stumbaugh, 1823; O. V. Stumbaugh, 1836; John Henry Stumbaugh, 1857-1942; James Stumbaugh, 1835-1912; William Stumbaugh, 1795-1861.

"William Stumbaugh is thought to have had two brothers, David and John. They laid out the town of Ada, Ohio, and are thought to have gone to Kentucky. Where in Kentucky we don't know.

"We would like to know when the Stumbaugh-Stumbaugh family first came to Floyd county, Kentucky, and from where."

If anyone can answer any of Miss Stumbaugh's questions, please write her. She would be glad to exchange information.

ROBERTS FAMILY
 An inquiry from Mrs. Berniece

H. Westfall, Box 27, Stanville, Kentucky, is relative to the Roberts family.

"I am interested to know if perhaps you have any information on the Roberts family. My great-grandfather was Hiram Roberts, Spanish-American War veteran. I believe the Roberts family came to Eastern Kentucky from Virginia but I'm not sure."

Would any of the readers of this column, if they have any information on the Roberts family, write Mrs. Westfall?

LAYNE FAMILY

A letter from Mrs. Richard A. Hussung, RR 1, Whitestown, Indiana, is an inquiry as to the origin of the name of Betsy Layne.

She writes:

"I am interested in the origin of two places in your county of Floyd. Could you tell me where I could find out where the town of Betsy Layne got its name? I am a genealogist and my great-grandmother was Betsy Layne who came to Kentucky from Williamsburg, Virginia, with her father, Dr. Dellon Layne, very early in 1890. I know they were in Pikeville for awhile. I'm quite interested in learning how the town got its name. Also I would like information on the Jenny Wiley memorial."

Betsy Layne was named for Elizabeth Johns Layne, widow of William Layne, who resided near the present Justell or Betsy Layne, railway station site. Mrs. Layne, affectionately known as Aunt Betsy Layne, lived a widow for many years after her husband died with typhoid. When the railway came to the place, it had no name. It was suggested by some that the railway stop be called Betsy Layne. The postoffice, when established, took the same name. However, the postoffice was moved to the east side of the river and finally north a mile to the store of the late Richard P. Stratton. In a few months it was moved back to the area where it is now located.

Mack Cecil, a merchant of the present Betsy Layne, was instrumental in having the postoffice established and for awhile was postmaster. He was succeeded by his sister, Mrs. Mollie Layne.

STRATTON-LESLEY

A letter from Charles R. Wessel, Box 150, Route 2, Wheelersburg, Ohio, is relative to his ancestors, Hiram and Hannah Lesley Stratton. Mr. Wessel had requested a copy of HISTORIC FLOYD COUNTY, which was sent. He noted, "It was very interesting and my neighbor, Floyd Hall, enjoyed it, too. He was born and reared at Abbott Creek but worked in timber all up and down the Big Sandy. I think he came to Ohio around 1820-1825."

Mr. Wessel continues:

"I feel more assured now that Hiram and Hannah Lesley Stratton were the parents of Milton Stratton. Milton was killed in 1841 and the families lost contact, although Harrison, son of Milton and Hannah, went back to Kentucky and married Elizabeth Lesley, daughter of John P. Lesley and Jane Hogen, and lived on Blaine Creek.

"They evidently didn't correspond much. Harrison and Elizabeth were the parents of John Milton and Jasper. Jasper's children didn't know who Harrison's parents were until I told them. So the families weren't too well informed on their ancestors. Maybe some of the older generations were like some of the younger generations when it comes to family history. Many considered it a waste of time."

This factual comparison is presented for your consideration as the hour approaches when your Congressman and Senators will be asked to vote on a most vital issue: Whether to provide limited health care for all the elderly, or to provide more extensive care for people 65 and over who need help in financing the expenses of hospital and medical care. Please read, then let your representatives in Washington know your views.

COMPARE ELDERCARE MEDICARE

What are the provisions?

ELDERCARE would provide for hospital and nursing home charges.

ELDERCARE would provide for drugs in and out of the hospital.

ELDERCARE would provide for Physicians' care.

ELDERCARE would provide for Surgical costs.

Who would be eligible?

Those over 65 who need care and cannot pay for it would be eligible. The lower the income, the more financial help an elderly person would receive. People over 65 would qualify—before illness strikes—merely by submitting a simple statement of income—similar to that given by a person when opening a department store charge account. There would not be any "welfare type investigation". ELDERCARE would assure the elderly person free choice of physician, hospital, and nursing home.

How would ELDERCARE be financed?

By federal and state funds through a program that already exists. ELDERCARE would not require a new payroll tax.

What are the provisions?

MEDICARE would provide for hospital and nursing home charges.

MEDICARE would not provide for drugs out of the hospital.

MEDICARE would not provide for Physicians' care.

MEDICARE would not provide for surgical costs.

Who would be eligible?

All persons over 65 would be eligible for Medicare, including the wealthy and the well-to-do. By applying Medicare to everyone, the help that any given individual would receive would be much less than if some method of selection based on need were used. It has been estimated that this widespread approach would cost today's taxpayers thirty five billion dollars merely to pay for the limited care the elderly now over 65 would need during the rest of their lives.

How would MEDICARE be financed?

MEDICARE is a tax plan and would require a new payroll tax. This would hit hardest those least able to pay. The $5,600 a year worker would pay as much tax as the $56,000 a year executive.

Franklin Judge Upholds Increase In Pay Limit Provided by Lawmakers

Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs last Thursday upheld the constitutionality of a 1964 legislative act raising the salary limit of county officials from $7,200 to $9,600 annually.

The ruling affects county clerks, circuit clerks, sheriffs, county judges and jailers.

Meigs' decision is expected to be appealed to the Court of Appeals by the State Finance Department.

Meigs said an opinion explaining his decision will be issued later. But he gave these two reasons for his decision:

1. The raising of the salary limit is not an increase in pay by legal definition, but an adjustment based on the purchasing power of the dollar in 1949.

It was on this basis that the Court of Appeals a few years ago struck down the $7,200 salary limit imposed on state officials, and Meigs' ruling banked on that decision.

Changing the limit is not a "change in compensation during a term of office," but a reasonable adjustment.

Originally the suit applied only to circuit clerks in Kenton, Campbell, Fayette and Jefferson counties but was later expanded state-wide.

Finance Commissioner Felix Joyner had refused to pay these officials $900 a month, as the bill provided, and was authorizing checks for only $600 a month.

The state contended that the Kentucky Constitution limits salaries of county officials to $7,200 annually and prohibits raising their pay during current terms of office.

The state pays the salaries of circuit clerks in counties with 75,000 or more population. The other circuit clerks and county officials are compensated through local salaries and fees.

In a 1963 special session, the legislature raised the pay of Court of Appeals judges, appellate commissioners and circuit judges. The raises were put into effect during the officials' current terms of office.

During that special session county officials served notice at a meeting in Frankfort that they, too, deserved a raise because of additional duties.

A bill raising the salary limit for circuit clerks was introduced at the 1964 session and gained enough support to pass when it was amended to include most county officials.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky.

PROFESSOR OF THINGS IN GENERAL

Thomas Carlyle created for his spokesman in SARTOR RE-SARTIUS a professor and philosopher who was the head of the department of THINGS IN GENERAL in the University of Weissnichtwo, which, being translated, is NOWHERE. It has been my contention ever since I first got acquainted with Carlyle that every college needs just such a professor, one who can bring all the discordant elements of a college together. Specialization has become so rampant that a scholar sometimes is disdainful of areas of thought not too far from his own field. Our university organization has made it necessary to do much of this, but, in most lives, there is still room enough for some outside interests. One of my physician friends has just completed building a piano, and he is far from being a mechanical genius. But from the cares of his immense practice as a pediatrician he has found in his workshop a way to know some other things that seem pretty far from children's diseases. One of my best teachers, who was a Shakespeare scholar, became as a hobbyist a photographer of wide reputation; my folklore teacher, known all over the world, took up the cello and, though not so famous, as a musician as he is a folklorist, is respected by the artists. And at one time one of the foremost scholars in mathematics was, as a hobbyist, equally well known for his bees.

With the specialization and standardization of our modern world, we need some ways out, some understanding of things in general. Years ago I knew a great biologist who was equally at home in ornithology, in zoology, in entomology, and in ichthyology. When he talked about birds, even the experts listened and marveled, for he had a phenomenal memory of little distinctive behavior of birds and could, with a word, bring the bird to us in his audience. My German professor friend has so dedicated his spare moments to studying the warbler family that every squeak and lisp and song registers on his mind like more noisy noises on the average mind. Just this week I read a tribute paid this friend of mine by the most able illustrator of birds we have ever produced; he was as amazed as I have always been when I have shared a hike in some wild area of Kentucky or Tennessee with the German scholar.

It is not alone the hobbyist that we need but also a sort of superunderstander of whole fields of human thought. I realize that Albert Einsteins are rare, but we need some lesser Einsteins who can tie our scattered bits of knowledge and help us to understand what is being sought, in science, in literature, in philosophy, in religion. I cannot pretend to understand all I read in the works of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, but the intellectual thrill of reading the writings of a man who is in many ways an epitome of our culture keeps me, at least, from going to sleep in solid satisfaction at the great knowledge that we have. Schweitzer, for one, arouses a desire to know, to get at least an acquaintance with his own great fields: medicine, religion, and music.

Once, many years ago, I suggested that one of my colleagues in college was worth all of his salary if he did nothing but walk across the campus a few times daily and talk to students and teachers. He was in no sense a great scholar, his mind was not too much above the average, his early handicaps had kept him from having the social ease that we like to have in our leaders. But he knew people and loved them. Each student whom he knew seemed to him a reincarnation of his own youth, when he worked as a day laborer and made enough money to buy some books and start to grade school after he was in the late teens. He had the zeal of a convert to a new religion; he had found everything in books and college and in learning in general inviting, appealing. In many ways he was my idea of a professor of things in general, a sort of man that every college and every church and every social unit needs.

Conway Helps Close Aerial Refueling Job

Terceia, Azores—Airman First Class Chester Conway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dock Conway, of Wheelwright, Ky., helped write the final chapter to the Tactical Air Command's (TAC) aerial refueling mission at Lajes Field, Azores, recently.

Airman Conway was an in-flight refueling specialist on one of two KB-50 Superfortresses which kept a final refueling rendezvous with two F-105 Thunderchiefs over the Atlantic Ocean.

TAC fighters will be refueled by long range, jet KC-135 Stratotankers of the Strategic Air Command which has assumed the responsibility for U. S. Air Force refueling requirements world-wide.

Father of Harold Man Claimed In Johnson

Thomas H. Sadler, 81, of Nippa, Johnson county, died February 19 at 5:40 a.m. at a Paintsville hospital. He was the father of Clarence Sadler, of Harold. He was a retired farmer and miner.

Mr. Sadler was a son of James and Serena Sadler. He was a lifelong resident of Nippa and was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church. His wife, Stella Castle Sadler, preceded him in death.

Besides his son Clarence, three daughters survive: Mrs. Herbert Davis, Albuquerque, New Mexico, Mrs. Lloyd Murphy and Mrs. Sam Ramey, both of Nippa. One brother, Millard Sadler, also of Nippa, survives.

Funeral services were conducted February 21 at 1:30 p.m. from the Free Will Baptist Church at Nippa, the Revs. C. C. Hall and Richard Williams officiating. Burial was made in the Sadler cemetery at Nippa.

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No. 320 in a series)

JOHN C. FLETCHER (1869-1945)

John C. Fletcher, prominent political leader of Martin county, was born on Wolf Creek, that county, December 6, 1869, and, although born heir to adverse economic circumstances, he procured an education and began a long career in the teaching profession that culminated in two terms as County Superintendent of schools. Following his terms as county superintendent he was elected three terms to the office of Sheriff and twice as County Judge.

He married Oma Kirk, member of a prominent Wolf Creek family, and to this union were born the following sons and daughters: Thomas Fletcher, deceased; Mrs. America Endicott, Mrs. Curtis Crum and Mrs. George Blankenship, all of Inez; Mrs. Mary Slone, Dayton, Ohio; and Mrs. Elsie Hensley, Ravenswood, West Virginia. Fletcher died November 30, 1945, beloved and honored by the citizens of Martin county.

The First National Bank presents these pictures of the region in recognition of our historic heritage.

Top to bottom: Chevy II 100, Corvair 500, Chevelle 300, Chevrolet Biscayne. All 2-door models.

Hard to tell at a glance that each of these beauties is the lowest priced in its line. The ride doesn't show it. Or the interior. Or the performance. Just the price sticker.

That luxurious '65 Biscayne has the room of many expensive cars. Plus a handsome color-keyed interior with plush vinyls, fine fabrics, full deep-twist carpeting.

Chevelle, America's favorite intermediate-size car, has clean new styling, wide-opening doors, roomy, tastefully trimmed interior, and all the easy-care features of the big Chevrolet.

Chevy II got a whole lot smarter for '65—but kept its common sense! Still family-size, easy to handle, economical, and the lowest priced Chevrolet out.

Both Corvair Sport Coupe and Sport Sedan have the international flavor of a rear engine hardtop, promise fun for the months ahead.

Chevrolet, Chevelle and Chevy II are available with the economical Turbo-Thrift Six engine. It's economical, warms up quickly, idles silently. It's light, efficient, quiet, and spirited.

Corvair's rear-mounted Turbo-Air Six delivers the best balance and traction for this size car. It's air-cooled—no water or antifreeze.

So be practical. Check the great offer on your old car, the low payments on your new one. Only you will know how practical you've been. Because it sure won't show!

STRAWBERRY ORDERS

Orders are now being placed for strawberry plants. Arrangements have been made with Mullins Plant Farm, Chattanooga, Tennessee, for plants this year. A tentative order for one-half million Pocahontas plants have been placed for several counties of Eastern Kentucky. The plants are dug and are now in cold storage. The price of these plants will be $10.00 per thousand delivered to Prestonsburg. This is the best price we have ever had on strawberry plants. Plans are to have plants delivered the week of March 15. This means that March 10 will be the last day orders can be placed, leaving you only two weeks to place your order.

Orders are being received at The First National Bank, Prestonsburg. Jimmy Dick Spurlock is handling orders this year. A.R.A. STRAWBERRY CLASS

After many delays, the A.R.A. training program for strawberries has had approval. To qualify for this class a person would have to be unemployed, own or have leased one acre of land to raise strawberries and set at least one acre of strawberries this spring.

The classes are expected to start early in March. They will be held six hours per day, five days per week, and will last sixteen weeks. Those attending will receive a training allowance of approximately $32 per week while attending classes.

For further information contact Lloyd Wells, vocational-agriculture teacher at Prestonsburg high school, or your county Extension office.

TREE PLANTING

Now is the time to sign up at the ASCS office for the tree planting program. After you have made the necessary application, a professional forester from the Division of Forestry will visit you and help you decide on best specie and on site preparation. If the trees are to be set primarily for the control of an erosion problem, the soil conservationist will visit your land.

There are so many advantages for establishing a stand of trees that every land owner should give this serious consideration. Many thousand acres of our mountain sides are either bare or are covered by worthless shrubs. A good stand of pine trees will improve the value of land, improve its beauty, cut down on erosion, and provide a future cash income. Visit the ASCS office this week.

FRAZIER PROMOTED

St. George, Bermuda — Orris E. Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frazier, of Martin, Kentucky, has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force at Kindley AFB, Bermuda.

EASY-CARE GARMENTS
Homemakers' demands for easy-care garments and fabrics have caused the industry to develop more and more features that take the work out of clothing care. One of the latest developments is "permanent press." So far, only men's slacks are available with this finish, but manufacturers of women's and children's clothes probably will make use of it in the future.

A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME
The name of the same cut of beef often varies in different regions of the country—or even from store to store in the same city, says Mrs. Letta Jasper, UK Extension marketing specialist. For example, the same kind of sirloin tip (knuckle) may be called in different places short sirloin, top sirloin, sirloin butt, crescent, veiny, bell of knuckle, face, face rump, round, boneless sirloin, round tip, ball tip, loin tip, family steak, or sandwich steak.

What advantages does a "permanent press" finish give? A garment made of the right fabric and given a "permanent press" finish can be washed over and over—and it will never need ironing! The fabric will not wrinkle, the seams will not pucker, and sharp creases will stay in.

100 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK
The Civil War in Kentucky
By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week, Gov. Thomas E. Bramlette transmitted to the Kentucky legislature a joint resolution of the United States Congress proposing an amendment to the Constitution abolishing slavery. The governor did not make a recommendation that Kentucky ratify the amendment, but he did state arguments that had been advanced in favor of ratification.

The message pointed out that an 1833 act abolishing slavery in Great Britain had appropriated 20,000,000 pounds (then equivalent to nearly $100,000,000) to compensate the owners. "It cannot be," Bramlette said, "that our government will be less just, if we accept the amendment upon condition that the assessed value of 1864 be paid to the state to compensate owners who are to be affected by the proposed amendment. Our slave property was assessed for taxation in 1860, before the war began, at a total of $107,494,527. In 1863 the effect of rebellion and unfriendly legislation reduced the valuation to $57,511,770, and in 1864 to $34,179,246."

The message got a cool reception, and it was apparent at once that there was no enthusiasm among the legislators for taking any action favorable to abolition. Members of the General Assembly were overwhelmingly in favor of the Union, but Kentucky Unionists in general had taken that side because they favored preserving the Union and not because they were opposed to slavery. An attempt to pass the question to the voters was made in a resolution offered in the House of Representatives by E. H. Smith of Grant county to conduct a referendum at the August election, but no action was taken on it.

The Louisville Journal of February 10 announced: "Maj. Gen. John M. Palmer of Illinois has been appointed to command in Kentucky. Thank God and President Lincoln!" It was not because of any admiration for Palmer that the newspaper was rejoicing, but because the appointment of a new commander of the Military District of Kentucky meant an end to the rule of Maj. Gen. Stephen G. Burbridge, who had been in command since February 15, 1864. In an article published last year in the Register of the Kentucky Historical Society, L. L. Valentine, president and general manager of the Franklin Favorite, asserted that Burbridge's assuming command marked "the beginning of the blackest and bloodiest year in Kentucky history." That was the year which was about to come to an end 100 years ago this week.

Floyd County Students Pledged At University; Good Standing Required

Six Floyd county students have pledged to social fraternities at the University of Kentucky.

The students and their chosen fraternities are Jerald Lee Colvin and Van Buren Stepp, Phi Sigma Kappa; Daniel Wheeler Spurlock, John William Sutherland and Robert Jones Tallent, Sigma Chi, and Arnold Burgess Lowe, Triangle.

The University's 20 fraternities pledged 314 freshmen and upperclassmen on Bid Day which ended two weeks of fraternity rush. Under the current program a student cannot pledge to a fraternity until he has established a good scholastic standing.

Lowe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lowe, Langley. He graduated from Maytown high school and is a freshman in the College of Engineering.

Spurlock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Spurlock, Prestonsburg. He graduated from Prestonsburg high school and is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Sutherland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sutherland, Prestonsburg. He graduated from Prestonsburg high school and is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Tallent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Tallent, of Langley. He graduated from Maytown high school and is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Stepp is the son of Mrs. Wilson Stepp, Prestonsburg. He was graduated from Prestonsburg high school and is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences. Colvin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Colvin, Prestonsburg. He graduated from Prestonsburg high school and is a sophomore in the College of Engineering.

POLITICAL NOTEBOOK

Dr. Hyden Offers Platform To Force Floyd Forward

As your Democratic Candidate for County Judge, I pledge a program of progress for Floyd county. I offer it as a platform both to run on and TO OPERATE BY when I am your County Judge.

I am certain these activities which I pledge to perform will indeed FORCE FLOYD FORWARD:

FISCAL MANAGEMENT — TAXATION AND SPENDING

1. To offer sound, honest, ethical and efficient fiscal management with devoted attention to debt retirement.
2. To present a balanced budget geared to the revenue available; and expended—not on salaries, useless office expense and frivolous programs — but directed to our county's real needs and progressive programs. LET'S SPEND WITHIN THE BUDGET.
3. To recommend to the fiscal court the elimination of the petty and annoying Merchant's license taxes on soft drinks, ice cream, cigarettes and other items. These license taxes add not a great deal to the county treasury, but it is strictly up to the County Judge and the Fiscal Court whether or not they are levied on our merchants and restaurants.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE

4. To construct, maintain and locate county roads on the basis of need—not votes.
5. To use the small amount of county highway equipment we now have to the maximum during all daylight hours on our many rural roads in poor repair. This can be done by operating this equipment on two shifts—adding an extra crew during the late Spring, Summer and early Fall—thus, taking advantage of every hour of daylight available. Our road equipment now sits idle a great many hours, when its use could benefit many Floyd countians.
6. To cooperate fully with the State Highway Department in the location of new roads, in procuring right-of-way, and in using wisely and fairly the funds allocated by it to our county.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION AND JUDICIAL FUNCTIONS

7. To give my PERSONAL attention to the affairs of and duties of the office of County Judge and not to delegate the administration of this vital office to others.
8. To be an official elected by and for the people—not one selected by outside interests.
9. To exercise the powers of this office for all Floyd countians—not to feather the nests of a favored few.
10. To at all times, thru the Fiscal Court, cooperate with our County Board of Education, in going forward with a sound educational program.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AND COUNTY IMPROVEMENT

11. To provide leadership in industrial development and real cooperation with the local, state and federal government in bringing money to Floyd county. In this respect to develop a program fully implementing the federal Appalachian plan in Floyd county.
12. To at all times be prepared to present a workable plan that will take advantage of the Kennedy-Johnson-Combs-Perkins progressive program for Eastern Kentucky.
13. To provide a cleanup program for removal of garbage from along our rural roads—with the aid of the fiscal court and the cooperation of interested civic organizations. The establishment of at least two public garbage dumps in every magisterial district shall be our goal. This is in keeping with Kentucky's cleaner, greener program for greater tourist attraction.

PROMOTION OF THE GENERAL WELFARE

14. To plan and provide for a welfare program administered impartially on need — not used to build a political machine.
15. To work towards securing a training camp thru state and federal funds for our area, utilizing the services of our unemployed young men.

HUGE PROJECTS PROPOSED TO RAISE LAKES LEVEL

Several huge projects are being proposed to raise the dangerously low levels of the Great Lakes, writes Alfred Balk in a March Reader's Digest article, "Water Crisis on the Great Lakes."

One proposal is for construction of works to regulate the outflow. Levels of Lake Superior and Lake Ontario are now regulated by locks and dams but regulating Lake Michigan and Lake Huron would require works on the scale of the Panama Canal.

A more spectacular project calls for building a dike across part of the south end of James Bay—an arm of Hudson Bay—to intercept north flowing rivers that now empty into it, then constructing seven dams and self-powered pumping and generating stations to reverse the huge Hartman River and transport all these intercepted waters into Lake Huron.

This complex would cost two billion dollars, writes Balk, but the sale of water and newly generated power along its route could repay the total bill in 30 years.

Another plan would lace western Canada, western and mid-western United States, and northern Mexico with a network of canals, tunnels, dams and generating plants, fed by water from James Bay and the Yukon, Peace and other great rivers of the continent's Pacific Northwest.

This North American Water and Power Alliance would cost 80 billion dollars, and require 30 years to build but would produce an estimated four billion dollars a year in revenue.

"Such projects are not only completely feasible," says Utah Senator Frank E. Moss, chairman of a Senate Subcommittee studying the plans. "They are almost inevitable." The article is condensed from The Lion.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kind services extended upon the death and at the funeral of our father, husband, son and brother, Edgel Davis. We appreciated the beautiful flowers, the food and all assistance so kindly and generously offered. We wish to thank Dr. James Archer and the staff of the Paintsville hospital for their many services; are very grateful to the ministers Bill Ford, Rondal Hayes, Talmadge Allen and Perry Rice; the Church of Christ choir; the Arkansas Creek Church choir and the choir that sang after services Sunday night. We also thank the State Police officer who gave his assistance in our time of need, also the pallbearers and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient services.

RUNYON CASE IS AFFIRMED

Appeals Court Holds No Error In Trial Of Pike School Man

There was no error in the conviction of a Pike county school official for submitting a false claim to the school board, the Court of Appeals ruled last week.

In affirming Pike circuit court it struck down all four grounds cited by Woodrow W. Runyon, Sr., former school bus supervisor who appealed a one-year prison sentence.

Runyon was tried in November, 1963, and convicted of turning in a false $452 claim. The indictment was one of 32 on the same charge.

Earlier, he had been found innocent of a charge he embezzled $18,178.

Runyon claimed four reasons for reversal.

He said no public offense was charged because a school district is not a political subdivision of the state. Appellate Judge Brady Stewart held exactly the opposite.

Runyon said that although the indictment charged the school board had to pay the $452, the state's own evidence shows it made no outlay of money on the claim.

"The actual receiving of the money by the perpetrator of the act is not an element of the offense of submitting a false claim," Stewart said.

Runyon said he was denied the right to a speedy trial because six months elapsed between the time of the indictment and the trial.

But Stewart said the high court already has ruled in one case that a man was not deprived of a speedy trial even though he had to wait 18 months after an indictment.

Finally, Runyon contended, he was placed in double jeopardy. He said his acquittal under the embezzlement indictment should have barred the false claim trial.

"Embezzlement and submitting a false claim to a political subdivision are separate offenses," Stewart said.

Stewart gave this outline of the circumstances surrounding the case:

"Runyon began the practice of submitting false claims from a nonexistent auto parts firm. . . He would present the false invoice to the board and it would approve.

"He would then write the word 'hold' on this invoice, thus instructing the board finance officer to hold the check for him to personally pick up. He would obtain the check and deposit it in the First National Bank of Williamson, W. Va., under the fictitious name of T. C. Curtis, Curtis Auto Parts. . .

"This particular $452 invoice and a check for the amount were not held to be picked up later by appellant but were mistakenly mailed to Curtis Auto Parts and Williamson by the finance officer.

"The envelope and its contents came back stamped addresses unknown" and subsequent investigation carried out by the board unfolded appellant's numerous alleged fraudulent acts."

OHIO COLLEGE STUDENTS ON ALICE LLOYD CAMPUS; VISIT PCC HERE MONDAY

Seven students from Kenyon College, an all-male college of Gambier, Ohio, arrived on Alice Lloyd College campus Friday, February 19. These seven students are part of an exchange program between the two colleges for the last week in February and the first week in March. The students from Alice Lloyd will be entering a totally new environment at Kenyon as did the students from Kenyon when they arrived at Alice Lloyd College. This exchange will contribute much to the students' educational experiences.

When the students arrived on the Alice Lloyd campus they were directed to their rooms where they began to settle down for their two-week stay.

Saturday morning they were awakened early and accompanied by the Appalachian Volunteers from Alice Lloyd on a rehabilitation trip to a country school house in Leslie county. The Kenyon students, along with the Alice Lloyd students, didn't hesitate when it came down to good old-fashioned house cleaning, and in a very short while the environment in the one room school was much brighter and the children were much happier. The program also included enrichment activities, such as chemistry experiments and a baseball game conducted by the students.

A reception was held for the Kenyon students Saturday night and Sunday they were taken on a trip to the Breaks Interstate Park.

This week the Kenyon students visited classes at Alice Lloyd College and places of cultural interest in the area. Wednesday, March 1, they visited Prestonsburg Community College, the Floyd county courthouse, Floyd county library, the Clark elementary school, and the urban renewal projects in Prestonsburg and Martin.

There's no "Crawling Down" into the Jamison Sofa Sleeper bed! The sturdy, normal bed height, specially constructed Jamison Sofa Sleeper mattress provides "Master Bedroom" sleeping luxury in a matter of seconds.

Meticulous Jamison tailoring is further enhanced through the "Over The Front Rail" opening mechanism. Nothing converts except the Sofa Sleeper bed unit—the entire front rail assembly features fixed design.
