

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1965

TOTAL OF 29 INDICTMENTS MODERN LOW

Two Ram True Bills For Second Offense; 2 Women Reindicted

The grand jury in its final report to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley upon adjournment Friday recommended that law enforcement officers request state Alcoholic Beverage Control personnel to make an effort to buy intoxicating beverages from bootleggers and thus establish a basis for search of bootlegging premises as a curb of the whiskey traffic in the county.

The recommendation followed instructions given earlier by Judge Conley in which he pointed out that bootlegging again is increasing.

The jury returned in its four days of work only 29 indictments, which is believed to be the lowest voted by a grand jury here in the last 35 years.

The report, signed by Graham Burchett, foreman, said the jury had examined the records of the Circuit Court Clerk and that this examination showed that all officials have complied with the law in regard to the reporting of fines and forfeitures.

Other recommendations made in the report:

1. That the window sills in the jail be cleaned; 2. that there should be more ventilation in the jail; 3. that the open stairway at the front entrance of the courtroom should be enclosed; 4. that a directory of all offices should be placed in the hallway at the front entrance to the courthouse.

Two second-offense liquor indictments were reported, naming "Red" Junior Martin and Mrs. Howard Stone on selling charges.

The maximum penalty for conviction on a second-offense liquor indictment is a fine of $200 and a pen term of one year. Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo said he proposes to see that second-offense indictments are a regular procedure hereafter.

Two women were reindicted—Mrs. Maude Howard Fitzpatrick, on a charge of encouraging, counseling and advising Willie "Jap" Harris in the offense of striking Catherine Akers with a deadly weapon with intent to kill; Katherine Martin, on a charge of falsifying as a witness in the trial of Troy Mullins and Marion Martin, Floyd officers, in the slaying of Ex-Magistrate John May. The indictment against Miss Martin alleges that she "falsely said that John May did not point a deadly weapon, or shoot such a weapon, at Troy Mullins or Marion Martin."

The new indictments against the two women amended or clarified those previously voted against them. The first against Miss Martin alleged that she had testified in one trial of the officers that May did not point or fire a weapon at them and that at another trial of the case she testified that he did fire.

Three indictments were reported against two men. James Sherman was accused of maliciously and wilfully firing a shot. (See Story No. 6, Page 6)

MEETING SET FOR BRIEFING

On Regional Program At Paintsville Club On September 20th

Area level briefing sessions on the Appalachian program will be held throughout Eastern Kentucky, beginning September 20, it was announced this week.

John D. Whisman, Kentucky's representative on the Appalachian Regional Commission said meetings for this area will be held September 20, at 6 p.m. at the Paintsville Country Club. Whisman's Area Development Office will coordinate the 10 multi-county meetings, which will be held between September 20 and October 1 in the Eastern section of the state. Counties to be represented in this area's meeting will include Floyd, Lawrence, Magoffin, Martin, Pike and Johnson.

Whisman said the meetings are "the beginning of an intensive year of work at local, area and state levels to bring Appalachian program objectives into focus. These first meetings will give more local and area perspective to the entire Appalachian effort." Whisman said more meetings are being planned for October.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NAMES NEW PASTOR

At a special meeting of all members of the Arnold Avenue Church of Christ last Wednesday, Barclay Walker, formerly of Mansfield, Ohio, was selected as the new minister of the church, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Harold Dicks last January.

Mr. Walker resigned his teaching position with the Mansfield city schools last spring under the conviction that he should enter fulltime Christian service. He has had nine years of preaching experience in small rural churches in Ohio. He was in the aircraft business for seven years, working both with Curtiss-Wright and North American Aviation, where he was director of engineering training. He also owned and operated his own business, dealing in school equipment for six years. In addition he has had some 12 years of service in public schools in Ohio, Florida and Brazil. Employment Service To Take Applications For Employment In Factory Here Next Week

Want a job?

The Kentucky Employment Service will have representatives at the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad building here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to receive applications for jobs here at home.

Anticipating the opening of the Kentucky Appalachian Industries plant by December 1, the state agency will send its personnel here for those three days to accept applications for employment. Approximately 80 percent of those to be employed will be women. All workers must be 18 or older.

C. Leslie Dawson, commissioner of the Department of Economic Security, who arranged the service here next week, said most of those to be hired by the company will be sewing machine operators. Applications will be received from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily.

This Town . . . That World

FLASH! A fish bit at Dewey Lake, the other day. It is believed the lake will recover.

I am indebted to Mrs. Town Hall, of Sarasota, Florida, for a long-sought copy of Mrs. Southworth's "Self-Raised." This is the sequel to the first novel that swam into my ken, "Ishmael." Now, if I could only recapture for a few fleeting seconds the absolute spell the author cast over me . . .

This old gal Southworth may have committed a lot of literary blunders, according to modern standards, but she at least had a story to tell and a hero and a heroine you had empathy with. Anybody got a copy of "Ishmael" for sale?

THE LATEST ABOUT GRITTERS

"Uncle" Jake Akers writes from Dwale to comment on our old gritter piece in this column last week. Says we described the old-time gritter with reasonable exactitude but adds that we're not hep to the latest.

This new model, writes Mr. Akers, came out around the turn of the century. "A coal miner," he recalls "came out with a gritter that would grit a pound of meal, ring a bell and dump the meal. But yours truly found a new and simple way to make gritted meal . . . Take a sharp knife and an ear of gritting corn. Cut the grains close to the cob, then take your sausage mill, run your corn through it and, pronto, out comes good, soft meal."

Might try this, but I'd have to turn the sausage mill.

OF STORIES, TALL AND OLD

One of my friends who specializes in droll yarns came into the office, the other day, wearing an expression that was reminiscent of the fellow in "Bonanza" whose last vestige of pride had been destroyed when Little Joe downed him at Indian wrestling. Said he had decided an acquaintance of his had told a story, and had pon'd his word of honor to it, that had driven him to the awful resolve not to indulge any longer in story-telling.

Our distraught friend then filled us in with what had felled him. It was a story told about the size of sweet potatoes a certain individual had grown. "Wish I may die," said the other liar, "if I didn't go in the next room, and thar set my boy on the ridin' eend of this-here sweet tater, and he had tuther eend under the grate, a-roastin' it for his supper."

I was duly sympathetic with this story-tellin' friend of mine until the very next day when we ment because of testimony given in a murder trial here, is docketed for Friday of this week, with Special Judge Carlos Lowe, of Pikeville, presiding.

As of Tuesday, second day for jury trials to be held this term, only two convictions had been recorded. Mark Henry was convicted of a non-support charge and was given a one-year pen term. Dorothy Reynolds failed to appear Tuesday for her trial on a misdemeanor count, was given trial in absentia and fined $100.

Capital punishment was asked for both men in their first trials, and Salsbury was sentenced to the chair for the slaying of Mrs. Mallie Denney, wife of Roy Denney. He is now at LaGrange prison. The jury in the trial of May reduced his penalty to life imprisonment.

Trial of Mrs. Maude Fitzpatrick, who was reindicted last week on a charge of counselling and advising Willie "Jap" Harris in the near-fatal beating of Mrs. Catherine Akers on Middle Creek, near here, was continued this week till the November court term. The delay in the trial was asked by the Commonwealth and consented to by the defense, because Mrs. Akers has made a near-miraculous recovery and may be able to testify at a later trial. She now recognizes her children and is able to walk about the Lexington rest home where she has been a patient for months.

HAROLD MAN SUES HATTON

Hopkins Asks $35,000 Of Ky. State Trooper; Says Arrest Illegal

In a circuit court action filed here Monday McKinley Hopkins, of Harold, seeks to recover a total of $35,000 from State Trooper Larry Hatton because of his arrest by Hatton on September 14, last year.

Plaintiff's petition claims that Hatton "unlawfully, wrongfully and without legal reason to do so placed plaintiff under arrest in his home at Harold." He alleges that the trooper forced him to place his wrists behind him, that he was then handcuffed and taken in the police cruiser in and around Harold, Betsy Layne, Little Mud and over US 23 to Prestonsburg where he was delivered to County Judge Henry Stumbo.

Claiming that he was held up to humiliation and ridicule by his friends and neighbors, Hopkins asks $25,000 damages, plus $10,000 punitive damages.

LONE MURDER CASE SET FOR SEPT. 23

The current term of the Floyd circuit court is one which will be lacking in the drama of murder trials or in the action demanded by a heavy criminal docket.

Only one murder trial will be heard during the term. In this case Mrs. Virgie Short is slated to go on trial September 23 for the slaying of her former husband, Zeon Warrick.

Trials of Roy Salsbury for the slayings of Roy Denney and Thomas S. Combs at Drift and of Headman May for killing his father-in-law, A. B. Hobson, at Harold have by agreement of state and defense counsel been continued till April. The continuance was agreeable to both sides in the cases in order to give the General Assembly time to act on Governor Breathitt's request for abolishing the death penalty.

Community meetings held at McDowell under auspices of the Floyd County Community Action Committee, have resulted in the organization of the Left Beaver Development Association, Inc. to spearhead community work in cooperation with the Office of Economic Opportunity.

John Milton Stumbo is president of the Association, and Ivel Moore, vice-president. Mrs. Sophia Cahill is secretary-treasurer.

The second community meeting was held Tuesday evening, with approximately 70 persons attending. A film depicting sanitary land fills was shown by Mr. Stumbo, and he suggested that a committee meet with the fiscal court here next month to discuss the possibility of procuring land for such fills in the interest of sanitation and garbage disposal. Stumbo also proposed that the

CITY COUNCIL HEARS GRIPES

Wait-and-See Policy Adopted Till Changes Become a Necessity

After hearing a flock of complaints relating to parking inconveniences developing here from new regulations and routings of traffic, the City Council at its recent meeting decided on a "watchful waiting" policy—to let matters stand unchanged at least temporarily, then if the situation demands and justifies changes, to make them.

The rate for parking at the Courthouse Square lot was reduced to 10 cents an hour, or 65 cents for all-day parking.

The second Council meeting of the month will be held tonight (Thursday).

Chalmer H. Frazier was named at the recent meeting to the Planning and Zoning Commission to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Willie Mellon.

Tom James has been employed as building inspector, it was announced. Inspection of more than a thousand homes lies ahead in order to comply with regulations imposed as a requisite to qualifying for further low-rent housing development.

RAIDERS HIT LANCER CLUB

Sizeable Haul Taken At VFW Club; 2 Men Arrested in Raids

Two raids staged by state and county officers within the week resulted in the arrests of two men and the confiscation of 699 cans of beer, 51 half-pints of vodka and whiskey, a fifth of whiskey and three dispenser-bottles of whiskey.

All but 65 cans of beer were taken Saturday afternoon in a raid on the V.F.W. Club at Lancer by State Trooper Don Goble, Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale and ABC Agent Claude A. Planery. The smaller quantity of beer was taken in a raid Monday on Open Fork of Middle Creek where the home of Dewey Shepherd was searched.

Shepherd is in the county jail here, charged with possession of alcoholic beverages and is also held on a peace warrant.

Charles Halfhill was arrested as operator or custodian of the VFW Club. Trial of the case has been set for Friday before Magistrate Bryant DeRossett. (See Story No. 8, Page 6)

Miss Allen Becomes Second Floyd County Peace Corps Member

Miss Sharon C. Allen, of Prestonsburg, Floyd county's second Peace Corps member, was scheduled to arrive in Iran, early this week, with 50 other Peace Corps volunteers to begin two years of work as teachers of English in secondary and teacher training schools in small towns of that country.

This contingent will bring to 160 the number of Peace Corps volunteers working in Iran, in the fields of education, agricultural extension and rural community development.

Miss Mary Clare Cahill, of Drift, this county's first Peace Corps volunteer, spent two years in Pakistan and is now doing special work at the University of Minnesota.

Miss Allen recently completed 11 weeks of training at the University of Texas, and she and other trainees there spent a short time in Mexico City on a teaching project before returning to their homes for a week's leave before going to Iran.

During training the volunteers studied educational theory and methods and the culture and history of Iran. They also were given a working knowledge of Farsi, the official language of the country.

The Floyd county volunteer was graduated from Centre College with the class of '64. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Allen.

May, Hit by Train, Thought Recovering At Pike Hospital

Joe May, of the Dinwood vicinity, was seriously injured Sunday night when struck by a train at the Stephens Branch railroad crossing. He is expected to recover, it was said at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

A broken pelvis and head lacerations were his major injuries. It was said train crewmen saw May on the tracks but could not stop the train in time to prevent striking him.

MASONS PICK PROF. YOUNG

Fraternal Day Speaker Instructed at College; Meet Scheduled at Park

Prof. Matthew Young, of the faculty of the Prestonsburg Community College, will be the principal speaker Sunday afternoon when Masonic districts composed of nine Eastern Kentucky counties will observe Masonic Fraternal Day at the amphitheatre of Jenny Wiley State Park.

Mr. Young, a native of Louisiana, is a member of the Scottish Rite and the Shrine. The topic of his address, "Our Constitution," was chosen as a mark of participation in the observance of Constitution Week, which begins Friday and continues through September 23.

The Traipsin' Trio, a talented Wheelwright group which has appeared on recent television programs and more recently at the Kentucky State Fair, will provide a program of music.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m. Although not included as a part of the program, picnic facilities will be available throughout the park. Counties to be represented at the meeting are Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Pike, Knott, Letcher, Breathitt, Leslie and Perry.

The public, as well as Masonic families, is invited.

FISCAL COURT VOIDS AUXIER LOAD LIMIT

The load limit on the road through Auxier, previously set at 12 tons, was completely removed Monday by the Floyd fiscal court in a special meeting at which no other business was transacted.

Removal of the weight limit on trucks was unanimous. County Judge Henry Stumbo recommended that the load limit be increased from 12 to 16 tons, but the recommendation was not considered by members of the court.

The road from the bridge spanning the river at Auxier, passing on through the town to a coal ramp, recently was blacktopped. The earlier load limit, which became effective March 1, has not been enforced, it was said.

Three cases against truckers are pending in quarterly court but the charges against them were made by representatives of the Department of Motor Transportation after coal-loaded trucks were checked on the highway from Dewey Dam to Auxier. None of the cases have been brought to trial.

The fiscal court at its September 3 meeting endorsed the $176,000,000 road bond issue to be voted on at the November election. The resolution pointed out that other states have improvement programs—Ohio's for $500 million; West Virginia's, $200 million; North Carolina, $300 million and one proposed for Pennsylvania that will amount to $10 billion over a 10-year period.

Commented the resolution: "There is positive evidence that a very highly competitive situation exists among the states, which demands that Kentucky continue the development of a modern road program if we are to meet the needs of our own people and remain competitive with other states." Pointing out that the $176 million sought through the bond issue would gain a total of $597 million in federal aid over a per-

WEST P'BURG MAY BE SITE OF FACTORY

Irving Air Chute Co. Enters Pact To Manage Plant For Local Firm

The Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce this week announced what it termed "an important breakthrough toward industrial development here" with the organization of a company to open a manufacturing plant by December 1.

Kentucky Appalachian Industries, Inc. will operate the plant, it was said, under an agreement by which the Irving Air Chute Company will supply the management and correlation of operations.

Negotiations for the plant have been under way for several weeks now, but it was not until Monday that its location here became a certainty. Kentucky Appalachian Industries will be a corporation whose stockholders will be Floyd countians, most of them members of the Chamber of Commerce here.

Irving Air Chute, which operates plants in Lexington and other cities of the country, is a manufacturer of parachutes and seat belts, dealing in both government and private contracts. Its study of Prestonsburg, its transportation facilities, educational and recreational advantages and general business atmosphere encouraged the organization of the plant at the local level.

The plant will probably be located at West Prestonsburg. Construction of a block-and-brick building of 10,000 square feet of floor space is to begin within the next few days, with its opening for operation by December 1. (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

OSWALD TELLS PLAN FOR BUILDINGS HERE

Dr. John W. Oswald, president of the University of Kentucky, announced at Somerset Tuesday that facilities of each of the University's nine community colleges are to be expanded through the addition of two buildings on their campuses.

Speaking at a luncheon ceremony for the Somerset Community College dedication and Centennial convocation program, Dr. Oswald said the two structures planned at the Somerset, Prestonsburg and seven other community colleges will be a student center and a technical education building.

The student center will be financed from revenue the university is setting aside out of student-activity funds at each college.

Students on all campuses, including the main campus at Lexington, pay $28.25 each year per semester in activity fees. UK has been setting aside $12 out of the fees paid by community college students for construction of the centers.

Several communities where the colleges are located, Dr. Oswald said, have expressed an interest in contributing funds for the construction of the student centers so that the buildings may also be used as community centers.

Plans for the construction of the technical education building were linked by Dr. Oswald to passage of the $176 million bond issue that Kentuckians will vote on this November. The bond issue includes $17 million for higher education. UK would get approximately $5.7 million of this.

Dr. Oswald said present thinking is that much of UK's share should be spent for further development of the community college system, including construction of the technical education building.

Added Attractions Planned for Annual Maytown Flower Show

This year there will be many unusual added attractions, other than flower arrangements, at the Maytown fall flower show which will be held Sunday, September 19, at Langley.

Mrs. Dolly Messer, of Garrett, will display a collection of Carnival glass, and Mrs. Virginia Brashers, of Mantion, will display Christmas ornaments. There will be quilts and other handwork on display, along with paintings by amateurs and other artists.

Miss Harriet Allen, of Langley, amateur gem collector, will be cutting and polishing gems during the afternoon while the gymnasium is open to the public for viewing of the various exhibits.

Any collector in the county who desires to display a collection may do so by contacting Mrs. Claude Halbert if special arrangements are necessary. If not, displays may be registered Saturday, September 18, from 7 to 9 that evening, or Sunday morning until 9:30.

Maytown High School To Sponsor Book Fair

Maytown high school will sponsor a student book fair, from September 20 to September 23 during which time students will be able to browse among and purchase books. The fair will be open during the hours of 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Books will be on display in the library.

The book fair committee invites all students, parents and visitors to attend the fair. The school earns 20% of all sales, and profits will be used for library materials.

Maytown school library is sponsoring this event, with Shirley Stewart serving as book fair chairman. The committee includes Geraldine Allen, Louise Howard, Kedrick Blevins, Hershel Flannery, Drama Howard and Sally Miller.

Six-Month-Old Child Dies En Route Here

Patricia Carol Prater, six-month-old daughter of Robie Gene and Edna Carol Hackworth Prater, died Saturday, September 11, while en route to Prestonsburg with her parents. Survivors, other than her parents, are two brothers, Robie Gene, Jr., and Gary Prater. Funeral services were conducted Monday at 2 p.m. from the Free Will Baptist Church at Bonanza, the Rev. Charlie LeMaster officiating. Burial was in the Whitaker-Hackworth cemetery at Bonanza under the direction of the Carter & Callahan Funeral Home.

New Office Building Complete, Open House Announced by Bayes

Open house will be held Saturday afternoon at the new District 12 highway office building on U. S. 23, Pikeville.

The ultra-modern structure, constructed at a cost of $380,000, is located near the lower bridge over the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River and will be the headquarters for the seven-county District operation. Counties in the Pikeville district are Floyd, Lawrence, Johnson, Martin, Knott, Pike and Letcher.

Wendell Bayes, district engineer, announced that open house will be observed between 1 and 3:30 p.m. Saturday. The public is invited to visit the building during this time.

59 SCHOOLS IN PROGRAM

Five Area Counties Qualify for Business Education Program

Fifty-nine high schools and 182 vocational business teachers will participate in the initial program of the newest division of the Department of Education.

The schools approved by the Division of Vocational Business and Office Education for its 1965-'66 program represent 33 Kentucky counties and 28 percent of the state's school districts.

Bell, Boyd, Clay, Harlan and Knox are the only Eastern Kentucky counties having approved schools.

"Many more schools could qualify for the program than have applied," said the Division's director, George W. Vanover. He estimated that the number of approved schools will increase by at least 25 before next fall.

The new division was set up under the Vocational Act of 1963 to expand existing business education offerings in the schools into programs which would give students comprehensive vocational training, Vanover said.

To participate in the Division's program, a high school must offer more than classes in typewriting or stenography. "There must be a planned vocational business and office education program which will prepare students for gainful business employment immediately after graduation," Vanover said.

General clerical, stenographic, secretarial, and accounting-junior management are some of the curricula suggested by the Division. Most of the schools approved for participation offer at least two curricula.

In addition to the curriculum requirements, each school must have at least 15 students who intend to follow a definite business or office curriculum.

Funds are available to the schools as a result of the Vocational Act of 1963. The participating schools will be reimbursed with federal funds for operating expenses (not including teachers' salaries) on both 50 and 100 percent matching rates, depending on the type of expenditure.

An approved school must have at least three teachers in its business department, two of whom qualify to teach vocational business subjects. (To qualify, a teacher must have a bachelor's degree with at least a major in business and one year's office experience.)

Vanover pointed out that the Division is concerned about the limited number of teachers who qualify for approval, and hopes to coordinate its own efforts with those of the colleges and universities training business teachers.

Fitzpatrick Named To New Committee; Meeting Scheduled

Ralph T. Hagen, president of the Kentucky Association of Soil and Water Districts, has announced the formation of the Appalachian Committee of District Supervisors and has named H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., of Prestonsburg, one of the seven members of the group. William O. Gilreath was named chairman.

The Appalachian Regional Development Act, Mr. Hagen said, contains provisions that are of interest to all soil conservation districts in the Mountain area of Kentucky, and so it was that the committee was organized to afford broad representation of the area and in order that the best interests of soil conservation may be served.

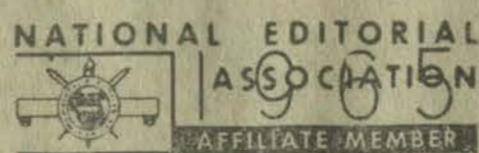

Homer A. Taff, state conservationist, has notified the committee that some recent developments are of particular interest to it and has invited committee members to meet in his Lexington office this week for a study of possibilities.

JARVIS NAMED HEAD OF SCOUT FINANCING

Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, which covers 10 counties in Kentucky and five in Virginia, announced last week that Pete Jarvis, of Prestonsburg, is the Council's new finance chairman, succeeding B. F. Reed, of Drift, who had long held that position.

Mr. Jarvis is manager of the R. V. May Company here, and has successfully worked in the program of Scout Finance. He was a member of the budget committee, of which William J. Baird, of Pikeville, was chairman.

The budget requires a total of $67,878 for 1966.

It has long been recognized, according to Byron F. Pennebaker, Scout executive, Pikeville, that the Council was under-financed, understaffed and without proper facilities when measured by national averages.

Mr. Jarvis, in accepting the finance chairmanship, said that to bring into being the proper financial status would represent a challenge which must be met with the assistance of all good people

Constitution Week Annual Observance To Begin Tomorrow

Constitution Week, an annual observance which originated in 1955 through the offices of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be observed in Prestonsburg and Floyd county, beginning with Citizenship Day tomorrow (Friday). Locally, Mayor George P. Archer issued a proclamation pointing to the need for "a greater knowledge of, and a deeper devotion to, the Constitution at a time when many are ignorant of, or flagrantly disloyal to, its great principles."

In his proclamation to the nation President Johnson asked that officials of government display the flag of the United States on all government buildings on Citizenship Day, September 17, and that appropriate ceremonies be held on that day. The Presidential proclamation added:

"I also designate the period beginning September 17 and ending September 23, 1965 as Constitution Week; and I urge the people of the United States to observe that week with appropriate ceremonies and activities in their schools and churches and in other suitable places to the end that our citizens may have a better understanding of the Constitution and of the rights and responsibilities of United States citizenship."

Inland Steel Team Shares Safety Day Honors at Pikeville

At the annual Safety Day contest at City Park, Pikeville, Saturday, honors were evenly divided between Beth-Elkhorn Corporation and the Inland Steel Company.

The mine rescue contest was won by the team from Mine No. 24 of Beth-Elkhorn Corporation, captained by Louie Toth and trained by Charles D. Halbert. The first-aid contest was won by an all-operations team of Inland Steel Company captained by Richard Watts and trained by Ralph Banks and Olney Collins.

In the scouting division of the first-aid contest top honors were won by the Girl Scout team from Wheelwright, captained by Debbie Grimm.

The Safety Day contests are an annual feature sponsored by the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Mining Institute in the interest of promoting better safety practices in the coal-mining industry.

(September 13, 1935)

Lieutenant-Governor A. B. Chandler Saturday was nominated on the Democratic ticket for Governor over Thomas S. Rhea. . . Walter Hall, 38, was killed and Deputy Constable Duffy Stone, 45, was critically wounded in a gun battle at Garrett late Saturday night. . . Kit Stumbo's fox hound last week was trapped 60 feet underground within a fissure caused by a landslide at the old Elkhorn Star Coal Company operation below McDowell. Kit offered a reward to anyone who could save his dog. After several persons had tried and given it up as too dangerous, Taylor Moore, 21, of McDowell, squeezed down into the narrow fissure, reached the dog far below, and brought him out. He collected his reward of $5 cash and a $12 shotgun. . . J. W. Connor, of Estill, was fatally injured before daybreak Sunday when his taxi plunged down the mountainside at the head of Jones Fork on the Lackey-Hindman road. . . Projects approximating $75,000,000 will have been submitted to Washington for approval by September 22, George Goodman, administrator of the Kentucky Works Progress Administration said today. . . Diphtheria is prevalent in some sections of Floyd county and one death has already been reported to the office of the county health department.

Twenty Years Ago

(September 13, 1945)

Negotiations toward settlement of the strike of United Fuel Gas Company (in this section, the Warfield Natural Gas Company) employees have broken down and the temporary truce declared while workers' representatives and company officials parleyed was ended Tuesday night. . . Miss Myrtle Osborne, 22, of West Prestonsburg, was knocked from the bridge connecting Prestonsburg and Town Branch, Saturday, and was hurled approximately 50 feet to the ground below when hit by a truck, and was in serious condition at the Prestonsburg General hospital. Elten Ousley was also hit by the truck, but suffered only minor injuries. . . Despite the protests of Congressman A. J. May, the army engineers' board on rivers and harbors Monday granted railroads opposing the canalization of the Big Sandy river an extension of time in which to prepare their case. . . Monroe Wicker, superintendent of Prestonsburg schools, was elected president of the Big Sandy Conference at the athletic association's meeting in Pikeville, Sunday. . . Construction of a 48x30 foot garage building to house the Packard automobile agency of M. J. Leete, Jr., was begun on Seventh street by J. L. Meade, contractor. . . James Morrell, Jr., this week began work on the part of the Spurlin building adjacent to the Times office, preparing to open an appliance store. . . Two hundred or more relatives and friends joined Mr. and Mrs. Riley Hall at their home at Allen, August 29, when they observed their Golden Wedding anniversary. Among these were 10 of their 11 children, one son-in-law, eight daughters-in-law, 36 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Several of those who greeted the Halls on the occasion were from other states.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were married August 26, 1905 at Hall, Knott county. He is a retired employee of the United Fuel Gas Company and is co-owner of the Hall & Hall Wholesale Grocery at Allen.

The couple expressed their appreciation to all who visited them, presented gifts and sent flowers, notes and wires.

GOV. CLAIMS SUPPORT IN PINBALL CRACKDOWN

By GOV. EDW. T. BREATHT

Letters from the public support me almost totally in the legal crackdown I ordered last April on the multiple-coin pinball machines used in Kentucky as gambling devices. The ratio of approval is overwhelming, better than 10 to 1.

I am now more convinced than ever that these devices not only violate our laws that relate to gambling, but also constitute a corrupting influence on many thousands of our citizens, and divert funds that are often urgently needed for legitimate uses.

These machines, existing simply for the enrichment of those who own and operate them, are estimated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation to net in excess of $10 million a year.

This huge business, or racket, has no standard of ethics other than to make money, feels no obligation to its players other than to empty their pockets of every nickel. The machines fill no need, sociological, psychological, aesthetic or moral.

Among those who have voiced their approval of the continuing crackdown is a Louisville woman who wrote "I want to tell you how grateful I am . . .

"My husband has become so addicted to them that the children and I have really suffered to the extent where at times we had no food, lights, gas and heat. I am still trying to keep our family together, although our teen-age daughter went to live with her aunt."

One of the letters was from a man who lives in the Kentucky Lake area. He said that on frequent trips to Louisville he stopped in Hardin county. He played machines at the truck stop, he said, and lost an aggregate of $1,900.

In attempting to recoup the loss, he signed checks for nearly $1,000. To redeem the checks, he turned over a boat valued at $1,100 to the proprietor, and—"this was when I almost lost my wife and two lovely daughters."

The vice-president of one of the state's colleges said "we have frequent occasion to see the unpleasant experiences that come to students who are addicted to this form of gambling, and I feel that you are rendering a great service to our Commonwealth in the strong position you have taken against it."

From a Central City correspondent came a letter which in full said "I have seen kids drop their lunch money in pinball machines morning after morning, go to school and do without their lunch."

Among those whose support I most appreciate in this effort to eliminate these gambling devices from the Kentucky scene are members of the clergy. From the Reverend Robert D. White, minister of the Capital City Christian Church in Frankfort, came a copy of an article he wrote for his church paper which in part said:

A demonstration sponsored by the Kentucky State Police "taught me that these pinball machines are gambling devices of the worst type. No professional gambler would waste his time on them because he knows they are built and designed so that regardless who is playing, he will always come out loser."

"These machines are designed for amateurs — young boys who are learning the art of gambling. For them, pinball machines are only used as a stepping stone to other and more destructive devices."

"They are also bait for the father who has an addiction to the game of chance and take hard-earned money that would have supplied food for his hungry children. He feeds this money into a machine that is many times harder to beat than the old-type one-armed bandits or slot machines . . .

"Take the governor serious? You can be sure I take him serious and will support him in every way I can. I pray God that every person who believes in what is right and decent and good will do the same."

Groundbreaking Held For Dormitory Complex At University of Ky.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the University of Kentucky's $17 million dormitory complex were held Friday.

University and state officials turned the first dirt at the afternoon ceremony on the construction site behind the UK Medical Center.

The new housing complex will include eight low-rise buildings of three stories each, two 23 story towers and a central dining facility. The first five of the low-rise buildings, each to house 176 students, are scheduled for completion next September.

The dining facility is expected to be finished by December, 1966, with the two towers, housing 656 students each, and the three remaining low-rise buildings, to be ready in 1967. The entire complex will provide quarters for 2,712 students.

Apparent low bid on the first five dormitories has been submitted by Foster & Creighton Co., Nashville. The firm's bid has been listed by the State Finance Department as $4,474,000.

Bids for electrical and mechanical installation were taken separately and will be assigned to general contractors.

Financing for the complex is being handled jointly by UK and the federal government's Housing and Home Finance Agency. The HHFA will purchase $8 million worth of revenue bonds being issued by the University, while the remainder of the financing will be handled through bonds offered to private investors.

In addition to the $17 million housing complex, UK is already planning other student housing projects, one which will provide 1,000 beds and another dining facility. Completion for this project is expected in 1968.

It takes about 20 tons of cameras, cables, sets and props to equip the giant Memorial Auditorium stage for each WHAS Crusade for Children.

Watts Cracker-Barrel Tales Feature O'Tucks Annual Meet Last Week-End in Ohio City

DAVID

The regular meeting of the David Woman's Club was held September 3 at the home of Mrs. Ray Spears. The president, Mrs. Horace Tiller, presided. Mrs. Lilla Mae Price, program chairman, announced the guest speaker, Rev. W. D. Jagers, who gave an inspiring talk on Home Life. Mrs. Tiller gave a report on the convention which was held in Louisville. She thanked the club for sending Virginia Harmon and herself to the convention. Mrs. Spears asked all members to turn in recipes for the cookbook which the club is having made. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Spears and Mrs. Price, to Mesdames Oak Mullins, Lonnie Burchett, Lloyd Hale, Bob Burchett, James Cavins, Harry Clay, Pete Capelli, Horace Tiller, A. C. Wilson, A. L. Francisco, James Adams. Guests for the evening were Mrs. Tom Cole, Mrs. Gene Spears and the Rev. W. D. Jagers.

REVIVAL IN PROGRESS

Revival services are now being held at the Community Methodist Church, here, the Rev. Tom Madon, pastor of the church, announces. Services will be held at 7:30 nightly until the revival closes this Sunday. The evangelist is the Rev. Art Lindsey, pastor of the Chipsewana (Ind.) Methodist Church. The public is invited.

Pippa Passes, Ky. — Alonzo Watts, Alice Lloyd College sophomore, provided feature entertainment at the annual O'Tucks' (Ohio-Kentuckian) celebration, Saturday and Sunday, at Hamilton, Ohio.

Billed as "Cracker-Barrel Tales by Alonzo," Watts combines the bashful charm of a youthful storyteller with the folklore and tradition of the Cumberland Mountains.

Alonzo first became interested in telling tales as a small child when he would listen by the hour to the oldest in his uncle's store near the head of Carr Creek, in Knott county. "Yarn-spinning contests" were a daily activity, Watts recalls. His father, Lawrence Watts, a state legislator and mountain story enthusiast, has encouraged Alonzo, his two brothers and five sisters to take an active interest in the tradition of the area.

Watts accompanied Alice Lloyd College President William S. Hayes to Ohio for the O'Tucks celebration. Both attended the banquet Saturday night, and Watts' Cracker-Barrel Tales spotlighted the Sunday afternoon program.

Alonzo first told his tales for a student assembly at the college in May. In addition to the O'Tucks program, he will be featured on the Alice Lloyd College Hour over radio station WDOC, Prestonsburg, Saturday, September 18, at 9:30 a.m.

fell into a discussion of oldtime rules laid down by teachers. I decided then he would never quit when he told about one boy dropping an economy-size grasshopper into the bottle of milk another boy had brought to school for his lunch. The hopper churned the milk while the boy ran bawling to report So-and-So to Teacher.

Teacher walked over to the wall and perused his rules, returned to announce he had nothing written down that governed this particular situation, thus saving the grasshopper-dunker a hiding. But onto the well-filled sheet of rules went another, promptly:

"It is against the rules for anybody to put a grasshopper in anybody's milk—and if they do, they will get a whipping."

Then I countered with a rule on which I once saw a youngster bravely stand "trial" in school. It provided a penalty for anybody who climbed above his head. And the prisoner at the bar had been found sitting in the crotch of the third limb up and had been promptly reported by some busy-body girl. Things looked dark for the boy until it came his turn to speak. Then, without eloquence but with considerable logic, he reminded the teacher:

"But the rule said we shouldn't climb above our heads. My head was still above where I climbed."

The teacher wasn't happy about this defense, but it saved the defendant, anyhow.

THE UNRECORDED RECORD JUMP

Rufus Reed has an article this week (it's scheduled for this week, anyhow) about the great horned owl and his terrifying scream. I am here to declare that Mr. Reed does not exaggerate.

Some years back, in our neighborhood out in the country, the word got around that a strange varmint was prowling the hills. Dogs were reported returning from the woods, slashed, clawed and chewed. Hunters reported that dogs they had never known to quail before anything had tucked tail and fled the woods for some dark, unknown reason. Was it panther or lion?

One night, at the height of the scare, I tarried rather late at a neighbor's home over a game of checkers. The walk home was around the base of a hill — you didn't walk the roads in those days during the winter because of deep mud.

The night was dark, the woods were not far away, and I was aware of those stories about varmint was prowling the hills. I might not have ventured forth to return home, but I knew that if I didn't go the neighbors would know I was afraid, which I was.

The trip home was going along well, I was sticking to the path and was busy reminding myself that there really was no danger when, suddenly, a scream such as few have ever heard rent the night air.

I wouldn't, in the interest of veracity, say it was a blood-curdling scream that came from the woods, up there fifty yards or so away, and I wouldn't say, for the same reason, that it was hair-raising, for I didn't take time to feel the lay of the old locks. But I will say this:

That scream had not hit its highest note till I was in mid-air and by the time it ended I had made a leap which would, if it could have been taped, laid all the records Mr. Ralph Boston made on his best day in the well-known shade.

Across the valley, on another hillside, one or more owls went into that strange, silly laughing-act. And to me it wasn't funny at all, at all.

The building, to be approximately 100 feet square, will accommodate a work force of 120, although the initial employment will naturally be less than that.

So impressed has Irving Air Chute officials been with the location here that they have told the Chamber of Commerce and other business leaders that space for expansion to 50,000 square feet of floor space may be needed later. When, and if, such development is reached, between 500 and 600 workers would be employed.

Manufacturing at first will be restricted strictly to sewing. Approximately 80% of those initially employed will be women. In preparation for opening of the plant, a training program for employees will be started next week in the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad building here.

Applications for employment at the plant also will be received by the Kentucky Employment Service at the Rescue Squad building, September 20 through September 22, from 8:30 a.m. till 4:30 p.m. daily. Most of those employed will work as machine operators. Only persons 18 years of age or older will be accepted.

Sixteen machines will be installed on the second floor of the Rescue Squad building for the training of employees in two shifts daily. Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, who worked closely with the Prestonsburg group in effecting all arrangements and the contract with Irving Air Chute, has agreed to afford state assistance with the training of workers by supplying three men temporarily for the maintenance of machinery and two as instructors.

Marvin Music, president of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce, lauded the initiative of business men here, "They are in this undertaking showing that they are willing to venture out in a bootstrap operation to provide work for our people here at home. They are tired of having to stand by and see good Floyd County men and women have to leave the place they call home in order to make a living and raise their families," he said.

Because the operating firm is in the classification of "small business" and is located in the Appalachian depressed area, it will be eligible for government contracts on a basis of 75% of materials needed instead of the 25% to which large manufacturers are restricted.

BIDS REJECTED

Carson City, Nevada — Executors for the estate of William Bartholomae Tuesday rejected five bids to buy the late California millionaire's 900-square-mile ranch in East-Central Nevada. The cattle ranch, the size of Luxembourg, has been appraised at nearly $1.9 million.

gun at Conservation Officer Don Mead, of forcibly effecting his escape from lawful arrest and of poaching. These indictments resulted from pursuit of Sherman by Mead and Conservation Officer Raymond Copley after they allegedly found Sherman hunting on the state game preserve in the Buffalo section of Dewey Lake.

Curtis Bartley was named in three bills, one accusing him of shooting at James Dotson without wounding, another for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, and a third for assault and battery.

Other major indictments reported:

Edd Owens, of Pike county, assault and battery, charged with an assault on Larry Adams, flagman on the Middle Creek arm of the Mountain Parkway; Rafe Laferty and Janet Adkins, wilfully damaging a Dwale church; Joe Horn, uttering a worthless check; Earl Walters, forgery; Arnold Lee Cole, negligent homicide in the death of Onis Johnson who was hit last May by a car driven by Cole; Sterling Hamilton, hit-run driving, accused of hitting Henry Shepherd and leaving the scene; Matt Hamilton, auto theft, accused of stealing the car of Richard Tackett; Tivis Hamilton, receiving stolen property, copper wire taken from the Sizemore Mining Co.; Cecil Whitt, carnal knowledge of a female under the age of 18; Princess Elkhorn Coal Co., polluting a public stream; William M. Wells, selling and possessing intoxicating beverages (two separate indictments); and these accused of child desertion—James Campbell, Woodrow James Burchett, Emory Hall, Earl Lucas, Alex Ray Ousley, Heuen Spencer, Walter Stogner.

Ashland and Patricia Walters were named in a child desertion indictment accusing them of leaving one child age two and another, three months old. Alex Ray Ousley was charged in the child desertion indictment of deserting a pregnant wife, and Walter Stogner was named for non-support.

"The three programs these people represent," — the Appalachian Regional Development Act, the Economic Opportunity program and the new Public Works and Economic Development Act—are really a closely-allied triumvirate of programs that can provide complete and overall assistance to the Eastern Kentucky region," Whisman said. Latest information on each program and its relation to the Appalachian effort will be included in each session.

Of top importance, Whisman said, will be information related to comprehensive overall programming at area and county levels. "Washington's not doing out piecemeal projects any more," Whisman said. "The emphasis now is on the overall approach. We'll have to understand and use this system if we are to do any good with these programs."

organization submit a plan toward flood control of Frazier's Creek. It was suggested that an embankment could be built along one side of Frasure's Creek from the C. & O. railroad bridge to the mouth of the Bill Hall branch, thereby keeping the stream in check in time of high water.

J. C. Wells, of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District, discussed the possibility of an expanded water district to include the McDowell-Drift area, with a new water treatment plant for that section. Denver Chaffins, assistant director of the Community Action office here, addressed the group and answered questions relating to the Office of Economic Opportunity and its part in developing the Appalachian area. He also discussed details of hiring for day care centers, the possibility of floodwall construction and the work of VISTA.

The Association's Directors and Executive Committee members named at the meeting were John M. Stumbo, Ivel Moore, Mrs. Sophia Cahill, Mildred Mullins, T. J. Hagan and Mary Martin.

His education includes both a B. S. in Education and M. A. from Ohio State University. His master's thesis dealt with the teaching of moral and spiritual values in public schools and he feels that churches must take a more positive stand in the education of their own young people.

"I feel," he said, "that young people must be held responsible for their own actions, and for this reason they must receive better spiritual guidance from the church."

Mr. Walker will also be attending the new Emmanuel School of Religion at Johnson City, Tennessee. This will take him out of town for two days a week, but he will make his residence at the parsonage, 425 N. WOODLAND OWNERS
POCKET TOP DOLLAR

BY PAUL R. JORDAN (In OUR HERITAGE)

Kentucky's private landowners are pocketing the top dollar for their timber under a state program that provides technical know-how in marking tracts of woodlands for cutting and marketing.

The State Division of Forestry fills requests for guidance and assistance in forest management through its 37 service foresters spread over nine administrative districts. Called the Cooperative

Forest Management Program, foresters spend most of their time in encouraging good management of privately-owned timberlands—including woodland examinations, marking and other activities related to the protection and conservation of trees.

The story of the CFM Program is told largely by these statistics: In the 1964-65 fiscal year ending June 30, state foresters serviced 3,541 requests for assistance and marked 12,668,000 board feet of timber which put $291,700 into the pockets of the owners. These figures compare with five-year average of 4,766 requests serviced and the marking of 11,440,000 board feet of timber which returned $219,476 to owners.

(Note—Although the past fiscal year's requests number less than the five-year average, a truer picture is reflected from the year's greater amount of board feet marked and the higher income to landowners.)

In receiving the report from the Forestry Division, Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlick said: "I am real happy that we have expanded state services to private woodland owners, through our highly qualified service foresters, and look forward to an even greater program in the future."

According to K. B. McClintock, supervisor of the CFM Program, the service forester's worth to timber owners—in terms of dollars and cents—is irrefutably proved in these examples of record:

1. A landowner in Livingston county was offered $5,000 for all his timber on a 200-acre tract. A forester marked the timber and it sold for $9,000.

2. R. S. Cannon, of Graves county was offered $40 for all the timber on a 20-acre tract. The timber was marked by a forester and later sold for $1,610.

3. The DeWeese Brothers, of Hickman county, were offered $3,500 for all timber on a 100-acre tract. Marked by a forester, it later sold for $5,500.

4. Another woodland owner, who had a high percentage of black walnut on a small tract, told the Forestry Division he wanted to make a sale but wasn't certain about how to do it. He had received unsatisfactory bids the best being about $700 for the "cutting rights." After a selective marking by a forester, the tract brought $2,400 at auction.

A recent letter to Gene Butcher, state director of forestry, is typical of the reaction to the work done by service foresters. Complimenting a forester for his marking of timber in Butler county, the landowner told Butcher:

"The report prepared (by the forester)... is excellent along with the forms to be used for sale advertising and cutting contracts. It is a pleasure to see this type of work prepared and the fine manner it was assembled.

"I am sure that the continuation of such quality work will enhance the income from timberland and insure a forward place for Kentucky in the proper management, use and marketing of our forest products."

Technically-trained foresters have been providing assistance to private woodland owners since 1937. At the time, a congressional act created the Cooperative Farm Forestry Program, designed mostly to assist farmers. In 1950, the CFM Program was born, continuing the old setup but stressing service to all woodland owners.

From the beginning of the expanded program, the woodland owner has been expected to cooperate with the forester by accompanying him in the work, expressing an interest in good forestry, and showing his intent to follow proper recommendations. In return, the landowner could expect free service for woodland examinations, tree planting assistance, and guidance in all phases of forest management. He gets timber marked for a nominal charge—40 cents per 1,000 board feet. Proceeds are used to provide for marking paint and other expenses.

Throughout the years, Butcher says, a major problem has been manpower limitations resulting from well-defined budgets. Requests from woodland owners have piled up in one local area, while in another the work might be almost at a standstill. Transferring manpower, making temporary assignments, and other methods of rendering service in the peak load areas were constant problems.

Now, many of these headaches have been eased by service foresters working directly out of the district offices. They are able to travel together in many instances, thus giving more service to a particular area. Travel time is held to a minimum because the foresters spend one or more nights, as may be necessary, in the area where the work is in progress.

Widows May Accept Benefits at Age 60

Many Floyd county widows of men who worked under social security are eligible to choose to start their social security benefits when they are 60 instead of waiting until they are 62 as a result of the recent changes in the law, Thomas L. Read, social security district manager in Pikeville, announced this week.

Until now, a widow could not start receiving benefits until age 62 unless she had in her care a child who was also getting benefits.

A widow choosing to get monthly benefits when she is 60 will receive a smaller payment than one who waits until she is 62, Mr. Read said. This is to make up for the longer time she will get benefits.

If a widow decides to get benefits when she is just 60, they will be reduced by 13 1/2 percent. If she chooses to start when she becomes 61, the reduction will be 6 1/2 percent.

For example, if a widow whose husband's average income was $3,600 a year decides to start her payment when she is 60, she will get $30.50 a month. If she chooses to start when she is 61, her rate will be $36.70; and if she waits until she is 62, she will get $92.80 a month.

Once a widow receives benefits before she is 62, she will always get a reduced benefit, even after she is 62, Read added. If she is working and earning more than $1,200 in a year, she may not get benefits for all months before she is 62. If this happens, her benefit will be adjusted upward at 62.

"If anyone has a question about her status under the social security law, I invite her to write or phone the Pikeville district office, located at 2nd and Division Streets," Read said. The telephone number is 432-2177.

Imagine a golfer who could drive a ball 750 yards! Just as golfers try to improve their game, Kentucky Power Company strives to improve operating efficiencies. For example, we can now make a ton of coal produce three times more electricity than it did in 1920. This efficiency has reduced the cost of electricity to new all-time lows—meaning the highest use of electricity in our company's history. "Home-grown" eastern Kentucky coal is being used at a rate of 750,000 tons per year at our Big Sandy Plant. Throughout the American Electric Power System, 16 million tons of coal are used each year. Research, coupled with large investments in expansion and modernization, results in more efficiency, with the best possible service at the lowest possible cost to you.

FLEMING-NEON, BELFRY SHARE GRID LIMELIGHT

BY GORDON MOORE
Fleming-Neon high school moved into the Eastern Kentucky football limelight along with Belfry last week-end as the Pirates whipped arch-rival Jenkins, 47-0. Raymond Isaac's Letcher countians bounced Jenkins from the undefeated ranks and became the first team to even score on the Cavaliers.

Belfry became the area's first three-game winner by trouncing Man, West Virginia, 32-0, and Hazard opened defense of its mountain regional crown with a 33-0 win over cross-town rival M. C. Napier.

Prestonsburg overcame a fourth-quarter 7-0 deficit to tie Elkhorn City, 7-7, on John Clark's touchdown plunge and successful extra-point attempt.

Whitesburg evened its season's mark at two wins and two losses in bowling, 32-0, to Cumberland, and Pikeville entered the win column for the first time with a 13-0 triumph over Wheelwright.

Louisa relied on stellar half-back John Shellcroft to whip Paintsville, 21-6. The agile senior scored on one run of 59 yards and another of one yard, and Marty Vaughn tallied two extra points to give the Bulldogs a 14-0 lead. Walter Brugh's Tigers scored in the second frame on Harold Taylor's 39-yard sprint.

Vaughn finished the scoring in the third period with an eight-yard six-pointer.

Frank Guyton's three touchdowns spearheaded Al Vipperman's huge Belfry eleven over visiting Man. Guyton raced eight, 10 and 35 yards in a driving rain-storm to run his season's output to nine touchdowns. Belfry led by only 7-0 at halftime as both teams fumbled frequently in the mud-soaked field. Overall, both teams fumbled 19 times—Belfry nine and Man 10. Halfbacks Dan Hatfield and Sonny Smith both scored in the second half, and Gene Ison added two extra points.

Hazard hit the scoring column in every period in belting rival M. C. Napier, O. J. Rowe, 6-2, 225-pound senior tackle, was shifted to quarterback, replacing injured Houston Hogg, and he scored two touchdowns and booted three extra points. Veterans Keith Reynolds and David Baker both hit the scoring with touchdowns and freshman David Hogg sped 23 yards for another after intercepting a pass.

Two P'burg Youths Among 18 from Area At Philmont Ranch

Eighteen recently returned Scouts who spent 21 days on the rugged mountains of the 137,000 acres of Philmont Scout Ranch at Cimarron, New Mexico, report a once-in-a-lifetime experience in "roughing" it at the 5,000 to 12,000 foot elevation of the country's national camping and hiking "mecca."

Among the 18 Scouts were Walter W. May, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. May, and Larry M. Leslie, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward B. Leslie, of Prestonsburg.

Under the leadership of Cecil Sturgill, of Harold, and John D. Shockey, of Pound, Virginia, the Scouts participated in a training in survival endurance activity that only those of hardy spirit and strong fiber can take and enjoy. In addition to Leslie and May, the contingent of Scouts included:

Steve Phipps, David and Donald Sublett, all of Grundy, Virginia; Jimmy Dawson, Bruce F. Fraley, Robert D. Glass and Paul N. Shelley, all of Norton, Virginia; Lynn S. Draughon, Wise, Virginia; Calloway W. Napier, III, Hazard; Bill A. Farley, Rodney Mullins, Marshall Sexton, Charles V. and John D. Zeeger, all of Jenkins; Terry Deskins, Pikeville; Bobby Hunt, Kimper.

Rev. James Somerville, of Wise, Virginia, Council Commissioner, organized and promoted the trip but did not accompany the group.

The trip will be offered each summer by the Lonesome Pine Council. A deposit fee of $10 is acceptable at the Scout office now for next year is announced by Byron F. Pennebaker, Scout executive of the 15-county council area which is more than 250 miles across.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

The Eastern Kentucky high school football season is only three weeks old, and only two of the area's 12 teams remain in the undefeated ranks.

Belfry has copped three successive games and Morgan County has won two; however, both clubs will face stern tests this week-end. Belfry will be at home against Cumberland, and Morgan County tests Fleming-Neon, with the winner taking a big step toward the Class A, Region Four title.

Friday night, Prestonsburg (1-1-1) travels to Jenkins. This will be the first game in the Class AA playoffs for Bert Dixon's charges. Jenkins, 2-1 overall, has one regional win over M. C. Napier by a 6-0 count.

Wheelwright, a surprise 13-0 loser to Pikeville last Friday, plays host to Catlettsburg, Saturday night. Catlettsburg bowed to Ashland, 19-13, in its season's opener last week-end and figures to be a strong threat.

Bennett Leslie, 5-10 junior half-back, was the winner of the Black Cat Player-of-the-Week in Prestonsburg's 7-7 deadlock with Elkhorn City. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leslie, of Emma. He is also a low-hurdler on the Black Cat track team.

Next Friday should settle the Class AA title picture in this region and in the nine-team Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference as Belfry and Hazard meet in the Perry county seat. Both clubs have one win in the playoff system and a loss would eliminate either from contention.

The Floyd county principals, by a vote of 6-2, have declared junior transfer Danny Parsons ineligible at Betsy Layne this season. Parsons was a center for the Wayland Wasps last season.

The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce has excelled in its annual football program this year. The 28-page booklet, which is given free at all Prestonsburg high school home football games, is full of facts, well-printed and has clear pictures.

Ex-Congressman Bates Dies; Knott Native Was Known As "Democrat from Republican"

Former Rep. Joseph B. Bates, who served 14 years in Congress from the old Eighth district, died Friday in an Ashland hospital. He was 72.

He had undergone surgery in the past two weeks. Cause of death was not announced.

Bates, a Democrat, was born in the Knott county community of Republican, now Dry Creek. He won a special election in 1938 to succeed the late Rep. Fred M. Vinson, Ashland and Louisa, who had been appointed to a federal judgeship. Vinson later became Chief Justice of the United States.

Bates was reelected from 1938 to 1950 and served on the House appropriations and rules committees.

When redistricting shuffled several Eastern Kentucky counties (including Bates') into the Fifth district in 1952, Bates was handed his first political defeat by Brent Spence, Ft. Thomas, in the Democratic primary.

In 1956 he ran for U. S. Senator and was defeated in the primary by Earle C. Clements, Morgantown.

Bates, who liked to refer to himself as the seventh son of a seventh son, taught the one-room Dry Creek school at the age of 18 for $41 a month.

He was graduated from Eastern Kentucky State College in 1916 and taught at East Bernstadt and Greenup, then studied law and passed the bar examination.

In 1927 he was the first Democrat ever elected Greenup county clerk and served 16 years in that post.

After retiring from politics, he practiced law in Greenup.

He is survived by his widow, the former Virginia Rice; a son, Joseph R. Bates, and a daughter, Mrs. Shannon Vinson.

ORDINANCE NO. 9-65
An Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Reclassifying and Rezon-ing Certain Property in the City of Prestonsburg, and Amending the Zoning Map To Provide for Such Reclassification and Rezon-ing.

WHEREAS, the City Planning Commission of Prestonsburg has adopted a Future Land Use Plan which is a part of the overall community plan for the City, and;

WHEREAS, the entire area of West Prestonsburg, because of its proximity to rail and road service is planned for Light Industrial zoning classification, and;

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, has recommended to the City Council that Lots Nos. 1 and 2, Block No. 3 Section 1 (Property Identification Map) be rezoned from R-2 (Medium Density Residential) to Light Industrial, and;

WHEREAS, a public hearing has been held pursuant to provisions of Article XI, Section 3 of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Prestonsburg adopted on July 6, 1959, after publication of Notice of Public Hearing as required by Kentucky Revised Statutes;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

That the Zoning Map of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, adopted on July 6, 1959, be amended so as to reclassify and rezone the following described property as a Light Industry district.

Lots Nos. 1 and 2, Block 8, Section 1, according to the property Identification Map of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, which lots are composed of 25,200 square feet, located along the North Side of Duncan Street in West Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

If any section, clause, or provision or portion of this ordinance shall be held to be invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction such holding shall not effect any other section, clause, provision or portion of the Ordinance which is not itself invalid or unconstitutional.

This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force immediately after its adoption, the public welfare demanding it.

Deaf Man Perfects Midget Transistor Hearing Aid

If you can hear people talk and can't make out the words clearly, then this will be your answer. An extremely small hearing aid using a tiny energized unit, has been perfected by a man who himself is hard of hearing and has been for over 10 years. With his new aid, even whispers are crystal clear. If interested it is suggested you write HEARING, 32 E. 9th St., Erie, Pa. You will receive full information at no cost or obligation whatsoever.—Adv.

Social Security Amendments To Have Far-Reaching Effects

Lexington, Ky.—Several amendments to the national Social Security Act (1965) will have far-reaching effect on many categories of persons, says the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service.

The changes, says Wilmer Browning, agricultural economist, involves changes in old age and survivors' insurance cash benefits, hospital insurance, etc. Some of the changes:

- BENEFIT INCREASES: Increases voted retroactively to January, 1965 will be paid eligibles in separate checks in late September. The October checks and after will include this increase.
- HOSPITALIZATION-MEDICAL INSURANCE: Information kits being sent to persons now on SS rolls. Enrollment card in the kit must be mailed in by March 31, 1966. Next enrollment period will be October 1-December 31, 1967. Don't cancel any existing hospitalization or medical insurance now owned, Browning urges. The new law will not become effective until July 1, 1966.
- NON-PARTICIPANTS: Aged persons who are not qualifying now for Social Security cash payments nevertheless are eligible for the health and hospitalization insurance. Sign up at local SS offices after September 1, 1965.

- NON-PARTICIPATING ELIGIBLES: These are persons eligible for SS payments but who have NOT applied for these. These persons should establish benefit rights at local SS offices.
- WIDOWS AGED 60 OR 61: Reduced benefits can start at age 60, rather than age 62, for eligibles.
- STUDENTS 18 TO 22 YEARS OLD who are otherwise eligible for certain SS benefits, should check in. Retroactive payments are due some of these whose benefits may have stopped. Some students 18, or close to that age, are eligible for certain benefits if they continue school.
- SEVERELY DISABLED WORKERS: Can now collect disability benefits if disability has lasted or is expected to last 12 months.
- REMARRIED WIDOWS: If more than 60 years old, or are divorced women more than 62 who were married at least 20 years, new provisions cover these categories.

Heart Attack Fatal To Homer Cline, Sr., Resident of Endicott

Homer Cline, Sr., 76, of Endicott, died last Friday evening at the Appalachian Regional hospital, Pikeville, victim of a heart attack.

A son of the late E. L. "Dude" Cline and Laura Porter Cline, he was a native and lifelong resident of the Johns Creek section. He was a retired miner and was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Dollie McCoy Cline, a daughter, Mrs. Garnett Bowling, of Pikeville, and two sons, Homer Cline, Jr., Dayton, Ohio, and Howard Leslie Cline, Springfield, Illinois; a brother, Wornie Cline, of Endicott; two sisters, Mrs. Virgie Burchett and Mrs. Thelma Leslie, both of Guilmore, and three half-brothers, Byron (Stonewall) Cline, Lowmansville, Kentucky, Mont Cline, of Pikeville, and Eugene Cline, Betsy Layne.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday afternoon from the chapel of the Justice Funeral Home at Pikeville, the Rev. John W. Conley officiating. Burial was made in the Cline family cemetery on Johns Creek.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Elsie Stumbo, Plaintiff
Vs. ORDER OF SALE
Bill Stumbo, Defendant.

By virtue of Execution No. 4678 issued to me in the above styled cause, I, or one of my deputies, will offer for sale at the Court-house door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, on Monday, October 4, 1965, between the hours of 10 and 11 a.m. to the highest and best bidder, at public outcry, the defendant's one-half interest in the following described property:

Being the same property that Bill and Elsie Stumbo acquired by deed of the 29th day of July, 1961, and which is recorded in Deed Book 177, page 497, a more particular description of which follows:

Beginning at a point in Taylor Stumbo's farm on Middle Creek, in Floyd County, Kentucky, and beginning at an Elm tree, the first hollow on the aforesaid farm, and running North from said Elm tree 175 feet to a huckleberry; thence running East 150 feet to a marked Pine; thence running 175 feet to a small road on the aforesaid farm; thence running West 150 feet to the starting point.

The amount of money to be raised at this sale shall be in the principal sum of $120.20, plus Sheriff's fee and advertising cost.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties and having the force and effect of a replevin bond, with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this the 14th day of September, 1965.
