

PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1965

This Town . . . That World

I'm getting along, as they say, and I need the rest, but I still catch myself thinking of a night's sleep as just another spell of oblivion.

And I do not agree with the guy who said, "No matter how sad a man may be, his blanket is always a comforter."

SEE YOU AT CONVOCATION
Next Wednesday we shall be, please God, as busy as we are this. But we propose to drop whatever needs doing and attend the University of Kentucky's Centennial Convocation at the Amphitheatre at Jenny Wiley State Park.

We folks here in Floyd county are a bit closer to the University than ever before, now that we have the Prestonsburg Community College. There probably will never be a better time than next Wednesday for us all to show our appreciation of what has happened and by our interest show our faith in the great things that yet are to happen.

It may be a good thing to stick to your knitting, but drop it for a while, this day—a more valuable fabric than ours is on the loom.

WEATHER WOES

Dog days are past, but it's these doggone nights that are worse, with the aging purp protesting the weather with stertorian yowls between shivers, clawing at the door and refusing all invitations to a bed in the basement. An invitation handed him at the end of a broomstick finally worked, the other night.

Fishing must be poor at the lake this week. Nobody has even attempted to taunt me with a report.

TAKING THE EDGE OFF IT

Describing his retreat from a grape arbor when the irate owner appeared, Mark Twain reduced it via euphemism to "We advanced rapidly in the other direction."

I read, somewhere, about another example of this delicate art of putting an embarrassing fact in the best possible light. It concerned a man whose father had, as they say, stretched rope. Asked what his father died of, he replied, "My father died at a public function when the platform on which he stood gave way."

CO. ELECTION BOARD TOLD TO RECONVENE

LOWE ASKS NEW LISTS IN 8 PCTS.

Special Judge Holds Executive Committee List To Be Recognized

Special Judge Charles E. Lowe last Friday issued a temporary mandatory injunction directing the Floyd county election commissioners to reconvene at 10 a.m. Wednesday, set aside appointments in nine precincts of election officers who were not chosen from the Democratic executive committee's list and to select officers from a new list which the executive committee was directed to submit.

The order came at the conclusion of the hearing of a civil action filed against the election commissioners. Ex-officio Chairman Henry C. Hale, Bill Darby and Glenn Burchett, by the executive committee and Joe Wheeler Lewis, Democratic nominee for Sheriff. The executive committee is composed of James E. Conley, chairman, Earrit M. Hayes and Oliver Hall, legislative district chairmen.

Judge Lowe answered the argument that the 13 precinct election officers named by the commission outside the official list were chosen because precinct chairmen had submitted their names for selection by saying: "A precinct committeeman is

Floyd Rescue Squad To Resume Canvass

The Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad will resume its house-to-house canvass Saturday for financial support, it was announced this week by Graham Burchett, captain of the organization. The area to be covered this week-end begins at Friend street, Prestonsburg, and extends to include Auxier and David.

COMMISSION RECONVENES

Selects New Officers For Eight Precincts; Hale Says Law Clear

The County Election Commission reconvened Wednesday, as directed by court order, and named 13 precinct election officers from the list submitted by the Democratic executive committee.

Sheriff Henry C. Hale explained that the legal action has determined the law governing precinct chairmen's responsibility and power, and that that is what he wanted to have made clear. "I have taken considerable abuse because precinct chairmen thought they had the power to submit lists for the commissioners to use in selecting election officers. Now it should be clear to all that the precinct chairmen have nothing to do with naming election officers and have only the job of electing the two legislative chairmen," he said.

The new officers named:

Prestonsburg No. 1—Alvin Taylor, to replace Paul Branham; Porter—Frank DeRossett and Arthur Haywood to replace Edna Madison and Adrian Lafferty; Middle Creek—Miles Whittaker instead of Estill Ousley; Cow Creek—Lonnie Herald, instead of Bascom Williamson (this precinct was not attacked but Sheriff Hale explained a new election officer was named there because Mr. Williamson is ill); Rough and Tough—Lewis Dotson and Charlie Prater, instead of Greeley Dotson and Lee Owens; Martin—Glover Spencer instead of Hazel Robinson (Hi Click and J. D. Payne were also named as new officers there because, said Sheriff Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frasure, who were selected earlier, had notified him they would not serve); McDowell—Sam Martin, Jr., instead of Raymond Meade (Helton Stone was named sheriff there to take the place of Martin who moved from the post of sheriff to take Meade's place as judge); Jack Allen—Frank Stephens instead of Arnold Prater; Weeksbury—Homer Blankenship and Earl Johnson to replace Floyd and Hattie Johnson.

One of Four Hurt In Recent Wreck Back in Hospital

Clyde Robinson, of Little Paint, one of four youths who were injured in an auto wreck on Middle Creek, near Goodloe, September 18, was back in the Prestonsburg General hospital last week for further treatment of a muscle-tear arm. He also suffered a head injury. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Robinson.

Others injured in the wreck, all of whom have returned to home and school, are:

Michael Fannin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fannin, of Prestonsburg, head and back injury; Larry Allen Slone, driver of the car and a son of Allen Slone, of Blue River, injuries slight; James, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Henry C. Hale, head injury. Victor Rice, son of John D. Rice, escaped without injury as the car left the highway, plunged over an embankment and turned turtle.

CARS CLAIM 5 IN WEEK

3 Big Sandy Counties Hit by Road Tragedies; Frain Warns of Danger

Five residents of this area have lost their lives in highway accidents within the week.

Victims are: Irvin Williams, 42, killed Tuesday when his car sideswiped a state highway truck in Pike county.

Kenneth Ray Woods, 17, fatally injured at Martin. (See separate story.)

Teresa Dawn Runyon, month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Runyon, of Pikeville.

John Richard Foster, 18, Detroit.

Mrs. Rushie May Grim, 50, Nippa.

The Runyon infant died Sunday afternoon at 12:10 p.m. when her mother's car collided head-on with a truck on U. S. 23 6 1/2 miles south of Pikeville. Her mother, sister and cousin suffered minor injuries.

Foster was killed about 2:45 a.m. Sunday when his auto veered off U. S. 23 in fog 2.7 miles north of Paintsville.

An occupant of Foster's car, Solomon Grady Whatley, 18, was listed in serious condition in a Pikeville hospital. Both were thrown from the car when it went over the embankment.

Mrs. Grim died early Saturday morning after she walked into a tractor-trailer truck on U. S. 23 north of Paintsville.

Kentucky State Trooper Paul Frain, who investigated both the Grim and Foster fatalities, issued a warning to motorists to beware the river highways, especially during this month. Frain, safety education officer for the KSP, said fog, longer periods of dusk, and slippery highways during October contribute to a higher fatality rate. Last year, 123 persons were killed during October, 21 more than in any other month.

ALLEN YOUTH AUTO VICTIM

Kenneth Ray Woods Victim at Huntington After Martin Crash

Kenneth Ray Woods, 17, of Allen, succumbed at 4 p.m. Saturday at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, West Virginia, to injuries suffered, late the preceding night, in an automobile wreck at Martin.

The youth, a senior at Martin high school, died without regaining consciousness. Elmer Parsons, 19, of Allen, the other occupant of the car, escaped with minor injuries and has been dismissed from the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, where he was taken for treatment.

Chief of Police A. J. Reed, of Martin, who with State Trooper Elmo Allen investigated the tragedy, quoted persons in autos behind the car occupied by the Allen youths as saying the car passed three other autos at high speed, ran onto the left side of the highway as it was driven west on Ky. 80, then cut across the highway onto the shoulder, struck the Beaver Valley Lumber Company building and careened approximately 100 feet along the building before coming to a halt.

Officers were told the auto, a 1955 model Chevrolet, was owned and driven by Parsons.

The victim was a son of William K. and Pauline Crisp Woods, of Allen. Other survivors are four brothers and sisters, Alvin, Billy, Teresa and Timmie Woods, all of Allen.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Allen elementary school auditorium, the Revs. Cohen Campbell and Paul Pepon officiating. Burial was made in the Riley Hall cemetery at Allen under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Palbearers, classmates of the victim, were Mike Newsome, Ronnie Adkins, Harold DeRossett, Dennis Crisp, Gary Osborne, James Akers, Charles Luxmore, Jr., Jerry Hammonds.

BANNER MEN JAILED HERE

Officers Nab Strattons, Book One As Escapee; Arson Attempt Alleged

The Stratton brothers, Kenneth and Darrell, formerly of Banner, were back in jail here Tuesday night—the former as an escapee from a Michigan prison, his brother as a parole violator.

The two were arrested at Allen by State Trooper Elmo B. Allen and Sheriff Henry C. Hale after the latter had passed their auto as he was driving toward Martin. He notified Trooper Allen of their whereabouts and arrived at Allen in time to assist with the arrest of the two.

Both are longtime offenders, with records in this county and over a wide range of states, officers said. Kenneth, 34, walked away from a work detail at a Michigan prison, September 7, from Kentucky to Indiana where he allegedly violated terms of clemency.

Neither was armed when arrested. The officers found a

PARSONS FIRST FROM FLOYD TO SIGN FOR MEDICAL AID

Santford Parsons (left) at Social Security office, Pikeville, where he signed for hospital care benefits.

Wild, primitive and beautiful — this was the country into which Doss Parsons brought his family from Lawrence county, Ohio, in 1882. One member of this family was only a year old at the time Doss Parsons settled near what is now Honaker in this county. That baby, Moses Santford Parsons, is now 84 years old, and still lives near his old home place at Honaker.

Recently Mr. Parsons became the first person in Floyd county to file for hospital care benefits under the 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act, which made "Medicare" a reality. He is not eligible to receive monthly social security benefits because almost all of his public work was done before social security began, 30 years ago. But he is eligible to receive the benefits of the "Medicare" provisions, because he does meet the requirement of being age 65 or older and has filed an application for hospital insurance coverage. This is the first part of the "Medicare" provisions and will apply to hospital bills. Mr. Parsons may also choose to be covered by the second part of the Medicare provisions, medical insurance benefits, which could apply to doctor bills. The cost of the medical insurance benefits is $3 monthly for each person covered.

Persons who are currently receiving social security or railroad retirement benefits are automatically entitled to the Hospital Insurance Benefits. Only those, like Mr. Parsons, who are not currently receiving these benefits have

$1 1/2 MILLION IN PLAN FOR FLOYD SCHOOLS

Authorized Saturday by the County Board of Education to prepare plans for use of the county's share of funds under Public Law 8910 (the federal education bill), County Superintendent Charles Clark said Tuesday that he expects to submit for the county's schools a program that, if approved, would mean the expenditure of half a million dollars in federal education funds in this county during the next school year.

Mr. Clark was authorized at Saturday's board meeting to prepare the plans and act as agent in qualifying them. Already he has a program "in the rough," which will be formally submitted for consideration soon.

This program envisions:

1. Remedial reading instruction for each of the larger schools in the county.
2. A library and a librarian for each of these larger schools.
3. A revamped department of supervision.

4. An increased allotment to each classroom for instructional materials, the increase to bring the amount spent annually for this purpose from $25 to $75 per classroom.

5. A recreational program at each larger school during the summer.

6. Addition of 10 buses to the school transportation system.

7. Employment of persons in special units such as guidance counselling and speech therapy as well as in other areas in which the school system has been unable to qualify under the Minimum Foundation Program.

The Board voted unanimously its endorsement of the Bond Issue to be voted upon at the November election. The school calendar was amended so that November 11, Armed Forces Day, and January 31, Franklin Roosevelt's Birthday, may be taken as holidays in lieu of Christmas and New Year's, holidays which will

State Detective Chester D. Potter said Darrell Stratton was paroled after serving time on three terms of three years each from the Floyd circuit court. His brother, Potter said, was serving a Michigan term of four to 14 years when he escaped.

Kenneth Stratton was the subject of an investigation, sometime ago, the officers said, of a Michigan assassination plot in which a judge was the intended victim, but it is not known if his conviction was for this alleged offense.

Oce Shepherd, of Middle Creek, was jailed here last Thursday and booked by Sheriff Hale on a charge of maliciously attempting to burn property. Shepherd was arrested, it was said, while atop the service station owned by Allen Stone at Blue River. A gas station can was also on the station roof at the time. Shepherd claimed he climbed onto the roof to go to sleep.

Tommy Brown, Jr., is being sought on a warrant charging him with cutting and wounding Harold Lloyd Prater, of Right Beaver Creek, at a Hunter club Sunday night. Prater was interviewed at the Appalachian Regional hospital, McDowell, by Commonwealth's Attorney Harold Stumbo and State Detective Chester D. Potter. He told the two that Brown had drawn a knife on others in the group and that he took the weapon from him. Then, in a later scuffle, he was cut by Brown, he said. Prater suffered a knife wound in the abdomen and another in his back.

Others jailed within the week and charges on which they were booked: Jimmie Ray Gibson, breaking and entering, booked by Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald; Anthony Gibson, drunk driving, by State Trooper James Harmon and Constable Gillis Conn; Leo Wright and Walter F. Sturgill, driving while under the influence of alcohol, both arrested by Trooper Harmon; Geiger Carter, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, by Trooper D. H. Goble.

Miss Conley, 2nd Floyd IFYE, Goes To Nepal For Six Months; To Live With Farm Families

Miss Melanie Ann Conley, daughter of Circuit Judge and Mrs. Hollie Conley, of Eastern, last month became the second Floyd girl to go overseas as an International Farm Youth Exchangee.

Miss Conley is in Nepal where she will remain six months, living with farm families, learning about their way of life and unobtrusively introducing them to American modes of living.

Her cousin, Miss Reba Joyce Salver, also of Eastern, was the first Floyd IFYE. She went to Ireland.

Miss Conley left Kentucky September 18 for a week's orientation at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C., before going to Nepal. The National 4-H Foundation supplied $2,000 of her expenses, Floyd county 4-H members and leaders raising the remaining $1,000.

The Floyd IFYE has been one of the state's outstanding 4-H club members. She was state project champion, attended the National 4-H Congress in Chicago and in 1962 was one of four club-members selected from Kentucky to attend the National 4-H Conference in Washington.

Miss Conley was a member of the Maytown 4-H Club while attending high school there. She attended Berea College and majored in physical therapy at Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri, where she received her degree. She has been doing her internship in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Upon her return to Kentucky she will be appearing before at least 100 groups to tell of her experiences and of life in Nepal.

Washington — Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, was reported in critical condition yesterday after suffering two heart attacks.

Hall-Campbell Vows Said at Allen Church

Miss Ruby Ann Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Hall, Sr., of Allen, and Mr. James David Campbell, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Cohen Campbell, of Lancer, were united in marriage August 9 at 6 p.m. in the Methodist Church at Allen.

The Rev. Cohen Campbell, pastor of the Lancer Baptist Chapel and father of the groom, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with potted palms, branched candelabra and a basket of white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sheath gown of white satin with a matching train. The bodice was of white satin metallic brocade with an overlay of tulle that formed a bodice and sleeves. Her veil streamed from a pillbox covered with the same fabric as the bodice of her gown. She carried a white Bible covered with white carnations and streamers.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by the church pianist, Miss Elizabeth Lee Clark, of Allen, and Miss Janelle Hall, sister of the bride.

Miss Helen Hall, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of blue lace. Her matching headdress had a bouffant veil and she carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations with lover's knot streamers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Hall, sister of the bride, and Miss Freda Campbell, sister of the groom. Their dresses and headdresses were designed like that of the honor attendant's. Each carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Dennis Akers, of Lancer, served Mr. Campbell as best man. Ushers were Ernest Vanhose, of Paintsville, and James K. Hall, of Allen.

Nicholas Wade Hall, five-year-old nephew of the bride, served as the ringbearer, and Sheila Goble, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of beige silk with a lace bodice. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the groom wore a green-flowered daron dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was also white carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the recreation room of the church. Those assisting at the reception table were Miss Betty Ann Phillips, Miss Bonnie Caudill, Miss Betty L. Branham, and Mrs. Troy Hall, Jr.

The bride is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and has completed a year of study at the Prestonsburg Community College. The groom is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and is a sophomore at the Prestonsburg Community College. The couple is residing at Lancer.

Mary Jo Shivel and Linda Sue Stephens returned to Lexington, Sunday after a short visit here with their parents.

GAS FIRM PLANNING 2nd BUILDING HERE

The Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company this week announced plans for construction on its property here of a 60x120-foot steel structure which will be used as a garage and workshop and at the same time free other space in the company's present structure for other purposes. The new building will be located on a part of Kentucky West Virginia's property which is now used as a pipeyard, W. W. Wallen, vice-president in charge of operations, said.

Its completion will permit the transfer of the garage and warehouse from the second floor of the present building and renovation of that entire floor for office use. The third floor, which now houses offices, in turn will be converted to use for the storage of records from both the Prestonsburg and Ashland offices of the company. The warehouse will be moved from the second to the first floor.

The second-floor office area of the present Kentucky West Virginia building will be centrally air-conditioned and heated. Attractiveness of the new single-story structure will be enhanced by a permanent-paint finish.

Bids from contractors may be asked on the construction and renovation jobs. Mr. Wallen said work is expected to begin soon.

Stewart, principal, gave the main address of the evening on the topic, "Recent School Policies." Mrs. George Patton, president, presided over the business meeting, calling for reports of the committeemen.

Acting committees for the coming year are: Hospitality—Mrs. Frank Stewart, chairman, Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. Phil Hamilton, Mrs. Hershel Flanery; Membership—Mrs. Kenneth Blevins, chairman, Mrs. Clem Martin, Mrs. Sid Bailey, and Shirley Bradley; Finance—James Allen, Edward F. Robinson, Mrs. Tom Jones, Mrs. Jones Tallent, Mrs. Lawrence Howard and Mrs. Roland Burchett; Program and Yearbook—Mrs. Thomas Flanery, chairman, Mrs. Roy May, Harriet Allen and Eloise Allen; Publicity—Mrs. Arnold Lowe and Mrs. Theodore Gibson.

October is National Membership Month for all P.T.A.'s. The Maytown membership committee is already laying plans for the drive.

The program chairman, Mrs. Thomas Flanery, outlined interesting programs for the coming year.

The group voted to purchase needed shades for both the high school and elementary school buildings, this to be their 1965-66 project.

An endorsement was obtained on the resolution that the Maytown P.T.A. support the bond issue and help with its passage.

Mrs. Alice Martin, first grade teacher, gave a report as to how the Head Start Program had aided her students.

Almost all the teachers were present at this meeting and were introduced to the parents. Refreshments were served at the close of the business meeting and a social hour was enjoyed.

SMALL, BUT WORTH GETTING EXCITED ABOUT

Why all the excitement about a small manufacturing plant which will employ, to begin with, no more than 40 people when a single coal mine employs five times as many?

That question has been asked recently, and it is not an impertinence to ask it. For coal continues to be king in this county, it remains the big employer of labor and is the heaviest single contributor to the economy.

We are not unaware of these facts, nor are we forgetting the contributions made by coal operations such as those of Princess Coals, Inland Steel, George E. Evans, the Reed interests, Stephens-Elk-horn, Cooley and a number of smaller operations. But public interest is always turning to the new, and the established stand-bys, by the very nature of their solidarity, do not claim the attention they deserve.

The analogy is far from perfect, but we recall the worldwide acclaim of Lindbergh when he flew the Atlantic, non-stop, to Paris, and we compare that with the acceptance as commonplace today of daily flights made overseas in planes which could stow the Spirit of St. Louis in their baggage compartments.

But the new plant here and similar enterprises launched at Betsy Layne and Auxier claim public interest because they are more than something merely new to the area. They demand and deserve attention because they are trail-blazers toward the diversification of industry which Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky so badly need. Small as they are at the beginning, these new industries are pioneering, and, if they succeed, industrialization on a scale little dreamed of may result for the entire region.

Eastern Kentucky coal has survived a succession of handicaps — freight rate differentials, governmental favors to competing industries, among others—and its place in the area picture is fixed. Now, if these other industries can weather early storms and develop and grow stronger, the economic future of this county and section will be immeasurably brighter, and employment will come to greater segments of the total population.

The potential of these new industries is worth getting excited about.

PRAISE FOR AN EDITOR

Earl W. Kinner, editor of The Licking Valley Courier draws well-deserved praise from The Courier-Journal for his initiative and leadership in sponsoring the experiment by which young men and women of his county are being transported to and from the Prestonsburg Community College.

The Courier-Journal comments editorially:

A Tough But Rewarding Experiment

THE GREAT VALUE of local participation in projects of the war on poverty is wonderfully demonstrated in a recent story of a Morgan county effort to make college education available to boys and girls who normally couldn't make it. It is not the sort of experiment that would occur to a bureaucrat in Washington or even, probably, to planners in Frankfort, for it demands a great deal of the young people it helps.

Thirty-eight of Morgan's high school graduates ride school buses into West Liberty every morning, then transfer to another bus which takes them to Prestonsburg, 45 miles away, for classes at the community college extension of the University of Kentucky. The bus then brings them back each afternoon in time to transfer to local school buses which then scatter them across the county.

These youngsters get up around 5 a.m. None is traveling less than 100 miles daily in buses. They hope to finish two-year junior college courses but the Office of Economic Opportunity is underwriting the first year as an experiment which can be renewed if it works well. OEO provides transportation, books and supplies. The students will earn their tuition with at least 15 hours of work weekly, after school.

This inspiring but tough program is the brain child of Earl Kinner, publisher of one of the best of Kentucky's weekly newspapers, The Licking Valley Courier. Mr. Kinner, according to Morgan county's school superintendent, Walton Jones, has been advocating such a program for five years.

Only a man who knows his county and understands the urge of its best young people for a decent education would have proposed a daily routine that demands so much. Many of the rest of us tend to think that the young must be pampered and coaxed through an education. Mr. Kinner has discovered, and found an answer for, the eager and ambitious students who will struggle and endure hardship for further schooling.

Other counties have still more eager youngsters who will follow the example of their Morgan county companions if given a chance. This is one poverty-war battle that seems destined for a satisfying victory.

Who Spends More For Dress?—Read

For every dollar spent in retail trade during 1963 in Kentucky for men's and boys' clothing, $1.87 was spent for women's and girls' apparel.

Automobiles and trucks, plus the fuel and accessories to keep them running, took 26.9 percent of all the state's retail spending during the same year.

Food purchases accounted for 26.1 cents of every 1963 retail dollar spent in the state—21.3 cents for groceries to be consumed at home and 4.8 cents for meals and snacks eaten out.

These statistics are taken from a new report on the 1963 Census of Business, Retail Trade, Merchandise Line Sales, just issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DOESN'T LIKE REPORTING OF FOOTBALL HERE

EDITOR, The Times:

In a writeup about Prestonsburg and the football by our sports writer locally, he stated, "Prestonsburg has won only one game and has been unimpressive." Unimpressive? A year ago this time they were beaten by scores of 38-0, 21-0 and 32-6. This season, the two games they've lost have been by only one touch-down and the other one was a tie. This looks like a far cry to me from being "unimpressive" and is a big improvement. The team really needs someone like a sports writer who is supposed to represent them, to "kick them in the teeth when they are down." With support like this, is it any wonder they get discouraged?

MRS. DELL WRIGHT

(Just a fan. My son does NOT play football)

THE SHAPE WE'RE IN

EDITOR, The Times:

Had Goldwater been elected and enlisted the aid of the K. K. K., the Mafia and J. Hoffa, he could not have got us in the shape we are now in.

Since we have supplied Pakistan and India with war equipment for both sides. All people on earth have our army headhunters and warlike equipment.

We have no gold or silver and will sell bogus money to the banks and to apply this profit on our national debt would be a waste of dollars. Dr. King should have this money as back pay — the politicians don't need it.

Johnson not only has the last word but also the first, and our Congress is a myth.

to file for hospital coverage.

All who are 65 and over must file for the medical insurance benefits if they want to have their doctors' costs and other bills covered by medical insurance. This type of expenses will not be covered under the Hospital Insurance Plan. Those already receiving social security or railroad retirement benefits will be mailed a card before December 31, which they must complete and return to the address shown on the card if they want to file for medical insurance. It is not necessary for them to go to the Social Security Office to complete this card.

It will be necessary for everyone to complete his application for medical insurance before March 31, 1966, if he is now age 65 or over, or will be age 65 before January 1, 1966.

Besides having the distinction of being the first person in Floyd county to sign for the Medicare program, Mr. Parsons has had some other interesting experiences during his lifetime. At one time he worked as a logger for the famed "Devil" Anse Hatfield and can remember some of the feuding that occurred between the Hatfields and the McCoys in the early 1900's.

Another interesting event occurred when he was 18 years old and was summoned as a witness in a notorious moonshine trial in Cincinnati, Ohio. He had to walk three days to reach the nearest railroad station to catch a train for Cincinnati.

Mr. Parsons married Polly McKinney in 1902 and they had 11 children. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons had children to fight for their country in both World Wars. Mr. Parsons, a widower since 1951, does not find himself lonely, since, in addition to a brother (age 89) living nearby and his own 11 children, he has 68 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Rites for Mrs. Slone Held Last Wednesday At Home of Daughter

Funeral rites for Mrs. Annie Parrott Slone, of David, who died September 26 at the Prestonsburg General hospital at the age of 90, were conducted last Wednesday afternoon from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Slone, of David.

Mrs. Slone was a victim of pneumonia. She was born August 14, 1875, and was the last of the family of Henry and Catherine Merritt Parrott. Her husband, Allen Slone, died in 1904.

Survivors include two sons and five daughters: Henry Slone, of Blue River, George Slone, Wabash, Indiana, Mrs. Pearl Johnson, of Risner, Mrs. Ocie Slone, Indianapolis, Indiana, Mrs. Maud Slone, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Daisy Branham, of Martin, and Mrs. Allie Slone, of David. She also leaves 53 grandchildren, 166 great-grandchildren and 44 great-great-grandchildren.

Officiating minister at the funeral was the Rev. Ashland Shepherd. Burial was made in the Slone cemetery at Buckeye under direction of the Carter & Callahan Funeral Home.

THIS IS A POSTAL CARD

(Exact in size and shape)

Suppose you use postal cards for direct mail advertising. Five thousand cards will cost you $200.

Forget the cost of printing and addressing the cards—but remember they alone cost $200.

Why do we suggest 5,000? Because that is almost the exact number of copies of the Floyd County Times that go to subscribers each week. (We mention 5,000 subscribers—only a fraction of the number who read The Times, weekly. The most authoritative study yet made shows at least 4 1-3 persons read each copy of a weekly newspaper. So at least 20,000 read The Floyd County Times every week of the year.)

Now, how much does an advertisement in The Times, exactly the same size as a postal card, cost you with no extras for printing, addressing and mailing? EXACTLY $6.82½. COMPARE THAT WITH $200! It Pays To Advertise in The Times.

CATS TO PLAY BELFRY

Belfry, Eastern Kentucky's lone undefeated high school football team, comes to Prestonsburg Friday night in quest of its seventh consecutive victory.

This year's edition of the Pirates is considered the best ever. They average over 200 pounds per player and the squad is one of the biggest in the state.

Frank Guyton, a senior 190-pound Negro halfback, is the team's offensive star. He has raced for 13 touchdowns and eight extra points, in addition to averaging five yards per carry. Quarterback Bob Burgett and halfback Gene Isom are also seasoned veterans.

Belfry's closest winning margin in the six-game string was a 20-14 conquest of powerful Hazard. The other five wins were by five touchdowns or more.

Al Vipperman's Pike counties are virtually assured of winning the Class AA district playoffs and the nine-team Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference.

Last Friday night, Hazard whipped Lexington Lafayette, 44-20, so when Tuesday's statewide rating appeared the Bulldogs moved into 11th place in the football ratings. Belfry, which has beaten Hazard, stopped M. C. Napier, 47-7, for its sixth win, so what happens to Belfry's rating?—they drop from 7th to 14th place, three notches behind Hazard.

Prestonsburg moved up from 105th place to 102nd spot and Wheelwright dropped to the 130th position.

Prestonsburg high school will sponsor one of the biggest attractions ever to appear in Eastern Kentucky on Monday, October 25, at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in the form of the Continental Circus, which has 22 acts and has just finished a two-week stand in New York's famed Madison Square Garden.

Eighty coaches and basketball officials attended the Eastern Kentucky basketball rules clinic in Pikeville, Tuesday afternoon, to hear Charlie Vettner and E. B. May, Jr., Prestonsburg, interpret the 1965-'66 rules changes.

Virgil Osborne, long-time Virgie basketball coach and head basketball mentor at Jenkins for the last two seasons, has resigned to accept a position in Pike county with the National Youth Corps program.

The Floyd County Coaches Association has requested the N.C.A.A. to sanction a basketball all-star game, the third week in June, either in Prestonsburg or Wheelwright. Proceeds from the event will go to the Floyd County Council for Retarded Children.

All 15th region basketball coaches are requested to send their 1965-'66 basketball schedules and rosters to Box 72, Prestonsburg, as soon as they are completed.

Francis Stores' Player-of-the-Week award goes to John B. "Wimpy" Clark, 180-pound junior halfback, for his play against Wheelwright.

NOTICE

Jesse Wright has filed application with the Floyd County Court for permit to operate a place of entertainment, the Western Front Poolroom, at West Prestonsburg, Ky.

Volume at Library Is Student's Guide To Military Service

BY HOMER LEE HALL
Regional Librarian

The Floyd County Library has recently received a book of timely interest from the Department of Libraries, The Student's Guide To Military Service, by Michael Harwood, contains latest material on new classification routine, new reserve programs, and short-term active reserve programs with additional information on the II-S deferment and conscientious objection.

When a student is faced with his military service obligations, what should he do? Seek a student deferment? Sign up for the shortest possible period of active service? Wait for — or attempt to wait out — the draft?

If you're a student, you owe it to yourself and the country to learn about programs that enable you to make your military duty more than a frustrating interruption.

There has never been so frank and complete a book about the student and his military obligations. In blunt terms, its message is this: you can do nothing, and be caught up in an impersonal system that can lead to a period of service of little national or personal benefit. Or you can learn how, either as a civilian or in uniform, to fulfill your obligations to the maximum benefit of yourself and your country.

Visit your library today and use the many free services that are available. The library is opening during the following hours: 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday; 8:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday; 8:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Saturday.

FLEMING-NEON MOVES UP; CATS DOWN WHEELWRIGHT

Fleming-Neon high school has moved into a first place tie with Catlettsburg in the race for the Class A, Region 4 football playoffs, by virtue of its conquest of Pikeville last week-end.

Raymond Isaac's Pirates waited to their third regional win and fourth of the season in thumping the Panthers, 36-6.

Undefeated Belfry ran its winning streak to six in belting winless M. C. Napier, 47-7, and Prestonsburg downed Wheelwright for the second time this season, this time by a 25-0 margin.

Hazard upheld the pride of mountain football in walloping Lexington Lafayette, 44-20. Jenkins throttled arch-rival Whitesburg, 47-7, and Morgan County kept Paintsville from registering its first win with a 12-6 verdict. Elkhorn City pulled a mild surprise with a lop-sided 44-0 win from Class AA Leslie County.

Belfry's Pirates grabbed a 34-0 halftime margin over visiting M. C. Napier and then sent the regulars to the bench until the final period when they returned to score two more touchdowns. Frank Guyton's two touchdown runs of three and 37 yards gave him 13 t.d.'s for the season and a total of 86 points, six less than Whitesburg's William Wright, who failed to score against Jenkins.

The Pirates' leading all-state candidate played only two quarters before retiring in favor of younger sophomore brother Leon, who scored on a 10-yard run.

Quarterback Bob Burgett tallied one marker and passed for two more and halfback Gene Isom also hit the scoring column twice.

John "Wimpy" Clark, who is Prestonsburg's best athlete since the days of four-sport all-stater Lowell Hughes, sped for three touchdowns in Prestonsburg's romp over neighboring Wheelwright.

The 180-pound junior halfback intercepted a pass and returned it 65 yards for one touchdown and posted two others of 11 and 14 yards. Bennett Leslie also scored for the Black Cats.

not a member of the Democratic executive committee of Floyd county and has no voice in the selection of election officers." He cited the case of Smith vs. Howard. (This leaves to the precinct committeemen the function of selecting the two legislative district chairmen, these two in turn naming the county chairman.)

In his findings of fact Judge Lowe added: "The action of the Floyd County Election Commission in naming persons to serve as election officers . . . who were not on the list submitted by the said Democratic executive committee was in violation of Kentucky Revised Statutes 116.070."

The injunction was granted, subject to the condition that the executive committee file an amended list, eliminating from the original list the names of any person who, according to the proof offered, are not qualified to serve, this amended list to be filed not later than 1 p.m. Monday of this week.

Set aside were the appointments of these election officers: Paul Branham in Prestonsburg No. 1; Adrian Lafferty and Edna Madison in Porter No. 6; Estill Ousley in Middle Creek No. 8; Lee Owens and Greedy Dotson in Rough & Tough No. 12; Hazel Robinson, Martin No. 19; Bill and Jack Dingus, Halbert No. 20; Raymond Meade in McDowell No. 22; Arnold Ousley in Jack Allen No. 36; Floyd and Hattie Johnson in Weeksbury No. 38.

The plaintiffs were required to execute $500 bond to indemnify defendants against damage in the event that the lower court's order is not upheld if the case is appealed. It was indicated no appeal will be asked. Costs of the action are to be shared equally by both defendant and plaintiff.

Centennial Convocation Moves Here

UK ALUMNUS TO KEYNOTE MEET HERE

Dr. Hahn, President Of VPI, UK Graduate At 18, To Be Speaker

A University of Kentucky graduate will return to Kentucky Wednesday, October 13, to deliver the key address in a Centennial Convocation at Prestonsburg Community College.

Dr. T. Marshall Hahn, Jr., the eleventh president of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Virginia, will address the academic convocation at 10:30 a.m. in the Amphitheatre at Jenny Wiley State Park. The public is invited to attend.

Dr. Hahn is a native of Lexington. At the time of his appointment as president of VPI, July 1, 1962, he was the youngest president of any land-grant university in the nation.

He was graduated from the University of Kentucky at the age of 18 when he received his B.S. degree in physics "with highest honors." In 1950, at 23, he received his Ph.D. in physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He is a former associate professor of physics, and director of nuclear accelerator laboratories at the University of Kentucky, and also was director of graduate study in physics at U.K.

He has served as physicist with the North American Phillips Company; as research participant, Oak Ridge National Laboratory; and as consultant for large corporations. He has written numerous scientific papers.

Dr. Hahn is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Sigma Pi Sigma, Pi Mu Epsilon, Alpha Zeta, Alpha Phi Omega, Alpha Kappa Psi, American Association of Physics Teachers, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is a Fellow of the American Physical Society.

He is a director of the First National Exchange Bank of Virginia, a Methodist, and a Rotarian. Dr. Hahn is married and has a son and two daughters.

The Prestonsburg Community College enrollment has exceeded all expectations. Approximately 600 are enrolled in this, its second year. Photo shows jammed parking areas as students registered recently for current term. —Photo by Stephens

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO UK EXERCISES

By DR. HENRY A. CAMPBELL
Director, Prestonsburg Community College

The entire community served by Prestonsburg Community College is encouraged and welcomed to participate in all of the Community College activities during October 12 through October 14.

The panel members and the speakers do all of us a great honor in appearing here to participate in our Convocation program. We would hope that the citizens in our area would turn out in great numbers to hear this distinguished assembly of statesmen and scholars. It is a rare occasion indeed when so many distinguished people in the Commonwealth of Kentucky assemble at one place, at one time.

The luncheon and dinner tickets will be on a first-come first-serve basis. We anticipate that we will have 150 luncheon tickets available to the general public, students, faculty, etc., at a cost of $2.50, and 200 dinner tickets available at $3.25. People desiring to attend either of these two functions should immediately call Miss Judy Smiley at the College and reserve tickets.

Prestonsburg Community College has experienced an unprecedented growth during its two years of existence. It was anticipated that only 200 students would attend Prestonsburg Community College in the fall of 1964. When the college opened its doors for the first time that fall, it registered 325 students, and had 14 fulltime faculty and administrative personnel and eight part-time faculty members for both day and evening classes. In the fall of 1965, the college enrolled 564 full and part-time students and had 2 fulltime faculty and administrative personnel and 12 part-time teachers for the day and evening program. We feel that during the fall of 1966 we will enroll 800 full and part-time students, and will have a fulltime faculty of approximately 30.

We are also expecting to construct two additional buildings in the near future. One building will be a student center which will be retired from student fees, and the second will be a $350,000 technical building. This building is financed with bonds that will be based on the outcome of the Bond Issue on November 2. This building is particularly needed for the anticipated growth of the Community College, and it will provide not only for several technical programs but also for needed classroom space that is currently not available.

Again let me wish a sincere welcome and an invitation to our entire Community College community to attend all of our Convocation activities.

Speech League and UK To Sponsor Regional Clinic at Pikeville

The Kentucky High School Speech League and University of Kentucky Extension will co-sponsor a regional speech clinic from 1 to 5 p.m., Friday, October 15, in Faith Chapel, Pikeville College.

Howard Hoover, Pikeville College dean of students and regional manager of the league, will greet the participants. The Peach Orchard Players of the college will demonstrate duet acting, poetry reading and interpretative reading of serious drama.

Joe M. Johnson, Eastern Kentucky State College assistant professor of speech and drama, will offer observations and comments on the demonstrations. He also will discuss play selection and theatre materials for high school students.

UK POSITION IS DEFINED

Oswald Says University Must Prepare To Lead, Also To Serve Society

With the ever-expanding role of the university in today's complex society, educators are constantly reevaluating and redefining its responsibilities.

Although few administrators readily reach agreement on specifics, most do agree on such things as mushrooming enrollments, increased governmental and industrial research demands, the urban complexity and the multiversity threat, will place unprecedented demands on U. S. colleges and universities.

University of Kentucky President John W. Oswald recently summarized this dilemma by saying today's university must prepare itself to be both a leader and servant of society.

With this barrage of new tasks, one cannot help but wonder if the ever-important role of teaching is to be relegated to minor significance. More specifically, will the demands for research necessitate such great concentration in this area that outstanding faculty members will be too busy to spend sufficient time in the classroom?

The University of Kentucky is keenly aware of this problem and is presently in the midst of several programs designed to assure classroom instruction its proper place in a community of scholars and students.

Among these are: —20 summer grants to UK faculty members engaged in projects to improve teaching methods or revise present courses.

—Orientation for graduate teaching fellows and new faculty members.

—Specific guidelines for good teaching that will also assure lower division students instruction from UK's most able professors.

—Wider recognition of excellence in teaching by annual public tribute.

Oswald, since becoming UK's sixth president in 1963, has singled out improvement of present teaching, one of his major concerns. In a recent press conference, he stressed the importance of evaluating present teaching as a primary requisite before adoption of other methods. This evaluation, he said, is a twofold matter: —How well does a teacher communicate with his students, does he get his material "across," and is he interested and enthusiastic about his subject.

—The individual teacher's competence, is he up-to-date with his subject?

Oswald admits attempts at such evaluation will run into obstacles, but adds knowing present teaching shortcomings is the best way for future improvement.

The University's Academic Analysis, a blueprint of present solutions, perhaps best outlines the teaching function and its UK problems and possible future necessary role.

P'BURG COLLEGE ALUMNI, NOW AT UK, ARE PLEASED FRESHMAN YEAR SPENT HERE

There are three students on the University of Kentucky campus at Lexington this fall who are "well pleased" that they attended Prestonsburg Community College before coming to the main campus.

Jean Hazelrigg, of Paintsville, Richard Cooley, of Prestonsburg, and John Porter, of Paintsville, all say that they are glad they spent the first years of their college careers at the community college.

Miss Hazelrigg, a junior, who is planning to teach English, says the "individual attention, small classes and courses taught on the same level," are real advantages to attending a community college.

"I have noticed one main difference. The instructors give a great deal more personal attention at the Community College," she said.

Miss Hazelrigg also pointed out that "living is much cheaper for the first couple of years while living at home."

While at Prestonsburg she was involved in a number of activities.

Porter said that the caliber of instructors are about equal on both the main campus and the community college. He said that he knew his instructors there and the staff helped him to adapt. "I could study better at home, too," he said.

Porter participated in poetry and prose festivals while going to the Prestonsburg college. He also commented that he enjoyed a science exhibition while attending the school.

He was graduated from Paintsville high school in 1962, and now is an arts and science junior. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Porter, of 267 Second St., Paintsville.

Richard Cooley is a 1964 graduate of Paintsville high school. She is majoring in education and is a junior. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hazelrigg, of 225 Second St., Paintsville.

He is an arts and science junior. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cooley, of 706-B, Lake Drive, Prestonsburg.

HIGHER EDUCATION THEME OF SEMINAR

100-Year History Of UK Was Begun By Assembly Act

The institution now known as the University of Kentucky came into existence February 22, 1865, when the General Assembly chartered the Agricultural and Mechanical College and made it a part of the older Kentucky University, now Transylvania College.

The legislative action was taken in order that Kentucky might take advantage of the Morrill Act, under which the state could acquire 330,000 acres of public lands.

Thirteen years later, the Legislature repealed that part of the charter making the A. and M. College a part of Kentucky University, and established an independent Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky whose full support was to come from the state.

To provide a separate campus for the new institution, the City of Lexington donated its 52-acre fairground which, during the Civil War, had been utilized as a bivouac area for Union troops. Lexington and Fayette county contributed $60,000 for the construction of buildings, and President James K. Patterson used his personal savings to supplement the building fund.

In 1890 three new buildings—"Old Main," now the Administration Building; a men's dormitory, and a home for the president—began rising on the old fairground site. All are still in use. The dormitory, now known as White Hall, houses administrative offices, and the former president's home is headquarters for the dean of arts and sciences.

With establishment in 1889 of an agricultural experiment station, the A. and M. College experienced its first major expansion. The college of that year included agriculture, civil engineering, classical, scientific and normal departments. Two years later, a department of mechanical engineering was established, and courses in mining engineering were added in 1901.

ON-CAMPUS MEET HERE LAST OF 3

Seminars at Lodge To Stress Education In Appalachian Area

The University of Kentucky Centennial Seminar here next Wednesday will be the last of three being conducted on Community College campuses during the Centennial celebration.

Focusing on "Higher Education in Appalachia," the seminar here is expected to attract several hundred educational, business, agricultural, and labor leaders from throughout Kentucky.

Previously, the University has sponsored a seminar on "The Role of the Community College in Economic Development" at the Elizabethtown Community College on September 27 and "Higher Education's Role in Natural Resource Development" at the Southeast Community College on October 5.

The Convocation speaker, Dr. Thomas Marshall Hahn, president of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, will keynote with his address on "Higher Education in Appalachia."

Executive vice-president A. D. Albright will moderate the panel discussions beginning at 2:30 p.m.

The seminar is divided into two parts. The first begins at the auditorium in May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, and will feature O. T. Dorton, president, Citizens National Bank of Paintsville, speaking on "What Are Our Needs for Basic Information?"

Mahlon Miller, president of Union College at Barbourville, will speak on "What Can We Do About Our Needs for Basic Information?"

He will be followed by Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, speaking on "What Can We Do About Our Needs for Leadership Development?"

The evening portion of the seminar, beginning at 6:30, will begin with vice-president A. D. Albright's speech on "Concepts of Coordinated Effort."

John W. Oswald, president of the University, will then moderate an audience-panel dialogue on "Coordination of Effort."

The panel includes Ellis F. Hartford, dean of the Community College System; William H. Hayes, president, Alice Lloyd College; Robert Martin, president of Eastern Kentucky State College; Marie Turner, superintendent, Breathitt county schools; John Whisman, administrator of the Kentucky Area Development Office.

Centennial Professor Louis Zukofsky, New York, poet and literary critic, spoke at the Prestonsburg Community College, September 29 during his visit to the University of Kentucky campus to participate in the Centennial seminar in the Humanities.

Mr. Zukofsky read one of his poems to the assembled student body and then received questions and comments from the students.

Prior to his 2 p.m. program, he and his party had lunch with several of the Prestonsburg faculty at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Mrs. Campbell, in the absence of her husband, was hostess to the luncheon. Others of the faculty attending were Mr. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Knuckles, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Stanley, and Mrs. Turner.

Mr. Zukofsky was accompanied by his wife, Celia, a composer; Dr. Jacob H. Adler, chairman of the English department; Dr. Guy Davenport, of the English department, and Ralph Brown, of the Centennial office.

TWO BUILDINGS SEEN FOR P'BURG CAMPUS

Prestonsburg Community College and the other eight in the University of Kentucky's Community College system are probably slated for two new buildings.

A new Student Center and a technical building for each college is being planned. The University Board of Trustees at its September 21 meeting authorized Dr. John W. Oswald, president of the University of Kentucky, to seek design and construction for Student Centers.

The Student Centers will be financed by student fees of each facility generated by the enrollment.

The trustees also discussed the possibility of donations by citizens in each community college area on the grounds that the Student Center would also serve as a cultural center for the area.

Elizabethtown and Henderson were mentioned as places where "people of the community have clearly indicated a desire to participate, by donation, in providing . . . a Student Center and a community center."

Dr. Oswald said that the centers would provide space for students to gather for meetings or relaxation, student-life programs, and would provide food service facilities. He said existing space would be released for academic purposes.

The technical buildings would be linked with the passage of the $17 million bond issue, which will be on the November general election ballot.

The University of Kentucky is slated to receive $5.7 million of some $17 million which will be allotted to higher education if the bond issue is approved.

The technical buildings, Dr. Oswald said, will permit the Uni-

'HIT THE GROUND RUNNING,' DID OSWALD, SAYS COMBS

Former Governor Bert T. Combs, in the opinion of many, aptly described the September, 1963 arrival of Dr. John W. Oswald as the University of Kentucky's sixth president, when he said, "Oswald hit the ground running."

Those who have worked with the 47-year-old former University of California vice-president would only hasten to add, "He hasn't quit running."

Sixteen to eighteen hour days have rapidly become customary to Oswald and his aides in their program of creating an environment of "academic excellence" at the state university.

Since he succeeded Dr. Frank G. Dickey as UK president, Oswald's entire program has been toward nurturing "a healthy intellectual ferment" created by his predecessor, and guiding UK in its dual role as both a "leader and servant" of society.

Oswald, a former PT boat commander in World War II, a college football star and Phi Beta Kappa, leaves no doubt as to what he thinks a University's major role should be. It is, he has said, ". . . to teach, to do research, and provide service." He cites the importance of an outstanding faculty by asserting that quality for such teaching, research and service is dependent upon the quality of the faculty.

Oswald cited the necessity of creating an environment which will enable UK to attract and retain the necessary scholars for these purposes. Those who have closely watched the University during Oswald's 19 months at the helm, believe this environment has been attained through numerous prescriptions. Among these are:

Former Governor Bert T. Combs, in the opinion of many, aptly described the September, 1963 arrival of Dr. John W. Oswald as the University of Kentucky's sixth president, when he said, "Oswald hit the ground running."

—changing the academic year from a 12 month to 10 month calendar, thus allowing faculty members summer months for optional research, teaching or travel. This change also allows faculty about a 20 percent pay raise if they decide to teach summer school.

—initiation of a new retirement plan to which the University is a generous contributor.

—greater emphasis on research, publishing and "excellence" in teaching.

The ebullient Oswald has also made his mark with University students. He holds frequent informal "gripe" sessions with them in the new, ultra-modern Student Center. During these sessions he fields questions ranging from his ideas on student conduct to wide-ranging plans for the University's second century. He has also scored with students by greatly increasing funds for student scholarships and ordering the employment of students, whenever possible, in the many part-time jobs available on the campus.

Another bright light during the past year and a half is the rapid expansion of the UK Community College system. University branch colleges are now offering undergraduate courses and terminal programs in seven Kentucky communities with two more opening in September. These colleges have been cited by Oswald as "our most valuable instrument . . . in preserving the belief that each individual should be provided the maximum opportunity to educate himself to the limit of his capacity."

With activity in the aforementioned and many other University related areas, presently occurring, there is no sign of a "slowdown" within the UK complex. If anything, one can probably expect an increase in tempo of planning and progress at UK, for as Oswald said earlier this year, "in education, our real business is our unfinished business."

Few doubt that Jack Oswald already has an idea as to how this unfinished business will become finished at the University of Kentucky.

Alice Lloyd College Enrolls Record 285

Pippa Passes, Ky.—The largest student enrollment in Alice Lloyd College history, 285, attended opening-week classes, September 13-17. The record marked the 49th anniversary year of founder Alice G. Lloyd's arrival in Eastern Kentucky.

Making up the 285 student total are 197 freshmen and 88 sophomores. The new students were selected from more than 800 applicants from thirteen Eastern Kentucky counties.

Men, again, lead the student population with 151—100 freshmen and 51 sophomores. Women number 134, with 97 freshmen and 37 sophomores.

Two hundred five resident students are taxing the college's rapidly expanding housing facilities to the limit. The first of three 32-women dormitory units is being rushed toward a November 1 completion date. A new men's residence is scheduled for construction, early next year.

The Pippa Passes institution initiated its 1965-'66 academic term with a faculty retreat at Buckhorn State Park, September 7 and 8. Dr. C. R. Hager, dean of the University of Kentucky's Extension Division, was the featured speaker during the two-day orientation session.

100-Year History of UK

The name of the still-small institution was changed in 1903 to State University, and a College of Law was established the same year. The department of agriculture became a College of Agriculture, the three departments of engineering became known as schools of engineering, and the classical, scientific and normal departments were consolidated into a single College of Arts and Sciences.

In 1916 the school was given its present name, University of Kentucky, and a year later, with the beginning of the administration of Frank L. McVey, there began a transformation that was to lead to its current academic arrangement.

The three schools of engineering were merged in 1918 to form the present College of Engineering, a College of Education came into existence in 1923, and a College of Commerce two years later. The Graduate School, founded in 1912, was put under the direction of a full-time dean in 1924.

The University's seventh college, pharmacy, came into being in 1947 when the long-established Louisville College of Pharmacy was merged with UK. In 1954 the Medical Center was authorized to include Colleges of Medicine, Nursing and Dentistry. They, along with the 500-bed University Hospital, comprise the Albert B. Chandler Medical Center, which was constructed at a cost of $27 million. A School of Architecture was established in 1964.

Since 1878, when the Agricultural and Mechanical College was separated from Kentucky University, the institution has had six presidents—James K. Patterson, 1878-1910; Henry S. Barker, 1910-17; Frank L. McVey, 1917-40; Herman Lee Donovan, 1941-56; Frank G. Dickey, 1956-63, and John W. Oswald, 1963.

Since its founding in 1865, the University has awarded degrees to about 42,000 students. From an enrollment of 190 in 1866, the student population climbed to 14,360 in the fall of 1964.

Besides giving instruction to students from every county in Kentucky, from all 50 states and from over 40 foreign countries, the University contributes to the welfare of Kentucky and the nation through research, experimentation and public service.

The University is a small city in itself, having its own post office, bookstore, radio station, newspaper, printing plant, cafeterias, theaters, police force and hospital. The University community numbers about 18,000 faculty, staff members and students.

There are 77 major buildings on the 766-acre main campus at Lexington. Some 19,000 acres are held in experimental farm and forest acreage. There also are two-year community colleges at Covington, Ashland, Fort Knox, Cumberland, Henderson, Elizabethtown and Prestonsburg, and two others, at Hopkinsville and Somerset, will open in September, 1965.

Total fixed assets of the University are estimated at $101,314.80. Now under construction are new buildings for the College of Law and the College of Engineering. A $16 million dormitory complex is in the planning stage.

Almost a century ago the miracle of public higher education was mainly a dream. Among the eloquent spokesmen of that dream was John B. Bowman, first regent of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky University, who said in 1865:

"I want to build up a people's institution, a great free university, eventually open and accessible to the poorest boy in the land, who may come and receive an education practical and suitable for any business or profession in life. I want to cheapen this whole matter of education, so that, under the broad and expansive influences of our republican institutions, and our advancing civilization, it may run free, as our great rivers, and bless the coming millions.

"Hitherto, our colleges and universities have been accessible only to the few, such are the expenses attending them. We, therefore, want a university with all the colleges attached, giving education of the highest order to all classes. We want ample grounds apparatus and museums and endowments, and prize funds, and professors of great heads and hearts, men of faith and energy. Indeed we want everything which will make this institution eventually equal to any on this continent. Why should we not have them? I think we can."

Bowman's statement was made in the year Kentucky's state university came into being as a land-grant institution. Through the intervening years his dream has come ever closer to fulfillment and, as President Oswald declared in announcing plans for the centennial observance, "I am confident that the University of Kentucky will observe the close of its first 100 years with new dedication and resolve for greater achievement and service in its second century."

(ALWAYS A GOOD QUESTION)

PASSAGE OF THE $176,000,000 STATE BOND

1. ROAD CONSTRUCTION, INCLUDING U.S. 23 FROM OHIO, ACROSS EASTERN KENTUCKY INTO VIRGINIA, AND EXTENSION OF THE MOUNTAIN PARKWAY AS A PART OF THE APPALACHIAN HIGHWAY NETWORK.
  2. $350,000 FOR THE PRESTONSBURG COMMUNITY COLLEGE.
  3. OUR SHARE IN $17,110,000 TO BE SPENT FOR EDUCATION IN CAPITAL CONSTRUCTION, STATE COLLEGES, VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS, ETC.
  4. OUR SHARE IN $8,500,000 TO BE SPENT FOR MENTAL HEALTH and FOR HEALTH CENTERS.
  5. OUR SHARE IN $11,000,000 TO BE SPENT ON PARKS AND AIRPORT IMPROVEMENT.
- AND, EQUALLY IMPORTANT, THE FUNDS WHICH THE BOND ISSUE WILL AFFORD FOR ARTERIAL HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION WILL FREE REGULAR STATE ROAD FUNDS FOR RURAL SECONDARY AND COUNTY-AID HIGHWAY WORK ON FARM-TO-MARKET AND ACCESS ROADS TO FORM A HIGHWAY NETWORK EXTENDING ALL OVER OUR AREA.

These and other things can be done through this Bond Issue because the $176,000,000 in bonds will be "matched" by Appalachian Program and other federal funds in the amount of $684,000,000 — thus bringing improvements to Kentucky which will total $860,000,000 in cost.

Moreover, these bonds can be retired without adding one cent to your taxes or ours. We have every assurance of this.

The state of Ohio has already voted a $300,000,000 bond issue in order to benefit from federal funds . . . West Virginia has voted $200,000,000 . . . North Carolina, $300,000,000. Virginia proposes $250,000,000 . . . Pennsylvania $1 BILLION over a 10-year period.

Other Appalachian states are not going to be found wanting at this time of opportunity—KENTUCKY CAN'T AFFORD TO BE!

EDUCATORS KEEP EYES ON COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Of the numerous innovations affecting Kentucky higher education during recent years, perhaps none is more effectual to matching quantity with quality than the University of Kentucky's Community College system.

Although the UK system is not the pioneer in this area—some 40 other states have programs of varying similarity—it is one educator is keenly watching, mainly to see if the schools in the Appalachia area of the state, can render educational services otherwise unavailable.

In fact, UK President John W. Oswald, recently said he wants these colleges to become regional centers to aid in the entire Appalachian effort.

The system, presently comprised of seven colleges, with two more becoming operational in September, and still three more under discussion, is expected to find upward to 50 percent of all UK freshmen and sophomores studying in these institutions by 1975.

This means that by this time, half the students entering the University in Lexington, may not set foot on that campus until at least their junior year. Still others may never continue their education beyond the two-year terminal programs or non-baccalaureate training offered at the community colleges.

Total enrollment figures for the present year show 3,039 students now studying at colleges in Covington, Ashland, Ft. Knox, Cumberland, Henderson, Prestonsburg and Elizabethtown. The ESI burg, and Elizabethtown. The projection calls for an enrollment increase to 5,500 by 1975. Aiding this figure will be colleges at Somerset and Hopkinsville, scheduled for opening this fall, and possible ones later at Paducah and the Hazard-Blackey area. Talks have also begun concerning a possible school in Louisville in conjunction with the University of Louisville.

The basic philosophy for the system is best summed up in the University's far-reaching Academic Analysis. "A basic tenet of American educational philosophy is that each individual should have the opportunity to educate himself to the full extent of his capacity," it states. It adds the community college system is rapidly becoming a valuable instrument to this end.

Briefly this has been accomplished through:

—accessibility to students who can continue living at home while beginning their college education. —being comparatively inexpensive.

—serving as both a feeder of upper division students to the main campus while simultaneously being a source of terminal, two-year professional and technical training.

—developing programs and curricula compatible with those at Lexington, while at the same time, not ignoring ones of local significance.

B y extending its educational arm to the state's communities UK is also freeing valuable space on its Lexington campus for increased emphasis on upper-division instruction and graduate and research endeavors.

In addition, the community college is so intertwined with a community's life and resources that definition of where its campus begins or ends, is difficult. Moreso, the entire community is either currently or potentially, its student body.

The college's programs are tailored for both the matriculating student or the adult seeking additional education opportunity in numerous areas. Norman C. Harris, professor of technical education at the University of Michigan, told the Southern Regional Education Board's legislative work conference last fall: "The community college is in a very real sense society's answer to society's need for expanded educational opportunity."

To this end, UK's community colleges are certainly fulfilling a vital need. Presently each college has commercial education and secretarial training programs. Two-year nursing programs, an important semi-professional area, have been operational at Henderson and Covington for some time, and a third will begin at Elizabethtown this year. Ashland and Southeast also provide the academic year of studies needed by nursing students in nearby hospital schools of nursing.

Terminal programs in chemical and metallurgical technology set for Ashland this September, will go far toward meeting a vital need in this area for one of Kentucky's most rapidly expanding industrial areas. Cumberland, Prestonsburg and Somerset, through their terminal programs in forestry, will supply needed recruits in both conservation programs and forestry service. A two-year curriculum for agricultural technicians has been approved for Henderson and Hopkinsville and a comparable program for mining technicians is set for September at Cumberland.

The Elizabethtown college, authorized by the legislature in 1960, was the first school actually designated as a community college. Much work, however, had been done in advance of this.

The system was originated in 1948 when a UK Extension Center was started in Covington. In 1957 a similar center opened in Ashland, followed by still another at Ft. Knox in 1958. In 1960, then-Governor Bert T. Combs, seeing the need for such a system, urged the legislature to name a committee to study the possibility.

The committee—the Governor's Commission on the Study of Public Higher Education—headed by Otis C. Amis, of Lexington, submitted its recommendations in November, 1961. It recommended, and the 1962 legislature soon approved, four new community colleges to be located at Prestonsburg, Hopkinsville, Somerset and the Hazard-Blackey area.

In January, 1964, the UK Trustees voted to remove the system from the UK Division of Extended Programs and create a separate Division of Extended Programs and create a separate Division of Community Colleges. Veteran educator Dr. Ellis F. Hartford was named as dean with Dr. Edgel Godbey named his assistant.

Administratively, each college has a director who reports directly to Dean Hartford, who through President Oswald, reports to the UK Board of Trustees. Additionally, each college has a seven-member local advisory committee appointed for four-year terms by the governor.

UK Position Is Defined

The analysis states:

"The curricula of a state university should be so designed and its teaching so directed that from them will come men and women of intellect . . . possessing character and moral responsibility as well as general competence . . . whose perceptions and technical skills are adequate in a national and world situation growing ever more complex.

"Obviously, the education of yesterday will not suffice for the problems of today and tomorrow. Specialization now prevails, making professional competence a major objective of university teaching. Beyond proficiency, however, this teaching must impart a cultural foundation for intelligent communication, so that understanding and cooperation remain possible in a more difficult world."

With an expected enrollment at UK, Lexington, and the community colleges of nearly 25,000 by 1975, the teaching function will continue to be of great concern to UK administrators. They by no means admit the problem is solved. There is assurance, however, that every possible means will be mustered to continue quality education with quantity education.

Same size, same street but 10 years from now...

This house will sell for considerably more... Why?

Because the second home uses an electric heat pump for year-round cooling and heating. The other uses an old-fashioned flame-type heating method.

An electric heat pump is the modern way to "comfort-condition" a home. Keeps it comfortably cool in summer, soothingly warm in winter. You just set the dial. That's all there is to it. The temperature stays the way you want it . . . all the time.

You can be sure of the dependable quality of an electric heat pump. Your actual cooling and heating costs can be calculated in advance, too. No wonder an electric heat pump increases the value of any home. Check with us today for all the facts . . . then put "eternal springtime" in your home.

CENTENNIAL DRAWS NAMES, EVEN LBJ's

If the adage that names make news has any truth, the University of Kentucky's Centennial Year should indeed, be good news.

Not only did President Lyndon B. Johnson honor the University by delivering the main address at UK Founders Day ceremonies February 22, but three widely acclaimed academicians have been named as "Centennial Professors" by UK Trustees and will spend one semester on the campus during the 100th year anniversary.

UK President John W. Oswald cited the Centennial's importance earlier this year when he said it should be a time to reflect with pride on the past, but more importantly, a time to plan for the demands of the future.

In brief, the year's program includes six major academic conferences, 10 symposia, nearly 100 professional meetings and an outstanding variety of activities planned by the Student Centennial Committee.

Of the three Centennial Professors, only one, Dr. Kenneth D. Benne, has already spent a semester at the University. Benne, Director of Boston University's Human Relations Center, taught a weekly group dynamics class in addition to delivering public lectures to various civic and professional groups.

Centennial professors who arrived on the campus in September are Dr. Hugo Theorell and Dr. Lewis Gordon. Theorell, winner of the Nobel Prize for medicine in 1955, is a professor of physiology and medicine at Nobel Medical Institute in Stockholm, Sweden. Gordon, a UK alumnus and internationally acclaimed analytical chemist, is Dean of Graduate Studies at the Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland.

Other widely acclaimed academicians are participating in the six Centennial conferences, four of which have already been held. Dr. Julian Hart of the Yale University Divinity School and Dr. William G. Pollard, executive director of the Oak Ridge Institute for Nuclear Studies, were participants in the conference on science and religion, the year's first major conference.

Four of the world's outstanding scientists, Drs. C. N. Yang, Lars Onsager, Michael Fisher, and Mark Kac, participated in the Physical Science conference March 18-20. Yang, winner of the Nobel Prize for Physics in 1957, is with Princeton University's Institute for Advanced Studies, while Onsager, Fisher and Kac, are members of faculties at Yale University, the University of London, and the Rockefeller Medical Institute respectively.

A Social Science conference April 8 and 9 brought to the UK campus Max Lerner, noted syndicated columnist and professor of American Civilization at Brandeis University, and Dr. C. Herman Pritchett, University of Chicago political scientist. Dr. Seymour Lipset, University of California sociologist and Peter Drucker, a free lance writer and professor of management at New York University also participated in the conference.

The Conference on Higher Education in May brought to the campus the internationally acclaimed economist Gunnar Myrdal of Sweden, and American Historian Henry Steele Commager, of Amherst College. The third conference participant was Sir Charles Morris, of Leeds University, London. Topic for the conference was "A University: 2000 A.D."

Other Centennial conferences and participants:

Humanities Conference — October 22 and 23—Title: "The Humanities in Man's Quest for Truth"—Dr. Monroe C. Beardsley, Swarthmore College, and Dr. Northrop Frye, Toronto University.

Biological Sciences Conference — November 11 and 12—Title: "Biology and Adaptation"—Dr. Theodosius Dobzhansky, Columbia University; Dr. B. F. Skinner, Harvard, and Dr. Michael Heidelberger, formerly of Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons.

In an attempt to study more closely some of Kentucky's most significant problem areas, each of UK's colleges or schools during the Centennial Year will hold a special symposium featuring a particular problem within that college or school's immediate concern.

Following is the remaining symposia calendar:

October 4-9—The Role of the Family in the Next Century (School of Home Economics).

October 14-16—People and Food (College of Agriculture and Home Economics).

October 25-26 — Symposium on Women (All University).

November 4—Economic Problems and Opportunities in Kentucky (College of Commerce).

November 18-19 — Engineering for Human Needs (College of Engineering).

BURKE ONE OF COUNSELORS IN PILOT PROGRAM BEGUN IN BREATHITT-CO. SCHOOLS

Project Opportunity in Breathitt, one of 11 counties in the nation selected for the pilot program designed to identify and assist capable youths, is headed by William B. (Bill Baker) Burke, of Prestonsburg, and Frank Hamilton, also an Eastern Kentuckian. The two are working as guidance counselors in a program financed by the Ford and Danforth Foundations and directed by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. At the state level the program is administered by Berea, Centre and Transylvania Colleges.

Basically, the job in Breathitt county of Burke and Hamilton is to attempt to identify the more capable in the seventh and eighth grades so that as they progress through school they may be exposed to improved and varied educational and cultural experiences, the better to prepare them for college or other post-school study.

The project, which is planned to last over a period of 10 or more years, will reach many who now are in the early grades. As the students move out into high school the counselors will concentrate most of the program benefits on those students selected.

Those parents who are financially able will be required to contribute as much as possible to the college education of their children. Project Opportunity will help find scholarships, workshops or loans to make up the difference between the full cost of college and what the parents can pay. In cases where parents can make no contribution whatsoever, Project Opportunity attempts to pay all expenses.

There are no strings attached to the help given through the program, but students helped by it are urged to return to the area to help other boys and girls improve themselves.

NEW CHEVROLET JET-SMOOTHER

We've again specially tailored those coil springs at every wheel to each body style. We've put in new softer shock absorbers. No Chevrolet has ever had a ride like this. Power begins with a thrifty Six at 155 hp, and goes on from there. Turbo-Jet V8's available at 325 hp, 390 hp and 425 hp in all the new Impalas, Bel Airs and Biscaynes for 1966. Model shown: Impala Super Sport Coupe.

NEW CHEVELLE
SUPER SPORT 396

New 300's. New 300 Deluxe models. New Malibus. And two new Super Sport 396's—coupe and convertible—with engines that tell you exactly what kind of Chevelles they are. Both are available with 396-cubic-inch Turbo-

Jet V8's, either 325 hp or 360 hp. Both come with special hood, grille, suspension, emblems, red-stripe tires, floor-mounted shift. Twelve beautiful Chevelles in all—all as new inside as they are outside, headlamps to taillights.

ALL NEW CHEVY II

It's so different, we should really call it the Chevy III. Roofs are swept way back on coupes. Fenders, grille, hood, taillights and bumpers are new on all seven models. Interiors are richer. Power available up to a 350-hp Turbo-Fire V8. You can even order headrests for the front seats and Mag-style wheel covers. What's the economical, dependable Chevy II coming to? A lot of smart '66 car buyers, we figure.

'66 CORVAIR UNIQUE

Still America's only rear-engine car. And with the special steering and suspension you can add, there's no better way to rid yourself of prematurely gray driving.

Lots new. Corvaire, like all the '66 Chevrolets, has a padded dash, seat belts front and back, new fully synchronized 3-speed. Corsas, Monzas, 500's. Get one.
