HEADMON MAY GETS SECOND PEN TERM

2nd MURDER TRIAL FACES HAROLD MAN

21-Year Term Voted May Monday by Jury In Shooting of Wife

Headmon May was returned to the county jail here from LaGrange state prison Sunday night, and next day he had added to the life sentence which he has been serving another 21 years.

The latest term imposed on the former Harold man was for shooting and wounding his wife, Mrs. Ruth Hopson May. His second murder trial, for the slaying of his father-in-law, A. B. Hopson, is docketed for November 29, and May will remain in jail here till that time. The life term on which he has been doing time at LaGrange was for the slaying of Mrs. Hopson.

When May's case was called for trial Monday, he declined to enter a plea, and the court entered for him a plea of not guilty. Defendant offered no testimony, and only that of Mrs. May was heard by the jury which rendered a speedy verdict.

A number of persons, Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo said, have expressed a desire to appear before the grand jury, and for that reason Stumbo asked that it be pointed out that there is no grand jury at this court term. The next criminal term, in January, will empanel a grand jury.

In other action this week the court sentenced James Campbell to a two-year term for child desertion, and Ed Owens was fined $50 for assault and battery.

Among the cases dismissed this week were those of Bill Sex (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

Two-Car Collision Sunday Afternoon Hospitalizes Five

Six persons were injured Sunday afternoon in the head-on collision of two cars on U. S. 23, opposite Radio Station WPRT here. The mishap occurred, witnesses said, when Mrs. Glenn Woods, of Emma, pulled from behind a car which she was following into the path of another driven by John Mark Howard. Both autos were badly wrecked.

The injured: Mark Howard, of Prestonsburg, severe scalp laceration and bruises; Miss Brenda Ray, of the Abbott road, broken bones in her hand and bruises; Paul Neil Allen, Prestonsburg, cuts and broken toes; and the occupants of the Woods car—Mrs. Woods, who suffered chest injuries; her daughter, Glenna Faye, a broken wrist; Tamara Ann Fannin, cuts and bruises.

All except Mrs. Woods had been dismissed from the Prestonsburg General hospital by noon Tuesday, but young Allen later entered King's Daughters' hospital, Ashland, for foot surgery.

SET MEETING ON FESTIVAL

Decisions Made Here Nov. 18 To Determine If Event To Be Held

Decisions made at the meeting November 18 of Floyd county lovers of folk music with Sarah Gertrude Knott, Washington, D. C., director of the American Folk Festival, will go far to determine if the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival will be held, as planned, at the amphitheatre of Jenny Wiley State Park next summer.

Because of the importance of the meeting, Chalmers H. Frazier, president of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association, pointed out that every resident of the county who is interested in and would be willing to work toward the staging of the festival should attend the meeting, which will be held at the Prestonsburg Community College at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Knott came here, a few months ago, and her proposal to stage a folk festival on a regional basis met with approval by businessmen and others who conferred with her.

The Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival would feature talent from a wide area, including Eastern Kentucky and parts of Virginia, West Virginia and Tennessee.

SCOUT FUND DRIVE BEGUN

Kickoff Dinner Set Tonight; K. J. Bowles Local Drive Leader

Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, will kick off its annual finance campaign here today (Thursday) K. J. Bowles, chairman in Prestonsburg, announced Monday.

Mr. Bowles said the kickoff dinner will be held at the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria at 6:15 p. m.

He added that he will be assisted in the drive by 65 workers. Among those who will assist are Dr. George P. Archer, Hubbard Francis, Jr., Dr. C. L. Hutsiniller, Woodrow Allen, Chalmers H. Frazier, Marvin Music, Woodrow Burchett, Bert Colvin, Blaine Hall, Frank Heinze, Clyde George and W. W. Wallen.

"I consider this job an opportunity to provide the kind of support necessary to enable all boys who desire an opportunity to join this great program," Bowles said.

The total budget for Lonesome Pine Council for 1966 is $67,878. This is the minimum required necessary to spread the Scout program to the 45,000 available boys in the Council area.

Pete Jarvis, of Prestonsburg, is the Council finance chairman. William Stapleton, of Jenkins, is Council campaign chairman, and Boyd Fowler, of Grundy, is the Council president.

NEW SWIMMING POOL for Jenny Wiley State Park has been approved by the State Parks Department. The community-size pool, similar to the one shown here (at Lake Cumberland State Park), will be financed by funds from the $176 million bond issue voted Tuesday and by matching federal funds.

This Town... That World

Jimmy Goble has arrived at the conclusion that all those technicians and experts overlooked an important light source in New York during Tuesday night's blackout. You know—the Battery.

ON DEMONSTRATIONS

Some burn their draft cards, others burn themselves—all in protest against their country's part in the struggle for Viet Nam.

We cannot, and will not attempt to, plumb the depths of soul-anguish that brings men to self-immolation. But for those who demonstrate against their country by burning draft cards, showing their contempt for an official order of their government to present themselves for duty by reducing the order to ashes, it would seem no greater leniency should be shown them than would be given any American serviceman who in Viet Nam refused to obey his commanding officer's order.

These demonstrations are aiding the enemy, if they aid anybody; certainly they lend no comfort to the fellows who are doing the dirty business of fighting.

Joe Burke was giving the three of us a dissertation on the New Mathematics, the other afternoon. There was some sort of talk about "base 8" and base something else, and how 1 added to base 8 makes 11, and so on, till I was muttering, "There oughta be a law . . ." Then somebody mentioned the big power failure up East, and Burke did a tongue-in-cheek explanation of that little matter.

As he got deeper into the subject, I yelled for a return to Base 8. Wes Howard inquired, "Who's on first?" And Bob Hughes added: "Burke's Law."

CONTRIBUTIONS

Nancy Tackett, of Prestonsburg, remembered us with the following:

FOR SALE: One cross, nearly new. I cannot carry it and keep up with the world and its crowd.

One talent—new, except slightly showporn. It has been laid away for several years.

One bundle of Christian opportunities—seldom used, but possibilities are unlimited.

One badly used influence-buyer may be able to repair.

Kiwianes Launch Christmas Decorations Fund Drive of a Week

The Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce received much favorable comment from tourists and other visitors here for last Christmas season's decorations here, and it is planned to extend the decorations over a wider area, this Christmas.

To make it possible to decorate along U. S. 23 here, the Kiwianes began a fund-raising drive today (Thursday). The drive, headed by Mrs. Richard E. Martin, will continue through next Thursday.

The Kiwianes said it is hoped that the yule decorations will include all of Prestonsburg, next year.

COMMITTEE TO PLAN P'BURG OF FUTURE

Members of a Kiwanis-sponsored committee will meet at Prestonsburg high school at 6:15 p. m., November 18 to begin a two-fold work which is regarded as of high local importance.

First of all, the group will plan what they would like Prestonsburg to be, 10 to 20 years from now.

The committee's second function will be to serve in a liaison capacity between city government and the public.

The group, known as the Citizens' Advisory Committee for Planning, will be addressed at the November 18 meeting by John Vanderwrier, community improvement specialist, Kentucky Department of Commerce.

Its members were named by Mayor George P. Archer. They are:

Mrs. Shirley Hughes, Mrs. Lillian Pelphrey, Mrs. Grace Burke, Mrs. R. V. May, Mrs. Della Holbrook, Mrs. Eileen Burchett, Petty Thompson, Tim Howard, Shag Branham, Roger Colvin, Mrs. Leslie Burke, Mrs. Barbara A. Heinze, Vance Miller, Dr. Garland Godsey, Miss Sarah Clay Stephens, Mrs. Virginia Wright, Mrs. Alice B. Buchanan, Mrs. Peggy Hereford, Mrs. Barbara H. Burke, K. J. Bowles, Thomas Lemaster, John F. Brown, Phil Nelson, Mrs. Jan Cook, Fred Dickerson, Don Moore, Harold Cooley, Mrs. Hazel Goble.

Later appointments may bring the full membership to 30, it was said.

Allen Is Runnerup To Newport Bowler In Ashland Tourney

Prestonsburg's John Allen, Jr. didn't make it to the National All-Star Bowling Tournament at Lansing, Mich., but he ranked second only to the man who did at the end of the regional elimination event held Sunday at Ashland's Paradise Lanes.

The winner, Jack Combs, 30-year-old Newport bowler, had a 16-game score of 3520, including his 475 bonus pins for games won, and Allen, who represented Lake Lanes here and has been bowling only four years, had a total of 3455.

The Ashland event brought together district tourney winners from Northern and Eastern Kentucky. Finishing behind Combs and Allen were:

Bob Craycraft, Newport, 3378; Jim Pety, Ashland, 3371; Bud Jett, Covington, 3354; Bill Whitaker, Alexandria, 3163; John Mason, Ashland, 3054; John Raliff, Pikeville, 3011.

BAPTISTS HERE BEGIN BUILDING FUND DRIVE

Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church last Sunday launched a drive to finance the construction on its Front street property here of an educational building which is planned as the first part of a two-phase building program.

The final phase will be the construction of a sanctuary to replace the present structure.

The finance campaign, which has been designated, "Together We Build," was launched after the congregation had approved the goal of $60,000 to be subscribed over a three-year period.

R. V. May is general chairman of the drive for which committees have been named to handle the various details of the work.

The proposed education building will be a two-story, brick structure, located at the rear of the church lot. With more than

MAN IS HELD FOR PROBERS

Harold Mishap Ends In Hamilton Arrest; FBI Probe Expected

Norman Banner Hamilton, former resident of Prater Creek, who was jailed here Tuesday night by State Trooper E. B. Allen, is being held for FBI investigation as a suspected Dyer Act violator.

He was arrested by the trooper after he had figured in a collision with a car driven by a Harold man. It was said that the auto he was driving bore a Tennessee license.

Hamilton also was booked for drunk driving and for driving without an operator's license.

Billy Joe Hall and George Akers, who were jailed here as parole violators have been released by Parole Officer James Duff.

James Eugene Akers was booked last week by State Trooper Allen and Constable Gillis Conn as a.w.o.l. from the armed forces, and Ashland Joseph was arrested here on the same count Tuesday by Chief of Police Bill Potter, Policeman Ralph Thornsbury and Deputy Sheriff Sam Hale.

Thompson Elected State CD Official

Petty Thompson, of Prestonsburg, director of Civil Defense in this county, was elected vice-president of the Kentucky Civil Defense organization at the state CD meeting held at the Campbell House, Lexington, last week-end.

ATTORNEY MAY HAVE CLAIM TO POLICE JUDGE'S OFFICE THRU 'WRITE-IN' BALLOTS

Scott Collins, Prestonsburg attorney, who received write-in votes for Police Judge of Prestonsburg at the November election, may have a claim on the office which for the last several years has been filled by appointment.

He received two votes in Porter precinct here and is reported to have had three in Cliff precinct, but none had been tabulated or certified to him as of Wednesday. It is pointed out that Kentucky law provides that the office is to be filled by election if the City Council does not enact an ordinance, 60 days before the election, providing for appointment. Such an ordinance has been on the books here several years but undecided is the question if a new ordinance is required for each election at which a police judge may be chosen.

"I will be sworn in as police judge—then, after that, it will depend upon the wishes of the Council," Collins said. "I don't intend to make a fight for the office."

Council does not appear to be concerned.

The term of Watt Hale, present judge, expires at the end of this year.

BUS DRIVER FOUND DEAD

Death of Glenn Hicks Result of Pistol Shot Is Held Self-Inflicted

Glenn L. Hicks, Floyd county school bus driver whose body was found Wednesday afternoon at his home on the Left Middle Creek road, died of a self-inflicted bullet wound, a jury empaneled by Coroner James J. Carter held.

A bullet from a single-shot, .22-caliber target pistol had been fired into his forehead. There was no known reason for the act.

Hicks, a man in his early 30's, was first seen on the couch in his living room by a small girl. Noting that the school bus which he was to have

STATE OKEH FOR SURFACE JOBS SOUGHT

Projects Would Be Additional to Usual Rural Highway Work

Seven highway projects for construction in 1966 under the rural secondary program were proposed last week by the fiscal court at a meeting here with District Engineer Wendell Bayes, of the State Highway Department.

One of the seven may not win approval because of a lack of funds, County Judge Henry Stumbo admitted, but he said the court is very hopeful of getting at least six in the year's program.

(These roads are exclusive of the regular rural highway program, which generally follows the current year's program.)

The rural secondary projects proposed for work are:

Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek road, approximately two miles, grade and drain. Another 1 1/2-mile sector of this road from Hollybush downstream is ready for construction when rights-of-way are acquired, and the additional two miles proposed will connect the route with the Mourtain Parkway.

Martin-Cracker Bottom road 1 1/4 miles, grade and drain.

Bonanza-Lick Fork road, approximately 4 miles blacktopping to the Floyd-Johnson line.

Henry's Branch, near Langley, approximately 1.5 miles, grade and drain.

Frazier's Creek from East McDowell, three miles, grade and drain.

Branham's Creek, 3.5 miles, blacktop surfacing.

Mare Creek, 1.5 miles, beginning at U. S. 23, grade and drain.

Although $140,000 in rural secondary funds have been allotted Floyd county, $90,000 of this amount is reserved by the state, mainly for maintenance of secondary roads in the county which have been blacktopped, Judge Stumbo said. Most grade-and-drain construction will be done with county-owned equipment.

POWER POLES CROSS HILLS IN A NEW WAY-VIA AIR

Helicopter hovers over power pole at Stone material center. Moments later, it was connected with pole and on way to where work crews stood by to receive its cargo.

Power poles took to the air in Pike county last week as the Harris Bros. Construction Company, of Prestonsburg, turned to the most modern method yet devised to conquer the rugged terrain over which they were to construct six miles of line for the Kentucky Power Company.

The route to be followed, from Stone to the right fork of Peter Creek, is marked by high mountains and deep valleys with precipitous walls. The right-of-way had been cleared, the holes dug, but how to get those poles ranging from 50 to 70 feet in length and weighing from 1200 to 2800 pounds up and over those high hills posed a real problem.

The matter was solved by the use of a helicopter. Soon startled residents of the narrow valleys were craning their necks at the strange spectacle of a "chopper" soaring over the highest mountain-top with a pole dangling beneath it.

Harris Bros. had five eight-man crews stationed along the route. The poles had been prepared for air travel, in advance, at the base at Stone. A steel "sling" had been looped around the smaller, upper end of the poles, with a bolt through the pole, between

Miss Connie Quinn, director of the Division of Clean-up and Beautification, Department of Natural Resources, spoke on how Women's Clubs, P.T.A.'s and other groups can help each community to clean-up and develop community pride. She said that industry looks for churches, schools, recreation and a town that has pride. Miss Quinn recommended that Prestonsburg compete in the National Clean-up Award Contest. Kentucky's greatest problem she pointed out, is water pollution. BIRDS OF FAR NORTH WINTER IN OUR REGION

Canada, Alaska and other far northern regions make a summer home for some of the most fascinating birds, among which are the most gifted singers in the bird kingdom. Unfortunately, we never get to hear their songs, for they seem too cold to sing when they come to our region for the winter. Among these highly interesting birds often seen here in winter but not in summer is the famous hermit thrush, which is called the "American nightingale," but can outsing the European bird by that name. It is also called the "swamp angel," as it is the most divine singer of all the birds. It is the most famous member of the Thrush family, all noted as fine singers.

The hermit thrush is slightly larger than the song sparrow, and has a brown back, a reddish tail and a spotted breast. Its summer home is in the evergreen forests of Manitoba, Quebec, Northern New York, Minnesota and other northern states. It is a shy, retiring bird and will hide from human beings—hence, the name, "hermit thrush." Some writers have said this highly gifted songster renders its heavenly music far out in the wilds where only God can hear it. John Burroughs, the celebrated naturalist, once followed a hermit thrush all day, trying to hear its song. Finally at sundown, the bird began to sing and Burroughs was so overcome with the exquisite melody, he wrote later that the world seemed to stop and listen to the song, and that "all the pomp and pride of man's boasted civilization seemed to melt into nothingness as compared to the song of the hermit thrush."

Its song cannot be fully described or recorded. Many noted musicians have tried to put it to instrumental music but no instrument can accurately reproduce the sublime melody. First, the hermit thrush begins its song with a low, long, drawn-out liquid note, the introductory phrase, then the bird begins to ascend the chromatic scale, singing the next phrase on a higher key, in loud, clear, flute-like tones, and then it keeps on going higher and still higher until the whole region is flooded with the melody. Its song has the qualities of the flute and the piccolo, interspersed with notes of the reeds. Its song finally reaches a climax in a height no human voice can ever reach. Burroughs says no choir of angels could ever excel the sublime music of the hermit thrush's song. All of which makes it a pity we never get to hear this bird sing. We can get to view it in winter with wonder mixed with awe. The hermit thrush often comes to the Ohio valley to spend the winter. But it won't sing a note while here! Three years ago, one came to our Nature Farm and remained by all winter. We did everything we knew to persuade it to sing just one tune. We watched over it with reverent devotion. We fed it the best of bird feed and were always careful not to frighten it. But not a note would it sing for us!

One day, Bob Chapman, my Nature Farm partner, was watching the thrush through the window. It was walking about on the lawn and seemed homesick for the wilds of Canada. And Bob said, "I'd give a thousand dollars to hear that bird sing just one good song!" It left, the latter part of March, and I told Bob he would have to follow it to Manitoba in order to hear it sing!

Another handsome bird from the far north comes to spend the winter in our region. This is the purple finch, and it will pay you to watch out for this bird around your feeding station. It is about the size of an English sparrow and looks as if a mixture of raspberry juice and old rose had been poured on the bird's head and breast and had run in a thin stream of raspberry red down the middle of the back. The belly is whitish and the wings are like those of a sparrow. This bird makes its summer home in the evergreens of Ontario and Newfoundland and in some of the far northern states. But the cold winters drive it down to the Ohio valley. The bird has a fast, spirited warble but will not sing a note while here during the winter. It leaves in early spring to rear its family in Canada.

Two of the finest species of sparrows come to our region to spend the winter, and they leave early in the spring. One of these is the handsome fox sparrow, the largest of all the sparrows. The bird has a red tail like the hermit thrush and has some red on its head and streaks of red down its breast. It has the color pattern of red fox—hence, the name, fox sparrow.

This bird has a sweet, melodious song, composed of rich, clear notes and slurred, sliding whistles. But it never sings while here as it keeps its song for the family which it rears in the spruce belts of Canada and around the Gulf of St. Lawrence. I have often seen the fox sparrows here in the middle of January. They usually leave in early spring. The white-throat sparrow flies here in late October from its summer home in the spruce forests of Quebec, Newfoundland, Ontario and the mountains of New England, northern Pennsylvania and Minnesota. the loop and the end as a precautionary measure. At the farthest end of the sling was a ring. Near the middle of the pole to be moved four ropes were attached and their ends stapled at the bottom.

And so all was ready for the helicopter which simply swooped down, hovered over the selected pole till its hook was attached to the ring in the sling—and away it sailed.

Arriving at its destination, the whirly-bird gently descended till four waiting crewmen reached the ropes at the base of the pole. Then each rope was jerked free and each of the four crew members scampered off in opposite directions to make the ropes serve as guy-lines, thus steadying the pole as it was lowered into the hole.

That done, the helicopter took off for another pole while the crew tamped in the pole that had been delivered.

The whole operation was run off with such precision that the first pole, nearest Stone, was in its hole within four minutes. The second was in within six minutes; the third, in 11 minutes; the fourth, in 13 minutes; the fifth in 20 minutes, and so on.

"With the helicopter we did in two days and a half what would have taken us a month and a half to two months to do by the old method."

The "old method," far cry from the oldest, that of "snaking" poles by mules or oxen, was pulling the poles up mountainsides and rough places by bulldozer.

In the Stone-Peter Creek operation two poles were installed at each "structure," and the helicopter in operation completed the entire job except for nine poles.

The helicopter contracted by Harris Brothers is owned by the Carson Helicopter Corp., Parkersburg, Pa., and was operated by Joe Vernon, pilot, and Paul Koppel, mechanic.

School On Wheels Visits Alice Lloyd

Pippa Passes, Ky. — Alice Lloyd College shared its campus two days with the entire student body and faculty of Trans-World College.

During the visit, the Quaker-sponsored students sought to gain an insight into some of the problems of Appalachia. The 48 students and faculty members of the school on wheels visited county settlement houses, community-action offices, mountain hospitals, newspapers and a nearby coal mine.

"We haven't begun to understand the problems of the area," Asst. Director Arthur Meyer said. "But at least we've gained a vivid impression of the area. To only stand in this valley and feel the closeness of the mountains is an education in itself."

CARD OF THANKS

We are all deeply grateful to those who in any way were helpful to us in our bereavement upon the passing of our dear son, Homer Lee Slone. We wish also to thank the ministers of the Regular Baptist Church, those who sent food and flowers, and to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home, for its kindness and efficient services.

EAST KENTUCKY FAMILIES
Mrs. W. Paul Watkins, Box 110, Shreveport, Louisiana, who is associated with the news department of the Shreveport Journal, writes again after a lapse of five years in regard to several Eastern Kentucky families. Five years ago an inquiry on the Smith family in this newspaper brought valuable information on the Smiths.

"A number of my husband's ancestors once lived in the area of Western Virginia and Eastern Kentucky and I would very much like to correspond with descendants now living in these areas. Among these ancestors were Archelous Cornett, who died about 1847 in Grayson county, Virginia, and wife, Mary Bourne; Jesse Adams and wife, Dora Blevins, who supposedly moved from the area of Wilkes county, North Carolina, into Eastern Kentucky; Jonathan Hatcher, born 1806 in Tennessee, and wife, Mary Lipps, who moved to Laurel county, Kentucky. I would like to hear from anyone related to Cornett, Bourne, Adams, Blevins and Hatcher families.

"Also I am stumped on two of my own lines—Craven or Cravens, and Vessels. Mary A. Craven, or Marlier Vessels Craven, a widow, was in Marion county, Kentucky, in 1850 with her children and her mother-in-law, Elizabeth Craven, born 1779 in Maryland. Does anyone know the names of the husbands of Mary A. and Elizabeth? Does anyone know when and where they died? The children later lived in Saline county, Illinois."

FORT TACKETT
Fort Tackett was built by Lewis or Louis Tackett near the present site of Charleston, West Virginia and went through Indian siege and harassment before the area was finally freed from the savages. Tackett and his wife were captured by the redskins but escaped. Mrs. Mae E. Lang, St. Joseph, Missouri, writes about the family.

"I am trying to find records of my own lines—Craven or Cravens, and Vessels. Mary A. Craven, or Marlier Vessels Craven, a widow, was in Marion county, Kentucky, in 1850 with her children and her mother-in-law, Elizabeth Craven, born 1779 in Maryland. Does anyone know the names of the husbands of Mary A. and Elizabeth? Does anyone know when and where they died? The children later lived in Saline county, Illinois."

BROCK-STRONG DAVIDSON-CALLAHAN
Mrs. Loren D. Davidson, 675 College Hill Drive, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, contributes information on several Eastern Kentucky families.

She writes that the Brock family settled in Knox county, Kentucky, in that part later cut off to Harlan county, in 1798. They came from Russell county, Virginia. Jesse Brock, progenitor of the southeastern Kentucky War soldier, a son of Aaron Brock, born 1751, died 1836. She adds that the pioneer William Strong and his wife, Jennie (Jane) Callahan, were the progenitors of the Strong's of Breathitt and other Southeastern Kentucky counties.

"The early Daniel Davidson (ca 1753-ca 1818) was the ancestor of the Davidsons of Clay, Perry and Breathitt counties," she writes. "My husband's great-great-grandfather, Daniel, came into Clay in 1801 from Russell county, Virginia. He settled on the North Fork Kentucky River, on Grapevine Creek. We are still urgently seeking Daniel Davidson's parentage and his wife's name! . . . Daniel Davidson was a member of General Morgan's Riflemen, serving out of Washington county, Virginia.

"Have you discovered the parents of Edward (Ned) Callahan, who married Mahala Brock? This Ned Callahan was born ca 1743 in North Carolina or Virginia and died after 1820 in Clay county, Kentucky at the home of his daughter, Zephia Callahan Cornett, at Bengie, Kentucky."

Mrs. Davidson invites correspondence on these families.

PANAMANIAN SNUB CHIEF
Panama — Groups of students and teachers refused to march past the presidential palace in the annual Independence Day parade as an expression of support of a movement to increase salaries of public employees.

903 RECEIVE INDIGENT AID

At McDowell Hospital; Administrator Reviews Services Since 1963

Since 1963 the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital has provided care to 903 patients who were unable to pay for hospitalization, Marshall Fain, administrator, said last week. These indigents represented approximately 23 percent of the total in-patients.

"The McDowell ARH hospital itself paid $54,033 of the cost of this indigent care, and the state paid $198,104," Mr. Fain reported to the hospital's advisory Council.

The administrator praised the physicians who treated the indigents in the hospital. "The community," he said, "owes them a debt of gratitude. These doctors provided their medical services free of charge to the indigents."

The number of in-patients given care by the non-profit community hospital increased 16.77 percent during the last two years, Fain added in listing services rendered in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1965. During that year the hospital, in cooperation with the medical profession, cared for 1,977 in-patients, served 31,701 out-patients and treated 3,150 emergency room patients. A total of 280 babies were delivered in the year.

Also performed at the 60-bed McDowell hospital were 8,218 X-ray examinations, 520 laboratory operations, and 36,731 laboratory procedures such as blood tests and tissue examinations.

In noting the McDowell ARH hospital's contributions to the community, Arthur Bradbury, Brooks was a Revolutionary War soldier, a son of Aaron Brock, born 1751, died 1836. She adds that the pioneer William Strong and his wife, Jennie (Jane) Callahan, were the progenitors of the Strong's of Breathitt and other Southeastern Kentucky counties.

"The early Daniel Davidson (ca 1753-ca 1818) was the ancestor of the Davidsons of Clay, Perry and Breathitt counties," she writes. "My husband's great-great-grandfather, Daniel, came into Clay in 1801 from Russell county, Virginia. He settled on the North Fork Kentucky River, on Grapevine Creek. We are still urgently seeking Daniel Davidson's parentage and his wife's name! . . . Daniel Davidson was a member of General Morgan's Riflemen, serving out of Washington county, Virginia.

"Have you discovered the parents of Edward (Ned) Callahan, who married Mahala Brock? This Ned Callahan was born ca 1743 in North Carolina or Virginia and died after 1820 in Clay county, Kentucky at the home of his daughter, Zephia Callahan Cornett, at Bengie, Kentucky."

Mrs. Davidson invites correspondence on these families.

Mental Health Center Is Goal Of Association

Location of a comprehensive Mental Health Center in this area is the goal toward which the Mountain Mental Health Association is working, it was said this week by Mrs. George C. Wells.

Such a center, Mrs. Wells explained, would provide for clinical treatment without hospitalization of mentally disturbed children and young adults.

Immediate goal of the Association is to enlist non-professional people to serve as community mental health assistants—individuals as well as organizations who are attracted by challenge, especially active teachers, ministers, retired business people and residents with a great interest for the future of the community.

Ninety percent of troubled young people could completely recover and find a place in society without hospitalization but with proper clinical care, and hundreds of the mentally ill in Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties could be helped close to their homes and in their own environment if a mental health center were accessible, it was claimed.

'BROAD-FORM' DEED ARGUMENTS HEARD IN KNOTT COUNTY ACTION

Judge John Chris Cornett, of the Knott circuit court, heard Tuesday preliminary arguments in a suit filed to test the "broad-form" mineral deed and has under consideration a motion to dismiss the action which is aimed at seeking a new look by the Court of Appeals into the strip-mine controversy.

He announced that he will rule on the motion to dismiss on the Friday or Saturday after Thanksgiving. He goes to Salyersville next week to preside over the Magoffin circuit court which is a part of his judicial district.

The current attempt to get Appellate Court action on the old mineral deed form began last month when Leroy and Helen Martin, of Lotts Creek, filed suit against the Kentucky Oak Mining Company and the Kentucky River Coal Corporation. Kentucky Oak is a coal-producing firm headed by William B. Sturgill, of Hazard, formerly of Prestonsburg. Kentucky River is a landholding firm.

The Attorney-General's office, which has been working with East Kentucky residents fighting past interpretations of the "broad form" deed, then filed a motion to intervene as a friend of the court.

The rights to coal under the Martins' property were sold under a "broad form" deed in 1905. Such deeds permit extraction of minerals and use of the surface area for necessary operations in connection with mining. Past court decisions have held that the land-use provisions permit surface-damaging modern operations such as auger and strip mining without compensation to the land owner.

The suit asks for a declaratory judgment prohibiting the coal companies from strip or auger mining, or if the methods should be allowed, protecting the surface owners' interests against unrestricted operations.

"This is the case we're trying to get up to the Court of Appeals," Asst. Atty. Gen. David Schneider said. "They've ruled adversely to the surface owners in the past and we want them to take another look at it."

A previous suit involving a Sturgill company and 19 landowners, which had been considered a test case, has been dismissed, Schneider said.

"Broad form" deeds are common in East Kentucky. Opponents claim that only deep-mining was intended in the years when the deeds were negotiated.

In the hearing at Hindman Tuesday counsel for strip-mine interests argued that the case brings up no new issues relating to so-called broad-form deeds, which according to past opinions, give operators almost unlimited rights to disturb surfaces in getting to out-crop coal.

Counsel for the plaintiff, LeRoy Martin, said points not yet touched upon by the Appellate Court would be presented, and added that the court has a history of reversing itself when convinced that it has been wrong.

Earlier Judge Cornette had sustained a motion to let the Commonwealth, through the Attorney General's office, intervene as a friend of the court on the side of Martin and other landowners.

Bruce Stephens, Jr., representing Kentucky River Coal Corp., resisted the motion on the grounds that the Commonwealth has no interest in "a purely private matter."

The judge said he was always willing to listen to competent advice on any issue. With that in mind, he said he would welcome the views of David A. Schneider, an assistant state attorney general.

Schneider was recognized thereafter to argue that the motion to dismiss in a declaratory judgment action was improper.

J. W. Craft argued that nine cases have been before the state's highest court since it held in the Buchanan-Watson case in 1957 that strip miners can use any means to get at minerals covered by broad-form deeds.

In each instance, Craft stated, Appellate Court has held to its original thinking that the deeds place no restriction on the means or modes of recovering coal.

Courtney C. Wells, Martin's counsel, suggested that the Court of Appeals ruled repeatedly for 20 years that hospitals should not be held liable for damages, then suddenly admitted its was wrong and reversed itself.

"I believe the Court of Appeals is now ready to get right in the matter of letting these unscrupulous strip miners go on land and destroy it, not just rearrange the land, but destroy it," Wells said.

Harry Caudill, chief counsel for Martin, argued that the high court has not yet been presented a case involving land with valuable improvements upon it, such as the Martin case presents.

Among other improvements, he said, is land covered with a pine tree project subsidized by the federal government.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
Western Kentucky Teachers' College, Bowling Green, Ky.

The article preceding this one, in trying to bring the readers up to date on times and seasons, got only through July. Now it is time to continue, for everybody ought to know what to do and when to do it.

August brings one prophecy: for every fog in August there will be a snow in winter. With Dog Days hanging over us along about then, watch your calendar and your health. Stay out of ponds and running streams in Dog Days; the water is poisonous then. You are likely to have toothache, too, if you go barefooted.

September must be a dull month, for I failed to find any belief about it. Maybe it is just lucky in being ignored. But October brings Halloween, around which all sorts of beliefs cluster. If you did not see your lover's face in the well on May 1, try midnight of Halloween, for it is even more highly recommended by those who say they know.

November, with the rounding out of the crops, seems just another good time to be alive, for no fearful things seem prophesied by any of its events or days.

December, with Christmas as its big time, is full of portents. A snowy Christmas, now called a white Christmas, means a good crop year. An open, mild Christmas is to be feared: "A green Christmas, a fat graveyard." Everybody seems to know that animals kneel at midnight on Christmas Eve, but old-timers say that the December 24 date is wrong; it is Old Christmas Eve, now January 5 by the Gregorian Calendar. Be sure to get your Christmas decorations down before New Year's Day is over; otherwise the following year may bring tragedy to you and yours.

The days of the week have their own ups and downs, too. Since ancient times, Friday, Venus's Day, has been changeable; "Friday is the fairest or foulest." It is decidedly the worst day of all for luck.

WATER-SEWAGE PLANT OPERATORS TO MEET

Water and sewage plant operators throughout Kentucky will meet in Lexington, November 15-18, for the 12th annual Water and Sewage Plant Operators' School, sponsored by the Sanitary Engineering Program and the Water Pollution Control Commission, Kentucky State Department of Health. All water and sewage plant operators, superintendents, and others associated with the management, operation, and maintenance of water and sewage plants are invited.

The opening day will be devoted to a joint session dealing with important subjects in the field of water and sewage treatment. Water and sewage plant operators will attend separate sessions for the remainder of the week. In speaking of the importance of the school, Nick Johnson, director of the Sanitary Engineering Program, said, "The proper operation, maintenance, and management of public water and sewage treatment facilities represents a vital link to the good health and well-being of the people and to the over-all economic and social development of our cities."

Consultant Recommends Automobile Insurance Rate Boost in State

Frankfort, Ky. — A special actuarial consultant, hired by the State Insurance Department, yesterday conditionally recommended acceptance of a requested 16.3 percent boost in passenger automobile insurance rates.

The recommendation, made by Dr. John S. McGuinness, gave powerful support to the case of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, the spokesman for the 134 insurance companies asking for the raise.

McGuinness' testimony came at the end of the second day of public hearings before Insurance Commissioner William E. Bivin. The hearing, still bogged by procedural haggling, will resume at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Bivin must rule on the request for a rate raise.

Though the commissioner is in no way bound by McGuinness' recommendations, the New York actuary's report was prepared, at Bivin's request, to furnish the state department with an independent evaluation of the bureau's rate filing.

"It is recommended," McGuinness said, "that the proposed changes for passenger vehicles be approved, subject to whatever changes are deemed appropriate, since they will result in a premium level closer to the proper level than is the existing one."

But the actuary recommended that certain methods in the bureau's rate-making process be "refined." He also made many other technical suggestions.

He recommended further that the bureau's application for an average rise of 8.4 percent in commercial vehicle rates be granted, subject to similar conditions.

Only one major proposed rate change was not recommended by McGuinness. The bureau had asked a 2.4 percent reduction in its rates for the bodily injury policies sold garages. This, he thought, should not be granted as it would make these rates too low.

Kentuckians Urged To Take Advantage Of Diabetes Tests

Every man, woman, and child in Kentucky was urged this week by Dr. Irving F. Kanner, Lexington, chairman of the Kentucky Medical Association's Diabetes Committee, to take advantage of the free diabetes tests offered by physicians, hospitals, and laboratories during National Diabetes Week which begins Sunday.

The importance of early detection of diabetes was stressed by Governor Ned Breathitt who has proclaimed the period from November 14-20 as Diabetes Week in Kentucky.

"An estimated 1,600,000 persons in this country and 15,000 in Kentucky alone have undiscovered diabetes," said Doctor Kanner, "and it is to find these people and to give them an opportunity to take advantage of available control measures that the KMA has sponsored the Drive annually since 1951."

He emphasized the importance of being tested for diabetes each year, since early detection can greatly simplify the problems of control of the disease. "The unfortunate victims of the disease are those who are unaware they have it," he said, "because when caught early, very often the only precautions needed to insure a long life are control of weight and diet."

sota. These birds stay until about April, then fly back to the north to sing and rear their young. But, unlike the other bird visitors from the north, the white-throated sparrows sing nearly all winter, or, rather, they burst out with a soft, low, plaintive whistle, which seems to be a lament for their summer homes in far-off Canada. Some writers have tried to put their plaintive whistle in words, which go, "Ah, me, poor Canada, Canada, Canada!" It seems as if the bird is lamenting the desolation of Canada in winter when all the birds are away. This bird's song has also been set to piano music and it is very soft and appealing in its infinite tenderness. Some musicians have played the white-throat's song on the E string of a violin, with a skillfully executed tremolo effect, and this reproduces the song fairly well. It is said the song is not only a lament for its home in far-away Canada, but it also holds sweet hopefulness for the safe return there when spring comes.

The white-throat sparrow has a gray, unmarked breast, and a white throat, like a white scarf tied under the neck, and a striped head, with lengthwise the crown. There is a yellow spot between the bill and the eye. If you flush out some sparrows from a weedy tangle along a field or brook in the dead winter and look closely, they very likely will be white-throated sparrows. And if you hear one whistle its plaintive, homesick lament, you will be doubly rewarded and will give the lonesome visitors from Canada a royal welcome and a wish for a safe sojourn back home when spring comes.

And Opal Dingus, also of Prestonsburg, handed me the one about the newspaperman, weekly variety, who wound up with a cool half-million and was the envy of his acquaintances. Asked the secret of his success, the editor told about being industrious, saving, persevering and so on—and of having a rich uncle who, upon shuffling off this mortal coil, left him exactly $498,500.

Our Historic Heritage

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky

(No. 336 of a Series)

The occasion for this gathering of Prestonsburg women is not known now, half a century or more later. It could have been a birthday observance by one of the group. Or just a Sunday afternoon get-together of old friends. Whatever the occasion, it brought together a group of women whose names are still greatly revered.

In photo, front row, from left—Mrs. Elizabeth Butler, Mrs. Farris Sizemore, Mrs. Akers, Mrs. Charity (Mammy) Beavers; back row—Mrs. L. Blinkensopp, Mrs. Belle Richmond, Mrs. Caddo Smith, Mrs. Josephine Davidson, Mrs. Caroline Harris.

The First National Bank joins others in hailing the memory of these good women and other wives and mothers who have contributed so greatly to the moral strength of our region. This and other photographs are published as a contribution to our historic heritage.

"Bill" Foley Thanks Voters of Dist. No. 1

I want to thank all the good people who supported me for Magistrate in District No. 1 at the recent election.

I am proud to say that I made a clean race and have nothing to take back or to apologize for. My belief is that a man who has to buy his way into office is not fit for office and that any man who sells his vote should not be permitted to vote.

I am an ordained deacon, trust God to be my leader, love everybody and try to show that I believe we should have as our officials good, Christian men and women, and I will continue to fight for that. That is the duty of every Christian.

I want to ask our police and sheriff to do their duty. I see no need to have to tell them things they already know about. My Masonic brother, Bill Wells, will receive my full support. I congratulate him on his victory.

May God bless all His people.

Kentucky's five day gun deer hunting season opened Wednesday over the greatest territory in modern-day history, and will continue through November 14, with prospects for a better-than-average season, Minor Clark, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, said.

The five-day season will be in effect in 58 counties, while six counties, opened for the first time to deer hunting, will have a one-day season, November 13. This year, counties in the eastern part of the state will be open only to spike deer (spikes of which must be at least three inches long) while in all other open counties either sex deer may be hunted.

Last year, during the gun season, more than 16,000 persons took part in the deer hunt and harvested slightly more than 4,000 deer, a ratio of one deer for every four hunters, which Commissioner Clark said is an unusually high percentage.

Those counties where antlered deer only may be killed are Floyd, Lewis, Greenup, Fleming, Rowan, Bath, Menifee, Morgan, Wolfe, Powell, Estill, Lee, Breathitt, Jackson, Owsley, Perry, Knott, Letcher, Leslie, Clay, Laurel, Rockcastle, Pulaski, section of Wayne, McCreary, Whitley, Harlan and Bell.

Either bucks or does may be killed in Livingston, Crittenden, Union, Lyon, Caldwell, Hopkins, McLean, Trigg, Christian, Todd, Logan, Warren, Edmonson, Hart, Green, Taylor, Barren, Metcalfe, Adair, Cumberland, Monroe, Ohio, Hancock, Breckinridge, Meade, Hardin, Bullitt, Larue, Nelson and Marion.

Six counties open for the first time this year will have a one-day season, November 13, for either sex. They are: Webster, Daviess, Muhlenburg, Butler, Grayson and Casey.

Other than the counties mentioned above the following management areas will also be open

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

In the United States there are 115 species of snakes, and only 19 of these are dangerous to man. Fifteen of these 19 species are rattlesnakes; one is the copperhead; one is the cottonmouth moccasin and two are coral snakes. From 1,000 to 1,500 people are bitten by venomous snakes in the United States each year, with from 14 to 30 resultant deaths. Sixty percent of these deaths are due to the bites of rattlesnakes.

While in snake territory, use common sense. If you are hiking or climbing in country where rattlesnakes are known to be abundant, you should wear protective clothing. Records indicate that 98 percent of the bites from venomous snakes occur below the knee or on the hand or forearm. "The hiker should wear knee-high boots or leggings, and he should never place his hands on a rock or ledge above eye level," states Janet H. Alexander in the current issue of Sports Afield Magazine. Remember to keep your hands out of brushy places; and remember to use your eyes. It is not true that a rattler will always rattle before striking, nor is it true that a snake can't bite underwater. Rattlesnakes may strike at a quick movement, and they are very sensitive to the body warmth of a nearby warm-blooded creature. A rattler can rise one half of his length and strikes in 1/24 of a second!

Most of all, remember that nearly all snakes are harmless, and because of the unpleasant creatures they eat, they may be beneficial to man. The caduceus, a winged staff with two coiled snakes, is used as our symbol of medicine because the ancient Greeks believed that snakes had power to heal. The poisonous ones may well become a great source of healing for all man-kind. Cottonmouth venom is used as a blood coagulant, and other venoms are useful in medical research, especially for cancer, nerve disorders and epilepsy.

Fear of snakes is a poor reason for a person not to enjoy the great outdoors. Learn to recognize our poisonous snakes, and don't forget the admonition well illustrated by our first American flag—showing a coiled rattlesnake and bearing the words DON'T TREAD ON ME.

Not only will you find more variety in the '66 Chevelle lineup, but even more of what makes a Chevelle a Chevelle.

Say you pick a new Malibu Sport Sedan and specify the new 220-hp V8. You've got yourself quite a machine.

Or pick a Malibu Sport Coupe, equip it with the new Strato-bucket front seats, and order the new 275-hp V8. You've got yourself even more machine.

Or maybe you'd like to pick a new black-grilled SS 396 Coupe or Convertible. (Standard engine is a Turbo-Jet 396 V8 with 325 hp. And there's also a 360-hp version you can specify.) Now you've got yourself the most.

BACK TO MCGUFFEY IS READING TREND

Children in Kentucky primary schools may soon have the advantage of modern phonics reading instruction — which, strangely, draws on old McGuffey Reader principles to attain a high level of language achievement.

The new method was made available to Kentucky school children by recent action of the State Textbook Commission, which, subject to local school district adoption, approved the use of Basic Reading—considered by many educators superior to the "Look-Say" approach long in use in teaching here.

Now that Basic Reading is on the approved textbook list, local school districts can choose Basic Readers and the purchase cost will be borne by the state. So will it be: Dick sees Jane and Jane sees the Cat? Or will it be the works of Joel Chandler Harris, the Grimm brothers, Hans Christian Anderson, Nathaniel Hawthorne and other classics of literature?

The difference in the two methods is as follows: In the new phonics approach the child is taught the sounds represented by the printed letters of each word; he sounds out the whole words as he goes along. The "Look-Say" method involves memorizing whole printed words as they appear to the eye.

Proponents of the Basic Reading approach, now in use in more than 3,000 schools throughout the country, make the following claims for the new method—embodied in a series of reading materials prepared by the J. B. Lippincott Company, and authored by two well-known educators, Glenn McCracken and Dr. Charles C. Walcutt:

1. First-graders trained by the Basic Reading method have achieved a reading vocabulary of 2,100 words, as opposed to the 350-500 word vocabulary of "Look-Say" pupils.
2. These high levels of reading achievement were obtained for all children regardless of their home backgrounds or test-indicated abilities.
3. Also, there was a big improvement in work habits and independent study: by the end of the year all children were able to work on their own for periods up to an hour—and were able to do twice the amount of work done by children trained under other methods.
4. These gains in reading comprehension were reflected in other studies, too. Children with two years of Basic Reading are now reading their social studies and science and math vocabularies with ease. They have mastered their spelling; their book reports are better; they read more books earlier.

The new method, educators note, is an efficient approach which gets the class off to a quick start and brings the important sense of real reading accomplishment early in the first year's work. In classroom use, children are reading stories and poems by the third or fourth week of Basic Reading. It also represents an improvement on earlier phonics instruction — which dates back to the McGuffey Readers of the last century. Topping McGuffey, Basic Reading presents a fresh approach, integrating phonics and whole word meaning.

Ishmael Triplett, former Prestonsburg city schools superintendent, now director of the textbook division on instructional materials, says that from this multiple list of textbooks, individual districts must choose one book for each subject and grade to be used as a basal text in its school system for a period of four years.

Local boards are required to submit selections not later than April of next year. Purchase cost will be borne by the state. Triplett says that since 1950, the phonics approach has been making a comeback after being virtually abandoned in 1920. He said the pendulum is now swinging back toward the phonics method. But, he too said that a mixing of methods—combining the best of all methods—might be the answer to better basic reading.

FLEMING-NEON TO MEET LYNCH HI IN PLAYOFFS

Fleming-Neon will enter the state high school football playoffs against Lynch, Friday night at Neon.

The Elkhorn City Cougars whipped Catlettsburg, 28-14, Saturday afternoon to eliminate the Wildcats from contention for the Class A, District 2, Region 4 crown.

Catlettsburg finished regional play with a 4-1 slate and Raymond Isaacs' Pirates closed with a perfect 4-0 mark.

Overall, Fleming-Neon has now won nine consecutive games since losing its opener to Louisa. The Letcher county school came from behind in the last half Saturday afternoon to cop its regional title by downing host Wheelwright, 27-7.

In other regular season final games, arch-rival Paintsville defeated Prestonsburg, 14-13, as senior quarterback Marty Tackas figured in all the scoring.

Hazard lost to Lexington Dunbar, 27-14, to finish 5-5 for the season, its worst record in the past 15 years. Everts belted Jenkins, 57-6.

Belfry closed out its season last week as the area's only unbeaten team with a 10-0 slate and this Friday night Al Viperman's squad travels to Middlesboro for a semi-final game in the Class AA statewide playoffs.

John Clark, who finished the season with 117 points, gave Prestonsburg a 6-0 lead over Paintsville on a 20-yard jaunt but the visiting Tigers came back in the second period on a two-yard scoring effort by Harold Taylor and a successful extra point by Tackas.

Prestonsburg regained the lead in the spirited rivalry on senior quarterback Steve Clark's five-yard end sweep and John Clark's extra point for a 13-7 command.

The winning effort came with 4:43 to play after Willis Mullins recovered a fumbled kick on the Black Cats' 22-yard stripe. On fourth down on the 13, Tackas passed to end Harold Taylor in the end-zone for the six-pointer, and Tackas booted the extra point.

Bob Wright scored two touchdowns, B. J. Elswick one and Willie Barrowman one as the Elkhorn City Cougars overran Catlettsburg in the last half. The Wildcats held a 14-7 halftime margin.

The defending Class A state champions finished the season with a 6-4-1 record.

On the week-end basketball scene, McDowell's Daredevils gained their third successive victory in trouncing nearby Martin, 81-60. McDowell posted a 22-21 first period lead and was ahead 37-34 at halftime, but 6-4 center Rickey Hall found the range in the last half and finished with 31 points. Brother Donnie Hall was next for McDowell with 12 points. Senior Terry Perkins tossed in 17 for the losing Purple Flash.

Mullins' Tigers got their season off to a good start in whipping Feds Creek, 77-56. Barry Hamilton with 20 points and Roy Ratliff with 19 paced the scoring.

Wheelwright opened with a 47-41 conquest of Betsy Layne, and Maytown, behind Rudy Thacker's 26 and Mike Tallent's 25 points, overpowered Wayland, 86-60, and Sandy Hook outpointed Salyersville, 67-57.

High school students from 37 schools in Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia attended the day-long conference which also featured an address by Richard Horchler, national program director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The NCCJ and Morehead State College jointly sponsored the event with the Cosmopolitan Club.

Richardson, speaking to a capacity crowd who gave him a standing ovation, said that the "most wanted men in the world are men who 1. have a passion to help rather than be helped; 2. see their own faults instead of those of others; 3. take their youngsters to church instead of sending them; 4. put God's business above anything else; 5. are willing to be a good example to every boy they meet; 6. have dedicated their lives to God."

Steve Hamilton, who pitches for the Yankees and is a member of the Morehead State College faculty, introduced Richardson, calling him "one of the finest examples of Christian living in the athletic world today."

Richardson is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletics and spends a great deal of his time during the off season speaking to youth groups.

High schools of this area which participated in the conference were Inez, Jenkins, M. C. Napier, Morgan County, Salyersville and Whitesburg.

Health Officer Reminds Need for Precautions By State Hunters

With the opening of rabbit season scheduled November 13, Dr. R. L. Hall, Floyd county health officer, reminds Kentucky hunters of the precautions necessary to be sure that rabbits are the season's only casualties.

Firearm accidents occur most often during the month of November. "One second of carelessness can mean the difference between life and death for a hunter," it is pointed out, with the advice, "Always treat a gun as if it were loaded. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; many hunters have lost their lives by being mistaken for an animal."

Dr. Hall also urges hunters to be sure their dogs have been vaccinated against rabies, since this disease still occurs in such Kentucky wildlife as foxes, raccoons, skunks and bats.

Tularemia, or "rabbit fever," is another disease that spreads from wildlife to man. Dr. Hall advises that hunters take the following precautions against this disease:

Avoid animals that appear unhealthy; sluggish or slow-moving wildlife may be diseased.

Wear rubber gloves when dressing or skinning animals. Destroy any animal whose internal organs are studded with white spots.

Cook game thoroughly before eating.

Drink water only from an approved source.

Don't let your hunting fun turn into a hunting tragedy. Remember, good hunting is safe hunting.

OPEN SEASON
 The Prestonsburg high school Black Cats will open their 1965-'66 basketball season Friday night in the local fieldhouse at 8 o'clock against the Ezel Rockets of the 16th region.

Coach Jack Wells will start the tallest team in his 13-year coaching tenure as the team averages six feet, three inches.

Junior forward Eugene Ousley stands 6-5; junior center Eddie Leslie, 6-3; senior forward Stanley Roberts, 6-2; junior guard Jimmie Daniels, 6-2, and senior guard Beecher Hale, 6-3.

Expected to join the squad later in the season are lettermen Steve and "Wimpy" Clark, who have just finished the football season and 6-4 junior David Clifton, who is in the hospital recuperating from an operation.

Belfry's Frank Guyton finished the football season at the area's leading individual football player with 135 points, amassed on 21 touchdowns and nine extra points. John Clark, of Prestonsburg, was second with a total of 117 points.

19th SEASON
 Denzil Halbert is starting his 19th season as head basketball mentor at Martin high school. His tenure at the Floyd county school is the longest in the 15th region.

His 1965-'66 team has already posted two victories—79-56 over Wayland and 81-63 over Betsy Layne—and lost, 81-63, to powerful McDowell. Seven lettermen are holdovers from last year's regional championship team that compiled 36 wins against three losses.

Six seniors from the nucleus of this year's squad, headed by 6-3 James Akers and 5-8 guard Terry Perkins, both two-letter winners. Others are 6-2 Steve Martin, 6-1 Johnny Samons, 5-11 Rickey McKinney, 5-11 Alan Hyden and 5-8 Charles Luxmore.

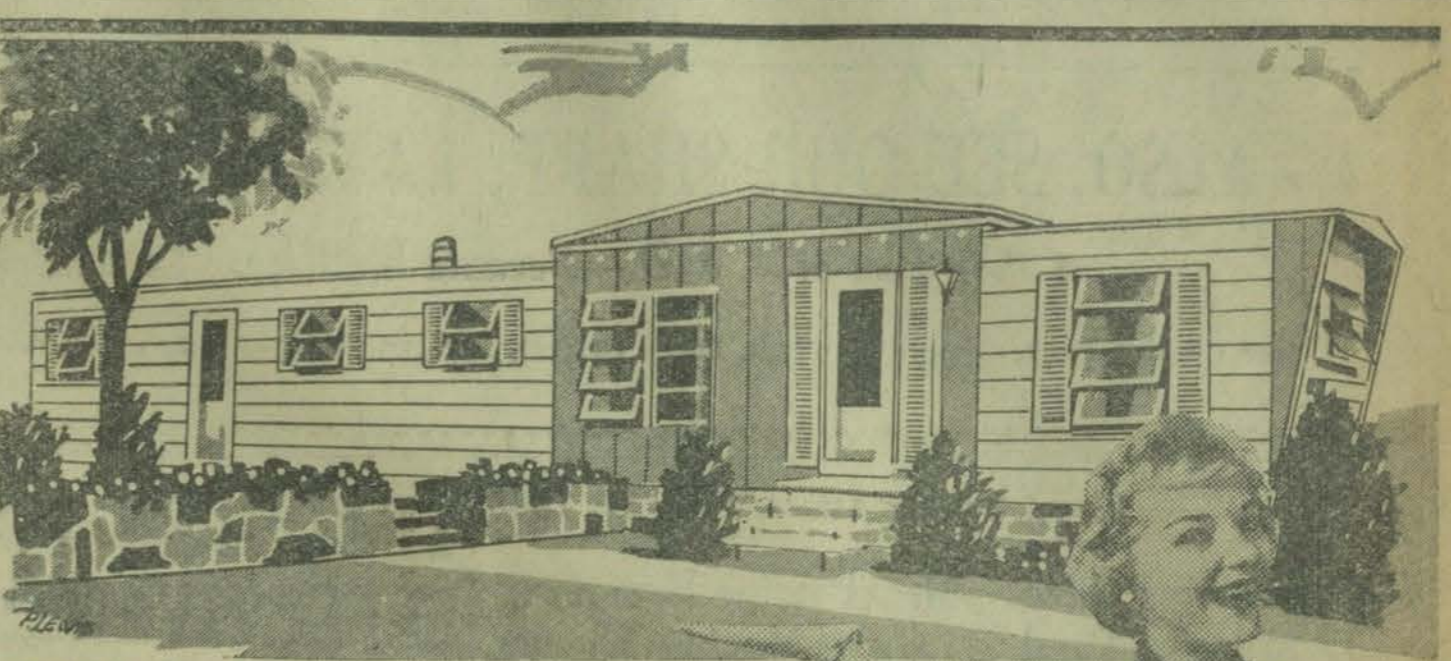

Next in years of service in the region is Garrett's John Campbell, Jr., with 17 years at his school. Jack F. Wells has spent 13 seasons between Auxler and Prestonsburg, which have merged. Jim Hutchins will begin his 10th season at Belfry when his reason opens against Phelps, November 24.

Don Wallen and Wendell Wallen (no relation) are beginning their ninth seasons at Wheelwright and Meade Memorial, respectively.

Dale Trivette will be in his second season as head mentor at Virgie after serving as asstant for six seasons, and Warfield's Johnny Williams is starting his third after five seasons as an assistant coach.

Two invitational basketball tournaments will open in Dorton and Paintsville, Friday night. In the Dorton affair, the home-standing Wildcats meet Phelps and in the second game Feds Creek vies with Heller. The losers and winners clash Saturday night.

Floyd Countians Gave $2,233 to Heart Fund In '65 Drive, Report

Floyd county residents contributed a total of $2,233.64 to the 1965 Heart Fund drive, according to Mrs. Harris S. Howard, Prestonsburg, county chairman.

Final audited results of the statewide campaign, just released by the Kentucky Heart Association, show a total of $408,769 in receipts for the fiscal year ending last June 30.

State campaign chairman J. O. Matlick, Frankfort, Kentucky Commissioner of Natural Resources, pointed out that this figure represents an increase of more than $25,000 over the 1964 total of $393,050 and sets a new high in contributions by Kentuckians.

As in past years, Matlick said, Kentucky has kept intact the record it shares with only four or five other states of always exceeding the annual "fair share" goal assigned to it by the American Heart Association. This quota is based on population, buying power, and per capita wealth.

TEACHERS TO PONDER EFFECTIVENESS MEANS

Lexington, Ky. — About 30 leading educators from every section of the state, most of them classroom teachers, will meet here over the week-end of November 12-14 to consider ways in which classroom teachers can be more effective.

This is the third year that the Kentucky Education Association's Department of Classroom Teachers has sponsored such a high-level conference, reports Mrs. Martha Dell Sanders, Paducah, the president of the organization. The participants will be "key people in the provision of effective professional work at the district level."

Friday evening, November 12, will be given over to registration and pre-conference informal discussions, according to a schedule released by Mrs. Ruth Reeves, Ashland teacher, who is chairman of the planning committee. The group will get down to serious discussions on Saturday morning, November 13.

Featured during the morning session will be a presentation by Mrs. Beulah Fontaine, KEA staff consultant for the group, and a "Call to Action" by President Sanders and Dr. Newman Walker, superintendent of schools in Paducah.

The Saturday afternoon session will be given over to small group discussions by the participants in response to the challenges presented during the morning session. Consultants for this part of the program, in addition to Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Fontaine, and Dr. Walker, will include Richard VanHoose,

THIS IS A POSTAL CARD

(Exact in size and shape)

Suppose you use postal cards for direct mail advertising. Five thousand cards will cost you $200.

Forget the cost of printing and addressing the cards—but remember they alone cost $200.

Why do we suggest 5,000? Because that is almost the exact number of copies of the Floyd County Times that go to subscribers each week. (We mention 5,000 subscribers—only a fraction of the number who read The Times, weekly. The most authoritative study yet made shows at least 4 1-3 persons read each copy of a weekly newspaper. So at least 20,000 read The Floyd County Times every week of the year.)

Now, how much does an advertisement in The Times, exactly the same size as a postal card, cost you with no extras for printing, addressing and mailing? EXACTLY $6.82½. COMPARE THAT WITH $200! It Pays To Advertise in The Times.
