PERKINS SETS MEET FOR PROGRAM STUDY

AREA GROUPS RECEIVE BIDS TO MEETING

Nine Representatives Of Federal Agencies To Be at Conference

Continuing his scheduled visits of the 23 counties of the Seventh Congressional district of Kentucky prior to the reconvening of the Congress in January, Representative Carl D. Perkins announced the following itinerary for the next several days:

Wednesday, December 1, Ashland; Thursday, December 2, Pike county; Friday, December 3, Prestonsburg; Monday, December 6, Lawrence county; Tuesday, December 7, Elliott and Morgan counties.

Friday, December 3 at Jenny Wiley State Park, Prestonsburg, a meeting is scheduled with local officials and citizens for all of the counties of the district to discuss with federal officials the new programs for the economic development in Eastern Kentucky.

Perkins said that the following federal officials will be among those attending these meetings:

Dr. Ralph Hewitt, assistant secretary, U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D. C.; Edmund Baxter, director, Regional Office, U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Charlottesville, Virginia; Charles Adams, deputy regional administrator, U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development; Fred O. DeBuhl, field representative, Urban Renewal Administration, U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development; Edmund V. Worley, regional director, U. S. Employment Service, U. S. Department of Labor, Cleveland, Ohio; John Lovern, Farmers Home Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Phillip Weaver, deputy director, field operations, Rural Community Development Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; William Weld, Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; (See Story No. 5, Page 8)

This Town . . . That World

Prestonsburg's Christmas lights, extended this year to Lake Drive, are worth seeing.

AN OVERSIZE MODEL

The old serpent got into the private Eden that was Robert Anderson's, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and after aforesaid Anderson had told the judge his story a divorce was promptly granted. Said the court:

"It is cruel and inhuman for a wife to allow a boa constrictor to share a bedroom with her and her husband."

He didn't allow the woman any alimony. But he did grant her custody of the snake.

FIGMENT OF THE IMAGINATION: A Beagle haircut.

A GOOD 'PACKAGE'

State Police Director "Ted" Bassett outlines a four-point package which his department will push at the coming session of the General Assembly. The points:

1. Compulsory vehicle inspection; 2. Periodic reexamination of drivers; 3. Driver education in the schools; 4. Drivers without insurance to pay an extra fee for license tags, thus creating a pool to reimburse persons for damages caused by such drivers.

I'm for this "package," even if Point 3 may ground one of the most moon-eyed drivers in these parts.

Which reminds me that it says here: By the time a man can afford to lose a golf ball he can't hit it that far.

NOTE TO S-

This father was trying to put his foot down on the idea of his daughter joining the Peace Corps, and his daughter was countering with the inevitable why.

"Why?" Because I don't believe you can do those people any good. They don't need being taught how to make phone calls."

HEADMON MAY TRIAL SHIFTED TO JOHNSON

The change of venue sought by the Commonwealth for the second murder trial of Headmon May was granted last Friday by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, and the case will be heard at Paintsville, probably at the January term of the Johnson circuit court.

May, who had been brought to the county jail here when it appeared that his trial would begin, November 29, was returned to LaGrange prison Tuesday to resume serving time on the life term given him at his first trial. At that trial he was convicted of the slaying of Mrs. Lula May Hobson, of Harold.

The trial now set for the Johnson court will be for the slaying of A. B. (Abb) Hobson.

Before ordering May returned to LaGrange, Judge Conley passed 21-year pen sentence on the defendant for the shooting and wounding of his former wife, Ruth Ann Hobson.

Judge Conley's order upholding the motion for a change of venue pointed to the similarity in May's situation and that of Roy Salisbury, in that both were accused of multiple murders, a circumstance which created feeling. He also cited the fact that at May's first trial between 600 and 700 prospective jurors were questioned; that at May's trial for shooting and wounding his former wife the jury gave him the maximum penalty, 21 years, for that charge and expressed the wish that it could have set his penalty at life imprisonment. All these circumstances added up, it was held, to a situation in which it is "next to impossible to qualify a jury in this county for the death penalty that would be fair and unbiased."

Defense counsel did not resist the change of venue motion.

Little action was recorded in circuit court within the week. The $200 fine and 120-day jail term given "Red" Junior Martin, of Estill, for selling intoxicating beverages was set aside and a new trial granted when it was established that Martin understood the case was to be continued and not brought to trial at the current court term and so did not appear in court. He was given trial in absentia.

WATER NEED TALK SLATED

Butler Calls Meeting At Park Here Dec. 8 To Discuss Systems

Community water systems will be the subject of seven district meetings called by Wendell P. Butler, Kentucky Commissioner of Agriculture, to meet the expanding interest in such systems for supplying the needs of agriculture and rural industry.

One of the district meetings will be held Wednesday, December 8, at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Commissioner Butler has mailed invitations to community leaders.

Butler said that the meetings should result in better communications between existing water districts and with other service agencies, especially in view of the establishment of new federal programs to help develop community water systems.

Development problems as well as opportunities will be discussed at the meetings with emphasis placed on more effective cooperation, the commissioner said.

Cost-sharing, a possible state organization for coordination, Congressional developments and the need for state legislation are also topics listed for discussion.

"It is our hope that through a frank exchange of ideas we can learn from each other so as to better utilize and implement existing state and federal programs for developing community water systems," Butler said.

Mrs. Katy Porter, 81, Is Claimed Nov. 25 At Home At Allen

Mrs. Katy Porter, 81 years old, passed away November 25 at her home at Allen following an illness of about three months.

Mrs. Porter was a member of the Allen Baptist Church for 60 years.

She was a daughter of Repts and Jane Meddin Osborne and was the wife of Henry Porter, who survives.

49% MAY BE FAILING COLLEGE WORK HERE

At mid-semester almost 49% of the 518 fulltime students at the Prestonsburg Community College were well on their way to failing to make passing grades, Rondal Lawson, bur-sar-recorder at the college, was quoted as saying recently.

Quoted in THE BIG SANDY REVIEW, college publication, Lawson said 75% of those threatened with failure are freshmen. "Most college freshmen experience an adjustment period during the first semester," he commented.

Seventy-one per cent of the students placed on probation are male, Mr. Lawson said. Faculty members were

Two months after it was promised, the 100x100-foot West Prestonsburg building constructed by the Prestonsburg Development Corporation to house the plant of Appalachian Industries, Inc. was ready for use Wednesday, December 1—exactly on schedule.

Machinery is expected to be moved into the building this week by the Irving Air Chute Company, which will supervise and manage the plant. Meanwhile, production on a contract with the federal government is going ahead at the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad building where workers have been trained for the new plant.

Completion of the 10,000-square-foot structure, including offices, wiring, heating and other facilities, was made possible in 60 days through the cooperation of many individuals and firms.

Marvin Music, president of the Prestonsburg Development Corporation, said.

To begin with, the H.B. Ranier Construction Company contributed the work of site preparation. Actual construction was done by Tom O. McGuire, Prestonsburg contractor, with no charge for his own work, and painting, inside and out, was done on the same basis by Tom Burgz, painting contractor.

The development group paid only the employees of McGuire and Burgz.

Also contributing services was the Kentucky Power Company, which helped on electrical wiring.

Rushing to meet the December 1 deadline, the builders benefited Friday night from what amounted to an old-fashioned "working" at which electrical installations were made (see photo).

Irving Air Chute officials said recently that the plant will open with 40 workers. And on the training of these employees the cooperation of the state was given at the direction of Governor Edward T. Breathitt.

The U. S. Navy announces the opening Wednesday of a Navy recruiting branch station office in the Hall & Music Insurance building here.

Petty Officer First Class Paul Woolwine, of Man, West Virginia, is the Navy's recruiting representative assigned here.

Woolwine reported for recruiting duty in October, 1964, as the recruiter in charge of the branch station in Williamson, West Virginia. He began his naval career at the Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Maryland, in July, 1957. Since basic training, he has been assigned to duty aboard the repair ships VULCAN and AMPHION and the fleet oiler TRUCKEE. All ships operated out of the Naval Operating Base, Norfolk, Virginia.

He was commended for outstanding performance contributing to the ship's winning of the Battle Efficiency Award while aboard the TRUCKEE in 1960 and the AMPHION in 1962. He is also entitled to wear the Navy's Good Conduct Medal.

Woolwine and his wife Janice reside at Williamson, but plan to move soon to the Prestonsburg area. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie W. Woolwine, of Man, West Virginia.

BUSINESSMEN TO HEAR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE 'REPORT TO BUSINESS'

The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce will make a "Report to Business" before Prestonsburg and Paintsville businessmen on December 7, at 7:30 a.m., at the Starfire Motel, Paintsville, according to Dale Smith, Louisville, assistant director of Member Relations and Services for the Chamber.

The meeting, chairmanned by O. T. Dorton, president, Citizens National Bank, Paintsville, a member of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Chamber, will begin at 7:30 for breakfast.

The purpose of the meeting is to bring the Paintsville and Prestonsburg businessmen up to date on Kentucky's economy and to review the latest development factors that affect Kentucky's growth.

The meeting will feature Dale Smith who will discuss "P-E-O-P-L-E, Politics and Profit" and "Aspects of Business Climate Affected by the State Legislature." John W. Woods, Jr., first vice-president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, will speak on "Why an Individual Should Support a Chamber of Commerce."

Smith added that a slide film presentation entitled, "Operation U.B.G. '65" will be included in the session.

STRESS NEED FOR CENTER

For Mental Health Work; Multi-County Effort Recommended

The Mountain Mental Health Association met Monday at the Floyd County Health Center here, to emphasize the need for a mental health Association for Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties.

Eugene Lopez, Pikeville hospital administrator, the principal speaker, explained that a clinic is necessary to provide inpatient and out-patient care for all forms of mental illness, regardless of age or income, by the use of tests, medical counseling and drugs.

Dr. E. I. Rustin, Pike county health officer, said the Pike County Health Department, in conjunction with the Pike County Medical Society, is the only county in this area to have any type of organization, in accordance with the dictates laid down by the state and federal government, for grants to aid in the construction of a mental health clinic. However, a majority of those present felt a more central location would better serve the needs of the counties of this area.

Mrs. Lon Rogers, president of the association, suggested that each county health department hold discussions with civic leaders in January. The purpose of these discussions would be the appointment of a representative to attend a steering committee meeting with the view to expanding the Mountain Mental Health Association into a multi-county organization.

8 BUILDING HOT HOUSES THIS YEAR

25,000-Square-Foot Complex at Stanville Under Construction

In Floyd county, where only 16 of 1,200 farms grossed $2,500 or more six years ago, a comparatively new type of agriculture is grossing a dollar per square foot.

The high-yield type of farming that is an innovation in this county and rapidly growing is devoted to greenhouse production of flowers and vegetables.

Since July 1, construction of eight plastic-covered greenhouses has been begun or completed in the county, Gene Ball, of the Floyd county extension office here, said this week.

Thurman Newman, of Grethel, and Garland S. Martin, of Eastern, are the commercial greenhouse pioneers in the county. Mr. Newman had two in operation prior to July 1 and is building a third. Martin, who began with a small greenhouse, is building a larger.

Largest of the installations is a greenhouse "complex" of four, each 36 by 176 feet, being constructed at Stanville by Otis Blackburn. Others built, or under construction, are owned by Coet Messer at Garrett, and Bob Wells, of Prestonsburg.

It is estimated that Blackburn's greenhouses covering an area of 25,000 square feet will cost, complete with heating unit, $25,000. In this area of little more than half an acre, he is expected to gross $25,000 a year in sales of potted flowers, tomatoes, lettuce and cucumbers.

Although the cost of greenhouse construction ordinarily ranges from $1.25 to $1.50 a square foot, Blackburn's is not expected to exceed $1, since he is doing a sizeable part of the work himself.

Greenhouse construction consists of a framework, usually of wood, over which plastic is draped, inside and out, the exterior and interior layers providing a dead-air space. These plastic houses lose less heat than the (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

MISS COLLINS NAMED 1965 SNOW QUEEN

The 1965 Christmas season officially opened in Prestonsburg Saturday with the fourth annual Christmas parade and Snow Queen pageant under sponsorship of the Junior Women's Club.

For the second year in a row a Floyd county girl named Collins was crowned Snow Queen. Last year it was Sharon from Wheelwright, who later became Miss Floyd County. Last Saturday, the crown passed to Jan Collins, Prestonsburg high school senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Collins, Prestonsburg. Blue and green topiary trees with metallic gold bows, suspended sequin blue and green balls, candelabra and pine set the stage at the grade school auditorium for the Snow Queen pageant.

Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, pianist, set the yuletide mood with Christmas music. Performing between the judging were the Patsy Teenagers and the three Hager sisters. Paul Burchett was master of ceremonies. He introduced Judy Sexton, attendant to Miss Floyd County 1965; Brenda Patton, Miss Floyd County 1964, and Sharon Collins, Snow Queen 1964 and Miss Floyd County 1965.

The judges for the pageant were Mrs. L. B. Fairchild, Prestonsburg Woman's Club; Mrs. Milton Trusty, Jr., Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club; Mrs. Hubert Cantrell, Wheelwright Woman's Club; and Mrs. Loretta Little, Maytown Woman's Club.

Nominees, as they introduced themselves and gave their respective high schools, were: Ann Logan, Wheelwright; Priscilla Pratt, Garrett; Phyllis Dingus, Martin; Jennifer Sexton, McDowell; Connie Morrison, Wayland; and Jan Collins, Prestonsburg. Crownbearer at the coronation of the new queen was Rickey Honeycutt, and Miss Susan Wells presented the floral bouquet.

The police cruiser, followed by the fire engine, announced the parade to the crowd which lined Court street. The parade marshal, Curtis Clark, and Mrs. Clark were in the first convertible, followed by banner bearers and Boy Scouts. Miss Brenda Patton, Miss Floyd County 1964, and Miss Sharon Collins, Snow Queen 1964 and Miss Floyd County 1965, occupied another convertible. (See Story No. 1, Page 8)

WHEELWRIGHT "WHIZZES" STANDOUTS AT CUMBERLAND

The Indians of Cumberland College jumped into the 1965-66 basketball season in big fashion as they upended the defending K.I.A.C. conference champion, Union, 86-78, in overtime action November 22 for their first victory of the season.

Coach John E. Renfro had high words of praise for his squad in their season opener and said, "I expect big things from the team this year."

Two of the highly talented individuals that Coach Renfro will be counting on this year are 1964 graduates of Wheelwright high school, Both Jim Rollins and Bill Cook, who played their high school ball under Coach Don Wallen, saw limited action last season and have been coming into their own this year.

Rollins, a 6-6, 185-pound sophomore, was one of the standout performers in the season-opener against Union as he handled his starting forward assignment by cashing in 14 points and leading both teams in the rebounding department by pulling down 12.

Cook, a 6-3½, 180-pound sophomore, has a big task to overcome with the veteran squad that is back. He is a topnotch guard who may have to convert to a forward position because of the returning talent.

PREECE FAMILY HISTORY REQUIRED PATIENT WORK

By HENRY P. SCALF
William Martin Preece, young Pike county Kentuckian, and his wife, Elizabeth Gideon, left their native land in 1838 and moved westward with the tide of empire and settled in Texas. For a century and a quarter their ties with their land of origin were broken. The Texas Preeces were busy fighting Comanches and their Confederate neighbors, for they were loyal to the Union when it was fashionable and safer to hurrah for Jeff Davis. One of them became a famous Texas Ranger.

The Preeces created estates in Texas, educated themselves and their posterity. One of them, of today, Harold Preece, became a famous writer; THE DALTON GANG, the incredible story of four notorious outlaws, became a best-seller, and Texans forgot the historic Yankee sentiments of his people and took him to their hearts.

The tangled skein of the Preece or Priest family history began to intertwine with regional and state history back in 1775 when William Priest headed a group of eight or ten men to build a fort in Powell's Valley in Southwest Virginia. There, encircled in Priest's Fort and bulwarked by occupants of nearby Martin, and Mump's Forts, they fought the Indians for a year but were forced to leave. In a few months they returned and stayed through the Revolution and the trying post-war troubles. Migrating over the Cumberland, they settled in southern Floyd county, on John's Creek, and in the present Martin county. It was from a section of Martin county, then Pike, that William Martin Priest left for Texas.

William Priest, father of William Martin, after his Indian fighting days were over, moved out of the fort and became a prominent Russell county (Virginia) settler. Having need to preserve family and legal papers, he began to store them in an old trunk. There were land patents, one of them signed in 1783 by a governor of Virginia. There were copies of deeds and family letters, and when he died in 1803 a member of the family put a copy of his will in it. Soon, a son migrated over the Cumberland and took with him the old trunk. It fell into the hands of Polly Preece, who married the Floyd county pioneer, Tandy Stratton, in 1811. Tandy died in 1823 and the trunk, each generation storing valuable papers in it, went to Tandy's son, John Jackson Stratton. He died at the turn of the century and the old trunk, gathering papers through the years, finally reached the home of a Stratton descendant in southern Floyd county. He died and his widow decided in the early 1930's to clean it out. She took the old papers out into the back yard, built a fire under them. Her step-son, returning from work, attempted to put out the fire but succeeded in retrieving only a few scorched documents. Most of the family's history for 150 years had perished.

Meanwhile, down in Texas, the Preeces retained little more than a tradition of their Kentucky mountain origin. Harold Preece, the writer, did make an abortive attempt to learn of his people here and, having been given the name of Emmons Preece, late Martin county court clerk, exchanged a few letters with him. Emmons Preece died soon afterward and the writer, failing to find another correspondent, dropped the matter. Between the Texas Preeces and their relatives in Kentucky a genealogical void prevailed, deepened by a century and a quarter and two thousand miles.

One day last summer the writer of this article spent a lazy, sunny day on the lawn reading Harold Preece's THE DALTON GANG. It is one of the greatest of true Westerns and the impact of the story survived. A few weeks later, while glancing over a newstand in Prestonsburg, REAL WEST magazine stood out in blue, red and gold. Featured was an article, "My Grandfather, Dick Preece," by the author of the Dalton story. I bought the magazine, took it home, settled in a chair to read. Pacing idly through the magazine, I came to the Preece story and after one brief glance at the picture of Dick Preece at the beginning of the story, almost stood upright in surprise.

The old gentleman, whose picture was taken when his Comanche fighting days and lawman career were ended, wore white mustache, burnisides and whiskers. I remembered a Dick Preece, Betsy Layne miner, back in the 1930's, who wore such a hirsute adornment. The two men were as much alike as if they had been identical twins. That night I wrote Harold Preece a letter in care of his New York publisher. Back came a reply. Yes, he said, Dick Preece was an Eastern Kentuckian, close relative of the Preeces in this area. Dick Preece, Harold wrote, was born in Kentucky, and had gone to Texas at the age of six with his father. Beyond that the author knew very little. He requested I write his sister, Louise Preece, in Dallas. The family was very much interested in their history and would like to reconstruct it.

Louise Preece is a tireless worker, combining imagination with intelligence, both necessary for success in research. Forest Preece, of Inez, Martin county, joined and the three of us organized an intense effort to reconstruct Preece history. Scores of letters were written, many important libraries were combed, church records were viewed, interviews with oldsters were held.

Slowly the Preece history took form. Harold Preece had already done research on his grandfather before he wrote the REAL WEST story. Louise Preece put together the story of William Martin Preece and Elizabeth Gideon Preece but was unable to find the parents of either. Were they Kentuckians, Virginians or North Carolinians? The job devolved upon me to find at least the father of William, the Texas immigrant.

I thumbed through countless books, manuscripts and old court records. Scores of letters brought little or no information. Finally, I had a bit of luck when in looking through Robert M. Addington's HISTORY OF SCOTT COUNTY, VIRGINIA, I found a three-page quotation from a manuscript written by Capt. John Redd, Powell's Valley, Virginia pioneer. Captain Redd had noted that William Priest had founded a fort in the valley in 1775. Could this be the father of William Martin Preece, who had gone to Texas? His life span would be about right for him to be his father. How to prove it seemed hopeless, for the Russell county, Virginia, records had been partially destroyed in the Civil War. For weeks there was stalemate. Forest Preece continued his interviews and search of church records. Louise Preece went in and out of Texas libraries and marshalled many of her friends to assist her in Kansas, Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina.

Stalemate on the problem remained until one day while poring over a history of the Stratton family I had written a bell rang. In consulting some old records in the archives of a Stratton descendant at Stanville, he had particularly wanted me to see the records he had rescued from the fire when his step-mother burned the papers in the old Preece trunk. Little interested in the Priest or Preece families the spelling is a matter of preference in different locales. I made a few hasty excerpts from an old will copy, deeds and land patents. I filed them away and forgot about them.

Forgot about them until I began to thumb through the Stratton family history when the association of Strattons and Preeces caused me to remember. I went to my files, took out the brief excerpts. One of the papers Stratton had rescued was a copy of the will of William Priest, the original lost in the Civil War, made in 1803 in Russell county, Virginia. In it the old pioneer and Indian fighter had named Richard Preece, his son, as executor. Other heirs were named and their portions of the estate defined by the testator. The long hunt was ended, William Priest, of Powell's Valley, was the father of William Martin Preece, Texas immigrant.

Perhaps no other genealogical and historical problem ever had so many little events to bear so fruitfully on its successful solving. There had been the reading of THE DALTON GANG and a sudden interest in the writings of Harold Preece. There was the magazine story in REAL WEST that had prompted communication with the famous writer. There was old Dick Preece, the white haired miner at Betsy Layne who resembled his Texas cousin, Dick Preece, Comanche Indian and outlaw foe. There was the rescue of the family papers by a Preece descendant, one of them a copy of his ancestor's will, the original of which was lost in the holocaust of war. Finally, there had been a sudden remembrance of the old will by association of the families of Stratton and Preece while glancing through a Stratton family manuscript.

These little events or incidents had been pivotal in reconstructing a family history.

C. & O. Man Promoted

Erman H. Ratliff, of Stanville, was recently promoted by the C. & O. Railway Company to the post of assistant trainmaster of the Ashland division. He and Mrs. Ratliff will move to Shelbyville where he will have headquarters.

Mr. Ratliff joined the C. & O. as agent operator in 1939. In 1946 he was assigned as car distributor for the Ashland division, and in 1962 he became extra yardmaster. He served in this capacity until his recent promotion on October 1. He replaces E. C. Coleman, who retired.

Knott County Woman Dies at Cincinnati, O.

Mrs. Leaner Napier Triplett, 76, of Mousie, succumbed November 29 at Cincinnati, Ohio. Born in Perry county, she was a 20-year resident of Mousie.

She was a member of the Regular Baptist Church. A daughter of James and Sally Stacey Napier, Mrs. Triplett is survived by her husband, Ellis Triplett. She also leaves two sons, two sisters and one brother.

The funeral was held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. from the Mousie Regular Baptist Church, ministers of that church officiating. Burial was made in the Napier cemetery on Lot's Creek under the direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

AREA LAND DEVELOPMENT PLANS ARE DUE DEC. 15

Frankfort, Ky.—Planned land development projects in Eastern Kentucky to be financed under Section 203 of the Appalachian regional Development Act of 1965 should be submitted by December 15, William C. Gayle, Frankfort, has announced.

Gayle is chairman of the State Appalachian Land Development Committee. He said the actual deadline for the submission of plans to be considered during the current fiscal year is February 1. He pointed out however, that sponsoring groups of planned projects should allow time for a five-man subcommittee to visit and inspect each proposed project.

Under the Appalachian Regional Development Act, $747,000 was appropriated by the federal government for land development in a 49-county area in Eastern Kentucky during the current fiscal year. The federal government provides 80 percent of the cost and local landowners involved in the projects are to put up the remainder.

Gayle, who is also director of the division of soil and water resources in the State Natural Resources Department, said planned projects should:

1. Improve the land, both economically and esthetically.
  2. Provide increased economic benefits to the owner, operator or occupant.
  3. Expand the total area economy by increasing purchasing power generated by more efficient use of resources.
  4. Create a new source of income for the people of the area.
  5. Reduce poor conservation practices, stream sedimentation and erosion and assist in general water control.
- Gayle said sponsoring groups should follow this outline in submitting their project plans:
1. Show and describe project boundaries, number of acres and number of landowners.
  2. Outline and clearly specify objectives proposed.
  3. Describe the extent and type of problems for which a solution is expected under the project.
  4. Specify the type of practices and treatment needed to accomplish the purpose of the project.
  5. Itemize and detail to the extent possible the cost of the project, based on the practices and treatment proposed.
  6. Outline clearly the indicated potential and accomplishments that will be expected under the proposed project.
  7. Include all sponsoring groups, identifying each by title and signature.
- Gayle said project plans should be mailed to: Harry Nadler, chairman, Appalachian subcommittee, Section 203, Division of Forestry, New Capitol Annex Building, Frankfort, Kentucky.

SPACEMOBILE, LECTURES EMPHASIZE SPACE AGE TO HI SCHOOL STUDENTS

Satellites in orbit, the fuels, liquid and solid, which put them there, origin and development of rocketry—these are subjects being demonstrated and explained to hundreds of Floyd county high school pupils this week as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration sends into the schools one of its 30 Spacemobiles being operated in the United States and foreign countries.

Lecture-demonstrations are being presented in the schools without charge to explain scientific principles employed in space flight. A typical 50-minute demonstration answers five basic questions: 1. What is a satellite? 2. How does it get into orbit? 3. What keeps it in orbit? 4. What good is it and what does it do? 5. What are the present activities of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, the results of these programs and the plans for the future?

First of the series of seven lecture-demonstrations was given

Wednesday at Prestonsburg high school; the second, today (Thursday) at Betsy Layne high school. Remainder of the schedule follows:

Friday, Martin high school; Monday, McDowell high; Tuesday, Wheelwright; Wednesday, Maytown; Thursday, Garrett; Friday, Wayland.

The Spacemobile will be at each of these high schools at 9 a.m.

 Featured Essay Author

Pippa Passes, Ky.—An essay by William Howard Cohen, assistant professor at Alice Lloyd College, is a featured article in the current issue of LITERATURE, EAST and WEST, the Modern Language Association's magazine for Oriental-Western literary relations.

Dealing with Japanese Haiku, a miniature poem that is to Japanese poetry what the sonnet is to English, Cohen's article includes two of his own verse poems and 11 translations from Japanese masters.

One of only a handful of American authorities in the field of Haiku, Cohen also has original poetry scheduled for publication in AMERICAN HAIKU, the only magazine in the United States which publishes Haiku exclusively. He also is working on a collection of the Japanese-style poems and a teaching manual for use in American high schools, to be American students' first introduction to the Oriental verse form.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

BIRDS FROM THE FAR NORTH

1. THE JOLLY JUNCOS. These are the beautiful, little "snowbirds," as most people call them. They come down in large flocks from the evergreen forests of Canada, their summer home, to spend the winters in our region. They usually arrive in late October and stay until about April. Then they all disappear suddenly, almost mysteriously, and not one will be seen here during the summer. Some call them "slate-colored juncos," as they are dark, slaty-gray, but their tails have white outer feathers, which flash conspicuously when they fly.

Juncos love snow and seem to follow the snows. If you want to make the juncos happy, give them a slowly falling snow and then watch them go weaving in and out among the gently falling flakes, or darting and whirring in flocks across the snowy fields. They are happiest when it is snowing. They stay in old clearings and along roadsides, hunting for weed seeds. When snows cover the seeds, they often come around the dooryard in search of scraps and are fond of meal scattered in the snow. Once, when I was just a lad, I had an experience with a little junco that seared itself into my soul and I can never forget it, for it influenced the future course of my life. I was visiting my grandfather when there was a snow on the ground and the little snowbirds had flocked to the yard, begging for something to eat. My uncle didn't like birds and said he was going to catch some juncos and eat them! I watched him with boyish wonder as he spread down some meal and bran in the yard. Then he got a big sieve and took a stick and propped it up over the bran. He tied a long string to the stick and pulled the string into the house. Then he sat down and watched the birds through the window. The hungry little fellows soon got under the big sieve, devouring the meal and bran. My uncle jerked the string and the sieve fell and caught two or three of them before they could dodge it. He ran out, reached under the sieve and got one of the little frightened birds in his hand. It struggled violently for a time and then seemed to be resigned to its fate. I asked my uncle to let me hold the little bird in my hand. When I took it in my hand, I could feel its heart pounding like a trip hammer! I thought for a moment that little bird's heart would jump right out of its breast. I got frightened, too, for I was just a lad, and the awful terror of the little bird seared me like a hot iron. I opened my hand and let it go free, to the loud protests of my uncle. That taught me a lesson I can never forget. It showed me the awful terror one of the wild creatures of nature can experience when it is caught and facing death. I thought, too, how my cruel uncle had betrayed the trust of these hungry little birds. Here they had come from far-off Canada to spend the winter and were seeking food around the yard, and he was setting traps to catch them. I have always loved the snowbirds ever since then and protect them all I can against man's cruelty.

2. THE EVENING GROSBEAKS. These beautiful, large finches make their summer homes in the wilds of the west Canadian Rockies and in the hilly regions of Alberta. But in winter they fly south in large flocks. A few years ago, multiplied thousands of the evening grosbeaks invaded Kentucky and caused much excitement and interest among bird students. They are so white to living in the wilds where white men seldom go, they have very little fear of man and when they come here, one can walk right up to them. The male evening grosbeak is a large bird, eight inches long, about the size of a starling. He is stout and stocky and wears a golden yellow band around his forehead, just over the eye and bill. His cap is black, and his body is dull yellow. His black wings have large, white spots on the top, similar to those of the bobolinks. The female is silver gray and yellow. These birds have a short, heavy, white bill. They may invade Kentucky again this winter and it is well worth your time to watch out for them and study their ways when they come as winter visitors. In winter these birds mostly eat buds of trees like box elder, ash and maple. They also eat dried and frozen berries and fruits. They are quite fond of apple seeds and will visit an old orchard to dig into rotten apples to get the seeds. It is said these birds will absolutely refuse to eat any kind of an insect, not even when they are hungry. Neither will they eat grain. They dine, solely, on buds, fruits and seeds.

3. THE TINY WINTER WREN. Here's a little mite of a bird less than four inches long, but it bravely flies from the Canadian wilderness in October and stays here from then until about April 1. It is the smallest, most fidgety of all the wrens. It has actions like a mouse, hiding in brush piles, under logs, or under tree roots, and can dodge the human eye quicker than a cat. It stays along brooks, in weedy tangles, or in brush piles in old fields and always has a hiding place under a root or in a hole along a mossy bank, into which it can dodge. It is small and dark, with a short, stubby tail, which it holds cocked over its back. It has a heavily barred belly and bobs its head up and down.

John Burroughs called it, "a fidgety, bobbing-up-and-down little bird full of a wild, sweet melody." And Thoreau, the great naturalist, said about this little bird's song: "It is a fine corkscrew stream of melody coming out with the hissing tinkle of a cork, flowing rapidly, rising to a high crescendo, and keeping on as if it had pulled out the spile and left the melody running."

Unfortunately, one doesn't get to hear the winter wren sing very often, but it is the finest singer of all the wrens. Its song is like the jingle of silver coins and as merry and musical as sleigh bells tinkling across the snow. It cannot be seen very often but it can easily be located by its distinct call for "kip, kip!" This little bird disappears suddenly in the spring and is never seen here again until late in the fall.

I shall write on other famous birds from the far north, in my next column.

Morehead Net Team Big Question Mark As Season Opening

Morehead, Ky., Nov. 30—With pre-season practice almost completed, Morehead State College basketball coach Bob Wright still has many unanswered questions as his Eagles open against Cumberland College, Wednesday, December 1.

Injuries to two returning starters from last year—guard Tom Castle, forward Sam Hall and sixth man Don DeClerq—have left Wright with only nine men to work with in preparation for the season opener in Morehead.

"I still don't know who I will start when we take the floor Wednesday night," Wright said. "We are lacking consistency in our scrimmages and I have tried several combinations trying to find a group that can work together."

"Bob Kohler and Bruce King are the only definite starters for us," said Wright. "Kohler will play a forward and King will play the post. Both of these men saw considerable action last year and we will have to have their best effort if we are going to win any ball games," Wright added.

Sophomore Larry Jordan is the prime candidate for the other forward position although he is being battled by junior David Turner and Lee's Junior College transfer Charles Adams. As a freshman, Jordan averaged 26.4 points a game and was one of the leading scorers in the OVC freshman ranks.

"Jordan is a fine shot and has worked hard for us in the early practices," said Wright. "His inexperience will hurt him, but I am confident he can get the job done for us."

The leading guard candidates are juniors Jim Sandfoss and Howard Smith. Both have experience from last year and averaged 5.1 and 5.6 points a game respectively.

"Sandfoss is almost a sure bet to start, but sophomore Wayne Martin is pushing Smith for the other guard," Wright said. "Martin is a fine hustler and shooter but lacks the game experience Smith picked up last year. Sophomore Mike Tarry is also an outside starting possibility at guard," Wright added.

Cumberland is 3-0 coming into Morehead and has impressed the Eagle coaching staff with their team shooting. The Indians opened their season with a win over Union College and then won the Southern States Tournament at Williamsburg during the Thanksgiving holidays.

They have a fine shooting team and can hit from anyplace in the arena," said Wright. "Their two best shooters appear to be guard Lee Gambrel and forward-center Jim Rollins but we cannot afford to sag on them with guard Lewis Couch and center Jerry Brown in the lineup. They can all hit the basket with consistency," Wright added.

The Eagles will meet Cumberland at 8 p.m. following a preliminary game between the Morehead freshmen and Sullivan Business College. Game time for the preliminary game is 5:30 p.m. (EST).

to the stick and pulled the string into the house. Then he sat down and watched the birds through the window. The hungry little fellows soon got under the big sieve, devouring the meal and bran. My uncle jerked the string and the sieve fell and caught two or three of them before they could dodge it. He ran out, reached under the sieve and got one of the little frightened birds in his hand. It struggled violently for a time and then seemed to be resigned to its fate. I asked my uncle to let me hold the little bird in my hand. When I took it in my hand, I could feel its heart pounding like a trip hammer! I thought for a moment that little bird's heart would jump right out of its breast. I got frightened, too, for I was just a lad, and the awful terror of the little bird seared me like a hot iron. I opened my hand and let it go free, to the loud protests of my uncle. That taught me a lesson I can never forget. It showed me the awful terror one of the wild creatures of nature can experience when it is caught and facing death. I thought, too, how my cruel uncle had betrayed the trust of these hungry little birds. Here they had come from far-off Canada to spend the winter and were seeking food around the yard, and he was setting traps to catch them. I have always loved the snowbirds ever since then and protect them all I can against man's cruelty.

Betsy Layne Alumna To Receive Doctorate

Mrs. Emogene Moore Hogg, Betsy Layne high school graduate, has earned the doctor of education degree at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee. Mrs. Hogg is the wife of Edd Hogg, faculty member of the Berea College Agriculture Department, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Moore, of Harol.

Her major field of study was in curriculum and instruction with minors in personnel management and business education; she wrote her dissertation on "Conditions Characterizing the Varying Relationships Between Morale and Productivity."

Mrs. Hogg has been a member of the faculty in the College of Business at Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, since 1960. Prior to completing her doctorate at the University of Tennessee, she did advanced work at the University of Kentucky. She earned her M.A. degree from Eastern Kentucky State College in 1960, and the B.S. degree from Berea College in 1959.

The degree will be conferred at the University of Tennessee's December commencement.

Richard Clark To Join Insurance Firm Here

Richard Clark, of Lexington, will join his father-in-law, Blaine Hall, in the management and operation here of the Hall-Music Insurance Agency, Inc., it was announced this week.

Mr. Clark has been in the insurance business in Lexington, and his coming to Prestonsburg will serve to relieve Mr. Hall of a portion of his work-load as sole owner of the agency.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark last week purchased the Arnold avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Grady and will be moving here shortly. The Gradys will move to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Meade.

Shreveport, La.—A Caddo Parish deputy sheriff turned from his pre-dawn patrol yesterday to bag a seven-foot mountain lion. Deputy Ray Lindsey spotted the cat as he drove along the Old Mansfield Road about 3 a.m.

New Health Programs Studied at Meeting

A regional public health conference was held Tuesday at Jenny Wiley State Park on a new program that will soon be going into effect all over the nation.

This program was instituted when it was determined that, because of mental or physical defects, 50% of the young men to be inducted into the armed forces were being rejected. In Kentucky it was noted that 20% have been rejected for medical reasons, both mental and physical, and 30% due to educational deficiency.

Findings of the President's Task Force led to the establishment of a program by the Department of Labor for studying the reason for educational rejection by the armed forces. At the same time another program was being set up by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to study the cause of so many medical rejections by the armed forces. These programs are designed to carry out a comprehensive study of causes for rejection and their remedial measures which would promote better health and well being for the nation's youth.

It is the aim of the state and local health departments to provide needed care for these young men, as well as to procure information that will be useful in developing future public health programs in Kentucky. In this manner it is anticipated that rejections by the armed forces will be greatly reduced.

DEDICATION OF MARKER AT JENNY WILEY GRAVE

The dedication of the Jenny Wiley marker at her grave, at River, Kentucky, was held Saturday, November 27, at 1 p.m. The program, presented by the Community Development Club and the Johnson County Historical Society was most impressive. The presentation of the program was made by the master of ceremonies, Edward R. Hazlett, president of Johnson County Historical Society, as follows: Invocation, Meridia Wiley; the National Anthem, Meade Memorial high school band; welcome, Robert Whittaker, president of River Community Development Club; recognition of visitors; address, Dr. Arville Wheeler, author of "White Squaw;" Battle Hymn of the Republic, by band; address, Hon. John Fred Williams.

Unveiling of the beautiful marker was by Meridia Wiley and Robert Whittaker, of River. The inscription on the marker read: Jenny Wiley, 1760-1831. Historic Pioneer Mother, captured by Indians, October 1, 1789, at Walker's Creek, Virginia, witnessed the slaying of her brother and five children by savages, was held captive for several months on Little Mud Creek in the present Johnson county. She escaped from the Indians to Harmon Station at Block House Bottom, and was later united with her husband, Thomas Wiley in Virginia. Mrs. Wiley returned to Johnson county with her husband, and a cabin was built near this site about the year 1800, where they reared a family of five children. Jenny Wiley died 1831.

Attending the dedication were: Mr. and Mrs. Tom James, Mrs. Claude P. Stephens, Mrs. Everett H. Sowards, Mrs. Rebecca Dingus, Mrs. Mark G. Nicholls, Susan Carter.

CHRISTMAS TOUR OF HOMES

These Prestonsburg residences will be open to the public, Friday and Saturday, this week, during the Christmas tour sponsored by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club. Coincidental with the tour will be bazaars and a tea at the residences visited.

Mrs. Goble Succumbs At Lancer Residence After Brief Illness

Mrs. Juda Elsie Childers Goble, 74, widow of L. V. Goble, died at 1:30 p.m. Monday at her home at Lancer. She is believed to have been the victim of a heart attack.

Daughter of Moses and Wilda Boyd Childers, she was a native of Richardson, Kentucky, and had resided at Lancer since 1913. She was a member of the United Baptist Church.

Surviving are one son, the Rev. Elder Goble, and two daughters, Alva Goble and Mrs. Madeline Josephine Hale, all of Lancer. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Jennie Branham, Ypsilanti, Michigan, and four grandchildren.

The funeral was conducted at 10 a.m. Wednesday from the First Church of God here, the Revs. Coy Rigney, Moses Kitchen and Jonas Miller officiating. Burial in the Harris cemetery at Emma was under direction of the Floyd Funeral Home.

RETURNS HOME

Rev. Elder Goble, who underwent an appendectomy at the Prestonsburg General hospital, November 20, returned Sunday to his home at Lancer. He expects soon to resume his duties in the ASCS office here.

The Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club float bore Santa Claus and elves, with Santa tossing candy to the children. Judy Sexton, an attendant to Miss Floyd County 1965, was next in the parade. Janie Bickford, Homecoming queen, and her court were an added attraction to the parade. The Kiwanian's queen float with silver Christmas tree, provided room for the queen and her court.

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club depicted its Christmas tour with doll houses on a convertible. The Madame Alexander doll made her appearance in the parade with a complete wardrobe. The Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce float depicted the Nativity Scene. The pageant and parade chairmen from the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club rounded out the parade.

The marching bands of Wayland and Prestonsburg high schools provided music and with their majorettes added color to the parade through the business district.

more costly houses of glass and are constructed to withstand winds of 80 miles and hour velocity. Although new plastic usually is needed every year, its cost is small.

Most of the greenhouses being built in this county will be heated by natural gas. The Stanville owner, however, will use a coal stoker furnace with hot-water heating. Others will use fans to circulate the heat.

Mr. Ball said the potential for greenhouse production of potted flowers and off-season vegetables is virtually unlimited.

"Success of each individual grower, of course, will depend upon what he puts into his undertaking in work and care," Ball added.

And there is work a-plenty. For instance:

In the absence of bees, the flower of each tomato plant must be manually shaken to provide pollination; some spraying of plants with a hormone solution must be done; and there is preparation of the seed beds, sowing, transplanting, harvesting, and so on.

The ordinary garden-variety tomato will not produce under hot-house conditions. Some greenhouse owners buy the seed, and seed, incidentally, costs from $300 to $700 per pound.

"But," Ball hastens to explain, "a pound of seed would sow Floyd county."

Each of the Floyd greenhouse installations is being made with the assistance of the Extension Department, University of Kentucky, and Eastern Kentucky Resources specialists headquartered at Quicksand.

The 89th Congress, in addition to the enactment of the Appalachian Regional Development program, enacted new programs designed to assist communities of Eastern Kentucky procure economic development projects such as housing, urban development, public works, and community facilities and other community betterment programs.

According to Perkins, all of the new federal programs preserve the principle of local initiative in the development of projects and services to best meet the needs of local communities.

"The purpose of the meetings that we are holding in Ashland and Prestonsburg are to assure that the people of every community of the Seventh Congressional district have the latest and most accurate information concerning the procedures that should be followed by communities in securing maximum benefits," he said.

A schedule for the remaining days in December is being arranged by Perkins to enable him to visit every community in Eastern Kentucky, not only to discuss the new federal programs with local citizens but also to get points of view from all the people on matters of interest and importance to the communities of Eastern Kentucky.

Perkins said that while traveling in the district, mail and other communications could most expeditiously reach him if addressed to his Washington office where arrangements have been made to contact him.

WELFARE OFFICIAL KILLED

Fullerton, Neb.—A retired police officer killed a county official during an argument over a welfare check and then suffered bullet wounds during a gun duel with police here Monday, authorities said. plumb serious with some people, then illustrated the point.

This child was sick, and the mother had taken the tot to an old standby who had never failed—a woman whose father had died before she was born. (That, as any but the most ill-informed knows, qualified the woman to blow in a child's mouth and cure the "thrash," a malady which seems to be dying off rather than killing the population off.)

The possessor of the magic power blew into the little sufferer's mouth, then remarked, "That'll be $3."

The astonished mother wanted to know why. "You allus treated our younguns for nothin'," she remonstrated.

"That's right—for nothin'," was the grim rejoinder. "Cuored 'em of the thrash for years and never charged a cent. And then when Pap was a-runnin' for Constable last month, you up and voted 'ginst him. Young lady, I tell you, it's $3 this time, and ever' time from now on it's $3 a blow!"

Living at home makes studying difficult; some students come to college only because it is expected of them, not because they want to learn; some male students are in college hoping to escape the draft; some are too busily engaged in enjoying their "new freedom"; students are afraid to ask for help; too many term papers, book reports and case studies.

Some students said they had heard a rumor to the effect that students are being "weeded out" to make room for an expected enrollment of 800 next year, but Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the college, was quick to deny this. "The building will handle 800 students, so the idea that we're trying to weed them out has absolutely no basis," he said. He added that a basic factor in the students' dilemma is that they will not go to their advisers and instructors with their problems.

HAROLD

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Harold Homemakers Club met in the basement of the Vogel-Day Methodist Church, November 16. Mrs. Pearl Meade, president, presided.

Mrs. Ruth Stumbo led the group in devotionals taken from Psalm I. She also read a poem, "The First Autumn," closing with prayer.

Mrs. Carma Sturgill gave a report on taking care of flowers and shrubs for winter protection.

Money was collected for flowers the club had sent. Three people were appointed to attend a lesson on Christmas decorations to be given in Prestonsburg, December 1. Mrs. Frances Pitts showed a film on clothing.

Plans were made for the next meeting which will be a Christmas dinner, December 14, at 11 a.m. Each member is to bring a gift.

Those present were Mesdames Helen Ferrell, Ethel Hamilton, Dorothy Sturgill, Della Stumbo, Carma Sturgill, Ruth Stumbo, Kate Robinette, Pearl Meade, Anna Katherine Burroughs, Nell Harvey, Frances Pitts, Ricky Ferrell.

Half of Teen-Age Marriages Won't Work Out, Says Writer

Teen-agers are flocking to the altar by the hundreds of thousands. One out of two brides this year will be under 20. The same ratio will end up in separation or divorce, according to CHANGING TIMES, reporting on "What happens to teen-age marriages?"

The chance of success for a teen-age marriage in the U. S. is about a third as good as for marriages of those in their twenties. The fact is that today more girls marry at age 18 than at any other age and this tendency to marry young is one that is peculiar to the United States.

It's not just the women either; nearly half of all American young men are married by the time they are 25, compared with only a quarter in most of Europe and as few as a tenth in Norway and Ireland. Only in Asia do you find a marry-young pattern comparable to that of the U. S.

Interested in improving the chance of success of thousands of marrying teens, CHANGING TIMES offers these guidelines: The young married—particularly the groom—must understand the necessity of completing high school and, if possible, going on to college or other advanced training.

More needs to be done to help teen-agers understand what marriage entails—realistic education on what marriage is like, what obstacles must be overcome, why money is important.

More help is needed for married couples in trouble in family counseling, baby care, supplementary education, and general encouragement in making the best of the situation.

And, parents must not cringe at prospects of a teen-age crisis. Wise parents can accept what is and give every support they can.

What happens to teen-age marriages?

1. One out of two teen-age marriages ends in divorce or separation.
2. Teens who drop out of school to marry rarely go back.
3. Pregnancy occurs early for most teen brides—ending hopes of career or more education.
4. Teen husbands average a little over $2,000 a year, but most families need two or three times that to get by.

By BILL NEIKIRK
(In The Courier-Journal)

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 25—Gov. Edward T. Breathitt yesterday called on strip and auger miners to stop insisting on legal enforcement of broad-form mineral rights deeds until their meaning and scope is decided by the courts.

Breathitt said also if the courts disagree with his position on the broad-form deed, he may seek legislative action to protect property owners from strip miners.

The governor was referring to a Knott county dispute in which a widow, Mrs. Ollie Combs, was jailed after she tried to keep strip miners off her property.

(A broad-form deed is one which grants both mineral rights and the right to use the surface land for purposes necessary to mining. A legal controversy is now in progress to determine whether such surface rights apply to strip- and auger-mining, which are more destructive to the surface area than the mining methods used when most such deeds were written.)

"I want the widow Combs and all other Kentuckians whose homes and farms are threatened with destruction by strip and auger mining to know that I am on their side," Breathitt said.

"Of course, I urge all citizens of Kentucky and expect all citizens of Kentucky to obey the law."

"But history has sometimes shown that unyielding insistence upon the enforcement of legal rights by the rich and powerful against the humble people of a community is not always the quickest course of action."

The governor, accusing strip and auger miners of "provoking and causing these disturbances," urged them to "desist from further insistences upon their pound of flesh" until the broad-form deed issue is decided.

The governor took these actions:

1. He appointed Frankfort attorney Edward F. Pritchard as a special counsel to intervene in a case involving application of the broad form deed. Breathitt said Pritchard will work with the Natural Resources Department. The state has already intervened in a broad-form deed case.

2. He instructed Public Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern that State Police are not to be used for enforcement of civil processes in the courts without his permission.

A state trooper helped carry away Mrs. Combs from a strip mining operation Tuesday. Breathitt said the sheriff has power to appoint a deputy or posse if needed.

He said if the courts disagree with his position on the broad-form deed, he will urge the next legislature "to the fullest possible constitutional extent to protect home owners, farms and other property owners against destruction by strip and auger mining corporations claiming rights under broad-form deeds."

"If tumult, disorder and violence shall prevail in the areas where controversy is now raging, I shall be forced to consider what further steps may be taken by the executive department of our state government to preserve peace and perhaps the status quo until the courts and legislature can decide these fundamental questions," the governor stated.

Meanwhile, William B. Sturgill, president of Kentucky Oak Mining Co., parent company of the firm involved in the Knott county dispute, took issue with a story on the controversy in yesterday's Courier-Journal.

Sturgill, in a statement to the Associated Press denied that he told Courier-Journal staff writer Kyle Vance "that we intended to operate regardless of the barriers set up by the landowner."

Vance's story reported that Sturgill said the operation will be pushed on in keeping with the law without regard for such barriers.

"... I did not state that we were ready for a showdown because I don't feel that a showdown in the sense that he implied is in keeping with the situation at hand between the parties involved," Sturgill added.

Franklin County Nips Wheelwright, 60 To 59

Frankfort, Ky. — Paul Brewer sank two free throws with 12 seconds remaining in the game to give Franklin County's tall Flyers a 60-59 decision over previously undefeated Wheelwright here Friday night.

Brewer's free throws ended a nip-and-tuck battle that saw neither team able to build more than a six-point lead.

But Franklin County used its height to take control of the backboards in the second half and threw up a tight defense that allowed the Trojans only four field goals in the final two quarters.

Wheelwright almost made up for the drought, though, with a 21-10 advantage at the free throw line.

The Flyers held a 39-25 rebounding edge. Wheelwright's Larry Osborne and Franklin County's Dwayne Boucher shared scoring honors with 22 points apiece. Don Thornsbury added 13 for the losers and Danny Salyers chipped in with 17 for the Flyers. Franklin Co. . . 11 21 15 13-60 W'wright . . . 17 21 9 12-59 Zimbro 2, Thornsbury 13, Lewis 5, Burger 9. Miss Jones, Six Others, Pike College Students, Named to "Who's Who"

Seven Pikeville College students, including one from Floyd county, have been elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

To qualify for the honor, a student must be either a junior or senior; must have at least a "B" average; must display citizenship; must show leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities; and in addition to these qualities, the nominee must show general promise of future usefulness to business and society.

The students elected are: Miss Edith Jones, of Bevinsville; Wayne Bowling, Letcher, Kentucky; Julia Damron, Pikeville; Freddy Davis, Vico; Karen Huey, North Chili, New York; Michael McMillan, Newark, Ohio, and Gaylen Sue Short, Kona, Kentucky. All seven students will graduate, next June.

Kentucky is a land of fences—snow-white plank fences bordering racehorse farms, fieldstone fences lining Blue Grass pastures, and split-rail fences recalling the state's pioneer days.

Wheelwright Wins Over Mason County, 70-67

Maysville, Ky. — Wheelwright built a commanding 18-point lead here Saturday night, then was forced to hang on to gain a 70-67 basketball victory over a pressing Mason County team.

Stan Burger and Larry Osborn paced the Trojans to their fourth victory in five games with 30 and 18 points, respectively. Tom Corde sparked the Royals with 20 points, eight of these coming in the big fourth quarter when Mason County cut Wheelwright's lead from 18 to three.

For the Royals the loss was their second in six starts. Osborn turned in a good defensive game on the losers' Don Sargent, holding one of the area's outstanding players to 10 points.

ROTC Representative From U. of K. Campus Meets with Students

A representative from the Army ROTC detachment at the University of Kentucky campus at Lexington was at the Prestonsburg Community College, Wednesday.

Interested persons, non-students as well as students, were invited to attend the meeting where such questions as the draft, the U. S. Army Reserve and the Army ROTC program were discussed.

An Army ROTC spokesman pointed out that the program offers a young man "the opportunity to earn a commission as a second lieutenant in the Army while working toward his academic degree; it provides financial assistance while he attends college ($40 a month during his junior and senior years), and provides invaluable leadership training."

SECOND NET TOURNAMENT STARTS HERE WEDNESDAY

The 22nd annual Floyd county pre-season basketball tournament involving all eight 58th district schools opened in Prestonsburg's fieldhouse Wednesday night.

In the 7 p.m. opener, host Prestonsburg (1-2) met Betsy Layne (2-5) and in the second game at 8:45 p.m. McDowell (6-1) squared off against Martin (6-2).

Thursday's 7 p.m. session has Garrett (5-1) matched against Maytown (3-2) and in the final game of the first round Wheelwright (4-1) collides with Wayland (0-8).

The semi-finals will be played at 7 and 8:45 p.m. Friday, and the final game at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Three of the first-round opponents have already met in early season games. McDowell, favored to cop the upper bracket, trounced defending champion Martin, 81-60, November 4.

Wheelwright, tutored by Don Wallen, overpowered Wayland, 77-29, in its second game of the season and last Friday night, John Campbell's Garrett Black-devils defeated Maytown, 73-64, after trailing for three periods.

Garrett and Wheelwright are expected to meet in Friday's second semi-final game.

Meade Memorial's Red Devils breezed through the Jenny Wiley invitational tournament last week-end, dumping three previously undefeated teams. Wendell Wallen's 57th district club copped the final game Saturday night, drubbing Morgan County of the 16th region by a 78-47 margin.

In the semi-finals, neighboring Warfield fell before the Williamsport school, 82-72, in suffering its first defeat. Meade Memorial also eliminated Johns Creek in opening round play by a count of 81-61.

Denzil Halbert's Martin Purple Flash grabbed the third place trophy by eliminating Mullins, 72-63, in first-round play and nipped Warfield, 67-65, in the consolation finals after dropping a semi-final game to Morgan County, 58-46.

McDowell suffered its first setback of the season in opening round play as Warfield won, 77-68, despite 35 points by McDowell's stellar center, Rickey Hall.

Morgan County gained the finals by bouncing Prestonsburg, 62-46, in the first round and ousting Martin, 58-46, in the semi-finals.

Betsy Layne Defeats Dorton High, 89-73

Betsy Layne, Ky.—Betsy Layne jumped out to an 18-point opening quarter lead here Friday night and went on to dump Dorton, 89-73.

The Bobcats were led by George Yelder with 22 points while teammate Harold Adkins pitched in with 20. Gene Hall added 18 points to give Betsy Layne its second win against five losses.

R. Anderson paced the Dorton attack with 24 points and teammate Steve Beverly canned 17. Dorton . . . 10 24 17 22-73 Betsy Layne . . . 28 17 25 19-89

The Little Mud community held its regular community meeting Friday night, November 19, at the Spruce Pine school. The president, Walter Akers, presided. A pie social was held and net proceeds were $90.15. All the members voted to buy plates, dessert dishes and other supplies for the school lunchroom with part of the money; also voted to buy medical supplies for Dr. Locke, VISTA worker, who is serving in this community. The school lunchroom program is in operation.

Through the help of Mr. Deaton, VISTA worker, the community has made many improvements for the school and school grounds: painted the outside of the school building, put in new window panes and also painted the roof. Mr. Deaton had a bulldozer to level up the school ground. He also built swings, chinning bars and seesaws for the playground, and whitewashed the fence posts.

Also organized was a P.T.A. at this meeting. Caner Hunter was elected president, Dollie Meade, vice-president, and Josie Harvey, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorlin Vanderpool and son, of Louisville, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hagens.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Adkins and son, of Louisville, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manor Manuel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gibson and son, of Mt. Hebron, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. David Gibson and son, of Cincinnati, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Selton Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. George Patton and Jerry and Mrs. Lucy Patton spent several days last week with relatives in Zionsville, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Hicks, of Dayton, Ohio, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. George E. May last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Champ Gibson had as their houseguests last week Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hewlett and children, of Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Turner, Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Myra Gibson, Lexington.

HONOR STUDENTS

Children in Mrs. Allen's third-grade class who made the honor roll for the first quarter of the school year were Stewart Bailey, Joy Blevins, Debbie Castle, Donna Lee Frasure, Donna Jean Goble, Charleen Hicks, Dennis Martin, Thomas Martin and Janie Mullins.

Those having a perfect standing were Janie Mullins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mullins, Joy Blevins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blevins, and Stewart Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bailey.

Felix Dudley, who underwent surgery November 24 at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, is doing fine and is expected home Sunday. Mrs. Dudley has been at his bedside.

CLUB PLANS DINNER

The Boosters Club of the Clark elementary school will sponsor a chicken and dumpling dinner, Sunday, December 12, at the school. Serving will begin at 12 noon and continue until 3:30 p.m.

TIMES WANT ADS REALLY WORK WONDERS!

SCROOGE'S SECRET

Dear Mr. Santa Claus:

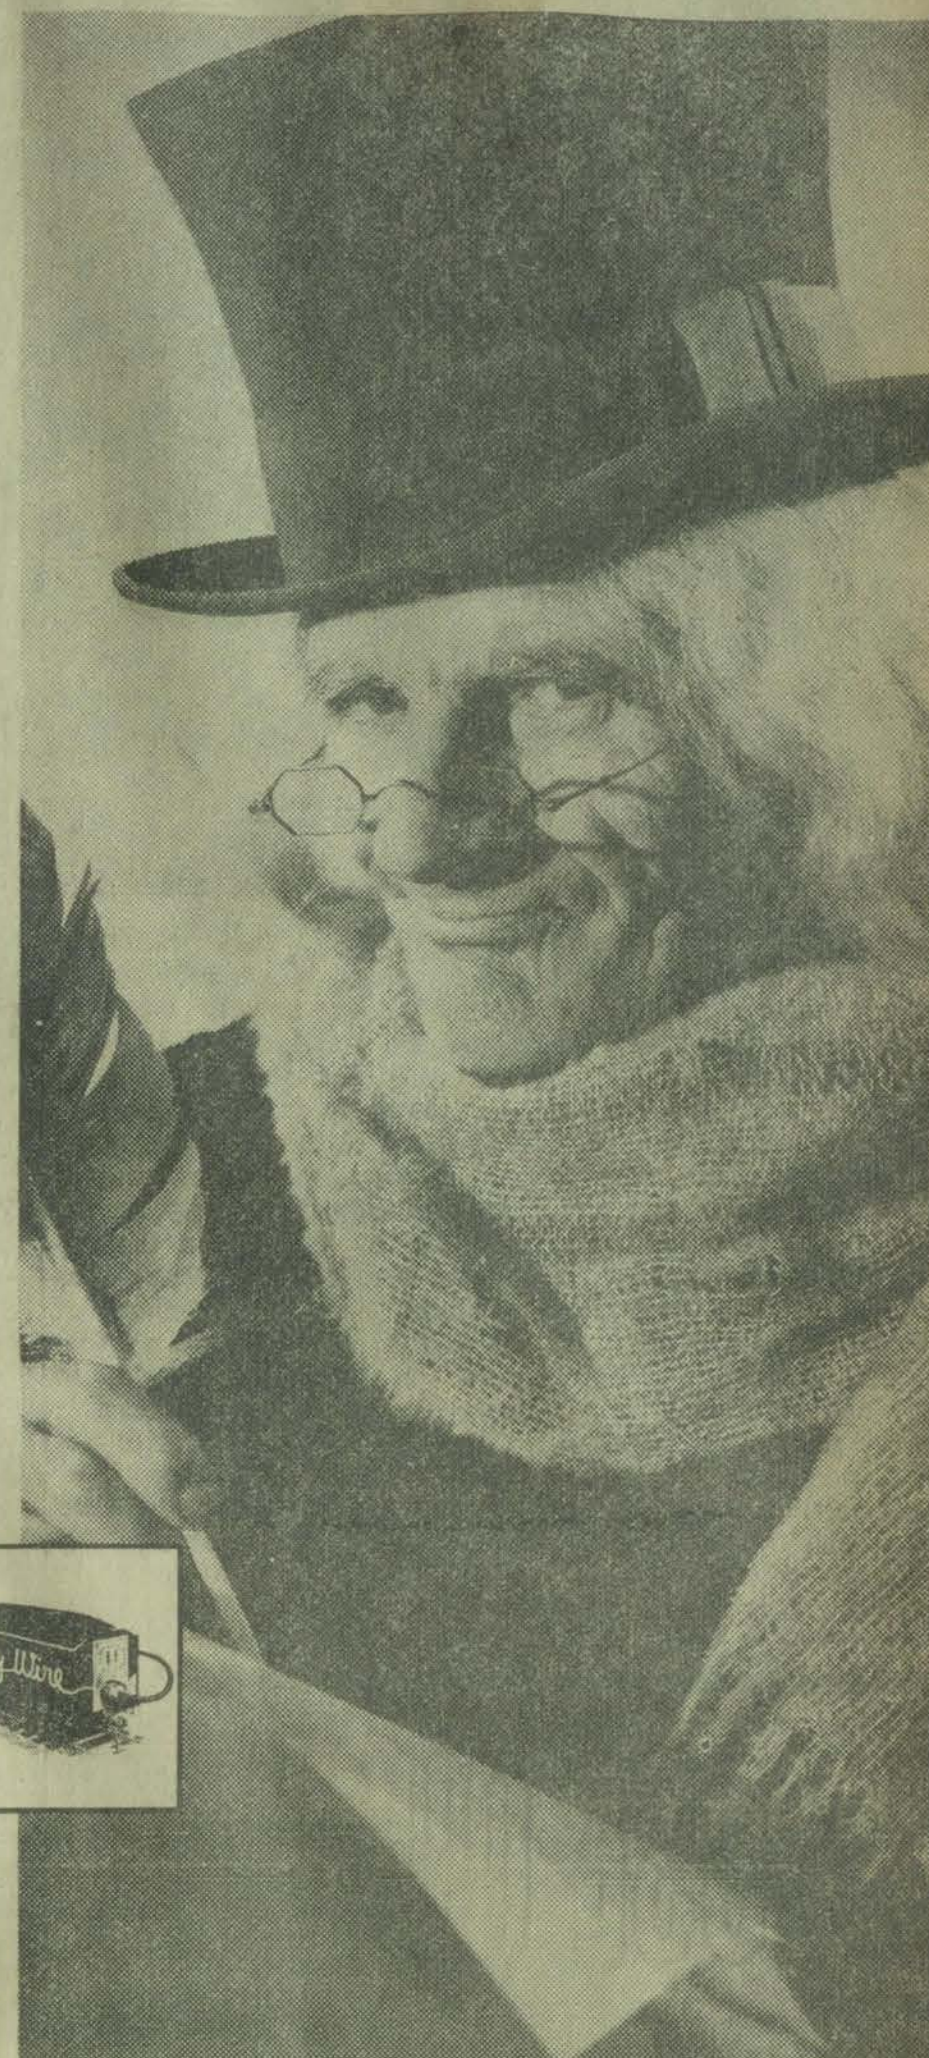

Now, I know I'm the spirit of "Humbug" at the Christmas season—but, who wouldn't have been a grouch, living a century ago with no electricity? You have no idea how hard those flickering candles were on my old eyes.

What with all the comfort and convenience electricity gives me today it's hard to stay cantankerous. But, the thing that really warms the cockles of my heart is the low cost—even lower than forty years ago. Mind you, my bill is higher because I have so many appliances—but egad, what value I'm getting for every cent I spend for electricity. It's the cheapest thing I buy! Now I ask you: With all this comfort and convenience at such a low cost, how can I be expected to remain a grouch? Promise me you won't tell a soul about my secret change of heart . . . and stop in Christmas Eve so I can join you in a chorus of "We Wish You A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Your Humble Servant,

Ebenezer Scrooge

MAYTOWN HOMECOMING HONORS NET TEAM OF '50: MISS SLOANE IS NEW QUEEN

Homecoming at Maytown high school last Friday filled the gymnasium to standing-room-only for the game in which the Maytown Wildcats hosted the Garrett Black Devils. The Wildcat loss (74-63) failed to dampen the spirits of the guests as evidenced by the huge crowd attending the dance following the game.

Preceding the game, Rex Osborne, WMOV-TV, Ravenswood, W. Va., and Maytown graduate, was master of ceremonies at the alumni banquet. Rev. Leonard Sumner, pastor of the Maytown Methodist Church, gave the invocation. Short talks by Dr. William O. Allen, and V. O. Turner, Pikeville, and Edwin V. Stewart, Maytown school principal, followed. Introduction of the class of 1950, which was being honored, and other guests concluded the banquet.

At between-game ceremonies Mrs. Betty Frasure, Maytown Woman's Club representative, introduced Estill Hall, of McDowell, coach of the 1950 team, who introduced that squad, managers, and cheerleaders. Those present were: Clarence Martin, Ashland; Bozo Burchwell, Hunter; and Gene Frasure, Miles Gibson, Bill Martin, Charles Ray Patton, Glenda Moore Click, and Shannon Martin Gibson, all of Langley.

Highlight of the evening was the crowning of Miss Jackie Sue Sloane as 1965 Homecoming Queen by Miss Peggy Crum, queen for 1964. First attendant was Miss Debbie Sammons, Lynn Halbert, Kathy Garrison, and Lena Owens were the other attendants. Escorts were Ronnie Harmon, Paul Patton, Claude Webb, Mike Tallent, Rudy Thacker, and Eddie Stewart. The Maytown Woman's Club sponsored the homecoming for alumni and guests.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. Like this 1966 Skylark Gran Sport pictured above. Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.

MUSIC-COLVIN MOTOR CO., Inc. • South Lake Drive

Pictured above is the royal family selected from the Clark Elementary school at its annual Halloween carnival held October 23, 1965.

Elected queen was Darcus Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Green, Jr. The king is Gary Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hicks; the princess, Teressa Parsons, daughter of Mrs. Allen Sloane; and the prince, Perry D. Ousley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ousley.

Parents and children alike enjoyed the successful carnival. Many attended the activities who were from other communities than Middle Creek.

Some of the activities planned and carried out were a nickel toss, fish bowl, white elephant, country store, bingo, dart board, fortune-telling, novelty booth, concession stand and a dance.

Many of the people and business places in the area contributed items to the carnival and also helped to carry on the activities by working in the different booths. Mr. Pitts, the principal, and the members of the P.T.A. wish to thank all who gave, or otherwise helped, to make the carnival a success.

The next regular P.T.A. meeting will be held December 17, at 7 p.m. The sixth grades will be in charge of the program. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Give a Gift To Be Remembered

"What's Cooking in Kentucky" will solve your gift problem for those who have everything and for those who haven't.

Gift cookbooks will be attractively wrapped in gift wrapping paper and mailed in a specially made mailing carton. You may send your own personal card with your order or we will enclose one for you.

Cookbooks, mailing cartons and gift boxes will also be available at the following stores around December 5th: Francis Store and Grace Burke's Fabric Shop at Prestonsburg; Stewart's 10-Cent Store at Allen; June's Dress Shop at Martin and Garrett Drug Store at Garrett.

Mail your check or money order for $2.95 to Cookbook Chairman, Hueysville, Kentucky 41640. Give name and address to which cookbook is to be mailed. Christmas orders will be mailed December 10 unless instructed otherwise. If you do not have a copy of "What's Cooking in Kentucky" and want one to do your holiday baking, order now and specify that it is to be mailed when the cookbooks arrive.

ORDINANCE NO. 11-65

An Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Regulating Weights of Trucks and Other Vehicles Using City Streets.

WHEREAS, the City of Prestonsburg has, pursuant to Ordinance No. 8-64, completed a street improvement project, and WHEREAS, the City of Prestonsburg has, pursuant to Resolution dated, March 23, 1964, completed construction of City Parking Lots, and

WHEREAS, same was accomplished by reason of a sale of bonds that must be redeemed or paid for by the City of Prestonsburg through annual payments by abutting land owners and persons so using the parking lots, over a period of twenty years, and

WHEREAS, it is necessary that every precaution be taken by the City to preserve and protect the said improved streets and parking lots, and that in order to do so, it is necessary that the City establish an ordinance regulating truck and other vehicle weight limits and prohibit the use of said streets by certain vehicles.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

All vehicles may be operated upon the streets and parking lots of the City of Prestonsburg, except the following:

1. No vehicle weighing in excess of 18,000 pounds shall be operated over any City street, except those streets maintained by the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

2. No bulldozers, tandem trucks, caterpillars, tractors, trucks with three or more axles or other heavy construction equipment or machinery shall be operated upon the streets of the City of Prestonsburg.

In the event it becomes necessary to operate any of the above vehicles over the City streets, then and in that event the person so desiring to use the said vehicle shall apply to the Director of City Properties for permission, and upon the recommendation of the said Director, the Mayor of the City of Prestonsburg may grant written permission.

Any person or persons who operates a vehicle upon the streets of Prestonsburg in violation of the Ordinance herein shall be fined not less than $50.00, nor more than $500.00.

This Ordinance shall take effect immediately upon passage. DATED: November 4, 1965. GEORGE P. ARCHER Mayor
