FLOYD SUPERVISORS ASK NEW APPRAISAL

SAY ACTION WOULD END CONFUSION

Equalization No More Than 75% Completed, Report to Judge Says

Adjourning Wednesday afternoon after a six-day effort to iron out some of the property assessment problems in the county, the Floyd County Board of Supervisors recommended in a formal report to County Judge Henry Stumbo that a complete assessment or appraisal be made of every piece of property in the county.

"We feel," the supervisors wrote, "that tax equalization, or 100% assessment, is no more than 75% accomplished. Why not go all the way and end the confusion and dissension?"

The supervisors worked through Friday of last week and returned Wednesday for the final day of their session.

The recommendation for a complete new appraisal of property was made, the report pointed out, "in fairness to the taxpayers . . . who have properly listed their taxes." It also suggested that the cost of a new parcel-by-parcel assessment be pro-rated on a benefit basis. "The school system," the report said, "receives three-fourths of the revenue; therefore, it should bear the major part of the cost. In addition, the state should also be required to share the cost."

This Town . . . That World

Fellow told me they had a notion to call out the Rescue Squad when George Washington failed to show up, as usual, around the election grounds.

NO WEEDS— NO MOTHER HENS

Must get out to the farm more often. Only last week I learned:

1. That corn can be planted, these days, and forgotten till gathering-time. No thinning—that's taken care of by drilling; no weed-cutting—a spray administered before the corn comes up fixes the weeds, all season long. Consequently, no loss of elbow grease through the use of the hoe. Obviously, I was born 50 years or so too soon.
2. That hens have quit setting. When the woman of the house remarked that she needed to buy some baby chicks, I, the old m o s s b a c k , brightly suggested that she could set some hens and hatch the chicks at home. It was then I was told that the last time a hen had set (sat?) on those premises was at least 10 years ago. Why? I dunno, unless these incubator-hatched chickens have been imported so long that the settin' instinct has been lost.

EXPLANATION

I had thought to discuss the why of these unmotherly hens with the distinguished barnyard scientist, Allan Trout, but suddenly lost confidence in his infallibility in such matters when he could not explain to Roscoe Davis, of Hazard, what was meant when someone with a head of frizzled hair was compared to "a stump full of grand daddies." Ever hear of Granddaddy Long?

LIQUOR VOTE HEARING SET

Decision Is Delayed Till June 13; Motion Claims Discrepancies

The hearing to determine if a local option shall be held in this county and when was set Monday by County Judge Henry Stumbo for June 13.

Designation of the new date for the hearing followed a hearing Monday afternoon on the motion and affidavit of the Christian Dry League of Floyd County asking for additional time in which to investigate what were termed numerous discrepancies in the petition filed by wet forces.

Integrity of the petition was attacked. It was claimed that there are three pages of signature duplications in the petition asking the election and that the question at issue was misrepresented to many persons who were caused to believe that they were signing a petition seeking state liquor stores.

Attys. C. B. Latta and Harris S. Howard appeared for the Dry League at Monday's hearing. Spokesman for the group asking the vote was Roy Cook, of Drift.

ONLY 14% OF VOTE CAST AT ELECTION

It was "no contest," Tuesday's election.

John Young Brown, Democrat, and John Sherman Cooper, Republican, for U.S. Senator, and Carl D. Perkins, Democrat, for Congress—all won, hands down, as expected.

The Floyd county voting was perhaps the lightest in a generation. Only 3,384 voters took the trouble to go to the polls. There are 24,850 registered to vote in this county. Of the total voting,

$10,000 FUND SOUGHT HERE

Group Forms To Assist Alice Lloyd College; Contributions Asked

A committee of local businessmen has pledged itself to help raise $10,000 in a campaign to gain continuing business support for Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes.

R. V. May, ALC trustee and chairman of the project, kicked off the campaign with a committee meeting Tuesday evening at the board of education building.

"Floyd county has benefited greatly from Alice Lloyd College for more than 40 years," May said. "Now, for the first time, the community has been asked to show its confidence in the college, and I'm sure it will respond with generous financial support."

Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the Prestonsburg Community College, has endorsed the Alice Lloyd fund campaign, saying, "I know of no college more worthy of the community's support."

May said Prestonsburg business houses and professional offices will be contacted during of the campaign with a committee members.

The committee includes Gorman Collins, Blaine Hall, Charles Clark, Chester Patton, Burl Spurlock, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Delmas Saunders, Dr. George P. Archer, Marvin Music, Dr. Russell L. Hall, Frank Harmon and Bert Colvin.

The committee, May said, is especially interested in meeting the $100,000 figure in order to assure an even larger foundation grant. The Kresge Foundation of Detroit has pledged $15,000 to Alice Lloyd if that figure can be matched with $100,000 from another source.

Students will be transported (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

2,901 were Democrats and 483 were Republicans.

The vote by candidates:

For U.S. Senator
Democrats—James Ward Lentz, 241; Gaines P. Wilson, Jr., 214; John Young Brown, 1851.

Republicans — Jesse Nicholas Ryan Cecil, 106; John Sherman Cooper, 372; Thurman Jerome Hamlin, 2; Sam M. Ward, 3.

For Congress
Democrats — Herbert Rowland, 113; Carl D. Perkins, 2708; Warren J. Flanery, 80.

C. F. See, of Louisa, was unopposed for the Republican nomination for Congress.

The campaign, if any, was dull, and the day at the polls was duller. Neither of the men nominated made a fight of it, since their nomination was certain. Only Gaines Wilson, opposing John Young Brown for the Democratic senatorial nomination, "showed fight," and this was done mainly through daily newspaper advertisements. In this county he ran behind Lentz, who had the advantage of the No. 1 spot on the ballot.

The Floyd county election story was repeated in almost every other county. An upset appeared to be in the making in the Fifth Congressional district where the Republican incumbent, Dr. Tim Carter, was trailing the Rev. Gene Huff, a Pentecostal preacher.

In the First appellate district Appellate Judge Brady M. Stewart was defeated for renomination by Earl T. Osborne, who attacked Stewart on the tax assessment decision.

SQUAD FINDS BOY'S BODY

Knott Youth Drowns In Quicksand Pond Friday Afternoon

The body of a 16-year-old Larkslane, Knott county youth was recovered from a farm pond on Quicksand Creek, early last Friday evening by members of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad.

The victim, Shelby Mosley, drowned in 18 feet of water after falling or being shoved into the pond while playing with other youths. The tragedy occurred on the farm of Coett Messer.

Rescue Squad members quoted young Mosley's companions as saying they attempted to rescue him but quit after two others had almost drowned. Only one of the five youths could swim, it was said. Names of those at the scene were listed as Orville and Carvin Collins, Henry Cox and Nick Smith. They placed the time of the drowning at 3:30 p.m. The rescue group from Prestonsburg arrived at the scene at 6 p.m. and located the body within half an hour.

The victim is survived by his father, Ascy Mosley, address unavailable; his mother, Mrs. Janie Conley, of Larkslane; a brother, Sheldon Mosley, Marion, Ohio, and four sisters, Mrs. Nadine White, Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Louise Gibson and Mrs. Bonnie Lou Reynolds, both of Marion, Ohio, and Miss Willadean Mosley, Larkslane.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday from the Owens Branch United Baptist Church, and burial was made in the Smith cemetery at Lebanon, the Hindman Funeral Home directing.

The Mahan Coal Company preparation plant which may not resume operation at Auxier. The ramp was damaged by fire, the night of May 17, and blasts believed to have been dynamite explosions later crippled equipment.

MAHAN MAY NOT RESUME AUXIER WORK

Injunction Effective Till June 23; Report Says Plant Dynamited

Federal Judge Bernard T. Moy-nahan, Jr. last Thursday at Jackson enjoined the United Mine Workers of America, its members and others acting in concert or participation with them from picketing the Terry Elkhorn Coal Company or the Mahan Coal Company tipple at Auxier.

Terry Elkhorn's mining operations continued without interference from pickets this week, but it is possible that the Mahan processing plant and tipple at Auxier will not be operated again.

Marshall C. Mahan, owner of the plant, said that dynamite blasts following the ramp fire at Auxier, the night of May 17, have damaged motors, crushers and the coal feeder until the cost of repair would be around $8,000.

"And, if it is repaired, it could be blown up again," he added.

Mr. Mahan said that if he abandons the plant it will mean the loss of an investment of $15-20,000. He said he had no insurance.

The product of Terry Elkhorn's operation is being processed and loaded over a tipple at Hager Hill.

The injunction against the UMWA was issued on the petition of the National Labor Relations Board and is effective Hill June 23 at 5 p.m., unless it is extended by order of the U.S. district court.

Specifically, the court action restrained the UMW and others acting in concert with them from:

(a) Continuing the current picketing of Terry Elkhorn Mining Company, Inc., and/or M. C. Mahan, doing business as Mahan Coal Company; or

(b) Otherwise picketing or causing Terry Elkhorn Mining Company, Inc. and/or M. C. Mahan, doing business as Mahan Coal Company to be picketed where an object thereof is to force or require either company to recognize or bargain with respondents, United Mine Workers of America and District 30, United Mine Workers of America, or either one of them, or any other labor organization, as their collective bargaining representative, unless and until respondents, United Mine Workers of America and District 30, United Mine Workers of America, or either one of them, or any other labor organizations, are certified as the representative of such employees pursuant to the provisions of Section 9 of the Act.

A hearing on the injunction in U.S. district court at Pikeville was set for 9 a.m., June 23.

OFFICE TO CLOSE

The Floyd County Health Department will be closed Monday for Memorial Day, and will reopen at 8 a.m. Tuesday, May 31.

COLLEGE WORK PLAN MAY INVOLVE 396

Prestonsburg Community College, in conjunction with the Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, is proposing a summer program that will involve 100 students in chorus, 100 in band for a four week program; 96 students in foreign language, French and Spanish, for a six-week period; and 100 students in an academic program that will involve two weeks each in the following areas: biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics, social sciences and humanities.

The students will be selected from the Big Sandy area, which includes the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Lawrence, Martin, Magoffin and Pike. The total participants will be drawn from students who will be sophomores, juniors and seniors during the 1966-1967 academic year.

"We would hope," said Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the college, "that 75 percent of the total program will be sophomores, that 50 percent will be juniors, and 25 percent will be seniors; however, this does not have to be strictly adhered to and exceptions will be made when justified."

ANOTHER MISS COLLINS WINNER OF MISS FLOYD-CO. PAGEANT

Miss Janice Collins, of Prestonsburg, is Miss Floyd County of 1966, and as such, will represent the county in the contest for the title of Miss Kentucky.

She was crowned by Sharon Collins, Miss Floyd County, 1965, at the conclusion Saturday night of the Miss Floyd County Scholarship Pageant at the Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheatre.

The winner received a $100 scholarship from the Pepsi Cola Company, which was presented by Miss Lena T. Porter, a representative of the East Kentucky Beverage Company, Pikeville. Miss Collins received a wardrobe from the Francis Stores, the E. F. Casual Shop, the Fashion, and Leva's Style Shop. She will receive an expense-paid trip to the Miss Kentucky Pageant in Louisville. The five other contestants were Miss Judith Virginia Archer, Prestonsburg; Miss Karen Rae Bussey, David; Miss Brenda Rice, Martin; Miss Jackie Sue Slove, Maytown; and Miss Cheryl Tussey, David.

The eight contestants were judged in formal attire, in bathing suits, and on the basis of talent. The winner's talent was a display of her art work and a medley of songs from "The Sound of Music." Judges were Roy L. Atherton, Paintsville; Mrs. Robert Bush, Lexington; Ralph Murphienig, WSAZ-TV, Huntington, and Miss Dorothy Jean Schroeder, who is known to WSAZ-TV viewers as "D. J."

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Bob Branham. Mrs. Kathryn S. Frazier served as the organist, with Douglas Smith as the vocal soloist. A trio consisting of Mrs. Rose E. Wells, Miss Janet Clay and Miss Ella Ruth Wilson sang a medley of songs. The theme for the pageant was "South Pacific," and the music and decorations were set to that theme.

Also appearing were Miss Lexington, Gwynne Deal, of Wheelwright; Miss East Kentucky, Jane Craig Fields; Miss Sandy Valley, Pat Branham; Miss Floyd County, 1964, Brenda Patton; and Miss Floyd County, 1965, Sharon Collins.

The pageant was sponsored by the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club. Club leaders expressed their appreciation of the beauty and talent of the eight girls who took part in the contest and of the cooperation by many others in staging the event.

The pageant drew to the amphitheatre an estimated 750 people.

The new Miss Floyd County is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Collins, of Prestonsburg, and was graduated this week from Prestonsburg high school.

"OUR WATER TURNED BAD AFTER TWO MONTHS"

Says ELMER MORRISON
Postmaster, Wayland, Ky.

"We had just drilled a new well and within two months our water turned red and was so terrible we could not wash clothes in it. It even stained our bathroom fixtures.

"JAMES E. ALLEN, of Langley, Ky., had drilled my well so I called him in to solve our problem. James told us that our well was like many others in the area and that we had iron water, commonly known as red sulphur.

"He told us about Everpure. They've developed equipment to treat water like ours. We took James' advice and installed an Everpure system. Our system has been in operation for two years and we are completely satisfied. Now, our white things are white and our fixtures are bright."

JAMES E. ALLEN can solve your water problem with EVERPURE equipment. Don't you deserve good water?

In a candlelight service the bride was given in marriage by her father, before an altar banked with standards of spring flowers entwined with orange blossoms.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Dianna Campbell, of Allen. Miss Janice Collins sang, "O Perfect Love," and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Miss Campbell.

The bride wore a white brocade street-length dress with sweetheart neckline and self covered buttons to the waistline in the back. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Freddy Goble was matron of honor, and Mr. Goble served as best man.

Mrs. Laferty, mother of the bride, wore a pink knit suit with navy accessories. Mrs. Howard, mother of the groom, wore a light-blue dress with black accessories. Both wore orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Third Avenue.

The bride's table had an overlay of white lace and was centered with a tiered wedding cake, topped with a bride and groom, encircled with orange blossoms and pink rosebuds. Mrs. Hardin Short served the cake. Miss Kay Allen and Miss Anne Allen poured coffee and presided at the punch bowl. Others assisting were Miss Jane Osborne and Mrs. Linda Campbell.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Howard are graduates of Prestonsburg high school and were in the '66 graduating class at Prestonsburg Community College. They are residing at 909 East Clark street, Warsaw, Indiana.

Fifty Years of Good Turns Deserves One from Us

During the week Prestonsburg businessmen will be seeking local financial support for Alice Lloyd College. The Times believes this campaign deserves the generous participation of Floyd countians.

For 50 years "Caney," as the junior college and community center have been known, has contributed leadership to the entire Appalachian region. But probably no county has benefited more than Floyd. In fact, until this year when the Prestonsburg Community College drew large numbers of local students, Alice Lloyd educated each year more students from Floyd than from any other county. And even this year, more than 30 percent of the Alice Lloyd enrollment comes from this county.

These students, with an average family income of less than $3,000, are being educated at virtually no cost to themselves. Next year, for example, the college will spend more than $100,000 on the education of Floyd students alone—that from an institution which receives no tax money, no church support and has virtually no endowment income.

In a way, it is as if Alice Lloyd College were pouring $100,000 into the county each year. For it has been proved that "Caney" graduates return to the community after senior college to become prominent, responsible citizens. The names of many of these are familiar to us all: Dr. Russell Hall, Hollie Conley, Charles Clark, Woodrow Allen, Blaine Hall, Gorman Collins, Wayne Ratliff, John Pitts, Delmas Saunders, Clyde Burchett, Burnis Martin, and others.

For 50 years the college has made this contribution and has asked nothing in return from the local area. Although more than 80% of the college's financial support comes from individuals, those investments have come most often from Massachusetts, Ohio, New York, Florida, California—everywhere but from the very region to which the college means so much. If people in far-away states, who only read about Alice Lloyd, have such faith in its program, surely we, who know first-hand of its successes, who work with its alumni everyday, who benefit directly from its program of leadership education, have no excuse to give it other than a generous show of confidence.

For half a century now Alice Lloyd, as community center and college, has given greatly. Now, it's our turn.

FHA HOUSING AID OFFERED TO EASTERN KY. RESIDENTS

Samuel T. Harrison, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, has detailed seven housing specialists to the Eastern Kentucky area to help with the Accelerated Housing Program.

The Farmers Home Administration personnel are in the Eastern Kentucky area to work with low-cost housing.

Kelly Thompson, University of Kentucky graduate, stationed at Harrodsburg, and Tom Bond, Tennessee Tech University graduate, stationed at Bowling Green, are working with Gene Grider, county supervisor, located in the Hager Building at Paintsville.

This office is now serving five counties, Johnson, Martin, Floyd, Pike and Lawrence.

These counties are part of the low-cost housing program that Farmers Home Administration is now conducting in Eastern Kentucky.

The Farmers Home Administration has funds available now for people in these counties for low-cost housing which is modest in design and cost. The University of Kentucky has designed the UK plan, which consists of three bedrooms, kitchen, living room, and bath. These dwellings can be constructed for between $6,000 and $7,000. The cost varies with individuals.

Grider has contacted lumber companies, who are working with the Farmers Home Administration on low-cost housing.

All lumber companies desiring to do so are eligible to build low-cost houses.

Applications are usually processed and construction started within 45 days. One hundred percent financing of lots and dwellings is permissible when the lots are of a desirable nature and well located. The Farmers Home Administration feels that this is a good opportunity for people to become homeowners at payments that are as cheap as rent.

The Farmers Home Administration also has a loan for rural people which will enable them to borrow $1,000 for the construction of bathrooms and other home improvements. This money can be spread over a period of time in such a manner that payments are only $10 a month. In most cases, mortgages are not taken

NEWS MEDIA
GET PREVUE

Of Coming Productions
At Park Amphitheatre;
To Help in Promotion

Representatives of news media in the Jenny Wiley State Park area were guests at a banquet last Thursday evening at May Lodge and were given in preview glimpses of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association's offerings scheduled during the summer.

Acquainted with the work of the Jenny Wiley Drama group and the Department of Parks to add to the enjoyment of residents of the section as well as to that of tourists and to bring cultural advantages to the area, representatives of all news media, press and radio, agreed to help promote the drama season.

Members of the association gave newsmen brief previews of these coming productions:

Irving Berlin's "Mister President," scheduled July 1-2 and July 8-9; "South Pacific," July 15-16 and July 22-23; "HMS Pinafore," July 29-30 and August 5-6; "Annie, Get Your Gun," August 12-13 and 19-20; "The Sound of Music," August 26-27 and September 2-3.

The season opened with the recent concert at the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre by the Louisville Symphony Orchestra, and this was followed last Saturday night with the Miss Floyd County Scholarship Pageant. The next scheduled offering is the appearance at the amphitheatre on June 18 of the Thoroughbred Chorus, of Louisville.

One of the season's features will be the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival, a section of the American Folk Festival, which will be staged at the amphitheatre June 24, 25 and 26.

It was folk songs from this festival, given in preview fashion, which attracted most attention last Thursday night. "Do, Re, Mi," from "The Sound of Music," performed by Mrs. Elmer Beckett and a group of children, also held the interest of the gathering.

legs? That's what was meant, even an unlearned hillbilly such as I know. And if you ever see a stump full of them waving their legs about, you'll know it's a perfect description of frizzly hair (which isn't exactly a curse to some of us).

THE MYSTERY

(You may have heard this anecdote but not in this form. We present it as a horrible example of what may be done to a good story by stretching it.)

Casper M. Toast and his bride of a few hours returned to earth from the outer space of early nuptial bliss with a resounding thump. The first leg of their honeymoon had been interrupted by motor trouble, on this lonely road, on a night as black as the inside of a black hat, and the rain was falling in sheets.

But there was this convenient deserted house. A door hung by one hinge, and paneless windows in the on-and-gone flashes of lightning reminded the groom of eyesless sockets. But it was a haven, and he blithely remarked, "Any old port in a storm," and led his bride across the crumbling threshold.

A cobwebby bedroom, up a creaky stairway, offered the only chance for sleep, this long night, and there they took refuge. But soon, from the darkness down below, came those sounds: Klunk . . . klunk . . . klunk . . . squish. A peal of thunder, and again: Klunk . . . klunk . . . klunk . . . swish.

Casper's bride shivered in terror and wondered aloud. What could be making such a noise? Casper wondered, too, but kept quiet. Finally, the little woman suggested that he go, see. He pretended not to hear.

"My big, brave husband wouldn't be afraid to go downstairs and see, would he?" she chided.

So Casper stuck a reluctant toe to the floor, eased himself out of bed and groped his way toward the door. He felt his way to the head of the stairway but no farther. He made it back to bed, much more quickly than he had left.

"Silly girl," he quavered. "Didn't know what that klunk . . . klunk . . . klunk . . . squish was. It was what I thought it was, all along—an elephant with a wet tennis shoe on his left hind foot."

THERE OUGHTA
BE A LAW . . .

Fred Harris buys a fishing license and takes one fishing trip a year. Goes to Cumberland Lake for a week to 10 days and returns, year after year, with a fine catch. That done, he doesn't touch a rod till the next year.

And we who fish our heads off, at home and abroad, return with mere tales of woe. I am convinced that there is no justice in this world. And certainly I do not want it in the next.

Fourth Test Set For Students June 24

The fourth and final exam in the current series of the Selective Service College Qualification Test will be given on June 24, Colonel Everette S. Stephenson, Kentucky state director of Selective Service, announced this week. Applications for the test may be procured at any Selective Service local board. Colonel Stephenson said. Applications must be postmarked no later than June 1.

Some registrants were late in applying for the first series and may wish to register for the fourth examination. Others who did not apply earlier but wish to take the test may also register. Another group is comprised of students who were required to travel excessive distances to take the first series, either because they completed their applications incorrectly or because of errors in assignment.

To be eligible to take the test an applicant must be a Selective Service registrant who intends to request occupational deferment as a college student. This test will also be open to registrants who are high school seniors or graduates and who are enrolled or plan to enroll in a technical or vocational school, institute, or business college, and who intend to request an occupational deferment on the basis of pursuit of educational goals at such an institution. The Selective Service College Qualification Test, which is optional for eligible registrants, will be given in this section at Pikeville College.

Former Honaker Man Victim of Auto Wreck Near New London, Ohio

Marion Edward Fannin, 21 years old, formerly of Honaker, was killed Sunday in the wreck of his auto near New London, Ohio. Authorities said he was driving alone at the time of the accident.

Fannin was a veteran of the Viet Nam war, having served there over a year. He had been in the last month in New London where he was employed by the Ohio Body Company.

He was the son of Mrs. Lena Case Fannin, of Honaker, and the late Bert Fannin.

Surviving, besides his mother, are three brothers, Wayne, Eddie and Kenney Fannin, all of Honaker.

Funeral rites were conducted today (Thursday) from the home of Mrs. Fannin, ministers of the Church of Christ officiating. Burial in the family cemetery at Honaker was directed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

The supervisors — Jack Brannham, Homer Salisbury and Ellis Martin—reported they had heard only those property-owners who had filed formal protests and that these represented perhaps only a fraction of 1% of the property-owners. They said several protests were valid and that assessments in such cases were adjusted. "Numerous cases of exceptionally low listings, of other people's, were reported to us," the report added, "and, as a result, we recommended increases to fair assessment after reviewing their files."

The supervisors expressed the feeling that the Tax Commissioner's office did the best job possible, in view of the short time given for its work and the loss of Tax Commissioner Clive Akers.

from Salyersville, Pikeville, both Beavers in this county, Louisa, Martin and Johnson county schools. There will be central pick-up points, and each student who wishes to attend should have no transportation difficulty. There will be no charge to the students. Lunches will be furnished to each student. Recreational and cultural pursuits will be available to all.

Students will be notified, beginning Wednesday, May 25, as to whether they have been accepted for the program. As of Monday, there were still openings in band and chorus but the academic orientation and foreign language programs were practically filled. All students will participate in some phase of recreation and will participate in some cultural pursuit, in addition to their main program.

Dr. Campbell said: "If one school in a county does not utilize its total allocations, then first choice will be given to applicants in other schools of that county. If more students, apply than we have positions from counties with small percentage allocations, these students will be given first preference for any positions that may be available. We are interested in having every high school student who could benefit as a participant; so all students who are interested should apply regardless of the number from that high school who might be possible candidates."

7-County Conference Planned Next Month At P'burg College

A meeting was held last Thursday at Prestonsburg Community College to discuss the location and program for conferences that will be held during the latter part of June on Law Appreciation and Community Development.

One of the conferences will be held June 27 at Prestonsburg Community College, with the following counties to be represented: Lawrence, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin, Pike, Floyd, and Knott.

The conference will be divided into three parts. The first speaker will set the tenor for the morning and evening discussions; the second will make the principle address on Public Safety, and then the group will break into county discussion groups considering how each county might implement a public safety program. Lunch will be served at the Prestonsburg High School Cafeteria. During the afternoon, each group will report on how public safety can be implemented in their counties, and Judge Delbert Eagle will deliver a "charge" to the group, stressing the need for public safety as a means of achieving maximum community development.

The primary purpose of these discussion groups is to attempt to present a comprehensive picture of how law appreciation on the part of all citizens actually will aid in community development and the attraction of industry, result in a drop in the need for economic programs and create an uprising in the number of people who would be gainfully employed.

FLOYD SOCIAL SECURITY PAY IN 1965 $4,232,256

A total of 6,436 persons in Floyd county received a total of $4,232,256 in social security benefits in 1965, Thomas L. Read, social security district manager in Pikeville said this week. This represented an increase of $610,740 and 311 recipients over the preceding year.

A large part of the increase in payments resulted from changes made by the social security amendments of 1965, Read said. Those changes which were in addition to the new program of health insurance for the aged, included a 7% increase in monthly benefits retroactive to January 1965; benefits for widows as early as 60; benefits for full-time students between 18 and 22; benefits for some divorced women; benefits for some people over 72 who hadn't worked long enough to get social security before; and the payment of disability insurance benefits to workers who are unable to work because of a disability that lasts 12 months or more.

"In addition to the people who began getting benefits in 1965 because of these changes," Read continued, "a good many older people, upon applying for medicare, found they were eligible for regular social security benefits, too. All in all, the 1965 figures for Floyd county include 1,689 retired workers, 544 disabled workers and their families, and 4,203 widows, wives and children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers. The monthly social security payment to the 6,436 people of Floyd county represents $352,688 monthly income into this area."

Betsy Layne 4-H's Are County Champions In '66 Auto Project

Paul DeClue and Georgia Gibson, of the Betsy Layne 4-H Auto Club, were selected as the Floyd county champions during competition held last Thursday at the Allen school as the closing feature of the 4-H automobile project for 1966.

Second-place winners were Patty Taylor, Prestonsburg, and Marilyn Hurd, of Martin. The third-place winners were Barbara Hall, McDowell, and Ronald Ball, Prestonsburg. Carolyn Spriggs, of the Allen club, was fourth in the girls division.

Other class winners eligible to participate were Terry Kidd, Honaker; Darrell Bentley, Allen; Junior Dudleyson, Martin; Roger Johnson, Bevinville; Mike Conley, Price; Toley Owens, Prater; Katherine Spurlock, Dana; Linda Yates, Martin; Susie Jones, Bevinville; Ruby Rice, Banner.

The two county champions are students in the class of Rev. Frank DeClue, Calvary Baptist Church, Betsy Layne. They will represent Floyd county in the state contest to be held as a part of the State Fair.

In the Floyd program 920 boys and girls were enrolled in 38 classes.

KEA ASKS WHERE FAULT LIES IF INCOMPETENTS PROTECTED

If a teacher on tenure is incompetent and is not dismissed, where does the fault lie?

Not with the tenure law itself, says a Northern Kentucky school superintendent. He blames boards of education and superintendents who "don't have the guts to take a stand" in such instances, because "they fear public reaction and court procedure."

Another superintendent, from Eastern Kentucky, asserts, "The tenure law is an excellent law!" He adds, "Most board and superintendents just don't let undesirable teachers get on tenure."

A superintendent from another section of Eastern Kentucky, however, speaks bitterly about the tenure law:

"The courts always protect the teacher. The tenure law is the worst thing that ever hit instruction. The people who say it is protection for incompetency are right. This county has some teachers who are not doing anything for the system, but they are well-protected from any interference by the umbrella of the tenure law."

Comments of the three superintendents came in response to a Kentucky Education Association (KEA) research-division survey to determine the number of tenure teachers (the term as used here includes administrators) who have been dismissed or have resigned upon request during the past five years.

Replying to the KEA questionnaire were 157 of Kentucky's 200 public-school superintendents. According to data supplied by them:

1. Thirty-five tenure teachers have been dismissed in the five-year period from the 1960-'61 through 1964-'65 school years.

The charges against them were spread among the four listed in the tenure law as grounds for termination of a teacher's continuing contract. Two were dismissed for insubordination, 15 for immoral character or conduct unbecoming a teacher, eight for physical or mental disability, and 10 for inefficiency, incompetency, or neglect of duty.

2. Of those 35 tenure teachers who were dismissed, only eight asked for a hearing on the charges against them. The tenure law makes such hearings mandatory if teachers ask for them.

3. Ninety-three tenure teachers resigned by request to avoid being dismissed or having charges brought.

Five of these would have been charged with insubordination, 30 with immoral character or conduct unbecoming a teacher, 17 with physical or mental disability.

ity, and 39 with inefficiency, incompetency, or neglect of duty. No reason was spelled out for two others.

Several superintendents emphasized that they have dismissed a number of obviously inadequate teachers before such persons reached tenure status—the fifth year of employment. Teachers receive one-year contracts during their first four years of teaching.

"We are very careful about placing teachers on tenure in the first place," wrote a Western Kentucky superintendent.

Of the 157 superintendents who completed the KEA questionnaire, 81 said they believe that under Kentucky's tenure law it is "difficult" to dismiss an incompetent teacher.

On this point a Central Kentucky superintendent commented, "The difficulty rests in convincing the school board and a jury of 12 peers. Too frequently we haven't prepared an adequate case history."

An Eastern Kentucky superintendent wrote, "We have felt the need to remove teachers, but have steered around it because we felt it almost impossible to handle without a messy situation."

A Western Kentucky superintendent said his board dropped the idea of fighting a court case against an incompetent teacher because the board "didn't want the publicity of a trial."

Fifty-three superintendents said they feel it is "almost impossible" to dismiss incompetent teachers under the tenure law. Twelve others, however, said it is "not difficult" and four said it is "easy."

"I don't believe any teacher could stand the pressure of teaching under me if I didn't feel she was doing her job," wrote an Eastern Kentucky superintendent.

Most superintendents apparently try to persuade incompetent or undesirable tenure teachers to resign to avoid dismissal or legal wrangling. Along those lines a Central Kentucky superintendent said:

"The question of a tenure teacher has never come directly before me. There have been a few cases where tenure teachers were urged to resign or it was indirectly suggested that they resign. This always seemed to accomplish the purpose."

"There were other cases where I was most careful to see that the individual did not reach tenure. However, the resignation of these teachers was usually accomplished through a conference either with the principal or the superintendent. Even in a few cases when I wrote the teacher stating that he would not be re-employed, the teacher subsequently wrote a letter of resignation."

Reviewing the survey results, Dr. J. M. Dodson, KEA executive secretary, had this to say:

"Like any other profession,

Film Presentation
To Feature Rally
At Allen Church

"Fast Way Nowhere," a new feature-length dramatic film, will be shown at the Allen Baptist Church at 7 p.m., May 27, as a youth rally feature.

Filmed in Eastman color in an upper midwestern setting, it takes a bold look into the life and times of today's teens.

Billy Zeoli, president of Gospel Films, Inc., in releasing the film for public showings said, "It is high time to challenge the assumption that today's teenagers are miniature adults to whom parental responsibility can be met with expensive gifts. Left to his own devices, today's teen will copy the only, yet faulty, example he has — today's adult, whose god is money and whose motivating force is the accumulation of material wealth."

Daring to challenge the new accepted conduct, "Fast Way Nowhere" uncovers the teenage world of deceit with stunning truth. From the spinning wheels of motor bikes in a daring, near-disastrous race of initiation to tragic death at the hands of party crashers, this dramatic new color motion picture tells the story of the short-circuited morality of the lively ones.

SBA HONORS 'ECK' CHANDLER AS KY. SMALL BUSINESSMAN

Escom "Eck" Chandler, of Paintsville, Wednesday was named State Small Businessman of the Year by the Small Business Administration.

He is the active partner and general manager of the largest laundry and dry cleaning business in the five-county area of Johnson, Floyd, Martin, Lawrence and Magoffin counties. His business, which was virtually a one-man shop when started in 1946, now has four locations employing 62 persons.

In presenting the certificate naming Mr. Chandler State Small Businessman of the Year, SBA Regional Director R. B. Blankenship said, "Mr. Chandler's success story is one of the best examples of what an ambitious man can do through our great American system of free enterprise, the foundation on which the greatest nation on earth has been built."

Chandler, in addition to successfully guiding his business enterprise, the Paintsville Dry Cleaners and Laundry, has brought about progressive civic improvements in Paintsville and surrounding areas through many years of civic service.

While serving overseas during World War II, he was elected mayor of Paintsville, in absentia, and has served twice as president of the Paintsville Chamber of Commerce. Chandler is a member of the First Baptist Church of Paintsville, has served as Sunday School superintendent, superintendent of the Bridgeford Mission in Paintsville, chairman of deacons and as teacher of the Men's Bible Class. He has also served on the state executive board of the Kentucky Baptist Convention, and is chairman of the church Building Committee which plans to construct a new church building this year.

Mr. Chandler is director of the Citizens National Bank of Paintsville and is married to the former Katherine Preston, of Paintsville.

Five Floyd Workers Among Those Honored For Dist. 12 Service

Four hundred fifteen years of service with the Kentucky Department of Highways were represented last Friday in a ceremony honoring 32 employees of District 12, Pikeville. The program was a follow-up to one held recently in Frankfort where Commissioner Ward honored the 40- and 35-year veteran employees with the Department of Highways.

Star guests in the Friday program were Mrs. Henrietta Preston, Pikeville, and Northcutt Rawlings, Whitesburg, who were honored for having completed 30 years each with the Department of Highways.

In his remarks to the group, District Engineer Wendell Bayes, one of those honored for completing 15 years with the Department, said that more and more people are becoming career employees. Road-building today, he said, requires qualified, experienced personnel. The Highway program offers splendid opportunity to those who are ambitious, hard-working and qualified, he added.

During the ceremony, letters of congratulations were read from Commissioner Ward and Ralph Kessinger, Assistant Commissioner for Office of Personnel Management.

Certificates of award and pins were presented to the following:

Oil, Water Well Law Changes Told

Frankfort — A. H. Mandt, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, reminds operators of water and oil wells of changes in the Oil and Gas Conservation Act.

- Posting of a surety bond guaranteeing the proper plugging of abandoned wells and the filing of all required records with the Department of Mines and Minerals.

- Obtaining of a permit for the drilling of exploratory test holes and water-supply wells for oil-producing projects. These types of wells are currently excluded from the law.

Mandt said copies of the statute and bond form changes may be obtained from the Division of Oil and Gas, Post Office Box 680, Lexington, Kentucky 40501.

MRS. COMBS EXHIBITS ART WORK AT LIBRARY

Twenty paintings and drawings by Mrs. Duna Combs, of Langley, on display the last 10 days at the Floyd County Library, constitutes the first such art display ever held at the new library. Although Mrs. Combs has taken part in other exhibits, this is her first "one-man" show.

Duna Combs is not a woman to hide her talents under a bushel. She likes to share her know-how and ability with others. She teaches art five days a week at Garrett high school. For a total of seven years, she has taught in various Floyd county schools, and, before that, she taught at Eastern State College, Richmond. Graduated from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, the artist was an art education major.

Of her work, Mrs. Combs says, "I prefer to work with colors, forms impressionistically rather than realistically. Some of these paintings (on display) are transmissions of images and impressions from nature. Some are of the colors, forms we see in the mountains around us."

Art of the Medieval Period and that of the Early Renaissance masters is of greatest interest to Mrs. Combs. The work of the impressionists has also influenced her to some extent. But of the more modern art, she says, "It leaves me cold, because it has no humanitarian quality or spirit."

Mrs. Combs is extremely enthusiastic about the fact that it was possible for her show to be held at the Floyd County Library. Sunday, May 15, the official opening of the two-week exhibit, got off to a grand start, with approximately 100 interested citizens taking advantage of the event by dropping by the Library, browsing, and attending the reception that followed. Many of these commented that it was the most enjoyable event in years.

Those who cooperated in making the exhibit at the library successful and possible are: Mrs. Marriet Allen, of Langley; Mrs. Frank Borardi, of Martin; Mrs. Fred Francis, Mrs. Richard Martin, Mrs. Harris Howard and Mrs. Eileen Burchett, all of Prestonsburg, who poured during the reception; Lee Shamon and T. A. Combs, who assisted in hanging the exhibit; Charles Patton, Floyd county librarian; Homer Lee Hall, Eastern Kentucky Regional Librarian, and Mrs. R. V. May, chairman of the Floyd County Library Board, and Board members who were instrumental in getting consent to have the exhibit in the library. Two Garrett high school seniors who helped at the opening on Sunday were Miss Daina Hicks and Miss Brenda Turner.

MED LOANS MADE TO 11

First-Year Students In Medicine Assisted By Scholarship Fund

Scholarship loans for 11 first-year medical students were approved at a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund, according to C. C. Howard, M.D., Glasgow, board chairman.

Seven of these recipients have agreed to practice in counties listed as "critically in need of physicians." Five additional first-year applicants are still under consideration, Dr. Howard said.

First-year applicants approved by the board, and who have agreed to serve in "critical" counties, are: Orson Luther Arvin and Clifford Verne Jennings, both of Louisville; Kenneth Earle Hines and William Henry Matthew, both of Owensboro; James Dean, Booneville; Preston Nunneley, Jr., Mt. Vernon; and Bobby Robinson, Beattyville.

Others approved for regular first-year loans are: Roger Lynn Henson, Mt. Olivet; Russell C. Holtzclaw, Stanford; Ivan Roger Morehouse and James David Richardson, both of Morehead.

There are two scholarship plans offered by the Fund. One plan stipulates that a recipient may make a loan up to $1,300 a year at the rate of 2% to maturity, if he promises to practice in a rural section acceptable to the Fund for each year he gets a loan.

Under the second plan, a student may borrow up to $2,000 a year, provided that he contracts to practice in a county designated as having a critical shortage of physicians. One year's loan will be waived for each year that he practices in one of these counties.

The 10 "critical" counties selected for 1966-'67 on the basis of information supplied by the Kentucky Medical Association and the State Board of Health are: Carter, Martin, Knott, Crittenden, Metcalfe, Powell, Lewis, Wolfe, Rockcastle and Magoffin.

As an incentive to the physician who wishes to start practice in one of the 10 "critical" counties, the Fund will lend $2,000, repayable at the rate of $500 per year. For each year of practice in a "critical" county, $500 of the loan will be waived.

Ten "semi-critical" counties have also been designated, and a physician may borrow up to $1,000 to set up practice there. For each year of practice in these counties, $250 will be forgiven. Semi-critical counties are: Leslie, Owsley, Jackson, Butler, Breathitt, Lincoln, Meade, Owen, Clay and Estill.

Dr. Howard said that the board is particularly appreciative of the continued interest and support of Governor Edward Breathitt, Health Commissioner Russell Teague, and the General Assembly.

Two Historic Homes May Become Shrines, Owned by the State

Two more historic Kentucky homes—the Mary Todd Lincoln house in Lexington, and the Madison county home of Abolitionist Cassius M. Clay — may become state historical shrines.

Governor Edward T. Breathitt has appointed State Finance Commissioner Felix Joyner, Parks Commissioner Robert Bell, and Mrs. Simeon Willis, of the State Heritage Commission, to explore methods for state acquisition of the properties.

Mrs. Willis, speaking for the Heritage Commission, said:

"We have worked and hoped for the acquisition of these two historically important homes for 18 months. Now that the planning stage is actually here, members of the Commission are ready to work for another 18 months to acquire and restore them. After all, that's our reason for being."

Miss Esther Bennett, of Richmond, great-granddaughter of Clay and present owner of White Hall, has said she would like to see the residence turned into a monument to her ancestor.

The Mary Todd Lincoln home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Coke, of Lexington, is presently leased to the Van Deren Hardware Company.

'UPWARD BOUND' PROJECT TO HELP HIGH SCHOOLERS

Pippa Passes, Ky.—"I'm looking for 100 11th and 12th graders who want one of the most rewarding summers of their lives."

That is the call Bruce Taylor, director of Project Upward Bound, has issued in his effort to establish a broad program of remedial education and motivational experiences.

Sponsored by Alice Lloyd College and funded through the Office of Economic Opportunity, Upward Bound proposes to supplement the cultural and academic background of high school students from low income families and to instill in the young people a desire to continue their education into college.

Enrollees from Floyd, Letcher, Perry, Knott, Magoffin and Leslie counties will live during the summer months in a campus environment at the former site of the Stuart Robinson School in Letcher county, which Alice Lloyd has leased especially for the Upward Bound program.

Daily classes will be conducted in English, mathematics, science and history and, Taylor said, teachers in these areas will supplement the conventional textbook methods with special attention to the individual weaknesses of the students.

The director, a teacher in the Jefferson county school system, said his staff, comprised of both high school and college instructors, will make every effort to be as flexible as possible. To balance the academic subjects offered in the mornings, afternoons will be devoted to music, drama, art, photography, physical fitness and other special interest areas.

Special activities, he said, will include trips to Lexington and Louisville, a tour of the Bluegrass region, a visit to Jenny Wiley State Park and trips to various governmental offices.

Students enrolled in the Upward Bound project will receive free room and board, a weekly spending allowance and free medical care. They will be allowed to spend week-ends at home.

According to Taylor, the project is not limited to the summer months, but will be followed up during the next academic year with a program of regular visitation and guidance counseling. "We must make sure the motivation received during the summer doesn't die," the director said.

Those interested in the program are invited by Taylor to contact him at Alice Lloyd College.

Alice Lloyd College Names Ackley As Aid To President Hayes

Pippa Passes, Ky.—E. Clayton Ackley, assistant to the president and director of development and public relations at Greensboro College since 1962, has been named assistant to the president at Alice Lloyd College, a co-educational junior college located about 140 miles southeast of Lexington.

Ackley, as assistant to the president, will head Alice Lloyd's development program and will oversee the work of staff members in the areas of development and public relations.

Ackley will take the place of Quentin Bogart, assistant to the president for development since 1963. Bogart, who is resigning in order to work toward a doctor's degree in college administration, has been awarded a $2,500 W. K. Kellogg Fellowship to continue his studies at the University of Texas in Austin.

Job Corps Restrictions Lifted Thru June 30th, Youths Offered Chance

Frankfort, Ky., May 20—Quota restrictions on Job Corps recruiting have again been suspended, this time through June 30, giving Kentucky youths another chance to enroll.

It was the second time this year Job Corps officials in Washington have lifted restrictions on quotas in both rural and city areas across the country. Unemployed boys, aged 16 to 21, may apply at the nearest office of the Kentucky State Employment Service.

Officials of the Kentucky Department of Economic Security, said the changes in procedure eliminate most medical examinations and assure that the candidate will be notified within five days about his acceptance, camp assignment, and departure date.

State Economic Security Commissioner C. Leslie Dawson emphasized that the temporary easing of quota restrictions and exemption from medical exams do not mean that all criteria for screening applicants have been lifted.

"The Job Corps still has standards which must be met, but it is trying to allow as many youths as possible to have a second chance to pursue a useful vocation," Dawson explained.

The Job Corps is a voluntary, resident training program established under the Economic Opportunity Act to give disadvantaged youths a chance to help themselves.

Some of the practical classes at Job Corps Camps include basic education, farming, forestry, surveying, carpentry, masonry, fire control, and retail trade. Job Corps camps in Kentucky are located at Frenchburg, Cumberland Gap, Morganfield and Mammoth Cave.
