SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1966

This Town ... That World

SUGGESTION
Martin's Mayor John Roberts has suggested that we ask readers to write Senator Dirksen, expressing their support of his amendment to restore prayer to the schools of the land. We do so, gladly.

At the same time, we're having a bit of trouble understanding this piece of legislation another Senator has offered to permit silent, voluntary prayer in the schools. Who needs a law to give him a right to silent prayer, anywhere?

The telephone would be an unmitigated blessing if we weren't afraid to leave the receiver off, lest one of the brood might call.

THE TOILSOME LOAD
The following, received by mail last week, tells its own tragic story:

Have you ever given any real thought to what your cross in life is? And if you could have selected it, would it have been a different one?

I'm sure God in His wisdom gave us each a cross, and I have no difficulty in identifying mine—Alcohol.

I've been carrying this cross since I was twenty years old and married a nice young man. Only a few years and two children later, I had to stand helplessly by and see him become an alcoholic.

But the many heartaches I suffered were softened when my children would put their arms around me and say, "Please, don't cry, Mother, there is one thing you will never have to worry about—we will never drink."

But as they grew into adulthood things changed. My husband passed away and they were both married, and to my sorrow both started drinking. Without realizing it, they were adding to the weight of my cross. Only today I looked at a picture of my grandson, who is fighting in Viet Nam, and along with other companions was proudly displaying a whiskey bottle.

My first thought was, "Father, this cross is getting heavier all the time."

And so today, when so many people are living in dread of getting old, I thank God my years are adding up and before too much longer I can lay down this cross and take up a crown.

By the time this newspaper reaches many of you, summer will have joined the centuries on centuries of summers past, and fall will be with, or upon, us. Horrid thought—only 93 days till Christmas!

Dewey Lake, they say, is turning over. Wonder why its turning doesn't bring those bass from the bottom?

HUGE BEAVER CREEK PROJECT NEARS OK

$12 MILLION UTILITY JOB ENVISIONED

System Would Provide Water Service, Sewers In Biggest EDA Project

What may be the largest project in both expense and cost yet undertaken through Economic Development Administration appeared this week to be nearing the point of approval for the Beaver Creeks area of this county.

It involves the projected expenditure of $12,710,000 on the construction of a water system and sewerage to serve both Right and Left Beaver Creeks and an estimated 20,000 persons.

The successful conclusion of two years of effort on the part of officials of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District to get EDA approval of the giant undertaking was seen with the assurance from Washington that their application for a federal grant and loan has received all necessary approvals and now awaits only the final signature for the official announcing of the grant and loan commitment.

The proposed improvement calls for:

1. A water plant to serve both forks of Beaver Creek and 35 or more communities with a capacity of 2½ million gallons of water per day.
2. A sewer system to complement the water service to the several communities and remove pollution from the two streams.
3. Construction on Turkey Creek of a 160-acre reservoir with an average depth of 40 feet, a purification and pumping plant there and a series of 12 supply tanks located at strategic points.
4. Installation of a sewerage treatment plant on Right Beaver Creek, below Maytown, and another on Left Beaver, in the Salisbury area—both to operate largely on gravity flow.

All this and the approximately 160 miles of water mains would be financed through an EDA grant of 60% of the total cost, or $7,626,000. The remaining $5,084,000 would be financed through EDA long-term revenue bonds.

The system would serve between 3,000 and 3,500 families and business firms. Communities expected to be afforded water and sewerage facilities are Ligon, (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

Teachers To Attend In-Service Workshop

Floyd county schools will not be in session tomorrow (Friday) as teachers come here for the second in-service workshop of the year. The program will include group sessions Friday morning, and that afternoon teachers will be instructed in groups in the use of teaching aids made available through federal funds. These aids include overhead projectors, transparency makers, film-strip projectors and tape recorders.

MUD CREEK GETS $5,000

For Drilling of Wells; OEO Will Supplement Funds from Governor

Governor Edward T. Breathitt, last week appropriated $5,000 from his emergency fund toward the drilling of deep wells from which Mud Creek citizens will be offered a temporary supply of pure water.

Cost of drilling the wells has been placed at $26,000. The governor's action set the stage for a grant of the remaining $21,000 from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Breathitt had been assured OEO would make that amount available if he appropriated $5,000.

Meanwhile, plans continue to be developed for the construction of a central water system for the Route 979 area, which includes Mud Creek and a small section of Left Beaver Creek. This venture will depend heavily on federal funds.

Harry Eastburn, director of the six-county Big Sandy Area Development Council, said testing in the Mud Creek area showed 95% of the present wells are contaminated.

Mrs. Ellen Flannery Dies In 90th Year; Burial Made at Allen

Mrs. Ellen Carr Flannery, 89 years old, of Allen, died last Wednesday at the Mountain Manor Convalescent Home here after an illness of three years.

Mrs. Flannery was a daughter of the late Ira and Rebecca Spears Conn, and was twice married—first to Nathan Carr, and following his death, to Wes Flannery, who also preceded her in death.

She is survived by three sons, (See Story No. 8, Page 6)

NATIVE OF MARTIN RECEIVES RESEARCH GRANT OF $45,000 FROM INSTITUTE OF HEALTH

Dr. Donald Frazier, native Floyd countian who since 1962 has been a member of the University of New Mexico's Medical School staff, recently received from the National Institute of Health a $45,000 grant to continue research work on the central nervous system.

At the fall meeting of the American Physiological Society in Houston, Texas, he presented a paper on research involving how information is processed in the central nervous system.

Dr. Frazier, who is now nearing his 31st birthday, is a son of Mrs. Ethel Frazier, of Martin, and the late Thaeo Frazier. After graduating from Martin high school, he earned the B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Kentucky and his M.D. from the University of Louisville School of Medicine. He is a member of Sigma Xi, national research society, Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity and the Christian Church.

Mental Health Ass'n Names New Officers At Meeting, Tuesday

The Floyd County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Association held its monthly meeting here Tuesday and elected new officers. Elected were:

Rondall Lawson, president; Betty Popp, vice-president; Blanche Dingus, secretary-treasurer; Gladys Allen, membership chairman.

Appointed as publicity chairman was Helen B. Wells.

The group discussed plans for the five counties in Region 20—Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin. Jack Davidson was elected to serve on the 15-man regional board to replace Mrs. Dora Stephens, who resigned.

Plans were also discussed for a membership drive, with a goal of 500. It was pointed out that all the other counties in this region have large and more active county organizations. If Floyd is to keep pace and be in position for state and federal grants to build and staff facilities to meet the mental health needs of the county, it must get busy and support its own county organization, it was emphasized.

Any Floyd county resident is eligible for membership.

The next meeting will be held October 18, the hour and place to be announced.

Former Floyd Resident, Fred Hunt, Is Claimed Sept. 15 at age of 78

Fred Hunt, 78, a retired miner, died at 8:30 p.m. last Thursday at his home north of Lawrenceburg on State highway 151. He was a native of Floyd county and a member and deacon of the Brandy Keg Free Will Baptist Church.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Maudie Campbell Hunt, a son, Russell Hunt, Lawrenceburg; two daughters, Mrs. James Meadows, Lawrenceburg, and Mrs. Edith Kendrick, of Louisville; two brothers, Dewey and Oliver Hunt, of Lancer; three sisters, Mrs. Mack Childers, Catlettsburg, Mrs. Preston Yancey, Charleston, W. Va., and Mrs. Ella Calhoun, (See Story No. 9, Page 6)

WET ACTION VOID, CLAIM

Hobson Says Summons To Witnesses Invalid; Lowe Named Spl. Judge

Subpoenas calling for the appearance in court Monday morning of a number of voters listed by Wet contestants as having illegally cast their votes in the July local option election were invalid, Joe Hobson, attorney for Dry forces, said here this week.

Hobson said only verbal summons was made on the witnesses by Constable Corbin Joseph. He said he is advising witnesses to ignore future summons, unless they are given a copy of the subpoena.

Pike Circuit Judge Charles Lowe has been designated by the Court of Appeals to preside as special judge in the trial of the case. He suspended proceedings Monday upon learning that Mr. Hobson's wife was ill and in the hospital here.

The Rev. Adrian J. Roberts, chairman of the Floyd County Christian Dry League, has by agreement become a party contestee in the case. The original suit named the county election commission.

The minister was given till October 3 to file his answer to contestant's petition and 30 days in which to file a counter-contest. The schedule for future steps in the case follows:

Wets have 30 days after the filing of the counter-suit to complete their case in chief; Drys have 30 days after that to complete their main case; Wets then have seven days for rebuttal, with the Drys given five days after that for their rebuttal.

Hobson said the answer to the original contest action against the election commission will be filed this week.

First-Aid Sessions To Begin October 3

A class in first-aid and medical self-help will hold its first session at the Prestonsburg Community College Monday evening, October 3, under the sponsorship of The Floyd County Civil Defense organization.

The two-hour sessions will be held weekly until those enrolled have had 15 hours of training. Instructors will be Petty Thompson, county Civil Defense head, and Willard Stanley, of the Kentucky Department of Mines & Minerals.

In a joint announcement made Tuesday at Frankfort Commissioner of Commerce Katherine Peden and Robert Stix, vice-president of manufacturing, U.S. Shoe Company, confirmed the decision of the shoe company to locate its 26th plant in the vicinity of Prestonsburg.

'HUNG' JURY IS DISMISSED

In Trial of Jarrell For Slaying of Music; Four Convictions Made

The jury in the Jarrell trial was dismissed Wednesday night as hopelessly disagreed.

Trial of Russell Jarrell for the slaying at his Cow Creek home of Darwin Music was nearing its conclusion Wednesday afternoon in circuit court here.

It is the lone murder case before the court.

Commonwealth testimony was completed by noon Wednesday after all the preceding day had been required to empanel a jury.

Four other cases heard within the week resulted in convictions, three of the four defendants entering pleas of guilty.

Bobby Joseph was fined $20 and given a 30-day jail term after pleading guilty to a liquor-selling charge. Herman Joseph's trial on the same charge went to a jury which fined him $100 and fixed his jail term at 30 days.

Pay Moore pleaded guilty to a charge of damaging private property. His fine was $100, and he was jailed for three months. Arvil Adkins was given a one-year pen term on his plea of guilty to a charge of knowingly receiving stolen property.

Bobby Joseph has begun serving his jail term. Herman Joseph has executed bond for appeal, as have Sadie Click and Herman Perry, who were convicted on liquor charges last week. (Mrs. Click's jail term is 30 days, not 60 as was erroneously reported in The Times last week.)

Trial of Mrs. Maude Fitzpatrick, who is accused of aiding in the commission of an attack on another, was continued till the November term because she has not recovered from injuries suffered a few weeks ago when struck by a motor vehicle.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo said the trial of Catherine Martin on a false-swearing count was continued to (See Story No. 4, Page 6)

U.S. SHOE CO. TELLS PLANS FOR FACTORY

Prestonsburg Vicinity Wins Over 6 Ky. Cities; Bidding To Start Soon

Work on the plant, which will be located in the Goble-Roberts Addition area, across the Big Sandy river from Knotley Hollow, near Lancer, is to begin within the next three to four weeks, the announcement said.

Cost of constructing the plant structure and equipping it is estimated at $900,000. This work will be financed by City of Prestonsburg revenue bonds which will be amortized over a 15-year period during which U.S. Shoe Company contracts to pay a rental adequate to meet payments of principal and interest.

Late last month, U.S. Shoe committed itself to make the plant location here if Prestonsburg met certain conditions. The City Council immediately accepted the conditions, and since that time city officials had awaited the final commitment which came Tuesday.

In addition to constructing and equipping a plant with approximately 60,000 square feet of floor space, the city was required to provide highway approaches, utilities adequate to serve the plant and to conduct a training program for employees. Cooperation of the Kentucky Department of Highways on highway improvements and the state divisions of Economic Security and Vocational education for employee training was enlisted without difficulty.

This cooperation of the people, Mayor Archer, the City Council, the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce, the various state (See Story No. 5, Page 6)

BAYES TELLS ROAD PLANS

Highway Contractors Told 200 Miles of Road To Be Built in District

Wendell Bayes, Pikeville, district engineer, Kentucky Department of Highways, told contractors and others attending the district meeting of the Kentucky Association of Highway Contractors at May Lodge last Friday evening that approximately 200 of the 430 miles of Appalachian highways to be built in the next five years will be in the Pikeville highway district.

Among the 80 persons attending the meeting were members of the Association, representatives of the U.S. Bureau of Roads and the district and state offices of the Department of Highways, county judges and bankers of the area, Vic Comley, executive director of the Kentucky Association of Highway Contractors, presided.

Other speakers included H. D. Young, principal assistant engineer for construction, Department of Highways; Elmer Greer, president of Greer Brothers and Young Construction Company, London, Kentucky, and president of the Association of Contractors; John Kemp, division engineer, U.S. Bureau of Roads; and Frank Kemper, director of the Division of Construction, State Department of Highways.

The May Lodge meeting was the fourth in a series. The meetings, jointly sponsored by the Bureau of Roads, the Department of Highways and the contractors, are intended to effect better understanding and closer cooperation in the solving of road-building problems.

U.S. 23 TO BE 4-LANE HIGHWAY, WARD SAYS IN ASHLAND SPEECH

The Kentucky Department of Highways will rebuild U.S. 23 as a four-lane highway and make other improvements to routes on the Appalachian system as federal regulations and financing permit, Highway Commissioner Henry Ward said at Ashland Wednesday in an address before members of the U.S. Highway 23 Association.

Ward stressed the importance of a full understanding of all the facts regarding the Appalachian program, particularly the fact that the State Highway Department does not have authority to make independent decisions as to design standards for the highways when federal funds are to be used.

"There has been much confusion and misunderstanding about this program since its inception, and as to intentions of the Kentucky Department of Highways," he said. "For example, Kentucky has always intended to rebuild U.S. 23 as a four-lane highway through the Ashland and Pikeville areas, and has never swerved from this position."

Ward noted that his fight to keep some of the richer states from grabbing the lion's share of the Appalachian funds for their superhighways was interpreted as indicating he favored only two-lane roads. "I am in favor of building roads to serve people, and the number of lanes is determined by engineering calculations based on traffic demands, not on policy or political considerations. These studies show that many miles of the Appalachian highway system will need to have four lanes, or right-of-way purchased for the addition of lanes at a later date. They also show that some of the highways would be adequate as two-lane facilities, particularly with passing lanes. Under federal regulations, a highway requiring four lanes cannot be built with federal funds as a two-lane facility. Those same federal regulations prohibit the state from building a four-lane highway when engineering studies show two lanes would carry the traffic.

"The Kentucky Department of Highways, for all practical purposes, operates as an agent of the federal government in the administration of the Appalachian Highway Program," Ward continued. "We are required to abide by federal policies and regulations set forth by four federal authorities. These are: (1) The Appalachian Act passed by Congress, which sets forth policies and objectives and details how the act is to be administered; (2) the Appalachian Regional Commission, created by Congress, which has authority to adopt the highway system, corridors, priorities, and to set policies which the states must follow; (3) The Secretary of Commerce, to whom Congress delegated authority to adopt certain regulations and standards; (4) the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, which is given authority to direct the states in carrying out the act, and to adopt certain regulations and requirements the states must follow.

The commissioner said these federal agencies have set forth specific requirements which the states must follow if they are to use any of the funds provided by the act and that the states must consider all of them. He added that this is what has created some of the confusion.

"Furthermore, in Kentucky's case," he said, "we cannot ignore the fact that only a specific amount of money is available to improve the Appalachian Highway system. It is my positive judgment that the entire system cannot be improved to desirable standards within the funds that have been authorized by Congress and the voters of Kentucky.

"When Congress passed the act, it authorized $840 million for a five-year program to improve (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

DEDICATION OF DAM SET, 7 GET FUNDS

One Eastern Kentucky dam is ready for dedication, and funds are on the way for construction or planning of seven others in the area.

The $20 million John W. Flannagan Dam, near Haysi, Virginia, will be dedicated Saturday.

The House Appropriation Committee last Thursday approved these amounts for Eastern Kentucky reservoir construction:

Carr Fork, Knott county, $4.8 million; Cave Run, Rowan county, $4.5 million; Fishtrap, Pike county, $9.6 million; Grayson, Carter county, $7.5 million; Red River, Powell county, $400,000.

Appropriations for planning: Yatesville Reservoir, Lawrence county, $200,000; Paintsville, Johnson county, $200,000.

The date when the appropriations bill, which with these and other projects over the country will call for the expenditure of $4.1 billion, will come before the House is not definitely known.

The dam near Haysi which is scheduled for dedication Saturday saved Prestonsburg, Paintsville and other Big Sandy towns an estimated $15.4 million damage in March, 1963, although it was far from complete at the time.

Tallent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Tallent, of Langley, Kentucky, at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of August 21, at the First Methodist Church here. The pastor, the Rev. Adrian J. Roberts, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The altar, banked with palms, ferns and white gladioli and the mums interspersed with tapers with brass candelabra was the setting for the ceremony. Mrs. Chalmer H. Frazier presented a program of organ nuptial music preceding the ceremony. Mr. Gus Kalos was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath wedding gown of silk organza, fashioned with a rounded neckline, long sleeves and closely fitted empire bodice, detailed with a wide band of Venice lace, her sheath skirt with Dior back bow terminating into a full chapel train. A tiny queen's crown of Swiss cut crystals and seed pearls secured her bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid, tied with satin streamers and knotted with stephanotis.

Miss Kay Milligan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pink organza and carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Jones Tallent, of Langley, served his son as best man. Ushers were Larry Milligan, brother of the bride, and Frank McGuire, Jr.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Tallent left for a brief honeymoon. They are residing at Ft. Storey, Virginia.

OIL COMPANY BUYS CONSOL

Coal Holdings Purchase Believed Biggest Deal In U.S. Business History

Continental Oil Company last week completed its acquisition of the Consolidation Coal Company in what it described as the largest single financing transaction in the history of American business.

In a New York press conference Continental's chairman, Leonard F. McCollum, said, "The most important aspect of this acquisition is the tremendous potential of oil and coal working together to meet world-wide demand. It is no longer a question of one source of energy pushing on another source. By 1980, the free world's need for economic sources of fossil energies for electricity generation, transportation and other basic industries will be doubled." McCollum said pooling the resources of the two companies will speed Consol's research on producing gasoline and pipeline gas from coal.

George H. Love, Consol chairman, said Consol will continue to operate as a separate entity, with its own board of directors, and will continue to expand its coal operations. The company has large coal holdings in Eastern Kentucky.

May Lodge Reception Honors Mrs. Browning, World Head of O.E.S.

Mrs. Iley B. (Josephine Harkins) Browning, most worthy grand matron of the General Chapter, World Order of Eastern Star, who entered the order with Floyd county's Adah Chapter, returned here September 10 for a day of honor climaxed by a reception and tribute attended by more than 300 members, representing 15 states.

Most of the attendants were members of Adah, Paintsville, or other neighboring chapters.

Mayor George P. Archer, who had declared Saturday special in honor of Mrs. Browning's return, delivered a welcome before the group convened in May Lodge at Jenny Wiley State Park.

It was a glamorous evening for the organization, complete with flourishing trumpets and heraldry. The Jenny Wiley Chapters, led by Mrs. Tom James, sang for the gathering.

In addition to Mrs. Browning, honors were also given to Irvin Arrowood and Mrs. Lenore Gullett by their home Paintsville chapter.

Mrs. Marguerite Wilder was honored by her Booneville chapter. Mrs. Wilder is a former Grayson resident.

The Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, of Danville, acted as master of ceremonies, while Joe Hobson delivered a speech on behalf of the Bank Josephine whose board of directors Mrs. Browning heads. Don Fernandez was soloist and directed three trumpeters from Salyersville high school. His vocal rendition was accompanied by Mrs. Alice Gray Buchanan.

Invocation was given by the Rev. Adrian J. Roberts, pastor of Mrs. Browning's home church, First Methodist of Prestonsburg. Introduced as honored guests were:

Dwight Leonard, worthy grand patron of Kentucky; Mrs. Fran Dixon, associate grand matron; Kinus Collier, chairman for District of Columbia; Robert Wohlmueter, chairman for Kentucky; Mrs. Lillian Klasterman, general chairwoman 1967-71; R. TAKE ACTION TO INCREASE KY. VOC. EDUCATION FUNDS

The General Subcommittee on Education of the U.S. House of Representatives last Wednesday reported legislation to increase funds for vocational education in Kentucky from the present level of $4,362,835 to approximately $7,700,000 effective in the next school year.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins, chairman of the subcommittee, said that the Vocational Education amendments of 1966 were urgently needed to enable vocational education facilities in Kentucky to meet the demand of students desiring to receive training. As a result of the original Perkins Act of 1963, federal grants each year to state and local vocational education programs in Kentucky increased from $1,122,000 in 1964 to approximately $4.3 million this year.

In addition, the bill reported last week would authorize a broad new program to construct and operate residential-type vocational schools. Under the bill's formula each state would receive federal funds to construct and operate at least one such facility on a demonstration basis. Vocational education programs in the schools would be designed to provide comprehensive training in a large variety of skilled and technical occupations utilizing the latest techniques and equipment. Students would be enrolled on a residential basis for full time study without tuition charge.

Another provision of the bill would:

1. Improve the quality and supply of vocational and technical school instructors through a program of in-service teacher training, exchange of personnel with private industry, teacher institutes and a fellowship program for the preparation of vocational education teacher educators and administrators.

2. Increase from $5 million annually to $50 million annually federal funds supporting practical nurses training.

The measure received the unanimous and bipartisan support of the subcommittee members present at last Wednesday's executive session.

Other provisions of the bill would:

STAPP FAMILY

Mrs. Raymond Frey, 891 Hadley Road, Norfolk, Virginia, writes about the descendants of Moses Stepp, Revolutionary War soldier who is buried on Pigeon Roost Fork of Wolf Creek in Martin county. Stepp was a native of Orange county, Virginia, fought in the North Carolina militia while a resident of Burke county. He later moved to the Tugaloo River in South Carolina and joined to fight under Gen. Thomas Sumter, the "Game Cock."

Stepp, born, it is said, in 1735, died in 1855, at the age of 120 years. A marker was dedicated at his grave in July. Considerable publicity followed on Stepp for he is considered the oldest man to have ever lived in Kentucky.

Mrs. Frey's letter follows: "For several years I have been interested in the Stepp family, particularly the connection between Moses and Thomas, who, I believe, was his son. When I lived in Washington I checked the census records in those localities in which I thought Moses might have lived. Although many essential records have been destroyed I did find some which were pertinent.

"The clipping (from the Williamson, W. Va.) Daily News, says that the marker states Stepp came to 'this area, 1826, for rest of life.' This agrees with my records, Moses being in Russell county, Virginia, in 1820, and in Pike county, in 1830. Moses was in Russell county by 1803 (perhaps earlier) since the records there show real estate transactions in 1803, 1811, and 1813. In 1818 Moses and his wife sold one plot of ground to Joseph Stepp. The 1830 census shows a Joseph Stepp in Pike county, age 40 and under. Perhaps, Moses and Thomas went together to Pike county.

"I have a January, 1953 letter from Pessie R. Arnold, clerk, by T. M. Riddle, in answer to a request for information from the clerk of the county court, Pike county. This states that 'Mr. Taylor thinks his wife's grandfather, Thomas, was probably a brother to the Moses Stepp in question or a nephew.' I have been unable to obtain solid information about Joseph Stepp, of Russell county, above, or his offspring. Also I have no information on Thomas prior to the 1830 census of Pike county. Big Creek was then in Pike county. In 1830 Thomas had a wife and seven children in his household and one man about 70. This, unquestionably, was Moses, since the only other Stepp listed in this area was Joseph, who, it appears, was about 5 to 10 years younger than Thomas but had only children under 15 years of age. The 1840 census shows this older man (now about '80') still living with him and in this census it shows that he is a Revolutionary War veteran. Shortly after this censure, I believe, Moses crossed over the mountains and went to live with John Burgett and his wife Sarah, near where Moses is buried. My reasoning is as follows: In the Russell county census of 1820 Moses' family is shown as having one female, age 16-26. Based on scanty evidence and an educated guess, I believe this to be Sarah who married John Burgett. In the 1850 census John and Sarah are shown as having six children, the youngest named Moses. I think it significant since Moses was then living with them at that time.

"One thing more: Several years ago, when I last visited the grave of Moses, I was again taken a little with his age, 120 years. My records make me a little sceptical about the exact age since there are no clear facts pointing to his birth and early life that I have been able to find. Since he died in 1855 he must have been born in 1735. Now this may be true but I have found that when he requested a pension for war service he swore in Prestonsburg that he was born in Orange county, Virginia, in 1763. This, with the pension records, seem to point to old age but not to 1735 as his birth date. Moreover, the 1820 census says he had a daughter under 26 years. How old were his son or sons? Both Thomas and Joseph were born in the period 1790-1800 but I don't know if they were his sons. Moses' application in 1834 says that he was 71 years old. In 1855, shortly before he died, Moses apparently appeared before Justice of the Peace James Trimble, giving his age as 112 and stating that he was a resident of Floyd (now Martin) county. However, in all of these old documents the recorder states that Moses was very old and in one he hints that he can't be depended upon to give the correct answers."

A later letter from Mrs. Frey is relative to John and Sarah Burgett as they were found on the 1850 Pike county census. She writes: "John Burgett, born in Tennessee, was 44 years old, and Sarah, his wife, born in Virginia, was 51 years of age. They had six children at home, one married. "If Sarah is the daughter of Moses, as I believe, then she would have been born about 1795 or a little later. The census indicates Virginia. This is probably true for Moses was definitely there in 1803. However, I also have a record that shows John Burgett listed as born in Virginia. I can't find a record of Moses' war service except his own. A Revolutionary War soldier named Jackson is listed by Moses to substantiate his service. Did he marry his sister? Jackson affirmed that he served with Moses."

Another letter relative to Moses Stepp and his descendants is from Mrs. Peter Hovener, 205-1 Stamford Village, Stamford, California. She is a descendant of Joseph Stepp, son of Moses. (Tradition says Moses' Stepp's wife was Sally Jackson.) Joseph Stepp's wife was named Nancy, her maiden name lost. Mrs. Leannah Maynard Robinson, granddaughter of Nancy, assured the present writer she was a Cox from Virginia.

Our California correspondent says that the children of Joseph and Nancy Stepp were Elias (a minister), Moses, Joseph, Polly (who married Stephen Maynard), Sally, William, James (first county judge of Martin county), and Robin. Elias married Margaret Moore, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Betsy) Muncy Moore. Issue of the marriage of Elias and Margaret were Joseph, Susan, William B., Elizabeth, Martha, James, Nancy, David, Loraine, Elijah and Josephine.

Anyone having information on the Stepp family are urged to write this writer, Mrs. Hovener or Mrs. Frey. Either will gladly exchange information.

Toll Road Revenue Tops $1 Million Mark Second Month in Row

Frankfort, Ky.—Revenue from Kentucky's highway toll facilities topped $1 million for the second month in a row in August, Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward has announced.

Receipts of $1,094,564 showed an increase of more than $310,000 over receipts in August of last year.

The Blue Grass Parkway accounted for $231,768 of this increase. The Parkway was opened to toll traffic last October 27.

In Jefferson county, $20,810 was collected at the Outer Loop ramps and $7,352 at the Fern Valley ramps on the Kentucky Turnpike.

Gross receipts of the toll facilities for August of 1966 and 1965, in that order, as reported by the Department: Shawneetown Bridge — $34,363 and $32,775; Kentucky Turnpike — $423,764 and $433,904; Mountain Parkway — $127,740 and $11,290; Western Kentucky Parkway — $276,939 and $206,248; Blue Grass Parkway — $231,768 in August, 1966.

Kentucky businessmen received an important portion of the nation's travel market last year, according to the State Department of Public Information. Tourists from other states spent $260 million in Kentucky.

Water Storage Space In Proposed Reservoir Provided in Contract

The Kentucky Water Resources Authority has taken action to assure sufficient water supplies for a number of Kentucky cities.

The Authority signed a contract with the Army Corps of Engineers for water storage space in the proposed Red River Reservoir, which will cover parts of Powell, Menifee and Wolfe counties.

The Authority has also agreed to sign up for water storage space at the proposed Falmouth Reservoir in Pendleton county to meet future needs of the Greater Cincinnati area. A similar contract was approved for the Green River Reservoir under construction between Campbellsville and Columbia.

Under the Red River contract, the Corps will increase the height of its flood-control dam to make it capable of releasing 100 cubic feet of water per second. This would be available for industrial and domestic use by cities along the Kentucky River, into which the Red River flows.

KENTUCKY TRAVELERS

The $378 million spent by travelers in Kentucky last year is an increase of $22 million over 1964, the largest increase in tourist business in the state's history, the Kentucky Department of Public Information reports. The total includes travelers from other states and Kentuckians.

Shawneetown Bridge — $34,363 and $32,775; Kentucky Turnpike — $423,764 and $433,904; Mountain Parkway — $127,740 and $11,290; Western Kentucky Parkway — $276,939 and $206,248; Blue Grass Parkway — $231,768 in August, 1966.

Kentucky businessmen received an important portion of the nation's travel market last year, according to the State Department of Public Information. Tourists from other states spent $260 million in Kentucky.

Foresters End Training To Make Blaze Damage Appraisal More Exact

State timberland owners can expect a more accurate estimate of forest fire damage to their property this fall, State Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Mallick says, because district and assistant foresters have completed training in making fire damage appraisals under a new system.

It is based on information gathered from a sampling of one-acre plots from 10-acre or larger fires last spring. Those fires and subsequent ones will be studied over a five-year period. Information gathered in the samplings takes into account the loss of future growth of marketable trees, destruction of seedlings and saplings and destruction of trees that affect seed sources.

Gene L. Butcher, director of the department's forestry division, said the information will be correlated through data processing equipment with other information to give damage estimates on future fires. "This new system will eliminate a lot of the guess work of the old one," Butcher said.

State foresters were instructed on the new system by State Fire Control Chief Maynard Marcum; A. E. Sturdivant, district forester at Elizabethtown, and Edward P. Williams of the U.S. Forest Service, Atlanta Region. Marcum and Sturdivant attended a regional school at Grenada, Mississippi to study the system.

RETURNS FROM VISIT

Food Stamp Recipients Fewer Last Month, Is Report by USDA

Frankfort, Ky. — The number of needy Kentuckians getting help under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's commodity distribution and food stamp programs declined by more than 5,000 people during July.

USDA figures show 180,634 persons participated in the federal food programs during July — down 5,122 from June. The commodity distribution program in Kentucky is administered by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and the food stamp program is administered by the Department of Economic Security, both in cooperation with USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

A total of 114,019 Kentuckians in 91 counties received donated foods and 66,615 people in 22 counties took part in the food stamp program for low income families.

The USDA food distributed to Kentucky families during July were dry beans, canned meat, margarine, corn meal, flour, shortening, dry milk, peanut butter, rice, rolled wheat, split peas and raisins.

In the 22 food stamp counties a total of $998,565 worth of food stamp coupons were issued during July to the heads of 13,800 low-income families. These families paid $590,144 for the food coupons and then received $408,421 worth of bonus coupons to buy additional food. A total of 2,272 food stores in Kentucky are authorized to accept the food coupons.

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs is building a center for delinquent girls near Louisville. The center, Jewell Manor, will be operated by the Kentucky Department of Child Welfare.

Methodist Pastors
To Exchange Pulpits

Methodist pastors all over Kentucky will exchange pulpits Sunday to emphasize the drive for funds for the support of church-owned hospitals. Exchanges affecting Floyd county churches will be:

Paul Peepoon, pastor of the Alen and Betsy Layne churches, with Leonard Sumner, Martin-Maytown pastor; James Burge, of Wayland, with Harry Lee, of Stone; Adrian J. Roberts, of First Methodist, Prestonsburg, with Gene Lopez, administrator of the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; Alton M. Brown, Community Methodist, Prestonsburg, with Robert Meece, of Vogel-Day Methodist Church.

VISIT ORPHANAGE

Members of the Sunday School of the Auxier Methodist Church were taken by bus Sunday to visit the Methodist orphanage at Versailles. While there the visiting group made a cash contribution to the orphanage. The group also toured both the new and old Capitol buildings at Frankfort. Accompanying them were the Rev. Charles Ratliff, Mrs. Ratliff, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wireman, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Holifield and W. T. Foley.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Mrs. Fannie Runnels attended the coaching conference for district officers of the Wesleyan Service Guild held at the First Methodist Church, Lexington, Sept. 11.

YOUTHPower CONFERENCE SET FOR OCTOBER 1st

The first Big Sandy Area Youthpower Conference on Teenage Food and Nutrition will be held Saturday, Oct. 1, starting at 9:30 a.m., at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Approximately 150 teenagers from Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties will study the problems of teenage food habits.

An outstanding program has been planned for the delegates, who will represent various youth organizations. Program highlights include a hospitality room, a banquet, and a tea in the afternoon, as well as such speakers as: Tom Porter, University of Kentucky basketball player; Early Perry, Farmers Bureau; Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, University of Kentucky Extension specialist in foods and nutrition; Roger Beckman, personnel supervisor for the Kroger Company; and discussion leaders from the area (Mrs. David Mulliken, Mrs. Paul Butcher, Mrs. Venna Harris, Mrs. Charles Muncy, Miss Blanche Dingus and Mrs. Hayes McCoy).

"Youthpower" is a nationwide educational program to up-date nutritional standards, knowledge of food from the farm to the table, and create new interest in food-related careers.

A registration fee of $2.35 per delegate is required for the conference. Delegates should send registration fees to the County Extension Office, Prestonsburg, by Sept. 24.

Mrs. Lena Fannin
Is Victim Sept. 16
At Home at Honaker

Mrs. Lena Fannin, 42 years old, died Friday at her home at Honaker following a sudden illness.

Mrs. Fannin was a member of the Church of Christ. She was the daughter of John Henry and Nancy Adams Case, of Honaker, and was the wife of the late Bert Fannin.

Surviving, besides her parents, are three sons, Wayne, Eddie and Kenneth Fannin, all of Honaker; five brothers, Elba, Edsel and Lowell Case, all of Honaker, Timothy Case, New London, Ohio, Elva Case, of Highland, California; three sisters, Mrs. Glenna Dameron, Mrs. Bertha Kidd and Mrs. Emma Kidd, all of Honaker.

The funeral was held at the residence Monday morning at 10 o'clock, Emory Hall the officiating minister. Burial in the family cemetery at Honaker was directed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Succumbs at Age of 67
At Huntington, Indiana

Pete McCoart, 67, of Huntington, Indiana, formerly of Wheelwright, died Tuesday in the Huntington County hospital, Huntington, Indiana, of a short illness.

A native of Wilson, Ohio, he was a son of the late Johnny and Ann Willis McCoart. His wife, Mrs. Lizzie Perry McCoart, survives.

Additional survivors are five sons, John Thomas, Henry, Pete, Jr., and Jerry Joe McCoart, all of Huntington, and Marvin McCoart, of Fort Wayne, Indiana; two daughters, Mrs. Brigitte Louise Hankey, Naugatuck, Connecticut, Mrs. Geraldine Childers, Huntington; two brothers and two sisters, John McCoart, of Melvin, Pat McCoart, Van Lear, Mrs. Cecil Smith, of Beckley, West Virginia, and Mrs. Brigitte Van Hoose, of Pikeville.

Funeral rites were held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Wheelwright Free Will Baptist Church, ministers of that church officiating. Burial in the Highland Memorial Park in Johnson county was directed by the Merion Funeral Chapel.

Dr. John O. Salyers, 87, P'burg Woman's Father,
Succumbs at Louisville

Dr. John O. Salyers, 87, former physician at the State Reformatory near LaGrange, and father of Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr. of Prestonsburg, died Monday at the Methodist Evangelical hospital, Louisville.

From 1933 to 1945, Dr. Salyers conducted a private practice at Hazard. In 1945, he was appointed full-time physician at the Reformatory, and continued in that position until retirement in 1943, when he moved to Louisville.

He was educated in a public school of Monticello, Ill., and was awarded a degree in medicine and pharmacy at Northwestern University. He was a native of Scott county, Kentucky.

Dr. Salyers was a member of Crescent Hill Presbyterian Church, Crescent Hill Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite, and Louisville DeMolay Commandery. He was a member of Kosar Shrine Temple, and a member of King Solomon Chapter of the Royal Arch Masons.

Survivors include his widow, the former Emily Jane Taubee; his daughter and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held Wednesday at 3 p.m. at Highlands Funeral Home, Louisville. Burial was in Resthaven Memorial Park.

NOTICE

Some of you were attempted to be subpoenaed as witnesses in a contest election case now pending in Floyd county involving the recent local option election.

You are advised that these attempted subpoenas were void and you were at liberty to ignore them and you were not required to be at the Court House on September 19, 1966. You are further notified that if in the future the same procedure is carried out, you are at liberty to ignore such summons as the attorneys for the contestants know the proper way in which a subpoena has to be served, which was not followed in this case.

NATIONAL SOCIETY
HONORS FRAZIER

Chalmer H. Frazier, administrator of the Prestonsburg General Hospital, was advanced recently to Membership status in the American College of Hospital Administrators on Sunday afternoon.

The announcement was made by ACHA President Boone Powell, Administrator of the Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas, who presided at the ceremony, held in Chicago.

The ACHA is a professional society of men and women whose life's work is in the field of hospital administration. The membership comprises 6,900 administrators, assistant administrators and administrative assistants of hospitals in the United States and Canada.

The honor was accorded at the college's 32nd annual convocation ceremony preceding the annual meeting of the college, held in conjunction with the convention of the American Hospital Association.

CORRECTION

The Times would like to correct errors appearing in the obituary of the Rev. Hager Justice, published in last week's issue. A surviving daughter, Mrs. Cassie Haywood, was erroneously listed as Mrs. Cassie Hackworth, and one of the officiating ministers, Rev. John Ousley, was given as Rev. John Conley.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS

Blocked Punt Costs
P'burg Second Marker;
Pikeville Here Friday

The Prestonsburg Black Cats lost a heartbreaker Friday night here to the Jenkins Cavaliers, 14-7, and this Friday will try to get back into the win column with a home game against the tough Pikeville high school Panthers.

A fumble on the Jenkins three-yard line cost the Cats what appeared to be a certain touchdown in the opening quarter, and a blocked punt cost the Cats the second Jenkins marker in the third period.

The two teams fought through a first half that was scoreless until the last six seconds when Jenkins' Bellamy connected with Narramore for a touchdown. Greer converted.

Jenkins came back with another t.d. at the start of the second half when Toth blocked Mike Castle's attempted punt, picked up the ball and ran 40 yards for the score.

The Cats staged a comeback in the final quarter, with Bennett Leslie's running a feature. He scored the team's lone touchdown on a one-yard plunge into the line. John Clark converted.

Prestonsburg's aerial game showed marked improvement, with Phillip Haywood, quarterback, completing 12 of 18 tosses for 134 yards.

Mrs. Vanderpool, 82,
Is Claimed Sunday
At Hospital Here

Mrs. Hattie Jane Vanderpool, of West Prestonsburg, passed away Sunday night at the Prestonsburg General hospital at the age of 82. She had been in failing health for the past year.

Mrs. Vanderpool was a member of the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church here.

A native of Magoffin county, she was a daughter of the late John P. and Rhoda Brown Adams, and was the widow of William Vanderpool.

Survivors include one son, Kenneth Vanderpool, of Garrett; one sister, Mrs. C. L. Osborne, of Ashland, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Opal Fitzpatrick, of West Prestonsburg, with whom she resided.

Funeral rites were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Assembly of God Church at West Prestonsburg, the Revs. Bruce Spencer and John Pelphrey officiating. Burial was made in the Sallie Stephens cemetery near West Prestonsburg, the Carter & Callihan Funeral Home directing.

When is the best time
to put in a pool?

Not many people know it, but Fall is the very best time to buy a pool. There are four important reasons why:

1. Our crews have the time to take extra care in installation.
2. Grass and shrubs are best planted in the Fall. They have months to get established. Water is more available, too.
3. When the pool is complete, we give you a free Aqua-Lock® Pool Cover. It seals out dust, leaves, and dirt throughout Winter and Spring.
4. On the first hot day next Spring, just peel back the cover and dive into sparkling water in a clean pool. No raw dirt around. No muddy backyard from Spring rains.

Spartan® pool — Gold Medal winner
This beautiful pool won the national first prize for "design excellence." Bridge-type, galvanized-steel sidewalls are designed to withstand the rigors of the worst winters. Tile-smooth vinyl interior never needs maintenance. No painting or refinishing — ever. Pool includes filter and built-in skimmer.

FREE AQUA-LOCK POOL COVER
We give you this famous pool cover worth as much as $200 if you buy a Spartan Pool now.

One ton of water in sleeves on all sides seals out leaves, dust; keeps pool safe for children, pets.

THIS IS A POSTAL CARD
(Exact in size and shape)

Suppose you use postal cards for direct mail advertising. Five thousand cards will cost you $200.

Forget the cost of printing and addressing the cards—but remember they alone cost $200.

Why do we suggest 5,000? Because that is almost the exact number of copies of the Floyd County Times that go to subscribers each week. (We mention 5,000 subscribers—only a fraction of the number who read The Times, weekly. The most authoritative study yet made shows at least 4 1-3 persons read each copy of a weekly newspaper. So at least 20,000 read The Floyd County Times every week of the year.)

Now, how much does an advertisement in The Times, exactly the same size as a postal card, cost you with no extras for printing, addressing and mailing? EXACTLY $6.82½. COMPARE THAT WITH $200! It Pays To Advertise in The Times.

2,350 miles of main primary highways and build 1,000 miles of access roads. It first was ruled in Washington that 70 percent of the cost of the Appalachian projects would be financed out of federal funds.

"Cost estimates completed last spring of improving those 2,350 miles of Appalachian highways require a billion dollars more than the amount available. Furthermore, it has now been ruled by the Appalachian Commission and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads that on many projects federal funds only can be used for 50 percent of the cost. When a bond issue for highway purposes was submitted to Kentucky voters last year, it was based upon the original 70 percent cost-sharing by the federal government.

The bond issue funds can be used only on federal-cost participation projects. It also must furnish state funds for the interstate and other federal-aid highways. "This change in policy by the federal authorities is a serious blow to our ability to find Kentucky's matching money," Ward said, adding:

"For all of Kentucky, the problem is complicated by the fact that the Appalachian Regional Commission has stated that it expects improvement of all the routes approved for the Appalachian system.

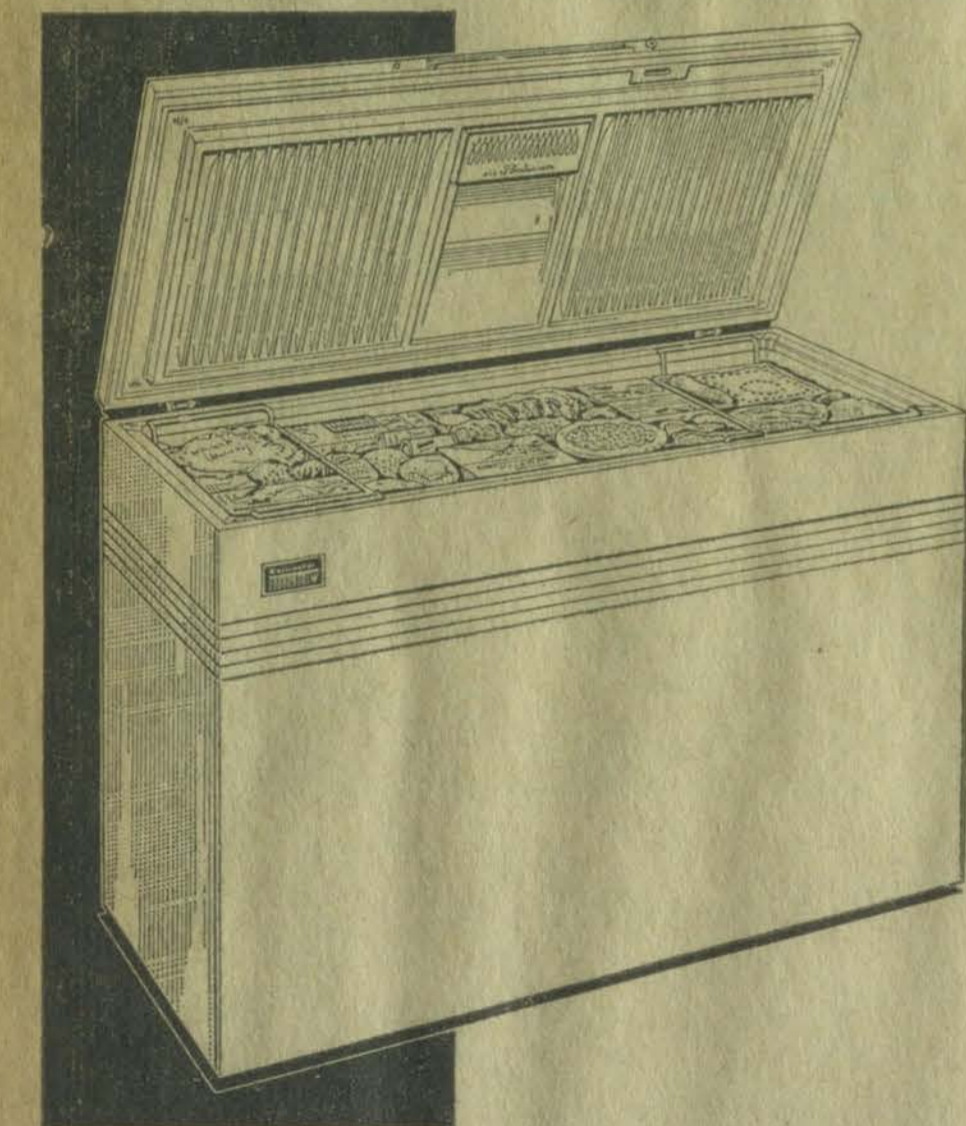

"This means that the state of Kentucky could not spend all the Appalachian money on U.S. 23, even if it wanted to. As a matter of fairness, all the funds should not be expended on U.S. 23. I have always said that U.S. 23 is the most important route on the Appalachian system in Kentucky, but other approved routes are important, too. Such highways as US 119, Ky. 80, Ky. 15 and Ky. 90, which are approved as Appalachian corridors, are vital to providing major traffic arteries into the heartland of the Appalachian area, which is Eastern Kentucky.

"What all of us ought to be doing is determining what the facts are, and then concentrate on cooperating in securing action that will make improvement of the whole system possible.

"We don't accomplish anything by questioning of motives, or accusations of misdealings. The people of the area who are responsible leaders should inform themselves as to the facts. I will tell you everything I know about the program, but I don't expect you to take my word for it without checking elsewhere. Get the facts.

"As a person who does not reside in Eastern Kentucky, I have faith in the area, and a deep interest in aiding in solving its problems. I believe the great majority of Kentuckians feel the same way I do.

"East Kentucky is not getting short-changed. Assure yourself of this fact—and then let's quit quibbling and get on with the job."

Also continued till November 22 was the liquor case of W. B. Williams, who appealed his quarterly court conviction to circuit court. Special Judge Charles Lowe, of Pikeville, granted the continuance. Stumbo said, on the motion of Williams' attorney, W. W. Burchett, who said his presence at a session of the Public Service Commission in Frankfort was required on the day set for the trial at the present term.

One of the two remaining liquor cases of Herman Perry was continued till the November term. The other was dismissed. Other cases dismissed:

Luther Canada, obtaining material under false pretense; Patricia Walters, child desertion (the $1,000 bond of Ashland Walters in the same case was forfeited); J. C. Manns (or Joseph Maness), assault and battery.

The bond of $1,000 in each of four cases accusing John H. Cornett of obtaining money under false pretense was forfeited. The grand jury will return next Friday for the last days of its session.

agencies and the Kentucky Power Company were credited by Miss Peden with winning for the community and county a major plant such as is envisioned.

THE TIMES learned that Prestonsburg won the nod from U.S. Shoe over stiff competition. Six other Kentucky cities, plus locations in Tennessee, Mississippi and Missouri had been considered.

Shoe company officials were impressed by the industrial climate locally and the general spirit of cooperation existing between the people and officials, both local and state, it was said.

When company officials first came here to interview prospective workers, to get a first-hand look at the labor supply and to assess local interest, they were met by a crowd which packed the courthouse. Later, in tests, applicants impressed them by their aptitudes and adaptability.

Extension of water mains to the new plant, from Lancer will cost an estimated $90,000. Also to be financed locally will be the cost of the land on which the plant will be located.

Plant operation is hoped for by next May. Meanwhile, training of employees will be under way here under auspices of the state Division of Vocational Education and the authority of the Manpower Training Act.

To start with, 50 employees will be put to work. After that, as they are trained, groups of 50 will be employed until full capacity is reached, with between 375 and 400 persons at work. Eighty percent of those to be employed will be women.

The plant will be air-conditioned and humidity controlled. At full capacity it will manufacture between 5,000 and 6,000 pairs of women's shoes a day.

Mayor George P. Archer was out of Prestonsburg at the time of the announcement and could not be reached for a statement. He is expected to return here this week.

The Prestonsburg plant will be a part of a manufacturing industry which includes 25 plants in five states and the Territory of Puerto Rico.

Two of its plants are already established in Kentucky — at Vanceburg and Flemingsburg. It has five plants in Ohio, three in Indiana, three in Missouri, one in New Hampshire and two in Puerto Rico.

Its products are nationally known and include these "name" brands: Red Cross, Cobbies, Sociables, Joyce and Selby Arch Preservers, Selby 5th Avenue, V. W. A. Americana, Bristol and Jumping Jacks.

The company also imports Bandolino and Amalfi shoes.

To begin with, women's shoes exclusively will be manufactured at the plant here.

ALICE LLOYD ANNOUNCES EDUCATIONAL PLANNING

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Alice Lloyd College has announced the beginning of a year-long program of educational planning, to be coordinated by Dr. Leslie L. Martin, of the University of Kentucky College of Education.

The program, outlined at an Alice Lloyd faculty and staff meeting at Buckhorn State Park, will make possible long-range planning for the college in four areas: Expansion of cultural and sociological experiences outside the mountains, programmed instruction, data processing and administration and faculty development.

Dr. Martin, who will devote one-third time to the program, said the University of Kentucky will provide the qualified consultants and make available the basic resources necessary for program development. Alice Lloyd, he said, will be responsible for the organization and financial cost of the planning.

The program has been underwritten by a $42,500 "developing institutions" grant under Title III of the Higher Education Act. "I look upon this task as the most valuable assignment of my professional career," Dr. Martin told the Alice Lloyd staff. "I must counsel you in utilizing the most modern methods of education to meet the changing needs of Appalachia and at the same time I must work with you to preserve those worthy qualities of education embodied in your tradition as an independent, self-reliant institution."

Dr. Martin, who has just finished developing plans for the creation of a department of higher education in the University of Kentucky's College of Education, also has co-ordinated education planning at other institutions.

"We are indeed fortunate," Alice Lloyd President William S. Hayes said, "in the leadership Dr. Martin brings to this project."

Auto Insurance Rates Hearing Is Scheduled

Frankfort, Ky.—A public hearing has been called here October 7 to determine if a request by Allstate Insurance Company for revised rules and rates in automobile insurance coverage meets the requirements of the Kentucky Insurance Code. S. Roy Woodall, Jr., State Insurance Commissioner said Allstate seeks overall premium income changes, changes in the distribution of premium income, and modernization of the automobile insurance classification manual. Total income changes would amount to increases of 15 percent for liability coverage and five percent for collision insurance. Comprehensive insurance would remain unchanged.

Telephone Talk

By
ROY L. ATHERTON
Your Telephone Manager

IN THE LATE PART OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY THERE WERE TWO KINDS OF "WIND-UP" phones . . . the telephone, and the gramophone. You had to wind them both up to listen to them. What a long way they've both come since then! The "gramophone" has become today's hi-fi stereo with its amazingly true sound reproduction. And the telephone? Well, today we have direct distance dialing . . . many special phones for handicapped people . . . and an amazing network of telephone communications that lets you reach even remote parts of the world. Progress . . . it's wonderful!

ON HER FOURTH BIRTHDAY, a little girl came running into the house and said expectantly "Mommy, did I get a phone call?" Mother, a little surprised said "Why no, were you expecting one?" "Well no," said Miss Grown-up, "But I'm four years old now, so I think it's about time somebody called me up!"

Isn't it about time you called somebody. Somebody in town . . . or out of town. A friend, a relative. There must be lots of people who would love to hear the sound of your voice. Now.

KITCHEN COMMENTS . . .

Many recipes call for grated orange and lemon peel, but you don't always have it available when it's needed. Try freezing orange and lemon peel . . . keep it till it's needed . . . then grate for instant use.

Ever burn your fingers trying to light birthday candles with a short match? Use a long waxed drinking straw instead!

Another suggestion: good cooks appreciate kitchen extension phones for on-the-spot calling and answering!

MAJOR BUILDING PROGRAM UNDER WAY ON UK CAMPUS

Two major additions to the University of Kentucky's Lexington campus and portions of a third are in use for the first time during the semester that has just begun.

Already completed are a seven-story addition to the College of Engineering and a new auditorium at the Agricultural Science Center. To be completed during the semester are five low-rise dormitories, part of an 11-unit complex that eventually will house over 2,700 students.

The engineering tower, which cost $2.2 million, provides new quarters for the departments of chemical engineering, electrical engineering and engineering mechanics, plus a structural research laboratory, a library and the college's administrative offices.

Half a mile south of the central campus, on Nicholasville Pike, is the new Agricultural Science Center auditorium. Built at a cost of $412,000, it seats 500 persons.

Nearby is the site of the $22 million student housing complex

now under construction. The five buildings to be completed this semester will accommodate 880 students. By late 1967, when the builders have finished, the complex will have three other low-rise dormitories, two tower structures of 22 stories each, and a three-floor central facility housing a cafeteria, recreation rooms and lounges.

Another major project slated to get under way this fall at UK is the construction of a $10 million classroom-office complex. To make way for the 19-story office tower and three-story classroom building, wreckers soon will begin razing three old structures on the central campus, just east of the recently re-modeled Administration Building.

Dr. Lindsay's Article Published in Century

Dr. LeRoy R. Lindsay, a member of the Pikeville College faculty, has published a lead article in the September 7 issue of Christian Century, one of the nation's oldest and most widely circulated religious journals.

The article, entitled "Letter from the Fringe: A Defense of the Nonpastoral Ministry," is a reaction against criticism of ordained ministers who have chosen not to serve as pastors of local congregations. Dr. Lindsay, who is himself an ordained Presbyterian minister, claims that there is no justification for viewing the nonpastoral minister as a "pastoral dropout." He maintains that it is not only in the local church that an effective ministry can be exercised today. There is a great need for ministers in local churches, he says, but it is also important to have men who function as pastors in colleges and universities and even in industry as well.

Dr. Lindsay is a graduate of Pikeville College (class of '60). He received the B.D. degree from the Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Aberdeen, in Scotland. He now teaches English at his "first" alma mater and hopes, he has said, to do further work as a writer.

Walters To Head Council Fund Drive Starting October 25

William J. Baird, president of the Lonesome Pine Council, announced last week the appointment of Executive Board Member Walter P. Walters as Council finance campaign chairman.

Accepting the position, Mr. Walters pointed out that the campaign this year will be in the form of a membership drive, which will kick off October 25. He explained that the campaign will be council-wide and include the counties of Buchanan, Dickenson, Lee, Russell and Wise in Virginia, and Floyd, Breathitt, Johnson, Knott, Leslie, Martin, Magoffin, Letcher, Pike and Perry counties in Kentucky.

Last year, Lonesome Pine Council was second in Region Four, which includes Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, with a 13.1% growth. There are 44,000 boys of Cub, Scout and Explorer age in the Council area.

RESORT LODGE

The new Kentucky State Park being constructed at Lake Barkley will feature a 124-unit resort lodge, according to the Kentucky Department of Parks.

The Full Facts About Savings

There has been so much talk about Savings, Certificates of Deposit, Bank Savings Bonds, Savings Notes, Savings Certificates, Time Certificates, Income Certificates and Investment Certificates . . . that the general public appears to be somewhat confused. This advertisement, published in the public interest, states the full facts about savings in the hope that it will answer any questions which may have existed in your mind.

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Everyone should have a bank savings account. Savings are essential to meet emergencies and to provide individuals and families with immediate funds when they are wanted. It is more convenient to keep your savings where you can also have your checking account, obtain all kinds of loans and have available the wide range of facilities of a full service bank. It is easier to save by making regular deposits or by having a certain amount automatically transferred from your checking to your savings account. The deposits of each customer of an insured bank are protected up to $10,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. This amount can be increased, however, by maintaining multiple accounts. Thus, a husband and wife can insure up to $30,000 and a husband, wife and child, up to $70,000.

A bank savings account is there when you need it and offers maximum flexibility with a fair return of interest. How do these accounts work in various banks?

Rate of Interest: Banks are permitted by regulation to pay a maximum interest rate of 4% per annum. Some banks pay 2½%; some, 3%; some, 3½%; some 4%. The Bank Josephine pays 4%.

Method of Computation: Some banks pay interest on the lowest balance during the interest period. (You do not get interest on funds deposited all during the interest period, and any withdrawal eliminates all interest for the period on those funds withdrawn.) Some banks pay interest from day of deposit if the funds stay in your account until the end of that period or in some cases the following period. (Any withdrawals made eliminates all interest for the period on those funds withdrawn.)

Interest is computed by The Bank Josephine for each month on the highest continuous balance. Withdrawals from your account eliminates interest only for the month on those funds withdrawn. The Bank Josephine's Automatic Savings service enables customers to transfer funds regularly from their checking accounts . . . and they get interest on their savings from date of transfer.

Grace Period: Under banking regulations a grace period of 10 days or less is permitted at the beginning of the interest period during which deposits made draw interest from the first of that month. All deposits made to your Bank Josephine savings account on or before the 10th of the month earn interest from the 1st . . . this month and every month.

Interval of Payment: Some banks pay interest semi-annually, some quarterly, some monthly. The Bank Josephine pays interest semi-annually, and is automatically credited to your account on June 1 and December 1. If you need your interest for living expenses, you can go to the bank and get it. If you want to close your account, you don't have to wait 6 months or 3 months but can close it at the end of any month without losing any interest you are due.

Compounding: Normally interest is compounded at the same interval at which it is paid. This means that you start getting interest on the interest that has been paid to date. Thus, your Bank Josephine savings account earns interest at 4% compounded semi-annually.

Bank Josephine Savings Account: Our accounts earn interest at a 4% rate, the highest rate allowed by law, and is automatically credited on June 1 and December 1. We sincerely believe The Bank Josephine's is as good as any savings account plan offered by any bank anywhere. We invite comparison. If you have any questions on your Bank Josephine account or your savings program at any other institution, stop in at The Bank Josephine's main office in Prestonsburg or our branch in Allen and let us discuss your savings needs.

CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT

Bank Savings Bonds, Savings Notes, Savings Certificates, Time Certificates, Income Certificates, Investment Certificates . . . no matter what a bank calls them . . . are for all practical purposes Certificates of Deposit, or C-D's, as they are commonly called. They are deposits and, therefore, each depositor is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Despite the fact that at times C-D's earn a higher rate of interest than savings accounts, unless you have sizeable funds to invest or unless you are certain that you won't need to withdraw your funds for a fixed period of time, you have more flexibility and, therefore, are better off with a bank savings account. How do C-D's work and what is offered by various banks?

Time Period: The customer purchasing C-D's agrees to leave his funds on deposit . . . not less than 30 days, more often 90 days or more. By regulation, C-D's can be cashed prior to maturity only in the event of real emergency. In such event, all accrued interest for up to 90 days must be forfeited. It is a violation of Federal Regulations by the bank and the customer if C-D's are redeemed prior to maturity without true emergency. Unless C-D's are automatically renewable, interest stops accruing at maturity and the customer has 10 days to renew his C-D without loss of interest.

Rate of Interest: Under regulations, a maximum rate of interest of 5½% is permissible on C-D's. However, the first responsibility of a bank is to be sound by providing safety and liquidity to protect its depositors; in determining the interest rate which a bank can afford to pay, soundness must be controlling as well as regulations. Rates on C-D's are usually negotiated between the bank and the customer and as a general rule the longer the customer agrees to leave his money on deposit the higher the rate of interest.

C-D Rate Fluctuation: C-D interest rates are subject to more frequent fluctuation than those of savings accounts. Of necessity, C-D rates fluctuate with the economy. In addition, one bank may have a greater demand for loans from time to time than another; therefore, the interest rates which they are able to pay on C-D's vary rather frequently between banks themselves.

Various Plans Offered: Banks in the nation, including some of those in Kentucky, offer C-D's calling them Bank Savings Bonds, Savings Notes, Savings Certificates, Time Certificates, Income Certificates, Investment Certificates. Various rates are specified . . . 4%, 4.25%, 4.50, 4.75, 4.80, 5%. Some of these guarantee a rate if held a year or more, with no interest if cashed earlier. Some can be cashed at the end of each 90-day period without loss of interest. Some require 90-day written notice by the customer to the bank. Some have definite maturity. Some are automatically renewable. Some of these plans are excellent although any pre-planned package has limitations and does not necessarily fit every investment situation. The only way to make certain that a C-D fits your particular investment needs is to examine the C-D instrument itself and to determine its features and its drawbacks. Any Bank Josephine officer will be pleased to review and explain any C-D you hold or any plan you are considering.

Bank Josephine Certificate of Deposit: The Bank Josephine does not have one plan or plans from which to choose. We feel that the investment of sizeable funds by our customers is important enough for personal attention. Our emphasis is on investment needs of the individual and we can tailor Certificates of Deposit to meet these needs. Yes, The Bank Josephine offers C-D's from 30 days out to several months, and they provide an automatic renewal provision. Yes, they can provide monthly, quarterly or semi-annual income or be on a growth basis with interest deferred to maturity. Yes, The Bank Josephine is generally competitive with other banks. If you have funds to invest in C-D's, stop in at The Bank Josephine's main office in Prestonsburg or our branch in Allen and let us discuss your individual investment needs.

YOU have Good Neighbor banking friends at The Bank Josephine to give you straight facts and figures on all savings plans that might suit your needs—and there is no obligation!

O'TUCKS HONOR HENRY WARD WITH 1966 PROGRESS AWARD

Hamilton, Ohio, Sept. 10 (Spl.) — Kentucky Highway Commissioner Henry Ward tonight received the 1966 Progress Award presented by O'Tucks, an organized group of former Kentuckians now living in Ohio, for his contributions and leadership in the progress Kentucky has made during his years of public service.

The presentation was made during a dinner meeting in conjunction with the eighth annual Mountain Folk Festival sponsored by O'Tucks.

"We are happy to present our progress award to Henry Ward for the great achievements that have come about in Kentucky because of his vision and statesmanship in 30 years of public service," Stanley Dezarn, program chairman and a trustee of the organization, said.

Dezarn continued, "This award has been given to such outstanding leaders as Governor Bert T. Combs, of Kentucky; Governor James A. Rhodes, of Ohio; Dr. Jack J. Early, president of Dakota Wesleyan University, and Jim Comstock, editor of the West Virginia Hillbilly, and we feel Mr. Ward is joining a select group."

In presenting the award, Noah Creech, mayor of Fairfield and a native of Campton, Kentucky, cited achievements by Kentucky and personal achievements by Ward during his service as Highway Commissioner, Commissioner of Conservation and a legislator.

Ward, who said he was "surprised, but extremely happy and flattered" to receive such an award, commended the organization for programs and accomplishments.

"It is a wonderful thing when former Kentuckians still have such a strong interest in Kentucky that they will organize to promote their native state as well as their new home state," Ward said.

The O'Tucks organization is chartered in Ohio as "Ohioans from Kentucky Association, Inc." The group promotes not only Kentucky but also Ohio and strives for understanding between the states and the people of the two states, a spokesman said.

Middlesboro Editor Is Interim President Of Regional Hospitals

Maurice K. Henry, Middlesboro publisher, has become interim president of Appalachian Regional Hospitals and will serve until a permanent successor to Dr. Karl S. Kleika is chosen.

Henry, who has been treasurer and a trustee of the non-profit hospital system since it was founded in 1963, assumed the presidency last Saturday.

The new interim president, who will take up temporary residence in Lexington, headquarters of ARH, is publisher of the Middlesboro Daily News, general manager of radio station WMIK, and president of the Tri-State Outdoor Advertising Co. He is a former president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and of the Kentucky Press Association.

Dr. Kleika, who served as ARH's first president, resigned effective September 9 to become chief executive officer of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority at Wayne, Michigan.

Garvice D. Kincaid, chairman of the board of trustees, said ARH hopes to find a permanent president by December 31.

Students Should Apply For Educational Loans Thru Own Institutions

Kentucky students seeking loans under the state's higher education scholarship fund should apply through their college or university, says Ted C. Gilbert, executive secretary of the Council on Public Higher Education.

The six percent loans will be obtained from local banks, Gilbert says.

Undergraduates may obtain loans of up to $1,000 a year and graduate students up to $1,500. The $4-million-a-year fund will be administered by United Student Aid Funds, Inc., a private non-profit corporation set up to guarantee student loans. Students pay off their loan to USAF.

The 1966 Legislature authorized the fund and appropriated $135,497 for the 1966-'67 fiscal year, and $184,778 for 1967-'68. This money will be supplemented by a federal grant of $320,275.

Wheelwright Church To Observe Golden Anniversary Homecoming

The Wheelwright Community Methodist Church will observe its and the community's Golden Anniversary Homecoming, October 16-23.

Detailed plans are under way, with the following tentative program outlined:

Sunday, October 16, District Superintendent Dr. Steadman Bagby, Ashland, will preach at the 11 a.m. worship service, followed by the quarterly conference. At 7:30 p.m., a religious concert will be presented. Monday, 7:30 p.m., will be Youth Night with a special film presentation dealing with dangers of communism. Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. will be Ladies' Night with the Wesleyan Service Guild presenting the program. Friday night, there will be a special memorial service. Saturday night will be Community night, preceded by a public supper in Community Hall. Following the supper, greetings will be brought from local, county, state and federal officials and former ministers and pastors of various denominations.

The observance will be climaxed by a special 11 a.m. service Sunday, October 23.

The minister of the church, the Rev. Adolf Bergman, has the following committees working with him:

General Planning Committee, with Ralph Banks, church lay leader, as general chairman, and Raymond Bradbury, assistant chairman. The organizations of the church helping to develop the observance are the Wesleyan Service Guild, Mrs. John McNeil, president; MYF, and the church school.

NEW LOOK!

Handsome new Fleetside... one of 26 all-new Chevy pickup models for 1967!

Here's the brand new '67 Chevy pickup! It's strikingly new in styling. Lower, sleeker, its trim appearance puts many cars to shame. And this one's tougher, too. New body sheet metal resists rust better. There's a new all-steel pickup box, also, with full-depth double-wall side panels and tailgate. And a new one-hand tailgate latch. And the attractive new color-keyed cab interior is roomier. Also, there's better visibility plus added safety features such as padded instrument panel and sun visor and others. The new '67 Chevy pickup looks so good and is built so well you can use it for almost anything!

A BRAND NEW BREED OF CHEVY TRUCKS FOR '67!

NEW LENGTH! MORE LOAD SPACE ON A LONGER WHEELBASE!

ALL-NEW CHEVY-VAN 108 (108" WHEELBASE) NEWLY STYLED CHEVY-VAN 80 (80" WHEELBASE)

New Chevy-Vans in two sizes for '67... new V8 power, too!

Now you can get a long low-cost Chevy-Van! All new for '67 is the Chevy-Van 108 with 108" wheelbase and whopping 256-cubic-foot load space. Or pick the Chevy-Van 90 with 209-cubic-foot cargo area. Both sizes can be equipped with hustling V8 power—a big 283 V8! And both can be had in Sportvan versions.

There's a brand new breed of Chevy trucks at your Chevrolet dealer's, so stop by soon!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SHE LIKES US

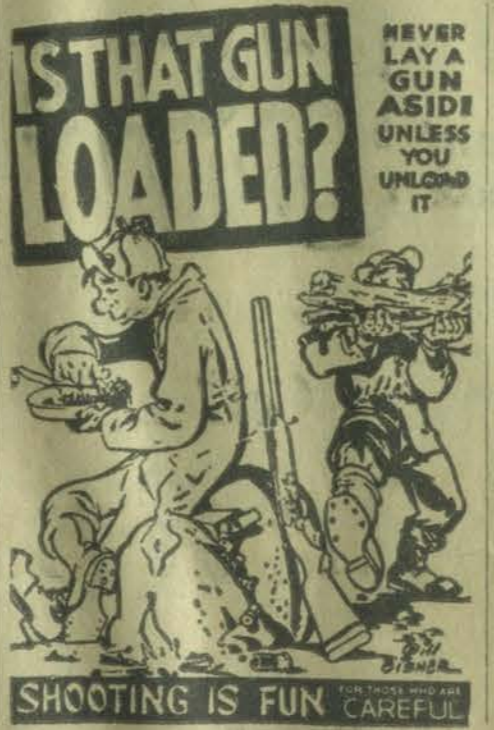

EDITOR, The Times:

If it were possible I would shout my thanks from the top of the courthouse to the people of Prestonsburg, but I must settle with telling them through
you. I am a student at Michigan State University, a citizen of Chicago, and a former mission worker at St. Theodore's Catholic mission in your city. I stayed in Prestonsburg eight weeks and felt thoroughly at home. The people are so warm and accommodating. I felt anything but a stranger this summer. The business section boasts many fine
stores, complete with sincerely interested personnel. The facilities of the city, particularly the pool and the nearby state park,
made my stay extra-enjoyable.
I particularly felt like a citizen when I participated in the Jenny Wiley production of H.M.S.
Pinafore. I must compliment the group responsible for their wonderful summer program.

As a temporary parishioner of St. Theodore's I must compliment those permanent on their warmth to me and evident service to their own community. I must also thank the local Protestant churches for their welcome when we worshipped with them.

In all, you have a lovely city
—one which I hope to revisit soon, and one which I will recommend to my neighbors who want to enjoy their vacation especially by the people who will meet and serve them.

TIDBITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph. D.
INTERSTATE HIGHWAYS

One of the most marked differences between now and yesterday is the interstate highway and similar modern roads. As an old-timer who has watched a long procession of events in many spheres, I cannot help
comparing the stretches of interstate highways in Kentucky that are now finished and open to travel and the roads that I knew
as a child and for long afterwards.

My mother's father and mother came as small children all the way from central North Carolina
to what is now Calloway county.
Traveling in ox wagons, a whole
group of relatives and neighbors,
they spent six long weeks on the way. Though not especially a very religious group, they refused to travel on Sunday. They arose early Monday morning,
did necessary washing of clothes,
and tried to get in a short trip
that afternoon. My grandmother-to-be rode a horse the entire journey and lived to a very ripe
old age in spite of the handicaps of pioneer life. The one thing I recall most vividly about Mother's retelling the story as she had heard it was about how the emigrants managed to get over the mountains; on particularly steep roads they cut down a tree
and hitched it, limbs and all, to the back of the wagon, to act as a brake. When I first drove over the Great Smokies, on a modern highway, I could not help recalling this primitive journey made so long ago, as I heard it as a child.

There were two seasons for roads, so-called roads, around Fidelity: mud and dust. Somehow I do not recall any intermediate seasons. One of my earliest memories is of observing the dust that had settled on the eyebrows of my sister, as I went with her in the old family buggy
to the funeral of our great uncle
one dusty late-spring day (He had died the preceding fall, but the custom still prevailed of having a funeral long after the burial). The dusty season covered some of the very late spring, all the summer, and a slice of fall; the rest was mud.
Travel lived up to the old meaning of the word—"Suffering."

Murray, the county seat of my home county, was a bare eleven miles away, but we got up early,
like the woman in the Proverbs,
and set out, often before the sun was up, on our way to town. By rather diligent keeping the horses going along, we usually arrived at the railroad three hours after we had left home.
The horses still had a lot of energy left, in spite of the long journey, and they pranced and snorted when a train came by.
With some three hours to attend
to "trading," we started back over what used to be a "fur piece" about the middle of one afternoon and were pretty badly worn out by the time we came in sight of the lights in our house.
Rather strangely, long after I have been an old man, I have walked as far as this round trip
and felt equal to a full day's work the next day; I sometimes think it took more energy to ride in the lurching buggy or wagon than to hoof it along the road.

Going to Brownsville, at the edge of the Mammoth Cave National Park, only some twenty-
two miles from my front door,
used to take some ingenious
planning, before the days of cars. I would go by train to Rocky Hill, hire someone to take me out in a buggy or wagon,
and have to spend the night in town because no trains were available to get me back that night. And it took some endurance for years after cars came
in, too, for that stretch of road,

from the train to the county seat, had some of the stickiest
mud I have ever known; an extra boy often went along with us
to help us out of the mudholes;
a heavy pair of gun boots nearly always rode with us.
For some years now it has been a smooth ride to Brownsville and many another place where I have gone. In a half hour, and I am no speed fiend,
I cover the distance it used to take several hours to make. And now a very modern highway, a part of Interstate 65, is finished within a few miles of my front door, and it is easy to go over the hills and far away at what used to seem the speed of light.
Maybe I am inclining toward old age, but I somehow miss some of the more leisurely travel,
not the mud-dust type but some halfway point between the earlier trails and the super-highway.

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS M. REED

THE FASCINATING
WORLD OF INSECTS

Insects often defy the man-made laws of science. Mosquitoes quickly develop immunity to sprays. And, according to the laws of the science of aero-dynamics, the bumblebee cannot
fly. He is too big and clumsy for his short wings to bear his heavy body aloft. The bumblebee knows nothing about such a law
—and flies. The big queen bumblebee can also hover in the air
like a helicopter.

Insects played a prominent part in the lives of the primitive peoples of the earth. Paintings in caves of Stone Age men have been found depicting women
taking honey from the hives of bees in holes or caves of the cliffs. Apparently these ancients kept bees around their caves and considered these insects so valuable they preserved them in carvings on the walls of their cave homes.

Primitive peoples also knew more how to deal with pests
than we of today do and were not overly concerned with finding insecticides to destroy pests.
They had a better way. They ate them. The Eskimos of today pick off the lice that infest them and their children and eat them. The lice are considered a delicacy by both young and old.

In times of ancient Rome, the people ate the grubs and larvae
of beetles, and you had to be high in Roman society to afford such delicious foods. Some Orientals still eat grubs of many kinds.
The Indians of the southwest
gathered the bloated honey ants
and ate them or used them for sweetening.

SOME INSECT "FIRSTS"

PAPER: The paper wasps
were making paper long before
man dreamed of printing books
on paper.

A.I.R.-CONDITIONING: Honey
bees and other insects were using air-conditioning to cool their homes long before man knew about it.

GARDENING: Ants were tending gardens long before Adam tended the Garden of Eden; they still have their fungus gardens
and their milk cows.

CAMOUFLAGE: The walkingstick insects knew the subtle art
of camouflage long before man used it. These insects assume the color and shape of a twig and escape their enemies. Some butterflies also can take on a dead-
leaf pattern to escape the sharp eyes of birds.

FLIGHT: Insects were flying
long before man appeared on the earth. During the Coal Age, giant dragonflies with a wing
spread of two feet flourished.

MUSIC: Insects are the oldest musicians on the earth. Some are fine fiddlers; some sing bass,
soprano, and some sing solos.
The snowy tree cricket is the champion long-distance singer of the insects and never stops his song from dusk to dawn.

HELICOPTERS: Some insects
can hover in the air like a helicopter. Among these are the hover fly, which is locally called
"the news bee." It will dart
the queen, the drones, the work-
away quickly when approached
and is a swift flyer.

HIGHLY COMPLEX SOCIAL SYSTEMS: Many insects have a highly organized social system.
Among these are the termites,
the ants, honey bees and paper
wasps. The bee hive consists of ers and the soldiers. The bees
don't need an efficiency expert to tell them what to do. Each member of the hive knows its job and does it well. Among the workers, all females, there are certain individuals which act as scouts. These fly out in search of an area of flowers rich in nectar. When they make a rich find,
the scouts return to report to the workers. By means of cleverly executed dance steps, the scout bee tells the workers what she has found and where, and in what direction. She dances a fast rum-ba to whip the workers up into a wild frenzy and they fly away
fast to gather the nectar.
The ants also have a complex
and highly organized society.

Yearning For 'Real People' Brought VISTA Back To Area

By CATHERINE SCHUMANN
(In The Licking Valley Courier, West Liberty, Ky.)

I came back to Morgan county
last week, not because I was required to do so, but because I wanted to see the county and its people once again. I was placed in this county last year during the month of July for my VISTA field training. So when the summer rolled around again, I had the irrepresible urge to return.
This feeling could not be explained even to myself, for it was nebulous and complex. Maybe it was the hills, or the famous Kentucky hospitality, or the people and their attitude toward life, or perhaps a combination of all of these which beckoned me. Whatever it was, I came back, and the feeling of homesickness disappeared.

I came back to find myself
surrounded by friends, sitting down at a table of good food.
Certainly I had missed the delicious food. I must admit that I have never found anyone that can cook as well as Eunice Hatton. I would drive, and I did, all the way from Philadelphia just to eat her fried chicken and biscuits. Somehow, as soon as I got out of my car, I relaxed. But why? Perhaps it was the feeling that I was amidst people who are hardworking and happy, and who have a set of innate values
that I have found to be lacking
in most of the hurried and worried people of the rest of the nation. I suppose I came back purely out of selfish reasons. I came back to Caney because here I can be myself, completely relaxed and content with my surroundings. I came back to see and hear people who are "real people."

After I completed my training
period with VISTA in Morgan county, I was sent to work in West Virginia which is similar to Kentucky in many ways. In West Virginia, I found the same type of honest, natural and kind
people as in Kentucky.

I left West Virginia in June,
and returned to the large cities
in which I had been raised. But I missed Appalachia. I missed
the hills at dusk, and the winding rivers, and the numerous acts of friendship which had been committed on my behalf by the Appalachian people. So I came back. Back into West Virginia and Kentucky, back to where I now seem to belong.

However, I must admit that I am concerned about the false
and absurd reputation the Appalachian region seems to have been given, that the people are "poor, dirty and damn lazy." I know this not to be true. Poverty

in the city is much more prevalent. A tenement room is comprised of rats, roaches and up to 15 or 20 people. The city slums are filled with a wretched and filthy squalor that I have never seen in Appalachia. The daily criminal atrocities committed on the streets are certainly unknown in Appalachia.

Appalachia has produced, on a percentage basis, more competent business and professional men than the largest of the cities.
Many of the important national and international enterprises
have had or do have an Appalachian as an influential and invaluable member of their staff.
And at the same time, one must not overlook the very prosperous
business concerns in Appalachia which combine practicality, integrity, and the impressive business acumen of its employees.
Also, I have seen many recreational facilities, universities, hospitals, banks, county newspapers and restaurants that certainly equal those of the larger cities or other areas of the country. The lawyers, bankers, professors,
doctors, newspapermen and politicians whom I have met are just as intelligent, if not more so, than their counterparts in the other areas of the nation. In my travels through Appalachia
I have seen luxurious farms and very lovely homes in which, I must add, I have been very elegantly entertained.

I feel it grossly unfair that Ap-palachia and its people have been misrepresented, misjudged and partially overlooked. In Appalachia one still has unequaled scenic beauty combined with every advantage of the most advanced segment of urban life. I feel that the people who sneer
at Appalachia now will find their children or grandchildren choosing to live here in the years to come.

As for myself, what else can I say? I have traveled extensively in America and Europe, yet if I want to rest, relax, eat delicious food and be surrounded by good people, I head for the Appalachian Mountains.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from files of The Floyd County Times of 30 and 20 years ago.)

Thirty Years Ago

(September 18, 1936)

Orbin Collins, 32, of Wayland, and Wilbur Mintz were shot and killed early Monday morning at the home of L. A.
Skeans at Estill. The Floyd county board of education recently purchased two new school buses, of a 40-student capacity each, to serve the Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne schools. The Times learned this week that the mines of the Pike-Floyd Coal Company at Betsy Layne, one of the county's leading coal producers and employer of between 400 and 500 men, will be abandoned by the company. This action follows the destruction by fire, July 13, of the company's tipple head house and all tipple equipment at an estimated loss of $75,000. Duke Martin, 30, of Ashland, is in serious condition in the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of injuries sustained Monday night when he was struck by a train near Dwale. Congressman A. J. May, Mayor A. C. Carter and State Senator Joe P. Tackett, upon their return to Prestons-burg from Washington this week, announced that approximately $76,800 had been secured from the WPA to be used in the construction of streets and improvements in the city.
Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Cooley, of Garrett, a son,
Tuesday; to Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Powers, of East Point, twins. Died: Walter Scott Harkins, Jr., 38, prominent Prestonsburg attorney, September 10 at Memorial hospital, Huntington, West Virginia.

Twenty Years Ago

(September 19, 1946)

Floyd County Election Commissioners Alex H. Sprad-
lin, George W. Snodgrass and Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill Tuesday morning named the 216 citizens who will serve as election officers for the local option election, September 30.
Although the Prestonsburg-Salversville road is dusty in dry weather and in spots pitted, bus service over the 20-mile route was begun last week by the Salversville-Prestonsburg Bus Line. A shortage of fresh meats and lard as drastic as any suffered during war days resulted in this county from the recent Office of Price Administration order placing meats under control. Cash settlement of 27 claims for over-riding charges on used cars and trucks were announced this week by the District OPA office, Louisville. Circuit Judge and Mrs. E. P. Hill have begun operation of the Bus Station Cafe which they purchased, a few days ago, from J. M. Hall. Flanery's Radio Service opened last week in the former Third avenue location of Koch's Radio Service.
Married: Miss Joy Lee Terry, of Garrett, and S/Sgt. Edward E. Derington, of Indianapolis, Indiana, September 7; Miss Billie Jo Adams, of Delroit, Michigan, formerly of Hueysville, and Mr. Dudley Melton, of Dresden, Tennessee, August 22; Miss Thelma Jones, of Drift, and Mr. Harry
Green, of Louisville, and Miss Sylvia Hale and Mr. Archie Fugate, both of Drift, in a double wedding ceremony, September 7; in a triple wedding, August 21, the following were married: Miss Phyllis Crockett, formerly of Martin, and Mr.
Talmadge Vanderpool, of Estill; Miss Elaine Slade, of Martin, and Mr. Dillard Howard, of Estill, and Miss Loraine Slade, and Mr. Denzil Halbert, both of Martin; Miss Janice Hayes and Mr. Forrest Westfall, both of Allen, August 28.
Born: To Mr. and Mrs. John Huff, of Wheelwright, a daughter—Sandra Lee—August 28; to Mr. and Mrs. James Webb, of Maytown, a son, at the Beaver Valley hospital; to Mr.
and Mrs. Allen Whitaker, of David, twin sons—William Layne
and Joseph Harrison—Monday. Died: Mrs. Amanda
J. Tufts, 82, at the home at Gearheart of her daughter, Friday; Mrs. Lucy Robert, 57, at her home at Amba, Monday.

LOOK AT THE PROPOSED NEW STATE CONSTITUTION

last in an eight-
of a new constitu-
of the new constitu-
explains the differ-
methods open for Constitution Re-
to prepare.)

It is expected the present session of the Kentuck-
General Assembly will vote to submit the draft of the new constitution to the voters in the November election.

Section 4 of the Bill of Rights in the 1891 document is expected to be the justification:

"All power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their peace, safety, happiness and the protection of property. For the advancement of these ends they have at all times an inalienable and in-defeasible right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may deem proper."

In eight paragraphs, the present constitution
spells out how its content may be altered.
Yet it is on Section 4 of the Bill of Rights that the legislature may depend to get the revised charter before the people this fall. A friendly suit may have to be filed and decided by the Court of Appeals
before the draft is put up for a "yes we accept it,"
or "no, we don't want it," vote.

But there are two broad choices open to the General Assembly in the method of testing what took the Revision Assembly almost two years to write.

If the legislature wants a public vote, it can submit the draft to the voters at a special election
called for that purpose, or at the general election
this November. It can propose the draft as an amendment to the present constitution, and submit it to the voters November 7, 1967.

The constitutional convention is another method,
and two routes are open for change using this vehicle.

First the General Assembly may propose an unlimited convention which could adopt, amend or ignore the revised draft. Second, the legislature may seek a convention limited to one question: shall the revision Assembly's work be adopted without change?

Using the constitutional convention methods, the results are binding; the people get no opportunity to vote on its actions.

Of course submission to the voters is the quickest. Using the convention method it would take until 1970 or longer to get a new constitution into effect.

The convention method is long, arduous and complex. Two succeeding legislatures must adopt a proposal to put the following on the ballot: shall a constitutional convention be called?

In 1964 the legislators passed a proposal to submit the call for an unlimited convention. The 1965
special session then enacted a call for a convention
limited to acceptance or rejection of the work of the Constitutional Revision Assembly.

If the present legislature chooses the convention
method it can enact for the second time either the 1964 or 1965 proposals which will be before it.

Acceptance of either for the second time will put the following on the ballot in November, 1967: shall a convention be called (limited or unlimited based on which method it chooses?)

If these are rejected, the convention method is over. The electorate has rejected this question three times before, in 1931, 1947 and 1960.

If the legislature favors the convention, the 1968
General Assembly must enact a law calling for the election of a delegate from each of the 100 House districts in November, 1968. It could not convene until 1969. If this convention were unlimited, its final work would await the 1970 legislature's mandate that it be put before the voters in 1970.

But if convention were limited to accepting or rejecting the Revision Assembly's work, the new constitution would not go to a vote of the people.

There is, seemingly, no disagreement with the calling of an unlimited convention, that it follows
the guidelines of the present constitution, and that the work of the Revision Assembly could be the starting point for this method.

The limited convention has invoked mild dispute in the halls of the legislature, but using Section 4 of the present Bill of Rights as the method has divided legislators sharply.

Wayland Serviceman Awarded Bronze Star

Elmo Gail Stanford, 26-year-old Navy medical corpsman, has been awarded the Bronze Star, his mother, Mrs. Edna Stanford, of Wayland, learned in a recent letter from Vice-Admiral R. B. Brown, Surgeon General, U.S.N. The commendation came as a result of heroic action displayed by Stanford during fighting in Viet Nam, February 26 this year.

A 10-year veteran of the Navy, he had been assigned for the past year as a hospital corpsman with the 3rd Medical Battalion, U.S. Marines, in Da Nang, Viet Nam.

In further combat, March 20 in Phat Bai province, Corpsman Stanford was wounded. He was returned to the United States, September 12. He is a graduate of Wayland high school.

MAYTOWN

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Janie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bailey, celebrated her 11th birthday with an afternoon party at her home on Wilson Creek, Friday. Mrs. Bailey, assisted by Mrs. Joyce Rowe, decorated and baked a Castle birthday cake and trimmed a bubble gum tree. The children enjoyed an afternoon of games and dancing. Janie received many gifts. Guests were Tony Blevins, Susan Compton, Josephine Elliott, Jeannie Frasure, Kent Gibson, Connie Halbert, Mary Ann Hamilton, Berk Hayes, Nancy Northrup, Jerry Patton, Teresa Patton, Teresa Prater, Becky Stewart, Judy Stewart, Teresa Martin, Mary Sue Martin, Jerry Rowe, and Terry Rowe.

Jack Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb, was inducted into the U.S. Army this week and is stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Mrs. Webb, the former Mary June Prater, will remain here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Prater, for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurmal Click and Stanley Ramey spent Saturday in Lexington on business.

Linda Gregory visited friends in Cincinnati over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Rowe visited his father, Claude Rowe, in Lexington last week.

Larry Robinson and Freddie Reed attended the races at Salyersville, Sunday.

Pvt. Gorman Stephens is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Stephens.

Rodney Click, of Wilmington, Ohio, visited his mother, Mrs. Bertha Click, last week-end. He was accompanied home by Miss Evelyn Stanfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. Thurmal Click visited Mr. and Mrs. Glennis Ramey in Alexandria, Kentucky, Sunday. While there they also visited Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hornsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Flint Osborne and Harold were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Bertha Click.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spencer are the parents of a daughter born September 12 at the Beaver Valley hospital. The babe has been named Paula Ann.

DISPLAY BY POST OFFICE

One of the interesting items at the Maytown Woman's Club annual fall flower show last Sunday was a colorful display arranged by Postmaster Edward F. Robinson. Mr. Robinson had a large variety of pamphlets on how to address mail, how to wrap and address second, third and fourth class mail and on the use of the ZIP CODE and how important it is. Mr. Robinson added further interest and color to his display by borrowing a life-size Mr. Zip from the Cincinnati regional office for this occasion. Children were informed that there is a secret code on how to address mail and an explanation of the use of ZIP CODE was made available for them.

ARTS AND CRAFTS FEATURE MAYTOWN FLOWER SHOW

Langley, Ky., Sept. 20 (Spl.)—The name, "Maytown Fall Flower Show," proved to be a misnomer last Sunday, the regular time for this annual event. Although flowers were abundant, the variety of displays in the Maytown school gymnasium plainly said the show was an arts and crafts display.

The churning of milk into butter in front of an open fireplace by Polly M. Martin, Marcella Bailey and Norma Martin, in period costumes, received much attention from young and old alike. Sale of butter and buttermilk for the Maytown senior class was carried on at brisk pace all afternoon.

Harriet Allen's display of Indian artifacts was just as popular with the young boys and the "old" boys. Mrs. Allen, of Langley, and her sister, Mrs. Peggy Jo Vaughn, of Oak Ridge, Tennessee, have compiled the collection over the years.

Handmade quilts decorated the entire left side of the gymnasium. Paintings and sketches, along with a six-foot Christmas tree made of pine cones by Mrs. Paul Spencer, decorated the far end of the area. The Maytown school Home Economics Department, under the guidance of Mrs. Joyce Stewart, displayed 11 table settings in the holiday motif, and 42 flower arrangements. This display was the length of the right side of the gymnasium.

Many antiques and other crafts were displayed, along with the 294 registered entries in the horticulture and artistic arrangements sections.

The show was sponsored by the Maytown Woman's Club, Mrs. Roy May, president. General chairman of the show were Mrs. George A. Patton and Mrs. Edwin V. Stewart.

Mrs. Betty Latta, of Prestonsburg Floral, who judged the show, was very complimentary of the artistic arrangements, which were judged on the merits of each entry—blue for first, red for second and white for third.

Mrs. Jones Tallent, of Langley, won the Best in Show and the Sweepstakes Award with seven blue ribbons. This was the first time that the same person won both awards.

For the Best in Show Mrs. Tallent had arranged a side triangle of russet cactus dahlias with yew and sanseria in a low, dull-brown pottery container complimented by a brown Chinese monk placed on burlap.

The following were winners in the arrangement classes:

Dahlia Freeway—Irma Tallent, three blues; Violet Allen, two blues; Mosaleete Patton, two blues; Shirley Stewart, one blue; Irma Tallent, two reds; Mosaleete Patton, four reds; Shirley Stewart, three reds; Violet Allen, one red; Billy Chaffins, one red; Violet Allen, white; Mosaleete Patton, white.
