All-Ky. City Celebration Sobered by Bus Plight

Prestonsburg's All-Kentucky City celebration Tuesday evening at the grade school here was described by Estell Lee Carter, Chamber of Commerce president, as "a pep rally for Prestonsburg."

It was that, and more. The story unfolded during the program was one of high aims and much achievement. But it also emphasized some sore needs—financial support to keep city buses running, for instance.

Given a standing ovation, Dr. George P. Archer, Prestonsburg's mayor, told the gathering, "This is the hour we have waited for" but quickly added: "We must not rest on our laurels, for in this world we have to run just to keep up."

He pointed out that Prestonsburg was the only entrant in the All-Kentucky City contest that qualified in all seven categories. In tourism, he added, Prestonsburg took first place, beating out the city of Louisville, among others.

Mayor Archer reported that an audit of the city's financial condition showed an $8,000 surplus last year. Although the city budget this year will be higher, taxes will not be increased.

Roger Thompson, Kentucky Power Company representative, who was introduced by City Manager Curtis Clark, told why he urged Prestonsburg to enter the state contest. "I saw a sign outside your town which read, 'Live your faith, brighten the world.' Prestonsburg has certainly lived its faith in progress, and it has brightened Eastern Kentucky by its example."

Howard Gersky, assistant personnel director of the United States Shoe Company, said Prestonsburg was "what we were looking for" as a location for a plant—"a sense of going ahead, of wanting to grow, to build... an aggressive Chamber of Commerce that wanted industry... people who wanted to work..."

He gave Homer D. Neely, past C. of C. president, and Mayor Archer credit for getting a quarter-million-dollar training program financed by government funds. "You can go just as far as people want to go. I have never seen such aggressive, dynamic support, but you must combine forces to get more done," he said.

Informing the gathering that U. S. Shoe's new plant here will open April 1, Dr. Archer said the plant will be the biggest single producer of shoes in the United States with a production of 6,000 pairs a day, and that the plant will employ, eventually, between 500 and 600 persons.

56 Workers Lose David Mine Jobs

The feeling that Princess Coals' David mine may be closing was intensified Tuesday when 56 employees were cut off from work.

An attempt by The Times to reach company officials in Huntington for a statement failed. W. H. Sutherland, general manager at David, was out of town Wednesday.

The rumor persists that today (Thursday) will be the last shift worked there by Princess. But from the same unauthentic source came word that coal mining will continue there under a new organization.

David L. Francis, of Huntington, chairman of the board of Princess Coals, Inc., last week said no official decision had at that time been made. He admitted the company has been losing money and that the situation was under serious study.

YOUTH TELLS OF ROBBERY

Jacobs Admits Break
Into Hueysville Store;
Loser Recounts Record

Nineteen-year-old James R. Jacobs, of Wayland, who admittedly has been in trouble with the law since he was 14, this week signed a sworn statement to the effect that he took part in the looting of Will Boggs' hardware store at Hueysville, early in January, of approximately $1,000 worth of merchandise.

He also told Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo that Billy Ray Hicks was involved in the case.

Seeking "another chance," the youngster, who dropped out of school when he completed the eighth grade, said he wants to go to Michigan, find work and stay clear of crime. He told the two officials and Probation Officer James Duff that his criminal activities usually are inspired by an older person and while he is drinking. He has been in jail 70 days after his arrest in the Hueysville break. He was committed to the reform school at 14.

"There's no future in this business," he remarked. Jacobs said radios, watches and tools were in the haul taken from Boggs' store.

Sterling Hamilton was arrested Friday by Sheriff Lewis and Deputies J. D. Martin and Tommy Engle and booked at the jail on a charge of knowingly receiving stolen property after the officers had nabbed Kelzo New-

This Town ... That World

DER TAG!
Next Monday, April 1, 1968—a day to remember or to try to forget. That day circuit court will begin. So will Daylight Time. And the 5 percent sales tax. This ain't no April Fool joke, son!

FOREBODING
I have a feeling my old dog isn't long for this vale of tears. He hasn't scratched for a flea in a month, and that can mean only one of two things—1. He isn't feeling up to expending any energy on a little thing like a flea; or, 2. The fleas have deserted a sinking ship.

Governor Nunn vetoed so many bills Monday that it may have become a habit with him. He vetoed two of his vetoes; brought the bills back for another look.

Proposing that 18-year-olds be allowed by law to drink beer, a Florida juvenile judge this week argued that "for every child raised on milk, there are four being raised on beer."

If hizzoner is telling the truth, maybe he should suggest that a bunch of parents should be legally shot.

The judge, Robert A. Halverson, had something to say, and he said it, agree with him or not. He said his suggestion would help bridge the gap between generations and serve to eliminate the "sham and hypocrisy" of the adult world.

That "sham and hypocrisy" bit gets pretty close to the nub of the matter. Parents tell our children to avoid all the pitfalls—drink, dishonesty, immorality, and so on—and then go out and practice everything against which they preach. It's little wonder that youth is frustrated, rebellious and sometimes as onery as their elders.

Somebody said the rooster was the first to adopt daylight savings, since he sets his crowing hours by the coming of dawn. Wonder how frustrated a rooster would be if he were to be jet-

Planning Is Completed For Rent-Subsidy Units

Plans have been completed for the 75 housing units proposed by the Prestonsburg Ministerial Association, and actual construction work awaits only final approval of the million-dollar project.

DeGarmo Holbrook, who prepared the plans for the rent-supplement complex, said all of the apartments except those of three bedrooms will be one-story. The 24 three-bedroom units will have the bedrooms on the second floor. Sixteen will have one bedroom, and 35 will be of two bedrooms.

He pointed out that the plans provide that in no case will a family occupy a floor above or below another.

The apartments will be housed in 11 separate structures. Those occupying one building will be separated by "common" sound-proof walls.

Site for the housing complex is in the Goble-Roberts Addition. It, as well as the new U. S. Shoe Company plant, will be served by a bridge promised by the State Highway Department for construction across the Big Sandy, starting in August.

ALUMNI PLAN FRIDAY MEET

Eastern Ky. Chapter Of Morehead State
To Meet at Lodge

Annual meeting of the Eastern Kentucky Chapter of the Morehead State University Alumni Association will be held Friday, at Jenny Wiley State Park.

More than 300 alumni and friends of the university are expected to be present for the meeting, which will open with a social hour and registration at 6 p.m. in May Lodge. Dinner will be at 7 p.m.

In addition to dinner and special music, the program will include a color slide presentation depicting the University of yesterday and as it is today.

Parents of students enrolled at the University and other interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

In charge of local planning are Jack Stumbo, Prestonsburg postmaster; Dr. William Blair, Paintsville dentist; Paul Trimble, principal of Paintsville high school, and Lillian Pigg and Arlan Isaac, teachers in the Johnson county school system.

CLAY NATIVE IN PARK JOB

Mosley Is Successor To Brewer As Mgr.;
'Resignations' Disputed

Hugh Mosley last week became the new manager of Jenny Wiley State Park, succeeding Ralph Brewer.

A native of Clay county, Ky., the 49-year-old Mosley has had 25 years' experience in the hotel and resort business. He only recently returned from California where he served as general manager of hotels, including the Highlands Inn at Carmel, Calif., and the Nevada Lodge at Lake Tahoe. He was graduated in 1936 from Bush (Ky.) high school. During World War II he was a first sergeant with the 37th Infantry.

LOWER COURT TO DECIDE WHO GETS MULLOY PAPERS

The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that a lower court must decide whether the McClellan Committee can have records seized from three poverty workers in Eastern Kentucky.

The high court referred the question to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. Meantime, the documents are to remain in the custody of county officials in Pike county and may not be used by the McClellan Committee.

The records were seized from Alan and Margaret McSurely and Joseph Mulloy when they were arrested on state sedition charges last summer. The material was not returned when the charges were quashed by a three-judge U. S. court.

Instead, the court ordered the documents turned over to a U. S. Senate committee headed by Sen. John McClellan, Arkansas Democrat. McClellan says he needs the records to show connections between civilrights groups and ghetto uprisings in U. S. cities.

Easter Seals Help Tots With Problems In Hearing, Speech

Helping children to hear and to communicate is an important part of the year-round work of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, the Easter Seal Society.

The society's Hearing and Speech Center in Louisville offers services to hard-of-hearing children and children with hearing-caused speech difficulties. These services include intensive testing and evaluation of hearing problems, training in lip-reading, use of hearing aids and speech correction.

Last year, 346 patients from 47 Kentucky counties received hearing and speech services at the center. Hearing aids for 71 children were provided by the WHAS Crusade for Children.

Martin Countians Begin Federal Court Defense

Three of the five Martin county men on trial in U. S. district court at Pikeville on charges of conspiring to defraud the federal government by diverting $36,000 in flood relief funds Tuesday began telling how they carried out their duties.

Ted Perry, chief contractor for the work, insisted that he pumped and treated some contaminated wells which the government charges he did not pump or treat.

Perry also named some wells which he said he serviced and then neglected to make a claim for payment.

Allen Kelly, Jr., Martin county sanitarian during the clean-up period, said that most of the work he did was part of the duties of his position, and that he received no extra compensation for it.

The Jeep, he said, belonged to his sister, the wife of Martin County Judge Willie Kirk. Judge Kirk and Monroe Kelly, who are the other two defendants, were scheduled to testify later. Monroe Kelly is a brother of Allen Kelly, Jr.

U. S. Judge Timothy S. Hogan remarked in the absence of the jury that he was concerned chiefly with the use of $1,700 in cash which Perry purportedly paid Kirk for use of county equipment.

"The use of cash money in transactions like this is damning," Hogan said. "If a check had been used, I would stop the proceedings right here."

The defense introduced a deposit slip, a bank statement and canceled checks to show that the $1,700 was deposited to a special Martin county account and then used for county purposes.

Zane Grey Staker, defense counsel, also invoked the suggestion that the Martin county investigation was politically motivated.

100 PROTEST IN MAGOFFIN

Claim Trucks Hauling
Terry Elkhorn Coal
Are Damaging Road

The Terry Elkhorn Mining Company, of Prestonsburg, and its president, Charles E. Hovatter, are finding new trouble in another county as the result of mining and coal-trucking operations.

A few weeks ago, their difficulties lay in Johnson county where a road allegedly was damaged by coal trucks. Now, it's Magoffin.

Last week, The Salyersville Independent reported: A delegation of approximately 100 people crowded the fiscal courtroom here Tuesday to demand action concerning the destruction of the Marshallville Road, near Ivyton.

Stirring the controversy are trucks belonging to Terry Elkhorn Mining Company and Donna Trucking Company. Residents claim the trucks are destroying the roads by hauling loads that exceed the legal limits.

One observer pointed out to county officials that presently the road cannot be used for travel except the trucks that are hauling over them.

Joyce Ann Patrick, who appeared to be a spokesman for the group, said the road is in such bad shape, the children have to walk as far as three miles in order to catch a school bus since the bus driver would not risk traveling the road. Another resident said the rural mail carriers would not travel the roads either.

Last week a restraining order was handed down by the Fiscal Court to institute a suit against Donna Trucking Co., Terry Elkhorn Mining Co. and Charles E. Hovatter to discontinue practices of hauling coal by trucks overloaded beyond weight limits. County Attorney Arnett Mann said he requested the Department of Highways, during a telephone conversation with Highway Commissioner Bill Hazelrigg, to join the suit as plaintiffs since the state owned the right-of-way on the roads.

Judge Hager Watson told the group the cooperation from Frankfort is uncertain at this time, but the Fiscal Court would do all they possibly could to make some adjustments to the problem.

While the exact number is uncertain, a number of citations have been issued to the drivers of the trucks. The citations, according to Mann, are for overloads and no "cab cards."

Near the conclusion of the heated-up discussion, Mrs. Patrick told officials if something wasn't done about the overloaded trucks tearing up the roads, the people would consider taking other measures to stopping them.

Prestonsburg Wins Water System OK

Bomb Hoax Sets Off
Search of College
Wednesday Evening

An anonymous telephone call Tuesday night sent Prestonsburg police, Civil Defense and Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad members on a three-hour search of the Prestonsburg Community College for a bomb reported as having been secreted there.

"If we left anything unremoved, I don't know what it is," Petty Thompson, Civil Defense director, said.

Searchers were certain the call was a hoax, but they didn't take chances. The male voice which called both the home of Dr. Henry A. Campbell, director of the college, and the Police Department, warned that the bomb was set to explode next morning at 9:30. To make sure nobody was hurt, Fire Chief John Perry called a fire drill for that time, kept students and faculty outside till the 9:30 deadline was well past. Most of the students were unaware of the threat till later.

Commission To Ask Bids Within Week

Extension of System
And Second Reservoir
May Involve $684,000

Mayor George P. Archer was notified last week by Congressman Carl D. Perkins that final approval has been made in Washington of Prestonsburg's big project to enlarge and improve the municipally-owned water system here.

Advertising for contractor's bids on the undertaking, which will cost an estimated $684,000, is scheduled for next week. Of this amount, an OEO grant will provide $474,000.

Involved in the project are:

1. Extension of the water system north to the state-owned lot on new US 23, near Auxier, and southward to the United Fuel Gas Company pipeyard, near the old mining town of Winchester, on US 23.
2. Construction of a 300,000-gallon reservoir on the hill overlooking the Presbyterian Church, the Green Acres housing development and Prestonsburg Community College.
3. Strengthening of the existing water system in Prestonsburg and Lancer.

Almost seven miles of 10-inch water main will be used in extending the system, and another 1,548 feet of 10-inch line will be used in making five river crossings. Four of the crossings will be made to reach the west side of the Big Sandy below Cliff with water service and also to avoid line construction around cliffs which border on US 23.

TWO BRIEFED ON PROGRAM

McCauley and Allen
Study Regional Plan
During Capital Visit

Joe McCauley, director of the Big Sandy Area Development Council, and Jack Allen, assistant director, have returned from a two-day conference in Washington where they participated in meetings with officials and specialists of the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Dr. George P. Archer, chairman of the board of directors of the Development Council, said the purpose of the Washington trip was to acquaint the staff further with the basic philosophy, policies and program and how it may be coordinated with other existing federal programs in providing the greatest amount of technical and financial assistance to communities in the Appalachian region.

The Big Sandy Area Development Council is composed of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties. Headquarters for the area staff has been established at Prestonsburg Community College.

One of the major purposes of the Big Sandy Area Development Council is to work with existing agencies, groups and individuals in helping to stimulate economic growth and development in the five-county area.

Detour on US 23 In Effect Monday Below Paintsville

Traffic on US 23 between Paintsville and Louisa will be detoured at 6 a.m., April 1, and only local traffic thereafter will continue to use the road, the Kentucky Department of Highways announced this week.

Motorists are urged to use extreme caution in the area and observe all detour warning signs to insure safety.

US 23 northbound traffic will be detoured at KY 201, four miles north of Paintsville, and routed on KY 201 to Blaine and KY 32 to Louisa.

Southbound traffic will be detoured on KY 32 to Blaine and KY 201 to four miles north of Paintsville.

TWO MURDER TRIALS SEEN

Case of Mrs. Flanery, Held Without Bond,
May Be Docketed

Two trials in which defendants are accused of murder may be heard at the circuit court term which will convene here Monday, although only one is on the docket at this time.

The docketed murder case is that of Granville Crittendon, of Chicago, charged in the death of his wife. Held in jail here, unable to execute bond, is Mary Lou Flanery, 22, who is accused of the slaying at Martin recently of her former husband, Merlin Flanery.

If the grand jury votes an indictment against Mrs. Flanery, as is expected, the case will be entered on the April docket for early trial because of her inability to make bond.

The comparatively slim docket lists 76 cases, two of which are civil actions. Next to child desertion cases, offenses involving burglary, grand larceny and knowingly receiving stolen property are most numerous. There are 10 of these listed for trial. Two defendants are accused of shooting and wounding and one with cutting and wounding. Six liquor law violations are set for trial during the term.

A MATTER OF NAMES

The similarity of names again serves to plague The Times and some of its readers. So we note here that the Wesley Hall listed in last week's edition as having been arrested is not the man of the same name who lives at Martin.

Floyd G.O.P. Dispute Up for Apr. 5 Decision

Two sets of precinct committee members of the Republican party were elected last Saturday by divergent factions of the party.

One set of party representatives was elected in a mass meeting called at the courthouse here by Jack Hyden, county G. O. P. chairman, and other members of the county executive committee.

The opposing list of committee members, who are supporting Dr. J. D. Adams for the top party post in the county, was chosen in meetings at the precincts.

Which group will be officially seated will be known only when the intra-party row goes to the State Central Executive Committee in Louisville, April 5. A formal protest against the calling of the mass meeting was lodged with the committee, March 16.

Leaders of the Hyden faction said the mass meeting held here was attended by a gathering of 438 which filled the circuit courtroom and spilled into nearby hallways.

Precinct caucuses for the naming of a precinct chairman and chairwoman were held by the opposing group in 85% of the county's 32 precincts, it was said.

County committee members elected in the mass meeting will convene at the courthouse Saturday afternoon at 2:30 to elect a county chairman. The opposition forces will hold their meeting for the same purpose next Thursday at 7 p.m., at Martin high school.

Chalets Give Lake Alpine Touch

One of the 12 chalets composing the Lake View Village complex overlooking Dewey Lake.

The Dewey Lake area's newest tourist and vacation facility is ready to open.

It is Lake View Village, a Hager Gap entrance to Jenny Wiley State Park. Patterned after vacation homes which are an attractive feature at Gatlinburg, Tenn., the complex was built by three Prestonsburg men, Burl Spurlock, Blaine Hall and George Lee Shannon.

The buildings themselves, their furnishings, a water system, sewage disposal plant, roads, drainage and landscaping have cost $155,000.

With full utilization of all space effected, each chalet has a spacious living room, a kitchen, bathroom and dining facilities downstairs. The bedroom upstairs normally accommodates two beds but has room for three.

Both will receive their degrees on June 12. The wedding is planned for June 13.

Legislature Updates Mental Health Laws

Frankfort, Ky.—Legislation approved by the 1968 General Assembly "will update Kentucky mental health laws and streamline their organization and language," according to the State Department of Mental Health.

The legislation, which incorporates many recommendations in the American Psychiatric and American Bar Associations model laws, ranges from a revised, modernized definition of mental retardation to a measure designed to keep emotionally disturbed people out of jail, the Department said. It gave this review of the bills:

House Bill 533 and Senate Bill 387 are especially concerned with assurance of the civil rights of patients in state institutions. In all types of admission—emergency, observation and treatment and indeterminate—provision is made for due process of law, legal counsel, humane care and treatment and rights for release on a convalescent plan or complete discharge after examination and judicial review.

The bills also provide for the patient's right to treatment rather than mere custody. New law requires an automatic review of the patient's treatment course every six months, with notification to the courts of his continuing treatment and assurance that the reason for his admission still exists.

The legislation separates the legal question of incompetency from the medical question of need for treatment. Patients often had been simultaneously declared incompetent to handle their affairs when they were admitted to hospitals involuntarily under the old law.

The legislation also: Assures that persons hospitalized for mental retardation have the same rights as those hospitalized for emotional illness.

Eliminates such archaic terms as "pauper idiot" and "feeble-minded."

Enables courts to use regional mental health facilities for observation and treatment, allowing for services at the nearest possible point to the patient.

HB 533 was sponsored by Reps. Foster Pettit, D-Lexington; Don Eall, R-Lexington; Jon Rickert, D-Elizabethtown; Kenneth Harber, R-Fl. Mitchell; Mitchell Denham, D-Maysville; William Cox, D-Madisonville; and Arthur Schmidt, R-Cold Spring.

An employee of the Black Diamond Corp. for the last 18 years, Mr. Waugh was born Oct. 6, 1903 in Carter county, a son of the late Jefferson and Mary James Waugh. His wife, Mrs. Faye Griffith Waugh, survives.

Also surviving are four other sons, Okey, Harlan and Paul (Bud) Waugh, all of Huntington, and Elton Waugh, of Chesapeake, Ohio; a daughter, Mrs. Jack Herald, of Huntington; two sisters, Miss Ida Waugh, of Huntington, and Mrs. Sena Gee, of Grayson, Ky., and a brother, Charles Waugh, of Grayson.

He also leaves 14 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 1 p.m. from the Reger Funeral Home, Huntington. Burial was made in White Chapel Memorial Gardens there.

James Hall, Age 85, Is Victim Wednesday At Bevinville Home

James Hall, 85-year-old retired farmer, died Wednesday at his home at Bevinville. He had been in failing health for some time.

Born at Bevinville, Nov. 13, 1883, he was the son of John and Melissa Newsome Hall.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mattie Meade Hall, and a daughter, Mrs. Flora Isaacs, of Bevinville.

Funeral rites will be conducted from the residence Friday at 10 a.m., ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in the family cemetery on Honey Camp Branch at Bevinville under the direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

and pointed out that the people take too much for granted. He made a plea for scholarship funds to help students enter the college.

Academic Dean Jeffers, of the college, produced figures, the result of research done at the University of Kentucky, which show that community college students moving to UK for their junior and senior years are doing as well or better than those who have been on the university campus from the time they entered college. Sixty-two percent of those transferring there from other schools have attained a 2.0 standing, he said. Those who were at UK from the beginning rated 68 percent, while 73 percent of those transferring from community colleges attained that standing.

Jarrett Wood, of Kentucky Power Company, said, "I came to congratulate this town and its people for a first-class job of development. I can't imagine a sharper picture of the American way of progress than the job done in Prestonsburg, and I am proud Kentucky Power could have a part in this progress."

The sombre note sounded at the meeting came from Blaine Hall in telling of the bus company's plight. "We are not going to have it long unless something is done," he warned. The company, he said, had a loss per month last year of $392, and this deficit does not include interest on a $12,000 note.

It was proposed that 32 local businesses give $25 a month by way of subsidy to the bus line. "There is no other choice," Mr. Carter said. "Teams of two will be calling on you, asking your help."

Others taking part in the program were Glenn Anderson, who made the door-prize awards, and Henry Conley, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce membership committee.

KY. POWER NAMES LA FON SUCCESSOR TO BAKER

Waldo S. La Fon, assistant vice president of Kentucky Power Company, last Thursday was elected executive vice-president of the company at a meeting of its board of directors.

In this capacity, he will serve as operating head of the utility, succeeding F. M. Baker, who will retire March 31 after 37 years of service with Kentucky Power. Baker will continue to serve as a director of the company.

One of seven operating electric utilities of the American Electric Power System, Kentucky Power provides electric service to 100,000 customers in 18 eastern Kentucky counties. Its headquarters are in Ashland.

La Fon has been with the AEP System for almost 29 years. A native of Union, West Virginia, he joined Appalachian Power Company in 1939 following his graduation from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, where he received a BS degree in electrical engineering. He served as an officer in the China-Burma-India Theatre of Operations in World War II.

Prior to his transfer to Kentucky Power as assistant general manager in 1957, he had been manager of Appalachian's Beckley (W. Va.) District. He was elected a director of Kentucky Power in 1966 and assistant vice-president last year.

Osborn, Floyd Native, Scheduled in County During East Ky. Swing

Ted Osborn, candidate for the Democratic Senatorial nomination, made a swing this week into Eastern Kentucky, with a tour of Floyd county scheduled for tomorrow (Friday).

Tuesday morning, Osborn, a former state representative and Lexington business executive, met with youth supporters in Louisville, and spoke at a meeting of young Democrats at the University of Kentucky Tuesday night.

On Wednesday, Osborn, 41, who was born in Prestonsburg and reared in Ashland, will deliver one of the major addresses of his campaign at a noon meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club in Harlan county. He will also campaign in Laurel and Knox counties during the day.

Today (Thursday) he is campaigning in Letcher county, meeting with supporters in Whitesburg and Jenkins. Tonight, he will make a non-political talk to a Jenkins service club.

Mrs. Osborn, the former Della Wheeler, of Paintsville, will join her husband and campaign in Letcher and Floyd counties.

FLOYD CO-ED WINS AT ALC PLACE IN LAUREL FESTIVAL

Two Floyd county co-eds have been chosen as winners in Alice Lloyd College's annual selection of a representative to the Mountain Laurel Festival this spring in Pineville.

Switching their usual white uniforms for evening gowns, 14 young women were judged for beauty, poise and character, with each contestant being asked two questions designed to reveal her character.

Winner of the contest was Miss Kathy Prater, of Hueysville. Miss Prater is a freshman majoring in physical education.

First alternate is Miss Martha Little, a freshman from Wheelwright.

Judges for the event were Mrs. Anna Maria Navarro, of Lexington, and Cordell Martin and Charles Ward, both of Hindman.

The Alice Lloyd College candidate to the Mountain Laurel Festival will compete with co-eds from other Kentucky colleges for the title of Laurel Queen. Held each year at Pineville, the festival celebrates the blooming of the mountain laurel.

Mrs. Parthenia Rowe Is Claimed at Age 64

Mrs. Parthenia Rowe, of Risner, passed away Sunday at the Prestonsburg General hospital at the age of 64.

Born July 20, 1903 at Risner, she was a daughter of the late James and Angeline Saggars Pitts. Her husband, Henry Rowe, died in 1933.

Surviving are a son, Arnold Rowe, of Peru, Ind.; four daughters, Mrs. Josie Thornsburg, of Pyramid, Mrs. Pearl Johnson and Miss Rosemary Rowe, both of Risner, and Mrs. Dovie Thornsburg, of Lansing, Mich., and two sisters, Mrs. Melvina Ousley, of Silver Lake, Ind., and Mrs. Nan Ousley, of Risner.

She also leaves 20 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m., Tuesday, from the Holiness Church, of which she was a member, the Revs. Foster Prater and Oscar Prater officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Risner under direction of the Carter Funeral Home.

NO DEATH-WATCH NEEDED

The people of Pike county are, naturally, interested in the announcement that Fishtrap Dam will be dedicated on April 27. Residents of the entire flood-tortured Big Sandy valley hail the fact that this dam is near completion and almost ready to join Dewey, John Flannagan and Pound Reservoirs in the big job of flood control.

Yet, despite all the enthusiasm in Pike county about this major impoundment and what it may mean not only to that county but to all other downstream counties, there is a strange apathy about what lies ahead for the lake that Fishtrap Dam will create.

The dedication is being held before actual completion of work on the dam, it is explained, to emphasize "the need to add several thousand acres to the Reservoir in order to have one of the best recreational complexes in the area."

But if anybody, in any capacity, is seeking a way of keeping Fishtrap from being a black body of water laden with coal dust and sludge, the search has been made in deep silence. Washings from Virginia mines have for years blackened the river. These black waters with their load of sludge flow directly into what is to be Fishtrap Lake. Inevitably, the lake will lose. Water in its natural state has a powerful attraction. Black water repels.

Kentucky, it is true, is powerless to control another state. But, surely, if an earnest effort is made by officials from the local level to Frankfort and even on to Washington, reciprocal cooperation could be effected between Kentucky and Virginia. How to get such an effort made is a baffling problem. Kentucky has failed to control a situation arising within its own borders which threatens Dewey Lake with black water from mines in the upper reaches of Johns Creek. We haven't been silent about this situation, but the continued failure of the state to act to prevent destruction of a mecca for tourists, vacationists and thousands of others is frustrating.

"We are keeping an eye on the situation," those who have argued the existence of a mortal danger to Dewey Lake have been told.

Neither Dewey nor Fishtrap needs an eye kept on them. No death-watch is needed. The only solution lies in positive action.

some, Tom Hall and Palmer Newsome, all of Teaberry, on a grand larceny charge. They are accused of stealing two mine buggy motors from Emmitt Conn. The motors are valued at $800, and one of the two has been recovered, Lewis said.

The officials who interviewed young Jacobs agreed that much of the thieving done in this county is inspired by older men, some of whom serve as "fences" in disposal of the loot. One youth so led into theft was described as mentally retarded.

Berlin Jacobs was jailed last Thursday by Sheriff Lewis on a charge of stealing tires. Sheriff Lewis, ABC Agent Claude Flanery, Deputy Sheriffs John Reed, Tommy Engle and J. D. Martin confiscated 52 half-pints of whiskey last Saturday in a raid on the premises of Mack Hunt, of Ivel. A second-offense possession charge was lodged against Hunt.

Frank Hall was jailed last Thursday by State Trooper Richard Ray on a charge of shooting at with intent to kill Estill Goble at Boldman. He waived his case to the grand jury, and $1,000 bond was asked for his release.

Those booked within the week on drunk driving charges, and names of arresting officers follow:

Tillman Mullins, by Sgt. Sword and State Trooper Allen; Sherman Jones, by State Trooper Phipps; Robert Dean Workman, by Troopers Phipps and Ray; Johnnie Crisp, by Prestonsburg Policemen Ray Click, Scott Frasure and Garven Waddles.

Read a cemetery ad today which went something like this: "Our location affords a changing scene of plants, flowers, shrubs and trees which, to the lover of nature, is a treat unrivaled." Somehow, that leaves this nature lover just a little cold.

It has been said that behind every successful man there stands a good woman. And at her side stands a stranger from the Internal Revenue Department.

NOT THAT EASY

Our little group was wondering why it isn't correct to say a case in court is "squashed" rather than "quashed." I would explain that soft things are squashed—some say, "squashed." And court cases are tough nuts to crack.

Twenty Years Ago

(March 18, 1948)

A young construction worker, Harlan Green Woody, 20, was killed Sunday when a dirt-moving machine—an "iron mule"—which he was demonstrating to his wife, suddenly backed over a cliff. His wife, the former Ella Lee Noe, of Estill, leaped to safety. Every Floyd county coal mine by Monday afternoon was closed down as miners were protesting the charge made by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers leader, that the operators had "dishonored" the 1947 contract by failing to grant $100-a-month pensions. The Garrett Black Devils took the 15th basketball region title at Inez, Saturday night, in a 60-58 squeaker over Meade Memorial. In the finals of the state VFW basketball tournament at Louisville, last week, the Prestonsburg VFW Ramblers defeated Glasgow, 68-45, for the championship. A bill providing for the election by countywide vote of county school board members was halfway toward final enactment Tuesday after the Senate had given the bill its approval. The Floyd fiscal court has asked that $26,000 of the $68,542.21 in state rural road funds allotted the county this year be earmarked for construction of these blacktop highways: Clear Creek road from Hi Hat, one mile up Clear Creek; road from Wayland, 9 mile up Steele's Creek; Big Mud road from Harold. Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the 21-room combination store and apartment building of B. H. Toler, near Harold, early Saturday morning. Married: Miss Waynoka Louise Dyer, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. James Davis, Jr., of Wayland, March 13; Miss June Harris, of Lancer, and Mr. Don Church, of Pikeville, March 13. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Moore, of Drift, a daughter—Bobbie Lynn—Feb. 29 at the Paintsville hospital. There died: Mrs. Dollie Hall, 59, Monday at the home at Wayland of her brother-in-law, Budd Hall; Mrs. Lula Whitaker Fraley, 53, at her home at Whitaker, Friday; Mrs. Laura Belle Clark, 64, last Thursday at her home at Honaker; Mrs. Lettie Roseberry Evans, 61, Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roscoe Conley, at Wayland; John Hager Taylor, 60, member of the Wayland town council, March 9 at his home there; John Campbell Roberts, 72, native of this county and former teacher in Floyd schools, at home at Pikeville last Thursday.

(March 11, 1948)

Hopes of Floyd and Knott counties to remain in the same judicial district were blasted Tuesday as both houses of the General Assembly quickly approved the bill revising this and three other Eastern Kentucky districts and creating a new one, the 39th. Prestonsburg's Black Cats, the champions, and the Garrett high school Black Devils, the runners-up, in last week's district basketball meet here, begin play tonight (Thursday) at Inez for regional honors. Arthur Conn, 34-year-old Printer miner, died at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, early Wednesday morning, several hours after both his legs had been severed by a train near his home. Mrs. Lula Music Caldwell, 26, former Harold resident, was shot to death in a River Grove, Mich., night club, shortly before midnight Sunday. Cpl. Vernon P. Smedigar, formerly of Garrett, drowned Friday when he fell from a bridge in Kyoto, Japan. Seven parents were fined and two 14-year-old boys were given suspended reform school sentences Saturday by County Judge Alex L. Davidson after the boys had been arrested for truancy and their elders had been named in warrants for failing to send their children to school. Married: Miss Rosemary Malone, of Alten, and Mr. Walter Frasure, of McDowell, Feb. 19 at the Allen Baptist Church. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. William Damron, a son—William Mayo—Sunday, March 7, at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde DeRossett, of Martin, a son—Dennis Michael—Sunday at the Beaver Valley hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Martin, of Prestonsburg, a daughter—Marilyn Gail—Saturday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin; to Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Mauk, of Jeffersonville, Ind., a son—Raymond Bruce—Feb. 18; to Mr. and Mrs. Milton M. Gray, Jr., of New Haven, Conn., a son—Clark Bingham—Feb. 14 at New Haven hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Richardson, of Bonanza, a daughter. There died: Mrs. Tennessee Burchett Jarrell, 87, at home at Tram, Monday; A. E. Hays, 55, former Floyd resident, at home at Oakhill, Ohio, Feb. 29; Dede D. Hamilton, 37, former of Emma, March 2 at Olive Hill; Charlie Allen, 41, Wednesday at his home at Wayland; Jack Ousley, 41, at home at Drift, Saturday; Harry Thomas Sparks, five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Sparks, of Prestonsburg, Feb. 24 at the Paintsville hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(March 17, 1938)

Floyd county officials were assured Saturday by Governor A. B. Chandler that grade and drain of the Left Beaver Creek road will be completed this year. John Ratliff, 20, of Mud Creek, was shot and instantly killed last week when a revolver accidentally discharged, the bullet striking him in the head. Realizing the need for farm-to-market roads in the county, the Floyd fiscal court, at its last meeting, approved seven such roads for construction, in cooperation with the WPA. Frenchburg won the 15th Region basketball crown, Saturday night, defeating Pikeville, 26-23. The Prestonsburg debating teams and their coach, Mrs. Jane R. Combs, have been invited to the National District Tournament to be held at Bristol, Va., April 1-2. Burns suffered March 9 when her dress caught fire from an open grate at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crum, of Lancer, resulted in the death on the following day of 10-year-old Georgia Ann Crum. A 50-barrel oil well on the May Layne lease at Tram was seen Tuesday morning as heavy oil "pay" had been struck in the Big Lime with 25 feet of the formation yet to be penetrated. There died: Mrs. Katherine May Finlayson, 77, last week at the home of Mrs. Margaret Woods at Emma; Joy Mae, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Leslie, of Emma, Thursday at the Gearheart hospital, Martin; Mrs. Sally Allen Howard, 81, at home at Gunlock, Friday.

(March 10, 1938)

The Floyd County Board of Education, in session here Saturday, adopted a resolution which will, after July 1, this year, eliminate the sub-district school system in the county. The Garrett and McDowell basketball teams will represent Floyd county in the Regional tournament which begins today (Thursday) at the gymnasium here. Coroner El-Rott Prater said last Saturday that an autopsy revealed that Brack Adkins, 35, who died at Shelbiana, Pike county, suffered a broken neck, although it had been claimed he died as the result of a long illness. Resolutions of Jack's Creek local, United Mine Workers of America, calling for the completion of the Left Beaver Creek road, were unanimously approved by a crowd of approximately 300 persons attending the local's meeting at the Burton school, Sunday afternoon. Fire departments of Prestonsburg, Pikeville and Paintsville battled here Tuesday night to save Prestonsburg's business section as fire destroyed the Unique theatre and threatened an entire block. The nation-wide publicity given Amos Tackett, young Wheelwright man, when he wore his father's wedding pants at his own marriage, recently, to Miss Ethel Rogers, came to a climax last Thursday night when Tackett appeared on the CBS Radio program, "We The People". The city of Prestonsburg's petition for a restraining order from Circuit Judge John W. Caudill which would have compelled officers making arrests for drunkenness and other misdemeanors here to take their prisoners before Police Judge A. H. Spradlin for trial was denied Thursday, last week. Invited as sole representatives from Kentucky, the native Floyd Plainsong Chanters will appear at the National Folk Festival in Washington, D. C., May 6, 7 and 8. There died: Lindsey Martin, 85, at home at Mousie, Sunday.

School Accepting Applications

Our Lady of the Mountains School, Paintsville, is now accepting applications for the fall term. The elementary school runs a bus to and from Prestonsburg, daily. A faculty of six, plus two teacher aides, staff the non-graded school of 90 children. There is a language (Spanish) teacher and a music teacher. The non-graded system allows each child to progress at his own speed. Individual grades have been abandoned in favor of learner group of the same achievement level in individual subjects. For those interested in seeing how this program operates, the school is open for visits during the month of March. The public is invited to visit on Tuesday or Thursday between 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. For an appointment, call 789-9019. Information on enrollment for the next school year is available from the principal, Sister Frances Margaret, C.D.P. at 789-3661. Although the school is under Catholic sponsorship, half of the students are members of other Christian churches.

dren Hearing Aid Fund administered by the Society. Easter Seal funds paid for other aids.

Also in 1967, matching $5,000 grants from the WHAS Crusade and the Kentucky Society financed a hearing aid follow-up and hearing rehabilitation program.

For the fifth year, the Society sponsored a special two-week session for children with hearing handicaps at Camp Kysoc at Carrollton. The 57 children who participated came from all over Kentucky.

Contributions to the annual Easter Seal Campaign, currently under way, provide the primary support for the hearing and speech service of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children. Some 4,000 children with hearing and speech and many other handicaps are aided through Kentucky Easter Seal funds each year.

The Easter Seal Campaign began March 1, and will continue through Easter Sunday, April 14.

IN HOSPITAL

R. T. Allen, of West Prestonsburg, who has been quite ill for the last several days, is a patient at the Paintsville hospital. His condition shows some improvement.

Harrison Miller, 81, Floyd County Native, Dies at Coal Grove, O.

Harrison Miller, 81-year-old retired miner, native of Floyd county, died Friday at his home at Coal Grove, Ohio.

A member of the Church of God, he was born May 9, 1886, the son of Wills and Jane Sutton Miller. He was the last survivor of 15 children.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Belle Manis Miller; five sons, Alfred Miller, of Wheelersburg, Ohio, Klmer and Joe Miller, both of South Point, Ohio, and Ben and John E. Miller, both of Coal Grove; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Spears, of Batavia, Ohio, and Mrs. Martha Tison, of Portsmouth, Ohio; two stepsons, Ellis Manis, of Warsaw, Ind., and Carl Manis, of Mason, Ind.; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Alice Horner, of Franklin Furnace, Ohio, and Mrs. Myrtle Conley, Silver Lake, Indiana.

He also leaves 71 grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. The funeral was held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Lick Creek Enterprise Baptist Church, the Revs. Freeman and Ellis Robinson officiating. Burial was made in Highland Memorial Gardens at South Point, Ohio.

fantry Division and saw action in five overseas military campaigns. Mosley is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

The announcement of Mosley's appointment, made by Parks Commissioner Robert E. Gable's office, said that Brewer resigned as Jenny Wiley manager, Joe Buchanan, of Prestonsburg, who was replaced last week as manager of General Burnside State Park, Burnside, Ky., also was reported to have resigned.

Actually, it was said here, both Buchanan and Brewer had been sent to conduct out-of-state sports shows — Brewer to Cleveland, Buchanan to Milwaukee — and while they were there they were notified they were being replaced and their resignations were requested.

Earlier, Lowell T. Baker, a former Jenny Wiley State Park manager, was replaced as manager of Natural Bridge State Park. The manager of Lake Cumberland State Park also is out.

How come the ADLER Electric is guaranteed 4 times longer?

That may sound like we're bragging. But when we say we have the better electric typewriter, we don't just say it, we put it in writing. In our guarantee. A guarantee that's four times longer than the other leading make.

We not only give you an electric with a special kind of quality. It also comes with a special kind of price. Considerably less than you'd expect.

Look at all these time and work saving benefits you get with the Adler Electric: Automatic paper injector-ejector. Automatic dual ribbon — (fabric and carbon). Reverse underscore. Shortcut carriage return. Copy control. Page-end indicator. Five repeating keys. Repeating space bar. And many more benefits that save costly typing and retyping time.

Before you decide on any electric, have your secretary test-type the Adler Electric side by side with any other. She'll probably end up confirming your own good judgment for the Adler.

We will be more than happy to bring the Adler Electric to your office for a trial demonstration. Call today!

Returns To Duty

Sgt. Johnny Holman, 21, has reported back for duty at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, after spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conley Holman, of Wheelwright. A graduate of Wheelwright high school, Sgt. Holman has been in the service two years.

What More Could We Ask?

Heaven.
No hospitals in Heaven for there will be no pain and sickness here.
No funeral homes in Heaven, for there will be no death there.
No homes for the aged in Heaven, for we will never grow old.
No grocery stores in Heaven, for we shall have twelve kinds of fruit on one tree.
No clothing stores in Heaven, for we shall have a robe and crown, clothed in God's love eternally.
No schools in Heaven, for we are taught the way down here, our doom if we neglect.
No racial riots in Heaven, for there will be no distinction there.
No wars in Heaven where all is peace, for Jesus is the Prince of Peace, and He reigns there.
No snow, and no rain, no storm clouds, no darkness, for Jesus is the light, and the weather is always perfect.
No sinful places in Heaven, for sin can never enter there.
No building supplies, for we will have a home not made by hands.
There will not even be any church buildings in Heaven, for Christ's Church will all be one big, happy, glorious, heavenly family.
No governments of any form, for God rules and reigns in His City, and He is love, and peace, and joy and perfection and has a rest for His people.
No sadness in Heaven, for God Himself shall wipe all tears from our eyes.
No need for our Bible in Heaven, for it is our guide down here, our rule book, our road map. In Heaven there will only be the Lamb's Book of Life.
No nakedness, no abomination, no adultery, no theft, no murders, no lies, no fornication, no scandals, no gossips, no rumors, no heresies, nothing defiling, nor mean.
Think about it and compare Heaven with everything else there is.
What more could be asked?

Commission Announces Hunting Dates for Year

Opening and closing dates for the principal game species of Kentucky were approved at a meeting of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission Monday at Frankfort.
Dr. James Salato, chairman of the commission, explained that the early date for setting the seasons was dictated by a desire of sportsmen in Kentucky and surrounding states to make plans for their vacations to coincide with the particular seasons for game they wish to hunt.
The squirrel season will open on August 12, continue through October 31; reopen on November 21 and continue through December 31. The bag and possession limits will be unchanged at 6 and 12.
The quail and rabbit season will open on the third Thursday in November, the 21st, and continue through January 31. The limits for rabbits will again be six and 12 and for quail 10 and 20. The grouse season will open earlier this year, on November 21, and continue through February 28 with a bag limit of four and possession of eight.
The season for taking furbearers will open on November 21 and continue through January 31. There is a training season for raccoon hunters opening on February 1 and continuing through October 21 in which dogs may be trained but where raccoons may not be harvested. A shake-out season, where the raccoons may be shaken from trees but not taken by gun, will open on October 22 and continue through November 20.

Lands at Dewey Lake Open for Sharecropping

Under new plans for management of the Dewey Lake public hunting area, approximately 134 acres of bottom land are now available to farmers interested in sharecropping. The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reports that such cropping will be used on suitable fields as a means of restoring a portion of the earlier farm clearings to the production of wildlife food and cover.

Nine fields are available for lease on a one-year basis to any interested farmer. These fields, with their locations and approximate acreages, are:

1. On north side of Johns Creek, downstream one-half mile from mouth of Copperas Creek, and directly across lake from western boundary of Boy Scout camp; about 27 acres.
2. On north side of Johns Creek, about one mile upstream from the German bridge, and directly across lake from mouth of Twin Branch; about 10 acres.
3. On east side of Buffalo Creek, about three-quarters of a mile south of the German Bridge; about 15 acres.
4. On south side of Johns Creek at mouth of Buffalo Creek; about 8 acres.
5. On south side of Johns Creek, about three-fourths mile upstream from mouth of Buffalo Creek and about one-half mile downstream from Twin Branch; about 6 acres.
6. On south side of Johns Creek, beginning at the mouth of Twin Branch and extending upstream; about 25 acres.
7. On south side of Johns Creek, across from the mouth of Crooked Branch and extending upstream past the mouth of Mill Branch; about 28 acres.
8. On south side of Johns Creek, across from the mouth of Elm Log Branch; about 10 acres.
9. On south side of Johns Creek, across from the mouth of Collins Branch; about 5 acres.

Farmers who are interested in one or more of these fields should contact either Dalton Conley, Dewey Lake conservation officer, who lives at Martin (telephone Allen-874-2779), or Harold Barber, biologist in charge of the project, who lives at West Liberty.

Share-croppers will be permitted to harvest and remove 100 per cent of the crops grown during the first year, as the first year's operations will be more difficult because of brush and weeds that have grown up on the fields. During future crop years, however, the farmers will be permitted to harvest and remove only two-thirds of the crops grown, with the remaining one-third left in the fields as wildlife food. The leaving of a portion of the crops will serve in lieu of rent payments, and no cash payments will be required. Grains, grass, clover, or similar crops may be grown.

Contracts will be only on a one-year basis, but the farmer who has used a field during one year will have first call on it the following year.

The Dewey Lake wildlife area is managed by the state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources under a license from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. Share-cropping is part of a new plan to make the area more valuable to hunters, at little or no extra cost.

Henry C. Fitzpatrick, Formerly of W. P'burg, Dies at Flatwoods, Ky.

Henry Clay Fitzpatrick, 81 years old, formerly of West Prestonsburg, died Friday at his home at Flatwoods, Kentucky.

A retired farmer and carpenter, he was born Aug. 24, 1886 at West Prestonsburg, the son of Isaac and Annie Slusher Fitzpatrick. He was twice married—first to Alma Harmon, and following her death, to Anna Short, who survives.

Survivors, other than his widow, are two sons, Bill Fitzpatrick, of West Prestonsburg, and Jonathan Fitzpatrick, of Columbus, Ohio; one sister, Mrs. Rhoda Stumbo, of West Prestonsburg, and a half-brother, Isaac Fitzpatrick, of Cliff. Also surviving are seven grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Carter Funeral Home, the Rev. W. D. Jagers officiating. Burial was made in the Fitzpatrick cemetery on Middle Creek.

Fund-Raising Dance

The Floyd County Rural Child Care Policy Advisory Committee will sponsor a dance at the McDowell high school auditorium on April 5, from 8 p.m. to 12 p.m. The "Essence of Society" band will play and admission will be $1.50 per person.

Proceeds from the dance will go toward benefiting the Day Care Centers at McDowell and Auxier.

The dance will be chaperoned by the staff of the Rural Child Care Program and the Advisory Committee. 3-21-31

Nature Trails

By RUFUS M. REED

THE TRILLIUMS OF OUR MOUNTAINS

Many wildflower lovers regard the trilliums as the most beautiful of all our early spring wild flowers. They are found in all the mountain counties of both West Virginia and Kentucky and thrive best along the cool, moist banks of rocky ravines, and along shaded coves and rich hillsides of streams; around old mountain cliffs, low along creek valleys. They begin blooming in early April and continue to bloom until about mid-May.

In our region we have two leading kinds: the red trilliums, called "wake robins," and the great white trilliums. The trilliums get their name from the Latin word, tres, meaning three; these plants follow nature's law of three, and have three leaves, three petals, three sepals and a three-divided pistil.

The red trilliums often grow with the white ones, and the two form large colonies in rich, moist woods along streams. Once in the Lower Twin Branch of White Oak Creek, in Martin county, I found a patch of the red trilliums covering at least 10 acres—a whole hillside was gorgeous with the trilliums bearing large, reddish-purple flowers. The name, "wake robin," is given to the red ones as they supposedly bloom about the time the robins begin their spring carols.

The red trilliums grow about 15 inches high and produce a single large red flower at the top of the stalk. The plants come up from a fleshy, underground tuber; the three leaves are formed in a whorl at the top of the stalk and are broadly ovate, tapering to a sharp point. Sometimes the flowers come out in dark maroon, sometimes in purplish-brown; a few are found now and then with light yellow petals, but these are rare and are eagerly sought by wild flower enthusiasts. The flowers are showy and conspicuous in the barren woods of early April and lend a colorful, springlike touch to the landscape.

The great white trilliums have sheer white, waxy petals when first in bloom. These look like three-pointed stars lighting up the dusky, brown-leaf hillsides of early spring. The white ones grow almost knee-high and form large patches in cool, north-facing slopes. In about two weeks after blooming, the white trilliums turn to a rare shade of light pink, which holds its beauty for several days. This is the largest and best known of the trilliums, and botanists call it, Trillium grandiflorum—the great, white trillium.

Both of these trilliums can be dug up and transplanted in the wildflower garden, but do best in a rich, loamy soil. They make a colorful ensemble for any wildflower garden.

The trilliums belong to the Lily family, but always have half the number of petals of lilies, which have six. Some botanists, notably Edgar T. Wherry, place the trilliums in a family of their own.

Some call the red trilliums "the wet-dog trilliums," as they claim the blooms smell like a wet dog. This odor is designed to attract flies for the work of pollination; the trilliums must depend mainly on flies for this, since they bloom before bees are out in large numbers, and before there are any worker bumblebees at all. So flies come to the aid of the trilliums and scatter the pollen.

Of money spent in Kentucky last year by travelers and vacationers, $26 million went into the state treasury as revenue from taxes, according to a survey by Tennessee economist, Dr. Lewis C. To Attend Homecoming

John E. May, now 69 years of age, has written that he expects to attend the Maytown Homecoming, July 26-28. Eldest son of the late Clark May, Mr. May has resided in Mississippi most of his life. More than 20 years have passed since he came to visit relatives here. He is a brother of Bill, O. P. and Henry May, and of Mrs. Ray Flanery, and Mrs. Earitt Hayes.

Before leaving the state he taught two years in Floyd county. First initiated into Prestonsburg Lodge 293, I.O.O.F., in July, 1906, Mr. May has since served as grand patriarch, grand master, department commander, department council, patriarch militant, I.O.O.F. of Mississippi, with the rank of colonel. In June, 1966, he was awarded the Grand Decoration of Chivalry Jewel, the highest presented by the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the World. He also holds a life membership card in the Masonic Order. A former resident of Meridian and Hattiesburg, Miss., he now lives in Laurel. After retiring as president of the Laurel Creamery several years ago, he opened his own business of public accounting and is still very active. Among others writing of plans to come was Josh Wells, coach of the Maytown Wildcats in the late '20's. Mr. Wells named his young son for his favorite ball player of all time, Wayne "Pop" Allen, who will be his host during the event. Mr. Wells is now coach at Liberty, Kentucky.

With tournaments behind, homecoming committees are starting to work in earnest. Since many coming will prefer homes to more distant motels, Mrs. Willard Hicks has been appointed general chairman of rooms. Mrs. Dortha Allen has charge of tourist rooms for Martin. Other sub-chairmen for Allen; Eastern, Garrett and Prestonsburg will be named shortly. Some with no relatives returning are glad to accommodate others. Mrs. Arnold Lowe has been designated Safety Pin chairman. She will request each pupil in the Maytown school to contribute 10 cents toward the purchase of 2,000 tiny, gold-colored safety pins, needed on the identification tags being completed.

Alumni and former students to be honored in a special program July 27 are reminded to get their life sketches and photos to Miss Eloise Allen at once for the Homecoming booklet. Edwin V. NUNN THANKS 'WHATSOEVER THINGS' DEMOCRATS

Says Tax, Budget Bills Lacked Required Votes Without Opposition Aid

Frankfort—Republican Gov. Louie B. Nunn thanked Democrats for their help in passing his tax and budget bills as he signed the tax bill into law following final adjournment of the 1968 Kentucky Legislature.

The governor indicated these two major bills would not have passed had it not been for Democratic votes in the House, where Democrats outnumbered Republicans 57 to 43, and in the Senate where the majority is 24 to 14.

"The Democrats," he declared, "deserve a part of the credit for the program, including the budget and the tax. There couldn't have been one without the other . . ."

"The Democratic members of the General Assembly had an overwhelming majority in both the House and the Senate. They could have voted in any law they chose, or prevented any law from being enacted."

Fifteen Democrats joined 41 Republicans to approve the tax bill in the House by a vote of 56 to 41, and eight Democrats lined up with 13 Republicans to pass it in the Senate by a vote of 21 to 17.

Principal features of the new law are that it increases the state sales tax from 3 to 5 per cent, effective April 1, and the cost of auto license plates from $5 to $12.50 a year, effective next Jan. 1.

The 2 per cent increase in the sales tax is expected to produce an additional $14 million in revenue during the remainder of this fiscal year, which ends June 30. It has been estimated both taxes will produce an additional $244 million during fiscal 1968-1970.

The new taxes will be used to help finance Kentucky's record budget of $2.47 billion for the next two years. They will be employed to improve educational, mental health, Medicaid, old age and other public service programs.

Governor Nunn called the 1968 Legislature "conscientious."

Scores of bills receiving complete passage during the last sessions of the House and the Senate before sine die adjournment were delivered to the Governor to sign into law, let become law without his signature, or veto during the 10 days allotted him.

Among these was Senate Bill 252 which would repeal mandatory annual safety inspection of motor vehicles and require only that when changing ownership they must have passed such an inspection within the previous year.

Another was the first statewide open housing bill enacted by a state south of the Ohio River. Generally, this measure would prohibit racial, ethnic or religious discrimination in the sale of property.

House Bill 499 would require mandatory inspection and regulation of all the state's slaughterhouses and meat processing plants. The bill is nearly identical to a model meat inspection law drafted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A "truth-in-lending" bill would exempt pawn brokers but would require loan companies to provide customers with a statement of the amount of credit charges in dollars and the amount of simple annual interest charged.

By passage of House Bill 392, the legislators voted to increase their own between sessions expense allowance from $150 to $300 a month. This came in an amendment to the bill providing substantial raises for most Kentucky judges.

Another bill sent to the governor would allow nighttime thoroughbred horse racing in Kentucky. The law now on the books prohibits racing after sunset. The new measure would allow the running of races until midnight.

Two measures passed by the General Assembly, one at the final session of the House, (See Story No. 1, Page 7)

You may have seen it. It was in the papers a few weeks ago. The story of a young man saving the life of his baby sister and it costing him his life. Walter Pittman was his name. He and his family lived down in Mississippi in a little town called Columbia.

The account said the home of Leon Johnson caught on fire and that he, his wife, and their four children and four grandchildren fled the fiery dwelling when the fire was discovered. They were standing in the yard when young Walter apparently discovered that his sister was not in the group and remained trapped in the house.

Walter darted unnoticed back into the house and managed to lead his three-year-old sister into a hallway of the eight-room house. There they became separated and he was burned to death.

You wonder, reading a story like that, about what we call courage and what we call fear. I have a notion that Walter feared that fire like all of us would. What made him go then?

Most of us make a mistake when we try to rid ourselves of fear. We think it is cowardly and even sissy sometimes to be afraid. So we pretend we aren't and the psychiatrist has a couch full of people. Our mistake is that we are trying to rid ourselves of something that we are supposed to have.

You see, we are made with fear. It is built inside of us just like all the other emotions we have. There is nothing wrong with it. It is, in itself, basically good. It is only when we misuse it, twist it, ignore it that we make a mistake. We are supposed to be afraid sometimes. It is one of the surest safeguards we humans have against danger. Who isn't afraid if a loaded gun is pointed toward them? Who does not seek cover if a tornado heads their way? Who doesn't mind mixing gas and matches? Only the foolish.

HOME ON FURLOUGH

Garrett, Ky.—Pfc. Danny O'Quinn, Fort Devons, Mass., was home recently on leave. He visited his wife, Billie Marie, who is attending Morehead State University; his mother, Margaret; sisters, Brenda, Rose, Joyce, Sharon and Tammy, and brother, Ralph, all of Garrett. He has two other brothers, Charles and Lacey, Jr., of Wayne, Michigan. Accompanying him were Donald Morgan, Garrett, and Tony Allen, of Drift.

We have been making our mistake by trying to rid ourselves of this thing called fear. The Creator gave it to us. He gave it to us to help us. He did not intend us to rid ourselves of it but to use it. And that's what we should do with it. Control it. Channel it. Command it.

A lot of our sickness today is brought about by fear. People haven't learned to use it. They have never realized that we were endowed with that built-in safety device by our Creator. So they go on, day in and day out, fearing sometimes to the point where fear controls them.

Courage, you see, isn't the absence of fear. Far from it. Courage is the proper control over fear. So quit trying to rid yourself of fear. Just conquer it.

Take the example from Walter Pittman who learned early how to conquer fear. You see, Walter Pittman, the young man who gave his life saving his little sister, was only four years old.

It takes 1000 tons of coal to build just 1 mile of 4-lane concrete highway!

Kentucky needs new coal markets—and new highways in the Appalachian area. Concrete brings the two together. The result? Better business. Better highways.

Modern concrete pavement is skid-resistant, smooth and solid all the way . . . is laid flat to stay flat. It actually has a life expectancy of 50 years and longer, with upkeep expense 75% less than for asphalt (based on Kentucky records). This is vital because the Federal Government pays 70% of initial construction cost—but not a single cent for maintenance.

Add it up. Concrete means greater coal usage, greater safety, greater driving comfort, and greater maintenance savings.

Fred Bullard of Lexington, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, says "Cement companies are major customers of the coal industry. Wherever cement or concrete is used, in roads, bridges or buildings, the coal industry benefits. Certainly paving new roads with concrete will contribute to employment and general well-being in the coal-producing areas of Kentucky."

Famous Tribute To Dog Made by Kentuckian

George Graham Vest was born in Frankfort, Ky., in 1830 and lived in the "Corner of Celebrities," a city block that has been the home of nine U. S. Senators, six U. S. Congressmen, two U. S. Supreme Court justices, two U. S. cabinet officers, nine governors, three admirals and seven high-ranking diplomats. Thousands of people each year visit the splendid homes of this famous block in Kentucky's capital.
 After moving to Missouri to practice law, Vest became a senator in the Confederate Congress during the Civil War and later a U. S. Senator for 25 years. Famous and respected as he was, he achieved immortality for something quite apart from his statesmanship, however.
 In 1870 Senator Vest had a client named Charles Burden whose favorite hound, Old Drum, had been shot by a neighbor, Leonides Hornsby, allegedly for killing sheep. Burden sued Hornsby for damages. Hornsby promptly retained another U. S. Senator for counsel, the renowned Francis M. Cockrell, and the case attracted wide attention.
 Senator Cockrell was an extremely competent attorney. He did a superlative job, marshaling his facts before the court into a completely convincing argument to justify the killing of a marauding dog.
 Senator Vest didn't refute him. He called no witnesses, cited no precedents and offered no legal argument. Instead he simply stood before the jury and talked quietly for a minute or so about the nature of a dog.
 His gentle, moving eulogy faded away into a dead silence. Then a storm of wild applause that no gavel could silence swept the courtroom. Everyone present was visibly affected, many people weeping unashamedly.
 Senator Vest won a unanimous verdict and his tribute to man's best friend became a joy and a treasure to dog-lovers of all ages, the world over. This is what he said to the jury:
 "Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son and daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has, he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads.
 "The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never lets us down, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens.
 "If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard him against danger, to fight against his enemies. And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes his master in its embrace and his body is laid away, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death."
 An excerpt of this moving tribute, handsomely printed and suitable for framing, may be obtained free by writing the Kentucky Department of Public Information, Travel Division, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Ask for the dog tribute and be sure you include your name, address and zip code.

Three Floyd Soldiers Advance During Basic

Fl. Knox, Ky. — Pvt. Bill M. Fraker, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prater, Martin, Ky., Pvt. Claude A. Shumate, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Shumate, Melvin, Ky., and Lloyd D. Lowe, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Lowe, Prestonsburg, distinguished themselves during basic combat training which ended Feb. 23 at Ft. Knox, Ky. Each received an accelerated promotion to private pay grade E-2 and fired expert with the M-14 rifle.
 The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees. Selection was based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

Club Hears Address On Air Pollution

Wayland, Ky. — "One can go five weeks without food, five days without water, but only five minutes without air," Jack Howard of the Floyd County Health Department, pointed out, speaking last Monday evening to the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club at the home of Mrs. Rudolph Spencer, of Garrett.

Mr. Howard's subject was "The Breath of Death" and was in line with the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs' war on air pollution. Program leader was Mrs. James Burge, who introduced the speaker.

Mr. Howard advised that the Health Department has a new program which was set up about a year ago on air pollution. He also pointed out there is a new law wherein open burning is prohibited, but remarked that "it would not be worth a penny unless it is enforced." He advised that anyone may complain of air pollution violations by either calling the Floyd County Health Department or by writing the Air Pollution Control Commission, 275 Main Street, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, in which case U. B. Yeager will come to investigate.

At the conclusion of the talk, a short colored film was shown emphasizing the dangers of air pollution, not only to human life, but also to plant and animal life and to man-made substances, such as paint, shingles, etc.

During a discussion period, Mr. Howard, in answer to questions by clubwomen, explained various services rendered by the Floyd County Health Department. He also commended the citizens of the Right Beaver area for their fine response recently to the anti-rabies inoculation of dogs.

Mrs. J. T. Spillman led the devotions prior to the program, emphasizing that "we read the Bible and hide it away in our heart." During a business meeting presided over by Mrs. Mervil Dixon letters were read concerning the Seventh District contests in Pikeville March 23, and an invitation from the Wheelwright Woman's Club to a dinner, April 8. A contribution was also voted for the Crippled Children's Society.

Hosetesses, Mrs. Reva Francis, Mrs. Charles R. Martin and Mrs. Rudolph Spencer, served a salad course to the following: Mrs. Eugene Mullins, Mrs. Rex Martin, Mrs. Luke Coburn, Mrs. Maurice Dunfee, Mrs. Mervil Dixon, Mrs. S. M. Martin, Mrs. James S. Burge, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Mrs. Stanley Bamer, Mrs. M. M. Collins, and Mrs. Otto Martin, member, and Mrs. Troy Webb, guest and former clubmember, and the speaker, Jack Howard, of Dwale.

OFFICES TO CLOSE

ORDINANCE NO. 3-68
An Ordinance of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Providing for the Assessment of Real and Personal Property and for the Levy of A General Property Tax At the Rate of Thirty Cents (30c) Per Each One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) Valuation of Real and Personal Property Located Within the Corporate Limits of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, On January 1st, for 1968, and A Further Levy of Poll Tax of One Dollar and Fifty Cents ($1.50) On Each Male Person Over the Age of 21 Years and Under the Age of 65 Years Residing Within the Corporate Limits of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, On January 1st, 1968, With Certain Statutory Exemptions.

WHEREAS, it is necessary in order to provide the revenue required for general purposes of the city's government, including general expenses of the city, but not limited to general health, sanitation, maintenance of streets, operation of parks, and other necessary and indispensable services, affecting the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, that a tax be levied upon all property, both real and personal, having a tax status in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky;

WHEREAS, the total Budget for all such expenses for general purposes during the year of 1968 in said City is in the amount of $196,580.00 and the budget's source of revenue for 1968, includes an estimated amount of $76,000.00 to be derived from such property taxes and without such amount to be derived from such property taxes, the revenue required for such general purposes would be insufficient.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. A tax is hereby levied upon all property, both real and personal, having a tax status in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, as of January 1st, 1968, for general purposes, including general expenses of the City. All monies received hereunder shall be paid to the City Treasurer of Prestonsburg and placed in the credit of a general fund of the City and shall be used in defraying current and incidental expenses of said government. The tax hereby is levied as follows:

A. The sum of thirty cents (30c) for each one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of all real and personal property located within the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, as of January 1, 1968.

B. A poll tax of $1.50 on each male person over the age of 21 years and under the age of 65 years, residing within the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, on January 1st, 1968, excepting those persons, exempt from tax under KRS 92.300(3) and KRS 142.020.

SECTION 2. The property taxes and poll taxes for the year 1968 shall become due and payable on October 1, 1968, by which date tax notices shall have been mailed each taxpayer, and all taxes paid prior to Nov. 1, 1968, shall be allowed a discount of two percent; all property and poll taxes for the year 1968 becoming due and payable on November 1, 1968.

SECTION 3. All taxpayers who do not pay the tax herein levied prior to January 1, 1969, shall be required to pay a penalty of six percent of the amount of the tax in addition to the tax levied herein.

SECTION 4. All taxpayers who do not pay the tax herein levied on or before the 1st day of April, 1969 shall be required to pay a penalty of 25 percent of the amount of the tax in addition to the tax levied herein.

SECTION 5. The Delinquent Tax Collector is hereby authorized to advertise for sale in a newspaper having a general circulation in Floyd county, Kentucky, all delinquent taxes on real property placed in his hands for collection and the charge for such advertising shall be added to the amount of the tax bill.

PAINFUL STORY... When a telephone installer recommended an extension phone, the man of the house said he'd think it over.

A few days later came a call. "Can you put that extension in today? My wife just fell and hurt her leg running to answer the phone."

Maybe extensions aren't essential for safety, but more and more people are finding out how convenient a low-cost extension can be.

TELSTAR AND OVERSEAS TV... The age we live in moves so fast that Americans today think little of receiving live television programs from around the world. Yet this taken-for-granted way of life was ushered in only a few years ago when the Bell System's experimental communications satellite—Telstar—was launched, July 10, 1962. From then until it stopped functioning in mid-February, 1963, the 170-pound Telstar I transmitted high quality TV between the United States and England and France. Telstar II followed soon after.

The fruits of the Telstar experiments were harvested in April, 1965, with the launch of the world's first full-time commercial satellite—Early Bird.

A ROADSIDE PHONE BOOTH brought back happy smiles to a man we heard about recently. He and his wife were on a driving trip and stopped at a gas station near a drive-in restaurant. While he was gone for sandwiches, she decided to clean out the glove compartment.

Many miles later, the man asked his wife to get his dentures. You guessed it. He had wrapped them in a paper napkin and put them in the glove compartment. A quick call to the gas station, and some quick work by the station manager, and the teeth were found—just before the trash truck pulled out of the station. Saved by the phone!

TIDITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

SIXTY YEARS AGO

On January 19, 1908, I first came to Bowling Green to attend what was then called the Western Kentucky Normal School. Naturally, when the anniversary comes round, each year since then, I somehow find myself thinking of things as they were in that long-ago time. This year I have had even more memories, as would be expected of someone who can say truthfully: "Sixty years ago."

In the 1907 holiday season I began to set down some of the changes that have taken place since January, 1908, (some of them in our school (now a university) and in other spheres. I reserved the changes in Western, as we have long called it, for my annual diary to the president, which I have kept up since my retirement. But here I want to discuss some changes that were general.

Since we live in an automobile world, it would be a good thing to begin with cars. A year before I came, I had seen my first car. When I landed in Bowling Green, there were a total of three cars owned by citizens of the town. That means that the horse was still the chief way people had to get around. Many of the larger yards had stables and a shed for the carriage, which might be a buggy, or a surrey, or a cab, with uniformed driver and a matched team to draw it. Lots of places had stile blocks, some few of which have been kept for the sentiment of it all. It isn't necessary to say that paved streets were still in the future in the town which was to be my home for the rest of my life.

A few concrete sidewalks were being laid, but most of the walks were of brick; some of these very walks still exist and offer some slippery places when it snows or freezes. Trucks were still a few years in the future, the first one that I remember being here in 1911. Livestock at that time were often driven into town, and a drove of hogs might take a notion to rest and root a while in some yard while their drivers allowed them to do so. There were no parking laws then; none were needed. Hitching places were rather plentiful, and down by the Central Park was a watering trough for the country and city horses. Later generations can never understand the quality of the people who had carriages with a matched team and a liveried driver. No amount of decoration on a modern car can ever add the worth that this left-over equipment brought or seemed to bring, until cars got to be plentiful, and horse-drawn vehicles were too slow or in the way.

Since cars had not arrived in numbers, travel outside the city was by train or boat. For years after 1908 I could have named the 22 daily trains and told where they came from and where they were going. I ought to know, for I must have ridden everyone of them many times, especially the 6:10 a.m. on the Memphis line and the 10:18 p.m. on the same line; these were the trains that I usually rode when I came from my home or went to see my folks at Christmas or at the end of the school year. Many places in south-central Kentucky were hard to reach in winter except by boat. Though travel by boat in summer was unusually delightful to such land-lubbers as I, it was a bit chilly in winter. When Green and Bar-ren Rivers froze over one winter, Morganfown and Woodbury, down river from Bowling Green, ran out of some staples, such as sugar. Two brave men hitched two or three teams to a wagon and came all the way to Bowling Green over what were then called roads to relieve the needs of their towns.

For years on end I knew by its whistle which steamboat was coming up Barren River; I could hear it blowing for landings down the river and then its final signal for our own landing. One pilot regularly turned on his wildcat whistle and then played tunes on it. Many a night I listened for the successive whistles for landings and then the ringing calliope-like whistle. Only a few times did I use the boats for travel except for the trip itself, but I did occasionally go for a hundred or so miles to keep some speaking date down river. Something very poetic vanished when the steamboat whistle grew silent.

will put on the ballot in the Nov. 1969 election two proposed amendments to the Kentucky Constitution—all that can be voted on in one election.

The first of the two proposed is a legislative reform measure calling for annual instead of the present biennial meetings of the legislature, longer sessions, and removal of the ceiling on legislative salaries.

The other, if given voter approval, would allow the assessment of farm land only on the basis of the use to which it is being put, rather than in terms of its potential value as developed for residential or industrial use.

I Say What I Think
By S. C. VAN CURON

Frankfort, Ky. — The Monday Morning Quarterbacks and members of the Hot Stove League have been up to their old game of second guessing Gov. Louie B. Nunn and the Legislature ever since the session ended March 15.

One thing all of these experts agree upon is that the Democrats, who had a majority in both branches of the legislature, did not have the strong leadership to keep them together to pass alternate proposals for the budget and revenue measure offered by the Republican governor. These two measures were passed with ease, and all the early speculative strength of the Democrats went by the wayside as the governor and his minority party leaders were able to pick off enough of the majority to carry the governor's bills.

One of the next minor questions making the rounds of the after-the-fact experts is what bills will the governor veto? Will it be the watered-down motor vehicle inspection law that poses the potential of costing the state $10 million in federal highway matching funds? Will he line veto the $150 monthly increase in expense allowance the legislators voted themselves by tacking an amendment on the bill that increased the Appeals Court Judges from $20,000 to $26,000 a year? The line veto would not affect the pay of the judges. All the governor would have to strike in this bill is the appropriation to pay the legislators. The increase for the judges is included in the governor's budget.

How about the sales tax exemption voted for vending machines that dispense five and 10 cent items? Will this be vetoed? They don't collect a tax, but how do the other vending machines selling higher-priced items collect the tax? Isn't this a clear five percent profit for vending machine operators?

But when the quarterbacks really get eloquent and expertise is when they go to discussing the governor's revenue bill—particularly the five percent sales tax.

Nunn's nickel, they call it, and there are about as many financial experts as there are members of the Monday Morning Quarterback Clubs and the Hot Stove Leagues.

They run over all of the alternatives offered by the Democrats—four cent sales tax, increasing consumption taxes on wine, whiskey and beer; doubling the excise tax on cigarettes from two and a half to five cents, extending the sales tax to selected services such as laundry, dry cleaning, automobile repair and other services; nailing an increase on the income tax; exempting the federal income tax bill as a credit when figuring the state income tax.

They run over all of the alternatives among the experts who just can't figure why taxes couldn't have been reduced and the state operated on less revenue. He's the first to cite the promise of both party candidates that they thought and hoped government could be operated without an increase in taxes.

Yet, the iconoclast is the first to demand additional state services, knowing full well that inflation has spiraled living costs just as the new tax increases levied will and yet the iconoclast shudders at the mere mention that President Johnson is proposing tax increase by calling for "austerity" at this time.

The last big question the experts like to kick around is—What has the nickel done for Nunn's political future and that of his party? Will he find that he can reduce it to four cents two years from now? How much surplus will he have left at the end of the two years?

At least, this gives the after-the-fact experts something to talk about.

Morgan County Man Wins Merit Hearing

A fired state highway worker won his battle against dismissal Wednesday but lost a clear-cut claim to his old job as heavy equipment operator.

In split votes of 3 to 1, the state Personnel Board:

1. Ruled that the Highway Department failed to prove that Wendell Cole, of Morgan county, engaged in political activity in the November, 1967, election.
2. Denied a motion of Cole's plea to order him reinstated on grounds that Highway Commissioner William Hazelrigg was politically motivated in ordering him dismissed.

The acquittal of Cole carries a board "recommendation" that he be reinstated. But there is nothing to force Hazelrigg to follow the recommendation. The board may order an employee reinstated if it finds that he was dismissed for political, religious or ethnic reasons.

Attorney Edward Prichard said he would ask for another hearing on mandatory reinstatement.

This house has gone "Mod"

There are many ways to modernize your home. One is to paint it... another is to convert to flameless electric heat. Few things you can do will add more to its value than electric heat; because, dollar-for-dollar, it delivers more for your money. That's why owners of older homes are converting to electric heat in record-breaking numbers. Why put up with old-fashioned heating when you have such a wide choice of electric systems to convert your home to flameless heat so easily and economically? Let us prove it.
