SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY

THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1968

Chorus in rehearsal, Mr. Kalos conducting.

Community Chorus Sets Annual Spring Concert

The Prestonsburg Community Chorus will present its third annual spring concert next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The group, under the direction of Gus Kalos, fine arts chairman at Prestonsburg Community College, will perform "A German Requiem" by Johannes Brahms. The pianist is Marygrace Garland, of Paintsville, and soloists are Eileen Bittman, soprano, Prestonsburg, and Paul Cox, bass, of Paintsville.

The Community Chorus, now in its third year, was organized to provide an opportunity for the people of the Big Sandy region to meet and sing good choral literature. The choir is composed of high school and college students, faculty members from PCC and from surrounding high schools, and members of the Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Magoffin areas.

This Town ... That World

SPRING SONG

Had an idea I would just let spring ease in on us, without comment from this corner. But the emergence from the deadness of winter into the kaleidoscopic variety of bud and blade and leaf and flower is too wonderful not to draw a few lines. You who read this column should be thankful that I don't burst into verse at seasons such as this.

WANTED—FAIR WEATHER

A number of citizens hereabouts are praying for fair and warmer weather. We do not refer to the golfers who would like to explore fairway and rough, or the fishermen who yearn for clear water and bass on the prow, or even the gardener and his or her yen to get things growing in the good earth. These are the knife-swappers who would like the weather fair enough for them to move back to Archer Park for sessions of (See Story No. 5, Page 8)

BURKE GOES TO BUCKHORN

P'burg Man Employed As Manager of Park, Commissioner Says

Heber Burke, 59, former Prestonsburg merchant, has been named manager of Buckhorn Lake State Park at Buckhorn, Parks Commissioner Robert E. Gable announced last Thursday.

Burke replaces Kenneth Kirchner who has requested a transfer to another duty assignment.

Burke goes to the Parks Department from Ravenswood, W. Va., where he was manager of the Greenhill Country Club. He formerly was manager of Kaiser Aluminum Sales Lodge at Ravenswood. For 26 years he was a partner in the Nunnery Grocery Store here.

Burke graduated from Prestonsburg high school in 1929 and later attended Morehead University. He is a member of Zebulon Masonic Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Fraternal Order of Eagles, all in Prestonsburg.

The new Buckhorn park manager is married to the former Minta Nunnery, of Prestonsburg. They have three sons, Heber Burke, Jr., Shelbyville, Tenn., Donald Compton, Hazard, and William Compton, Lompoc, California.

TWO DRAW PEN TERMS

Third Gets a Year In Jail After Pleas Of Guilty Are Made

Two of three defendants who pleaded guilty in circuit court here Tuesday were given pen terms and the third was sentenced to serve a year in jail.

Penned for two years were Crit and Homer Wright, each for breaking and entering. Tavis Akers, who entered a plea of guilty to knowingly receiving stolen property, was given the one-year jail term.

Oliver Setser was fined $200 Monday upon his conviction of shooting and wounding Roger Williams. Trial of Willie Harris on a charge of knowingly receiving stolen property ended in a "hung" jury.

BOARD PAYS ITS TRIBUTE

At Meeting Saturday To Deceased Member; OK's Water Contract

One of the first acts of the Floyd County Board of Education at its Saturday meeting was the adoption of resolutions of respect for Ray Howard, member of the board representing Educational Division No. 1, who died two days before the meeting.

The resolutions, signed by members of the board, Dr. J. H. Allen, John M. Stumbo and Billy Blair, Supt. Charles Clark and Assistant Supt. Wayne Radloff, pointed out that Mr. Howard "had given of his time and talent to the youth of the county—twice by election and once by appointment," and that he had served as chairman of the board.

The board approved the signing of a contract with the Beaver Elkhorn Water District, providing for the district to supply water to the schools at Wayland, Lackey, the proposed Right Beaver high school at Eastern, Maytown, Garth Vocational, Drift and McDowell.

It also authorized George Lee Shannon, architect, to advertise for bids on construction of the Betsy Layne gymnasium. The structure will be hexagonal in design and its walls will be of concrete.

Pete Grigsby, McDowell high school basketball coach, was employed as Head Start program director for the summer. Supt. Clark was authorized to petition the State Department of Education to permit the use of Jan. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 as the five "calamity" days allotted for the school year. If the state board approves these days, and if no other time is missed because of flood or other cause, the current school term will end June 4.

The $135 bid of Calvary College, Letcher, Ky., for the pre-fabricated building formerly used at McDowell was accepted. Opening on a new eight-room addition to the school there made the prefab structure unneeded.

Emergency teachers employed were Joan Martin, James M. Goble, Randal Roberts, Hershell Joseph and Pamela Nichols. Non-certified personnel employed: Bennie Mullett, as substitute janitor at Wheelwright high school; Virgie Johnson, as janitor for adult education at Melvin elementary; Ruth Huff, as clerk at Melvin.

Meade Tightens Hold Over State Employees

Frankfort, Ky.—As an apparent second quick step to tighten the administration's hold over state workers, all promotions and transfer of employees are being placed in the hands of one man.

Personnel Commissioner W. Howes Meade, of Paintsville, notified all department heads other than constitutional offices Tuesday that, effective Thursday, no such personnel action could be initiated without his approval.

Affected are promotions, demotions and reclassification of positions within an agency as well as transfers from one agency to another.

Meade joined the Republican administration of Gov. Lott last week, by appointment of the governor. His move Tuesday would

Av's Ouster Asked By CAP Resolution

Governor To Hear Of Request Voted At Meeting Here

The Floyd County Community Action Program adopted a resolution at its meeting here Monday evening calling for the removal of the Appalachian Volunteers "from Kentucky and from Floyd county, Ky., in particular."

Copies of the resolution, which was adopted by unanimous vote, were forwarded to Gov. Louie B. Nunn, the Big Sandy Area Development Association, Paintsville, and the AV headquarters here.

AV headquarters were recently moved to Prestonsburg from Bristol, Va.-Tenn., because its leaders held the location here is nearer the center of the region in which the Volunteers are working.

(See Story No. 1, Page 6)

Ogle Says Charges 'Ludicrous,' Baseless; Legal Action Studied

Milton Ogle, regional director of the Appalachian Volunteers, said in a prepared statement Wednesday that the charges made in the resolution adopted Monday night at the Community Action Program meeting here "so grossly misrepresents the activities of the AV's as to be ludicrous. No evidence to support any of the charges was produced."

Ogle added that AV's attorneys have held that the resolution adopted by the Floyd CAP "represents slander with malicious intent" and that they are now studying whether it would be worthwhile to institute a suit.

He described work of the Volunteers in Kentucky, West

Floyd Sportsmen Plan For League Convention

The Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club has only two months in which to prepare for its biggest undertaking, sponsorship of the annual convention of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, June 7-9.

The convention, which will attract sportsmen from every corner of the Commonwealth, will tax the housing facilities of the area perhaps more fully than any other event held in this area. The lodge itself and all motel facilities in a radius of 20 miles will be filled. Russell Hagewood, secretary of the fish and game club and chairman of the club's Reservations committee, has asked League members to make reservations at the earliest possible date. Those desiring reservations should contact Mr. Hagewood at The First National Bank, Prestonsburg.

The convention program has not been completed, but these features are already planned:

- Two banquets, one on Friday evening, the second on Saturday.
- The annual trapshoot on Sunday.
- The Governor's Achievement Awards Program on Friday night, with Governor Nunn presenting awards. This event

LEWIS PLANS 2-WAY RADIO

County Funds Lacking For Service, Sheriff Asks Public Support

Sheriff Joe W. Lewis announced Monday that his office will have the benefit of short-wave radio communication within the next month.

The system will permit communication between the Sheriff's office and two patrol cars at any point in the county. Lewis said it will make it possible for him to be easily reached, wherever he is in the county, and at the same time save time and travel and will speed up action in any situation.

The Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad has cooperated with the sheriff and is permitting the system to be hooked onto its line here. Lewis said the radio system will be installed at his own expense, unless he is given assistance by the public. It was at first thought the fiscal court might finance the $2,476 cost of the system, but this later was held not feasible, he said.

"This radio system will mean nothing personally to me, except that it will help me do a better job," the Sheriff said. "I hope the people will give me financial support, but it's going in, if I have to pay the whole cost of it."

He said he will have a deputy, or himself, on duty at the control center in his office all night on week-ends.

The Sheriff's budget, unchanged since 1957, provides for only four deputies at a salary not to exceed $250 a month, he said. "The budget for the office is 20 to 30 years behind the times," Lewis added.

WELLS FILES FOR RETRIAL

After Losing Hearing On Pay of Sick-Leave; Damage Suits Decided

Motion was filed by the plaintiff Tuesday for a new trial of the case of James M. Wells, Prestonsburg high school teacher, who lost his suit recently in circuit court here against the Floyd County Board of Education.

The jury in the case found for the board, and the court directed that it recover from Wells costs of the action. Wells sued the board, claiming sick-leave pay and damages.

Two damage suits ended last week in judgements which represented only a fraction of the amounts asked. Willie

Move To Condemn Acreage Hits Snag

Garry Conn, 21, Is Claimed Monday At Martin Hospital

Garry Franklin Conn, 21, of Printer, died Monday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin.

He was born Oct. 10, 1946 at Printer, a son of Frank and Ida Roberts Conn, of Printer. Surviving, besides the parents, are a brother and a sister, Terry Lee and Janis Yvonne Conn, both at home.

Funeral rites were conducted from the home Wednesday at 2 p.m. Burial in the family cemetery at Printer was directed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Land Sought For College Is Appraised

Work on 2 Buildings On PCC Campus Seen By Fall, Board Told

Condemnation proceedings instituted to acquire an additional 21 acres of land for the campus of the Prestonsburg Community College will require a new action because it has been discovered that the land lies in four tracts rather than two, the Advisory Board of the college was told last Thursday night.

The land, owned by heirs of J. M. Porter, has been appraised at $118,000, and the condemnation proceedings were thought well under way till the division into four tracts was discovered, Herschell Tackett, attorney, told the board.

Meanwhile, construction on two buildings on the campus is expected to begin in August or September, with completion hoped for in time for use in the fall of 1969, George Lee Shannon, architect, said.

The new additions to the campus will be a Student Activities building, approximately 136 by 108 feet, one-story, and a two-story Academic building, 122 feet square.

Plans for the two structures must go back to Health, Education & Welfare, Charlottesville, Va., before advertising for bids, Shannon said. He said bids may not be asked before June 1.

The first floor of the Academic building will include an auditorium with a seating capacity of 235 and classrooms. The second floor will house classrooms, labs and a TV studio. The walls will be of pre-cast concrete slabs.

The building has been declared "the best designed structure submitted to the University."

The second floor will be reached by elevator. This convenience has been insisted upon by the state as an aid to any handicapped persons who may attend the college.

The Student Activities building will include a student lounge, snack bar, kitchen and game

Congressman Perkins To Speak at Meeting

Congressman Carl D. Perkins will be the speaker at the meeting next Monday at 6:30 p.m. of the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club of Wheelwright, it was announced Tuesday.

The meeting will be held at the Osborne elementary school. All Kiwanians, their wives and guests are invited.

HOWARD DIES HERE AT 53

School Board Member, World War II Veteran Heart Attack Victim

Ray Howard, member of the Floyd County Board of Education and founder of the Ray Howard Furniture Store and the Colonial House here, died last Thursday night at the Prestonsburg General hospital at the age of 53.

Mr. Howard was the victim of a heart attack, and death followed an illness of about a month.

Born in Prestonsburg March 9, 1915, he was a son of Mrs. Nora Allen Howard and the late Franklin P. (Chick) Howard. He was twice elected to the board of education from Educational Division No. 1, served another term by appointment and at one time was chairman of the board. Mr. Howard was a veteran of World War II, serving with a demolition engineers' unit of the 42nd (Rainbow) Division. For heroism at the crossing of the Main River under heavy fire, preparatory to the U. S. assault on the city of Wurzburg, Germany, he was awarded the Bronze Star.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here and for 16 years was chairman of Floyd Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Mr. Howard had been in the furniture business here since the early 1930's.

FBI Adds Floyd Native To '10 Most Wanted' List

A report received late Wednesday says Martin was captured, two weeks ago, in Seattle, Washington.

A native of Floyd county has been added to the FBI's "10 most wanted fugitives."

He is listed as Troy Denver Martin, 41, formerly of the Mud Creek section of the county and a onetime resident of Prestonsburg.

According to newspaper reports, Martin became an FBI target on Jan. 29 when a federal warrant was issued for him, charging him with kidnapping. Michigan state police also are said to be seeking him on charges of murder and armed robbery.

Two days before the federal warrant was issued, a pickup truck skidded off a rural road into a farmyard, near Britton, Mich. When the owner of the home offered help, the motorist, who was later identified as Martin, allegedly kidnapped him at gunpoint and forced him to drive to Toledo, Ohio. There the captive was released, unharmed.

But the kidnapper man recalled that, back at his farm, he had seen what appeared to be a body beneath the stalled truck. Police identified the body as that of the truck-owner who had been killed by a shot in the back.

The victim was Julius E. Spivey, of Tecumseh, Mich., a relative by marriage of Martin. Martin is described as having a reputation for violence, is known for his violent temper, is an excellent shot and knows judo. He is 6 feet, 1 inch in height, weighs 210 pounds, has brown, wavy hair, brown eyes and a ruddy complexion. He has scars on his right cheek and on the back of his left hand.

Model City Plan At Pikeville Funded

The Economic Development Administration announced Monday a $125,000 technical assistance grant to Pikeville for its participation in the federal model cities' program.

Bill Turner, Pikeville's coordinator in the effort, said the grant will be used for the most complete first-year planning study in the United States.

Included in the study will be population projections, more advanced zoning and the effects of a proposed cut-through of a nearby mountain to divert a river and railroad away from a proposed reconstruction site.

City officials also announced that $4,000 from Pikeville funds will be added to the federal planning grant.

Hyden Faction Winner Of Floyd GOP Struggle

The struggle of rival factions of the Republican party in this county to seat their own set of precinct committee members ended Friday when the State Central Executive Committee ruled in favor of the group headed by County Chairman Jack Hyden.

The decision of the State Central Committee seating precinct committee members elected at the mass meeting held at the courthouse here, March 23, had the effect of approving the reelection of Hyden as Republican county chairman. He was re-named to the post by these committee members on the following Saturday.

The election of precinct representatives by mass meeting was protested by Dr. J. D. Adams, heading the opposing faction and himself seeking the post of county chairman. His group elected precinct committee chairmen and chairwomen at the several precincts on the same day the mass meeting was held by the other faction at the courthouse. Those elected by Adams forces met last Thursday at Martin high school, day before the hear-

NUNN ORDER HITS 2 HERE

Divisions Abolished Causing Loss of Jobs For Ranier, Fitzpatrick

Gov. Nunn's executive order of April 3 abolishing two state divisions and one bureau affected at least two Floyd countians.

The Division of Boating was one of those eliminated, and its enforcement functions were transferred to the State Police. Licensing of boats and reporting of boating accidents was transferred to the Division of Driver Licensing.

This part of the order eliminated the position of water patrolman held by Robert F. Ranier, of Prestonsburg. Mr. Ranier has been assigned, mainly, to Dewey Lake.

The same order eliminated the Bureau of Arson Investigation and transferred its functions to the Bureau of Investigation, Division of State Police.

J. D. (Doug) Fitzpatrick, of Garrett, has been employed as arson investigator by the Bureau of Arson.

The executive order, which will become effective next Tuesday, also eliminated the Division of Accident Control. Its work relating to approval of motor vehicle equipment is transferred to the Division of Motor Vehicle Inspection. The functions relating to licensing and regulation of driver training schools are transferred to the State Police Bureau of Licensing Examining.

Club Sponsors Drive For Food, Clothing

The Prestonsburg Junior Women's Club will sponsor the drive next Thursday for food and clothing needed for the Maternity and Infant Care program conducted under auspices of the Floyd County Health Department.

Those who have food and clothing to contribute are being asked to take these supplies to the Health Department building here.

The Prestonsburg elementary school PTA voted at its March meeting to stage its Spring Talent Show April 29-30. The event will be held both days at 8 p.m.

Mrs. W. D. Jagers, Mrs. Scotchfield and Bobby Wells were named to the nominating committee for the selection of new officers. L. B. Price, of the Floyd County Board of Education, spoke on Child Counseling.

The Prestonsburg Junior Women's Club will sponsor the drive next Thursday for food and clothing needed for the Maternity and Infant Care program conducted under auspices of the Floyd County Health Department.

Those who have food and clothing to contribute are being asked to take these supplies to the Health Department building here.

Rose with Phillips 66ers

Former Wheelwright high all-star Jimmy Rose recently completed his rookie season with the world-famous Phillips 66ers, of Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Rose, who played freshman basketball at the University of Kentucky before transferring to Georgia Southern College, averaged seven points a game for the 66ers and was third on the team in assists.

The 6-2 native of Hi Hat had a one-game high of 29 points and his play was instrumental in a late-season surge which saw the 66ers win 12 of their last 14 games. The Phillips team finished the season with a won-lost mark of 38-11.

Rose was a three-time NAIA All-American at Georgia Southern and led the Eagles to the finals of the NAIA tournament in 1965.

In three years at Georgia Southern, Rose scored 1,430 points and hit 48 percent of his shots. His career average was 17.1 points per game.

Rose made the NAIA all-tournament team his senior year and was also selected to tour the Far East with the 1966 NAIA all-star team which was coached by Bob Bass, now head coach of the American Basketball Association's Denver Rockets.

Rose was invited to join the Phillips team after 66ers coach Gary Thompson saw him play against the 66ers.

Rose is preparing for a career in the Phillips sales department.

Stephens-Handshoe

Miss Dianna Stephens and Mr. Lessley Handshoe, formerly of this county, were united in marriage Friday, March 29, at the Lee Valley Church, Albion, Michigan, by the Rev. Stacy Turpin.

Women's Association Of Church Meets

The Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church met April 1 in the educational rooms of the church, with Mrs. James W. Lafferty, Sr. as hostess.

Mrs. E. B. Osborne, president, opened the meeting with a scripture lesson and meditation taken from the Gospel according to St. Mark, using the New English Bible. Prayers were offered for the church's missionaries, particularly those serving in Ethiopia and in the presbytery of Birmingham, Alabama.

Reports were made of the volunteer work being done by some of the members at the Day Care Center in Auxier and at Miss Mary Sharkey's School on Spradlin Branch for retarded children. Towels, wash cloths and old magazines are taken to these places regularly. Help is being done each week with the laundering of the clothing of these children. The women also are helping to provide needed clothing, new and used, for girls and boys attending school at the Prestonsburg grade school.

Thursday night each week is the designated time for the women to make clothing for babies under the care of the Health Department. Recently, a "baby shower" was given for mothers of these babies.

At the close of the business session, Miss Daisy Miller presented the program, a journey into understanding, titled, "Hidden Faiths in Familiar Forms." Mrs. Miller gave an interesting report on the mission work being carried on in several of the large cities in the United States.

Mrs. Lafferty served cakes and coffee to Mesdames F. L. Heinze, Rachel Starr, Milton Skiff, E. B. Osborne, Rainey White, Marvin Music, James E. Goble, Frank H. Layne, and Misses Mary E. Powers and Daisy Miller.

Mrs. Joe M. Davidson 91 Years Old, April 6

Mrs. Joe M. Davidson observed her 91st birthday at her home April 6-7. No invitations were sent out, but her family and friends who remembered the date called on her. "Open House" was observed by "Miss Annie." Her daughter, Mrs. Ruth D. Sowards, assisted her in greeting her guests. Flower arrangements were sent to her by The Bank Josephine, Donald Baldrige, Mrs. Ruth Osborne, of Winchester. The table decoration was from the Kentucky Society, Daughters of Colonial Wars, and her shoulder corsage, from Frank and Mary Lou Layne. The refreshment table had a gold brocade overlay, which was used on her 50th wedding anniversary. Flanking the centerpiece of yellow snapdragons, blue iris, yellow mums and huckleberry, crystal-prismed duo-candelabra held yellow-candles. Min's, nuts and coffee were served with cake gifts made by Mrs. Luther H. Shivel, Mrs. Jennie Staten, Mrs. Claude P. Stephens, Mrs. Cynthia L. Crabtree, Thelma Meade and Mrs. George G. Alley. A decorated birthday cake in yellow roses completed the table decoration. Mrs. Laura S. Nichols assisted in registering the guests and serving refreshments. Mrs. Davidson was the recipient of many personal gifts from her friends. Out-of-town callers on Saturday were Mrs. Willard R. Jilison, Mrs. Clara Wooton, Mrs. Julia Neitzel, of Frankfort; Mrs. Sue Herron, Mrs. George G. Alley, Miss Lena Porter, Miss Mayo Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gaylor, Mrs. Jennie Staten, of Pikeville; John Cunnell, Emma, Mr. and Mrs. Garland H. Rice and Mrs. Panny Archer, Paintsville. THE BEAUTIFUL AZALEAS OF OUR MOUNTAINS

Spring will soon be putting on her finest, most exotic display of beauty, and that will be when the azaleas of our mountains come out in all their gorgeous colors. The azaleas will always be "wild honeysuckles" to most natives of the Appalachians, but their true name is "azalea," which comes from the Greek word, azaleos, meaning dry, arid; these shrubs seem to thrive best in dry, thin soils of uplands, spurs and rocky ridges, although they are also found along streams.

We have two leading kinds of wild azaleas in our region. The most common and best known of these is the pink azalea, or "pink honeysuckle," if you prefer. It is also called "pinxter flower" and "election pink." But botanists have named it "Azalea nudiflora," because its flowers appear before the leaves come out. They first burst out in gorgeous pink, which is quite showy in the barren spring woods. The pink corolla soon opens out fully and then turn to a lighter shade, sometimes almost white. The flowers are formed in large clusters at the ends of the branches and are pleasantly fragrant. A large spray of the blooms will perfume the living room.

The azaleas are really "deciduous rhododendrons," as they shed their leaves in the fall, while the other rhododendrons like mountain laurel and the great rhododendron are both evergreens. When the pink azaleas are in full bloom, they can be seen at a great distance through the woods. Many persons visit them to get a bouquet to take home. The slender stems protrude from the tubular corolla and are curled like the "long eye"ashes of some lovely mountain maid. These "pink honeysuckles" can be transplanted but must have good care.

The Flame Azaleas are the largest and showiest of all. They often grow from 12 to 15 feet high and when one of these tall azaleas bursts out in full bloom, it lights up the woods like glowing candelabra. The beauty is so striking it often causes a person to pause in wonder at the magic artwork of nature. I have seen these large azaleas in light yellow, in deep yellow, in fiery orange and reddish-orange, and with a mixture of the colors. They are as beautiful and shy as an Indian princess, and are as glamorous as any movie star decked out in all her glory.

The beautiful azaleas have inspired many stories and poems; many writers try in vain to describe the hills when the orange azaleas are in bloom—but the beauty is simply indescribable.

An eastern species of azalea called Rhodora canadense once inspired Ralph Waldo Emerson to write a poem about "Rhodora" which made this azalea immortal.

Azaleas should be carefully protected and conserved wherever they are found. They add beauty, romance, glamour and a touch of the sublime to the mountains wherever they bloom.

James H. Stratton, 47, Former Floyd Resident, Claimed at Galion, Ohio

James H. Stratton, 47, of Galion, Ohio, formerly of Betsy Layne, died suddenly last Thursday while at work at Galion.

A veteran of World War II, he was a son of Sparrell and Flora Wright Stratton, of Betsy Layne, and was married to Ruby Hobson, who also survives.

Additional survivors are two sons, Jerry and James Stratton, Jr., at home; two daughters, Connie Sue Stratton, at home, and Mrs. Patricia Buster, of Galion; five brothers, Henry Stratton, of Denver, Colo., Richard Stratton, address unavailable, Sparrell Russell Stratton, of Betsy Layne, Theodore Stratton, of Cardington, Ohio, and Roy Stratton, of Hamilton, Ohio, and six sisters, Mrs. Virginia Conn, of Stanville, Mrs. Josephine Inman, of Elgin, Florida, Mrs. Octavia May and Mrs. Edith Steele, both of Betsy Layne, and Mrs. Betty Flannery and Mrs. Rosemary Meade, both of Lorain, Ohio.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. from the Betsy Layne Methodist Church, the Rev. O. E. Stanley officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Betsy Layne under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Weeksbury Club Adds Second Award to Fund

AT AWARDS NIGHT BANQUET. From left, rear — Mrs. Mildred Johnson, Elbert Gibson, treasurer of the Weeksbury club; front — Miss Peggy Bradford, club chairman, Mrs. Shelby J. Johnson, secretary, Mrs. Judith Bradford, Extension Agent Gene Ball.

Competing with groups from 12 counties, the Weeksbury Community Development Club last Saturday evening won third prize at the Awards Night banquet of the Northeast Kentucky Rural Community Development Association.

The Awards Night banquet, sponsored by the Ashland Chamber of Commerce, Kentucky Power Company and the Second National Bank of Ashland, was held at the Henry Clay hotel, Ashland. The function was attended by 13 Floyd countians.

The Weeksbury group received a $50 cash award to go with the prize in the same amount received last February when it won first place among Floyd county clubs. The money will be used for the purchase of materials which will be worked into playground equipment.

Headed by Miss Peggy Bradford, a teacher there, the Weeksbury group has a solid record of achievement for the preceding year. Included in its activities are:

The establishing of a community library, operation of a community center in a rented building, a community cleanup program; two playground areas, supervised recreation three nights a week, a solid waste disposal area, fund-raising activities and games for children purchased and put to use.

In the county contest Tinker Fork and Tackett Fork on Mud Creek shared second place, each receiving a $35 cash award at the banquet sponsored here by the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce.

The third-place award won by Weeksbury at Ashland was in the rural non-farm division. Isonville, Elliott county, won first place, and Williamsport, Johnson county, was second.

Gene Ball, of the Extension Service, said here this week that organization of eight community development clubs will be effected this year. That is twice the number in operation in 1967.

Mr. and Mrs. Bingham Honored on Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Will Bingham were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, March 23, at their home on the Auxier road.

The hours from 2 to 4 p.m. were set apart for relatives and friends to call. Their daughters, Mrs. Estill Howell, Mrs. Woodrow Crager and Mrs. Woodrow Branham, were hostesses.

In the dining room a table with a four-tiered, decorated cake, which was served with punch, yellow mints and nuts. Napkins bearing their names and the date, printed in gold, were used by the guests.

State DCW Elects Prestonsburg Women

The spring meeting of the Kentucky Society, Daughters of Colonial Wars, met April 5 at the Imperial House in Lexington, Mrs. Virginia Moore Rice, the president, presiding. At the business meeting the nominating committee presented the names of new officers for the coming three years. The nominees were elected as follows:

State president, Mrs. Claude P. Stephens, Prestonsburg; first vice-president, Mrs. Virginia M. Rice, Lexington; second vice-president, Mrs. Edgar Whitehouse, Lexington; recording secretary, Mrs. William Horn, Frankfort; treasurer, Mrs. Tilton Cassidy, Lexington; chaplain, Mrs. Fred Osborne, Winchester; historian, Mrs. Willard R. Jilison, Frankfort; registrar, Miss Carolyn Matthews, Frankfort; custodian, Mrs. Everett H. Sowards, Prestonsburg.

Following the luncheon, Dr. Mary Whorton showed slides taken by her while in England attending the convention of Barons of Runnymede. The centerpiece of yellow snapdragon, blue iris, yellow mums and huckleberry was sent to Mrs. Joe M. Davidson, of Prestonsburg, who is a member of the society and was celebrating her 91st birth anniversary the next day, April 6. Thirty members attended the meeting. Local members attending the meeting were Mrs. C. P. Stephens, Mrs. Everett H. Sowards and Mrs. Laura S. Nichols.

Holbrook, administrator of the estate of his three-year-old daughter, Brenda Kay, was awarded a judgement of $15,000. He had sued for $80,000, claiming a product of Sterling Drug, Inc. of New York, had contributed to his daughter's death. Rose Drug Store, from which the medicine, a drug called hexyresorcinol, was purchased, was named a defendant in the suit, but Circuit Judge Hollie Conley directed that the claim against Rose be dismissed.

Judgement of $10,000 damages and $2,493.52 funeral expenses was awarded last Thursday by a jury in the trial of the suit of Edward C. Stewart, administrator of the estate of Christopher Hayes Stewart, against Otis Cooley, of Prestonsburg. Damages totalling $205,000 had been asked in Stewart's suit, the aftermath of a highway accident in which Stewart's son was killed by Cooley's auto, near Allen.

An earlier civil case trial gave Charles H. Salyers $4,196 damages from James Henry Hale and his father, Henry C. Hale, for injuries sustained by Salyers when hit by a car driven by the younger Hale.

It is planned wholly for the students, it was explained. Exterior walls of this building also will be of pre-cast concrete slabs.

Dr. Henry C. Campbell, Jr., director of the college, discussed the new budget.

"Not one community college, with the possible exception of Maysville, has a satisfactory budget," he declared. The budget does allow $10,668 for faculty salary increases, which amounts to a pay-raise of about four percent. It also provides for three new positions at the college—an admissions officer, guidance counsellor and assistant librarian. The budget restores what was taken away last November and actually gives the college a net of about $10,000 above that of the preceding year. The total budget for 1968-'69 is $368,437. In addition to this, about $2,000 more will be received under Title VI as an equipment grant, plus $5,000 for library equipment and another $12-$15,000 in unspecified equipment.

The Jenny Wiley Drama Association has been guaranteed $15,000 a year to continue its work.

In addition to new building plans, remodeling of the present structure will be done to enlarge the library, provide more classrooms, a band room, 10 music-practice rooms and space for educational television.

R. V. May, chairman of the Advisory Board, presided at the meeting. Other members attending were Harris Howard, of Prestonsburg, Ralph Preston, Paintsville, and George E. Evans, Jr., Wayland. Burl Spurlock and Marvin Music, both of Prestonsburg, the other members of the board, were absent.

Virginia and southwestern Virginia as having begun with college students working with residents of mountain communities, renovating, repairing and painting one- and two-room schools.

"Uppermost in the intent of the efforts of the AV's," the statement added, "has been that citizens make their own decisions as to goals they choose and the courses which they pursue."

Ogle argued that people in the mountains and elsewhere have too long "been victims of pre-packaged programs which bear no relationship to the root causes" of their problems. He explained that the organization is interested in helping create a climate in which people can express themselves freely. "This," he added, "is the basic assurance provided the citizens of this country by the Constitution and is basic to democratic processes."

Branding other blanket charges against the AV's as representing "a great deal of ignorance" about AV activities, he pointed out that six of the seven members of the field staff employed in this county are long-time residents of the county and five of the six employed in Pike have long been residents there. He also said three native Eastern Kentuckians are employed in the central office here.

Ogle quoted Mayor Wesley Davis, of Bristol, Tenn., as saying, "The Appalachian Volunteers have been in Bristol approximately two years, and during that time we have had the fullest cooperation from them." The mayor was quoted in reply to the CAP allegation the AV's had caused strife there.

Surviving, besides his mother, are his widow, Mrs. Josephine Ellis Howard; a daughter, Mrs. James J. Carter, II, and four sons, O. R. (Pete) Howard, Richard Timothy Howard, James Franklin Howard and John Mark Howard, all of Prestonsburg; a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Dial, Huntington, W. Va., and two grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted from the First Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. Sunday, the pastor, the Rev. Milton Skiff, officiating. Burial was made in the Mayo cemetery here under direction of the Carter Funeral Home.

Active pallbearers were Bill R. Collins, Bill Harvey Howard, James E. Goble, William C. Allen, County Supt. Charles Clark, Wesley Howard, John Forrest Brown, Stuart Stephens, William Kendrick, Frank Heinze, Jack Powers, Kenneth Allen, Lloyd Brown, Gordon Ratliff, William Dings, John M. Stumbo, Bill Blair.

would be no "dual control," with a second line running to himself. The organizational framework of the changes will be released in a day or two," he said.

Mean while, a possibility that Meade's directive might conflict with state law was raised almost immediately by the attorney general's office, headed by John Breckinridge, Democrat.

— 1 —

The CAP resolution alleged, as a reason for requesting removal of the AV's from the county, that "the said Appalachian Volunteers have knowingly created strife, bitterness and set race against race, friends against friends and class against class in all areas wherein they have been permitted to carry out their operations, especially in the cities of Bristol, Tenn., and Pikeville, Ky."

It also was alleged that the AV's have associated with known Communists and subversive elements. The CAP statement pointed out that former Governor Breathitt last year requested Sargent Shriver to remove the AV's from Kentucky and that Governor Nunn has agreed with the stand taken by Breathitt. Jack Rivel, head of the Appalachian Volunteers office here, said he would perhaps comment on the action when he receives a copy of the resolution.

The CAP vote was made on motion of John Roberts, of Prestonsburg, and was signed by John Milton Stumbo, chairman of the Floyd County Community Action Program.

INTER-RACIAL MEETING SLATED EASTER SUNDAY

People of all races are being invited to the inter-racial service which will be held next Sunday evening at 7:30 at the Garrett Baptist Church, the pastor, the Rev. Rush Sloane, said this week. The speaker will be Herman Isley, of Louisville, secretary of Inter-Racial Relations, Kentucky Baptist Association.

The Rev. Sloane also announced that Sunday, May 5, will be note-burning day at the Garrett church. An all-day service will mark the payment of the last note and also the 12th anniversary of the pastor's service at the church. The speaker will be Dr. A. B. Colvin, secretary of Missions.

Keene To Succeed Lopez at Hospital

Pikeville, Ky.—The Methodist Hospital of Kentucky this week announced the appointment of Lee D. Keene, Baltimore, Md., as its administrator. Keene, a native of Jackson, Ky., is presently assistant director of the Church Home and Hospital, Baltimore. He will assume his new duties July 1. W. Ernest Elliott, Sr., president of the board of directors of the Pikeville hospital, said, but meanwhile will make periodic visits to Pikeville to consult on the institution's building plans.

Eugene Lopez, administrator of the Pikeville hospital since 1960, who has been seriously ill for some time, has been granted extended sick leave with salary, Elliott said.

Keene was business supervisor of Wise Memorial Hospital, Wise, Va., for three years (1957-1960). He holds the M. B. A. degree from the school of hospital administration of The George Washington University, Washington, D. C., and the B. S. degree from the University of Tennessee. He is a member of the American Hospital Association and the Maryland-D. C.-Delaware Hospital Association. A 1951 graduate of Pikeville High School and a former student at Pikeville Junior College, he is a veteran of four years in the United States Air Force. He and his wife, the former Patricia Hibbits, formerly of Pikeville, have two children, Lee, Jr., 14, and Barbara Sue, 11.

150 hours to the task. He is asking all these men to be present at the service, at which recognition will be given to their contribution.

STANDING IN THE NEED OF PRAYER

The death of Martin Luther King was plain murder. And what is more shocking to us than the fact that a human being was shot down in cold blood is the number of those who are glad it happened.

We have discovered in some who say they are Christian a hatred of Dr. King and his people that is beyond understanding. It is true that white people have been killed, too, but it was the same kind of hate—hate is black, regardless of the color of the skin of the one who harbors it—that caused them to die.

Dr. King was no Messiah. He had his human weaknesses, and he laid no claim to canonization. A lot of the tribute paid him bordered on the hypocritical, and many who now profess to revere his memory do so because it is the popular or prudent thing to do. Sitting back at this distance from the center of this racial struggle, we fail to see the full picture. We only know that black men are struggling for their place among other men, that some hope to win through non-violent means while others, even some of those professing the doctrine of non-violence, turn to looting, arson and murder.

These are crimes which must be met squarely by the forces of law and order, but the dark sin of hatred is an offense against which these forces are powerless.

Hatred, mingled with fear, is a deadly thing. It is tearing America apart.

Perhaps the most moving scene in all the panoply of that funeral in Atlanta came when Mahala Jackson, black and not ashamed of it, rose, head bowed, eyes closed, and sang the well-loved spiritual, "Precious Lord, Take My Hand"—sang it through, head still bowed, eyes closed, as if singing a prayer.

America needs to sing a prayer instead of a hymn of hate.

Wild Turkey Season Near In Eastern Kentucky

Frankfort, Ky., April 8 — The elusive wild turkey is more often heard than seen, and the odds aren't too good that a hunter will get close enough to kill one of the wary woodlands birds.

But despite this, wild turkey hunting continues to grow in importance with Kentucky's hunting sportsmen—probably because it does demand so much skill and stealth on the part of the hunter.

Not many years ago, the gobble of the wild turkey could be heard only in one part of Kentucky, in a portion of what is now the Land Between the Lakes recreation area in western Kentucky. Now huntable populations of the undomesticated species of Thanksgiving fare can be found in that section as well as in a sizable portion of Eastern Kentucky, reports Arnold Mitchell, director of Game Management for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

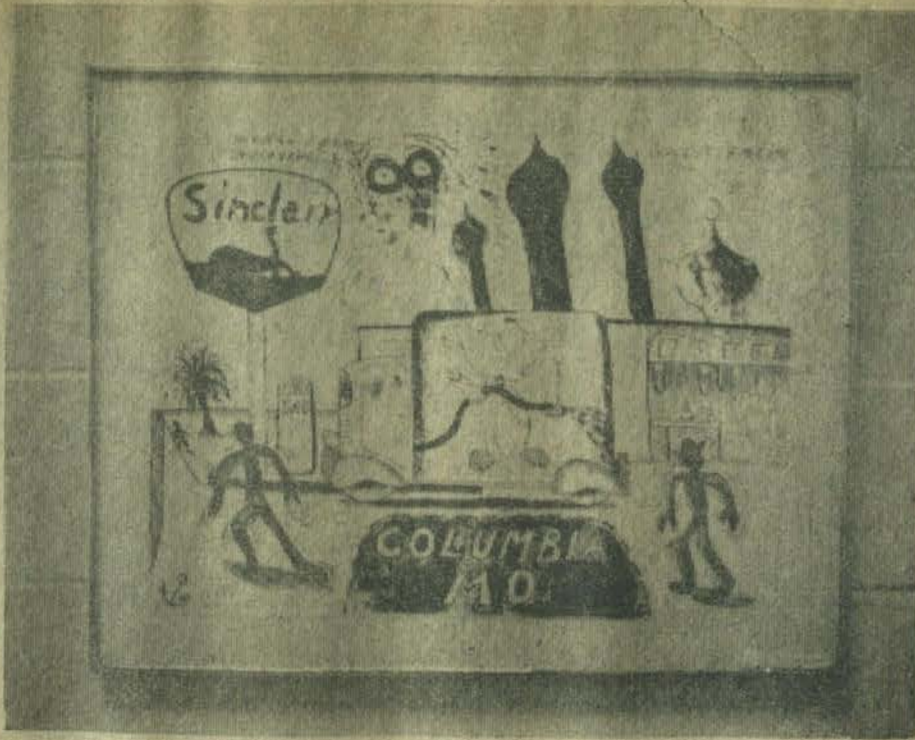

Last spring, according to calculations by biologists for the Department, 32 hunters managed to outwit wild turkeys. Of that total, 27 turkey gobblers were killed by the 659 persons who hunted during a six-day season in the Land Between the Lakes.

The remaining five birds came from the 16 county eastern region.

Three turkeys were known killed last Friday and Saturday (April 5-6) during this year's first hunting session in the Land Between the Lakes area. More than 500 hunters were out during the two days. Remaining sessions there are April 12-13 and April 19-20.

In the Eastern region, hunting is scheduled April 20-28. Like in LBL, only gobblers may be killed in the 18 county area.

Following is the section where hunting is permitted: That portion of McCreary county east of U. S. 27 and north of Ky. 92: Pulaski, Perry, Breathitt, Knott, including Robinson Forest Area; Clay, Leslie, Jackson, Owsley, Powell, Wolfe Bath, Menifee, including Pioneer Weapons Area; Laurel, Rockcastle, Lee, Rowan and that portion of Whitley county north of Ky. 92.

This picture is from an art exhibit on display at PCC this month. The exhibit, "Contemporary Prints by American Artists," is on loan to the college by the Allan Frumkin Gallery in Chicago, and contains some very interesting and also very amusing etchings and lithographs in color and in black and white. The color lithograph is entitled "Personnage."

There is also an exhibit from the main campus of the University of Kentucky which contains more lithographs and etchings one of which is by Picasso.

The last exhibit offers drawings by students from PCC who are in Mr. John Brower's Beginning Drawing class. The public is urged to visit the college and view all of these exhibits. Aside from enjoying these pictures which were brought in from the outside, you will be pleasantly surprised by some of the outstanding talent right here in our community.

Doctor Irked by Surveys

If another "Appalachian survey team" from a foundation or federal agency is thinking about going to Pike county, here's some friendly advice: Stay clear of Pike county's Dr. Edward I. Rustin.

Dr. Rustin, to put it bluntly, is fed up with people spending "millions of dollars" planning health programs for Appalachia and then "not doing anything about it."

"I would venture to say," said Dr. Rustin, health officer for Pike county since 1952, "that there have been between 50 and 100 surveys in our area in the last decade. I lost count a long time ago."

Dr. Rustin told a meeting of health officers in Louisville last week that any out-of-stater who ever had a cup of coffee in Pikeville immediately considers himself an expert on Appalachian health problems.

In an interview, the health officer charged that despite the "millions of dollars" spent in the region, "many Pike county children still don't have the money to get their diseased tonsils out." And it wouldn't have taken a survey team to discover that approximately 50 percent of the youths of the Appalachian region can't pass the physical test for entry into the armed forces, Rustin asserted.

He said he has six nurses working for him in Pike county, which has a population of about 70,000. National health authorities, he said, recommend one nurse for every 5,000 persons.

"We could have taken a small part of the millions of dollars spent on surveys and re-surveys and supplemented our health programs to a point where no more surveys would ever be needed," Dr. Rustin said.

(A proposal for a $12 million Southeastern Kentucky demonstration health program has been submitted in recent days to the Appalachian Regional Commission in Washington. The project was proposed by the Southeastern Kentucky Regional Health Demonstration Corp. and will cover 11 counties. Pike county is not included.)

Some of the questionnaires passed out by survey teams irked Dr. Rustin. One foundation survey crew submitted this question: "Why are there so many Cadillacs in Pike county?"

"I don't know if Pike county has more Cadillacs per capita than other counties, but I do know we have a Cadillac agency with some good salesmen," he said.

Modern Dance Concert To Be Held at College Friday at 1 and 8 p.m.

A modern dance concert will be presented at Prestonsburg Community College, Friday, at 1 p.m. for the student body, and again at 8 p.m. for others of the community. The concert will be given by Tau Sigma, modern dance honorary fraternity on the University of Kentucky campus. The group is composed of students and non-students in the area and has performed throughout the state.

The dancers, under the direction of Judy McCall, physical education instructor at UK, will perform a varied program. It will include "A French Tale," choreographed to the music of Beethoven, "Intre gales," to music by Edgard Varese, and "The Rehearsal," to music of the jazz medium.

Admission is free and there will be an informal reception afterward in the faculty lounge, sponsored by the cheerleaders of Prestonsburg Community College.

WILD ORCHIDS OF THE MOUNTAINS

The three rarest, most exotic wild orchids of our mountains are the Moccasin, the Queen Slipper and the Yellow Slipper. These three are so beautiful and have become so scarce, I plead with all lovers of the outdoors to spare these and not pluck them when they bloom. They are among the most colorful wild flowers of America. Some say the queen slipper orchid is one of the world's most beautiful wild flowers.

THE MOCCASIN ORCHID. This orchid is also known as the Pink Lady's Slipper; in some regions it is called, "the Whippoorwill's Shoe," as it bears the large moccasin about the time the whippoorwill begins to broadcast their lonely songs from the deep-shadowed night woods.

Concerning the Moccasin Orchid, Dr. Earl L. Core says: "This is the most highly prized wild orchid in West Virginia for its beautiful color and odd appearance, but it has been almost wiped out in the state through thoughtless picking."

The Moccasin Orchid comes into bloom, the first part of May, and produces a large, deep-pink moccasin with red veins. The lip, or moccasin, is shaped somewhat like the old-time moccasin worn by Indians and pioneers. It is formed at the top of a slender scape about a foot or more in height and it sways and dances in the brisk spring winds. The moccasin is about two inches long, inflated, and contains a rich supply of nectar which waits for the queen bumblebee to come for the feast. The moccasin has a slit at the top, and the only insect which can squeeze through this is the queen bumblebee, which is onto the trick. When she gets through the opening, the slit closes behind her and she is held prisoner. But this doesn't worry madam bumblebee at all; she takes her time and laps up the nectar, then at the top of the big moccasin she discerns two small light holes. Toward these she moves to gain an exit, but before she can get out she must brush past the stamens inside and get herself dusted with pollen to carry to the next orchid.

Also as she passes out, she must pollinate the stigma, which is armed with incurving hairs to scrape the pollen off her back as she passes out. It would seem that this wild orchid uses almost human ingenuity in its complicated scheme to get its flowers cross-pollinated.

The Moccasin Orchid is also called "the Stemless Lady's Slipper," as it has no stem to bear leaves. The two opposite leaves are formed at the base of the plant and are large, many-nerved and plaited. Each flower has two greenish-brown sepals and two petals similar to the sepals.

The Moccasin Orchid is most difficult to transplant with any hope of success; so I appeal to wild flower lovers to leave it alone in the woods. Once I transplanted a dozen in our wild flower sanctuary. Only two of them lived to produce blooms the following year, then they died. It would have been far better for me to have left them alone in their original habitat. I have found two colonies of these orchids growing in humus-rich, moist hillside in a grove of hemlocks, pines and clumps of rhododendron. The soil where they grow must be highly acid and enriched by decay of leaf mold and pine needles.

THE YELLOW LADY'S SLIPPER. This orchid is more common than the Pink Lady's Slipper, but it is not abundant in any region. Most of these I have found were growing on high, dry hillsides, in deciduous woods. The plants produce stems from one to two feet high and bear large, broad leaves, alternate with parallel veins. The slipper appears at the top of the stalk and is glossy-yellow, looking as if it had been washed in liquid gold. The three sepals and two smaller petals are bronzy and twisted to form a spiral. The inside of the slipper is marked with purplish stripes.

The large yellow slipper is showy in the spring woods and may be seen at a great distance as it sways in the wind. This orchid is also called, "the Downy Lady's Slipper," as the plants are downy as well as robust.

The Yellow Slipper orchid has now become too scarce over most of its range to be plucked, or even to be transplanted. It is very difficult to transplant with much hope of success. Another reason for its scarcity—the old-time root diggers, who sold the roots for a paltry sum, have dug many of the finest patches and made this wild orchid far too scarce.

THE QUEEN SLIPPER ORCHID, OR SHOWY LADY'S SLIPPER. This orchid is the state flower of Minnesota and has been called the most beautiful wild flower of America. The large slippers are sheer white diffused with pink stripes.

The Queen Slipper orchid grows in bogs, swamps, wet woods and around the margin of lakes. The white slippers with their showy pink stripes are very fragrant and attract the bumblebees for the work of pollination.

The wild orchids I have described are members of the Orchid Family and are nature's most exotic and colorful creations among wild flowers. It is to be regretted that they have become so scarce throughout most of their range.

'WHATSOEVER THINGS'

By DONALD E. WILDMON

I went to the church, the other morning. It was a pretty day. The sun was shining, there were clear skies and good traveling conditions. Admittedly, it was 15 degrees above at the time.

I got to the church a little early to light the heaters. Someone had beaten me to it, and the church was nice and warm. I waited until starting time, and then a little after. The fellow who lit the heaters came and brought his six-year-old son. We waited until 15 minutes past starting time, and no one else showed. We left, since I had another appointment to keep.

Five nights later, it was a nasty night. It was snowing heavily and sleet was mixing with the snow. Driving conditions were dangerous. It was, in general, a bad night to be out. But I decided to venture out for just a short time.

I went to the local gym where a basketball tournament was in progress to talk with the football coach for just a few moments. On the way to the gym I kept thinking that they had probably called the basketball games off, due to the weather. I figured it would be the only sensible thing to do. And even if they did play the games I thought only a handful would turn out to watch the games in such nasty weather. I was wrong. The action was going, full speed ahead, and the house was jammed.

One of the first persons I saw at the game was one of the church members who had been absent the previous Sunday.

This may not mean anything to you, but it says something to me. It says that a basketball game is considered more worthy of our presence than a church worship service. And it also says, at least to me, that we consider a basketball game of more importance than a church worship service.

I think it is long past time when we take a serious look at our church membership vows again. The majority of us lied.

We didn't live up to our vows. We didn't even give them a serious try. But that isn't the serious part. Not at all.

The serious part is that we continue to lie. We keep our names on that church roll for years and continue to call ourselves members. Yet we seldom attend, if ever. And if the church gets a dime of our money it costs them a dollar to get it.

It seems we could at least be honest about the matter. We could take our church membership vows serious. Or we could take our names off the church roll. One thing is for certain—if we don't do one or the other, we will continue to tell that lie.

If we weren't going to take our vows seriously, we would take our names off the roll. By doing this we would at least be honest and not hypocrites. And merely having our name on the roll isn't going to fool anyone—especially Him.

One other thing about the ball game. If you got in, you paid their price. Maybe the Church could learn something from that. It could be that the church is letting folks in on half fare—maybe less.

I can't remember the Carpenter passing out any free passes. Just crosses.

Plan Easter Service At W'wright Church

The Left Beaver Ministerial Association will sponsor a Easter service Sunday morning at 6 o'clock. The service will be conducted in the Wheelwright Community Church. The Rev. C. C. Isbell will deliver the address. Rev. E. H. Terry will lead the singing. Rev. Carl Ruplet will lead in prayer and Rev. James E. Casey, Jr., will read from the Scriptures.

The Community Church will serve refreshments after the service is concluded.

The Rev. Casey has planned a ministers' meeting for April 20 at 12 noon at the First Baptist Church, Wheelwright. All ministers on Left Beaver are invited to attend.

ACADEMIC PLAN

The new Academic Plan at the University of Kentucky does not in any way require a longer period of time to complete the requirements for a degree.

One of the most picturesque courthouses domes in Kentucky is on the Greek Revival structure at Paris in Bourbon county.

MAYTOWN

Shawn Combs, small son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Combs, was a patient at Our Lady of the Way hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Taubee Tussey and children, of Springfield, O., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb, last week-end.

Bob and Mike Tallent, of George Washington University, Washington, D. C., are guests this week of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jones Tallent, and other relatives.

Miss Myra Gibson, of Ft. Thomas, spent last week-end here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Champ Gibson.

Mrs. Claude Webb and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Webb spent a few days last week visiting relatives in Stockdale and Springfield, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Halbert have moved into the J. M. Turner house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spencer.

Phil and Bill Flannery, of Lorain, Ohio, young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hershell Flannery, are spending their spring vacation here with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Flannery.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershell Flannery, of Lorain, Ohio, were here last week-end to attend the funeral of her brother, Paul Stratton, of Betsy Layne. Those from here attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bill May, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Flannery and Mrs. Tommy Jones.

At the close of services at the Methodist Church, Sunday morning, Mrs. Bonnie Spencer, who helped organize and led the choir, was presented a gift from the church which was presented by the pastor, Rev. Sumner, who expressed the thanks and appreciation of the church for all the time and work Mrs. Spencer has given. She and her family have moved to Allen. Mrs. Gene Peasure will be the new choir leader, assisted by Mrs. Tommy Jones. The church also expressed its thanks to Mrs. Jones Tallent and Mrs. Ed Stewart for keeping fresh flowers in the church. Mrs. Earl Edward Webb visited her grandmother, Mrs. Laura Hatfield, at the Appalachian Regional hospital, McDowell, Sunday afternoon.

Miss Patsy Quisenberry, of Morehead State University, was the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Prater last week-end. She attended morning services at the Methodist Church and also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sammons and daughter, of Richmond, Ky., were week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patton.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service held its regular monthly meeting in the recreation room of the church. Mrs. Ed Stephens was hostess and program leader, the program being "Thoughts of Easter." Refreshments were served and tables were decorated in the Easter motif. Mrs. Jones Tallent showed a film strip in preparation for the Pledge Service. Two more films will be shown. Those attending were Mrs. Hubert Halbert, Mrs. Henry L. May, Mrs. Thomas Patrick, Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. Ernar Herald, Mrs. Fred Bishop, Mrs. George A. Patton and Mrs. Ed Stephens.

Newsom-Whited

Mr. and Mrs. George Newsom, of Paintsville, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sandra Kay, to Mr. Paul Wayne Whited, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Whited, of Jenkins, Kentucky.

The Rev. James Wallace will perform the wedding ceremony in the First Baptist Church, Paintsville, on the evening of April 19 at 7:30. Open church will be observed.

Miss Newsom is a 1967 honor graduate of Paintsville high school, where she was active in Theatrics, Beta Club, Pep Club, History Club, French and Latin Clubs. She is presently enrolled as a second semester freshman at Prestonsburg Community College. After completing four years of college, she plans to be a speech therapist. She is a member of the First Baptist Church of Paintsville.

Mr. Whited is a 1965 honor graduate of Jenkins high school where he was active in the band, Beta Club, Key Club, Bible Club, and is also a 1967 graduate of Mayo State Vocational School, Paintsville. He is now serving in the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Chanute AFB, Illinois. He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Jenkins.

ART CLASS DISPLAY

The public is invited to visit Prestonsburg Community College this month to see some outstanding art work on display by the students and by some professional artists.

In the showcase is a large exhibit presented by Mrs. Frankie Best's art class. It contains materials that have been dyed to make designs, collages, weaving designs and unusual needlework. The colorful exhibit will probably be of interest to many women who enjoy making home-made gifts or floral arrangements. It offers some unusual and original ideas in decorating and for hobbies.

SECOND ANNUAL REPORT
To the PEOPLE of FLOYD COUNTY
And EASTERN KENTUCKY

L. E. Danielson

KENTUCKY APPALACHIAN
INDUSTRIES, Inc.

Dear Friends and Neighbors:

A year ago I reported to you on the first year's operations and growth of Kentucky Appalachian Industries since it was started in Prestonsburg in late 1965. KAI is really a "home grown product" for it was started and financed by local community leaders, primarily to create new jobs and provide employment in this part of Eastern Kentucky. A large portion of the materials and labor that went into the original factory was contributed by local people.

We have now completed our second full year of operation and I am pleased to report that the growth of the company and its contributions to the community have continued to increase. During the past year we found it necessary to add a second addition to the factory, making a total of 30,000 sq. ft. of manufacturing space. Nearly all the products we have produced were for the direct use and support of our fighting men in Vietnam and throughout the world. We added two major new products to our line last year, air cargo nets and military tents.

I am sure you will be interested in some of the latest "facts and figures" about KAI.

Since its founding KAI has

- Paid approximately $850,000 in salaries and wages in this area.
- Trained nearly 300 people—who were paid an additional $60,000 in wages by the Government during the training period. Although most of these people are still employees of KAI, others of them have found jobs with other companies in the area as a result of their training.
- Spent over $300,000 for equipment and services purchased in this area.
- Invested more than $810,000 in equipment, machinery and material in Prestonsburg.
- Paid over $70,000 in Federal, State and Local taxes, or enough money to pay for the education of 200 Floyd county children for one entire year.
- Manufactured and delivered over 270,000 items of military equipment with a value of over $1,500,000.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all the people of this area for your interest and support of KAI and its programs. We fully expect that in the year ahead we will enjoy even greater growth, employ more people, make greater contributions to the economy of the community and increase your pride in your Company—KAI.

Sincerely yours,

L. E. DANIELSON
Vice-President (General Manager)
Kentucky Appalachian Industries, Inc.

Lantz To Develop
Chaplaincy Program
In Regional Hospital

Rev. Omar S. Lantz, principal chaplain at Eastern State hospital in Lexington, has been appointed chaplain consultant for Appalachian Regional Hospitals. ARH operates nine non-profit community hospitals in Eastern Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

Mr. Lantz will develop a chaplaincy program for the ARH hospitals and assist clergymen of all faiths in ministering to patients. The program may include the installation of three full-time chaplains in the ARH system.

Nunn Explains Changes In Inspection Program

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Louie B. Nunn has warned inspectors licensed under the state's motor vehicle inspection program that the program will be "carefully supervised" and "rigidly enforced" and violators will be presented "to the fullest extent provided for in the law."

Nunn addressed 2,400 of the state's licensed inspectors at a meeting in the Frankfort high school gymnasium.

State Public Safety Commissioner William O. Newman and Motor Vehicle Inspection director Robert Shirley explained recent changes in the program's regulations to the inspectors.

Nunn told the inspectors that "burden of success or failure" of the program rests with them.

ORDINANCE NO. 2-68

An Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Authorizing and Instructing the City Attorney To Take Steps To Annex As A Part of the City of Prestonsburg A Tract of Land Immediately Adjacent To the Most Eastern Limits of the City Limits of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. That the City Attorney institute an action and file a petition in the Floyd Circuit Court, within thirty (30) days after the adoption and required publication and advertisement of this Ordinance, according to law, to annex as a part of the City of Prestonsburg a tract of land immediately adjacent to the most eastern limits of the city limits of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, described as follows:

TRACT NO. 1

Beginning at the most Eastern limits of the City limits of Prestonsburg Kentucky. Said beginning point being the point where the Northern right-of-way of the C. & O. R. R. intersects the center of Big Branch; thence along the Northern right-of-way of the C. & O. R. R. approximately 2000 feet to the most Southern corner of Lot 1-A, Block D, Goble-Roberts Suddisville; thence in a Northeastern direction 196 feet to the most Eastern corner of Lot 1-A, Block C; thence in a Northwestern direction along the boundary of Block C, 325 feet to the most Northern corner of Lot 12, Block C; thence along the Southern right-of-way of a 30 feet street, 107 feet to the most Western corner of Lot 12, Block C; thence along the Eastern right-of-way of a 30 feet street, 700 feet to the Northern right-of-way of a 40 feet street; thence along the Northern right-of-way of the 40 feet street 130 feet to the most Southern corner of Block P; thence along the Eastern right-of-way of a 30 feet street 630 feet to the Southern edge of the Big Sandy River; thence crossing the Big Sandy River on the same course; thence down the Northern edge of the Big Sandy River approximately 1300 feet to the existing city limits.

For more particular reference to the tract of land described, a map of said territory is filed with Richard Earl Martin, Civil Engineer, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

SECTION 2. All ordinances, or parts of ordinances, in conflict herewith, are hereby expressly repealed to the extent of such conflict.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from this date, after publication as required by law and the provisions of this ordinance.

Then the Mites Will Take Over . . .

COMMON HOUSEFLY DOOM SEEN VIA SMALLER PEST

The common housefly may some day find his wings somewhat clipped if research now under way at the University of Kentucky achieves its objective.

With a $30,000 grant from the U. S. Public Health Service, Dr. J. G. Rodriguez, UK professor of entomology, is beginning by mass-rearing two families of mites—oval shaped and less than a millimeter in length—which are death to flies.

"The objective," he says, "is to effect biological control of houseflies through the use of mites. I am very enthused about this project and I think it quite promising."

One family of Dr. Rodriguez' mites feeds on housefly eggs; the other family prefers fly larva. But either way they eliminate the fly before it can take wing to a picnic lunch or a wife's kitchen.

In studying the biology and ecology of the mites, Dr. Rodriguez plans to use poultry houses for his experimentation. The mites will be "sown like grass seed" over poultry manure where the mites then will feast on fly eggs and larva.

Paralleling the mite development, the UK researcher is working on more sophisticated chemical approaches to housefly control. He is seeking a chemical formula which would be toxic to flies, their eggs and their larva, but not to the mites. At the same time, he hopes to develop strains of mites which will have an induced resistance to chemicals.

Alice Lloyd Continues
Exchange of Students

Pippa Passes, Ky.—For the fifth straight year, Alice Lloyd College students have traded desks with students of other colleges and universities as part of the mountain school's student exchange program.

This week, 10 Alice Lloyd students are attending classes at Kenyon College in Ohio and the University of Kentucky. Other exchanges already have been held with Radcliffe College, Harvard University and Garland Junior College, all in Massachusetts.

"Alice Lloyd began its exchange program in 1964 with Kenyon College," said dean of students Charles Whitaker. "Since then we have expanded until this year we will send students to at least six schools."

"They return from Kenyon or Radcliffe or Wittenberg with a better understanding of themselves and their country," Whitaker said. "They discover in their association with students from other regions that there is much in their mountain backgrounds of which they can be proud. And they are helped to realize that other sections often have even greater problems than their Appalachian homeland."

His veto was motivated, Nunn said, by four factors:

1. A loss in state road funds over the next four years amounting to a "minimum of $48 million."

2. The fact a "substantial number" of Kentuckians had voluntarily had their cars inspected in January and February, voluntary months under the law.

3. The state's "scaring highway accident rate."

4. His belief the amended bill would have caused a "great inconvenience" to motorists and imposed inspection on fewer vehicles.

Newman and Shirley explained the regulation changes which include:

1. Elimination of brake lining by wheel removal, toe-in-out of wheels, ball joints and parking brake from the checklist.

2. A relaxation of standards on windshield glass, headlight aiming, and tire inspection.

UK's 'Patt' Hall
Will House Men

For 65 years Patterson Hall on the University of Kentucky campus in Lexington has been "home" to nearly 10,000 UK coeds. Come September, however, the men will take over Old Patt.

Patterson Hall, one of the oldest buildings on the campus, isn't considered the prettiest building on the campus, but it probably is the most "beloved." As one coed remarked, "I love Patterson. It's roomy and homey. It's more like a house than a dorm. The old steam radiators clang at night and the windows creak. It's wonderful."

Filled with traditions passed on from mother to daughter, "Patt Hall" is built with the red-brick bulkiness of most turn-of-the-century neo-institutional structures. Except for a brief period during World War II when the Army housed some of its men there, it has been home to UK coeds.

Next fall, both Patterson and Boyd Hall, another dormitory previously used for freshmen women and which joins Patt Hall, will be used for study-emphasis units for upperclassmen.

Oswald's Five Years At UK, Historic Era

Lexington, Ky.—When the resignation of Dr. John W. Oswald as president of the University of Kentucky becomes effective September 1, what has been described by many observers as one of the most progressive eras in the school's history will have become history.

The five-year period, which brought the end of the University's first century and the start of its second, saw enrollment double and the University expand from an institution with five two-year colleges into a university with a system of 10 community colleges in operation and three others scheduled to open by the time Dr. Oswald leaves.

In September, 1963, when Dr. Oswald assumed the UK presidency, Lexington enrollment was 9,190 and the community college enrollment was 1,808. Last fall, Lexington enrolled 14,737 and the two-year colleges 5,662.

But the development of the University into an institution given ever-increasing recognition throughout the nation must be measured by other factors and assessed through elements unmeasurable.

When Dr. Oswald arrived on campus, he commented that he found "a healthy academic ferment" among students and faculty. As he submitted his resignation, he said the University "most certainly is maturing into one of the nation's fine state universities."

Part of the maturity is evidenced by the expansion and diversification of the school's course offerings and by the added emphasis on graduate work. The number of Ph.D. degrees awarded annually has increased from fewer than 45 to about 120, and the number of Ph.D. programs has grown from 21 to 31. This growth is supported by corresponding growth at lower academic levels in the University.

Part of the increasing recognition has resulted from an enlarged and improved faculty. Rising salary schedules, improved fringe benefits and renewed focus on good teaching and good teachers have enabled the University to keep its scholars of stature and to add others from across the nation.

Other areas in which rapid strides have been taken include: Development of research programs—research grants up from $3.4 million in 1964 to more than $11 million in 1968.

Increase in budget—total up from $80,354,143 for 1963-'65 to $167,817,470 for 1968-'70.

Expansion of physical plant—five classroom buildings and a dormitory complex to house and feed 2,700 completed in Lexington, buildings provided at five community colleges, and construction started on a classroom-office complex in Lexington and buildings in Maysville and Louisville.

Extension of service—a framework for University-wide extension programs established and the Cooperative Extension Service reorganized.

Establishment of a Development Program—more than $3.4 million in gifts already pledged.

An academic plan for future development, a student code to deal with rights and discipline, development plans for all campuses and new administrative structures are achievements with benefits that will become even more apparent with the passage of time.

Dr. Oswald, who took over duties here on Sept. 1, 1963, submitted his resignation to the Board of Trustees on April 2. He will leave at the end of the summer to become executive vice-president of the University of California System, which has 90,000 students and nine campuses.

Dr. Magruder To Speak At Faith Bible Church On Threat of Marxism

Dr. N. Burnett Magruder, executive vice-president of the Christian Heritage Center, Louisville, and former executive director of the Louisville Area Council of Churches, will speak at the 11:30 a.m. service of Faith Bible Church at Martin, Easter Sunday.

Dr. Magruder, a Baptist minister who is a native of Virginia, will present the contrast between the Gospel of Jesus Christ and the gospel of Karl Marx and will draw on his 30 years' experience in dealing with this question. He was professionally involved in two major conflicts on the relationship of religion and the Marxist movement.

A graduate of William Jewell College and Yale Divinity School, he has graduate degrees from Columbia University and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. The public is invited to hear his discussion.

DON'T EAT THE DAFFODIL

It's springtime in Kentucky, and foliage appears by the roadside, in gardens and in bouquets and once again beautiful flowers for the home.

Mountain laurel, lily-of-the-valley, rhododendron and star-of-Bethlehem are just a few samples of the flowering finery in Kentucky's spring wardrobe. These four plants are lovely to look at, but they are deadly when eaten or chewed, warns the Floyd County Health Department.

Some other common flowering plants which are poisonous when any part is eaten or chewed include scarlet pimpernel (red apple), snow-on-the-mountain, chickweed, Jimson weed (thorn bloodroot) and monkshood (aconite).

Other plants which are poisonous in part are narcissus (bulb), daffodil (bulb), larkspur (leaves or stems), oleander (leaves), burning bush (leaves or fruit), mayapple (root), castor bean (bean-shaped seed), pokeweed (root, berries), Queen Anne's lace (root), and foxglove.

It's springtime in Kentucky—a feast for the eye, not the mouth.

Termite-Swarming Serves as Warning

The first report of termite-swarming for this year has been received by the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service entomology department.

This means, says Dr. R. A. Scheibner, entomologist, that termites are (1) establishing new colonies and (2) it's time to protect the home if the swarming is noticed.

"If you see these ant-like insects swarming in or around your home, you have an infestation that is several years old," Dr. Scheibner says. "You will have to take remedial action rather than preventive action. Remedial treatments—to kill established colonies that are below ground and not seen—often require professional help from pest control operators."

He noted that the swarming insects are distinguished from flying ants—also frequently seen around homes—by the following method:

(1) Flying ants have very narrow, pinched waists; termites do not have these; termites have four equal size wings twice as long as the body; flying ants have two long, rather narrow wings.

Information on detection and control of termites can be had by contacting the Floyd County Extension Office, 2nd Floor, Prestonsburg Post Office. (Telephone 886-2668)

Former Ashland Student Gets Grant To Oxford

A University of Kentucky student, David C. Fannin, Catlettsburg, has been awarded a scholarship to a six-week summer institute at Oxford University in England.

The scholarship was presented by the Kentucky unit of the English-Speaking Union to the UK senior who plans to receive his AB degree (with a major in English) in May.

The institute will present a study in depth of the history, literature and arts of 17th-century England. The scholarship underwriters all of Fannin's expenses for the trip to England.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fannin, Catlettsburg, Fannin said he had chosen the Oxford institute because he is "fascinated by the 17th-century period. The whole century is one of excitement. There was revolution and restoration of the monarchy. It was the age of Milton, the Metaphysical Poets, and of Ben Jonson."

Fannin plans to emphasize Milton in his studies for a doctorate. He is a Wilson Scholar designate, but has not decided which Graduate School he will attend.

The Catlettsburg resident attended Ashland Community College during his freshman and sophomore years, "where," he said, "they can provide students a personal attention that made it well worth-while."

Both regular Oxford students and foreign students will attend the institute. Four students from other colleges and universities in Kentucky also have received the scholarships and will be attending other British universities. Students of history, political science, and other subjects, as well as literature are eligible for such scholarships.

Jean Ritchie Among Folksingers Visiting Alice Lloyd College

Pippa Passes, Ky. — Eastern Kentucky's Jean Ritchie headed the bill of folksingers who brought their Southern Folk Festival to Alice Lloyd College and Knott county high school, April 4.

A native of Perry county who has been recognized throughout the nation for her Appalachian ballads, Miss Ritchie was one of several southern artists appearing at the college for a folk music workshop and concert.

Others included Bessie Jones, leader of the Georgia Sea Island Singers, who recalled many of the old slave songs handed down through her family; Roscoe Holcomb, an ex-coal miner from Eastern Kentucky who has made records on the Folkways label; Babe Stoval, a blues singer from New Orleans, and Michael Conney, a banjo and guitar player.

The Southern Folk Festival is co-ordinated by the Southern Folk Cultural Revival Project, which is working to focus attention on the South's musical heritage. The group will be touring Eastern Kentucky throughout April.

SERIOUS STUDENT SHOULD PREPARE

A serious high school student who intends to enroll at the University of Kentucky should prepare for his college study by concentration in the usual fields of mathematics, English, languages, sciences and social studies.

Collins Receives Award

Gorman Collins, manager of the radio station WDOC, was the recipient of a Joseph A. Holmes Safety Award presented at a recent Kiwanis Club meeting here. The award, in the form of a plaque and a framed certificate, was made for a public service rendered by the radio station in behalf of coal mine safety.

Joe S. Malesky, manager of the Health & Safety Activities of District C, U. S. Bureau of Mines, Norton, Va., made the presentation to Mr. Collins. The sponsoring organizations are the U. S. Bureau of Mines, the United Mine Workers of America, the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association and the Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association. During the past year radio station WDOC, one of eight participating throughout the United States, broadcast messages concerning coal mine safety into the homes of listeners of the area.

Harry C. Campbell, president of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators' Association, Pikeville, was instrumental in enlisting the services of WDOC.

HOWELL GETS $1,000 GRANT FROM WILDLIFE FEDERATION

Richmond, Ky., April 3 (Spl.)—A former Floyd countian who is studying the fish of Silver Creek in Madison county, has been awarded a $1,000 conservation education grant by the National Wildlife Federation.

He is Jerry Howell, Jr., formerly from Jackson, now a graduate student in biology at Eastern Kentucky University.

Under the supervision of ichthyologist Brantley Branson, professor of biology, young Howell is completing a thesis on the annual ecology (relationships between organisms and their environment) of some small perches at Silver Creek.

The thesis and class work are expected to be completed before summer commencement in August.

Howell will apply his $1,000

grant toward the PhD at a university of his choice.

He holds two BS degrees, one in Forestry, from North Carolina State University. He has studied wildlife biology as an Eastern undergraduate.

Howell's wife, the former Bernice D. Taylor, of Honey Bee, McCreary county, is also a student at Eastern. He is a native of Floyd county, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry F. Howell, of Jackson, formerly of Price.

Howell attended Kentucky Military Institute, Lyndon, Kentucky.

Court Convicts Mulloy Of Violating Draft Act

Joseph Thomas Mulloy, a Louisville anti-war activist and former Eastern Kentucky poverty worker, was convicted in U. S. District Court, Louisville, last week, of violating the Selective Service Act.

Mulloy, 23, was found guilty of refusing induction into the armed forces two days after a Lexington man, Donald B. Pratt, had been convicted of a similar charge in the same court.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated eight minutes before reaching the verdict.

Mulloy's attorney, Robert Sedler, an associate professor of law at the University of Kentucky, said he will appeal the conviction immediately.

The defense conceded that Mulloy had refused induction on Feb. 26, but argued that his draft board's induction order was illegal because the board had not fully and fairly considered Mulloy's request to be reclassified as a conscientious objector.

The defense called members of the board as witnesses and attempted to show that they were unfamiliar with Selective Service regulations, prejudiced against conscientious objectors in general and prejudiced against Mulloy in particular because of his civil rights and anti-poverty work.

I Say What I Think

By S. C. VAN CURON

Frankfort, Ky. — If any forecaster, observer or political writer can predict with any degree of accuracy the outcome of U. S. Senate primary in Kentucky from the muddled mess in both parties, he's a genius.

State chairmen of both parties have quit. Change and new direction seem to be the order for spring in a year when the President of the United States threw a bombshell into the national picture by flatly announcing he would not seek or accept the nomination of his party if tendered.

There is no scarcity of candidates for the U. S. Senate in either party in Kentucky but here is indecision, factionalism and discontent.

The Republican party has a war going on between the mountains and Jefferson county. The only term to describe the Democrats is civil war.

At midweek Gov. Louie B. Nunn had not made any decision as to whom he will support in his victorious Republican party to seek the seat being vacated by Senator Thurston B. Morton. Nunn has said he could not foresee any circumstance where he would oppose former Congressman Eugene Siler for the seat while Jefferson County Judge Marlow Cook has the support of the Jefferson County Republican Committee.

The sparring match was settled between Cook and Congressman William O. Cowger and the later will run for re-election for his Third District seat.

The Democrats have more candidates than they know what to do with, and Wilson W. Wyatt turned down an invitation to become the compromise candidate.

Arranged in the Democrat field are former Commerce Commissioner Katherine Peden, former State Representative Ted Osborn, former State Party Chairman Foster Ockerman, John Y. Brown and a list of others that ran the field to nine.

With this kind of a situation prevailing both on the state and national scene the conclusion is that the Republicans have a decided advantage for keeping the U. S. Senate seat.

Gov. Nunn won a decisive victory in Republican terms when he ousted the Democrats from the governor's chair they had held for 20 years.

Republicans are not split as badly on the local or national level as the Democrats. It's a reverse of the last presidential election.

Bobby Kennedy has warred with the Johnson administration over domestic, international and conditions of the war effort in a continual flanking move while the Republicans have taken theirs in stride.

Gov. Nunn with a minority in the legislature was successful in getting over his whopping $2.49 million budget and 5-cent sales tax revenue bill, and it took the help of Democrats to do it. The chore was accomplished with ease.

This would seem to give the Republicans a decided advantage in the Senate race this year. They are in a better position to raise money, have the strength of the state administration to weld together a strong campaign force from the grassroots level, and have the national picture going for them.

Their real problems are the 5-cent sales tax and the factionalism between Jefferson county's Marlow Cook and the governor. Cook opposed Nunn for the gubernatorial nomination.

The peripatetic Lester Burns who ran with Cook for the post of attorney general has denounced Cook and sided with Siler, the rock-ribbed Bible quoting purist who has demonstrated his strength before outside of Jefferson county, and the metropolitan area wasn't the key to Nunn victory.

The shakedown cruise is underway.

April 15 Designated For Clearing of Lots, Fire Chief Announces

All vacant lots within the city limits here must be cleared of debris and weeds during April, Fire Chief John D. Perry said last week.

Community beautification is a consideration, but the fact that the dry weeds and accumulations of debris are combustible makes their clearing necessary to remove fire hazards, he explained.

All burning done in clearing these lots must be under supervision of the fire department.

TIDITS of KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

Old, But Always New

Almost a half century ago I got interested in certain kinds of folk tales and read enormously in that field of study. In order to review my German, a little later, I decided to read a lot of typical yarns set down in German and rarely translated. In that way I got into a group of stories that I had not previously seen in print, or not without some doctoring. You see, these stories were a little too raw to be printed in English but had appeared in German in joke books two to four hundred years ago. As I read some two dozen of them, I was surprised to find some of my old friends, told at log-rollings, stag parties, and places where only men were present, and right in print, too. Even the versions I had heard in the most exclusive man rooms were mild as compared with the German joke-book versions. Meanwhile I had grown somewhat older and did not any longer have "the boys" of my earlier college days to use as an audience for the stories as I found them in German. Only once in a very long while, maybe after a few days of camping in the midst of mosquitoes and rain, could I limber up enough to tell one of my German stories without leaving out some of its most earthy details.

Vaudeville and comic radio and television programs are always seeking something new and even daring. It has amused me to hear many of these unexpurgated stories that I had read dry-cleaned and told again and again, with the whole family listening. I always felt like Old Timer on the Pibber McGehee Show: "That's purty cute, Johnnie, but that ain't the way I heard it." To date I have never attempted to give the German version, with its more earthy, more frank details, except as indicated above.

This illustrates a development in folklore that all folklorists know. A good story is heard, the main details are remembered, and it is told again. Sometimes the teller forgets the original details and inserts some he remembers from other yarns he has known. Thus this new version starts out on its career, just as lustily as did the one he was trying to recall as he heard it. With no written form for generations, that story can take on ever so many variations, and might become the dirtiest of dirty stories on one hand or a very pious, moral story, told to illustrate some basic ethical problem.

Some years ago I had a very illuminating talk with a famous singer of Negro spirituals. He and his singing group did spirituals the best I have ever heard them given in a long life of interest in that distinctive type of American music. He would hum or sing over some well-known spiritual, with its rather slow tempo and serious tone. Then he would make the same tune take on dance steps of various kinds and set his and my feet patting. Occasionally he would have even a third version, halfway between the religious song and the dance air, every one the same tune but with varying impressions. The late Ralph Bingham, a great chautauqua musician of a generation ago, took "Hot Time in the Old Town To-nite" and did that very thing with its catchy melody. His skillful fingers made that air an organ prelude, an anthem, a schottische, a one-step, a funeral march, and a postlude. It is amazing how one small tune could appear in so many forms.

It is well known that many of the American ballads grew up around some church or serious hymn, even. As a child I used to enjoy taking some church song and singing some poem of our school readers to that tune. Rarely did I get scolded for such impiety, for singing the words helped me memorize them faster, and I certainly meant no harm to the church song. I was just doing, in my ignorant way, what mankind has often done, with its stories and its songs.

THIS WEEK AT ALICE LLOYD IS 'WEEK FOR WOMEN'

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Co-eds will be in the spotlight at Alice Lloyd College next week as the school sets aside April 7-11 as a "Week for Women."

College officials said the purpose of the week is to give concentrated attention to the educational and social development of women students.

The program will feature women lecturers, an interior decorator, beauty and fashion consultants, and a panel discussion on dating and marital relationships.

Among the lecturers will be Mrs. John Walshall, past president of Kentucky Business and Professional Women, and Miss Chloë Gifford, director of special services at the University of Kentucky.

Hazard Girl Named State Star Student

Adrienne Lynnette Combs, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Combs, of Hazard, was recognized Tuesday as the state winner in the first Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition Awards program.

Named state Star Student was Miss Lois Kelley, of Hazard, English instructor at Hazard high school, which is attended by the Star student.

The top winners in the program were presented awards by President Mark B. Davis, of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, at the 22nd Annual Congress of Kentucky Business at Louisville.

The state Star Student won trophies and a $500 cash scholarship.

Miss Combs scored the highest on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of all the students entering the contest from throughout Kentucky. She also scored the highest of all the regional winner entries on the National Merit Scholarship Test. She was the only girl in the regional winners group. Miss Combs expects to attend Duke University.
