CEP OFFERS POOR NEW WORK PLAN

SUPERVISION, HOURLY PAY IN PLANNING

Nelson Project Taking Up Slack as Many End Three Years with WET

The Comprehensive Employment Program (CEP) is taking over in this and other Eastern Kentucky counties for the fading Work Experience and Training Program (WET), and it apparently means business.

Its Nelson Project already has in this county 124 at work who have had their three years with WET and have been phased out of that near-defunct group. Only 60 remain in WET, and they will go into the Nelson Project as soon as they have had their 36 months of work in the old project.

CEP (or Nelson) is regarded as meaning business for several reasons:

1. The men will be working under supervisors who will have the authority to fire those who fail or refuse to do the job.

2. Workers will be paid $1.60 an hour and only for hours worked.

3. The project is reminiscent of the WPA of the 1930's and will be used in the building or improving of roads, bridges, improving community or public cemeteries and similar projects.

Favoring the workers will be the fact that they will be in the Social Security program, will be insured by workmen's compensation, each will have a medical card and will be entitled to food stamps.

Power Failure Hits Prestonsburg, Slows Business Two Hours

Business ground to a near-stop, radio and television were blacked out and beat-the-heat devices failed for two hours here Tuesday afternoon during a power failure.

One grocer reported the loss of $150 worth of milk because of lack of refrigeration. Several residents said electrical appliances were damaged.

It was said at the office here of the Kentucky Power Co. that the blackout resulted from a blown fuse in the substation located near the home of Russell Peltz, in the Porter Addition section.

AUTO KILLS MAN, WIFE

Body of Mrs. Kinzer, Victim in Michigan, Returned to County

The body of a former Floyd county woman who was killed with her husband as they walked along a highway near Ypsilanti, Mich. last Saturday was returned here for burial this week on the Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek.

The two, Ellis Kinzer, 56, and his wife, Alice Shepherd Kinzer, also 56, died of injuries sustained when they were struck by a speeding automobile which reportedly ran off the highway and struck them.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinzer had stopped at a roadside fishing spot when the tragedy occurred.

Mrs. Kinzer was a daughter of John Shepherd, of Prestonsburg, and the late Verna Marsillette Shepherd. Her first husband, Harvey Ousley, died six years ago.

Besides her father, survivors include two sons, Earl D. Ousley, West Prestonsburg, and Oscar Ousley, Munnich, Mich.; three brothers, Will, Andy and Henry Shepherd, all of Water Gap, and five sisters, Mrs. Mary Moore, and Mrs. Della Stephens, both of Water Gap, Mrs. Laura Bradley, Mrs. Donnie Goodman and Miss Ida Shepherd, of Marshall, Michigan.

Funeral rites were conducted at 11 a.m. Wednesday from the Spurlock Regular Baptist Church by the Revs. Bill Justice and Russell Jacobs. Burial was made in the Allen Ousley cemetery, near Mrs. Kinzer's former home on Spurlock, the Floyd Funeral Home directing.

HOWARD BAIL CUT $15,000

Greenup County Man, Accused in 3 Deaths, Free on $25,000 Bond

Bond of Larry Howard, Greenup county construction worker who had been held by County Judge Henry Stumbo to a total of $45,000 bail in the automobile deaths of three Floyd county women, was reduced Monday by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley to $25,000.

The bond reduction was made by agreement after Paul E. Hayes, court-appointed attorney for Howard, had entered a motion for lowering of defendant's bond total to $25,000. Some fear was expressed by Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo that the $45,000 bond might be adjudged excessive by the Court of Appeals, thus jeopardizing the commonwealth's case against Howard.

Defendant later executed bond, with six Greenup county men as sureties.

He is charged in three manslaughter warrants as the driver of the automobile which collided with a car driven by Miss Peggy Wright on US 23, near here, resulting in the deaths of Mrs. Elder Wright, of Water Gap, and her two daughters, Mrs. Brenda Crum and Miss Teresa Wright.

If Howard is indicted, as expected, by the September grand jury, a place on the docket for that term will be reserved for his trial, Judge Conley indicated this week.

COACH QUILTS P'BURG POST

Crager Accepts Offer Of Morehead U. Study After September 1st

Bobby Crager resigned Wednesday as head football coach at Prestonsburg high school, effective September 1.

The resignation followed receipt of an offer of a fellowship worth a reported $4,500 at Morehead State University, where he will work toward his master's degree.

(Actually, Crager's resignation did not become final. He was granted a year's leave of absence as a teacher at the school here.)

To meet the emergency created by his departure, the team here was in the early stages of pre-season practice, the Floyd County Board of Education immediately began a search for a head coach. Meanwhile, Donald Nunnery, the only member of the school faculty with any football experience, was permitted to coach.

PROBE DEATH OF HAMILTON

Allen Firm Co-Owner Found Fatally Shot At Home Near Here

An investigation undertaken to determine how Jimmy Ray Hamilton, 30, co-owner of the Sandy Valley Monument Company at Allen, died at his home on Lick Branch, near here, has resulted in no definite decision.

A jury empaneled by Coroner James J. Carter Wednesday afternoon reviewed all known circumstances and rendered this verdict:

"We find death from a gunshot wound inflicted in a manner unknown."

There was no evidence of foul play.

Hamilton was found early Sunday morning on the floor of his room by his daughter, Kimberly Ann, 5. He was taken to the Prestonsburg General hospital and was dead on arrival. Not until later was it learned that he had been shot.

A .22-calibre pistol was later found on the floor, near the edge of a bed. Mrs. Hamilton, the former Wanda Green, who is bookkeeper for the Floyd County Board of Education, and her daughter were in a room at the opposite end of the home, and neither heard a shot.

Coroner Carter was joined by State Detective Chester Potter in the investigation of the case.

The victim was a native of this county, the son of Mrs. Hatie Belle Phillips Hamilton King, of Cliff, and the late Alton E. Hamilton. He was a member of the Bonanza Free Will Baptist Church which he had served as a deacon for six years.

KNOTT CRASH CLAIMS ONE

Three Survive Wreck Near Topmost Friday; Woman-Driver, Victim

An auto accident near Topmost, Knott county, Friday, involving four Bevensville residents, resulted in the death of one and injury to two others.

Mrs. Marie Triplett, 33, driver of the car, was fatally injured and died a short time after arrival at McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital. Of the other occupants of the car, two, Floretta Harris, 25, and Ray Dean Isaac, 18, sustained slight injuries and were given overnight treatment at the hospital. They were released the following day. A fourth passenger in the car, Terry Isaac, 18, escaped injury.

State Police said the accident occurred when the auto, apparently traveling at a normal rate of speed, left the edge of KY 1091 and skidded some 83 feet into an embankment. Scene of the mishap was approximately 1.8 miles north of Topmost.

State Police added that no safety equipment was being used and that the car occupants were injured primarily as a result of being thrown into the windshield.

Mrs. Triplett was born Sept. 12, 1934, a daughter of Mrs. Bertha Mullins Moore, of Bevensville, and the late Johnny Moore.

MAN SOUGHT IN STABBING

Hall Names Sammons As Night Assailant; Arrests Are Listed

Vernon Sammons, Jr., of the Martin vicinity, was sought Tuesday on a warrant charging him with cutting and wounding another with intent to kill after Martin Hall, age about 50, was slashed Monday night at his home near Martin in his right abdomen.

Hall was taken to Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, where county officials were told he is expected to recover, though his wound is considered severe.

Bond of $5,000 was set by County Judge Henry Stumbo when he issued the warrant.

Officers said Hall told them Sammons came to his home and called him from bed, presumably to give him a drink of homebrew. When threatened by Sammons as they stood in the yard of the Hall home, the wounded man was called saying, "Hall attempted to run and was slashed."

Jailed here within the week were:

John Leonard Goble, accused of drunk driving and driving without an operator's license, arrested by State Trooper Richard Ray; Willard Lafferty, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs Martin, Newsome and Flanery; Charles Salisbury, drunk driving and no operator's license, by Deputy Sheriffs Martin and Hunter; Randall Boyd, drunk driving, by Deputies Martin, Hunter and Flanery; Charles Tackett, reckless driving, by State Trooper Ray and Constable Gillis Conn.

1 JOB NEARS COMPLETION, 2nd STARTED

Water Distribution Work Big Business; 2 More Jobs Sought

The task of providing Floyd county with water is big business, these days.

Nearing completion is one major project, the first in this section to serve a two-county area, and begun last week was another. A third was approved, and a final o.k. is sought for a fourth.

The Sandy Valley Water District's million-dollar undertaking linking northern Pike county and southern Floyd with the Pikeville municipal water system is so far advanced that it is expected water will be in the entire system by late next month.

Work was begun here last week on extending and improving the Prestonsburg municipal system at a cost of $549,751.

Only last week grants and loans totalling $1,470,000 were approved by the Economic Development Administration for construction of a water system to reach all parts of the Mud Creek valley. This water also will be purchased from Pikeville.

GAS DISPUTE IS SETTLED

Strike Threat Ends Monday As Company And Workers Agree

The dispute between union employees and the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company which threatened a general walkout Aug. 17 was settled Monday.

James H. Lafferty, president of the Local Union 3510, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers (AFL-CIO), announced that the company agreed to union terms and that "everything worked out satisfactorily."

The disagreement between company and employees stemmed mainly from the reduction in the number of employees at the Dwale compressor station. Lafferty said modernization of the Dwale plant, with the installation of new engines, had reduced the work force there from a high of 25 men at one time to four at present. The union claimed the company had eliminated two work classifications as a result of cutoffs.

HOBART WILL NOT USE KENWOOD SITE

The Hobart Manufacturing Company, Troy, Ohio, has notified the Paintsville Chamber of Commerce that it will not exercise its option on 55 acres of the Kenwood site as a future plant location. The Times learned Wednesday.

Allan Perry, president of the chamber, said Hobart officials explained that the decision not to come to Eastern Kentucky was no reflection on the site, the people or the business atmosphere but was "strictly the result of company planning."

The option, taken several weeks ago, was due to expire Monday. It gave Hobart the right to purchase the 55-acre site for $2,500 an acre.

Despite the disappointment, the city of Paintsville last week received bids on waterline extension to both the Kenwood and Thelma sites, near Paintsville. The H. B. Ranier Construction Company, Prestons-burg, was low bidder on both projects. For the water extension to Kenwood Ranier's bid was $289,391; to Thelma, approximately $144,000. The General American Transportation Company, Chicago, was low bidder on construction of a water storage tank at the Thelma site. Its bid was $29,695.

Approval of the bids and awarding of a contract by the Paintsville City Council will await EDA approval of the bidding.

Apparently, waterline extension to Kenwood will be made, despite the disappointment with Hobart. Mayor J. B. Wells told City Council the site is Eastern Kentucky's finest and that some other firm will inevitably locate there.

The water extension to Thelma will reach the site of the proposed vocational rehabilitation center which yet must have final approval by EDA.

BIG CROWD AT SPEEDWAY SEES WIN IN LAST LAP

One of the largest crowds of the season saw Darrell Whittaker in car 007 take the lead as he passed on the outside in the final lap to win Saturday's modified feature race at the Beaver Valley Speedway. In doing so, he is now in first place by 40 points over Johnny Crisp, of car XX, in the championship standings. Buddy Ward of No. 8 dropped to third from the leading position. Fans were given a special treat as "oldtimer" John P. Wells piloted car 96.

Ferrell Harris in car 23 still leads the Sportsman's standings, although "Red" Morris in car 99 is closing fast. Morris took the lead from third-place driver Larry Thornsby of car 17 on the 17th lap, going on to win. Larry went fishing without a pole as he careened into the infield accumulation of backwater from recent heavy rains. Ronald Adkins, driving 41, finished a strong second, passing Gary Burchett of car 47, in the 24th lap. Only three-tenths of a second separated the top seven qualifiers as five cars tied for third place in this evenly matched class.

Results:

MEN'S SOFTBALL

David climbed into second place by defeating Banner, 14-4. David played without the services of catcher Johnny Music, the league's No. 2 hitter, who dislocated his shoulder. Ronnie Wicker and Billy Howell led the David team with three hits and two rib's each.

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co., having been twice rained out, had to play three games last week, winning two and losing, 6-5, to Banner. In the Banner contest, Cal Kerriek and Jerry Meek, of the gas company team, each collected three hits, as did Lester Hamilton and Clinton Roberts of Banner.

The first forfeit of the season occurred in last week's action as Music-Colvin could not muster enough players and had to give Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company a 1-0 win. The gas company team subdued Anderson Insurance Agency, 7-3, after spotting them three runs in the first inning. The gas company scored five runs in the second inning and was never threatened again.

Last week's second-place batting leader, Clinton Roberts, of Banner, took over first place with a .714 mark. Following him are Music (David) .684, Clark (Presbyterian) .609, Hughes (Presbyterian) .588, B. George (David) .579, L. Burke (Anderson Insurance) .545, L. Hamilton (Banner) .536, G. Greer (Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co.) .521, Herriek (Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co.) .500, Meek (Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co.) .500, and R. Wicker (David) .500.

The Men's Slow-Pitch League Tournament will be held Aug. 21 and 22. The schedule is as follows:

Fifth-place team vs. sixth-place team, Aug. 21 at 6 p.m.; third-place team to meet the fourth-place team at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 21. The first and second-place teams drew byes and meet the winners of the first two games at 5:30 and 6:30 p.m., the following day. The championship game will be at 7:30 p.m., August 22.

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL

In last week's action Anna Jean Tackett's All-Stars downed the Nurses, 14-5. Lida Howard, Janet Blackburn, Susie Burke and Sandy Prater each had four hits in the win. Judy Taylor led the Nurses with three hits.

One night later, Garnet Mayo's Varmints climbed into second place with a 7-1 win over the Dodos. Eunice Shepherd slugged a single and a double, and newcomer Ada Castle had a single and a triple for the winners. Debbie Chaffins of the Dodos collected a double for that team's only extra-base hit.

The Nurses and the Dodos split a Saturday doubleheader with the Dodos winning the first game, 6-0, and losing the second, 8-6. Pitcher Linda Godsey shut out the Nurses on three hits the first game, while first baseman Sheila Goble led the offense with three hits and two runs. The Nurses came alive for the second contest as pitcher Sally Reynolds and second baseman Carolyn Knott provided the spark. The Dodos rallied in the last inning, but the Nurses held on for the victory.

The Prestonsburg All-Stars, composed of four members of each league team, will meet the Southern Belles at Paintsville, Aug. 7. The four representatives of each team were chosen by their team members. Those selected for the A-Star team were: Janet Blackburn, Susie Burke, Violet Caudill, Debbie Chaffins, Earnestine Collins, Sally Goble, Sheila Goble, Ramona Hall, Lida Howard, Judy Howell, Sandy Prater, Sally Reynolds, Barbara Shepherd, Eunice Shepherd, Junella Steffey and Judy Taylor.

In figuring batting averages in the women's league, any time a batter reaches base safely on a batted ball, a hit is given. This explains the high batting marks. Leading the league is Ann Cummings with a .750 average. Following her are Susie Burke .733, Sandy Prater .714, Janet Blackburn .700, Judy Howell .700, Barbara Shepherd .666, Sheila Goble .666, Judy Taylor .615, Emma Derossett .500, Sally Reynolds .500.

Sports Afield

By TED KESTING

If August fishing were as hot as the weather, wouldn't that be something? Well, it can be, but usually isn't—except for a dedicated breed looked upon by their neighbors as nocturnal nuts.

Cattfish, of course, are the most commonly night-caught species. But many of the big bass, brown trout, walleyes, snook, tarpon and scattered other species are also taken at night. This should come as no surprise to veteran anglers, since these fishes are known night feeders. However, you might be surprised how many catches of bragging-size bluegills are also taken when darkness prevails.

So if your dog-days fishing is less than satisfactory, you might try dabbling in the dark just for the heck of it. Such middle-of-the-night enterprise is common to coon and fox hunters, but not to average fishing households, so be as sneaky as you can about it. And at that, be prepared for some lip from your wife, stares from your neighbors and quips from your kids. However, when you come home with a couple of monsters, it's amazing how quickly derision can turn to praise.

Since they are the target of most anglers in these United States, let's talk about night fishing for bass.

Experience indicates that big bass come most often at night to lures of two types: (1) noisy ones on the surface and (2) quiet ones on the bottom.

For best odds, don't waste your time surface fishing on breezy nights. The surface should be as calm as your preacher when he explains the reasons for the increase in next year's church budget.

You can virtually eliminate missed strikes if you'll retrieve your lure—whether it's of the popper, the spinner, the splutter or the bloomer type—in a definite rhythm. According to Homer Circle, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, there's a good reason: A bass has a sense of timing and will consistently strike the center of the turbulence. If you use an erratic retrieve, with no pattern, bass often hit where the lure was before you moved it.

Quiet lures for bottom scratching fall into the category of work-em-yourself types. This applies to jigs, jig-worm and jig-eel combinations and plastic worms hooked in any of the almost limitless ways. Whatever your rig, a weedless hook is desirable to reduce snagging to tolerable levels.

For fishing these quiet lures the watchword is s-l-o-w-l-y—crawling them over shore and bottom cover and keeping your rod tip always in a striking position, which means below waist level. One school of angling thought lets bass chew on worms and eels. A fisherman of the other breed prefers hooks in both the head and tail ends, and he busts 'em the instant he feels life at the end of his line.

And hopefully nearing a successful conclusion is the drive for signatures of prospective customers that are needed to justify EDA financing of the big water project planned for the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District in the Beaver Creeks.

Jack Branham, of the Sandy Valley Water Commission, said this week that the work of laying mains, making river crossings and site preparation for reservoirs is 90 percent complete. The River City Construction Co., Portsmouth, Ohio, began work there last November and has 12 months in which to complete the project. Nine of 10 river crossings involved in the contract have already been made. The system will extend from the Pikeville city limits to Stanville in this county, and 800 customers have already signed to tap onto the service.

The work begun here last week by Y. & S. Construction Co., Williamsburg, Ky., involves the extension of the Prestonsburg system north to the state-owned lot, near Auxier, and south toward Allen to the United Fuel pipeyard on US 23; improvement of lines in Prestonsburg, West Prestonsburg and Cliff, plus several river crossings to provide service in the section below Cliff that is skirted by the railroad. The R. D. Cole Manufacturing Co. has the contract for construction of a 300,000-gallon reservoir on the hillside overlooking the Presbyterian Church.

IN HOSPITAL Mrs. Woodrow Salyers was admitted to the Prestonsburg General hospital Monday for observation and treatment.

MUSICALS IN REPERTORY SET FOR AMPHITHEATRE

A unique experiment in outdoor musical theatre in this area will begin when the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre presents a series of three outstanding musicals in repertory. The musicals—THE FANTASTICKS, THE BOY FRIEND, and HIGH BUTTON SHOES—will alternate Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights through Aug. 31 at the Amphitheatre in Jenny Wiley State Park.

Although the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre has been in existence for several years, this is the first time the theatre has operated with a core of professional artists-in-residence. The theatre is unique in being one of the few summer theatres in the country to present musicals in repertory.

The musicals, all of them directed by Sam Bittman, a native New Yorker and an off-Broadway playwright, represents 30 years of musical theatre in this country.

HIGH BUTTON SHOES, which will be presented on Thursdays, opened on Broadway in the late 1940's. The musical, set in the Model T era, won the hearts of the New York critics with its entertaining plot and tuneful Jules Styne score.

THE BOY FRIEND, which plays the Amphitheatre on Fridays, came to New York from England in the mid-1950's, bringing with it an unknown star named Julie Andrews. Since that time Julie Andrews and THE BOY FRIEND have become famous. THE BOY FRIEND is a delightful musical spoof on the musicals of the 1920's when the world roared and the musical stage roared with it.

THE FANTASTICKS, scheduled for Saturday nights, opened in New York in 1960 and holds the record as New York's longest running musical hit. The cast for THE FANTASTICKS is small and the production intimate. The story is a simple one of two youngsters who fall in love with love, with adventure, and, after learning the terrors of the world, with each other.

Principle actors with the company are Eileen Barnett Bittman, Mitch Douglas, Tim Steffa, Gary Hellsburg, Jo Zingg and Jan Lipuma. Choreography is by Rhonda Neswitz with assistance by Elaine Eckstein of the Cincinnati Civic Ballet. Musical director is Paul Cox. Sets and costumes are by John Kasarda and Kristin Ohberg.

All performances are at 8:30 p.m.

"The American people are sick and tired of the government running everything back home. They are sick and tired of sending foreign aid to countries that won't help us in Vietnam, and they are sick and tired of people chanting in the street for a victory for the Communists over the American servicemen."

Wallace states: "Only in those nations that guarantee the ownership of property as basic and sacred under their law are there any human rights, and one of the greatest human rights is the right to own something; your home, an automobile or a business, and call it your very own."

George Wallace is the son of a dirt farmer and he did a lot of plowing behind a mule when he was a youth, before he went to college and went on to become a legislator, a circuit judge and governor.

Having been a farmer himself, Governor Wallace has always been a friend of the farmer. He has understood their problems and he has endeavored to help solve them.

"To permit our senior citizens to live under conditions that provide less than the bare necessities of food, clothing, shelter and medical care is unthinkable and appalling. My concern in this field is not a position assumed for political gain. I have a long and consistent legislative record in support of measures benefitting the aged. I feel it is a man's duty to help the old."

Alabama became the first state in the nation to increase appropriations to education by as much as 100 percent during one administration. When Gov. Wallace became governor, Alabama's school appropriation was $139 million. When he left office in 1967, four years later, Alabama's appropriation to education was $283,370,000.

Stand Up For America

"I do ask that you not be misled—that you forthrightly determine the truth—that you not be emotionalized into relinquishing a free democratic God-fearing system."

"I ask that you Stand Up for America."

—George C. Wallace, Governor,
State of Alabama, 1963-1967.

One writer described him as "The undisputed leader in the fight for personal and property rights, and against excessive taxation and the takeover of personal rights by the Great Society."

Gov. Wallace believes that persons who raise money and blood and clothes for the Viet Cong and who advocate victory for the Viet Cong are guilty of 'pure treason' and should be indicted and jailed as traitors.

Another writer said Gov. Wallace "is a down-to-earth man who likes turnip greens, blackeyed peas, grits and cornbread. He's a little backward about eating in high falutin' places and had rather get a hamburger or hamburger steak with plenty of catsup in a regular cafe."

"We've got to elect a President who loves the United States and cherishes its greatness. Of all potential candidates, there is only one who offers us something different from what we have been having. This man is George Wallace, of Alabama. And true Democrats and Republicans—real Americans—should rise en masse to carry his torch of liberty to election as leader of our country in 1968," The Russell Springs, Kentucky, Times-Journal.

"The working people of this state, the coal miners, the steel workers, the communications workers and other industrial groups have helped me more in my movement outside this state than any group I can think of," Governor Wallace commented.

4-H'ERS TO TAKE PART IN STATE FAIR EVENTS

Lexington, Ky.—Some 6,000 4-H Club members—more than ever before—will be taking part in Kentucky State Fair events, Aug. 14-23. Fred Brockman, state 4-H program specialist with the UK Cooperative Extension Service, announced this week.

This year, for the first time, 4-H members will compete in clothing and foods judging events at the Fair. All those taking part in these two new activities at the Fair have qualified by attending special judging workshops at different locations in the state.

In addition, junior members (under 14 years of age) will compete in special junior divisions in 4-H demonstrations, public speaking, and judging events. These junior divisions, added for the first time last year, give younger members a chance to compete against their own age group.

State "finals" in most 4-H activities are held at the Fair each year, with state champions in these activities selected from among top senior winners in each Extension area, Brockman points out. These include the Kentucky 4-H Fashion Revue, the state 4-H Tractor Operators Contest, the state 4-H Automotive Roundup, 4-H demonstrations and public speaking, and 4-H judging of meat animals, dairy animals, poultry, tobacco, land, clothing and foods.

Most of the 4-H events will be open to the public. These contests will show Fair-goers the wide variety of activities available to 4-H members and the accomplishments of the 4-H'ers taking part in these activities.

"The 4-H events at the Fair also illustrate two of the major differences between the modern 4-H program and the traditional idea of 4-H," Brockman points out.

MANY PARK SYSTEM CHANGES MADE

It's not only park managers and personnel beneath them that have been shuffled or discarded since the Nunn administration took over, last December. The change in the state parks system started at the top and worked its way down — way down.

State parks provide the administration in power with up to 2,200 jobs, most of them patronage appointments. One of the first tasks of Robert E. Gable, the new state parks commissioner, has been to replace Democrats appointed by previous governors with the appointee of Gov. Louie B. Nunn. The 34-year-old coal and lumber company executive, a Republican and early Nunn supporter, replaced Robert D. Bell, 42, an appointee of Gov. Edward T. Breathitt.

Gable, of Stearns, Ky., is vice-president of Stearns Coal and Lumber Co., a diversified family-owned firm that owns 145,000 acres of Kentucky and Tennessee timber and mineral land and 45,000 acres in Michigan.

He is also engaged in other business activities, including interests in a railroad, bank, automobile dealership and a natural gas distribution system.

Gable has installed new managers in all but one of the state's major parks, with Pine Mountain State Park the lone exception. These jobs, long an instrument of political patronage, pay $6,276 to $8,664 a year.

About one-third of some 900 other employees, including some seasonal workers, who were on the Parks Department payroll when Republicans took over, have been replaced.

Key personnel changes in the administrative office in Frankfort include the appointments of:

Robert Penrod, owner of a Louisville construction firm, as director of construction and maintenance. Gable consolidated the division of maintenance with the division of construction. Penrod replaces Terry L. Britt, who headed the construction division, and William G. Montgomery, who was maintenance director.

Clyde Reed, Jr., Frankfort, as personnel officer, replacing James Hilton, Frankfort. Reed was a production control assistant manager for a Frankfort manufacturing firm. Hilton worked for Gov. Edward T. Breathitt as an administrative assistant before joining the Parks Department.

Jack Perkins, Frankfort, as deputy commissioner for operations, replacing Edward V. Fox. Perkins, was a partner in a Frankfort drugstore. Fox, an appointee of former Gov. Bert Combs and a former commissioner of parks, became an administrative assistant to Gable.

Louis Hempel, Georgetown, an employee of the department since 1953, as director of field operations, replacing Charles R. Spears. Spears joined the parks system in 1961 as a recreation specialist and was named director of operations in 1964 under a reorganization of the department ordered by Breathitt.

Virgil Rogers, Frankfort, to replace Chance Benassi, Jr., as food officer. Rogers is the owner of a Frankfort vending machine and food service firm. Benassi, a former restaurant operator, had been with the department since 1961.

Lou Delle McIntosh, a native of Mayfield, to replace Mrs. Mary Lusse Nicol, Frankfort, as director of museums, shrines and interpretative services. Mrs. McIntosh was a sales representative for a public relations firm. Mrs. Nicol directed this area of activity within the department for 21 years.

Two other Democratic appointees who have lost their Parks Department jobs in Frankfort were Tom Nelson, a deputy commissioner, and William B. Carleton, a high-level administrative aide.

Besides the merger of the maintenance and construction divisions, the only other major change instituted by Gable has been the launching of an effort to exercise closer control over the department's storekeeping activities.

The divisional merger, Gable says, is expected to save the state approximately $95,000 in salaries and travel expenses. The merger was made, he says, to eliminate work duplication from having employees from the former two divisions in the field at the same time.

The effort to improve storekeeping activities resulted from, among other things, the discovery of one million printed placemats in a cupboard at Kentucky Dam Village, Gable says.

"That's probably a five- or six-year supply for that park, which is a little excessive," he says. "If we have better central office control over these things when they are first brought in, we would probably spread them around somewhat better. You don't need to order $20,000 worth of something if $4,000 is all you need."

Dr. Campbell Head Of Floyd Campaign For Arthritis Funds

The appointment of Dr. Henry A. Campbell, director of Prestonsburg Community College, as Floyd county chairman for the Arthritis Foundation was announced this week by Mrs. Edward T. Breathitt, state campaign chairman of the Kentucky Chapter.

Dr. Campbell will head a group of volunteers joining in the drive to raise funds throughout the state during the month of September.

The campaign is being sponsored by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club.

These funds will be used for additional clinics, treatment centers and research for the more than 218,000 Kentuckians suffering from this dread crippling. The need for this extensive program to combat arthritis in Kentucky is urgent, and Dr. Campbell expressed the hope that all citizens of Floyd county will respond to this important and needed health program — either as a volunteer or contributor.

To the Editor

FOUND NO WASHROOM
EDITOR, The Times:

I was home two weeks ago to visit my sister's family at Price and Bevinville. Everyone kept asking me to go on a picnic at Jenny Wiley State Park. So we packed up a lot of goodies and away we went. It's very beautiful there and I was having a wonderful time. It came time for me to go visit the washroom, and I was shocked to find a outhouse instead of a washroom. All that beautiful water around and no washroom! Now really isn't that a little backward? If you want more people from out-of-town to visit the park, put in some decent washrooms. Those were filthy. And how about some bath-houses along the way?

FIRE BLIGHT ON APPLES AND PEARS

Fire blight is one of the most serious diseases of apple and pear trees, and attacks as many as 75 other plants. A number of ornamental plants can be attacked, including flowering crabapple, pyracantha, spirea, hawthorn and cotoneaster.

Common symptoms are a blighting of the blossoms, twigs, and fruit. Infected blossoms and twigs suddenly wilt, and some turn a light to dark brown. The brown leaves and fruit will remain on the trees until late winter.

Fire blight is caused by a bacteria. The bacteria winter over in infected limbs and twigs and start to multiply as spring approaches. By the time trees are in the late-pink to early-bloom stage, the bacteria start to ooze to the surface and are spread by rains, wind and insects.

Some varieties of apples and pears are more susceptible to fire blight than others. Jonathan, Rome Beauty, Wealthy, Willow Twig, Transparent and Lodi are very susceptible. During warm, rainy weather, Golden Delicious, Red Delicious and Stayman Winesap have developed twig infections. Bartlett, a high-quality pear, cannot be successfully grown in many areas because of this disease.

Fire blight is very difficult to control, but it can be reduced with chemical spraying and sanitation.

The most effective material for spraying is streptomycin. The first spray, at 50 parts per million, should be just before the blossoms open. The sprays should be repeated at four-day intervals for adequate control over any extended period. Bearing trees should not be sprayed after the fruit has formed; non-bearing trees may be sprayed as often as considered necessary with 100 parts per million streptomycin.

Good orchard sanitation is advisable. When infection first appears in the spring, prune out blighted branches. Be sure to cut six inches below the last point of visible infection. After each branch is pruned, sterilize the knife in a five percent solution of chlorox or alcohol. For additional information on fruit tree spraying, contact your Floyd County Extension office for bulletin on fruit tree spraying.

DISEASE PROBLEM IN GARDENS

A number of diseases seem to be causing more than the normal amount of problems in home gardens. The weather conditions have been favorable for the growth of many disease organisms this spring.

It is extremely important that gardeners do a good job of spraying or dusting for the control of both diseases and insects.

Diseases are a concern when tomatoes, potatoes, cucumbers, melons, beans and sweet corn are grown. For tomatoes and potatoes, use either zineb or maneb, 50 percent wettable powder, at two tablespoons per gallon of water. Treat foliage thoroughly every seven days or oftener in rainy weather, and every 10 to 14 days in drier weather.

Control of bacterial wilts of cucumbers, melons and sweet corn is largely dependent on the control of flea beetles and cucumber beetles, which carry the disease from plant to plant. Use sevin or lindane on cucumbers and melons. Special dust containing on percent lindane for insects and seven percent maneb for diseases is good after vines begin to flower. For corn, use DDT to control the flea beetles, and select sweet corn varieties resistant to bacterial wilt when possible.

The DDT will also control the corn earworm if started when silks first appear and used every other day until silks wilt and turn brown. Spray or dust directly on the silks.

Beans are often infected by Rhizoctonia root and stem rot. First symptoms are wrinkling of the leaves and stunted growth. Later, roots or the stem may turn dark and rot. At this stage, the bean plant wilts and dies. The only control is to rotate beans—do not plant them in the same area of the garden more often than every third year. THE GOATSUCKERS

The three famous members of the Goatsucker family are the whippoorwill, the chuckwill and the nighthawk, which has other common names: nightjar, mosquito hawk, "bull bat," and "long-winged goatsucker."

Of the three, the whippoorwill is the most sidely known from its song, said to be the most unique of all bird songs. It is not very well known from sight, as thousands of people may hear it while only a few will be privileged to see it.

These three birds have very large mouths, which are opened wide to scoop up insects out of the air. All three are highly useful as predators of obnoxious insects, such as flies, gnats, mosquitoes, beetles, bugs—almost any flying insect is a prime target for them; so they deserve our best protection.

The scientific name of the goatsuckers is taken from their big mouth, meaning literally, "cave mouth," and the whippoorwill's name of vociferous means "strong voice." The voice of the whippoorwill carries far over the silent night woods and echoes for nearly a mile along shadowed mountains.

One reason the song of this bird is so widely known, it has a habit of swooping down at dusk to the farmyard or the garden to put on its nightly show, which is equal to that of a prima donna, as the bird often circles, dances and bows while singing.

A fleeting glimpse of the chuckwill and the whippoorwill is often caught at night in the glare of a car's headlights; their eyes shine in the glare like the eyes of a cat. The eyes of the whippoorwill gleam in the glare like two red coals.

The whippoorwill is also the most persistent singer of the three; it has been known to repeat its song over 1,500 times at a single performance.

The chuckwill is the "whippoorwill of the south." It is also called, "the big bat," and "chuck-will's widow," from its supposed repetition of the call. The poets say the bird is calling for "the wife of poor Willie."

The chuckwill is more than 12 inches long and its twice the bulk of the common whippoorwill. Its big mouth is more than two inches wide and it has been known to swallow sparrows, hummingbirds and other small birds.

There is a great difference of opinion among writers and observers, too, as to what the chuckwill's song really says. The song, or call, is often heard about dusk in the southern states. It rings out loud and echoes for almost a mile over the still countryside. Most book writers and naturalists interpret the song as saying, "Chuckwill's Widow," with accent on wid.

But, there are many people in the south, as well as some writers, who declare the bird's call repeats over and over this phrase: "Chip fell outa white oak!" These claim the bird's call invariably ends with the words, "white oak." So the argument goes on. Some even claim the bird says, "Twixt hell and white oak!" But the majority of observers are agreed on the bird's call as saying, "Chuckwill's widow."

The chuckwill is never found in the mountains of West Virginia or Kentucky, and in this it differs markedly from the whippoorwill, which seems to prefer rugged, hilly country for its range.

The chuckwill ranges in southern Virginia, southern Illinois, in the coastal plains, and in most of the southern states east of the Mississippi.

The nightjar, or nightjar, also differs radically from both of the others in its choice of ranging grounds. It is never found in deep woods, but prefers open country, towns, cities, villages, and often builds its nest on gravel roofs of houses down in the Bluegrass region.

If it cannot find gravel roofs for nesting places, it will seek out a gravelly spot in some open place on the ground.

The nighthawk is no relation to a true hawk, as it has no talons and no beak for tearing flesh. It is purely an insect eater and takes all its food while flying. The only characteristic it might have in common with a true hawk is its fondness for making a high dive from the sky. It will plummet to the earth with fantastic speed, and as it nears the ground it shoots up, making a loud booming, which seems to jar the very earth, and it is often called, "the night jar."

The Volkswagen for people who refuse to drive Volkswagens.

If you refuse to drive a Volkswagen because it's ugly, we can't help you.

If you refuse to drive a Volkswagen because you have eight kids and it isn't big enough, you have our sympathy.

If you refuse to drive a Volkswagen because it isn't fancy enough, that's for you to decide.

But if you refuse to drive a Volkswagen because you're used to an automatic transmission, listen carefully.

Now you can drive a Volkswagen all over town without shifting.

We call this new option the automatic stick shift.

And in true Volkswagen fashion, a bug with an automatic stick shift will deliver up to 25 miles on a gallon of gas, use very little oil, and nary a drop of water or antifreeze.

But just because we've made it easy to drive, doesn't mean we're about to make it any prettier, or any bigger, or any fancier. So we imagine some people will still refuse to drive Volkswagens.

You can't win them all.

Master Plumbers Ass'n Organized at Meeting Here Last Thursday

The Big Sandy Master Plumbers Association was organized at a meeting held last Thursday evening at the Health Department building here.

Temporary officers elected were J. Ernest Compton, Prestonsburg, chairman, and Howard Hughes, Paintsville, secretary. Permanent officers may be elected at the Aug. 15 meeting at Pikeville.

Organization of the craft was spurred by the new plumbing code which requires that only master plumbers may do work acceptable under its provisions. The association plans to serve members as a materials source and also to be affiliated later with the National Association of Master Plumbers.
