

Akers' Bid Lowest On PCC Buildings

Bid Review To Precede Pact Award

$1,388,276 Bid Over
Original Estimate
But No Delay Seen

Akers & Akers, Dana contractors, are expected to receive the contract on construction of two additional buildings on the Prestonsburg Community College campus and the renovation of the existing structure there.

The Floyd county firm's bid of $1,388,276 was lowest of four offered, it was announced by the office of Gov. Nunn. Boggs Construction Co., Barbourville, was next low with a bid of $1,424,900.

Although the low bid submitted was approximately $200,000 above architects' estimate of the construction cost, this estimate was made 18 months ago, it was pointed out by George Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect. For this reason the above-estimate cost is not expected to delay awarding of the contract. A review of the bidding will be done by state and federal agencies, and the formal contract award is expected in about six weeks. (See Story No. 2, Page 3)

2 IN KNOTT CAR VICTIMS

Two Policemen Hurt
In Wreck Here; One
Killed in Martin-Co.

Floyd county did not contribute to the record-breaking highway Labor Day death toll but two auto deaths were recorded in neighboring Knott county, and Martin county reported one fatality.

Killed in a two-car collision within the city limits of Hindman Sunday afternoon were two Larkslane cousins, Mark Combs, 21, and Thomas Ray Combs, 15. Webster Johnson, 59, of Louisa, Rt. 1, was fatally hurt late Sunday night when struck by an auto as he walked on KY 3, near Inez.

Two Prestonsburg policemen were injured when their cruiser was struck Saturday night at a curve at nearby Lancer by an auto driven by Billy Gobie, 21, of Lancer. Assistant Chief of Police Ray Click suffered severe head and facial cuts and chest injuries. Policeman Kelly Frasure, driver of the cruiser, was bruised about the body.

Gobie, whose car was reduced to wreckage, was taken to a Lexington hospital, suffering from a broken or dislocated hip. Police said his car skidded in the path of the cruiser.

Mark Combs, driver of the auto in which he and his cousin were victims, died almost instantly of a broken neck. The boy died at Hazard Appalachian hospital, a few minutes after arrival.

A Mr. Jackson, of Maryland, with whose car the Combs auto collided, was taken to the UK Medical Center, Lexington. His condition is described as serious. The tragedy occurred on KY 160 (the Hindman-Cody road), opposite Hindman high school.

Mark Combs was a son of Sheldon and Ora Combs, of Larkslane. Among his survivors are his parents and two sisters, Mrs. Sam Terry, of Lancer, and Mrs. Tommy Campbell, of Larkslane. Thomas Ray Combs was a son of Mrs. Miles Belcher, of Larkslane. His survivors include his mother, two brothers, David and Ronald, and a sister, Mabra. (See Story No. 7, Page 3)

Registration Deadline To Vote In Nov. Election Is Saturday, Sept. 7

Saturday, Sept. 7, is the last day to register to vote in this year's national election of a President and a Vice-President, and the Kentucky election of a United States Senator and seven U. S. Representatives.

This deadline applies only to unregistered eligible persons because once a person is registered to vote in Kentucky, he does not have to re-register unless he moves to another precinct, changes his name by marriage or other legal process, or is removed from the registration books for failure to vote for two consecutive years.

To be eligible to vote, a citizen must be 18 years of age by Nov. 5, election day, and must have lived in the state one year, the county six months, and the precinct 60 days. Prospective voters may register at any time except for periods of 59 days before and five days after a general election. (See Story No. 8, Page 3)

UMW To Resume Annual Labor Day Rally Next Year

Missing from the area's Labor Day entertainment bill-of-fare this year was the annual United Mine Worker's rally, but the omission was merely a recess and the celebration will be resumed next year, Noble Hobbs, of the Pikeville UMW office, said.

It was the third time in 22 years that the union has not held a Labor Day celebration in District 30. Mr. Hobbs said the rally was not held this year because of a conflict with

Varied Program Marks Annual Floyd Fish Fry

Although morning rain and threatening weather during the day resulted in some reduction in the size of the crowd attending it, the Floyd County Fish & Game Club's annual fish fry Sunday held all its oldtime interest through a varied program which was climaxed by a groundbreaking ceremony at the site of the proposed clubhouse to be erected by the club on its Johns Branch property, near Maytown.

Taking part in the groundbreaking were Congressman Carl D. Perkins, Circuit Clerk Frank DeRossett, County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley and Dr. C. L. Allen.

Contest winners were: Junior spincast — Darrell Prater, Hueysville; Thomas Martin, Eastern, runnerup. Women's spincast — Harriet Allen, Langley; Donna Refett, Langley, runnerup.

The 1968 fish fry date will be the usual Sunday before Labor Day.

AWARD WON BY GAS CO.

Safety Record Places
Firm 3rd in National Gas Division Contest

A representative of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company will receive on behalf of his company this week a trophy as its reward for having won third place in the National Safety Council's fleet contest, natural gas company division.

The award will be made at the 20th annual convention in Jackson, Miss., of the American Gas Association.

Kentucky West Virginia, it was said at the company's office here, competed with 19 other gas companies for national safety honors. Its third-place standing was achieved on the basis of a superior safety record which held its accident frequency rate to 4.16 per million miles of travel by the 80 vehicles used in its operation.

In recent years Kentucky West Virginia has received several awards for safe driving experience.

ASCS VOTING RULES TOLD

Deadline for Ballots
To Name Committeemen
Set for September 17

Floyd County farmers were reminded this week that Tuesday, September 17, is the last date for turning in a ballot in the election of ASCS County Committee.

Harry T. Hill, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explained that ballots are being mailed to eligible voters today (Thursday). These ballots must be returned to the County ASCS Office—by mail or in person—not later than September 17.

Qualified voters in the election are all farmers who are eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which the committee administers. Lists of eligible voters in each community are available for public inspection in the ASCS County Office.

Any farmer who believes that he is eligible to vote but who does not receive a ballot is urged to contact the county ASCS Office immediately. Eligibility to vote is not restricted by reason of sex, race, color, religion, or national origin.

Ballots will be counted in the Floyd County ASCS Office here on Monday, September 23, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

For each community where an election is being held, three regular committee members and two alternates will be elected. The chairman, vice-chairman, and third regular member of the elected community ASC committee will serve as delegates to the county ASC convention, where farmers will be elected to fill vacancies on the county ASC committee and where the committee's chairman and vice-chairman will be chosen for the coming year. The county convention will be held at 10 a.m., Friday, September 27, 1968 at the county ASCS office here.

The panel of nominees for community committee for each of Floyd county's five communities follows:

RIGHT BEAVER CREEK—John R. Baldrige, Will Boggs, A. J. Conley, Wayne Cox, John Martin and Charles G. Patton.

LEFT BEAVER CREEK—Jake Bates, Ashland Compton, Rex Gayheart, Bobby Hall, Joe C. Moore and Amos Stumbo.

MUD CREEK—James H. Allen, Bill Hall, Charlie Hamilton, Estill Salisbury, Add Scott and Joe Sturgill.

MIDDLE CREEK—Henry M. Conley, Woodrow Fitzpatrick, Sage Frasure, Merle Horn, Billy Merritt and Joe Ed Stone.

COW CREEK—Graham Burchett, James Cecil, Jr., Togo Harris, Jack Mosley, T. F. Walters and Shelly Woods. If an eligible voter wishes to vote for some farmer who lives in this community and whose name is not on the ballot, the voter may write that individual's name on the ballot and vote for him.

Everyone is invited to have a meal of pancakes and sausage sometime during the day.

CLUB STARTS PARK WORK

New Building To House
Arts-Crafts Projects;
Finance Drive Planned

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club, in cooperation with the Prestonsburg Park Commission, has begun construction of a building at Archer Park which will be used for arts and crafts projects and, possibly, as a clubhouse.

The 24 by 29-foot structure will be built of concrete blocks, with the interior paneled. Its site is adjacent to the main recreation building at the park.

Cost of the undertaking has been estimated at $1,200. If funds beyond this amount become available, finishing of the exterior will be made later, it was said.

In the planning of the club and the parks commission is the possibility that classes in various arts and crafts may be held there as a part of the summer program at the park.

Partial financing of the project will be undertaken by the Woman's Club this month through a "Birthday Calendar" campaign.

Floyd Tax Appeal Set For Hearing, Sept. 23

Floyd county's appeal from the "blanket raise" placed on the real estate assessments by the Kentucky Department of Revenue will be heard Monday, Sept. 23, at 10 a.m. at the office of the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals, Frankfort, County Judge Henry Stumbo has been notified.

The fiscal court in its recent authorization of County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill to prosecute the appeal also directed that the case be taken to the Franklin circuit court if the appeal is denied.

Whether circuit court action will be taken, with the attendant delay in getting 1968 bills prepared and in the hands of the sheriff for collection, is being debated. Judge Stumbo said it will be the fiscal court's decision. He said he does not favor setting a tax rate now in order to get tax bills to taxpayers earlier, for the reason that a multiplicity of refunds might be necessary if the assessment figures are changed. At the same time he admitted the delay will work a hardship on Sheriff Joe W. Lewis who might lose by the main portion of the aggregate tax bill being collected next year and causing an excess salary situation.

The Revenue Department proposes an assessment increase of 20 percent on farm and residential rural non-farm property and 10 percent on all other real estate, excluding oil rights. Whatever the assessment increase, the county cannot under the law collect a total in excess of the taxes collected for the preceding year, but the state may collect more.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins notified The Times today (Thursday) that the Department of Labor has approved a $1,701,250 grant to begin a new program of training for 2,000 Kentucky public assistance mothers.

rendered to the school in maintenance, secretarial work and other specialized capacities. Grants and loans provided by the federal government and administered through the University of Kentucky or through local banks offer another form of aid. The last type of financial aid awarded to deserving students is the scholarship fund, made possible by private businesses and individuals.

Detailed information concerning all forms of aid may be obtained by contacting G. A. Cowan, business officer at Prestonsburg Community College.

Indictment Of Driver Expected

Judge Emphasizes Duty of Citizens
In Jury Service

The Floyd circuit court grand jury began investigating, early in its session here this week, the auto collision in which Mrs. Elder Wright and her two daughters were fatally injured near here, a few weeks ago, but an indictment in the case had not been made as of Wednesday morning.

Larry Howard, of Greenup, is under bonds totalling $45,000 to answer to action of the jury in the three deaths. He has admitted that he was the driver of the auto which collided with the Wright car on US 23, near The Plantation Motel, the night of June 27.

The Commonwealth will press for trial of Howard's case during the current court term; if he is indicted.

The grand jury also has summoned witnesses for a probe into the death of Luther Wright, 60, whose body was recovered from the Big Sandy River here, July 25. Testimony of two men who were reported to have been with Wright, shortly before his disappearance, is at variance, and polygraph tests are needed in the investigation, State Detective Chester D. Potter said.

Petit jury work this week is being confined to the hearing of civil cases. Criminal trials will start next Monday.

Orville Howard, of Wayland, is foreman of the grand jury. The court opening Tuesday was marked by a talk by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, preceding the empanelling of the juries, on the importance of jury service and the duty of citizens to respond to calls for such service.

"People squawk about law enforcement, then shirk their duty to do their part," he reminded the courtroom gathering. Judge Conley added that he doubted if

This Town ... That World

O, TEMPORA!

If you think times haven't changed, consider this:

On Labor (labor, to work) Day most of us take it easy, and on what we call the Sabbath (Heb. shabbath, to rest) all of us who aren't working are busily engaged in running (golfing, swimming, skiing, etcetera) ourselves to death.

I'M STILL THINKING IT OVER

I don't know if this fellow who approached me with the idea is the optimum optimist or if he was easing the needle into my off side. Anyway, he confided in the most conspiratorial manner:

"Tell you what—let's us go fishing at night. Then we can keep double limits—10 for each of us before midnight, and 10 after."

On further reflection I'm about to decide I should feel insulted.

OH! OH!

It's amazing, the pains most of us go to, just to be different. One of the worst offenders I've run across recently is The Publisher's Auxiliary, a trade paper published for newspaper people. The good, old Aux has gone batty on the matter of state abbreviations. For example:

Al, for Alabama, Tn, for Tennessee, Tx, for Texas, Ca, for California, Mi, for Michigan, Fl, for Florida, and so on.

These I could, after some years, be persuaded to accept, I suppose. But when the abbreviation for Ohio was changed from simple O, to Oh—that did it, I've had it, I shall never accept!

Housing at Martin Wins Federal Okeh

Bids on construction of the second of the town of Martin's housing projects are expected to be asked, around Dec. 1, Ray R. Allen, executive director of the Martin Municipal Housing Commission, said upon his return last week from Atlanta, Ga., where plans were approved by the Housing and Urban Development Administration.

The proposed housing complex is designed to be a five-story, 32-unit apartment structure. Its cost has been estimated at $663,000. This figure, which includes the site, is up from the original estimate of $517,987 made when the initial application for the improvement was filed.

The apartment building will low-income families and 20 for persons 65 years old and older. Eight units will be "efficiency" apartments. Units designed for the elderly will contain safety features. An elevator will be installed for use by tenants.

The building will be erected at the rear of the municipal parking area at Martin and will bring the total of Martin public housing units to 72. Pageant Hill, the original housing project there, was completed in 1966 at a cost of $540,000. Its 40 units were quickly filled, and there is a waiting list of 55 to 60 applicants, Allen said.

Black Cats Defeat Wheelwright, 33-6; Morgan County Next

Prestonsburg's Black Cats have one grid title in the bag, whatever may happen, remainder of the season. They defeated the Wheelwright high school Trojans Saturday night to become Floyd county champions.

The score was 33-6, and Coach McClellan, though refraining from expressing too much optimism, admitted that his boys pleasantly surprised him in several departments of play. He was particularly pleased by the play of his ends, a position where the team had been expected to be weak.

The Cats go to West Liberty Saturday night for their game with Morgan County.

Ward Takes Special In Labor Day Race

Bill Kimmel spun out after leading the pack during the first laps of the 75-lap special at the Beaver Valley Speedway on Labor Day. Buddy Ward came up fast to grab the lead and, driving with a broken hand, held off Bobby Watson driving Ranier Construction Company's no. 58.

Local cars did well as they captured four of the top five positions in the open-competition race. Greer and Allen's 98 and Winston Ford's 101 were the other high finishers in a field of 44 cars. The top 20 qualifiers started the feature with the others running a pursuit consolation won by Arnold "road-hoggin" Mosley. Fast qualifier was Paul Salyers, of Salyersville.

Ronnie Burchett drove car 47, owned by Wright's Service Station, of Drift, to its second straight win Saturday. Red Morris, hitching a ride the previous Saturday night, had also won in this '57 Chevy. Don Thornsby finished second, with Ferrell Harris third. Larry Spears of car 3 is the newest member of the Upside-Down Club, becoming eligible as he landed over the gauge rail between the third and fourth turns.

Darrell Whitaker ran in, out, high and low as he dodged the grudge matches around the track to win the Modified feature. Only he and Paul Salyers were still mobile in this "demolition" type race.

HAPPY FELLA

Sometimes television is worth it. I have just now heard Henry Morgan reverently speak of the art of a Dover, Ohio man who has for 70 years lovingly carved trains out of ivory, fashioning them with his blade in such minute detail that all the parts work and the bolts screw into place. This man, Morgan reported, was offered half a million dollars by Henry Ford for his trains.

But no deal. He doesn't carve for money. He is that happy mortal who gets his pay by getting to do the work that he loves!

This man is 81 now. His past is pretty well recorded there in his little museum filled with these expressions of his creative soul. His declining years can't worry him overmuch, they're so obviously few.

Here might be in a world well off its rocker an old guy who's dwelling smack in the eye of the storm.

THE QUESTION

Lenna Moore, who was nipped sometime back by my elderly dog on whose tail he had stepped, renewed acquaintance with the dog, the other afternoon, and declared that Dal likes him. He wasn't sure, though, whether the liking was based on friendship or taste.

there should be compensation for jury service, pointing out that this is a duty of citizens.

The lone murder case already set for trial is that in which Ballard Cable is accused of the slaying of Howard Tackett on Mud Creek.

One manslaughter case on the docket is that of Clyde Sword, Jr., who is accused in the auto death of Elsie Moore at Harold. Judge Conley said at the court-opening he expects the grand jury session to be brief because of the scarcity of cases to be investigated.

NOTICE AS TO THE FILING OF A SUPPLEMENTAL PETITION OF THE MUD CREEK WATER DISTRICT FOR APPROVAL AND RATIFICATION OF THE PREVIOUS CREATION OF SAID DISTRICT, OF THE CORRECTION OF THE BOUNDARIES THEREOF, AND OF ALL PROCEEDINGS HAD TO DATE IN CONNECTION WITH SAID DISTRICT.

The Mud Creek Water District has filed a Supplemental Petition in the Floyd County Court, requesting said Court to enter its Order affirming, ratifying and approving the previous creation of said District, and amending and approving the description of the boundaries of said District so as to exclude the Hi Hat section of the County which is a part of another water district and so as to more specifically define and describe the exact area currently embraced and intended to be embraced by the boundaries of said Mud Creek Water District.

Said Supplemental Petition refers to the original Petition filed in said Court on March 4, 1967, the order of said court creating the District on April 24, 1967, and the subsequent Orders of this Court appointing the members of the Board of Water Commissioners, fixing their terms of office and dealing with related matters. Said Supplemental Petition further requests the Court to approve all action heretofore taken by said Water District in applying for a loan and grant from the Economic Development Administration of the United States Government in order to enable said District to finance the cost of constructing a new waterworks system in the District.

Said Supplemental Petition provides the following description as being a more accurate and specific description of the area now intended to be included in the boundaries of said District, said area being located in Floyd county, Kentucky, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at the forks of Mud Creek, which is at the junction of Kentucky Highway 979 and Little Mud Road (which is Kentucky Highway No. 1426); thence going up Little Mud Creek to the head of said Creek, including all of the tributaries of said Creek to that point, as determined from a topographical map of the area; thence following Kentucky Highway No. 979 from the forks of Little Mud Creek to the mouth of Toler Creek; thence up Toler Creek to the Pike county line, including all of the tributaries of Toler Creek to that point; thence following Kentucky Highway No. 979 up Big Mud Creek to the top of the Ligon Hill, including all of the tributaries of Big Mud Creek adjacent to said Highway to that point.

Within thirty days after the first publication of this Notice on August 29, 1968, any resident of said area described above, may file with the County Court Clerk of Floyd county, Kentucky, at his office in the County Courthouse in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, objections to the action sought by said Mud Creek Water District and to the Orders requested by said District, and may object to the effectiveness of the prior Orders creating said District, appointing such Commissioners and covering related proceedings pertaining to said District as previously entered by this Court, or to the entry of a proposed Order affirming, ratifying and approving the previous creation of this District.

A Hearing shall be held on the matter on Sept. 30, 1968, at 10 a.m., E.D.S.T., in the Courtroom of the Floyd County Court, at the County Courthouse in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, at which time any resident of the area described above, or any other interested party, may appear and be heard on any prior objection filed by him concerning the matter or with respect to any other aspect of the matter.

Dated this 16 day of August, 1968. (Signed) C. OLLIE ROBINSON, Floyd County Clerk.

I Say What I Think

By S. C. VAN CURON

Frankfort, Ky.—Finance Commissioner Albert Christian is thoroughly convinced that several small savings here and there in his broad economy measures add up to a substantial figure in the state's multi-million dollar budget.

The Finance Department has been taking a look at out-of-state travel, use of state cars, gasoline credit cards, supply purchasing, purchase of office machines and equipment.

Christian gets the idea that a laxness has developed over the years about travel and other costs while inertia may account for some unneeded expenditures for equipment and furniture.

Finance is also keeping a close watch, as it always has done, on investment of surplus state funds . . . mostly bond money that isn't needed until some future date. These funds are invested in short-term certificates of deposit and are generally earning higher interest rates than the state had to pay for the long-term money.

Christian has instituted a rule that departments must have out-of-state travel requests in to Finance at least one day before the travel is to begin. "It can't be an after-the-fact request," Christian said, if the department expects to get it approved.

This has a tendency to make departments much more careful in making their requests. "It's causing them to look close at their travel," he said, and sometimes he sends the request back to the department with that World War II slogan, "Is this trip necessary?"

One example recently was a college sent in a travel request for a professor and two assistants to travel to Michigan to study the kennel habits of a Labrador retriever.

The answer that went back from the Finance Department was that it would be cheaper to buy a Labrador retriever and study his kennel habits at home.

The rule on state cars is that they must not be used for personal travel. Most cars must be parked on state lots over night. Gov. Louie B. Nunn, as one of his first official acts, ordered the state seal be put on each side of all state cars and that each car bear the state's yellow license plate.

"We're checking on state cars," Christian said. Notices have been sent out in several instances that cars have been seen "in places that didn't appear to be official business." That is having a good effect, Christian says.

As to gasoline credit cards, the card goes with the car . . . not blanket issue to departments. When an employee picks up a state car for official business, he gets the car's credit card. Notices have been sent to oil companies and service stations not to make sales on any other automobile than the one the card is issued for.

"Gasoline bills are way down to what they were a year ago," Christian said.

One of the problems Finance has is on travel expenses for state employees. The "food and lodging" allowances are unrealistic. The allowance is $9 a day for lodging and $5 a day for food. "We're working on schedules that are outdated," he said. "No honest employee can break even on an expense account."

Regarding furniture, Christian said this is where "our great saving is being made." Furniture is being pulled out of surpluses in the consolidated state service supply building in Frankfort. This is where inertia comes into play, Christian believes. "It's easier to order new furniture than to go around hunting it in storage." Instead of junking a lot of old office machines that are past using, the state is gathering them up to give to vocational schools to use as laboratory materials. There is a great need for office machine mechanics, Christian says. "If we could just get the schools to training people in this line, the old machines will serve a valuable purpose."

He also looks forward to some day in the future when the state may be able to have an auction sale of some office equipment and furniture that has no utility use for the state.

Another area where money is being saved, Christian claims, is in the broad field of personal service contracts by "taking a second hard look."

Has Paintsville a 'New Industry'?

The Lexington Herald-Leader recently pointed out that Paintsville has a new industry—state government. Livingston Taylor, a Leader staff writer, claimed, in a recent edition of that newspaper, that Paintsville has more top officials per capita in the new Republican administration than any other town in the state—ten, three commissioners and seven executive and administrative officials.

The commissioners were listed as Clyde Conley, state auditor; William Hazelrigg, commissioner of highways and W. Howes (Howsey) Meade, commissioner of personnel. (Conley is an elected official.)

Hazelrigg was Commonwealth Attorney of his district when appointed by Gov. Nunn

to the $20,000 a year highway post. Conley, Johnson circuit clerk from 1952 to 1958, was in the real estate business when elected auditor, an $18,000 a year post. Meade, Seventh District Congressman, 1947-48, and later a high official in the Federal Housing Administration under Eisenhower, had practiced law in Lexington and was twice defeated for statewide office. His post pays $18,000.

Others from Johnson county named to high government posts in Frankfort are—James C. (Slick) Melvin, who gets $15,288 a year as Hazelrigg's personnel officer. He was operator of a store and drive-in restaurant when Hazelrigg took him to Frankfort.

Mrs. Darlen Conley, wife of the state auditor, is his assistant at $9,384 a year. Joe E. Radcliff, former county judge whom Conley appointed his executive officer at $12,576 a year. Larry Vanhoose, 30, appointed by Gov. Nunn as his secretary at $13,200. He is a distant relative of Sen. Wendell Vanhoose.

Robert D. Preston, 44, a UK law graduate and holdover Democrat, was retained as insurance commissioner by Nunn. The post pays $16,000, and Breathitt named him to the post late in his administration.

Charles O. (Buzzy) Wheeler, Jr., 45, was named by Hazelrigg as highway district aide at Pikeville at $8,112. He was Johnson county court clerk from 1949 through 1965 when he was defeated.

Robert K. Montgomery, 58, appointed by Howsey Meade as personnel technician supervisor in the recruiting division at 10,344. A former teacher and coach, he has owned a Paintsville drug store for several years.

There has been talk that Johnson county fears from the Cook-Nunn primary, with Hazelrigg on one slate and Conley on the other, have not yet healed.

If there are any Cook people with jobs in this county, I haven't found them," said J. K. Wells. "If Nunn has appointed any Cook people, it's been in very minor jobs."

However, highway personnel man Melvin discounts such reports.

Ginseng, The King of Herbs

The old Appalachian root-diggers called the plant "sang," and often spoke tenderly of it as, "the purtiest plant that grows in the woods." Its form and arrangement of the leaflets were very beautiful. From a commercial standpoint, ginseng has been the most valuable plant of the region. For its great role in helping needy families, it deserves a plaque in its honor in every county seat of Appalachia.

The job of digging ginseng was called "sanging," and right after the crops were "laid by" every year, many families hit the woods to hunt for sang. What with the hard work of raising their crops, their supplies had become depleted. So new supplies of food and clothes had to be bought; the children had to get ready to go to school; they needed books, clothes, pencils, writing tablets, and the quickest and surest way to get these for the family was to go to the woods and dig ginseng. This plant has helped more families to keep the proverbial wolf from the door than any other plant; it has helped to send thousands of children to school. It has supplied shoes, combs, shawls, dresses and household necessities for the womenfolk for a hundred years or more.

But ginseng's reign as "the king of herbs" is about over. Herb dealers cry for the roots and offer fabulous prices but they have to go begging. Ginseng has become so scarce throughout most of its range that searching for its roots to sell has become wholly unprofitable. This plant has been sacrificed upon the altar of human need.

The old sang diggers knew ginseng better than the botanists. Their sharp eyes could spot a big "four-prong" at 20 yards! As I watched some of these old sang diggers find the plant, I used to think they could almost smell it out.

Botanists named the plant, PANAX QUINQUEFOLIUS, and for a good reason. The word, Panax, is from the Greek and means a cure-all, a panacea for all ills. And that's what the Chinese and Koreans evidently believe about sang; they pay high prices for its roots to make tea, which they think cures their diseases and promotes long life and sexual vigor. It is said there are wealthy Chinese who even worship the root of ginseng and often keep it in special, velvet-lined cases. The root is said to be a gift from one of their ancient gods.

The root of ginseng often has forks like human legs, also arms, a torso and a neck, which the sangers called the "quearl." When the root is washed clean it is as white as human flesh. The striking resemblance of the root to a human body gave rise to the ancient "doctrine of signatures," which taught that "any plan created by nature in the form of the body was designed to cure the ills of the body. Perhaps this ancient belief is accepted by the Chinese, and if so, it has always worked well for the natives of Appalachia, as the roots have always been in strong demand by herb dealers, who shipped them to Hong Kong, to supply the demand of the Chinese.

The root is aromatic and tastes somewhat like licorice. However, doctors say the medicinal properties of the root exist mostly in the minds of those who drink the tea. But I notice that some American manufacturers of medicines for the aged now use ginseng as a part of the prescription. Perhaps, after all, ginseng does possess some magic properties to rejuvenate the old.

The old sang-diggers named the plants according to the number of leaves or "prongs" each had. One with two leaves, or prongs, was called a "two-prong;" those with three, and so on. I've heard a few old sangers give a glowing account of having dug a "six-prong." The first year's plant is a "three-leaf" to the sangers, and they never dug its root, as it was too small to be of much value. The three-leaf usually produced a "two-prong" plant the second year.

Each prong or leaf of ginseng is compound and has five obovate, thin and sharply toothed leaflets. These are beautiful when green, but when they turn to a flaming golden yellow in the fall, they are truly gorgeous.

The blooms of ginseng are formed in the crotch of the "prongs," and usually appear in July, in the form of an umbrella containing from 10 to 20 small, greenish-white flowers. These produce a hard-seeded berry, which turns a bright red in the fall. The old sangers usually saved the berries to take home to plant. But ginseng is very hard to grow, as it requires plenty of shade and a loose, rich soil that is fairly moist. It will not thrive in open areas exposed to bare sunlight.

I can remember many years ago how the professional sangers rode horseback up and down the creeks and valleys of Appalachia, stopping at every house to inquire, "Got any sang to sell?" They bought up all they could get for the town markets and paid cash down for it.

Ginseng was once so abundant in all the rich coves and hillsides of Appalachia, the people thought it could never become almost wiped out. Hunting for it through the lush growth of weeds and plants was a risky adventure of the olden days. There were many timber rattlers and they were often coiled in the dense undergrowth.

The sanger carried a bag made of strong bed-ticking, and usually kept in it a bottle of turpentine or kerosene for emergency use in case of snakebite. Each one also had a small digger hoe fitted with a short handle and a long, keen blade, used for gently lifting the root out of the ground. It was too precious to risk damaging it. When a goodly supply of the roots were dug, they were washed, white as snow, then strung on black sewing thread to hang up and dry out for the market. The roots were always good for cash or trade at any of the local stores.

Although ginseng now commands up to $25 per pound, there is none to supply the demand. I hope those who like to go to the woods to hunt for the plant will give ginseng a long rest spell, and maybe it will spread once more all through the woods and become once again "the king of herbs."

Cyclist in Vietnam

Pleiku, Vietnam — Sp/4 Earl Little, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Little, Weeksbury, Ky., tries out the newest mode of transportation to arrive in Pleiku, Vietnam—a bicycle.

Provided to units through the Special Services section for the recreation of American soldiers, the new bikes proved to be a popular form of locomotion on the sometimes dusty roads of the Camp Schmidt compound near Pleiku.

Although seasonal monsoon rains may soon dampen the enthusiasm, Spec. Little and others in his unit plan to keep their new vehicles rolling for some time.

Spec. Little is assigned to the 45th General Support Group. He entered the Army in April, 1962, and was stationed in Germany before arriving in Vietnam. He was graduated in 1961 from Wheelwright high school.

Right or Wrong

By HENRY A. BUCHANAN and BOB W. BROWN

Well, it looks as if Eastern Kentucky may be depopulated soon after the November elections.

And New Zealand and Australia had better be prepared for the highest influx of Kentuckians in their entire "down under" history.

Why? Because a spokesman for the Combs clan says that if George Wallace isn't elected President twelve hundred members of the Combs family will pack up, kit and kaboodle, and leave.

"This country is no longer fit to live in," says the clan leader, Herman Combs, Jr., of Whitesburg.

It seems that leaders of the populous Combs family held a conclave and decided that Wallace is the only man for the job of President. They are counting on him to rid the country of "the Communist take-over."

Wallace is taking a hard line on lawlessness, rioting and Communism. He vows that if elected President, he will "clean up the mess in Washington."

The hitch is that a couple of other leading aspirants to that high office are making similar claims and promises.

The question is, Who among the Big Three is able to restore law and order in America's city streets? Who can restore the sagging economy and stop waste and pollution of our natural resources? Who can restore peace and American prestige abroad?

Will the George Wallace glory train spin its wheels in an agony of frustration, once it gets that Potomac mud on them? What's really worrying us, though, is what's going to become of Eastern Kentucky when all the Combs pull up stakes and leave. Who's going to mine all the coal in those hills? Who's going to operate the businesses and run the school systems? And who's going to take over and run this state again when Louie Nunn's term of office expires?

Don't leave yet, you-all! If George doesn't get elected this time, he will run again. He always has.

'Whatsoever Things'

By DONALD E. WILDMON

We know it has been asked a lot of times and there have been, undoubtedly, many answers to the question, "What difference does the Galilean make in a life?" We recently ran across this true story that took place in a town in the Middle West.

A Methodist church needed a janitor. The minister called his board together. He suggested that they employ a town loafer by the name of Anderson. There was silence for a short period, and then someone spoke: "Is that the best we can do? He has been a bum for years. No one in the city has any respect for him." So they decided to wait another week and try to find someone else. Finally, in desperation, they employed the town bum. As time passed he took pride in his work. He began to take pride in himself, also. He kept the church clean and himself clean. He became polite, agreeable, and anxious to please. Then one day he went over to the minister's home and asked if he could join the church. The minister was glad that he had made the decision.

After another year, he went again to the minister and asked permission to teach a class of boys. He was granted the wish and was still teaching the class when the minister left for another appointment.

It was several years before the preacher came back to the town. Some of the faithful church members met him at the train. One of them greeted the preacher and spoke to him. "I will drive you over to the home where you are to be a guest. Your host was tied up in a board of directors meeting at the bank and couldn't get away. You are to stay at the home of Mr. Anderson." The minister stopped and looked at the gentleman. He had a puzzled expression on his face. The gentleman explained what had happened. "Mr. Anderson is now one of the most popular and respected men in the city. He is president of the bank. A wealthy uncle discovered the transformation that had come over his nephew and left him a fortune in his will. He still teaches a class of boys in Sunday School, and he is also still the janitor for the church. Many times he has said that "God cleaned my life and my soul, and as long as I live I will personally see that His house is kept clean."

The story is true. A town bum who took a job as janitor when no one else could be found became one of the outstanding citizens of the city. That is what the Galilean did for him. He put purpose and meaning into an otherwise meaningless life. We think that this story is a living example of what the little Jew tent-maker meant when he wrote: "If any one is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold, the new has come."

Kentucky Riflemen Suffer First Defeat At Hands of Tennessee

Frankfort, Ky. — The results of the first Kentucky Longrifle match of 1968 are in, and for the first time in its five-year history, the Kentucky Longrifle Team suffered a defeat at the hands of another state.

Kentucky team captain, Col. James Van Divier, of Elizabethtown, reports that at a recent match near Franklin, Tenn.—in overall competition, Tennessee scored 2,136 points against Kentucky's 2,122, giving Tennessee a 14 point victory.

The same two teams will meet again Oct. 12 at the Daniel Boone Festival at Barbourville.

The Kentucky team was organized in 1963 to meet a challenge from a Pennsylvania team. Since that time, Kentucky has recorded four wins against Pennsylvania, one against Ohio, six wins over Tennessee and one loss to Tennessee.

The University of Kentucky Research Foundation was awarded over 13 million dollars during the fiscal year of 1967.

The Brown-Pusey Community House in Elizabethtown is a historic structure which was formerly a stagecoach inn. Lt. Col. Custer resided here from 1871-1873. The structure was built in 1818, and now serves as the community center and library.

Through the University of Kentucky Placement Service, all students and alumni have an opportunity to schedule on-campus interviews with representatives of business, industry, government, school systems, colleges and other professions.

Skilled Jobs Go Begging
In Kentucky Coal Mines

By KYLE VANCE
(In The Courier-Journal)

The coal mining industry in Kentucky will need up to 25,000 new workers in the next five years, promising a potential measure of prosperity for the coal fields.

But mine operators fear that fewer than half of the openings—all of these in the high-pay category—will ever be filled.

"Coal mines have openings up in the hundreds right now," Cloyd McDowell, head of the Harlan County Coal Operators Association, said. "The jobs are in the skilled and semi-skilled class, and men just can't be found who fit the requirements."

Robert Holcomb, president of the Pike County Independent Coal Operators Association, agrees. He said coal brought $75 million into Pike county last year, and "it could have been $100 million" except for the scarcity of labor.

This strange situation—a labor shortage inside a pocket of chronic unemployment—can be explained.

The prime factor is that the jobs require trained specialists. There is no demand for the old-style coal digger. He bowed out to automation.

While knowing the need for broad training program that would create a continuing flow of expert coal cutters, shuttle-car operators and mine repairmen, the industry is doing little to help itself.

It has no recruitment program and is doing nothing to sell young men on the idea that a mining career could be attractive. It finds few takers for college scholarships in mining engineering. And it stands by while big operators from other regions come in and "jobnap" badly needed specialists who learned their skills on the job.

Neither is it doing anything to head off job recruiters from the East and Midwest who are taking robust young men by the hundreds to other states.

The operators feel that to a large extent the blame belongs with the state's vocational education program.

"The vocational schools down here have turned out enough automobile mechanics to reach from Harlan to Detroit," Mc-Dowell said, "and they haven't given us a handful of men to use in the mines. They don't train men for local jobs. The mines can't use draftsmen or machineworkers."

Holcomb said the operators have tried hard to interest both the state and federal governments in creating schools which would turn out men skilled in mine work.

"We even offered them an old mine to train the men in, offered to equip it with mining machinery, and we gave them a large building suitable for classwork, but they wouldn't listen to us," Holcomb said. "If they ever do, the poverty label will come off of the coal country in a hurry."

McDowell said the state finally agreed to add a class in mine repairs in the Harlan vocational school.

"We have 15 carefully selected trainees," he said. "We were especially selective, because the first time we tried the class a year ago it drew mostly the professional trainees who wanted only the subsistence allowance and had no idea of working in the mines."

At present, the operators are hunting their own job prospects and training them inside the mines.

"This isn't the desirable way to do it," McDowell commented. "A mine with fewer than 100 workers can't do an effective job of training raw recruits. All they can do is send a man into the mines, find out what he can do, and put him to work, learning as he goes along. There is an element of danger, because the new man needs some orientation before he goes into the mine."

Holcomb suspects that the labor unions have helped block federal funds that would finance training programs. Most of the smaller mines, which have the greatest need for help, are non-union.

Dr. Carl F. Lamar, state director of vocational education, said there is no reluctance "on our part" to establish mine work classes in the vocational school. Mine mechanics are being trained at Harlan and Paintsville, he said, and a class for the Hazard school is being considered.

He agreed with McDowell's criticism having to do with training men for work outside the depressed area.

"We would like to head that off," Lamar said, "but we don't know how. The whole vocational

They don't make them like they used to.

They may still look like they used to, but that doesn't mean we still make them that way.

We used to have a tiny rear window. Now there's a big one.

We used to have a plain old rear seat. Now there's one that folds down.

Over the years, engine power has been increased by 76%.

A dual brake system has been added.

The heater is much improved.

Fact is, over the years, over 2,200 such improvements have been made. Yet, you have to be some sort of a car nut to tell a new one from an old one.

Which, of course, was the plan.

In 1949, when we decided not to out-date the bug, some of the big auto names making big, fancy changes were Kaiser, Hudson and Nash.

Not that we were right and they were wrong, but one thing's for sure: They don't make them like they used to either.

Kirk, 'Old Yaller Star,' A Willing Understudy For Jenny Wiley Group

"We have an actor hung up in Chicago and he might not make it in time. Could you go on?" "Yes, I will."

Sam Bittman, director of the Jenny Wiley State Park summer musical stock at the park amphitheatre, asked the question, and Tom Kirk, of California answered.

Reflecting on the incident later, Tom Kirk, who delighted film viewers a dozen years ago in "Ol' Yeller," commented, "It would have been great, just great, but the actor made it to the amphitheatre in time."

The 26-year-old Kirk, who ended a month's visit with his father, Louis Kirk, supervisor of maintenance at Jenny Wiley State Park, saw his latest film, "Track of Thunder," in Paintsville. Upon his return to Sun Valley, a suburb of San Fernando Valley, Calif., he will begin "It's Alive" for Buchanan Productions in Dallas.

Mother of the film star is Lucy Day Kirk, native of Morehead.

Future plans? He was so taken with Kentucky and Kentuckians he would like very much to get together a troupe for next summer's theater season in Kentucky.

"It will be something original and exciting and, of course, would depend on what theater is available or I might consider a traveling company going from one Kentucky location to another. I look forward to it. I have a high regard for the theater I've seen here the past month. The Jenny Wiley group is just great. . . . Book of Job is an exciting theatrical experience; King Lear in Louisville and theater in Lexington were just great!"

Letters To the Editor

LETTER TO EDITOR
EDITOR, The Times:
Seldom does one have the chance to see the unrivaled beauty found in the Maytown Flower Show, annually open each third Sunday in September, under sponsorship of the Maytown Woman's Club. Many have never seen the indescribable loveliness and variety of displays offered. Those who miss a year only cheat themselves, so circle Sept. 15 on your calendar and be there. Lunch in the cafeteria precedes the show at 1 p.m.

For years Shirley Stewart has been the major domo of the show, providing unsurpassed originality via her creative mind. Hats are off to her and her excellent co-workers for giving Maytown something few large cities offer. From humble beginnings the show has grown to a truly fabulous display that takes one's breath whether you view the whole or separate entries. New impetus was given the show years ago by Mrs. R. H. Messer, of Florida and Garrett, who is a licensed judge and recognized expert in flower arrangement. Mrs. Messer graciously taught some of the Maytown Club members a course in arrangement, and they in turn shared their knowledge and skill with other interested ones, bringing a professional touch to the arrangements. Though it is naturally fun to win, the real joy for flower-lovers lies in creating, arranging and studying the exhibits. Try your hand and join the contributors.

To paraphrase one visitor, "I would not miss it for anything in the world." Truly, it is that good, so come and take time to enjoy the arrangements. You will be glad you did. Even the children catch the contagious spirit of enthusiasm prevailing that week-end.

The Small Business Administration announced this week a change in schedule of its Pikeville IMPACT Office.

Beginning the week of Sept. 9, the office will be open on regular schedule of 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on the second and fourth Friday of each month.

In making this announcement R. B. Blankenship, SBA regional director, said that although the SBA representative will limit his time in the Pikeville office, this action will in no way limit the SBA services to the residents of this area as additional personnel will be available at any time when needed.

The IMPACT office is located in Room 301 Connolly Building, Pikeville, where those interested may contact the SBA representative in person or by calling 432-3519. At other times, they may contact the Pike County Chamber of Commerce, 107 Grace Avenue, Telephone 437-4776.

CARD OF THANKS
We would like to thank this means to thank all our friends who in any way helped upon the death of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Toria Hall; especially those who brought food and flowers, the ministers of the Regular Baptist Church and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its efficient service.

CRUSADE CONTRIBUTIONS
Contributions to past WHAS Crusades for Children have come to Memorial Auditorium on a burro, with a dog, and in a plastic goose, regular piggy banks, a bowling bag, peanut butter jars, ice cream containers and Army combat boots. However, the efforts of more than 100 volunteer fire departments make fireman's boots or buckets the "money bags" most people think of in connection with the Crusade.

COMPLETES TRAINING
Ft. Polk, La.—Pvt. Hershel Joseph, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Corbin Joseph, Prestonsburg, Ky., completed nine weeks of advanced infantry training Aug. 16 at Ft. Polk, La. His last week of training was spent in guerrilla warfare exercises.

Pvt. Joseph entered the Army in April, 1968, and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. He was graduated from Prestonsburg high school in 1966 and attended Prestonsburg entering the Army, he was employed as a disc jockey for Radio Station WPRT, Prestonsburg.

During the Sunday morning therapy demonstrations of this year's WHAS Crusade, the youngest-ever child, a year-old Cerebral Palsy victim, will demonstrate the help he's receiving, thanks to Crusade grants.
