Girl Scout Lodge, Camp Work Begun

Facility Use In Early '69 Is Expected

Lodge, Camping Area On Lake Will Serve 57-County Council

Under construction, on a headland overlooking Dewey Lake, near Dewey dam, is a two-story lodge designed by the Wilderness Road Council, Girl Scouts of America, to serve all 57 of its counties.

The lodge construction in its new location will replace the original camp in the Goble Branch vicinity of the lake which has been acquired by the state for development of a major public camping area.

Roy Curry, Girl Scout field representative, said the new camp and other camping facilities at the new site are expected to be ready for use next spring or in the early summer.

The construction work is being done by Tom O. McGuire, of Prestonsburg, on a cost basis. Mr. McGuire has estimated that cost of the project will range between $25,000 and $30,000.

The lodge is 40 by 60 feet. The basement, which will constitute the first floor, will be of concrete block and will contain a small recreation area, showers, food and drink vending machines and storage rooms. The main floor will house a kitchen and large recreation room. Its interior will be paneled. The structure above the basement will be of a wood material.

Sixteen platforms for tents have been completed, and a water well has been drilled. Eight of the tent platforms are

Lack of Finances Denies Aid to 250

Although 235 Floyd county high school students are currently benefiting from the Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) program, there are 250 others eligible for this assistance who cannot be enrolled because of a lack of funds.

This was pointed out Monday by Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd schools, in a review of the NYC program from its beginning, June 14, 1965 to November 15, this year. Clark expressed the hope that the number of enrollees may be increased "sometime in the near future."

This Town... That World

Chances are, if you weren't thankful yesterday you won't be tomorrow, for you'll probably eat it all up today.

WHEN IT WAS THURSDAY

I can remember the time when out in the country a turkey was as safe as Thanksgiving time as any season of the year. That was when we became aware of the holiday only if it happened to read the President's proclamation in the newspaper. It was only another Thursday, the middle of the week, and there was a lot of work to be done. Turkey or chicken could wait till Sunday.

Yet, even though we failed to observe this purely American holiday, I have an idea that about as much genuine thanksgiving pervaded our peaceful hearths as you'll be able to dig up around our festive boards, these days.

School Bus Incident Results in Arrest Of Mud-Cr. Resident

David Akers, of the Mud Creek section, was in jail here Tuesday, accused by Bobby R. Newsome of damaging public property, obstructing a highway and provoking assault.

Newsome claimed Akers broke windows in a school bus and threw a log into the path of the bus, causing it to wreck. Akers' mother appeared at the courthouse Tuesday morning and maintained that her son is not guilty of the charges.

School officials said three others are implicated in occurrences arising from attempts of some or all of them to board the school bus and from an altercation they had with the bus driver who refused them admittance on the grounds that they were not pupils.

Group Demands Free Lunches for 'Poor'

"If we acceded to each of these demands, no Floyd county school lunchroom would be open after two days and no child would be getting a free lunch," Supt. of Schools Charles Clark said Tuesday after he had been presented by the Eastern Kentucky Welfare Rights Organization a seven-point list of "demands" centering on a free lunch program for children of families benefiting from various phases of the government relief program.

A delegation of seven persons representing the EKWRO, all of whom are residents of the Mud Creek section of the county, submitted a prepared list of "demands" Monday to Clark.

"I had a productive conference with these folks, and I hope they now better understand a situation about which they have been misinformed," the superintendent commented later. Clark said the "demands" were prepared and printed at the Prestonsburg office of the Appalachian Volunteers. He added that the AV's had made no effort to serve the people constructively, had made no unbiased study of the situation and had "blazed away, then waited till the smoke lifted to see what they hit."

The seven "demands" submitted to Clark are:

- 1. All children of any family that is eligible for food stamps, public assistance, social security, or government employment program, such as the WET or Nelson projects, should get free lunches.
2. All children of any poor family should get free lunches or reduced prices, depending on the family's income.
3. No child should work for a lunch that's supposed to be free, or be segregated in any other way because he is poor.
4. All rules and regulations

Floyd County Led In a Losing Cause

Official statewide returns from the November 5 election show that Floyd county turned in the heaviest Democratic vote among the state's 120 counties.

While both Hubert Humphrey and Katherine Peden were generally suffering at the hands of the voters Floyd gave both thumping majorities—4,783 for Humphrey over President-elect Nixon, 4,952 for Peden over Senator-elect Cook.

Louisville gave Vice-President Humphrey a 10,000-vote margin, but the remainder of Jefferson county turned the tables against him.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins piled up a majority just shy of 32,000 over his Republican opponent, James D. Nickell, polling majorities in all of the 22 counties of the Seventh district except Martin, Fleming, Lee and Lewis.

WEAVER DIES AT MAYFIELD

All-Time Centre Great, Ex-Mgr. at Dewey Dam, Succumbs at Age of 71

James (Red) Weaver, the all-time football great of Centre College's "Praying Colonels" who at one time was manager of Dewey Reservoir in this county, died Saturday at Mayfield, Ky. He was 71.

Mr. Weaver came here with the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers when Dewey Dam was being built and remained for a time as reservoir manager. Later, he went to Greenup in further dam construction. At the time of his last illness he was employed as an engineer in the construction of the Jackson Purchase Park way. Weaver had suffered from emphysema.

Weaver set a record, which still stands, of 99 consecutive points after touchdown in 1919 and 1920. And all were dropped.

According to Courier-Journal Sports Editor Earl Ruby, "If it hadn't been for one questionable call on his 38th boot, after 37 consecutive successes, Red's total would have been a fantastic 137."

"Red kicked 37 in a row in 1917 and in 1918. . . . The narrow miss came on his first boot of the 1919 season. . . . He then made 99 in a row that season and 50 without a miss in 1920."

"He went into the final game of 1920 against Texas Christian with a record of 90. The Associated Press reported after the game, 'Red Weaver, infallible goal kicker who' (See Story No. 4, Page 2)

DRIVERS GET LOAD WRITS

Citations Allege Truck Overloads On Road to Dam

Four drivers of trucks loaded with gravel for the new Prestonsburg-Inez road were cited Monday for hauling loads in excess of the 24,000-pound maximum weight limit.

Eugene Mullins, of the Department of Motor Transportation, who issued the citations, said all were using the highway around Dewey Lake and across the dam. This road was badly damaged two years ago by coal trucks, and the reported cost to the state of its repair was $72,000.

Those cited and load weights of their trucks:

Harry Patrick, Bloomington, 41,500 pounds; Alton Francis, Cisco, Ky., 42,900 pounds; Dayton Arnett, Foraker, driver of a truck owned by the MJM Stone Co., Oil Springs, 47,620 pounds; Eugene Vance, Index, 44,080 pounds. Patrick's citation alleged he had no operator's license, and the charge against Francis said his truck had no tags.

They were cited to appear Saturday before County Judge Henry Stumbo for hearing.

Workers To Carry Message by Visits

The importance of forest fire prevention and reforestation will be carried, house to house, in coming months over the six counties of the Eastern district, Division of Forestry, it was said here this week.

Forrest Burchett, assistant district forester, said representatives of the division will undertake a program of calls, house-to-house, to emphasize through personal contacts the importance of tree-planting and protection against fires.

This fall, the entire district has had the lowest number of forest fire losses ever recorded by the division. Floyd county has had only four reported blazes and all four burned over not more than five acres of land. Similar records were reported from the other five counties where in other years fall fire damage has been consistently heavy.

Three professional foresters and two management aides are available to assist owners of timberland with the management of their woodlands, forestry personnel announce. At an owners request a forester will accompany him or his representative over the

Pike-Co. Man In Hospital, Boys Jailed

Storeowner Surprises Trio, Says He Fired As One Raised Gun

An attempt to loot a store on the Prestonsburg-Auxier road (new US 23), near here, Sunday morning ended in the shooting of a Pikeville man and two juvenile companions.

Ernest Clevenger, 20, of Pikeville, is in the Prestonsburg General hospital with a shotgun pellet wound in his abdomen, chest and arms. The youths, who were shot in their legs, were jailed. They were identified as Frederick S. Rife, of Pikeville, and Arthur Coleman, Shelbyana. Both are 16.

The shooting occurred around 5:30 a.m., after Lonnie Neeley, owner of the business place, was roused by a burglar alarm system of his own devising. He told officials that when he discovered his place of business was being broken into by three unidentified persons he took his shotgun, walked from his home and waited for the three to come outside. Some of his merchandise had been carried outside and stacked on the ground. An auto was nearby. When the three emerged from the building, Neeley said he ordered them to halt and one raised a pistol. It was then that Neeley began to fire, his statement said.

"I'm sorry anybody was hurt," Neeley later said. "I didn't want to kill anybody, and I fired only when I saw one of them raise the gun."

FLOYD COUNTY NATIVE WINS SILVER STAR FOR HEROISM

Sgt. Larry Ousley, who lived with his parents on Stephens Branch, this county, till 1952, has been awarded the Silver Star, the U. S. Army's second highest decoration for valor in Vietnam.

Sgt. Ousley, who entered military service in 1964, was cited by his superior officers for "outstanding actions" on October 18, 1968, while engaged with enemy forces in the Republic of Vietnam.

Other citations received by Sgt. Ousley include: two Purple Hearts, the Air Medal, National Defense Medal, Combat Infantry Badge, Viet Cross of Gallantry with Palm, Presidential Unit Citation with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

The citation earning Sgt. Ousley the Silver Star said: "Sgt. E-5 Larry Ousley distinguished himself by exceptional valorous actions in the face of a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam, October 18, 1968.

"While leading a squad in the conduct of a ground reconnaissance, Sgt. Ousley discovered a bunker complex blocking the line of advance of the element on his right flank. Sgt. Ousley shouted a warning to the platoon men of the third squad and the Viet Cong responded with devastating small arms and automatic weapons fire from three sides of the unit. Sgt. Ousley directed the return fire from his squad.

"After ordering the squad to rejoin the platoon at a point two hundred and fifty meters to the west, Sgt. Ousley placed himself in the rear of the movement to cover the withdrawal. When the platoon leader had consolidated his squads he directed a head count to be taken. The third squad leader reported that the platoon medic was missing. Sgt. Ousley and Pfc. Matulewicz volunteered to conduct a search of the last known position of the medic with only one workable weapon between them. Despite the murderous crossfire from the automatic weapons placements, Sgt. Ousley and Pfc. Matulewicz continued their search to within 50 meters of the enemy bunkers.

"After searching unsuccessfully the area in which the medic was seen, they returned to the platoon position along the most likely route for the medic to follow. Even though Sgt. Ousley and Pfc. Matulewicz separated to cover a wider area along the return route, they were still unable to find the medic.

"As Sgt. Ousley reached the platoon position a helicopter landed to attempt a medical evacuation. One ambulatory wounded boarded the helicopter and Sgt. Ousley totally disregarding intense small arms and automatic weapons fire, de-

Weaver, who played center, often said one of his most vivid memories was of Centre's first game with Harvard, although the Kentuckians were defeated. He said Harvard wore Centre down with a squad that included 113 players. Centre had only 13 men to use.

It was in 1921 that Centre scored its now-famous 6 to 0 upset of Harvard, the year after Weaver left Centre.

Weaver was a member of the first All-America team picked by Walter Camp.

His body was returned to Ashland, his former home, for burial.

the first six weeks of this year 44 of the 235 enrollees made the honor roll. The money they earn is used to buy lunches, clothing and school supplies and to pay dental bills.

"This program," Supt. Clark said, "is one of which the school board and the superintendent are most proud. We were one of the first Eastern Kentucky school systems to qualify for NYC, and this came about because we felt there was a great need. We were very persistent in our application and would not take 'No' for an answer. We have insisted that our enrollees give a good hour's work for their pay, and our young people have responded magnificently."

From June 14, 1965 to November 15, 1968 a total of $901,867.12 has been expended on the program in this county, the federal government's share of that total being $781,114.98. Federal funds available for the program from November 16 this year to next June 7 total $107,681.99 — less than has been available for any previous comparable period.

Supt. Clark said the Floyd system's operating expenses in administering NYC totalled $76,663.64, or slightly more than nine percent of the federal expenditures. This, he said, was one of the lowest operating costs in the nation.

"Pegora the Witch" Presentation Slated December 9 at Park

Twenty excited children will make their debuts in "Pegora the Witch," the first production of the Prestonsburg Children's Theatre on Monday, December 9, at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium-theatre at Archer Park here.

The play tells of Pegora, a young witch who is trying desperately to be bad enough to achieve the rank of first class witch. She finds this to be an extremely difficult task because of an unfortunate quirk in her nature, which makes her want to do good things instead of bad ones. The play takes Pegora through numerous adventures and misadventures, resulting in an hilarious and entertaining evening to be enjoyed by the entire family.

The production is under the direction of Mrs. Laura Weddie, head of the English department at Prestonsburg Community College. Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door.

The Lexington Children's Theatre has served as a model for the Prestonsburg organization with regard to production staff. Local support and interest in the new theatre has been high. Its sponsors hope that this new undertaking will be an ever expanding and continuing organization.

University of Kentucky male students outnumber females three to two on the Lexington campus. Of the 15,317 total enrollment, 9,166 are men and 6,151 are women.

out that regulations for administration of the school lunch program are set solely by the Lunchroom Division, State Department of Education, that these are the only rules the Floyd county school system has and that the school system has complied faithfully with these regulations during his term of office.

Clark added that, in addition to commodity foodstuffs, the only support the schools gets from the federal government is five cents per meal. He said that if the commodity foodstuffs furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture — cheese, butter and beans—were depended upon, it would be impossible to supply children a palatable lunch.

He said some relaxation of federal regulations has been provided by Congressman Carl D. Perkins' amendment to the National School Lunch Act but that the new rules have never been received here and that he is certain the Lunchroom Division does not know them.

"Not a child goes hungry, not a child will go hungry," Clark said. "These lunchrooms must be kept in the black, and the board of education is subject to suit if they do not. If we try to feed, free, all, the result will be, we will wind up feeding none."

He added that there is no discrimination practised in the lunchroom program, and that those receiving free lunches are not marked for ridicule by fellow-students.

The main target of the complaints lodged by the EKWRO group apparently is the Stumbo elementary school at Grethel, on Mud Creek. Some complained that hogs were being fattened from the school's lunch scraps for private individual profit.

Commented Clark: "These scraps certainly can't be fed to the school children and they must be disposed of. From what I was told, I can't see the seriousness of feeding scraps to hogs instead of our discarding them to create a possible garbage problem."

Merlin Hall, of Teaberry, acted as spokesman for the group conferring with Supt. Clark. Arnold Hamilton is chairman of EKWRO, the membership of which is centered in the KY 979 area of the county.

GROUSING AROUND

Mrs. Walter Porter, of Emma, might have had her Thanksgiving bird delivered last Saturday without cost when a grouse flew — crash! — through her window and banged against the wall, across her living room. Only, the bird did a rather messy carving job on itself passing through the window pane.

Don't grumble, fellows, if your wife goes mad about antiques. She may decide you're so old you're worth holding onto a few more years.

CHALLENGE

I read somewhere, the other day, about this parrot that turned out to be a real smart-aleck. Every time anybody would enter the room, he would sing out, "I can talk—now, let's see you fly!"

NOT PERFECT

The real estate salesman was laying it on thick, doing his level best to sell this rich Southern gal a $50,000 home.

"Here," he declared, "is the only home in this exclusive residential district that's without a flaw."

"No flaw? Well, tell me what in the world do you walk on?"

Know what the sign on the maternally ward wall said?—"What Pill?"

FOR LOOKENZPEEPERS

Speaking of signs, this was posted on the side of a computer by a slightly plicated operator:

Achtung! Alles Lookenzpeepers!

Neeley told officers he believes the older man had the gun, a .38-calibre "Spain Special."

Clevenger was shot in his hand, and State Detective Chester D. Potter said marks on the weapon indicated it may have been hit by shot. Clevenger denies having had the pistol.

His condition is favorable to early recovery, it was said Tuesday. Clevenger has been charged with armed robbery. The two juveniles will be charged with breaking and entering.

Bond of $2,000 was asked by County Judge Henry Stumbo for the release of the juveniles till the hearing, Dec. 6. Coleman executed bond but Rife remained in jail Tuesday afternoon.

Officials here said the three are also wanted in Johnson and Lawrence counties. Seventeen wrenches found in the Comet automobile parked outside Neeley's store have been released to Thomas David Wheeler, of Johnson county. The well-loaded vehicle contained more than 20 classes of items, including beer, a radio, gloves, oil, cigarettes, candy and a uniform from the Pikeville high school band.

The shooting followed by a few hours the break into Allen Slone's Grocery at Blue River from which between $90 and $100 in cash, a case of old knives and various other items were taken.

Slone's store was entered from the front, as were three other Floyd business looted earlier in the week. The Standard Service Station operated here by Boyd Nuckles was robbed of $763 in cash last Wednesday night. Glass of a front door was smashed. Fingerprints have been found.

The same night, the haul from Jim's Pure Oil Station on the Auxier road reportedly amounted to $1,200 in merchandise. Settles' Texaco Station at Allen was looted of a cash register and about $10 in cash.

No arrests had been made in these cases as of Tuesday.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank everyone who helped us at the passing of Thelma Collins. We especially wish to thank those of you who sent flowers and food, or did anything to help. And a special thanks to the ministers, Bob Martin and W. D. Jagers, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its fine service.

MOST OF US WHO LIKE FOOTBALL, but can't make it to the bowls and all-star games, will see these events on television.

Your unseen "travel agent" to televised games is your phone company. TV signals for football games, as well as all TV network shows, travel from stadium to you over the nationwide telephone network. We're glad we can help bring you your favorite sports and programs.

IN ICELAND, THE TELEPHONE DIRECTORY lists by first name only, because last names change with each generation. For example, Eric Gunnerson is Eric, son of Gunnar; but Peter, Eric's son becomes Peter Ericson. First names count here in America, too. Members of your family won't miss important calls, if you arrange for extra listings in the phone book. They cost about one cent a day. Just call our Business Office.

THE YOUNG BRIDE, planning her first Thanksgiving dinner, wanted to serve several traditional favorites but didn't know how to prepare them. So she made a quick Long Distance phone call — to her mother. She got her recipes, and all the news from home, too.

Your telephone can help you answer lots of questions — and enjoy yourself, too.

'New School' Slates Its Original Revue Showing December 9

The New School of Theatrical Arts will present an original revue entitled, "The New School of Theatrical Arts Presents..." on Thursday, December 19, at 8 p.m. at the gymnasium-theatre in Archer Park.

The school is the first of its kind in the area. Each week, children from the ages of 7 to 13 meet for a two-hour session of singing and acting classes. They are taught diction, how to use their voices properly both in singing and speaking, how to use their bodies gracefully both on and off stage, and how to project various emotions across the footlights.

A primary function of the school, which is directed by Mrs. Eileen Bittman, is not necessarily to make professional performers of these children but to give them poise, grace and an ability to stand before an audience with self-assurance and composure.

There are presently 15 children enrolled in the class. Mrs. Bittman said she is quite pleased with their progress. The students are: Jeanne Beard, 7, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Byron Beard, of McDowell; Sheldon Berger, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Berger, Melvin; Debbie Davidson, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Davidson, Prestonsburg; Kathy George, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde George, Prestonsburg; Dee Dee and Bradley Kalos, ages 9 and 11, children of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kalos, Prestonsburg; Sandy Lafferty, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Lafferty, Prestonsburg; Beth Martin, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Martin, Prestonsburg; Nicki Patton, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Patton, Virgie; Becky Rice, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Rice, Wayland; Kimberly and Keith Shannon, ages 10 and 13, children of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shannon, Prestonsburg; Libby Stone, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ray Stone, of Wayland; Lynne Weddle, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Weddle, Prestonsburg; Susie Wells, 10, daughter of Mrs. Helen Wells, Prestonsburg.

Through training in the Neighborhood Youth Corps, a Labor Department program, the youth whose life formerly revolved around the ghetto street corner or neighborhood pool room can become a useful, wage-earning member of the community.

Of the 3,217 married students on the University of Kentucky campus at Lexington this fall, 1,121 are graduate students. There are 229 freshmen, 376 sophomores, 519 juniors, and 947 seniors.

Mammal Weekend Planned As First of Workshops

Frankfort—The first in a series of field naturalist workshops will be conducted at Carter Capes State Park, Olive Hill, Jan. 31-Feb. 2.

"A Kentucky Mammal Weekend" is planned for the first program sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Parks, Division of Museums, Shrines and Interpretative Programs.

A field trip through Bat Cave will be led by Dr. Roger W. Barbour, professor of zoology, University of Kentucky. Four species of bats can be observed hibernating within the cave.

Most abundant is the Indiana Bat, numbering 100,000. Bat Cave contains one of the largest colonies of this species, representing approximately 25 per cent of the total bat population.

Purpose of the new field naturalist workshops is to provide a deeper understanding of the natural history of Kentucky. The workshops are recommended for teachers, college students, professional naturalists, and individuals concerned with strengthening their background in Natural History.

All workshops are under the supervision of the state's chief naturalist, Jim Butler, Department of Parks.

He will give a demonstration on the setting and baiting of small mammal traps at the first workshop. Participants will then disperse and independently set traps in the near vicinity.

Another highlight will be a field trip with emphasis on identification of mammal tracks and signs.

Visual presentations include "Kentucky Mammals", color slides narrated by Jim Butler and "Bear Country", a Walt Disney movie.

FAVORS DECENTRALIZATION FOR COMMUNITY COLLEGES

EDITOR, The Times:

There has been some conflict of views in the air in recent weeks relative to the operation and supervision of Community Colleges. I don't subscribe to what would appear to be the majority view.

I am opposed to centralization of authority in just about every way. It is not difficult to point out advantages of centralizing authority and the picture would appear to be excellent. All of my experience tells me that there are objections and that they outweigh such advantages as we might envision. One comment contends that to leave the supervision of the community college to the state university in its area would have a tendency for that state university to build an empire of domination. Thus the state would be divided into about six areas of domination, all of which would be jealous of each other and presumably this would be a bad situation. My first comment is that even if such a situation were to develop, and I am sure that there is no basis for assuming that it will, the bad effects to the program of higher education in Kentucky would be far less than to have one giant concentration of power that would most certainly establish an empire of domination throughout the state. It would be an empire that could not be challenged and the damage to higher education could become a catastrophe.

There does not seem to be great difficulty in finding competent leaders for our present state universities. To the best of my knowledge, all of them are doing an excellent job. They have great pride in the university that they head and are striving to improve their service and their program of higher education.

On the other hand, we seem to find almost an impossible job in selecting a leader for the University of Kentucky. That job seems to require a superman and there is a scarcity of these people. No matter who is finally selected for the job, he will meet with plenty of criticism and after a year or two of taking that kind of punishment, he will accept responsibilities in another area.

You have often heard the expression, "Two heads are better than one." I would expand this and say that six dedicated university leaders, working in reasonable harmony, will provide a better program of higher education than a program provided by a single authority. The safeguards against damaging mistakes would also be better. If one of the university units fails to keep up with progress, it will soon be evident and necessary corrections would be forthcoming.

We need the dedicated competition of all state universities tied into a central organization for the exchange of ideas and plans and we must operate on the idea that this group of leaders is not dedicated to personal gain or personal power, but to the improvement of the program of higher education in Kentucky.

It would appear that the troubles that we are experiencing in institutions of higher education throughout this country nearly always originate in the very large institutions. This is because the leadership is too far removed from the student body. They resemble the coal operator who has a mine in the mountains of East Kentucky and tries to operate it from the Big City.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, Charlie O. Stencil, who passed away December 3, 1966:

THINGS DON'T JUST HAPPEN
Things don't just happen to us who love God.
They're planned by His own dear hand,
Then molded and shaped, and
Timed by His clock:
Things don't just happen,
they're planned.

We don't just guess on the issues of life,
We Christians just rest in our Lord.
We are directed by His sovereign will,
In the light of His holy word.

We who love Jesus are walking by faith,
Not seeing one step that's ahead,
Not doubting one moment what our lot might be,
But looking to Jesus, instead.

We praise our dear Saviour for loving us so,
For planning each care of our life,
Then giving us faith to trust Him for all,
The blessings, as well as the strife.

Things don't just happen to us who love God,
To us who have taken our stand,
No matter the lot, the course, or the price,
Things don't just happen—they're planned.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN

(Editor's Note: Abram F. Barker, of Bristol, writer of the following Thanksgiving Day article, for many years was author of a weekly Bible quiz that appeared in the Bristol newspapers.)

By ABRAM F. BARKER

In the Plymouth Colony in the year 1621 William Bradford, the governor, proclaimed the first Thanksgiving Day in our American history. In those pioneer days there was fear and great danger of Indian attacks. Land was cleared, stockades were built, fields planted and cultivated. Then there was the plague of partial starvation, sickness and death.

The survivors of that colony and those who came in later who had braved the storms of the Atlantic in sail boats to join with their fellow-laborers to help build a new world for themselves, to live and be free.

When the harvest time came and all their crops were safely stored and sheltered, they all joined in, with some of the fruits of their labors, to give thanks to God, on that memorable occasion, their first Thanksgiving Day.

When George Washington issued the first Presidential Thanksgiving Proclamation, he said "It is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His Protection."

"What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits toward me? I will take the cup of salvation and call upon the name of the Lord. . . I will offer to thee the sacrifice of thanksgiving, and I will call upon the name of the Lord." (Psalm 116.) This is the true Thanksgiving spirit. This is America's imperative duty today.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our appreciation to all of our friends, neighbors and relatives who in any way expressed their sympathy at the passing of our dear father, Alec Boyd. We would thank the ministers of the Regular Baptist Church, and a special thanks to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

Air Force Veteran Does Work on Farm

By HAROLD R. WALLACE
Work Unit Conservationist

Lowell D. Branham, a 16-year career man of the Air Force and hobby farmer, has completed a farm pond on his Meade Branch of Abbott Creek farm. This pond will provide water for livestock and will be stocked with bass and bluegill for family recreation. A picnic area below the pond structure has been graded and plans call for tables and outside grills to be installed next spring. A home site was located and the excavated area will be seeded and mulched to reduce erosion and sedimentation. Also, next spring a tile line will be installed between the home site and hill to intercept seepage water. This will eliminate water standing on the lawn.

Other practices that will be installed on this farm are pasture planting and management, woodland improvement, critical area plantings and wildlife food plots.

Branham received technical assistance from USDA's Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned Floyd county.

Thanks to expert herd management, the total national deer kill of 30 or 40 years ago is now exceeded by the annual kill in many individual states. —Sports Afield.

Farm-City Week Being Observed; Teamwork Cited

"Rural-urban teamwork and community cooperation are paving the way for continued economical growth in Kentucky," said Homer A. Taff, head of the USDA Soil Conservation Service in Kentucky, commenting on National Farm-City Week, which was observed, November 22-28.

The week is set aside annually to honor the effort to bring together rural and urban citizens in order to solve present as well as future resource problems.

"With a fast-growing America dependent on a declining base of agricultural land, this annual observance has more significance each year," Taff said. "There is more competition for use of land closest to towns and cities to meet many human needs. Farm-City Week helps remind us how urgently we need to plan the uses of our country side, town and city areas to meet these needs."

Since soil and water conservation district boards are the central source of information about soil and water problems, Taff pointed out, it is important that city and county leaders look to them for advice on natural resource uses. Because the Soil Conservation Service is regularly providing technical help to districts, he said, a great deal of information useful to city and county officials is available for the asking.

Using soil surveys, for example, officials can chart the desirable areas for residential growth, determine areas best suited to recreation or industry, and reserve best sites for municipal water storage.

In Kentucky soil surveys have been completed on 11,108,291 acres and 12 soil survey reports have been published.

In Floyd county soil surveys have been completed on 37,703 acres. In the past, information from these surveys have been used for treating farm land.

Presently, in Floyd county, soil surveys are being made for the regional hospital site, near Auxier, and industrial sites near Cliff and Harold.

WAYLAND CLUB HOSTESS TO "DAUGHTER" CLUBS

Wayland, Ky.—"Freedom can be a benefit or it can be a curse," stressed Mrs. James D. Adams, of Prestonsburg, speaking last Monday evening at Wayland to those attending a dinner given by the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club honoring its daughter clubs.

"Few people have ever really been free," she continued. "We are restrained by other people's rights as well as by laws and customs. Freedom should be exercised with temperance, prudence, and a respect for higher authority. Therefore, to have freedom, we must give up some freedom. Communism is one of the greatest threats to freedom, having now been established through one-third of the world."

Since her subject was "Youth Development," Mrs. Adams spoke at some length concerning young people. "Young people are rebelling. They want to act for themselves. Demonstrations are being used as the young people's answer to the growing bigness and impersonality of the colleges and universities." Realizing these factors, Mrs. Adams urged that parents be interested in what their children are being taught in school.

Concluding, Mrs. Adams pointed out, "The message must be successfully put across to our young people that the American system can work." "Let us begin at home and make sure that our children understand freedom."

Mrs. Milton Trusty, Jr., program leader, introduced Mrs. Adams, who is the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs' aide to the president. Mrs. Adams was accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Burchett, also of Prestonsburg, who extended an invitation to the clubwomen to visit the homes in Prestonsburg which are a part of the annual Christmas Tour.

Following the dinner a business meeting was conducted by the club president, Mrs. Mervil

Dixon, and the annual Christmas party was discussed at length. Clubmembers also were reminded of their $1 each for Veterans' Christmas at Ft. Thomas hospital. It was announced that Wayland's entry in the Snow Queen beauty contest is Miss Janet Vanhoose, of Estill, and Garrett's is Miss Nora Hicks. Mrs. Otto Martin was appointed to serve as one of the judges. How best to aid a young couple whose names were brought before the club for financial assistance was also discussed. A committee was appointed to investigate.

Those attending the dinner were, besides Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Burchett, Mesdames Isabel Reed, Jenny Carter, Nancy Cooley, Peggy Pratt, Linda Turner, Maxine Reitz, Jackie Damon, Ella Mae Cook, Nellie Webb, Rebecca Reed, Bobbie Williams, Sheila Jo Akers, Anna Hoffman, Ruby Akers, Glenna M. Stumbo, Betty Meade, Anna Sue Stumbo, all of Drift; Reba T. Martin, Shirley Beard, Mesdames Alma Souleyrette and Virginia Hagans, of Wheelwright; and Mesdames Alice M. Hornsby, M. M. Collins, Rudolph Spencer, S. M. Martin, Milton Trusty, Jr., Stanley Bamer, Marie C. Mullins, J. T. Spillman, Shelby Draughn, Paul Rutledge, James Burge, Bobby Joe Castle, Lula Coburn, Earl Castle, Otto Martin, Charles R. Martin, of the Wayland club.

LACK OF FOSTER HOMES FOR SOME CHILDREN CITED

Frankfort, Ky. — The lack of foster homes is greater for children who, through no fault of their own, are termed "hard to place." These include Negro children, older children, and those with either physical or mental handicaps. The need for their placement is a problem familiar and painful to persons concerned with their future.

A five-year-old Negro, affected by an organic speech problem, brought on by partial deafness, is an example of a child alone. He is from an urban ghetto and from a broken family, a not unusual condition for the families in his neighborhood.

Finally, due to the conditions in the project apartment and to the physical and emotional state of the child and the rest of his family, the court awarded him and his brothers and sisters to the custody of the Department of Child Welfare. The children are open for adoption or to be cared for by welfare agencies until they reach the age where they can care for themselves, which is a long way off for a five year old.

Even though things at home were bad, it was home and the child was used to it. Now he is faced with a whole new environment—with very strange people —all trying to help, but he is just not quite sure if he can trust them, or anyone.

One of the many days, which seem to be all alike, he will be told he is going to a foster home, where he will live like a child of that family. Frightened and unwilling, he finds the family, which is to be his family, really does want him and does care and will help him. He is very happy—once in a very long time. He has a home.

Are you concerned about children caught in these circumstances?

Then perhaps you can help by taking one of these children into your home. If you feel you can help—if you want to help, contact: John D. Barbour, Foster Care, Department of Child Welfare, 403 Wapping St., Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601, Area Code 502 564-4650, or contact your local Child Welfare Department.

106 YEARS OF GOOD LIFE—RECOLLECTING GOOD THINGS

"I always tried to be good to people . . . if someone made a mistake in life I tried to forget it and if I remembered it anyway I would try to recollect a good deed they had done and talk about that."

The quote is from Mrs. James Franklin Cox who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Flora Amyx, on Riverside Drive, West Liberty. The philosophy in her remark would be favorable for anyone to adopt, because it has sustained Mrs. Cox, who is known by her neighbors and friends as Alice or her double name Mary Alice, for 106 years.

Mrs. Cox, who will be 106 on November 29, doesn't look a day of it. Her platinum hair is a halo above blue eyes that see from a face still pink and smooth, and mirror an inward peace that would have to be a result of her ability to "recollect" the good things people do.

Born at Pekin, Morgan county, in 1863, daughter of William Hensley and Sabrina Bryant Hensley whose families settled in Breathitt county after the Hensleys came from Clay county and the Bryants from Virginia, Mrs. Cox was one of 14 children and after her marriage to James Franklin Cox became the mother of eight children. In addition to Mrs. Amyx, those living are Tom and Volney Cox and Mrs. Ollie McKinney, all of Morgan county and Kelly Cox of Montgomery county.

Her memories? "I recollect my folks talking about George Washington . . . Aunt Margaret took our little black filly up in the hill and hid her in the woods from the soldiers. They didn't find her either. I was just a little girl and not big enough to go with her."

"At Christmas we hung our stockings. No, not on a chair-back but on a fireplace. My folks would get me little things and tricks, dolls, sawlog candy and pretties. We would pop corn and put on the tree."

"I can't see the world now (her eyesight is blurred and dim) and I can't hear the world and I don't know what's going on out there. I just don't know," she muses.

Mary Alice Cox prizes her many cards, notes, letters, but none more so than the one received in 1965 from Mrs. Harlan Brown, of Ashland, a former teacher, who said, "Fifty years ago you gave me food, shelter, a new warm gown and a clean bed. How grateful I was then. I got stranded in the snow on my way to Ditony Ridge school."

LACKEY

Alice Horn has been visiting relatives and friends at Columbus, Dayton, West Jefferson, Plymouth and Willard, Ohio, also has been visiting relatives at Wise, Virginia, and attended the funeral of her uncle, Amos Leslie, at Ashland.

Franklin Horn and family have been visiting Alice Horn recently.

Perkins Says New Regime Not To Hurt Education

U. S. Representative Carl Perkins, Hindman, doesn't believe a change in national administrations will greatly affect federal education programs.

"They're so drastically underfunded now, I don't think any new President will dare suggest further setbacks," Perkins said at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, last Wednesday.

BETSY LAYNE

The Women's Society of the Betsy Layne United Methodist Church held its regular meeting, November 7, in the home of Hettie Johnston, with the following present: Aileen Wallen, Mary Lykins, Katherine Blackburn, Edith Mae Stanley, Billie Jean Osborne, Elizabeth Bailey, Kelsie Elliott, Willie Caldwell, Mildred Davis and Hettie Johnston.

After the business part of the meeting, the program chairman, Katherine Blackburn, presented an interesting program, "Self-hood in Contemporary Films."

The parts of the discussion were presented by the narrator, Katherine Blackburn; college chaplain, Edith Mae Stanley; college girl, Billie Jean Osborne; first voice of protest, Mildred Davis; second voice of protest, Elizabeth Bailey. The program was initially designed to meet the natural objections and preconceptions held by many people regarding motion pictures.

The next meeting will be Dec. 5, in the home of Aileen Wallen.

BETSY LAYNE ORGANIZES TO DEVELOP COMMUNITY; UK SPECIALIST IS SPEAKER

Residents of Betsy Layne, as a step forward to organize the community for social and economic development, met last Thursday evening to hear William R. Bridges, community development specialist, University of Kentucky, explain the pilot program initiated by UK in the three communities of Betsy Layne, Harold and Stanville. Several of the citizens had met a week earlier and laid formal plans for the organizational meeting.

Bridges showed the group color slides of the town of Harburbury, Perry county, that had sunk into the doldrums after a coal company had discontinued operations. Organized effort on the part of Harburbury residents has lifted the mining town from its former condition of decline to one of excellent facilities, including water supply, recreation and social activity.

Hubert E. Ball, Floyd county extension agent, noted to the group that the University of Kentucky was orienting many of its programs to community development and the pilot program in this county was designed to show the way to improvement.

A nominating committee, composed of D. W. Howard, Glenn Blackburn and Beckham Caldwell, was named to present a list of officers at the next scheduled meeting, December 31.

Billy Joe Fannin and his band will present a program of popular music at the next meeting. The public is invited to attend.

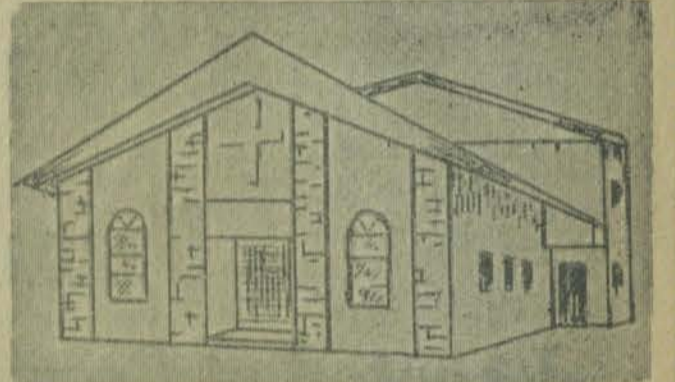

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to all our relatives and friends for many kindnesses upon the passing of our dear husband and father, Shelton Leek. We would also like to thank friends for the food brought to the home and flowers, the ministers, Cecil Sherman and Melt Blankenship, the Church of God singers and the Jones & Preston Funeral Home.

Your first thought is that Chevy is a good looking pickup ...

1/2-ton Fleetside pickup

Here are some second thoughts:

work truck

playmate

We could add hobby hauler to the list. Chevy trucks are great for rock hounding. Collecting antiques. Etcetera. The point is: They're as versatile as anything on the road. Or off. Especially, four-wheel drive versions. They go anywhere.

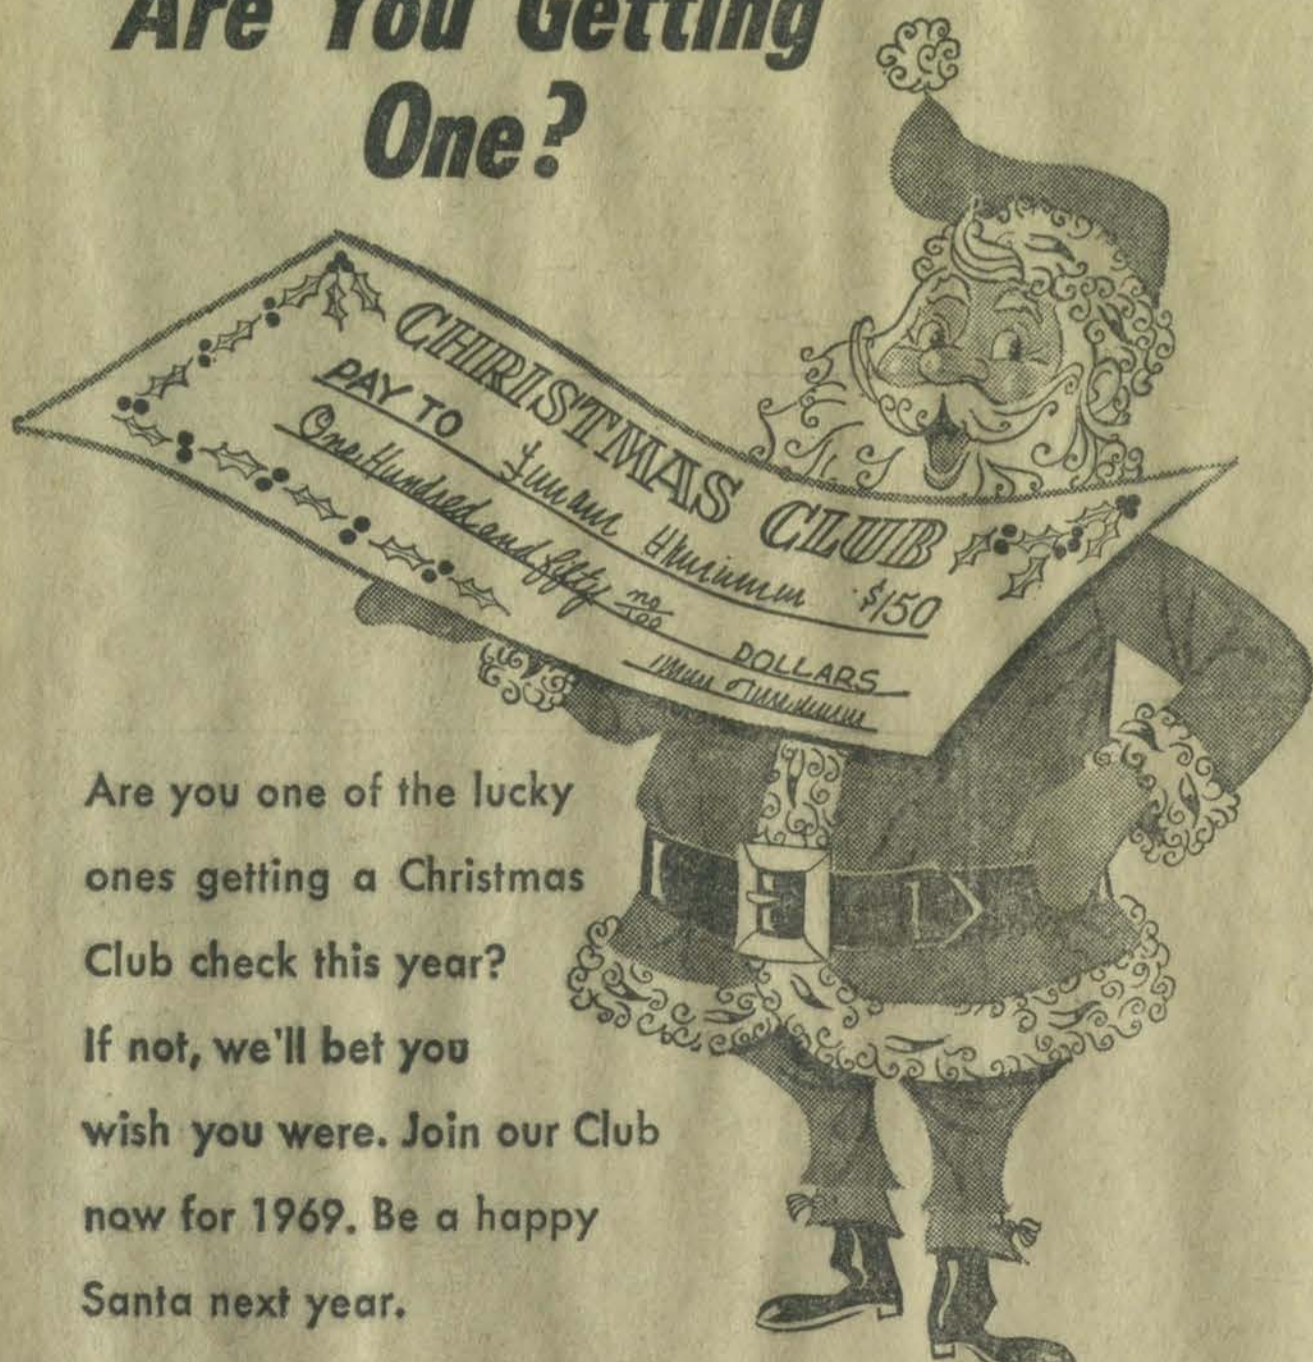

Wherever you go, you go in style. Sleek front end features a new aluminum grille. In back, there's a new 8 1/2-ft. box on some models. Great for big campers. Great under the hood, too. Six or V8. Standard on V8 models is a big 307 cubic-incher.

Under the rugged chassis, coil springs take care of bumps. Inside, thick foam seats take care of you. There's a lot more. And more you can order. Like: power steering and air conditioning. See your Chevrolet dealer for all the facts and the good word on low price.

Chevrolet is more truck ... day in, day out, day off
