River Claims 3 Victims

Saturday Tragedy Recalls Bus Wreck

Boy Escapes After Auto Hits River

Bodies of Two Found, Search Made for 3rd By Three Squads

Saturday's tragedy in which a mother and her two daughters were swept to their deaths in the Big Sandy river at Emma was heightened by the fact that the body of one of the child-victims is still missing.

A reward was being posted this week for recovery of the body.

Drowned when their auto left the highway, near the suspension bridge at Emma, and plunged into the river were Mrs. Barbara Howell Akers Pierce, 27, of Lorain, Ohio, and her daughters, Beverly Akers, 7, and Tammy Akers, 5.

Her 11-year-old son, Phillip, escaped from the car after it had entered the water and swam to safety.

The tragedy occurred, shortly before daybreak, as Mrs. Pierce and her children were driving back to Ohio after a brief visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Rosa Hamilton Howell, at Craynor. The woman's watch had stopped at 6:45. The auto left the highway and followed the ditchline along the cliff a distance of approximately 100 feet before it struck a guard post at a culvert, then cut across the highway and down the precipitous embankment.

The resultant scene, as members of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad sought to recover the auto from the river, (See Story No. 3, Page 6)

The annual finance campaign for the city of Prestonsburg will be held during Boy Scout Week in early February this year. A one day campaign on February 11 is being planned with each of the majors selecting five captains and each captain selecting five enrollees or workers. Each enrollee will then call on five prospects.

Edward Music is chairman of special gifts division for the campaign. Special and advance givers have been contacted by Mr. Music who asks that those firms and individuals contacted reply this week. Jimmy Dick Spurlock has accepted the audit (See Story No. 1, Page 5)

Victim's Kin Tell Doubts, End Trial

The last murder case on the current circuit court docket, that of Ballard Cable, accused of the Mud Creek slaying of Howard Tackett in May, 1968, was wiped from the slate Tuesday when relatives of the slain man indicated Tackett's death may have been a suicide.

The trial jury was empaneled Tuesday morning, and Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo had made his opening statement. Then Albert A. Burchett, Cable's attorney, in his statement said the mother and brothers of Howard Tackett were here to testify that Tackett had threatened to take his own life on numerous occasions, on the morning of his death had repeated the threat and had toyed with a pistol.

Court recessed for lunch, and during that time Commonwealth's Attorney Stumbo interviewed members of the family. All, he said, confirmed the statement made by Burchett, and one or two said they would testify that he did take his own life.

This was followed by Stumbo's motion to dismiss. "Under the circumstances I couldn't see much chance of a conviction," he said.

This Town . . . That World

WHO'S A LIAR?

If a fisherman tells you the big one got away because it wrapped his line around a speed zone sign, don't write him off as just another liar. Down in Florida they have a catfish that leaves the water at far less provocation than having a hook in his mouth and takes off, cross-country. I understand, the first man who saw this happen immediately took the pledge.

ANY POOR BOXES AROUND?

There are thieves and thieves, and some are orrier than others. In the latter category are those who Monday night stole 34 chickens from Mrs. Martha Smith at West Prestonsburg. These fellows may already know, and give not a hang, that this elderly woman sells the eggs her hens lay during the warmer months and saves the money to buy her winter supply of coal and other necessities.

QUESTION

There are many roads in Kentucky requiring attention, I know, but I am unable to understand why guard rails aren't in place along stretches of highway where cars leaving the road can only plunge down a steep declivity into the river. I am unable to understand the reasoning behind the placing of guard rail. (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

BID OPENING IS DELAYED

Changes in Mud Creek Water System Plans Sets Letting Feb. 6

Opening of bids on construction of the Mud Creek Water District's distribution system which had been scheduled for Monday has been postponed till next Thursday, it was said here Tuesday by John T. Hill, engineer on the project.

The delay order resulted when more tanks and pump stations were included in the plans than had originally been scheduled. A meeting with Economic Development Administration officials in Huntington, W. Va., was held Monday and deductive alternatives were added to the plans and specifications going out to contractors.

Readvertising of the project will not be necessary.

Contractors' interest in the project was evidenced by the fact that 32 sets of plans and specifications have been sent to prospective bidders.

Overall cost of the Mud Creek project has been estimated at $1,261,000. Financing of the undertaking will be by EDA grant and loan.

CARS TAKEN, FOUR NABBED

Arrests Made Friday After Autos Stolen; Probations Revoked

Automobile thefts continued within the week to claim the attention of officers and courts as four were arrested in the theft of two cars last Friday and probation of two juveniles was revoked by County Judge Henry Stumbo after they had been returned here from Lewis county, accused of a series of thefts.

David C. Long, 18, Baltimore, Md., was arrested last Friday, shortly after an auto had been stolen in front of the Terry Elkhorn Coal Company offices here. Two juveniles were captured along with him by State Trooper Kenneth DeBord.

KY 80 MEET SLATED HERE

Knott Group Sponsors Friday Evening Parley; Congressman To Speak

Improvement of KY 80 from Allen to Hazard will be discussed at a meeting here Friday evening at which Congressman Carl D. Perkins will be the principal speaker.

The meeting, which will be sponsored by Hindman business men, will be held at the Prestonsburg Community College, beginning at 6 p.m.

It has been pointed out that the extension of the Mountain Parkway to Hazard and the proposed Daniel Boone Parkway from Hazard to London, with improvement of US 23 along the Big Sandy ahead, leaves only the Hazard-to-Allen sector of KY 80 remaining to complete the "highway loop" and give the area an integrated system of high-type highways.

The Hindman sponsors of the meeting here have invited public officials, business leaders and interested citizens to attend Friday's meeting.

Congressman Perkins' appearance at the college will be his third of a busy day. Earlier in the afternoon, he will speak at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the rent-supplement housing project sponsored here by eight Prestonsburg churches. Following the meeting at the college, he will be the speaker at the annual Industry Appreciation banquet of the Prestonsburg Area Chamber of Commerce at May Lodge.

No Drug Problem Found in Schools

Commenting on a statement made in Frankfort that about 90 percent of Kentucky's high schools have a drug-abuse problem, Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd county schools, said Tuesday he knows of no such situation in this county.

"We have been alerted to the possibilities, but not one incident of drug use has been reported to us," he said.

Supt. Clark added that as long as two months ago the subject of drug use and the possibility of its spread was a major topic of discussion at a meeting here of school principals. The principals were instructed to maintain a watch for symptoms of the use of drugs and to report any they might find.

Sheriff Joe W. Lewis said this week that, after months of rumor, marijuana has shown up in this county. He did not say where but added that he has a suspect in mind.

At a seminar called in Frankfort by Governor Nunn, Dr. Carl Chambers, Lexington sociologist, said up to 30 percent of the state's high school seniors have used marijuana and that across the state about 10 percent of all high school students have access to, and experiment with, it.

The Frankfort seminar was called to alert Kentuckians to the "horrors of drug addiction." About 200 educators, guidance counsellors and school administrators attended.

At the college level, the University of Kentucky is at the lower end of the list in drug use when compared with other institutions. Dr. Thomas E. Buie, UK psychiatrist, said.

A minority of students use illegal drugs, but the number is increasing. Illegal drugs used by college students are LSD, marijuana, amphetamines and barbiturates. Narcotics are less of a problem, Dr. Buie said.

Use of LSD and other potent hallucinogens by college students has declined during the last two or three years, Dr. Buie said, because students "seem to have responded" to publicity (See Story No. 7, Page 5)

Clark Asks Study Made Of Cooperative Effort

Cooperation between vocational education and manufacturing will be explored as a future possibility at a meeting of Floyd school principals next Tuesday.

County Superintendent Charles F. Clark has suggested such an association between industry and education, and the idea developed from Clark's Scandinavian tour last year. On that trip, he said, he found such close liaison existing between schools, manufacturers and labor unions that he was impressed by the lack of it here. "I have felt for some time," he said this week, "that we are missing an opportunity

BOARD GETS LUNCH GUIDE

Criteria Outlined For Floyd Schools' Lunchroom Program

New lunchroom guidelines based on the National School Lunch Act, as amended, have been received by the Floyd County Board of Education, and these go into effect, almost immediately.

The new directive places ultimate responsibility for administering the program to the satisfaction of state and federal governments on school principals.

Several criteria are to be used in determining which pupils are eligible to receive free or reduced-price meals. These include size of family, income, eligibility for assistance through welfare programs, type of employment of the wage-earner in the family and possibly other considerations.

Steps school officials will take in determining the eligibility of pupils to free or reduced-price meals may include the following:

1. Individual pupil evaluation by the classroom teacher;
2. Announcement by school officials of the food service availability;
3. Written application from the parent, stating needs because of number in the family, income and other family conditions;
4. Action upon application from parent by a committee appointed for this purpose.

DYAN JAILED IN P. O. CASE

$5,000 Bond Asked Of Louisville Man Accused in Break

Stanley Dyan, 26-year-old Louisville man, is in the Floyd county jail for lack of the $5,000 bond asked after he had been arrested last Thursday afternoon at a motel here on a charge of attempting the robbery of the West Prestonsburg postoffice.

The bond was set by the U. S. Commissioner at Ashland, and Dyan was returned to jail here by Deputy U. S. Marshal Joe Mullins. He will be given trial in U. S. district court at Pikeville.

The accused man continues to maintain his innocence.

Dyan was arrested by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, Prestonsburg Chief of Police Bill Potter, State Trooper Don Goble, Deputy Sheriff Tom James and Policeman Hack Thornsbury. The 1965 model Cadillac which had been parked, engine running, across the street from the postoffice, before daybreak last Thursday, was described to the officers, and the description included mention of a blue garment hanging in the car. The officers spotted the car in front of the motel. (See Story No. 4, Page 5)

Bridge-Road Pact Scheduled Mar. 7

P'burg Youngsters Plan Benefit Supper For Paintsville Boy

Prestonsburg youngsters his own age this week joined the effort to raise funds to finance a kidney transplant for 10-year-old Keith Williamson, of Paintsville. The grade school basketball team and its cheerleaders have planned a chili supper at the grade school lunchroom Friday night, February 7, for this purpose. Tickets will go on sale this week.

A kidney transplant holds the only hope for the Paintsville youngster.

Former Officer Seeks Whereabouts of Son Missing Since Jan. 22

Harold Johnson, of Hi Hat, former Floyd deputy sheriff, continued this week a vain search for his 16-year-old son Johnny who has been missing since January 22.

The youth was last seen at Wheelwright Junction, shortly after his car and a pickup truck (See Story No. 8, Page 2)

Span, Road Completion Seen in 1970

Delay on US 23 Work, Prestonsburg to Allen, Seen in Design Change

Commissioner of Highways William B. Hazelrigg last week told State Senator Clifford B. Latta that the bridge to span the Big Sandy at Lancer and the road extension from the bridge up Bull Creek to connect with new US 23 at Water Gap will be advertised for the March 7 letting of contracts.

The statement, included in a letter to Senator Latta, added that completion is expected next year.

The bridge will supplant the present one-lane suspension span which serves the Goble-Roberts Addition and the heavy traffic resulting from the location there of the U. S. Shoe Company plant. Its completion is also vital to the rent-supplement housing project for which ground will be broken Friday afternoon by the Church Housing Association of Prestonsburg.

There is no official word on when construction will begin on the US 23 sector from Katy Friend to Allen. Unofficially, it was said work is not expected before next year. Design changes have delayed the project, and purchase of rights-of-way has not begun.

Hazelrigg said at a Pikeville meeting recently that construction is expected to begin in the late spring or early summer on 3.4 miles of US 23 in Pike county, from Keyser Branch to Weddington Branch. He added that all of US 23 from the Virginia line to Prestonsburg is under design, with the exception of one corridor at Jenkins.

Churches To Mark Housing Beginning

Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Ray Fleming, Kentucky director of the Federal Housing Administration, will be the speakers at the groundbreaking ceremonies to be held at 3 p.m. Friday, marking the beginning of construction of the church-sponsored rent-supplement housing project in the Goble-Roberts Addition of Prestonsburg.

The project consists of 75 housing units which will be built at a total cost of $550,200.

The housing complex, to be known as Highland Heights, will be located on a 4½-acre tract. Eight Prestonsburg churches comprising the Church Housing Association of Prestons-burg (CHAP) are sponsors of the venture which is designed to relieve the housing shortage locally.

City and county officials, representatives of financial institutions, architects, contractor and attorneys involved in the project will be special guests at the ceremonies.

The housing complex will include nine two-story buildings and one of a single story, all comprising 75 housing units ranging from one to three bedrooms in size.

Completion is expected by next fall. D. H. Holbrook, contractor, has already begun some foundation work.

WANTED—YOU GUESS WHAT

Now comes another threatened government directive which revives memory of the old Quaker who, his confidence shaken in the sanity of the world about him, confided to his wife that it appeared everybody was crazy "except thee and me and sometimes I'm not so sure about thee."

We refer to the order issued by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission forbidding mention of preference for a man or woman in help wanted ads. An appeal has been filed from this order by the American Newspaper Publishers Association, and so its enforcement has been delayed, at least temporarily. But suppose it goes into effect what then?

Don Robinson comments on the situation in THE AMERICAN PRESS with tongue in cheek and yet with more deference than such bureaucratic insanity deserves:

"... presuming the order will be carried out, newspapers will no longer be permitted to have columns headed 'Female Help Wanted' or 'Male Help Wanted.' They must be integrated.

"The order would presumably prohibit the use of the word Salesman or Saleswoman, since these words specify sex. In this case I suppose the word Salesperson could be used. But others present greater difficulties.

Take 'waiter' or 'waitress.' What sexless word is there for someone who waits on tables? Should we coin a word like 'waitrix'?

"I suppose such an ad could begin with 'waiter' or 'waitress,' but people object to paying for extra words and would also object to having to pay to add waiter when what they really want is a waitress.

"And with some job names there doesn't seem to be a word for each sex. Take Steeplejack for instance. Would the female be Steeplejackie? Or Watchman. Would it be Watchwoman?

"Others which will cause problems include: Handyman, Brakeman, Businessman, Cameraman, Chambermaid, Counterman and Doorman.

"The order does say that sex may be mentioned when the job could only be reasonably handled by one sex. But even that would require some difficult decision-making in a land where Rosie the Riveter was the name of a popular song."

More than 425 Kentuckians serve on regional mental health-mental retardation boards planning and operating community services, says the Department of Mental Health.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NO CRITICISM FROM HER

EDITOR, The Times: Many years ago Rev. Black of the Presbyterian Church told a story to illustrate his point, concluding, "When the old mule is pulling he's not kicking." Shortly after the recent school fire at Martin a few citizens criticized the Martin Fire Department.

As a grateful near-victim of that fire I want to shout and sing my praises of them, with praise also for the Allen and Prestonsburg Fire Departments.

And to my French students (past and present) who came and said through their spokesman, Debbie Dingus, "We've come to help you out." All of us had been aroused at 4 a.m. and by 5:10 a.m. I was moved out. We stood in my house and watched the three fire departments bring the flames under control for an hour and a half. Then these same young people moved me back with great care, trying hard not to scratch my furniture.

Not all young Americans are rebels and rioters, attempting to destroy everything we oldsters have helped build. Most are good and lovable.

I've also thanked God again and again for the stillness of the winds, for He does take care of His own. So I beg all to accept Him and trust Him for every need.

For as long as I live I'll sing the praise of the following boys and girls:

Libbie Allen, Clinton Barnett, David Chaffin, Davey Davis, Janet DeRossett, Arthur Dingus, Debbie Dingus, Allen Halbert, Jayne Halbert, Susan Halbert, Linda Hogsed, Sherri Howard, Donna Justice, Bud Reynolds, Patty Reynolds, Mary Sue Mayo, and these adults, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Davis, Rev. Leonard Sumner and Mrs. Bill Reynolds. DORTHA W. ALLEN

Miss Furman Spends Furlough in County; Was 3 Years in Africa

Miss Beth Furman is spending a furlough with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Furman, of Betsy Layne, after serving as a missionary in Sierra Leone, West Africa for three years. During her home stay she has visited numerous churches in the West and the Great Lakes area, and next spring will visit churches in Nebraska and other mid-western states.

In Africa Miss Furman served as a nurse in a clinic and also at a school for missionaries' children. She will return to Africa next July for a four-year stay.

MATCHES $25 CONTRIBUTION

EDITOR, The Times: Thank you for printing in The Times the appeals for the Floyd County Chapter of the Red Cross. In the last issue of the paper, your giving the account of the response to the church women for sending "dirty" bags to Vietnam, from the young man from North Carolina along with his check for $25 for the Red Cross has caused me to drop some other things and meet your challenge by matching Mr. George Brown's check with the same amount.

The concern of the women of the Community Methodist Church and the young man's gratitude are very commendable and it is hoped that these, along with the knowledge of Miss Ella White's concern for the Chapter being of help to the boys in service, that she has been carrying on for several months without any pay, will cause Floyd countians to sacrifice and contribute.

In the vicinity of Harold, Betsy Layne and Stanville, the Harold Homemakers Club, led by Mrs. Ruth Stumbo, worked hard at the drive for the Red Cross last year, but many times they were given lectures, excuses and complaints just as others of us had met with in soliciting in previous years.

For several reasons, among which could be listed, "Madam Unpopularity" for participation in so many drives for many causes over several years, I shall not head a drive this year but will help someone who does in our community.

Even an organization cannot reach all people, but if each of us could help the Homemakers or whomever will head the drive, by asking a few people, we would hope to get a little added help.

Remembering the floods of 1957 and 1963, we noticed no hesitancy of people to flock to the Red Cross for help and we received help, but sad to say, many now respond to solicitors with a long tirade of so-and-so getting more help than they.

With neither of us working in 1967 we appreciated, very much, the help given us by the Red Cross to get our house back on a foundation and the help given my husband's mother in making her home livable again.

After the 1963 flood, we were offered but accepted no help as we felt that others needed it more than we.

What I have said, I pray will not be taken as a boast but as a challenge to do all we can to save our Red Cross Chapter.

Are we of Eastern Kentucky, most of whom have more than we've ever had before, willing to let Miss White carry on without any pay, or even worse, lose the Chapter and forget the services rendered us and others?

Do we really care about the boys in Vietnam who may not be contacted except through the Red Cross?

Are we just on the receiving end when disaster strikes? Do we realize that disasters strike elsewhere?

May God help us to see that God works through persons, churches, Red Cross and other organizations.

Please help save the Floyd County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Thank you, Mr. Allen, if you think it feasible to print the letter.

The appeal is to all Floyd countians.

You are surely doing your best through The Times. Respectfully and sincerely, MRS. ANGELINE S. GEORGE Betsy Layne, Ky.

Trees and Shrubs for Wildlife

I will give here a list of trees, shrubs and plants that should be protected on every farm and set out to grow when required. These do a good work of providing food for birds and other wildlife. Many of these are also valuable as ornamentals.

THE DOGWOODS. We have two leading species of dogwoods in our region, both of which can be transplanted and will add beauty to the farm, to parks and roadsides. The leading one is The Flowering Dogwood, which bursts out with a mass of sheer white in April and glorifies the slopes of Appalachia as no other tree can. This dogwood also produces abundant clusters of red berries, which remain on the tree through winter and furnish food for squirrels and birds.

Over 50 species of birds eat the dogwood berries, especially when snow covers up other foods. The flowering dogwood is easily transplanted and is best as an ornamental.

THE ALTERNATE-LEAVED DOGWOOD. Some people call this one "the swamp dogwood," as it is often found growing along the moist banks of streams or swampy places; I have also found it growing in well-sheltered coves of the woods. It does not have leaves in pairs like the flowering dogwood but produces them alternately on the twigs. It blooms in May or June and has large, open clusters of small white flowers. These produce deep blue berries on reddish stems; the berries are eaten by many different species of birds.

The alternate-leaved dogwood has greenish bark and is a lovely small tree. It can be transplanted in damp, moist soils and makes a fine ornamental.

THE PRIVET HEDGE. The common privet or hedge shrub, as it is often called, can be transplanted and it often stays green during the winter. A hedge row is one of the finest shelters for birds in winter; some animals too often take shelter in hedges during a severe winter storm. If not pruned down, the privet will grow into a tall, slender shrub that bears white flowers in dense panicles. The berries are black, shiny, bitter, but are relished by some birds. The privet hedge is valuable for mass planting as a cover for birds, such as quail. The leaves are small, mostly ovate in form and are very attractive. The common privet, as it is called, is a member of the olive family; it has escaped from lawns and borders and has now established itself as a wild shrub along roadsides and in thickets. The berries of privet are eaten by some 20 species of birds.

THE CORALBERRY, OR "INDIAN CURRANT." For some unknown reason, this pretty little shrub is called "the chancy bush" by some people. It can be transplanted and makes a fine border and a good winter shelter for birds. The flowers are pink and are formed in clusters. This shrub often forms dense clumps in old clearings, along roadsides, or waste places. It produces clusters of brilliant red berries which have an inflated covering containing two or three seeds. The berries stay on the branches throughout the winter and are eaten by many birds. The coral berry bush is excellent for planting on steep, eroded banks, to stop soil washing; it will grow in poor soils and will soon form a dense colony. I have transplanted it with success.

THE BLACK HAW. This beautiful small tree is also one of the wild viburnums; it grows to a height of 15 or 20 feet and has red winter buds. In spring these burst out with a mass of sheer white flowers that produce bluish-black berries; these are sweet and edible and are eaten by many kinds of birds and animals. The black haw grows in dry soils and sometimes in moist woods and can be transplanted. It makes a highly desirable ornamental. The bark is said to have much medicinal value as a tonic. The dried bark of the roots has been much used as a diuretic. The black haw is sometimes called "stagbush," or "sloe." (To be continued.)

THE MAPLE-LEAF VIBURNUM. This pretty, small shrub is one of the most attractive of the wild viburnums found in our region and grows in the under-story of the forest, usually on dry, open hillsides. Its leaves are shaped almost precisely like those of the red maple; they also turn to a brilliant rose-crimson in the fall, as do the leaves of red maple. The maple-leaf viburnum bears large clusters of white flowers that are often tinged with yellow. The flowers produce black berries called "drupes," which hang on the twigs far into the winter. The berries are eaten by grouse, quail and about 45 other species of birds.

Parker Brown, 63, Former Water Gap Man, Dies at Chelsea, Mich.

Parker Brown, 63, former Water Gap resident, was stricken and died shortly afterwards last Wednesday at his home at Chelsea, Michigan. He was the victim of an apparent heart attack.

Employed at Chelsea as a fireman of public works, Mr. Brown was born November 7, 1905, a son of the late William and Lula Porter Brown.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rebecca Jarrell Brown; three sons, Curtis Lee Brown, of Manchester, Mich., and Danny and Ralph Brown, both of Water Gap; six sisters, Mrs. Rhoda Jarvis and Mrs. May Hamilton, of Allen, Misses Virgie and Molly Brown, Mrs. Virginia Stii and Mrs. Marie Gordon, all of Columbus, Ohio, and four brothers, Marion Brown, of Hippo, Sammy Brown, of Water Gap, Lincoln Brown, of Allen, and Harry Brown, of Columbus, O.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Carter Funeral Home, the Rev. Bill Amburgey officiating. Burial was made in the Jarrell cemetery at Water Gap.

The following, former baseball teammates of the victim, served as pallbearers: County Judge Henry Stumbo, Lloyd Stumbo, Buck Stumbo, Carlton Stumbo, D. C. Mosley and T. J. Fitzpatrick.

Floyd Minister's Sister Victim in California

She is survived by six daughters and three brothers. Burial was made at Dos Palos.

FORMER McDOWELL STAR LEADS EAST TENN. FROSH
When hotshot Tommy Martin was graduated from McDowell high school with a scoring average of more than 30 points a game, college coaches still were not convinced he could play defense, and many of them consequently showed an amazing lack of interest in the 6-2 guard.
But East Tennessee State University at Johnson City and Cleason (S. C.) felt differently and waged quite a battle for his services. Tennessee won, and now Martin is showing other college coaches how wrong they were.

He's playing with the undefeated East Tennessee freshman team and is his main cog on offense with a 29.2-point average in his first five games. Defense? —he's the team's No. 1 rebounder and is its top assist man.
Says East Tennessee freshman coach Larry Castle of the Floyd countian:
"A lot of coaches in Kentucky thought we were foolish to sign Tommy. They knew he was a good shot but felt he just could not play defense worth a lick. But we found Tommy to be the type of boy who absorbs coaching well . . . He could be starting for the varsity right now, if freshmen were eligible for varsity basketball."
Young Martin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin, of Drift.

This week Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson returned fifty-one hundred ninety-seven dollars and ninety-one cents ($5,197.91) in excess fees. This brings the total amount to over $40,000 that has been returned to the county.
County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson also returned $5,301.97 for occupational licenses, $938.76 for delinquent taxes, $1,011.34 tax collected for recording deeds.
C. "Ollie" Robinson also returned to the Floyd County Board of Education twenty-nine hundred sixteen dollars and seventy-eight cents ($2,916.78). The total amount returned directly to the county and Board of Education was well over $15,000.00 (fifteen thousand dollars) for the past year. (Adv.)

about the drugs' dangers.
Dr. Baie said he is convinced the problem "begins with ignorance on the part of students on what can happen with drug use."
He suggested that "we at least attempt to educate young people about these substances" with a minimum of "moralizing and dogmatism" and a maximum amount of honesty.
Pointing to widespread abuse and illegal trafficking in depressant, stimulant and hallucinogenic drugs, John H. Volge said students from grade school through high school are affected. Volge is executive director of the Kentucky Board of Pharmacy.
"It is the responsibility of educators, guidance counselors and school administrators to educate themselves and their students to the truth about drug abuse," Volge said.
He urged the educators to help make drug-abuse education a school, community and family affair.

Dyan later was identified by Bucky Rose, Arrowwood Hardware employee, as the man to whom he sold a wrecking bar. Two bars were found in weeds at the rear of the postoffice building, apparently hurriedly abandoned.
Nothing was taken from the postoffice. Locks of two doors were forced and an unsuccessful effort had been made to open the safe. Postal Inspector Cliff Garner, of Hazard, came here after Mrs. Fannie P. Runnels, postmaster, had notified postoffice authorities of the break.
Sheriff Joe W. Lewis said this week that he was told Dyan faces a paroxysm charge in Louisville and the case has been set for trial next month.

ing, immediately above the Cow Creek bridge where the drop is only a few feet and where there is a fairly wide stretch of bottom land to catch the wreck before it hits the river, while at the same time no protection is given farther ahead, all along that stretch of road bordered by a high and steep bank and the river, in the vicinity where last Saturday's wreck cost a woman and her two children their lives.

SIGNIFICANT PAUSE

This fellow was fairly well steamed up about the way the neighbor women were monopolizing the party line. Said he wanted to use his phone but couldn't shake them. He finally gave up, he added, when there was a slight pause in the conversation. Decided it was going to go on and on, because that pause was while they were changing ears.

REMINDER

Then there was the celebrated case of the husband facing his wife on the morning after. "I suppose you're still angry with me because I stopped to have a few drinks with the boys last night and came home with this black eye," he ventured. "Oh, no! And in case you don't remember, dear, you didn't have that black eye when you got home."

was reminiscent of the school bus tragedy of 1958 when 26 school children and the school bus driver lost their lives in the Big Sandy, near Knotley Hollow, about two miles from the site of Saturday's tragedy. Several hundred persons lined the highway while the search was made.

There was no eyewitness of the wreck except the boy who survived. He told Graham Burchett, captain of the rescue squad, he felt the impact as the auto hit the post and that he rolled down the window on his side as the car was careening toward the river. The boy recalled that he saw his mother leaving the car on the driver's side. He said he held onto one of his sisters for a time but was forced to release her.

The lone survivor of the accident clambered up the steep bank in the darkness to the highway, was picked up there by an unidentified Michigan motorist and taken to the nearby home of John Burchett where he told of what had happened.

At the time of his arrival there, when the door of the home was opened, the screams of the mother could be heard as she floated downriver.

Shortly after 9 a.m., the body of Tammy was removed by rescue squad members from the river at Knotley Hollow, approximately 2 1/2 miles downstream from the accident scene and within sight of the spot where the school bus tragedy occurred. The child's body, apparently buoyed by an air pocket in her clothing, floated on the surface. Forty-five minutes later, at the same spot, the body of the mother also was sighted on the surface and recovered.

Rescue squad members succeeded in removing the car from the river at 10:50 a.m. Hope that the second child's body might be in the vehicle were dashed. Only two dolls and a comic book floated out of the car and were swept downriver as the auto was pulled ashore.

The car had drifted from above the bridge to a point approximately 100 feet below it. It was located quickly, in mid-stream, but tedious, patient work in the muddy water was required before a firm hold on the auto could be effected with a grappling hook.

The search of the river for the missing body began immediately, and by Sunday searchers from three rescue squads — Floyd, Left Beaver and Pike county—had ranged as far downstream as Auxier.

Although Floyd Rescue Squad members are employed during the week, one boat was expected to resume patrol of the river Wednesday, and a full-fledged search will be resumed through Saturday and Sunday by all three squads.

Mrs. Akers was a native of Craynor, the daughter of the late Anthony Howell. She was first married to Dennis Akers, and later to Robert Joseph Pierce. Surviving, besides her husband and mother, are her son, Phillip, and one brother, Ronnie Howell, of Craynor.

Her daughter is survived by her father, her brother and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sie Akers, of Grethel.

Joint funeral rites for the mother and daughter were held at 11 a.m. Tuesday from the home of Mrs. Pierce's mother, the Revs. Dee Ratliff, Butler Howell, Milford Adams, Chester Newsome and Orville Hamilton officiating. Burial was made in the Long Point cemetery at Craynor under direction of the Carter Funeral Home.

THEY, TOO, FOUND IT GOOD . . .

One of the three history-making astronauts spoke from the lonely vastness of space last week of the earth and called it "good." He looked back, not in the perspective of time but of distance—over the miles that separated him from his native habitat.

A cartoonist soon thereafter showed the Good Earth as a jumble of wrecked cars, shacks and grime.

But whose fault is it that our world is so abused, except ours? You and I who know better should do better.

Radiant Rays

They looked unto Him and were radiant . . . Psalms 34:5

In the last column I invited you to journey with me along the by-ways of 1969, via the printed word, through the medium of this newspaper. We are launched into a never-ending orbit. Our ships have pierced the strata of time known by humans as "the year of our Lord 1969."

We watched the astronauts slung into space as a boomerang. We heard all the reports of "possible dangers" which might prevent their return. These men were clearly aware of the hazards of space travel. They certainly had moments of doubts. When inferior self would say, "Don't go. It has too many unknowns. You have it made. You could stay where you are and your life would be relatively secure for many years." The superior self, however, had the upper hand. These men listened, as they should have, to the warnings, but they heard also the leaders, and saw the previous performances of their rocket-ship and the men that had perfected it. They also had one other thing, their God, "if I ascend up into heaven, thou art there." Psalms 139:8.

Stephen Bender, one of the world's great living poets starts one of his poems, "If It Were Not," with the lines,

If it were not for that Lean executioner who stands Ever beyond a door With axe raised in both hands—

I cannot promise you that the next step won't be your last. It is definite that some of us are going to find the "deliverer" this year. We can listen to the voices of despair and doom and approach each door with timidity and fear, cringing, dreading to enter lest he be waiting for us just beyond the threshold, or we can listen to the One, Who went through that door, before us saying, "Follow me."

I can promise you that 1969 can be that most joyous year of your life. I don't care what laurels have been yours in the past. I don't care on which pinnacle you stand, there are vistas that await your eyes that will make you delirious. There is adventure awaiting you. Come, leap up, and abound with us along this Happy Trail 1969.

I can hear someone say, "but I'm an invalid." My dear friend, if anyone in the world needs to break the confines of their environs it is the invalid. Only your body is fettered. Your spirit is just as free as the day God placed it in you. "God is a Spirit and seeketh such . . ."

The astronauts had a certain "window" they had to enter going out and coming in or they would have been forever lost, or forced to delay their trip. This window was a limited time, a window of days and hours. I am convinced that there are windows and doors that open to each of us and we either enter at the opportune time or we are lost in that nebulous world of inner conflicts and doubts.

"This is the day which the Lord hath made. Let us be glad and rejoice, therein."

Let this be our daily assurance as we start each leg of our journey and there'll be strength for the day.

"Strength for today Is mine all the way And all that I need for tomorrow."

GARRETT HI BETA CLUB HEADS CHRISTMAS DRIVE

Garrett, Ky.—During the week preceding the Christmas vacation, Mrs. Leona V. Fouts' English room of Garrett high school was a scene of unusual activity. Beta Club members were submerged in an array of dolls, toy trains, trucks, cars and whistles. The reason was soon apparent. The club was sponsoring a drive to provide gifts for families in the community who were financially unable to buy their children Christmas presents. Garrett pupils and townspeople generously contributed both toys and money for the drive.

All presents were gift-wrapped and supplemented by helpings of candy, nuts and fruits. The Beta Club is sponsored by Mrs. Fouts and includes the following members: George Messer, president; Rodney Osborne, vice-president; Lou Jean Patton, treasurer; Julia Pratt, secretary; Connie Scott, Daphne Baldrige, Zeda Pratt, Violet Turner, Shirl Hicks, Brenda Francis, Suzy Martin, Shirl Whitaker, Stanton Watson, Joyce O'Quinn, Stacia Hayes, Peggy Martin, Lucy Martin, Rodney Handshoe, Debi Caudill, Jeanne Lafferty, Linda Green, Judy Lazar and Sandy Davis.

2 WITH PERFECT STANDINGS HEAD DEAN'S LIST AT PCC; 25 HONOR STUDENTS LISTED

Thomas Cooper Hobbs, son of Mrs. Noble E. Hobbs, Pikeville, and the late Mr. Hobbs, and Miss Jeralene Adkins, daughter of Mrs. Mary Adkins, Prestonsburg, and the late Mr. Adkins, head the Prestonsburg Community College Dean's List for the fall semester with perfect 4.0 scholastic standings.

They are joined on the Dean's List by 23 other students. An academic average of 3.5, or better, is required for Dean's List honors.

Others listed and their standings follow:

Carol Jean Mace, Prestonsburg, 3.86; Sylvia Anna Magura, Prestonsburg, 3.84; Kathy Montgomery, Edna, 3.82; Stephanie Marie Turner, Langley, 3.82; Curtis Tackett, Jr., McDowell, 3.80; Rita Kay Calhoun, Prestonsburg, 3.79; Pamela J. King, Paintsville, 3.77; Marcia Gail Schroyer, Paintsville, 3.77; Jannetta Faye Meek, Williamsport, 3.75; Phyllis Marie Stanley, Prestonsburg, 3.75; Sherry Ann Amburgy, Langley, 3.71; Michael David Leonard, Paintsville, 3.69; Maxine Prater, David, 3.69; Gregory V. Hazelett, Pikeville, 3.65; Thursa Ruth Crisp, Allen, 3.63; Kathryn Barker, Paintsville, 3.60; Rose Marie Frazier, Martin, 3.60; Eric D. Hall, Allen, 3.60; Vonda Jean Osborn, Buckingham, 3.60; Vickie Lynn Strunk, Pikeville, 3.60; Johnny H. Rasnick, Pikeville, 3.57; Samuel Lynn Arnett, Hendricks, 3.50.

The worst mistake a turkey hunter can make is calling too often. When you think a gobbler is interested, leave that caller alone.—Sports Afield.

The Daredevils' last defeat came at the hands of the state's No. 2 team, the Clark County Cardinals. McDowell has given opponents only 52 points per game. This defense is helped immensely by 6-10 freshman center Steve Smith who is averaging 12 blocked shots per game.

The offense is the improved area that hurt the Daredevils early in the season. All five starters are averaging in double figures. Benjie Stewart, a 6-2 senior forward, paces the team with a 17-point average, followed by Steve Smith with 14. Charles Vance, 5-10 forward, is hitting at a 13-point clip and Ira Newman is close behind at 11 points per game. Sophomore Glenn Turner, 6-foot guard, has been hitting for an 11-point average since starting over the last 10 games.

The Daredevils have good bench strength in subs such as Barry Hopkins, Mike Ousley, Byron Beard and Edgar Newman.

Coaching is also the least of the Devil's worries. Coach Pete Grigsby, Jr. won his 200th game Friday night against Wheelwright.

Two Auxier Students On U. K. Dean's List

Miss Jane C. Bickford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Bickford, of Auxier, and Teresa Jo Hopson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Hopson, also of Auxier, have been named to the Dean's List at the University of Kentucky for the fall semester of 1968. To receive this honor the girls were required to maintain an academic average of 3.5 or better out of a possible 4.0.

Miss Bickford and Miss Hopson are both 1968 graduates of Prestonsburg high school and 1968 graduates of Prestonsburg Community College.

"The purpose of the seminar is to show them how to carry out their responsibilities satisfactorily," he added.

Giant Morgan Poplar Over 400 Years Old

Four hundred years old—still tall, straight and strong! About 40 years after Columbus made his famous voyage a poplar tree seedling started growing in an area that in 1822 would be proposed as Morgan county.

Today on the Willard Ingram farm located on the Maytown road, just off US 480 at Ezel, the giant poplar stands, king of its forest domain. The tree is approximately 25 feet at its base and a long-armed man spreading his arms cannot nearly reach around one side of the woodland monarch.

Something like eight years ago biologists visited the tree and made calculations which would set the poplar's age at 430 years.

Quail shooters who hunt in tight cover should use a glove on the left hand to ward off briars and branches.

NOTICE

LT. GOV. ASKS REPEAL OF CAR TRANSFER TAX

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 27.—Lieutenant Governor Wendell Ford has recommended repeal of the 5 percent state tax on transfer of automobiles where there is no sale and no money changes hands.

Pointing out the tax applies even when the title of a car is transferred between husband and wife or a parent and child and even though no money changes hands, Ford said, "This is an unfair tax and there's no justification for it. Many Kentucky boys returning from Vietnam are having to pay from $75 to $150 state tax just to get their own car transferred back to their name from their parents' names. That's pretty rough on a fellow who's been fighting for his country for $125 a month," Ford said.

Under a law which took effect this year, a 5 percent state usage tax is collected on 90 percent of a vehicle's full Blue Book value each time title is transferred if no trade-in is involved. The law sets a formula for tax on a her vehicle transactions.

Ford has asked Gov. Louie B. Nunn not to oppose the suggested repeal. In a letter to Nunn last week, Ford said:

"This new tax is part of the Tax Package you sought and obtained from the 1968 Legislature and on which you were then unwilling to accept any major

Two Named Leaders In Heart Fund Drive Starting Next Week

Two Floyd county residents have been appointed to leadership posts in the 1969 Heart Fund drive, it has been announced by former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, Kentucky campaign chairman. They are: Glen Anderson, Jr., Prestonsburg, to serve as Floyd County Heart Fund chairman, and Mrs. S. M. Martin, Wayland-Lackey-Garrett Heart Fund chairman.

Mrs. Harris S. Howard, Prestonsburg, will continue to serve as year-round Memorial Gifts chairman for the county. Breathitt said. Memorial contributions totalled $47,000 in the county during the last fiscal year.

The month-long Heart Fund drive starts February 1, with a statewide Coffee Day benefit event scheduled for February 3. A house-to-house solicitation will be conducted on Heart Sunday, February 23. Sponsors of the drive in the county include the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club.

Breathitt hailed the increasingly successful series of heart transplants throughout the nation as "another long step forward in the battle against our nation's greatest health problem."

He pointed out that "last year our more than 45,000 volunteers established another record high total of over $515,000 in contributions to support Heart's major projects in the fields of research, community service and health education." Breathitt added that "we hope and expect to do even better this year."
