Health Program Gets New Grant

OEO Funds Floyd Work Third Year

Comprehensive Health Services in Floyd-Co. Attract Wide Interest

Floyd county's Comprehensive Health Program, the first to be initiated in the nation, last week received from the Office of Economic Opportunity a grant of $1,104,464 to continue its work for a third year.

Announcement of OEO's continued support of the pilot project in this county was made by Congressman Carl D. Perkins in a telegram received here by Dr. Russell L. Hall, director of the program.

The Comprehensive Health Program began its third year, July 1. It was originally planned to cover a five-year period, with overall expenditures in the county set at $5 million or more. It was designed to take health and medical services to the poor in the remotest areas.

Its success in doing just that has attracted the interest of other states and cities. Three other counties in the United States now have similar programs. The work done in this county has been closely watched through OEO studies.

"We feel we have succeeded in developing this program as it should be, or it would not have received continued OEO support," Dr. Hall commented this week.

The program center is in the Health Department building here. Eight outposts have been established, with a qualified nurse, four aides and a clerk assigned to each. In one section, Mud Creek, six aides are working because of the difficulty encountered in covering that part of the county. Home visits find those needing advice, health and medical assistance. If the problem is of a more serious nature, the program provides transportation for the patient to a doctor or hospital. Between 80 and 90 persons, in (See Story No. 5, Page 5)

Small Mines See Threat In Proposed Legislation

Small coal mining operations which are threatened by federal legislation requiring costly "permissible" explosion-proof firing equipment may have won a grace period of up to 10 years in which to make the changeover.

Small-mine operators feel they have a commitment for a milder bill in Congress which would permit a delay of conversion to costlier equipment after their present equipment wears to the point it must be replaced. Yet the fuse-and-cap firing system widely in use may have to be replaced by electric detonators.

Kentucky operators have expressed the fear that the proposed federal legislation will put small mines out of business and cost the state millions in payrolls. One such is B. F. Reed, of Drift, treasurer of the Turner Elkhorn Coal Company, who

McDowell Driver Seriously Injured In Speedway Wreck

Danny Blanton, 20, of McDowell, who was seriously injured in a wreck at the Beaver Valley Speedway, near Martin, Saturday night, was able to be removed Wednesday from the UK Medical Center, Lexington, to the McDowell Memorial Hospital.

Reports received here said Blanton's back was broken and his skull fractured.

The race reportedly was Blanton's second. The wreck apparently resulted from a split front tire on a curve going into the backstretch of the speedway. The car overturned, the driver's seat-belt snapped and he was thrown through the windshield a distance of approximately 30 feet.

This Town . . . That World

If I haven't got my calendar as badly mixed up as when I jumped the gun on Daylight Savings Time, July has just about had it.

QUIET COVE?

The new Scenic South — my favorite among all the "house organs" that reach this desk — has for its back cover a color shot of what it calls "a quiet cove on Lake Cumberland . . ." It's a cove, and it's beautiful, but the two power boats in the foreground and another off in the distance indicate that the quiet of that cove belonged to the past.

PLACE OF MIRACLES

The Courier-Journal has been devoting considerable space to the matter of water safety, emphasizing the need by pointing to several tragedies. This is no trivial matter. If you think the age of miracles is past, visit Dewey Lake, any summer, week-end; you'll see one when every boat and boater comes in safely. Inboards, small fishing craft — everybody get into the act, bob, bob, bobbing their way along, with almost everybody on this narrow impoundment making all the speed they can get out of their motors.

Some sunny day, our day of grace will run out. Tragedy will strike.

We have no solution to the problem, but we have a suggestion. The traffic should be divided on week-ends. Smaller boats should be kept off the lake, below Brandy Keg Cove. Full-speed operation of more powerful boats might well be restricted to that part of the lake from Brandy Keg Cove to the dam.

Now, I suppose some boater will have a suggestion for me — namely, that I go, soak my head in Brandy Keg Cove.

PROOF HE WASN'T FRIGHTENED

One of the more genteel stories that reaches this desk has to do with the domesticated polecat that this woman had kept as a pet. The striped one had never been odorized, but he was handled (See Story No. 4, Page 5)

HALL TAKEN AS 'SHINER

Mud Creek Still Cut In Saturday Raid; Man Held Here in Auto Case

A moonshine raid staged Saturday on Little Mud Creek by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and an Internal Revenue agent resulted in the arrest of Okie Hall who, they said, was found at a four-barrel still.

The officers confiscated the still, poured out 220 gallons of mash and took their prisoner before the U. S. Commissioner at Pikeville.

Henry M. Poston, who is charged with robbery in this county, was jailed last week by Sheriff Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Claude Flanery. They marked him to be held for Indiana authorities to answer to an auto theft charge.

Other booked at the jail here within the week included:

Terry Bentley, fishing without license, arrested by Conservation Officer Don Mead; Gene McKinney, reckless driving, booked by Deputy Sheriffs Flanery and Newcome; Mickey R. Sexton, no operator's license, by State Trooper Don Thornsberry; Robert Phillip Settles, reckless driving, by State Trooper Bevin; Larry Douglas Music, driving while under the influence of alcohol and no operator's license, by State Trooper Thornsberry; Hubert Draughn, reckless driving, arrested by Constable Kenneth Roberts.

TRIAL DELAY IS GRANTED

Knott Murder Case Scheduled August 11; Cornett Disqualifies

Trial of Curtis Bartley, former Floyd county man, on a murder charge in connection with the gunshot death of James E. Turner, of Wheelwright, was continued Monday in the Knott circuit court till August 11. The case had been transferred from Perry county to Knott after testimony had been produced showing that Turner was shot while in a car in Knott county, not in Perry as was first believed.

The continuance followed the plea of defense attorneys, Cordell Martin and Dan Martin, that all defense witnesses had not been summoned. Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo, of this county, who is assisting Knott Commonwealth's Attorney Afton Smith in the prosecution, told the court subpoenas for witnesses living in this county were not placed in the hands of Sheriff Joe W. Lewis here till noon last Saturday and that the sheriff did not have time to serve the subpoenas in time for the Monday hearing.

Relatives of the slain man who were in the courtroom when the case was reluctantly continued were vocal in their criticism of Circuit Judge John Chris Cornett, and the victim's mother was given a five-hour jail term for contempt of court. Judge Cornett later suspended the sentence and announced that he was disqualifying as trial judge in the case.

BOOSTERS' CLUB TO HOLD HAM DINNER, SUNDAY

'Come Alive,' Ford Tells Dems Here

"The Democratic Party in Kentucky must come alive," Lt. Governor Wendell Ford told party members from 12 counties of the Seventh Congressional district Friday night at Prestonsburg high school.

Ford was the featured speaker at the party workshop, one of 10 being held throughout the state this month.

He warned that if the party fails to be revitalized to meet the needs of Kentuckians, "we will richly deserve the Commissioner Meades, the Commissioner Mobleys and the Spiro Agnews."

In a more optimistic view he concluded that if the Democratic party is successful, "our party will be restored to its rightful place in the hearts and minds of Kentuckians."

He outlined the statement of principles dated recently by a committee of Democrats from all over the state.

Ford called for legislation that would provide for medicine and drugs to be exempted from the present sales tax and an end to the present sales tax and an end to the five per cent usage tax on the transfer of motor vehicles.

Most Mines Listed Protect Workers

Enforcement of the law requiring employers of three or more persons in a "hazardous" occupation to provide workmen's compensation for them or to close their operations obviously will not be the difficult task in this county that might have been expected.

For many of the coal companies listed in The Times last week as having been notified by Attorney General John B. Breckinridge to provide workmen's compensation or other indemnity for their workers, or to close, are already covered.

Many of the mines listed in last week's report take their coal to the cleaning plants of the Turner Elkhorn Mining Company, and each of these mines is covered by workman's compensation under a joint policy.

Perkins To Speak Friday At Allen PACE Center

Congressman Carl D. Perkins will speak Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the PACE Community Center in Allen. Dr. George P. Archer, mayor of Prestonsburg, will introduce Congressman Perkins. The public is invited to attend.

Programs in Appalachia Through Christian Effort, Inc., is currently conducting a summer program centered in Tram and Dvale in conjunction with the Floyd county schools. The program involves 20 college student-advisers from 10 universities throughout the United States. The program includes tutoring, arts and crafts, and recreation. Some of the students will receive college credit from their universities for their participation in the program.

The tutoring program is under the direction of the community psychologist from the Mountain Mental Health Center in Prestonsburg. The volunteers are also working at Archer Park, painting a mural in the recreation room. The entire project is under the supervision of the director, Tony Pappano, who is responsible for co-ordination of programs and services.

Previous speakers at the PACE Center were Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd county schools; Clem Martin, director of instruction; Ray Brackett, Title I co-ordinator, and Dr. Francis Sherman, of Martin, who spoke at the orientation of the students. "We do not buy coal from any mine that is not so covered," B. F. Reed, treasurer of Turner Elkhorn Mining, said.

Mr. Reed said the policy covering these mines is on record in the Attorney General's office but that it does not list each individual small mine. The policy is renewed annually, and this year's renewal will be made on Friday of this week.

Thirty mines were listed last week for "apparent" non-compliance with the workmen's compensation act, and local enforcement was placed in the hands of the commonwealth's attorney and county attorney. At that time the connection of many of the mines with Turner Elkhorn was not known.

plained the function of their outposts at Dvale and Mud Creek to the students. David Walls, director of the Appalachian Volunteers, and Dick Stai, director of Mountain Mental Health Center, explained the workings of their organizations. Dr. Joseph Maloney, director of the Urban Studies Center at the University of Louisville, told of the "New Town" concept being developed in Louisville, and Dr. George P. Archer discussed the growth of the area.

Eight Women Here, First Ky. WIN Program Grads

Certificates were presented here July 21 to eight adults who compose the first group in Kentucky to complete their educational training under the new WIN 2-4 program.

Samuel Evans, Louisville, Community Employment Program supervisor, presented certificates to Mrs. Helen V. Arms, West Van Lear, Mrs. Valerie Brewer, Denver, Ky., Hope Collett, Garrett, Mrs. Janie Holbrook, Blue River, Mrs. Jennifer Isaac, Wheelwright, Bethel Johnson, Staffordsville, Betty Jean Jones, Hueysville, and Mrs. Evelyn Williamson, of Inez.

Members of this first graduating group later last week took the high equivalency test at Prestonsburg Community College which, if successfully completed, will entitle them to attend most colleges or to take further training at any vocational school. Six of the eight passed the test.

The WIN (Work Incentive) Program was initiated under auspices of the U. S. Department of Labor and the Kentucky Department of Economic Security, in cooperation with the Floyd County Board of Education's adult division which is directed by James W. Salisbury. Mrs. Bill Ratliff, of Allen,

TRIAL SHIFTS TO PIKE-CO.

$547,945 Damage Suit In Electrocutation Case Transferred from Floyd

The $547,945 damage suit initially filed in the Floyd circuit court in the electrocution of 18-year-old Stephen Eugene Gearheart, of Harold, will be heard in the Pike circuit court.

Identical complaints were filed in both the circuit court here and Pike circuit court, and the latter will be the scene of the trial, a jurisdictional decision provides.

The suit, filed by the victim's mother, Mrs. Elaine Gearheart, alleges joint negligence against the Kentucky Power Company and Charles Ray Adkins, an employee of the Harold Telephone Company.

Young Gearheart was electrocuted May 17, 1968 when he came in contact with a dropline leading to a home on the Red Morg Branch of Mud Creek, the suit says. Plaintiff contends the power company wrongfully maintained its power line along the branch, paralleling the telephone line, and knowingly permitted the drop line to pass over its uninsulated power line.

Girl Was Burned In Boat Explosion

Contrary to last week's report of the explosion which destroyed one boat at the Jenny Wiley boat dock and damaged another, one person was injured, Miss Jeannie Brooks, of Betsy Layne, suffered second-degree burns and was hospitalized.

Miss Brooks credited Harry Sellards, Jr., of Shelbiana, with saving her life. Sellards and Tommy Martin, of Drift, also were credited with preventing a dock-wide conflagration by pushing the burning boats away from others moored nearby.

FIRE LEVELS PIKE HI GYM

P'burg Fire Department Joins in Fighting Blaze; Loss Estimate $500,000

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Pikeville high school gymnasium early Tuesday at an estimated loss of $500,000. Its predecessor, a frame structure, met the same fate in 1947.

The Prestonsburg and Williamson, W. Va. fire departments joined the Pikeville department in fighting the blaze which threatened nearby school structures and residences.

The gym, named T. W. Oliver Memorial Gymnasium in honor of the veteran superintendent of Pikeville city schools who died in 1949, was built in 1949 at a cost of $228,000, and it seated 3,200. It is estimated replacement of the gym will cost from $500,000 to $600,000. It was said insurance will cover approximately 40% of the cost of a new gym.

Pikeville Fire Chief Charles T. Smith said his investigation of various rumors has not uncovered anything suspicious about the blaze.

The school has been offered the gymnasium facilities of Pikeville College while it awaits construction of a new gym.

Pikeville's was the third gymnasium in the Big Sandy Valley to be lost to fire in the last two years. The Betsy Layne and Martin gyms burned earlier.

How To Build a Town?—Work 16 Hours a Day

Woodrow Branham inspects sign proclaiming result of his work.

If ever Prestonsburg and Paintsville become, as some predict, "a solid town," all the way along the 12-mile stretch between the two county-seats, one part of it will be the result of the initiative and hard work of one man.

A few years ago, the John Branham farm, between Prestonsburg and Auxier, was just that — a farm. A good one but, except for the brief time it was the site of an air strip, used only for growing crops and pasture. Now it is the site of Branham Village, a growing community of about 20 homes, most of which are new.

The development began after the death of Mr. Branham. His son, Woodrow Branham, decided his share of the estate lay in the development of homes rather than in farming.

Since that time, with the help of his seven sons, Mr. Branham has built 13 homes and now has under construction there an apartment structure of four two-bed-

Ohio Group Takes Lead In Leasing

Newest 'Gold Rush' Seen in Lawrence, Elliott and Rowan

America's newest gold strike has been made, The Times learned this week, in the Lawrence-Elliott-Rowan county triangle.

Representatives of an Ohio group, said to be composed largely of Cincinnatians, have been quietly at work, leasing thousands of acres of mineral rights in the large counties over a period of weeks. No official confirmation could be had on the find while negotiations for mineral rights continued, but it is known that the report is based on fact.

Ore samples contain gold, silver and some lead, it was said, and assays show the area to contain what one source described as "the richest mineral seen on this continent."

The trail of precious metals began with an outcropping of gold, across the Big Sandy from Louisa, which was found some months ago. A small extraction plant was established there but not until recently did the search cross the river into Lawrence and adjoining counties. Core drilling began and this work has extended on from Lawrence through a part of Elliott and within 10 miles of Morehead, in Rowan county.

Talk is heard here of plans for an extraction plant next to be established in the area at a cost of around $5 million.

The find flies in the face of geologists' oft-repeated protests that no gold can exist in rock formations such as Eastern Kentucky's. For this reason the legendary Swift Silver Mine has been considered "pure fiction" by geologists.

Vaughan Family Sets First Annual Reunion

The Vaughn family will hold its first regional reunion August 3 at Central Park, Ashland, it is announced. Plans for the gathering have been under way for weeks, according to James E. Vaughan, Delaplaine, Ark., one of the prime promoters. All Vaughan Kinsmen are urged to attend.

There are two branches of the Vaughns in the region, the Arkansas member notes. The upper Big Sandy Vaughns and those of the lower section of the river and in Wayne County, W. Va. are separate entities of the clan. The Vaughns of Floyd County are descendants of William Patrick Vaughan and the Indian maid, Fair-a-Bee-Lunah. Their son, Ayres T. (Grand sire) Vaughan, settled near East Point and lies buried on the Auxier Road. He died in 1842 at the age of 100 years.

The lower Big Sandy and Southern West Virginia Vaughns are descendants of Anthony Wayne Vaughan, early settler of that area. The Vaughns in the region are descendants of Welsh immigrants who came to America in the Seventeenth Century. Both the lower and upper Big Sandy Valley families are thought to have a common origin.

Asked how many customers he had to begin with, he said, "None, unless I count myself. I just knew we needed gas." Now, the company has 270 customers, and the system ranges all the way from the Cliff bridge, near here, to Blockhouse Bottom in Johnson county.

Branham is sole-owner of the gas company and the Auxier Road Real Estate Co., Inc. He at first had the help of all his sons, but Bill, Dudley, Roscoe and Estill are now married, and Gary is in Vietnam. Paul serves the two companies as bookkeeper while holding a job elsewhere. Only Don and Woody regularly work with their father.

The 53-year-old Branham tells of the early days of the gas company. "We took up pipe in Pike county and hauled it here, dug the ditchline, did everything necessary to get going."

He says you can do a lot of things if you work 16 hours a day. Sundays, he is associate pastor of the Dwale circuit, United Methodist Church.

Real estate, house-building, developing and operating a gas company — it's easy to believe Branham works as much as 16 hours a day. But here's the clincher:

He holds a regular, fulltime job with Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company as a pressure operator.

impossible using electrical detonators without wiring each charge individually or without expensive time delay devices.

The operator who uses fuses simply lights each fuse a second or two apart, which means the caps go off at closely spaced intervals.

One Kentucky operator, who says he undercuts and uses electrical detonators himself, said it would be "a heck of a shame" to put small operations out of business.

"They (Bureau of Mines officials) contend the small mine is going out anyway, and it doesn't really matter. But to me it does matter. There are an awful lot of men, some too old or not fit enough to work in the big mines, who make their living in those small mines," he said.

He speculated the end result of the mine safety bill would be that "no new people will be entering the industry." "I'll manage to survive. But someone else wanting to start a mine will need at least $150,000 or even $250,000 if he buys new equipment. You won't be able to start with $5,000 anymore," he said.

He cited his own mine which now uses hand-held drills costing about $75 each. Someone starting a new mine wouldn't be able to use this "non-permissible" equipment and would have to buy "permissible" mobile drills costing from $16,000 to $25,000 each.

The isolation of many Eastern Kentucky operations, he said, also would force them out of business because of the lack of "permissible" electrical mine equipment that operates off single-phase 220-volt electricity.

"It is just economically impossible to pay that kind of money when you are only going to be using the power line a year or so until the seam is worked out," he said.

He estimated that throughout the industry some $1 billion would be spent over the next 16 years in converting the small non-gassy mines to "permissible" standards.

gently, was a docile pet and never offended anybody.

This old mountaineer who came calling one day shied away at sight of the skunk, but was reassured by the woman. "My pet is perfectly harmless," she cooed. The old fellow edged nervously toward her and the pet, and when he was only a few yards distant, the "harmless" pet histed his tail and let fly.

When quiet and a modicum of peace was restored, the woman expressed her regret. "But you frightened him — that is why he did that," she told the old fellow.

And that explanation created another uproar. "Frightened him, did it?" the victim roared. "Well, let me tell you, young lady, I know enough about shootin' to know this — nothin' that's skeered can take steady aim without a rest and hit a body square between the eyes at that distance."

Two Allen residents won first place awards and another placed second in a motorcycle hill climb meet Sunday at Newark, Ohio.

Terry Kinzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kinzer, and Tommy Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Allen, were titlists in each of the events in which they participated, Kinzer riding a 650-cc Triumph, and Allen, a 260-cc Bultaco. Climon Tackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Tackett, of Ivel, rode a 250-cc Bultaco to a second place finish in his class. They were awarded trophies.

The hill climb, a sanctioned event of the American Motorcycle Association, attracted entrants from several states. Kinzer, Allen and Tackett entered the meet as representatives of Kinzer's Cycle Shop at Allen.

It doesn't complicate your life. Maverick is the simple machine—simple to own, simple to repair, simple to service, simple to drive.

It doesn't cost a lot. With prices everywhere going sky-high, Maverick comes along with a down-to-earth price—$1995.*

It doesn't have a tiny trunk. Maverick gives you 10.4 cu. ft. of trunk space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. Now the whole family's luggage can go along for the ride.

It doesn't squeeze you in. Some big people live in this country. That's why we made Maverick bigger than the imports. Lots of legroom and shoulder room.

It doesn't skip on essentials. Maverick gives you tough brakes, unitized body construction, rustproofing, and four coats of paint. Its 3-speed transmission is able to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.

It doesn't burn a lot of gas. Maverick gives you the kind of mileage you'd expect from a little import—even with a powerful six-cylinder engine.

It doesn't hold back on power. Turn on the engine and turn loose 105 horses—nearly twice as much as the leading import. This means highway power, passing power. The kind of power you need.

It doesn't handle like a kite. The road might be wet and the wind strong but Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high—great for stability. (Most economy imports are higher than their tread is wide.)

It doesn't follow the herd. Maverick's new, different. A bright idea with bold, new colors. See your Ford Dealer for the rest of the story. Find out why Maverick is the hottest selling new car to come along since Mustang.

SBA Offices in Area Temporarily Closed

C. R. Wagoner, acting regional director of the Small Business Administration, gave formal notice this week that the part-time offices in London, Pikeville and Hazard will be temporarily closed due to the heavy volume of disaster loans in the Eastern United States.

Loan officers from the Louisville regional office have been assigned to disaster areas for six to eight weeks. When personnel is again available the three Eastern offices will be re-opened, and public will be notified.

Meanwhile, residents of this area may contact the Louisville regional office of SBA, Federal Building, Federal Place, Louisville.

Turner Concludes Woodmen of World Work of 16 Years

Ernest Turner, of Drift, last week made his 16th all-expense-paid trip in 16 years as a reward for business produced for Woodmen of the World, and on his return home announced that he is retiring as the Woodmen district manager, effective Aug. 1.

Mr. Turner's retirement followed his 65th birthday last week, an occasion on which he was honored, first, with a birthday party hosted in Lexington by Harry Bailey, state Woodmen manager, later in the week at the Woodmen national convention in San Francisco, and, finally, upon his return home where he was honored by relatives and friends. He was accompanied to San Francisco by Mrs. Turner.

The Drift man has been district manager for Woodmen of the World, the last 10 years. Upon his retirement his son, David Turner, a teacher in McDowell high school, will become field representative for Woodmen. His son is a graduate of Morehead State University where he was a member of the Eagles basketball team.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore—By Gordon Wilson, Ph.D.

Recently I have read Townsend Scudder's CONCORD: AMERICAN TOWN, a fascinating history of Concord, Massachusetts, and its part in American history since its founding in 1635. The author has especially taken up the events of national scope in which Concord people had a part.

It is astonishing how many people and virile ideas have come from that little town, less than half as large as the one I live in. What town or city would not be proud of such writers as Emerson and Thoreau, such sculptors as Daniel Chester French, such botanists as Ephraim Wales Bull, the perfecter of the Concord grape?

But this is not the impression that is greatest in the book, however important may be Concord's contribution to our national life. As I read, especially the later chapters, I was more and more impressed with the powerful effect of the old traditions and customs of this quaint, historic, little New England town. Regardless of the racial or linguistic origin of the people of Concord today, they are all genuine Concordians, inheritors of the great names and great events of the place. The thirty-five boys who died in World War II who had called Concord home bore names that only about half the time echoed the original names of the Puritan settlers. Decorations for bravery, included foreign-born boys from many parts of the world, especially Italy. Concord, as I recall from a visit there in the three-hundredth year of its life, has many citizens who speak New England English brokenly, but they speak it rather than their native languages, and their children are as much New England in all folkways as the descendants of the Bulkleys, the Hoars, the Emersons themselves. As a teacher of language I have often been impressed with the great influence on our speech by the earliest settlers, in Virginia and Massachusetts especially. Those early comers not only acquired land and set up homes; they established a trend in speech that exists to this day. Thousands of later immigrants learned to speak in the manner of the first settlers. The schools consciously perpetuated the speech of the founders. So persistent has this custom been that people four generations away from New England retain some of their ancestors' distinctive pronunciations; Tidewater pronunciation of OU in such words as HOUSE seem never to die out. Even the rate of speed used in these two areas persists, so that the quick, deep New England speech and the equally deep but much slower speech of the old-fashioned Southerner are typical wherever found.

Wherever the New Englanders went as emigrants, they took with them their distinctive customs, so that a village in southern Michigan may look almost like one in Massachusetts or Maine. The organization of government, in the same way, follow the New England pattern. The Southern county seat town is repeated in the nearer Middle West faithfully; there are towns in southern Indiana that could be moved south of the Ohio River and reestablished without being detected as foreign. A state like Indiana or Illinois illustrates these two major factors in our American civilization very well. Starting at the Ohio River, one finds no special change from Kentucky or even farther south; then beyond Indianapolis, he is in a new world. The tempo of life is different; the buildings reflect a different origin; localisms of expressions sound slightly strange or like something in a book, so far as a Southerner is concerned. In spite of an enormous infiltration of Pennsylvania Germans, many later Germans, a good many French, and hosts of later migrations, the earliest impressions remain, actually changing the late-comers from the South or the East or from foreign lands into the established pattern.

The Expatriates Would Come Home

By Rex Probus

Frankfort, Ky. — There is no precise count on the number of transplanted Kentuckians who would like to return to their native land, but an Eastern Kentucky weekly newspaper has produced evidence that their number would be legion if only suitable jobs were available.

"Kentucky is my home. I'll come back for half the pay," was one response to a job survey which the Paintsville Herald aimed at out-of-state subscribers.

The paper received over 300 responses in the form of applications for jobs at American-Standard, a new plant on Highway 460 between Paintsville and Prestonsburg.

Most of the applicants came from Michigan and Ohio, with attached notes containing comments similar to the one above.

Several said, "I wouldn't have left my Eastern Kentucky home if there had been work."

Allen Perry, editor and publisher of the Paintsville Herald, said his paper's poll was "one small part of a whole lot of effort" to get American-Standard to locate in the area. The plant, which will initially employ 250 persons, began construction in June.

Perry said the largest factors in persuading American-Standard to locate in Paintsville were Mayo State Vocational school and the people of Eastern Kentucky. In speaking of his own community the editor said Paintsville is "very progressive, the people are progressive."

An example of the progress of Paintsville, Perry pointed out, is its city recreation area, complete with swimming pool, built twenty years ago.

In wooing American-Standard to Paintsville site, Perry and the other community leaders used records of Mayo School and Ward Manufacturing Co., located at nearby Salyersville. Through those records they were able to show that "every time anyone has tried people in Eastern Kentucky they have found them to be good and loyal workers. Eastern Kentuckians are not afraid of work, they want to work," Perry said.

While Perry was being interviewed he received a call from Winston Quillen, a plant foreman for 12 years in Michigan. After talking to Quillen, Perry said, "There's the best story I could give you. He wants to come back bad enough to call long distance from Michigan. He'd like to leave right now and come back."

The campaign to get American-Standard to Paintsville was started in August of 1968 when the Louisville Courier-Journal ran a story announcing that Hobart Manufacturing Co. was not going to pick-up its option on the "Kendwood" site.

Perry, then president of the Chamber of Commerce, was quoted in the article as saying how disappointed the community was, but that they would try again. Roger MacKenzie, then project manager for American-Standard in Louisville, read the article and called Perry.

From that point, MacKenzie and other company officials worked for eight months with five community leaders.

MacKenzie and American-Standard worked almost incognito during this period, seldom making personal contacts in the community outside the five. Perry said "they wanted us to find the information for them and relay it to them. Outside of us they didn't tell anybody who they were until April."

MacKenzie will be plant manager of the new facility.

Mayo school also "played a tremendous role in getting American-Standard here," according to Perry. He said company officials spent several days at the school going over records and talking to instructors. Mayo school, which is almost totally state supported, graduated 225 this spring.

American-Standard, organized in Louisville in 1860, had over a billion dollars in international sales last year. Its Paintsville plant will make "revolutionary, new products" and is expected to eventually employ 450 Eastern Kentuckians.

Perry said he was told the company "would like to employ all of the people from this area."

Be in Favor of This?--

1. Alcohol Is a Traffic Hazard:

The National Safety Council says, "Drinking may be a factor in as many as one-half the fatal motor vehicle accidents." Over 26,000 citizens were killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1968 in which drinking drivers were involved.

2. Alcohol Is a Home Hazard:

Boston Probate Judge Robert Wilson, Sr., says, "Social drinking with the boys is leading alarmingly often to broken homes and divorce." He states that in more than one-half of the divorce cases coming before him, intoxication is a major factor. With broken homes, children are turned loose to become delinquents.

3. Alcohol Is a Crime Hazard:

From Statistical Abstract of the United States, 1965 edition, "53.7% of all reported arrests were for liquor law violations." J. Edgar Hoover (FBI) says that in studies made in some areas up to 90% of the crime can be related to drinking of beverage alcohol.

4. Alcohol Is a Health Hazard:

The United States Public Health Service has deemed alcoholism as one of the four most serious health problems in the nation. Six million alcoholics (150,000 in Kentucky) in the nation -- and we are still producing them at the rate of 250,000 to 300,000 every year.

5. Alcohol Is a Spiritual Hazard:

Alcohol is a poison (Prov. 23:32); Alcohol is a narcotic (Prov. 23:35); Alcohol is an anaesthetic (Prov. 31:6); Alcohol causes drunkenness which is condemned by God (Gal. 5:21); Causing one's neighbor to drink invokes the wrath of God (Habakkuk 2:15,16).

OAKS WORTH KNOWING BETTER

Two of the finest oaks nature ever made are occasionally found in the Tri-State region, but they are the least known of our native oaks and surely deserve a closer study and a wider planting. These two are the Burr Oak, also called the Mossy-Cup Oak, and the Chinquapin Oak, which some botanists call the Yellow Oak. Some also spell the name "chinquapin"—the old Indian name for this tree.

The Burr oak is noted for having the most beautiful and the largest acorn of all the oaks; I have found acorns of this tree as large as a hen's egg or more. The Chinquapin Oak is noted for having the smallest acorn of all its family. Both these trees bear acorns that are sweet and edible when thoroughly seasoned out. The big acorns of the Burr Oak are highly prized by many kinds of wild life; squirrels and chipmunks store them away for winter use.

Both these oaks belong to the White Oak group and both have lumber that is tops for all kinds of building materials, cabinets and furniture. The wood of the Burr Oak is classed with that of white oak in value; it is often used in the ornamental mirrors, so highly prized by makers of fine furniture.

The Burr Oak can be quickly identified by its beautifully lobed leaves and by the "mossy cup," which often encloses most of the acorn. Around the top of the cup, there is a fringe of silvery thread-like projections, which resemble silvery moss and give the tree its name, "Mossy-Cup Oak." These acorns are large and beautiful and in the fall one may hear them thudding on the ground like baseballs falling from the tree. The leaf has large, rounded lobes at the front portion; near the middle the leaf is almost cut to the midrib by opposite sinuses; the shape of the leaf is tapering from the front end to the rear and is somewhat like that of the post oak, except it is not as thick and leathery.

"Burr Oak" is really a misnomer, as the tree doesn't produce "burrs." Its true name is Mossy-Cup Oak. This is the leading oak tree of Kansas; it also grows in large groups in Missouri, where it forms the famous "oak openings" along the bluffs of the Missouri, and is also common in Nebraska, the Dakotas, Iowa and Minnesota. This rugged, picturesque tree also can endure the cold winters of Canada and is found in Nova Scotia, Winnipeg, New Brunswick and Quebec, and ranges south to Tennessee, Arkansas and Oklahoma. For some unknown reason, the Mossy-Cup Oak has never formed large stands in the Tri-State region. There is a small group of these oaks on Tug River, on the Kentucky side, near Borderland. More than 100 years ago, one of the pioneer settlers of the Tug valley brought acorns of Mossy-Cup Oak and planted them around the house and on the cemetery. These trees are now large and beautiful to behold; in the fall many persons go there to get the large acorns to plant.

This oak prefers rich river bottoms, but will also grow in dry soil of fields and along roadsides. The bark of the oak is usually dark grayish-brown, darker than the gray bark of white oak.

This tree has leaves shaped like the old-time chestnuts, now extinct, and bark like that of the white oak. It is more common in the Tri-State than the mossy-cup oak, but is nowhere abundant. It thrives best in rich soils of hill-sides and along river and creek bottoms. Some say its leaves look like those of the chestnut oak, but the teeth are sharper and the leaf is smaller than the chestnut oak leaf. Old tree books called it, "The Mississippi Valley Chestnut Oak," many botanists call it "yellow oak," as its leaves are pale, yellowish-green on top. The tree also turns a brilliant yellow in the fall. The acorns are quite small and are about half-enclosed by the pretty tweed cup. The bark is grayish and roughened by many scales and ridges. The acorns are sweet and edible.

The wood of the Chinquapin is valuable for construction purposes, as it is hard, heavy, close-grained and durable; it also has a beautiful brown color, somewhat like the wood of black walnut. This tree reaches immense size along the Wabash River; its range extends as far west as New Mexico. The Chinquapin Oak is valuable for park planting and also makes a desirable tree for lawn or small tree sanctuary. This oak grows to a height of 75 feet or more and a diameter of three feet. The bottom of the trunk forms a buttress near ground level. Both this one and the Mossy-Cup Oak, as well as the others, belong to the Beech family.

Rate Resolution

RESOLUTION OF THE MUD CREEK WATER DISTRICT OF FLOYD COUNTY, KENTUCKY, ESTABLISHING RATES AND CHARGES FOR THE USE OF AND THE SERVICES RENDERED BY THE DISTRICT WATERWORKS SYSTEM, AND PROVIDING FOR THE COLLECTION AND ENFORCEMENT OF SUCH RATES AND CHARGES.

WHEREAS, the Board of Water Commissioners of the Mud Creek Water District, of Floyd County, Kentucky, has heretofore determined that the promotion and preservation of the public health, safety and general welfare of said District and of all its citizens and inhabitants require the construction and installation of a new District waterworks system, and

WHEREAS, the District is by concurrent proceedings providing for the issuance of its Water Revenue Bonds for the purpose of defraying the costs (not otherwise provided) of constructing said system in the manner provided by KRS 74.370 and KRS 96.350-510, and

WHEREAS, in and by said statutes it is required that rates or charges for services of the District waterworks system be prescribed and maintained so as to provide for the payment of the interest upon and principal of said bonds as the same become due, and also to pay operating and maintenance costs, as well as to create a depreciation fund, and

WHEREAS, it is necessary at this time that a schedule of rates for water service be prescribed and that provision be made for the collection thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, THE BOARD OF WATER COMMISSIONERS OF THE MUD CREEK WATER DISTRICT OF FLOYD COUNTY, KENTUCKY, DOES HEREBY RESOLVE AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. WATER CONNECTION CHARGES.

Water connection charges are hereby established and shall be exacted for each connection with the waterworks system of the District, as follows: For all customers who have signed or who sign an "Application for Service" and pay the applicable connection charge prior to the date on which construction of the system commences, the total connection charge shall be $11.00 in addition to the meter deposit specified herein. For all customers who do not sign an "Application for Service" and/or do not pay the application connection charge until after construction commences, the water connection charge shall be an amount to the actual cost of making such connection, as determined by the Manager or Superintendent of the waterworks system at the time, and all Applications for Service filed after the commencement of construction shall, at the time such application is filed, pay an estimated connection charge, based on the estimate of such Manager or Superintendent, which estimated connection charge shall be adjusted when the connection is completed.

SECTION 2. MONTHLY WATER RATES.

There shall be and there are hereby established from and after the effective date of this Resolution, monthly rates or charges for the water supplied by the waterworks system of the District, as follows:

A. Minimum monthly rates (2,000 gallons or less) for each size water meter connection.

The minimum monthly water rates for the first 2,000 gallons or less of water consumption per month for each size water meter connection shall be as follows:

| Size of Water Meter Connection | Minimum Monthly Water Charge |
|--------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 3/4 inch                       | $4.00                       |

B. Meter rates for water usage.

Subject to the minimum monthly water rates specified above for the first 2,000 gallons or less of water consumption in each month for the respective size connections, metered charges shall be made for each additional 1,000 gallons or less of water consumption per month to customers of all size connections:

| No. of Gals.           | Mthly Charge Per Of Water Or Less Per Mth. | Less Per Mth. |
|------------------------|--|---------------|
| First 2,000 gals.      |  |               |
| Next 3,000 gals.       | $1.50                                     |               |

| All over 100,000 gals. | .50  |               |

Whenever the minimum monthly charge is in excess of the total metered charge, the minimum shall apply. Whenever the total metered charge is in excess of the prescribed minimum monthly charge, the metered charge shall apply.

SECTION 3. RIGHTS ON PAYMENT OF WATER CONNECTION CHARGES.

Water connections shall be made available to the owners of any premises (residential, commercial or industrial) abutting upon any street, road, alley, public way or easement in which a water line is constructed by the District within 150 feet of the property line or easement of such owner. Such lines shall be considered available to any premises as to which the boundary line or easement is located within 150 feet of such water line.

Any and all property owners to whom such lines are so available shall be entitled to a water connection upon timely payment of the prescribed water connection charge as set out above.

Any and all owners of properties where the property line or easement is located more than 150 feet from a water line shall be entitled to the same privilege by paying the additional cost of bringing a water line the additional distance, in excess of 150 feet, to his property line or easement.

SECTION 4. RIGHTS ON PAYMENT OF CONNECTION CHARGE; PAVEMENT REPLACEMENT.

The payment by property owner(s) of the prescribed water connection charge shall entitle the owner of such property to have a water line brought to the edge of his property line or easement, and said charge includes the cost of replacing any pavement which may be disturbed on any dedicated public streets or ways during construction. Such property owner, if he desires water service, must bear the cost (including replacement of any pavement which may be disturbed on his premises during the construction) of running a water line from the building located on his premises to the point in said property line or easement where the District has brought the water line.

SECTION 5. COSTS OF INSTALLATION, AND INDEMNIFICATION.

All costs, expenses and responsibility incident to installation, connection and use of water lines from the outlet side of the respective water meters to such respective premises where such respective water lines are brought to serve such premises and extending to the respective buildings on such premises, shall be borne by the respective property owners, who shall further indemnify the District from any loss or damage that may or indirectly be occasioned by the installation of such lines. All water connections shall be made under the supervision of the Superintendent of said waterworks system in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Kentucky Department of Health.

SECTION 6. RATES ARE EXCLUSIVE OF SALES TAX.

The foregoing rates are rates to be charged by the District, and any applicable State sales tax shall be added to each bill as a separate charge.

SECTION 7. EFFECTIVE DATES FOR WATER CHARGES.

The foregoing water rates and charges shall be effective as to all water customers beginning on the respective dates upon which water service is sufficiently available to the water premises of the respective customers to enable such customers to connect their premises to the waterworks system of the District. Such system shall be considered sufficiently "available" to any premises which abut upon any street, road, alley, public or private way or easement in which there exists a water line of said system, capable of supplying water service to such premises, where a water line has been brought to the edge of the property line or easement of such premises within the meaning of Section 3 hereof, such date to be determined either upon the date of actual connection of said premises with such water line or a date ten (10) days after the District furnishes such customer notice, either by personal written notice or by notice published in a local newspaper of general circulation through the District, to the effect that water service is available to such premises, whichever date is earlier.

SECTION 8. ALL CUSTOMERS METERED; NO FREE SERVICE.

It shall be mandatory for all customers of the waterworks system to be metered. No one shall receive or be entitled to free water service or to any such service without paying the full rates herein specified. The schedule of rates herein prescribed for monthly water service shall be uniformly charged to all customers of the waterworks system of the District. No customer shall resell water except under the terms of a special contract executed with the District.

SECTION 9. METERS READ MONTHLY.

Water meters shall be read monthly commencing on the 20th day of each calendar month or as soon thereafter as weather and other conditions and circumstances may reasonably permit, and such reading shall continue as expeditiously as possible until all of the meters have been read.

In the event that upon the occasion of a monthly meter reading, it is found that the meter of a customer is defective or non-operative, such water bill shall be computed on the basis of the average monthly water consumption of such customer shown by the three preceding monthly meter readings, provided that if no such readings are then available, the applicable water bill may be computed on the basis of an estimate of water consumption, estimated by the Superintendent of the waterworks system, subject to adjustment upward or downward according to the average of the next three succeeding monthly meter readings.

SECTION 10. DEPOSITS

A meter deposit (in addition to the water connection charge) shall be made with the District for water service by any applicant desiring service before said applicant may receive such service. The amount of such meter deposit shall be an amount equal to the minimum monthly charge for the size of service applicable to the applicant (i.e., $4.00 for 3/4-inch service, said $4.00 deposit, together with the $11.00 connection charge constituting the total payment of $15.00 made by each applicant for a water connection) provided that a meter deposit of $20.00 shall be required with reference to water service to any house trailer. A separate meter deposit of $10.00 may be required of any tenant who applies for service after construction is commenced. Such deposits, less any unpaid charges, shall be refunded to such customer, his heirs or assigns, whenever such customer notifies the District legally to disconnect or terminate service to such customer.

SECTION 11. LIABILITY FOR CONNECTION CHARGES AND RATES.

Connection charges, where applicable, shall be the personal obligation of the party who signs the "Application for Service" and same shall include both property owners and tenants who sign such applications. All water charges, other than connection charges, shall be the personal obligation, collectible by law, of the occupant of the lot, property or building receiving the benefits of such use and service so long as the same continues, and the satisfaction of the liability by any party shall be a discharge of the liability for which the payment is made.

SECTION 12. MULTIPLE OCCUPANTS.

Where two or more tenants or occupants (of different rental units) of property are served by a single water meter, the water rates and charges shall be the personal obligation, collectible by law, of the person or persons who apply for such service and, where applicable, make the required deposit. Such occupants may each obtain a separate meter, and in the event that such multiple unit property is served by a single meter, each of such occupants shall be billed his proportionate (to the number of users and not to the quantity used) share of the water charges applicable to such property, and each shall constitute a separate user and be billed accordingly, and in any event, not less than the minimum rate(s) herein prescribed. The computation of the water consumption above the amount allowed in the minimum bill to such water users shall be made the same as if only one customer occupied the entire property; provided, however, that a meter may be billed through a single water meter, according to the applicable water rates for the amount of water so consumed. Any customer may file an application for a separate water meter, and upon payment of the applicable connection fee and deposit therefor, the District shall install a separate water meter for such applicant, in which event such applicant will be billed at the water rate applicable to the usage of water recorded by such separate meter.

SECTION 13. REVISION OF RATES.

The schedule of rates and charges prescribed in this Resolution shall be revised from time to time, and whenever required shall be increased, so as to produce income and revenues from the waterworks system adequate to comply with such covenants and agreements as may be made by the District in connection with the revenue bond issue financing referred to herein.

SECTION 14. BILLING; COLLECTION; PENALTIES.

The rates or charges aforesaid shall be billed monthly on or about the first of each month, and all bills for such service shall be considered due and payable ten days after rendition. If a bill is not paid as aforesaid within such ten-day period, there shall be imposed a penalty on each bill not so paid, in an amount equal to ten percent (10%) of the charges (other than sales tax) shown on the face amount of said bill not so paid. If a bill is not paid within the first thirty-day period after said due date, the charges shown on such bill shall be deemed delinquent, and the attorney for the Water District is hereby authorized and directed to enforce and collect any such charges remaining delinquent for a period of thirty days. If the deadline date falls on a Sunday or legal holiday, the bill shall be deemed to be timely paid on or before the next secular day thereafter.

SECTION 15. DELINQUENCY; DISCONNECTION OF WATER SERVICE; RECONNECTION; RE-ESTABLISHMENT.

If a bill is not paid after remaining delinquent for thirty days, the Superintendent of the waterworks system shall thereupon turn off the water of such user according to the current practices existing at the time of the turn-off for water delinquents and may further enjoin use of the water facilities of the District by said customer until payment in full is made. If the deadline date falls on a Sunday or legal holiday, such deadline shall not expire until the next secular day thereafter. If water service is disconnected by the District by reason of delinquency in the payment of any water bill, reconnection of such service shall not be made until the owner or user pays all charges and penalties owed, plus the amount of Eight Dollars ($8.00) as a disconnection and reconnection charge. If water service is discontinued at the request of the water customer at a time when such customer is not delinquent in the payment of any charges, then reconnection of such water service shall not be made until the customer pays all charges and penalties owed plus the amount of Eight Dollars ($8.00) as a re-establishment charge.

SECTION 16. DEPOSIT IS NO EXCUSE FOR DELINQUENCY.

The foregoing provisions are intended to and shall apply regardless of the availability of any initial deposit required by this resolution.

SECTION 17. RECORDS AND AUDITS.

The rates, rentals and charges for the use of and services rendered by the District waterworks system shall be billed and collected by the District, and the full amount of the proceeds for such service shall be deposited as received and set aside into the appropriate fund as the Superintendent of the system may designate, but subject to any different designation which may be made in any proceeding relating to the issuance of Revenue Bonds. The records of the District with respect to charging, billing, collecting and accounting for water service shall be audited at least once each twelve months by an independent certified public accountant, and a report thereof shall be filed with the Secretary of the District, or shall be filed in such manner and at such other time or times as may be provided in any resolution or proceeding of the District relating to the issuance of Revenue Bonds. The cost of such audit shall be classified and paid as an expense of operation and maintenance of the District waterworks system.

SECTION 18. SEVERABILITY.

If any clause, provision, paragraph or section of this Resolution be ruled void or unenforceable by any court of competent jurisdiction, the remainder thereof is intended to be adopted and shall be in full force and effect notwithstanding.

SECTION 19. ALL FORMER PROVISIONS REPEALED; EFFECTIVE DATE OF RESOLUTION.

All District resolutions, orders, motions, or parts thereof, insofar as same may be in conflict herewith, are repealed, and this Resolution shall take effect from and after its adoption, approval, and publication as provided by law, except that the rates herein prescribed shall be effective on the respective dates herein provided.

Adopted and approved on this 16 day of May, 1969.

Voting Machine Law

Why did the Circuit Judge place the voting machines in the hands of a person other than the County Court Clerk? Section 125.050, Kentucky Revised Statutes of 1968, provides that these voting machines are to be in the hands of the County Clerk, and 125.110 provides that it is the duty of the County Clerk to deliver these machines to the various precincts and to return them to storage. Why does the Judge refuse to obey the law pursuant to these sections?

Unless these sections are obeyed, I will prepare a complaint, requiring the Judge to comply with these sections. It seems to me to be out of the ordinary to seek Statutory relief to require a judge to do what the law specifically says, and at a time when he should know what the law provides in such provisions above stated. Other County Clerks have custody and control of voting machines, as provided by law.

THE MAN THAT OWNS THE MOON

I may be a little old-fashioned in the things that I believe, but in my Father's book He teaches me, He not thou deceived.

I believe His record, of His moon On this we can rely— He is the maker, and the owner, and He put it there, To light His world by night.

He owns the moon, the sun, the stars,

He calls them by their name, To see what man is trying to do, Is a pity and a shame,

He still is God and He still rules upon His Heavenly throne, And man exists on Gods footstool, for heaven and earth God owns.

He plainly teaches Heaven is His throne

And earth is His footstool, Man is surely destroying himself, Why be such a fool?

God's ways are past finding out, This is also in His word, We cannot say we did not know Or that we haven't heard,

For Godly men are warning us in preaching, day and night,

To get into the fold of God and escape that awful sight of an eternal, burning hell.

Friends, don't be too late, For God is patiently and lovingly, Calling You, Into Heavens gates..

This is so real, my friends, He is Coming very soon; Give your heart and life to Him, The Man that owns the moon.

HIGHLIGHTS OF BIRD SURVEY

I was engaged by the Department of the Interior's Migratory Birds Population Station at Laurel, Md. to make a breeding bird survey in June, covering two routes of 25 miles each. This survey extended along Tug River for some ten miles, then across Martin county and into Johnson county, about ten miles; it also took in Wolf Creek up to the head of the Meathouse Fork. Some phases of this survey give cause for gladness, as many species of our birds are holding their own and some show an increase. I found more robins this year along this route than formerly. However, there are other phases of the survey that give cause of alarm; we are losing our birds of prey and the turkey vultures (buzzards).

When making this survey, I was required to stop every half mile during a period of three minutes I looked and listened for birds. The most abundant bird I found was the indigo bunting which is one of the finest and most persistent little singers of the summer, and it never stops singing because of hot weather. I found the wood thrushes fairly abundant, also the yellow-breasted chat and the song sparrow. The white-eyed vireos were about the same in number as last year, but I did not count as many red-eyed vireos in 1968. Other birds that seemed plentiful were the yellow-throat (a warbler), the cardinal, the bobwhite, E. phoebe and the Acadoan flycatcher. I found several families of purple martins along the route; also a pleasing number of barn swallows. At one stop, I found so many cowbirds I couldn't count them, but estimated their number at about 300. They were in a large meadow with the cattle.

At nearly every stop, I scanned the sky for hawks and turkey vultures, but not one was seen! We are fast losing our hawks, which we need badly to destroy rodents. In the past, farmers have looked with suspicion on all species of hawks and have shot them on sight. No greater mistake could have been made. During this season, I have seen only one hawk sailing, a red-tailed, and it was being given a merry chase by the crows and martins!

It seems to me that our turkey vultures are doomed to extinction. This season, I have seen only three, I used to see large flocks of them circling in the sky. Their decline has an ominous meaning for the naturalist: Wild animals of all kinds have diminished to such a low number, there are not enough left to die and furnish food for the turkey buzzard.

Earns B. S. Degree From Indiana U.

TIMES WANT ADS PAY— TRY THEM TODAY!

The decline of this vulture is an index finger pointing to the general scarcity of wild life in the forests of today.

There also seems to be a marked decrease of owls in our region. I used to hear them hooting along Tug River in late winter, during the mating season, but this was several years ago. It seems we are going to lose our owls, too.

On my 50-mile survey, I never once heard a single mourning dove cooing. In fact, I've only heard one this year. They seem to be very scarce in our region, and it is my belief that these doves have been over-killed in many places, as they are still on the game bird list, but should be removed from it and put on the list of song birds, so they will have the protection they deserve.

The bluebirds are still far too scarce in our region, despite the efforts of many people to bring them back like they used to be. The only place I found bluebirds was at a house where the lady had put up two boxes and had two families of bluebirds. The only way to get bluebirds these days is to put up special boxes for them and give them protection against starlings and house sparrows.

The kingfishers are scarcer than usual. On my route I saw only two. This is an ominous sign: The kingfishers are being contaminated by the fish they are eating out of polluted streams! The proof? The other day, a kingfisher was so badly crazed by something he had eaten, no doubt, he flew from the stream, where he ranged, into a man's front yard and slammed against the glass front storm door with such force it was like the crack of a Winchester, and the bird almost burst itself open by the impact. Now what might cause a kingfisher to do a thing like that? There was no hawk after him. It was a strange thing for a bird of this kind to do!

The first birds to wake up and sing at dawn are the wood thrush, the chat, robin and cardinal. I heard all of these begin singing at about the same time — half an hour before sunrise.

'Whatsoever Things'

By DONALD E. WILDMON

I guess you saw it. It was in the papers across the country. Russell H. Tansie, of Oakland, California, filed a suit against the Creator in the amount of $100,000. Tansie filed the suit on behalf of his legal secretary, Betty Penrose, who blamed God for a lightning bolt which struck and destroyed her home in Phoenix some nine years earlier. Tansie officially charged God with "careless and negligent" control of the weather.

Well, it was more of a publicity stunt than anything else. We humans sometimes become little balls of ego, walking around and finding a way to get our names before the masses means a lot to us. So some will stoop to anything for the sake of fame.

But, you know, it sets one to thinking. Who will represent the Deity at the hearing? Should He lose, who will pay the amount? Will this open up other suits against Him? Well, there's a lot of questions which come into our mind concerning the situation. Most of them are of very little importance. I doubt very seriously if the Creator would appear at such a hearing in the expected manner. Judging from past experience, we might as well forget the whole thing. A fellow named Job wanted to argue his case with the Maker, only to learn that it was a great mistake.

There is another side to the questions that pop into one's mind when he gets to looking at this thing of suits against the Creator, and that is—will the Creator get a chance to file suit against us for messing up His property? It doesn't take one long to make his answer when that possibility opens up. We had better leave well enough alone. For it is quite evident who will come up on the short end of the deal.

Betty Penrose waited nine years to file her suit against the Creator. I wonder if we have ever paused to consider the patience that the Creator has with us. We have literally been making a mess of His Property, destroying His creation, wasting His products for countless thousands of years. And yet He doesn't strike us dead to get what is due Him. That is a mystery, an eternal mystery. The patience of the One above us as He sees what we have done and are doing with the things which are His.

There is also the possibility that if we are to charge Him with the things which we consider bad, He might in return place a charge upon us for the things we call good. That makes one stop pretty quick, for it is quite evident again who will come up short. I don't think I have enough money to repay Him for a single day of sunshine, much less countless other gifts which He gives me.

A NEW CONCEPT IN MOBILE HOME LIVING COMFORT

TOTAL ELECTRIC!

Beauty—Eliminate unsightly fuel drums, awkward fuel "bottles." The outside of your mobile home is neat and clean.

Cleanliness—Electric heat is flameless—can't create smoke or dirt ... and eliminates fuel and combustion odors.

Thrift—Total electric mobile homes are more thoroughly insulated to minimize heat loss, keep you more comfortable, winter and summer.

Safety—No pilot light, no flame means worry-free heating, more peace of mind.

Convenience—No "running out of fuel," for heating or cooking—no frozen fuel lines—no vapor locks—nothing but a touch of the thermostat for spring shut-down or fall start-up.

Maintenance Free—What could be simpler than electric heat. The most modern way today is flameless.

If you're shopping for a Mobile Home, see how much electric heat offers.
