

Clinics at McDowell Settle Differences

Both Will Occupy, Use Same Facility At Floyd Hospital

Differences existing between two clinics operating at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital have been settled, and, effective today (Thursday), outpatient clinic facilities there will be staffed by doctors from both the Daniel Boone and the Regional Medical Clinics.

This means, it was explained, that both clinics will occupy space and facilities hitherto available only to the Daniel Boone Clinic.

The announcement that doctors of the two clinics will share the Daniel Boone quarters was made Tuesday afternoon by Edward V. Collins, Daniel Boone Clinic administrator.

Settlement of differences was reached Monday night.

Under the new arrangement each clinic will have its own administrator. Bill H. Stumbo will continue to be administrator of the Regional Medical Clinic, which was formed after five doctors split with Daniel Boone. A spokesman for Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc., said both clinics have approved the new arrangement.

The agreement does not affect the status of Dr. Mary Hall, whose right to practise in radius of 50 miles of McDowell was cancelled under terms of her contract with owners of the Daniel Boone Clinic when she joined other doctors in separating from that group.

The compromise forestalls reported plans of the UMWA Welfare and Retirement Fund to suspend sponsoring in-patient care at the McDowell hospital, effective Nov. 1.

This Town That World

THE LINEUP

Things have come to a pretty pass. My ox is in the well-known ditch, and even working on Sunday hasn't got the critter out. Troubles have piled up till new ones are being forced to stand in line. I won't get around to worrying over today's for a couple of weeks yet.

WEEDCUTTERS WANTED

Strikes me that the old election-time custom of putting a lot of voting strength to work, cutting weeds along the highways, wasn't too bad an idea, after all. Might have been a bit of favoritism played and some money wasted in spots, but at least they didn't rig up a machine and roll off down the pike, spraying everything—briar, rose, good tree and bad, birds, butterflies and all living things—with a chemical so deadly poisonous that things just shriveled up and died. "Keep Kentucky Green," "Keep America Beautiful," the slogans ring, and right there through the middle of the greenery and the beauty they

School Boards Hear Warning of Unrest

Student unrest is spreading from the college campus to the high school campus, Kentucky School Boards Association President F. C. Bryan warned Eastern Kentucky school officials meeting at Jenny Wiley State Park last Wednesday night.

Bryan, an attorney and a member of the Mount Sterling Board of Education, cautioned that "a lack of student and teacher militancy in your school district at present is no reason to think it won't ever happen to you. It almost certainly will... and probably sooner than you think."

Bryan spoke before about 30 school board members and superintendents from seven area school systems attending the annual meeting of the Eastern Kentucky Region (South) of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA). The school board members were also reminded that they must make certain the constitutional rights of both students and teachers are safeguarded by policies and regulations passed to curb high school protests and demonstrations.

To illustrate this point, Bryan cited several recent court cases in which school boards were overruled because "due process of law" was not afforded students and teachers who had been accused of violations of school rules.

Bryan advised a review of all school board policies regarding pupil and teacher discipline, especially those dealing with dress, hair styles, and procedures for student suspension and expulsion, to ensure that the policies comply with modern standards and current court rulings.

KSBA Executive Director Maurice D. Bement reviewed the Association's legislative program and reported on the Joint Legislative Committee on Education for 1970.

Attending the regional meeting were board members and administrators from the school districts of Paintsville and Pikeville.

Goebels Remodel Store Here, Slate Opening Thursday

Complete modernization and expansion of the Ben Franklin Store here has been under way for the past few weeks. Store owners, William O. and Sally Goebel, announced this week that the store would conduct its grand opening beginning today (Thursday).

Among the improvements are new lighting, modern display counters with ladies' wear and children's department fully carpeted. All departments are offered in self-service displays.

Mr. Goebel said the remodeling program was done in consultation with Ben Franklin Stores. It has been based on their studies of variety merchandise displays and current retailing trends.

The Ben Franklin group numbers more than 2400 retail variety stores, operated in all of the 50 states. "We are proud," Mr. Goebel said, "to bring to this area one of the most modern and complete variety stores in Eastern Kentucky."

Biggest of the Year?

This 7-pound, 2-ounce largemouth bass landed by Bill Gregory, of Lexington, the afternoon of Oct. 11, may be the largest taken from Dewey Lake this year. The bass was taken off the point below Terry's boat dock on an artificial purple worm. Mr. Gregory is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ryan, of Allen.

Court Order Dissolves Voting List Injunction

The temporary injunction granted Elmer Ferguson, Wheelwright candidate for Representative, to restrain County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson from sending out the Floyd county voting lists until names of illegal voters are purged, was dissolved Monday by Circuit

Court House Happenings

The Joint Committee is made up of five statewide education organizations, including KSBA, Bement noted. "The purpose of the committee is to coordinate the efforts of the five organizations in promoting progressive education legislation for the boys and girls of Kentucky," he added.

According to Bement, KSBA will work for three main legislative goals in the 1970 Kentucky General Assembly, which convenes in January

1) An increase in state appropriations for teacher salaries, building funds, and school operating expenses. The proposed increases, Bement noted, "are necessary to offset the effects of inflation on school budgets."

2) The defeat of any legislation which would force school boards to engage in collective bargaining with teachers and other school employees.

3) Correction of the inequities caused by the school property tax "rollback" law passed in 1965.

John M. Stumbo, chairman of the Floyd County Board of Education, was elected chairman of KSBA's Eastern Kentucky Region (South) for 1970. As a regional chairman, he will serve on the Association's State Board of Directors.

Clyde VanHoose, chairman of the Johnson county school board, was chosen vice chairman of the region, and Floyd County Supt. Charles F. Clark was named regional secretary for 1970.

Current regional officers are Mrs. Rebecca Lewis, chairman; William D. Salyer, vice chairman; and Supt. Oran C. Teater, secretary, all of Paintsville.

Attending the regional meeting were board members and administrators from the school districts of Floyd Johnson, Magoffin, Martin,

Courthouse Row Enlivens Week Of Dull News

A fight in the courthouse Monday morning was perhaps the most violent action in the county for the week, and at that the scene of the battle was more newsworthy than the fight itself.

Bill Prince, of Dwale, suffered a cut forehead when he apparently was knocked or shoved against the courthouse stairway as he and his son, Jim, were engaged in an altercation with Henderson and Sam H. Bays, of Abbott Creek. All four were jailed, charged with breach of the peace. The fight, officers said they were told, followed a family difference which began the preceding day.

On a more serious charge Oscar Ritchie and Danny Hall were jailed Sunday afternoon by State Trooper E. B. Allen, who booked them on a charge of car theft. They were held for authorities at Waccotville, Ind., where a car was stolen Oct. 25. Trooper Allen said he found the two in the stolen car on the Mountain Parkway, a few miles from here.

Others booked at the jail within the week, charges against each and names of arresting officers:

Jerry Smith, breaking and entering, arrested by Constable Kenneth Robert; Randall Owens, no operator's license, by Deputy Sheriff D. Newsom; Ricky Meade, throwing rocks into an auto, by Martin Policeman Fannin; Clyde Hamilton, speeding, by Deputy Sheriffs Bill Hall and W. B. Boyd; Larry Blevins, drunk driving and refusing to undergo drunk test, by Constable Gillis Conn; Larry Ervin Stone, drunk driving and no sticker, by State Trooper Bevins; Jarvey Meade, blocking highway, by Trooper Bevins; Robert Whitt, drunk driving, by State Trooper Ross; Ben Ratliff, drunk driving, by State Trooper Don Thornsberry; Carl Reed, drunk driving, by Trooper Ross (Reed also was booked on a jail-break charge from circuit court); Charles Edward Brown, no operator's license, Robert Carter, reckless driving, Denver Patrick, reckless driving and no operator's license, and Gregory Hopkins, no operator's license—all arrested by State Troopers Brewer and Bevins; Arnold Prater, driving while under the influence of alcohol and possessing moonshine whiskey, and Clarence Prater, possessing moonshine, both arrested by Capt. Lykins and Trooper Thornsberry; Togie Salisbury, drunk driving and no operator's license, by Troopers Rose and Thornsberry.

Court House Happenings

Judge Hollie Conley on agreement of the parties involved.

The injunction was signed by Trial Commissioner Glenn Burchett in the absence from the county of Judge Conley, Circuit Clerk Frank DeRossett and County Judge Henry Stumbo.

Its dissolution followed the hearing of testimony by the county clerk. Mr. Robinson told the court he complied with original orders of the Floyd County Registration and Purgation Board, which later reinstated some voters, and that he had maintained purgation of the names of deceased voters. It was pointed out that the purgation board has used 32 of the 34 days allotted it each year by law, and that an attempt to purge the voting lists at this late date would be an onerous, if not impossible, task.

Although the temporary injunction was dissolved, the case as to future possible action was not dismissed.

Next day, Scott Collins, Ferguson's attorney, asked the court to direct the County Clerk to provide him a copy of the voting lists. Judge Conley held that he was entitled to a copy but that it was to be procured at his or his client's expense.

Ferguson in his petition for a restraining order maintained that his rights as a voter and citizen were violated by the appearance of illegal voters' names on the voting lists.

Homecoming Queen

Mary Elizabeth Nunnery, 18-year-old freshman at Prestonsburg Community College, was crowned Homecoming Queen Saturday night during intermission at a near-capacity Student Congress dance.

Miss Nunnery will represent the college Saturday at the Homecoming football game between U. K. and West Virginia. She will also attend the U. K. homecoming concert.

Homecoming queen is not the first award that Miss Nunnery has received. A graduate of Prestonsburg high school, she was a cheerleader and Pep Club member for two years, as well as a participant in the chorus. She was also elected Music Festival Queen in her junior year and Homecoming attendant in her senior year at Prestonsburg high school.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Nunnery, of Prestonsburg.

Council Votes Changes In Its Fiscal Policies

Improvements in bookkeeping and tax collecting have been marked for drastic change by the Prestonsburg City Council.

James A. Dickerson, Jr. was named to serve on a fulltime basis as bookkeeper and city treasurer at a salary of $5,200 a year. The move, it was explained, was taken to maintain a closer check on all business and finances of the city as well as to eliminate piecemeal and scattered services. He will begin work, Jan. 1.

Also scheduled to become effective Jan. 1 is a major change in the matter of collecting taxes. Effective that date, delinquent taxes will be advertised and sold. Hitherto, no property was sold, even though taxes due the city were not paid. Delinquent taxes last year amounted to about $12,000.

A special finance committee composed of Byron Nunnery, chairman, Tom O. McGuire and Paul Phillip Hughes, was named to study the city's financial needs and to make recommendations by Jan. 1.

Poll Shows Pupils Favor Supervision For Youth Center

An overwhelming majority of Prestonsburg high school students want supervision for the Youth Center at Archer Park, and by almost as big a margin they frown on alcoholic beverages there.

Student preferences were sounded by Park Board members who sent questionnaires to approximately 900 students at the school. Not all the students responded, but those who did expressed a desire for an orderly atmosphere to go with their recreation.

Three hundred thirty-six voted for supervision of the center, with only two voting against it. On the score of alcoholic beverages, 332 voted against them, with five voting for drinking.

On other questions asked the voting was:

Rules to be made by students and Park Board, 461 yes, 177 no; Center to be operated on membership basis with dues at $1 per year, 554 yes, 84 no; dances each week, or at least every two weeks, 398 yes ("no" vote not recorded); no older people allowed, 117; clean restrooms, 71; snack bar, 98.

Both Parties Work To Stir Voters' Interest in Nov. 4 Election Issues

Both major political parties are agreed on one thing in this county as next Tuesday's date with the voters nears. They agree that the pot needs to boil.

At the local level a race for sheriff, one for representative in Legislative District 96 and a Magistrate's race in District 4 provide the main interest. If these fail to get out the vote, the balloting will be light, since only one state race for the office of auditor and two constitutional amendments—usually a dull issue—are the "added attractions."

In the race for State Auditor Mary Louise Foust, Democrat, seeks to unseat the present auditor, James Thompson, Republican. Ben F. Stinnett is the American party candidate.

Wells Says Raid Report Erroneous

William Riley Wells, who was charged with liquor possession following a raid by county and state officers Oct. 19, said last week that reports of the raid were erroneous.

Wells said no intoxicants were found on his property, and that the Buick auto in which they were found was owned by a man from Michigan who had left the vehicle with Bill Crace for repair. Crace, he said, has leased the property where the car was located. A part of the intoxicants was found in a garbage dump, some distance farther downstream, he added.

Wells objected particularly to the statement that he had quit his job with Island Creek Coal Company. He said he has been disabled by an injury and now has a compensation case pending in court. "Anybody is welcome to check with Island Creek," he said.

NO GRAND JURY AT COMING TERM

The November term of circuit court will not have a grand jury, despite The Times' erroneous statement of last week. The next grand jury session will be at the December term of court.

City Manager Curtis Clark reported to the Council that he has done a garbage collection cost study. He said he found that the city is losing a sizeable amount in this department, and recommended rate increases amounting to $1,461 a month. His figures showed that the actual cost of daily collections from business places is $2,098 a month. The city is collecting only $637 a month from businesses for this service.

No formal action was taken on Clark's recommendations. A committee composed of Clifford Wright and Paul Phillip Hughes was named to continue the study and make recommendations.

Reading of a letter from the Kentucky Actuarial Bureau provided the brightest spot of the evening. It expressed the near-certainty of Prestonsburg being promoted from a seventh to a sixth class fire insurance rating, in early January, which would mean a saving of about 20 per cent on premiums.

The new shooting range of the Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club on Trimble Branch, near Dewey Lake, and its mountain backdrop. While weather permitted, night trapshooting as well as daytime shooting was enjoyed. The range is the first of the improvements planned by the club for its 63-acre tract. An all-weather road has been built to the site, and a clubhouse is in the planning stage. Pistol and archery ranges will be added next year.

Mining Town Sold For Second Time, Is Announcement

Woodrow Branham, founder of Branham Village on new US 23 near here, and his son, Paul Ray, Saturday became sole owners of the town of David.

The transaction involved the purchase by the father and son of the stock of John Allen Co., Inc. in David Properties, Inc., the firm which was organized when the model mining town was purchased last October from the heirs of James P. Francis. The elder Branham had owned an interest in David Properties since the sale by the Francis family.

A few residences have been sold within the area. Acquired by the Branhams are 57 buildings, including the store building and theatre. The new owners said homes will continue to be sold and leased.

In addition to the structures which comprise the town proper, holdings conveyed include a complete water system, a sewage disposal system, community swimming pool, a service station and 837 acres of land.

Before its sale last year the town of David had for 30 years been a major Eastern Kentucky mining center. Princess Elkhorn Coal Company suspended mining there prior to sale of the town, but since that time mining operations have been resumed by another firm.

Holdings of the new owners extend to the nearby community of Permele but exclude coal lands and mining properties.

Educators Study School Programs In Floyd System

A group of Ashland educators spent last Thursday and Friday visiting schools in Floyd county, viewing several innovative programs under way in the system.

Charles Clark, county superintendent of schools, commented, "Our school system was honored to be selected by the Ashlanders as a focal point for observation. This is indeed a compliment to our teachers and schools to be selected for visitation. Our prime concern has been the improvement of our instructional program for our young people. We believe we are making real progress and other school people in other sections of the state are recognizing this fact."

Women's Clubs Hold 51st District Meet

The 51st annual meeting of the Seventh District of KFWC was held Saturday, Oct. 4 at the Community Hall, Wheelwright.

The theme chosen for the meeting was, "Hats Off To District 7." Approximately 100 women were seated at tables covered with decorative hand-made rain hats for favors.

The meeting was called to order at 10 a.m. by Mrs. Bill Hoffman, the district governor. Mrs. Fred Salisbury presented the invocation. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Girl Scouts Kimberly Little, Rita Patterson, Kathy Caudill and Cathy Ferguson.

3 Churches Plan Memorial Fund

Presbyterian churches of Prestonsburg, Ashland and Drift have sought and been granted permission by the family of Alana Reed, who died last month in an Indiana air disaster, to establish a fund in her name. The fund will be used to establish a memorial to Miss Reed in the chapel-library of the Highlands Regional Hospital to be built between Prestonsburg and Auxier.

Mrs. Reed, a former resident of Prestonsburg, was en route to Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., when she and 82 others were victims of a mid-air collision of planes. All contributions should be made payable to the Alana Reed Fund, care, E. R. Burke, Prestonsburg, Ky.

FRANK LESLIE Says . . .
"KEEP FLOYD COUNTY DRY"

Election Day is rapidly approaching and as is usual in many cases a desperate opposition seeks to run now upon the platform that I pledged myself to in the Primary. I was the first and only candidate in the Primary to offer a no-holds-barred platform of enforcement of the dry laws. I ran upon that platform then—I am running upon it now.

My position and activity on the day the Wet-Dry local option election was held was consistent with my platform. I filled my personal car up with gas and turned it over to a dry worker. All my family voted dry. I was a dry in the Primary, I was a dry on local option election day, I am a dry now and running on a platform of enforcement of the dry laws. I will be your dry Sheriff for the next four years.

And now, as in the Primary, allow me to offer other points in a platform for honest government.

So far I have not promised a single person a job as deputy sheriff. The deputies I shall select must be men with good background and with no criminal record whatever. These deputies must be men of high integrity, men of whom you as citizens and myself as sheriff will be proud.

I pledge full cooperation with the State Police to lessen crime and apprehend law violators.

I will cooperate with the funeral homes to regulate traffic upon those sad occasions when we are burying our loved ones.

I will set up a system to eliminate crowding when the taxpayers come to the office to pay taxes just before a deadline. This can be done and I pledge you it shall be done. Your time is valuable and it should not be wasted by standing in line at the courthouse.

All youth gatherings should have the full protection of the law. Drinking and peace disturbances should be prevented at these gatherings. Our young people are entitled to orderly and peaceful fun events.

I pledge full cooperation with the miners in any and all efforts they may make to improve their lot through legislation. They will have the full cooperation and influence of the Floyd County Sheriff's office in promoting black lung legislation.

Upon this platform I submit my appeal to the voters. I pledge to honor this platform when elected Sheriff and as a guarantee of good faith I offer the record of my personal life. JUDGE A MAN BY HIS PAST. One of the greatest assets a man can have is the confidence of his neighbors. Ask them and judge me now as you did in the Primary. I have confidence in the voters' judgment, for I have ever been a man of integrity who worked hard for a living with his hands and arms and dedicated himself to his family and cooperated and tendered service to his neighbors, friends and people.

Your vote will be appreciated with deep gratitude.

Vote for That Woman For Sheriff

On November 4th you have a choice! You can choose the person you want for Sheriff for the next four years. WHAT WILL YOUR CHOICE BE? — DODGE CITY... OR PETTICOAT JUNCTION? I cannot promise you black lung legislation... I cannot promise you that I will repeal the Taft-Hartley law or raise your Old-Age Pension. I PROMISE ONLY that I will give you four years of honest law enforcement with law enforcement officers that will be servants of the people and not masters. I made this race at the insistence of many friends and most of them Democrats.

Many fine people in both parties have helped me in this monumental task. They know what I stand for... They know that I will hew to the line in fulfilling my obligations to the people. I will not be alone in this job... I will have my husband, Gorman Collins, at my side—a man you have elected as Sheriff before. I will have deputies that are the Floyd County Dry League and the good citizens of the communities in which you live have selected. I have no affiliation with any group that plans to distribute alcoholic beverages... I will not take kick-backs... no black satchel deputies. The salary that comes from the Sheriff's office will be my only remuneration. I will not play favorites with the office... The same law for everyone. This is your SECOND and last chance to keep Floyd county dry. November 4th will tell whether you really care... CARE ENOUGH! If you believe that I will do these things, then you have no other choice than to go to the polls and vote for me. REMEMBER... GOOD THINGS HAPPEN ONLY WHEN GOOD PEOPLE WORK TOGETHER.

We got one thing free with our electric heat. Something money can't buy.

"A good night's sleep."

Tom and Linda McNeely of Catlettsburg, Ky. switched to flameless electric heat in 1968. "Our old furnace was a constant worry. It would go out in the middle of the night, and I'd have to get up and fire it up again, so we put in electric heat. It was very simple. They put in the baseboard units and that was all there was to it." Cost? "It's not expensive, like some people think. Our heating cost is running less than it did. I was surprised. I thought it would be more. I'd be willing to pay more because it's cleaner, better and it's safe." You can have flameless electric heat in your home. If You Don't Want ... YOUR TAXES RAISED TWICE AS OFTEN

If You Don't Want ... HIGHER COSTS AT FRANKFORT

VOTE NO! On Proposal No. 2 To Amend the Constitution

Here's The Case Against Annual Sessions

OF THE KENTUCKY GENERAL ASSEMBLY

MORE TAXES -- MORE SPENDING

If the legislature meets twice as often, it will cost twice as much. Salary increases are already being talked about. After annual sessions were voted in, Florida found itself with a new bureaucracy of more than 400 full time legislative staff people! With annual sessions those who want to pick your pocket will have twice as many shots at you!

MORE CONFUSION -- MORE BAD BILLS

States with annual sessions have from twice to four times as many bills. As it stands, the important matters sift to the top. With annual sessions there would be more trash in the legislative hopper. A little "think time" between sessions makes more sense than constant confusion. As it is, laws barely have a chance to get into effect before another legislative goes into session anyway.

FULL TIME POLITICIANS WOULD RUN THINGS

Regular business, professional, farm and working people would have less chance to serve. It's tough enough to get good people to serve every other year. It isn't a matter of money, it's a matter of time. With constant work required by annual sessions, only those who want to make a career of it would announce. Thus, the legislature would no longer be a "people's" branch. We need MORE representatives of taxpayers, wage earners, and professional people . . . not less.

PLENTY OF FLEXIBILITY NOW

Special sessions can be called under the present constitution whenever they are needed. The legislature is making important improvements in its procedures now--under the present constitution. Interim committees now work between sessions. They will have about 200 bills ready for the 1970 session as soon as it meets. This cuts down the waste of time in getting started. Annual sessions would do no better. They might double the waste. Budgeting for two years makes more sense than a year-to-year approach anyway.

P.-T.A. To Sponsor Spooky Eve Here

Spooks, goblins, and witches on their brooms—or reasonable facsimiles—will roam the halls of Prestonsburg elementary school Saturday evening when the P.-T.A. sponsors its annual Fall Carnival.

The evening will begin at 7 with a chili supper. A stereo AM-FM radio will be given away, door prizes will be awarded, and for the young and young-at-heart there will be 18 booths, including the spook house, bingo, ring toss, and cake walk.

At 10, the evening will end and most Hallowe'en fanciers will call it a closed season for at least another year.

Famed All-American Red Heads To Play W'wright Kiwanians

The All-American Red Heads, famed all-girl basketball team, will appear at the Wheelwright high school gym Friday at 8 p.m., playing a team composed of the sponsoring organization, the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club.

The Red Heads are billed as feminine world champions, and their colorful uniforms and sensational type of play pack in the fans wherever they go. The Kiwanis Club will use its share of the net proceeds in public benefit programs which it sponsors.

Library To Get 2nd State Check

Gov. Louie B. Nunn has announced that a check for $7,276 will be presented to the Floyd County Library Board for new library facilities under the State Library Amortization Program.

The program is a 20-year plan whereby the state will give around 4 million to county library boards for construction of new facilities.

HOME ARE THE HUNTERS
Two Floyd county parties returned here last week-end from pheasant hunts in South Dakota and Michigan.

COMPLETES BASIC
Parley B. Flanery, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. P.B. Flanery, Sr., of Martin, has completed basic training in the air force at Lackland AFB, Texas, and is beginning a 41-week course in electronics at Lackland.

Honored on Birthday
Mrs. Franklin Salisbury, of Martin, was honored on her birthday, Tuesday, with a dinner given by her mother, Mrs. H. D. Hewlett, at her home here.

LETTERS To The Editor

CHILDREN LOSE A FRIEND
Editor, The Times:
One of the best friends the retarded children of Floyd county ever had left them Oct. 22. He was also the most generous donor to their cause.

The retarded of Floyd county, and the agency that for fifteen long years has struggled against apathy and lack of interest in seeking to help them, lost a compassionate and generous helper when Paul Salyers, of Allen, died.

But we want to express by this letter, the deep appreciation of two parents of a retarded child, to his memory, and to his wife, for all that was done—so much given—to keep the schools open. We will not forget.

Our hope is that somewhere in this county there will be found a business man to step into the gap, and carry on for Paul Salyers, and for those who were near to his heart.

Rev. Robert Martin

VOTE DEMOCRATIC!

This November's is a very important election for Floyd county. The people will not only elect all county officials but our vote this year could well determine the course Floyd county will take in the future.

We all agree that the Republican Nunn administration has a record of BROKEN PROMISES, HIGHER TAXES AND INCREASED COST IN GOVERNMENT EXPENSES.

Floyd County Has Suffered Under A Republican Administration and Will Continue To Suffer.

Students at PCC On System Body

Expanded student participation in the governing affairs of the University of Kentucky Community College System has been announced by Dean Ellis F. Hartford. Four sophomore students have been appointed by Dean Hartford to serve on four of the system's standing committees.

The dean said the students are all members of the Inter-Community College Student Council and were nominated by their respective student government associations.

The community college system faculty council voted its approval of the plan last July. Prior to that time, students were authorized to serve on individual faculty committees within each college. The new appointments mark the first time students have been included on system-wide committees, Dean Hartford stated.

Students will participate in their new roles by joining faculty discussions at the annual community college faculty conference October 30-November 1 at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington.

The committees and the students appointed to them are:

Academic Planning—Karen Raub, Elizabethtown; Jerry Wright, Henderson; Clark Hennessey, Maysville, and Kathy Gover, Somerset.

Curriculum Studies—Susan Young, Ashland; Nora Beck, Hopkinsville; Pat Hall, Prestonsburg, and Eddie Shawler, Forestry and Wood Technician School at Quicksand.

Instructional Resources—Gene McClure, Elizabethtown; Amy Mudd, Lexington Technical Institute, and Mildred Oliver, Madisonville.

Student Affairs—Connie O'Hearn, Jefferson; Kenneth Mauser, Northern; Valerie Ford, Paducah, and Ronald Rasnick, Southeast Community College.

POEM FROM VIET NAM WHY A SOLDIER

Take a man, then put him alone,
Put him many miles from home,
Empty his heart all but blood;
Make him live in war and mud.
This is the life I have to live;
And why to the devil must my soul
I give?
You Peace boys pant in your easy chair;
You'll have a ball without really trying,
hile over here young men are dying.
You burn your draft cards and march till dawn;
And burn "Old Glory" on the White
House lawn.
All you want to do is "Ban the Bomb",
There's no war in Vietnam.
You use your drugs and have your fun;
Then you refuse to carry a gun.
There's nothing else for you to do;
But still we are suppose to die for you.
I'll loath you till the day I die;
You make it harder for my buddies and I.
Today I stood over a body, a bloody shred;
I heard the Doc say "This one is dead."

It was a large price he had to pay,
Not to live another day.
He had the guts to fight and die;
He paid the price, but what did he buy?
He bought your life by losing his;
But you don't care what a soldier gives.

Plan Roadblocks In Arthritis Drive

Roy Ramey, of Prestonsburg, Floyd county chairman of the Arthritis Foundation drive, this week announced plans for an intensive fund-raising campaign in the hope that the county's $1,200 goal may be quickly reached or passed.

Betsy Layne FFA boys under the direction of O. E. Stanley will establish a roadblock there Friday. Next week, Mrs. Sexton, leader of the Betsy Layne FHA, will direct her girls in a house-to-house canvass of homes and businesses.

In Prestonsburg Thomas Hereford and Key Club boys plan two roadblocks Saturday—one at the junction of US 23 and the Dewey Lake road, the other at the junction here of US 23 and the Mountain Parkway.

Drives are being planned for Martin, Wheelwright and other communities.

The Arthritis Foundation points out that $300 million is spent annually on quack "cures" for arthritis, while only $15 million is spent on research.

IT'S YOUR DUTY TO

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD!

Uncle John and Aunt Sal Report

Uncle John and Aunt Sal have just completed a statewide survey, talking with and interviewing thousands of people in all walks of life, up the hollows, in the towns, on the streets.

After the final analysis, they found Nunn's Administration approved by 79.9 per cent.

You may remember Uncle John's and Aunt Sal's reports of trips around Kentucky during the Nunn campaign in 1967. They only missed the outcome by less than 2 per cent.

We want to thank Glenn Anderson, Jr. and the Democratic county officials for their clean campaigning in this election. We haven't heard or read a single word where either of them have had anything but praise for a job well done.

We especially want to thank the county officials for their support in securing or trying to secure rights-of-way for projects we had set up to build for the good of the people located along these projects, namely:

Mink Branch road, cost $66,000; Hite-Spurlock-Little Mud road, cost $41,000; Little Paint-Whittaker road, cost $50,000; Arnett Branch, Little Abbott, cost $40,000; Wheelwright Jct.-Wheelwright, cost $16,000; Cracker Bottom to Allen, cost $28,000; Little Mud to Frazier's Creek, cost $30,000.

The following are only a few of the Nunn Administration accomplishments in Floyd County:

Bridge at Lancer and road leading to bridge at Lancer; bridge at Harold; four-laning Route 23, leaving Pike county, coming to Floyd, contract for entire Route 23 through Floyd, four lanes all the way, to be let early next year, Route 23 almost a certainty to be four-laned all the way from Jenkins, Ky. to Portsmouth, O; Route 80 from Allen to Hazard, four-laning almost a certainty.

The following is a partial list of roads blacktopped by the Nunn Administration:

Martin to Cracker Bottom, Spurlock to Mountain Parkway, McDowell to Mud Creek, Turkey Creek-Maytown to Garrett, Arkansas Creek, Stephens Branch leaving Abbott Creek, Bonanza-Big Lick Fork to Johnson County line, Spurlock-Buck's Branch, Dinwood "Twin Bridge" Slick Rock Branch, Martin-Hite road (Dingus settlement), Mare Creek, Tinker Fork.

NO ADMINISTRATION HAS SPENT MORE MONEY IN FLOYD COUNTY THAN THE NUNN ADMINISTRATION.

Projects to built (grade and drain), submitted or to be submitted include Hite-Spurlock, Cracker Bottom-Allen, Mink Branch, Left Fork of Toler, Trimble Branch to Dewey Lake, Frazier's Branch to Little Mud, Branham's Creek, Tackett Fork to Robinson Creek, Pike County line, Arkansas Creek to Prater Creek, Allen to Prater Creek, Jack's Creek road from Jct. 122 to Knott county line Ky. 1498, Wheelwright Jct.-Wheelwright road, Blue Moon-Mud Creek.

Projects submitted for blacktopping:

Simpson Branch, Layne Bottom, Left Fork Bull Creek, Right Fork of Bull Creek, East Point-Auxier, Jack's Creek, Prater Fork of Brush Creek, Upper Burton, Lower Burton, Buffalo Creek, Henry's Branch, Shoe Factory to Town Branch, Johns Creek to Pike county line.

We stand on our record. We are very confident that Louie B. Nunn will go down in history as one of the greatest Governors Kentucky has ever had. With the great things Governor Nunn has done and will do in the next two years, we are very confident that, come the 1971 election, there will be another Republican Governor elected.

We openly and wholeheartedly endorse the Hon. Louie B. Nunn Administration. We have stated our position, our accomplishments. We now submit our case to you, the people of Floyd county, for a verdict. You, the voters, are the jury. We accept your verdict, come Nov. 4th.

LOUIE B. NUNN AND HIS ADMINISTRATION WILL NOT LET US DOWN. Get Mam and Pap, Grandpa and Grandma and all the neighbors out to vote, and . . .

Holding a bass by the lower jaw normally paralyzes it. It will not flop around while thus held usually — with one exception — a green bass, one that is fresh and has not been played out.

Survey Shows Where Teachers Went

FRANKFORT, KY. — What happens to teachers who stop teaching in Kentucky? Why do they leave? Where do they go?

Some partial answers to Kentucky's "teacher turnover" questions can be found in an analysis of accounts withdrawn from the Teachers' Retirement System of the state of Kentucky during the 1968-69 school year.

Retirement System executive secretary James Sublett's annual summary shows 3,129 teachers withdrew their funds during the year. In the total were 1,001 men and 2,128 women.

The reason most often cited for withdrawing from teaching was "homemaking, family duties, children," reported by 913 teachers—all women.

Next highest response—by 727 teachers—was "other teaching employment outside Kentucky." Another 96 took teaching posts in Kentucky colleges or schools not covered by the retirement system.

Ohio attracted more former Kentucky teachers—152—than any other state. Another 99 teachers went to Indiana to teach and 72 others went to Florida.

Sublett said 393 went to teaching posts in states other than Ohio, Indiana, and Florida, while 11 others left to teach outside the United States.

Average salaries for classroom teachers last year in Ohio, Indiana, and Florida were considerably higher than Kentucky's $6,550. The comparable figures were $7,750 for Ohio, $8,100 for Indiana, and $8,130 for Florida, according to the Kentucky Education Association (KEA) research division.

Only nine states—West Virginia, Tennessee, Idaho, Arkansas, North Dakota, Alabama,

South Carolina, South Dakota, and Mississippi—paid lower average salaries last year than Kentucky.

Sixty-five Kentucky teachers who quit but did not take jobs in other states cited "salary too low" as their reason.

Accounting for the third largest category of withdrawals was "non-teaching employment," given as their reason by 604 teachers.

Within this category 234 took further training and education, 175 entered business or industry, 84 went to work for local, state, or federal government, 65 entered military service, 38 went into a church—related profession, five entered the legal profession, and three entered the medical profession.

"Personal reasons" caused the withdrawal of 212 teachers, while 184 listed "moved residence to another state" and 65 said "husband transferred out of Kentucky."

Ninety-three checked "emergency teacher, lack of training, not re-employed."

Death accounted for 48 withdrawals, while "lost service credit, absent seven or more years" accounted for 44.

Other reasons for withdrawal were illness, 29; disliked teaching, 22; needed the money, 20; and absent from profession four to six years, 7.

RICH MAN . . .

QUALIFIED ACCOUNTANT . . .

CHOOSE ONE FOR STATE AUDITOR

A rich playboy vs. a qualified accountant.

On Tuesday, November 4, you will elect Kentucky's State Auditor.

You will be choosing between the man the Courier-Journal described on October 22 as the fashion-conscious long-haired heir to Glenmore whisky millions, and an experienced, Certified Public Accountant who is also an attorney and served successfully from 1956-60 as State Auditor.

Miss Mary Louise Foust, Democratic nominee, is the best qualified by experience and training of any person ever to seek the office of Auditor.

"I do not have the access my opponent has to vast funds for advertising and high living. I would not want such because of the obligation it would bring. I hope all my friends will vote for me. I need the job, and I am qualified." Mary Louise Foust.

By TED KESTING

We ought to have some sort of national recognition for the coonhound—a rough, tough bundle of tenacity who will brave anything when it comes to pursuit of the varmint he was bred to chase.

There are hounds and hounds; most of them can be trained to run any kind of game. Trading is the primary instinct in the hound's makeup. But a good coonhound must be a natural tree dog and this is a different matter. Many hounds will run a coon trail true and hard, with enough expression of voice to satisfy the most demanding. But when the coon takes to timber or holes up and the race is closed, they leave to search for another trail. Such hounds cannot be considered good coon dogs.

A good coonhound must stay at the tree, barking sometimes for hours on end, until his master can locate the sound and come to him. Some hounds will work a trail wonderfully well, pushing the coon closely until it seeks safety above or below ground, and bark enthusiastically when the chase is ended. But unless the master appears on the scene in short order, they become discouraged and resume hunting for another chase.

The good coonhound is a sticker. He will remain at the tree barking for hours and hours until found. This is most important, for on windy nights it is often difficult for hunters to locate their treeing dogs because the wind interferes with the carry of the sound. Considerable maneuvering, listening and judging directions and distances are necessary on the part of the hunters.

For this reason it is also important that the good coonhound have a loud voice that carries well. It does not have to be a bass, a bugle, a treble or a chop, but it should be loud enough to be heard and located for considerable distances. This is not too great a factor in flat country, but in hilly terrain it can mean missing a thrilling race that is taking place beyond the next ridge. And the hound should have a pleasant voice.

The good coonhound must be a rugged dog of good health, strong body and possessed with a rare degree of courage. He will face long hours of exhausting work uphill and down, through muddy swamp and boggy marsh, breaking ice and breasting cold streams, if need be, to carry the trail. And when face to face with his quarry, he must brave tooth and fang unflinchingly. Yet at home in the kennel, and in transit, he should be of good disposition.

According to Henry P. Davis, Dogs Editor of SPORTS AFIELD Magazine, it is of prime importance that the coonhound be willing to hunt nothing but tree-living animals. He claims that this is where so many hounds fail to qualify as really good coon dogs.

It is the main reason why so many training scents are offered on the market. Some dogs simply cannot resist the temptation to run deer, foxes or even rabbits when they cross these trails.

These are the major qualifications of a good coonhound. When you stop to analyze them you can readily understand why top quality dogs are rare and command such high prices.

Doctors Disagree, Miner Loses 'Black Lung' Case

The case of a Floyd county miner before the Court of Appeals last week might have been styled, "When Doctors Disagree."

The result: The miner, Reggie Davis, 59, of Wheelwright, lost his appeal for compensation for what he contended was "black lung."

Although much of the testimony from eight doctors was based on X-rays, doctors on both sides of the case down-graded X-rays as a means of diagnosing "black lung."

Davis claimed compensation for pneumoconiosis (black lung) in 1967 after working some 37 years in the mines. The claim was opposed by his last employer, Island Creek Coal Co.

Before the state Workmen's Compensation Board, each side introduced depositions from four doctors, with the following diagnoses:

Introduced by Davis:
Dr. W. C. Hambley, Pikeville—"Minimal second-stage silicosis with moderate emphysema." (Silicosis is compensable, emphysema is not.)

Dr. Charles W. Nelson, Beckley, W.Va.—"Suggestion of mild emphysematous appearances . . . Nodular fibrotic-like changes indications of pneumoconiosis."

Dr. Perry Futterman, Beckley, W.Va.—"Coal worker's dust disease and pulmonary emphysema."

Dr. D. L. Rasmussen, Beckley, W.Va.—"Occupational lung disease."

cause to run a dark-brown ribbon of ugliness and death.

Next Spring, please go back to the weed-cutters. They may loaf, may do no more than bruise the weeds, but they won't kill everything they can find.

THE SECRET

The word has been bruited around, with at least a modicum of truth, that I have my fishing troubles. It doesn't sound good to the old ear, but there are some low fellows who trow I couldn't catch a fish off a stringer. Then there are those who will side up with a bit of advice. One such told me, "Man, you've got to think like a fish to catch a fish!"

And a great burst of light sears the eyeballs. Now I know wherein lies my trouble.

I don't think like a fish. I think like the worm.

THE DAWNING

Then there's the one about the young bride who went home to mother and complained bitterly about her husband's continued drinking.

"If you knew he drank, why did you marry him" her mother inquired.

"But, mother," explained her daughter, "I didn't know he drank till one night he came home sober!"

Included in the group of 12 visitors were the Title I coordinator and his entire Ashland staff. They visited Clark, Auxier, Wayland and Osborne elementary schools in a study of the various school programs in reading, library uses and social services.

"Virtually all of the schools in Floyd county participate in the New Process Approach in Science, and since the inception of this program we have had more than 100 educators from throughout the state visit these schools", Clark said.

Cats Lose Heartbreaker To Hazard Hi, 21 to 20

The Prestonsburg Blackcats suffered their third loss of the season Friday night as the Hazard Bulldogs squeaked out a 21-20 win in the waning minutes of the contest. The loss brought the Blackcat season record to 5-3. The Cats' own fumbles, mistakes and interceptions were their downfall against a much heavier team. The Blackcats went on the score board first on a razzle-dazzle run of 75 yards by Wayne Brown. The visitors came back and scored on a fumble by the Cats' receiver. The Bulldogs kicked the extra point and led, 7-6.

Prestonsburg took the lead on another run by Wayne Brown, this one for 3 yards, and the Cats tumbled for the extra points. Prestonsburg led at halftime, 12-7. At halftime fans saw a soccer game between girls from the Prestonsburg and Clark elementary schools.

Prestonsburg scored its final touchdown on a hard, bruising run by John Paul Leslie, and Mark Miller connected for the extra 2 points on a pass to Wayne Brown.

Not only did the Blackcats lose their third game—they lost the services of one of their top halfbacks, Timmy Burchett, who suffered a broken leg. He will be out for the remainder of the season.

The bright spots of the game for Prestonsburg were the two touchdowns and two extra points by "Tweezer" Brown, which now give him a total of 114 points and rank him among the top scorers in the state.

The Cats will travel to Russell Friday night and will close out their season on Nov. 7, facing the undefeated Paintsville Tigers.

VISITING HERE

Mrs. Bob Francis, of Sarasota, Fla., has been here visiting her mother, Mrs. Bill Osborne, and her aunt, Mrs. Richard Feiler. She accompanied her aunt to Lexington last week for a check-up.

Introduced by the coal company:

Dr. S. G. Davidson and Dr. H. F. Warden, Bluefield, W.Va.—"Moderate emphysema. . . Does not show X-ray evidence of pneumoconiosis."

Dr. Graydon A. Long, Lexington—"Chest X-ray reveals moderately severe bulbous pulmonary emphysema. . . No evidence of pneumoconiosis."

Dr. E. R. Gernert, Louisville—"Negative for pneumoconiosis and/or silicosis."

Davis also asked for examination by a board-appointed physician, but the board declined.

On May 13, 1968, the board unanimously dismissed Davis' claim.

"The evidence is not persuasive that plaintiff (Davis) has the occupational disease of pneumoconiosis," the board said in an opinion written by A. E. Cornett.

Davis then appealed to circuit court on the grounds that the board acted arbitrarily and capriciously in not allowing a board-appointed physician to examine him.

But both Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, and now the high court, ruled that the board was within the law in declining to appoint another doctor. The state law in question says the board "may" make such an appointment.

During the examination of a fellow doctor, questions by the coal company's attorney, Fred G. Francis, of Prestonsburg, caused Dr. Futterman to inject this statement into the record: "The X-ray beam can only show up damage in the lungs down to a certain point."

"If you have collections of dust and scar tissue in a man's lungs, which is a quarter of the size of the lead in a lead pencil, it will never show up on an X-ray."

"The whole lung can be peppered with these little spots, but the individual spots are too small to be seen by the X-ray."

"It isn't the size of the spot on the X-ray that is of the greatest importance. It is what the aggregate of this business is doing to the fellow."

"Now, unfortunately, compensation commissions, their experience leads them to look at X-rays, and they can see only the spots."

A doctor whose testimony was introduced by the coal company, Dr. Long, stated under cross-examination: "The only way to diagnose these things is to get the tissue from the lung and examine it in the laboratory."

Berea Has 94th 'Mountain Day'

Berea, Ky.—For the 94th year, Berea College dropped everything else in the middle of old October and climbed to the pinnacle of Indian Fort Mountain. Because it's there. Because it's traditional. Because—when the weather's fair—classes are called off.

It all began at 6 a.m., Oct. 15, when 1,400 pairs of student ears hear "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain" chiming from the bell tower of Phelps - Stokes Chapel. Some 900 students and 100 faculty and staff members assembled about an hour later at the Alumni Building and then set out on foot for the Indian Fort Theatre, some three miles west of Berea.

Thence the trail leads upward, over such celebrated landmarks as "Fat Man's Misery" and "Devil's Slide," and emerges some 30 minutes (or considerably more, depending on the ascent one chooses and his fitness) later at the East or the West Pinnacle.

From either vantage point there promises to be a spectacular view of the mountains, robed in the amber and ochre of October.

Such old mountain hands as Dr. George Noss, retired professor of philosophy and Dr. Willis D. Weatherford, Jr., college president, traditionally lead small groups of students. Newer mountaineers like Dr. John White, associate professor of Psychology, and Mr. Eugene Startzman, instructor in English, also piloted groups on the climb this year.

Sign-up lists for Mountain Day were posted last week by Edward DeRosset, director of the Alumni Building, who has planned the 1969 Mountain Day.

After the descent the climbers were served lunch at the Indian Fort picnic grounds, then filed into the Indian Fort Theatre for a 2 p.m. presentation of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town."

The Mountain Day tradition at Berea College dates back to 1875 when the faculty voted a college-wide excursion to the mountains. That year, Mountain Day was held in the spring and for several years thereafter it was alternated from spring to fall. The "Berea College Reporter" of June, 1886, describes a memorable Mountain Day in which a brass band went early to the West Pinnacle and was "discouraging sweet music" as the rest of the students clambered up the steep incline. Food wagons, said the student newspaper, took their baskets of food to a spring halfway between the valley and the East Pinnacle, there to wait the climbers.

In 1879, Silas C. Mason, a professor of forestry, went along on Mountain Day, contemplated the forested hills and decided on the spot that what Berea College needed was its own forest, as a teaching-aid for forestry and as a source of clear spring water. Berea College's 6,000-acre forest and the water system of the city of Berea are therefore traceable to Mountain Day.

Witch Tales Are Yet Told

By HELEN PRICE STACY

Perhaps even yet on Coats Branch in Perry county, or in a pretty cottage in Morgan, when dusk has settled early on the countryside and the family's gathered inside, an old one will become the center of attention by telling about the days not too long ago when witches didn't ride a broomstick across a brooding sky but walked in a front door.

"After we were all seated in the big room on a chill night back in the 1800's on Coats Branch the fun would begin," said the tiny beech-nut of a woman. "Daddy would sit in the corner close by the big pine torch driving pegs in the shoes he was making, while Ma sat nearby knitting socks. 'Tell us a witch tale,' we would start."

Mrs. Mary Combs Engle, who lives with a daughter, Mrs. Louraney Hurley, in West Liberty, will be 90 next May. She sat in her comfortable home recalling days of witch craft in the mountains, singing snatches of ballads that traveled many miles across the sea and reciting poems that she had written.

To get in the proper mood — or because she enjoyed the opportunity to relive a part of her past — Mrs. Engle said:

"On Troublesome we used to sing 'George Riley,' 'Fair Ellender,' and that one about Roseannie's blood 'sprinkled like hard drops of rain.' The one about Little Omie is an awful pretty song. Polly Fugate used to sing it, a good hand to sing."

"Little Omie was missin' and could not be found."

Her friends and her neighbors all gathered around.

Up stepped her own mother and all she could say,

Jim has killed her and now run away."

"Polly could sing it awful pretty. Bein's how May is my birth, I like the one called 'Bright May Morning' . . . speakin' about witchcraft and witches, for sure and everyone was afraid that one would get in the house and cause some fearful evil to befall."

"One sad story was about a young man of about 18 who had fallen in love with a beautiful young lady, but her mother was a witch and wanted the daughter to stay home with her and not marry. The daughter went against her mother's wishes and wed the young man anyway. The witch's hatred grew as time passed and after a year the daughter gave birth to a baby boy."

"The witch cast a spell on her and she became ill. Realizing what had happened they made a hair ball and stuck pins in it and were supposed to pitch it in the fireplace which they failed to do. That would have broke the spell."

"Another time, a witch was displeased when her husband went hunting against her wishes and put a spell on him. He could not kill game though he could see it at close shot."

"One day a-hunting he decided to break the spell and unloaded his gun at a stream and let the water run through the barrel. Soon the neighbors came runnin' to tell him his wife was ill and likely dying and would be come quick. When he pitched the gun up from the stream, the charm was broken and his wife (Mary Angeline Combs Engle) and her husband, the late John D. Engle, were parents of nine children. The daughter of Frank Combs and Rhoda Ritchie (a cousin of the famed folk singer and musician, Jean Ritchie), Mrs. Engle is leaving an invaluable heritage to her children and grandchildren. Folksongs sung around a family hearthstone, tales and legends repeated time and again — "They never seem to weary of them" — religious training as strong as the hills — a legacy of riches beyond measure.

Mrs. Engle's youngest child, John D. Engle, of West Chester, Ohio, and a native of Morgan county, is a widely known writer and poet. He is a graduate of Morgan County high school and of the University of Kentucky and taught school in Fayette county before moving to Ohio. While in Lexington, his play, "The Charm," based on stories told him by his mother was produced at Guignol Theatre, and many of his short stories and poems have been written from mountain legend and lore.

It does not necessarily take a writer to enjoy talking with older ones. And the subject need not be witchcraft, but when the speaker starts. "They was this family who had buried their kin at Cannel City in Morgan county during the big coal boom. Later they wanted to raise their daughter and bring her back to Troublesome Creek. I was a young woman then . . ." the listeners are certain to be held spellbound — and often the end does not come till two or three witch tales later and the late hours of night.

And, "You remember, those Smith youngins were here and got afraid to go home and had me makin' beds all over the floor in the middle of the night. Why, some of us would have to set up all night."

Sometimes the spells cast on a neighbor were not too severe, such as causing the milk not to clabber so the family would be deprived of buttermilk and butter, or, worse still, preventing the cow from giving milk at milking time, even causing firewood to sputter and smoke instead of burning. For every spell cast by a witch, there was a charm to dispell it. The problem was figuring out the charm.

During the days of Indian Summer and when the nights turn cold, during these days of Halloween, go to a grandparent, a great-grandparent or any old person in the family or community. Ask them to talk about the days of their childhood. Watch their eyes take on a sparkle, their faces a glow and their entire being a new alertness. Listen to their stories while there is yet time.

In Mrs. Engle's childhood she remembers the old one would finally take the Bible from the shelf, open it to Deuteronomy and read verses 10 through 12 and read to the children to explain why witchcraft should not be practiced.

Maybe it was a subtle way of teaching about love and forgiveness that when a child pleaded, "Tell us a witch tale. Please, Ma. Tell us just one," the old one would begin, "Well, once on a dear, dark night there was this witch who did not love her neighbor, and cast a spell on her, until one day . . ."

MARTIN BAPTISTS ENJOY WIENER ROAST

Members of the First Baptist Church and its Sunday School at Martin enjoyed a recent wiener roast at Dewey Lake, with more than 80 present, with Sunday School Supt. Clarence Crisp and Tom Marshall at the grills. Youngsters enjoyed outdoor games, plus a hike to the ferris wheel, Mrs. James E. Clark chaperoning the march.

Attendance at services is increasing. V. B. S. enrollment in the summer exceeded expectations. A visitation program has been launched, Pastor James E. Clark heading it. A Halloween social is being provided, a pot-luck dinner scheduled in November, and a special Christmas program by the children and young people announced. Rev. and Mrs. Clark, who moved to Martin from Ohio, are originally from Clay county, Ky.

Kentucky Needs Thompson For State Auditor

My Fellow Kentuckians:

This November, there will be but one statewide election---for Auditor of Public Accounts. In March, I was appointed to this position and must now run to fulfill the term.

It is my duty to see that our tax dollars are spent honestly and efficiently---so we get the most for our money. An example of this is the computer system we have developed, which will help even our smallest county better control its operations. Another example is the help and advice we are now rendering the Medicaid program. Such ideas are based on teamwork between my office and other agencies of Government.

Yet, Government alone cannot solve all our problems. We need a working relationship involving every area of Kentucky: Farms, Universities, Business, Labor, the Clergy and all citizens.

I look forward to working with you to advance the progress already made, root out corruption, and enhance the vitality of Kentucky.

Sincerely,

Jim Thompson

P.S. Will you join with me to work toward these goals? JT

Paid for by Thompson for State Auditor Committee, Frankfort, Ky., Thurston B. Morton, Chairman

"We must prevent waste and corruption. But in addition, we can offer ideas to the Counties and State Agencies that will help them do a better job."

"Almost always, there is a better, more efficient way to do things. Our job is to find that way, and then convince others of its value."

Floyd Major Takes Part As Navigator In Air 'World Series'

SPOKANE, Wash. - The Strategic Air Command (SAC) 1969 "World Series of Bombing" got under way last week at Fairchild AFB, Wash., featuring SAC's top bomber crews, and a Floyd county man was a member of one of these crews.

The bomb crews, many already combat seasoned in Southeast Asia, are matching their flying and bombing skills - without dropping a bomb - in SAC's 18th combat competition. Twenty-four SAC bomber crews, flying B-52 Stratofortresses and B-58 Hustlers, plus three British Royal Air Force crews flying Vulcans, are competing for the coveted Fairchild Trophy, individual awards and championship title.

Major Ronnie C. Rice is a navigator on the B-52 selected to represent the 456th Strategic Aerospace Wing at Beale AFB, Calif. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Vaughn, Prestonsburg, Ky.

Commanders pick their very best crews to represent their wing in the competition. Selection is made after careful screening of daily training records, readiness inspections and periodic tests.

During the competition each crew flies two round-robin missions of 2,500 miles from Fairchild AFB, encompassing high and low simulated bombing and pinpoint navigation. Missions last about six hours.

The wing amassing the highest number of points in combined bombing and navigation will be awarded the Fairchild Trophy.

Major Rice, who was commissioned in 1956 through the aviation cadet program, has flown 902 combat hours in Vietnam. He holds the Air Medal and Air Force Commendation Medal.

A 1963 graduate of Kentucky Military Institute at Lyndon, he attended the University of Southern California, Northern Montana College and Chapman College, Orange, Calif.

Betsy Layne

The Betsy Layne-Stanville Progress Club held its regular monthly meeting October 14 in the recreation room of the Volunteer Fire Dept., with the president, Darvene Conn, presiding. The Cub Scouts presented a program consisting of the salute to the flag, Cub song, and short skits with all the Cubs taking part, and Mrs. Pat Conn, and Mrs. Clara Allen assisting. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Tommy Spears. Various community projects were discussed and reported on. Several had been accomplished and some are still to be done. It was decided to proceed with plans for some picture stationery to be sold to provide funds for community projects. Various members agreed to take and submit pictures of local interest to be used.

It was suggested that the Club aid in traffic control, and reactivation of the volunteer fire department as a vital necessity for the community. Alonzo Ferrell reported that there is some legislation pending that would provide funds to buy some Scout equipment, such as uniforms, etc. for boys who could not otherwise afford them. Refreshments were served at the end of the meeting.

There will be a special meeting Nov. 1 at 7 p. m. for the purpose of selecting appropriate pictures for the stationery, and the next regular meeting will be Nov. 11 at 7 p. m.
