

Liquor Charge Laid To Floyd Constable

Jones Alleges Officer Hauled His Rum Supply

The arrest last Friday of a Hueysville man on a liquor possession count resulted a day later in the issuance of a warrant of arrest charging veteran Constable Kenneth Roberts, of Garrett, with transporting alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale.

The warrant for Roberts was issued after Harold Jones, the man arrested on the possession count, had signed an affidavit alleging that the constable hauled his liquor stock to him. Jones claimed he received from his sales only 25 cents a pint of whiskey and $1 per case of beer.

Roberts was arrested by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis when the constable came to the courthouse, shortly after the warrant had been issued. He described Jones' statement as false and an attempt "to frame me," Sheriff Lewis said. The constable was released under bond.

Constable Roberts this month is ending one of several terms in the office, and is scheduled to begin a new four-year term in January. Conviction on the Jones charge, however, could jeopardize his chances of serving out his term in the office, officials said.

Jones was arrested when Deputy Sheriff Claude Flanery and two ABC agents searched his premises and found 11 half-pints of wine, 11 pints of vodka and 6 half-pints of whiskey. His brother, Edward Lee Jones, was jailed on a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon. Both men also were charged with gambling. William Riley Wells, Jr., of the Auxier road, near here, again was arrested Saturday when state troopers searched his premises and found (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

OEO May Ignore Ouster of VISTA By Big Sandy CAP

The Big Sandy Community Action Program several weeks ago voted almost unanimously to end its association with VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America), but CAP officials weren't sure this week the action has had any visible effect.

County Judge Henry Stumbo, who is vice-chairman of the Big Sandy CAP directors, said the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) apparently has decided to continue its support of VISTA. He added he had been told that the CAP directors' move to break with VISTA has not become effective on the technical ground that they failed to specify Floyd county as the place where VISTA is not desired.

VISTA's work is concentrated in the Mud Creek section of this county.

Slone Suit Asks $121,000 Damages Of Rail Company

Walter Scott Slone filed suit in circuit court Friday, asking of the C. and O. Railway Company and its engineer, Brodie Duke, $121,000 damages for injuries received when a car he was driving and a train "came into violent contact."

The collision, the suit points out, occurred at the rail crossing at Garrett as plaintiff was driving from Main Street, to the highway on the opposite side of the tracks.

Plaintiff claims permanent injuries and alleges that the collision was the direct and proximate result of negligence on the part of the railway company and its engineer.

Meade Indictment Does Not Affect State Board Lot

The federal indictment against Ex-Congressman W. Howes Meade, of Paintsville, will not at the present time affect his status as a member of the Kentucky Workmen's Compensation Board, James T. Watson, aide to Gov. Louie B. Nunn, said last week.

"At this particular time," Watson said, "we would plan no action whatsoever."

Meade was appointed to the Workmen's Compensation Board last March following his resignation as state personnel commissioner.

The indictment against him alleges that he made false statements on loan applications filed with a Paintsville saving and loan association.

Two in Area Join Study

Joe McCauley, staff director of the Big Sandy Area Development District, and County Judge Henry Stumbo, member of the district's board of directors, participated last week in Washington, D. C. with other staff and board members from the 13-state Appalachian region in a search for possible solutions to the growing problem of solid-waste collection and disposal.

Also studied was the basic role of development districts in planning and development in their overall relationship to private organizations and local, state and federal governments.

Dr. George P. Archer, board chairman for the Big Sandy Area Development District, announced the election of five new directors who will assume their duties next month. These include three county judges-elect—Wayne T. Rutherford, Pike county; Wayne Blevins, Johnson county, and Wardie Patrick, Magoffin county—Mrs. Willie Kirk, of Martin county, and Mayor-Elect John Chandler, of Paintsville.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins has been tentatively scheduled as the speaker for the January Area Development Board meeting. He will discuss future federal programs and their relationship to planning and development in the Big Sandy area.

Senate Approves Non-Gassy Mines Tax Relief Bill

The U. S. Senate Tuesday approved an amendment to the tax bill which would benefit operators of 3,000 small mines which under the new Mine Safety Act will be required to install new equipment. The amendment was sponsored by Senator John Sherman Cooper.

It provides that cost of the required new equipment, estimated by the Department of Interior at $50 million to $60 million, is to be amortized over a period of five instead of 10 years.

Of the 3,000 non-gassy mines affected by the Mine Safety Act, 900 are in Kentucky, Senator Cooper said. Provisions of the tax amendment are restricted to mining operations above the water table. The amendment applies to the installation of costly electrical equipment to be put into operation within six years under terms of the safety act.

Cooper said he sponsored the tax amendment because the non-gassy mines are small operations and cost of equipping them would put their owners out of business unless they were given this relief.

Board Forms Plan To Buy Six Buses Next School Year

The Floyd County Board of Education in a meeting Saturday which was devoted mainly to routine business expressed its willingness to purchase six new school buses for use, beginning with the next school year.

The buses will be bought under the cooperative purchasing plan with the State Department of Education. County Supt. Charles Clark said this cooperative purchasing effects a saving of about $1,000 per vehicle.

The board authorized the Teacher Textbook Committee to make textbook selections for adoption next year. One-third of the textbooks are changed every three years.

Employed on recommendation of the superintendent were Joan Lafferty as payroll clerk, Beva Rhea King as clerk and Mrs. Fayette Nelson as bus driver for the Allen trainable class.

Wanda McCown, teacher at Garrett, was granted a leave of absence for one semester.

The superintendent was authorized to advertise the Lee Alley school building and grounds for sale.

Wins State Honors

Ronald J. Wright, field office administrator in the Public Assistance office here, has been awarded the title of "Minuteman of the Month." This title is bestowed upon one employee in the Department of Economic Security each month and represents an employee's dedication and progress within the department. Mr. Wright has been with the department since July, 1961 and has been the field office administrator in charge of the office here since last February.

Pikeville Blaze Claims Four Lives

The bodies of four persons were found late last Thursday afternoon in the ashes of a three-room wood frame home on Williamson Rd., Pikeville.

Pikeville police said the bodies of Arthur Collins, 29, his two sons, four-year-old James Ervin and 18-month-old John Michael, and Leonard Goble, 59, were found by firemen at the scene.

Collins' wife, Mrs. Martha Sanders Collins, 25, had given birth to the couple's third son at 4:17 a.m. Thursday in Pikeville Methodist Hospital Unit 2, Pikeville. A hospital attendant said the mother and child were in good condition but noted that Mrs. Collins was suffering from the shock of the four deaths.

Police reported that the fire started at about 2:45 p.m. Two units of the Pikeville fire department were dispatched to the blaze. But a witness at the scene said the house was engulfed in flames when the fire department arrived.

The bodies of the four victims were not discovered until firemen were able to examine the ruins of the building.

Police were unable to determine immediately the cause of the fire or the reason none of the four victims had been able to escape the blaze that swept the small building.

The bodies were taken from the scene to the J. W. Call and Son Funeral Home.

Goble, a deaf mute, was a cousin of Collins and resided with the family in their home in the Ferguson Creek section of Pikeville.

Maytown High Winner In Net Tournery Here

The Floyd county Pre-Season basketball tournament here last week-end had its odd turns.

Maytown, one of the smaller teams (physically) in the area, played David to big Wheelwright and McDowell's Goliath, and the Betsy Layne Bobcats, a team without a gym, fought its way into the finals.

In the first game of the meet Prestonsburg lost to Betsy Layne in an overtime contest, 79 to 77. Wayland defeated neighboring Garrett in the second game of the evening, 59 to 51.

The second round Thursday night brought

Hospital Work Rests Upon Bids Due Today

This Town . . . That World

BELETED ITEM

The Floyd County Times DID NOT observe its 42nd birthday on Nov. 20. We got so busy, we forgot. And some of us are so old we like to skip birthdays.

RAN FASTER THAN I READ

I learn now that I didn't read far enough into Joe Creason's humor-on-gravestones item. If I had, I would have learned he told therein the same anecdote that appeared in this column last week in re the guy who reminded all and sundry that "I told you I was sick."

WHAT A LOVER!

Driving home the other afternoon, I listened to a radio program originating at a Kentucky college and discussing that fashionable bit of the occult, the horoscope. The interview was with a male student, and he was asked if he read his horoscope and believed in the stuff enough to follow it.

"Oh, yes," said the student. "I read my horoscope daily and follow its directions, though perhaps not as closely as I should. To show you how much I trust it . . . A few years ago, a certain girl and I were very much in love. Then I learned that she was a Gemini. I am a Gemini, too, and Geminis aren't compatible. So I broke off our courtship."

And I there in a car, alone, with nobody to register a gripe to, muttered to myself: "Gemini crickets!"

PROPOSITION

I have restrained myself like a man, ever since I became a grandpappy, and have refrained from quoting the grandchildren. But this little one, the other night, came up with one that broke down my resistance. She was trying to persuade her older sister to stay with her at our house and wasn't getting very far with her argument. Finally she made this proposition: "Tell you what, you stay and next time I lose a tooth I'll give you all the money."

ONE LIMITATION

Charon—remember him, the mythical ferryman who transported departed spirits from This Side over to the Other? The story is told that, once upon a time, he had a boatload of fishermen and that when he got them across he congratulated them upon being the fortunate ones. "There you can fish to heart's content. The tackle is waiting for you. The signs are always right and you'll always get your limit. This, gentlemen, is called the River of Life. But I must warn you—you'll never be able again to lie about the big one that got away."

I nominate for the biggest improvement made hereabouts in some time what has been done at the postoffice. And all they did was to take out two doors and a vestibule that never belonged there in the first place.

Highlands Group Hope Work Will Be Slated Soon

How near the Highlands Hospital Corporation is to actual work on its proposed new regional hospital will likely be determined by the size of contractors' bids which are due to be opened at 1:30 this afternoon (Thursday) at the office here of Chalmers H. Frazier, Highlands administrator.

If bids offered on the big construction job are not more than 10 per cent above estimates, chances are they will be accepted. In that case, work could be begun soon. (The successful bidder will be required to begin work within 10 days after official acceptance of his bid and issuance of a formal work order.)

Completion of the job, which includes major items of equipment, is slated for 1972.

Interest of contractors in the project is considered keen, in view of the fact that at least six, perhaps more, bids are already in architects' hands. Before final acceptance of bids is made, they must pass through the Huntington EDA district office and offices of Hill-Burton at Frankfort, Charlottesville, Va., and Washington.

If the lowest bid is acceptable, the result will be a 150-bed hospital on a 23-acre tract of land fronting on new US 23, near Auxier. And when completed, it will mean the employment of perhaps 350 persons with an annual payroll of $1,350,000, exclusive of remuneration to medical staff members.

The hospital is planned to serve the Floyd-Johnson-Magoffin-Martin county area and its population of about 100,000.

East Ky. Co-Op Among Utilities To Curb Pollution

East Kentucky Power Cooperative and 15 other utilities from across the nation and Canada have announced an agreement to contribute financial support to a joint program to develop an advanced air pollution control system.

H. L. Spurlock, East Kentucky general manager, announced that the goal of the $7 million program is a commercial system to eliminate 99 per cent of the gaseous, more difficult to control sulfur oxides from the exhaust of power plant boilers.

The Babcock and Wilcox Company and Esso Research and Engineering Company will do the research on the project, which has a development schedule leading to commercial availability by 1973. Technical and economic checkpoints have been set to determine the advisability of proceeding with each step of the program.

"We have installed the latest anti-pollution equipment available in our two power plants (the William C. Dale Station at Ford and John Sherman Cooper Station at Burnside)," Spurlock explained, "and we certainly want to do all we possibly can to find any additional safeguards. This is why we joined in this joint effort."

Missing Boy Found Under Fallen Tree

A 16-year-old Johnson county boy, missing since the preceding day when he left his home to go hunting, was found severely injured Tuesday afternoon, last week, in the hills near his home on Jenny's Creek.

Raymond Tackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Tackett, was found at 1 p.m. by a search party, less than two miles from his home. The youth had attempted to cut down a tree which sheltered a squirrel when the tree fell on him. He was in fair condition at Paintsville Hospital with back injuries.

Paul Conley, Paintsville city police dispatcher and a member of the search party, said the youth was found with his two dogs huddled around him. He spent about 23 hours in freezing temperatures without a coat or other protective clothing.

The youth was last seen when he returned home Monday afternoon to get an axe.

2 Robbery Suspects Back in Jail Here

Two men charged with the robbery of the Phelps Branch of the Pikeville National Bank and Trust Co., were returned to the Floyd county jail last week after their trial in U. S. district court at Pikeville had been continued till June 2.

The two, Arlie Lee Young, 27, and Billy Ray Hager, 20, both of the Phelps area, have been in jail here since a few days after the bank robbery on Aug. 28. Indictments against them were not returned till Monday of last week.

Trial of a 15-year-old Detroit girl arrested in connection with the bank holdup was continued till June 16. She is at liberty under bond.

Continuance of the trial of the two men followed a plea by an attorney for Hager who said he had not had time to interview the approximately 50 witnesses summoned in the case. U. S. Attorney George Cline announced ready for trial.

Both Hager and Young entered pleas of not guilty.

We won't sell you electric heat.

You'll sell yourself

Exactly what happens when you call us for an estimate to switch to electric heat? It's very simple. We'll set a convenient time to meet at your home. One of our men or a heating contractor will measure your house, count and measure the openings and check the amount of heat loss. He'll recommend the best type of electric heat (there are 7 types). He may give you the names of some of your neighbors who heat electrically so you can ask them their experience with it. Then, within a few days, he'll submit an estimate of installation cost and operating costs. He'll explain his recommendations and estimate and answer any questions. That's it. No "engineering" hokus-pokus. No high-pressure sales talks. Just facts and figures. Then you can decide whether the big difference in flameless-electric heating is worth the cost difference (plus or minus). That's all there is to it. ## Kentucky's Blessings and Gifts

By HELEN PRICE STACY

In 1968 I wrote my views of poverty in an article published by the Tri-State Magazine of the Huntington Herald-Advertiser. Since this is the season of giving and receiving gifts as well as giving thanks, I am using "Poverty... Through A Golden Window" as a theme for REDISCOVER KENTUCKY.

Most of us could use an occasional reminder of our blessings, our gifts—our Eastern Kentucky heritage. There are many ways to look at poverty. The eye of the beholder is important; but even more important is the heart of the beholder.

What "poor" is to some people is plenty to others... and there are degrees of poor. But how could a man be called lacking in the good things of life if he has a piece of land, a family, love of and for his neighbor and all the space and right in the world in which to enjoy his blessings?

There are thousands of people within the boundaries of Appalachia who look on this land as their Mount of Olives, their Eden, and, perhaps, their Gethsemane. Here are the hills of home, and there are those who would prefer to die than leave.

Those who do move away keep a long, trailing root back to Appalachia and on weekends and holidays their untransplanted hearts lead them over the highways and sideroads home.

Home is atop an Appalachian mountain, at a foothill, on a hillside or within a valley. Home is nice, medium nice, or sometimes not nice at all.

But even in homes not nice at all, the mountain man can sit down to a table of good food. The food may not be served in elegance on fine china with silver arranged just so, but it will be eaten and it will sustain him as it sustained his father and his grandfather.

He can work on the roof of his house or on his car; he can go to town, visit a neighbor, go to church or not go to church, attend a meeting of some kind or not attend a meeting.

He can stand in his doorway, or he can sit on his porch and look out over the hills... see the green, the trees, the light blue and the dark blue sky, the moon, the stars.

Usually without locking his door he can go to bed and to sleep knowing his family will be safe and next morning feel rested, refreshed, ready to start again.

He can leave the house after a substantial breakfast (it might be cornbread and gravy and coffee, but it will be filling,) and drive away in a truck or car (it might be a wreck or a rattletrap or a wired and welded piece of modern sculpture that starts most of the time.)

He can be content... and then again he might, somewhere along the way, have wished for a better job, a good job, or a job.

He might wish that he had completed high school and long for something better for his children.

But poor...

What is poor?

Poor is a room in the city by a family whose view from a window is another window, whose mountain is red brick. Poorer yet, is listening to the mills of humans, feeling the grit of a million steps, hearing sounds mingled discordantly into a raw, broken-beat symphony, and never knowing the simple pluck of a banjo or guitar or a bow pulled across strings can be the entire sound of music. Poor is op art in oil, and grime textured with crumbs of brick and concrete and bits of glass that cast the world out of focus in rush, hurry, push, punch, pills, screech, lights, walk, stop, go, dim your lights, turn left, right exit for up, lock your door, slip the safety latch, watch your step.

Poor is lack of human sympathy for the man dying on the street, for the man in the gutter, for the wayfaring stranger.

Poor is the closed mind, the closed door, the closed heart. Poor is not knowing who your neighbor is... poorer is not caring who he is.

Poor indeed is the child in a crowded classroom, the youth miles from a college or university, the child or man without books. Poor is he who has no desire for books. Poor is thinking the world is Mother, and milk from her breast is for the taking.

Rich the child in a world of changeable wonder, with trees and hills to climb and conquer... the child with a grandparent in his family, an old one to tell the ancient tales, the yarns, the stories of another day from which to acquire a relationship with life—an awareness of death.

Rich the child who knows the scratch of thorn and brier, the downy feel of a baby chicken or a rabbit, and who, with his dog at his heels, daily discovers God in this world.

Rich... the man who is compassionate toward his fellowman... feeds the stranger... weeps with those who weep... is joyful with those who laugh... who works alongside his neighbor to build his house, raise his barn, lay by his neighbor's crops.

Rich is he who knows a peaceful land... a peaceable people... a peace of mind.

Rich is he of Appalachia. Surrounded by his wealth, surrounded by his lack, he at least can view poverty through a golden window.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore

TURNING LOOSE RELUCTANTLY

In my years of studying folklore I have often been struck with a paradox: a great many people very reluctantly give up folkish ideas, even when they are proved ridiculous or even false. Sometimes I have been told that certain folk medicines have been abandoned, but immediately told that "there was a lot of good in those old things." There is a possibility that this statement is correct, but it seems slightly comic that the speaker feels called on to defend his former folkish acceptance of something that he now discredits by his actions.

With the vast accumulation of knowledge about plants and animals and weather and medicine, much of it paraded almost tiresomely on TV and radio, some fine people whom I know keep on buying stuff that is no better and no worse than branch water or believing things about nature that five minutes of observation would prove false. Within the last two years, after the extensive collections of folklore that I have made, and in no way localized in my study area, I have found some strange survivals in folk beliefs.

First I must mention snakes, that perpetual conversation piece. A high-school teacher said, in a group where I was conducting a hike, things about snakes that would have done credit only to sitters around the stove at the country store. He also told about owning a madstone and had seen it work; he added that doctors and others who doubted its efficacy were either lying or ignorant. A charming lady told about being chased by a hoop snake a good many years ago; she did not actually see the critter, but her grandmother urged her to run, and she ran as fast as she could and is still alive to testify to hoop snakes. A well-to-do business man declared, with all the ardor of a convert to a new philosophy, that he tied a bunch of horse hairs together and then tied the string holding them to a bush next to a horse trough. You guessed it: "Every one turned to a wiggling snake." And a number of good people looked hurt when someone said that joint snakes cannot reassemble their parts. They personally had not seen this miracle, but some truthful Grandpa or Pappy, now dead, had witnessed this unbelievable show.

In spite of the great strides made in agriculture within the last quarter of a century, planting field crops, the garden, and even flowers has been keyed to moon changes or the signs of the planets by a good number of my acquaintances. They and I have failed to check the ignorant or unrepentant fellows who daringly planted just any old time. And no doubt many a person lost his meat the last season by failing to consult his almanac as to the right days to butcher his hogs; I just did not happen to be around when this subject was mentioned.

Almost violent opposition to the geneticists and their conclusions has shown up several times lately. Prenatal marking, degenerate young from sows or dogs or cows because of their having borne previously scrub stock, facile explanations of malformations of livestock—these things are explained by Grandpa's reasoning, no matter what the scientists say. And, the funniest things of all to me, for they can be so easily contradicted, have been pronouncements about weather, for some of my friends, who never set anything down but depended wholly on memory—now pretty shaky with age—have disputed with official records until the Weather Bureau would seem the biggest fraud now active and kicking. Deep snows, annual rainfall, high or low temperatures, severe storms—how easy to make a mark somewhere, to cut a notch or nail up a plank to show where and what happened. Though careful watchers at Mammoth Cave carefully nailed a board on a sycamore tree at the highest level of a flood within recent years, I would be glad to find you a dozen fellows who would dispute that record, with the board staring them in the face. And the famous rain at night in July, my favorite weather saying, is not accepted even when the creek overflows one's corn patch.

Thurston Hurt, 63, Auto Crash Victim

Thurston Hurt, 63, of Louisa, native of the Johns Creek section of Pike county, was fatally injured Saturday in a two-car collision near the junction of US 23 and KY 1428, two miles south of Paintsville. Born at Gulnare, he was a son of the late Garland and Laura Fraley Hurt. The owner of a farm near Louisa, and a livestock dealer, he was a member of the Louisa United Methodist Church, Apperson Masonic Lodge at Louisa, W. O. Johnson Post 89, American Legion, and the Disabled American Veterans, and was a past president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau. He attended Berea College.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Shirley Lawson Hurt; two daughters, Mrs. Alfred E. Werner of Bayport, N. Y., and Mrs. David White of Louisa; two sons, Maj. Thurston L. Hurt with the Air Force in Thailand and Robert P. Hurt, of Tazewell, Va.; a sister, Mrs. Mae Howard of Lexington; and three brothers, Joe Hurt of Harrodsburg, Gulnare Hurt and Everett Hurt, of Pike county.

WATER GAP NATIVE MONOXIDE VICTIM

Dee Branham, 44, formerly of Water Gap, died Dec. 2 at his home in Eaton, Mich., after he had been overcome by monoxide while working on his automobile.

Lack of ventilation in the basement-garage where he was working is believed to have made the fumes more lethal. Mr. Branham moved to Michigan from Water Gap, five months ago, and was employed as a construction worker.

He was a son of John and Maggie Calhoun Branham, of Water Gap. Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bonnie Spurlock Branham; four sons, Freddie, Larry, Donnie and Clifford Branham, all of Eaton; and two brothers, Ray Branham, of Water Gap, and Douglas Branham, Jackson, Ky. Funeral rites were conducted Saturday at 10 a.m. from the chapel of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home by ministers of the Regular Baptist Church, and burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses and the wonderful services of the Mountain Manor Nursing Home, to the doctors and all of the employees of the home, to the Carter Funeral Home and the ministers for their comforting words, to the Church of God and the wonderful singers, also the relatives and many friends who expressed their grief along with us. To each and every one we are deeply grateful.

Nature Trails

By RUFUS M. REED

I will write about some of our most endangered species of wild life and try to show some ways we might be able to help them survive. For some species, it is already too late to save them. The tragedy is, when any species of wild life becomes extinct it is gone forever.

THE WHOOPING CRANE.—Some years ago, Edward Howe Forbush wrote: "The whooping crane is doomed to extinction." His words are about to come true. Men are desperately trying to save this majestic bird; even their eggs are now hatched out in an incubator, but I feel this bird is too far gone to be saved. Yet it pays to keep on trying.

The whooping crane is one of the tallest and most magnificent of birds; it is almost as tall as a man. Its plumage is snow-white and it has a red face; the wings are tipped with black and the bird holds its neck thrust straight out when flying.

Once there were millions of these great cranes and the noise of their cries when on migration was so great it drowned out all other sounds. One might well ask, What happened to cause the whooping crane to almost fade from the picture of American wild life?

The cause might be summed up in two words: ruthless slaughter. The early settlers shot them by the thousands for invading their cornfields to eat corn. Multiplied thousands were also killed for their beautiful plumage. Their breeding cycles were disrupted, their ranging grounds were taken over for agriculture and these birds soon lost the will to survive. Most any species of wild life can be harassed until it seems to lose the will to survive.

THE SANDHILL CRANES (Two species, both endangered). The Greater Sandhill Crane is also a magnificent bird, with grayish plumage, a red head and white throat. The Florida Sandhill Crane sticks close to its home territory and never migrates. The Greater Crane migrates. Both these are endangered from the same cause: Destruction of their habitat in the marshes, where they nest. These have been drained and taken over for agricultural purposes. Although these cranes are protected by law against being shot, they are not protected against those who would drain the marshes and destroy their breeding grounds. The way things are going now, they are doomed to extinction. Like many other forms of wild life, they are victims of man's encroachment on their ranging and breeding grounds. Our government should pass a law against draining the swamps and wetlands of America, or we are going to lose many more valuable species of wild life.

THE IVORY-BILLED WOODPECKER.—This magnificent bird, largest of the woodpeckers, was not seen for almost sixty years and it was given up as extinct. This was caused by cutting of the large timber in the river bottomlands and swamps of the south. This bird likes large timber where there are old logs and dead hardwoods from which it gets its food, larvae and beetles. It often traveled hundreds of miles in a single day seeking food, and its great cries could be heard like the toot of a steamboat whistle. This woodpecker has a large, ivory bill and large white patches on the wings. The male excavates for the nest in some large, dead hardwood tree.

A year or so ago, to the delight and surprise of bird lovers, a flock of the "ivory billeds" were found in the Big Thicket Area of East Texas, the first time they had been sighted in sixty years! This was an area of considerable size, where man had not yet gone with his power saws, bulldozers and log trucks. Unless this area is set aside as a preserve for these birds, they will doubtless disappear from the scene. The loss of the large, virgin hardwoods in the south almost wiped them out. It is said they can tear a huge log to pieces in a short time, as they are called, "The boss carpenters of the forest." A man once captured one of the big ivory-billed woodpeckers and locked it up in his hotel room while he went out for lunch. When he came back an hour or so later, the bird had almost excavated a hole through the wall of the hotel room and in a short time it would have been free!

THE BALD EAGLE.—Our national bird, a symbol of power and majesty, is seriously threatened with extinction. This bird has been celebrated from ancient times in poetry and legend. Even Tennyson wrote about the eagle in these lines: The wrinkled sea beneath him crawls, He watches from his mountain walls And like a thunderbolt he falls.

This is said to be about the Golden Eagle, which is also endangered by ruthless slaughter by airplanes chasing them down and men shooting them in the air.

CAUSE OF DECLINE OF BALD EAGLE.—Pesticide poisoning of fish, their main diet, causing the eggs to become sterile. Also loss of habitat due to man's encroachment.

Court of Appeals Affirms Sentence

The involuntary manslaughter conviction of Larry Howard, Greenup county man charged in the auto deaths of three Floyd women, was affirmed Friday by the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Howard's conviction in circuit court Sept. 27, 1968 carried three 12-month jail terms and fines totalling $3,000.

The involuntary manslaughter charges followed the deaths in a two-car collision on new US 23, near here, of Mrs. Elder Wright and her two daughters, Mrs. Brenda Sue Crum and Miss Teresa Wright.

intoxicants. He executed bond. The raid was made by Troopers G. Rose, L. Bevins, F. Bailey, M. Angel and D. Thornsbury. Their haul was seven cans of beer, and Wells said these were found in a garbage dump and not on his property.

Also arrested Saturday on charges of both possessing and selling intoxicants was Gary Johnson, of Weeksbury, after Deputy Sheriffs Flanery and Newsome and ABC agents had confiscated seven half-pints of whiskey and three cans of beer during a search of his property.

Others jailed within the week and charges on which each was booked:

Tommy Irick, operating on a suspended license, by State Trooper Angel; Oney Scott, drunk driving; Thomas Spriggs, no operator's license; Filden Bolen, hunting with an un-plugged gun, by Conservation Officer Don Meade. Bolen's fine and costs amounted to $43.

ALC Faculty Member Named to Register

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Lawrence Baldrige, instructor in English and Bible literature at Alice Lloyd College, and pastor of the Caney Baptist Church, has been selected for inclusion in the National Register of Prominent Americans. The register is an international bureau listing prominent men and women deserving mention for achievements in their business, profession or community.

Mr. Baldrige is a native of Hueysville, Floyd county.

'Sure Signs' of Bad Winter Fail, Winter Contends

By AVERY JENKINS

The North wind doth blow, We shall have snow, What will poor robin do then, He'll stay in the barn, To keep himself warm, And tuck his head under his wing.

This child's poem on the plight of a summer bird in a winter situation may carry as much logic as do some of the so-called "signs" of a forthcoming "severe" winter.

According to professors of barnyard science, some sure signs in autumn that an unusually cold winter is coming are such things as caterpillars having heavy black bands and smaller orange bands, animals having "heavy coats," and corn shucks being heavier and tighter on ears of corn.

Zoologists, meteorologists and climatologists in general pay little heed to these admonitions of cold weather.

Animals grow heavy coats in response to cold weather and not in anticipation of it, say zoologists.

Meteorologists stay with their 30-day forecasts, while climatologists cite records dating back some 95 years. Other unofficial records go back to the time of the American Revolution.

"We do not forecast the weather beyond 30 days," says Doyle Cook, agricultural meteorologist with the U. S. Weather Bureau. He and weather bureau state climatologist A. B. Elam are headquartered in the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Kentucky.

It isn't recalled what barnyard scientists said in the Fall of 1962 about the approaching winter. If the woolly worms and horses showed concern by growing wide bands and heavy coats, they had a legitimate right to do so. Two months later—in January of 1963—the coldest temperature ever recorded in Kentucky turned the Commonwealth into a deep freeze, with 34 degrees below zero noted at Cynthiana and at Bonnierville. The previous low record was in 1899, when on the morning of February 11 the mercury sank to minus 33 degrees at Sandy Hook.

Another chilly reading in modern times was the minus 32 degrees logged at Princeton in February, 1951.

Elam quotes an entry from Collins' "History of Kentucky" which stated that "the most severe winter was in 1779-1780 about Harrodsburg. There was snow and ice on the ground from the middle of November to the middle of February. No rain fell in that period. All streams froze solid. Thousands of wild animals and birds froze and starved to death."

Agricultural weather forecasts are designed to help housewives as well as farmers, Cook said. Forecasts note whether weather conditions will be favorable for tobacco curing, corn and soybean harvesting, fall applications of fertilizers, shipping of perishables, and drying laundry on a clothesline, in addition to the forecast for those who want to know in order to fly an airplane or put on their overcoats.

Winters over much of Kentucky have been on the cool side most years since the middle and late Fifties, according to Elam.

An example is the winter temperature at Frankfort in 1961-62 and 1963-64, which were among the colder temperatures of record with 9.6 degrees and 7 degrees, respectively, below the 1931-60 norms, Elam noted.

He said two of the warmer winters of record were 1931-32 and 1948-49.

For the earth as a whole, temperature changes indicated a warming trend (in fractions of a degree) from 1880 to 1940. This was followed by a world-wide temperature decrease in fractions from about 1940 to the present.

HOW SPURGEON LEARNED OF GRACE

Well can I remember the manner in which I learned of grace in a single instant. Born, as all of us are by nature, an arminian, I still believed the old things I had heard continually from the pulpit, and did not see the grace of God. When I was coming to Christ, I thought I was doing it all myself, and though I sought the Lord earnestly, I had no idea the Lord was seeking me. I do not think the young convert is at first aware of this. I can recall the very day and hour when first I received those truths in my own soul—when they were, as John Bunyan says, burnt into my heart as with a hot iron; and I can recollect how I felt that I had grown on a sudden from a babe to a man—that I had made progress in scriptural knowledge, through having found, once for all, the clue to the truth of God. One week-night, when I was sitting in the house of God, I was not thinking much about the preacher's sermon, for I did not believe it. The thought struck me, "How did you come to be a Christian?" I sought the Lord. "But how did you come to seek the Lord?" The truth flashed across my mind in a moment—I should not have sought Him unless there had been some previous influence in my mind to make me seek Him. I prayed, thought I, but then I asked myself, "How came I to pray?" I was induced to pray by reading the scriptures. "How came I to read the scriptures?" I did read them, but what led me to do so? Then, in a moment, I saw that God was at the bottom of it all, and that He was the author of my faith, and so the whole doctrine of grace opened up to me, and from that doctrine I have not departed to this day, and I desire to make this my constant confession, "I ascribe my change wholly to God."

HELPING DOUBLY HANDICAPPED

WORD PICTURES—A retarded boy at Outwood State Hospital and School assembles pictures as instructed by voice from a testing machine in an adjacent room. The audiometer can perform over 30 different tests of hearing function. Much of the boy's trouble may be that he cannot hear ordinary instructions well. Supervising is Mary K. Warman, Outwood program director.

SOMEONE TO TALK TO—No one could talk to this girl when she returned to Frankfort State Hospital and School from Danville's Kentucky School for the Deaf where she learned sign language. Miss Berg tells her that all staff studying sign language will now be able to talk to her.

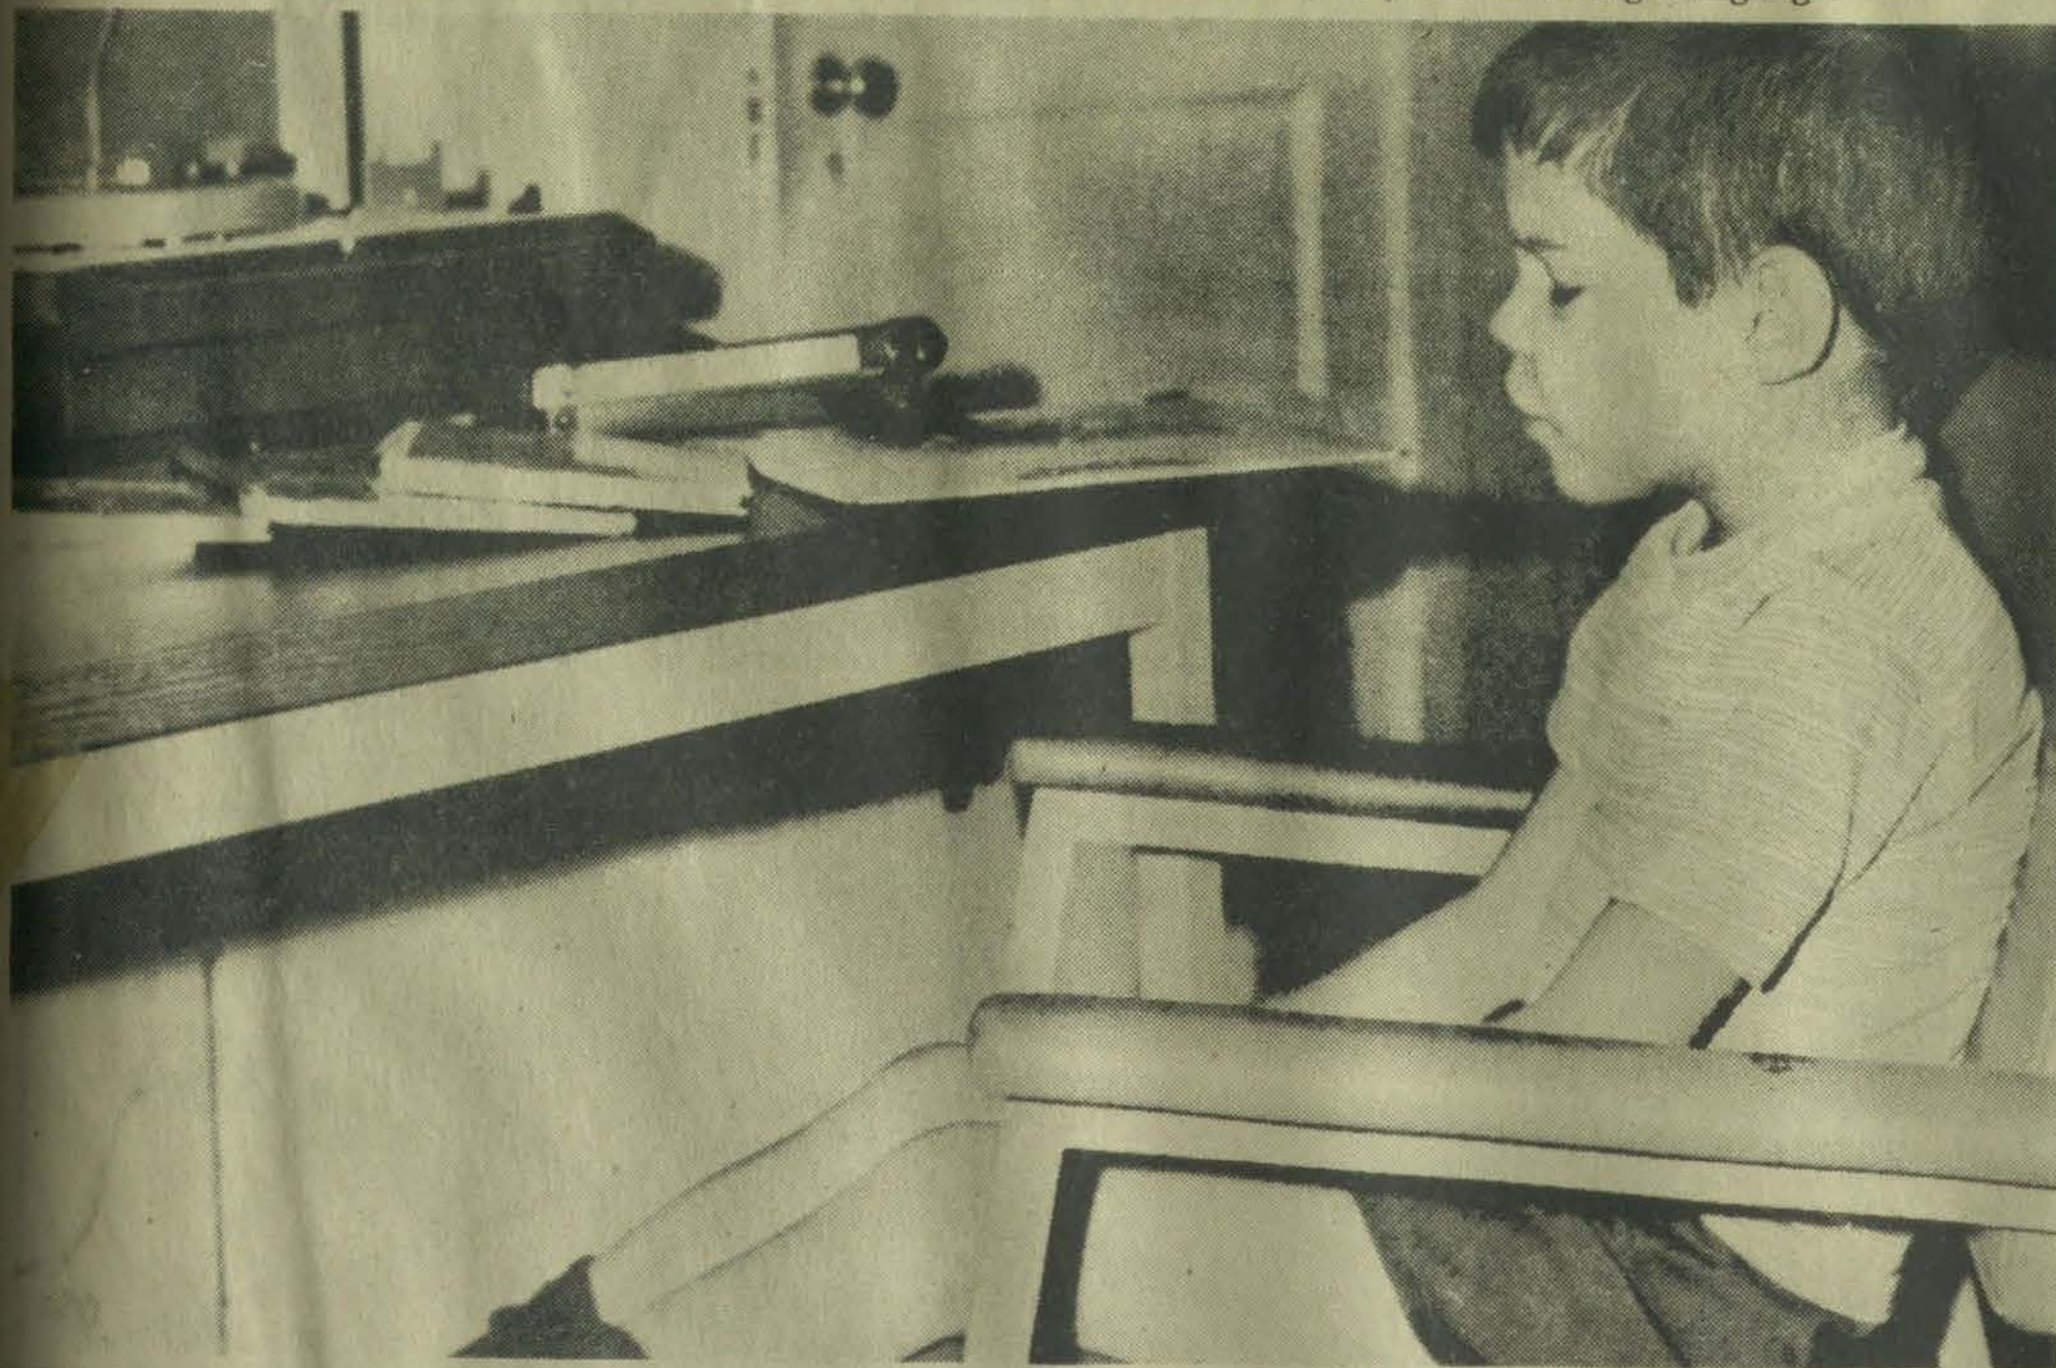

Mentally retarded children with poor hearing seem slower than they are because of the double handicap.

"A deaf mute without special training may seem retarded," says Charles Kimber, program director at Frankfort State Hospital and School. By the same token, "some of our deaf residents may not be as retarded as we think." Hearing aids and training have helped many to speak, hear and function up to their actual capacity.

More than 300 have had their speech and hearing evaluated at the state hospitals and schools in Frankfort and Dawson Springs. Most of those tested were referred for follow-up treatment.

TEACHERS BECOME PUPILS—Teachers and staff members at Frankfort State Hospital and School learn the sign language of the deaf in a recent week-long course, taught by Elsie Berg (left) sign language instructor for retarded children in Tennessee. The teachers and staff meet weekly to practice the sign language.

EARS THAT READ—through "talking books", Jeff, 7, can paint mental pictures of lions and tigers and clowns and airplanes.

"TALKING BOOKS"

KENTUCKY LIBRARY

An $80,000 appropriation from Gov. Louie B. Nunn's contingency fund has enabled those who cannot see to "read" the latest books and magazines.

Before April 1, 1969, the state contracted the services of the Cincinnati, Ohio, Regional Library to supply these recordings. Braille, an audio "talking book" service to Kentucky subscribers.

However, the Cincinnati facility reached its capacity after serving only 1700 of the estimated 90,000 eligible Kentuckians.

PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

NO IDLE BOOKS ON THESE SHELVES—George Duvall, Frankfort, processes the order of a Kentucky subscriber. Approximately 200 "books" are sent each day from the library.

TROOPERS PEDAL SAFETY

WATCH THE YELLOW LINE—The whole idea is to keep the wheels as close to the circle's edge as possible but don't touch the line. Safety Education Bureau Trooper Norman Bryant watches closely as one youthful rider finishes his circle.

FRANKFORT, KY.—If you haven't already met a trooper from the Kentucky State Police Safety Education Bureau, now's the time to get acquainted.

Commanded by Sgt. Ernest Bivens of Frankfort and staffed by a corps of five veteran troopers assigned to state police posts across the state, the bureau—recently enlarged by order of Public Safety Commissioner William O. Newman—was created in 1966 to meet a growing demand by public and private groups for KSP safety talks, films and special programs aimed at emphasizing the need for greater care on the highways.

"Over the past year alone," Bivens said, "our safety education troopers have met with nearly 76,000 Kentuckians."

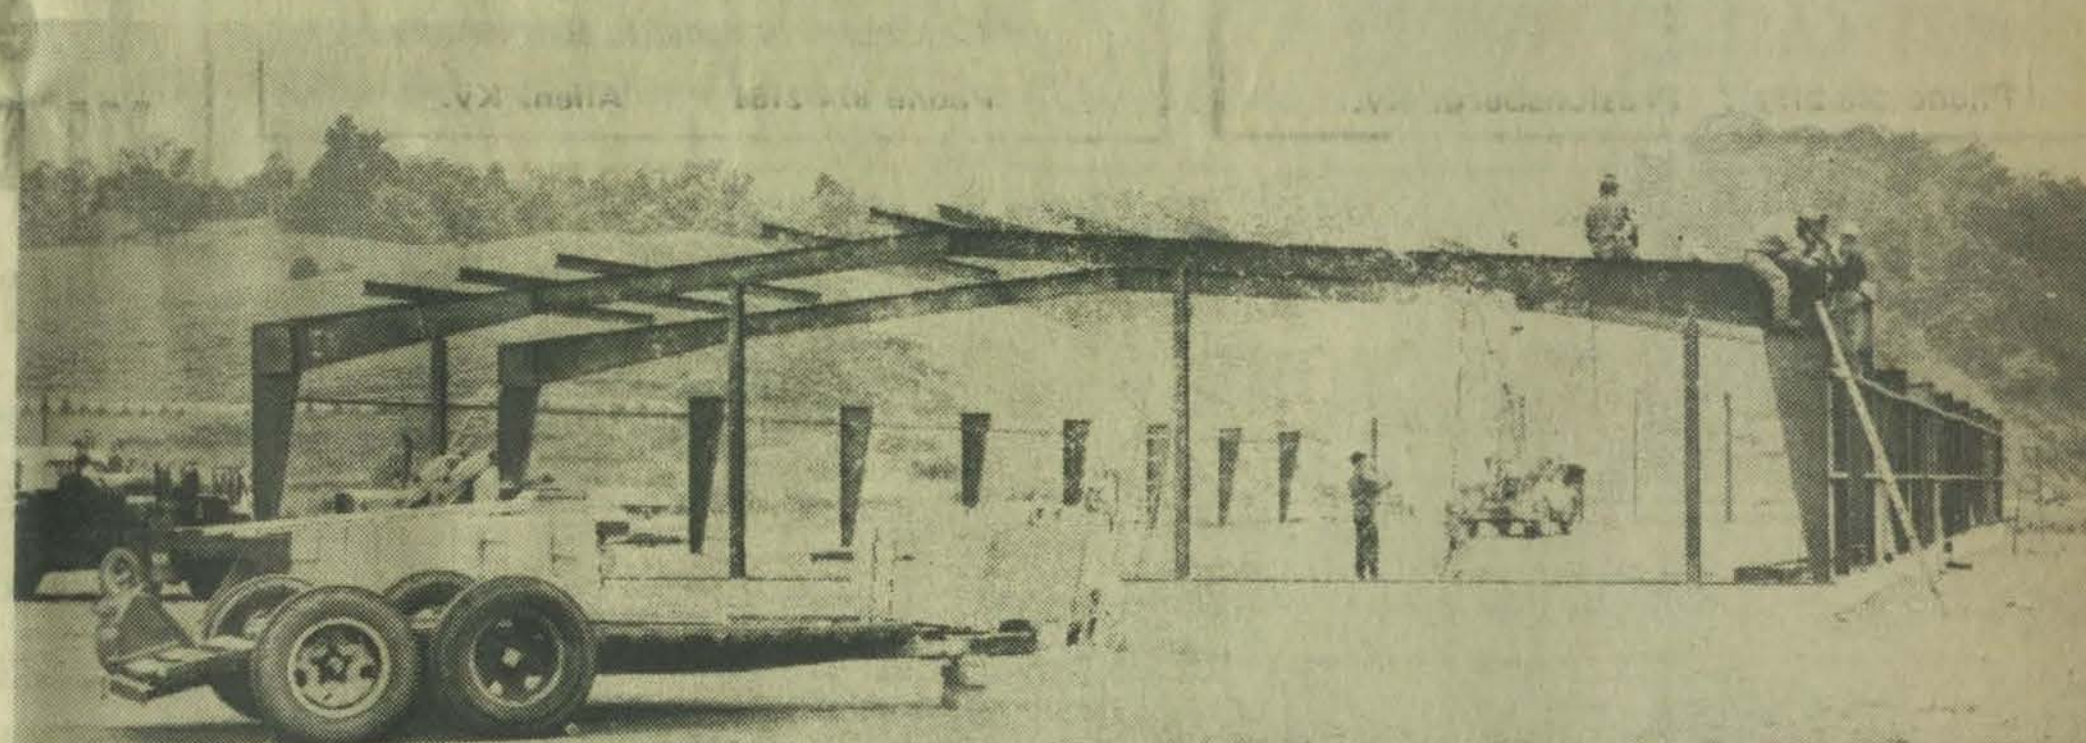

One of the special programs now enjoying an increasing degree of popularity in many communities is the bicycle road-co. Latest among those to ask for the program were seventh and eighth graders at Frankfort's East Elementary School.

DOWN THE SLOT—Keeping a bike on the straight and narrow, without touching the small, wooden blocks is a good way to learn how to thread your way through traffic. Scoring this part of the course is Safety Education Bureau Trooper Norman Bryant.

TOEING A STRAIGHT LINE ON WHEELS requires a steady hand and a sure pair of feet—but, most importantly, it teaches a boy to recognize his own limitations and remember them when he heads home from school along a busy roadway. Standing by, at right, to grade a young cyclist on his performance is KSP Safety Education Bureau Commander, Sgt. Ernest Bivens.

Construction on Control Data's Campton plant began in early August. . . .

. . . by late September, Computer components were being shipped from the plant site.

90 DAY DELIVERY

The birth of Control Data's new Campton plant has opened a new era for Eastern Kentucky.

"Industry is now recognizing the potential for successful operation in Eastern Kentucky," said Gov. Louie B. Nunn.

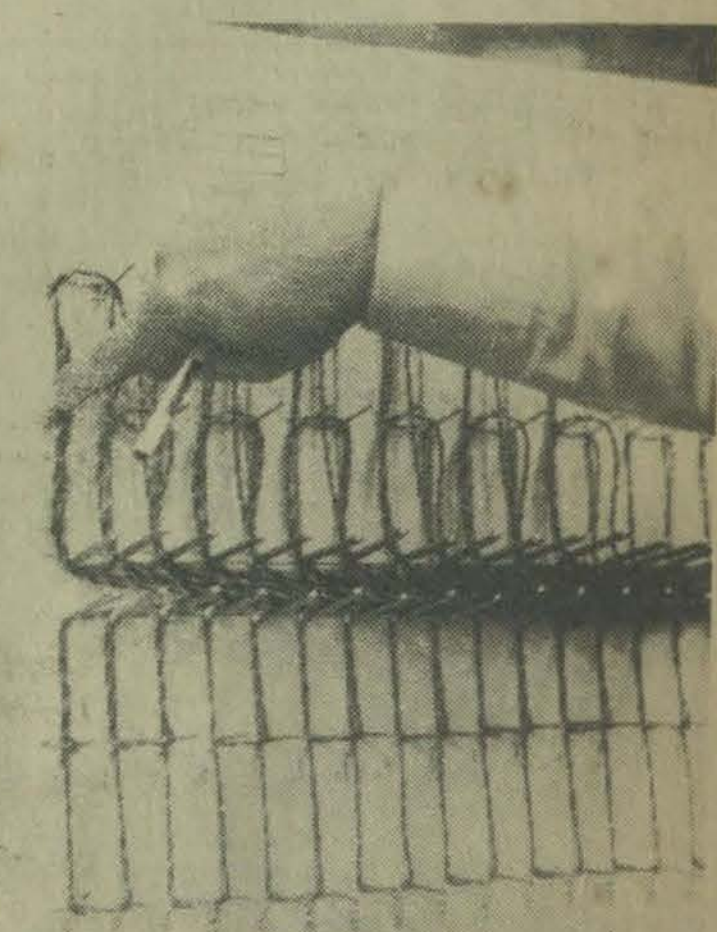

"Three months after the announcement date, Control Data made its first shipment of parts from the Campton plant. This shows other industry the productivity of our workers," he added.

Unskilled labor was the key to success in the manufacture of computer components.

Once the Campton plant is fully operational, employment will be from 100 to 150 people.

The wire-harness made at the Campton plant is a computer component which relays internal electrical impulses for breakdown into readable form by printers and card punches.

Whatsoever Things

I met an old friend the other day. When he asked me to have coffee with him, I took him up on the offer. I'm glad I did. For my visit with him did much to restore my faith in mankind.

My conversation with him happened to turn toward two friends of ours that we knew from our high school days. My friend told me about the two, how good the jobs they had, how much money they were making, and the way they lived.

"They have got their own business now," he said, "and evidently are making a killing. But you know what? They haven't changed a bit. They are the same as always. Life to them is one big party after another. They make big money, dress sharp to impress their business associates, drive expensive automobiles, and drink their high-price booze while chasing their women."

My friend went on to tell me that one of the two had recently gotten a divorce. "He's dating plenty of sharp chicks now," he said. "They live in fast company." Then my friend kinda shocked me by what he said. "That's a heck of a way to live," he said. "To know you have got to do that day after day. To go to bed drunk and get up with a hangover and then to know that you have to go through it again that night would be a heck of a way to live."

My friend continued: "You know, that's a carefree way of living. I wouldn't know what to do if I didn't have something to concern me. I want something out in front of me to work toward, some goal to reach, some purpose in life. I wouldn't trade places with them for three times the money," he said.

You know, I got to thinking about that. Here was a friend of mine, a traveling salesman, who gets his kicks from making a good home for a wife and son, saying that if there was no purpose any higher in life than living it up and having a ball, then he would find it extremely difficult to find life worth living. For him there had to be some purpose behind it all.

Isn't this precisely the feeling that we are created with? To have some goal in life, some purpose, something to work toward? Here is another man, walking along the shores of the Sea of Galilee, teaching, preaching, healing, saying that "for this purpose I have come."

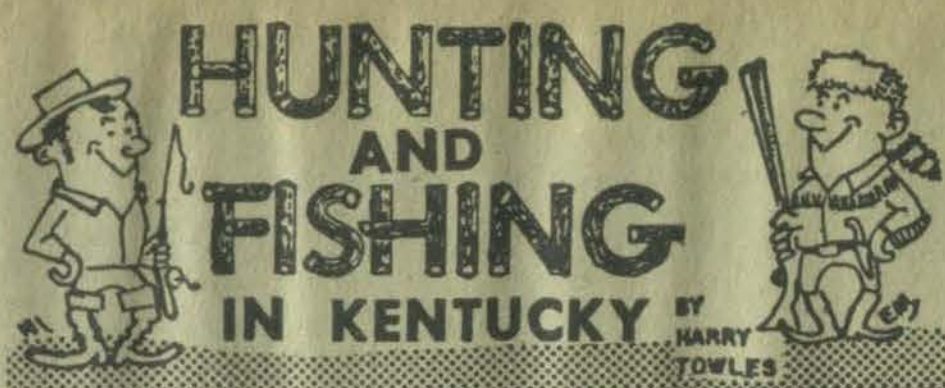

The purpose gave so much meaning to His life that He gave His life for that purpose.

In a classroom behind the Iron Curtain some years ago the professor was without an answer for a question posed by one of the pupils. "Prof," the pupil asked, "what's the purpose of life?"

A Galilean had an answer to the question. He said the purpose of life is to serve, both God and fellowman.

Maybe we should, instead of complaining about all our concerns, rejoice that we have something to be concerned about. For no one is to be pitied more in life than the person whose major goal is to make more money and whose greatest joy comes from carelessness.

"Thank you, Lord, for values greater than money and goals higher than pleasure."

The fellow who attempts to forecast wildlife populations of a particular species for a given period is asking for trouble. There are so many imponderables that in comparison the weather forecaster has it much better than does the game or fishing forecaster, if indeed there are such persons. It is not the policy of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources to forecast good fishing on a given day or good hunting for a particular species during a given season. All we can do is to give the conditions and let the hunter or fisherman take it from there.

So with the rabbit and quail hunting season in the offing (it begins on the Third Thursday in November every year, and this year that date is November 20) we will point out facts obtained by persons concerned with wildlife management—persons who are closest to wildlife on a statewide basis. We'll give some findings of a survey conducted the past summer and let you form your conclusions about the quail and rabbit populations for the upcoming season.

First, something should be known about the survey—what and when and by whom it is conducted. It is called the mail carriers survey and has been used by the Game Management Division of the Department since 1960. It is a survey by comparison with former years rather than with numbers. It clearly indicates upward or downward trends of either of the species for specific years. And this is all it is supposed to do.

The carriers, about 1,000 per year, started their voluntary quail-rabbit census in 1960. They were requested to record all young and adult rabbits and quail observed during the last weeks of June, July and August. They do this while driving their regular mail routes, over the same area about the same time every day. The results of this census are used as an index to statewide populations of these two species and reflect populations from year to year. Each year's findings, (the number of rabbits and quail per 100 miles of driving) are recorded for the June, July and August samplings and these findings are compared to similar surveys over the same routes in past years. The state is divided into eight physiographic regions and tabulations are made by these regions and then lumped together for the overall statewide results.

Now, that's the mechanics of the surveys or censuses. Without attempting to predict the rabbit and quail supply to be expected this year, here are the facts as gleaned from the mail carriers' survey and they should speak loud and clear.

This year the rabbits sighted per 100 miles of travel during the three samplings were 2.93. This may be compared to 2.30 last year and 2.19 the year before or for that matter to the low of 1.46 for 1965. By the way, the first survey, in 1960, showed 1.55 rabbits per 100 miles, and the average since the survey was started is 1.85. The average this past summer, as indicated, was 2.93.

The 1969 samplings by months showed the following increases over the same periods made the year before. June, 7.1 higher; July, 33 higher and August, 13.6 higher.

The highest increase was recorded in the Bluegrass sections and the smallest increases were in the Western Coal and the Jackson Purchase areas. So much for the rabbits. Hope you find them.

The quail survey was conducted in the same manner as that of the rabbit. The index is the highest it has been in the history of the census, reaching 2.40 per 100 miles, or 3 per cent over last year's good supply. The average annual index is 1.88 or 28 per cent below the 1969 index. On a statewide basis mountain sections showed a decline while the Bluegrass regions show a sharp increase over the past two or three years. And so much for the quail population. May you find them, too.

All information obtained by the Administrator or any of his agents or employees, or any other official or employee of the City, from any reports, examination or audit of books, records, accounts, income tax returns or any other source, in the administration of this ordinance, shall be treated and considered as confidential and privileged except for official purposes, unless otherwise treated by judicial decree or specific provision of law, and shall not be open to inspection by the public.

However, if one of these factors (receipts or payrolls) is missing, the remaining percentage is the business allocation percentage. A factor is not to be deemed missing merely because the expenditures of the licensee for payrolls, or the gross receipts of the licensee, are found to be situated, incurred or received either entirely within or entirely without the City.

SECTION VII. FINAL RETURNS AND PAYMENTS OF LICENSE FEES

In the return filed, there shall be setforth the net profits earned during the preceding year within the City and subject to the said license fee, together with such other pertinent information as the administrator may require.

B. The person making the return shall, at the time of filing thereof, pay to the Administrator the amount of fee shown to be due by the return.

C. If a licensee shall terminate his business or employment during the calendar or fiscal year, the proper return shall be filed and the tax paid within 105 days after the termination of said business or employment.

D. Persons temporarily engaged in any trade, occupation or profession, as defined herein, within the City or temporarily performing services within the City, subject to this license fee shall file a return and pay the license fee upon the completion of such activity.

SECTION VIII. RETURNS AND PAYMENTS OF LICENSE FEES WITHHELD

A. It shall be the duty of every person engaged in any trade, occupation or profession, within the City who employs or engages the services of others in connection therewith, to withhold from the compensation of such employee, the license fees herein provided, at the time such compensation is paid or credited, which shall be at least once in every calendar month, and report and pay the same to the Administrator on or before the last day of April, July, October, and January of each year, for the license fees accrued during the preceding three months. Failure on the part of the employer to withhold, report and pay the license fees shall not relieve the employee from liability for the license fees or the duty to file estimated or final returns required by this ordinance.

B. The return required to be filed under this section shall be made on a form furnished by or obtainable from the administrator.

C. On or before January 31st following any calendar year in which such deductions have been made by any employer, such employer shall file with the Administrator, in the form prescribed by the Administrator, any information return for each employee from whom a license fee has been withheld, showing the name, address and social security number of the employee, the total amount of compensation paid during the year and the amount of City license fee withheld from such employee.

Said reports shall be made upon forms furnished by the Administrator and shall be filed not later than April 15 of each year.

E. Each employer is deemed to be a trustee of the City in collecting and withholding the license fee required under this ordinance to be withheld, and the funds so collected by such withholding are deemed to be trust funds.

F. Every such employer required to deduct and withhold the license fee shall be liable directly to the City for the payment of such fee whether actually collected by such employer or not.

SECTION IX. DUTIES AND POWERS OF THE ADMINISTRATOR

A. It shall be the duty of the Administrator to collect all license fees and deposit the same in the General Fund of the City, to be used to defray the general expenses of the City government. The Administrator shall have the power and it shall be his duty to make and publish such rules and regulations as may be necessary to administer this ordinance and to provide such printed forms as may be required for reporting, paying and receipting all such license fees and for all other requirements in the proper and efficient administration of this ordinance.

Under the powers given the administrator, these regulations are issued, and constitute a part of the ordinance appearing in the caption. Additional regulations and rulings will be issued from time to time as circumstances may demand.

B. The Administrator personally, or his agents or employees, are authorized and empowered to examine the books, papers and records of any employer, or supposed employer, or of any licensee or supposed licensee, in order to verify the accuracy of any return made; or if no return was made to ascertain the license fee imposed by the ordinance.

C. Every employer or supposed employer, and every licensee or supposed licensee is required to furnish to the Administrator or his duly authorized agents and employees, the means, facilities and opportunity for such examination, investigations and audits as are authorized in and by the ordinance.

D. The Administrator is further authorized and empowered to examine under oath any person concerning any income which was or should have been returned for license fee and to this end the Administrator has the right and power to compel the production of books, papers and records and the attendance of all persons before him, whether as parties or witnesses, whom he believes to have knowledge of such income.

E. Refusal of any such examination by any employer or person subject to the license fee, or presumed to be such employer or person so subject, constitutes a misdemeanor punishable by fine.

SECTION X. RECORDS TO BE KEPT BY LICENSEES.

All licensees subject to any license fee under the ordinance are required to keep such records as will enable the filing of true and accurate returns, whether of fees withheld at the source or of fees payable upon earnings or net profits, or both, and such records are to be preserved to enable the Administrator or any agent or employee of the Administrator to verify the correctness of the returns filed.

The Administrator will accept the sworn statement of any licensee subject to the payment of any fee provided by this ordinance, or of any certified or reputable accountant or bookkeeper to the effect that the return required under this ordinance is in accord with income tax returns made by the licensee to the State or Federal Government, without examinations or audit of the licensee's books or records unless the Administrator has reasonable grounds to believe that such statement is false, and the acceptance of such statement shall not be considered or treated as a waiver of the right of the Administrator to examine and audit the books and records of the licensee at any later date, should the Administrator later determine that such examination or audit is necessary or advisable.

SECTION XI. PENALTY FOR DIVULGING CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Any official, agent or employee of the City or the Administrator who divulges any information obtained under the provisions of this ordinance except for the purpose of administering this ordinance as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction, shall be fined not less than $50.00 nor more than $500.00 or punished by confinement at hard labor for not more than thirty days, or both so fined and imprisoned.

SECTION XII. INTEREST AND PENALTIES

All license fees not paid when due shall draw interest at the rate of six per cent (6 per cent) per annum from due date until paid, and upon failure to pay any license fee when due, a penalty of ten per cent (10 per cent) is hereby imposed which shall draw like interest from due date.

SECTION XIII. PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION

Any person who violates any of the provisions of the ordinance, by failing to pay license fee when due, or failing to withhold and pay any license fee when due, or failing to file any report or submit to any examination required by this ordinance or in any other manner fails or refuses to comply with any of the terms or provisions of the ordinance, or any of these rules and regulations, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, be fined not less than $50.00 nor more than $500.00 or imprisoned at hard labor for not more than thirty days, or both so fined and imprisoned. Such penalties shall be in addition to other penalties imposed by this ordinance. Each failure or refusal to comply with any of the provisions of the ordinance, or these rules and regulations, shall constitute a separate offense, and each day that such failure or refusal continues without compliance shall constitute a separate offense. 11-27-31.
