AV Suit vs. Board Out in U.S. Court

Judge Moynahan City Hall Window, Dismisses Suit On Prior Action

A second federal court action filed as an aftermath of the injunction granted against Appalachian Volunteers and others to restrain them from entering upon properties of the Floyd County Board of Education was dismissed Jan. 16 by U. S. District Judge Bernard T. Moynahan, Jr.

Earlier, Judge Moynahan had remanded to the Floyd circuit court the original infunction case which Supt. Charles Clark and the board of education had instituted against AV's, VISTA and individuals associated with the two organizations. A federal ruling on the injunction was sought on the contention that it restrained VISTA members as federal officers from effective performance of their duties.

The second suit, which was flatly dismissed, was filed by Edward Lee Blankenship, the AV's and the Eastern Kentucky Welfare Rights Organization, seeking to have a resolutions adopted by the board and the restraining order issued by circuit court declared unconstitutional, and asking an injunction against enforcement of the restraining order. The resolution declared "all schools and all school property off limits to VISTA and Appalachian Volunteers."

Plaintiffs contended the resolution and injunction are in violation of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the

The defendants, Supt. Clark and the board, moved to dismiss the action for want of jurisdiction on the parties and subject matter of the action, for failure of the complaint to state a claim upon which relief could be granted, and because of a prior pending action begun in the Floyd circuit court which involved the same parties and the same subject matter.

Judge Moynahan in his memorandum opinion pointed out:

1. Federal courts will not ordinarily interfere with state court proceedings. 2. The U. S. Code specifically prohibits courts of the United States from using their injunctive powers to stop state court proceedings except as authorized by act of Congress, or where necessary in aid of the court's jurisdiction or to give effect to the judgements of the court.

3. In the case at issue there is no allegation that the state's criminal processes have moved in any way against the plaintiffs, nor is there any allegation from which it might be inferred that the plaintiff's rights cannot be fully vindicated through the pending state court action, nor does the case involve a request for the declaration of the unconstitutionality of a state statute.

No Action Seen By Breckinridge In School Case

Attorney General John B. Breckinridge has declined to institute the action requested by Ex-Representative Everett Akers, of Martin, to recover school funds which Akers said he felt had been improperly handled. Wrote Breckinridge:

"... The fact remains that from a legal standpoint the rule of law as announced by the Court of Appeals in many cases is that the judgment of the Board of Education will not be disturbed, unless it can be shown that their action is arbitrary or capricious . . I do not perceive any basis upon which legal action by this office is indicated, and definitely none upon which court action at this time could be maintained."

Breckinridge did say, however, that he was making formal request that Superintendent of Public Instruction Butler and Superintendent of Schools Clark continue to provide "preferred attention to the obtaining of improved classroom facilities in the Floyd county system."

Hall Is Released On $40,000 Bail; Motion Is Filed

Bob Hall was released Friday under bonds totalling $40,000 to answer to future grand jury action in the slayings at Allen, Jan. 12, of his father, Edgar H. Hall, and his stepmother, Willo Dean Tackett Hall.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley set Hall's bond at $20,000 in each case. The defendant's sureties are his mother, Mrs. Ida Hall, Tommy Ratliff, Earl Hall and Ken-

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo, who had asked at the hearing on motion for bail that Hall be taken to a state hospital for mental observation, filed a motion Monday, asking the court to appoint an expert witness to observe the defendant in the trial of the case. He based the motion on "reasonable grounds to believe defendant's defense will be temporary insanity."

Stumbo pointed out that the court is empowered by Rule 9.46 to appoint "expert" witnesses in a criminal proceeding.

WEATHER FORECAST

The long-range weather forecast, I hear, takes a rather dim view of the prospects. Continued bad weather through February, it says. But don't bet on that. I have bought a truck with studs in the tires for just such conditions, and chances are, if matters run true to form with me, ice and snow have already taken off in the other direction.

NEED ANY MORE VOTERS?

James Morell sends me a clipping from the San Angelo (Texas) Times wherein concern was expressed about President Nixon's firm resolve to "establish family food assistance programs in all counties without programs before June 30, 1970." In fact, a federal court order was issued not long ago for the U.S. Department of Agriculture to put a commodity distribution program into every Texas area

That brought the folks together, and some of them were downright unhappy about it. Said a Concho county commissioner with a show of heat: "We are going to have to import some needy people in order to have this program in accordance with the court's orders, because we don't have them, and there's not a tree or bush that we don't know what's going on under it."

Gov. Nunn Says Food Stamp Cost Soon To Be Less

Governor Louie B. Nunn said this week that Floyd county's 4,726 food stamp recipients will soon be paying less and getting more.

Under a new basis of issuance table, announced recently by President Nixon, stamp holders will more than double their food-buying power while investing less.

"The table represents an across-theboard hike for the Commonwealth's 136,743 persons now on the food stamp program," said Department of Economic Security Commissioner Merritt S. Deitz, Jr.

"The new formula, effective Feb. 1, compensates for current increases in retail food prices," Deitz said.

"It also gives the low-income family enough coupons to buy food for a more nutritional diet," he added. To illustrate the broad jump in benefits provided by the adjustment, Deitz compared the old schedule with the new: "A typical family of five with a net monthly income of $40 has been paying $14 for stamps worth $68 in food. (See Story No. 5, Page 16)

Now in its fifth year, Trooper Island attracted 480 boy-campers last year. The camping season extends from June 1 to August 31.

Defendant Says Did Not Leave Club Basement

Russell Arnett, of the Royalton section of Magoffin county, was convicted in circuit court last Thursday of manslaughter in the fatal beating at the Eagles Club here of George Shepherd, and was given a 10-year pen term. The jury deliberated slightly less than an hour before agreeing on the ver-

The defendant claimed he did not leave the basement room of the Eagles Club prior to the discovery that Shepherd had been found in a dying condition. So did Ishmael Caudill, former coroner of Magoffin county, and C. M. Whitaker.

No Commonwealth witness testified he saw Arnett strike Shepherd, although Bufford Fletcher said he saw Shepherd engaged in a fight with a man who "looked like Arnett." Howard Rice testified he saw two men fighting, that Shepherd did not appear to be in condition to fight, that he saw Shepherd go down beneath a blow, then heard the thud of two other blows and heard Shepherd's antagonist say, "You ain't going to tell anybody anything."

Perhaps the most damaging testimony against Arnett was offered by Ervin Shepherd, who said he saw Arnett and Shepherd leave the basement together at about 11 p.m., and saw Arnett return alone about 10 minutes later. He said that when he asked what happened to George, Arnett said, "George-George who?" The witness said that Ishmael Caudill went to where Shepherd lay, returned and announced that

Sun, Thaw Help Schools Re-Open After 11 Below

Floyd county and its roads thawed out enough over the week and for its schools to re-open after possibly the coldest weather on record for the region had for days brought all activities to a near-standstill. A low of 9 degrees below zero was recorded here, the morning of Jan. 22. But at Dewey Dam the temperature hit 11 below that morning, Reservoir Manager Dean Murray said. At Huntington, W. Va., the Weather Bureau reported 7 below - the coldest weather recorded for that date.

Many communities suffered from lack of gas or failing gas pressures. Although Bosco residents reported that stoves left burning went out at night, the gas later coming on to spill unburned into rooms, no fires or asphyxiations resulted. One report received here said the city of Pikeville suffered from a low gas supply.

It was pointed out here that had not Prestonsburg's gas system laid two highpressure lines the entire northern (downriver) section would have been

Dewey Reservoir Manager Murray said the 11 below recorded there was not the lowest ever. He said that a Corps of Engineers thermometer, located below the dam, showed, a few years ago, 36 degrees below. Incredulous, he said he checked the thermometer and found it working properly. Elsewhere in this section at the same time, Murray said, temperatures were only a few degrees below zero. He said the cold recorded there could not be ex-

Dependence on Mining Blamed For Slow Growth in 2 Counties

Dependence on coal mining, an industry whose mechanization has meant heavy capital investment but the employment of fewer and fewer men, is blamed for the slow growth rate in two Eastern Kentucky counties. This view is included in a study of Kentucky personal income and economic growth made by Harold K. Charlesworth, associate dean of Extension and director of the University of Kentucky's Office of Development Services and Business Research, and by William W. Davis, research assistant.

Two counties-Leslie and Perry-are specifically cited for slow growth over the years from 1959 through 1968. Leslie actually slipped down the economic ladder, while Perry county growth rate was only 1.43 per cent.

(The Whitesburg Eagle, published in Letcher county, recently compared Letcher county's growth rate-which, along with Floyd county's, was in the 3 to 5 per cent group-with Perry's 1.43 per cent, and hazarded the opinion that Perry county's mechanized stripmining cost it growth, while deep mining in Letcher and Pike Well, at least they don't grow the biggest counties had resulted in satisfactory growth. Pike county's growth rate for the period was in the 5-7 per cent group, as were Magoffin, Johnson, Morgan and Lawrence.)

Authors of the report said, referring to counties of slow growth rate:

"In all of these counties, except Robertson, a principal reason for the relatively poor record of growth is their heavy dependence on mining activities which have become more mechanized, substituting capital for labor."

Only seven counties in the state had for the period a growth rate of more than 9 per cent, and of these only one-economically depressed Martin county-is in Eastern Kentucky. But the advance made by Martin county is attributed not to sound business growth but to state and federal spending. Wrote Haywood and Davis:

. "... much of the growth of Martin county's personal income can be attributed to two factors: A rapid growth of transfer payments, which accounted for slightly more than 30 per cent of the county's personal income . . . and the increase in income payments from state and local governmental activities, which accounted for almost 25 per cent of its personal in-

("Transfer payments" is not money earned by work but is income from social security, unemployment benefits, welfare and relief programs.)

Since 1959 Floyd county's total personal income has increased approximately $3 million a year, yet it ranks 95th among the state's 120 counties in the matter of per capita income. This county's total personal income jumped from $53,628,000 in 1967 to $56,580,000 in 1968, but the per person income for 1968 was only $1364-$48 above that of 1967.

Total personal incomes of other counties of the area (in thousands of dollars) follow for the two years: Knott, $12,813 and $14,034; Johnson, $23,786 and $25,616; Lawrence, $13,828 and $15,014; Letcher, $40,824 and $43,466; Breathitt, $12,379 and $13,081; Magoffin, $8945 and $9,563; Martin, $8,191 and $9,206; Perry, $43,758 and $45,194; Pike, $90,637 and

$97,133. Per capita income for these counties for the two years follows (rank of each county is in parentheses):

Floyd, $1,316 and $1,364 (95th); Knott, $738 and $769 (119); Johnson, $1,350 and $1,415 (88); Lawrence, $1,206 and $1,274 (100); Letcher, $1,438 and $1,510 (85); Breathitt, $820 and $855 (114); Magoffin, $776 and $815 (116); Martin, $905 and $953 (111); Perry, $1,302 and $1,326 (98); Pike, $1,472 and $1,533 (83).

Old Christmas Party Held Here Keeps Alive An Ancient Custom

James, of Prestonsburg, began reviving the custom of holding on January 6 the Old Christmas parties they had heard their grandmothers tell about.

These celebrations have taken various turns over the years. Sometimes, it would be small family groups, meeting at their home; sometimes, the party would be held in a church or school, out in the country; again, at the historic homes of Mrs. James' two sisters.

This year, as in grandmother's time, the party was delayed by ice and snow, but it was within the Epiphany season of which days at Prestonsburg General hospital. Old Christmas is a part. The party was held on the fourth Sunday of the Epiphany season, begining at 4 p.m., and, as in earlier days, lasting into the night. Arthur Conaway, of St. James Episcopal Church here, told the meaning of Epiphany and how the visits of the Shepherds and the Wise Men to the Christ-child supply the theme of the Epiphany season. Q.: Do people with certain types of "personality" tend to become alcoholics?

A.: It has been proposed by many people that certain types of people are especially prone to alcohol dependency and alcohol addiction. This theory seems to appeal to some but research has failed to bear it out.

Numerous studies have been done with alcoholics in various stages of development, and a variety of personality tests given in an effort to detect a cluster of personality traits which might help predict if a person might be susceptible to alcoholism.

From these studies and tests it was concluded that no one type of person was more likely to become an alcoholic than another type.

However, it is true that in advanced stages of alcoholism, distinct personality patterns can be identified. These are considered to be the result of long years of addiction to alcohol rather than the cause of alcoholism.

Q.: Can alcoholism be cured?

A.: The answer depends on your definition of the word CURE. If you define it as the eradication or removal of the addiction so that a former alcoholic can take up normal light drinking again, as he chooses, the answer is "No, alcoholism cannot be cured." We hear of a few reports of former alcoholics taking up normal, controlled drinking again after their treatment is over, without reverting to addiction. The reports of this nature which have been confirmed are so few as to be considered almost non-existent.

If you define "Cure" as long-term or permanent ability to not drink, then the answer is that alcoholism can be cured by today's treatment methods in a large proportion of the cases.

Today, with our current knowledge about the disease of alcoholism, for the alcoholic and those affected by this illness, the all-important single fact to know about it—and, upon which to act—is this: ALCOHOLISM IS A TREATABLE DISEASE. THE ALCOHOLIC IS A SICK PERSON AND CAN BE HELPED TO A SUCCESSFUL RECOVERY.

Q.: I'm an aicoholic. Where may I get

State May Gain Notch Here and Lose One There

LOUISVILLE, KY.—If early estimates don't change, Kentucky is expected to move up slightly this year in its rank among the 50 states for average salary of classroom teachers and instructional staff. But Kentucky's rank for per pupil spending may drop a notch.

Despite the better salary rankings, the $1426 gap between Kentucky salaries and the national average will remain practically unchanged from the previous year, while the $99 gap between per-pupil spending will widen to $154.

In average salary of classroom teachers, Kentucky is expected to rank 40th with an verage of $7,125 compared with a national figure of $8,551. Last year's Kentucky rank was 42nd with an average of $6,525 compared with a national figure of $7,952.

For the total instructional staff Kentucky's average salary for 1969-70 is expected to be $7,450, ranking the state 39th. Last year's comparable figure was $6,824, ranking the state 40th.

Kentucky's per-pupil expenditure is estimated at $612 this year compared with $556 last year, when the state tied with Georgia for 37th place. This year Kentucky will rank 38th.

The rankings were made by the Kentucky Education Association (KEA) research division, based on data published in "Estimates of School Statistics, 1969-70," the latest in a series of annual reports by the National Education Association (NEA) research division.

(The report lists average salary estimates for Kentucky different from this year's $7,125 for classroom teachers and $7,450 for total instructional staff, but KEA research director Charles Whaley explained that published estimates have since been revised by the Kentucky Department of Education.)

The top classroom teacher average estimated for the nation is Alaska's $10,560, which for comparative purposes should be reduced by about one-fourth to make purchasing power equal to that of other states. California is second with $10,155 and Michigan is third with $9,823.

By holding the 40th spot, Kentucky is expected to outrank Georgia's $7170, Louisiana's $6,990, Oklahoma's $6,987, Idaho's $6,884, Alabama's $6,817, North Dakota's $6,760, South Carolina's $6,750, LOUISVILLE, KY.—If early estimates South Dakota's $6,300, Arkansas's $6,273, on't change, Kentucky is expected to and Mississippi's $5,870.

Kentucky ranks seventh this year in the percent of public-school revenue it receives from federal sources, 11th in the percent of public-school revenue it receives from the state, and 40th in the percent of public-school revenue it receives from local sources.

From federal sources Kentucky schools this year will receive about 13.8 percent of their revenue, compared with 15.2 percent last year.

The percent of state support is expected to remain the same—52.6 percent. The percent of local support will rise slightly—from 32.3 percent to 33.6 percent.

Nationally, the NEA report showed that federal spending is down for the second straight year. It was $26 million less in 1969-70 than in 1968-69.

On a national basis the percent of revenue for public schools is 6.7 from federal sources, 40.8 from state sources, and 52.5 from local sources.

The report shows Kentucky has 28,878 classroom teachers in a total instructional staff of 32,478. Average daily attendance is estimated at 645,000 pupils for the current

Timorously The C.-J. Suggests Liquor for State Parks

The Courier-Journal in halfhearted fashion has editorially suggested that the state might make business better for its parks during the winter months by "easing" local option provisions, and thus create wet precincts near the parks so that parks visitors could more easily fill any and all of their whiskey and beer require-

As proof of its weak approach to the subject, The Courier-Journal admits:

"Whatever its merits, any proposal to put whiskey in the parks is largely academic, because the average family group that patronizes the parks doesn't want it and the legislature isn't likely to vote for it. Camping collegians and motorcycled hoodlums have made the all-night beer bust the scourge of park camping areas, and anyone who has had to endure their noise and inconsiderate conduct will probably vote to keep alcohol not only out of the parks but out of anyone visiting the parks. Nothing more rudely shatters the soothing atmosphere of a park setting than a big-mouthed drunk on a motorcycle."

This is not to take these statements out of their editorial context. Other paragraphs of the editorial ask why the fisherman shouldn't be able to pick up a six-pack before setting out, or enjoy a cold one at the park snack bar at the close of a hot day, also that a man and his wife should have the privilege of enjoying a decent mixed drink in the lodge dining room, etcetera, etcetera.

The editorial closes with the observation:

"Of course, it wouldn't do anything to ease the problem of the big-mouth boor on a motorcycle.

But then, nothing will." We add: All the big-mouthed boors who are on the liquid diet suggested by the editorial don't missionary on the island of Formosa. Mrs. ride motorcycles.

written. For:

It, first of all, stated the strong opposition of Parks Commissioner James Host to any such compromise of the decency of state parks in order to cater to the desires of a few.

Secondly, it pointed to the opposition of what the newspaper terms "the average family group" to state parks bars and intoxicating liquors.

Surprisingly, the editorial did not, as we began to expect it would, suggest that because a minority among parks guests would like open gambling or cavorting about in the nude, the state should relax its laws to make of every park a Las Vegas or a swank sort of nudist colony.

The world's worst cooks better delectrically

> Pinch-hitting cooks find that flameless electric ranges have so many built-in better-cooking features, that even they can turn out a delicious meal. Electric ranges concentrate heat tight up against the bottom of pots and pans which gives you more exact heat control. Utensils get to cooking temperature faster. Broiling isn't "flame kissed" so there's less chance for smoke or broiler fire. Cleanup is a cinch, since the cooking elements clean themselves. If the only thing you can cook is an egg you'll cook it better on a flameless electric range. And in the hands of an expert . . . well. how good can good cooking be?

IT PAYS TO REMEMBER that regularity of saving over a period of time is what really counts. THE CHART IS BASED on saving $100 monthly start your spending.

This is the plan:

DECIDE HOW MUCH YOU'LL SAVE each month

and put that amount aside monthly before you for 15 years, then withdrawing $100 monthly for the next 15 years. Throughout the entire period, interest is added to the account and compounded regularly.

TO USE THE CHART to figure the effect of saving $25 a month, divide all figures by 4. For $50 a month, divide by 2. For $200 a month, multiply by 2, and so on.

This is the time:

LOOK AHEAD 15 YEARS into the future. No matter how young or old you may be, there's something you'll need money for, isn't there?

YOU CAN HAVE the money you need 15 years from now, if you start your own sensible "15-Year Savings Plan" at once. But don't put it off

TIME IS THE MAGIC INGREDIENT in this practical savings plan. And, as the chart shows, time is-literally-money to you. Delay is costly.

SAVING IS EASY once you start out right with a workable plan you know will get results. Here you have the workable plan. Why not come on in and get started on it?

This is the result:

AS SUGGESTED by the example in the chart, you stop saving and start spending at the end of 15

FOR THE NEXT 15 YEARS, spend as much each month as you saved for the first 15 years. YOU CAN STILL HAVE MORE MONEY in your account than you put in during the 15 year period. THAT'S THE MAGIC of compound interest and the secret of the plan. Though you are withdrawing each year, your savings have built up to sizeable proportions and continue to earn substantially for you, year after year.

YOUR FRIENDLY BANK is the best place for your savings, and this is why:

hospitals in Eastern Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

Hipkens, describing steps taken to provide more hospital space, said that a doctors' office building was recently built at Man, W. Va., and similar structures are under construction at Middlesboro and South Williamson, Ky. The moving of doctors' offices from the ARH hospitals frees space for beds and other uses. A contract is being let for building an addition to ARH's Hazard hospital which will contain 40 extended care beds and 20 mental health beds. A 55-bed extended care facility also will be built at Middlesboro.

The ARH president explained that many patients not requiring the full range of services concentrated in acute care hospitals can be cared for adequately in extended care facilities, or other more appropriate levels of care. ARH also resorting to more use of other levels of care for patients whose condition permits. The other levels include home care. Six of the ARH hospitals now maintain home care services, in which physicians, nurses and other allied health personnel treat patients in their homes.

Hipkens pointed out that extended care and home care are less costly to patients than acute care in a hospital and often are more appropriate.

The administrators and Advisory Council presidents discussed methods for giving their communities more opportunity for participating in the development and financial support of health care programs. Hipkens told them that ARH, in order to bolster its two-fold mission of developing a balanced system of health care and maintaining high quality hospital service, has drafted plans for additional expansion. The projects include additional extended care facilities and home care services, coronary and intensive care units, emergency care centers, mental health services and new equipment. Federal government grants are expected to underwrite a portion of the costs.

ARH announced at the meeting the launching of its second annual "in-family" fund-raising campaign involving ARH employes, Advisory Council members and medical staffs.

The McDowell ARH hospital was represented by Edward V. Collins, administrator, and Arthur Bradbury, president of the hospital's Community Advisory Council.

Black Lung Bill Draws Support Of Coal Ass'n

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The first piece of 1970 legislation aimed at compensating miners suffering from pneumoconiosis-"black lung"—has drawn support from the Kentucky Coal Association and the United Mine Workers union.

And a broader measure is coming, but it too, as proposed, apparently will meet no opposition from the association.

Sen. Francis M. Burke, D-Pikeville, told the House Committee on Health and Welfare that he will offer a bill-and a companion measure in the House-which will embrace recommendations of a special legislative subcommittee on occupational respiratory diseases.

The subcommittee's recommendations also have been endorsed by the Coal Association, said Fred W. Luigart Jr., of Lexington, president.

A hearing by the Health and Welfare Committee was on House Bill 12, which would make black lung a disability covered by state workmen's compensation laws. It was introduced by Rep. Darvin Allen, D-Reyalton, committee chairman.

Luigart told the committee that the Coal Association, whose members produce 55 per cent of the total coal output in Kentucky, has no basic objection to the proposed bill.

"There is no argument on our part," Luigart said, to a proposal that would establish a "presumption" that black lung is a work-related disability and the miner is entitled to compensation.

The miner thus claiming workmen's compensation for black lung would no longer be required to prove his disability is related to his job. The shift of proof would be up to the employer

Luigart emphasized that the coal industry "wants to make sure" it is not "held responsible for non-work-related lung tisorders such as emphysema."

The committee took no action on HB 12, but instead agreed to wait and "take our time" to bring out the "best possible bill." Major items in the special legislative subcommittee's proposals would:

Shift the burden of proof of the lung disease from the miner to the coal com-Require coal-mine operators to insure their men under the workmen's compensation law before a mining license can be issued. Require pre-employment and periodic medical examinations of miners to prevent any existing lung conditions from being aggravated.

Set up rehabilitation and vocationaltraining programs for miners disabled by black lung.

700 Directories Mailed to County

Some 7,400 new South Central Bell Telephone Company directories for Prestonsburg, Allen, Martin, McDowell and Wayland are being distributed this Bill Gibson, local South Central Bell manager, said that 6,540 books were ordered last year.

"That increase of 860 books is a good yardstick which shows the growth of both the area and telephone company here," he Prestonsburg has nearly 3,440 telephones. Gibson noted that there are some 190 more telephones here this year than last.

He said telephone customers should receive their new books this week. "Any customer who hasn't received his directory by Monday should call the local business office," he said.

"Also," Gibson added, "please check the directory to make sure of the numbers you want before calling directory assistance. This will save you time and inconvenience and help you get the best service."

Cadillac 70

Of course you can!

1966 Four years old, but its classic beauty and tasteful elegance still give it a distinction that only Cadillac offers. And because it's endowed with Cadillac engineering and craftsmanship, plus so many desirable comfort and convenience features (you'll even enjoy variable-ratio power steering with a 1966 Cadillac) it's likely to offer more driving pleasure and owner satisfaction than most new cars in its price range.

1968 A previously owned 1968 Cadillac offers so much more than many new, fully equipped, medium-price cars. Of course there's Cadillac luxury, elegance, comfort and craftsmanship for you to enjoy. But you'll also be impressed with Cadillac's big 472 V-8 engine and the precision of its standard power steering and power braking. All this plus the pride of ownership a Cadillac provides.

Even the newest model of the world's finest luxury car-a car of uncompromising elegance, comfort and performance-competes in price and economy of operation with cars of far less stature. Thousands of loyal Cadillac owners will testify to this fact, and also to the fact that a Cadillac will traditionally return, on resale, a larger proportion of its original cost than any other car built in the land.

Two Chandler Backers Must Pay Off Note

By LIVINGSTON TAYLOR (In The Courier-Journal)

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 24-The story of the hectic, last-minute effort to finance A. B. (Happy) Chandler's 1963 campaign for governor was told again yesterday as the Court of Appeals handed down a ruling against two co-signers of a campaign-fund

The high court ruled that former state Rep. Ted R. Osborn, of Lexington, and weekly newspaper publisher John Sutterfield, of Georgetown, are liable for a $25,000 note signed four days before the 1963 Democratic primary.

A third co-signer, Mack Walters, of Shelbyville, did not contest the note and said throughout the proceedings that he

"Pontiac Makes It Happen"

Phone 886-3811 Prestonsburg, Ky. would pay his share of the amount. The transcript of the case describes the scene at Chandler headquarters in the Watterson Hotel in Louisville on the Friday preceding the election: "It was a madhouse down there just before the election," testified Walters, who was Chandler's campaign chairman.

"We came to the realization that we needed some money for precinct workers throughout the state . . . We had between 90 and 100 counties financing themselves. However, with some counties, it was im-

It fell to Martin Petty of Cynthiana, a contractor and member of Chandler's finance committee, to raise the cash.

"The only reason I got roped in was the banks were open (on Saturdays) in Cynthiana and not any place else," Petty said. "I opened my big mouth when I should have kept still, but you get in a fight to win. If I had kept my mouth shut, it would have done a lot of people a favor."

The evidence indicates that the $25,000 note was drawn up at headquarters by the late Leonard Smith, vice president of the First Security National Bank and Trust Co., Lexington, who was campaign finance chairman.

The printed form made the note payable to the bank, but the bank's name was crossed out and Petty's name inserted as Osborn and Sutterfield based part of their case on the claim the note was changed after they signed it. The evidence was conflicting, but a Fayette Circuit Court jury upheld the note's validity.

In any event, Walters and Sutterfield cosigned the note and sent it to Lexington, where a third Chandler backer, Osborn, also signed.

On Saturday, Cynthiana accountant William D. Morris wrote the checks which produced the cash.

"This was flown to Bowman Field (in Louisville) . . . in a handbag which I picked up and delivered to Mack Walters at the Watterson Hotel," Petty said.

"We put it in envelopes and sent it to these counties to hire workers." Walters

Despite the effort, Chandler lost the election to Edward T. Breathitt.

Nearly two years later, Petty filed suit in Fayette Circuit Court against Osborn, Sutterfield and Walters to recover the

Before the case came to trial, however, Petty assigned the note to American States Insurance Co., Indianapolis, as partial payment of a $104,298 debt arising from a Bell County school-construction project.

When the case came to trial in 1968, it was the insurance company, rather than Petty, pushing the suit. On the witness stand, Petty, who suffers from a back ailment, described himself as "totally and permanently disabled."

The jury decided in favor of American States and against Osborn and Sutterfield. Osborn and Sutterfield appealed the verdict, and it was this appeal they lost in the Court of Appeals ruling yesterday.

The note was not the only sour aftermath of Chandler's campaign.

Former state Sen. Marvin Edwards of Lawrenceburg also put $25,000 into the campaign on the basis of a note signed by Sutterfield, Petty, Walters and James C. Pickett, a Frankfort real-estate dealer.

Edwards filed suit in Franklin Circuit Court in 1964 to collect the money from the four and won the case. Petty testified that his share of that note, plus interest, cost

Walters, now a state senator, testified that during the 1963 campaign he signed notes "in excess of $75,000."

One of the principals said yesterday that Chandler did not contribute to paying off any of the notes, a fact he did not deny in a telephone interview last night.

"Nobody ever undertook to tell me about them," said Chandler, from his Versailles home. "I never got involved in the financial arrangements for a campaign . . . I was the candidate and I made the campaign but didn't take any part in the money

This New Year??

Great God! before Thy throne We joyfully appear In songs to make Thy glories known And thus begin this New Year.

What favors, all divine; What mercies shall we share; What blessings all around us shine To open this New Year!

Indulgent good spares
And still preserves us here,
And bounty all divine prepares
Supplies for this New Year.

Our follies past forgive; Our souls divinely cheer, And help us more to Thee to live, Dear Lord, in this New Year.

Prepare us for Thy will, Whatever may appear; And let thy loving-kindness still Preserve us through this New Year.

Confirm our souls in Thee, In faith and holy fear; And let a precious Jesus be Our song through all the year.

Life is a series of surprises and would not be worth taking or keeping if it were not. But "indulgent goodness spares and still preserves us here."

Oh, the bitter shame and sorrow; What a time could ever be When I let the Saviour's pity Plead in vain, and proudly answered, "All of Self, and none of Thee."

Yet He found me; I beheld Him Bleeding on the accursed tree; Heard Him say, "Forgive them, Father," And my wistful heart said faintly, "Some of Self and some of Thee."

Day by day, His tender mercy,
Healing, helping, full and free,
Sweet and strong, and, ah! so patient,
Brought me lower, while I whispered,
"Less of Self and more of Thee."

Higher than the highest heavens, Deeper than the deepest sea, Lord, Thy love at last conquered; Grant me now my soul's desire, "None of Self, and all of Thee!"

Yes, Life is a series of surprises, and it would not be worth taking or keeping if it were not. Let us be of good cheer, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come.

Live in the Active voice, rather than the Passive. Think more about what you make happen than what is happening to you. Live in the Indicative mood rather than the Subjunctive. Be concerned with things as they are rather than what they might be. Live in the present tense, facing the duty at hand, trusting God for the future. "Trust ye in the Lord forever: for the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength." (Isa. 26:3,4). "Happy is the man that feareth alway" (Proverbs 28:14) "Happy is the man whom God correcteth" (Job 5:17).

True religion should be our Steering Wheel, not our Spare Tire. Some people have just enough religion to make them uncomfortable. To fall in love with God is the greatest of all romances; to seek Him, the greatest adventure; to find Him, the greatest achievement. Communion with God is a great sea that fits every bend in the shore of human need. Candid reader, to be unknown of God is altogether too much privacy! "Acquaint now thyself with Him (that is, with God), and be at peace. Thereby good shall come unto thee" (Job 22:21). Be of good cheer! Paul said, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me" (Phil. 4:13).

Read Acts 18:27: "And when he (Apollos) was disposed to pass into Achaia, the brethren wrote, exhorting the disciples to receive him: who, when he come, helped them much which had believed through grace."

Courteous reader, it is all of grace! "Not of works, lest any man should boast" (2 Eph. 2:8,9; I Tim. 3:5-7, II Tim. L:9; Rom. 3:27; Gal. 2:16; Rom. 11:6; Titus 3:4-7. Acts Acts 15:11 says, "But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved." Beware, Do-gooder, of dilly-dallying with Saving Grace!

"Saved, and saved alone by grace; Saved to see my Saviour's face; Saved from Satan's iron yoke, And the Law that I had broke.

"Saved from sin, that hateful foe That has millions plunged to woe; Saved from all its reigning power, Saved to serve my lusts no more.

"Saved, nor can I be condemned;
Jesus Christ, the sinner's friend,
Took my place and vengeance bore,
Me to save forevermore.

"Death, nor hell, nor world, nor sin, Foes without, nor foes within Ever can my soul destroy; I am saved eternally."

Sinner, rich or poor, black or white, we all should be genuinely concerned about the future, spiritually, because we will have to spend the rest of our lives there. Take time out to read these lines; take time out to teach and live a crucified Saviour, and do not crucify Him by your life and preaching.

THE CROSS WAS HIS OWN

They borrowed a bed to lay His head, Where Christ the Lord came down; They borrowed the ass in the mountain pass pass

For Him to ride to town;
But the crown that he wore,
And the Cross that he bore, were His
own—
The Cross was His own.

He borrowed the bread when the crowd He fed On the grassy mountainside:

On the grassy mountainside;
He borrowed the dish of broken fish
With which He satisfied.
But the crown that He wore,
And the Cross that He bore, were His
own—
The Cross was His own.

He borrowed the ship in which to sit,
To teach the multitude.
He borrowed a nest in which to rest,
He had never a home so crude;
But the grown that He wore

He had never a home so crude;
But the crown that He wore,
Ane the Cross that He bore,
Were His own—
The Cross was His own.

He borrowed a room on His way to the tomb,
The Passover lamb to eat;
They borrowed a cave for Him
a grave,
They borrowed a winding sheet;
But the crown that he wore,
And the Cross He bore, were His own—

Begone, unbelief, my Saviour is near, And for my relief will surely appear; By prayer let me wrestle, and He will perform; With Christ in the bessel I smile at the storm.

The Cross was His own.

Tho' dark be my way, since He is my guide
'This mine to obey, 'tis His to provide; Tho' cisterns be broken and creatures all fail,
The word He has spoken shall surely prevail.

His love in time past forbids me to think
He'll leave me at last in trouble to sink;
Each sweet Ebenezer I have in rev

Each sweet Ebenezer I have in review Confirms His good pleasure to help me quite through.

Determined to save, He watched o'er my path
When, Satan's blind slave, I sported with death.
And can He have taught me to trust in His name,
And thus far have brought me to put me to shame?

Why should I complain of want or distress, Temptation or pain? He told me no less; The heirs of salvation, I know from His word, Thro' much tribulation must follow their Lord.

How bitter that cup, no heart can conceive, Which He drank quite up, that sinners might live!

His way much rougher and darker and shall I repine?

Since all that I meet shall work for my good,
The bitter is sweet, the medicine is food;
Tho' painful at present, 'twill cease before long.

Did Christ, my Lord, suffer,

And then how pleasant the conqueror's song!

We are not driven from behind but lured from before! Not pushed but pulled! Magnetized from beyond! Born again! Drawn from a box! (John 3:3-17; 4:24; 12:32. "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth will draw all men (Jew and Gentile) unto me." John 6:33-44; Acts 2:34; I Cor. 15:47; Eph. 4:8-10; Col. 3:1,2; James 1:17; 3:15; Rom. 5:18; Heb. 2:9; Isa. 25:8,9; 53:5-7; Phil. 3:20.

A PARTING HYMN

Great God! whose universal power Through all the earth is known; Who governs heaven and earth, Nor sits on a precarious throne.

No strange commotions on the earth, No wars have taken place, But what were ever in Thy view, Almighty God of grace.

Creatures of every sort and kind Are all at Thy control; The God that fills immensity Must reign from pole to pole.

Our wars and tumults all arise As the effects of sin. Sin is the cause of all the woes The world has felt or seen.

Dear God, we fall before Thy face; Our guilt and folly own, And pray Thee for Thy mercy's sake

In mercy put a stop to war, In mercy send us peace; Nor let Thy vengeance on us fall, Almighty King of Grace.

To make Thy goodness known.

Yet, Lord, whate'er Thy will may be, We pray to be resigned; We know Thou art too wise to err, Too good to be unkind.

"Christ is not valued at all until He is valued above all."—Augustine.

Yours in Him, MILFORD HALL, SR. McDowell, Ky. (Adv.)

the poor, assisting in the preparation of LEXINGTON, Ky .- The University of foods, meal-planning and other jobs. Ad-Kentucky Extension Service has been told ditional federal funds will permit expansion to create for itself a new image. of that program this year, he said.

To do this, according to instructions given here last week by officials of the service, the 56-year old organization's workers will:

Accelerate efforts on behalf of the poor, including the poor in urban areas; the parttime farmer, and underprivileged children. Become "ambassadors and interpreters of the school's needs and policies."

Involve the school in community social action roles.

Dr. Charles E. Barnhart, director of the extension service, set the tone for the change before a conference of about 500 county agricultural, home demonstration and 4-H Club workers when he declared:

"For too long we have drifted as an organization adapted to working with various specific groups; for too long the service's activities have been controlled by groups and people who talk loud to the county judge." The latter reference was to the fact that part of the service's $7 million annual budget is made up of funds from county fiscal courts. The rest is from federal and state sources.

Barnhart said the organization now must make every effort to be of assistance to a broad group of people from the very poorest to the biggest commercial farmer.

"I may not be dean too long, but I am not worried about that," he said. "What I am worried about is that we reach the thousands who need the technical and educational assistance you people (extension service workers) are capable of providing." Barnhart also is dean of the UK agriculture college and director of its experiment station.

It was Dr. Lewis W. Cochran, vice president for research at UK, who told the group that they (as UK personnel) must become more involved in community activities. He said continuing education is one of the university's biggest functions and added that other colleges such as business, engineering and medicine are beginning to put workers into the field.

UK President Otis A. Singletary, in a talk to the workers, urged that they inform themselves of the issues affecting the school and try to explain them to the people. He said many issues arise simply because people fail to really understand the functions of a university.

It was Dr. Barnhart who last year reestablished the extension service on a county basis—assigning at least one agricultural agent and one home demonstration agent to a county. Several years ago the service was reorganized into areas (groups of counties) with various specialists assigned to work within the areas on their individual specialities. There still are 50 specialists assigned to the areas backed up by about 70 specialists who work throughout the state.

Barnhart said he feels the reassignment of county agents was necessary to reach the poor people, while retaining the area specialist system to work with the commercial farmer who needs special expert advice.

Barnhart has emphasized 4-H Club work within the counties, and in those counties which do not have a 4-H agent assigned, the task falls to the county and home demonstration agents.

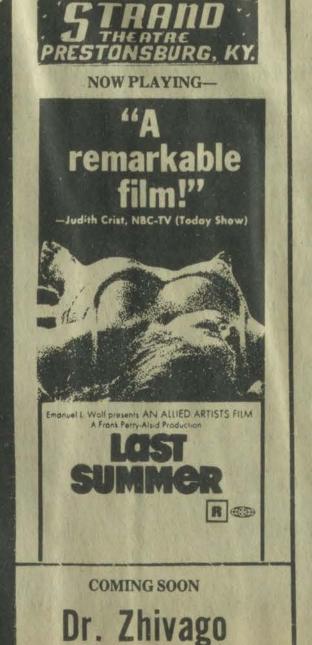

Turning to the extension service's urban work, Barnhart said more than 6,000 families already have been helped through the university's home economics food and

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Faris Porter, who passed away Jan. 24, 1966: They say the deepest sorrow Will in time soon pass away,

And that a heart that's broken Will grow stronger, day by day. And yet, with each tomorrow, We are as lonely and as blue,

And just as broken-hearted, dear Dad, as the day we lost you. God saw you getting weary,

He did what He thought best; He put his arms around you And whispered, "Come and rest."

Your weary hours and days of pain, Your troubled nights have passed; For in our aching hearts, we know,

You have found sweet peace at last. Golden gates stood open Four years ago today; With goodbye left unspoken,

You gently slipped away. Sadly missed by wife, Martha Porter, sons and daughters. (Written by Mary Baldridge)

LAST WORDS I have the none too pleasant habit of trying sometimes to tell others about things I have read. They strike me as very interesting, but, somehow, by the time my version is given it doesn't seem so great. Anyway, I was telling, the other day, of reading of Mrs. Billy Graham's address before some 11,000 women in California, and of her thought that she would like a certain sign she had seen for her epitaph. It

END OF CONSTRUCTION. THANKS FOR YOUR PATIENCE.

What let me down was the rejoinder from an acquaintance, who quoted W. C. Fields' epitaph, which (he said) reads:

The peak day was May 29 when 32,800 persons visited the area.

Wrote Judge Moynahan: "For the foregoing reasons this court lacks the power to grant the injunctive relief sought . . . Under such circumstances, and in view of the pending state court action, it would be inappropriate for this court to entertain, at this time, that portion of the complaint which seeks a declaratory judgement . . . For this court to entertain . . . that portion of the complaint demanding a declaratory judgement would not only cause needless friction between state and federal courts but might result in a judgement which, by reason of the pending state court action and the provisions of 28 U.S.C. 2283, the court would be powerless to enforce. Further, for the court to entertain the request for a declaratory judgement at this time would create, in effect, a 'back door' scheme for the removal of actions from state to federal court . . . "
