

Ky. Power Budget Plans Floyd Work

$12 Million Set For Construction During This Year

Of the $12 million budgeted by Kentucky Power Company for construction this year, $195,000 will be spent on Floyd county work, and this county will share with Pike in another project involving $500,000.

The company's budget was announced this week by Waldo S. LaFon, executive vice-president of the utility.

Included in the budget is the spending this year of $150,000 on construction of the company's office building here. The project, overall, will involve the expenditure of $200,000, it was said.

"Our twin objectives of this year's expansion program are to continue providing dependable electric service to our 100,000 customers while providing additional capacity for future growth in our eastern Kentucky area," he said.

Major items in the construction budget include $4 million for distribution, $3 million for transmission, more than $2.5 million for substations, $1.25 million for generation, $750,000 for offices and more than $250,000 for transportation equipment.

Mr. LaFon explained that the $1,250,000 to be spent on generation represents the last of Big Sandy Plant's three-year expansion project that cost over $100 million. When the 800,000-kilowatt Unit 2 went into service last October, capacity of the generating plant near Louisa was raised to over one million kilowatts, making it the largest investor-owned generating plant in the state.

"This spring will see the second section of the world's highest-voltage transmission line go into service in eastern Kentucky," Mr. LaFon said. He noted the first section of the 765,000-volt line went into operation in October when Unit 2 at the plant was completed, connecting Big Sandy with Ohio Power Company to the north.

The completion of the second section of the 765-Kv line will connect Big Sandy Plant with Appalachian Power Company to the south, thereby spanning eastern Kentucky from the Ohio River near Greenup to the Virginia border near Elkhorn City. Both Ohio and Appalachian are sister companies

So. States Meeting Set Feb. 12 at Park

Members of Southern States Cooperative's local board and committee members, agricultural workers and retail Agency managers from this area, will attend a regional board meeting February 12 at Jenny Wiley State Park. Registration will begin at 6 p.m.

Also attending the meeting will be a number of young farmers from this area as guests.

J. L. Campbell, of Harrodsburg, a member of the Southern States 15-man board of directors, will preside at the meeting. Campbell represents the cooperative's members in part of central and eastern Kentucky and has been a member of the board since 1962.

Those expected to attend the meeting from the Prestonsburg area are Kenneth Meade, manager of Prestonsburg Farm and Home Store, and local board members, Theodore Warrick and Less Wallen, of Water Gap, Lloyd Wells, Auxier, Denver Collins, Ivel, Frank Arnett, West Prestonsburg, and Billie Merritt, of Bonanza.

Young farmers of the area who have been invited as guests are Arnold Nelson, Isaac Fitzpatrick, Erman Waddle and James R. Shepherd, West Prestonsburg; Boots Honaker, Tram; Jesse Rogers Wallen, of Water Gap.

College Granted 10-Watt Station

Prestonsburg Community College has received FCC approval for construction of a 10-watt educational FM station, Thomas E. King, adviser for radio-TV services at the college, announced last week.

King said broadcast equipment has already been ordered with installation completion in the new technical vocational building scheduled for early to mid-March.

"The station, which will soon receive call letters, will be operated by the students of a broadcast class taught at PCC," King said.

"Establishment of the radio station," King said, "will not only be a laboratory for students with an interest and aptitude in broadcasting, but will also create another college community link. By providing this realistic experience, the station will play an important part in the education of these students," he said.

It is planned that the station will be used to transmit certain educational type programs which are not available now from the commercial stations in the area. The low 10-watt former will be sufficient to cover Prestonsburg and the immediate surrounding area, King said.

Snow, Ice Close Schools 11th Day

Floyd county's schools were closed Tuesday by an overnight snowfall of three inches, and the condition of roads was such that even without further snow they may remain closed through Wednesday. Tuesday's closing brought to 11 the number of days classwork has been interrupted by inclement weather and dangerous driving conditions.

Most of the time lost came after the Christmas vacation. Main highways in the county were particularly slippery Tuesday morning, reducing the flow of traffic and bringing vehicles on the roads to a slow pace.

3 Convictions End Court Term Here Last Week

Criminal trials in the Floyd circuit court ended with adjournment last week of the January term, and the next criminal session will not convene till April.

Three convictions resulted from trials in closing days of the term. Charlie Keathley was convicted Friday of conversion and was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $600. Willard Hicks entered a plea of guilty to charges of knowingly receiving stolen property after the Commonwealth had completed its testimony in the trial of his case. He was given a one-year pen term on each of three counts but was later granted probation for a two-year period. Roy Music, who was returned here recently from Kansas, was convicted on a child desertion charge and given a one-year pen term.

Jack Allen's bus was chartered last Friday when Sheriff Leslie took to prison seven who were convicted during the court session. Among these was Russell Arnett, who began a 10-year term for the slaying here of George Shepherd. Others in the group were Ferrell Smith, seven years, on three counts, grand larceny, breaking and entering and auto theft; Dennis Otis Rife, two years, grand larceny; Brack Pinks, three years, grand larceny; Estill Prater, three years, grand larceny; Jerry Smith and Danny Ratliff, juveniles, were taken to Greendale.

This Town . . . That World

SCIENTIFIC QUEST

The Groundhog, if he or she was in the neighborhood of where I was, and if he or she ambled forth at the right moment Monday afternoon saw his or her shadow. I would have passed up that earth-shattering truth, had not a certain scientist been quoted as saying the groundhog doesn't look for his shadow, that he rises from his long winter's nap to look for a female groundhog. Being of a scientific turn of mind myself, as all who know me are aware, that statement set me to thinking. If the groundhog that came out from aforesaid hole was a female, what was she looking for?

IN REBUTTAL

I knew when I printed that bit about Minnesota being the Land of Ten Thousand Lakes and only 500 fish that we would stir something up. Now comes a letter from Mrs. David Armstrong, of La Rue, O.—not Minnesota—to say that the woman who made this report must be a fisherman of my calibre; that she knows one body of water, Juggler Lake, which produced more than 599 fish during one resort season, and that she has never failed to catch fish in Minnesota during 12 years of fishing. And she sends along a picture of as fine a string of crappie as you'll see to prove she's not the liar most fisher-folk are said to be.

Wish I had, ready for the telling, something that would brighten up the scene. There's so much that is deadly serious, often sad and discouraging, that we all could do with a bit of the lighter side, these days. But I haven't been fishing in months, and I can't truthfully say that I have done a bellybuster in any of our lakes or streams, or have hooked myself in the seat of the pants on the back-cast, or anything of that sort. And those fellows who usually have one to tell about somebody else have hibernated; so, till fairer weather we must struggle along in our bumbling, prosaic way. But just let me near the water!

LETTER FROM A DEBTOR

The following, handed to me, purports to be a letter from a fellow whom most of us know or have some sort of rapport with. He's writing one to whom he owes a bit of money.

Dear sir:

It is impossible for me to send you a cheque.

My present financial condition is due to the effects by federal laws, county laws,

$57,918 Grant Made To Train 18 Jobless At Mayo Vocational

Classroom training at the Mayo Vocational School, Paintsville, for jobless persons in the Prestonsburg area has been provided by a grant approved last week by the Department of Labor, Senators Cooper and Cook announced last week.

Prestonsburg will receive $57,918 to train 18 persons in a 39-week course at Mayo. They will attend mechanical drafting classes.

The project is initiated locally by the Kentucky Employment Service.

Dr. Bagby Speaks At Parish Meeting

The Floyd County United Methodist Parish meeting at Horn's Chapel United Methodist Church January 11 was attended by 25 members. Jesse Elliott of Betsy Layne, presided. The guest-speaker, Dr. Bagby, of Ashland, spoke on the topic, "Moral and Spiritual Conditions of Our Country."

Letters were written to newspapers of foreign countries concerning prisoners in Vietnam. Letters were also written to congressmen in support of the anti-pornography bill.

A Preachers' Bank was formed for the purpose of holding revivals in small Methodist churches. These revivals have been few, due to weather conditions, but those held at David, Lafferty Chapel and Wayland have been very successful.

Change Ahead for Martin-Co. As Railroad, Mine Work Loom

For the first time since an ill-starred mining effort was made there shortly after World War I, the huge coal deposits in Martin county, last of Eastern Kentucky counties to face industrial development, are about to be tapped by a major mining enterprise.

The A. T. Massey Coal Company is now preparing a mining operation in the eastern part of the county which may produce 2 million tons of coal a year, and only recently the Norfolk and Western Railway Company filed application with the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to build a 24-mile branch line from its main line on the West Virginia side of the Tug fork of Big Sandy into the Wolf Creek area, then to tunnel through the mountain into the Rockcastle section.

Raymond Bradbury, former general manager of Island Creek Coal Company operations in this county, is vice-president of the coal company which is spur-heading the Martin county mining development, and is general manager of the big operation.

The short-lived attempt to develop Martin county coal immediately after World War I saw the construction of a short branch rail line into Buck Creek at Warfield, but a post-war coal slump caused the operation to fold.

Nickell To Direct '70 Census in Area

Appointment of James D. Nickell, of Ashland, as district manager of the 1970 Census of Population and Housing in this area has been announced by Director Robert A. Yerkey, of the Census Bureau's regional office in Detroit.

From the district office located at 405 20th Street in Ashland, Mr. Nickell will supervise all phases of the census in the following counties: Floyd, Bath, Boyd, Breathitt, Carter, Elliott, Fleming, Greenup, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Lee, Letcher, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Morgan, Perry, Pike, Rowan and Wolfe.

Nickell will direct a force of 25 crew leaders and 349 census takers throughout the area.

KAI Plant Assured A Busy Six Months

Whatever turns, up and down, the economy may take during 1970, one Floyd county industry is assured of a good first half of the year.

Kentucky Appalachian Industries (KAI) at West Prestonsburg, the pioneer in lending diversity to Floyd industry, has contracts on which it will be working till June. After that, L. E. Danielson, plant manager, said, work will depend upon ability of KAI to land new contracts. But he's hopeful.

Currently, KAI is working 340 at an average weekly payroll of $25,000. And this work-force, mostly women, is producing a wide variety of products for the armed forces.

Biggest of the contracts on which the plant is working now calls for 143,000 waterproof parkas. Mr. Danielson said the plant is striving for a production schedule of 1100 of these a day but hasn't yet reached that mark.

Another job is manufacturing cargo nets used by helicopters in loading or unloading materials. There are 3,333 of these to make, and because KAI is the only plant yet to make a satisfactory net Danielson is

N. and W. said the new branch railroad will be laid in 39-ft. sections and announced that work would be commenced soon, including the building of a bridge across the Tug Fork.

Work forces already have been moved into the area to prepare for the construction. (N. and W. and C. and O. are in process of merging. C. and O. operates up the Levisa fork and N. and W. up the Tug.)

The new railroad will run almost entirely across Martin county from east to west, to Rockcastle, then up the Middle Fork of Rockcastle another 3 1/2 miles.

More particularly, the railroad will cross Tug River just above the mouth of Wolfe Creek, near Kermit, W. Va., then cross onto Wolfe Creek and go up Wolfe Creek 15.9 miles to the mouth of Panther Fork, then up Panther to its head and through a 1700-foot tunnel into the headwaters of Laurel Fork of Rockcastle, crossing Rockcastle and going onto the Middle Fork of Rockcastle, then up the Middle Fork a distance of 3/4 miles.

Except for the area near Kermit, the entire region is nearly virgin coal land with four seams of coal of high quality. Most of the land has been purchased through the years by big corporations and by a few individuals.

School Heads Meet To Study Priorities

Group To Sponsor Day Care Center If Need Proved

The Church Housing Association of Prestonsburg will sponsor a Child Day Care Center in Prestonsburg, if the need for such a facility is made evident.

It has space and equipment available for 30 pre-school children, beginning at age 3. The center would care for the children from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday, providing the noon meal. The cost would be approximately $15.00 per week per child.

Those interested in taking advantage of this service are asked to call 886-8031 or 886-8431, or write Rev. William M. Pope, 54 S. Arnold Ave., Prestonsburg, by Feb. 10.

If there is sufficient interest and response, the association will organize and activate the Child Day Care Center, it was said.

Allen Fire Dept. Needs Described

Unless the Allen volunteer fire department receives from the community both financial and personnel support, the area it serves will lose its ninth-class fire rating and suffer an increase in fire insurance premium costs of approximately 30 per cent, Graham Burchett, president of the department, said this week.

The fire department serves Allen and the area within a radius of three miles. Residents of the area are being urged to attend a meeting at the fire department at 7 o'clock Friday evening.

Burchett said the fire department is "running in the red." Besides, he said, a

Park Meeting Views Title III, Reduced Funds

Superintendents from 20 counties and 32 school districts in Eastern Kentucky met January 21 and 22 at Jenny Wiley State Park with officials from the U. S. Office of Education (USOE) to discuss national education priorities.

The school heads, representing the Eastern Kentucky Educational Development Corporation, Title III, ESEA—a regional organization for progressive change in education—also heard a report from the office of Seventh District Congressman Carl D. Perkins concerning the status of several legislative acts directly effecting elementary and secondary education.

The Congressional report given by H. D. (Jack) Reed, Jr., special counsel to the House Committee on Education and Labor, centered on the Presidential veto of the Health, Education and Welfare appropriations bill recently passed by Congress. Mr. Reed said, "The vote to override the President's veto on this important measure will be very close, especially in the House, with two or three votes, possibly making the difference." Taking note of the close count expected, the group voted to send a telegram to each member of Kentucky's congressional delegation urging them to vote to override the veto "in the interests of better education." The telegrams were signed by EDEDC as representing all 32 school districts and some 100,000 children in Region VII, Eastern Kentucky. (The House failed to override the veto. Ed.)

Five Liquor Raids Net 6 Prisoners, Sheriff Reports

Five liquor raids staged in the county since last Wednesday resulted in the arrest of six persons by Sheriff Frank Leslie and deputies and state troopers.

Those arrested, charges on which they were booked and quantities of intoxicants reported confiscated:

Luther McKenzie, of Printer, possession, 12 cans of beer last Wednesday; Ralph Morris, Auxier, possession, eight cans of beer, Saturday afternoon; Herman Perry, Auxier, of Auxier, arrested on a selling charge at the time of the Morris raid; Nancy Ann Carr, of Allen, possession, Saturday, 20 half-pints of whiskey; McArthur McKinney, of Toler Creek, possession, Sunday, 135 cans of beer; German Salisbury, of Knotley Hollow, Monday night, possession, one pint of whiskey, 10 cans of beer.

Most of the raids were made by Sheriff Leslie, Deputy Sheriff Claude Flanery and an ABC agent. The Toler Creek raid was made by State Troopers Elmo Allen and Don Thornsberry, Deputy Sheriffs Bill Hall, D. Hamilton and Ray Adkins.

Others booked at the county jail within the week:

Freddie Collins, drunk driving, arrested by Constable Kenneth Roberts; Green Howell, drunk driving, by Constable Gillis Conn and Deputy Sheriff Paul Stilton; Tommy Cole, kidnapping, by Deputy Sheriff H. Mullett; Dorma Ousley, driving while under the influence of intoxicants, by State Trooper Bevins; Glen Martin, resisting arrest and carrying a concealed deadly weapon, by Constable Kenneth Roberts and Deputy Sheriff Bud Lawson; Hillard McKinney, drunk driving, by State Trooper Bevins; Granis Hall, drunk driving, by Constable Roberts; Hassel Tackett and E. D. Whitt, driving while under the influence, by Troopers Allen and Thornsberry.

W'wright Doctor, Ex-Mayor Victim

Funeral services for Dr. James Lester Patterson, 69, physician and former mayor of Wheelwright, who died last Thursday, were conducted Friday at 11 a.m. at the Wheelwright Community Church by the Rev. John Bell. Burial was made in Woodmere Memorial Park, Huntington, W. Va.

Born in Vinton county, Ohio, Feb. 4, 1900, he was a son of the late James Robert and Della Belle Gilmore Patterson. He had formerly practiced medicine in Logan, and had lived at Wheelwright since 1961, where he was physician for the Island Creek Coal Company.

He was past president of the Left Beaver Kiwanis Club, the Logan Rotary Club and the West Virginia Academy of General Practitioners. He was a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia, and was a member of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. A 32nd degree Mason, he was a member of the Commandery and the Shrine.

Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Sadie Kennedy, of Port Charlotte, Fla.

Food Stamps Aid 4,594 in Floyd-Co.

Nearly 191,000 Kentuckians—4,594 of them, Floyd countians—benefitted from U. S. Department of Agriculture family food assistance programs during November.

The Southeast regional office of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service in Atlanta reports that 60,369 persons in 56 counties received over 2.1 million pounds of USDA donated foods through the family food distribution program to supplement their diets for better health. The foods had an estimated retail value of over $784,797 and included dairy products, canned and dried fruits and vegetables, canned meat or poultry, grain and cereal products, as well as other items such as peanut butter and scrambled egg mix.

Another 130,523 persons in 63 counties received a $963,621 boost in food buying power through the Food and Nutrition Service's food stamp program.

In food stamp counties, eligible families were issued USDA food coupons having a total value of nearly $2 million.

In Kentucky, the State Department of Agriculture supervises operation of the commodity distribution program, while the Department of Economic Security is responsible for administration of the food stamp program.

Earth Moved for Road-Building May Create Future Factory Sites

By KYLE VANCE
(In The Courier-Journal)

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The tons of earth taken from mountainsides to build roads in Eastern Kentucky sometimes produce loads of problems for the state and the builders.

Where to dump the excess dirt and stone in fill areas and narrow hollows sometimes becomes an engineering nightmare.

But an answer may be in the works. Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss announced a plan yesterday which he hopes will turn the problem into an economic plus for the mountain region.

His department, working with the Department of Commerce, will use every means possible to leave level factory sites behind the earth movers.

Where feasible, the state itself will acquire by condemnation potential factory locations, direct the dumpage of waste from road cuts, and then offer the communities the finished product—a parcel of flat land where none now can be found.

"Our Division of Design already has been instructed to seek out such potential locations along the corridors of Appalachian highways and the Daniel Boone Parkway," Goss said.

"When they find an area with promise, Commerce will be brought in for a look, and we will proceed from there. Where we take the land fee simple, it will be offered to industrial foundations and such at no more than our cost."

The first such tract to be approved is in Pike County, where U. S. 23 is being rebuilt between Pikeville and Prestonsburg under the Appalachian highway program.

Between 60 and 90 acres of level land accessible to utilities will be created in the vicinity of Hammond Branch, most of it adaptable for industrial use.

Under the same new policy, Goss will resolve a controversy in Clay county by state acquisition of land owned by two Republican leaders whose dealings necessarily have been with the Republican state administration.

The two parcels are in the path of the Boone Parkway. One parcel, of 65 acres, was recently acquired by Lester H. Burns Jr., 1967 GOP nominee for attorney general on the ticket of Gov. Louie B. Nunn.

Burns has denied that he expected to receive a large payment for use of his land for waste material when the parkway is built.

The other parcel, about 14 acres, is owned by Squire Baker, a patronage contact for the Nunn administration in Clay county.

"We will take both parcels, either fee simple or by easement," Goss said.

"There will be cases where it will be better financially for the state to acquire the easement. In those cases, of course, the land will be turned back to the owner after it has been made available to the builder for dumpage.

"If we have to pay $100,000 for a waste area, we would be better off if we paid $20,000 for the easement, unless, of course, we get $200,000 worth of land in the process."

Goss said he has long considered it a responsibility of the state to take and develop land disturbed by road building, using it for the economic betterment of taxpayers in general, rather than vastly increasing the value of land for private owners.

"Why should we enhance the value of one man's land, and pay for the privilege of doing it?" he asked. "I have wondered why the state shouldn't have acquired more of the property around interchanges in the Interstate highway program."

Floyd County Man Named Coordinator Of U. S. Programs

PIKEVILLE, KY.—Richard D. Howard, Pikeville College director of special education, has been appointed coordinator of federal programs for the college, effective immediately.

The new post is in addition to his special-education work, and will involve some duties performed previously by other college staff members.

The announcement came from Dr. Robert S. Cope, college president, who said that Howard has canceled plans to take a leave of absence for additional studies during the 1970-'71 school year.

Howard's new duties will involve coordinating current programs under federal grants, such as freshman studies, special-education summer institutes and other activities, and developing programs connected with the Pikeville Model-City plan.

Howard, a native of Hueysville, Floyd county, has been active in special education for several years. He has developed and administered programs for the retarded from primary levels through high school.

In 1968 he joined the staff of Pikeville College, where he developed the college's program in special education for the retarded. Authorities in the field have recognized the program as exemplary. The program has been rated excellent by the University of Kentucky, the University of Texas, and Columbia Teachers College of Columbia University.

It works beautifully with almost any furnace.

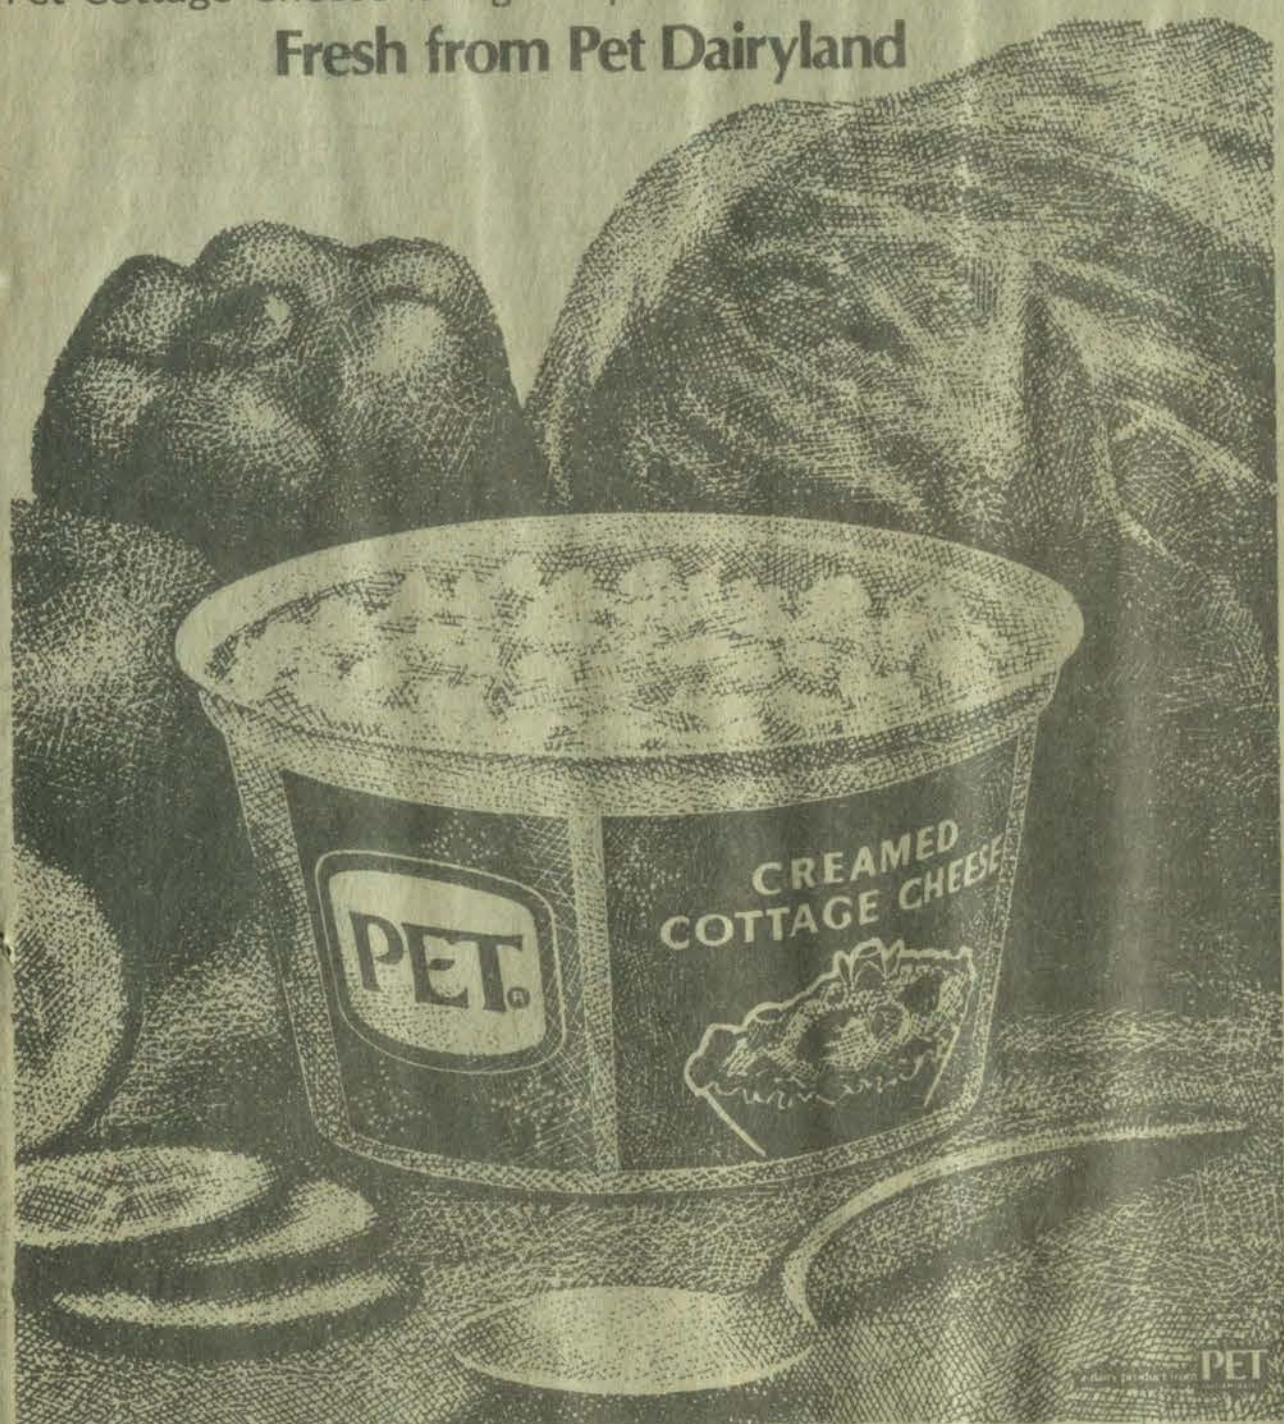

Electric whole-house air conditioners aren't really particular about the company they keep. They work with gas furnaces and oil furnaces just as well as they do with members of their own family. They can afford to be supremely self-confident. They know they deliver more cooling per dollar than gas air conditioners . . . and cost less to buy. If you want the best deal on whole-house air conditioning, regardless of what type furnace you have, it will have to be flameless electric. ## NEA Head Asks Teachers To Back Teach-In, April 22

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Noting that "our environment is rapidly being destroyed, not by the ignorant, ironically, but by the best educated and most intelligent among us," the president of the 1.1 million-member National Education Association has called upon the nation's teachers to help push the nationwide Environmental Teach-In April 22.

George D. Fischer, after urging teachers to work with their students, school boards, and parents in planning worthwhile activities in their local areas, also called upon government to make pollution problems a priority concern "in order that future generations may survive." Responsibility for the urgent problems of pollution, he said, is shared by teachers, schools, and government. Concerning education's responsibility he declared:

"Pollution of air, water and land by our automotive engineers, industrialists and chemists indicates dramatically the need for change in our teaching of the sciences and technologies. We must begin to teach of the great dangers as well as the great potentials inherent in agricultural and industrial chemistry and technology."

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who originated the teach-in idea, serves as co-chairman with Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Calif.

Plant To Leave Magoffin County

A manufacturing firm whose product was a feature of the National Recreational Institute show in Louisville, late last year, is quitting the Eastern Kentucky plant where the product was manufactured.

The Ward Manufacturing Company's Honorbilt Division, which has operated a plant at Salyersville the last three years, has begun dismantling its production facilities, to move them to Kansas. The Magoffin plant employed between 125 and 150 persons, but the number of employees had recently dropped to about 30.

Cause of the plant closing is not definitely known. Material losses have been hinted but this has not been confirmed. The plant closure was particularly surprising in view of recent announcements to the effect the plant would be enlarged and its production expanded.

District 50, United Mine Workers of America, which recently negotiated a contract at Honorbilt, did not learn till last week of company plans. There had been no labor difficulties, it was said.

The product featured at the Louisville show was a motor home. Officials at the Salyersville plant said plans for motor home production apparently have been dropped.

Mental Health

Mental Retardation

(The information for this section is provided weekly by the staff of Mountain Mental Health Services. If you have questions contact your local Mental Health Office; phone 886-3893 or John E. Mason, Community Coordinator, Mountain Mental Health Services, 413 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg.)

Q. I recognize that an alcoholic has a real and distressing problem. Will you devote some time to the problems of the people "hurt" by the alcoholic?

A. This is a good suggestion. Often in our efforts to discover and engender a positive attitude toward the human being who is an alcoholic, we fail to recognize or emphasize the far ranging effects the alcoholic has on those around him.

An average of at least four (4) people are tragically affected by every alcoholic. The spouse, children and parents. Their lives often assume problems which are destructive and damaging and these problems need resolution as surely as those of the alcoholic.

Since there are at least 6 1/2 million alcoholics in the United States, this means at least 26 million others are thus affected.

Still others are affected as directly if not as "painfully." Over half of all fatal automobile accidents are associated with drinking drivers. Industry loses at least two (2) billion dollars each year due to this problem. The cost of arresting, jailing and treating alcoholics and alcohol related problems are tremendous. The list of those affected to some extent seems to be almost endless.

Q. Where can the spouses, children and parents of alcoholics get help?

A. In many cases, help is available to family members at the same place as it is available to an alcoholic. Talk with your minister and/or physician. Call the Mental Health Office—the number is at the beginning of this section. Call the Alcohol Program Coordinator of Mountain Mental Health Services. His phone is 886-3893 in Prestonsburg. Most of these people will be able to help you or refer you to a place or person who can help.

Additionally, there are or may be groups similar to Alcoholics Anonymous which are tailored to help spouses or children or alcoholics.

Q. What are these groups?

A. The group for spouses of alcoholics is known as AL-ANON. The group for children of alcoholics is known as ALA-TEEN. Their method of operation is similar to that of Alcoholics Anonymous. While there are limited numbers of such groups in our region, the need for such helpful groups is great. If you feel you need such help, call your Mental Health Office. Even if no group is available, the Alcohol Program Coordinator of Mountain Mental Health Services will help.

BY THE PEOPLE...

Democracy in action—people planning together, working together... for themselves, their families, neighbors, friends... for their communities.

Nearly 1,000 rural electric systems across America demonstrate "Democracy in Action."

Serving more than 25 million people in the countryside of 46 states, these systems were built—and are owned and controlled—by the people... the people they serve... with each member having an equal voice in the affairs of his rural electric system.

This is participatory democracy—in action—in its finest sense!

This Tax Should Be Levied By the Federal Government

A bill that has not yet hit the hopper but which threatens to do so is designed to impose on the coal industry a severance tax, or perhaps a customer tax, which would be another way of penalizing the industry in the name of conservation. Revenues thus raised would be earmarked for the control of air and stream pollution and other ills traceable to industry.

We hope this legislation does not materialize at Frankfort. Industry must bear its share of the blame for the deterioration of the natural environment and for creating a very real threat to the people of this country. It should be required to pay in proportion to its blame for the situation.

But the levy should not be made at the state level, nor should it be on coal alone. If Kentucky should impose on coal a severance tax or some other levy, the coal industry in this state would suffer, perhaps beyond its ability to endure, as it would be forced to compete with coal in states which have no such tax. So the tax should be levied by the national Congress and should apply to coal in every state.

But even this would not avoid discriminatory legislation unless a severance tax is enacted federally on every "extractive" resource. That would include natural gas and oil, which compete with coal for the fuel market; and to stone and other substances extracted commercially from the earth, never to be restored. Because forest lands are becoming fewer, and because the replacing of a felled tree comes only after the lapse of many years, perhaps timber should be included in the list.

Whatever is done,—and something needs to be done soon,—it should be undertaken as a national effort, not by one or two states, and it should not penalize one industry while competitors profit.

KENTUCKY SENATE LEADERSHIP

The group heard reports from representatives of five departments of the USOE. The central theme of each speaker was that all their existing programs could not be met on current budgets but they would relate to the group programs as proposed but keeping in mind their actual implementation is contingent on funding levels.

John Powers, Education Programs specialist, Title III, ESEA, speaking on national priorities for Title III, told the group that because of the drastic cut in funding the next step for education would be "the accountability gap"—that is to say, educators are now going to be asked by the public to account for the success of Title III programs before more monies are expended. Powers urged the superintendents to contact Washington and let their needs and wishes be known.

Don Davies, associate commissioner, Bureau of Education Personnel Development: EDP, told the superintendents that "a school system should not be the recipient of anyone else's product. My office is very much interested in involving the local school district in programs concerning teacher training and recruitment." "We are doing everything possible in eliminating national competition in the rewarding of programmatic grants. We would like to award every grant on the basis of the greatest demonstrated need and program potential rather than grantsmanship or salesmanship," he added.

EDP programs listed by Dr. Davies as now receiving top national priorities include Teacher Corps, Early Childhood Education, School Personnel Utilization and Rural-Urban School Development.

"To increase the basic knowledge of science by improving science education in the U. S. and internationally" was listed by Albert T. Young, special assistant, office of the assistant director for education, told the EKEDC gathering the Foundation, which was initially funded in 1950, received its impetus with the advent of the Russian-U. S. space race. Since the "post-Sputnik" era began, he said, a minimum of 50 per cent of the Foundation's funds have been used in teaching secondary science instructors new facts about their discipline and helping them unlearn some antiquated ones.

In regard to the current priorities for NSF, Young said the Foundation hopes to move emphasis to a means of implementing actual programs now that teachers are better informed and better trained.

Director of the National Teacher Corps, Dr. Richard Graham, also spoke to the superintendents concerning the high priorities on Teacher Corps programs. In replying to a question from the audience about the purpose of the Teacher Corps, Dr. Graham included the following statements as the objectives of the organization: (1) To aid colleges in teacher preparation and certification; (2) Help school systems in introducing new curricula by training teachers; (3) Put emphasis on local community based education, and (4) Help develop programs with "staying" power.

Dr. Graham emphasized that all current Teacher Corps projects "attempt to produce institutional change by first changing local attitudes about education." At the end of the conference, Dr. James B. Graham, superintendent of Ashland independent schools and chairman of the EKEDC superintendents, urged the group to "stick together" in order to have the collective voice of 20 counties and 32 separate local districts heard rather than just a single voice as the group planned and executed educational change in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

With the current bi-annual session of the Kentucky legislature now in conference, EKEDC Superintendents adopted a list of five recommendations to be presented in conference with state officials and local legislative representatives.

The points, which received unanimous backing as those goals which would contribute to a quality educational system in Eastern Kentucky, were:

1. Maintenance of the state sales tax in its present form.
2. The permissive education package receive sufficient funding to support the individual programs in the proposed legislation.
3. House Bill 1 be redefined to permit the local school districts to utilize an expanded tax base accompanying new growth.
4. Any legislation on vocational education should support the State Superintendent of Public Instruction by placing supervision of vocational educational centers under the boards of education, making Vocational Education a bureau under the Superintendent of Public Instruction and defining it as one of thirteen curriculum areas in general education.
5. The defeat of any professional negotiation legislation and if it cannot be defeated that it be as permissive as possible.

Counties served by EDEDC are Floyd, Bath, Boyd, Bracken, Carter, Elliott, Fleming, Greenup, Johnson, Lawrence, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan, Pike, Robertson and Rowan.

Oran C. Teater, superintendent of Paintsville independent schools the legal fiscal agent for EKEDC, (Title III) is president of the EKEDC board of directors.

REDISTRICTING SESSION POSSIBLE

If the 1970 federal census shows a need for redistricting the Kentucky Legislature on the basis of population, Gov. Louie B. Nunn said he would call a special session to do so in time for new district lines to be settled before the May, 1971 primary elections.

All of Kentucky's 100 House seats and 19 of its 38 Senate seats will be up for filling in the November, 1971 election, with nominations in the May primary. The governor indicated if a special session is necessary, he might call it for Dec., 1970, or Jan., 1971.

Sports Afield

By TED KESTING

What's in the future for the American angler? Will he be able to compete with drastic changes in America's favorite outdoor sport? Most of these changes in the next decade will please, but some will shock you. So, let's start with a shocker.

Probably 80 percent of our non-mountainous trout, and many of our warm-water species, will be put-and-take, artificially reared stock from state and national hatcheries.

Much of this will be necessary because of growing sterilization among wild species, caused by the intolerable accumulation of hard pesticides, like DDT, in their reproductive organs.

And, fish will be condemned in many areas as unfit for human consumption. Not necessarily because eating these alone would do us in. It's just that by 1980 we will have accumulated in our carcasses over 20 ppm (parts per million) of hard pesticides, and many malaises will be traced to these nondegrading chemicals. Our DDT level today is up to 12 ppm.

Oh sure, by 1980 all 50 states will have banned these chlorinated hydrocarbons. But it will have come too late. Hopefully, but not certainly, by 1985 the effect may have run its course and some wild species of fish will be able to reestablish themselves.

Meantime, within the next five years, the Food and Drug Administration will have issued a public warning not to eat certain species of fish unless all fatty tissue is removed.

Reason: The present DDT maximum allowed by the FDA is 5 ppm in meat and fishes. Fatty tissues of certain fish species contain from 40 to 90 ppm! And because subdermal fat is a collecting spot for DDT, we'll be skinning all of our fish as a measure of precaution.

So much for DDT. What else does the next decade promise? There will be far more planting of mature, keeper-size fish than today. No longer will millions of morality-prone fingerlings be dumped to suffer an extremely high and costly mortality.

Fishery specialists will be experimenting with a new program that will delight most fishermen and disgust the sporting breed. Ten percent of stocked fish will be implanted with a device that can be detected to reveal their whereabouts.

The detecting equipment will be too expensive and sophisticated for fishermen to use. But, state department personnel will locate the fish and drop buoy markers to denote the species detected below.

Electronic fish locators will also reveal the size and shape of a fish, allowing some identification.

Underwater microphones will reveal, audibly, the feeding sprees of fish below, and many species will be recognizable by the type of sounds they produce.

According to Homer Circle, Angling Editor for SPORTS AFIELD Magazine, while many of our lakes and streams will be lost to thermal, chemical and human pollutants, some ten million acres of new fishing water will be available on state and government impoundments.

By 1980 we will have upwards of 60 million fishermen, and most of our hideaway spots will be subjected to heavy fishing pressure.

VACANCY VOTE, FEB. 14

A special election has been called for Saturday, Feb. 14, in Lewis, Carter, Greenup and Elliott counties to fill the state senate vacancy caused by the death of Sen. George M. Plummer (R-Vanceburg).

Republican leaders of the four-county district have nominated Luther Plummer, a brother of the late senator.

Mary J. Harkins Is Victim Friday

Mrs. Mary Jane Frye Harkins, assistant cashier and member of the board of The Bank Josephine here, died early Friday morning while being taken by ambulance to the University of Kentucky Medical Center, Lexington. She was 53 years old.

Mrs. Harkins became ill, the preceding Monday, while at work at The Bank Josephine, and was admitted to Prestonsburg General Hospital the following day. Death was ascribed to viral pneumonia and complications.

Her death followed by only a few days that of her father, Ezra H. Frye, in Detroit.

Born Feb. 24, 1916, at Ford City, Ontario, Canada, she was a daughter of the late Ezra H. and Pearl D. Allen Frye. She was the widow of Walter Scott Harkins, III, Prestonsburg attorney who died in 1954. Mrs. Harkins was a member of the First United Methodist Church here, the Prestonsburg Park Commission, PEO and the Prestonsburg Woman's Club. In addition to her banking work, she was a leader in civic affairs, particularly in the development of Archer Park.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Charles Wiechers, of Frankfort; a brother, Robert A. Frye, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., and one granddaughter.

The funeral was held at 3 p.m. Saturday from the First United Methodist Church, the Revs. Harold W. Dorsey, William Pope and Arthur Conaway officiating. Burial was made in the Harkins family cemetery here under direction of the Carter Funeral Home.

Morehead State Frosh To Play PCC, Feb. 5

MOREHEAD, Ky., Jan. 30—Morehead State University's freshman basketball team carried a 5-4 record into the semester break which ends Feb. 5 with a road game against Prestonsburg Community College.

The Little Eagles dropped Sullivan Business College, 88-69, in their last outing to edge above the .500 mark.

Coach Jack Black is philosophical about the yearlings' showing with the season more than half gone.

"They're a typical freshman team—great some nights and terrible some others. They had their best game against Sullivan and I'm hopeful of even more improvement."

Mrs. Ethel Collins, 62, Floyd Residents' Sister, Passes Away Jan. 26

Mrs. Ethel Wallen Collins, 62, of Pikeville, native of this county and a sister of several Floyd residents, died Jan. 26 at the Methodist hospital at Pikeville.

She was born March 16, 1907, a daughter of the late Shelby and Julie Belle Elliott Wallen, and was married to Edward Collins, who survives.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, and two daughters, James Earl and Charles Claude Collins, Mrs. Opal O'Quinn and Mrs. Attie Belle Webb, all of Pikeville; two brothers, Claude Wallen, of David, and Charlie Wallen, of Findlay, O.; two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Allen and Mrs. Rebecca Branham, both of Allen, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted from the residence last Thursday at 11 a.m. by the Revs. Wilson Justice and Don Lee. Burial in Road Fork cemetery was made under the direction of the Baker Funeral Home.

NOTICE

The Kentucky Department of Highways, in order to assist those people displaced by highway construction, desires to obtain listings of available housing and building lots which are for sale, rent or lease in Pike and Floyd counties.

Information concerning property listed with the Department will be made available, free of charge, to those people displaced by highway construction and at no cost to the property owner offering the property.

Any property owner having property for sale, rent, or lease, is requested to send a brief description of the property, giving the lot size, type (brick, frame, block), number of rooms, type of heat, if gas and water are available, location and whether or not the house has a bathroom. If the house is for rent, state monthly rent; if house is for sale, the sale price. Be sure to indicate the name and address of the owner and telephone number, if any.

All properties listed must be safe, decent, and sanitary, and available for sale or rent without regard to race, creed, color, or national origin.

All replies should be sent to David Watson, District Relocation Assistance Agent, Department of Highways, P.O. Box 2468, Pikeville, Kentucky.

Music Theatre Plans 3 Shows Next Summer

The Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre this week announced its 1970 summer season of musicals to be presented at the Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheatre.

The theatre will open on June 25 with one of Broadway's most acclaimed musicals, HELLO DOLLY! The Jerry Herman musical hit opened in 1964 and is still playing on Broadway to packed houses.

LITTLE MARY SUNSHINE, the colorful saga of forest rangers and Indians in a madcap adventure set high in Colorado's Rockies, plays the theatre, beginning July 16.

A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE FORUM will close the season, August 6-22. Described by critics as "the Keystone Cops in Roman togas," this hilarious farce features a tuneful score, including "Comedy Tonight."

Each musical will be presented Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays for three week-ends, each by top professional casts headed by film star, Tommy Kirk.

Audition information for those wishing to try out for the company is available now from C. Mitchell Douglas, managing director, Box 186, Prestonsburg.

Wood Reviews Gains In Boy Scout Council

Accomplishments of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, for 1969 were reported by J. M. Wood, Council president, to members of the executive board at a meeting held in Jenkins, January 19.

Mr. Wood reported the council achieved a net gain in membership of 439 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers and a net gain in units of 25 Cub packs, Scout troops, and Explorer posts. This represents a 24.4 per cent increase in boy membership and a 27.8 per cent increase in units.

The Breaks district, Buchanan County, Virginia, achieved a 100 per cent increase in membership; Pike district, Pike county, a 32.2 per cent increase, Jenny Wiley district, Floyd, Johnson, Martin, and Magoffin counties a 43 percent increase; and Kentucky River district, Knott, Perry, Breathitt, and Leslie counties, a 28.8 per cent increase.

"A total of 1,592 advancement awards were issued," Wood said. Two hundred and eight Cub Scouts earned Wolf, Bear, and Webelos Awards. They also earned 295 Webelos activity badges and 287 Cub arrow points. Boy Scouts and Explorers earned 268 Second Class, First Class, Star, Life, and Eagle Awards and 533 merit badges.

Camping and other activities are an important part of Scouting, and the Lonesome Pine Council had a good year in this department too according to Mr. Wood.

One hundred eighty-eight Boy Scouts from 24 troops attended Camp Shawnee for one week last summer.

Eleven additional Scouts participated in long-term camp (six days and nights) at sites other than Camp Shawnee.

Eight camporees were held with more than 940 boys and leaders in attendance.

Other activities conducted include three Webelos Days and 53 Good Turn and

Community Service Projects.

It was also reported that 293 training sessions were held for volunteer leaders and that a total of 1,953 people attended these sessions.

"Impressive as these accomplishments appear, they represent only a fraction of the activities of 1969," Wood said. "The most important activities are the weekly meetings attended by Cubs, Boy Scouts, and Explorers and the activities carried out each week in local units throughout the year."

"We are deeply indebted to the Den Mothers, Cubmasters, Scoutmasters, Explorer advisors, their assistants, and the committeemen who volunteer their time and talents throughout the year, thus making all these accomplishments possible," Wood said. Mr. Wood is division manager of the Kentucky Power Company for the Pikeville division.

Ford Calls for Legislative Study of State Government

Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford has called for a nonpartisan legislative study of state government, so it can be reorganized in 1972.

Ford said he will ask the Legislature to adopt a joint resolution setting up a two-year study of the executive branch by the Legislative Research Commission. A summary and recommendations would be complete in December 1971, and would be available to the next Governor for his use. A detailed report of the study would go to the 1972 General Assembly.

The reorganization would not affect the present administration, Ford pointed out. "It is a procedure to bring order and economy into a government whose structure has developed piecemeal and grown like Topsy the last three decades." The last major reorganization was in the 1930's.

Ford said untended growth has made government more fragmented, less responsive to the people and less able to meet public problems. Modernization and streamlining are needed, he said.

"Like functions should be consolidated; administrative costs should be cut; duplicate efforts should be eliminated.

"Government has overflowed until it is no longer the real servant of the people."

Ford said the next Governor of Kentucky, whoever he may be, should offer the Legislature a reorganization plan at its first session. "A Governor's full term is needed to put a worthwhile reorganization into effect," Ford said.

He noted that eight years ago, in 1962, the Governor recommended and the Legislature conferred upon the Chief Executive authority to reorganize state agencies in the interests of economy, efficiency and improved administration, and to submit such plans to the General Assembly for approval.

"The Legislature has waited eight years for the executive branch to submit to it a comprehensive plan of reorganization which would achieve these ends," Ford said.

"Governor Nunn promised in 1967 to modernize state government and to implement massive economy and efficiency measures. We have waited two years. We should wait no longer."

Ford said that during the past two years the Governors of 20 other states made recommendations to their Legislatures for reorganization. "Kentucky should proceed," he said.

Magoffin Planning $1.5 Million School To Serve County

SALYERSVILLE, Ky.—The Magoffin County Board of Education is planning a $1.5 million high school at Salyersville to serve the entire county, Magoffin School Supt. Creed Arnett said following a recent board meeting.

Supt. Arnett said three or four sites were ready for inspection by State Department of Education officials in readiness for a February board meeting which may consider a location.

The new building will accommodate 700 high school students with 30 rooms in addition to an auditorium and a gymnasium. The facility is designed as the replacement for a school building destroyed by fire last year.

The superintendent said students were attending classes in mobile units along with other facilities at the high school grounds since the fire.

would you believe it?

you can

SAVE a fixed amount each month for 15 years

SPEND the same amount each month for the next 15 years

STILL have more money left than you saved!

Use our plan to save for retirement . . . education . . . future enjoyment . . . security

The figures below illustrate the amazing possibilities of our savings plan, based on saving a fixed amount each month for 15 years and compounding the interest. This is followed by 15 years of withdrawals of the same monthly amount.

Keep in mind that you can set aside any amount you wish—for 15 years of saving—followed by withdrawal of the same monthly amount for 15 years—and arrive at a corresponding result.

That is, you can have more left than you have saved. Keep in mind that you can change the monthly amount or withdraw from the plan any time without penalty.

This is the plan:

DECIDE HOW MUCH YOU'LL SAVE each month and put that amount aside monthly before you start your spending.

IT PAYS TO REMEMBER that regularity of saving over a period of time is what really counts.

THE CHART IS BASED on saving $100 monthly for 15 years, then withdrawing $100 monthly for the next 15 years. Throughout the entire period, interest is added to the account and compounded regularly.

TO USE THE CHART to figure the effect of saving $25 a month, divide all figures by 4. For $50 a month, divide by 2. For $200 a month, multiply by 2, and so on.

This is the result:

AS SUGGESTED by the example in the chart, you stop saving and start spending at the end of 15 years.

FOR THE NEXT 15 YEARS, spend as much each month as you saved for the first 15 years.

YOU CAN STILL HAVE MORE MONEY in your account than you put in during the 15 year period.

THAT'S THE MAGIC of compound interest and the secret of the plan. Though you are withdrawing each year, your savings have built up to sizeable proportions and continue to earn substantially for you, year after year.

This is the time:

LOOK AHEAD 15 YEARS into the future. No matter how young or old you may be, there's something you'll need money for, isn't there?

YOU CAN HAVE the money you need 15 years from now, if you start your own sensible "15-Year Savings Plan" at once. But don't put it off . . .

TIME IS THE MAGIC INGREDIENT in this practical savings plan. And, as the chart shows, time is—literally—money to you. Delay is costly.

SAVING IS EASY once you start out right with a workable plan you know will get results. Here you have the workable plan. Why not come on in and get started on it?

This is the place

YOUR FRIENDLY BANK is the best place for your savings, and this is why:

YOUR MONEY IS SAFE, insured to the full legal limit by Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and further protected by sound assets and experienced management.

YOUR INTEREST IS TOPS, always the highest we can pay in keeping with sound management policies. Interest is paid and compounded regularly.

YOU'LL FIND OUR PEOPLE PLEASANT and helpful in many ways. You can open your account, add to savings, or withdraw by mail if you wish—the last word in convenience!

HUNTING AND FISHING IN KENTUCKY

FRANKFORT, KY.—During January and early February anglers in Kentucky are wiggling on the hook in eagerness to go fishing.

Winter brings to mind jig fishing for bass, of course, but to most fishermen, not much else. There is, however, another species of fish that can be caught in the cold days of January and February from most Kentucky streams. And we mean white and black suckers.

These fish have spawning notions in the cold weather and during their "runs" they can be caught with great rapidity around the riffles, especially, and also in the deep pools in small rivers and creeks.

While some may frown on the sucker as an undesirable fish, it is not at all. The sucker is a very important fish from the standpoint of catching as well as eating and it takes better than a green hand to catch the sucker, to be sure.

Fishing worms are the favorite bait. A small hook, fashioned on a light tackle, and fished on the bottom with barely enough sinkers to hold the bait on or near the bottom, is the accepted rig. A cane pole, a casting or spinning rod or a flyrod and a bobber may be used, as the swiftness of the water dictates.

For instance, if fishing in or near a riffle, the bobber will be out of place since the current will move the rig out of a favorite spot. But, if fishing in a deep pool, a small bobber should be used so the weak-nibbling of the sucker may be detected.

The sucker is a bashful biter, to say the least. The fisherman will first feel a tiny pull on his line and, unless experienced with sucker fishing, will ignore it. This is a fatal mistake. By the time he does pull in his line, he'll find that the nibbling provided the sucker with a good dinner of worms, he'll take the worms off with the easiest motion and an action that is hardly discernable by the fisherman.

The experienced sucker fisherman will outsmart his adversary. He'll respond to the weak nibbling with an equally weak and gentle pull. Once he starts the pull and feels the action of the fish on the line, then he may pull in swiftly, but not harshly, and in all probability will bring in his fish. If the fisherman tugs and yanks he'll cause his hook to pull out of the soft, small mouth of the sucker.

By catching the conditions just right (they won't bite in muddy or murky water) great numbers of the fish may be taken when it's so cold that the fisherman will need a fire going on the bank to keep his hands warm.

Many wonder what to do with this fish when it's caught. The best advice is to clean them and fry them. They truly are a delicacy when properly prepared and fried.

The average sucker from Kentucky waters will weigh from one-half to one pound. The fish should be allowed to soak in cold water for several hours after they are cleaned. Then before frying, a knife should be run through the heavier meaty sections, to cut away many small bones. A crisscross action is desired. The prepared fish should then be dropped into an extremely hot deep fry and allowed to stay until the outer parts become crisp.

This quick fry tends to make the bones palatable so that they may be eaten. Otherwise it is bothersome to pick out the tiny bones when the fish are fried in the conventional manner. The flavor of the sucker fish is excellent.

So, when ready for a tasty fish dinner, and a most enjoyable afternoon on the banks of a small stream, then get with the suckers. The return will be surprising, both from the satisfaction of catching the fish and from the gourmet meal they provide.

CONSUMER COMMENTS

By JOHN B. BRECKINRIDGE
Attorney General

Have you received a certificate in the mail informing you that you have won a prize and then found that in order to get your prize you are required to purchase another related item? If you have, think twice before rushing down to get your prize and purchasing the other item, as the other item may have been over-priced to offset the price of the "prize." Sewing machines and stereos are commonly sold by this means; several citizens have written us on this practice.

The consumer may receive his certificate as a result of having signed up to win a prize or he may receive it completely unsolicited through the mail. In any case, he should check the total price he is paying for all of the merchandise, to see whether or not he is really getting a bargain. The customer may well find that he ends up paying an exorbitant price for the so-called "prize."

Another practice which often is closely associated with this operation is an attempt by the salesman to switch the customer to a more expensive item instead of the one that he supposedly won. The salesman will disparage and talk down the original "prize" and build up a more expensive item.

We have received several complaints from consumers who have been told they have won a sewing machine worth more than $100.00, and when they attempted to claim their prize, they were switched to a more expensive machine, or told that they must purchase an expensive "service contract" in order to take advantage of the offer. In such a case, the customer might be well-advised to "look a gift-horse in the mouth."

Citizens who have a complaint involving a consumer matter are invited to contact my assistant, Robert V. Bullock, Director, Consumer Protection Division, Office of the Attorney General, Frankfort, 40601, or phone 564-3235, Area Code 502.

KEA Opposes Taxes For Church Schools

LOUISVILLE, KY—The Kentucky Education Association (KEA) board of directors has gone on record in support of the principle "that all (Kentucky) tax money allocated to education go to the support of the public schools."

The stand of the KEA board was taken in the wake of plans by the Kentucky Catholic Conference to ask the 1970 General Assembly to subsidize Catholic parochial schools for the non-religious instruction they provide. Governor Nunn in his address to the General Assembly listed aid to parochial schools as a possibility.

Former Drift Woman Dies Jan. 4 at Hazard

Allena Rakes, 59, died January 4 at the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital of a long illness due to a kidney disorder. She was a former resident of Drift and the widow of Ilie VanDore Rakes. She was preceded in death by her husband, one son and one daughter.

She is survived by four daughters, Peggy Murphy of Hazard, Patricia Chalfant, Pontiac, Michigan, Rachel Maib, Southaven, Miss., and Iline Fields, of Hazard. Also surviving are three brothers, three sisters, her step-mother, nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The funeral was held January 6 at 1 p.m. at the Little Samuel Memorial Baptist Church at Lothair, with the Rev. Lewis Craft officiating. Burial was in the Deaton cemetery at Buckhorn with the Engle Funeral Home in charge.

DISTURBED OHIO

Threats of Kentucky suit against Cincinnati for letting 60 million gallons of raw sewage run into the Ohio River daily for four days apparently subsided with completion of repairs to a sewage treatment plant operated by the Ohio city. The sewage was not expected to cause any health problems for Louisville or other downstream communities. Kentucky has jurisdiction over that part of the Ohio which forms its northern boundary.

In Memory

Just close your eyes and open your heart
And feel your worries and cares depart.
Just yield yourself to the Father above
And let him hold you secure in his love.

For life on earth grows more involved
With endless problems that can't be solved.
But God only asks us to do our best,
Then he will take over and finish the rest.

So when you are tired, discouraged and blue
There is always one door that is open to you.
And that is the door to prayer—
You will find God waiting to meet you there.

And the house of prayer is no farther away
Than the quiet spot where you kneel to pray.
For the heart is a temple when God is there
As we place ourselves in his loving care.

He hears every prayer and answers each one
When we pray in his name thy will be done.
And the burdens that seem too heavy to bear
Are lifted away on the wings of a Prayer.

(In memory of Lee Wallen, husband and father, who has been departed five lonesome years.) LULA WALLEN 1t.

THEATRE SHAPES UP

"The Book of Job", world-famous outdoor drama which will be presented for its 12th consecutive season at Pine Mountain State Park Amphitheatre, Pineville, through next July and August, has just completed a third national tour. Plans are now being made for a fourth next fall, which will be interrupted by a brief European tour starting at Venice.

Paul Wallen, 74, Dies In N. Baltimore, O., Heart Attack Victim

Paul Wallen, 74, of Prestonsburg, died of a heart attack at North Baltimore, O., while en route to visit his family in Ypsilanti, Mich., last Monday.

Born February 27, 1895, he had resided in Michigan for several years where, prior to retirement, he was employed as a machine operator for the Ford Motor Co. He was a member of local number 182, UAW, in Lavonia, Mich., and was a member of the Church of Christ in Ypsilanti.

Survivors include three sons, Paul R. and J. B. Wallen, both of Ypsilanti, Danny Lee Wallen, of Ann Arbor, Mich.; four daughters, Mrs. Earl Blair, of Allen, Mrs. Maggie Clark, of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Gertrude Brody and Mrs. Anna Marie Anderson, both of Ypsilanti; a brother, Joe Baker Wallen, and a sister, Mrs. Rebecca Arnett, both of West Prestonsburg.

Funeral services were held Friday at the Church of Christ at Lancer, with Bennie Blankenship the officiating minister. Burial was made in Richmond Memorial cemetery here under direction of Carter Funeral Home.

in the American Electric Power System which will have 1,250 miles of the high-voltage network in service by 1972.

The final work on this southern link in the 765-Kv line and the addition of some equipment at Baker Station adjacent to the plant will cost an estimated $1,275,000 this year, he said, with an equal amount to be spent on 138,000-volt transmission projects.

Included in the transmission work is the rebuilding of a segment of the Leon-Morehead 69-Kv line in Ashland Division at an estimated cost of $120,000; rebuild a 14-mile section of 34.5-Kv line for future 69-Kv operation between Hazard and Blackey, $225,000 this year and $75,000 in 1971; build two miles of 69-Kv line between Van Lear and Kenwood in the Pikeville Division to serve the new substation at American Standard's new plant, $50,000; rebuild 32 miles of line (some 69-Kv and some 46-Kv) that interconnects the stations of Fleming in Letcher county, Beaver Creek in Pike county, Elwood in Pike county and McKinney in Floyd county, $500,000 this year and $230,000 in 1971; build six miles of 69-Kv line from Long Fork, Kentucky, to Borderland, West Virginia, providing additional reliability of service for Williamson, $180,000.

In connection with substations, work is planned in the Pikeville division on the following:

New Kenwood Station serving American Standard and Van Lear area, $65,000; new East Prestonsburg Station which provides additional capacity and an alternate feed to Prestonsburg, $25,000 in 1970, bringing the total to over $100,000; additional facilities at Prestonsburg Station, $20,000; additional capacity at Draffin Station, $44,000 this year to bring total to over $55,000; install capacitor banks at Elkhorn City, $55,000; increase capacity at Topmost Station on Beaver Creek, $160,000; and new Keyser Station, $65,000.

Major office work includes the completion of the Jackson office in the Hazard division, $70,000 this year of a $200,000 project; start construction of the Prestonsburg office building, $150,000 this year of a $200,000 project; and start construction of the Ashland office building, $600,000 this year of an estimated $11 million project.

National Publication Cites Floyd Women On Service Records

Two Floyd county women have been listed in the 1969 edition of OUTSTANDING YOUNG WOMEN OF AMERICA, it is announced by Dexter Otis Arnold, chairman of the board of advisory editors.

So honored were Mrs. Juanita Whitaker Adams, wife of Dr. James D. Adams, Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Toby Jo Spradlin Bowlby, wife of Robert Alan Bowlby.

Mrs. Adams was selected "for her outstanding ability, accomplishments and service to her community, country and profession."

Mrs. Bowlby, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Spradlin, of Martin, was cited "for outstanding work in community affairs and in the professions of teaching and travel writing." Mrs. Bowlby and her husband, who is an architect, are moving from Lexington to Colorado.

Revs. Tackett, Mann In Pastor Changes

Bishop Roy H. Short, of the Kentucky Methodist Conference, has announced changes of pastors in the Ashland district, as follows:

The Rev. Floyd Tackett, pastor of Horn Chapel and Auxier Methodist Churches, to succeed the Rev. James Burge, of the Wayland and Garrett churches, who has transferred to Jackson, Ohio; and the Rev. Larry F. Mann, of the Pleasant Valley Methodist Church, Pikeville, to become pastor of Horn Chapel and Auxier churches. Pleasant Valley church is currently pastored by Rufus Ray, a layman.

ASKS BOUNDARY CHANGE

Kentucky's northern boundary line traditionally extends to the low-water mark of the Ohio River on the Ohio side, and Ohio's Gov. James Rhodes found Kentucky's Governor Nunn practically non-committal when he visited him in Frankfort this week to discuss again changing their common boundary to the middle of the river.

Rhodes argued the compact he proposed would result in Ohio sharing many of the financial burdens now borne by Kentucky, such as the construction of bridges. Nunn held out to Rhodes the hope he might be invited to present his arguments to the Kentucky Legislature.

Paintsville Wins As All-Ky. City

Paintsville was designated an All-Kentucky City, along with nine other communities, and Prestonsburg, which has earlier won the All-Kentucky City honor, was one of a group of cities which received Awards of Excellence when the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce last Friday recognized community accomplishments.

The awards, presented annually by the Kentucky Chamber, were announced at the Kentucky Hotel, Louisville, in the presence of almost 600 guests from all parts of the state.

In addition to Paintsville, All-Kentucky cities designated Saturday are Middlesboro, Cynthia, Calvert City, Berea, Pineville, Campbellsville, Marion, Paris and Mayfield.

Joining Prestonsburg in the Awards of Excellence (runnersup) spot were Winchester, Springfield, Shelbyville, Morganfield, Lebanon, Jamestown, Stanford, Somerset, Russell Springs, Jeffersonton, Harlan, Greenville, Glasgow, Columbia, Greensburg, Clinton and Barlow.

The Manpower Development and Training Act has been instrumental in the training of unemployed and underemployed persons in some 600 different occupations.
